Traffic Group Votes Down Through Street

The Pampa City Traffic Commission voted unanimously today against recommending N. Somerville as a through thoroughfare.

The vote followed lengthy discussion by commission members and 16 N. Somerville property owners.

The unanimous vote was based on strong opposition to the plan by the property owners and on a report by a sub-committee appointed to study the proposal.

At last month's Traffic Commission meeting, Jack Miller, chairman, moved that the commission adopt the following recommendations to present to the City Commission:

1. Make N. Somerville from Francis to Hobart a thoroughfare.

2. Install a four sequence stop and go signal light with an east-west turn interval at the intersection of N. Hobart and Coronado Drive.

3. Install medians on N. Hobart.

4. Pave Sumner St. from Coronado Drive to Kentucky.

The motion by Miller died for lack of a second and a committee was then appointed to study the proposals and report at today's meeting.

E. E. Shelhamer, sub-committee chairman, said that after a study it was felt no action should be taken on proposals one, two and four and that number three should be given further consideration.

Tom Braly, Pampa attorney, who resides at 521 N. Somerville, said almost 100 per cent of residents on N. Somerville opposed making it a through thoroughfare.

Other property owners also voiced verbal objections.

St. Augustine Expects Race Problem Tests

By United Press International
Embattled St. Augustine, Fla. had more immediate problems today but the nation's oldest town and six other Deep South cities have been told to expect early court tests of the new civil rights bill.

Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. said in Chicago Sunday the measure would be tested in the courts as soon as it is signed into law.

King said compliance to the law would be tested in Montgomery, Birmingham, Selma, Gadsden and Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Albany, Ga., as well as in St. Augustine.

Concrete blocks were heaved through plate glass windows and doors of state Sen. Verle Pope's real estate office in St. Augustine early today. Pope has been a spokesman for a group of businessmen who have been trying to settle the city's racial dispute.

Negro leaders promised more demonstrations in St. Augustine today and a court fight to overturn a state-imposed curfew aimed at night marches.

Both segregationists and civil rights advocates staged marches on opposite sides of the city's main thoroughfare. The groups were separated by a line of about 100 police officers, some with dogs on leashes.

Scores of college students from across the nation poured into Mississippi today to take part in a massive civil rights project. State officials adopted a policy of watchful waiting as the 200 volunteers fanned out to assigned posts in about 25 cities and towns.

Burglars Hit Fashion Store

Burglars made off with $32 in cash sometime Saturday night or Sunday morning from Hi-Land Young Fashions, 1619 N. Hobart.

W. W. Wells owner, said that $27 was taken from a gas jar in an office and $5 was taken from a purse.

The thief entered the building by prying open a rear door, according to police.

In another incident, Tom Carver, 901 E. Malone, reported that someone stole two lounge chairs from his front porch Sunday afternoon.

Carver valued the chairs at $36.

Fire Damages Cleaning Shop

Fire of an unknown origin gutted the cleaning room of Deluxe Dry Cleaners, 315 W. Kingsmill, about 6:50 p.m. yesterday causing an undetermined amount of damage.

The fire was reported by a passing motorist when he saw smoke billowing from the concrete building.

The blaze was confined to the cleaning room which is located in the rear of the building. However, smoke damage occurred throughout the building.

Several hundred dollars worth of clothing escaped damage when Morris Enloe, owner, and two volunteers carried it from the building.

No one was in the building when the blaze started.

Firemen were at the scene for about 1-15 minutes.

Accidents Kill 43 in Texas

By United Press International
Death waited for many at the doorway to summer Sunday, as twice the usual total of Texans lost their lives in weekend highway crashes and picnic drownings.

A United Press International count showed 43 dead, 22 traffic smashups. Eight persons drowned, two died in separate plane crashes, and 11 died in other accidents or were killed by other persons.

Three persons were killed Saturday on the Rainbow bridge between Port Arthur and Bridge City in a two-car crash at the top of the high bridge. Dead were Earl H. Conley, 63, of Groves, Tex., and Arlene Zock, 30, of Orange.

Carl Meedham, 55, of Garland was killed and his wife seriously injured Sunday when their car was hit by another auto as Meedham tried to pull out of a parking lot in Big Bend National Park near Alpine.

A car struck and killed a bicyclist, William Tribble, 16, of Abilene, as he pedaled along a service road near U. S. Highway 80 on the western edge of Abilene.

Earl Kipler, 21, an airman stationed at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio, drowned Sunday in the Gulf of Mexico off Padre Island.

Claude George Sherwood, 64, and his wife Vivian, 64, of Frederick, Okla., were killed in a two-car crash Saturday on State Highway 114 a mile west of Grapevine.

Talks Begun To Avert War In Cyprus

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson and Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu today began talks designed to keep Cyprus from triggering a war between Greece and Turkey.

The President and premier both declared their interests in peace and justice in meeting the crisis.

At a White House ceremony welcoming Inonu, Johnson pointed to American-Turkish friendship and a joint desire "to protect world peace."

"I am confident that in our discussions this friendly spirit will prevail as we work together toward a solution of the problems which trouble us all," Johnson told Inonu who arrived by helicopter from Williamsburg, Va.

The President will meet Wednesday and Thursday at the White House with Greek Prime Minister George Papandreu.

Inonu said in his response to Johnson's greeting that he has "no doubt that the people of Turkey look upon this visit as another occasion to cement the deep-rooted and lasting friendship between our two countries."

The 79-year-old premier expressed hope that his visit "can help to bring a better understanding" of his area's problems.

"We believe in peace but we also know that peace cannot be lasting unless it is based on justice," Inonu said.

Immediately after the 15-minute welcoming ceremony, Johnson was to escort his guest to his office to begin their discussions on steps to break the Greek-Turkish deadlock over Cyprus.

Shortly after his return Sunday from a two-day trip to California, Johnson was briefed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the Cyprus situation in preparation for the critical talks with Inonu and Papandreu.

The Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus have been fighting each other since last December when Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios amended the Constitution to remove the Turkish vice president's power of veto over presidential decisions and in other ways.

Two weeks ago, Turkish invasion forces were at sea preparing to launch an invasion of Cyprus in order to protect the Turkish minority there. Greece was threatening to counter such a move with its own invasion.

Let Bygones Be Bygones

Queen Urged to Welcome Duke And Duchess Back into Family

LONDON (UPI)—Three London newspapers Sunday urged Queen Elizabeth to let bygones be bygones and welcome back her uncle, the Duke of Windsor to the royal family.

Michael Watts of the Sunday Express said that one word from the Queen could end the cold shoulder given to the Duke and his Duchess for the past 28 years.

The press comments marked the 70th birthday anniversary Tuesday of the Duke, the former King Edward VIII who abdicated in 1936 to marry the former Wallis Warfield Simpson, a divorcee.

Republican attacks on his program in his 1964 election campaign.

Johnson is hopeful that his unity appeal will diminish public bitterness or division over racial problems and other thorny issues, according to informed sources.

The chief executive accented the call for American unity and "an end to difference and division, to rancor and reproach" in a Los Angeles speech Saturday night.

The address closed out two days of speech-making in California in which Johnson extolled his administration's achievements and goals. He flew back to Washington yesterday.

In his speeches Johnson made no direct attack on the Republicans but he put in an implied jibe at the GOP presidential front-runner, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

The President, obviously hitting at Goldwater's states rights views, said it was "as out of date as the dinosaur" to oppose broad federal programs to serve the public.

Johnson returned highly pleased by the reception he got on the West Coast, particularly a turnout of more than 300,000 to see his motorcade in San Francisco.

He was reported to feel that this public response indicated wide popular approval and support of the administration's program and purposes.

Rogers' Bill Would Label Potential Cigarette Risk

Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives requiring that packages of cigarettes carry a clear warning that a smoker's health may be endangered.

Rogers' proposal would require that packages of cigarettes sold in interstate commerce carry this warning: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health."

The congressman said the purpose of the bill is to insure that all cigarette purchasers, especially young persons, be aware that smoking is a potential risk to physical well-being.

"Although many words have been written and spoken on this matter, I feel certain that many of our citizens are not yet aware of the danger. I believe it is the government's responsibility to be certain all Americans are warned of the possible consequences of smoking, just as it is its responsibility to be certain other potential health hazards are properly identified as such," Congressman Rogers said.

The bill introduced by Rogers would make it "unlawful, and an unfair method of competition in commerce, and an unfair or deceptive act or practice in commerce, under the Federal Trade Commission Act, for any person to manufacture, import or package for sale in commerce any package of cigarettes which does not bear a plain, legible warning as follows: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health."

The Act, titled the "Federal Cigarette Labeling and Advertising Act," would take effect 120 days after the date of its enactment.

Two other churches in the same neighborhood were destroyed by fire recently, the Grace Methodist Church and the First Brethren Church. Fire also damaged the library of the North Long Beach Methodist Church.

Many churches in the city appropriated funds to post guards at the buildings.

Civil Rights Law Sweeps Past Final Hurdles in House

High Court Okays Southern Objectors Quietly by Speaker

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court on the final day of the term today struck down an unconstitutional section of the 1950 Internal Security Act which denied U.S. passports to American Communist party members.

The vote was 6 to 3 with Justice Arthur J. Goldberg delivering the majority opinion. Under the law, the government was empowered to withhold the passports and thus prevent U.S. Communist party members from traveling outside the western hemisphere.

In other actions today, the court:

—Ruled 5 to 4 that confessions may not be used in state trials if they are given to the police while the suspect has

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House leaders started the century's most sweeping civil rights bill past its final hurdles today over shouted southern objections. The bill's managers said it would be law by July 14th.

Formally triggering the last parliamentary sequence before the bill can be sent to the White House, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D, N. Y.) at 12:27 p.m. EDT asked unanimous consent of the House to take up the House-passed bill and agree to the Senate's amendments.

As expected, southern members out did each other in leaping to their feet to object. They objected so fast and in such volume, in fact, that Speaker John W. McCormack had to quiet them momentarily while the clerk formally read Celler's request.

This time at least four objections were heard. McCormack ruled that the official objection had come from Rep. William M. Colmer (D, Miss).

Others on their feet included Reps. John Bell Williams (D, Miss.) Horace Kormaney (D, N.C.) and Joe D. Waggoner (D, La.).

Once that formality was out of the way, Celler dropped in the House hopper a resolution making acceptance of the Senate amendments in order by majority vote.

This was routed to the rules committee.

To preclude its gathering dust there, Celler followed up with a formal letter to rules chairman Howard M. Smith (D, Va.) asking action on the resolution. Three rules members arranged to follow through with a letter to Smith formally requesting that he call the committee together.

"They don't expect that he will, unless forced."

MRS. JULIA M. MCKERNAN
Mrs. McKernan Dies Here Sunday

Mrs. Julia McCarthy McKernan, named Woman of the Year, 1959, died at 10:25 a.m. yesterday in Worley Hospital following a week long illness.

An active civic worker, she had been a resident of Pampa since 1929. Mrs. McKernan was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Altar Society, Diocesan Council, Council of Catholic Women, Twentieth Century Study Club, Red Cross Gray Ladies, Pampa Chapter of the American Cancer Society, Girl Scout Board and Lovett Memorial Library Board.

Born Dec. 24, 1899 in Elliptonville, N.Y., she was graduated from Elliptonville High School and the Sisters of Charity Nursing School in Buffalo, N.Y.

She is survived by two sisters including her twin, Jane McDermott, Buffalo, N.Y., and Mrs. Mildred Crowley, New York City; two nieces, Mildred McDermott, Buffalo and Jane Crowley, New York City.

Rosary was recited last night in Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Chapel. Requiem High Mass was said at 10 a.m. today in St. Paul de Vincent Catholic Church with Father William Brennan, pastor, officiating. The body will be sent to Elliptonville where Requiem Mass will be recited at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Holy Name of Mary Catholic Church with Father James McCarthy officiating. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery beside her husband, Roy E. McKernan who died July 1, 1961.

Pallbearers were Tom Wade, A. A. Schuneman, Ed Daley, Ed Dunnigan, Jack E. Dolan, H. W. Waddell, Fred Neslage and Jimmy B. Massa.

Memorials may be sent to the St. Ann's Home for the Aged at Panhandle.

Lawyers Try To Move Ruby To Hospital

DALLAS (UPI)—Lawyers for Jack Ruby, whose mind is reported deteriorating rapidly in his death cell, were going to ask today that he be transferred to a mental hospital.

Attorney Clayton Fowler is expected to talk with Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown, who presided over Ruby's trial for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, presumed assassin of President Kennedy.

Fowler acted after a psychiatrist hired by the defense reported that Ruby is in a "paranoid state" and may become hopelessly insane unless he is hospitalized for treatment.

Dr. Louis Jolyon West, University of Oklahoma Medical School professor, examined Ruby in his cell Friday.

He said Ruby's condition is no different from that of "thousands of mental patients found in asylums across the nation."

Fowler said Ruby "is not in touch with reality at all times. He has delusions that people are persecuting his family... the man evidently has suicidal tendencies."

Since he was sentenced to the electric chair, Ruby once charged head-down into his cell wall in an apparent suicide attempt, and another time he tried to jam his finger into a light socket.

Fowler said Ruby has been unable to "communicate realistically" with his attorneys or help prepare appeals since he was interviewed by Chief Justice Earl Warren in his cell 15 days ago. Warren, accompanied by other members of the Warren Commission who are preparing a full report of the assassination, did not reveal what was said in the three-hour talk.

Children Honor Couple On Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Moore Sr. were honored with a Golden Wedding Anniversary reception June 7. Hosts for the occasion were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Moore, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Moore Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hollar, Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Odes Shelley and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Emery.

Daughters of the couple were in the receiving line with the honorees as they greeted approximately 100 guests throughout the afternoon event.

Mrs. Odes Shelley and Miss Christine Moore attended the guest book.

Mrs. Moore was presented with an off-white orchid by the hosts.

Mrs. J. R. Moore Jr. presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Jewell Moore served the cake from a table covered with white crocheted over yellow and centered with white mums surrounded by golden foliage. Gold candles in crystal holders completed the setting.

Dear Abby... Glamorous Job Offers Problems Like Any Other

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an American Airlines stewardess and I love my work, but my problem is the same as every other airline stewardess I know. When a male passenger wants to make two conversations with us, he asks two questions:

(1) How do you like flying?
(2) Aren't you afraid to fly so much?

Abby, if we didn't like flying, we wouldn't fly. And if we were "afraid," we wouldn't be flying for a living. I'll bet I answer those two questions fifty times a day! You would do thousands of airline stewardesses a big favor if you would suggest a few more original questions. Please?

MISS A. A.: I was about to suggest: (1) Are you going with anybody? (2) What are you doing tonight? But they are probably more common than the two questions you mentioned. You can't blame a man for wanting to strike up a conversation with an attractive girl. Yours is a great job! Where else can you find men who are already strapped in?

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell your doctor that you would like another medical opinion without implying that you do not trust his judgment? Is it all right to ask him to recommend another doctor or are you expected to find your own? If you should decide to change doctors, is it nery to ask your old doctor to give you new doctor your records and X-rays? I would like to know how all this is handled as I am very stupid about such matters.

NO NAME, PLEASE: DEAR NO NAME: Any patient who would like another medical opinion has the right to tell her doctor so. Is she has a doctor in mind, she may request that he be called in. Otherwise her doctor will recommend one. If she should decide to change doctors, the physician in service will (or should) graciously send her records and X-rays to her new doctor on the latter's request.

DEAR ABBY: What in the world is the matter with a certain big store here in town? This is the second run-in I've had with them over their fouled-up bookkeeping. I went on my lunch hour and stood in line to pay ten dollars on my bill, which paid me up in full. Then I got a bill from them showing that I still owed them $9.90, but a credit was put through for TEN CENTS! Now, Abby, you know perfectly well that no store will accept a TEN-CENT payment on a bill! Well, I took my receipt AND my lawyer with me and went down there and told them off but good. Believe it or not, they are still looking for their mistake. Tell your readers to hold on to their receipts. Mine saved me.

Wedding Promises Made In Candlelight Ceremony

Wedding nuptials were solemnized June 6 at 6 o'clock in the evening by Patricia Sue Hoover and Edwin A. Miller in the Highland Baptist Church. Rev. Joe Allison read the double ring service before an archway of white candelabra entwined with greenery and flanked by large white baskets of white gladioli. Honor pews were marked with white satin. Mrs. D. Lloyd Crosthwait presented the traditional processional and recessional and accompanied the vocalist, Miss Betty Shoemaker, Odessa, as she sang, "One Hand One Heart" and "The Wedding Prayer".

Parents of the couple, are Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hoover and the late Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Miller. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Susan Brown of Lawrence, Kan.

BRIDE

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage with "her mother and I" avowal, by her father, the bride was attired in a white peau de soie gown with a French aliencore-embroidered floor-length panel adding accent. The jewel neckline was enhanced by a cameo presented to her by her maternal grandmother. The deep-pleated skirt formed a cathedral train with back interest added by an Alencon lace half-petal loop falling to fingertip length from a tiara of seed pearls. Carrying out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue, the bride carried a poem written by her paternal grandmother in her Bible and the new cameo presented by her maternal grandmother. Her bouquet was designed of white roses and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS

The honor attendant, Miss Lena Hawkins, Hardin - Simmons University roommate of the bride, and bridesmaid, Miss Karen Ann Hoover, sister of the bride, were dressed identically in gowns of tropical melon silk chiffon fashioned with sleeveless bodices and jewel necklines complemented by long white evening gloves and matching shoes and handmade cabbage dose hats. They carried single oversized tropical gladioli.

Herschel Ed Pierce, Carthage, Tenn., served as best man and ushers were Paul Wayne Hill and Lloyd Summers. Groomsman was Steve Summers.

Mrs. Hoover chose for her daughter's wedding a shell-pink two-piece costume suit of dupioni silk with matching accessories, accented by a pink sweetheart rosebud corsage.

RECEPTION

The bridal entourage greeted guests attending a reception in the Hospitality Room of Citizens Bank following the ceremony. Guests were registered by Mrs. Grover Lewis, Midland.

The bride's table featured a large white carnation bridal centerpiece in a silver and crystal bowl, flanked by matching candle holders and punch bowl, Miss Gwen Cummings, Graham, presided. Miss Nancy Norman, Winters, presided at the bridegroom's table. Miss Bettye Huddleston, Abilene, served the traditional cake. Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Lloyd Summers, Mrs. Ben Ogden, Mrs. Paul W. Hill and Mrs. Joe Hawkins.

Mrs. Edwin A. Miller

For a wedding trip to points of interest in Kansas, the bride wore a dress of deep gold silk pailante with matching sleeveless coat and French straw hat accented with a fabric bow. Her shoes and purse were of white Calcutta lizard and her flowers were lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Abilene where the bridegroom is employed with General Dynamics Astronautics.

Mrs. Miller will begin her training in medical technology this fall. She is a graduate of Pampa High School and Hardin - Simmons University where she was a member and vice president of the HSU Science Club.

Mr. Miller graduated from Highland Park High School in Topeka, Kan.

During the past 10 years, the number of states which provided some services to children with cystic fibrosis grew from three to 26, the U.S. Children's Bureau reports.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation JH. Packing Tips Keep Scents Spill-Proof

By ALICIA HART

Bride, before you put aside your wedding veil and rush off on the wedding trip, consider — is your trousseau complete?

Wherever you go on your wedding trip, even to the Northwest on a camping trip, you will want to take along a set of co-ordinated fragrances. Pack your fragrances carefully so they will arrive safely.

Scented soaps cause the least concern. Pack them among your trousseau lingerie, unwrapped to get a delicate, lingering scent.

For convenience and safety, pack your perfumes and colognes in a separate cosmetic bag. All bottles should stand upright and be separated by tissue, newspaper or cardboard. If the perfume has been opened, push the ground glass stopper well down into the neck and twist to secure it. An extra precaution is to seal the stopper with paraffin or tape. Be sure the screw tops of toilet water, eau de cologne or bath oil are tight.

Pour a little out of each bottle and the liquids will travel more safely.

In packing opened bath powder, place a tissue over the powder so the edges overlap the box side. Place the puff on top of the tissue and push the cover tightly down over the tissue to prevent messy spilling.

When traveling, keep your fragrance kit away from intense heat. Don't leave it near a window where the sun will hit it or in the car trunk.

For the on-the-spot touch-ups, carry a spray perfume or spray cologne in your handbag.

Like Angry Lion

Summer Comes In With Thunderstorms

By United Press International
Summer came in like a lion—an angry, wet one—in West Texas Sunday.
Thunderstorms raked the area. Lubbock was particularly hard hit, with winds that mounted to 80 miles an hour, more than two inches of rain, and lightning bursts that knocked out power for a while at the West Texas hospital.
Hail the size of marbles pounded the area around Crane in far West Texas.
More thundershowers were forecast for the western third of the state this afternoon and tonight. Clear to partly cloudy skies were the prediction for the rest of Texas, with a return of Sunday's blistering temperatures likely.
Presidio recorded 102 degrees Sunday, and only Galveston, with 86, failed to top 90.

Underpasses were reported flooded in Lubbock, and traffic was slowed to a standstill as the rain whipped in. There were civil defense reports of stalled cars, and many power poles—knocked down by lightning or high winds—littered the city. Live electric power lines lay across U. S. highway 87.
Childress reported a six hour total of nearly 2.5 inches by midnight.
Temperatures were still in the 80s or high 70s everywhere in the state before dawn this morning.
In an extended forecast, the Weather Bureau predicted higher-than-usual temperatures for Texas for the next five days, with the possible high temperatures all in the high 90s. Isolated thundershowers were forecast for all areas but South Texas.

Escaped Convict Captured After Shooting Reflection

WATONGA, Okla. (UPI)—A jittery escaped convict had had plenty of time in a hospital today to reflect on just how much bad luck breaking a mirror really CAN bring.
Although much-decorated war hero and movie star Audie Murphy once admitted making the same mistake in a combat area house that Alonzo Talley Jr. made yesterday, that probably doesn't bring Talley much comfort.
Murphy had only the Wehrmacht to deal with. Talley had Fred Sheppard.
Talley, 34, a convicted burglar, escaped from a Colorado prison June 13.
The Sheppards were watching television Sunday when Talley slipped into a bedroom, as an uninvited guest.
Suddenly, out of the corner of his eye, he saw something move. Instinctively, Talley whipped out a pistol and fired four bullets at the moving figure.
The bullets found their target—and the full-length mirror reflecting Talley's image shattered.
Sheppard, realizing the shots he heard were from his bedroom and not his television set, pushed his wife to the floor and

Bare Bosom Dresses Unveiled in London

By HARRY J. STATHOS
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—The wraps came off today for bare-bosomed "nude look" dresses in London.
Stores featuring the dresses that have shocked the United States and tantalized Europe planned to put more of them on sale.
Two London newspapers advised their women readers to keep their shirts on, but there were signs the fad was developing.
Police studied their regulations to determine if a British law banning nudity will cover the situation. Legal sources said the law could be applied even to girls who show up at private parties in dresses without any neckline.
But the fad is not expected to outlive the summer. Observers believe the lack of central heating in most British homes, if nothing else, will enforce decency through the winter.
Two London women got a head start last week, one by buying a bare-bosom dress and the other by wearing one into a restaurant.
Mrs. Margaret Pawley, a 19-year old redhead, went into a store with her husband last Saturday and asked to see one of the dresses that stopped traffic when it went on display in a shopwindow.
Mrs. Pawley (36-24-36) tried on the dress and liked it. Her husband paid $14.70 for it, and she left with the dress—in a box.
"I shall wear it at a party with my husband," Mrs. Pawley said. Pawley registered his approval.
"This is a release for women after hundreds of years of frustration," he commented.
Rae Southern, a 27-year old singer and dancer, proved that her figure was her fortune when she landed a $420 a week job in a London nightclub after she showed up at an Italian restaurant in one of the new dresses.
Miss Southern said she walked bare breasted into the Capri restaurant last Friday to win a bet. She was a sked to leave, but the nightclub manager hired her to sing in his club wearing the garment that caused all the publicity.
A couple of London newspapers advised that women look better with their clothes on.
"What is suggested and half covered up is far more appealing than that which is totally exposed," said columnist Robin Douglas-Home. He is the nephew of Britain's prime minister.

NEW POWER-FORMULA ENCO EXTRA GASOLINE BOOSTS POWER THREE WAYS:
1 Cleaning Power! Dirt can clog even a new carburetor in a few months of normal operation—causing hard starting and rough idling. Your very first tankful of New Enco Extra will start to clear away these deposits—in new engines or old—to improve power and mileage.
2 Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. New Enco Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits—to help your engine fire smoothly, to help preserve the power of new cars and restore lost power to many older cars.
3 Octane Power! New Enco Extra has the high octane that most cars now need for full smooth performance without knocking. You'll get all these extras with New Power-formula Enco Extra gasoline—it puts a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!

Bunning's Perfect Game Makes Day Complete

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

The happiest baseball father on Father's Day was Jim Bunning, but the proudest one was ex-major league pitcher Max Lanier.

Bunning, the lanky 32-year-old righthander for the Philadelphia Phillies, received practically everything any dad could want after pitching a perfect game against the New York Mets Sunday on Father's Day.

He got a big kiss from his 12-year-old daughter, Barbara, oldest of his seven children, and a bear hug from his attractive blonde wife, Mary.

Both were among the 32,006 fans who yelled themselves hoarse during a five-minute standing ovation for him after he struck out pinchhitter John Stephenson for the final out of his masterpiece at Shea Stadium.

That was Bunning's 10th strikeout of the game and it nailed down a 6-0 first game victory, after which the Phillies also won the nightcap, 8-2, on a combined three-hitter by rookie Rick Wise and veteran Johnny Klippstein to widen their National League lead to two games.

Just As Happy

Proud as Bunning was over the second no-hitter of his major league career, he still had nothing on beaming Max Lanier, who once pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals and now manages in San Francisco's farm system.

The reason he was bursting with pride was because his 22-year-old son, Hal, a pea green rookie, rapped out four hits Sunday, including his first major league homer, to lead the Giants to a 7-3 victory over the Cardinals.

Young Lanier, a second baseman brought up from Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League only last Thursday, collected eight hits in 16 times up in his first National League series. No wonder his pop was proud.

Jack Sanford picked up his fifth victory for the Giants with help from Gaylord Perry in the sixth while Curt Simmons (7-6) was charged with the loss. Lanier homered to start the ninth and Willie Mays connected for his 22nd homer later in the same inning. Lou Brock homered for the Cards.

Other N. L. Action

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston vaulted to seventh place with a 5-2 and 5-4 sweep over Milwaukee. Chicago also took a pair from Pittsburgh, 2-1 and 7-2, and Los Angeles beat Cincinnati in the opener, 4-2, but lost the nightcap, 2-1.

Bunning, who pitched his first no-hitter against Boston while still with Detroit in 1958, became the first perfect game pitcher in modern National League history.

Pitching in oppressive 91-degree heat, Bunning was "saved" by a fifth inning diving stop turned in by second baseman Tony Taylor, who gloved Jesse Gonder's hard smash to the right of second base and threw him out.

Bunning helped himself with a two-run double off loser Tracy Stallard (4-9) during a four-run rally in the sixth while catcher Gus Triandos, who came to the Phils from the Tigers in the same deal with Bunning, also drove in two runs with a single and double. Johnny Callison hit his ninth homer in the opener and 10th in the nightcap off loser Frank Lary (0-2).

Collects Four Hits

Rusty Staub's four hits, including a pair of homers, paced the Phils to their opening game victory over the Braves. Winner Bob Bruce (7-3) allowed 11 hits, including Joe Torre's 11th homer, while the Phils clipped loser Warren Spahn (5-4) for 10 of his 13 safeties.

Larry Jackson put on a one-man show in the Cubs' first game victory over the Pirates. He collected three hits and drove in both Chicago runs while limiting Pittsburgh to three hits for his ninth victory in 14 decisions. Winner Lew Burdette (3-1) and Lindy McDaniel stopped the Pirates on six hits in the second game.

Sandy Koufax gained his 10th victory against four losses although he needed help from Bob Miller in the seventh inning of the opener against the Reds. Frank Howard hit his 15th homer off loser Bob Purkey in the second inning and singled home another run in the sixth. Deron Johnson's seventh homer with one on provided the winning margin for Joey Jay in the first inning of the second game.

McKinley Not Favored

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI)—Charles (Chuck) McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., opens defense of his Wimbledon tennis crown today under threat of disqualification before the first serve.

British Lawn Tennis Association Secretary Basil Reay said he was investigating an article McKinley allegedly wrote for the London Sunday Times.

The Sunday Times announced that McKinley and former American net greats Jack Kramer and Gardner Mulloy had written an article for publication next Sunday. Wimbledon rules specifically forbid competitors to "contribute to the press... during the championship."

A spokesman for the Times said he doubted the article broke this rule. The newspaper said the article would "discuss ideas for brightening lawn tennis and taming the big serve."

The "big serve" was expected to be one of McKinley's weapons when he opens the tournament on center court against unseeded Terry Ryan of South Africa.

The bookmakers and Wimbledon officials both discounted McKinley's chances of becoming the first American to win two straight Wimbledon titles since Don Budge did it in 1937-38. The officials seeded McKinley number two, behind Australia's Roy Emerson.

Mickey Winner

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI)—That ringing sound in the ears of lady pro golfers Betsy Rawls and Louise Suggs is Mickey Wright's cash register.

Miss Wright, who at 29 is an upstart youngster by even Ladies Professional Golf Association standards, is fast closing in on the dollar sign records of the LPGA's elder stateswomen.

Blonde Mickey rang up another $1,500 Sunday to move past Patty Berg among the sport's all-time cash prize winners.

Her one-stroke victory in the Lady Carling Eastern Open here gave Miss Wright a 16-year cash collection of $158,974. That's from 37 tournament titles in her 18 years on tour.

The 46-year-old Miss Berg, who barely got expenses out of her $360 ninth place here, now has won $157,474.

Dallas, Tex., resident Miss Wright now trails only all-time leading money winner Rawls ($164,674, including $290 here) and the semi-retired Miss Suggs ($163,583, who didn't play here).

Mickey's victory at Pleasant Valley Country Club Sunday came by a single stroke on a course record of 220 for the 54 holes.

Fellow Texan Kathy Whitworth staged a Palmer-Method finish with a record 33 on the back nine for a four-under 70 the $970 third prize at 222, blitz, eight on the final 18, gave her second money of $1,200.

Still another Texan, Fort Worth's Sandra Haynie, took the $970 third prize at 222. Carol Mann and Marilyn Smith tied for fourth at 223 and $735 each; and the best that two-time champ Shirley Englehorn could do was tie Mary Mills for sixth at 236.

Yanks Jump into First, Beat White Sox Twice

By CURT BLOCK
UPI Sports Writer

Baseball historians: Not down June 21 as the day the Yankees climbed into first place and circle it for future reference.

The demanding American League champions, off to their slowest start in many a year under rookie manager Yogi Berra, are finally playing the brand of baseball Berra members from his playing days. And they're doing it against their most formidable rivals, the Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox have been absolutely pallid when confronted by the Yankee pinstripes. The futility of it all reached its climax Sunday when the Yanks scored an unearned run in the 17th inning of the American League's longest game of the year to post a 2-1 win over the Chi-sox after taking the opener of the doubleheader, 3-0, behind home runs by Mickey Mantle (13) and Elston Howard (6).

New York and Chicago have met nine times thus far this season with Chicago winding up on the short end every time. But that doesn't tell the whole story.

Scored Few Times

The nine contests have consumed 92 innings of baseball with Chicago scoring a total of 11 runs, an average of 1.20 per game.

Hector Lopez started the Yankee rally in Sunday's nightcap with a one-out double, his fourth hit, and the Yankees' only extra base hit out of 11 in the second game.

Howard and Phil Lutz moved him to third by drawing walks. Then winning pitcher Bill Stafford (4-0) bounced an infield grounder which hit shortstop Al Weis in the chest for an error and allowed the winning run to come across.

Lefty Al Downing worked the first 12 innings for the Yankees and fanned 13 batters.

The sweep of the twin bill, the fifth for the Yankees this season, moved them eight percentage points ahead of Baltimore and into the league lead—the first time this year that they've enjoyed that lofty position. The White Sox have lost 11 of their last 14 and are now in third place, 2 1/2 games out.

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (UPI)—Bronco Rider Pink Petersen led Casper, Wyo., junior college to its second consecutive National Intercollegiate Rodeo championship Sunday.

Sam Houston State, of Huntsville, Tex., roped 870 points of Casper's 1,292.5 and placed second. Martin Ruffeno scored 420 of Sam Houston state's total.

Texas A&M corralled 75 points to tie with Montana State for eighth.

Other Texans scoring were: Bareback bronco riding: H. C. Zachery, Texas Tech, second, 157; steer wrestling: Clyde Kennedy, Hardin Simmons, tied for first, 34.1; ribbon roping: Martin Ruffeno, Sam Houston, first, 35.3; Joe Wier, Sam Houston, third 44.3; and Robb Stevenson, Sam Houston, fourth 44.8.

Clay A Surprise

It had to raise your eyebrows when Cassius Clay wanted out of the ring in his fight with Sonny Liston. He was shoved into action and then weaved and bobbed and danced to an astonishing, almost unbelievable, triumph for the heavyweight championship of the world. Liston lost it sitting.

But there were a lot of big guns trained on the Open championship. Fire-tested guys like Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Bob Charles were looking for the big prize and you don't find them falling to answer the starter's bell.

There was a fellow who made a big bet on Rocky Marciano when the stupid whispers were around that the Rock might be starched by Archie Moore. He knew that nobody ever could get to the Rock. So his heart almost stopped when old Archie smashed Marciano to the floor. Marciano got up, like it figured, and in his anger put out the lights for the old mongoose.

Yanks Jump into First, Beat White Sox Twice

By CURT BLOCK
UPI Sports Writer

Baseball historians: Not down June 21 as the day the Yankees climbed into first place and circle it for future reference.

The demanding American League champions, off to their slowest start in many a year under rookie manager Yogi Berra, are finally playing the brand of baseball Berra members from his playing days. And they're doing it against their most formidable rivals, the Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox have been absolutely pallid when confronted by the Yankee pinstripes. The futility of it all reached its climax Sunday when the Yanks scored an unearned run in the 17th inning of the American League's longest game of the year to post a 2-1 win over the Chi-sox after taking the opener of the doubleheader, 3-0, behind home runs by Mickey Mantle (13) and Elston Howard (6).

New York and Chicago have met nine times thus far this season with Chicago winding up on the short end every time. But that doesn't tell the whole story.

Scored Few Times

The nine contests have consumed 92 innings of baseball with Chicago scoring a total of 11 runs, an average of 1.20 per game.

Hector Lopez started the Yankee rally in Sunday's nightcap with a one-out double, his fourth hit, and the Yankees' only extra base hit out of 11 in the second game.

Howard and Phil Lutz moved him to third by drawing walks. Then winning pitcher Bill Stafford (4-0) bounced an infield grounder which hit shortstop Al Weis in the chest for an error and allowed the winning run to come across.

Lefty Al Downing worked the first 12 innings for the Yankees and fanned 13 batters.

The sweep of the twin bill, the fifth for the Yankees this season, moved them eight percentage points ahead of Baltimore and into the league lead—the first time this year that they've enjoyed that lofty position. The White Sox have lost 11 of their last 14 and are now in third place, 2 1/2 games out.

Colts Wallop Stinnett, Drop Game to Guymon

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor

The Pampa Colts split two lopsided games over the week-end, losing 14-5 to Guymon in Pampa Saturday night and taking a 16-3 win from Stinnett on the road yesterday.

The Guymon game was scoreless for four innings and Pampa led 2-0 at the end of five, but it was Guymon the rest of the way.

Bobby Price opened the fifth by going to first on the pitcher's throwing error and being advanced in a second when Claude Middleton was hit by hurler Bob Schneider. Ray Dean and Jerry Glover singled to put the Colts in front by two.

Guymon used three errors, three singles, a triple, a double and four walks to go ahead 8-2 in the top of the sixth.

Each team scored three in the eighth.

For the Colts, Glover walked and was forced at second on Larry Gregory's apparent double play ball which the shortstop overthrew to first, allowing Gregory to go to second. Terrell's single plated Gregory and Mike Stewart's single sent Terrell home. Price, now a left fielder, tripled off the left field fence to score the final Pampa run.

Guymon scored five more times in the ninth to make the game embarrassing.

Things looked much brighter in Stinnett yesterday as the Colts did a little embarrassing themselves and raised their Tri-State League mark to 3-4.

Merle Terrell singled in the first and scored on two wild pitches to open the rout.

In the second, Pampa sent 11 batters to the plate to score six hits, to take the victory after being charged with the Guymon loss.

All but one of the Colts got at least one hit but Terrell and Middleton would have to be the batting stars. Terrell got five hits in five at bats, two doubles, two RBIs and scored four times himself. Middleton was three for three with three RBIs, three runs scored and two stolen bases.

LBJ and 'Phantom Fears'

When a debater is stripped of reasonable arguments and backed to the wall, he has two ways to go. First, he can admit to having tried to defend an error and thank his opponent for having shown him the truth. Second, he can abandon reason and strive instead to avoid the thrust of the real argument by raising rhetorical questions pre-designed to change the subject a little. Of course, it would take a very unusual person to admit that he is wrong on the substantial question during the heat of a debate. So the more typical resort is to the rhetorical question.

Thus a commencement address at Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania found President Johnson branding the allegation that some government policies endanger the freedom of the individual as a "phantom fear." "The truth is, far from crushing the individual, government at its best liberates him from the enslaving forces of his environment," the President declared.

But then, instead of supporting his position with fact and reason the President resorted to the rhetorical device. He asked whether freedom is subverted through the social security system, the Rural Electrification flood control, or ending bank failures. What the debater has done here is to shift the audience's attention to benefits without regard as to how those benefits are obtained, without regard to the moral cost of their attainment. It is the same thing as saying that the end justifies the means. By the same logic it was said of Mussolini that he made the trains run on time. Yes, he did, but at what a cost!

In spite of the fact that Mr. Johnson's questions divert attention from the real issue, yet it does offer an opportunity to explain how material benefits are often obtained at moral expense. This is an old story, at least as old as the good red potato that Esau bought at the cost of his spiritual heritage. For the sake of brevity, instead of examining all of the good things cited by Mr. Johnson as a defense of bigger government, let us pick the "best" of the lot. Let us look into social

Legislative Swindle

We think it is important to remind Americans of all colors, all creeds and all national origins just what a legislative swindle has been pushed upon them by the Administration in the holy garb of virtue and morality. The Civil Rights Act, passed by the House after some straightening and polishing of its halo and a bit of hemstitching where the stuffing was coming out of its wings, was passed by the Senate with additional efforts at gliding and perfuming to make it sparkle and smell like something it ain't!

And if you wonder how any bill could be bad enough to require renovation, you should know that the tinkers have not been concerned with perfection—but deception. How to make a power grab look like innocuous benevolence was their problem. How to impose a police state on America without appearing to do so. That was done when the Senate passed the bill last Friday which, incidentally was "June Tenth."

Under its provisions, an expanded Federal bureaucracy, with swarms of appointed "inspectors" at the local level, will: Wipe out the authority of the States to conduct elections—not only at the Federal level, but for State, county and city offices as well. Juggle jobs in industry to create employment "balance" among races, creeds and national origins—irrespective of competence or seniority of displaced workers. Tell a property owner or his

U. S. Shifts Lineup in Viet Nam

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Plans are being made in the State Department and Pentagon for a quiet but drastic overhaul of key U.S. officers and civilians in South Viet Nam.

This reshuffle has already begun. Officials and officers have been moved out, new and quite different men sent in. Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland has been selected to replace Gen. Paul Harkins as commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam. Some high officials of the State Department have been working to get Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge brought home and succeeded by a career diplomat. Shifts of Agency for International Development (AID) officials are in the offing.

The belief here is that somehow the higher officials and officers in Saigon have been fighting the wrong kind of war—a conventional European type war—and following the kind of diplomacy that goes with it. They haven't understood the kind of guerrilla war that's going on in South Viet Nam. They've gone too much by the book, haven't been flexible or unconventional enough. "Some very able men just haven't been able to adapt," says one official wryly.

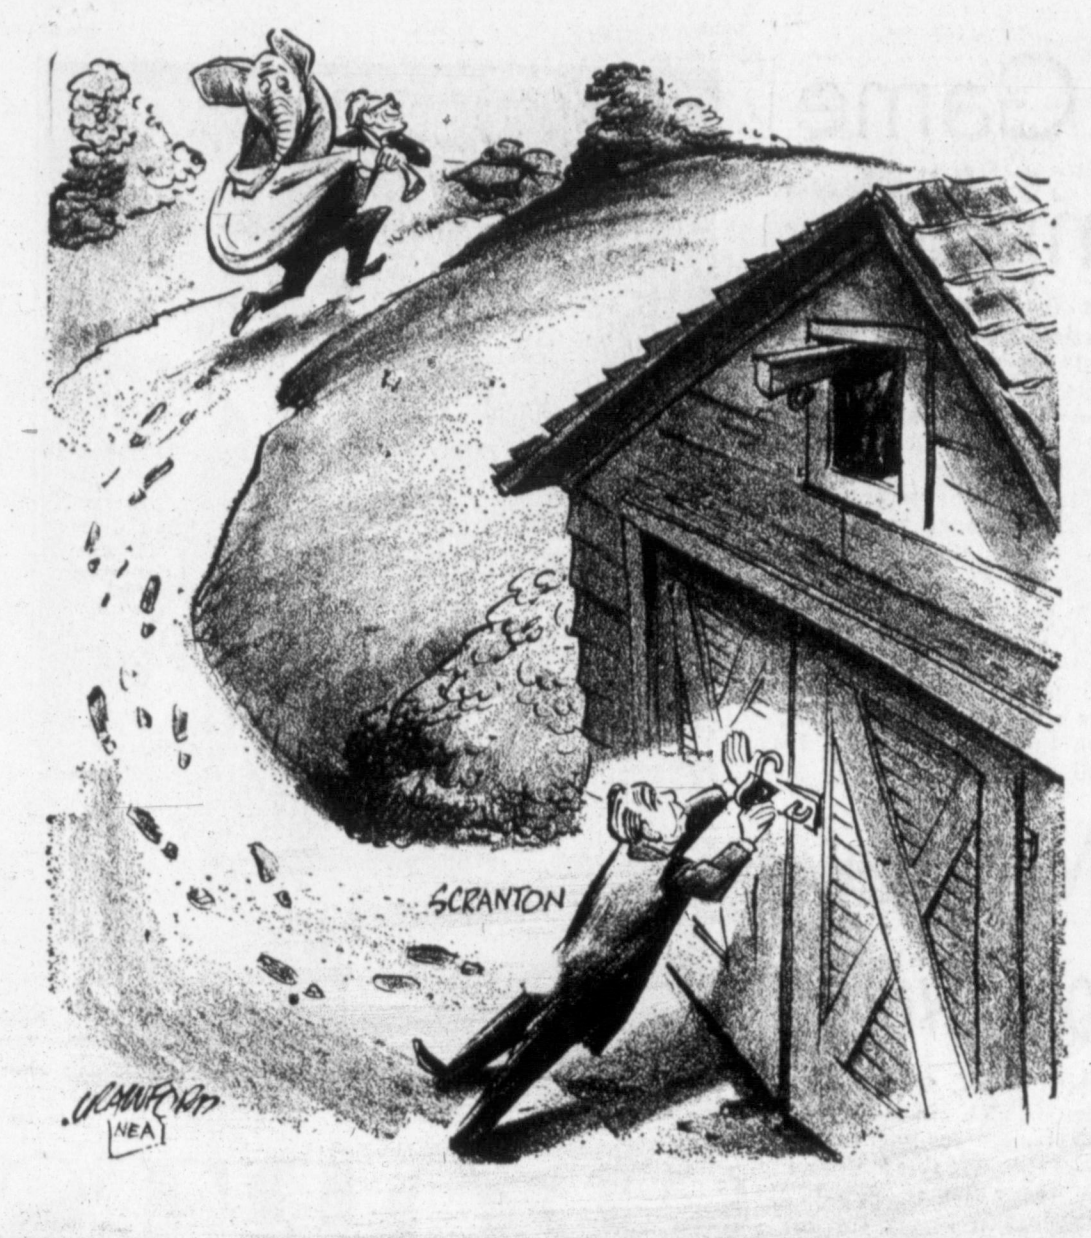

The new and tougher policy is going to be that if an official or an officer doesn't get results, he'll be brought home. Specialists are running tests to determine what type of officer and civilian works best in South Viet Nam. Some very able men haven't made the grade. Others who couldn't get along in conventional roles seem to "find" themselves in this irregular war.

There's another reason for the overhaul. There has been too much pulling and tugging between the military, the diplomats and the AID men in South Viet Nam. In order to make the Viet Nam operation successful, all three groups must work as a co-ordinated team. That co-ordination has been achieved in Washington after some false starts. But it has been slow in coming in the field. This failure is the root of the complaint about Lodge. As U.S. ambassador, he has major responsibilities for making certain that the diplomats, AID men, military and intelligence operators work closely together.

There's strong feeling in the State Department that Lodge has fallen down on that co-ordinating job. As a result, the delicate Viet Nam operation has bogged down. Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh is attempting the same sort of reshuffle among his top general and provincial officials for the same two reasons—inefficiency and lack of coordination. He's having great difficulty. There are powerful cliques in South Viet Nam. Moving some of the ineffective generals could stir up a military revolt against Khanh's government. So he's moving slowly and cautiously. "It's fine if we have the time," says one U.S. official, "but I'm afraid it's running out."

As the second part of the overhaul, more U.S. and Vietnamese officials and officers will be transferred out of Saigon into the field. There's belief in the Defense and State departments that this has been too much of a headquarters war, Khanh agrees. The aim now is to get as many Americans and key Vietnamese as possible into the provinces where the military, political and economic war is being lost.

The die has been cast. Time has run out. The "Civil Rights" bill is destructive of the freedom of all. It can provide no benefits to any—of any color, any creed, any national origin. The number of joints on a rattlesnake's rattle is not a criterion of its age, as is popularly believed. The rattle can be heard as much as 20 yards away. It is believed that the purpose of the rattle is to give warning at a distance to keep the snake from being mangled by hooved animals or from molestation by its enemies.

Johnson Enlarging 'President's Club' Membership With Lure of 'Direct Access' to White House

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The "exclusive" fund-raising "President's Club" set up by the late President Kennedy is taking on a new dimension under his successor. As an inducement to businessmen, industrialists, labor leaders and others to join the select Democratic organization by contributing $1,000 or more, they are being offered "direct access" to President Johnson and his White House aides. Instead of going through regular political channels, club prospects are being told they will be able to deal directly with the President and his staff. Being singled out for special emphasis is the President's intention to "seek the views and recommendations of club members in considering and selecting federal appointees."

Other membership enticements are being listed, but the above are the most stressed. This plain cold-turkey selling is being done by two of the President's principal political lieutenants—Clifton Carter, Tex., among the closest to the President, and Richard Maguire, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee and a key Kennedy hold-over. "I assure you every consideration will be given qualified union representatives in filling positions," Carter earnestly promised. "President Johnson is in constant consultation with labor leaders, and those who join the 'President's Club' will have the same access to him and his White House staff as other members."

In Treasurer Maguire's spiel, he cited other benefits that will accrue to club members. Among them will be invitations to a special reception when President Johnson goes to Cleveland during the fall campaign; admittance to a special VIP Lounge at the Democratic convention in Atlantic City; and attendance by members and their wives at a "midnight buffet" that President and Mrs. Johnson are planning at the convention after his nomination. "I should point out," Maguire added significantly, "that among those who will frequent the VIP lounge will be senators, congressmen, governors and other influential officials. Needless to say, this will afford an exceptional opportunity to become acquainted with them."

So far, the "President's Club" has raised more than $1.5 million. Of that, $350,000 was recently spent on a 24-page color supplement titled "Mr. President. The Office. The Man," that appeared in 14 Sunday newspapers throughout the country with a circulation of upwards of 10 million. The project is the brain-child of a Washington public relations concern, the head of which insists the supplement is "not a political document," although it consists almost wholly of pictures of Johnson with adulatory captions. Of the club's 1,620 members,

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Is a three or four year union contract with an agreement to raise wages each year to the best-interest of the workers and the consumers?"

ANSWER: We do not believe that it is to the best interest of the workers or the consumers for the simple reason that no one knows what the prices are going to be one, two, three, or four years ahead. Wages—and prices should be able to be constantly adjusted up or down so that all the people who want to work can get a job, and thus production can go up.

It is the freezing of wages and prices, made possible by government giving the unions the advantage over the employer, and by protective tariffs, that interfere with prices and wages being adjusted so as to furnish full employment.

For this reason it is not to the advantage of either the workers or the consumers to have a long time union contract. Undoubtedly, the only reason the employers concede to this is to try to prevent constant strikes and stoppage of work, but when you make a concession that is not in harmony with moral principles or economics, it is bound to be harmful. Since no one knows how much inflation or how business will be a year from now, let alone two, three, or four years, it is harmful to tie the hands of either party.

Of course, it is really not a contract because if prices and wages go up faster than the scale, the workers will leave and take other jobs. It ties the hands of the employer but does not tie the hands of the unions. It is like making a contract with an irresponsible renter giving him a long term lease which is binding on the owner but not binding on the renter if he has nothing to collect. If he does not pay the rent, then his lease will be canceled, and the owner is just giving him an option.

This is the way that longtime contracts work. They are a violation of the free market. They prevent a constant adjustment of prices and cause unemployment. Anything that causes unemployment reduces production. And anything that reduces production hurts everyone, because it is claimed between 200 and 300 are Republicans. Club president is Arthur B. Krim, New York businessman, whose offices are being used as headquarters.

FLASHES: — In process of being organized is a so-called nonpartisan Businessmen for Johnson Committee, to be headed by a nationally-known executive. Also slated to be revived is Johnson's 1960 Nonpartisan Citizens Committee that was headed by former Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman. This committee still has a sizable bank account left over from that campaign. Publicity releases about the Kennedy Memorial Library are being received by Washington newsmen in franked envelopes of the Justice Department. Presumably this is being done with the knowledge and approval of Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

The U. S. will have depleted its reserves in uranium by 1971, according to a recent report of the European Atomic Energy Commission, which will leave Canada and South Africa as the world's largest suppliers. Since World War II only 630,000 tons have been discovered in the West. The report says that as nuclear power becomes more competitive demand for uranium will rise, and European nations are urged to buy into the Canadian and South African markets now. There's no mention of anyone helping Uncle Sam in all this. Yet it was his dough and know-how that started it.

Today's smile: An irate wife, berating her husband when he arrived home in the wee hours of the morning, said: "I want an explanation and I want the truth." The husband said: "Well, make up your mind. You can't have both."

Foyles of London is the world's largest bookshop, with a stock of more than 4 million volumes that take up 30 miles of shelves. They maintain a working staff of 600, who handle 9 million letters a year from all parts of the world. The firm sells 5 million books a year. You'd really shake them up if you ordered a book they didn't have in stock. . . . One of the best features of the New York World's Fair are the "picture phones" at the Bell Telephone exhibit, where you can see the person on the other end of the line. Another nearby attraction is the thrill of seeing yourself on color TV at the RCA booth.

The world of electronics will also intrigue housewives who can get a free hair color analysis from a computer. We were fascinated watching patrons at all three exhibits. Thoughts while shaving: Don't know if it was self-supporting, but letters sent by Pony Express cost $5 a half ounce, which was later reduced to $1 for the same weight. The route extended from St. Joseph, Missouri, to Sacramento, Calif., a distance of 1900 miles. Of course they didn't have zip codes in those days, but despite Indian attacks the mail was delivered on time. Today, with zip codes and zones it takes almost as long to get there. . . . For many years a June has been the time for observing the birthday of the reigning British monarch. It all came about to boost foreign tourism (chiefly American). Queen Elizabeth II was born on April 21, but this year she cuts her cake the second week of June. So, if you want to glimpse Elizabeth and Philip at one of the garden parties—hurry to Blighty. . . . Somehow it became an Italian dish, but originally spaghetti was of Chinese origin. It seems that centuries ago a Chinese woman, kneading dough, dropped it and it fell into a crack in the floor, and lengthened out. She picked it up and dropped it in the pot, which resulted in spaghetti as we know

A Republican candidate, in launching his present campaign for the Presidential nomination, said, "We do not want to read Lincoln out of the Party. . . . This candidate may not know or, in seeking to make political hay, did not care, that the great emancipator at Charleston, Illinois in a debate with Douglas, said, "I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races; I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of making voters or jurors of Negroes nor qualifying them to hold office. . . ." This is not to criticize Abraham Lincoln or Negroes, but only demagogues who will misuse the truth for selfish purpose. Horace Houston Republican Minority Leader Texas House of Representatives

Wit and Whimsy

John — I'm going to commit suicide. I've lost my job. I've lost my girl. I've even lost my dog. I have nothing more to lose. Don — Yes: Tighten your belt, you're losing your pants. Fear, if cultivated, will become stronger, but faith, if cultivated, will achieve a mastery. Jack — Wow! What a corker she is! Has she got a friend? Mack — Yes. Jack — Swell. Who? Mack — Me.

Everything in the modern home is controlled by switches except the children. The best way for most girls to keep their husbands happy is to not marry them in the first place. Judge — What were you doing in there when the police entered? Prisoner — I was making a bolt for the door. One good way to get ahead is to make sure you are underpaid.

Optimist — There are two sides to every argument. Pessimist — Yes—and there is no end to some of them. The fastest drivers are young men driving on long trips; the slowest are old women driving old cars on short trips. Everyone likes to see a broad smile. . . . especially if she smiles at him. Boss — Jones, you disappoint me. I've told you that you were seen at a party, intoxicated, and pushing a wheelbarrow around the room. Jones — Why, yes, I thought you approved. Boss — Of course not. PAMPA Business News...

CLEANING — Vogue Cleaners, 1542 N. Hobart, is one place in Pampa that has Drive UP Window and Night Depository for your cleaning needs. The Drive Up window on the left front of the building above, is a real convenient idea. For those who cannot get by during regular open hours, the night deposit drop is indeed most convenient. Vogue Cleaners is literally open 24 hours a day.

Vogue Cleaners Uses Approved Techniques

The key to good cooking is good seasoning. Today, in America, most cooking does not go beyond the salt and pepper stage. But every good cook knows that a pinch of this and a dash of that makes a difference between an ordinary meal and a gourmet's treat.

The same principle applies to dry cleaning. Don't take chances with your clothes. Let VOGUE do your dry cleaning. Thirty years of experience plus national and state association tested and approved methods keep Vogue Cleaners advanced with information on proper cleaning and finishing of all new material and color safely.

Fur and wool storage, suede and leather cleaning, drapes and slip covers cleaned, reweaving and all kinds of alterations, plus waterproofing and laundrying of shirts... all are BATHTUB SAILORS HELSINKI, Finland (UPI) — Finnish journalist Orma Virtanen claimed the world bathtub racing record today after cruising 31 miles in 12 hours aboard a fiberglass bathtub powered by a small outboard motor and loaded with sausages and beer.

Awards Given to Top Saleswomen On Hilco Staff

"Man Is What He Eats" was the theme of a recent meeting of Hilco saleswomen and awards were presented to the winners of a company promotion contest.

Iva Denson was awarded a projector with films and accompanying records for first place. Norma Lee Byars was given a skin care kit for second prize and Millard Bennett's book "The Power of Inspired Salesmanship" as third prize went to Odevern McConnell.

The contest was based on a point system for retail sales, bringing new people to meetings, attendance, signing dealers and distributors.

The main topic of business of the meeting was the National Convention that is scheduled for June 25-27 at Springfield, Mo. The next Hilco meeting will be held June 30 and will include reports and information concerning new national and local contests.

DISPLAYS — Canara Carruth proudly displays a bottle of Lone Star all purpose shampoo, a product manufactured and distributed by the Lone Star Products Co. of Pampa, Texas. Distribution is in 5 state area. This shampoo is Lon Star's biggest seller. It has been marketed commercially now for four years. The shampoo has been well received because of the outstanding job it can do.

Proper Language Use

Children Tend to Develop Speech Patterns Similiar to Their Parents

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Language is a major part of daily life. It is used in writing, speaking, playing, working. Proper use of language is an asset in most any situation.

Readers have asked for suggestions to improve pronunciation, vocabulary, spelling, and speaking voice. Some of the following ideas may be helpful.

PRONUNCIATION

—Individuals learn to talk by imitating the speech of people with whom they associate. Children will tend to develop speech patterns similar to their parents.

Parents can help by using correct pronunciation when talking with their children. Setting a good example is very important.

Children or adults can help themselves by becoming aware of their own speech. They can listen carefully to the pronunciation of people who speak correctly. They should then compare and make a conscious effort to improve their own pronunciation. Listening to one's own voice over a tape recorder is a valuable aid.

VOCABULARY

Extensive reading will help prove an individual's vocabulary. He should make an effort to become familiar with new words.

The average adult learns about 50 new words a year. A definite effort to learn two or more words per week will have an obvious result.

New words can be learned by copying them on a small card, writing the meaning, and using the words in sentences. The words should be reviewed regularly. It is also helpful to make an effort to use these words in daily speech or writing.

SPELLING

You can increase your familiarity with many words through reading and writing. This will help you to spell them correctly. Whenever you have a doubt about the correct spelling of a word, look it up in the dictionary. Examine the correct spelling carefully. Look for unusual combinations of letters, smaller words within the word, or any other clue which might remind you of the correct spelling.

Lone Star Products Moves Plant to Pampa

Several months ago Canara Carruth purchased the Lone Star Products Co. of Dallas, Texas, and is now manufacturing the complete line of Lone Star products in Pampa.

These products include Dye Shampoo Concentrate, Heavy Duty Shampoo for Upholstery and rugs, a complete line of car polishes and many other similar products.

Distribution is five-state wide now, the young company is looking forward to national distribution sometime in the future. Presently many retail outlets already carry Lone Star products and they can be purchased in many local retail outlets. Many families are already using the products, and they know what a fine job can be had from the use of Lone Star items.

The Lone Star Heavy Duty Shampoo for upholstery and rugs comes in a gallon container. Four ounces of this concentrate is used per gallon of water and you have a fine heavy duty shampoo for upholstery and rugs. A shampoo that really does a good job of getting things cleaner and with less work. The Red Devil Dye Shampoo Concentrate for upholstery and rugs is very easy and economical to use. A gallon of this dye shampoo concentrate will make 14 gallons of excellent dye. Unlike other dyes that have unpleasant odors, the Lone Star dye leaves the fabrics smelling clean and fresh.

After mixing the concentrate with water it is a simple operation in dyeing the fabrics. You just apply it with a brush, this method gives you a better and faster job.

Lone Star products are all safe and easy to use. Each carry an unconditional guarantee when used as directed. The all purpose shampoo is easy on the hands. It contains no harmful alkalis. This product has hundreds of uses; dishes, glassware, fine fabrics, floors, walls, windows, mirrors, rugs and upholstery, car washing, oven cleaning, refrigerators and appliances, sinks and bathroom fixtures and many, many other uses.

Canara Carruth has the products at 220 North Somerville at his Carruth's Kar-Redi & Muffler. However the products can be purchased at many local retail stores. Many grocery stores also carry Lone Star products. Next time you're in your favorite grocery store look for the Lone Star Products, or stop in at Carruth's Kar-Redi & Muffler. If he does not have it ask him to get it for you. Carruth's Kar-Redi & Muffler is located at 220 N. Somerville.
