Conflicting Reports on Ike Confuses GOP Delegation

Safety Council Predicts 550 Will Die in Holiday Accidents

By United Press International
The festive Fourth of July holiday weekend begins tonight with a warning from the National Safety Council that as many as 550 Americans may die in accidents on the nation's streets and highways.
Bell-ringing, parades and traditional fireworks displays will be the order of the day on Independence Day.
But because the holiday falls on Saturday, thousands of persons will be let off from work Friday and head for their favorite beach or fishing resort. In Chicago alone, about half the city's office and factory workers will be given the day off.
Reinforced state and local police forces around the country hoped to keep the traffic death toll to a minimum.
The safety council estimated that between 450 and 550 persons would die in highway accidents between 6 p.m. local time today and midnight Sunday. Even if traffic deaths can be kept at the average for this time of year, the council said the holiday toll would be the second highest ever.
The current record for a three-day Independence Day weekend is 442 deaths in 1960. Last year, with a four-day weekend, 556 persons were killed.

Major Issue is Ike's Support of Scranton

By United Press International
Conflicting reports on whether former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had agreed to put Gov. William W. Scranton's name in nomination for president threw confusion today into the Republican presidential race.
Two major television-radio networks aired the conflicting reports Wednesday night. There was no immediate comment from Eisenhower. Scranton, campaigning in Eugene, Ore., said he knew nothing about the report.

Gov. Scranton Courting 18 Oregon Delegates

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton began courting Oregon's 18 convention voters today, but denied any knowledge of reports that former President Dwight Eisenhower would nominate him as the Republican presidential candidate.
Scranton told United Press International "I don't know anything about it" when asked about the National Broadcasting report that Eisenhower would nominate him at the GOP convention in San Francisco.
The governor's staff members also denied any knowledge of Eisenhower support.
The report was broadcast shortly before Scranton arrived here Wednesday night, and sparked a wave of enthusiasm among the nearly 2,000 persons who had gathered at the airport to greet him.
Scranton was to appear before the Oregon convention delegation this morning, hold a press conference at noon, and then deliver a speech at the Lane County Fairgrounds (12:20 p.m.) before leaving for Sioux Falls, S. D., to continue his quest for delegates.
In remarks prepared for delivery to the state GOP post-primary convention in session here, Scranton said "we are at this very moment in grave danger of turning our party over to men who think they can perceive the future in a rear-view mirror."
Scranton, who launched his last-minute drive to block the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater after the Arizona vote against the civil rights bill, said Republicans should not "replace the dead hand of Democratic over-centralization with the equally lifeless spirit of do-nothingism."
He said the Republican party should be young in spirit, and "young in its eagerness to meet the problems of twentieth century America head on instead of burying its head in the sands of reaction."

Civil Rights Bill Passed by House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House finally passed and sent to the White House today far-reaching civil rights legislation born of race violence, bombings, vote curbs and continued resistance to school integration.
The milestone measure — enacted after more than a year of congressional consideration — was sped to the White House where President Johnson planned to sign it into law this evening at a televised ceremony.
The final congressional action came when the House voted to accept the bill as amended by the Senate. The vote ended a prolonged and bitter fight by Southern foes of the legislation.
The bill puts new federal muscle in efforts to end race discrimination in schools, voting, and use of publicly owned parks, playgrounds and the like.
It imposes a new federal ban on race discrimination in "public accommodations" such as hotels, motels, theaters, service stations and restaurants. It bars discrimination by employers and unions. It sets up machinery to cut off federal aid funds where discrimination is practiced and cannot be halted by less stringent methods.
Final enactment throws the boiling civil rights fight into the forefront of the coming presidential campaign. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was among only six Republicans who voted against it when the Senate approved the bill, 73-27, on June 19.
Goldwater, running ahead in the GOP presidential race, asserted that the bill's two most controversial titles — dealing with public accommodations and jobs — are unconstitutional.
The House on Feb. 10 had passed its own version of the bill by a lopsided 290-130 vote. Today's vote was on accepting the Senate amendments, and the only question in the minds of the bill's managers as they went into the final test had been how many of the 138 House Republicans who originally voted for the bill would switch to follow Goldwater's lead.
Some losses had been anticipated from some House members from districts where recent civil rights violence has created "white backlash" resentment among voters.
If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hdw. Adv.

However, the report was scotched this morning by the American Broadcasting Company news staff which had a personal telephone conversation with Eisenhower and learned that he has no plans to place Scranton's name in nomination.
ABC said Eisenhower has not been asked to do so by Scranton but that Henry Cabot Lodge made the proposal during his Walter Reed Hospital meeting with the former president on Tuesday. Lodge left the meeting without getting an assurance one way or the other, the network said.
The Columbia Broadcasting quoted sources close to Eisenhower as saying the former President had rejected such a proposal by Henry Cabot Lodge, a leader of the Scranton campaign.
An associate of Gen. Robert Shultz, longtime aide to Eisenhower, said Shultz had told him that he had "heard nothing about the report and would not accept it as a fact unless he had heard it from the general."
In the absence of a firm denial or confirmation from Eisenhower, the GOP contest also was scotched.

Paul Skidmore Dies Suddenly

Pampa Park Superintendent Paul Skidmore, 50, was pronounced dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital at 2:50 p.m. yesterday following his collapse while mowing grass with a tractor-mower in Priest Park.
W. B. Moore and Luther Sober, city employees working with Mr. Skidmore, stated that they should be young in spirit, and "young in its eagerness to meet the problems of twentieth century America head on instead of burying its head in the sands of reaction."
Scranton, who launched his last-minute drive to block the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater after the Arizona vote against the civil rights bill, said Republicans should not "replace the dead hand of Democratic over-centralization with the equally lifeless spirit of do-nothingism."
He said the Republican party should be young in spirit, and "young in its eagerness to meet the problems of twentieth century America head on instead of burying its head in the sands of reaction."

Council to Check Election Returns

Pampa's city commission scheduled a 5 p.m. meeting today to canvass returns of Tuesday's bond election.
The $950,000 tax bond issue to finance a new sewage treatment plant and improvements in the city's sewer system was approved by voters, 777 to 595.
City Manager Harold Schmitzer said today bond houses and the city's financial advisors have been notified of the election results and engineers will begin the work of drawing plans and specifications for the improvements.
Today's commission meeting was a continuation of last Tuesday's regular meeting.

Funeral services will be conducted at 5 p.m. tomorrow in Central Baptist Church, Rev. T. O. Unshaw, pastor, will officiate and burial will be in Memory Gardens under direction of Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home.
Pallbearers will be city firemen: Ernest Winborn, fire chief; Bud Hulsev, Finis Dyer, W. D. Powers, Elmer Darnell and Charlie Elliott.

Civil Rights Bill Expected to Be Tested in Old Slave Market City

By United Press International
An integration leader at St. Augustine, Fla., said Wednesday night that Dr. Martin Luther King will test the civil rights bill in the former slave market city immediately after it is passed into law and that Mrs. Malcolm Peabody may join him.
Mrs. Peabody is the mother of Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody. She spent two days in jail in St. Augustine last April after entering a segregated dining room with several Negroes and refused to leave.
"I think there is a possibility that Mrs. Peabody will sit down to eat dinner with us," the Rev. C. T. Vivian, an official in King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told a Negro rally Wednesday night.
Mrs. Peabody was one of the first to lead demonstrations against segregation in St. Augustine, the nation's oldest city which has been torn by racial strife and 500 arrests since Easter.
Wednesday, St. Augustine businessmen pledged to fully comply with the pending civil rights law. The decision was reached at a meeting of between 80 and 100 businessmen representing about 80 per cent of those dealing in public accommodations.
Demonstrations have been suspended in St. Augustine to allow a biracial committee to work on the city's racial problems.
Elsewhere:
Philadelphia, Miss.: A search for three missing civil rights workers ended its 10th day Wednesday without apparent results.
Kansas City: James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) in a telegram to President Johnson Wednesday demanded stepped up federal action "to protect the rights of citizens in Mississippi from brutal acts of terrorists."
Birmingham, Ala.: Massive testing of the new civil rights bill is planned to begin in Alabama on Monday, according to integration leader Fred Shuttlesworth.

Goldwater Turns From Campaign to Senate Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater turned from political campaigning to Senate business today before leaving for a Fourth of July weekend at his Arizona ranch.
Goldwater, buoyed by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's announcement that he would put Goldwater's name in nomination at the GOP convention, is scheduled to leave Friday to attend a centennial celebration at Prescott, Ariz., and then go to his Phoenix home.
No schedule has been announced for Goldwater next week.
The GOP frontrunner was busy in his office and on the Senate floor Wednesday following his successful appeal Tuesday to the Illinois delegation for its support at the convention. A poll of the 58-member group showed 48 supporting Goldwater and none for his chief opponent, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.
Goldwater Wednesday night joined administration supporters in Senate votes defeating economy efforts to trim a proposed federal pay raise that includes a $7,500 annual salary hike for members of Congress.
He also aligned himself with forces who turned down efforts to kill the pay raise for congressional employees, federal judges and top executive personnel.
Goldwater's campaign got at least a psychological boost from Dirksen's announcement Wednesday that he would make the nominating speech for the Arizona senator.
Dirksen told newsmen that not even intervention by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower on behalf of Scranton could break up Goldwater's commanding delegate lead now.

$100,000-a-Year JP and Attorney Draw Battle Lines

By ROBERT W. FLICK
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The battle lines were drawn today between a $100,000-a-year justice of the peace (JP) and a district attorney who doesn't think a JP should earn as much as the president of the United States.

Dist. Atty. Edward G. Marshall Tuesday displayed at a news conference a 51-page investigative report on the JP office and said he planned to ask the Clark County Commission next Monday to put through a salary rule before the next JP takes office in January, 1965 for a two-year term.
Marshall charged that during a JP's two-year term, the elected official could earn $200,000, or $100,000 yearly, the same salary received by the president. The JP currently receives no salary, but makes most of his money performing weddings at $5 and up, Marshall said.
The district attorney said this was "a travesty on justice and a shameful black mark on our court system." He wants the JP to be salaried—at about $17,500 yearly the same as district judges here—with the marriage fees to go to the county.
Wednesday, the current JP Thomas Pursel fired off a salvo of his own, accusing Marshall of "non-feasance in office" and sour grapes because the district attorney ran for the JP office in 1960 and lost.
"My gross is about $100,000-a-year," Pursel told newsmen. "I've never attempted to hide that fact. If it was net, I'd only work one year."
"Marshall tries to be all things to all people, but as far as I am concerned, he's nothing to nobody. He's got his nose in everybody's department except his own."
The 37-year-old JP said it takes about $30,000 of his $100,000 earnings to pay court clerks and other employees.

Three Killed in Train Collision

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Three crewmen were killed and a fourth was injured today in the rear-end collision of two Pennsylvania Railroad freight trains.
The dead were identified by railroad officials as engineer Carmen Blundo, 57, of Columbus, Ohio, front brakeman Edward A. Smith, 39, of Newark, Ohio, and fireman Raymond J. Cook, 49, of nearby Carnegie, Pa.
A fourth man, conductor Theodore Nally, 40, Steubenville, Ohio, was admitted to Allegheny General Hospital in satisfactory condition.
A PRR spokesman said a 39-car freight bound from Columbus, Ohio, to Pitscairn, Pa., crashed into the rear of a stopped freight pulling 56 cars from Mingo Junction, Ohio, to Conway, Pa.
The dead were in the moving freight.
Flagman C. G. Gray said he was in the caboose of the halted train when he heard the freight approaching. He leaped to the tracks and attempted to flag it down.
Gray said the train applied its emergency brakes but could not avoid the collision. Upon impact, a boxcar attached directly to the diesel unit of the moving train hurtled onto the cab where the three crewmen were working.
Nally was in the caboose of the stopped freight. He was pulled out by Gray.
A total of six cars were derailed.
The train that was rammed was stopped on the tracks by a "hold" from the Esplan tower. An investigation was begun immediately.
The collision occurred about 3:45 a.m. in the Sheraden district of Pittsburgh, five minutes from the downtown area.
Cook was pulled from the wreckage at 7:10 and was pronounced dead on arrival at Allegheny General Hospital.
Blundo, a former Crafton, Pa. resident, and Smith were pronounced dead at the scene.

Mercury Hits 101

Did it seem hot yesterday? ... IT WAS.
Pampa reached a high temperature of 101 degrees, the high for the year.
Amarillo reached 102 degrees which equalled an all-time record for a July 1, set in 1933.
In many parts of the state yesterday was the hottest day of the year.
The forecast for Pampa and vicinity calls for HOT. However, the forecast gave promise of a chance of a few nighttime thundershowers today and tomorrow.

U.S. Helicopter Pilot Says

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Maj. Patrick Delavan, who has been shot down oftener than any other Army helicopter pilot in Viet Nam, says that Communists Viet Cong anti-aircraft gunners are "not quite as primitive as they are made out to be."
Seven U. S. Army helicopter crewmen were killed in three incidents on three successive days this week. On two occasions, the helicopters were under fire from the Viet Cong, resulting in two of the deaths.
In the other incident, four crewmen were killed in a non-combat accident.
In the latest incident Wednesday, a pilot was killed and his three crewmen were injured when he flew through Communist gunfire in an attempt to rescue a wounded American soldier. His helicopter was shot down.
Delavan has been wounded seven times, including five times in Viet Nam. He has been shot down nine times during his one-year service in Viet Nam and has made 12 forced landings.
Delavan explained Wednesday that Viet Cong gunners no longer just blaze away at random. They have been trained in a more sophisticated manner for nearly two years.
They always try to fire from three different positions, located in a triangular pattern, so that they always have an approaching helicopter in a cross-fire regardless of what direction it is coming from, Delavan said.
He said one recently captured guerrilla "had just graduated from anti-aircraft school in Hanoi," the capital of Communist North Viet Nam, which backs the Viet Cong insurgents.
He said an additional reason that more helicopters are being shot down is simply that more are in operation.
Delavan was born in Castle Gate, Utah, but he calls Hawthorne, Nev., home.

Bell in Alamo To Ring Out July Fourth

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—The bell in the Alamo, the old Spanish mission that became the shrine of Texas independence, will ring out at noon July Fourth, and bells by the thousands around the country will join in.
The bell ringing will end brief ceremonies at the Alamo. Mayor Walter W. McAllister will read the Declaration of Independence and Henry Guerra Jr. will read the Bill of Rights, while Lackland Air Force Base's "band of the west" provides music.
The Bexar (San Antonio) county chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution started a "ring the bells" program last year.
A joint congressional resolution has called for bell ringing throughout the United States on the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Judges Check Girls For Cooking Ability

AN EASY SKILLET MEAL made especially for the man.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
This year the judges of the 10th National College Queen Contest will again select the nation's most outstanding college girl between the ages of 18 and 20. She will be awarded a trip to Europe, a sports car, a wardrobe and many other gifts dear to a young girl's heart.

The candidates are tested on their intelligence, their general knowledge, their qualities of leadership and personalities, also for their home-making know-how, including cooking.

During the Home Economics Cooking event, each girl will be given this recipe for Easy Skillet Meal and be asked to prepare it for the judges.

EASY SKILLET MEAL (Serves 3-4)

- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 3 cups water
- 1/4 cup diced carrots
- 1/4 cup diced green pepper
- 1 envelope spring vegetable soup mix
- 1 cup regular white rice, uncooked

Using fork, lightly toss onion with ground beef. Gently shape into 8 meat balls, about 2 1/2 inches in diameter. Melt margarine in skillet over medium heat (300 degrees on automatic skillet). Brown meat balls in margarine, turning as needed to brown evenly. Move meatballs to center of skillet. Add water, carrots, green pepper, soup and rice around meatballs. Bring to a boil, stirring to blend ingredients. Cover, reduce to low heat (225 degrees on automatic skillet with vent closed), and simmer 30 minutes or until rice is tender.

Variations: Any of the following soup mixes may be substituted for the spring vegetable soup mix: Beef noodle, golden onion, chunk chicken noodle or garden vegetable.

Settler's Recipe Can Produce Top Clay Pot Bread

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Just for the fun of it in the cool of a warm summer day, go nostalgic and bake bread in red clay pots. Interested in the idea? Then follow this recipe of French-Canadian settlers and you may turn out loaves better even than grandma used to bake.

BAKED BREAD IN CLAY POTS

- 2 cups milk, scalded
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- 3 teaspoons salt
- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 2 envelopes yeast
- 6 cups sifted all-purpose flour

melted shortening
2 teaspoons sugar
Buy three red clay flower pots, 5 inches across and 5 inches deep. Wash and grease well. Bake the pots empty 5 to 10 minutes in moderate (375-degree) oven. Repeat entire process again. This keeps bread from sticking.

And while this recipe is written for bread in three 5-inch clay flower pots, it may be adjusted for use with any size pots. Clay flower pots come in a wide variety of sizes from 1 to 12 inches high.

Scald milk in a saucepan. Add 3 tablespoons sugar, shortening and salt and stir until shortening is melted. Cool to lukewarm.

In a large, warm bowl, dissolve the two teaspoons of sugar in water. Add yeast, let stand 10 minutes, then stir well.

Add lukewarm milk. Stir in 4 cups of flour, beat very well. Add remaining flour. This is a sticky dough. Transfer to a greased bowl. Brush top of loaves with melted shortening. Cover with waxed paper and a clean towel and allow to rise

Coffee Makes The Party

For your next buffet let something "different" in coffee be the conversation piece! Try decaffeinated coffee (many of your guests will appreciate your thoughtfulness) as it is served in the Near East. It's fabulous!

For the rest of the meal serve your favorite creamed fish or chicken on rice. Add cooked peas and bits of pimiento to the rice for color. For salad, serve frozen artichokes which have been cooked, then chilled with garlic dressing. Sounds simple, and it is, but spiced with a delicious and unusual coffee, it's a great meal!

Men Require More Food than Women

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Q — My husband claims he needs more food than I do. We are both practically the same age. Is he right or just greedy?

A — He is right. But of course he could be greedy, too. There are real differences between the caloric requirements for the adults of both sexes, states Herbert Pollack, M.D., clinical professor of medicine at George Washington University. "The female, in general, requires about 20 per cent less than the male of the same age, height and weight. The major spread starts at about 14 when the female requirements decrease markedly with respect to those of the male." Dr. Pollack writes in the May issue of Food and Nutrition.

Q — Isn't it true that we Americans are the biggest eaters in the world?

A — No, not true, surprising as it may seem. The New Zealanders are. Each person in New Zealand eats on the average about 235 pounds of meat a year. Australians eat 221 pounds, Uruguayans 213 pounds and Argentines 202 pounds. Americans eat only about 164 pounds a year.

(about 30 to 45 minutes) in a warm place until double in bulk.

Turn out on a lightly floured board. Knead lightly, then divide in 3 equal parts. Put in well-greased flower-pots. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in size. Bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven for 35-40 minutes, with a double thickness of foil on oven rack under pots to break direct heat.

one of the weekend chef's favorite showpieces. For the Fourth of July festive cook-out be sure to include them. But to celebrate the occasion use a bright red sauce — red as the Fourth itself. With white rolls and a blueberry pie, you'll have a star-spangled menu for the crowd.

BRIGHT RED OUTDOOR CURRIED SPARERIBS (2 cups)

- 1 c. (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
- 1-3 c. water
- 3 T. lemon juice
- 1/2 c. minced onion
- 1/4 c. chopped chutney
- 1 T. curry powder

In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Cook over low heat for 10 minutes, stirring now and then. Makes 2 cups.

SPARERIBS (OUTDOOR METHOD) (2 to 3 servings)

Cut 3 pounds spareribs into serving-size pieces; place in large pot of boiling water. Cover; simmer 1 hour. Meanwhile, prepare sauce. Drain spareribs; place on grill 6 inches above glowing coals. Cook for 30 minutes or until tender, basting with sauce and turning every few minutes. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Relax: Continental Breakfast Is Tops

By KAY SHERWOOD
A simple but high satisfying pleasure as thoroughly enjoyed by young as old, rain or shine, summer or winter is the leisurely Sunday breakfast or brunch. The way to prove it to yourself is to try it — particularly if you usually rush through Sunday as breathlessly as you do the other six days.

If you go to early church, plan breakfast late in the morning; or you can enjoy a slow-paced meal and still attend the later service.

One of the great contributors to the special Sunday breakfast is the convenience of packaged, prepared foods. We are encouraged to try a continental breakfast on the patio (in summer) or by the fire in winter when we know that the frozen food locker will yield delicate croissants and brioche ready for heating and serving.

A bowl of fresh fruit, a feast to the eye as well as the palate, is simplicity itself to have ready in the refrigerator. An ample supply of coffee, the stack of morning newspapers and who can ask for a more delightful way to unwind from a week's pressure?

Every homemaker has her favorite method of making coffee but it's fun to try a change now and then. My sister, who lives in South America, is devoted to the cafe con leche or, as the French call it, cafe au lait. We were persuaded to try it on a sunny Sunday recently and even our critical teen-ager (who ordinarily does not drink coffee) enjoyed this half coffee-half milk beverage. The trick is to have both the coffee and the milk very hot and to pour them together into a mug, producing a frothy cup of cheer. We were advised to brew the coffee stronger than usual but better than plain coffee, to our tastes, was coffee with chicory. This is a full-flavored blend that can take to other variations as well.

For example, besides cafe au lait, we learned to produce an Italian Caffe Capuccino by mixing hot coffee-chicory and hot milk, adding sugar and sprinkling with cinnamon or nutmeg.

Dear Abby... Secrets for Happy Silver Anniversary Are Revealed

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: Today is a very special day for me. It is my 25th wedding anniversary, and I have this to say: I was reared in a home with a mother and father who really loved each other, so I know what love is. I have seen both a son and a daughter safely through the trials of their tempestuous teens, so I know what satisfaction is. I have had by my side for 25 years the gentlest, kindest, most considerate human being I have ever known, so I know what happiness is. I have prayed. And my prayers have been answered, so I know what faith is. And because I have known all these things, I know what wealth is.

Truly yours,
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A new family moved into our neighborhood, so I called on them and made them feel welcome. I told them if they had children the ages of mine to send them over to play. (I have three boys, 4, 7, and 8.) Well, they have two girls, 11 and 16, who are no company at all for mine. Their 11-year-old started coming to my house every day, pretending to "play" with my 8-year-old boy, but all she does is follow me around and ask me questions until I think I will go out of my mind! Abby, I don't need an 11-year-old girl friend. She is at my door every time I turn around, and she never goes home until I suggest it. How can I get rid of this little pest?

FRAZZLED NERVES
DEAR ABBY: If you haven't the courage to tell an 11-year-old child that you do not have the time to visit with her, then you probably lack the courage to speak to her mother about it, which is my alternate suggestion.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a tea for the wife of a United States Senator. When I arrived I was told (not asked) by one of the guests to take my hat off because the guest of honor was not wearing one. I did not remove my hat because I felt that it was my affair if I chose to wear a hat. I noticed that about two-thirds of the women at the tea were hatless. I felt that the woman who told me to remove my hat was rude, and I am certain that she felt that I was rude to keep mine on. In your opinion, who was wrong?

STUBBORN IN MONTANA
DEAR ABBY: The woman who demanded that you remove your hat may have been well-intentioned, but she was out of order. It is conceivable, however, that a hostess might suggest that her guests remove their hats in order to put a hatless guest of honor at ease. And, by the way, a tea such as the one you describe definitely calls for a hat.

DEAR ABBY: The expression that one's sex education begins with the birds and the bees is classic irony because there is still much mystery surrounding the behavior and habits of birds. Maybe I shouldn't disillusion canary owners, Abby, but it is a fact that a happy canary never sings.

M. R. Z.
DEAR M. R. Z.: I would like to know WHO, besides another canary, could possibly know how "happy" a canary is? And if a canary sings only when he is miserable, what can you expect from a bird-brain?

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Control is something every child must learn for himself. When a child still wets the bed at night after he is 5, it may be due to a variety of causes.

If the occurrence is only occasional, it may be due to overfatigue or nightmares. In some, however, the bedwetting may be a part of an epileptic seizure. However, in the overwhelming majority of bedwetters emotional difficulties are the cause. A thorough search should be made for such organic causes as bladder infection (cystitis), diabetes and kidney disease.

When a child who has gained control of his bladder lapses into bedwetting after reaching the age of 7 or older, it is most important to find the cause.

The child who is a bedwetter should be encouraged to go for progressively longer periods during the day without going to the bathroom. This helps to increase the bladder's capacity and reduce its irritability. When bedwetting in the older child becomes an established habit, it is hard to break. Alarm clocks and other electrical devices have been used to overcome the habit. Some parents report excellent results with them.

Because there is no single cause, no one treatment will benefit all bedwetters, but patience and understanding — after organic causes have been treated or ruled out — can go a long way toward solving the problem.

Q — My child, died two weeks after birth with pemphigus. What causes it and is there any cure for it?

A — Pemphigus of the newborn is characterized by large blisters covering sizable areas of the body. The cause is not known. The victim is usually treated with sulfa drugs.

Teeners Can Make Dollars With Child-Care Services

Summertime is here and our teen-aged children are looking for vacation jobs.

Our daughter, like many other girls, is trying to organize a daytime child-care service with young friends. They are too young for many jobs but a few daytime hours spent in keeping neighborhood small fry occupied puts pin money in the till and relieves a busy mother to do her shopping.

The trick is to plan a program that will be fun, safe and profitable. I've known more than one such program to founder on the high cost of entertainment supplies. At the same time, I feel they owe the mothers they work for more than just a guarding service.

A summer's morning, for example, might be divided between active play, handicrafts, rest and refreshment.

The active part might be a hike, a session on the town playground, use of jump ropes, tricycles, scooters or skates in an appropriate area. A sand box and shallow wading pool, shovels, buckets and cups are the basis for many projects.

Most mothers will pass on tips and donations of household items to help out daughter's net profit. Making of collages, for example, is a mainstay for the nursery-kindergarten teachers and the materials are found in abundance—fabric scraps, bits of colored ribbon and wool, sponges cut into small pieces, buttons, macaroni and so on. The little artists can paste these onto paper plates or sheets of cardboard cut from grocery boxes.

Saving milk and cream cartons is the first step towards an impressive building-block supply. Painted with tempera and with windows and doors cut in the sides, cartons become houses, buildings, barns and entire doll town.

A new "play clay" which sounds promising because it is easy and cheap to make and molds readily is made with two cups of baking soda, one cup of corn starch and a cup and a quarter of water. This mixture is mixed in a sauce pan. Bring it to a boil, stirring constantly, and cook for about a minute or until mixture reaches a dough-like consistency. Cool it until it can be handled and knead it slightly.

This play clay is supposed to keep a long time in a plastic bag or airtight container so the proportions can be increased two or three times if one likes.

The clay can be molded into ashtrays, candleholders, figurines, wall plaques, etc. It dries hard as cement overnight (or in a warm, turned-off oven for 30 minutes). You can paint or color it and it won't irritate the delicate skin of children—a drawback in some of the other home-cooked craft materials).

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Glad to know that Pampa is again celebrating the 4th of July. When I was young that was one thing we always looked forward to.

Guests in the home of Mrs. W. J. Cornelson last week were her children, Clarence and family of Curtin, N.M.; Arlis and Mrs. H. D. Bradshaw from Arizona.

Guests of the Jess Hatcher's were his sister, Mrs. S. H. Owens of Memphis. Ira Frazier is here visiting his brother H. S. Frazier and family. He always comes to the Center when in town.

Mrs. Pearl Erwin was back with us and C. L. Sublett who is visiting his son, Lee, came to visit.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. DeMoss spent a few days in Monohans visiting her sister, Mrs. Jewell Smith.

Mrs. Elma Hall and daughter, Phyllis of Fort Worth spent last week in the home of her mother, Mrs. Verda Adair.

Mrs. Myrtle Enloe enjoyed a good time in Dallas last week at a family reunion.

Was good to have Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Norris back with us.

House guests of Mrs. Edith Mills are her daughters, Mrs. Fred Ditts and son Robert of Belle Gardens, Calif., and Mrs. Bruce Hanson and her sons Lee and Donald of Big Spring. All were Center guests this week.

Mrs. Mattie Fountain is in Dallas visiting her daughters, Mrs. Vera Wilson and Miss Edna Fountain.

We ran out to Twilight Acres the other day and had a nice visit with Mrs. Clara Blythe. G. M. Woodward's daughter, Mrs. Sug Cobb had taken her to the doctor and we missed seeing her.

Mrs. Maude Chadions of Memphis, Tenn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jess Hatcher, and was a guest at the Center.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Turner during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Turner, Clovis; Mrs. Ella Fisher, Miss Tress Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Palmer and children Susan and Glenn, all of San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Fisher and Miss Turner left Friday for Chillicothe, Tex., to be present at 1934 class reunion.

Roy Bell was a guest of the Hethcock home Thursday.

Bid for a Smile: "Why in the world does a woman say she's been shopping when she hasn't bought a thing?" For the same reason a man says he's been fishing when he hasn't caught a thing!"

Hostess: G.G.G. Sewing Club. Service: Mmes. Madge Zurker, Stanley Brake, Ross Byars, H. B. Taylor Jr., Charley Miller, Marsha Wise, Mary Francis Mason, Harold Weidner, Glenn Nichols, Minnie Jackson.

Homemade pie and coffee was served. Door prizes went to Mrs. Frazier and Mr. Sublett.

Altruists attending were Lena Pearl Hobbs, Charlene Yeager and Louise Sewell.

Gray Ladies providing transportation were Mmes. Oma Drew, Jess Hatcher, O. F. Kreimeyer, Lee Harrah. Bye until next week.

Love, Mrs. Wagner

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY — I have lots of costume jewelry and a small jewelry box. No matter how often I straightened the box, chains and necklaces were always tangled when I selected a piece to wear. Now I keep each chain or necklace in a separate sandwich-size plastic bag. If I have a matching set of earrings they go into the same bag. Now there is no more tangling and I can see what I am hunting without removing the jewelry from the bags. — MARY

DEAR POLLY — When we return from the library with a stack of books, I remove all the cards from the book pockets and place them in an envelope with the due date or dates penciled in red. This is tacked up on the bulletin board out of reach of little fingers that like to tear and I have a check on the books to be returned on a certain day. Many overdue book charges are eliminated.

—E. Y. W.

DEAR POLLY — In order to keep frequently used telephone numbers handy at all times, I have placed in an inexpensive picture frame the sheet of paper on which they are typed. This "number picture" hangs conveniently above the telephone and is not only handy for all the members of our family but for others in case of an emergency.

—Mrs. J. L.

DEAR POLLY — Hospital chairs are often not too comfortable to sit on for long periods of time so when I stayed at the hospital each night during my husband's illness, I carried an aluminum lounge so I could stretch out comfortably.

—MRS. C. E. M.

DEAR POLLY — I have a big window that requires two pairs of curtains. The first time I washed them, the four pieces came out four different lengths. I put small tacks underneath my window sills and ran a small cafe type curtain rod through the hems of the drapes and fastened the rod over the tacks. I hung the curtains in place at the top while they were still damp. They dried the same length and the only pressing needed was along the bottom hems where the curtains were gathered on the rod.

—CAROL

GIRLS — If curtains are floor length, the emergency rod could be placed at the bottom of the baseboard. When only the bottom of the curtain needs pressing, after drying, place the ironing board in front of the window and do this job without having to take the curtains down and put them up again.

Baby Has His Day in the Sun

By ALICIA HART
Baby can be happy or miserable this summer. Sunburn and heat rash are his worst enemies. But the little one needn't spend all day in the house. He can enjoy the outdoors — just be cautious. A baby should weigh 10 pounds before he is exposed to the sun. At this weight, he'll be plump enough to withstand slight but sudden temperature changes. To protect his eyes, face the top of his head to the sun. In this position his eyebrows will shield his eyes.

Start with two minutes' exposure a day, divided equally between back side and top-side. Add two minutes each day until you work up to 30 minutes. Never go beyond this time, even though baby may now have an even tan. Most dangerous is sunning him near the water where he can get a painful burn from the sun's rays reflecting off the water and sand. Even under the protective shade of an umbrella, baby can burn. And his trips to the beach or swimming pool side must be brief.

While baby suns, watch his face. If he becomes flushed, he's hot. And overheating causes prickly heat. Never sun him in a carriage or bassinet because the sides cut off the cooling air.

Texas to Offer Many Outdoor Events July 4

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Hankering for a look at a real Texas cowboy? Or maybe you prefer a live-wire fishing tournament or some other active outdoor event.

The best bet to get in on some real Texas outdoor life is the big July 4th weekend coming up. There's everything from the annual Texas cowboy reunion at Stamford to a fishing fiesta at Freeport on the Gulf coast.

Maybe you'd rather watch a tennis tournament at Andrews July 3-8, or the big annual sports car races at Galveston July 4-5.

All this, and much more is on tap across the wide expanse of the Lone Star State. Some are already underway.

The Western celebrations are held predominately in small towns and in most cases are the communities' biggest blow-out.

Take the Texas cowboy reunion at Stamford. Some 50,000 persons are expected to jam the small West Texas town — population about 5,000 — beginning today for what is billed as the nation's biggest non-professional rodeo.

The reunion is designed for historical accuracy rather than the idealized picture built in the minds of television viewers and movie patrons.

Participants at the Stamford event are real working cowpokes from the ranges. Visitors can get honest to-goodness son-of-a-gun stew from real chuck wagons.

Veteran Cowboy John Selmon, 80, who has bossed the Stamford event every year since it was organized, is in charge of the rodeo again this year. Selmon boasts that he has branded more than 2,500 calves this year on the Flat Top ranch, where he is foreman, despite his age.

FINE DRIVER
MIDDLESBROUGH, England (UPI) — Bus driver Robert Hardcastle was fined $42 Wednesday after passenger Robert Carruthers, 64, complained Hardcastle "nudged" him twice with his bus when he went to complain about the service.

RO-DAY-OOOH!—Deep in the heart of everyone, Donna Axum, "Miss America," dons traditional headgear for Texans, as a guest of the National Jaycees, in convention in Dallas.

COURT RECESS
AUSTIN (UPI)— The Texas Supreme Court and the Third Court of Civil Appeals in Austin recessed this week so judges could attend the state bar meeting in Houston. Both courts will meet again next week and hand down decisions next on July 8.

The U.S. post office at Pampa, Minn., was the northernmost in the United States before Alaska's admission to the Union.

Dead Indian Chief Stays Hard to Find

HOBART, Okla. (UPI)—Big Bow, a Kiowa Indian chief, could smile widely in the Happy Hunting Grounds today. He gave the white man's soldiers plenty of trouble before they caught up with him, just as he did 100 years ago.

Big Bow's skeleton was discovered in an unmarked grave in a Kiowa county pasture Monday, ending a two-week hunt.

The Army had thrown into the search all the modern resources it has gained since bluecoated cavalry chased Big Bow over the plains—including Big Helicopters, bulldozers and mine detectors.

But in the end—just like the old days—it took an Indian to find an Indian.

The Army has been reburied old Kiowa chiefs in the Ft. Sill post cemetery and wanted Big Bow to join two others already reburied there, the fierce Sataanta and Stumbling Bear.

Reburial ceremonies for Big Bow had been scheduled for June 13, but had to be called off when his grave could not be found. The general location had been passed down, but the exact spot was unknown.

He died in 1901 and the grave was originally marked with a stake, but the weather and local farmers obliterated all trace of the spot.

Helicopters swooped over the plains in an attempt to locate the grave's outline by soil color or irregularity. Mine detectors were used, on the theory that Big Bow, a signer of the Arkansas treaty of 1865, went to his grave wearing the treaty medal he always wore when alive.

Finally, authorities called on a descendant of Big Bow for help. Mrs. Win Goodmah, who attended the original burial ceremony, pointed out the grave in a pasture 150 yards north of the Elk Creek Indian cemetery, right in the area where everybody thought it was all along.

Police Chief Jailed For Vulgar Language

BELEN, N.M. (UPI)—Belen police chief Eliego Baca was found guilty Tuesday of speaking in vulgar terms to a town councilman and sentenced to five days in jail.

Justice of the Peace William Place also levied a $10 fine against Baca for the incident which took place following a June 1 council meeting.

The charge—technically a charge of assault—was brought against Baca by town councilman Vicente B. Chavez, who claimed Baca addressed him in vulgar terms.

Baca was released on an appeal bond and will appeal the case to district court.

TRUCKER KILLED

DEVERS, Tex. (UPI)—A semi-trailer truck swerved off U.S. Highway 90 Tuesday night, rammed a parked car and burst into flames. Driver Ronald J. Hebert, 27, of Scott, La., died several hours later in a Galveston hospital.

Wagon Train Master Happy with Show

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Howard Christie, producer of "Wagon Train," is as happy as a two-dollar bettor with a winning horse.

In fact, he thinks he has a winning horse.

Howard finally landed the nag for a segment of his popular western series on ABC-TV. The producer conducted one of the largest talent hunts in Hollywood history, seeking a horse that weighed more than a ton.

Once the word got out that Christie wanted a beefy nag, the horse lovers across the nation sprang to action.

"We got hundreds of pictures of horses from all over this country and Canada," he said. "I got more pictures of old nags—from donkeys to burrows—with letters saying they were ready for the glue factory. A lot of the owners wrote the letter as if the horse wrote it—in the first person."

Howard should have said "in the first horse."

After weeks of searching, Christie found his horse, a giant of a thing that formerly worked at nearby Santa Anita race track.

The fact that Christie's horse worked at Santa Anita should not at all indicate its speed. Actually, the animal pulled the starting gate, a humble worker.

"Now he's a star," exclaimed Christie, brimming with confidence over his discovery.

"We call the horse Herman. He was retired from the track about three or four months ago. Now he just watches the other horses work."

The good thing about Herman is that he didn't need any makeup to play an older horse.

"I think he's 17 years old," said Christie. "But we claim in the script that he's 35-year-old. Nobody would know the difference but another horse."

Automation and Unemployment Balance Has Its Ups-and-Downs

By MARGARET A. KILGORE, WASHINGTON (UPI)—Is the solution to poverty the building of a government-owned ski tow in Pennsylvania?

Is it a good idea to build a motel in Texas with taxpayers' funds while down the road a privately-owned motel loses business because it can't compete on equal terms?

The Kennedy-Johnson administrations may go down as the era which tried to strike a balance between automation and unemployment, but the effort will have had its ups-and-downs.

Congress now is being asked to declare "war on poverty" and approve an anti-poverty program, an Appalachia program and miscellaneous loan-guarantee projects.

But many congressmen from both parties appear distressed and uneasy when they recall one of the last giant programs they okayed to "get this country moving again." It has become the much-maligned Area Redevelopment Administration (ARA).

The question is: Is pouring federal money unlimited into an area the answer to wiping out poverty?

The ARA was signed into being by the late President Kennedy in May, 1961. It was his first major legislative proposal.

The 1389 million program provided for technical assistance, training programs, loans and grants to help bring industry and jobs to chronically-depressed areas.

Two years later, the House voiced strong opposition to the Senate-passed program by defeating legislation providing an additional $455 million to expand.

The entire ARA program will expire in 1965 unless presently feeble attempts are beefed up to extract it from the powerful House Rules Committee. A single hearing to bring the bill up to another vote was held several weeks ago, but nothing more has been done.

ARA Administrator William L. Batt Jr. says, in effect, "come on fellows, give us a chance."

Batt says the program was launched at a very difficult time, when unemployment was a general national problem along with retarded economic growth.

"Its real test," says Batt, "will come as new trends and policies — including the effects of tax-reduction, expanded manpower training, youth development and other automation-beating solutions — come into being and restore the general economy."

Sar A. Levitan, research professor of labor economics at George Washington University who helped draft the original aid to depressed areas bill sponsored by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., says of ARA: "The package of tools which Congress gave the ARA to combat unemployment in depressed areas is in itself extremely limited. There is nothing in the act which offers any real incentive to channel blue-chip or established industry to depressed areas."

He said 4 per cent interest on venture capital is not an "effective carrot" to dangle before successful corporations. The requirement that the local citizenry chip in at least 10 per cent of the required funds in any venture, without expectation of repayment until the ARA loan is repaid, has proven to be a real handicap.

Levitan also says that because of congressional and business pressure, ARA tried to do too much too fast for too many communities.

Certainly no government program which provides a huge expenditure of funds to a large number of persons is perfect. Hopefully, the best of each of these federal anti-poverty programs will shine through to provide an answer.

SNEAKY TRIP — Mrs. John Hirschberg, 72, didn't even tell her neighbors in Hopatcong, N.J., where she was going when she left, but she came back in a mere 37 hours and 52 minutes — after a flight around the world in strainers. Mrs. Hirschberg set a record for American women making the trip. With only a flight bag for luggage, she flew from New York through London, Frankfurt, Vienna, Istanbul, Beirut, Karachi, Bangkok, Saigon, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Honolulu, San Francisco and back to New York.

Pilot Relates Experience During Fatal Plane Crash

HAVERHILL, Mass. (UPI)—In the postmidnight darkness, falling free at 2,500 feet before his parachute opened, the jet fighter pilot prayed.

"I prayed that my five children would get a good father. I prayed the area was uninhabited."

Capt. Daubert F. Sullivan of the Massachusetts Air National Guard seemed stunned as he told of ejecting himself from his crippled and powerless F86 after heading it toward a black area below.

Sullivan parachuted to safety, landing in a treetop.

But after he left the plane, it began turning, dropping silently, heading for a new housing development on the outskirts of this industrial city. From his tree perch, Sullivan saw a ball of flame erupt.

One resident heard "only the rush of wind" before the pilotless, single-seat plane hit. It was shortly after midnight. There was the roar, the billowing flames as the jet fuel exploded.

The plane bounced off a house and skittered down a street. It bounced off a dozen parked cars. It hit another house. Then it veered into a one-story, frame, ranch style home at 19 Lackney St. It plunged nose-first into a bedroom, and flames enveloped the house. In the bedroom asleep were Pamela Gifford, 11, her brother Todd, 8, and their wire-haired fox terrier.

"The kids never had a chance," a policeman said. Their dog was first thought to have died with them. But at midday the frightened pet, a female named Pat, was found in a field half a mile from the home. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gifford escaped, running from the house and then becoming hysterical.

Sullivan climbed down from his tree and walked to the Merrimack River. He inflated his portable raft and floated downriver until he was rescued.

Tells Of Flight

The pilot, who had not expected to live through his experience, was taken to Hanscom Field in Bedford, Mass. In the dispensary examining room he told of taking the plane on a night proficiency flight, winging up to Maine, and then turning south again.

His wife sat beside him as he talked. The words came hard: "I was running some routine tests on the air compressor starter system and the air brakes. I heard an unusual noise. I eased back on the power and checked the instruments. Everything showed normal."

"There's no telling when you hear a strange noise for a brief second. It could be the air rushing by the canopy at 400 knots — or your helmet might have turned a little. I eased back up to full power. It exploded. There was a flash of yellow light. I looked at the gauges. All quiet. No engine. I tried to restart it. Nothing worked.

"I turned toward a black area. No lights there. Looked like tree tops. I knew I was headed away from Haverhill. My airspeed was down to 180 knots; the plane drops at 160. Altitude about 2,500 feet. I knew I had to eject. As I ejected, I prayed. Then I'm in the top of a tree. I saw the flames."

"The plane had taken a 90-degree turn after I jumped. All you can do then is pray. I cut away the chute, climbed down, and set out toward a light."

FALLS FROM TREE

GOLSPIE, Scotland (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II visited a hospital here Thursday and, spying David Bain, 17, walking around with a broken arm, asked him how he broke it.

"Your Majesty," said David, "I was 60 feet up a tree trying to find a suitable flagpole for your visit when I slipped and fell."

"What very bad luck," said the queen.

PICKETS GO UP

PORT NECHES, Tex. (UPI) — Contract negotiations between Goodrich-Gulf Chemical plant management and Pipefitters Local 195 stalled today and the union members picketed the sprawling complex. An estimated 550 employees were affected by the walkout of 58 pipefitters.

Government Controls All Its Finances

Let's be realistic. It is necessary to be. This nation is in the grip of socialist schemers. And part of the non-realism of which they are guilty stems from their off-repeated propaganda that the government doesn't have to control the things it finances.

Leaf Taken From Mao's Rule Book

By RAY CROMLEY WASHINGTON (NEA) — The appointment of the Gen. Maxwell Taylor - U. Alexis Johnson team to South Viet Nam signals the practical application of a new United States "total war" concept developed in Washington.

The concept is, in part, an expansion of the U. S. Army and Navy techniques of World War II, when propaganda and civil government teams operated with U. S. troops.

Under this new program, in a war such as that in South Viet Nam, the over-all "commander" is the ambassador. In this case it is Taylor, with Johnson as his deputy.

Local advisory task forces will be organized under this over-all command. Some of these will be commanded by military officers. In other areas, depending on the mission, the advisory task forces will be led by civilians.

Each hinges on the others. The Vietnamese organization will be similar to the American. Once an area is captured from the Viet Cong, elements of these advisory task forces will stay on to help build up good government, local defense forces, economic stability and local intelligence networks.

The South Vietnamese combined task force the American team is working with will bring a trained administrator, or teacher locally elected administrators on the spot. It will set up schools, clinics, train a local militia. Most units will bring along a man to advise local farmers on agriculture.

Backstage Washington Bob Kennedy Faces Choice of New High Post In Administration—Or Try for V.P. Nomination 'Draft'

PAUL SCOTT

Pull Up A Chair By Frank J. Markey

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Robert Kennedy is facing his most fateful political Rubicon. On his return from Europe, "Bobby" must decide whether to accept a new career within the Johnson administration or continue his backstage preparations to force his way on the Democratic national ticket.

The fact that Kennedy still has not called a halt to these maneuvers is the best indication that the Rubicon is still to be crossed. FACING THE FUTURE—The Kennedy family tragedies are having their impact on the young attorney general.

According to administration insiders, the President's discussions with the attorney general centered around his possible appointment either to Stevenson's post or as secretary of defense, although other positions were mentioned.

POLITICAL FALLOUT—President Johnson and Attorney General Kennedy are trying to outdo each other in courting the support of Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers. Since January the President has phoned the powerful labor leader 36 times. Kennedy has either met with or called Reuther 42 times.

Hope for ABC's

Picture-writing went out of style 3,000 years ago when the Greeks perfected the alphabet and activated the swift rise of Western civilization. Yet it was revived in America about 1920 by educationist quacks who, by 1960, had inflicted their "look-say" (or configurational) reading method on the great mass of America's schoolchildren.

Wit and Whimsy

Cheap Diner — Do you charge for bread? Waiter—No, sir. Cheap Diner—Do you charge for butter? Waiter—No, sir. Cheap Diner—Okay, I'll have some bread and butter. Waiter—Oh, for bread and butter, we charge.

The consensus was that if Kennedy wanted the Pentagon post, Defense Secretary McNamara would be shifted to the State Department, replacing Secretary Rusk, who would go to the U.N. If Kennedy decided on the U.N. post, Rusk's shift would be delayed several months.

Thoughts while shaving: Just in case you've forgotten the Surgeon General's report on the hazards of cigarette smoking, the U.S. Public Health Service has come out with results of another study that shows the lung cancer death rate at 10 per cent per 100,000 female smokers and 30 per cent per 100,000 male addicts of the weed.

CAPITOL EYE: Move Afoot To Block New Ruling

By BRUCE BLOSSAT WASHINGTON (NEA) — Congress could move by late August to try to bar U.S. courts from taking a hand in state reapportionment. A sense of urgency grips those in and out of Congress who want to forestall general overhaul of state legislatures in accord with the Supreme Court's June 15 ruling.

Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois already has sparked a GOP Policy Committee discussion of a proposed amendment. And Rep. William McCulloch, R-Ohio, is pushing a similar proposition in the House.

Meantime, a big head of steam is building up. Some 15 governors, perturbed at the court's decision have conveyed their concern to Dirksen and others. The presently suggested language of what may be called the Dirksen amendment reads as follows:

Each state shall have exclusive power to determine the composition of its legislature and the apportionment of the membership of each house thereof. "Such power shall not be infringed by the United States or by any branch of government thereof."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.) QUESTION: "Many people have just recently found out that an unregistered voter can run for public office. My question is: Would that also hold true for a disenfranchised person, such as an ex-convict?"

The Nation's Press

A principle of the widest application in ethics and politics as well as in economics, which may be described as the principle of formal justice, has begun to operate in a remarkable manner.
