COTTON BURNING—Some $9,000 worth of cotton was heavily damaged shortly before noon today when fire broke out in a freight car of an eastbound Santa Fe train in Pampa. The car was uncoupled and sidetracked East of the Santa Fe Depot where the fire was extinguished by Pampa firemen. Approximately 45 bales of cotton were damaged by the blaze. Firemen have not been able to determine what started the smoldering fire.

Three Jail Escapees Caught; One at Large

Three of the four prisoners who escaped from the Wheeler County jail Sunday night were captured this morning by Texas and Oklahoma officers after a two-day manhunt. The escapees were Charles Ray Geren, 25, and Harold Lee Breeden, 44, both of Missouri and indicted last week for burglary; William Eugene Guess, 23, from California, indicted for theft over $50, and Edward Lee Jackson, 30, Shamrock Negro, who was awaiting transfer to Huntsville on a sentence of burglary. Captured were Breeden, Geren and Jackson. Guess is still at large. Jackson was the first one arrested and helped officers find the trail of the other three. Jackson was arrested about 2:30 this morning walking down a deserted highway near Sweetwater, Okla. Officers were alerted on his whereabouts when a Sweetwater resident saw him walking through the town. Jackson told officers the four had spent the day yesterday in an abandoned barn about eight miles from Sweetwater. When night arrived the other three left and said they intended to steal a car. He said he waited on them for about an hour and then started walking toward Sweetwater. He was arrested a short time later. Officers then returned to the barn and began tracking the others. They came upon Breeden and Geren in a shinnery field about 15 miles from Cheyenne, Okla. Guess had split up from the pair and is still at large. The three captured were taken to the Cheyenne jail and are being held pending transfer back to the Wheeler jail. The capture culminated a two-day search by Texas and Oklahoma officers on foot, horseback and by plane. One of the arresting deputies said one of the prisoners said he was glad he was captured since he hadn't eaten since he escaped. The men broke jail Sunday night when one of them apparently crawled through a hole that had been knocked in the jail roof, obtained the jail keys and freed the others. They fled in the family auto of Wheeler sheriff Bus Dorman which was found abandoned Monday about nine miles east and about seven miles north of Wheeler. Officers said they plan to continue the search today for the other still-at-large prisoner, Guess.

Teachers Stay On Strike In Illinois

By United Press International
Public school teachers in East St. Louis, Ill., stayed on the picket lines today in their fight for higher wages but teachers in Utah were back in the classrooms after a two-day statewide strike.

South Bend, Ind., teachers scheduled a vote today to decide whether to accept a union committee recommendation that they walk off their jobs later this month to back a demand for higher wages.

The East St. Louis School system was virtually crippled by the strike of teachers, which stretched to three days today. More than 16,000 students missed classes Tuesday when less than one-third of the city's 715 teachers reported for work. Many high school seniors, concerned that their graduation might be delayed, matched picket lines with the striking teachers. "Exams now, pickets later," the students' placards said.

In Utah, the state's 11,000 teachers returned to work today but planned to keep alive their bid for more state funds for education by refusing to sign next year's contracts until state spending is accelerated.

Neutralists Making Last Stand in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Neutralist forces on the fringe of the Plain of Jars today were reported making a last-ditch stand against advancing Communists who blamed the United States for the new fighting in Laos.

Neutralist Gen. Kong Le, who was forced to flee his headquarters at Muong Phanh to escape the Pathet Lao offensive, was reported rallying his troops six miles to the southwest at ban Khong, on the edge of the strategic plain. The plain is the gateway to all of Laos.

The Pathet Lao offensive which gained control of the Plain of Jars since Saturday was reported to have left Muong Phanh surrounded by Communist, its supply line cut and under steady artillery bombardment.

Intensifies Propaganda
In an apparent effort to forestall military intervention by the Western powers, the Pathet Lao intensified a propaganda barrage aimed at justifying its attacks and preserving its battlefield gains in north-central Laos.

Communist broadcasts by the "Voice of Laos" radio and retransmitted from Peking by the New China News Agency portrayed the fighting as an internal revolt inside the Laotian neutralist faction, and not an attack by the Communists.

The Communist radio said dissident neutralist troops in Phok Lak Tay, Tha Thom, Muong Phanh and the Plain of Jars revolted against a plan by Premier Souvanna Phouma's government to put neutralist forces under command of the right-wing faction.

U.S. Lackeys
The Communists regard the rightists as "lackeys" of the United States because Washington has favored the right-wing faction headed by Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

A brief bloodless coup by right-wing generals last month started the current crisis. Under pressure from the United States and others, the generals allowed Souvanna to remain in power and agreed to a union of rightist and neutralist forces with the hope the Pathet Lao would cooperate. Pathet Lao leader Prince Souphanouvong rejected conditions following the coup, refused to cooperate in the government, and insisted on retaining tion of the coalition as it was constituted by the 1962 Geneva conference which guaranteed Laos' independence and neutrality. The fighting on the Plain of Jars last weekend started shortly after Souphanouvong's position.

U. S. May Send Troops To Thailand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Thailand Ambassador Sukich Minnanheminda said today the United States is considering sending troops to Thailand to help meet the threat of Pathet Lao Communists in neighboring Laos.

The ambassador met for 25 minutes at the State Department with William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

He told newsmen afterward that the United States is taking a "very, very serious view" of the situation in Laos, where attacks by the Pathet Lao on neutralist forces have threatened the downfall of the two-year-old coalition government.

The ambassador confirmed that he and Bundy had discussed the possibility of sending U.S. forces to Thailand, just as the United States did two years ago when Pathet Lao forces also threatened the Thai border.

In May, 1962, the United States sent 5,000 marines, soldiers and airmen to bolster the area near the Lao border. The troops were withdrawn following the Geneva conference in June and formation of the coalition government among neutralist, pro-Communist and rightist factions.

Secret Agent Waits Charge

CHICAGO (UPI)—A U.S. Secret Service agent was to be arraigned today on charges he attempted to sell for $50,000 a secret government file on the operations of a counterfeiting ring which he helped to smash. Abraham Bolden, 35, a Secret Service man for four years, was arrested Tuesday and released on his own recognizance along with another man and his wife.

Wallace 'Surprised' At Vote

BALTIMORE, Md (UPI)—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who captured 42 per cent of the vote in losing the Maryland presidential primary election, said today his unexpected strength had "surprised" him. Sen. Daniel Brewster, D-Md., the victor, said the closeness of Tuesday's race would have no effect on the civil rights bill now before the Senate.

Wallace admitted that he was honestly "surprised" at the number of votes he polled. He said he had anticipated the support of only 25 per cent of the state's Democratic primary voters.

"You people of Maryland have done a great service to the nation," Wallace said before leaving for Alabama. "The people of this country owe a debt of gratitude to the people of this great sovereign state. You have shown there is a new trend against the use of federal force."

Brewster's victory held Maryland's 48 first ballot convention votes for President Johnson. But Wallace's showing was certain to cause some concern among Senate civil rights backers.

Best Showing
With 1,443 of 1,461 precincts reporting, Brewster polled 250,171 votes to 196,468 for Wallace. It was the best showing by far for the segregationist governor who brought his battle against the civil rights bill to the North by entering primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland.

"We set out to protect our Democratic delegates to President Johnson and we succeeded," Brewster said. "In any battle there is no substitute for victory but you can't get all the votes. We did get more than the other man."

"I don't think the vote will have any effect on the Senate of the United States," Brewster said. "I predict that by June 15 we will have a civil rights bill."

Wallace maintained that although he lost the popular vote, he won the convention delegates by the unit vote system. However, a check showed that Brewster wound up with 99 unit votes to 72 for Wallace.

Effective by Oversight
The unit system was tossed out by state courts last year but, by an oversight, the ruling did not apply to presidential primaries. A federal court is to rule on the matter May 25. However, state Atty. Gen. Thomas Finan has issued an opinion that the popular vote would apply to this election.

The leader of Southern forces in the Senate, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, said he interpreted the results as evidence of increasing sentiment against the civil rights bill. "It is finally getting through to the people of this country just what the politicians are threatening to do with their form of government in their bid for minority bloc votes," Russell said.

PANAMA'S PRESIDENT
Panamanian government candidate Marco A. Robles has been elected president of Panama, but nosed-out Arnulfo Arias, twice-elected, twice-deposed ex-president charges "fraud," calls on the people to support his claim of victory.

Cabot Officials End 2-Day Meetings Here

Top officials and directors of the Cabot Corp. will head back to Boston tonight and tomorrow morning after two days in Pampa during which they conducted their first board meeting away from the home office.

E. L. Green Jr., vice president and general manager of the Western Division, said after yesterday's board meeting that the session was more or less routine and that nothing developed that would have any immediate effect on the company's Pampa area plants.

The Boston officials were busy this morning in a meeting with the staff of the Oil and Gas Division. This afternoon they scheduled a staff session with the Machinery Division.

Local Cabot officials said the visitors from the Boston home office would start leaving Pampa tonight. Some will go back to Boston and others of the 15-man group will visit other Cabot plants in the Southwest.

Louis Cabot, president of the corporation, said at a luncheon given yesterday in Coronado Inn for the visiting officials, that the directors' meeting was moved to Pampa "to pick up some new ideas so we can continue to move forward."

In a lighter vein, Cabot said: "There could be some political implications in holding our first board meeting outside Boston and moving it to Texas, inasmuch as the Bostonians now are out of Washington and the Texans are in."

The Cabot Corp. president praised Pampa's community spirit and stated that Cabot officials and board members — nine of them former Pampa residents — have a real sense of belonging here and like to think of Pampa as their second home.

Mayor H. R. Thompson welcomed the visitors to Pampa and Aubrey Steele, Chamber of Commerce president, recounted the many contributions the Cabot Corp. has made to Pampa's growth.

Among these he mentioned the company's endowment fund for

'Good Samaritans' Killed Near Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — Murder charges were to be filed today against Kenneth Bruce Martin, a 29-year-old baker who admitted shooting a former Pampa man and his wife who stopped to be good Samaritans for a stranded motorist Saturday night.

Bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Lenfred I. Strickland of Duncanville, Tex., were found near their blood-stained automobile at Mountain Creek Lake on Sunday. The 28-year-old woman was nude.

Strickland attended Pampa High school in 1949 and left Pampa in 1960.

Police said Martin told them he intended to rape Mrs. Strickland after killing her husband, but changed his mind and shot her too. An autopsy showed she was not criminally assaulted.

Martin left his home town of Camden, N.J., about three months ago and came to Dallas. He lived in a motel and worked in a bakeshop, where he was arrested Tuesday. Admits Slaying Confronted with his blood-stained clothing and his pistol, Martin admitted the double slaying to police Capt. Will Fritz.

"He told us he did not know the Stricklands," Fritz said. "He said they gave his stalled car a push. Then, when it wouldn't start, he got in their car, and ordered them to drive to Mountain Creek Lake."

Fritz said "he shot Strickland and then ordered Mrs. Strickland to strip, considered raping her but did not. Finally he shot her twice."

Police found a .45 caliber pistol believed to be the murder weapon at Martin's motel room in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas. Ballistics tests were being made.

Four Children
The 6-foot-3-inch Martin, who weighs 215 pounds, said he had stopped at several taverns Saturday night before his automobile broke down. The Stricklands had left their four children with a relative to go dancing, and also were on their way home when they offered to help Martin.

Robbery was discounted as a motive because the couple had $30 in their clothing. Martin said he hitch-hiked back to Dallas from the lake, telling the man who gave him a ride that the blood on his coveralls was from a cut finger.

Police hoped to locate the motorist who gave Martin a ride from the murder scene.

More Hidden Mikes Found in Embassies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet listening devices have been discovered in other Allied embassies in Moscow in addition to the network of more than 40 microphones found in the U. S. Embassy recently, officials reported today.

They said the attempts to "bug" the other embassies had been made over the years but declined to identify the Allied countries, the types of devices or the dates of their discovery.

At the same time, the State Department sought to determine whether any sensitive or secret U.S. information had been significantly compromised by the carefully concealed Russian eavesdropping.

The 40 microphones were found buried deep in the U. S. embassy, the department disclosed Tuesday.

Officials declined to clear up speculation whether a recent Soviet defector, Yuri I. Nosenko, provided information leading to the discovery of the 40 microphones.

Nosenko, identified as a Soviet secret police agent stationed in Geneva, defected Feb. 4 and was brought to Washington for questioning.

Recalled Technician
In February, the State Department recalled one of its security technicians from Moscow for conferences which led to a decision to completely demolish a room in the Moscow embassy in April. The microphones were found in the course of the demolition.

When asked about Nosenko,

Foreign Bride 'Just Happened' To Know the Word

DENISON, Tex. (UPI)—Justice Homer Gaddy had a few anxious moments Tuesday in marrying Donald Ray Upjohn, 25, of Oklahoma City to Miss Nehad Muhammed Abdel Latif Khatib, 23, of Arabia.

The bride-to-be, who met Upjohn while visiting her brother in Oklahoma City, only knew one English word.

But everything turned out all right. The word she knew was "yes."

New Move Due on College

Another step toward establishing a junior college in Pampa will be taken at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce junior college committee Friday in Coronado Inn.

The committee will meet to begin preparation of the presentation it will make for the college to the State Board of Education at its July meeting in Austin.

Attending the Friday meeting, in addition to committee members, will be Dr. C. C. Colvert, advisor on Junior College Education at the University of Texas; Sidney Woodruff of Rauscher, Pierce & Co., Inc., employed as fiscal agent; and H. H. McCall, Dallas attorney.

Dr. Colvert has been working with the Chamber of Commerce here for three or four years in outlining preliminary steps for the junior college.

If the State Board of Education okays the college plans in July, the matter then would be presented to Gray County voters for approval or rejection.

A petition with more than 1,200 Gray County signatures already has been presented indicating a desire that the college be located here.

PHS Nearing End of Year

Pampa High School is in the process of winding up another year of school.

Final exams will be given to sophomores and juniors for the next three days. Seniors have already completed their final exams.

One of the big events of the year will take place Saturday night when the all-school prom gets under way in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Vesper services will be conducted at 5 p.m. Sunday and graduation services will be held at 8 p.m. Monday. Both services are scheduled in the school field house.

Approximately 256 seniors will walk across the stage to receive their graduation diplomas. Students will not attend classes on Monday, however, they will return to school Tuesday morning for their report cards.

The 1964 summer school session will begin June 1 with registration at the school and run through Friday, July 24, with one holiday on July Fourth.

Courses to be offered are English I, II, III and IV, government, Texas history, world history, American history, algebra I and II, plane geometry, business arithmetic, typing, summer homemaker and driver education.

Class periods will be from 7 to 8:40 a.m., 8:45 to 10:25 a.m. and 10:40 to 12:20 a.m.

Army Denies Plan To Annex Property

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Defense Department spokesman said Tuesday the Army had no plans to conduct off-post maneuvers at Fort Hood, Tex., and therefore had no plans to acquire any extra land for such purposes.

There had been reports in the Killeen, Tex., area, that once again the Army might be preparing to stage military exercises on private property there.

"There is no plan in the Department of the Army at this time to conduct off-post maneuvers at Fort Hood," the spokesman said. He added that on-post maneuvers were planned through the next two or three years.

The Army used private property for some of its Fort Hood exercises in 1952. The spokesman conceded it got a "black eye" afterward for not moving quickly enough to repair damages.

He said that twice since then in 1955 and again in 1962, the Army proposed to hold similar maneuvers. But, he said, it backed off because of local opposition.

The spokesman said that normally when the Army needs to use private land for exercises, it signs a standard use agreement with the landowner. There is no rent or lease fee involved and the Army agrees only to pay for any damages.

"We have tried to find a more equitable procedure," the official said, "but there just isn't any. We only use the land for three or four weeks and we just can't get into any long-term leasing or purchasing program. If we did it would become a hydra-headed monster."

Bombing Plot Discovered at Norway Palace

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — A bomb plot at the building where Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will stay during his forthcoming visit to Norway was discovered early Tuesday, Oslo police reported.

Shortly before 3 a.m., a watchman observed a man and a dog inside the garden fence surrounding Bygdoey Kongsgaard, one of King Olav's summer residences. They were close to the building but managed to get away before the watchman could apprehend them.

Later, they said, an explosive charge of about 4 pounds ready for detonation had been found beside a stone near the wall of the house, about 20 feet from one corner.

Texan Gets Post On Top Committee

Our friend and neighbor from the South Plains, Congressman George Mahon of Lubbock, has become the chairman of what many persons regard as the most powerful committee of the Congress, the committee on appropriations of the House of Representatives. Congressman Mahon moved to the chairmanship upon the death of Congressman Clarence Cannon of Missouri.

With his background of 30 years' experience in the Congress, Congressman Mahon will prove to be a most able and effective chairman of Appropriations. The Subcommittee of which he has been chairman for many years, Defense Appropriations, performed the Committee's detail work on the largest single money bills of each fiscal year, those having to do with maintaining the Nation's military strength. This is extremely vital work and George Mahon's leadership of the Subcommittee was universally respected. I know of no man in the House of Representatives who is more admired for his ability, dedication, and wisdom than George Mahon. We in West Texas can be proud that one of our citizens has attained this post of national and international distinction; his performance of the duties imposed by this office will be a credit to our region, our State, and the United States.

The committee on appropriations was created in April 1865 when the burden of work then performed by the House Ways and Means Committee became too large for one committee to handle. In the committee reorganization of that year, two new committees were created from ways and means — the committee on appropriations and the committee on banking and currency. The position as chairman of the banking and currency committee now is held by the dean of the Texas delegation in the House, Congressman Wright Patman of Texas. Two other Texas Congressmen are chairmen of important House committees. Congressman Omar Burleson of Anton is chairman of the committee on House administration. Congressman Olin Teague of College Station is chairman of the committee on veterans affairs.

Congressman Patman addressed the annual congressional dinner of the Electric and Telephone Cooperatives of Texas here in Washington Tuesday and paid special tribute to the "engineering skills of the energetic

Texan who is now our President, Lyndon B. Johnson. Not long after Patman had concluded his remarks, the President made another of his surprise appearances at a Washington meeting, walking from the White House to the nearby hotel in the evening twilight. In acknowledging the friendship he and the folks in Texas REA have maintained for many years, the President told the group, "The least I could do was to walk the two blocks over here to say 'thank you.'"

No congressional district in Texas was better represented at the REA dinner than was our own 18th District. Among the Panhandle folks here for the meetings and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Draper, Raymond Higginbotham, and Leo Forrest, all of Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Elliott Jr., of Dalhart; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Buckles of Stratford; A. J. Garland of Clarendon; George L. Henry of Wellington; Selb a Rainey of Shamrock; R. A. Yarbrough of Childress and Lyle Robinson and Bailey Reece of Tulia.

A thoughtful Air Force sergeant, Leo Warden (formerly stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base), made arrangements to bring to Washington the two young Panhandle Science Fair winners and their faculty advisers from their national meeting in Baltimore, and it was a pleasure for me to join them at lunch at the Capitol. The girls from Pampa are Miss Avril Doucette, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Doucette, and Miss Cynthia Ann Plaster, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Plaster. Both girls are students at Pampa High School. They were accompanied to the Baltimore meeting by Mr. C. C. Dugger of the Amarillo College faculty and by their Pampa teachers, Mr. Wendell Watson and Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter. Mrs. Ledbetter was unable to come to Washington for lunch because of meetings, but the others enjoyed a tour of the Capitol and were in the Senate gallery while former President Harry Truman was being honored on his birthday by members of the Senate. That night, back in Baltimore, Miss Doucette was awarded fourth prize in the National Science Fair for her exhibit of "Texas Panhandle Soil Algae as Antibiotics." Promising careers in science are in store for both young ladies.

Folk Singers Blamed For Suburb Migration

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vast numbers of Americans have moved to the suburbs in recent years and sociologists have had a field day trying to explain the migration.

Actually, the explanation is quite simple. Most people move to the suburbs to get away from folk singers.

In suburbia, it is still possible to frequent public places without having some lout in need of a haircut twang a guitar at you.

Folk singers naturally resent being shunned in this manner, and they recently struck back with a scornful ditty depicting the suburbs as a collection of little boxes made of ticky-tacky.

I'll admit that we suburbanites are vulnerable, but the folk singers have failed to nick our vital spot. The curse of suburbia is not conformity, as they imply.

What makes suburbia so repelling are those cloying names that real estate promoters give to the developments and subdivisions where the little boxes are located.

With few exceptions, suburban names are either revoltingly cute or nauseatingly pretentious or utterly ridiculous.

I personally am domiciled in a suburb known as "Sleepy Hollow," for Pete's sake. What kind of a name is that to plaster on an adult residential community? It sounds like something that belongs in Disneyland.

I'm embarrassed every time I have to tell someone where I live. I'm afraid they'll ask me if I know the "Headless Horseman."

You can wander through a good part of suburbia without encountering a single "burg" or "ville" or any other sensible suffix for a place name. The little boxes are all situated in various kinds of estates, terraces, acres, gardens, valleys, hills and woods.

In California, one of the Los Angeles suburbs is named "Highland Greens." I'll bet that every house has a leprechaun at the bottom of the garden.

The naming of suburbs is destroying something that is good and fine about America—sully-ing a tradition that gave us such splendid place names as Old Joe, Ark., Cucamonga, Calif., Silt, Colo., Sopchoppy, Fla., and Hico, Tex.

If Old Joe ever gets a suburb they'll undoubtedly name it Old Joe Terrace East. Sooner than that, I'll take folk singers.

SOLUTION TO AUTOMATION?

CROCKETT, Calif. (UPI) — Union and management officials at the California and Hawaiian Co. plant, one of the largest sugar refineries in the United States, think they are approaching a solution to a major industrial problem: automation.

Under an agreement signed recently by both sides, the company will offer a 62-year-old worker the chance to retire with a monthly pension $100 higher than that available at 65, if an automating device necessitates the elimination of a job in the plant. The retiring worker must have 30 years of service to his credit.

Twentieth Century Luncheon Highlighted by Installation

Mrs. Richard Stowers was hostess for the closing meeting of Twentieth Century Club recently. Mrs. Bill Roots and Mrs. James O'Conner were co-hostesses. Three guests, Miss Kitty O'Conner, Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. Ada Brown, St. Louis and Mrs. Aletha Davis attended.

Following a luncheon, Mrs. J. W. Gordon installed new officers with the theme of art and color. She opened the ceremony with the remark, "Art washes away from the soul the dust of everyday life. Every masterpiece of art is created with the proper use of the elements of painting—tone, line, shape, intensity, texture and color. All of these things must be present in forming a set of officers."

Mrs. V. J. Jamieson was given a red ribbon to donate courage as the new critic.

Mrs. Tom Rose was given a pink ribbon to suggest that she keep the club "in the pink" in parliamentary procedure; Mrs. Roy McKernan was handed a violet ribbon noting the coming of spring, a fitting symbol of the office of reporter. Mrs. Rayburn Thompson, treasurer, was given green, noted as easy going and the color of money. Mrs. David Tucker, secretary, was given a yellow ribbon to symbolize the glow of the office and as the history making color.

Mrs. Jack Stroup, vice president, will have to work closely with the president and since whites and black are the

Teacher in Quandary Over Status of Job

UNDERWOOD, N.D. (UPI)—A high school drama teacher suspended when he tried to stage a Noel Coward play which irate parents claimed is "dirty," said today he doesn't know how to get his job back. "The situation is in the lap of the gods right now," said Robert Gamba, a 27-year-old bachelor teacher in this central North Dakota prairie town. "I can't decide what to do," he said. "I'm not a crusader. I don't have anything against the school board but it looks like I'm buffaloed."

The board suspended Gamba when the parents of some of his students objected to certain lines in the play, "Fumed Oak." The parents said the lines were "dirty."

The play is about a man who got bored with married life, saved his money and took off for a new life in the South Seas. Gamba had distributed copies of the play to about 30 students. Parents got hold of the play, called for a special school board meeting and pressed for the teacher's suspension. "I'm just a guy trying to do his job," Gamba said. He learned about the objections to the play and planned to delete them, he said. "Then the roof fell in," he added. "This came out of nowhere."

The North Dakota Education Association (NDEA) rushed to Gamba's defense Tuesday and said it would try to get him reinstated if he wished. NDEA Executive Director Iver Iversen said Gamba signed a contract for next year but the pact was suspended by the board. Iversen said the board may have allowed itself to be stampeded into hasty action by parents who did not have all the facts.

Gamba, a native of Chippewa, Iowa, said his main concern now is getting his job back. "You know how touchy people are about hiring teachers who have a bad mark against their name," he said.

Slaying Suspect Tries Suicide

HONOLULU (UPI)—A prime suspect in the ax-slaying of a freighter captain was hospitalized today following a suicide attempt.

Authorities from several countries still were not sure which of them should seek the solution to the murder aboard the freighter Pomona.

The victim of the slaying was Capt. Jacob Natvig, 51, a Norwegian. He was hacked to death with a fire ax in his cabin last Friday, while the vessel was en route from Los Angeles to Formosa with a cargo of scrap iron.

The man described as a prime suspect, chief steward Anker Baardsen, 42, also a Norwegian, was rushed to Queen's Hospital Tuesday from his isolation cell aboard the Brazilian freighter. Authorities said he slashed his wrist with a piece of broken plate.

Baardsen had been drinking with the skipper shortly before the slaying, and customs officials found a blood-splattered shirt in the chief steward's cabin.

Rocky Keeps Up Pace in Primary

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller kept up a busy pace today in his bid for California's 86 votes at the Republican National Convention.

The California primary which will decide whether Rockefeller or Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater adds the state to his basket of pledged delegates is less than two weeks away.

Rockefeller was slated to speak at two college campuses in neighboring Riverside and San Bernardino counties during the day as well as make some television tapes and address a joint meeting of San Bernardino service clubs.

Plan Revealed On Court Split

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chief Justice Earl Warren today announced a plan to split in two the badly overworked Fifth U. S. Judicial Circuit, which is composed of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and the Panama Canal Zone.

The chief justice, said the judicial conference, over which he presides, has concluded "with the utmost reluctance" that such a move is necessary. The Fifth Circuit has had a heavy load of school desegregation and other civil rights cases.

The division would provide for a new Eleventh Circuit composed of Texas, Louisiana and the Canal Zone, with a panel of seven judges. The old Fifth Circuit would have eight judges.

Warren said legislation to carry out the plan "will be submitted to Congress in due course." The judicial conference consists of the chief justices of the present circuit, plus representatives from U. S. district courts. Warren disclosed the plan in a speech prepared for delivery before the annual meeting of the American Law Institute.

Service Station Theft Reported

Thieves made off with $3.62 in cash and four quarts of motor oil during a burglary of the Hi-Lo Gas Mart, 422 E. Frederic. Police said the burglar gained entry to the station by reaching through an all-ready broken window and tripping the latch. The money was taken from the cash register. The incident was reported yesterday by Vance Choat, owner.

Devices

Many U.S. embassies in such countries have specially constructed rooms with equipment designed to prevent electronic bugging. Important conversations can therefore be held in them.

When the Moscow Embassy building was remodeled, prior to U.S. occupancy the Russians did all the construction work and would not permit U.S. officials to inspect the premises until it was done.

Conducted Tests Officials here said security personnel at the embassy had long conducted all the standard tests to detect listening devices. Last February, when a security technician was in Washington for conferences, it was decided to try more drastic measures.

Technicians selected one room in a "sensitive" section of the embassy and completely demolished all four walls and the ceiling and floor. There they found the first microphone and the wiring then led them to the others.

The microphones were embedded 8 to 10 inches inside the walls. Each was equipped with a hollow wooden tube which reached just to the plaster on the inside of the wall to carry the sound.

On the outside of the wall, wires were embedded in the stucco which covered parts of the building and the wiring system then went off underground apparently to some listening post.

Old Tennessee House Made Into State Shrine

HOT PROPERTY—This is Celia Kaye, headed, at 21, for movie stardom via Universal pictures. She's pretty "in a church-going way," brainy, hates parties—not at all the type to which the term, "Hollywood started" usually is applied. Celia will be seen in "Island of the Blue Dolphins," "Daffy and 'Fluffy'."

By ALLEN GREEN
PINEY FLATS, Tenn. (UPI)—When Davy Crockett was four years old, William Blount strode along the dog trot at Rocky Mount and through the paneled front door to make the sturdy, white oak log house his territorial Capitol.

The "mountaintop in Tennessee" where Crockett was supposed to have been born is a few miles south near Limestone. Crockett, whose Irish ancestors came to what has been called "this shaggy wilderness" about 1769, was born in 1786. Blount became governor of the territory of the United States west of the Allegheny Mountains and south of the River Ohio in 1790—174 years ago this summer.

But the old house, about 20 years old when Blount moved in temporarily, still stands on a tree-studded hill overlooking the Watuga River and near the mouth of Boone's Creek. Tennessee was one of the first states to be chipped out of federal territory. And Rocky Mount is one of the oldest houses west of the Appalachians.

Famous Visitors
Andrew Jackson visited here and fished in the winding streams while awaiting his license to practice law in Jonesboro. Other visitors included Sam Houston, John Sevier, Daniel Boone.

It was in this area the War of 1812 was fought. The logs were hewn, notched and chinked with clay.

The house remained in the estates of Cobb and William Masengill until 1959. Then it was purchased by the state of Tennessee and made into a shrine.

Original Furniture
Mrs. Judy Castle, who lives in the stone museum near the house, says the furnishings almost all stem from the 18th century and some of the original furnishings have been kept. Among other things, the house had the 2½-story, nine-room house, with its pine mantels, walnut handrails and oak shingles, built in the early 1770s. The logs were hewn, notched and chinked with clay.

The house remained in the estates of Cobb and William Masengill until 1959. Then it was purchased by the state of Tennessee and made into a shrine.

Original Furniture
Mrs. Judy Castle, who lives in the stone museum near the house, says the furnishings almost all stem from the 18th century and some of the original furnishings have been kept. Among other things, the house contains an old canopy bed; a bust of George Washington; a silk-hat, complete with a stretcher, in a red-lined box; a hand-made candle stand; a replica of a 15th century white sugar cone, and a "shoo-fly chair," in the kitchen.

"You sit and read the paper, shoo flies and churn all at the same time," says Mrs. Castle.

A foot-pedal is connected to a white, ruffled cloth attached to a small pole just above where a person's head would be. The person sitting in the chair could press the pedal and the little curtain would move back and forth, scaring away the flies.

MOTORING TROUBLES
OCEANSIDE, Calif. (UPI)—Eddie Kantor, a Beverly Hills, Calif., real estate broker, went to court to answer a citation for driving without a license and was cited on the same charge as he drove up to the Municipal Court building here.

Convicted on both counts, Kantor, 50, started to drive away when he was stopped again. He was given another citation for driving without a license, and this time his car was impounded. Officers returned him to the courtroom and a new trial was set for June 22.

measure will come up for a convention vote Thursday.

A stronger proposal was introduced Tuesday by the ABC's Resolution Committee. It suggested that churches participate in "nonviolent action" and take other steps to end segregation.

Martin Luther King To Address Baptists

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was scheduled to speak today at Convention Hall, where the race issue is spotlighting sharp differences of opinion within the Baptist faith.

The civil rights leader was to address the American Baptist Convention (ABC) which, like the larger Southern Baptist Convention (SBC), is in annual session here.

Tuesday night, Dr. Ralph D. Abernathy, Atlanta, a King lieutenant, told the ABC that the church is not meeting its responsibility in civil rights. He said Christians "cannot possibly keep silent during his crucial hour."

But the Rev. Enoch Clayton Brown, Columbia, S.C., delivering the SBC's keynote sermon, said churches should not attempt direct "social and economic reforms." Brown said New Testament Christians conducted no crusades against slavery and other evils "because they recognized that the roots of all wrongs are in the hearts of men, and their efforts were directed toward the regeneration of those hearts." He said the same format should be followed today.

The SBC's Christian Life Commission offered a resolution calling for Southern Baptists to "give themselves to the decisive defeat of racism." The

Dear Abby....
Stuffed Toys Aren't Often Welcomed by 44-Year-Olds
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Could you please tell me if I did wrong? My son had a serious back operation last March. When he started to feel a little better, I brought a large stuffed rabbit (about 22 inches tall) to the hospital thinking it would cheer him up as it was during the Easter season. The rabbit did not look childish in my opinion. My son is 44 years old. He was embarrassed and insisted I take the rabbit home. Do you think this was a babyish gift or not?

the woman whose child didn't look anything like her or her husband, which was a constant source of embarrassment to her. I went through the same thing many years ago. My hair was mouse brown and as straight as a poker. My husband's was dark brown — what there was of it. Our son had a head full of reddish-gold curls. My oil man, who showed up every now and then, had hair exactly the same color as my son's, and he looked more like the boy's father than my own husband. Some stories got back to me that were positively outrageous. I finally had to change oil companies to shut up the neighbors.

LE MARS: Stuffed animals are usually for young children. (Most 44-year-old men prefer live bunnies.) A postoperative patient is in no mood to split his stitches over an Easter rabbit, so don't hold your son's lack of enthusiasm against him.

COURT STREET, S.C., IOWA

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who would put a diaper on a nine-year-old boy and make him parade around the school yard for punishment for wetting his bed? This lady must be cracked.

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with my girl friend and me meeting two very nice clean boys from school in the movies? All we do is meet them inside and sit with them. We don't hold hands or anything like that. We are 14 and so are the boys.

LIVES ACROSS THE STREET
DEAR LIVES: This woman is more than "cracked." She is cruel and ignorant. Bed-wetting is a symptom of an emotional problem, and to humiliate a child for wetting the bed will cure nothing and only compound the problem. I urge you to call on this neighbor (even if you know her slightly) and try to convince her to take her boy to a doctor and to heed his advice.

IMPORTANT QUESTION
DEAR IMPORTANT: There is absolutely nothing wrong with it, if you first get your mothers' approval.
Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

It is the misfortune of a couple of Johnson administration big shots that their political standing with the voters must depend on events in Southeast Asia where the future for all Americans is no better than dubious.

tion thought it had found a formula for peace. Fourteen nations signed the accords which set up a three-way government of pro-Communist, neutralist and rightist elements and required the removal of all foreign military forces from Laos.

These two big shots are Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state for political affairs. McNamara now is the subject of a boom for the Democratic vice presidential nomination to run with President Johnson.

The Communists (Russian, Chinese or Laotian) may be expected more often to violate than to abide by any solemn treaty or other international undertaking to which they put a signature. So it was in Laos. If the United States loses in Southeast Asia the high stakes game in which it is playing, a major contributing factor to the loss will be the Kennedy administration Laotian policy as carried out at Geneva by Harriman.

Harriman, who will be 73 years old this year, is the subject of a boom for New York state's Democratic senatorial nomination. It is more of a boom.

Would Be Vulnerable
As a New York candidate for the Senate, Harriman would be vulnerable to all of the bad news from Southeast Asia, of which there has been and will continue to be plenty. So would McNamara be a patsy for bad news from Viet Nam. The Democrats of New York state will need to look elsewhere for a candidate to lick Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating. So, too, will LBJ need to look elsewhere than to McNamara for a 1964 running-mate if, indeed, he ever looked in that direction at all.

NEW HEARING AID $99.50
Because of the many requests for an inexpensive, small behind-the-ear hearing aid, Mr. Reach has ordered and received a new shipment of instruments that will now sell for $99.50. This very new instrument has just been field proved and is manufactured by an old, reputable firm. It has a special telephone pick-up, can be worn in either ear, is made with three transistors, and carries a full year guarantee.
You will like this hearing aid! Now to try this new instrument, come to our monthly Hearing-Aid Service at the Adams Hotel in Pampa on Thursday, May 21, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., or call Mr. Reach to come out to your home. There is no obligation, of course, and budget terms can be arranged.

A politician bearing either the Viet Nam or Laos brand would be well advised to lie doggy in this 1964 presidential campaign. That would go double, of course, for Republican Henry Cabot Lodge whose nomination for president would be most notable for relieving the Democrats of any necessity to defend the ineffectiveness so far of the Kennedy-Johnson efforts in Southeast Asia.

DA Says Doctor Thinks Jack Ruby Needs Treatment

Dallas (UPI) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said Tuesday a court appointed psychiatrist believes convicted murderer Jack Ruby needs mental treatment. Judge Joe Brown is expected to order a sanity hearing for Ruby, whose lawyers are appealing his death sentence for the slaying of accused presidential assassin Le Harvey Oswald.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., proposed Sunday a nationwide "adopt by mail" program for Americans to help underprivileged children in Appalachia and other poverty areas.

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Incapable of Running Your Own Life?

Are you a sovereign human being who plans and lives his own life? Do you believe that you live in a free country, protected from tyrannical government by an ironclad Constitution? You may be inclined to answer the above questions "yes" — but the bureaucratic mind in Washington, D.C. sees you merely as a cog in a gigantic machine. This machine is, of course, operated by superior governmental minds who can plan your life better than you can, spend your money better than you can, and who knows more about what you need than you do yourself. The bureaucratic mind believes you are incapable of running your own life, or spending your own earnings — even incapable of providing for your children's lunch. Clearcut evidence of this bureaucratic attitude is revealed in a new government document, authored by the Chairman of the U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee, Carl Hayden. Alarmed about the mushrooming growth of the proposed Liberty Amendment (how approved by seven state legislatures), the Senator took pen in hand in hopes of heading off this movement. His attempts, however, have backfired totally. For the Senator's report unwittingly provides the American citizen with proof positive that his own government has no faith in his ability to run his own life. Words such as "absurd," "drastic," "extremist," and "shortsighted" are used in the government report. To describe what? — the concept that Americans are capable of running their own lives and that the powers of the Federal Government should be limited to those specified in the Constitution. It is virtually impossible to read this document without recognizing the need to halt the government's unrestrained growth. The insatiable appetite for power, the disdain for the Constitution, and the scorn for the people stand nakedly revealed. As a result, this Senate Document — which was created to head off the Liberty Amendment — is actually a strong argument for the Liberty Amendment. Because the Amendment would put a stop to the very arrogance and tyranny that characterizes the document. The Liberty Amendment will cut the cost of the Federal Government literally in half — merely by eliminating every Federal economic enterprise that isn't specified in the Constitution. The savings thus realized will be returned to the taxpayer in the form of outright repeal of the personal income tax. Every American who values his freedom or his pocketbook or his right to run his own affairs, should read this document. Freedom Magazine has reprinted the entire document — word for word — together with comments and additional information on the Liberty Amendment. The reprint is entitled "The Bureaucratic Mind" and may be obtained for 25 cents from Freedom Magazine, 6415 Franklin Avenue, Los Angeles, 28, California. We have read it — and we heartily recommend that you do.

Fiscal Insanity

Writing in The Wall Street Journal, Roger W. Benedict tells of the growing alarm of the investor-owned, taxpaying utility industry over the current growth and activities of the Rural Electrification Administration. In his words, "They note that the REA, spawned in the Depression primarily to help electrify farms, has been authorized to lend a record $425 million in the current fiscal year despite the fact that fewer than 80,000 of the 3,481,000 U.S. farms remain without electricity." And these funds are being used to serve urban and commercial customers — a field which was never envisaged when REA was authorized all those years ago. And that isn't the end of the story. For instance, the Federal Community Facilities Administration has gone into the gas business, via loans in a huge way. These loans, Mr. Benedict reports, have risen from $100 million in 1955 to a cumulative total of nearly $1 billion now. They are made in communities, to enable them to build their own gas services on what amounts to a socialized basis. The head of one private gas company has said, "It's incredible that any part of the Government should operate on the peculiar principle of investing taxpayer funds in projects that will decrease the potential tax income, but it's happening." All of this amounts to a form of fiscal insanity. And it goes to incredible extremes — Mr. Benedict cites the case of a telephone cooperative, now serving a mere 300 customers, which is about to embark on a $1,447,000 telephone system also containing cables for future pay television. And this, like other such projects, is to be financed by REA at a 2 per cent annual interest rate — about half of what the government (that is, the taxpayers; must pay on its borrowings. The national administration contends that we can have a tax cut, along with another huge deficit and a "war on poverty" whose ultimate cost is unknown, without additional inflation. If that extremely difficult goal is to be realized, taxpaying private enterprise will have to be encouraged to the fullest extent. And that includes electric, gas, and telephone companies.

Job Corps Is A Farce

It's amazing how some businessmen, who ought to know better, get sucked into these penny schemes conceived by government bureaucrats for the improvement of the economy. That there is something wrong with the economy is self-evident, but it should be equally obvious that the creation of more government bureaus is not the cure. The latest of these bureaucratic monstrosities is a "Job Corps" operating through the Public Employment Service, whose laudable objective is "to improve the economy of the state through increased employment of its work force." But bureaucrats will be bureaucrats, and the No. 1 target of this Job Corps is a public works program, which means the spending of tax funds on government projects, many of which are only boondoggling schemes to buy votes. At the same time the bureaucrats behind the Job Corps appeal to private industry to step up employment now, but do nothing to alleviate the crushing burden of taxation and interference by the tyrants of monopolistic labor unions. Feather bedding by the unions will not solve the problem of unemployment. This whole Job Corps concept for improving the economy is a deliberate fake to keep the voters from waking up to what really is wrong with the country. The Peace Corps has not brought peace to the world, nor will the Job Corps put everybody to work. Neither will the government abolish poverty, for all these are part and parcel of the welfare state in which the individual becomes a mere pawn of a paternalistic government, the end of which is Communism. Instead of a Job Corps, the country needs a Common Sense Corps to restore sanity in government and to revive the old-fashioned virtues of thrift, economy and frugality.

National Outlook

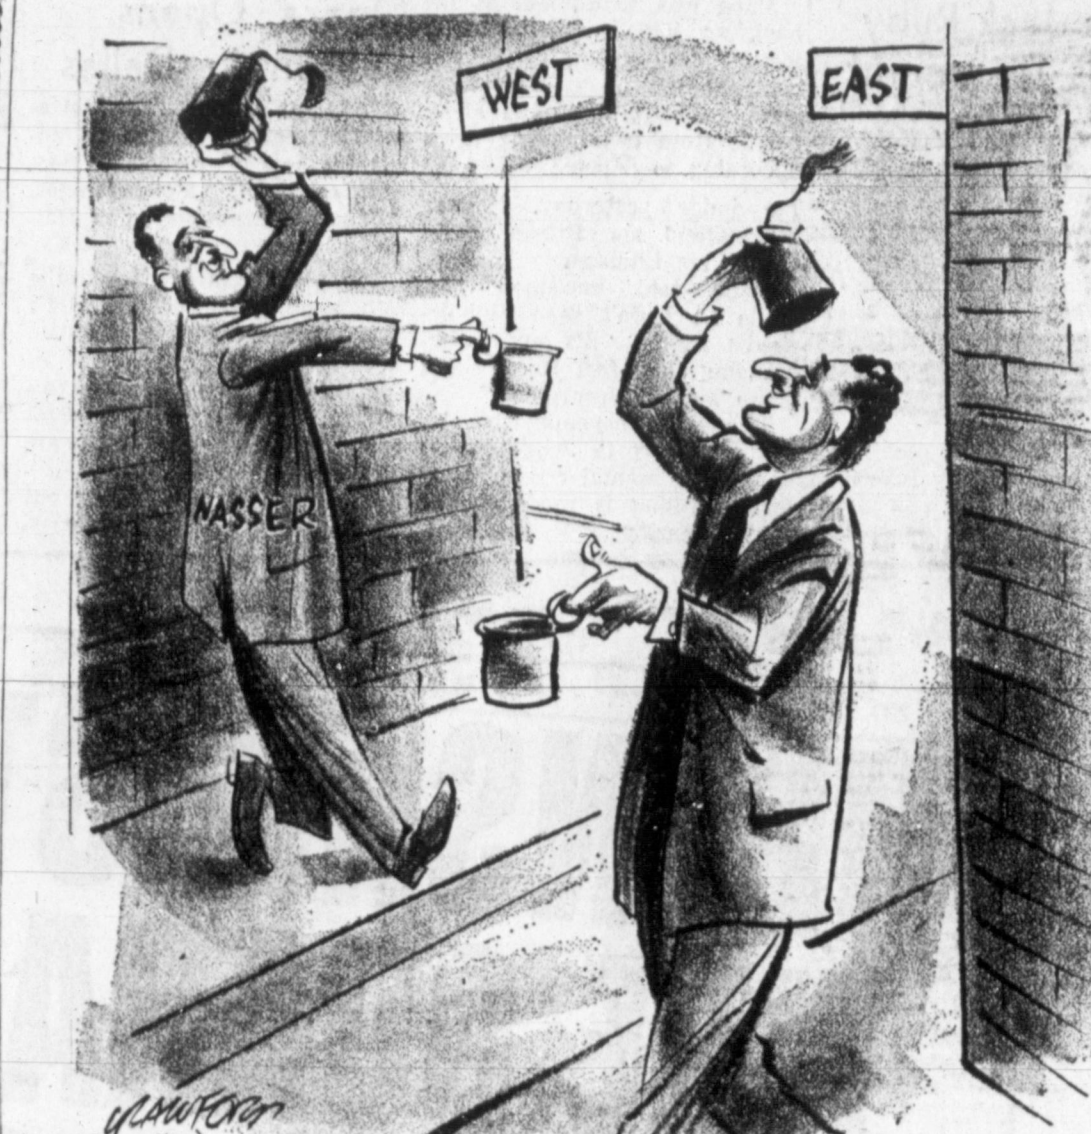

By GEORGE HAGERDORN
Surplus Labor and Surplus Wheat

In a recent speech to labor leaders President Johnson promised that, if other measures for attaining full employment fail, he will turn to a program of stepped-up public works. When you think about it, this approach bears a disturbing resemblance to the wasteful and futile devices we have been using for several decades to deal with agricultural surpluses. In effect the President has proposed that, if there is an unsalable surplus of labor, the government will remove that surplus from the market by buying it up with public funds. This is of course exactly what we have been doing for many years with respect to surpluses of certain agricultural commodities. But the existence of a surplus — whether of labor or of wheat — is evidence of some impediment to the operation of normal market processes which would otherwise bring about a balance between supply and demand.

Artificial Impediments
In the case of farm products, the impediment is clearly the government price support program. Farm prices are maintained by government action at a level which would cause more to be produced than could be sold. The government tries to balance this by paying farmers not to produce and it then accepts the obligation of buying up the remaining surplus. In recent years, about $4 billion of the taxpayers' money has been spent annually for these activities. In the labor market a variety of laws and pressures have resulted in a wage level higher than would have occurred in a free market. This is especially true in the unskilled occupations, where the current incidence of unemployment is more severe. The sequence is the same as in the agricultural area: artificially high prices mean unsalable surpluses. The suggestion of a public works program as a cure for unemployment has all the drawbacks of the farm price support program — and some others. The farm program helps the more productive and well-off farmers but doesn't give much help to the poor farmers on marginal land. In a similar way, a public works program would probably make more jobs for skilled and experienced workers. It is hard to see how it can do much for the untrained and inexperienced who are the core of our unemployment problem.

Problems Unsolved
As we have seen in the history of the farm program, one form of intervention leads logically to another. Controls over individual action proliferate. An open-end claim is established against the public revenues. New problems are created but the original problem is never solved. The acreage restrictions which accompany the farm price support program amount to a rationing, among farmers, of the right to produce certain products. Could it be that we may eventually see government rationing of the right to seek or hold a job? The President devoted the bulk of his speech to urging the labor leaders to use restraint in their demands for wage and fringe benefit increases. He may have spoiled his intended effect by adding what can be taken as a promise that, if they fail to exercise such restraint, the government will mop up the resulting labor surplus by an expanded public works program.

WAVE OF THE FUTURE
As proposed by Kennedy in this Canadian trial balloon, he will call for U.S. government support for such controversial revolutionary leaders as: Kenneth Kaunda, 39, head of the Northern Rhodesia Nationalist Movement, and a known pro-Soviet Marxist; Oskar Kambona, 32, left-leaning foreign minister of Tanganyika; exile leader, who has secret Jonas Savimbi, 30, Angolan exile leader, who has secret Russian ties; Sekou Toure, 38, president of Guinea and an avowed Marxist; Tom Mboya,

Allen-Scott Report

Robert Kennedy To Seek Leadership of 'Revolution of Youth,' As Indicated in Toronto Speech

34, minister of justice in Kenya, and Rufino Heckonova, 33, left-leaning Philippines minister of finance.

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Robert Kennedy has made his first far-reaching political commitment since the assassination of his brother.

He has decided to go after the leadership of what is known in U.S. intelligence quarters as "the revolution of youth" that is flaring excitedly throughout the world.

Where this decision will carry the 38-year-old Kennedy is conjectural. While no decision has been made on the political route to be followed to reach this objective, already young Kennedy has begun to align himself and his political future with the "revolutionary" aims of the youthful leaders of Africa, Asia and Latin America, who represent a wide range of ideologies.

This highly controversial commitment will be highlighted by Kennedy in a series of June commencement addresses and in summer meetings with young officials from undeveloped countries and civil rights groups.

According to Justice Department aides, the young Attorney General's position will follow that outlined in a little-publicized speech delivered in Toronto, Canada, in which he urged support for these youthful revolutionary leaders, as follows: "We must recognize that the young in many areas of the world today are in the midst of a revolution against the status quo. Their anger is turned on the system which has allowed poverty, illiteracy and oppression to flourish for centuries.

"And we must recognize one central fact: They will prevail. They will achieve their idealistic goals, one way or another. If they have to pull governments tumbling down over their heads, they will do it. But they are going to win a share of the new world."

"This affects us: Canada and the U.S., and you and me. Our future is tied up with what they think. Like it or not, what they are going to do will have a direct impact on us.

"We, in turn, are part of their revolution. At least we should be, and I believe we must encourage them. They will not be like 'sheep' without a shepherd when the snow shuts out the sky. Someone will share their aspirations and their leadership. If this means that the future is perilous, I must admit that I think it is."

This new Kennedy commitment fits in with private word from his younger brother, Senator Edward "Ted" Kennedy, D-Mass. He is telling close friends that "Bobby" has an "open mind" on "accepting the vice presidential nomination, if offered to him, or the Democratic senatorial nomination in New York."

"Ted" is stressing that his brother is an "activist" and wants to be in a position in the next few years where he can carry out programs both domestic and foreign that deal with youth.

The objective of this new Communist organization, Hoover asserted, is riots in major cities during civil rights demonstrations and to "pull governments tumbling down over their heads."

Matter of Fact

Charles Blondin, French acrobat of the 19th century, crossed Niagara Falls on a tightrope a number of times; first blindfolded, then in a sack, once on stilts, carrying a man on his back, and once sitting down midway while he made and ate an omelette.

WASHINGTON:

Natives Are Bit Restless Behind Wall

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some U.S. strategic planners are watching for a blowup in East Germany. Their agents report increasing signs of discontent. In Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and Hungary, the Communist rulers have been forced to relax their controls a little. There is more independence in their business and industry, more approaches to the West for closer commercial and diplomatic relations. There has been more freedom to associate with Western peoples in these countries. Even more important, U.S. diplomats report there has been more freedom of personal speech and action compared to the past, that is, freedom, of course, is still slight when compared with the freedoms in Western democracies). These U.S. analysts see a general weakening of the ability of the Communist governments of the Eastern European countries to handle their people. The American experts expect this weakening to continue. They therefore expect the Soviet Union to keep a huge military force in Eastern Europe, even if Khrushchev cuts back Russia's army overall. U.S. officials see the possibility that several of the Eastern European countries — Romania, Hungary and Czechoslovakia — may be reaching for a more independent status within the Communist bloc. The U.S. planners are determined to egg this shift along, through trade, aid and propaganda. These officials are certain they cannot swing these countries away from Communism short of a war. But they believe the more they can help to weaken the "monolithic uniaxial" of the Soviet bloc, the better for the United States and the West. The same pressures for more freedom exist in East Germany. But the East German Red rulers have rigidly held the line. Says one U.S. official: "Things are happening under the surface in East Germany. The situation is made even more tense because the East Germans know what's happening in the rest of Eastern Europe. They see no reason why they can't get these same relaxations. Something could blow there any time. "And if it does blow, it would certainly put pressures on the Russians, the West Germans and ourselves. "We think the Russian troops would put down any uprising hard and ruthlessly. We're not certain the West Germans would stand still for that. "This would put us through a lot of soul-searching here on what to do." U.S. planners haven't made up their minds yet what the United States should do if and

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Wednesday, May 20, the 141st day of 1964 with 225 to follow. The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Venus. On this day in history: In 1506, Christopher Columbus died in Spain. In 1862, President Lincoln signed into law the Homestead Act, providing 250 million acres of free land to settlers in the West. In 1902, Cuba became a republic as American occupation came to an end. In 1963, the Supreme Court okayed sit-in demonstrations, Birmingham, Ala., schools suspended or expelled one-thousand Negroes who participated in sit-ins. A thought for the day—Author Anne Morrow Lindbergh said: "Rivers perhaps are the only physical features of the world that are at their best from the air." when the East Germans do rise up in strikes, street demonstrations or revolts. To act might lead to war, they say. To not act might lose the United States the faith of peoples in Eastern Europe and around the world who want freedom from Red repression. It might result in less will to fight the Reds in South Vietnam, Africa and in Latin America. The planners are still stinging from the reproaches that resulted from U.S. failure to act positively during the Hungarian and East German uprisings several years ago. The plain and simple fact is that the United States is no more prepared to handle an East German or any other East European uprising today than it was the last time. But policy men are working on the problem.

Office Cat

Man's desires are limited by his perceptions, none can desire what he has not perceived. A woman went into a butcher shop one evening to buy some meat. A strange man followed her into the store and stood about while she was at the counter. Suddenly she screamed, and the man turned and ran out of the store, and right into the arms of a passing patrolman. On searching him he was found to be armed. Later he was identified as a notorious hold-up man. Butcher — Mrs. Jones, if you hadn't screamed I would certainly have been robbed. But how did you know he was a bandit? Mrs. Jones — I didn't know. I screamed when you told me what the roast was going to cost me. "Women have more strength in their looks than we have in our laws, and more power by their tears than we have by our arguments. We should have very little pleasure if we did not sometimes flatter ourselves.

Accounting Shows Marina Got $65,000

DALLAS (UPI)—Legal documents on file Tuesday showed Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald received $65,795 from sympathetic members of the public after her husband was charged with the murder of President Kennedy and then shot to death by Jack Ruby.

An accounting of money given the widow also listed a $5,000 payment from Life Magazine for a picture of Oswald with the gun believed used in the assassination.

The financial statement was a step toward an out-of-court settlement in a suit Mrs. Oswald has filed against three former advisors, James H. Martin, her personal manager, and attorney John M. Thorne and his law partner Paul Leech.

Both sides indicated an agreement was near. Mrs. Oswald, mother of two small children, has offered the men $15,000 as a reasonable settlement for their services.

Marina Oswald, 24, hired the men soon after the Nov. 22 assassination. She contended the contract was written in English and she didn't understand it.

The accounting alleged that $5,490 of the total had been spent either by Mrs. Oswald or by Martin or Thorne in her behalf.

Baptists Lower All Racial Bars

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—The American Baptist Convention was told Tuesday that Christians should no longer listen to both sides of the racial controversy.

A position paper presented to the convention said the only racial question facing Christians today is how to best bring about integration.

The paper was prepared by a committee of three Baptist leaders in Chicago and presented by one of them, Dr. Charles Long of the University of Chicago. It said the nation faces a racial crisis as ominous as the slavery issue of 1860.

"On some matters in some times there are no longer both sides to be heard," it said. "There is only obedience and trust in the work of God in the world, or rebellion and blasphemy. In our days we affirm that race has become such a matter."

A resolution offered after the presentation called upon churches to not only lower all color bars but also to become actively involved in community efforts toward integration.

It endorsed non-violent direct action and urged church participation. It suggested that churches require fair employment clauses in their construction contracts and invest only in enterprises which do not practice discrimination.

The measure, scheduled for a Friday vote, also proposed that the convention restrict loans to churches which are open to all races. It understood at least half the convention's 6,000 churches are segregated.

The larger Southern Baptist Convention opens tonight at Convention hall. The two conventions will run until Friday when a three day Baptist jubilee celebration begins.

LONDON (UPI)—A hard-working band of thieves cut telephone wires, muffled burglar alarms and carried in heavy oxyacetylene equipment to burn open a safe at the "Welcome Laundry" here over the weekend. All they got for their trouble was $8.40 and all the dirty laundry they could carry with them.

Milwaukee Miracle Man Wins Again

Life Begins at 43 for Spahnnie

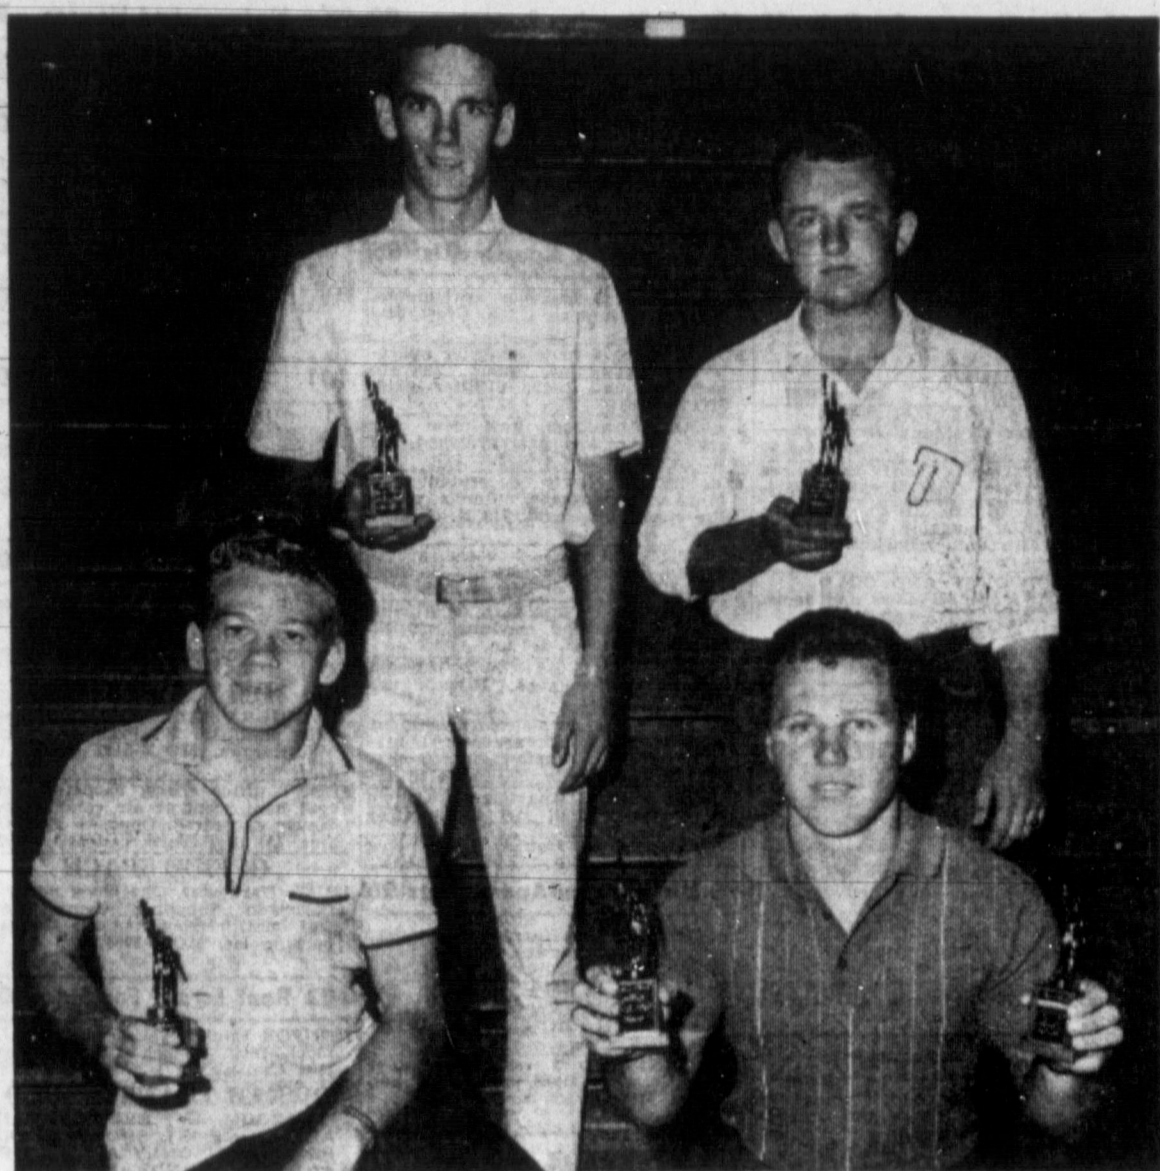

By United Press International
Tear up that obituary on Warren Spahn because there's a lot of life in the old geezer yet.
Six days ago when he was shellacked by the Mets, every one seemed ready to bury the 43-year-old miracle man of Milwaukee and Spahn confessed he was greatly concerned himself. "Darn right I was worried," he admitted again Tuesday night. "You always worry until you prove yourself."
Imagine a 350-game winner having to prove himself?
Spahn went out and did it again Tuesday night, even to his own satisfaction, when he stopped the Cincinnati Reds on six hits for a 4-2 victory that boosted the Braves into a tie for fourth place.
The triumph was the 353rd of his major league career.
Braves Pull Ahead
Lee Maye and Joe Torre each homered in the eighth off rookie Sammy Ellis to put the Braves ahead after the score had been tied at 1-1. Rico Carty connected for the Braves' third homer of the contest in the ninth off reliever John Tsitouris while Gordy Coleman homered for Cincy in the bottom of the ninth.
Spahn, who struck out six and walked only one, brought his lifetime record against the Reds to 61-26 while evening his season's slate at 3-3.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Giants bounced back into first place with a 3-0 victory over the Phillies, the Dodgers squeaked by the Mets, 6-4, the Cubs clipped the Cardinals, 7-4, and the Colts snapped a string of 25 consecutive scoreless innings with a 3-1 triumph over the Pirates.
Sanford Blanks Phillies
Jack Sanford blanked the Phillies on four hits to register his fourth victory for the Giants. Del Crandell broke up a scoreless tie between Sanford and Dennis Bennett (4-3) when he singled home the first run of the game in the seventh. Jim Ray Hart had four of the Giants' eight hits.
Phil Ortega of the Dodgers survived a shaky fifth inning in which the Mets rocked him for three runs to post his third triumph for the Dodgers. Dick Tracewski drove in two of the Dodgers' runs with two of their eight hits off loser Tracy Stallard (2-5) and reliever Craig Anderson.

The Cubs kayoed Ernie Broglio of the Cardinals in the seventh inning during which he yielded homers to Billy Williams and Ron Santo and uncorked three wild pitches. Southpaw Dick Ellsworth (3-4) went all the way for Chicago, giving up 11 hits, including a homer by Ken Boyer.
Al Spanglier's two-run single in the fifth inning off Bob Friend of the Pirates ended the Colts' scoring famine and provided the margin for Bob Bruce's fifth victory. Walt Bond hit his sixth homer for Houston in the sixth. The defeat was Friend's third against the same number of victories.

Minnesota's Musclemen Bounce New York Yanks

By United Press International
Jimmie Hall finally had discovered that New York can be a nice place to visit after all—and not just because of the World's Fair, either.
Hall, a country boy from North Carolina, put one over on most of the American League last year when he slammed 33 homers to erase Ted Williams' league record for round-trippers by a rookie and help the Minnesota Twins to a third-place finish.
But the Yankees, city slickers that they are, were unimpressed and took the youngster for a ride. Hall hit at least one homer against every opponent except New York and finished the 1963 season with an anemic .096 batting average against the boys from the Big Town.
The 26-year-old Hall, however, is not one to be fooled for long. And Tuesday night it was Hall's turn to pull the wool over the Yankees' eyes as he socked a three-run homer in the 13th inning and collected three hits in six appearances while the merry Minnesota musclemen bounced New York, 7-2.

The home run, which topped off a five-run Minnesota outburst in the 13th off reliever Hal Reniff, pulled Hall into a tie for the American League lead with Rocky Colavito of Kansas City and teammate Bob Allison with 10.
Rich Rollins, who didn't fare much better against New York last year, also collected a home run, double and single and knocked in the go-ahead run in

NFL Asked for Player Pensions

NEW YORK (UPI)—National Football League owners will be asked to dig deeper into their clubs' treasure chests today for a player pension plan and an increase in exhibition game salaries from $50 to $100.
The owners showed their charitable side Tuesday when they voted to increase the players' shares from the annual Pro Bowl All-Star game at Los Angeles.

A new scale of $1,000 for each winning player and $700 for every player on the losing team goes into effect for the 1965 game.

Previously, the winners' share was $800 and the losers received $600 each.

The owners earlier withdrew a proposed rule change that would add a sixth official, whose sole function would have been that of timekeeper.

The plan was dropped when the Dallas Cowboys reported tests they are making of electronic timing devices indicate the wiring of a scoreboard clock to accurately reflect the official time would be more practical.

The New York Giants were hopeful that trade talks for a

'Blimp' Gets Major Test

NEW YORK (UPI)—Buster Mathis, the Michigan blimp, gets the big test of his career tonight when he fights slugger Joe Frazier of Philadelphia in the heavyweight final of the Olympic boxing trials.

If the six-foot-three, 295-pound Mathis can prevail over the left hooks and chopping rights of knockout specialist Joe, a 196-pounder, Mathis would have a good chance to win the heavyweight gold medal in the Olympic Games at Tokyo in October, his critics admit.

Victory tonight in the outdoor Singer Bowl at the World's Fair will earn Mathis or Frazier a berth on the United States' 10-man Olympic boxing team.

Blubbery Mathis, showing improvement Tuesday night in the semifinals, easily battered his way to a unanimous three-round decision over the Army champion, southpaw Tyrone Hottel of Coffeyville, Kan., a 194-pounder.

Sluggo Frazier stopped Clay Hodges of Torrance, Calif., Tuesday night at 2:46 of the second round shortly after flooring him for an eight-count.

Local Qualifying For U.S. Open
NEW YORK (UPI)—The sizable task of pruning 2,315 golfers into an eventual field of 129 for the U.S. Open championship gets under way May 25 and 26, dates for the local qualifying rounds.

The elimination again will involve a two-step operation, according to a United States Golf Association announcement. The local qualifying, which consists of 36 holes of stroke play at 57 sites around the country, will pare the field to 428.

Finley Fights City Again

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Charles O. Finley's battle with city hall raged on today with the Kansas City Athletics owner resorting to litigation.

Finley reopened the old feud Tuesday with a suit in Jackson County Circuit Court seeking to have declared legal a seven-year stadium lease signed in 1963.

Stressing that his new client had suffered a "grave injustice," Charles C. Shafer, lawyer and a former city councilman, said the suit would attempt to prove that the contract with the old city council was valid and binding. It was passed the day the council's term expired.

The new city council, which took office the same day, April 10, 1963, revoked the seven-year lease, which provided $1.00 yearly rent for the first two years and gave Finley an escape clause permitting him to move the baseball club in any season if attendance failed to reach 850,000.

SAFELY DOWN: Student pilot Lee Cermak is congratulated by instructor-pilot Dean Mealy after his free balloon flight.

BASICS: Getting the feel of a free balloon—man's first form of flight.

KEEPING A UNIQUE CRAFT ALIVE—In this jet age, lighter-than-air flight is almost passe—but not in Akron, Ohio, birthplace for most of America's dirigibles. To keep alive this heroic but less sophisticated era of aviation history, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. trains one to three pilots a year for its Mayflower and Columbia blimps. A basic part of this training is free ballooning, man's first form of flight. Reason: in essence, a dirigible is a motor-driven balloon. In case of engine failure, the airship becomes a free balloon; so free balloon techniques are needed to bring down the airship safely without power, if necessary. Training requirements follow closely those for heavier-than-air pilots and then . . . membership in a small, unique, highly skilled profession.

THE BIG TEST: Student pilot Roy Belotti takes over at blimp controls after completing his training in a free balloon.

BOOM BUSTS BARN ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. William Boegly, contend a sonic boom from a jet aircraft caused the three-story barn on their farm in nearby East Greenbush to collapse in a pile of rubble. They don't mind that jet age inconvenience much because the barn was to be torn down anyway. What grips them is that their late model automobile was under the collapsed barn.

Court Ruling Affects Status Of Thousands

WASHINGTON (UPI)—About 50,000 persons who have lost their U.S. citizenship by living abroad may now regain it because a determined German-American mother fought the issue through the Supreme Court and won.

Those affected by the decision are former naturalized citizens, or their children, who either went back to their homeland and stayed more than three years, or have lived in some other country more than five years.

Federal immigration laws provide that such people forfeit their citizenship—or they did until Monday. The Supreme Court invalidated the law on the ground that it created a kind of second class citizenship and limited the lives of naturalized citizens in a way not applicable to the native-born.

Mrs. Angelika Schneider, a Smith College graduate now living with her lawyer-husband in Cologne, Germany, brought about this ruling over the dissent of three justices. Her own citizenship is now reinstated and her four young sons are now citizens of the United States as well as of West Germany.

British Press Blasts Rioting

LONDON (UPI)—The British press lashed out today at teen-agers whose brawling disrupted a holiday weekend at the seaside resort towns of Brighton and Margate.

The Daily Herald called in a front-page editorial for stiffer fines and jail sentences to end the hooliganism that has plagued England's southern coasts.

Thousands of stylishly dressed "mods" clashed repeatedly with their arch-enemies, the leather-jacketed "rockers," and terrorized holiday visitors during the three-day pentecost weekend.

Government sources said home secretary Henry Brooke would receive reports on the violence, including possible recommendations for increased police and court power to deal with the gangs.

Credit Officers To Attend Meet

CANADIAN (SpI)—Two employees of the Canadian Production Credit Association will attend a regional operations and bookkeepers' conference in Abilene Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26-27.

Sponsored by the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, discount and supervisory agency for all 36 PCA groups in Texas, the two-day meeting will be in the Windsor Hotel and conducted by Treasurer J. F. McCullar, Assistant Vice President Alton Cook and Assistant Treasurers E. C. Apel and R. J. Crouchet, all of Houston.

Twelve Production Credit Associations, providing a 117-county area with more than $170,000,000 annually in agricultural financing, will attend the conference.

Representing the Canadian association will be Bookkeeper C. D. Reagan and Clerk-Secretary Parilee Ellis, both of the association's central office in Canadian.

The Canadian Production Credit Association serves a six-county area of the northeast Panhandle and is owned and operated in its entirety by its farmer and rancher stockholders-borrowers.

Little Theater Sets First Play of Season

June 4, 5 and 6 are the dates for the forthcoming Pampa Little Theater production of "Claudia" by Rose Franken at Holy Souls School, 600 W. Browning, which the members of PLT have converted into a theater.

The auditorium has been completely remodelled, and theater seats have been installed. The seating capacity is 138. All seats are good ones, and every theater-goer will be able to see the action at all times. Little Theater members say:

"Claudia" is a comedy-drama dealing with the efforts of Claudia's mother and husband to break the "silver cord" which binds her to her mother. "Unpredictable as a June morning and twice as rare," is the description given by one of the critics when the play was presented on Broadway.

The production is full of complications and humor, reviewers have said. Claudia is a delight—and is so unpredictable that one never knows what she will say next. The cast:

Mrs. Brown, Ruth Lawley; David Naughton, Curtis Prescott; Claudia Naughton, Sue Reddell; Bertha, Marie Jones; Fritz, Jim Douthit; Jerry Seymour, James Hinkley; Madame Darschka, Marion Regain and Julia Naughton, Joan Kingham.

Marie Jones is director of the play, with Edd Rowntree, assistant director. Technical director is Don Chisum. Prescott, Chisum and Rowntree have installed the lighting devices, as well as doing the greater part of the painting and installing the seats, Pampa Little Theater members are very proud of their endeavors to provide an auditorium and urge townspeople to come out to see "Claudia" which is the first presentation of the season and also the first play to be given in the round.

Season and single tickets are available now from any member of Pampa Little Theater, or they may be secured by calling Radio Station KPND. One season ticket good for four admissions, including reserved seats, sells for $6, or two for $10. Student tickets are $3.50. Single admission prices are $1.75 for adults, including reserved seats, and $1 for students.

CARSON ESTATE
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two national conservation agencies will receive half the estate of nature author Rachel Carson, a native of Springdale, Pa. Attorneys for the late author of "Silent Spring" and "The Sea Around Us" said Tuesday the Sierra Club of San Francisco and the Nature Conservancy of Washington, D.C., would each receive a quarter of the estate under Miss Carson's will.

The remaining half will go for "family obligations." The total of the estate was not disclosed.

KOOKIE COOKIES
ALLENSTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—A new line of Beatle cookies introduced by a local retailer is selling like hot — er, cookies. The cookies are baked from old Moravian and Pennsylvania Dutch recipes and depict the faces of the four Beatles through use of chocolate bits, gum drops, white icing and jelly. Fudge is used to fashion the famous Beatle hairdos. According to the Hess store, the Ringo cookie is the most popular.

*Payments based on manufacturer's suggested retail price of comparably equipped 4-door sedans. 1/2 down. 36 months to pay. Excluding destination charges, state and local taxes, interest and insurance.
