GOP Senators Hope to Enlarge Tax Cut Issue

Battle Over Excise Taxes Develops During Arguments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican forces in the Senate today in an attempt to pass the $11.6 billion tax bill through reduction of a number of federal excise taxes.

With many of the toughest issues already disposed of in the first two days of voting, there were predictions that Senate approval of the biggest tax cut in the nation's history might come Thursday.

City Starts Process of Digging Out

Work today began the difficult task of digging out from a 17-inch snowfall that had the city and Top O' Texas area stalled since Monday afternoon.

Public Works Director R. B. ... said this forenoon every available piece of equipment is in use in an effort to clear streets for vehicular traffic.

Trucks have been in the city, south, east and west. The city, however, has only two maintenance trucks to scoop up snow. Pampa has no snowplows. Other trucks have been used into service wherever they are available.

Pampa Schools Likely to Resume By Tomorrow

Schools in Pampa may resume classes tomorrow. Superintendent of Schools Jack Edmondson said at noon that "if streets are where traffic can safely reach the schools, we will resume classes."

Edmondson said he had taken a tour of schools in Pampa this morning and found two where classes could be held easily and two where it would be "impossible" for students to reach the buildings.

"We know the city is doing everything possible and we are keeping abreast of the situation in order to make the right decision," he said.

Edmondson said final word would come late today or about 7 a.m. tomorrow. He urged residents to keep in touch with radio stations here for this decision.

"But barring severe weather or continued street problems, we plan to have school tomorrow," he concluded.

Five Rescued; New Hunt on At Canadian

Pampa was in a state of "isolation" today as highway department employees battled breakdowns and heavy drifts of snow some 10 feet deep to free clogged roads.

Highway Patrol Sgt. J. W. Wilson, who has been riding for almost 48 hours without rest in this area, reported that only one road was open and that to truck and buses only.

The officer said Carson County (See CANADIAN, Page 3)

Jericho Bulges in Emergency

By GLENN McCASLAND
One of the worst snowstorms ever to roar into the Panhandle left the Top O' Texas area in a state of emergency today as skies cleared, bringing hopes for relief.

Highways were jammed by the heavy snow, which left drifts as high as 10 feet in many places, and caused Governor John Connally to approve use of National Guardsmen to assist in clearing the roads.

Rescue efforts centered around the communities of Groom, where at least 600 persons were stranded, and Jericho, a tiny Gray County hamlet.

Highway Patrol Sgt. J. W. Wilson of Pampa said the situation along U.S. 60 and 70 was "impossible."

Two patrolmen, Charlie Henderson and R. C. Parker of the McLean area, were stranded in Jericho, along with two Greyhound buses and about 80 automobiles with motorists.

Parker, contacted by telephone, said bread stores had just been depleted at the Food Service Station, which comprises the only business house in Jericho.

Mrs. Tom Reed, wife of the station's operator, said, "I'm going to start serving stew anyway, the eggs take too long to fix and we've too many mouths to feed."

She said some 300 people had been taken care of in Jericho since the storm began Monday.

"Heavens, we thought we might be finished yesterday, but the snow kept falling and got so bad last night that we were right back in business by 8 p.m.," she said.

Greyhound Bus Driver Fred Stafford said his 30 passengers were "taking this business calm."

"Most of them are interstate passengers and very few have ever been in a storm like this one," he reported. "They are taking it easy and nobody's lost their ability to laugh about it."

The two Los Angeles bound buses have been jammed in Jericho since 4 p.m. Tuesday and little hope of removing them is seen until late tonight.

Patrolman Parker said that unless plows broke through soon, the food problem could become just that "a serious problem."

"Anybody coming this way are asked to bring bread and food just in case," he said.

Jim Littlefield in Groom reported that the community's mile-long main street was "jammed four and five across with automobiles, trucks and buses."

Speaking by telephone from the Ranch House cafe in Groom, Littlefield told reporters that as many as "300 to 400 folks are here with us and more seem to be coming in all the time."

Highway Patrolmen reported roads leading from Groom to Amarillo and east were covered in drifts of snow that it was impossible to clear them.

Littlefield agreed quickly. "We haven't slept in 48 hours. It has been one of the longest working periods we have had in years," he reported. "I guess the cafe has about 80 people now and about 100 or more outside."

Littlefield told of some 400 persons spending the night inside Groom residences, churches and lodge halls.

"I've got three families with me," he said. "One of the bunch is from California and their (See EMERGENCY, Page 3)

DESERTED STREETS — Deserted streets were once again in evidence today, such as this view of Russell St. Only a few vehicles were seen on the streets other than the city maintenance vehicles, which labored through the night to clear the streets. Only those cars with chains were able to drive through most of the streets, while in some residential sections, only four-wheel drive vehicles could reach the streets.

Armed Intervention Hinted

Americans Airlifted From Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—The United States began airlifting American women and children from strife-torn Cyprus today, and an embassy spokesman hinted at armed intervention if danger threatens any of those who remain behind.

Two chartered Pan American jetliners took 134 Americans from Nicosia to Beirut, Lebanon, this morning.

At least four more chartered planes stood by to carry others of the 400 American dependents from this embattled Mediterranean island where recent civil warfare and growing anti-American feeling brought bombing attacks on the U.S. Embassy Tuesday.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said he did not know how many American dependents would remain on Cyprus at the end of the airlift.

Sun Appears As Warming Trend Opens

The sun peaked out on Pampa residents today and Weather Bureau forecasters called for warming, but an overnight freeze was in noon reports.

The sun came from behind partly cloudy skies after having been missing for the past two days while Mother Nature dumped an official 13 inches of snow on the ground.

Forecasters said at 6 a.m. a total of 17.2 inches of snow had been recorded with the 13 inches on the ground as measured. A total of 1.37 inches of total moisture also had been placed on record.

The Pampa forecast called for partly cloudy skies through Thursday with slightly warmer weather today. Little change in temperatures was expected tonight and Thursday with the high today in the upper 30s and the low tonight near 20 degrees. Thursday's mercury readings were expected in the upper 30s.

Scattered reports from several area towns showed good moisture readings. Miami recorded 2.39 inches of moisture and 17 inches of snow with schools dismissed and a (See SUN, Page 3)

Ministers Set Meeting Over Malaysia

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI)—The foreign ministers of Malaysia, Indonesia, and the Philippines met today to seek a peaceful solution to the dispute over Malaysia before it grows into a war in Southeast Asia that could involve the United States.

Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman told the three nations there should be no "confrontation" at the conference table, an apparent reference to Indonesia's militant opposition to the British-backed Malaysian federation.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio said the confrontation policy would end if the talks here are successful.

The talks, which have no scheduled termination date, are the first step in the plan of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to move the Malaysia crisis "from the jungles to the conference table."

Kennedy arranged for the foreign ministers to meet and for a subsequent summit meeting of the three nations to be held.

FRANCE WON'T SEND TROOPS TO CYPRUS

PARIS (UPI)—France announced today it will not provide troops for any Western peace-keeping force proposed for Cyprus by the United States and Britain.

The decision was announced by Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte following a cabinet meeting presided over by President Charles de Gaulle.

The cabinet session was held at Socialist presidential candidate Gaston Defferre launched his campaign to unseat De Gaulle in next year's election.

While refusing to associate itself with the British-American project to send to Cyprus 10,000 troops chosen from among the Western Nato Allies, France openly attacked the British-sponsored status under which the former crown colony became independent in 1960.

Peyrefitte, on apparent orders from De Gaulle, even hinted at the eventual collapse of the present status of Cyprus.

OU's Bud Wilkinson Tosses Hat in Ring

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Gov. Raymond Gary, state Sen. Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, one of the greatest college football coaches of all time, announced today he would seek the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Wilkinson, 47, made the announcement at a special news conference in a downtown Oklahoma City hotel.

The Senate race in Oklahoma this year is for the two years remaining in the term of the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, a Democrat. The seat is now held by Democrat Howard Edmondson, who resigned as governor after Kerr's death and was appointed to the Senate by his successor.

Three other Republican and three Democratic had previously announced as Senate candidates. The Republicans are Forest Beall of Nash, Okla., former Republican state chairman; Tom Harris, former Oklahoma city aircraft firm executive, and Tom Moore of Wewoka, Okla., a furniture maker. The Democrats are former

"Rejection" of Her Mother Isn't Very Likely!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our only child, who lives 2,000 miles away, is expecting her first child this summer. Today we received a letter from our daughter telling us that she had lined up a nurse for the first three months, and that her mother should not plan on flying out for the birth of the baby, but to wait until three or four months after. We were shocked and hurt as we have always had a perfect relationship with our daughter, and we love her husband as we would a son. My wife is ashamed to tell our friends that she was asked to stay away for three or four months. Can you explain the psychological reason behind our daughter's rejection of her mother at this time?

use it with French. Could your please advise us of the validity of this viewpoint?

MRS. D.
DEAR MRS. D.: Children learn languages very easily. It is an advantage for youngsters to learn a second language while growing up, so don't be concerned about "confusing" your daughter by speaking French at home. But speak English, too, for obvious reasons.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN TROUBLE IN COUNCIL BLUFFS": TELL YOUR PARENTS AT ONCE! YOU ARE UNDER AGE BUT HE ISN'T.

Interior Decorator Speaks at PEWS Dinner Meeting

DEAR HURT: Why assume that there is a "psychological reason" behind your daughter's decision, and that it is a "rejection" of her mother? Perhaps your daughter does not want to burden her mother with the hard work of caring for a newborn baby, but prefers that she come after the baby has grown a little so that she can fully enjoy her visit.

Mrs. Floyd Holland, Berger interior decorator, was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society conducted at Stephen's Restaurant in Borger.

"The decor of your home should express individuality. An important point to remember is that furniture rarely goes out of style," stated Mrs. Holland. "While we experience 'furniture fads', bear in mind that French and Italian provincial and Early American furniture have been in style for hundreds of years!"

"A room should be decorated to suit the activities that will take place there and to the taste of the people that will use the room," Mrs. Holland, a graduate of the International School of Design in New York, has also studied interior decorating in Europe.

Mrs. J. E. Curzon, PEWS president, conducted a brief business meeting. Members voted to purchase a banking stamp and gavel for the club.

Mrs. John Smith, social chairman, reminded members of the covered dish supper planned to honor husbands of members on Valentine's Day. The main dish, hot rolls and a drink will be furnished and members are asked to bring a salad, vegetable or dessert. There will be a $1.50 charge per couple for the meal and social events of the evening. The supper - social will be held in the City Club Room, in City Hall.

Mrs. Russell Talley, Mrs. Glen Westall and Mrs. Paul Davis were appointed to assist Mrs. Smith and her committee members; Mrs. Jack Dennis and Mrs. H. M. Dees.

Officers and board members held a brief meeting and named the nominating committee which consists of Mrs. James Moring, Billy Gillman, N. E. Turbo, H. M. Dees and Barrie Barrett. The committee chairman will be elected at the meeting scheduled for Feb. 11. The meeting will be conducted at Coronado Inn.

Nursing Class Finishes Course

A course in "Care of the Sick and Injured" has been completed by 10 members of a class conducted by Miss Donna Sims, nursing representative for the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma, in the Red Cross offices.

Re-authorization or nursing cards for 1964-65 were presented to class members.

Those receiving re-authorization were Miss Edith Kral, home economics instructor, Pampa High School and Mrs. Nita Neighbors, school nurse from White Deer Schools. Receiving nursing authorization cards were: Mrs. Catheryn Brown and Mrs. Lenore Wilson of Panhandle; Mrs. Marjorie Penn, R.N., Lefors - Independent Schools; Mrs. Pearl Stamford, Miami; Mrs. Kay Veale, R.N., Pampa Independent Schools; Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, and Mrs. A. D. Hills, Gray Ladies for Gray County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Mrs. Margaret Dial, nursing chairman and member of the Red Cross board, presented certificates to those completing the course Thursday.

Classes in "Care of the Sick and Injured" will be conducted for community members in the near future.

Persons interested in taking part in the sessions are urged to call the Red Cross office and register.

Popular corduroy adds a current fashion touch to the season's maternity clothes. Long belted pinwaile skirt (left) is teamed with white fur top and white crepe blouse for smart at-home wear. The basic smock is prettied up (center) in printed wide wale in red and white and worn with stretch pants. A beautiful basic for the maternity wardrobe is swingy coat dress (right) in velvety white wide wale.

Corduroy Enhances Maternity Fashions

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEW YORK (NEA)—Nothing gives a woman the blues more quickly than knowing she can't avail herself of current fashions. And until this year, the expectant mother was out of the fashion picture. Maternity clothes have become progressively more attractive in the past few seasons, but because the slim sheath was the current favorite fashion for daytime and evening, they did have to be "different."

This year the lady expecting an heir is in luck. There are no such things as maternity fashions per se. Current styles translate perfectly into true maternity designs.

Daytime tunics, A-lines and smocks, for instance, are everyone's cup of tea, yet are perfect for the mother-to-be.

The snappiest new look is the cape, and what a good one it is for maternity wear in sporty wide wale corduroy or a wool herringbone. There is even maternity skiwear—for the spectator, of course.

Today's formal evening and at-home designs are a complete reversal from the casual daytime look. And here, too, the lady who waits can cash in on elegant after-five fashions.

Long, sleeveless shifts and trapezes are perfectly suited to her fashion needs. Or she can be as glamorous as any of her friends in a shimmering sequined tunic over a long, black skirt.

For entertaining at-home, a fake-fur topper, flaring out over pinwaile pants or a long skirt will make her a fashionable hostess.

There's no doubt about it. This is the year to be pregnant and to look most becoming in the new styles.

Ceremony Marks End Of Poll Tax in US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 24th Amendment, barring the poll tax in federal elections, was officially certified today as a part of the Constitution in a White House ceremony. President Johnson had it as a "triumph of liberty over restriction."

The President witnessed the certification by General Services Administrator Bernard L. Boutin. It was said to be the first time a Chief Executive had attested to the formality connected with an amendment to the Constitution.

The poll tax provision actually went into effect on Jan. 23 when South Dakota became the 38th state to ratify it. Boutin, in certifying its ratification, merely performed a technicality which sends the amendment to the national archives.

Uses Two Pens

The President used two pens to affix his name as witness. He gave one of the pens to Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., who had led a congressional campaign for enactment of the poll tax, and the other to House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind.

Johnson said the amendment reaffirms "a simple but unbreakable theme of this republic — freedom to vote without bars or barriers." He added: "There can now be no one too poor to vote."

He said the main enemy now to voting is indifference, by which many Americans "treat casually what other people die for."

The 73-word amendment forbids states from levying poll taxes as a requirement for voting in presidential or congressional primaries or elections, although it does not rule out poll tax requirements in state elections.

Illinois Ratified First

Only five states still had poll tax laws on their books when the amendment was ratified — Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia. At least some of these states plan to continue poll taxes for state elections.

The anti-poll tax amendment was approved by the required two-thirds of the House and Senate and submitted to the states on Sept. 24, 1962. First state to ratify it was Illinois. The poll tax — originally a revenue-raising head tax — was older than the United States. It first was used after the American Revolution to make more persons qualified to vote by replacing such requirements as land ownership.

Canadian

Authorities said they had no other places to send motorists from Groom and Jericho.

Officers indicated that only snow plows could ease the problem, and they would be late in arrival.

One snow plow was known to be broken down at Jericho and other road graders were in repair shops all over the area.

Two trains had rolled into Groom during the night to remove stranded motorists to Amarillo, but they were the only people going anywhere.

Schools remained closed all over the Pampa area and there was little chance that outlying communities would resume classes on Thursday.

Telephone lines into Canadian were down and operators in Pampa reported they were swamped with long distance calls from people checking on friends and relations.

The storm dumped some 15 inches of snow on much of the Pampa area and Berger reported up to 24 inches or better there.

The blanket covered five states with the Panhandle and New Mexico areas apparently the worst hit with at least four dead in New Mexico from the storm.

Weathermen refused to call the storm a blizzard, but told newsmen that "if you were here, you'd think it was a blizzard."

Meanwhile, people in Groom and Jericho dug in for a "long winter's nap" while awaiting the slowly-but-surely moving snow plows.

EXHIBIT — Photographed here is a Boy Scout exhibit similar to those which will be on display in Pampa Saturday from 2-9 p.m. at First National Bank Annex. The exhibit, under auspices of the Adobe Walls Scout Council, Santa Fe District, will demonstrate the advancement and activity of scouting.

Emergency

Highway Department employees were snowed in and could not free roads there so "we aren't going anywhere soon."

Highway 70 North was closed this morning, he said. This was another of many roads which highway patrolmen had checked for safety and found impossible to drive upon.

The list included Texas 152 west to Borger; U.S. 70 south U.S. 60 to Hemphill County, open to trucks and emergency traffic only; U.S. 66 west of Shamrock barricaded because of the stranded motorists at Groom and Jericho.

"We have been told that the highway crews are working as quickly as possible, but it may be another day before all this can be removed where traffic will flow easily," Wilson said. "Until then, we most certainly hope folks will co-operate and stay off the highways unless it is an emergency."

Wilson, Patrolman Vernon Cawthon, Lawrence Macha and Stan Schneider teamed up with National Guardsmen, who were summoned out Tuesday night by Gov. John Connally at the request of Sheriff Rufe Jordan, to patrol roads, pull cars from ditches and bring as many people into Pampa as they could find.

"The Guardsmen did a wonderful job and our thanks to Sgt. Wes Langham for his help," Wilson said.

Macha, who was working with the Guardsmen as a radio operator along with the Sheriff's office, reported the men stayed on county roads until 2 a.m. before calling it a night.

"We may be out again tonight," he said.

Using two guard trucks, the eight or so guardsmen and patrolmen moved from one spot in Gray County to another as quickly as possible.

The men freed one ambulance near Pampa on the Lefors highway where an emergency case was caught in drifts of some seven feet. A doctor in a jeep was also found just a few yards away. The group brought the victim and doctor to Highland General Hospital.

The ambulance had left McLean at noon Tuesday and arrived in Pampa about 6 p.m.

Four expectant mothers were brought to the hospital, one by private car from McLean, but none were serious emergencies, according to attendants.

The guardsmen worked the Lefors road to Lefors and back, pulling at least 25 to 30 cars from ditches and snow drifts.

The trucks went east on U.S. 60 three or four miles and removed two automobiles from a bar ditch there, but could get no further. Macha said the men hoped they found all the cars in that area.

Two Canadian boys were rescued from a snow-trapped automobile while en route back to Pampa, Macha said, and dropped off in the downtown area.

Two guardsmen found two stalled milk trucks on the Wheeler Highway and drifts four to five feet high in many places there. The road was impassable and location of trapped automobiles almost impossible.

The patrolmen with the guard units said during these operations it was snowing and blowing all the time.

"It never actually stopped until early this morning," Macha said.

The final run came about 2 a.m. when the guardsmen headed to a school house near Pampa where two men and several youngsters were reportedly trapped. They were freed without trouble, Macha reported.

Skellytown was still snowed with large numbers of abandoned automobiles, trucks and snow plows reported between Skellytown and Berger.

Weathermen are hoping the reappearance of the sun would be general for the next few days.

Obituaries

James Joseph O'Conner

The body of James Joseph O'Conner, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Conner, Coronado Inn, will be sent to Norwood, Pa. for burial.

The infant was born at 8:55 a.m. yesterday in Highland General Hospital and died at 2 p.m. Surviving are the parents and a sister, Erin.

William L. Stark

Funeral services for William L. Stark who died yesterday will be conducted in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Chapel Friday at 11 a.m. Rev. Jack Riley, pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

number of telephones out. Roads were reported blocked in Miami and most cattlemen were unable to reach stock last night.

Panhandle reported sun was shining there this morning after a snowfall of 2 1/2 inches with 1.95 inches of moisture.

All utilities were working but no traffic into the community from this area had been reported since Tuesday.

Skellytown was still snowed with large numbers of abandoned automobiles, trucks and snow plows reported between Skellytown and Berger.

Weathermen are hoping the reappearance of the sun would be general for the next few days.

Texas A&M, S.M.U. and Tech All Turn in Conference Wins

By United Press International Southwest Conference basketball action Tuesday night followed form pretty well, with the three top teams all winning games as expected.

Texas A&M, the conference leader, was down at the half 28-34 but came back in the second period to thump Baylor 83-59 at College Station.

Evansville Faces Big Test Tonight NEW YORK (UPI) — Evansville, which faces its seventh test of the season against major college competition tonight, completed its second month atop the United Press International small college ratings today.

Youngstown, despite having its 16-game winning streak snapped by Central State (Ohio), continued to gain in the coaches' ratings, replacing Western Carolina in fifth place.

Evansville (14-2) has conquered four of the six major college teams it has played, losing only to Iowa by three points and Arizona, which the Indiana quintet defeated in an earlier game.

Thirty of the 35 coaches on the UPI rating board ranked Evansville No. 1 this week, the highest number of first-place votes the Purple Aces have received this season.

Neither was seriously hurt. Hickey was fourth after the first heat in 1:03.90, then dropped to fifth with 1:04.11, which he called "a lousy run," in the second.

In tobagganing, one of the most dangerous of Olympic sports, the U. S. sled of Ronnie D. Walters of Garden Grove, Calif., and Jim Higgins of San Gabriel, Calif., slammed into an ice wall, careened off the course, and crashed in a cloud of flying snow.

US Entries Make Bid in Olympics

INNSBRUCK, Austria (UPI) — Norway, Sweden, Russia, and Austria grabbed gold medals today in the Winter Olympic games while two U.S. entries made a strong bid at the half-way mark in four-man bobsledding and an American two-man toboggan staged a spectacular crash.

Knut Johansen of Norway was the day's big record-breaker, setting an Olympic record of 7:38.4 as he led his nation to a 1-2-3 sweep of all medals in the 5,000 meter speedskating.

L. A. Lakers Lose To Cincy, 118-100 By United Press International The tallspinning Los Angeles Lakers had better pull out of their nose-dive or else the defending Western Division champs might not even make the playoffs.

The Lakers have lost six straight since All Star guard Jerry West sustained a thumb fracture Jan. 27. The Lakers were squelched at Cincinnati Tuesday night, 118-100, in a game more lop-sided than indicated by the score.

While the Lakers have folded, other Western Division teams are on the move. San Francisco is the new division leader and Tuesday night made it five of its last six by blasting Detroit, 118-79.

St. Louis is a game back of the Warriors and a half-game ahead of Los Angeles after losing to Eastern Division kingpin Boston, 113-101, in the first half of a Madison Square Garden double header.

Medalists Tee Off In 'Over 40' Golf HARTLINGEN (UPI) — Three medalists drew their matches for one o'clock shot gun starts this afternoon in the Life Begins at Forty Golf Tournament.

John Waters of Alexandria, La., meets Buck Nelson of Uvalde, Tex., Bill Coffey of Weatherford, Tex., shoots against H. G. Gray of Fort Worth, and Des Byrne of Galveston, Tex., matches Jennings Gordon of Rome, Ga.

Neither was seriously hurt. Hickey was fourth after the first heat in 1:03.90, then dropped to fifth with 1:04.11, which he called "a lousy run," in the second.

LOOKING FOR PLACE TO PARK—Dale Severson seems to be looking over the tips of his skis for a landing spot in the parking lot during the Central Division Jumping Championships at the Blackhawk Club near Madison, Wis. Actually Severson of Milwaukee has no problem. He is registering 133 feet on his second jump.

Sporting Sidelines

by JEFF COHANE

NO ONE has come forward to claim the prize for naming five Winter Olympic champions from 1960, so we will have to let it lapse. It proves our point that the Ice Olympics, for Americans at least, means about as much as touch-football to the Arabs.

Of course, judging by the way the Americans have shown up in the Ice Frolics, maybe it's just as well.

Actually, it's no reflection on Americans, it is just that the Olympics have gone so far from what they once were that it is getting more than a little ridiculous.

The original Olympic idea, both way back and when it was revived in modern times, was to have everyone competing in the sports that all participated in, primarily track and field.

The widening of range to include almost every sport extant has become a little silly, because most sports appeal to only a limited portion of the globe, due to origin, climactic conditions, enthusiasm for the sport, etc.

Which is why, although some nations like Russia, support and raise teams in almost everything, certain sports are going to be limited to the nations that participate in them most.

With rare exceptions, swimming and diving honors, for instance, will most often go to American, Australian and Japanese competitors because those are the water-bound nations who most participate in them.

It will be a very rare Pakistani or Ghanian who could succeed in this sport.

Basketball, naturally, is going to remain dominated by the United States because this is the country that nurtures it, plays it and helps it along.

On the other hand, is going to go to the Nordic peoples who have snow and ice all year 'round to practice on and in which the whole nation participates, not to a country that has only a relative handful of enthusiasts.

Americans could care less about field hockey... so naturally, are never going to win in it... neither are Canadians, or Mexicans, or Peruvians for that matter.

Likewise for field handball, tug of war or individual foil single stick. I guarantee, however, that if they ever put football on the curriculum, wow!

TO OUR way of thinking, it seems obvious that there really is no such thing as a champion country in Olympics. Almost every nation in the world has at least one individual who is better than anyone else in the world in one Olympic phase, even if it be six-meter yachting, Greco-Roman flyweight wrestling or the 1,000 meter scratch.

Editor's note: we don't know what all these are either, they're just listed as Olympic events in the Encyclopedia of Sports.)

IT STILL LEAVES us with the pure idea of the Olympics... track and field. There is only one thing wrong with it... each country, or to be more accurate, certain continents or regions or areas, prefer certain of the events to others and specialize in them.

To be more explicit, an example is the discus and the javelin throw. American athletes compete strongly and produce great champions in the discus, winning that event in the Olympics 11 of 15 times.

part, and sling that spear. They probably had the same problem back in the old days... The Athenians were rough in the chariot races and wrestling, but weren't worth shucks compared to the Spartans in the javelin and pugilism.

Obviously, from the records, Asia, Africa and Australia could care less about either, the Indians going out for field hockey, the Congolese for the sprints and the Australians for the mile run.

Distance runs are the big thing in Europe these days, with the Europeans, Russians and the New Zealanders not even interested in running until they get to the mile or its metric equivalent.

Americans, on the other hand, along with Canadians, South Africans and Jamaicans, rarely go any further than the mile. Olympic records show that the U.S. has won the 100-meter dash 11 times to three for the rest of the world, but has NEVER won an event (or had too many top competitors) anything farther than the 1,500 meters (metric mile).

Only Great Britain, outside of the other sprint countries named, has ever performed well in the shorter events.

Field events are a Yankee holiday. Since their inception in 1896, only once in each event has anyone but the U.S. ever won the shot put, pole vault or broad jump.

How many times have we seen photos of three U.S. flags going up at the same time after one of these events?

DOES THIS really mean that the U.S. is so superior in the field and the sprints and the Europeans so superior in the distances and the non-Europeans so helpless?

Certainly not! It just means that some sports are not some countries' particular cup of tea. Nations that produce P a a v o Nrumis and Emil Zatopeks could certainly produce dash men if their people were really interested in the sport.

Nations that produce Jesse Owens and Bob Matthias can switch to specializing in the distances if they want to. Japanese swimmers and Indian field hockey teams and South African runners prove that the rest of the world can certainly produce good athletes also.

WHAT IS this long-winded dissertation leading up to? Simply that all the fuss, fury and feathers about Olympics, all the hassling between the AAU and the NCAA over it, all the bankrupting of cities to build stadia... all these mean no more than the hurdy-gurdy at the sideshow carnival.

With the exception of the super-super athlete like Owens or Bobby Morrow, or those who capitalize on being an Olympic champ. Olympic champions are forgotten even more quickly than All-Americans. So why worry about the whole thing?

Ortiz, Elorde Fit for Their Title Battle

MANILA (UPI)—World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz and Filipino challenger Gabriel (Flash) Elorde both looked fit and ready today for their Feb. 15 title fight.

The two fighters appeared at a news conference Tuesday and swapped jokes with sports writers.

"I fight as good if not better as a lightweight," said Elorde, who is the world junior lightweight champion.

Flashing a big grin, Elorde added, "at 155 pounds, perhaps I'll even have a killer's punch." Ortiz, of New York, said he was hoping for the best during his title defense and added that it was his policy never to predict the outcome of any of his bouts.

Political Infighting in Full Bloom

Talk about a sackful of cats, too. In fact the problem is even more acute for the Republicans because they seem to be a perpetual minority themselves. Once in a while, as in the case of Eisenhower, the Democrats elect a Republican to the White House, but otherwise the Republicans figure out to be the only sizeable minority in the country that the Democrats haven't sworn to protect. The Republicans have the same problem as the Democrats. They have conservative ones like Goldwater and some real gassers like Jake Javits who thinks the Kennedy-Johnson apparatus is shamefully reactionary.

Reactionary, conservative and liberal are fashionable if imprecise terms and you're privileged to put your own definition to them. The Republicans also adopt a platform every fourth year. It is virtually identical with the one which the Democrats cribbed from old Norm and the pinks. This, of course, greatly complicates an already insanely confused situation. It's as if both teams were at bat at the same time and then took the field together. You just can't run a ball game that way!

In the absence of any fundamental disagreements between the political scriptures of the two major parties, the members of each party spend a great deal of time fighting with each other. Democrats would much rather job a fellow-Democrat than gouge the eye of an inoffensive Republican; and Republicans get two stars for every fellow-Republican slain but they don't even give trading stamps for a Democratic

Political Immorality

The One-Man crusade by Edwin P. Neilan, U. S. Chamber of Commerce president, for greater morality in government is beginning to show results, but not many. What he particularly opposes are pork barrel spending, congressional vote buying and selling through federal tax fund subsidies for purely local projects.

The Wilmington, Del., banker has made about 100 speeches on these subjects since last March, when he took over as head of the country's biggest business organization. "I sometimes feel that I've grown stale on this," he says now. "I'm talking too much and I'm just talking to other businessmen. I may not be reaching the people who can do something to change these conditions."

But he has had good press support, particularly from the editorial writers. "I'm getting a lot of letters telling me to keep it up," he says.

Neilan has more requests for speeches than he can fill, from all over the country. So he is stirring up the voters, if not Washington. It is the big money that he is talking about. His particular target is the more than $1 billion requested for Area Redevelopment Administration and Accelerated Public Works.

He feels that this money is being forced on local communities by government planners he blasted on his first day in office. He also criticizes congressmen who want to do something for their home states at government expense and "slick businessmen who get fat on tax-supported subsidies."

This makes the Bobby Baker scandal in Washington look like patty larceny by comparison. Yet the Baker case is receiving full-scale Senate investigation. Neilan's charges aren't being investigated by Congress. On the contrary, when he charged that the federal spoils system was as immoral as Britain's spy-scandals, congressional leaders chastised him in speeches on both Senate and House floors. Neilan makes clear he doesn't include all members of Congress in criticizing the national capital

THE GUILT FIXATION

The danger to the United States is not so much that it will be overwhelmed by an aggressor as it is that the nation will commit suicide. This danger can be most clearly discerned in the pattern of "liberal" reaction to the revolutionary pressures on the Panama Canal Zone. It also can be detected in the current uproar over alleged poverty in the United States.

No sooner is the United States threatened at some point overseas than a chorus of "liberals," in government and the leftwing press, begin to accuse their own country of being guilty. So it is in the Panama question. If one reads the "liberal" pundits, one finds the accusation that the trouble lies with the American residents of the Canal Zone — the so-called Zionians. They are described as ruled by prejudice and hatred of the Panamanians. "It's all their fault," say the pundits, referring to their fellow citizens. The communist line that all Westerners overseas are anti-human imperialists finds a ready echo even in supposedly respectable journals.

It was the same situation in Cuba. When Castro's Red revolution broke out, the "liberals" said that the cause of unrest lay with the American companies that allegedly didn't share enough with their Cuban employees. As a matter of fact, the U.S. companies in Cuba paid the highest wages in the country. In Panama, U.S. government installations provide employment opportunities for which the Panamanians should be thankful. But instead of being grateful, they are ruled by envy. The truth is that the Panamanians don't want opportunities; they want special privileges to which they are not entitled. Uncle Sam already is being much more than generous, but generosity isn't appreciated.

Meanwhile, the "liberals" — at home hammer away at the theme that Americans are responsible. We must feel guilty, say these pundits, because we aren't doing more for the Panamanians and because their feelings may be hurt in some way. We are told to wake up to the fact of Panamanian nationalism and respect it. No country on earth has been as generous as the United States, nor so considerate of foreign lands. Panama would be a pest-ridden jungle were it not for America, and it is time that the U.S. get over guilt feelings and speak the truth. The United States doesn't owe Panama a thing, but Panama owes the U.S. plenty.

At home, we see the same guilt fixation with respect to alleged "poverty." The Johnson administration suggests that we have let down a section of the nation's population because some citizens are not enjoying prosperity. Indeed throughout the mass of "liberal" writing one finds the notion spread that the lot of the "have-nots" is the fault of the "haves." The American middle class, one judges, is supposed to feel guilty for not having made everyone in the nation very prosperous. This is as wrong as the idea that the U.S. is guilty in the Panama dispute.

Poverty has existed since the beginning of history. In the United States, it has been alleviated as nowhere else. Charity has been carried to incredible lengths, in the private as well as in the public realm. Hardly a day passes that a citizen doesn't put a coin in some sort of collection container to contribute to the fight against various diseases. Thousands of communities conduct United Fund campaigns to help the poor and the sick and the helpless. All good citizens want to continue such good works of charity. But this doesn't mean that the productive citizen, whether a farmer, industrial worker, white-collar employe or professional man is responsible for such poverty as exists in the nation. It is a fact of human nature that some people are shiftless and prefer to live as drones. Some people spend their money for liquor instead of food for their children. Some people are lazy and won't make a maximum effort. There may be total equality of opportunity, but there is no such thing as total equality of enterprise, initiative, determination and hard work.

The man who works hard and supports his family shouldn't be held responsible for the parasite who prefers to live at public expense. Each citizen is respon-

'Bonfire' of U.S. and Russian Bombers Agreed On 'In Principle' Passage in Senate Planned

WASHINGTON — U.S. and Soviet diplomats have reached an agreement "in principle" on a second-step disarmament treaty. Final details of this limited arms accord, drafted to follow the first-step nuclear test ban treaty, are now being negotiated in backstage talks in Moscow, Washington and Geneva. Slated for signing at an East-West foreign minister conference in Geneva before spring, the new treaty provides for the destruction of several hundred U.S. and Russian bombers.

Under this disarmament agreement U.S. B-47s and Soviet Badger bombers, similar to those sent to Cuba, will be destroyed in a large arms "bonfire" under the supervision of United Nations authorities. Still being discussed by U.S.-Russian negotiators is whether other nations should be asked to join this disarmament move, and if the treaty should include joint commitments to reduce military budgets and thin out U.S. and Soviet troops in Europe.

Agreement on the new treaty has proceeded to the point where President Johnson and his top policy-makers already are mapping plans on how to win Senate ratification at this session of Congress. As part of this advance strategy, the President called in Senate Democratic Whip Hubert Humphrey, Minn., Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Senator Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, for individual briefings on the proposed treaty. Senators Humphrey and Fulbright warmly lauded the move and expressed the opinion that the Senate would pass the treaty without major difficulty. Senator Russell, who vigorously opposed the limited nuclear test ban in 1963, warned the President the proposed treaty could touch off a protracted debate that could stall his legislative program in the Senate. He made no commitment.

PROPAGANDA MOVE — To sell the new disarmament move to the Senate and the public, the President's top policy-makers are setting up an ad hoc committee of top government officials within the Administration. Purpose of this group, which probably will be headed by Secretary of State Rusk, will be to arrange speeches both in and out of Congress to create an atmosphere favorable for swift passage of the treaty. The theme of these talks will be that the destruction of the bombers can create "new confidence" and "world pressure" for more substantial-East-West disarmament steps. Also, the treaty will commit the Soviet Union to the principle of U.N. inspection of arms control measures. The Joint Chiefs of Staff, in vigorously opposing the disarmament move, have warned the White House that the treaty plays into the hands of the Kremlin, which is seeking to neutralize the superiority of the U.S. strategic bombing force.

MISSING DOCUMENT — Assistant Secretary of State Robert Manning has been quietly reprimanded by his superiors for "losing" a confidential State Department document. The "classified" memorandum, containing secret details of a high-level foreign policy meeting attended by the late President Kennedy, disappeared while the public affairs officer was in New York. On still another day in the Procrastinator living room the son spoke. "Daddy, it says here that the Chinese communists have taken Tibet." Uncle Negligent snarled, "Boy if you don't quit bothering me with trivial matters I'm going to smash your head with my flask of indifference." Time passed and the boy continued to pester Uncle Negligent. "Daddy it says right here on the front page that the communists have shot down another one of our planes." Uncle Negligent sneered, "Well I guess those fly boys better stay in their own zone." Little Care squealed, "Daddy it says here that the communists have taken Cuba which is only ninety miles from Florida." Uncle Negligent sank down in his chair, "Son, Cuba has a right to have any kind of government they want." One day little Care ran into the living room shouting, "Daddy, Daddy the Communists have marched through Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and are now in Beaumont, Texas." Uncle Negligent stormed, "Dry up you silly little rumor monger." "Daddy, Daddy, the communists have taken Scootville only 15 miles away." Uncle Negligent snapped, "Son will you leave me alone I'm watching T.V." "Daddy, Daddy, the communist has surrounded Mr. Dumkinfiddle's house." "Look, boy, I'm telling you for the last time to be quiet." The front door crashed in and they walked in with fixed bayonets. Uncle Negligent jumped to his feet screaming, "What... how on earth did you get here, has the whole country been asleep?" "And then the bayonets turned crimson." James Waldrop 404 Doucette

THE AWAKENING

Uncle Negligent Procrastinator sat in his easy chair reading the funny papers, while his little son Care Procrastinator read the news. The son, Care, said, "Daddy it says here that the communists have taken most of China." Uncle Negligent took a swig from his flask of indifference and answered, "Its alright boy, those Chinese are always fighting." At a later date Care again spoke to his father. "Daddy, the news says that the communists have taken several European countries." Uncle Negligent answered, "Oh, shut up little worry box, those people are always at each others' throat." At another date Uncle Negligent's eyes were red from watching T.V. when little Care said, "Daddy it says here that the communists are killing American boys in Korea." Uncle Negligent sputtered, "Nonsense, you little trouble borrower, that's only a police action in Korea." On still another day in the Procrastinator living room the son spoke. "Daddy, it says here that the Chinese communists have taken Tibet." Uncle Negligent snarled, "Boy if you don't quit bothering me with trivial matters I'm going to smash your head with my flask of indifference." Time passed and the boy continued to pester Uncle Negligent. "Daddy it says right here on the front page that the communists have shot down another one of our planes." WHAT HAPPENED TO MY SAVINGS ACCOUNT?

By HARRY BROWNE
Editor, Freedom Magazine

Do you have money invested in a savings account, insurance policy, pension plan or social security?

If so, your financial future is in serious jeopardy! The value of your savings is solely dependent upon the continuing course of inflation in America. That retirement income of $300 or $500 per month might look very adequate right now. But by the time you retire, its purchasing power can shrink to only $50 or $100 per month. Could you live on that?

The stakes of inflation are enormous. If it continues, you may spend your "retirement" years working harder than you do today — or imposing a frightful burden on your children. Is this what you want?

The cause of inflation is simple. It is not high prices—that's just the effect of it.

Definition Inflation is a condition in which the government feeds new paper money into the nation's economy to pay expenses for which no taxes have been raised.

For example, if the government collects $85 billion in taxes — but spends $90 billion — it must make up the $5 billion from somewhere. It sells bonds to the Federal Reserve System, which pays for them with new Federal Reserve Notes. These notes look and feel just like other money, but have no value of their own — because they are not backed up by gold or silver.

And since these new bills have no real value of their own, all other money in circulation inevitably decreases in value until the total money supply once again equals the assets backing it up.

So that $5 billion extra that the government spends will eventually cost the taxpayers $5 billion in new inflation. Even though the costs of government don't appear to come out of your tax bill they do come out of the value of your savings account, insurance policy or paycheck.

New Threat In the last twenty years, your savings have already been cut in half by inflation. And — far from slowing down — it is now beginning to speed up. New one dollar bills have just been put in circulation — without gold or silver backing.

In addition, the government is anxiously pushing a "tax cut" that is not accompanied by a cut in spending. This means more inflation is forthcoming to make up the deficit in the government's budget.

Together, these two developments signal a massive increase in the rate of inflation — unless we act now to reverse the trend. Three major steps are required to restore economic sanity to our nation:

Three Steps

1. Passage of the Liberty Amendment will cut government expenditures to those authorized by the Constitution only.

2. A prohibition on paper money not backed by gold or silver will further check the government's temptations to spend.

3. The citizen's right to personally own gold must be re-established. This provides additional protection against inflationary government policies.

If you don't have a savings account, insurance policy, pension plan or fixed income, don't worry about all this. But if you do — then isn't it time you acted to protect your own future?

If you don't, someday you'll be wondering "What happened to my savings account?"

Office Cat

Here is a letter taken down exactly as dictated by a dreamy stenographer:

Dear Mr. Umpstead:

Let's see. What'll I tell the old jackass. In reply to yours of the sixteenth we are surprised to learn the super-power two-ton used truck you purchased from us is not giving perfect satisfaction. We had to sell it quick before it fell to pieces. As you know, Mr. Umpstead, we inspect all used cars thoroughly before turning them over to the purchaser. Your truck was in excellent condition when it left our garage. That's swell dress you have on New, isn't it?

It is possible your driver is at fault. Four miles to the gallon is very poor mileage for a truck in such good condition as yours. Four gallons to the mile would be about right. I never noticed before you had a dimple in your chin. Bring it around and we will have our expert mechanic make the proper adjustment.

Sincerely yours,
Just sign it yourself.

Jones — Does your son burn the midnight oil?

Smith — Yes, and a lot of gasoline with it.

We should remember that when the majority loses its freedom, the minority loses its hope of freedom.

Humble Plans Ship Channel For Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — Humble Oil and Refining Co. announced today it plans to turn 7,200 acres of land southeast of Houston into a $30 million industrial district with a $13.4 million port and channel.

Simultaneously, the Harris County Houston Ship Channel Navigation District announced it will build and operate the channel and port facilities on acreage donated by Humble and with revenue bonds to be purchased by the oil company.

On land roughly half the size of Manhattan Island, the "Bayport" industrial area outlined by Humble planners would offer land and water access facilities for industries and would be built almost in the backyard of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Humble's 20-year plan for the industrial complex would have a barge channel 100 feet wide and 10 feet deep by 1969 with some docks and barge mooring facilities. By 1974, plans envision five more docks for dry and liquid cargoes and additional barge mooring.

The channel would be deepened and widened in the third phase, to 36 feet deep and 300 feet wide for ships by 1979. This phase would include adding a turning basin and more dock and mooring facilities for ships and barges. A dry cargo ship berth would be added by 1984.

The plan would boost water traffic now handled by the Houston Navigation District by 50 per cent, district chairman Howard Telepsen said. It might mean ultimately Houston will rise to the second busiest port in the nation, behind New York. New Orleans is currently second.

US Moonmen Will Land Standing Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first Americans on the moon will land standing up.

Through smallish triangular windows, the two Apollo astronauts will be able to see a bit of what's below them. But in feeling their way down to a safe landing they'll need what every good helicopter pilot has a lot of—ability to fly "by the seat of the pants."

If first contact with the lunar surface shows it to be soft or otherwise dangerous, the astronauts will have about two minutes of hovering time to find a better spot in an area of about 10 miles.

If they can't find one, they'll have to beat it back to where they came from.

This is the way Dr. Werner von Braun described the Apollo lunar landing maneuver to reporters at an informal lunch gathering Monday.

Von Braun is chief of the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., which is developing the giant rockets for America's Apollo moon project. He disclosed that major changes have been made in design of the Lunar Excursion Module (LEM) to save weight and give the pilots more visibility.

LEM is the little capsule in which two astronauts will descend to the lunar surface—hopefully in early 1969—from an Apollo spacecraft in orbit 100 miles above the moon.

DISCUSSES REDISTRICTING

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said Monday that economic interests and county boundaries must be taken into consideration as well as population in reapportioning the state's congressional districts. Carr told the Fort Worth Bar Association that the present administration agreed that redistricting was needed.
