

Charter Is Approved By US Senate

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The senate thundered 89 to 2 approval today of the United Nations charter, setting in motion the machinery for a world organization armed with force to keep future peace.

In a history making roll call before jam-packed galleries, 89 senators voted loudly and clearly for American participation in a 50-nation league founded primarily on the principle of united action by the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France and China.

Only two, Senators Langer (R-N. D.) and Shipstead (R-Minn.) said "no" to a ratification action reversing the policy the senate established 25 years ago when it rejected Woodrow Wilson's league of Nations.

Senator Hiram Johnson (R-Calif.), aged and ill member who opposed the league then and voted against this charter in committee, was absent. He is ill in a hospital.

So complete was the senate's approval of the Charter that not a reservation or amendment was offered to the document drafted at the San Francisco conference of 50 nations.

When Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), the presiding officer, announced the vote, the galleries were unexpectedly silent. Spectators packed two deep around the walls, included many men and women in uniform.

Just before the vote was taken, Langer, who had waited for the dramatic moment, arose and announced that he would not support the charter. He said he believed it was "fought with danger toward American institutions and the American people."

His colleague, Senator Young (R-N. D.) arose a moment later to declare that he would vote for the Charter. He disagreed with Langer's contention that the senate ought not to act while members of the armed forces are away from home.

Shipstead made no statement today, contenting himself with a thorough-going criticism of Charter provisions made earlier in the week.

Fifty-three democrats, 35 republicans and Senator La Follette (Prog. Wis.) supported the Charter on the final vote. The requirement of two-thirds approval for ratification thus was far exceeded.

In a seven-hour finish day of speeches, the senate heard Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) assert that the plain fact is that "in the Charter we have an instrument for arresting acts of war by countries which lack the power of making war."

One after another, Senators got to their feet to say they would support ratification. Many of them raised questions.

Earlier in the day a message from President Truman had been placed in the Record promising that the agreement on allocation of United States troops to the organization would be sent to congress for consideration of both houses.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week— Joe Pickle

We're waiting for the answer to the $64 question of how to deal with the super-abundance of flies. They haven't reached the proportions of Exodus 2:24, wherein "there came a grievous swarm of flies," but the infernal creatures have been actually swarming. We wish they would go away.

Two events should go down on your calendar for "musics" this week. One is the Army Air Force birthday affair which will feature a bombing demonstration at the old Olympic range at the foot of Scenic Drive, and open house at the post. Both should attract several thousand people.

The second event will cover four days—the 12th annual Big Spring rodeo. Advance reports indicate that it will be faster and saltier than ever before. Although the attractions are as numerous, better organization is due to cut the actual show time to about an hour and a half with something happening all along.

For the most unusual story of the week we nominate Carl Hopper's experience. He was welding and minding his own business one night last week when, as near as officers could figure, a returned combat man, driven into a mental lapse by flashes of his torch, pealed him over the head. The GI, said (See THE WEEK, Pg. 11, Col. 4)

Pétain Accused Of Responsibility In Mandel Death

Clemenceau's Son Takes Stand Against Aged Vichy Collaborator

By BELMAN MORIN

PARIS, July 28 (AP)—Mitschel Clemenceau, son of France's famous World War I leader, today indirectly accused Marshal Henri Philippe Pétain of the responsibility for the murder of former Colonial Minister George Mandel, celebrated martyr of French anti-Nazi resistance.

Accusing Pétain of handing Mandel and former Premier Paul Reynaud over to the Germans, Clemenceau said, "Mandel's murderers have been executed." Then, turning and looking squarely at 89-year-old Pétain, he added:

"But the question is, who is responsible for this crime?"

The son of Georges Clemenceau went on:

"France demands justice from a marshal of France for the mockery of justice shown these two men."

On the sixth day of the dramatic trial of Marshal Pétain, charged with plotting against his country and having intelligence with Germany, four other persons testified against the former chief of the Vichy state, bringing the prosecution near the end of its case. Prosecutor Andreu Mornet said he hoped to conclude the examination of his witnesses by Monday night.

Stories of murder, conspiracy and international intrigue marked today's sessions in the ancient palace of justice. The 24-man jury heard Gen. Paul Andrew Doyen, a member of France's 1940 armistice commission, charge now-fugitive Pierre Laval with primary responsibility for Vichy's cooperation with the Germans.

The jury also listened closely while trial, pretty Denise Petit, a girl wearing the uniform of the French women's army, related details of what she said was a plot hatched in 1939 to overthrow the French third republic and put Pétain at the head of a dictatorship.

After Clemenceau finished his testimony regarding Mandel and Reynaud, a juror sprang to his feet and asked the aged marshal's explanation of the whole story. But Pétain, stone-faced and seemingly uninterested, would not reply.

Cpl. Newman In Good Spirits After Meal

FORT WORTH, July 28 (AP)—Cpl. James Newman slept well this afternoon, ate chicken dumplings tonight, and was in good spirits, his mother, Mrs. O. F. Newman said.

Newman, who fought at Bataan, made the march of death and spent three years in a Japanese prison, is suffering from tuberculosis of the throat, lungs and stomach.

Dr. F. E. Harrison, Newman's physician, said he is treating the corporal with a new drug which he called guamercol. Harrison said the preparation was still being tried in three American clinics and had not been reported in medical journals.

It's Rodeo Week In Big Spring With Sales, Plans, Entries In

Big Spring was beginning to take on a gala rodeo appearance and atmosphere by Saturday, with decorations and bunting going up for the 12th annual Big Spring Rodeo which has its first performance Thursday night.

Advance ticket sales were going along smoothly with all but two box seats sold by mid-afternoon Saturday. Reserved seats advance sales were also going well, with the chamber of commerce and the various civic clubs back of them.

The first of the stock for the show had arrived Saturday, with more expected immediately. Entries were coming in to rodeo headquarters. Those who had already paid entrance fees by Saturday afternoon were Dick Montsomy of Ozona, Paul Wasson of Ackery and Munroe Tomlinson of Big Spring. Purses amounting to $2,200 plus entry fees were to be paid for at the four-day event.

Jeanette Hightower from Garden City was the first contestant to enter the girls' section, which will be conducted under different rules this year. As opposed to previous years, the 1945 rodeo will not include a sponsors contest in its features. Cowgirls will enter under the same rules and regulations as the cowboys, and may try for

Mitchell Bomber Bashes Empire State Building

At Least 13 Dead In Most Bizarre Disaster Of Year

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—A fog-blinded army bomber crashed into the Empire State building at the 79th story today and exploded inside with an earth-shaking roar, killing three fliers and at least ten office workers and turning the world's tallest building into a smoking, flaming torch in the sky.

The bizarre disaster injured 24 persons, six seriously, and while rescue workers searched the twisted, blackened wreckage of 78th and 79th floor offices tonight, police said the death toll may exceed 15. Army and fire department investigations were under way.

The eight-ton, twin-engine B-25 "Billy Mitchell" plane, groping through a thick fog toward the Newark airport, rammed the 102 story skyscraper at 9:49 a. m., sending blazing gasoline cascading through offices and down elevator shafts, jarring the area like an earthquake, and showering broken glass into crowded business streets for five blocks around. Police said no pedestrians were injured.

Panic spread among some of the 1,500 persons in the building, but police said virtually all were evacuated in orderly fashion within 20 minutes. The area was blocked off from a quickly gathering crowd of many thousands.

The bomber, with three servicemen aboard, took off from Bedford, Mass., this morning, bound for Newark, N. J. Shortly before the crash it communicated with LaGuardia Field, New York, by radio.

The plane was over Manhattan. It flew southward, roughly following the route of Fifth avenue. The fog was so dense that some New Yorkers in the area heard it but could not see it.

Then, with many Empire State building workers alarmed by the crescendo of its roar, it hurled its eight-ton weight against the tower-spiked structure, smashed a gaping hole in the wall, plunged in, and disintegrated in a series of three blasts.

Instantly, flames enveloped the office suites in its path.

Parts of the plane were caught in the wall. Others were scattered through the two floors, still others—including one motor, part of the

US First Member Of Very Aspiring Body

By The Associated Press

The United States is now committed to membership in the world's most ambitious organization—an association of united nations pledged to work for enduring peace.

Briefly, these are the four main bodies through which these nations will work for that goal:

1. The security council. It will be composed of the big five powers, plus six smaller ones. It is the big stick of the organization. As a last step it can call out the armies, navies and air fleets of the members to stamp our aggression with force.

2. The general assembly. Every member nation has a vote and a voice. It can discuss and make recommendations on anything within the scope of the charter.

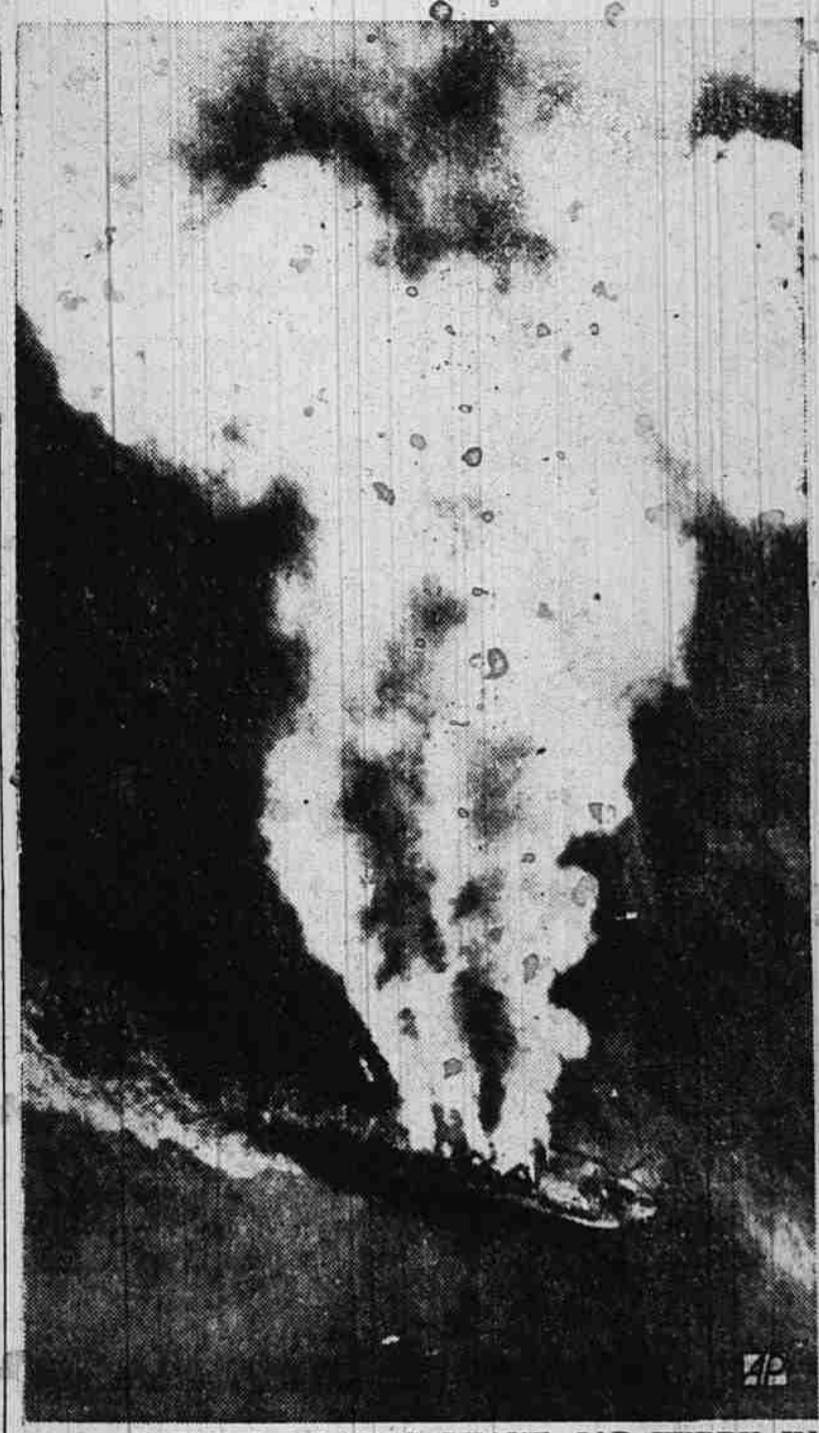

3. The economic and social council. It can study and lay before the world its findings on such social and economic problems as food, labor, trade, education, communications and health.

4. The international court of justice. It will always be in session, 15 judges appointed for nine-year terms to pass on disputes between nations.

Army Loses Nearly Two Million In All

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The army lost a total of 1,883,000 through battle deaths, discharges and other reasons between Pearl Harbor and last April 30.

A report by the war department today gave the following accounting: Deaths (battle and non-battle) 238,000; honorable discharges 1,336,000; prisoners and missing 106,000; other separations including men placed in inactive status, personnel given discharges other than honorable, and retirements of regular army personnel) 203,000.

Attlee, Bevin Set Out For Potsdam

By ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—Britain's new international team of slim, cautious clement Attlee and husky, blunt-spoken Ernest Bevin hustled off to Potsdam today to tell President Truman and Premier Stalin that their country would carry on in the job of defeating Japan and restoring tranquility to Europe.

Behind them they left the nation still pondering over the landslide victory which swept Winston Churchill and his conservatives out of government control and still wondering how far the new administration would go in its campaign pledge to socialize Britain's basic economy.

On the basis of reports from sources close to labor party leaders, this much appeared certain: That it would go slow in changes of policy in Europe, and that it would interpret the sweeping election victory as a mandate to hasten the task of Britain's reconstruction.

At the same time, developments indicated that Attlee and Bevin would go their way independently, counting upon their solid election support to back up their voices at Potsdam.

This became apparent with the disclosure from a responsible source that Eden had not been invited to return to the tri-power conference.

The absence of Churchill and Eden and their experience in foreign policy problems will be compensated in part by the British civil service system which insures a continuing staff of high-ranking foreign experts.

Attlee's busy home agenda, with the completion of his cabinet and the opening of the new parliament at the top of the list, made it likely the big three meeting would adjourn within a few days, leaving many problems for consideration of the foreign secretaries.

OIL WELLS INCREASE

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—The number of oil wells in Texas increased by 76 in the week ended today to 102,591, the railroad commission reported today. The commission reported average daily allowable for the week was 2,349,543 barrels, an increase of 5,388 over the previous week.

Jap President Rejects Surrender Ultimatum As Allied Propaganda

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28 (AP)—The president of Japan's powerful, totalitarian political party declared today his country would never accept the Allied surrender ultimatum as Nippon awaited an address by Premier Suzuki on the war and the coming "battle of the streets."

While the Japanese government officially remained silent on the edict from Potsdam, Tokyo's newspapers reached a common refrain of rejection. Gen. Jiro Minami, president of the Political Association of Greater Japan, gave the first rejection to the ultimatum by an acknowledged public figure.

Radio Tokyo quoted Minami as saying Japan would never quit and the "entire Japanese nation will remain absolutely unaffected in their resolute determination to

Superforts Strike After Prewarning

By MURLIN SPENCER

GUAM, Sunday, July 29 (AP)—Without loss of a single plane, massive Superfortresses task forces swept six forewarned Japanese cities with firebombs that left more than half the targets enveloped in "conflagrations." Returning airmen said "large fires" were breaking out over the remainder of their objectives—all in cities whose inhabitants had been bluntly warned by the B-29 command to flee for their lives.

Opposition was described only as "normal," despite the one day's advance warning of the strikes.

Crewmen said Japanese fighter opposition was "nil to slight." Over Uwayama on Shikoku, there was no anti-aircraft fire whatever it was described as "meager" above the five Honshu cities of Tsu, Aomori, Ichinomiya, Ujijama and Ogachi.

Only broken clouds impeded the bombardiers above six cities. Weather was poor, however, as they rained demolition bombs on the Shimotsu oil refinery 40 miles south of Osaka.

Part of the vast aerial fleet came—for the first time—from Iwo Jima, 750 miles nearer Japan than the Marianas and placing all Japan within Superfortress range.

There was no indication whether any of the forewarned inhabitants of the bombed cities had heeded the leaflets telling them their homes were next on the B-29 list.

Gen. MacArthur simultaneously reported Okinawa-based planes had raided the Inland Sea area, and disclosed that the new B-32 super-bomber has been operating for two months against the enemy in Luzon and Formosa.

MacArthur's Sunday communique announced that heavy and medium bombers of the Far East air force made three telling strikes in Tsushima Strait and the Inland Sea Thursday, two days ahead of the carrier planes' latest blow.

They sank nine small Japanese ships, totalling 16,000 tons. The entrance of the B-32s, only slightly smaller than B-29s, into the Pacific war brought another mighty force against the Japanese.

They made their first test bombard—the first time they had dropped a bomb anywhere—last May 29. Two of them wiped out the then Japanese-held supply base and headquarters at Antat in Luzon's Cagayan valley.

The fleet carrier aircraft struck from dawn until at least after noon Saturday.

Other warships were seen battered and blazing around the Kuré naval base where, one air group commander declared, "we did a beautiful job."

The Japanese navy, once the world's third largest, was reduced to scattered light units.

All of Japan's heavy ships have been sunk or put out of action, the reports of the fliers and Admiral Nimitz Saturday communique disclosed.

The Japanese battleships Haruna and Ise and the cruisers Aoba and Oyodo were left burning by Saturday's Third fleet air strikes against the Inland Sea area. Nimitz announced.

Nimitz confirmed earlier reports from the fleet that the enemy battleship Hyuga, which was hit in the same area on Tuesday, was now resting on the bottom with her decks awash.

The escort aircraft carrier Kaiyo, previously damaged, was heavily hit Saturday.

The Saturday raiders also sank three submarines and damaged 12 other ships, including four destroyers.

No Relief For Food Shortages In Sight

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics advised civilians today to expect no significant relief from food shortages within the next 12 months.

In a report on the national food situation, the bureau—which is the agriculture department's statistical agency—said such foods as meats, fats and vegetable oils; sugar, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk, poultry, eggs, canned fruits and canned vegetables will continue short in relation to demands.

In addition, rice, dry beans, apples, and processed foods using large amounts of sugar and fats and oils may become short, it said.

On the other hand, civilian supplies of fluid milk, skim milk products, canned fruit juices, many fresh vegetables and fruits, including citrus fruits, fresh fish, and most grain products are expected by the bureau to be fairly plentiful.

The Japanese Domel agency, which yesterday said it had "learned authoritatively" that the government would spurn the quit-or-be-destroyed proclama-

'Valley Of Decision,' Best-Seller Movie

Romantic... powerful... colorful... tender—The Valley of Decision, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of the Margia Davenport best-seller, which opens today at the Ritz theatre, is one of the most provocative love stories ever to unfold before the cameras, and is enacted by one of the greatest stellar casts ever assembled.

BEST-SELLER NOVEL—becomes a best-seller as a movie, when Gregory Peck and Greer Garson play the thwarted lovers in "Valley of Decision" opening today at the Ritz Theatre.

A perfectly balanced screen story of romance, drama and action, "The Valley of Decision" tells of an Irish servant girl, Mary Rafferty, and the scion of a wealthy Pittsburgh steel family, Gregory Peck, and their love which spurns class, time, convention.

Miss Garson, the year's No. 1 box-office star, presents her most colorful screen characterization as young, ebullient self-effacing Mary Rafferty. It makes the first time that Irish-born Miss Garson has portrayed an Irish girl.

Tall, black-haired, ascetic Peck, hit of the New York stage who went on to star in "Keys of the Kingdom" will win a host of new fans as Paul. It's his first straight romantic role.

hero of many screen epics, impresses as Jim Brennan, union leader and Mary's suitor. Gladys Cooper, London stage star who won plaudits as Miss Garson's tippling daughter in modern sequences of "Mrs. Parkington," contracts that role with her portrayal of warm, lovely Clarissa, wife of William Scott.

Marsha Hunt, rising young actress, is impulsive, beautiful, headstrong Connie Scott. Dan Duray, the hatefully supercilious Jack Stillham of "Mrs. Parkington," is snobbish, conniving Willy Scott.

Engaging Marshall Thompson, introduced to the screen in "Blonde

ACADEMY AWARD PICTURE—Starting today at the new State Theatre, "Going My Way," selected the best movie of the 1944 season, stars "Father" Bing Crosby, Rise Stevens, and Barry Fitzgerald. James Brown and Jean Heather are in the supporting cast.

Bing In Kindly Priest Role For 'Going My Way'

Bing Crosby's been on the Road to Morocco, Road to Zanzibar and Road to Singapore—but now he's on the road to fame in Paramount's captivating motion picture, "Going My Way," arriving today at the New State Theatre.

Of course, Crosby long ago was included in the charmed circle of the famous, but more for his velvety vocalizing than anything else. From here on, the "groaner" isn't sitting back to let others take laurels in the acting profession—He's put his own oar in the Hollywood waters and has come up with the finest catch of the year. He plays Father "Chuck" O'Malley, and the way he plays him elicits rave notices from reviewers.

The action all the way, in fact, is characterized by a display of humane qualities which alternately moves audiences to laughter and tears. A grand variety of songs is incorporated into the picture with three new tunes by Johnny Burke and Jimmy van Heusen heading for a hit parade. They're "Swinging on a Star," "The Day After Forever" and the little song, "Going My Way." In addition, "Ave Maria," "Adeste Fideles," "Silent Night" and other immortal melodies are sung.

Family Informed Of Cpl Padgett's Death

COLORADO CITY, July 28 (Sp)—The war department has informed Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Padgett of the death of their son, Cpl. Earl M. Padgett. Details of his death, somewhere in the Pacific, were not given.

The simple but eloquent story relates how Bing is sent as "trouble shooter" to Fitzgerald's parish and immediately confounds that conservative priest by instituting innovations which to him are seemingly radical. His first act is to placate Gene Lockhart, bank prexy who holds the mortgage on the parish. The latter's son, played by James Brown, figures in the act, too, for he falls in love with Jean Heather, a young girl set on the right trail after receiving some sound advice from "Father" Crosby. The golf course scene is one of the shining examples of the temper of "Going My Way," it is said, for the laughs and chuckles become howls as Fitzgerald indulgently lets himself be taught the science of the game by Crosby and McHugh.

Luzon Japs Fighting Delaying Action Only

MANILA, July 28 (AP)—Starving Japanese troops deep in the northern Luzon mountains are being held to the war under severe discipline by high-ranking officers who intend to fight a delaying action as long as possible, Ken Murayama, former Domei war correspondent, declared today. He recently surrendered to the Americans.

Murayama, who is well known to many pre-war American Far Eastern correspondents, predicted that Japan would surrender within a few weeks and that the decision would be dictated by a naval clique which has been in the ascendancy since the fall of Premier Tojo a year ago.

Army Sergeant Dies On Match-Built Pyre

OAKLAND, Calif., July 28 (AP)

The sergeant built his own funeral pyre yesterday, calmly lighting match after match to set afire the interior of a car which police said was stolen. When bystanders rushed up to save him he stood them off, saying: "Go away—this is the way I want to die."

The heat was so intense that bystanders could do nothing until the body of army sergeant Charles Edelberg of Wilmington, Del., was charred almost beyond recognition.

Within his money belt, reported Police Chief E. P. Tracy, was a note, written on cardboard. It said: "This is the way I want it. Believe me it was hard to decide. It was the hardest way to save the medal of honor and the man who cited me."

Human Guinea Pigs Sleep After Fatigue Tests Of Five Days

PASADENA, Calif., July 28 (AP) Twelve young men slept the sleep of utter exhaustion today after staying awake nearly five days.

Volunteers from a nearby conscientious objectors' camp, they had participated in a fatigue test conducted by California Institute of Technology. Spokesmen said it was for the armed services and that it will take some time to develop the data obtained.

The youths were steady on their feet but weary silent as they emerged from a Cal-Tech laboratory, shortly after 10 o'clock last night for a ride to a hospital for their first shut-eye since 5:45 a. m. last Monday.

The doctor in charge of the experiment, who insisted on remaining anonymous, said the test will continue during the hours the youths are asleep. During the 112-hour experiment the volunteers chopped wood, did gardening work and played volleyball, basketball and ping pong. Two whose feet began giving them pain were taken to a laboratory to polish glassware. Two proved their alertness by playing a game of chess.

Amnesia Victim Goes Home With Relatives

RANGER, July 28 (AP)—A young woman amnesia victim who had been in a hospital since she appeared in Ranger Monday was identified today as Mrs. Jack L. Dennis of Houston, wife of an enlisted man still overseas, and mother of a four-year-old boy.

Chief of Police George Murphy said the identification was made today by Mrs. Donald Lawson of Houston, sister of Mrs. Dennis. Mr. and Mrs. Lawson came here after reading a news story which told of a numbered post office box key which the young woman had. Murphy said Mrs. Dennis did not recognize Mr. and Mrs. Lawson. They left with her for Houston shortly after noon.

Mr. Lawson said Mrs. Dennis had been living in a residence of her own and working for a Houston business office while she hired a woman to look after her child; that a week ago yesterday Mrs. Dennis left home with 50 cents in her hand, going down the street to buy grapefruit, and that they had not heard of her again until they read the news story.

The young woman walked into a drug store here Monday afternoon, asked for a glass of water, and fainted.

Frying Eggs On Walk, With Sunny Side Up

MOORE FIELD, July 28 (AP)—S-Sgt. Amelia Heiberger and Lt. Mary Gibbons, both of the W A C detachment at Moore Field, wondered if it was true what they said about it being hot enough to fry an egg on the sidewalk. They tried it. In a reasonably short time the egg was done to a turn on a cement walk in the WAC area here. They checked the thermometer. It read 118 degrees. Nobody ate the egg.

Interpreting The War News—

Most Fanatical Jap Cannot Doubt Surrender Will Come Eventually

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
AP News Analyst

The outstanding fact of the war with Japan now is that Tokyo's war leaders have before them the Potsdam surrender ultimatum stating in specific terms that "unconditional surrender" will mean for Japan when it comes. And come it will, soon or late. Even the most fanatical Japanese militarist cannot conceivably doubt that.

"Conspicuous" as is the absence of Russia in the Japanese phase from the American-British-Chinese war fellowship which pronounced sentence on Japan, the fact does not gloss over the time, the place and the circumstances of its publication. The Potsdam dateline is sufficient in itself to put Japan on notice that Russian Generalissimo

Stalin was both aware of its formulation and approved of the surrender terms it set.

In effect the Churchill-Chiang Kai-shek-Truman document is a United Nations pronouncement, an expression of world judgment upon Japan. It cannot be otherwise construed in Tokyo.

As to when or how any Japanese government answer will be forthcoming one guess is as good as another. There is a time factor involved in the war beyond the Pacific that runs in Japanese favor in so far as it allows a considerable interval before the full weight of Allied attack on Japan and Chinese assaults on the mainland is apt to develop.

Weather conditions in the Pacific and the East China Sea will not be at their best for the massive amphibious operations in preparation against Japan until after the year end, through January and April. April weather is also the war season in most of China due to weather conditions. And on April 25 next the Russo-Japanese five-year peace-pact definitely expires. It was formerly denounced by Moscow last April as required by its terms to avert automatic renewal for another five years and because Japan was making war on Russian allies.

Still another element in the situation tending to allow Japan time for reflection over her plight before the final Allied assault to crush her, with or without Russian participation, are launched is the Anglo-American redeployment from Europe for that purpose.

Plans For Air Force Day Nearly Ready Col. Nissley Reveals

Details of the most elaborate Air Force exhibition in the history of the Big Spring Bombardier School reached completion Saturday, as Col. John K. Nissley, commanding officer, announced special arrangement to handle the crowds expected Wednesday.

Arranged in celebration of the Air Forces' 38th anniversary, the post's third annual open house will run from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Approval to stage the exhibition of bombing at the old Olympic target near Scenic drive was granted Saturday to the school by the Civil Aeronautics Authority. The bombing show will be Wednesday at 10 a. m., a feature of Air Force Day, and will be performed by a bombardment team flying in an AT-11, dropping 100-pound practice bombs with a Norden bombsight.

Eight stops at which visitors leisurely may inspect exhibits on foot was announced Saturday by Col. Nissley. They include the flight line, armaments and ordnance, maintenance, training hangers, cadet quarters, the War Room, the twin chapels, and the physical training and sports area.

"While we've arranged some features of a spectacular nature, such as a combat bombardment airplanes, training devices, and bombs and bomb-loading equipment, we hope the public will also be interested in everyday Air Force life as exemplified by the cadet barracks, physical training and the chapels," Col. Nissley commented.

Visitors will be met at the gate by a selected Military Police hospitality squad, which will distribute a four-page pamphlet containing a map of the field and information on exhibits.

Those arriving by automobile will be asked to remain on the designated roads and to refrain from stopping at other than the indicated sites. Others, arriving by commercial transportation, will be met at the gate by post transportation facilities.

Bugler On Board Ship Takes Lots Of Lip, But He Gives It Out Too

By RICHARD O'MALLEY
ABOARD ADMIRAL MC-CAIN'S FLAGSHIP (AP)—Personality snaps its aloft:

Roy Lauderdale is a redheaded, Bartonville, Ill., boy who says he frequently was to take a lot of lip aboard this ship, but then he returns plenty, too. He's the number one bugler.

Admiral McCain, who has heard a host of buglers in his years at sea describes Lauderdale as: "The best bugler I ever heard. Of course I don't like buglers any better than the next fellow, but Lauderdale's the best."

"I didn't start out to be a bugler in the navy," he explained. "I was on a carrier escort and down for quartermaster when they needed a bugler. I thought it would be a good way to keep my lip in shape because I want to be a musician after the war is over. It's not bad duty but you have to take a lot of guff."

Oscar Rogers is a 34-year-old Houston, Tex., Negro with a quiet voice and a deft hand in a pilot's pantry. It's his job to see that officers can get a snack when regular messrooms are closed.

There are a lot of Oscar Rogerses in America's navy. Usually you find them moving silently around the wardroom mess, serving meals. Or making up bunks and carrying out laundry. Often, in the cool of the evening, you see them gathered in little groups on the hangar deck, laughing softly over some joke. They keep pretty much to themselves.

But when combat begins the white coats are shucked and the Oscar Rogerses become fighting men, too. They man antiaircraft batteries of their own, and pass the ammunition. Then, after the fighting, they go back to daily routine.

Drunkness Heads Arrests For Week

Fifty-nine arrests were made by Big Spring police last week, the most outstanding of which was that of Felix Dominguez for burglary. Another man was held by police for investigation of the same case.

Drunkness charges headed the cases with 29, followed with seven affray charges. Six traffic fines were paid. Three vagrants were detained in city jail and a like number were picked up for gaming. There were two cases of theft, dangerous driving and disturbance. One VD check-up was ordered and one man was turned over to military police on charges of AWOL.

Polio Cases For Week Set New Year Record

AUSTIN, July 27 (AP)—Sixty-one new cases of poliomyelitis in Texas for the week ended July 21 sets a record for the year, the state health department said today.

Incidence was more than seven times the seven year median for the week. It brought to 418 the total cases reported in 1945.

"In all probability the attack rate may increase and strict vigilance must be maintained," the department said in a bulletin.

Cotton Fluctuates In Indecisive Trading

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—The cotton futures market moved through an indecisive session today with light hedge selling and liquidation offset by mill covering against textile awards.

Final prices were 15 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher. Trading was particularly restricted by the announcement due Monday on the mid-July cotton parity price which will determine the 1945 crop loan rate and also the government selling price for cotton under the 1945 purchase program. Spot cotton markets were quiet.

Loser In Radio Vs. Pigeon Race: Army With Tons Of Useless Feed

By PRESTON GROVER
(Substituting for Kenneth Dixon)
NEW DE HI, (AP)—The radio won the co test with messenger pigeons in the Assam-Burma jungles, but the aftermath of the battle still torments the U. S. army procurement division in Asia. It has tons and tons of pigeon food on its hands—and no pigeons.

The thing began two years or more ago when Americans began filtering into north Burma with radio listening posts and scouting parties. They intended to keep in touch with friendly new radio gadgets the army had rigged up for just such purposes.

"Radio isn't dependable in Assam," British officers told them. It worked beautifully for a couple of weeks, then it blacked out, just as the British said it would.

In war, you can't take chances with your communication. So the humbled Americans sent to America for pigeons. That, said Lt. Col. G. W. Power of Chattanooga, Tenn., is where he and the procurement division came in.

They sent for the pigeons. Owners of messenger pigeons in America contributed hundreds, yes, thousands, of fine pigeons with names and records and long pedigrees.

"Do you know about pigeons?" asked Colonel Power. "They propagate and how they ate. We kept on ordering more and more pigeon food."

"Then the signal corps beat the radio problem. Their radios didn't black out any more. The pigeons were not needed. But there they were, thousands of them. They had no idea of birth control. I used to lie awake nights wondering what the pigeon inventory would be by next morning, and wondering what to do with them."

It would have been easy to sell them in India, but they couldn't be sold for security reasons. If enemy agents had got hold of a fine flock of messenger pigeons, it would have made their work in India and Burma much easier.

Finally the gift pigeons with fine pedigrees were boxed up and sent home. They are good to eat and probably that's what happened to them.

But that wasn't the end of the story. In the India theater the army must order supplies for eight months ahead. You have to keep a string of things coming in many ships. Long after the pigeons were dead, the pigeon food continued to pour into India ports, tons and

Filipino Hunting Party Wants To Take "The Beard" Alive But Fails

By JAMES HUTCHESON
 WITH 38TH DIVISION, Luzon, July 28 (AP)—Filipino troops wanted to capture alive a Japanese navy captain dubbed "The Beard" because of the shaggy black facial adornment so rare among the Nipponese, but they finally had to kill him when he ran.

Plans to take "The Beard" alive started after American officers learned he fled from his headquarters area 12 miles north of Infanta on Luzon's east coast when gunboats made it a target.

"We figured if he ran once, he'd do it again," explained Col. William E. Lobit of Galveston, Tex. "So we worked out a trap to take him alive."

Filipino troops under their own officers were used to work the difficult terrain. They landed near "The Beard's" headquarters Wednesday at 5 a. m. and crept inland to set an ambush along his favorite escape trail.

The ambush was in two parts. The first trap had orders to let "The Beard" through when the shooting started, but to eliminate the officers expected to accompany him on his latest flight to safety. The second was to grab him.

Gunboats started firing rockets into the Japanese area. Sure enough, "The Beard" took to his heels with three other officers. The latter were killed at the first ambush. Then the plan went away.

The quarry raced up a side path before reaching the final trap. Filipino troops pursued. He resisted with a pistol. The Filipinos killed him.

One hundred other Japanese were killed by the expedition. But the hunt was only a partial success—they'd wanted "The Beard" alive.

Quiet Observance For Chaplain Anniversary

Observance of its 170th anniversary by the largest Chaplains Corps in the history of the American Army will be a quiet one today.

At the Big Spring Bombardier School, the only observance will be mention today in services conducted by the three chaplains—Cpt. Frank B. Webb, Jr., Capt. Martin M. McMahon, and Capt. Francis B. Baldwin.

Chaplain Webb will also mention the anniversary in services at the First Methodist church of Big Spring at 8 p. m. today. Formal congratulations on the anniversary were extended to the post chaplaincy Saturday by Col. John K. Nissley, post commanding officer.

Physical Tests To Be Given At Post

Quarterly physical proficiency tests running one week will begin Monday for officers and enlisted men at the Big Spring Bombardier school, Capt. George D. Allen, athletic director, announced. Enlisted men will be tested Monday, with make-ups Wednesday and Friday, while officers will go through the mill Wednesday, with a follow-up class Friday.

Tests include sit-ups, chin-ups and a shuttle run of five laps of 60 yards each, with requirements varying for different classifications of personnel.

Out of a possible 100, rated (flying) personnel under 29 years old are required to score 60, which means 48 sit-ups, 11 chin-ups and 52 seconds in the run. Over 29, the minimum record is 55.

For flying personnel not currently on flight status, the requirements are 55 for men under 29, and 50 for those over. For non-rated personnel, the requirements are 55 for men under 31, and 50 for men over 31.

"In the last quarter's tests, the Big Spring post's scores rated high in the Central Flying Training Command's averages," Capt. Allen said.

Tooney Will Direct Post Administration

Lt. Col. Frederick W. Tooney, recently transferred to the Big Spring Bombardier school, Saturday was appointed director of administration and services by Col. John K. Nissley, post commanding officer.

Capt. Orlynn E. Schnuelle, who had been acting director of administration and services, was appointed administration inspector, Col. Nissley announced.

Lt. Col. Tooney arrived here from the Carlisbad AAF, N. Mex., where he had served from October, 1944, as post executive officer and director of administration and services until February, when he was relieved of the post executive assignment to devote full time to the latter duty.

First entering active duty as an artillery officer in 1930, he re-entered active duty and was commissioned as a captain in the Air Forces in 1941.

He was assigned as assistant executive officer and base administration inspector at the Stockton AAF, Calif., until Aug., 1943.

"At that time he went to the Chico AAF, Calif., where he served as post executive officer until April, 1944, when he was transferred to the Deming AAF, N. Mex., as post executive officer and director of administration and services. He served there until his Carlisbad assignment.

Lt. Col. Tooney's wife, Vera M., and their seven-year-old daughter, Sharon Louise, are currently residing in Carlisbad.

Plenty Excitin', Pardner

Yes, sir, you can go a mighty long ways before you'll find anything more excitin' than a good West Texas rodeo such as the Big Spring annual event Aug. 2-3-4-5. Take for instance the bulldogging, or steer wrestling, as some of the refined folks call it. You can't help but wonder if the bulldogger is gonna miss when he makes that dive for the steer's head.

And then, steer or bull riding is no easy pickin's. These rawboned critters just plain have the devil in 'em and they don't much care how they get a cowhand off and they'd just as leave hurt him as not.

Roping is a mighty fine test of real skill for both rider and pony, for you gotta be good to be consistent. But for most people's money, bronc riding is about tops in suspense and action.

Yes sir, it looks like it's a lot safer in the stands—but performers know how to handle the situation. And may we suggest that sort of riding herd on financial problems is our specialty. You'll find neighborly consideration for yours when you discuss them with us.

TRY THIS AMAZING BARCEL RECIPE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Right in Your Own Home, You Can Lose Pounds of Excess Weight Without Starvation Diet or Strenuous Exercise

It's simple. It's amazing. How quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcel Concentrate. Pour this into a bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the "very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blot disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Perhaps you are overweight due to over indulgence in food or the wrong kind of food. With the Barcel home recipe method, you do not have to starve yourself or go hungry. Just follow the simple instructions given on the label and you should get satisfactory results quickly. The very first pint you make up should show results.

LOSE UGLY FAT

WITH BARCEL Why not slim down your figure without a lot of fuss and bother? Try the Barcel way. Wear your streamlined frocks and slacks gracefully. Remember, if the very first bottle of Barcel doesn't show you the sensible way to lose weight, your money will be refunded. (adv.)

SALUDO AMIGO—Gollee! That barn dance I told you about last week turned out to be simply pitch-wiz. About ten thousand kids turned up at Central Park dressed in rolled-up dungarees with shirt-tails out and bandanas on the head.

It was super colossal! Jim Ameche was the master of ceremonies and Ed Durlacher and his square dance orchestra were all dressed up in cowboy suits. Josh White's four-year-old took the house down singing "One Meat Ball."

You'd never think so many kids could be so orderly, but I guess they were simply thrilled to silence. They ought to adopt this idea all over the country. The program sponsors said they hoped it would set an example to civic groups so that kids in other cities could enjoy these dances, too.

A photograph of 1st Lt. O. O. Craig, a former Cosden employee, 1st Lt. William J. Harrington Jr., of E. Lynn Massachusetts, and Capt. William W. Woolford III, of Galveston, Texas, was received this week from the Hdqs. of the Tenth Air Force in India-Burma. The photograph was accompanied by an article relating their experiences in the campaigns in which they fought to liberate Burma from the Japs. In this article it was stated that it could now be told that the excuse that Tokyo Rose gave for not holding this territory was that the American forces had a complete division there, but the truth was, that it was taken by less than 100 men; the officers being these three men.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peters, Sr. have received word that their son, T-Sgt. Eugene R. Peters, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal. They received a copy of the citation, which stated that S-Sgt. Peters received the medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy from November 11, 1944 to March 31, 1945. He was chief of the Range Detectors Section of an antiaircraft artillery gun battery and contributed in great measure to the successful operation of his unit. Later, when the necessity arose, he assumed the duties of 1st Sgt. in addition to his normal duties, exhibiting the same high degree of efficiency in his dual role.

Borowy Deal Waived By In Secret Style

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—The fields of waving grain have nothing on the major league club owners waiving ball players, and unless the Hank Borowy deal was a most astounding and scandalous bit of mutual back scratching, with the owners aware of the goings-on and agreeing to keep him in the hope of future similar favors, the owners in the future will give the waiver lists more than a wrist-watch glance.

The waiver rule has more holes in it than a Swiss cheese. It is the club owners' own rule, but when one of the owners wants to dispose of a player at a fancy price he can't be bothered by any such insane law.

There are two main methods of disposing of a player out of a league. One, as mentioned, is the back-scratching arrangement, or you-help-me-and-I'll-help-you. The other is through sheer boredom, or lulling rival owners into a coma by a monotonous submitting of waiver lists.

The other owners glance at a list which might contain, say, the names of Hank Greenberg and Hall Newhouser and Dizzy Trout. They figure they would have no chance to claim those men, and the others listed they don't want, so they don't put in a claim. And the first thing they know one of those big names is waved out of the league. Waived bye-bye, so to speak. Or maybe it should be buy-buy.

Anyway, the Borowy deal is astonishing in more than the fact that an outstanding pitcher was waived on: The clubs involved, for one thing, as you seldom find pennant contenders in rival leagues involved in such a transaction.

It also is astonishing in that Larry MacPhail, renowned as a purchaser, suddenly becomes a seller.

The other American league club owners can blame nobody but themselves if the deal was slipped through unbeknownst to them. If they got tired checking the lists day after day it was their own tough luck.

If the deal was made with their approval through silence, they are making a travesty of their own law. Which, it seems, is pretty much of a joke anyway.

Tigers Rout Trio Of Sox Pitchers

DETROIT, July 28 (AP)—Every man in the Detroit lineup shared in a 17-hit attack of three Chicago pitchers today as the Tigers cuffed the White Sox 8 to 3, moving four full games out front in the American league.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, handicapped by injury and sickness for two months, made his first start in nearly three weeks and stayed through to register his ninth pitching victory on a nine-hitter. The Sox, who dropped out of a fourth place tie by losing, bunched four of their hits in the third inning for all their runs.

CLEVELAND, July 28 (AP)—Mickey Rocco's home run with Dutch Meyer aboard set off a four-run seventh-inning rally today as the Cleveland Indians came from behind to hand the St. Louis Browns their second defeat of the series, 6 to 2. It was Allie Reynolds' 11th victory, and Jack

Reds Get Bitter Dose Of Cubs

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—If the Cincinnati Reds never get to see the Chicago Cubs again this year, it probably will be soon enough for Manager Bill McKechnie.

His Reds dropped their eleventh game of the season to the Cubs today, 8-3, in a game called by rain when one was out in the last of the eighth inning. Cincinnati has yet to beat Chicago in the current campaign.

Griffith Requests Immediate Action

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Clark Griffith today formally requested the major leagues to take immediate action on changing the present waiver rule, as a direct result of the "Hank" Borowy case.

The white-haired 75-year-old owner of the pennant-contending Washington Senators wired Will Harridge, American league president:

"Strongly urge immediate telegraphic vote of major leagues on changing present waiver rule back to old rule where clubs can only withdraw on one on a player."

He also intimated that Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler might have grounds for action under the commissioner's power to handle anything "detrimental to baseball."

Chandler said he will "find out the facts" to see if "any subterfuge was involved" for his "personal guidance."

Borowy, star pitcher of the New York Yankees, was sold yesterday to the Chicago Cubs of the National league for an estimated $100,000 and several players after American league clubs waived on him.

Griffith then led criticism of the deal. He said it was "detrimental to the welfare of the (American) league"; that the waiver rule was "lousy anyway"; and criticized Larry MacPhail, Yankee head, saying MacPhail should be "fairer" to the American league.

Spy Song Triumphs In Arlington Futurity

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Spy Song sizzled to a five lengths victory in winning the $71,300 Arlington Futurity at Washington Park today. Knockdown was second and Mighty Story third.

The undefeated Spy Song, owned by Charles T. Fisher, Detroit, ran the six furlongs over a sloppy track in 1:12. It was his third straight triumph.

Deluge Drowns Out Golf Semi-Finals

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—An early afternoon deluge today washed out the semifinal round of the $60,000 All-American golf tournament after the 18-hole session had been half completed. All of today's scores were canceled and 18-hole round will be held Sunday and Monday, meet officials announced.

The torrential downpour which caught most of the favorites, including defending champion Byron Nelson, on the fairways, erased an early 54-hole lead held by Joe Zarhardt, of Norristown, Pa., who shot a 69 and a 209-stroke aggregate.

The 72-hole meet originally was scheduled to close tomorrow.

Nelson, the game's leading money winner for the past two seasons who is seeking his tenth straight tournament victory, had held the 36-hole lead with a 70-under-par 134, four strokes ahead of Gene Sarazen, of New York City.

Goldman, Garrison To Meet In Finals

FORT WORTH, July 28 (AP)—David (Spec) Goldman, veteran golfer from Dallas, and John Garrison, the surprise man from Electric, moved into the finals of the annual Glen Garden golf tournament with top-sided victories here today over the players who were favored to annex the tournament.

Goldman downed L. D. Harding of Fort Worth 6 and 5, while Garrison won over Phil Powell, Olney, 4 and 2. It was a powerful driver that gave Garrison his win while steady, experienced play was the big difference in the Goldman-Harding match.

Harding moved into the role of favorite Saturday morning by eliminating J. T. Hammett of Abilene with a beautiful back nine rally. Hammett led Harding at the halfway mark, 3 up, but the Fort Worth golfer, always strong at the finish, parred six of the last nine holes and came up to the 18 all even with his opponent.

Hammett missed a six foot putt on No. 18 and that was the match—for Harding, 1 up.

Garrison, driving the ball almost from tee to green on every shot, had little difficulty in eliminating Powell who was off his game after defeating Miles Falls, of Fort Worth, 1 up in a torrid morning match.

All final matches will be played Sunday, the championship flight over 36 holes, all others over 18.

In China the peach has always been associated with long life and immortality and therefore appears in many old Chinese works of art.

Director Resigns In Arlington Futurity

COLLEGE STATION, July 28 (AP)—W. R. Carmichael, who became assistant to the director of athletics of Texas A. and M. College June 1, has resigned to return to the principalship of Lamar Junior High school in Bryan. Carmichael said he was well pleased with his work at A. and M. but felt he could render better service in the Bryan public school system.

Pilot Killed

ABILENE, July 28 (AP)—Second Lt. Charles T. Streams, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Streams of Home, Pa., was killed today in the crash of his single-engine fighter plane south of the Abilene army air field, where he was stationed.

Stewart Named Southwest Czar

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, July 28 (AP)—James H. Stewart, for almost a quarter of a century identified with Southern Methodist University athletics as player and official, today was appointed full-time executive secretary of the Southwest conference with expanded duties virtually equal to those of a commissioner.

In this position he will have an office in Dallas where he will operate a statistical bureau for conference sports, appoint football and basketball officials, keep all conference records, serve as public relations director, represent the conference in its dealings with the Cotton Bowl and assist the conference president by serving as a finder of facts in rulings and interpretations.

Stewart's appointment was by unanimous vote of the member schools and was announced at the close of a called session of the faculty committee, conference governing body.

Dr. H. E. Brays of Rice, conference president, said expansion of the organization's scope and the many complexities that will arise as the result of the war as relates to athletic participation and eligibility were reasons for building the office from that of treasurer and appointer of official and into a full-time job carrying a schedule touching all phases of the athletics program.

Stewart was offered a three-year contract but said he preferred the job on a year-to-year basis because the position in its present scope is a new experiment both to him and to the conference.

No salary was announced and neither was the appropriation that was voted for conduct of the office but last spring the committee freely talked of a $12,000 figure. From this Stewart will pay for operation of the office.

In furtherance of friendly relations between the conference members, he will visit each school twice a year. Stewart will also serve non-member institutions where solicited.

He will participate actively in operation of the Cotton Bowl, with which the conference has a tie-up whereby its champion is the host team each year. He will be to assist the conference president in rulings and interpretations.

County Agent To Resign August 1

Rheba Berle Boyles, county home demonstration agent here for the past two and a half years, has resigned her position effective Aug. 1.

She plans to leave soon after that date for her home in Chillicothe where she will rest before taking up studies in a field of specialized training.

Miss Boyles entered Texas A. & M. extension service work in January of 1937 at Navasota in Grimes county and served there until she succeeded Fontilla Johnson here March 8, 1943.

Her work, achieved under wartime handicaps, has produced significant gains in membership, clubs and projects. During her period of service, four new clubs were organized, bringing the total to 11 in the county with a membership of approximately 150. This represented a 50 per cent membership gain.

Miss Boyles also had an active part in planning the Howard county fair exhibits and other projects in which the home demonstration club women of Howard county participated.

Poage Wins In Calf Roping At Cheyenne

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 28 (AP)—Walton Poage of Rankin, Texas, on the basis of his average time for three animals, won the calf roping event of the 1945 Cheyenne Frontier Days Rodeo today.

Poage was credited with an 18.7-second average. He roped his final calf in 22 seconds flat.

J. K. Harris of Longview, Texas, gave the best calf roping performance with 16.2 seconds.

Although he will continue his services at the postoffice to Sept. 1, Bigony is to open the company station at 4th and Scurry as of Aug. 1.

High School Star Wins Seventh Title

DETROIT, July 28 (AP)—Merble Flam, 16-year-old Beverly Hills, Calif., high school sensation, today won his seventh successive tennis championship this year by whipping his doubles partner, Hugh Stewart of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-4, in the finals of the Western junior tournament at Cranbrook school.

Richard Mowleous, 15-year-old New Orleans youth, seeded first in the boys title with an easy 6-1, 6-1 verdict over Jack Turpin, Dallas, Tex.

Both the Western champions left immediately for Kalamazoo, Mich., where they will compete for the National junior and boys championships next week. Flam is seeded second in the National event behind Bernard Bartenz of San Angelo, Tex., and Mowleous is No. 1 in the boys event.

M. R. Turner To Be Superintendent Of Schools At Coahoma

M. R. Turner, superintendent of schools at Kingsbury in South Texas, has been elected as superintendent at Coahoma.

He has communicated his acceptance to the Coahoma board and is due on the field sometimes around Aug. 15.

Turner has been at Kingsbury for the past seven years. Prior to that time he was superintendent at Holliday near Wichita Falls for a number of years and was at Corcester and served as business manager of the Methodist Orphan home at Waco.

Turner's first teaching experience was at Denton when W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring superintendent, was principal of the high school in that city.

The new Coahoma school head holds a bachelor's degree from North Texas State Teachers college, a masters degree from S.M.U. and has done work on his doctor's degree at the University of Texas.

He will succeed George Boswell, who has served as Coahoma superintendent for more than a dozen years. Boswell is to go to San Angelo to become district agent for the American Educators Insurance company.

Date To Be Set For Livestock Judging

Date will be set soon for the final livestock judging contest for Howard county 4-H club boys.

County Agent Durward Lewter said Saturday that the date would be sometime during the first 10 days of August and the all-day affair would be held at the Alvin Walker place.

There will be judging in two classes of beef and dairy animals, two classes of hogs and two classes of sheep. In addition, boys will place 25 species of grass.

Several practice judging sessions have been held during the year. The August session, however, will determine county winners.

Four A&M Dept. Directors Retiring

COLLEGE STATION, July 28 (AP)—Retirement of four heads of institutional departments at Texas A. and M. college was announced today as directors of the school held their annual budget session.

The four retired under new modified service regulations. They were M. C. Hughes, head of the department of education; Dr. M. C. Winkler, former head of the department of psychology; Dr. C. B. Campbell, head of the modern language department, and Dr. O. W. Silvey, head of the department of physics.

George B. Wilcox will succeed Hughes, and the department of psychology also will be placed under Wilcox. A new department of history will be headed by Dr. G. W. Schlesselman, and J. J. Wolket will succeed Campbell. Silvey's successor will be named later.

Horse Vaccination Prevents Sleepness

The proverbial ounce of prevention has paid big dividends this year in practically eliminating sleeping sickness among horses.

Dr. O. E. Wolfe, veterinary surgeon, reported that cases in this area were practically nil this year. Vaccination on a widespread scale has virtually eliminated the infection thus far, and at a time when the malady normally was approaching its peak.

In 1937 the epidemic seriously threatened the horse population of this section. Since that time there has been a gradual decline, and this year has seen the disease brought to a standstill.

Labor Judge Lays Down The Law

WASHINGTON—The man who has taken over the labor secretaryship in the Truman cabinet is going to apply the experience of a legislator and a judge to the first executive job he has ever held.

He came to the labor department from a federal judgeship. Before that he was a U. S. senator.

Lewis B. Schwellenbach, of Washington state, has Washington officialdom talking about the practical way he has taken hold of his new assignment, one which he says took him away from "the best job in the world" on the bench.

And if anyone thinks he is out to expand his power for power's sake, listen to what the former jurist and pal of President Truman has to say:

"I don't want a lot of bureaus just to increase my power. I'm not trying to grab power. What I'm seeking is to bring under the department only those agencies that fit here."

As for applying judicial procedure to his executive department, he says:

"Being a federal judge is the easiest job in the world. All you do is take the facts, check them with the law, and decide a case on its merits. I'm going to see if I can hold cabinet position and make decisions on the same basis—listen to pressures brought and try to appraise them, and reach conclusions on what you think is right and not on the basis of what might be expedient."

Schwellenbach's General Order No. 1 to his employees had a legislative as well as a judicial ring. He emphasized it was the function of every member of his department to execute the laws "as Congress has written them and as the courts have interpreted them."

"The fact that he may think the Congress should have written or the courts should have interpreted a law differently in no case justifies him in ignoring or attempting to circumvent the law. I will expect full cooperation in this policy."

The secretary told reporters the order was not aimed at any specific instances, but from past experience as Senator he knew it was "an old Washington custom" for executive departments to interpret congressional laws any way they saw fit.

Schwellenbach hit it off well in his first fusts with the newsmen after entering the cabinet. He has agreed to their suggestion that he see them regularly instead of at irregular intervals as was the practice of his predecessor, Miss Frances Perkins.

He even invited suggestions from the reporters covering the "labor run" on how his department should be operated and what labor boards and divisions should be merged with his department.

He has talked with more than 30 labor leaders and some employers' industrial relations representatives, too. He says he's not going to take any position on controversial questions until he finds out what his job is and how extensive it should be after reorganization.

He expects to have his merger recommendations ready for the President's study by Aug. 1.

Weaning Date Of Calves Sept. 15

Sept. 15 has been set as the weaning date for calves to go on dry lot feed, County Agent Durward Lewter said Saturday.

"Several inquiries have been received from 4-H club boys concerning calves since July rains, according to Lewter. He anticipated that 0 of these animals would top the number on feed.

Possibly a dozen calves are on feed now and will be carried through their feeding on this basis. Thirty-eight others are being fed out as milked calves, said the agent.

Thirty-five pigs are on feed, but these will be shown in the fall and a new group put on for the spring show. Nine of the present number will compete in the Sears contest, but plans are to show all the swine.

Lewter has set Oct. 15 as the starting date for lamb feeding and hopes are to have upwards of 100 of the animals on feed.

Series Of Meetings Will Help Farmers

The series of community meetings, at which Howard county farmers will have opportunity to file their compliance reports, will begin Monday.

Under new regulations, all practices for soil building and conservation performed to Aug. 1 must be reported not later than Aug. 15 in order for producers to qualify for payments.

The community meetings were mapped by community and county committeemen to expedite reports.

Monday morning there will be sessions at Comax and Luther schools. Monday afternoon the meetings will be at Elbow and Vincent schools.

Tuesday there will be all-day sessions at the American Legion hall in Coahoma and at the school in Knott.

Wednesday there will be an all-day meeting at Center Point and Thursday and Friday the series will be completed at the ACA offices in Big Spring. Representatives of the ACA office and community committeemen will assist in the meetings.

R. R. McCraney, to re-roof present 28x42-foot frame house at 500 Lancaster, cost $150.

Joe Pond, to re-roof house and garage at 428 E. Park street, cost $250.

W. E. Ezzell, to re-roof 28x42-foot house at 410 W. 4th street, cost $300.

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Helium plants operated by the Bureau of Mines at Cunningham, Kas., and Amarillo, Tex., were ordered shut down today by Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

The Cunningham plant will be dismantled. The Amarillo plant will be maintained on a stand-by basis and will become the main headquarters for expanding helium research program.

Elimination of the submarine menace in the Atlantic and "improved conditions in the Pacific" . . . have reduced army and navy demands for helium, Ickes said, and continued operation of the plants is unnecessary.

He also said the decision was "made on the basis of economy and in the interests of conservation of this valuable, non-inflammable, light-weight gas."

Farmers Who Once Pray For Rain Now Hope For Hot Cotton Weather

Howard county farmers gave thanks Saturday for a week of still, hot weather that rested some color to yellowed cotton in deep sand.

Another two weeks may determine the fate of the June cotton, for continued temperatures in the 90's could restore growth and leave it with excellent prospects of making.

While there has not been much growth since the phenomenal rains during the first 14 days of July, the water-logged plants were beginning to lose some of their yellow and brown tinge. Most farmers were repeatedly stirring the ground to relieve the abnormal water reserve which virtually drowned the late cotton.

Reports from over the county indicated that practically all the feed due to go into the ground is already planted and as a general rule, stands are excellent. The bulk of planting has gone into combine maize, although there will be no dearth of hegra.

Tight land farmers smiled at some of the best crops they have had in years. In the Luther section, occasionally hard hit by drought crops generally were among the best in the area. Early cotton is nearing knee high in some quarters and reports of heavy fruiting were frequent.

While the comparative calm was beneficial to farmers for crop purposes, it was beginning to create somewhat of a problem for stock and domestic water. Since the rainy period, breezes seldom have been sufficient for windmills to keep up storage levels.

Ranges continued in good shape with grass making rapid growth. Overgrazed areas were troubled with heavy stands of broomweed and needlegrass—the latter posing a future problem for sheepmen. Stockwater everywhere was abundant.

C. E. Morgan Dies In Local Hospital

Charles Edward Morgan, veteran railroad engineer, died Saturday at 2:40 a. m. in a local hospital. Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. by Rev. P. D. O'Brien.

Mr. Morgan was born Sept. 29, 1886, in Springfield, Ill., and had been an engineer in Big Spring and surrounding areas since 1912.

Survivors include two sons, J. C. Morgan, who was en route to Big Spring from service in the Pacific, and Leonard Morgan; three brothers, Arch L. Morgan of Midland, Walter Morgan of Tulsa, Okla., and Orville Morgan of Ardmore, Okla.; four sisters, Mrs. Lula Proper of Blackwell, Okla., Mrs. Chris Dyer of Madrid, Ia., Mrs. Mae Dennis of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. Velma Diller of Oklahoma; two aunts, Mrs. W. B. Tolleson of Big Spring and Mrs. Ed Bloomer of Stanton; one uncle, Harry Glendenning of Stanton.

Fall bearers will be A. C. Hart, Loy Smith, George Mims, W. R. Marlin, Jake Bishop and J. M. B. Gilmore. All railroad men will be considered honorary fall bearers.

Burial will be in the local cemetery and graveside services will be conducted by Division 212, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Arrangements were made by Eberley-Curry funeral home.

officers, imagined him as a flame-thrower.

And why not a "Vacant Lot Week" in Big Spring. Most of us have vacant lots adjacent to or near us, and most of them are either brush and weed tangles or rubbish heaps. In any case they aren't healthy, so why not do something about them even if they do belong to someone else.

The community suffered a sharp loss in the sudden death of J. D. Harvey last week. Although minister of the Church of Christ, his contacts, service and friendships were area-wide. He will be missed.

School patrons in the rural areas were beginning to heed warnings to make transfers before Aug. 1. Saturday Walker Bailey, county superintendent, chalked up nearly 70 transfers, perhaps the biggest total ever to come in a single day. Deadline is Tuesday.

Announcement that the Kate Morrison school will observe the same term as other schools starting in September should be good news. The people in that section of the city have asked for the change. They can approve it wise by cooperating to insure good attendance during the autumn months.

WACO, July 28 (AP)—South Camp Hood defeated San Marcos Army Air Field 4 to 3 tonight in the state semi-pro baseball tournament here.

With two out in the ninth inning and two on base, Bill Sodd singled to center, sending home Spangler with the winning run.

Earl Escalante, former coast league pitcher was in the box for Hood and was master of the situation in every inning except the second when he allowed five hits and three runs. San Marcos got only one hit during the rest of the game and Escalante did not walk a man.

Alpine Attacked On Easter Day By Kamikaze Planes

SEATTLE, July 28 (AP)—All last Easter day, the 13th naval district revealed today, the navy attack transport Alpine had been backing up assault forces as hundreds of ships poured troops and supplies and heavy gunfire on Okinawa.

Just at dusk, three Japanese suicide planes roared out over the island. And then all hell broke loose as the day, sacred to the prince of peace, ended with the entire fleet and the guns ashore throwing up a dense curtain of anti aircraft fire.

A cruiser knocked down one. The Alpine's own guns nailed a second. But the third kamikaze closed in, circling the Alpine's stern and turning into a diver.

He careened over the port wing of the signal bridge, slashed through the rigging, left a wing and part of his landing gear in the forward starboard which and then crashed a great hole through the steel deck.

Twenty-five army men and three sailors never knew what hit them. And 37 additional army men were wounded as a thunderous explosion shook the Alpine from stem to stern and a gasping hole appeared in the transport's side, a few inches above the waterline.

Fumes started licking at everything in sight. Ammunition cases were catching fire as the ship's crew, disregarding their own safety, put out burning explosives with their fire hoses.

When the fumes were controlled volunteers turned to the task of rescuing the wounded from the twisted, smoldering wreckage.

Diage control parties found steel bulkheads ripped like tin cans, the ship's refrigeration system destroyed and tons of food ruined. Piping and wiring were reduced to jumbled masses of junk. But the Alpine lived and soon will be seeking her own revenge, the navy asserted. It would be sooner if there were more hands to heal the crippled ship which limped back across the Pacific for repairs. It added.

Dissenting Groups Of Amvets Merge

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—The last hold-out group of American veterans of World War II (AMVETS) has merged with the original Kansas City group of AMVETS, it was announced here today.

The dissident group headed by Brig. Gen. H. Holdridge, retired, previously had refused to come in with the larger group headed by Elmo W. Keel. Both factions maintained headquarters in Washington, D. C.

News of the merger was received here in a letter from State Commander George R. Porter of Ft. Worth to L. V. Todd, 2nd vice commander for Texas.

The merger swells the ranks of AMVETS to approximately 12,000, the Keel group estimating its membership at 10,000 and the Holdridge group claiming 2,000 members.

Farmers To Receive Ceiling Cotton Price

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) said today that farmers should receive the parity price for this year's cotton crop and that if cotton mills do not pay it the ceiling prices on their products "will be reduced correspondingly."

"This year's acreage is the lowest since 1885," the senator said in a statement. "The crop generally is late and we have no reason at this time to expect more than an average yield per acre, or a crop of 9 1/2 to 10 million bales."

"This does not mean a shortage of cotton to supply our mills and our export markets, since we have a carryover of about 10,750,000 bales. The carryover in the parity period 1909-1914 averaged about 1,375,000 bales, while consumption during that period averaged 5,062,000 bales. We do not have excessive supplies in lengths 15-16 inch cotton and longer."

"Mill ceilings are based upon parity prices of cotton and I am expecting mills to pay parity for the 1945 crop. If they do not do so, their ceiling prices will be reduced correspondingly."

"The ICC forms for the purchase program will be in the field by August 15. CCC purchase prices will be announced for each warehouse location. Farmers should have their cotton classed so they will know its value and be able to obtain prices equal to or higher than CCC purchase prices."

Contract Let On Labor Camp

Contract has been let and work is to start soon on the farm labor camp in northwest Big Spring.

The bid of $7,750 by W. R. Beck, local contractor, was accepted by the Howard county commissioners court Friday. County Judge James T. Brooks announced.

Work is to start as soon as possible, and initial construction details may start this week. While no completion date was specified, officials were pointing for availability by cotton picking time.

The city previously had pledged $3,000 toward the structure and the county a like amount. Cost, however, exceeded original estimates.

The building will be L-shaped with five family units in each wing and a combination bathroom in the corner space. In addition, an efficiency-type apartment will be constructed on the premises for the caretaker. The building will lie along the north and east lines of the property, affording ample parking space for picker trucks on the west. Migrant farm laborers may use the quarters as a stopping place while they make arrangements to work in fields in this territory.

Continued Increase In Beef Predicted

DALLAS, July 28 (AP)—A continued increase in beef supplies in the next six months and possibility of a ration point increase on butter were predicted today by E. E. Trigg, regional office of Price Administration food ration executive.

"There is currently more beef in retail counters than at any time in recent months, and the picture will likely continue to improve through January and possibly March," Trigg said.

The point reduction in beef effective tomorrow is slated to put 20 per cent more beef on southwestern tables, Trigg said, adding that further reductions are expected as the supply continues to increase. He said beef production was increasing.

Reports on butter sales indicate that stocks are moving too fast, Trigg said.

"If the supply continues to move faster than it should under the recent reduction from 24 to 16 points, it is likely that the point value will be raised to establish a better balance," he said.

Draft To Continue After Jap Victory

INDIANAPOLIS, July 28 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said here today that selective service will continue to draft men after V-J day.

Gen. Hershey said the necessity for maintaining strong occupation forces on two continents after V-J day would mean the continuation of drafting in order to replace men who are eligible for discharge under the point system.

"We plan to continue drafting 100,000 men a month until July, 1946," the draft director asserted.

"Of course we could cut that if the war should end before then," he added, "but he believed the high draft rate would be continued through the next year, regardless of encouraging events."

Steel has been called the lifeblood of modern war.

Going To Face Trigg Even On Stretcher

MONDORF-LES-BAINS, LUXEMBOURG, July 28 (AP)—Reichsmarshal Herman Goering, who collapsed from a heart attack during an electrical storm two days ago, will face trial when his time comes if he has to be brought into the court room on a stretcher, an authoritative source said today.

This policy will apply to all members of the former Nazi government, all members of the Wehrmacht and anyone else listed as a war criminal, the informant said.

Goering, who told army doctors his terror of thunder and lightning but was in no real danger.

The crash snapped the cables of three elevator cars parked at the 90th floor. All three plunged to the basement. Police still were trying to get at their wreckage late tonight to determine whether the falling vehicles carried others to their deaths.

Another elevator car was parked at the 75th floor. Its cable snapped, too, and James W. Irwin, management consultant with offices in the floor, said he had seen two women enter the car immediately before it dropped.

It was sudden death for most of the victims.

Firemen entering the National Catholic Welfare Conference suite—on the 79th floor—found nine charred bodies, most of them believed to be those of girls, grouped around a single table.

Another body was found further back on the same floor.

Still another was found on the parapet of the 2nd floor. It was that of Paul bearing, publicity man for the Catholic organization and a former Buffalo, N. Y., reporter. Police said the crash appeared to have hurled him from his office and out of the building to the wing roof six stories below.

Fifty persons were on the sightseers' tour of the skyscraper. All were evacuated safely.

The fire that resulted was a "fire above the clouds." It was the highest fire ever fought in the city—913 feet aloft—but although witnesses said the heat was "like an oven," Fire Commissioner Patrick Walsh said it was "a fairly easy job." At no time did firemen fear a holocaust, although four alarms were sounded.

While thousands assembled in streets, there were no reports of heroism inside the burning skyscraper. A Commendable Service

Where The Brass Is

By FRANK GRIMES

Herald Special Writer

The gobbledygook of bureaucracy is full of such terms as expeditor, coordinator, policy level and the like.

Apparently, however, expeditors are few, coordinators have all gone fishing, and no such thing as a policy level exists.

Testifying before the congressional war investigating committee, Director J. Monroe Johnson of the Office of Defense Transportation said the army's high brass had planned a 10-month program to get the boys home from Europe, without consulting him, and then had speeded up that program without notifying him.

When the railroads were swamped with a rising floodtide of troops, ODT caught most of the critical brickbats.

But if the man responsible for the nation's transportation facilities was neither consulted about the original plan nor advised of its speeding up, the fault lies entirely with coordination between the army and the ODT, or rather with the lack of coordination.

It is inconceivable that the army could have planned a movement of this magnitude without consulting the one agency most affected, but that is precisely what Director Johnson told congress.

The incident is reminiscent of countless others in the course of this war, when one agency of government was wholly unaware of what another agency with which it is supposed to coordinate was planning or doing.

It suggests that instead of cussing expeditors and coordinators we should demand more of them -- at least more efficient ones.

Asking For Trouble

While we hope for but do not expect it, Japan could give up day after tomorrow and bring the Pacific war to a close as sudden as its onset.

If so, we'll be in the same predicament as the man who leans forward breathing a hurricane wind, and then finds himself flat on the sidewalk when the wind pressure is unexpectedly removed.

The lower house of congress left Washington for an 11-week holiday without enacting a single one of the numerous measures deemed vital to counterbalance the sudden ceasing of the winds of war.

You may think it's a matter of small moment, since congress could be reassembled almost overnight; but you'd miss the main point entirely. The main point is that congress has had some of these measures before it for a year or more, without making more than a few half-hearted gestures toward getting them enacted.

Reconversion and reemployment are among the most pressing of these problems.

Mirrors Of Austin--

Rainey Makes Suggestions

Renouncing whatever lingering hope he may have had for reinstatement, Former University President Homer P. Rainey has made a series of suggestions as to how he believes the stigma of probation can be removed from the University of Texas. The University was placed on probation by the Southern Association.

That his suggestions are to be considered free from a direct personal interest was emphasized in this statement concerning the selection of a new president: "The president . . . should be someone wholly new to the situation. I am convinced that no one who has had any part or had any direct or indirect relationship to the present controversy should be considered."

The statement was in a letter to this writer. As further evidence of his good faith, Rainey orally observed that he realized the probable consequences last year when he first issued his "bill of particulars" against the regents.

Rainey wrote that he did not know whether public opinion was sufficiently ready for concrete constructive suggestions, since the other aspects of the controversy had been "so intense."

He said he had two sets of suggestions. The first long-range suggestion was that the board of regents should be reconstituted into a board of 12 to 15 members serving from 12 to 15 years, with one member's term expiring each year. This would insure that no governor could obtain a majority of his appointees on the board, and thus tend to remove it from politics; it would insure better regents for two reasons: (1) the turnover would be rapid, giving the individual time to become more thoroughly familiar with the job; and (2) since no executive could hope to get a political majority on a board, he would tend to pick an appointee who would reflect credit on him during the long tenure. This board, confined to policy-making, would meet only 2 or 3 times a year.

A comparable method, Dr. Rainey said, is in operation at the University of California, which is perhaps the Number One state university today.

His second long-range suggestion is a revision of state laws. Present regental laws defines many "stalled" duties for regents which under modern educational standards "are not regarded as proper functions for a board to perform."

"The constitution," he observes, charges the regents to maintain a University of the first class. This means they are obligated to run the University in harmony with practices of all other first class institutions."

In addition to these long-range suggestions, Dr. Rainey makes this suggestion for "immediate steps to deal with the current crisis." He includes first, "the resignation of at least four (preferably all

One hundred and seventy years ago the Continental congress created the Army Chaplain Corps. Previously, pastors had served troops in their particular areas, but the act of the Continental congress gave the chaplains status with the forces. By the War of 1812, chaplains were serving with each regiment. During the next few years, however, the unit became practically non-existent with the force reduced to a single chaplain. The war with Mexico changed that, and the chaplain corps had further growth during the Civil war. From a mere 74 chaplains in service prior to World War I, the number swelled to 2,000 during the struggle.

Today there are more than 8,000 of them in service at home and around the world.

They are noble men of almost every faith who share the problems of the men in rank, who give succor to the wounded and sick, who give cheer to the downhearted and lonely, who help bolster morale with wholesome play, and who, above all, are always available for words of spiritual solace and enlightenment.

Work of the chaplain may be disheartening at times, for contrary to all the rosy stories, men do not turn to God simply because they put on uniforms or face the realities of death. On the contrary, elements of distraction are as great or even greater than in civilian life and the chaplain, knowing full well that you may lead a horse to water but not make him drink, has a real challenge in perseverance and faith. Fighting men are not looking primarily for a preacher, but a good man who is God's man.

And everytime one of them finds such a soft in the Army chaplain, the corps existence is justified all over again and the army and nation are that much better for his service.

It Takes Courage

The commissioners court of Howard county has been through an experience which it might easily have side-stepped by the expedient of naming an independent board of equalization. Instead, the court constituted itself as a board to hear pleas on valuation increases. This does not represent political acumen in the strictest sense, but it is a mark of courage. It takes just that to peg valuations nearer where they should be in most cases in disregard for what might happen next summer.

Show Our Pride

We're anxious for people in the Big Spring area to make the most of the open house invitation at the Big Spring Bombardier school Wednesday. Our community may be no different from others, but somehow we have felt Big Spring had a specific pride in the army aircraft located here--and particularly in its officers, men and civilian workers. It is our hope that a big turnout Wednesday will manifest this pride.

We deplore the chaos in France and other war-stricken countries, and speak bitter criticisms of their inability to get things going. We'd better be sure we don't find ourselves in the same boat one of these fine mornings. We are asking for chaos, too.

It is our hope that a big turnout Wednesday will manifest this pride.

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Shotgun Answer To Pesky Pigeons

By JACKSON S. ELLIOTT (Jack Stinnett is On Vacation)

WASHINGTON -- Fossils, booby traps and miscellaneous artifices to the contrary, one of the country's foremost bird experts says the only sure way to get rid of pigeon pests is a charge of birdshot.

Author of half a dozen books on birds, Frederick C. Lincoln Fish and Wildlife Service makes his recommendation as several cities across the country are reported in the throes of ridding themselves of flocks of pigeons which have taken up light housekeeping in public buildings.

In Spokane, Wash., the city hall is being redecorated, and the city fathers want to keep it clean. So a man has been hired to build a high-pitched whistle, inaudible to human ears, which he guarantees will send the pigeons scurrying.

In Boston, where pigeons have taken over the famed Commons the public works commissioner is also proposing to use such a whistle; he calls it a fossild.

Birdman Lincoln says the fossild was new to him but that it is true that pigeons, as well as other birds, can hear better than humans. They see much better, too.

"But humans are up on pigeons by one whole sense," Lincoln reassures us. "Birds can't smell."

Since some of the city hall pigeons in Philadelphia were found to be carriers of a rare pneumonia-like disease known as ornithosis, health officials in a number of localities have been trying to trap their pigeons to see if they are infected.

Efforts of Baltimore officials to obtain samples of the pigeon population have so far been frustrated by the wary birds. At present, unnet traps are being left about until pigeons get used to them. Then, so the officials hope, they will be able to catch and overconfident bird.

Scarecrows, flashing and rotating lights, firecrackers and Roman candles are old stuff to Lincoln. All they do, he says is to make the birds move to another part of town. The shotgun, he says, is the answer in places where it can be used safely.

But birds that some people consider nuisances are usually liked by somebody. Efforts to deal frantically with the pesky pigeon problem always result in irate letters to newspapers and public officials.

The pigeon, says Lincoln, still has plenty of friends.

Silly Performing For Wildtracks

By HOL THOMASS

HOLLYWOOD -- Actors are required to do some silly-looking things while making pictures, but about the silliest is performing for a wildtrack.

A wildtrack, students, is a portion of a film's soundtrack which will be dubbed into the picture to match the action. It is usually made for long shots or action scenes when the boom cannot get close enough to pick up the actor's words.

Over at Columbia they were making some wildtracks for "Renegades." The first subject was Willard Robertson, the character actor who has written "Moonlight" and other novels. He was supposed to make sounds which would indicate he was getting beaten up in a fight.

After the sound man got ready, Robertson sat in a comfortable chair and started making noises. "Ow . . . ooooo . . . Ugh!" he moaned under the impact of the imaginary blows.

Next came the leading man, Willard Parker, not to be confused with Willard Robertson or Larry Parks, who is also in the picture. He stood under the mike and recited: "Come ON, Hannah! . . . COME ON, Hannah! . . . COME ON, HANNAH! . . ." He did this until the dialogue director was satisfied with his rendition.

When Willard Parker got through with this he came over for a chat. He is six feet four in his stocking feet and I was contemplating climbing a ladder to talk with him, but fortunately he came down to me.

"Why did you ever become an actor?" I asked.

"Well, it was largely an economic matter with me. I was working for an electric company. Reading meters was about the only thing I could do, and I wasn't very good at that. Some one told me I could make good money by modeling. So I tried it. Then somebody else told me I could make more money as an

Washington Merry-Go-Round--

Truman To Have Dawes Loan Scandal

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON--President Truman, who has a well-earned reputation as a champion of clean government, faces another Dawes loan scandal when he gets back to his desk in Washington.

While former Vice-President Charley Dawes was president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the RFC loaned his own bank in Chicago $90,000,000. There were howls of protest from the democrats.

A similar situation exists in Washington where democrat Warren Lee Pierson, when president of the Export-Import bank, loaned the International Telephone and Telegraph company and its subsidiaries 14 per cent of the Export-Import bank's capital. Following this, Pierson stepped out to accept a fat salary as president of an International Tel. and Tel. subsidiary -- All America Cables.

Furthermore, just before he resigned, Pierson tried to get another $23,000,000 from the Export-Import bank by which I. T. & T. could buy out a telephone line in Mexico. All of this has caused one of the hottest inter-cabinet fights of the Truman administration, with Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau (until he resigned) raising Cain with some of their cabinet colleagues on the bank's directorate.

I. T. & T. Gets Gravy

The charter of the Export-Import bank provides that not more than 10 per cent shall be loaned to any one company. Despite this fact, however, 10 per cent of all the bank's loans have gone to the Aluminum Corporation of America, and 14 per cent to I. T. & T. and its subsidiaries.

These were issued under the presidency of Warren Lee Pierson, who retired this spring to work for the company his bank had befriended. Just as he retired, a new loan to I. T. & T. was proposed to buy out the Erickson telephone lines in Mexico.

Wallace, Morgenthau and Bidwell all opposed, largely on the ground that I. T. & T. already owned 35 per cent of Swedish Erickson and dictated its financial policy; that it didn't need U. S. government money to float the deal; and that the merger meant higher telephone rates for Mexico.

The final showdown came in a secret session of the Export-Import bank directors at which Henry Wallace proposed that the bank ask Chairman Paul Porter of the Federal Communications Commission to examine the whole question. The directors knew that Porter frowned on the deal. So the vote went 9 to 2 against Wallace.

Wallace Raises Cain

Then as the bank directors were about to cast the final vote on the $23,000,000 loan to I. T. & T., Wallace issued this almost savage warning:

"I want it noted for the record that I reserve the right to take this up with President Truman and also with my friend the president of Mexico as a steel not only against the American taxpayer, but against the telephone users of Mexico. I want it further noted that I consider this a damned outrage."

Morgenthau was not present personally, but was represented by his assistant, V. Frank Coe, who, knowing his chief's views, said: "I want it also noted that the secretary of the treasury makes the same reservation that he will project to the president of the ous about tales of Russian plans for the Germans. One of them decided to ask the Russian officer just what was what.

John Howard, an Englishman, gained fame by fighting for decent cleanliness conditions in prisons.

"Tell me about what you people plan for the Germans," he inquired. "The stories we hear are that you plan communism for all of Germany that you control."

The answer was simple and to the point.

"Communism?" the Russian blurted out. "For these winter?"

All members of the OWI foreign news division, which is about to be disbanded, have been offered jobs by New York's big shot publisher Eddie Bernays. . . . Former Senator Guy Gillette, recently resigned from the surplus property board, turned down an appointment as food administrator for Germany. He was offered a rank of major general, but wasn't interested. . . . Representative Sam Dickstein of New York wants to know why Mississippi's ranking John Rankin is worried about a Red plot in Hollywood. "Does he think Shirley Temple is a tool of the communists?" Dickstein asked. "Does he feel that Shirley's growing up has resulted in her becoming a stronger communist?" . . . The shipping bottleneck in Naples will delay the return of thousands of G.I.'s for several weeks. State department representatives in Italy seem happy about this. They want to keep a large American force in Italy.

However, the next Export-Import bank bill has several other hidden jokers. It carries no provision for standard auditing such as Senator Byrd has been fighting for. The new directors of the bank are practically a law unto themselves. Also there is no provision whereby the taxpayers can see how their money is being loaned out.

All in all, the E-I bank has now established a system far worse than that under the Harding-Coolidge administrations after the last war, when U. S. banks poured money into Europe and South America. In that case, private capital was being ventured. This time it is the public's money, and unlike the Coolidge-Harding days, the public has no way of knowing how its money is being spent.

Note--Someday if another inquisitive senator from Missouri sets up a "Truman investigating committee," he may have a field day probing the operations of the new Export-Import bank.

Third Devonian Field Is Opened In Andrews

By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, July 28 — Indicated opening of the third Devonian lime field in Andrews county by Magnolia and Humble No. 1 E. P. Cowden topped West Texas oil developments this week.

An additional 32 feet of oil bearing section was logged by Shell and Texaco No. 1 Ratliff & Bedford, four-way prospect in southwestern Andrews county expected to be completed in the Ellenburger, now being explored. Cities Service No. 1-B Texas Pacific Land Trust (TXL) extended Devonian production in the TXL field extended Devonian production into the TXL field in west central Ector county three-eighths mile southwest from the discovery.

Wildcat locations included two in Gaines and one in Hockley county, and Atlantic ran its string of early scheduled starters around its No. 1-A University, opener of Crane county's second Devonian pool, to eight. A total of 17 operations will be required to hold separate leases on as many quarter sections.

Magnolia and Humble No. 1 Cowden in the southwest corner of Andrews county first recovered 2,160 feet of high gravity oil on a one-hour drillstem test from 7,895 to 7,914 feet. Recovery of 3,060 feet of clean oil on a subsequent 60-minute drillstem test from 7,893 to 7,932 feet indicated an additional 18 feet of Devonian pay. Drilling continued to 7,969 feet, where another test was scheduled.

No. 1 Cowden is in the C NW SE 7-A35-psl. It entered the Devonian at 7,778 feet, 4,643 feet below sea level, correlated at a minimum of 240 feet high to American Liberty No. 1 Frank S. Perkins, an 8,012-foot failure five-eighths mile to the southwest.

Shell and Texaco No. 1 Ratliff & Bedford, C NW NE 4-73-psl, 8 1-4 miles northeast of the Magnolia-Humble strike, flowed 25.5 barrels of clean oil in 30 minutes on a 100-minute drillstem test from 11,277 to 11,301 feet. It drilled ahead below 11,361 feet in dolomite. The well has recovered oil on every drillstem test since entering the Ellenburger at 11,018 feet, 7,814 feet below sea level. It showed for production in the lower Permian, Devonian and Silurian.

Humble No. 1 J. E. Parker, in central Andrews county, C NW NE 24-A41-psl, recovered oil and gas-cut drilling mud on a one-hour drillstem test from 7,851 to 7,926 feet in the lower Clear Fork from which production was developed by Sun No. 1 N. H. Martin, opener of the Martin pool, one quarter mile to the east. It cored ahead below 7,062 feet in lime, being slated to explore the Ellenburger.

Finkel Bros. of Houston No. 1 University, C NW SW 12-A41-psl, speking Devonian production between two sectors of the Fullerton Devonian field, topped the Tubbs sand of the Clear Fork at 6,650 feet 3,362 feet below sea level. This was correlated seven feet higher than in Stanolind No. 1 University, Devonian strike two miles to the southeast. Testing to 7,003 feet was scheduled.

Short southwest extension to the northeast part of the TXL field in Ector county, Cities Service No. 1-B E. R. Thomas estate, C NW NE 18-45-1s T & P, flowed 106 barrels of oil during the last 53 minutes on a one-hour drillstem test of the Devonian from 8,070 to 8,115 feet. It prepared for completion.

Atlantic No. 1-B TXL, C SE SE 17-45-1s-T & P, recovered 500 feet of oil and gas-cut mud on a one-hour drillstem test from 7,381 to 7,448 feet. A diagonal northwest offset to Phillips No. 1-A TXL, second Ellenburger producer in the field, it is the second test in the area to show oil in the lower Permian.

A small amount of free oil was obtained by Texaco No. 29 W. E. Connel, slated Ellenburger wildcat in southern Ector county, in drill stem testing from 4,590 to 4,700 feet in the Glorietta or top of the Clear Fork. It is in the C NE NW 9-B16-psl.

Durigan Bros. & Brahaney No. 1 Watson, one mile north and quarter mile west of the same operators' No. 1 W. S. Hodges, small San Andres lime discovery pumper in west central Yoakum county, swabbed only one barrel of oil hourly after treating with 7,500 gallons of acid in two stages when bottomed at 5,235 feet. It drilled ahead. Location is the C NE NE 422-John H. Gibson.

The Texas Co. staked No. 2 Parmar county school land, 5,500 ft. southeastern Gaines county wildcat, 660 feet out of the southwest corner of labor 12, league 317.

Condor Petroleum Co. of Abilene started No. 1 R. A. Cox and others, proposed 7,500-foot wildcat in southwestern Gaines county, C SE SE 21-A10-psl.

Humble staked No. 1 Mrs. C. L. Campbell in northwestern Hockley county, 660 feet out of the northeast corner of the west half of section 116-A-R. M. Thomason. The slated 6,500-foot test will be one mile south of Humble No. 1 J. A. Jackson, opener of the Anton (San Andres) pool in southeastern Lamb county, most northerly field in the West Texas Permian Basin.

The week's failures included Hunt No. 1 Foust in Lamb county in section 43-B1-R. M. Thomason at 6,344 feet in lower Permian dolomite; Livermore and Honolulu No. 1 Abilene State Bank in Terry county, in section 16-B14-C & J, at 5,253 feet, and Lion No. 1 E. C. McLaughlin in Scurry county in section 197-97-H & TC, at 3,724 feet in lower Permian lime.

Sgt. Fields Coming Home With Awards

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fields have received word that their son, T-Sgt. L. B. Fields, is on his way home from Germany. Accompanying the letter was a citation to the effect that, for "heroic achievement on March 16, 1945 in the vicinity of Northerhausen, Germany," Sgt. Fields has been awarded the bronze star cluster.

The citation stated that when enemy soldiers were observed on his company's flank, Sgt. Fields, without waiting for a squad to be formed, advanced alone toward the enemy, flanked them, and captured three, removing serious threat to his company's advance. Sgt. Fields has a total of 93 points. Other than his latest award, he holds the bronze star, five battle stars, a purple heart, and a good conduct medal.

A resident of Centerpoint and Luther community, he attended a local school before entering the army in January, 1942. He took part in the D-Day invasion, was wounded in action in the vicinity of Paris, and was with the first American soldiers to meet the Russians in Germany.

He has two brothers in the service, Sgt. Atlee A. Fields and Pvt. Arnold A. Fields. Sgt. Atlee Fields is in France, and Pvt. Fields is stationed at Ft. Bliss.

Chinese Take Mining Center From Enemy

CHUNGKING, July 26 (AP) — The Chinese, high command announced today that Chinese troops had captured the city of Namyang, 155 miles northeast of Canton and site of the seventh former American air base to be regained from the Japanese in recent months.

The announcement said the Japanese garrison was retreating westward toward Kukong, on the Canton-Hankow railway 125 miles north of Canton.

Namyang was the point from which Wolfram, mined in the surrounding district, started on the first leg of its air journey to the United States.
