HAPPY REUNION — Princess Irene of The Netherlands embraces her father, Prince Bernhard, as her fiancé, Prince Hugo de Bourbon Parma, at right, looks on at Madrid Airport.

Irene's Future Kin Due in Netherlands

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UPI)—The prospective in-laws of Princess Irene were due here today for their first official visit since announcement of the engagement that rocked the nation.

Prince Xavier de Bourbon-Parma and Princess Madeleine, parents of Prince Hugo Carlos de Bourbon-Parma, were scheduled to arrive from Paris this afternoon. Irene arranged a sight-seeing tour for them. The visit of the in-laws was clouded by lingering after-effects of the constitutional crisis caused by Irene's decision to renounce her rights to the Dutch throne and marry Carlos, a Roman Catholic Spanish nobleman.

A spokesman for the opposition Labor party said his party would call the government to task in Parliament for the secrecy and confusion surrounding the love affair. Parliament will decide Tuesday whether to debate the governmental crisis set off by the engagement.

Irene, 24, and her 33-year-old groom-to-be paid little heed to the political turmoil as they prepared for the visit of Prince Xavier and Princess Madeleine.

The happy princess, who greeted crowds with Carlos outside Soedstijk palace Sunday, decided to take her in-laws on a tour of Amsterdam's scenic canals.

Reliable sources said the blonde, green-eyed princess plans to marry Carlos in civil and religious ceremonies in Paris at the end of April or early in May. They officially announced their engagement early Sunday.

On Wednesday Johnson will follow a practice started last year by the late President John F. Kennedy in greeting civil rights leaders at a White House reception in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

Douglas-Horne is due to arrive Wednesday from Ottawa, where he is holding talks today and Tuesday with Canadian officials. The British prime minister will spend two days in Washington.

The White House meetings will be the first between Douglas-Horne and Johnson since the British leader came here in November to attend Kennedy's funeral.

On Friday Johnson plans to fly to St. Louis to speak at ceremonies commemorating the city's 200th anniversary.

Propeller Kills Airplane Rider
AMITYVILLE, N.Y. (UPI)—A 16-year-old girl jumped from a small private plane after her first airplane ride Sunday and walked into the still-spinning propeller. She was killed instantly.

'Pilot to Tower, This is Greyhound 105—Coming In'

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—"Next time take the bus and leave the driving to us."

These words from a television commercial might well have been running through the mind of private airplane pilot James Brown of Stockton, Calif., Saturday as he rode the bus home.

He had taken off earlier in a chartered amphibious airplane, but an oil leak forced him down about 300 yards off the Southern California shoreline near Carpinteria, south of Santa Barbara.

Before the Coast Guard could reach him, the plane took on water and sank. Surfers brought him to shore safely on a board. He caught a bus for Stockton.

Full Boycott Closes School in Alabama

NOTASULGA, Ala. (UPI)—A 100 per cent boycott by white students today closed Macon County High School and a bomb threat shut down newly-integrated Shorter High School a few miles away.

About 75 elementary students showed up for classes at the three-story gray stucco Notasulga school, but the high school was closed when not a single white student arrived.

Notasulga was rural Macon County's last all-white school. Six Negroes entered Shorter last week and six others were assigned to Notasulga by a federal judge after another boycott shut Tuskegee High School. Shorter was closed shortly after the anonymous bomb threat.

Shorter Principal N. S. Harden turned away all students, including the six Negroes, after he received word that a bomb had been planted in the one-story brick building. A thorough search failed to uncover any explosives.

The six Negroes assigned to Notasulga did not appear for classes.

Mayor On Screen
Most of the white students boycotting Notasulga planned to enroll at the private, segregated Macon Academy in nearby Tuskegee or at the high school in Reeltown in adjoining Tallapoosa County.

In Montgomery, Gov. George Wallace went ahead with plans to fly to the Midwest for a speaking tour. An aide said Wallace would keep in touch with the integration crisis in Macon County and return to Alabama "within a matter of hours" if necessary.

District Court Also Victim Of Snowstorm
District Court became a victim of the current winter weather today when Judge Lewis Goodrich dismissed a summoned jury which was slated to begin hearings on a number of civil and criminal actions.

The judge dismissed the jury in order to avoid any serious traffic problems or hardship due to the weather.

The court docket showed 10 civil cases for jury trial with one slated for non-jury action. A criminal court docket was not prepared, but District Attorney Bill Waters said at least eight cases were pending, including one murder charge.

Turks, Greeks Still Fighting Near Nicosia

British Paratroopers Rush In to Halt Worst Battle Yet

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Greek and Turkish Cypriots battled each other again in heavy fighting today near a British base on this troubled island.

British paratroopers rushed in to stop the fighting, but not before it mushroomed into one of the worst clashes since the truce which came into effect early last month.

At least one Greek Cypriot was killed and one Turkish Cypriot was wounded in the shooting, the heaviest since last Thursday's skirmish at the village of Ayios Sozomenos.

The new clash came as American and Allied diplomats rushed emergency peace negotiations to head off a possible full-scale civil war in Cyprus.

Meanwhile, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said that "all U. S. government dependents were evacuated by last Thursday." It was authoritatively learned that U.S. Ambassador Fraser Wilkins was sending his two sons to the United States, but his wife would remain here.

Altogether, 833 American dependents have been evacuated, and it was learned that strong pressure was being brought to bear on the estimated 430 private American citizens here to evacuate their wives and families.

The spokesman added that the evacuation of non-essential male government employees "is under discussion." He said that while the evacuation is "still technically voluntary, they are in fact now virtually being ordered out."

The move reflected increasing U.S. concern over the worsening security situation here. British sources warned that a resumption of serious fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots "almost certainly would provoke major Turkish intervention" that could result in a clash with Greece.

In an attempt to head off a flare-up along NATO's Eastern Defense flank, U.S. Undersecretary of State George Ball arrived in Athens for urgent meetings with the U.S. ambassadors to Cyprus, Greece and Turkey.

Kidnap Case Goes to Court In California

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A trial involving the classic ingredients of kidnaping and Hollywood celebrities — the Frank Sinatra family — opens today in federal court.

Most of the hidden details of the kidnaping of 19-year-old Frank Sinatra Jr. from a Lake Tahoe motel in northern California Dec. 8 are expected to be unfolded as the trial progresses.

Selection of a jury was the first order of business and was expected to take several days.

That is Precinct 2 where the county executive committee will appoint a chairman.

This came about when a new box was added this year at the ASC Office in the Courthouse Annex on the Miami Highway.

The precinct box is listed as No. 13 and Park Brown is seeking chairmanship in that area, Baker reported.

LEWIS D. STEELE
... accident victim

Lewis Steele Dies in Wreck Near Denton

A one-car accident Sunday claimed the life of a former Pampa High School youth at Denton, where he was attending college.

Lewis Dudley Steele, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dudley Steele, 1961 Dogwood, was killed when thrown from his automobile as it overturned just inside the Denton city limits.

The accident happened about 2:30 a.m. Sunday. Steele was a sophomore at North Texas State University where he was studying personnel management.

A passenger in the car, Joe Blackwell, 19, Dallas, is in fair condition in Flow Memorial Hospital in Denton. Blackwell, also a student at North Texas State, was Mr. Steele's roommate.

Steele was graduated from Pampa High School in 1962 and entered North Texas the following fall semester. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church with burial in Fairview Cemetery. Rev. Donald S. Hauck, pastor, will officiate. The casket will not be opened.

Palbearers will be Gary Bolick, Jim Cook, Gene Cox, Joel McElrath, Bob Patterson, Jay Russell, G. N. Walls and Roy B. Webb.

Honorary palbearers will be Dick Batson, Ron D'Armond, Claude Bradley, Larry Carter, Clay (Butch) Crossland, Stuart (See WRECK, Page 3)

Double Explosion Topples 32 Cars

MIAMI (UPI)—Authorities labelled as "definitely sabotage" two explosions Sunday that wrecked a freight train and a crane of the strike-bound Florida East Coast FEC railroad.

The freight aboard the train included aerosol cans and chocolate Easter bunnies. Fire Chief Stanley Wolf of Miami said when he arrived the cars were exploding and the chocolate had melted and was flowing across the highway.

The first explosion at 1:37 a.m. Sunday toppled 22 cars off a bridge north of here and onto a highway. Four hours later the boiler exploded in a railroad crane which was being staked in a Hialeah yard for use at the derailment. Officials said the second blast was caused by dynamite.

No one was seriously injured in either explosion. A railway derrick to replace the one damaged in the second blast was due here from Georgia today to help clear the wreckage.

North Miami Beach Police a few blocks from the explosion said "it was definitely sabotage."

W. L. Thurston, vice president of the trouble-plagued railroad, also said the blasts were due to sabotage. Thurston "conservatively" estimated the damage from the two blasts at $250,000.

The railroad, since it non-operating unions began a strike a year ago, has recorded more than 100 accidents which it blames on the sabotage.

George Leighty, chief negotiator for the striking union, said the union knew nothing about the explosion.

The FEC was scheduled to begin serving Cape Kennedy today with freight made up at the Jacksonville yards. Railroad officials said the damage to the track here would not interfere with the Cape service.

Lepper said the explosion probably came from a hand mine device set off by the train's weight. The engineer, Joel C. Stephens, said the diesel had just cleared the bridge over the shallow Oleta River when the explosion took place.

Chief defense lawyer Melvin Belli lost a tactical maneuver as the slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald sat staring in the heavily-guarded courtroom.

Belli asked Judge Joe B. Brown to order a change of venue on his own authority, rather than on the request of the defense. Brown summarily refused.

When the flamboyant Belli tried to read lengthy news clippings into the record as part of his campaign to prove Dallas could not give Ruby a fair trial, Dist. Atty. Henry Wade objected, and asked that they simply be inserted in the court record.

"If we have to listen to you read all the articles that have appeared in the press about this case, we'll be here 25 years," the judge said in upholding Wade.

Judge Sounds Warning
As the lawyers crossed each other, Brown brought them up short with:

"Let's cut out these sidebar remarks and jabs at each other. I don't want to hold anybody in contempt but I will (if necessary)."

Assistant Defense Attorney J. H. Tonahill of Jasper, Tex., referred to Oswald as "that lily of the valley," when questioning the first witness, Frederick S. Carney, a teacher of Christian ethics at Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Brown warned against such remarks.

Carney testified that Dallas' attitude after the Nov. 22 assassination of Kennedy, is "basically one of shock."

Belli apologized for remarks he made in New York about Dallas—and not Ruby — being on trial.

Praises Dallas
"Dallas is a great American city and entitled to hold its head high," he said.

"I hope I may be a little taller when I leave Texas," he said. "And I hope what I leave behind me will make Texas a little broader."

Wade leaped to his feet and objected. Brown upheld him.

Drainage Next Woe For City

Pampa's major problem today in the aftermath of last week's 17-inch snowfall was how to drain streets of miniature flood areas.

City Manager Harold Schmitter said today street department workers had moved from heavy snow-clearing equipment to shovels.

Whenever possible they were digging drainage ways to let the water run off and to clear a path for pedestrians.

Pampa and area schools returned to classrooms and most highways around the Top O' Texas area were cleared by the thawing weather which beamed down Sunday.

Only a two-inch remnant of the white snow remained around the area and the Weather Bureau said it should melt today.

The forecast called for mostly fair and warmer through Tuesday with a continued warming trend with mercury reaching the mid-50s by noon Tuesday.

Amariello posted the overnight low of 21 degrees and Galveston had 33-to-top the state lows. Highest reading was a 72 at Brownsville.

Stand Up With the Finest

By JERRY SHEEHAN
NEW YORK (NEA) — Anyone want to get famous quick?
Win a fashion award. If there is nobody around who will give you one, buy your own trophy and get a cousin to present it to you.

With the winning of a fashion award you will be in exalted company. The Duke of Windsor, President Johnson, most Hollywood actors and unaccounted businessmen have been cited for their sartorial aplomb.

There are many reasons why men's fashion awards are created — too many to go into now. Suffice it to say that when a clothing manufacturer names its pick of prominent men, a suit of clothes usually goes along with it—hence, a built-in endorsement of the product by the lucky winners.
The recipients, if they are in the public eye, receive nice publicity—and, of course, the clothes with a pants' crease sharp enough to slice liverwurst.

Adolphe Menjou, it is reported unreliably, won so many clothes at fashion award dinners that his closet looked like a Robert Hall annex.

To win an award it helps, naturally, to be a good dresser—or, at least, not to have a reputation as a slob.
Shined shoes are mandatory.
However, you do not need the physique of Johnny Weissmuller to make the grade.

Average guys make it every day.

Take, for example, one of the better-known awards, the Groshe-Austin Leeds yearly tribute to members of the performing arts. The varied quintet of winners for 1964 is made up of Edward G. Robinson, Dana Andrews, David

Wayne, Barry Sullivan and Keenan Wynn.

Wynn is perhaps the outstanding dresser of the four.
As a boy he attended a military academy and learned to button his shirt by the numbers. His taste for well-cut clothing persists — except for long hours when he plays grease monkey with his favorite vehicles, motorcycles.

Snow Bunnies on the Slopes

When the weather ranges from cool to cold, ski-look sweaters fit into many facets of country living. Pullover (left) by Joan Marie has Icelandic pattern in gold, blue and black in brushed Orion. Laced V-neckline is a new fashion touch. For actual skiing, jacquard sweater by Beopple (right) is long and easy-fitting. Orion Sayelle in a firm, bulky knit texture is perfect with trim stretch pants.

The Clothes Poll

By HELEN HENNESSY

Every woman knows at least one thing about mink. She knows it is beautiful. But anyone who owns this luxurious fur should also know how to care for it.

Whether you own a coat, jacket or stole, always hang it on a wide, well-made hanger that conforms to the shape of the shoulders and collar. This lessens the strain on shoulder seams.

Never hang fur in a plastic bag or garment bag. It needs air to keep from drying.

If your fur gets wet, hang it in a cool room to dry. When it is dry, shake it out. Don't brush it.

Try not to carry packages so that they hit the same spot on your mink each time.
Constant rubbing can cause worn spots.

Perfume should never be directly applied to fur. It will dry the skin and stiffen the guard hairs.

Always unfasten your mink coat when you sit, and loosen it around the shoulders. This prevents strain.

Have your furrier inspect it for damage every year.
Never pin flowers or jewelry on your furs. The pin can cause damage to the skins.

Be sure to store your mink during the warm summer months. Heat can damage the fur in the leather.

A mink coat to the majority of women represents years of saving and "doing without."
So it would certainly be the ultimate in foolishness not to give it the kind of care that will keep it beautiful for many years.

Chic Chat:
Q—"I plan to take a winter cruise to San Juan, but I'm troubled by news of the latest bathing suit fashions. I have a large scar on my back and can't wear a bathing suit that's cut too low. Yet all the ads I've seen talk of deep back plunges. Are there any other styles that won't look old-fashioned?" Lucille P.

A—Dear Lucille P. — Yes,
there still are swimsuits that aren't cut too low in the back.
The overblouse suit with brief pants is an important fashion this season for resort wear. Many of these suits have just a modest scoop in front and back.

They are particularly smart looking when the blouse is in a print and the pants solid.

MATURE PARENT Top O' Texas 4-H Club Meets

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: As you sometimes discuss adults' problems with their parents, I hope you will help me. My mother broadcasts anything I do she doesn't like to all the other members of the family.
Several days ago when she was here I refused to close a front window and asked her to go into the kitchen if she felt cold. The next day my aunt telephoned me to scream at me about my bad treatment of my mother. Today my brother telephoned to ask me why I liked to upset her.
The smallest thing and everybody has to hear about it. . .
ANSWER: You're not the first child to be resented by his mother.

Most mothers feel resentment at children occasionally.
The trouble is, too many of them are afraid to know it.
Such mothers, feeling resentment, dare not think "Boy, how I dislike this child at this moment! How I resent her refusal to consider my comfort and close the window I want closed!"

No. What such mothers do is to try and gain as much support as possible for their frightening resentment. As you say, they "broadcast" the action taken by the child who aroused it. If they can make it sound awful enough, they succeed in arousing resentment at the child in all his relatives.

This is a great comfort to them. Shared by other members of the family, their own resentment becomes acceptable, a "moral indignation."
You know whether I have described your mother accurately or whether I have not.
If you know I am right, what you do with that knowledge is for you to decide.

Sometimes we have to fight
a person who mistreats us.
We have to fight his mistaken view of us in the hope we can replace it with a truer one. Sometimes we have to submit to some mistreatment because he gives us other things that make the submission worth-while.

If, for example we hold a fine job working for a man with a bad temper, it's intelligent to hold the job by bearing with his bad temper. It is equally intelligent to fight a mistaken view of us in a person who is capable of changing it.

But sometimes we find ourselves in situations where neither fighting nor submission get us anywhere. Then the only alternative left is to walk out of them and detach ourselves from the mistreating person.

For Program and Committee Reports

The Top O' Texas 4-H Club met recently in the Court House Annex with the president, Andy Cole in charge of the business session. Lodema Cole, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll. The 4-H Club pledge was led by David Webster and Cynthia Hogsett gave the recreation report along with the rifle club report. Jim Reeves reported on the horse club, and the junior livestock show report was presented by Andy Cole.

A demonstration showing how to keep a personal management record was given by Judy Cox, Suzan
Hunt and Winona Chisum.
These girls were then presented with certificates for completion of Unit I of Money Management by their junior leader, Cynthia Hogsett.

Four new members receiving membership pins including Judy Cox, Winona Chisum, Dennis Taylor and Doug Abbott. Adult leaders receiving pins were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reeves and Mrs. H. B. Taylor, Jr.

Girls taking part in the Singer Sewing Machine course,
"Know Your Sewing Machine" were given certificates of completion by their leader, Mrs. Derrel Hogsett. They were; Nicki Hunt, Mignon Nickel, Suzan Hunt, Judy Cox and Winona Chisum.

Phillis Atwood and Jim Reeves were elected as vice-presidents. Nominees for the office included Atwood, Reeves, Cathie Wilkie and Lenord Taylor.

Tom Veale will be adult leader for the landscape committee. Plans were made to landscape the north grounds of the Annex. Members of the committee are John Spearman, Cara Tidwell, Danny Hogsett, Angela Cunningham, Jan Osborn and Steve Maddox.

Any member wishing to take part in shrub identification was asked to call Mrs. Chan-nell. Each team will have four members. Mrs. Channell,
Gray County Assistant Home Demonstration Agent, presented a speech on the use of magnifying glasses. She also announced a Favorite Food Show which is scheduled for March 21.
Any Gray County 4-H Club member who is enrolled in a foods unit may enter. Each must set up a card table with a table setting appropriate to the food shown, their favorite food, day's menu, recipe and complete 4-H record on the food. A red, white or blue ribbon will be given to each contestant. The blue ribbon winner with the highest score from food groups in the junior and senior divisions will participate in the District 4-H Roundup to be conducted in Canyon.

The automotive courses
sponsored by the Firestone Store will begin with the girls' class on Feb. 17, with a class for boys to begin on Feb. 18.
During the recreation period, games were led by Cynthia Hogsett, Cathy Wilkie and Lodema Cole.

Members present were Jennifer Cunningham, Dale Teague, Tom Teague, Willa Pearl Friend, Stanford Friend, An-

Start Planning for Lenten Recipes

By GAYNOR MAADOX
Lent begins on Wednesday,
Feb. 12th. So let's start collecting particularly delicious meatless recipes. We think this simplified version of the popular Chinese lobster dish will fit happily into your Lenten menu.

FRIED ROCK LOBSTER WITH SUBGUM SAUCE
(6 Servings)
6 (4 oz.) South African rock lobster tails, defrosted
3 tablespoons peanut oil
1 clove garlic, mashed
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 (3-oz.) cans sliced mushrooms, with liquid
1 cup sliced scallions
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup green pepper strips
1/2 cup sliced water chestnuts
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup chicken stock

Cut away thin underside membrane and remove raw rock lobster meat from shells.
Cut meat into large chunks.
Heat peanut oil in large skillet. Add rock lobster, garlic and salt. Sauté rapidly until rock lobster meat turns creamy white, about 1 to 2 minutes. Add soy sauce and all the vegetables. Blend corn starch with small amount of chicken stock. Add to remaining chicken stock. Add chicken stock mixture to skillet and cook over low flame until vegetables are tender-crisp and sauce is smooth and thickened, about 5 minutes. Serve over rice and crisp noodles with additional soy sauce.

Dear Abby... Tell 'Em the Truth; They Won't Believe It!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This may sound like a silly problem, but it is very serious to me. My husband travels a lot and I am terrified to stay alone at night, so he gets me a room at a motel while he is gone. I get all upset several days before he leaves and I'm unbearable to live with. I realize how stupid this is, and we really can't afford the extra expense, but I just can't help myself. I am so ashamed of my problem that I don't tell people about it. When my neighbors see me coming home the next morning, I can imagine what they must think. What should I tell them when they ask me where I was the night before?

DEAR ABBY: Tell them you spent the night at a motel. They'll never believe it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teenage girl who figured something out that might help parents. When a girl goes on a date with a boy she likes pretty well, she usually gives him a goodnight kiss. In order to discourage this (I guess) most parents leave the porch light burning. Most kids, not wishing to put on a show for the whole neighborhood, take the hint. But they soon take to saying their goodnights in a parked car on a back road. Parents who want to protect their daughters from a tender goodnight kiss at the door may unknowingly be encouraging a wrestling match in a parked car. Thank you.

A GIRL WHO KNOWS
DEAR GIRL: A brute who would wrestle a girl for a kiss in a parked car is not about to settle for a "tender good-night kiss" at the door. The porch light should be ON until everyone who's OUT is IN. And the place for a goodnight kiss is IN the house.

DEAR ABBY: May I add something to your answer to the sixth-grader who was ashamed of his mother because she had a foreign accent? Every American, except the American Indian, descended from foreigners. But foreigners brought more to our shores than an accent. They brought knowledge, ambition and talent. These are the things that made America great. Don't be ashamed of Mom because your teacher asks her to repeat something. Teachers are used to that. I also want to assure you that your "good looking" American father knows your mother from way back, and he is used to her English by now. A person who can communicate in a language other than his own (no matter how broken) is working toward a better understanding. And understanding only shall lead us to the peace that we are all praying for. Abby, no matter how tired I am, I always find time for your column. Please reciprocate and find space for my letter.

Dianthus Club Hears New Math Discussed

PANHANDLE (Sp) — "No longer will children have to accept the idea that two and two are four; but they will know why they are not five." Mrs. Calvin Murray told members of the Dianthus Club when they met recently in the home of Mrs. C. H. Sullivan for a program on New Math. She also stated that the concern now is with reasoning rather than remembering and that parents may have to obtain textbooks and study them in order to help their children with homework.

Russie Destroyer Sinks In Collision

ANBERRA, Australia (UPI)—The Royal Australian Navy destroyer Voyager collided with aircraft carrier Melbourne 19 miles southeast of Perth today. The Melbourne is the flagship of the Australian fleet. It is a light carrier of 20,000 tons and a crew of 1,000 men. The Voyager was 3,500 tons and had a normal complement of 300 men. (An Australian naval official in London said the Voyager was carrying its full complement when it sank, adding that there was a "heavy loss of life.")

Paper Attacks LBJ on Kilgore

FUERO, Tex. (UPI)—The Fuero Record said in a Sunday editorial that President Johnson "has let Texas Democrats down" in a series of moves that led to U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough's lack of opposition in the Democratic primary. Publisher Jack Howerton attacked the lack of major opposition to Yarborough's reelection. The editorial said the President and AFL-CIO worker together keep U.S. Rep. Joe Kilgore out of the race. Kilgore announced he would seek reelection to his House seat and indicated he would oppose Yarborough. But he took himself out of the race at the last minute. Kilgore's withdrawal was welcomed by President Johnson, who reportedly wanted Yarborough unopposed to preserve his position among Texas Democrats.

Grand Jury May Be Called in By Next Week

District Attorney Bill Waters said today that the Gray County grand jury may be called into session on Feb. 21 to consider a number of criminal complaints. Waters said he had planned to work with the jury earlier, but due to postponement of district court, he would not call the jury until the latter part of the month. Waters indicated he had accepted a number of criminal charges and would like to clean the books within a short while.

Income Tax Primer: 5

Divorces Bring Problems

By CHARLES W. SCHOENEMAN, Writer for Newspaper Enterprise Assn. (Fifth of 10 Articles) Along with its human wreckage, a marriage broken by divorce or separation leaves a host of tax problems and confusion. This article will tell how to handle alimony and support payments on 1963 tax returns. A man who itemizes deductions may deduct alimony or separate maintenance payments if they are defined in the tax law. He may not deduct payments which have been specifically designated as support for minor children. Whatever money is deducted by the man as alimony or separate maintenance is, however, taxable income for the woman who receives it. Child support payments, since they are not deductible for the man, are not considered taxable income for the woman. To be deductible, alimony and separate maintenance payments must satisfy each of the following tests: They must be required under or incident to a court decree of divorce or separate maintenance or under a written separation agreement or a support decree. They must have been either paid in discharge of a legal obligation based upon the marriage or family relationship, or required by the support decree, or made under the separation agreement and because of the marriage or family relationship. They must have been paid after the decree of divorce or separation, or after the separation agreement.

Divorced or separated couples have special tax problems on alimony and support payments.

They must generally have been what the law calls "periodic payments." (It is true that certain installment payments of a total fixed amount of alimony may be deductible even though they do not technically qualify as "periodic payments." But you must check carefully to see whether such installment payments of a specific total sum are in this category.) What is meant by "periodic payments"? They may be either payment of fixed amounts for an indefinite period of time or payments of an indefinite amount (like a percentage of salary) for a fixed or indefinite period. They need not be made at regular intervals. Generally, fixed payments for a fixed period of less than 10 years are not periodic payments and are not deductible. The only exception to this is where a contingency, such as death or

Story of Slaying Witness Denied By Dallas, FBI

DALLAS (UPI)—Dallas police today joined the U.S. Department of Justice in denying a report that authorities were holding an eyewitness to the assassination of President Kennedy.

Dallas Police Chief Jesse Curry and the Dallas sheriff's department, as well as the Justice Department in Washington and the Secret Service, all issued statements saying they had no knowledge of any eyewitnesses to the Nov. 22 shooting.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram had said in a copyright story that a Negro janitor who worked at the Texas Schoolbook Depository saw Lee Harvey Oswald fire from a window of the building.

Police said the shots that killed Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally came from a sixth floor window of the building.

In a later edition without copyright, the newspaper said its source changed his story and said the Negro was actually on the fifth floor of the building instead of the sixth.

LBJ, Connally Trouble Gains Ground at Meet

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The lack of a personal visit between President Johnson and Texas Gov. John Connally over the weekend gave credence to reports Connally was miffed with Johnson. But Connally said Sunday the lack of conversation between the two was "of no significance."

Connally spoke with newsmen on the lawn of the governor's mansion after the funeral of Mrs. Jesse Kellam, wife of the manager of Mrs. Johnson's radio-television interests and a close friend of both the Johnsons and the Connallys.

President and Mrs. Johnson, who flew to Texas for the funeral, invited the Connallys to the LBJ ranch but Connally declined, saying he had to go to his own ranch at Floresville, Tex.

POSES THREAT

TOKYO (UPI)—Red China's vice premier, Li Hsien-nien said today American plans to conduct 7th Fleet maneuvers in the Indian Ocean "pose a new threat to the peace and security of the world."

He said the ship movements would constitute "armed threats and war provocation," and Communist China opposes them. His remarks at a Ceylonese Embassy reception in Peking were broadcast by the New China News Agency.

U.S. Caught Flat-Footed In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Two U.S. servicemen were killed and 18 other Americans were injured by terrorist bombs at a softball game Sunday. It was the third such attack this month and the worst since U.S. assistance to the war against the Communist guerrillas began.

There was speculation that if terrorist bombings against the 15,000 Americans stationed here continue, the Military Assistance Command may ban large public gatherings.

The toll, although heavy, could easily have been far higher. About 125 Americans were seated on the bleachers shattered by the two bombs. The blasts came during a night game at Pershing Field between two military teams.

Three Vietnamese, believed to be Communist Viet Cong guerrillas, have been arrested on suspicion of planting the bombs.

Five of the 18 injured were hospitalized. The others were released after first aid treatment. Identity of the dead and injured was withheld pending notification of relatives.

Witnesses said the bombs went off under the bleachers along the first base line, where most of the spectators sit.

"Those bleachers looked like a pile of kindling wood" after the blast, one source said.

In Washington, the State Department called the bombing "the most serious of the incidents the Viet Cong have perpetrated" against the United States since the guerrilla war began in 1957.

Earlier this month, bomb attacks killed one other U.S. serviceman and injured seven.

Four of Sunday's injured were women and one was a girl, a military spokesman said.

FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

NEW YORK (UPI)—An open letter received by the National Council of Churches from the Administrative Board of Disciples of Christ in Puerto Rico said "at this time of civil rights crisis in the United States, we believe that the Church of Jesus Christ is called upon to lend its weight and influence in granting full civil and moral rights to all citizens."

The message commended the National Council and the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples) for their "forthright stand" in voting immediate action in the field of civil rights. It also praised the United Christian Missionary Society for setting up a Brotherhood Program of Moral and Civil Rights.

Youths Face Charges In Wheeler

WHEELER — Four Lindsay, Okla., youths, who were caught attempting to open the safe at Wheeler High School, were charged Friday with felony burglary.

County Attorney Guy Hardin, acting for District Attorney Bill Waters, entered the complaints before Justice of the Peace E. D. Guyne.

The youths were placed under $5,000 bond each and remanded to county jail.

Hardin identified the youths as Darrell Scruggs, 17, Monnie Clyde Hughes, 17, Ralph Michael Osborne, 17, and Robert Lee Caftee. No date for a hearing of the case in district court has been set.

The youths were captured by Sheriff Buss Dorman and Deputy Doyle Ramsey, who walked in on the teen-agers during the burglary attempt.

Dorman reported that the boys, under questioning, admitted four burglaries in the Gainesville and Denton areas, plus one at Ratliff City, Okla., near Lindsay.

The sheriff said officers from Gainesville and Denton were considering filing additional charges against the four boys. Oklahoma authorities were also investigating the matter.

Taken in the East Texas burglaries was change, whisky and beer, plus a pistol. More beer and whisky was removed from a cafe in Oklahoma.

The two officers recovered a pistol and large knife at the time of the arrest Monday night.

Dorman said the boys were observed when they drove into Wheeler. Their automobile was

Wheeler-Miami Repeat Tonight

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

A repeat act with the same lovely faces will take place tonight at Shamrock at 8 when the Miami Warriorettes and the Wheeler Fillies tangle in a play-off game for the district 2-B round-robin basketball championship.

A year ago this month, the same two teams, with almost the same personnel, met in a clash for district honors, with Miami taking a 42-35 decision. Four starters return from each team with the Warriorettes determined to repeat last year's outcome and the Fillies equally determined to break the pattern.

Last year Miami, with principally sophomore and junior personnel, won district play with a 9-1 record while Wheeler, also using "youngsters," took an upset win in the tournament to force the playoff. Miami then was knocked off by Follett in bi-district.

Both teams, a year older and stronger, have been standouts in Panhandle cage action this year. Miami is one of the tallest overall girls teams in the Panhandle, featuring 5-8½ Connie Dodson, 5-9 Marilyn Murphy and 5-7 Cheryl Gill in the frontcourt, relieved by freshman Beverly Weise, 5-8, and the team "midnet," 3-1 Cheryl Jackson. Four girls alternate starting backcourt duties, 5-11 Martha Paris, 5-7 Cindy Coffee, 5-6½ Ruth Ann Cunningham and 5-7 freshman Judy Anderson.

Connie, unanimous all-district as a sophomore, led Miami's scoring surge last year with a 25-point average and has upped it over 26 points per game this season. "Patches" is one of the deadliest shots in the area on drives and jumps and can't miss at the free throw line, in addition to displaying astonishing grace and ball-handling ability for a big girl.

Marilyn and Cheryl are also returning starters from last year's tussle. Marilyn, honorable mention all-district, is a tremendous offensive rebounder, averaging 18 points a game last season and this on rebound and close-in shots. Playmaker Cheryl is accounting for 12 points a game in the high-scoring Miami attack.

Estelle Fillingim is the only one of Wheeler's forwards who returns from the starting lineup last year. Although twin sister Mozelle has outgrown her by half an inch, the 5-9½ post forward is deadly from anywhere on the court, her rebounding and hook shot averaging close to 25 points a game. 5-4 Lynda Batey is a deadly sniper, averaging 14 points a game, with Bev Clark and Donna Sue Ford, each 5-6, alternating the other spot, Bev hitting 12-14 points per game and Donna Sue also in double figures.

Wheeler's backcourt are all veterans, headed by the 5-10 all-district Mozelle, backed by honorable mention all-district Gwen Barnes, 5-4, and Vickie Walker, also 5-4.

Record-wise, Miami, once ranked 15th in the state, is more impressive with a 21-5 season mark. Wheeler is the only class B team the Warriorettes have lost to, as three of their defeats came at the hands of Class AA Spearman, fifth-ranked in the state, and the fourth of the Gruver Tournament, to hostess Class A Gruver, 12th-rated in the state. It was the only tournament loss the Warriorettes suffered as they took two trophies and posted a 10-4 pre-district record.

Wheeler got off to a slow start due to their early-season games being cancelled while the football team was in the playoffs, but came on to post a 16-3 record. District foe Briscoe upset them in the Canadian Tournament and towering Spearman topped them in the finals of the Shamrock Tournament.

Past performances indicate anything can happen as the two teams each won on their home courts in two of the best girls games seen in the Panhandle this season, Miami slipping to a 58-54 win and Wheeler to a 50-46 overtime triumph.

Same site, same teams, same goal . . . but anything can happen when these sextettes get together!

Harvesters at Monterey In Key District Contest

The Monterey Plainsmen, with the pressure on them, engage in a "must" game tonight when they host the Pampa Harvesters, again playing the role of "spoilers."

Monterey, leading district B-AAAA, suffered a stunning upset by Tascosa Friday night, 57-56, coupled with Plainview's 85-72 defeat of Pampa, throwing the district into a virtual three-way tie with Lubbock, half a game behind and awaiting a makeup game with winless Caprock.

One defeat by any of the three virtually spells curtains for their title hopes, and Pampa is hoping to knock the Plainsmen out tonight, making their record 8-7 and giving them a chance to finish in fourth place in the loop standings.

"They're desperate," agreed coach Terry Culley. "They've got to beat us to stay in the race and we have three good reasons for wanting to beat them. One is that, if we can't repeat as district winners, we would like to be the 'spoilers.' Another is the chance to finish well up in the standings. The third is to get revenge for the last game."

In the last game the Plainsmen took a 65-60 victory at Pampa, led by big rebounder Bob Schmid, a man who seems to haunt the Harvesters in just about every sport.

Reviewing this weekend's games, which saw the Harvesters defeat Amarillo and lose to Plainview, Culley praised the play of the team in both games.

"We were shooting very well from the floor in both games, although we again had trouble at the foul line. The worst thing is the sudden way we are picking up so many fouls and losing starters. I don't think the boys are fouling more than usual, I think the officials are calling them a lot closer in these key final games. We're going to try to be real careful tonight."

"Fouls is what beat us at Plainview, especially against Peret. Plainview has finally taken advantage of his outstanding height and is working the ball in to him. Roper Roper and Charlie Price were sagging on him, and they were doing a good job of defending him from the floor, but they'd lob the ball in to the basket and when he'd go up for the tip-in, we'd foul him."

"Offensively we did well against him. He guarded Roper and Roper faked him out real well, made 19 points before fouling out. He switched to Price and we moved Charlie outside and Kenny Hebert inside and Kenny hit the bucket. But . . ."

It's like that old bases on balls routine . . . there isn't any way to defend a free throw."

Pampa Fighters Seek Ten Titles

AMARILLO — Pampa Optimist Club boxers will vie for 10 titles tonight, although the locals will have no competitors in the open class in the finals of the regional Golden Gloves Tournament.

Plainview fighters will dominate the competition for the state tournament Thursday, having already taken one title unopposed and fighting in four of the other six finals tonight. State champ Eddie Gonzales will defend his 118-pound title against Johnny Ironmonger, defending regional 126-pound titlist, dropping down in class. Ironmonger fought for Pampa for two years before severing his connection with the club just before the regionals.

Two of the three 95-pound titlist seekers tonight are Pampans. Kevin Romines meets Emery Garcia of Plainview in the semifinals with the winner to fight John Garza. Gary Howell will clash with Howard Clement of Amarillo for the 85-pound honors.

In high school class, Dean LaRue, 105, will meet Danny Boyd of Tri-Cities; Butch Lasater, 126, will meet Avery Thrasher of Amarillo; heavyweight Charles King will meet old foe Danny Chapin of Skellytown.

Novice title-seeker Ronny Campbell, 118, will meet James Appleton of Amarillo; Voy Eason, 126, will take on Ricky Martinez of Plainview; David Smith, 135, will meet Marion Guna of Amarillo; Andy Sanchez, 147, will battle Bill Brooks of Amarillo.

Yank Athletes Blame Lack of Preparation

INNSBRUCK, Austria (UPI)—The men and women from the United States who wound up as also-rans in the 1964 Winter Olympics today blamed their performances on a lack of preparation.

In essence, Uncle Sam's athletes and coaches agreed they made a molehill effort in preparing for this mountain of world snow sports.

They are not cry babies, these lean and lanky men and husky girls from the states. However, they regretted the fact they will return home with only six medals while the Soviet Union won the unofficial team championship for the third consecutive time by bagging 25, including 11 gold medals.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson of Chicago, the president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, summed up the feelings of the Yanks following Sunday's closing ceremonies.

"The thing is that people may expect too much from us," said Wilson, a tall, gray-haired man who chews his thoughts carefully but speaks crisply.

"Any great nation is expected to excel in everything and the fact is that we're not a winter sports nation," he added. "One of the biggest handicaps we have is that after one of our athletes has had one shot at the Olympics he usually has to give it up and start earning a living, either as a professional athlete or in some other field."

"Take our hockey team for instance. We have trouble getting enough good players together for one Olympic while the Russians, Czechs and Swedes have all had their teams together for several years."

Bill Disney, a small, wiry man of 31 who left his wife, his three children and his job back in Rosemead, Calif., to race on the U.S. speed skating team, bemoaned the lack of facilities in the states to train teams for the Winter Olympics.

"Year after year we complain about this but our plea falls on deaf ears," said Disney. "All U.S. officialdom does is wring its hands every time the Russians win another gold medal—especially in speed skating."

"Speed skating is something we could excel in because it's gaining tremendous popularity in the states. But where can a kid find an Olympic size track in the U.S.? One in Butte, Montana. Another at Minneapolis. There is no Olympic size track with artificial refrigeration."

PICARDY WINS RACE PARIS (UPI)—The $60,000 Prix de Paris trotting race was won Sunday by Picardy, a French entry. Duke Rodney and Porterhouse, two American entries, finished out of the money.

WELTERWEIGHTS MEET WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—Earl Owens of Pleasantville, N.J., and Dick French, the New England welterweight champion from Providence, R.I., will meet in a 10-round bout here Thursday night.

Randy's Chance High For Olympic Berth

FORT WORTH (UPI)—The Texas indoor track season is only one week old, but already Texas A&M freshman Randy Matson and Southern Methodist's Billy Foster are being projected into the Olympic hopeful category.

Matson, still a growing teenager at 6-6 and 230 pounds, moved into the world's small echelon of 61-foot or better shot putters in the Will Rogers Indoor games here Saturday night with a toss of 61 feet 6¼ inches.

And, Foster, who had equalled the unofficial world indoor record of 6 seconds flat in the 60-yard dash last Monday night at Lubbock on a board track whipped out a sparkling 6.1 second clocking over a slower clay track.

These were the standout performances of the fourth annual Will Rogers Games before 7,000 fans, but University of Texas sophomore Richard Romo trimmed more than three seconds off the Texas indoor mile record with 4:15.6 clocking.

The 18-year-old Matson thus became the fifth best indoor weight man in history and with the long outdoor season just around the corner, he may move on up the list if he can continue to improve. He had won at Lubbock with 60 feet ¾ inch.

And, just as he had done at Lubbock, his best toss was his first one. Matson later hit 60-10¼ and 60-1, but said he had done better, "around 62 feet," in his warmup heaves. Matson and Foster both will be in action again next weekend in Dallas Indoor Invitational at the State Fair Coliseum.

SWC Roundup

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

The Texas Aggies, unbeatable up to now, can scale the heights this week and start coasting downhill toward their first undisputed Southwest Conference in four decades.

But, to do so they will have to beat off the challenge of Texas Tech's Red Raiders at Lubbock tomorrow night in the final game of the first half of the title race.

A victory over Tech on the latter's own court would give the surprising Aggies a 7-0 record and a two-game lead with four of their five tough road games behind them.

From there on in, Coach Shelby Metcalf's charges would have the home floor advantage against Rice next Saturday, Texas Tech Feb. 25, SMU Feb. 28 and Texas March 5 and only one dangerous road game — at Arkansas Feb. 22. The Aggies, on the basis of their play to date, certainly would not figure to be bothered on the road by Baylor Feb. 18 or TCU March 3.

The Aggies already have whipped SMU, Texas and Rice on the road.

But, Tech may be just the

Jack Nicklaus Slips To Phoenix Victory

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, strong man of the golfing set, announced today that he will go to Florida next week to fish and to sharpen up his golf game.

But if you ask the other golfers, they hope he just sticks to fishing—or knitting.

Nicklaus, putting his greatest power-hitting game into full-scale action, went six under par on the first seven holes he played Sunday and then coasted to victory in the $50,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

He picked up a check for $7,500 for the effort and ran his earnings for one month on the tour to $9,611.

The mighty Buckeye posted a 72-hole score of 271 — 13 under par—after a final round of 66.

Bobby Bruce, who would like to be known as "the man who made Milwaukee famous," put on his all-time greatest showing by finishing second with a 274 total and collecting $4,000—his highest check on the tour.

South Africa's Gary Player finished in a tie with Gene Littler for third place at 275, each picking up $3,100.

George Bayer, the giant ex-football player who was the third round leader, came next with a 276 for $2,600. He had a final round of 74.

Nicklaus had six birdies in addition to an eagle. But he also had three bogeys on the back nine.

He had aines of 30-26 for the 66.

The Tampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Tampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Remusing the Titan

Whatever possessed the Bulgarian Communist regime to allow an experiment in more-or-less free enterprise we may never learn, but we do know that it turned out well. The Lilliana Dimitrova textile plant, which plans its own products, buys its own materials and finds its own customers, is a success. Unlike most Red-world plants, it completed its year's production quota, six weeks ahead of schedule, paid its workers 10 per cent higher wages than the state-run plants, and it wound up well in the black.

The Bulgarian leaders were glad to have the cloth and the revenue, but there's some consternation about what happened to their economic theories. Karl Marx had promised them that state-owned plants would be the way to wealth for the workers, not private enterprise.

Elsewhere in communist nations, Poland and Cuba have halted collectivization of farming because it hurt production and the farmers. The Czechs are trying to work out a way to gear production to supply and demand. Russian publications are printing advertising.

In the non-communist world, German and English socialists have renounced most of their ideas of state-planning and controls over private business. The Labor Party leader, Harold Wilson, reassured the nation on this point just this past week. It would seem that common sense is sweeping the world.

Not so. Hereabouts, our Government is seeking new controls on farming, new bills to allow it to do the planning for industry, and a whole new cabinet Department of Housing and Community Planning to affect virtually all real estate operation and conduct many of them.

Why are we forgetting the principles America first demonstrated to the world at this time when even the communists and left wingers abroad are just discovering them? Perhaps it is that our constant search for better ways this time has led us a long way down a blind alley.

Reading Thrives on Other Media

Americans, who have been admonished in the past for being cultural illiterates, are reading more now and liking it better.

Results of a nationwide survey by the American Library Association show that consumption of both fiction and nonfiction is rising—at least according to reports from 84 library systems in cities of 35,000 to 40,000 population.

"It is apparent that Americans not only are reading more each year, they are reading more seriously and are selecting more significant literature," says David H. Cliff, executive director of the ALA.

In fiction, there was a shift during 1963 away from westerns and light romances toward historical, biographical, psychological, political and mystery novels.

In nonfiction, science and technology, health, travel, education, business and international affairs were favorite topics.

Significantly, rather than competing with libraries for people's time, the communications media—newspapers, magazines, radio, television—have generated much of this new interest in serious reading.

Librarians credited coverage by mass media for a growing awareness of and interest in the world about them on the part of library patrons. Not only news stories but book reviews in newspapers and magazines stimulated demand for library materials.

Footnote of interest in an election year: Out of 30 libraries, 23 said this interest reflected a growing conservatism in their communities. Seven claimed it reflected a growing liberalism.

Extreme Lengths

Communism is nothing more than the idea of total government control carried to extreme lengths in the economy.

Jumping Off Place

How high is up? Specifically, just where does airspace end and space begin?

The question is more than academic. It's something the world eventually will have to agree upon if there is to be any sort of international law governing space.

point for the International Astronautical Federation and the International Institute of Space Law, sought the opinion of an Air Force scientist.

His answer was that the line of demarcation should be no lower than 100 kilometers (approximately 62 miles).

Others may dispute the figure, but it's a start.

Reds Using Hard Sell in Campus Talks

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — After 100 speaking engagements on U.S. college campuses in a little over two years, American Communist leaders have decided to push their college lecture program as a major tactic in their drive to whip up public opinion against the McCarran Act, which requires Reds to register.

Their long-range objective is to convince youthful leaders that American communism is somehow different from communism everywhere else—that it's not a subversive conspiracy but a "legitimate political party."

Communist leaders have now evaluated their two-year tryout on the college campuses and are satisfied they're on the right track. The consensus among U.S. Red leaders is that they've made progress at the colleges. That estimate they have been reaching 75,000 or more students and townspeople a year with these talks.

In these campus speeches they are attempting to "prove" that 1) communism, if it gains power in the United States, will tolerate opposition political parties; 2) communism in the United States will be achieved through peaceful means; 3) the Communist Party, U.S.A., has no organized ties with other Communist parties; and 4) there can be no comparison between the restrictions now in effect in Communist countries and those communism would mean in the United States.

Although these claims are demonstrably false, reports indicate that in some places students have not been taught the facts they need to flatten the Red statements.

Communist leaders are devoting a great deal of thought and careful planning to their college appearances. They're skillfully constructing their speeches.

A rundown on the principal lecturers they've used shows they're not reading second-stringers.

Herbert Eugene Apteker, 48, was granted a Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1943, spent four years in the Army, came out a captain, received a Guggenheim Fellowship in history for 1946-47. Until last year he was editor of Political Affairs, theoretical organ of the Communist Party, U.S.A. He has specialized in teaching Communist-sponsored classes in American History and Theory of Marxism-Leninism. His parents were born in Russia.

Hyman Lumer, 54, was granted a Ph.D. from Adelbert College, Cleveland, in 1935. He has been a member of the Communist Party, U.S.A., national executive committee and has served as its national education director in recent years. He was released on Jan. 18, 1963, from a federal penitentiary after serving an 18-month sentence for conspiracy under the Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947. He succeeded Apteker as editor of Political Affairs. His father was born in Russia.

Mortimer Daniel Rubin, 32, was granted an LL.B. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1958. He has been editor of Communist Viewpoint.

Then there's Benjamin Davis, Harvard '26; Gus Hall, general secretary of the Communist Party, U.S.A.; Carl Winter, member of the party's national committee, son of Russian-born parents.

Some of the campuses at which the Communists claim speaking engagements:

Harvard Law School, University of Chicago, Brown University, Columbia, University of Oregon, Western Reserve, Wisconsin, Swarthmore, New York University, Stanford, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Reed College, Colby College, Washington University, Brandeis, City College of New York, Hamilton College, Hunter College, Temple University, Upsala, Bowdoin, Cornell, Ohio Wesleyan, Yale, San Jose State, Michigan State, University of Virginia, Colorado State, Michigan, Lewis and Clark and the Universities of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Oswald Got Prompt Passport to Russia in June '63 — Abba Schwartz to Be Asked How and Why

By ROBERT ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — In June 1963, five months almost to the day he assassinated President Kennedy, Lee Harvey Oswald obtained a passport to go to Russia.

This passport, for himself only, was issued in New Orleans the day after he applied for it. That was done without the customary "name check" required for persons known to be Communists or to have Communist associations.

At the time Oswald was granted the passport to travel to Russia, there was a detailed file on him in the State Department recording the following:

That Oswald had formally declared his "defection" to the Soviet in the U.S. embassy in Moscow; that he had married a Russian whose father is a colonel in the Soviet Intelligence service; that Oswald had been arrested in New Orleans for distributing virulent pro-Castro literature; and that he had mysterious ties with a certain government agency.

As in the matter of the required "name check," this incriminatory State Department file apparently was completely ignored in giving Oswald a passport to Russia the day after he asked for it.

This sensational discovery by the special presidential investigating commission has focused attention on Abba Schwartz, controversial head of the Bureau of Security & Consular Affairs. In this capacity, he has jurisdiction over the Passport Division.

Schwartz, who has had his office repainted a number of times in the past two years, is under fire by Senate and House investigating committees.

He is being probed in connection with the stormy suspension of Otto Otepka, veteran State Department security official whose telephone was tapped and files ransacked; and the recent issuing of a visa to British actor Richard Burton, the "fiancee" of Elizabeth Taylor.

The House Immigration Subcommittee, headed by Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., wants to know the circumstances surrounding the latter.

At a closed-door hearing, a "morals" issue was raised.

MORE UNANSWERED QUESTIONS — Schwartz is definitely slated to be interrogated by the special commission.

As a result of Mrs. Marina Oswald's testimony and information from other sources, the assassination probes want the State Department official to clarify a number of matters, among them the following:

Reason for the omission of the "name check" in granting Oswald a passport to Russia, particularly as he was distinctly a so-called "red-flag" case. This category includes individuals whose files are tabbed with a "red-flag."

Whether Oswald's passport application was referred to Schwartz for decision; if not, why not; and if it was, why the passport was authorized in view of Oswald's "defection" record.

What was done about Oswald's State Department file the day President Kennedy was murdered. Commission members have been told this file was removed and locked in Schwartz' desk not long after Oswald's arrest was announced. Also that Schwartz and Abram Chayes, legal advisor of the State Department, conferred repeatedly that day.

Full details of the granting of visas to Oswald and his Russian wife to come to the U.S. in 1962 — after he spent three years in Russia. This aspect of the case involves a mysterious official in another government agency who reputedly had a hand in securing these visas and providing funds for Oswald's return. This money included $435.71 borrowed from the U.S. embassy in Moscow, which Oswald repaid between October 1962 and January 1963.

Oswald's widow told the special commission that her maiden name was Marina Mikeleyavna Pruskeva, and that she was born in Leningrad in 1941. She is still a Soviet citizen, although her two daughters, born here, are U.S. nationals.

The Justice Department has assigned two attorneys to study what legal recourse would be available should Mrs. Oswald decide to return to Russia. So far, they have come up with no answers. She has said she wants to remain in the U.S. and become a citizen. But legally, there apparently is no way to prevent her going back to the Soviet if she should change her mind.

FOREIGN FLASHES — Charles Bohlen, U.S. Ambassador in Paris, has informed the State Department that Spain very probably will establish diplomatic relations with Russia in a few months. Bohlen reported that backstage discussions on that are underway on the "ambassadorial level" in Paris.

Red China is still buying grain to cope with its seemingly insoluble food shortage. Latest purchase is some 450,000 tons of wheat from Mexico. This transaction is doubly significant because only a decade ago, Mexico was a grain importer. Now it has a 900,000-ton surplus and is looking for buyers. The sale to Red China will bring in around $27 million. Mexico also is selling Peking 35,000 bales of cotton, and is working on a deal involving 500,000 bales over a period of years. The cotton transaction will net Mexico around $5 million.

The U.S. is paying Panama $2 million annually as its share of canal tolls. That is more than the U.S. collects. As Representative Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, caustically remarked, "Panama wants one-half of the receipts of the canal. If that were granted, they would

Thoughts on Choosing New Vice Presidents

By ED DELANEY

At present the Washington administration is functioning without a vice president. Under a law passed by Congress in 1947, the speaker of the House of Representatives — presently John W. McCormack of Mass., would succeed to the presidency in the event, God forbid, that President Johnson would die or be incapacitated. Although no right-minded person wants to contemplate such a tragedy, some in Congress have pointed out that from a practical and constitutional standpoint, legislation should be enacted which would designate specifically who is vice president, when the person holding that office is suddenly called upon to assume the presidency, as in the case of President Johnson.

Prior to the adoption of the law — in 1947 which designates the speaker of the House as next in line for succession to the presidency (after the vice president) — the office would be filled by the secretary of state. The secretary of state is an appointed and not an elected official. It was rightly pointed out that the speaker of the House, having been elected by the voters in his state and named Speaker by a majority of the House members, comes nearer being a representative of the people than the secretary of state. But when and if the unforeseen should happen and the speaker of the House were obliged to assume the office of President, it leaves a vacuum, so far as concerns the office of vice president.

Some proposals for remedying this situation have been introduced in Congress and others merely discussed. Two members of the Senate, Birch E. Bayh of Ind., and Edward V. Long of Mo., sponsored a resolution which they seem to believe will simplify the problem. The specific change they suggest is this: taking the present situation as an example, President Johnson would, within 30 days of assuming the office of President, nominate a vice president, who would have to be confirmed for that office by a majority of both the Senate and the House.

Until rather recently the office of vice president has not been regarded as being extremely vital. The vice president was standing in the wings, so to speak, ready to take on the role of President in an emergency. The official duty of the vice president is to preside over the Senate when it is in session. But in recent years our vice presidents have been filling assignments — more or less representing the President, in countries around the globe. They have been given other chores to do and very seldom do we find the vice president presiding over the Senate. There is nearly always some senator designated as "president pro tempore." Not infrequently he is one who has scant knowledge of the proper legislative procedures.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) who occasionally has a constructive idea, made another suggestion which seems to have merit. Pointing out, as has just been done, the many tasks that are assigned to vice president, have sworn to destroy us. Self-confessed liars and treacherous deceivers we know them to be and yet we continue to negotiate agreements and seek understandings with them. No wonder they call us "blind deal-mates." And we receive their spies, disguised as diplomats and cultural exchange people among us.

Building up our gold reserve, therefore, becomes a matter of the most urgent importance. Drastic action should be taken to preserve our present gold stock and an active campaign of gold accumulation both by purchase abroad and by mining in our own country should be pursued with great diligence.

We see these things happening in our midst today. Trade, aid, credit, cash foolishly, trustingly and generously being extended to our deadly enemies who get nothing because the receipts do not equal the interest payments on the debt to build the Canal. And there are no profits from the Canal, because we have never made enough to liquidate our original cost of construction."

It would appear that we have enough such assignments to keep two vice presidents busy. And that is just what Keating proposed. Undoubtedly, we feel that idea to be adopted, they would be a first and second vice president, as we find in scores of large financial and industrial concerns. One of them, as Keating observes, could be designated to preside over the Senate and the other to carry on with those foreign mission tasks which seem to engage so many of our officials. We recall that when Richard Nixon was vice president, he was sent hitting and you — even to exchanging some terse words with Nick Khrushchey in Moscow. When Mr. Johnson was vice president he was sent on visits to various lands. He went to Berlin to rail morale when the Wall was built he wangled a camel driver for Pakistan to come here for a look-see. It was good publicity for Johnson and Pakistan. Also when vice president, Johnson was host for some top-flight foreign officials at his Texas ranch — such as Konrad Adenauer, when he was chancellor of West Germany.

A constitutional amendment would be required to provide an extra vice president, but that is the way we got the Bill of Rights, women's suffrage, prohibition — and the way we got rid of it. Two vice president would be something for the political potates to worry about at national conventions. After they have difficulty settling one, so by naming two they might placate factions in their party. But suppose, for instance the number one or number two Veeper on the GOP ticket got more votes than his opposite number on the Demo ticket. Then would we have one Veeper from each party? Might be a good idea.

Long of Mo., sponsored a resolution which they seem to believe will simplify the problem. ATOMS FOR PEACE—Twenty-three nuclear explosions generating a force of 1,830 kilotons could slash a two-mile highway and railroad through California's Bristol Mountains, as shown on this model. The blasts would move 68 million cubic yards of earth for an estimated $7 million less than conventional methods. This project is one of several under study by the Atomic Energy Commission's Plowshare Program, which is concerned with developing peaceful uses for nuclear energy.

Acme Mattress Offers Fast Custom Service

Whatever your mattress needs, Acme Mattress and Spring Co., 817 W. Foster, can furnish. You can get one-day service when you telephone Acme at Mohawk 4-6621, and have them rebuild your mattress, as only Acme can do.

For less than the price of a new mattress, you can have a mattress that sleeps like new. And the workmanship that goes into an Acme reconditioned mattress is of factory quality. Nothing is too good for your mattress at Acme. It gets thorough treatment on modern machinery and comes back to you like new. Acme Mattress and Spring is fully equipped to cut your old mattress down for twin beds, saving you from buying twin mattresses.

To get more rest and relaxation from your sleep, have Acme Mattress and Spring Co. renovate, rebuild your mattress for half the cost of a new mattress. They will renovate your cotton mattress, retaining the original cotton. Only on an Orthopedic does Acme add new cotton. Very often the cotton in your old mattress is of higher quality than the stuffing in a new-product.

You can do all that in one day. Call MO 4-6621, in the morning, have your mattress picked up, renovated, rebuilt and returned to you in the afternoon. Acme features one-day service in its modern plant at 817 W. Foster. The cost is very low.

Specializing in custom made mattresses, Acme produces oversized mattresses to suit you. You get what you want no matter how big or how small your order. Products of the firm include: oversized mattress, box spring and inner spring mattresses, foam rubber and felted mattresses in any size quilting cotton. All products benefit from the years of experience of Acme employees. The free pickup and delivery service operated throughout the Panhandle area.

Acme features the latest mattress cover patterns in a complete line of units. For fast and accurate service call MO 4-6621, or stop by at 817 W. Foster.

Among the machines which are used at Acme Mattress Co. are the felting, rolledge, renovating, tape edge, sewing machines and sterilizer. These are used with other machines to produce the best in mattress making.

Come in at 817 W. Foster and visit the Acme Mattress and Spring Co. Inspect the modern machines used in mattress making. Just telephone Mohawk 4-6621 for free pickup and delivery service.

ANGRY OVER OFFER
NORMANDY, England (UPI)—Derek St. Clair Stannard, an official of the Royal Agricultural Society, is angry about a job he was offered as a level crossing keeper.

Stannard was offered the job by British Railways because he has a level crossing at the bottom of his garden. Anyone going to or from his $30,000 home must use it. "Ridiculous," Stannard said Sunday. "We'd be nipping out every few minutes to open the gates for ourselves or visitors."

FREIGHTER SINKS
JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—A search was launched Saturday for two crewmen missing after an Indonesian freighter sank between the islands of Makassar and Surabaya. Fifteen men were rescued.

Booker Man Gets Contract On Miami Job

MIAMI—County Commissioners Friday awarded an $8,845 contract to Joe Duke, Booker contractor, for remodeling the interior of the Roberts County courthouse.

Duke's bid of $8,300 was increased slightly when the court decided to install acoustical ceilings in the rest rooms of the building. Four contractors submitted bids.

Work was scheduled to begin Monday, but has been postponed due to the bad weather. The contract calls for completion of the work within 90 days.

The court also awarded $1,350 contract to the Miami Lumber Company for installing new tile floors in the district courtroom, jury room, jury bedroom, basement hallway and rest rooms.

The re-wiring and installation of new lighting fixtures in the courtroom will be done by Thompson Farm and Home Supply.

Duke's contract calls for the ceiling in the district courtroom, jury room, jury bedroom, county agent's office and the

HAS EXPLANATION

MANCHESTER, England—(UPI)—Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank radio-telescope, had an explanation Saturday for a malfunction in the super-sensitive electronic device. He said the telescope was jammed by the ignition of a car parked in a lover's lane near the observatory.

FOG SNARLS TRAFFIC
LONDON (UPI)—Early-morning fog snarled air and rail traffic in Southern England Saturday.

A spokesman at London Airport said both incoming and outgoing service was affected. Several flights were diverted to Manchester and Prestwick, Scotland, while other planes from North America flew direct to Frankfurt, West Germany.

Suburban trains were delayed by fog and road traffic in some areas around London was slowed to a crawl.

ASCS office as well as refinishing part of the furniture in the district court room and repainting all but five rooms.

Plans to install new aluminum doors at all four entrances to the building were also approved.
