

Tax Slash to Boost Paychecks Next Week

Reduction Greatest In Nation's History

By HALE MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON (UP) — A $11.5 billion tax cut, designed to put an average of $4 or $5 more a week into pockets of most U.S. wage earners this year, begins taking effect next week and President Johnson wants Americans to make the most of it.

Even before the ink was dry on the landmark legislation Wednesday it had performed its first feat, spurring the stock market to its best gain in two weeks.

One year, one month and two days after the late John F. Kennedy's urgent appeal, the Senate put the final stamp of approval on the biggest tax cut in the nation's history by a 74-19 vote with generous Republican support.

Booster Economy
Johnson promptly signed it into law at a White House ceremony, then told a nationwide radio-television audience that it would strengthen the United States by bolstering the economy when U.S. taxpayers and corporations start spending the extra cash.

"No one can bury us — or bluff us — or beat us — so long as our economy remains strong," said the President in an obvious reference to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's oft-quoted promise to "bury" capitalism.

For his part, the Chief Executive promised to make new inroads against federal spending, including a new goal to eliminate an additional 7,500 government jobs "in the very next few months."

IRS Announces Date
While Johnson forecast good days ahead, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) announced that some workers should notice the first effects of the tax cut next Thursday, March 5. That is when a lower payroll withholding rate goes into effect, meaning higher paychecks.

The IRS said it would follow a "rule of reason" in enforcing the March 5 changeover. "We will not find fault with employers who are delayed a day or two in putting the lower rate into effect by problems encountered in converting their payroll systems," a spokesman said.

Johnson called the tax cut "an expression of faith in our system of free enterprise."

Little Threat Seen in Snow This Time

Snow began falling in Pampa shortly before noon today but the U. S. Weather Bureau at Amarillo said it would not result in anything "real serious." The revised forecast at noon called for partly cloudy to cloudy with occasional light snow today and partly cloudy tonight and Friday with low temperature tonight in the low 20s and a high Friday near 50.

Wednesday's maximum temperature in Pampa was 40 degrees. The low early today was 21. At noon today the mercury registered right at the freezing mark, 32 degrees.

Early forenoon reports got abroad somehow that another "big snow" was headed for the Panhandle, but the Weather Bureau said nothing like that was expected.

Texas Department of Public Safety officers advised city police to instruct motorists to drive carefully.

Police said it was snowing in Borger and the intensity of the snowfall had not been gauged but they were watching weather reports carefully.

Ships Take Wheat Load For Russia

HOUSTON (UPI)—Longshoremen at three Gulf of Mexico ports today loaded foreign ships with wheat for the Soviet Union. At least four more vessels waited to get into the docks.

The loadings ended a week-long boycott of foreign ships by the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA).

Workers at Houston stopped briefly Wednesday when they saw a small group of anti-Communist pickets, but proceeded to load the Turkish vessel Umran on orders from a foreman.

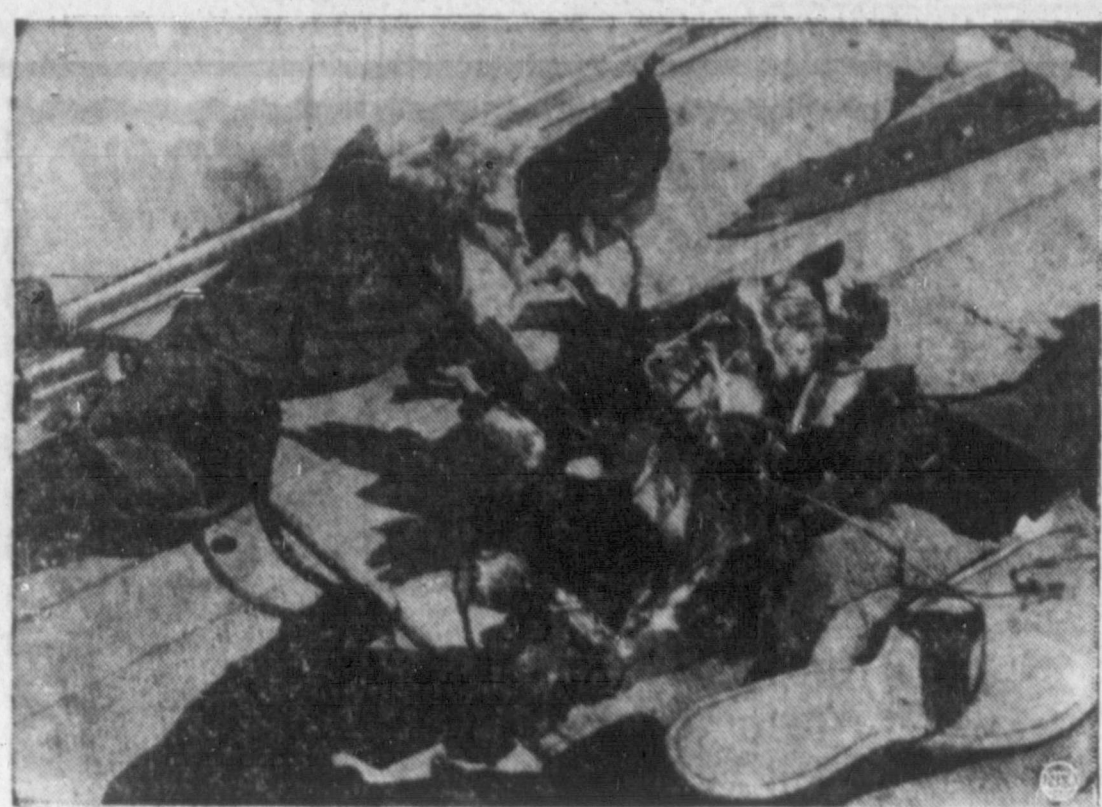

The Umran will carry 10,000 tons of wheat to Russian ports for the Continental Grain Co. At Corpus Christi, a light rain slowed loading of the Norwegian vessel Botne and could delay completion beyond the normal two to three days.

Another Norwegian vessel, the Ingwi, is waiting to be loaded with Russian grain at Houston.

In New Orleans, workers were scheduled to begin loading the Dutch freighter, Asterope today and the Greek ship Kynthos later this week. At Galveston, down the coast from Houston, longshoremen had started loading the British London Craftsman while the Greek vessel Sifnos stood by. The two had waited most of Wednesday while a third vessel not connected with the Russian grain sale was loaded.

DEBRIS FROM PLANE — Tattered shoes, an empty glove and pieces of twisted metal have been recovered by the Coast Guard after an Eastern Airlines DC8 jetliner crashed into Lake Ponchartrain northeast of New Orleans. Weather has slowed the search for the main passenger compartment which disappeared into 16 feet of water. Fifty-eight persons died in the crash.

Last Four Sought for Ruby Jury

By H. D. QUIGG
DALLAS (UPI)—Jack Ruby was brought early to court today to sit through selection of the last four jurors who will sit in judgment on him.

Deputies whisked the 52-year-old striptease nightclub operator into the stuffy room as the next group of prospective jurors assembled for questioning.

Opposing attorneys slipped into the judge's chambers to confer before the session started. Ruby seemed in good spirits. Sheriff Bill Decker said he got a haircut this morning.

The conference lasted 15 minutes. Trial began at 10:22 a.m. EST. The first two jury prospects were dismissed, one for having an opinion and the other for opposing capital punishment.

The defense announced it had subpoenaed as a witness Jimmie Braswell, who was rejected Wednesday as a juror.

Braswell had been disqualified because he is an auxiliary policeman who guarded the Oswald home in suburban Irving during Lee Harvey Oswald's funeral.

Judge Joe B. Brown, canceling plans for night sessions, said there was a good chance the jury would be completed today.

Several congressmen were expected to observe the investigation of Tuesday's crash of Eastern Air Lines flight 304 from New Orleans international airport.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) is heading the investigation and search. There has been no indication of what might have caused the crash.

In two days of searching by coast guard air and surface units and other vessels, only small pieces of the huge DC8 jetliner and about 25 pounds of remains of occupants—had been recovered from the 610-square-mile lake.

Eight jurors have been selected in eight days of questioning 94 veniremen. Three were seated Wednesday. The sudden speed-up prompted Brown and Ruby's chief lawyer to predict that jury selection would end by Friday night, at the latest.

"Maybe we'll even get one today," said the judge. "We're going along pretty well." If the jury is picked by Friday, the judge plans to recess his Criminal District Court No. 3 over the weekend "to let everybody get a good rest."

That would apply to everybody except the sick-looking Ruby, the sunken-eyed little defendant whose condition seems to be deteriorating daily. He doesn't look as though he ever rested, even slept. His physical appearance has worsened markedly since the first hearing in this case, in December.

His mental condition, according to chief defense attorney Melvin Belli, has sunken to where it needs immediate attention. This, of course, is Belli talking. The press has not talked with Ruby, nor heard him talk. He is escorted in and out of court by four guards, and the corridor is cleared when he arrives or leaves on the elevator. The jail is upstairs.

"I'm bringing one of my psychiatrists down here as fast as I can, to look at Jack," Belli said. However, he said the defendant was not incoherent in the formation of his sentences—just fidgety to the point of distraction, unmindful of current events, and worried about a number of things.

Government at End Of Sinatra Testimony

Texas Goes Into NY Fair With Connally

NEW YORK (UPI)—Texas Gov. John Connally formally brought his state into the World's Fair Wednesday in a ceremony dedicating the Texas pavilions and music hall.

The ceremony, while modest, gave some inkling of the Texas spectacle that will greet visitors to the appropriately southern end of the Flushing Meadow site when the fair opens in April.

While most states, nations and private business concerns plan to be represented at the fair by one pavilion, Texas has seven pavilions and a music hall which will present a Broadway-type extravaganza.

"We want to bring a part of Texas, a part of us to display in New York," Connally said.

Connally paid tribute to Angus Wynne, the Texas real estate developer who planned and organized Texas' participation in the fair.

"I am proud of the vision, imagination and courage" Wynne has displayed in this effort, Connally said.

But the governor's most touching remark came at the beginning of his brief speech when he said "It's a great privilege to be here." Then in an obvious reference to bullet wounds he suffered last November, he added: "It's a privilege to be anywhere today."

Court Action Asked In Slant Hole Case

LONGVIEW (UPI)—W. O. Davis Jr. Wednesday asked district court to either bring him to trial or dismiss charges on a slant-hole oil well indictment. A hearing was set for Friday. Davis, who was named in one of 300 such indictments, was charged in December, 1962. Only one defendant has been tried on the charges of theft and conspiracy to commit theft.

Senators Can't Locate Baker Case Witnesses

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators are unable to find two subpoenaed witnesses in the Bobby Baker inquiry and argued today that one of them apparently "is giving us the runaround."

Lennox P. McLendon, special counsel for the Senate Rules Committee, said futile attempts had been made to serve subpoenas on Edward Levinson, a Las Vegas hotel and gambling guru, and Ben Siegelbaum, a Miami real estate man.

Referring to Levinson, McLendon said, "we can't catch up with him. It looks like now 'is giving us the runaround.'" Asked about Siegelbaum, McLendon replied, "we can't find him."

The committee, with its investigation apparently nearing an end, scheduled testimony today from Edward Toores, an associate of Levinson, and John Bates, vice president of Pan American World Airways.

The star attractions in the inquiry, former Senate aide Robert G. Baker and his secretary Marie Tyler, already have appeared.

Miss Tyler, a former beauty contest winner in Tennessee, denied any moral or legal wrongdoing but invoked the amendment in refusing to answer questions at a televised hearing Wednesday.

Hoover Continues to Show Slight Gain in Illness

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Herbert Hoover, seriously ill with kidney and respiratory ailments, continued to show slight improvement, his doctors reported Wednesday night.

Hoover, bedridden for five days in his Waldorf Towers suite, had a better day Wednesday, the three attending physicians said in the latest medical bulletin. They said he was alert and able to eat.

Japan Plane Crashes; 2 Persons Aboard

OITA, Japan (UPI)—An American built Japanese airliner with 42 persons aboard crashed and burned today after attempts to land on a runway that was too short.

At least 20 persons were killed in the crash. Some bodies were so badly burned they did not be recognized.

There were no Americans or foreign passengers aboard the twin-engine CV240 which belonged to the Fuji Air Lines, a domestic Japanese carrier.

The plane was on a regularly-scheduled flight from Kagoshima to Oita, on Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu. Among the survivors were two pilots. Among the dead were a honeymoon couple and a stewardess who first were reported safe but whose bodies later were found in the charred wreckage. The plane had made one unsuccessful landing try, then circled back for another attempt. But it overran the short runway, hit a river bank, broke into three parts and burst into flames.

Paper Links Oswald To Nixon Death Plot

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Post said today the Warren Commission was told that accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald once planned to kill former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Post reporter Jim Criswell quoted James Martin, who formerly served as business adviser to Oswald's widow. Martin was scheduled to testify today before the Warren Commission, investigating the assassination of President Kennedy.

Mrs. Marina Oswald and her two children lived in Martin's suburban Dallas home two and one-half months after the assassination. She recently severed ties with Martin, who is assistant manager of Six Flags Over Texas Inn.

Martin would not disclose how he learned of Oswald's plot against Nixon, the Post said. Details of the alleged scheme were not divulged.

"It's part of the testimony," Martin said, "I can't comment on it."

Nixon was in Dallas Nov. 22.

Jury Ready In Lima Case

HOUSTON (UPI)—Pudge prostitute Carolyn Ann Lima, charged with killing a real estate man during a three-way sexparty, prepared today for a second death-qualified jury to decide her fate.

Miss Lima, 21, said Wednesday she lied in earlier testimony about firing five shots into Fred Tones after her homosexual boyfriend shot him once.

After two hours of cross-examination, the defense rested its case. The trial, in its 11th day, had been expected to last three and possibly four weeks.

10-Year Term Thrown Out

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Court of Criminal Appeals today threw out a 10-year prison sentence given a Dallas man on assault with intent to kill because the high court said a pocket knife was not necessary; a deadly weapon.

The court ordered the conviction of Fay Leon Blount, 53, reversed and returned to Dallas for a new trial. Blount was given 10 years on charges that he attacked Troy Cunningham with a pocket knife following a traffic accident in Dallas.

In a majority opinion, the court ruled that "a pocket knife is not per se a deadly weapon, and in order to construe it such, there must be evidence to show that it was so used."

In a dissenting opinion, presiding Justice K. K. Woodley said expert testimony "was not needed to establish the fact that the knife was an instrument with which it was possible for the defendant to kill Cunningham."

"As I see it," Woodley said, "the facts viewed in the light most favorable to the state sustain the jury's finding that the appellant made the assault upon Cunningham with the intent to kill."

"The fact that the appellant continued his assault with the knife until he was overpowered is a circumstance which the jury could take into considera-

PHS Band Members Picked for Festival

Nine members of the Pampa High School band have been selected from area applicants to participate tomorrow and Saturday in the Golden Spread Senior Music Festival as members of the 1964 Honor Band. They are Marilyn Davenport, to clarinet; Van Ragsdale, trombone; Janna Conner, contra bass clarinet; Martha Pattilla, clarinet; Gary Laramore, cor; Lamoyne Clark, clarinet; Jim Barnard, trombone; James Adiffer, baritone and Ralph Bradford, tenor saxophone.

Rehearsals will be held Friday and Saturday to be culminated with a banquet and free concert by the honor band Saturday night. The concert will be open to the public. Purpose of the music festival, according to Donald Black, director of bands at Amarillo College and organizer of the festival, is to offer a significant type of recognition to senior musicians similar to honors traditionally received by high school athletes.

Dr. Ray Luke, composer and conductor and director of the band, orchestra and opera at Oklahoma University, will conduct the 1964 Honor Band.

Attorney Jake Floyd Dies of Long Illness

HOUSTON (UPI)—Jacob S. Floyd, a prominent Alice, Tex., attorney and Jim Wells County political leader, died Wednesday night at Methodist Hospital. He had been ill for some time, hospital officials said.

Floyd's son, Jacob Jr., was the victim of a sensational "mistake murder" Sept. 8, 1952 at the Floyd home in Alice. Police believed the younger Floyd, a 22-year-old University of Texas law student, was mistaken for his father.

Bond Reduction Sought by Man in Fraud Case

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI)—Paul Amos Sandblom, 38, who declared bankruptcy after borrowing between $30 and $50 million, today will ask a state court to reduce his "excessive" $100,000 bond.

Floyd was a long-time foe of Duval County political boss George Parr, the "Duke of Duval."

A "Freedom Party" was organized in 1952 in opposition to Parr and Sam Reams of Alice was one of its leaders. Floyd managed Reams' campaign for district judge in Duval and Jim Wells counties, but Reams was defeated in the Democratic primary by a Parr candidate.

On Sept. 8, 1952, an informant warned the elder Floyd that "killers" were after him. Floyd left his house. His son followed a few minutes later and was shot twice.

The elder Floyd is survived by his wife, the former Edith Jones; a daughter, Mrs. Harry Patterson of Sugarland and two grandsons.

Funeral services for Floyd will be at 3 p.m. Friday in the Moyer-Holmgreen Funeral Home in Alice with burial in Alice Cemetery.

Critics Attack Play as Insipid As Pickets Walk

NEW YORK (UPI)—There was no untoward audience reaction Wednesday night at the American premiere of "Roll Hochhuth's controversial play, 'The Deputy,' which Broadway critics said portrays Pope Pius XII as 'insipid . . . sanctimonious . . . petty (and) supercilious."

However, outside the Brooks Atkinson Theater about 150 persons picketed the performance. The play attacks Pius XII for failing to condemn publicly the mass murder of Jews by Nazi Germany. Its 32-year-old author, a Protestant, was a member of the Hitler youth movement during World War II.

When the play opened in West Berlin, Paris, and Basel, Switzerland, public reaction ranged from pelting actors with eggs, boos or cheers and in Paris several spectators leaped on the stage and fought with the performers.

More than 100 uniformed policemen were on hand Wednesday night to insure orderly picketing. At least 10 plainclothesmen were among the capacity audience in the 1,000-seat playhouse.

Maryland National Guard Alert Called for Possible Riot Action

By United Press International—The Maryland National Guard has been alerted for possible riot duty at Princess Anne, Md., where state police fought with Negro demonstrators Wednesday.

A spokesman for Gov. J. Millard Tawes at Annapolis, Md., said Wednesday night the governor had ordered the guard to "stand by" following an appeal by Princess Anne officials. Guardsmen last year had to quell racial disorders at Cambridge, Md., 50 miles northwest of Princess Anne.

State police used snarling dogs, clubs and fire hoses Wednesday to break up 300 marching demonstrators demanding integrated restaurants. Some whites used their cars as battering rams to separate the Negroes who blocked the town's main street.

Police arrested 27 students, including four girls, on charges of disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and refusing to obey police. The 35-man state police force was increased to 80 following the violence.

At Boston Wednesday, around 10,000 Negro students boycotted city schools in a protest against alleged de facto segregation. Later, about 1,000 persons, mostly students, marched to city hall to dramatize their protest. School Supt. William H. Ohrenberger said the boycott "dangerously undermined a basic democratic principle of respect for law and order."

Elsewhere in the nation: Baton Rouge, La.:—A prominent Negro civil rights attorney, Murphy Bell, was wounded Wednesday by his brother in what police called an apparent murder-suicide attempt. The brother, Bruce Bell, killed himself. Police said the brothers apparently had a "falling out" over money.

Senate Leaders Push Civil Rights Aside

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Leaders, apparently postponing action on the civil rights bill until next week, moved today towards passage of the $17 billion defense authorization bill and wheat and cotton legislation.

The Senate was scheduled to begin debate on the measure authorizing Defense Department spending during the next fiscal year including $52 million in funds for research on a new manned strategic bomber.

After the Senate completes action on the defense measure, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Okla., is expected to call up the wheat-cotton bill. He estimated it may take "four or five days" before eventual passage of the farm measure.

The Senate was expected to follow the example of the House and approve funds for the new bomber which Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has said he does not need and will not spend if it is authorized.

Connally Plans Talks With Texas Delegation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Conferees between Democratic leaders of the Texas congressional delegation and Gov. John

B. Connally were planned today with confused congressional redistricting problems high on the discussion agenda.

Sheriff Busy on Two Burglaries

Two burglaries, one in McLean and the other in Pampa, had criminal investigators from the sheriff's office busy today.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said a large amount of riding equipment was taken from the Noel Ranch barn seven miles north of McLean sometime Tuesday night.

And the sheriff reported a large quantity of canned goods was taken from the Pampa Country Club kitchen within the last two days.

Jordan listed as stolen from Buck Miller of McLean the following items: Four saddles, four blankets, two ropes, two sets of breast harness, two new halters and a pair of chaps.

The sheriff said the saddled door was forced open by breaking off a lock and hasp. The theft was discovered by Miller Wednesday and he called officers at once.

The Country Club burglary was reported late Wednesday afternoon following an inventory of goods in the kitchen area of the building.

Jordan said there was no apparent forced entry, but the thief apparently entered the building by use of a key.

Assisting Jordan in the probe are Deputies Jimmy Bowers, Dwight Day and Texas Ranger Bill Baten.

William Hyde Wollaston, British scientist, discovered platinum, one of the precious platinum group of metals, in 1803.

One solution would be for the Texas Legislature to meet in special session and rearrange the district boundaries. This would require Connally to issue a special call. Such a possibility was almost certain to be discussed, according to Texas-delegation spokesmen.

Other members of the delegation, including Patman, are behind a move to have Congress enact guidelines for state reapportionment. Their bill also would have the effect of delaying the Supreme Court's edict for two years to give the state districting bills.

Stan Musial Sworn in as Physical Fitness Director

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Baseball great Stan Musial was sworn in Wednesday as President Johnson's special consultant on physical fitness. He said during a White House visit that he would be less nervous with a bat in his hands.

"Stan the Man" took his oath in the cabinet room with Johnson looking on.

The President called the former St. Louis Cardinal star "a hero to the youth of this country (who) has demonstrated that champ means more than to win."

Johnson said that he could not think of anyone "better qualified or skilled to lead the nation's youth."

He recalled that the late

President John F. Kennedy had started the fitness program. "I think he's watching us this morning and I think no one would be prouder," Johnson said.

Musial had been an all-out campaigner for Kennedy in 1960.

Musial, now a vice president of the Cardinals, succeeds Bud

Wilkinson in the post. Wilkinson resigned recently to make a bid for the Senate seat on the Republican ticket in Oklahoma. He also resigned as University of Oklahoma football coach.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON

United Press International Consider the matter of American wheat, British busses and Polish ham. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has invited American citizens to boycott the produce of British firms that sell busses to Fidel Castro.

But the administration says these same citizens should not boycott other products, such as Polish ham. Nor should the U. S. maritime unions boycott the piers where ships await to be loaded with American wheat for the Soviet Union.

It would seem that the administration wants it both ways: heads you lose, tails I win. There is no present compulsion, of course, on U.S. citizens to boycott British busses or British anything. Neither is it clear by what authority the administration could insist that U. S. citizens forego boycotts against, for example, loading wheat for the Soviet Union, or against Polish hams.

The State Department says such boycotts interfere with U. S. foreign policy. The boycotters explain that is what they have in mind, believing that they are opposing bad foreign policy. The administration doesn't have any law handy to prevent a citizen opposing policy, domestic or foreign by any lawful means. If the method of boycott is unlawful, how is it that the secretary of state has invited American citizens to boycott certain British firms?

The State Department will assert, no doubt, that Rusk issued no such invitation. And it will be asserted right back that the State Department is quibbling outrageously if it refuses to concede that the secretary did, indeed, invite a citizens boycott.

What it seems to add up to is this: That American citizens are entitled to boycott anything and anybody within the limits of the law. If that is a fact, then the maritime unions are on solid political ground in refusing to load U.S. wheat for the Soviet Union.

The U.S. maritime unions are not alone in doubting the merits of a foreign policy which requires the sale of U.S. wheat to help feed the military and economic machine with which Nikita Khrushchev intends to bury us.

A similar thought lies behind the efforts to discontinue U.S. consumption of Polish ham and other produce from behind the Iron Curtain. The thought may be wrong but it appears that the citizens are entitled to have it.

They are entitled, also, to think it strange that the U. S. government would try to prevent its NATO Allies from trading with Cuba when the U.S. went at least half way to make possible a multi-million dollar wheat deal with Khrushchev.

Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the British prime minister, was in Washington the other day pooh-poohing the Johnson administration's efforts to cut off British trade with Cuba. The administration got a brush-off. Nobody admitted as much until on the evening of the White House dinner for the British party when Sir Alec spoke frankly:

"We may have to send busses to Cuba," he said, "but we (U.S.-U.K.) will not let anything fundamental interfere between us."

Fundamental, the man said! Sir Alec evidently doesn't know how the American people feel about Castro in Cuba. Of course, some of them feel the same way about U.S. wheat in Russian bellies and Polish hams in our sandwiches. The wheat and ham seem, somehow, to weaken the American argument. Anyway, the British were not impressed.

University Men Recruit Coeds for Cooking

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Three hungry University of California seniors have recruited a lively corps of coed cooks to provide food service in their bachelor flat.

"We're all lousy cooks and we had to do something," explains Philip Heald, 21, an engineering administration major. Heald and his two roommates advertised in the University of California newspaper for "young ladies" willing to cook for them.

Their goal was 21 ladies — one per night seven nights a week. At last count, they had 20 coeds signed up for the program.

Among the obvious benefits for the young women were the chance to meet men, some of whom were good cooks, and a chance to practice cooking.

The first meal cooked by the coeds was roast beef, potatoes and salad. It was declared a success by Heald, Andy Simons, 21, and Tay Gary, 21, the three bachelor roommates. The coeds were identified as Nancy Pond, 21-year-old brunette; Joan Misrack, 20-year-old brunette, and Carol Levin, 20-year-old blonde.

"We were delighted because they licked the platters clean," Miss Levin said. "In fact this may be the start of the real domestic peace corps."

Notes From Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walt Rikibben of Forbes Investments, Inc., says "the market is easily going right on through 1964 in the Dow-Jones industrials because a barrier becomes important only if a lot of people think it exists."

"Barriers are supposed to result from large numbers of people who had bought stocks at a given level, suffered through a decline, and are waiting to get it when they get even. The present situation bears not the slightest resemblance to this model. The market is in the bar in new high ground. There is no theoretical or technical reason why a barrier could be more likely at 800 than at any other number — except perhaps the simple fact that it's a nice round figure which tends to bring home automatically that the market is very high."

Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson says the recent market action of aerospace stocks gives good reason to believe that the wide-discussed disarmament plant may have been exaggerated and overdiscounted. Bear in mind that the industry is a major employer of labor and that it's an election year."

First U.S. president to ride his inauguration in an automobile was Warren G. Harding.

Opponent of Yarborough Makes Brief Visit to City

United States Senatorial candidate Gordon McLendon of Dallas, conservative opponent of Senator Ralph Yarborough in the forthcoming May 2 Democratic primary, visited Pampa Wednesday afternoon and promptly forecast a "sweeping victory."

GORDON McLENDON ... the "Old Scotchman"

McLendon, 42, the "Old Scotchman" of broadcasting fame, is campaigning in West Texas. He was scheduled for speeches in Borger, Plainview and Lubbock later in the afternoon. Last week he survived an assassination attempt in Dallas when a mentally deranged widow, now held on lunacy charges, attempted to shoot him at Love Field in Dallas.

"I've been sort in dividing my time between running for office and running for cover," McLendon grinned. "Asked why he entered the race, McLendon said, 'I couldn't let our spend-thrift, ultra-liberal senator go up there another six years by default. I'm going to beat him and beat him handily. Farmers in this area realize he has no program for ending subsidies and price support programs and no idea how to go about it.' McLendon, owner of extensive interests in real estate, oil, radio stations and theaters, was sharply critical of Yarborough's voting record. 'He is strictly a rubber stamp for the administration,' McLendon charged. 'He votes for any wild, wastrel bill without regard for the fact that before long he will give our homes away. With regard to OPM — other people's money — he is as dangerous as a puppy on a new rug.' McLendon proposes a constitutional amendment to set up a

'Little Six' Steps Up Cyprus Crisis Plans

By BRUCE W. MUNN UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The "little six" elected members of the Security Council stepped up offstage negotiations on the Cyprus crisis today in search of a solution that would keep the issue out of the cold war. Hoping to overcome initial rebuffs, representatives of the six scheduled private meetings virtually up to this afternoon's meeting of the 11-nation council. Washington's recall of its ambassador in Nicosia for consultations indicated to diplomats here that the situation in Cyprus is critical and could explode at any time into fresh fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Greek Cypriots are receiving Soviet arms and the imminent opening of air service between Cyprus and Moscow gave rise to fears that the Mediterranean island might soon become a pawn in the cold war between the big powers. The "little six" — Bolivia, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Ivory Coast, Morocco and Norway — sought agreement on a formula for an international peace force and impartial mediator to settle the dispute. They were not optimistic. The Cypriot communal fighting over constitutional rights has resulted in hundreds of casualties and has created the danger of possible military intervention by Turkey and Greece on opposing sides.

Man Receives 10 Years in Heroin Case

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI) — Joseph Michel Caron of Montreal, Canada today faced 10 years in prison for bringing into the United States the largest shipment of heroin ever to cross the Mexican border. He was sentenced Wednesday by U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally. Caron and his wife were arrested last Oct. 10 as they crossed the border into Texas at Laredo. The heroin, valued at $33 million on the underworld market, was found in their car. Three customs inspectors at the international bridge at Laredo were given cash awards for their alertness in discovering the narcotics. After sentencing, Caron was flown to an undisclosed point by federal officers. Mrs. Caron returned to Montreal several months ago when charges against her were dropped.

Deputy Sheriff Sued for Debt

CANADIAN — A civil suit for collection of a debt has been filed in County Court here against a deputy sheriff. Bill Jobe, doing business as the Best Way Market, entered a suit for collection of $339.18 in grocery bills against Billy Starr Sr., currently serving as Hemphill County deputy sheriff. Attorney Jim Crow filed the suit in County Court before Judge Sanford Cole, but no date has been set for hearing on the case. The suit was filed as case number 906 Feb. 18, 1964, according to County Clerk Mary Gross.

LBJ and Family Fly to Florida

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — President Johnson and his three ladies fly to Florida Friday to beat the Democratic drum in a state which has gone Republican in the past three presidential elections. The Democrats claim it will be a different story in November. The President's speech at a $100-a-plate Democratic fundraising dinner Thursday night at the posh Fontainebleau Hotel will be the first out-and-out political appearance for Johnson. The dinner will be attended by state and national officials and Florida's complete congressional delegation. En route here, Johnson, the First Lady and daughters Lynda Bird, 19, and Lucy Baines, 16, will make a helicopter trip to Palatka for opening ceremonies of the cross-Florida barge canal.

Cry of 'Wolf' Proves Accurate

CLAYGATE, England (UPI) — Mrs. Ludmilla Fleming cried "wolf" Tuesday but nobody believed her. That is until they saw the wolf loping after her. Mrs. Fleming was walking in the woods this week and, just like Little Red Riding Hood, she met a wolf. She didn't know it was a wolf at first but when the shaggy animal kept pestering her dog, "Laddie," she said, "Shoo!" "Then, the animal turned to face me," Mrs. Fleming said, "and I went stiff with fright." She said the wolf "had fierce eyes and vicious teeth." Remembering Red Riding Hood, Mrs. Fleming turned and ran. Laddie got the message, too, and followed suit. Close on their heels was the big, bad wolf. Naturally, the men laughed. Until they spotted the wolf jogging along behind her and Laddie. One of the men, Richard Savage, 24, managed to latch onto a garden pitchfork and waved it at the wolf, which promptly fled. The Chessington Zoo staff was summoned and they tracked the wolf all day with guns, nets and dogs. "We don't think the wolf will be dangerous unless it gets hungry," said Peter Carr, who led the hunt. "Then it might steal chickens or go for cats and dogs." Chessington Zoo officials admitted that the wolf had broken out of their establishment.

Student of Pampa Honored at O.U.

NORMAN, Okla. (Sp1) — Beryl Elizabeth Nash of Pampa is among the 2,558 students who made the honor roll for the 1963-64 fall semester at the University of Oklahoma, according to Dr. George L. Cross, OU president. To be eligible for the honor roll, each student must have an overall B grade average in a minimum of 12 credit hours and must not have a "failing" or "incomplete" mark in any course.

Windows Boarded For Sonic Booms

VERNON, Tex. (UPI) — Boarded up windows were mute testimony today to a shattering series of sonic booms which have caused an estimated $3,000 damage here so far this week. Eyes gazed skyward to see if more Air Force jets would zoom over shattering windows. So far no one has been injured. "There have been some near misses," police Capt. A. C. Duke said. He said most of Tuesday's damage was limited to a three

Labor Tiff Settled At GM Factory

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — A labor dispute between 2,900 members of the United Auto Workers and the General Motors assembly plant has been settled. New contract terms were not disclosed. Leaders of UAW Local 278 said members voted to accept the company's new offer, which provided for an increase in manpower, one of the main issues in the dispute. The plant assembles Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Pontiacs.

Bull Rider Asks Senatorial Help

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jerry Cotten of Fort Worth appealed Wednesday to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., to help him get space at the New York World's Fair to show his Brahma bull. Cotten, a student at North Texas State University at Denton, Tex., told the lawmaker he rode the bull all the way from his home town, leaving Sept. 18 and arriving in Richmond, Va. Tuesday.

MINSTREL MUSIC — Lions Club members are busily preparing for this year's Minstrel Show, scheduled at the Junior High Auditorium March 12-13. A total of 150 Lions Club members are working toward making "Showboat 1964" a success. The above scene, from last year's show, has Mrs. Bernice Hatcher at the piano and Dr. Frank Hatcher on the xylophone.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. says that "no general market forecast can be made with any accuracy in terms of the distorted averages, for the averages include only a limited number of stocks."

"They cannot possibly represent a totally accurate picture of this broad, deceptive market trend which continues to indicate higher levels for some stocks, slightly lower levels for others and do-nothing action for still others. Notwithstanding the numerous optimistic forecasts being made for business and the economy many stocks have reached levels where they seem to have temporarily discounted most of the expected improvement in their respective pictures. From a purely technical, seasonal and psychological standpoint, any further near-term advance carrying much above the 800 level in the Dow-Jones industrial is certain to meet considerable selling pressure."

Colby & Co., Inc. thinks "the averages can advance another ten points or so to 805-810 in the Dow industrials before running into more than minor price difficulty. The calculated objective for the year remains 825-850; long term potential 925-950. It is no time for complacency on the part of short swing accounts but investors can continue to add to portfolios on weakness."

Panel Due Talk On Redistricting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee opens hearings March 18 on proposals to meet the Supreme Court's ruling that congressional districts must be as equal in population as possible.

Committee Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., long a supporter of federal standards to govern congressional redistricting, has sponsored legislation that would require the population of congressional districts to be within 15 per cent of the average reached by dividing the number of districts in each state into the state's population.

The Celler bill also would require districts to have a single, unbroken boundary line and to be as compact as possible. The last requirements, formerly part of federal law, are aimed at discouraging gerrymandering—the deliberate drawing of districts to favor one political party or candidate.

The Supreme Court did not touch on the shape of districts when it ruled earlier this month that districts in a state must

Dear Abby....

'Far-Sighted' Thinks He's a Humanitarian

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Demented people, young and old, should be exterminated. Bums, chronically ill and alcoholics like me. What good is derived from keeping them alive when money is so badly needed for normal people? I have made a study of social misfits and have seen many "rest homes" filled with county and state delinquent patients who have been leeches by their families. Nobody cares a hoot about them. Some of these people are completely gone mentally. Why keep them at the taxpayers' expense? All people, physically and mentally incapable of contributing to our society, should be done away with. Mercifully, of course. This may sound hard-hearted, but one day this will have to be done. Sign me—

FAR-SIGHTED DEAR FAR-SIGHTED: You're not the first to sugar-coat homicide, nor will you be the last. But if you are one of the "normal" people who could survive the exterminations you suggest—God help you.

DEAR ABBY: One of my armsters got loose and we went under in the piano. She was caught in there and must have gotten pretty beat up because, when we finally got her out, she couldn't walk or stand up. I think she broke her leg or her back, maybe. I wanted to take her to the vet's, but my big sister, who drives, thinks it is silly and she won't take us. My mother drives, but she doesn't have the time. If this hamster isn't going to get well, maybe she should be put to sleep. What should I do? I am 12.

LOVES ANIMALS DEAR LOVES: Call your local Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Ask them if they can provide transportation for such a case.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from Gordy's Wife, who said her husband didn't care for the potatoes she had prepared for supper, so he threw them at her. She said he threw a "potato fit." She must have been one of those cool Scandinavian women. I would have thrown a "gray fit" to go with the potatoes!

IRISH CONFIDENTIAL TO "LIKES TOM": "mile anyway. No one so ately needs a smile as one who has none to give.

Manners Make Friends

Newlyweds do well to get rid of habits that are the most aggravating.

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

A dress, suit or coat, blouse skirt, negligee—any item of apparel of good fabric, simple pattern lines, well-cut and well-made—can last for years. It is a known fact that some of our very-best-dressed women have Chanel, Noirell, and Mainbocher suits years and years old. They wear them as though new because they are so right!

Bizarre fashions are to be avoided, "cut-up" fashions are taboo—this dates a garment more quickly than anything.

Why should you use your precious time making intricate points, curves, yokes, etc., when fabric beauty and your own skillful workmanship should set your garment far ahead of those so intricately cut and clumsily finished?

I recently asked an expert cleaner the type of clothes he preferred to handle. "The simple, well-made garment," was his reply. "We know how to treat good fabric. If it is well cut, right with the grain I mean, and is not too ornate, we can make a garment look like new."

"Quality fabric and good workmanship are a joy to any cleaner. A badly cut garment will come out with an uneven hemline."

"A badly made one with a sleeve acquires wrinkles which no skill can remove. My workers take joy in handling fine fabrics and well-made clothes."

The costume shown here is one that can be worn year in and year out. Choose a handsome fabric, light in weight but with real integrity of fiber and weave. There are some beauties among the new fabrics for 1964.

Forstmann makes Charella, a very lightweight crepe, which comes in six exquisite pastels, any one of which would make a lovely jacket costume such as we show. You can get exactly the same colors in interesting tweed-type weaves for a lightweight topcoat, if you're ambitious enough to make an entire ensemble.

Such a costume could be worn south with pride—and all through the summer.

Sew for Fashion Rightness

Blouse of the costume shown may be made of washable satin or crepe or linen, or it can—and I feel preferably so—be made of the suit fabric, and attached at the waistline.

An advantage of a plain skirt: you can add more width by simply moving the front and back pattern pieces in from the fold, say 1/2-inch, and allowing another 1/2-inch at the side seam. The added fullness should come from midway of the pattern. You will not add enough to distort the line, but this will provide more width should you desire it.

If your waistline is smaller than the pattern, stitch two darts each side center-front, halfway between center front and side seams. These darts can be as short as 1 1/2 inches. If your waistline is larger, slash your pattern and separate just enough to provide the amount needed.

Buttons were never more beautiful than now. Choose yours to be just right for your fabric and right for any jewelry you might wear with the costume. Work for harmony and simplicity throughout.

Many jackets have no buttons or buttonholes, are worn open, and look really smart.

Allow for a hem on the front edges. This can be 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches wide. Hem at the bottom should be 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 inches deep. Cut away the corner as shown in the small diagram, to avoid bulk at bottom of the fronts.

Line your skirt throughout with China silk. You may use it also for the jacket lining, or use lightweight taffeta or satin. Lining can be contrasting color, but in the very most expensive suits it usually matches perfectly and is soft, not bulky.

You may omit the collar if you expect to wear your suit during the warmer weather, or if you wish to wear a fur collar, or to fill in the neckline with a chiffon scarf. The soft silk chiffon scarves are beautiful, inexpensive, and enhance as well as protect the neckline.

Precautions in making this costume:

Be sure your thread matches perfectly; that length of the stitch is just right—10 to 12 to the inch. Clip your raglan sleeve seams every inch as shown—press them open. Stretch all seams slightly as you stitch, so that when they are pressed they will look as if they grew together. Press as they sew.

When you hang a raglan sleeve jacket on a hanger, be sure it is a padded one. If not, put several layers of tissue paper over each end of the hanger so no crease can develop.

This handsome design, F-48, is available in sizes 12 through 20. Bust 32 to 40. Size 14, 34 bust, dress, 3 yards of 35-inch; jacket, 3/4 sleeve, 2 1/4 yards; short sleeve, 2 1/4 yards.

Bradds Leader On All-America

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gary Bradds of Ohio State was the leading vote getter today on the 1964 United Press International All-America basketball team and the only member of the elite squad who did not escape the clutches of home-state recruiters.

Five geographical areas of the United States are represented on the team which includes Walt Hazzard, the ball-handling whippet of unbeaten UCLA; Cotton Nash of Kentucky; Bill Bradley of Princeton and Dave Stallworth of Wichita.

The All-America team was selected by the direct vote of 315 sportswriters, editors and broadcasters from all 48 continental states. The voters selected both a first and second team.

Back In Fold
Bradds, a home state Ohio product from Jamestown, almost followed the pattern of his four All-America teammates by matriculating in another state (the University of Kentucky). But he was wooed back at the last minute by Coach Fred Taylor of Ohio State.

Hazzard made the biggest jump of the five, passing up offers from basketball-minded Philadelphia schools to enroll at UCLA.

Nash, whose home is Leominster, Mass., but a graduate of Lake Charles (La.) High School, was recruited by Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp; Stallworth foresook Dallas for Wichita and Bradley, of Crystal City, Mo., bypassed Big Ten, Big Eight and Missouri Valley Conference offers to enter Princeton.

All five players own school scoring records, including Hazzard, who holds the UCLA career scoring mark. Nash and Bradley should gain similar honors at their respective schools before the season is over.

Two Are Juniors
Nash was a member of the UPI second team in 1962 and 1963. Bradley, the first Ivy Leaguer to make the squad since Chet Forte of Columbia in 1957, was on the second team last year, and both Hazzard and Stallworth were selected to the 1963 third team. Stallworth and Bradley are the only juniors on the team, the other three being seniors.

Cazzie Russell, Michigan's versatile sophomore who barely missed first team honors, headed the second unit. Joining Russell were Jeff Mullins of Duke, Mel Counts of Oregon State, Fred Hetzel of Davidson and Cincinnati's Ron Bonham, a first team choice last season.

Howard Kivines of Bowling Green, the current scoring leader among major college players with a 26.1 average; Bill Buntin of Michigan, Paul Sillas of Creighton, Jim (Bad News) Barnes of Texas Western and Wally Jones of Villanova composed the third team.

Rockdale Thrown Out of Playoffs

AUSTIN (UPI) — Rockdale High School has been thrown out of the class AA state schoolboy basketball playoffs because of violation of University Interscholastic League (UIL) rules.

The school was disqualified after Taylor High School, complained that a Rockdale player had participated in three games in one week.

Because of Wednesday's UIL ruling, Taylor, which had lost to Rockdale in the bi-district playoff, will take its place in the regional playoff.

The UIL said Rockdale admitted its senior center, Robert Jensen, had played once at Lampasas and twice at San Marcos in the same week.

Rules state that no team or player may participate in more than two matched games per week.

YCC Basketball

White Deer held off a SW Public Service rally last night to take a 47-38 win in YCC basketball. WD led all the way, but the Servicemen pulled to within 37-35 with five minutes to play, only to run out of gas. Marjion Bickel had 18 and Jerry Braddock 14 points for the Deers, Bill Rash had 11 for the losers.

Did Cassius Beat One-Armed Man Or Swan Diver?

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The most nauseating part of Cassius Clay being the heavy-weight champion of the world today is the fact that he believes he really is the ruler of the ring.

Cassius admits that he huckstered his way into a title bout. And he says flatly that he believes Sonny Liston could have continued instead of throwing in the towel at the end of the sixth round of their title bout.

Which comes out that he either beat a one-armed man or a feller who took a swan dive into a damp rag.

So you have to think that Cassius is a man knocking on a window with a sponge after months of sounding off like a convention of callopes. That's because he insists that now, as the somewhat disputed heavy-weight champion of the world, he is going to become a quiet champion.

Can Go To Sleep
"If you're a politician," says Cassius with all the aplomb of Zsa Zsa in a five and dime, "you have to go around making a lot of noise, handing out pamphlets and impressing people. You got to make a ton of noise. But now, once you're elected, you can just take it easy and sorta go to sleep."

There are some who were on hand in Miami Beach Convention Hall who thought that he should have been put to sleep in the fifth round. Sonny the deposited hit him three stiff right hand shots over the heart and Cassius settled down on his O'Sullivan like King Levinsky with two armloads of neckties. Why even a one-armed Liston didn't slug him to sleep must remain paramount among such questions as to why Lee's support never came up at Gettysburg.

Had Liston pulled off what was expected, then Clay's future would have been very certain. Gaseous could have had a much more secure future as one of the Madison Avenue boys. He's one of the greatest merchants since that gent from Venice who was halted only by a gallon of unwelcome corpuscles.

PHS Golfers Swing Into Sweetwater Action Today

The Pampa High golf team left today for Sweetwater and their opening match of the season, with coach Eural Ramsey still not sure who his starting quintet would be.

"It isn't that we're so poor in material, it's that we have some fine-looking sophomores coming up who are threatening last year's returnees for a berth. We have six good golfers right now, and can only use five at a time (the best four scores counting in a meet). Not only is the competition so keen, despite a comparative lack of practice due to the weather, but we have some more good boys who are out for spring football training and one on the sick list, and frankly, the whole picture may change from week to week depending on the results of matches and how they look in practice."

Ramsey optimistically opined that the Harvesters would do better than last year's seventh place finish. "We'll actually get a good idea from this weekend's meet," said the cheerful shining-domed skipper, "most of the district 3-AAAA teams will be in it. Monterey is the defending champion of the Sweetwater Meet, and we finished 111th. Lubbock will be there and so will Berger and Plainview and several of the Amarillo schools."

Returnees from last year's starting team are junior Heiskel Grover, team captain, who has scored a 78 on his home course at Pampa County Club, and senior Bill McKinney, who has shot an 84.

Two juniors come back from the B team, Skip Warren, who has scored an 80 and Chuck Worley who has marked up 84.

The two good-looking sophomores have averaged 76 in practice rounds at PCC. Richard Ellis having carded a low of 73 and George Snell a 75.

Other candidates are Thomas Warren, a B team returnee, Bobby Prichard, David Fain, Fred Tinsley and George Elberedge.

"Right now," said Ramsey Wednesday, "four of the starters will be Grover, Warren, Ellis and Snell. The fifth place will be between McKinney and Worley. They'll shoot off a round and I'll decide before the team leaves Thursday morning."

The Harvesters will get in a practice round at Sweetwater when they arrive today, with tee-off time at 9 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

Gubner, O'Brien Meet in KofC

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Madison Square Garden schedule officially lists tonight's event as the New York K of C track meet, but Tom O'Hara, the sensational red-haired miller from Loyola of Chicago just might turn the affair into a three-ring circus.

O'Hara is making his first start since smashing the world indoor standard for the mile on the same track two weeks ago in the time of 3:56.6. But more than O'Hara's own mile record will be at stake due an unusual procedure on the behalf of meet authorities.

There will be three official timers for the Columbian mile — the usual one at the finish line, one posted at the three-quarters mark, and a third at the 1,500 meters mark. And should O'Hara run a fast early pace, he could snap all three records.

In addition to O'Hara's triple threat, the two-mile mark also is in danger. Australia's Ron Clarke, who last week lowered the three-mile standard, hooks up with phenomenal Bruce Kidd of Canada in what should prove to be an exciting duel.

Bill Crothers, normally a half-mile, attempts to crack the world standard in the 600-yard run, while the shotput duel between Gary Gubner and Parry O'Brien could result in yet another record.

Sporting Sidelines

by JEFF COHANE

JIM MCLEMORE, secretary of the Texas Sportswriters Association, has been leading a campaign against some of the scholastic, unjust, unreasonable rules put forth by the University Interscholastic League. So often Jim sits down using the forceful pen which has made him one of the most prolific writers in the state, whips up a few stories pointing out some of the more basic boo-boos of the UIL. The latest batch contains one that we agree with, wholeheartedly and completely, being our own among those guilty parties who try to give recognition deserving athletes despite the machinations of the scholastic writers—that is, be. With no further ado, we present guest columnist Jim McLemore:

It is high time the University Interscholastic League took a good look at some of its rules and regulations, especially the Amateur Rule. First we want to make it clear that we are not advocating that high school athletics be anything but a pure amateur level. On the other hand, the UIL should look at some of its rules that are a little more consistent. For all if a rule is sound enough to be put in force, then should be retained in all sports not just one or two. In other words, what is illegal in one sport should be illegal in all. It seems that virtually the UIL rules are aimed at high school football player the game of football, especially when it comes to awards. Do you realize that the only high school football player can receive any additional awards, certificates, small trophies, medals or even ribbons is his team to win the State Championship? On the other hand, a youngster participating in basketball, track, baseball, soccer, hand or debate can fill a trophy case with awards still to be given the okay by the UIL.

A high school football player does not receive a small piece of paper awarded each year by the Texas Sportswriters Association being selected on the All-State team. These certificates are actually worth less than a penny each. Take for instance, John Adams, a football player at Pock High. John was an outstanding football player and was named all-district and All-State but could not legally receive a certificate from the sportswriters. But John's younger brother Adam brought home trophies for being on all-district basketball teams and all sorts of medals for winning first place in several track events. John's sister Betty has a full set of medals she won for singing. Many newspapers throughout the state have always presented all, actually worthless certificates, to all-district or all-state football players. The youngsters could have them framed and then would have a nice memento to remember their high school days by—but only if the UIL moguls didn't find out about it. (Editor's note: Shhh!)

The phase of the Amateur Rule which covers this sort of thing is as follows: Money or valuable consideration accepted by a contestant after a contest renders the contestant ineligible for further participation in UIL contests.

The UIL heads claim that singling out a football player at the end of the season and presenting him with an award of any sort, be it even a piece of paper, is illegal because it is done purely as a result of his exploits on the field and is not presented by the organization conducting a meet or tournament.

What is the difference in presenting a youngster a symbolic award such as an all-state certificate based on seasonal play and giving him a nice medal for winning a race in one specific meet or for one performance? It seems for better to honor a youngster for a season's play rather than for a one-game showing. As to the sponsoring organization presenting the award, just how successful would our high school athletic programs be without the benefit of newspapers and all the free publicity they receive?

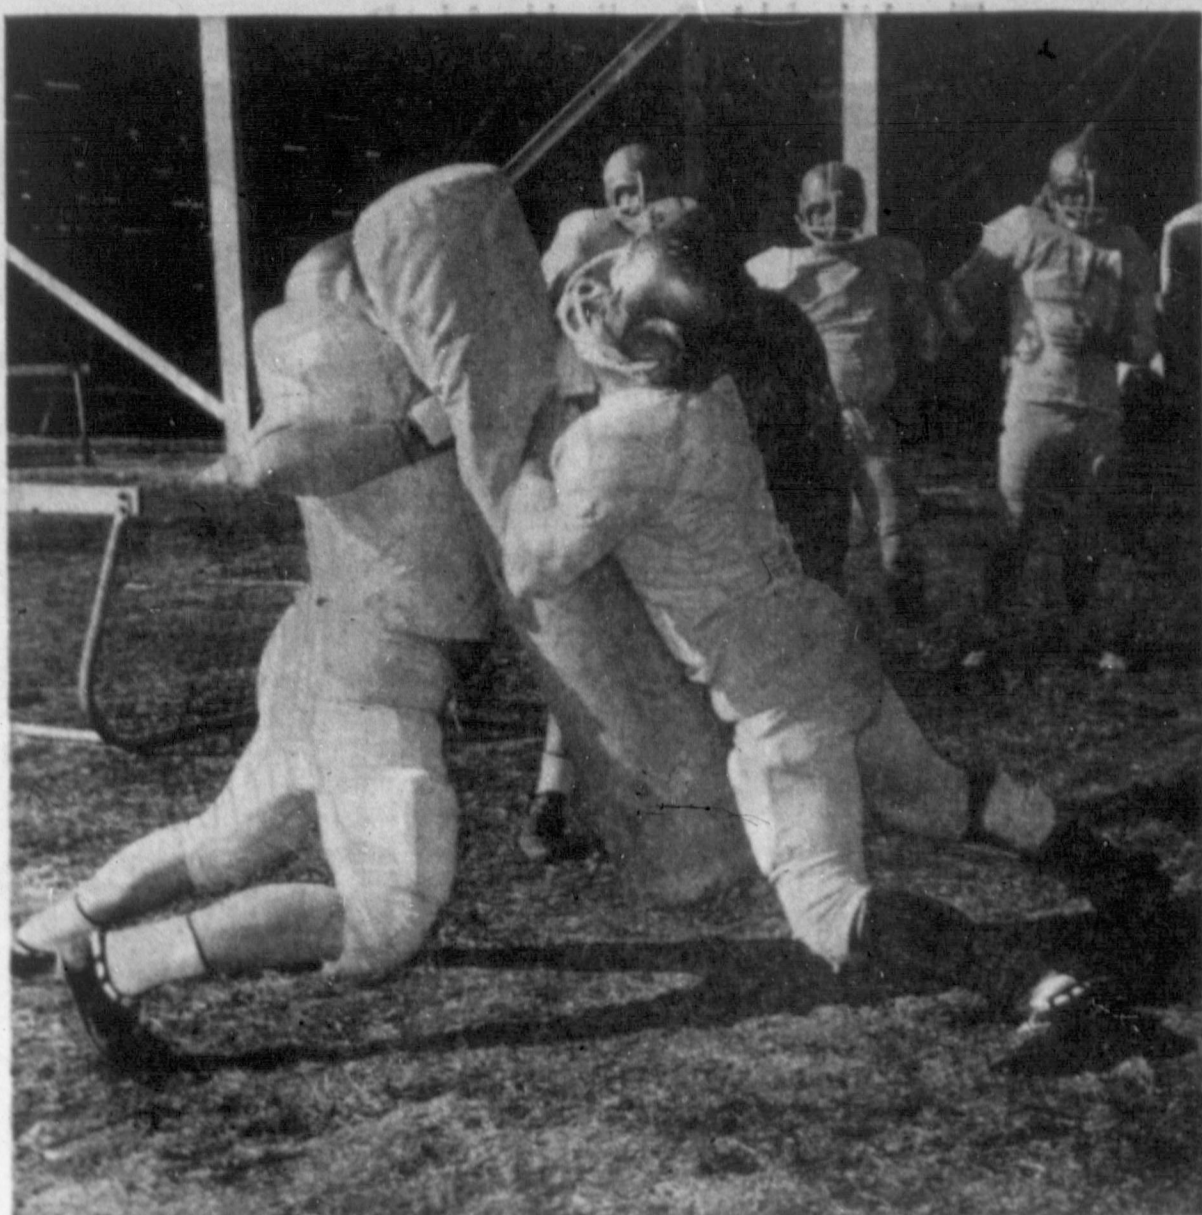

Newspapers have just as big a hand in sponsoring an athletic program as the school itself. Without publicity, most of your programs would die a slow death.

Granted it is absolutely wrong to give high school athletes expensive awards such as watches, clocks or other real expensive items but it is also wrong to penalize a high school football player. As long as awards are kept within reason, then what is good for sport should be good for the others.

The UIL has more varying interpretations for the words "VALUABLE CONSIDERATION" than can be put in print. What is considered valuable consideration for one group is not for another.

If a youngster can receive medals, trophies and ribbons for competing in basketball, track, baseball, drama, speech, debate, and band, then the UIL should get a little consistency in its rule and allow athletes in any sport to receive certificates for all-district and all-state honors.

After all it would take very little effort to come up with another interpretation of the "valuable consideration" clause and make it legal to give athletes such certificates. The UIL heads interpret the rules the way they want to anyway so why not either do away with the rule or make it fair for all con-

No one will deny that rules and regulations are needed to govern high school activities, whether it be in athletics, music, drama or debate but the fact still remains a rule should not be so flimsy that it can be subject to so many varied interpretations.

Dodgers Sign Don Drysdale To $71,000 Contract for '64

By United Press International
Now that the Los Angeles Dodgers have agreed to pay Don Drysdale a club high of $71,000 this season, how much cash are they offering Sandy Koufax?

Drysdale and Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants, two of the most feared right-handed pitchers in baseball, both wound up with healthy raises when they signed their 1964 contracts Wednesday.

Drysdale, a 19-game winner last season, was given a $25,000 hike to about $71,000. Marichal reportedly settled for $40,000, which represented a $16,000 raise over his salary last year when he posted a 25-9 record and pitched a no-hitter against Houston.

Drysdale was "very reasonable" in his salary talks, according to Dodger General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi. Koufax, though, might be a little tougher to deal with. The fast-balling southpaw was paid about $35,000 last year when he emerged as the National League's most valuable player after winning 25 games and beating the New York Yankees twice in the World Series. He, too, will expect at least a $25,000 raise.

The Dodgers also have yet to sign speed merchant Maury Wills and outfielder Frank Howard.

The Giants were happy to corral Marichal this early. The high-kicking right-hander held out for 22 days last year before finally signing for $24,000. He is expected to leave his home in the Dominican Republic this weekend for the Giants' camp at Phoenix.

The Yankees signed catcher Elston Howard Wednesday, giving the American League's most valuable player of 1963 a $6,000 pay boost to approximately $55,000.

Five Yankees remained unsigned. They are Mickey Mantle, who was ready to accept another $100,000 contract at the club's Fort Lauderdale, Fla., camp today; infielder Phil Linz, outfielder Tom Tresh, and pitchers Jim Bouton and Hal Reniff.

Pitcher Camilo Pascual became an official holdout when he failed to show up for the Minnesota Twins' opening drill. Bill Mazerowski, Ted Savage, Manny Mota and Roberto Pena still haven't accepted terms with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Rookie outfielder Gage Naudain became the only unsigned member of the Boston Red Sox when shortstop Reggie Smith accepted his contract.

Eagles Pick New Coach

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Eagles were expected to announce this evening their long-awaited selection of a new head coach and if it isn't Joe Kuharich, everyone will be surprised.

Kuharich, now supervisor of officials for the National Football League, was a standout lineman at Notre Dame and with the Chicago Cardinals. He then served as head coach at San Francisco University, the Chicago Cardinals, the Washington Redskins and Notre Dame.

Jerry Wolman, the Eagles' new owner, reportedly had narrowed the prospects down to Kuharich and former Eagles Coach Jim Trimble, now coach of the Montreal Alouettes, and then picked Kuharich this week.

HOOKS NEW AD
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (UPI)—Gene Hooks, 36, has replaced Bill Gibson as athletic director of Wake Forest College.

Five Texans Still In GG

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Five Texas survivors were still around today for the national Golden Gloves quarterfinals tonight with prospects bright that one or more of them may go all the way.

The Texas team is leading in the team standings with nine points (victories) and five survivors, one point and one boxer ahead of Roswell, N. M. and Omaha, Neb.

Top prospect apparently is Jesse Valdez of Houston, who eliminated the welterweight defending champion in Tuesday night's program. But, bantamweight Manuel Navarro of Austin, who put out another 1963 champ Monday night, is also rated a strong possibility.

The same is true of lightweight Pat Bishop of Dallas, the only Texan with three victories to his credit.

The other two survivors are flyweight Jessie Rodola of Odessa and featherweight Floyd Molina of Fort Worth.

High Cost of 'Liberty'

The cost of liberty, government style, will go up if the proposed civil rights bill, now pending in Congress, is passed. This bill will cost the taxpayer 100 million dollars in administration expenditures alone during the next five years.

The administrative expenses connected with the bill were broken down in this way: To the Justice Department for enforcing new guarantees of voting rights and access to public accommodations and facilities, $923,920.

To Health, Education and Welfare for technical help to schools as they desegregate, $10,095,000, and $699,870 to the Justice Department for legal work in this connection.

To Civil Rights Commission, operating under broader power granted in the proposed bill, $1,425,000. To Justice Department for enforcing non-discrimination in federally assisted program, $66,350.

To proposed new Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, $5,760,000; and $75,000 to the Labor Department for special studies in this field.

To Commerce Department for special voting census to determine how many Negroes are denied franchise, $1,800,000. The above - quoted figures, which represent roughly $21,000,000, are on a yearly basis, and probably would be reduced to some extent if the program is placed in operation.

The tragedy in the situation lies in the ironic fact that liberty can not be forced on anyone, and therefore the only thing that can happen here is more useless expenditure of the taxpayer's money.

same word may mean for some men to do as they please with other men, and the product of other men's labor. Here are two, not only different but incompatible things, called by the same name - 'liberty. And it follows that each of the things is, by the respective parties, called by two different and incompatible names - liberty and tyranny.

Today, the extent of difference of opinion as to what comprises liberty is indicated by the widely differing ideologies whose advocates claim to be correct in their particular concept of liberty.

This includes all political organizations and parties and civilian groups such as the churches. It also includes nations such as the United States, Britain and Russia, all of whom proclaim to be championing the cause of liberty.

Thus, if liberty is to prevail, a basic definition that all can understand must be voiced. There must be a willingness by everyone to open his mind to a discussion of the subject.

Even superficial reflections about liberty reveal that its very nature precludes the use of force in its attainment. A relationship between persons must be either voluntary or involuntary. Liberty remains inviolate in any voluntary relationship because, being voluntary, the act is in accordance with the wishes of the participants.

Such a cooperative feature is evidenced by the fact that both sides of a deal enter into it willingly. Any solution of the civil rights problem based on other than voluntary agreement by those concerned, can result in nothing but enforcement by government and by force, which is a far cry from the accomplishment of liberty in its true form.

CAPITOL EYE

Goldwater Looking to California

By BRUCE BLOSSAT CHICAGO (NEA) - The prospect now arises that in early May the national headquarters for Sen. Barry Goldwater's field operations - devoted to the vital business of rustling delegates - may be shifted from the East to California.

A bold departure from past presidential campaigns, this plan would have the wisdom of permitting easier concentration on the key primaries in Oregon and California in late spring, on nine western state conventions set for May 8 or later and on the July 13 national convention at San Francisco.

Should this major shift occur, it would serve as a striking symbol of the West Coast's importance not only in the 1964 GOP nomination fight but in national politics generally.

Moreover, on top of the practical advantage of putting key Goldwater field men near the scene of final battle, the move would tend once and for all to put a western stamp on Goldwater's campaign.

It would be the most concrete recognition to date that the Arizona senator is trying to win the Republican nomination with a Western-Southern-Midwestern coalition which might box in - if it does not ignore - the party's established eastern power centers.

Placing the field command post in California would not, of course, affect all the other general headquarters activities presently gathered in Washington.

But this highly original idea is perhaps representative of the inventive, aggressive, spirit which characterized the unprecedented, Feb. 16 Chicago meeting of some 100 Goldwater managers and organizers from 42 states and the national campaign staff.

Seemingly undaunted by new public opinion polls showing Goldwater dropping farther behind 1960 nominee Richard Nixon, the conferees here and there behaved and talked almost like the victory celebrants.

Some, however appeared to be stung by reports that the Goldwater camp is struggling against inner conflict, incompetence, timidity and even gloom.

One leader, exuding confidence at what was mainly a workshop meeting, nevertheless blurted out his annoyance: "We wanted to prove to these field people that even though we're a bunch of yahoos from Arizona we have some competence."

This was a reference to reports that Goldwater's newly chosen Arizona-oriented campaign managers were regarded by the earlier Draft Goldwater organizers as too green for the job.

Another top man scoffed at the notion the Chicago conference was called to smooth over major dissension: "You don't wash your dirty linen at a meeting of a hundred people."

Goldwater leaders in Chicago made no pretense that all was perfect. But they say they have done a remarkable job of cranking up in the six weeks since the senator became a candidate.

If they are not genuinely confident, if they do not in their hearts believe Goldwater has the makings of victory in July and beyond, then they are the best traveling show since Britain's famous Old Vic troupe last toured the United States.

The only other possibility is that they are now caught up in a massive enterprise in self-delusion of the sort that sometimes afflicts politicians engaged in presidential combat.

Holes in 'Economic Blockade' of Cuba Many 'No Tough Enforcement Shows in Foreign Figures

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON - This country's so-called "economic blockade" against Communist-ruled Cuba is as full of holes as a sieve, and all indications are this farcical situation will continue.

That provision Congress wrote into the foreign aid budget last year, over strenuous White House opposition, barring aid to countries doing business with this Red satellite is to be largely bypassed. The recent widely-publicized crackdown on Britain, France and Yugoslavia, whose U. S. assistance now amounts to only a few hundred thousand dollars, was merely a faint tap on the wrist that is going no further.

There are to be no really tough cut-offs of aid dollars. Foreign diplomats here are saying privately they have word from State Department authorities that no major beneficiary of U. S. aid doing business with Kremlin - puppet Castro will be hit by the congressional ban.

These diplomats are claiming they have been told the Johnson administration will get around that by invoking a loophole in the provision. Under this "escape clause" the President can waive the restriction by formally proclaiming that is in the "national interest."

Foremost among the countries slated for such waiver is Spain, which has just granted the U. S. a much-needed base for a squadron of nuclear submarines armed with Polaris missiles.

In fiscal 1963 Spain received $61 million in U. S. aid. To that date total U. S. aid to Spain was $1.742 billion.

Of the 22 free-world countries trading with Cuba, 14 have received large amounts of U. S. aid, some of them billions. These billion-dollar beneficiaries include Belgium - Luxembourg, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, and Netherlands, Britain and Japan - with Egypt and Chile almost in that class with more than $800 million each.

THE GRIM DETAILS - Representative Paul Rogers, D-Fla., author of the restrictive provision, is set to offer it again in this year's foreign aid budget. President Johnson already has indicated he will ask for a total of $3.4 billion: $2.4 billion economic and $1 billion military aid. He will also again vigorously oppose Rogers' curb.

As drafted by him and voted by the House, this ban was mandatory: countries doing business with Castro automatically would have been cut off from U. S. aid. Under powerful White House pressure the Senate watered that down to give the President waiver authority in the "national interest."

This battle will be refought when the foreign aid issue is considered by Congress later this year. Slated to play an important role in this bitter fight are Commerce Department reports on the steadily growing volume of free-world trade with Communist puppet Castro. The latest official figures, as of last October, disclose that the countries now doing the most business with Cuba are Italy, the Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Britain, Japan and Canada.

Following are the details of the Commerce Department's latest report:

Table with columns: Country, Import from Cuba, Exports to Cuba. Lists countries like Canada, Chile, Denmark, etc.

U.S. Aid Through U.S. Aid For the U. S. - Fiscal 1962, Fiscal 1963

FLASHES - Some 25 Cubans have flown to Poland to be trained in "naval technology." They will spend 18 months there and work in Polish shipyards. Senate insiders are attributing Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's persistent clamor for the neutralization of South Viet Nam (as advocated by President de Gaulle) largely to his assistant Frank Valeo, successor to "Bobby" Baker as Secretary to the Majority. Valeo has close State Department ties, and is a former staff member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He has long had neutralist leanings, not only for Viet Nam but Laos, Cambodia and West Berlin.

COVENANT NATION

The American flag fluttering atop the flag pole never fails to stir within my breast an emotion closely akin to reverence. We live in a day when the word emotion has been given a connotation of weakness and the cynical know-it-alls of the world attribute this feeling about the flag to a selfish desire for nationalism.

No Christian needs to feel any guilt because of his reverence for our flag. The flag of the United States is symbolic of our Covenant with God. Yes I said Covenant, for we are indeed a Covenant nation. Now a Covenant nation is one that recognizes its dependence upon God and its responsibility toward God. This nation was so born. God was recognized as the source of human rights, the Declaration of Independence says so. A Covenant nation is also one that recognizes that God and his purposes stand over and above the nation and that the highest role a nation can play is to reflect God's righteousness in national policy.

I personally feel no shame and will apologize to no one for the tears that sometimes come into my eyes when the flag passes by on some special occasion. We have been pictured as a materialistic nation of greedy appetites and perverse notions, worshipers of gadgets above the God of heaven. Perhaps there is some justification for this picture that some people have of Americans. At any rate a close self-examination is in order. Perhaps many Americans have become enslaved by gadgets and material comforts, or at least spent too much of their time and energy pursuing the false God of Gadgets.

I would not fight, or die for a gadget, but I would fight and die for these Panhandle plains and for the beautiful United States Flag that flies over them. I would fight for the right to make my own decisions, my own livelihood without depending on any handouts with the chains attached. For the right to believe in and worship God without being laughed at, or spit on.

I want the opportunity to tell the truth as I see it, without fear of censor. The privilege of showing love without deception. I suppose you could sum it all up, by saying that I want to live - "live." I said, not exist. I have no desire to live in a world where I must crawl as an insect. I want to walk like a man. My head may be in the stars, but my feet, I pray, will grip the good soil of the United States of America. I wish to retain my free agency, which I believe God intended that man should have. This, the free agency of man, has reached the greatest height under the flag of the United States, than under that of any nation ever conceived.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL

Former Internal Revenue Chief Points Out Evils

By T. COLEMAN ANDREWS Former Internal Revenue Commissioner

The most insidious piece of legislation in the history of our country is now being railroaded through Congress. Its passage would destroy our rights to govern our own lives.

If you have been led to believe the Civil Rights bill was designed to give "justice" to minority groups, you have been sold a bill of goods.

Few Americans, especially businessmen, realize that this vicious measure would convert this nation into a police state under the direction and control of a powerful central government. Its effects would adversely affect everyone, black and white alike.

The bill has been hailed in glowing terms by the President and has been passed in House. It is now before the Senate. By its action on this the Senate will determine fate of the Constitution and freedom it guarantees.

Its evils are not concentrated, nor are they confined to, much discussed and highly publicized "public accommodations" section, vicious though that section is. It becomes more and more evident that "Public Accommodations" is a red herring that has been used to divert public attention from the evil that runs through all of like a fine electrical control wire, ready to be charged whenever the Attorney General chooses to throw the switch.

Like all such schemes, the Socialist Omnibus Bill - named the Civil Rights Bill is sponsored and pushed upon the guise of do-goodism. The phrases, "guaranteeing rights for minorities" and "ending discrimination" cover its real subjugation of 185 million Americans to an all-powerful centralized Washington bureaucracy.

If Congress passes the Civil Rights Bill, the United States Attorney General will then be made a dictator with practically unlimited powers. He "inspectors" will swarm, snooping and prying, over the countryside - as if Juddicator Wren and his presumptuous usurpations were not enough.

This proposed legislation far beyond the wildest hopes of the Socialist-Liberals. It pairs the right of homeowners to be the sole judges as to whether they will rent, lease or sell their homes; it impairs the right of employers to hire or discharge as they see fit; it impairs seniority rights of employment union and non-union, alike; impairs the right of banks and other institutions to make loans and extend credit in accordance with their best judgment.

This bill can affect nearly every individual in the United States: insurance agents, editors, broadcasters, merchants, manufacturers, bankers, farmers, homeowners, teachers, recipients of veterans pensions, civil service workers, receivers of social security, parents of children attending school, even school board members. It would outlaw "discrimination," yet it does even define the word.

If you find this difficult to understand, your doubts are understandable. It seems impossible that the far-reaching effect of this legislation could have been successfully kept from the public; but it has, and time is short.

This evil plot must be defused. Once control of all American life is centered in Washington, the autonomy and sovereignty of our 50 United States will be swept away.

The President, as the Head of Representatives, has descended. The Senate therefore, is last hope. If its members before the winds of hysteria will have had it. For President impatiently awaits the opportunity to put his nature to the warrant that consigns us, our children, our grandchildren to generations-long political, social and economic bondage.

If you want to continue earning your own life, write senators, both of them, and them so. Tell them you oppose this bill; tell them why. I now.

Question Box

QUESTION: Is the oft repeated statement, "What you do not know will not hurt," true?

Answer: That certainly is not true. What you do not know that you ought to know certainly does hurt you. Each person ought to know more and more about his work and his responsibility.

He also ought to know what is right and what is wrong. He ought to know what will benefit mankind. Not only does it hurt the individual who does not know what is right and what is wrong and more and more about what he is doing, but it also hurts every other individual in the world. The more a person knows about his work, the more efficient he is and the more he benefits himself and everyone. Anyone who neglects to produce wealth and doesn't use his talents to the best advantage, not only hurts himself but hurts everyone else in the world.

Of course, the thing that is wide-spread and does the most harm is not knowing that moral principle is always in agreement with every other moral principle.

But how could you expect the youth of the land or the parents who have attended compulsory tax-supported schools to believe that one principle is always in agreement with every other moral principle. They are taught by example that the state has the right to initiate force to compel a man to pay for schooling that he wouldn't contend that he as an individual had a moral right to initiate force against his neighbor to make him pay for the schooling that he thought was beneficial to his neighbor.

If there was ever a foolish statement it is, "what you do not know will not hurt you." Ignorance on subjects of what you are supposed to gain knowledge about as to your work and the ignorance as to what is right and what is wrong and what is good and what is bad does hurt the individual and everyone.

Foreign Commentary

UPI Foreign News Analyst
Benghazi, Tobruk... Tripoli... names made familiar in World War II by Allied sacrifices, defeat and final victory against the German-Italian axis in North Africa.

Tripoli... noted in U.S. history books for the war which a fledgling United States fought against the Barbary pirates.

Today, Benghazi is the eastern capital of an independent Libya set up under United Nations sponsorship in 1952. Tripoli is the national administrative capital. And it was in Tobruk on Jan. 14, that 72-year-old and ailing King Mohammed Idris El Senussi received at his palace a government delegation.

The delegation bore the news that in Benghazi and Tripoli, university students were battling riot police in fierce street demonstrations.

In Benghazi, police broke down doors and battled students over barricades made of furniture. At least two students died and scores were injured.

Missed Arab Meeting
The students were protesting King Idris' failure to attend an Arab summit conference which declared Arab unity in a hard line against Israel. Instead, Idris sent a representative.

Changes have come to Libya. Less than five years ago it was a thin strip of green against the Sahara Desert's vast waste of rock and sand.

Strategically, it occupied a place along the Mediterranean coast below Italy and Greece. The U.S. airbase at Wheelus just outside Tripoli, negotiated by the United States in 1954 to run until 1971 and built at cost of around $100 million, provided not only a staging link between U.S. bases in Morocco and Saudi Arabia, but also provided live firing ranges for the whole U.S. tactical air strength in Europe.

Into the Libyan economy, the United States had poured nearly $200 million.

Western-Oriented
Previous U.S. and British aid, plus heavy investment by Western oil companies, have kept Libya Western-oriented.

But Cairo radio beamed into Libya also makes a strong impression, particularly among students who are under the influence of Egyptian teachers.

And it could have been this kind of pressure which led the Libyan government to announce over the week end that it would not renew leases for U.S. and British bases.

King Idris is trying to build a unified state where for centuries none existed. But his is an authoritarian state, described as "more Moslem than Mecca" with a single political party, a tightly controlled press and a reluctance to meet the demands of an impatient younger generation.

This, rather than a possible loss of bases, is the greater danger to the West.

Robert G. Story To Go Before Warren Panel

AUSTIN (UPI) — Dallas attorney Robert G. Story will represent Texas before the Warren Commission in Washington today when Mrs. Marina Oswald's business manager testifies, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said today.

Story was named by Carr as special counsel for Texas before the commission, which is investigating the assassination of President Kennedy. Marina Oswald is the widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin.

Carr said Houston attorney Leon Jaworski was present when the commission took testimony from the accused assassin's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, and brother, Robert Oswald.

James Martin, Marina Oswald's business manager, is scheduled to appear before the commission Thursday.

The Tower of London is not a tower, but a group of fortifications, none higher than six stories.
