NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees should repeat their 1947 success in the American League pennant race. Unlike last year, however, they will not cake-walk to the championship.

First Step Taken To Bolster Rebels Under New Owner

DALLAS (AP)—The first step toward strengthening the Dallas Rebels of the Texas League in line with wishes of the new owner, Dick Burnett, was taken today as Babe Narango, outfielder, was bought from San Antonio.

Business Manager George M. Trautman announced that Lou Faith, right-handed pitcher, had been optioned to Dallas by that club.

Narango hit .262 for San Antonio last season. He is a veteran.

Working agreements between Texarkana and Shreveport and Dallas and Austin have been cancelled, paving the way for formal transfer of ownership of the Dallas club from an organization headed by Schoppa to Burnett.

Richard Wesley Burnett, Glade water, Tex., oilman, will become sole owner of the club today.

Louis Returns, Says He'll Knock Walcott Out This Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis, on a strict diet of juicy steaks, promises he'll be bigger and tougher for Jersey Joe Walcott, June 23.

"I'll knock him out this time," the champ predicted with a "old matter-of-factness" after arriving home from Europe yesterday with his handlers, wife Marva and two sons in Chicago.

"I don't know what round or how I'll do it but I'll stop Walcott," he added under gentle prodding.

The boys who met Joe on the Queen Elizabeth remarked he looked a bit plumpish. Joe said he hadn't weighed since he left for his European exhibition tour in late February but he wasn't concerned.

He said he'd had a streak every day while in Rome and he figured he'd weigh around 214 for his return engagement with Walcott at Yankee Stadium.

That's three pounds heavier than he was on Dec. 5 when he knocked out a disputed, split decision over the Jersey veteran.

"I'll be rough and strong this time," the Brown Bomber promised. "I won't dry out for two weeks like the last time."

Tomorrow noon he and Walcott will sign contracts in the office of Edward Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Then the champion will head for Hightstown, Mich., for baths and pulmonary conditioning before moving into regular training at Pompton Lakes, N. J., May 18.

For the entire meet, both literary and athletic events, Phillips won District 2A, scoring 105 points. Panhandle won District 2B with a total of 174 points.

White Deer, competing in 2B at athletics, scored 108 points and in 2A in literary events, 60 points. In District 2B, Panhandle took top honors with 77 points; White Deer was second with 36; Claude, third with 11; and Groom and Moberite tied for fourth with nine each.

Oilers Lose 12 to 10 to San Angelo

Gaining ten runs off of Oiler hurler Stan Czapskyk (Cha-peck) in two innings, San Angelo of the Class D Longhorn League downed the Pampa Oilers 12 to 10 in an exhibition game at San Angelo yesterday afternoon.

Foster White started on the mound for the Oilers allowing two runs in four innings after which the ex-Clover and ex-Clover hurler took over and walked the ten runs. Czapskyk pitched ten men in the two innings he pitched.

However, from the seventh inning on when Johnny Weissman took over the locals' hurling duties the San Angelo batters had found their master as Weissman set the hosts down without a hit or run in the remaining innings.

Oiler Manager Grover Seitz indicated that Weissman looked to be in top form and by his showing should prove to be a mainstay on the Oiler hurling staff.

Tony Range, veteran Oiler third baseman, co-opted for the Pampa team's only circuit clout. It came in the sixth inning.

Today the Oilers move to Abilene where they will engage their West Texas-New Mexico League rivals in an exhibition contest. Seitz has named Charles Kunkle and Avon Driggers to handle the pitching duties against the Blue Sox.

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK (AP)—In appointing the new non-playing tournament committee for the Professional Golfers' Association, Prexy Ed Dudley warned the playing pros that "statements to the press" (meaning the press) have been harmful to the association and must cease.

"But wasn't it the publication of such critical remarks which resulted in a southerner being elected to the office of the 'five-figure' Zivic?" he asked. "If everybody had kept quiet, the abuses probably would have continued indefinitely."

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals uncorked a home run punch against the Chicago Cubs yesterday to win the initial clash of a four game series. 6-5. Whitey Kurowski and Nippy Jones delivered the round-trippers, each with two mates on base. Both drives came off rookie southpaw Cliff Chambers.

Dallas Track Scene of First '48 Auto Race

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Texas (Special)—It's now Arlington Downs "America's Most Beautiful Speedway." The nation's first 1948 national championship AAA sanctioned auto race will be held at Arlington Downs Raceway, midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, Sunday, April 25.

The country's top drivers will race 100 miles in the same cars they will chauffeur at the Indianapolis Speedway. Rex Mays, twice National AAA champion, will be at the wheel of his 500 horse powered supercharged straight-eight Bowes Seal Fast Special.

Mays was unable to drive his own mount in the first Arlington Downs classic last November because of parts trouble. However, he and his mechanic, Pete Clark have readied the car which is capable of more than 200 miles per hour on a straightaway course.

Other famous names in racing such as Duke Dinsmore, Billy De Vore, Jole Chitwood, Johnny Shackleford, Steve Truchan, Walt Brown, Jackie Holmes and Art Hartford have already been named as pilots for the April race.

Six brand new Indianapolis cars will make their debut at Arlington Downs. These cars, built in the West Coast, will use the Texas track as a proving ground before proceeding to the Hoosier capitol, L. Warren Baker, member of the AAA Contest Board, and William E. Little, chairman of the National Technical Committee of the governing body, have inspected the mile and one-sixteenth former horse track and pronounced it in perfect condition.

Racing experts anticipate that new dirt track records will be set at the April meet. The Indianapolis cars and drivers are slated to make a Fall appearance at the Downs.

Accommodations are now being made by Racing International, promoters at Arlington Downs, to handle 50,000 fans on race day. Ticket applications have already been received from all parts of the country for the "Indianapolis Preview."

The April race will afford car owners and drivers the first opportunity in 20 years to test their skill before the 500 Mile Grand Prix.

Walt Brown, Indianapolis money winner and former Eastern Dirt Track champion, has been nominated to drive the four cylinder 270 cubic inch entry of the Junior Oilers last season and batted in the cleanup position, while another Junior Oiler star, Jimmy Parker, will probably get the nod for first base.

Harvesters to Meet McLean At Oiler Park Tomorrow

The Pampa Harvester baseball aggregation will meet their initial test of the season tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 when they play host to the McLean Tigers in Oiler Park.

This will be the first year Pampa High School has fielded a baseball team, although for the past few seasons the local boys have gained experience playing with the American Legion nine.

The Harvesters have been holding regular workouts every afternoon on the diamonds north of the high school, and have undergone several inter-squad games. Coaches Tom Tipps and Clifton McNeely have been in charge of all workouts.

A starting line-up for the Pampans has not yet been released but the starting moundman will be either George Gambin, star of last season's Junior Oiler team, Howard Wells, right-hander, Jimmy Howard, or Harbord Cox. Filling in at catcher will probably be lanky Derral Davis, who played that position for the Junior Oilers last season and batted in the cleanup position, while another Junior Oiler star, Jimmy Parker, will probably get the nod for first base.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Hunting down bachelors is legal in Aurora, Ill., on one designated day each Leap Year.

On that day pretty young women take over the city government — arrest all of the bachelors they can run up, throw them in jail and impose fines payable in candy, perfume, or nylons.

Bachelors everywhere would probably gladly submit to one day's open season on bachelors each Leap Year if the season were closed at the end of the time. The trouble is in most places the bachelor is always fair game. And worse punishments are his than being thrown in jail.

He gets roped in when a married friend of his old school chum visits and feels the friend must have a few dates with an eligible man.

The wives of his friends find his single state a constant challenge to their matchmaking instinct. Any man could stay ahead of the chase for one day every four years. It's being a constant target for the matchmakers that makes the bachelor's life a harried one.

Helpful Guidance Cheers Fat Child

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Chubbiness is the cross that many adolescent youngsters find the hardest to bear.

"My mother says I'll slim down when I grow up," a plump 13-year-old miss told me. "But what can I do now? The kids tease me and call me 'Fatty'."

Because my young friend's plumpness is "baby fat," which she'll lose normally as she matures, she does not need a reducing regimen. Some doctors consider a few pounds of excess weight desirable for the growing child. Without sacrificing any of the foods she must have for proper nutrition, she can safely be encouraged to forego such foods as candies, cakes and pastries and between-meal sweets.

She'll be less self-conscious about her figure, of course, if she will wear clothes that make her look slimmer. Dresses with semi-fitted, princess lines will suit. Patterned fabrics printed with vertical stripes. The overly plump or stockily built youngster should shun the shoulder-sloppocke d, straight-hanging dress which is belted in or blouses or jackets teamed with full, gathered skirts. Dark-toned stockings will be more flattering to plump legs than light-colored ankle socks.

Giving her beauty accessories for her very own will encourage her to take pride in her personal appearance and this will also help to overcome her self-consciousness. Such accessories might be a sweet-scented after-bath talc, a colorless or pink lip pomade and a lotion which will prevent young skin from chapping.

Martha Class Teacher Is Luncheon Honoree

Thirty-one members of the Martha Class of the First Baptist Church gave their birthday luncheon Friday, at the home of Mrs. Roy Chisum, with Mrs. E. L. Anderson, the teacher, and Mrs. Roy Chisum, social vice president, as acting hostesses.

The table was decorated with daffodils and a large birthday cake centered on a mirror, bearing the honoree's given name.

During the afternoon a short business meeting was conducted and a quilt was set together to be quilted later and sent to Boys Ranch.

A pair of pinking shears was presented Mrs. Stokes as a small token of the class' appreciation of work done for the class.

Spring appetites call for fresh rhubarb. To stew it by the double boiler method cut the rhubarb in one-inch pieces; place it with sugar in top of double boiler and cook, covered, over hot water until it is tender. It should be soft but still hold its shape. Cooking it this way without added water gives it a delectable flavor and color. About 1 cup of sugar may be used to 2 pounds (5 to 6 cups) of diced rhubarb.

Young Pampa Pianists Win High Honors

Two young Pampans won high honors at the Panhandle Music Festival, held in Amarillo last week.

Jan Foster, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Foster, won a rating of superior, last Thursday, on two counts. One was her theory test and the other her piano rendition of "Für Elise" by Beethoven. No grades were given in the contest, but superior is the highest rating that can be given. The judge was Mrs. Boyd Ringo, of Tulsa University, who added her personal praise to the little girl's achievement.

Ann Harrison of Amarillo and Phoebe Osborne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Osborne of 1210 Charles, in Pampa received superior ratings after presenting "C Major Concerto" on the piano. Judges were unable to distinguish any noticeable difference in their performances. As a result both will appear as soloists on the 1948 late spring concert of the organization. Both Pampa girls are pupils of Mrs. May Foreman Carr.

Judges of the auditions were Eoyd Ringo, Tulsa University, Howard B. Dill, Amarillo College, and James Niblock, Colorado College. Robert Louis Barron is concert director of the Junior Symphony.

AS LONG AS I LIVE

By Ione Sandberg Shriver DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE road to the cottage was even darker than she remembered. They'd been driving for over two hours. It was well after 9 o'clock. The back seat, which had been empty, was full now, loaded down with boxes of groceries.

She'd thought it would be easy to get away from Rush while they shopped. She'd thought she could make some excuse for remaining in the car and then duck into a telephone booth somewhere...

But she hadn't had that chance. Rush had seen to it that she hadn't. He'd been very careful of her, treating her as though she were made of something fragile, like porcelain, and he stuck beside her like a burr.

They stopped, somewhere, for groceries, and when she said she was tired and would rather not get in with him, that he should get just what he wanted, Rush shook his head, said she'd been sitting too long and that it would do her good to stretch her legs.

When in the grocery store she got up her courage and said she thought she'd go out and get beer, because she was chilly, Rush said at once that he'd get it for her, and then, left in the brightly lighted store, with the shining plate glass window through which Rush could easily see her, she was too scared to use the telephone.

So she bought oranges and a quart of fresh strawberries and cream and butter and bread and some cold ham and lettuce and sweet pickles and then he was back with her coat and she thanked him and put it on and even though, almost at once, she grew too warm, she was afraid to say so.

They had supper in a drive-in they passed because Rush said he wasn't dressed for a restaurant. So that even the chance of a ladies' rest room with a pay telephone was easily averted.

AND now they were almost there. They turned into the narrow lane that led to the cottage; the headlights picked out their route, a silent route except for the branches of the trees that lined the lane; the branches that moved and swayed in the lake breeze, murmuring a ghostly lonely song of their own.

Rush drove the car up and parked beside the dark cottage. "You're worn out, aren't you?" he asked, helping her up the steps and into the big living room with its beamed ceiling and the huge fireplace.

"I'll be all right in the morning," she said, trying to muster a smile. It was a sorry smile and so she said quickly, lest he misunderstand, "I'm too tired even to smile, Rush." Her hand automatically went out to the light switch. "Is the electricity on?"

"Sure," he said easily, helping her with her coat. "Everything's on." "The telephone?" she asked and immediately sensed an awareness about him, a tensing, a waiting.

"It's only that," she stammered over a footstool—"I forgot all about Rinda. She'll be coming back to Tophill and she's apt to be hurt when we aren't there."

"That's right. I forgot all about her." He was standing motionless by the door, weighing something. Finally he said, "Well, we'll see, though. We'll see if we have a telephone, and 'then he got there before she did and lifted the receiver."

But in a minute he turned back to her. "Nope. I guess it isn't connected. But we can have it connected tomorrow."

She nodded obediently. "You lie down on the sofa," he directed, "while I unload the car. Then I'll make up your bed and fix you a warm drink."

THEY PICKED SHAPE Vienna rolls are made to represent the Turkish crescent. Two baker boys saved Vienna from the Turks in 1683, and were given the privilege of making rolls in any shape they desired. They chose that of the crescent.

President George Washington while in office received such gifts from citizens as apples, cheeses, Jerusalem artichokes, flower roots, and Spanish swords.

When listed three courses which he believes this country must follow to stop communism: 1. Put the Marshall Plan into effect; 2. Actively participate in strengthening the United Nations; 3. Mobilize and maintain a military strength of operational and combat efficiency sufficient to destroy any nation or groups of nations with which war is possible in the foreseeable future.

In another issue of the Congressional Record, Rep. Olin Teague of College Station inserted a letter from the Rev. N. R. Stone, a Corsicana Methodist clergyman.

"There are some great questions, besides politics, that need attention in 1948," wrote the minister.

"When the question of giving is up for any cause whatsoever, the first thing to consider is, are we able, have we got it to give?"

"This nation is to survive and retain her place among the leading nations of the world as a leader, she must plan a more economical regime. A debt that has been accumulating for 15 years will not be easily liquidated."

Excerpt from news letter sent out by Rep. Wright Patman of Texas. "It is my opinion that none of the so-called civil rights proposals will become law."

SHE did as she was told, silently, and she watched her until she was settled, then he came across to her and covered her with her coat.

"It's damp in here," he said. "Probably wouldn't hurt to have a fire. Take the chill out of the room."

She was past words and anyway she could only defeat him by feigning obedience, then grasping any chance that came her way. So she nodded again and leaned her head back and closed her eyes.

She awakened to Rush's arms about her, raising her, and, quite unable to help herself, she screamed aloud.

Instantly he held her tenderly, contrite that he had scared her. "Darling, darling," he murmured. "Ann, it's me, baby. Look, I was only trying to get you undressed. It's bedtime. And you went sound asleep—I've got everything done—the car's unloaded—"

"Asleep?" she said incredulously. "I went to sleep?" "Sure." He reached for her feet, removed her shoes.

She blinked at the firelight. "Rush, what a heavenly fire," she said, turning her head to look at the bright flames. "Why can't I sleep right here? The fire will put me to sleep again. Did you get my robe and slippers?"

"Every-thing," he said. "Night, too." He tossed the silken things across her legs. "You can sleep right here, of course you can. The beds are already occupied to me—the bedrooms are pretty chilly. I've got my bed made up already. He indicated the other sofa with a nod of his head. "I'll fix yours while you're in the bathroom and then we'll have a nightcap."

Her legs were unsteady when she stood up and she thought, if only this were true... if only he meant it... and knew despairingly that she would never again know peace... and knew at the same time, and hating herself for it, that if Rush should change his mind and decide to let her live she would only want to live if she could live with him.

California Woman Learns Husband Had Been to Boston

By TEX EASLEY WASHINGTON (AP)—Mail from many parts of the country poured into the office of Rep. Bob Poage of Wash. commending him for his fight for repeal of the 10-cent a pound tax on colored margarine.

From a California woman a Poage received a letter saying: "My husband was so doggone mad when they shelved your bill to repeal the margarine taxes that he darn near blew his top."

"He came home and kicked the dog and took back $10 that he had given me to get a new hat and stockings and then went out and bought 26 pounds of Nuccos. Then he threw all the butter we had out on the floor and pumped all over it and said if he ever found any of the stuff in the house again he would pound me in the face with it."

"He said he felt just like the people did before the Boston Tea Party. That was the first I knew he had ever been to Boston."

The serious mail that comes into congressional offices these days has one dominant theme: Will there be war?

Texas congressmen, of course, do not have a yes or no answer.

This biggest market basket for us is important news for you...

Our 1948 market basket is the biggest one we ever had. It's filled with things telephone customers—present and future—need—the new equipment that will put telephones in homes waiting for them; the added facilities that will help make all telephone service better.

To get this equipment and put it to work, we must spend one hundred and fifty millions of dollars this year alone.

What will $150 million buy? A host of skilled man-hours. A million miles of wire in cable, and more than a hundred thousand poles. Enough new switchboard to make space for 1,000 more telephone operators. In dial exchanges, another 200,000 lines, each able to serve up to four customers. New buildings—more than $11 million worth—to shelter new equipment. About 190,000 more miles of long distance circuits. Even small items bulk up—it takes only a drop of solder to secure a connection but we'll use 125 tons of it this year.

Other dollars will go to buy trucks, tools, land for buildings and pole lines, telephone instruments, and hundreds more things.

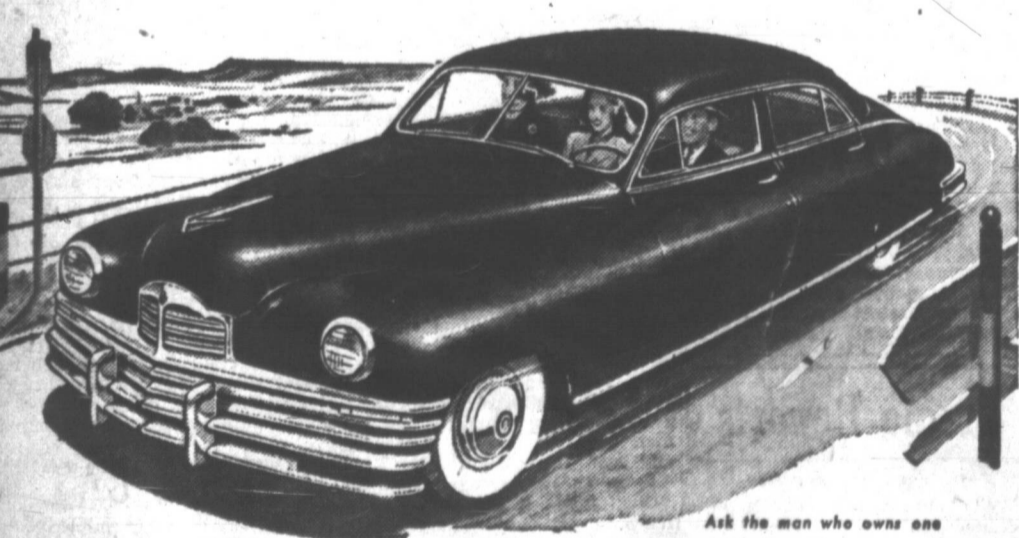

So this biggest market basket for us is important news for you. It means more and better telephone service in the making. We're pushing along with the job, for we're as anxious as you are to see it finished.

BASIS OF DISCUSSION by Doug Larsen

WASHINGTON—(A-NEA)—Just about the only person who is not getting all excited about the renewed "Eisenhower" boom...

After he had held out one over par Ike said, "By the way, Floyd, don't bother calling me every time you get a call about this president talk..."

Nebraska Primary Is Vital To Course of Convention

By UPTON CLOSURE... The half-dozen presidential primaries of this spring, including today's Nebraska primary, could not be enough delegates for any candidate into the convention...

Stassen should lead the field in Nebraska as he did in Wisconsin, and Dewey should run third or lower, the results would almost guarantee a no-majority first ballot at the convention.

It would be most unexpected, however, if the Ohio senator himself reported that score second may be the best of the machine bosses have said privately that Mr. Truman is a certain loser...

MacArthur, with no speeches to Stassen's 40, polled two-thirds as many votes. The General had NO machine, whereas Stassen had as fanatical a ring of doberbills as the old Sidney Hillman CIO-PAC.

Both Stassen and Dewey have strong support from friends of the New Deal. Some of the other stars are doing this same thing. Cary Grant, Gary Cooper, Claudette Colbert and a few others follow the same plan.

Other supporters feel that while they will support Eisenhower, they will not enter the campaign but only have expressed a willingness to serve if called.

There is no question that the general's astuteness, his masterful grasp of the affairs of man, and his towering personality would draw for him the support of as few men have been privileged to address.

SO THEY SAY

Our battle against Russia, if it comes, must be a battle of technicalities in the air with a sufficient ground force to support.

Enough gasoline and oil to meet the nation's total demand for 1500 years can be manufactured from only a quarter of our known coal reserves.

Confident that his own information was correct with howler would accept the Democratic draft under certain circumstances—FINDER challenged Parks' statement given to the reporter.

General Parks now frankly admits that he did not talk to Eisenhower before he gave out the statement about "no conceivable circumstances." He says he gave it out based upon his talk with the general weeks earlier on the golf course.

LOOKING AHEAD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON... HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—This fabulous town of Hollywood is made up of a lot of individuals, each with his own idea of how to get the most out of life.

It is Jimmy's answer to a lot of questions people ask him. The first Jimmy says is that he was stretched out on the sand of his private beach at Newport Harbor, a comfortable hour and a half's drive from Hollywood and Vine.

He has more energy left than most of our movie personalities. He conserves his energy. He doesn't spend hours at night in the hot spot clubs of Sunset Strip just to be seen so he will be cast in pictures.

He stars in one or two pictures a year. He doesn't do any until a story comes up which he thinks is right. "The Time of Your Life" is the latest. He doesn't waste his effort.

The nation must and will have an adequate transportation system. On that all are agreed. The nation could not be secure in this turbulent world without the need for greater racial understanding won him a Pulitzer Prize.

The trouble is that despite the largest volume of passenger traffic, too few of our common carriers are able to make enough profit to attract capital to the industry. If nationalization comes in this country, it may well come because of the need for a national program to reconstruct themselves after an all-out job in wartime.

Every single worker in Scandinavia ought to know with scorching certainty that the workers will lose their freedom under Communist dictatorship.

Return of Serfdom Is Feared by Swiss

BERN—(A)—Several Swiss newspapers have protested a decree by the Department of Justice whereby foreigners employed in Switzerland may not change jobs without police authorization.

Italian tale, noted for its high purity, is almost 99 percent magnesium silicate.

Well, here's my fashion note for the week, and I don't want any nasty little remarks from snooty male psychiatrists about it, either. It means that a fashion designer by the name of Ilyana is talking up the idea of decorating ladies' bustles with flowers and potted plants, and I'm all for it.

Hard water gets its name because it contains minerals that cause relatively hard chemical compounds to form when it is used.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

JACKSON, Miss.—Southern politicians, industrialists and businessmen have a ready reply to the general and natural question of why they have rebelled against President Truman's civil rights program in the face of the fact they offered no such forceful protest when Franklin D. and Eleanor Roosevelt advanced the same theories of racial equality for more than a decade.

That is the almost unanimous answer which this writer received on his tour of Mississippi, where Gov. Fielding Wright spearheads the forces of party rebellion in an area historically tolerant of the colored race.

For years it was difficult for a politician from this Delta region to win high state office, chiefly because of their live-and-let-live attitude toward the Negroes, who comprise a majority of the population in certain cities and counties.

But they look upon Mr. Truman as an "accident" and many consider him a "deserter" because of his Missouri ancestors' long-time attachment to the South. They believe that his civil rights program may be only a vote-getting move, but his sponsorship of a solid bloc of anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-discrimination and anti-segregation legislation makes them fearful of the end result of his movement.

Morever, Southern states, counties, parishes, and cities have operated under a one-party regime for so long that they do not yet know how to handle any other kind of political machinery. The troubles they have encountered merely in setting up anti-Truman tickets, or in devising some way to withhold their votes from him, show how hard it would be to project a two-party arrangement all down the line to minor offices.

But the current example of the way in which Northern Democratic leaders neglect Dixie's interests because they feel they can always bank on Southern support for the ticket—save in 1928 and possibly 1948—may result in a gradual breakup of the present system. Much depends, too, on how the Democratic convention, and also the Republican platform and slate makers, react to the revolt.

Gracie Reports

Well, here's my fashion note for the week, and I don't want any nasty little remarks from snooty male psychiatrists about it, either. It means that a fashion designer by the name of Ilyana is talking up the idea of decorating ladies' bustles with flowers and potted plants, and I'm all for it.

Goodness knows, some husbands get potted often enough, and I don't see why we girls can't do it, too, in a nice floral way. And some of the hipper girls would certainly find daisy-covered bustles wonderful camouflage, because daisies, it's just one more complication on the day of the party, girls. Not only will we have to stop off at the dressmaker's and the beauty parlor, but we'll probably have to check in at a florist to have our bustles sprayed with potato bugs.

"SPIRAL BEAN" A vegetable curiosity of the desert is the "screw bean," a product of the mesquite bush. The peculiar beans spiral in regular rows down to a point, and are used as a food by Indians of Death Valley, Calif.

PATROLLERS IN WASHINGTON AND ELSEWHERE (The Chicago Daily Tribune) President Truman included in his message on civil rights a recommendation that the District of Columbia be given home rule and suffrage in Presidential elections.

The latter suggestion was strictly for the gallery. Even Mr. Truman must know that it would require an amendment to the Constitution, which is hardly feasible. And even if it were feasible, it would be clearly against public policy.

The population of the District of Columbia is made up largely of government employees. Many of them own their tenures to the party in power and those who will be secure under civil service still owe their hopes of advancement to the ruling politicians.

The Dunn survey, a political report published in Connecticut, has maintained vociferously for some years that the New Deal has definitely colonized the voters in closely contested states to carry national elections. There are a great many states in which the federal payroll vote is larger than the vote cast by the citizenry in a national election.

Local self government has been a battle cry of the party in power since they lost the last vestiges of it 70 years ago. The whole purpose of creating a district under federal authority was to spare the federal government, then new, untried and weak, from dependence upon a state for protection. To have given the District of Columbia control over the police in the seat of the government might also have had unhappy results in the early days of the Republic.

Congress appropriates considerable sums for the operation of the District in connection with the fact that federal buildings occupy much of it, but residents of the District are taxed on their real estate and incomes. The taxes go into the federal treasury and appropriations must be passed by congress. Federal employees living in Washington retain voting rights in their native states, but the other permanent residents of the District are as completely disfranchised as the people of one of Britain's more backward crown colonies.

Certainly Washington could have no worse municipal government if its own citizens ran it and it might have much better. The other permanent residents of the District are as completely disfranchised as the people of one of Britain's more backward crown colonies.

There is the tremendous colored population in many cities and counties for one thing, they split their vote among two parties, they would never obtain complete control of governmental units or political organizations. But if they bolted for either the Republicans or the Democrats, they could elect their full slate in numerous places.

When the opera comes to Dallas, people will be in the dog house. They throw a white canopy over the entrance to State Fair Park Auditorium and if you have your tuxedo on you walk through the canopy and if you don't, you walk around it.

Long black limousines roll up, one behind the other, like an elephant train, and during the performance the street outside the auditorium looks like the site of a chauffeurs' convention.

Even the Met singers and ballerinas made a concession to the temperature; they stood around in the yard backstage and ate ice cream cones while perspiration popped through their grease-paint.

Clay Bailey, music critic for the Dallas Times-Herald complained: "There were those who, with justification, faulted certain of the sets dingy and uninspiring."

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

NEW YORK—(A)—America, more than any other country in the world, is a land where people expect something for nothing or a lot for a little.

This philosophy makes for much unhappiness and has its detrimental moral aspects—but it also helps explain our national greatness.

Hated for long, hard labor in international but here in America it amounts to a passion. The result is our industrial civilization.

We like to think that we live by the twin mottoes—"the used key is always bright" and "early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

But if an untried man from Mars arrived here to still our way of life he probably would reach the conclusion that our real guiding proverbs were: (1) "Nothing ventured, nothing gained."

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." The desire to get something for nothing, or much for little, is probably one of the most deeply rooted human characteristics.

In wartime this showed up conspicuously in the looting done by all armies, Allied as well as enemy. I saw honorable men who had lived all their lives in honesty go delirious with joy as they pawed through rumbled homes for anything they could get their hands on.

But in Europe the dream has long been drawn off. The common man in countries where he is reaching for a communist promised pie-in-the-sky is born to the tradition that he must work hard to get little.

Something for nothing, a lot for a little, a lot for a little, a little for nothing, a big nation built by big and little gamblers. And why not? "It's a free country."

overpowering in the first act and not too considerate in others." Further of Pelletier, Rosenfield stated: "In one thing he was too heavily."

"The ballet received its best workout of the season in the Cours La Reine scene," he added, "going through dull and fussy diversions to unbelievably inane music."

On this, his seventh visit, the Met had a total attendance of 16,345, grossed $103,484 and came out financially in the black.

City Buys New Tractor

The City Commission accepted a bid today from the Pitts Farm Equipment Company of Pampa for a farm-type tractor, to cost $1646.50. This tractor, which will be delivered Monday, is so equipped that it will be used to mix the soil-cement base for new street paving. Later a mower attachment can be fitted so the tractor can be used for mowing weeds and grass.

Several loads of the cement ordered for the paving will arrive Monday, Dick Pepin, city engineer, said today, and a representative from the Portland Cement Company from Dallas will supervise the laying of the soil-cement base.

This expert is furnished by the company without charge, Pepin said, to insure the cement is properly used. The commission also approved $18,564.49 in outstanding bills, of which $6,891.17 was previously approved, leaving a total of $11,703.32 in outstanding bills paid today.

It was pointed out that receipts from water bills totalled $22,579.84 in the month from Feb. 20 to March 20, as compared with the $21,004.61 collected in the same period last year.

Petit Jury List Drawn

A list of jurors for the petit jury of the 31st District has been made in the office of Dee Patterson, district clerk. The jurors are being called to duty Friday to try the case of W. J. Ball, et al vs. the Texas State Highway Commission.

Ball and others, all residents of Alanreed, are asking the court in their petition to grant an injunction stopping the Highway Commission from changing the route of U. S. Highway 66, which passes through Alanreed.

The commission proposes to change the route of the highway one mile east of Alanreed. If this plan is carried out, the petitioners assert, the route will miss the town by a quarter of a mile.

The following forty-five prospective jurors are being called. Where the name of the city is not given, the man comes from Pampa.

Silk Worms Fed To Fur Animals MOSCOW—(AP)—Hundreds of thousands of rubles are being saved in the Soviet Union by feeding fur bearing animals with the chrysalis from silkworm cocoons instead of valuable meat.

A Tiffis newspaper said these chrysalis previously had been thrown away. "It was discovered," said the announcement, "that the quality of fur as well as the pigmentation was better in animals fed on the chrysalis."

Carver School Is Contest Winner

Junior High Division of Carver High School came through victoriously in the annual oratorical contest, Saturday, at the St. Mark Methodist Church when they defeated a group of speakers from Amarillo.

Carver won first place, tied for second and third, and won the honors for fourth, and fifth places. After holding a contest among themselves Friday, the six highest ranking orators competed against the Amarillo group.

Hazel Jo Watts brought Carver its first place victory with her rendition of "The Forgotten Man—the Negro." Tying for second places were Wanda Langston of Amarillo and Wesley Geary of Carver.

For third place honors were Lanora Williams of Amarillo and Willie Foster Thompson of Carver. Fourth and fifth place winners were Laura Mae O'Neal and Ruby Jean Clark, respectively, both of Carver.

Miss Marie Wyatt brought Amarillo the decision for sixth place with her "The Day is Done." Juanita Young and Ada Mae Porter carried the decision of the judges in the final two places.

Mrs. A. B. Turner instructed the Pampa group.
