State One-Act Play Title Is Won By Pampa

COMPROMISE ON RACE ACT IS SUGGESTED

AUSTIN, May 8 (AP)—Machinery of the legislature which has throbbed intermittently for nearly four months was stilled today but next week will be thrown into high gear for a final drive toward the goal of completed work and sine die adjournment.

When the end of the general session which began January 12 would be reached definitely, none could say, but most persons expected it to be not long after Tuesday when pay of members, under the constitution, must be slashed from $10 to $5 a day. Some thought it might be May 22.

Whether falling gavels terminating the general meeting soon would be crashing for the opening of a special one was another question none could answer, although conditions laid down by Governor James V. Allred for averting an extraordinary session had not been met by legislature or altered by him.

A suggestion was heard, however, as to a possible compromise on the bitter issue between the governor and a group in the senate over race track betting repeal. The compromise, a senator said, might be suspension of the betting law for 20 months, or until the end of Governor Allred's administration.

Neither the governor nor chief leaders of the senate over race track immediately after the conclusion of the current one unless it took a direct vote on a bill already passed by the house of representatives repealing the wagering statute, enacted four years ago. Later he intimated strongly the provision of additional revenue might be sufficient reason for another session, even if the betting controversy was quieted, unless some new money was forthcoming to meet anticipated increased appropriations and reduce the general fund deficit.

Senator John S. Redditt, chairman of the senate finance committee and member of a committee appointed to work out a tax program from several revenue bills passed by the house, said a meeting of the later group would be held next week probably after the remaining major appropriations bills had been sent to conference.

"There will be time to act on a tax bill after we see what the appropriations total," he said. "In my judgement, there will have to be new revenue if appropriations exceed those for the present biennium by more than 10 per cent."

SCHOOL HEAD PROMOTED LUBBOCK, May 8. (AP)—Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholzer, for the past three years superintendent of schools here, has signed a four-year contract to fill a similar post at Long Beach, Cal. He announced today. The Lubbock school board released the superintendent from two years of a three-year contract to permit him to take the Long Beach offer which was considerably better than could be met here.

Chief and daughter were celebrating with a feast while Mrs. Hurst and older daughter were at Carlsbad caverns with the high school seniors. There was considerable left over until this corner slipped in the back door while the chief was watering the lawn last night. (Don't tell him).

Pampa high school won the one-act play trophy in the finals of the Interscholastic league contest with its presentation of "Cabbages" with a cast composed of Colleen McMahan, Dick Kennedy, Albertine Schulkey and Richard Kilgore.

Second place went to South Park, Beaumont, which presented "The Boor" with W. E. La Forge, Jr., Marjorie Hoffman and Dewey Magee.

The Samuel French award for the best individual performer in the tournament was won by Colleen McMahan.

BOBBITT COMMENTS ON CITY'S GREAT GROWTH

A lasting impression and a pleasant surprise were received here Friday by Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt, of the Texas highway commission, on his first visit to Pampa since 1929 when the Gray county courthouse was dedicated.

"I couldn't help but notice on my trip in here this afternoon," Judge Bobbitt said, "the miraculous strides that have been made by this fast-growing city."

Judge Bobbitt said he was in Pampa on the occasion of the court house dedication and that Friday's visit was his first here in eight years.

Harry Hines, a member of the commission, also complimented Pampa on its progressiveness and paid a tribute to the mall of public buildings here.

Each of the speakers referred to the new Pampa High school auditorium as one of the most beautiful in Texas.

Girls escape injury when car in which they were riding over turned on North Yeager street last night about 7 o'clock. Lois Irene Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster, was driving the car with her younger sister, Frankie, and Naomi Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Snyder, as passengers.

It is believed the car struck a sand pocket while going down the hill near Sunset Drive and went out of control, overturning in a deep barrow pit. The car, owned by Mr. Foster, was badly damaged.

22 Locations Filed In Panhandle

The Panhandle's intensive drilling campaign showed no signs of a let-up last week when 22 new locations were staked by 15 different companies. Completions numbered 15 with a total potential of 6,847 barrels daily, and three gas wells were capable of producing 70,699 cubic feet, open flow.

Gray county led in completions and also in first intentions. Seven of the new wells given potentials by the local office of the Texas railroad commission were in Gray county. They had an open flow of 4,288 barrels daily. Gray county registered 10 of the new locations followed by Hutchinson with six, Carson with three, Moore with two and Collingsworth with one.

The best producer of the week was the Gray County Production company's No. 2 Chapman in section 69, block 25, H&G.N. survey, in east-central Gray county, which was given a potential of 1,522 barrels daily. Pay

COMMISSION'S ROAD REMARKS ENCOURAGING

ROAD TO BE BUILT AS SOON AS POSSIBLE SAY SPEAKERS

By TEX DE WEESE. Like Uncle Sam's mall—the Pampa-Borger road paving proposal must go through, and Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt, of the Texas Highway Commission, told audience of 1,000 highway-minded Panhandle residents here Friday afternoon they could depend on the state commission to "carry the mail."

Judge Bobbitt was the principal speaker at a Chamber of Commerce meeting in the Pampa high school auditorium—a meeting called to impress upon the state commissioners that the people really meant business when they declared the Pampa-Borger road job to be the Panhandle's No. 1 project.

On the stage with the highway chairman and Harry Hines, a member of the commission, and in the audience were official delegations from Carson, Hutchinson, Potter, Wheeler, Moore and Gray counties and citizens from Amarillo, Borger, Dumas, Stinnett, Panhandle, Clarendon, Shamrock, McLean, Skellytown and other communities who made it known that they were there in the interests of the highway and for no other reason.

Assurance Is Given. Probably the most reassuring statement made by Chairman Bobbitt was the one in which he said: "As soon as the money is available and we can get around it, we'll get started on it."

In this same connection Mr. Hines, a member of the state highway commission said in a private interview: "There isn't the slightest doubt but that the Pampa-Borger highway will be built in the very near future. It's need is fully realized. However, announcements of the construction projects will have to follow in their proper and ethical form."

"I also hope that a way can be provided to pave the Pampa-Clarendon highway in the very near future. Money for the Pampa-Borger job will more than probably be secured through state and federal joint funds."

Hopes Are Buoyed. These statements from the two state highway authorities buoyed hope in breasts of officials from the various interested counties, who expressed satisfaction at the attitude of the highway commissioners toward their pet project.

Seated on the stage at the high school Friday afternoon were county judges, county commissioners, heads of civic clubs and presidents of various organizations.

WHEN STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION CAME TO PAMPA

The Daily NEWS cameraman caught several snaps of Judge Robert Lee Bobbitt, chairman of the state highway commission, and his party when they were in Pampa Friday afternoon. The top photo was taken from the balcony of the High school auditorium and shows Judge Bobbitt as he spoke from the stage and over KPDN's microphone.

Seated on the stage are visiting dignitaries and heads of Pampa civic and women's clubs. At the left is a close-up of the genial highway chairman. The other picture at the right shows the party, with friends, before taking off in the Cabot company plane to fly over the oilfield. Dee Graham was at the controls, shown left to right are: Judge Noel McDade of Dumas, Reno Stinson of the Pampa chamber of commerce highway committee, Chairman Bobbitt, Commissioner Hines, W. J. Van London, district engineer, and R. G. Allen, district superintendent of Cabot company.

25 GIRLS ARE ENTERED IN BEAUTY RACE

Twenty-five Pampa beauty aspirants already have entered the beauty contest to be conducted by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce in an effort to select Texas Sweetheart No. 1 at the Fort Worth Fiesta on May 22.

Entrants in the contest met last night in the Chamber of Commerce offices at City Hall for instructions in the local contest which will be held on the stage of the LaNora theater on the night of May 18, just four days before the finals at Fort Worth.

The girl who is selected as Miss Pampa, with her alternate—the second choice—will go to Fort Worth on May 22 to compete in the state finals. All expenses of the two girls on the trip will be paid.

In addition to an opportunity to become Texas Sweetheart No. 1, Miss Pampa will be given a chance to play a role in Billy Rose's Casa Manana Revue, which will be a feature of the Fort Worth show again this summer.

Names of the girls in the Pampa contest will be released within a few days, Chamber of Commerce officials said Saturday night.

C-C Campaign Ready To Open On Wednesday

HELIUM PLANT MAY SUPPLY WORLD NEEDS

A Texas Panhandle industry stepped into the limelight Saturday with the probability that the United States helium plant, seven miles west of Amarillo, may be called upon to step up production to supply the world's demand for that product.

Advices from Amarillo yesterday reported that the interest of the world was being centered on the Panhandle because it is the source of the world's helium supply.

The development that may again throw the plant into capacity operation comes in the aftermath of the investigation of the holocaust which destroyed the German zeppelin, Hindenburg, at Lakehurst, N. J., Thursday afternoon with a loss of 33 lives.

The Hindenburg disaster was caused by an explosion of hydrogen, which is highly explosive and inflammable. Helium is a non-inflammable, non-explosive gas with great lifting power and can be produced at comparatively low cost.

For this reason, German and American officials now are turning thoughts to proposals of discarding hydrogen for helium in dirigible uses. The production of helium in the world is controlled by the United States under a wartime act of 1917.

During the war in 1916 and 1917 the dreaded German zeppelins bombed England and France. Lighter-than-air craft, observation balloons and the giant dirigibles

SAFETY LANE TESTS START HERE MONDAY

MANY ADDRESSES WILL BE PART OF PROGRAM

Pampa's annual Safety Week, sponsored by the Kiwanis club, will get off to an official start Monday forenoon with the launching of a program that will carry through until next Saturday night.

Highlights of the week will be the annual safety lane tests to be conducted by the State Highway Patrol on downtown streets Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and the annual Kiwanis Club Safety play contest to be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the High school auditorium.

The week will include special chapel programs in all schools, radio addresses and talks by safety speakers at the various civic club meetings.

City and county law enforcement agencies are backing the safety campaign and will take part in the week's program.

Having rolled up one of the most impressive records of any city in the state during the 1936 campaign, Chief L. G. Phares of the Texas Highway Patrol has granted the request of Pampa organizations for a return engagement of the Courtesy Motor Vehicle inspection program put on by the flying squadron of specially trained highway patrolmen.

Captain Berry advised local authorities today that final arrangements for the opening of the drive Monday morning. The identical program as held last year will be repeated with the addition of several improved features it was stated.

"The most cordial reception received by the Patrol here last fall when a record number of cars were inspected and the wholehearted cooperation of the citizenship and officials prompted the Patrol leaders in their decision to place the Pampa request at the top of a list of

DUCE BREAKS OFF RELATIONS WITH EDITORS

FIGHTERS FROM ITALY ARE COWARDS, HINT ENGLISH

ROME, May 8 (AP)—Fascist Italy, angered by printed jeers at the prowess of Italian fighters in Spain, virtually broke off press relations with Great Britain today.

An official order banned from the new Fascist empire, now just one year old, all but three British newspapers and recalled all Italian correspondents from London.

Mussolini issued the court order because of "the attitude of nearly all the British press against Italy and Italy's armed forces."

Coming at this time, the order amounts to a semi-official press boycott of King George's coronation Wednesday. Photographs of the coronation are banned and Italian newspapers will print only what terse factual information is distributed by the semi-official Stefani news agency.

The Daily Mail, Observer, and Evening News, all of London, were three exceptions from the ban. Several papers, including the Daily Herald and the News Chronicle, previously had been kept out of Italy because fascist officials considered them prejudiced against Italian policy.

"The action was officially ignored in London, though one official said: 'Really, now, the British Empire will be able to withstand the horrible impact.'"

Government circles said no action would be taken against British correspondents, who will be permitted to remain in Rome. They added the ban would last as long as the attitude of the British press remains "bad."

Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador in London, still is expected to attend the coronation, although this may also be cancelled.

Government officials explained the order was directed against the British press and not against the British government or royal family, although Italian officials said they could not understand why the British government did not bring "pressure" to bear on its newspapers.

Official Italy is indignant about continued British press reports of the Italian defeats in Spain, particularly one widely published in England that Basque fishermen rescued Italian soldiers from the windows of their houses in Bermeo.

CARBON COMPANY ASKS TO BUILD NEW PLANT

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 8 (AP)—A petition of the general Atlas Carbon company, subsidiary of Cities Service, for construction of a chemical carbon plant to use natural gas in the Oklahoma Panhandle has been set for hearing May 20 by the state corporation commission.

The company manufactures a substance similar to carbon black by use of a special chemical process which has been used in one plant at Pampa, Texas, since 1928. The process differs from the black plants where the gas is burned, it was pointed out.

Rubber manufacturers are the largest users of the product, the petition recites.

'Knuckle Down' Boys And Girls!-Marble Tourney Announced!

Boys and girls—yes girls, too—begin polishing up your marble game! There's fun and glory and a free trip to the Pan American exposition at Dallas ahead.

Play will soon begin in the year's biggest playground event for boys and girls of public schools in the Pampa area which includes all the counties in the northeast Panhandle—Gray, Wheeler, Roberts, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hansford, Carson, Hutchinson counties.

To enter the tournament, mibs knucklers must sign an entry blank, found on page 8, and file the entry blank with 10 cents for entry fee with the marble editor of the NEWS or with the American Legion which are sponsoring the only contest of its kind ever held in the Panhandle.

Finals of the tournament will be held during the Top O' Texas Fiesta here during June. Champions in the Pampa school system will be determined in the week of May 16-22. Official rules will be published in the NEWS this week—watch for them.

Commander Charlie Maisel of the American Legion Post will appoint tournament directors in each of the schools in the area this week.

and these directors will be supplied with a set of rules and entry blanks. This is one sport in which all boys and girls have an equal chance to win and smaller schools come into the tournament on an even basis with the largest city schools.

tournaments are those in which all the pupils are given a chance to play for the bronze medals which will be awarded to the winner in each school.

MOTHER'S DAY IS MEMORIAL DAY IN TOO MANY HOMES; SAFETY IN CHILDBIRTH WOULD BE BEST GIFT

By HELEN WELSHIMER

Too large a percentage of the white flowers which appear in buttonholes on Mother's Day are worn in memory of a woman who died in childbirth—died needlessly, men of science say. At this time when we would honor motherhood, we can do no finer thing than to renew our vows to check maternity mortality. When we realize that 16,000 mothers die in childbirth every year in our land, and two out of every three could be saved, we realize the immensity of the challenge that is given to us.

An enviable list of lifesaving discoveries for mothers in childbirth has been presented by medical science in recent years. Doctors have learned how to detect any of the serious complications of pregnancy as soon as they develop. They can do no finer thing than to renew our vows to check maternity mortality. When we realize that 16,000 mothers die in childbirth every year in our land, and two out of every three could be saved, we realize the immensity of the challenge that is given to us.

Yet, every year the maternity death rate of the United States is second highest on the world list for civilized countries. Science has advanced, but we have not kept pace. Battleships Have Been Given Preference

With utter frankness, the Maternity Center Association announces that this seeming paradox can be attributed to the fact that the good care which is every woman's right is limited to the very few. Such care is not expensive, which is why it continues. In New York, it says, this care can be provided for as little as $65, and the cost range is lower in smaller communities.

What, then, has been our difficulty? How have we made Mother's Day a time of sorrow for many who should hold it a day of joy? Briefly, we have been slack in giving the women of the nation a chance to avail themselves of the new knowledge. We have been more interested in the addition of a battleship to the navy than in saving mothers.

Files of maternity clinics bear mute testimony of the fact that women everywhere are reaching out for help as they prepare for motherhood. Frequently they write that they are in benighted areas where no clinic is situated within a radius that they can travel. They are afraid. They don't know what to do or whom to ask.

That situation occurs in America where we bemoan, sometimes, that all our pioneer trails have joined civilized highways and we have no wilderness to conquer today.

Here is a field worthy of our best efforts. Since a survey reveals that tally lower rates of maternity mortality have occurred wherever good care has been provided for expectant mothers through the entire pregnancy period, a campaign to make such a program nationwide is a worthy honor to render mothers on Mother's Day.

New Legislation Looks to Pre-Natal Care
A great public health expert, Dr. Hermann M. Biggs of New York, once stated that within certain limitations any community can determine its own death rate. We, as a nation, can decide our own maternity mortality if we will study our health resources, co-ordinate them, and provide funds for their successful operation.

As part of the Social Security Act, Congress has appropriated $3,800,000 for nationwide maternity education and care. The states must equal the Federal outlay in dollars. Thus, we only can beseech them to take advantage of the generous assistance of the Federal powers.

Some states there are which are keenly aware of woman's plight. There is a bill before the New York State legislature today which would provide an appropriation of $75 toward the expenses incurred for hospital, medical and nursing services for every mother and child. This payment is not offered as a birthday incentive or bonus—merely to better the care of maternity patients.

Such legislation, kindly though it is, is not enough. Good care must begin early in pregnancy when dangers can be sighted and development of toxemia discovered and averted. The National Federation of Women's Clubs has done much, this last year, to prepare communities to keep Mother's Day in a constructive manner, by sponsoring projects to provide suitable maternity care. Such a service presents the most priceless tribute to the mothers of the land. It gives them life—richer, happier, and more abundant. It will keep future Mother's Days from needlessly being Memorial Days.

AIRSHIP CRASH INVESTIGATED BY NAVAL TRIO

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 8 (AP)—

Members of a naval board of inquiry prowled today through the junk heap that was once the mighty dirigible Hindenburg.

They sought an answer to the baffling question of why the German Zeppelin burst into flames and crashed 1,000 feet from the end of its trans-Atlantic voyage, bringing death to 34 of those aboard and one member of the ground crew preparing to land it at the U. S. Navy air station here.

The Hindenburg death toll mounted to 35 when two men, Captain William Speck of the crew and Erich Knicker, an importer, succumbed to injuries today. Thirty-one persons remained in hospitals, two of them in serious condition.

With Captain Gordon W. Haines as presiding officer, the three-man board began a "thorough investigation of all the circumstances surrounding the disaster." Named by Captain F. C. Martin of Philadelphia, acting commandant of the Fourth Naval District, on orders of the navy department, it was directed to "report its opinion as to the cause of the disaster and the responsibility therefor."

Captain Haines said the inquiry would parallel one ordered by Secretary of Commerce Roper. Public hearings in both will start at the station Monday. A third inquest is to look into the death of Allen Hagaman, a civilian ground crew member, was ordered by the station's commanding officer, Commander Charles E. Rosendahl.

Officers announced the reservation would be closed indefinitely. Regular army troops and marines from other posts doubled the usual personnel of 400 to handle 24-hour-a-day patrol duty.

The crumpled, blackened duralumin which once formed the framework of the great skyliner lay in full view of the administration building where the naval board convened. After arranging procedure, the board made a preliminary inspection of the wreckage, climbing through the twisted mass of metal, pointing this way or that, conversing quietly.

With Captain Haines, commandant of the naval ammunition depot at Fort Mifflin, Pa., on the board were Lt. Comdr. Roland Mayer of the Naval Aircraft factory at Philadelphia and Lt. Comdr. Cornelius V. S. Knox of the local air station. Lt. Daniel S. Weintraub was named observer.

The board called today the two senior officers of the fated dirigible who were able to appear—Heinrich Bauer, chief watch captain, and Walter Ziegler, a deck officer. It told them they or any other members of the crew might testify, cross-examine witnesses and attend all sessions. Representatives of the Zeppelin company promised cooperation.

A spectator at the naval board's session was Major R. W. Schroeder, assistant director of the Bureau of Air Commerce and member of the commerce department investigating board. Heading this board was South Trimble, Jr., Commerce Department solicitor, and the third member was Dennis Mulligan, chief of the bureau's regulation and enforcement division.

Germany was to be officially represented at the hearings, German Ambassador Luther naming Lieutenant General Friedrich Von Voelticher, military and air attaché of the German embassy, as his observer.

Theories as to the cause of the explosion aboard the Hindenburg Thursday night, which set the stern of the airship ablaze, remained only theories pending concluding of the inquiries.

A former naval officer, Kenneth W. Heinrich of Keosauqua, reported today that as the Hindenburg cruised over New Jersey before it crashed he saw one of its aft diesel motors back-fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carmichael attended a funeral director's meeting in Mineral Wells the latter part of the week. They also visited his parents in Granbury where they were accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Pauline Becker of Amarillo.

To a Pioneer Mother

By Helen Welshimer

YOUR quiet face smiles down the kindly years, Years that you walked with consummating grace When you with visionary eyes beheld The smoke of future homes blow by your face. In wilderness you reared small girls and boys, You baked their bread and made enchantment live Through tales of knights and tournaments and love There on the plains—and that was much to give!

YOU pioneered, with clear eyes on the stars, That they might have green fields, high hills, and sun, Breathe deeply of the good earth smells and take Into their blood life urge you had begun. You gave them pride in this, their wide-spaced land, You taught them to be brave and proud and free; Now may your daughters' daughters keep the faith With dreams you cherished—this becomes our plea!

BILL OF RIGHTS FOR MOTHERS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mother, it is your turn again—this is, if you only get a break once a year. So we join in honoring you, and in wishing you many happy returns of the Day.

We have in this country a charter for children with nineteen suggestions to further their welfare, but no one has thought to draw up any set of resolutions for the happiness of mothers, I believe.

Therefore, I take it upon myself to inscribe ten resolutions in your behalf. Let us call them "Mothers' Rights":

1. To be treated politely by each member of the family, no matter what mood he is in.
2. To be spared the careless litter of everyone over three years old, and the endless picking up, hanging up and putting away that makes housekeeping doubly hard.
3. To have co-operation in getting the day started and the children out of bed, big and little.
4. To be able to count upon requests or commands being heard the first time, not the third.
5. To receive family favors as consistently as doing favors for the family.
6. To have privacy respected, when you close your door once in a while for quiet and rest.
7. To expect more smiles than glooms, from those around you, few quarrels and general good nature.
8. To feel that the family likes to come home, and stay home a fair part of the time with you, instead of returning to be fed, dressed and quartered, and then hurrying away to spread their charms outside.
9. To be as well-dressed as your children, and find them unselfish enough to make it possible.
10. To take a day, or days, now and then, on a well-earned vacation, during which the family will carry on cheerfully and well, during your absence.

Very possibly we would be looking for Gabriel and his heralding trumpet, if all these things came to pass; they do seem almost too much to expect.

But it should not be so. There is no reason for a mother to be the ever-present background, without moral support, and the consideration and courtesy that are her rights. Every child should learn these things and increase in grace, rather than decrease, with the years. Unfortunately, it is you, yourself, mother, who will have to do much of the molding. To reap your harvest you will have to sow the seeds of generosity and helpfulness in your young from the very first. Their attitude to you will depend largely on their training by you.

Nevertheless, the above are your dues, because they are the very roots of decency. I dedicate them to you especially, because so many families fail to see "mother" as a person, and gravitate into the habits of imposition and carelessness, making her load heavier because they steepen the grade.

TROOP 17 Charles Stephenson, Scribe
The meeting house of Troop 17 does not have lights since the house was moved so the meeting was cut short.

The Scoutmaster called the meeting to order and further plans were made for the summer camp. Troop 21 of Amarillo and a troop of all-Mexican boys are to go. The Scouts will be under the leadership of Father Dewey of Amarillo.

After business was attended to the boys played several games and closed the meeting with the Scout Benediction.
Troop 22 met Tuesday night May 4, 1937. The meeting was opened by Billy Stockstill, with the Scout Oath.

LONDON BEGINS CORONATION CELEBRATION

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—Splendid with the blue, the red, the white and the silver of hunting and flags and bulging with the regal and commoner visitors of an expectant world, plunged tonight into breathless celebration for the coronation of a king.

Tomorrow comes "little coronation day"—and with it a spectacle, even to the immense crowds and a preview of the coronation procession, that will rival in its way the fanfare of next Wednesday—the real coronation day of George VI and his Scottish queen, Elizabeth.

London, sparkling with gaiety tonight, will glow in splendor tomorrow night. The first real test of the floodlighting of public buildings will illuminate such landmarks as Buckingham palace, Westminster Abbey, and the Tower of London, silhouetting the city's clustered roof-tops as a backdrop for a blaze of blue-white light.

Crowds Jam City
Holiday crowds jammed restaurants and theaters tonight. Top-hatted men escorted women in silver fox evening capes in the west end while humbler throngs, many of them visitors from the provinces and abroad, came out to share vicariously in a celebration they could not afford.

The King and Queen left town for a quiet week-end at the royal Windsor lodge, intending to rest for the strenuous week ahead of them. They will attend church services tomorrow, but have made no other engagements.

The final rehearsal of the coronation procession will be held in the early hours and hundreds of thousands of spectators are anticipated. The government grandstands—far beyond the reach of John Bull's poorer relations next Wednesday—will be thrown open for "thruppence" (six cents) a seat.

Coronation officials, aware of the dress rehearsal's significance to many of its witnesses, have paid special attention to the mounted units in order to make it a good show.

Millions of other Londoners who cannot hope to see the real coronation procession Wednesday are ready to put on a parade of their own tomorrow through streets garlanded and decorated at the cost of tens of thousands of dollars.

Even in the somber workers' districts in the east end, now gaily decorated, there are now and will be tomorrow spirited celebrations by pageant-loving thousands.

Shipping Is Huge

service on special schedules. Transport planes from the continent waited long enough only to discharge their passengers, refuel and soar off again.

Final details of plans for the coronation itself, inside the Abbey church, disclosed that the King and Queen will not go hungry after being crowned.

A half-hour luncheon interval was arranged and preparations were made for royal servants from Buckingham Palace to attend Their Majesties just before they start the drive back to the Palace through the streets.

They will not leave the abbey until just before 2 p. m. (7 a. m. CST), although the first part of the return procession which takes 40 minutes to pass, will form about a half hour earlier.

The processions to the abbey—three of them—begin at Buckingham at 9:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m. CST). Most of the peers and peeresses will have to wait almost two hours after the services are over before

DENISON BOY DEBATERS WIN STATE TITLE

AUSTIN, May 8 (AP)—Delegates to the University of Texas Inter-scholastic League meet, concluded here today, moved to include music competition in the already wide scope of events.

They decided to name a committee to study feasibility of band and instrumental events for next year's meet.

Addressing the delegates, Dr. E. K. Frewell of Columbia University urged fuller student participation in school government and activities.

The following winners were announced in today's final events:
Boy's debate—Frank Houghton and Aaron Witz of Denison.

Girl's debate—Anne Clymer and Helen McDaniel of Denison.

Editorial writing—Myrtle Wolfsof of McAllen, first; Bernice Hall of Austin, second; Marian Smith of Marfa, third.

Copyreading—Bernice Hall of Austin, first; Frankie Mae Poff of Abilene, second; Carol Rogers of Navasota, third.

Feature story writing—Alvin Bean of Crosby, first; Nancy Nell Cox of Abilene, second; Frankie Mae Poff of Abilene, third.

GASOLINE EXPLODES AT AUTO PARTS COMPANY

A cigaret lighter being snapped by a boy while workmen were washing the floor of the garage at the rear of the Cobb Parts & Equipment company with gasoline yesterday afternoon was believed to have caused an explosion and fire, according to Chief Ben White.

Several windows were smashed and gasoline on the floor ignited. Firemen strung a line of hose and extinguished the blaze before it could spread. No one was injured. Gasoline was burning on the floor, walls and ceiling when the firemen arrived.

Panhandle Helium Plant In World Spotlight

International attention today was focused on the United States helium plant, west of Amarillo, as possibilities loomed that helium gas will be substituted for hydrogen in all lighter-than-air craft of the future. In the top photo is seen a general view of the Panhandle plant. Left is the laboratory where samples of natural gas are tested to determine if they contain helium. Specially designed tank cars like the one shown at the right are used to transport the helium.

Snodgrass To Speak
Rev. Roy C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian Church of Amarillo, a recognized civic leader, has been secured by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce program committee, headed by Guy E. McTaggart, to be the principal speaker at the monthly luncheon Tuesday. Members are urged to make reservations immediately for the luncheon by telephoning 384. The luncheon will be held at noon Tuesday at the First Methodist church. Tickets will be 50 cents.

The real contact work of the membership campaign will be started with a breakfast Wednesday morning at the Schneider hotel, after which the various groups will take the field and contact prospects in an effort to raise the 1937-38 budget of $15,000.

Talking Points

Chamber of Commerce salesmen will have a varied program to offer these prospects. These salesmen will point to the long time program of work that has been carried on in an effort to get action on the Pampa-Borger-Dumas highway, climaxed this past week in the visit here of two members of the Texas Highway Commission. This project seems to be definitely in the highway program; however, it will be necessary to follow up the work closely until the final contract is let. This will necessitate considerable time, money and man-power.

The salesmen will point to the desire of the legislative committee to be better organized and better financed to more closely watch legislative matters, particularly those relative to regulations on oil and gas that will effect existing industries, in order that Pampa's interests may be safeguarded and advanced.

Take Plan On Program
The salesmen will point to the desire of the lake committee to cooperate with the Panhandle Water Conservation district, at the same time watching Pampa's and Gray county's interests. It is very likely that Pampa will want to send representatives to Washington this summer with those going from other Panhandle counties to push this program.

The salesmen will point to the very effective program that has been carried on for the past several years in goodwill contracts and entertainment of visitors.

The salesmen will explain a comprehensive publicity and advertising program dependent upon the outcome of this membership campaign. The salesmen will touch on plans of other committees including the real estate and building committee, the transportation and aviation committees, the civic, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the retail trade promotion and other committees.

A strenuous effort will be made to complete the campaign this week.

BORGER MAYOR CHARGED IN VOTE INDICTMENT

BORGER, May 8 (AP)—Mayor John R. Miller of Borger was indicted today by the Hutchinson county grand jury on charges of bribery and violation of the election laws.

The indictment of Miller was one of the 24 returned today. Five of the indictments were for felonies and the remainder for misdemeanors.

Miller told newspapermen tonight that he had posted bond of $1,000 in each of the two cases.

The indictments were the outgrowth of a close and bitter city election last month, in which three of the present city commission were returned to office, together with two candidates running on a "Citizens ticket."

The grand jury, in its report to District Judge E. J. Pickens, charges wholesale election irregularities, claiming the result of the recent city election was not the will of the people.

"Yes, I was arrested this afternoon by Sheriff Dan Hardee on two charges, bribery and violation of election laws," said Miller. "In connection with the burning of the ballots I have this to say: "The city commission met together with the election board and interested citizens. We canvassed the returns and found the results to be that C. C. McClelland was elected over A. R. Avery by 15 votes."

Twister Near Here Unroofs 2 Camp Houses

Two houses were unroofed and a garage damaged when a twister struck the Western Carbon company camp southeast of Pampa at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. No one was injured in the occupied house.

The damaged houses were leased by J. B. Shewmaker, plant superintendent, and C. B. Tillstrom, Mr. Shewmaker and his daughter, Miss Clara Lee Shewmaker, were on their vacation when the twister struck. The house was blown away, a portion of it landing on a garage in which a car was damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillstrom and family were asleep when the roof was torn from their house. A portion of the ceiling started caving in, barely missing their baby in its crib, as Mr. Tillstrom pulled it from under the falling material. Some furniture in the house was damaged.

Portions of the roofs were carried 200 yards away from the buildings. Light and telephone wires were torn down and the camp was plunged into darkness.

The twister apparently roared out of the northeast between the J. M. Saunders and the C. N. Baggerman farm homes. It struck at the Western camp and then apparently "look to the air," missing the Merter community where only a strong wind was felt.

An electrical display, but no rain, accompanied the wind.

'GOD'S WILL,' AVERS GOERING OF DISASTER

BERLIN, May 8 (AP)—Germany's highest aviation official ascribed today to "God's will" the destruction of the Third Reich's pride of the air, the Zeppelin Hindenburg.

But, at the same time, General Wilhelm Goering, the air minister who is second only to Adolf Hitler in the Nazi state, ordered rush work on a new Zeppelin. His government sped an investigating commission to the scene of the tragedy at Lakehurst.

The commission, headed by Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Hindenburg's designer, reached Cherbourg, France, by plane to take the Europa for the United States. There are six members.

"A higher power," said Goering, "in a few seconds destroyed what human hands by infinite care had constructed."

"We bow to God's will, and at the same time we face the future with an unbending will and passionate hearts to continue the work of the conquest of the air."

SCIENCE STILL SEEKS CAUSE OF 'BRAIN FOG'

AMES, Ia. (AP)—Have you ever felt "tired and dopey" after eating a heavy dinner?

The reason, says Earl C. McCracken, Iowa State college biologist, isn't because your blood rushes to your stomach after you've eaten.

"As a matter of fact," he explained, "the brain gets more blood than it ordinarily does, for circulation is speeded up greatly following a meal."

He said scientists don't know just what causes the "brain fog" in spite of the fact physiologists for many years maintained it was caused by blood rushing to the stomach.

McCracken added that tests he conducted recently upon dogs showed conclusively "circulation to every part of the body is speeded up greatly during digestion."

The Chicago library circulated 10,378,000 books, pictures and pieces of music to 5,000,000 readers in 41 states last year at a cost of 41 cents to each taxpayer.

wer filled with the gas hydrogen which is highly explosive and inflammable. Soon the enemies of the lighter-than-aircraft were using tracer bullets and sending these ships to earth in a mass of flames. The British government urged upon the United States the necessity of producing helium which could be used with safety in these ships. The U. S. army and navy appropriated money for experiments. At the close of the war helium production was under way in Fort Worth, the gas being obtained from the Petrolia field, which soon exhausted.

At the close of the war, the government did not forget the value of helium and its search led to the establishment of the plant in the Panhandle, where some 50,000 acres contain "enough helium to last a century."

Today, 20 years after the war, the chemist and engineer, C. W. Seibel, who has played a leading role in the development of helium production units, is supervising engineer of the plant west of Amarillo.

Let's say that you have 17 million dollars to bet against one dollar. Will you bet your vast fortune against the one lone dollar that you could pitch this paper into the air and catch it as it falls?

Of course you won't! The odds are all out of proportion to the risk. Perhaps you think nobody in his right mind would take such a chance. If so, you are wrong. Thousands of apparently sane Americans do it not once but many times each day. Only they wager years against minutes.

NEWS TO PUBLISH SIX ARTICLES ON SYPHILLIS; HOW DISEASE IS CAUGHT AND TREATED TOLD

In response to the requests of many editors, NEA presents here the first of six daily articles on syphilis, written by Morris Fishbein, M. D., editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association and author of the NEA Service health column, "The Family Doctor."

Dr. Fishbein has avoided confusing technical medical terms and presents the facts about syphilis in a dignified, thorough, inoffensive manner, easily understood by everyone.

The six articles will deal with the subject in the following order: 1. How syphilis enters and affects the body, and how science has learned to treat it. 2. Congenital syphilis, how it is contracted and how it may be avoided. 3. The dollar-and-cents cost of the disease in America. 4. How syphilis spreads, and some of the things it does NOT do. 5. Treatments and their cost. 6. Proof that syphilis can be wiped out of existence.

Medical men predict that a public educated in the cause, prevention and cure of syphilis can eradicate it in a generation.

This is the first of six informative and educational articles presented by NEA-Pampa Daily NEWS in the nation-wide drive on so-called "venereal" disease. Written by Dr. Morris Fishbein, American Medical Association authority, they present an authentic picture of what syphilis is, how it affects the body, and what can be done to stamp it out.

BY MORRIS FISHBEIN, D. D., Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association.

At last the word "syphilis" coined in 1530 by an Italian physician, has attained sufficient recognition for public appearance in the news prints.

Known to the world for many centuries, this disease gradually has developed increasing prevalence and prominence simply because one of its methods of transmission made its discussion taboo.

If syphilis were transmitted by a fly or mosquito, we could long since have stamped it out. It happens, however, to be spread in the vast majority of cases by contact between human beings, and by a form of contact which itself has been taboo as a subject for general discussion.

Through years of research the medical profession learned that the disease is caused in every case by an organism known as spirochaeta pallida. Literally this means "pale coil of hair." It refers to a germ which appears under the microscope as a spiral germ of pallid coloring. One of these germs is about as long as an ordinary red blood cell.

Imitates Other Diseases.

Were it not for the fact that this germ is susceptible to sunlight and air, and also to fairly mild antiseptics, syphilis might long since have destroyed human life upon this earth.

When the germ gets into the body, it multiplies quickly and gradually invades every organ and tissue. Some germs are limited largely to the lungs, others to the throat, and still others to the intestines, but the syphilis germ attacks any kind of tissue, and it has been said that because of this, syphilis can imitate every other disease.

One of the most famous physicians, Sir William Osler, once said: "Know syphilis in all its manifestations and relations and all other things clinical will be added unto you."

It Can Be Cured.

Until 1903, it was thought that syphilis occurred only in human beings. In that year it was first transmitted to monkeys, and at that time it occasionally has been transmitted to rabbits and white mice. Transmission of the disease to these animals has enabled us to study it on a larger scale and, as a result, has made it possible for us to say that syphilis can be cured.

Cure means not only elimination of the first lesion that the disease causes on the skin, but even the elimination of the organisms and of their poisons from the entire body.

Clearing the germ from the body also halts secondary eruption on the skin, damage to internal tissues and the germ's invasion of the brain. When syphilis attacks the brain, there results the condition called general paralysis of the insane and locomotor ataxia.

Developing Treatments.

The advance against syphilis has depended largely on certain epoch-making, world-famous discoveries. When the organism that causes the disease was discovered by Schaudinn in 1905, a great step forward was taken.

Wassermann's description of the test by which infection can be determined was another tremendous advance.

The final, most significant advance was the development of the product called "906" salvarsan, or arsphenamine, by Paul Ehrlich. This was important not only for its own value, but also as a stimulus to subsequent discoveries which have led to the development of other drugs of great importance in the treatment of this disease.

Especially significant have been the new developments in relationship to the use of mercury, the determination of the germ of syphilis in the brain, and the development of bismuth and heat treatment in more recent years.

The show is headed by Lu Tobin, famous West Coast impersonator.

COMPETENT MEDICAL CARE VS. SELF-TREATMENT

The wise person takes no chances. Consult a competent physician or go to a reputable clinic.

Avoid THE QUACK who guarantees a cure for syphilis, and the DRUG CLERK who wants to treat you.

WALLIS CUTS DOWN ON DUKE'S TOBACCO, SLEEP, HARD LIQUOR

MONTS, France, May 8 (AP)—Wallis Simpson cut down today on the Duke of Windsor's tobacco, beauty sleep and "hard" liquor.

Apparently her royal lover liked it. It also was obvious he did not miss the perfumed "mash mail" that has followed him around in his self-exile since he abdicated as King Edward VIII last December. The notes from "lady admirers" have fallen off to nothing.

Employees at the Chateau de Candé noted Edward's smoking had been cut in half and that he retired earlier than usual.

Mr. Simpson also is said to have suggested that light wine be substituted for cocktails and other hard liquor, and earlier rising for good morning aid.

MAN AND WOMAN JAIL FUGITIVES CAPTURED

CROCKETT, May 8 (AP)—Charges of assault with intent to murder and automobile theft were filed here today against Bee Rains and Thelmer (Red) Banks, who wounded an officer in a jail break here Thursday and were captured in a Fort Worth hotel early today.

Charges of accomplice in assault with intent to murder and aiding and abetting escape of prisoners were filed against Mrs. Martha Etta Rains, wife of Bee Rains.

Mrs. Rains signed a statement yesterday admitting she furnished the gun Rains carried. Sheriff A. B. Carter said at Fort Worth. According to Carter she said she visited Rains last Sunday, learned of his desire to escape, took $7 he gave her and bought a pistol at Palestine. Banks carried a pistol taken from Deputy Sheriff Bill Parker, wounded during the break.

Officers at Fort Worth laid a trap for the two men when they learned Rains and Banks were there today, planning to go to a hotel. The car in which the two escaped from Crockett was found by Sheriff Carter soon after the capture. Both men were carrying guns.

The boyhood home of John Hay—war-time secretary to Abraham Lincoln—was sold recently at Warsaw, Ill., for taxes. It brought only $30.

India's deaths totaled 8,000,000 last year, of which 4,000,000 resulted from fevers, 300,000 from dysentery and 80,000 from plague. Snake-bite accounted for 23,000 and 13,000 committed suicide.

POMPOON RUNS 2ND, REAPING REWARD THIRD

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 8 (AP)—War Admiral, a chip off the old thoroughbred block, ran one of the biggest of all Kentucky derby fights today under balmy skies this afternoon with the second fastest triumph in the sixty-three year history of America's most colorful horse racing spectacle.

The little brown son of Man O War came home in front a galloping, just the way his daddy used to do, after leading from the start to the finish.

There never was much, if any, doubt about the outcome as War Admiral beat Pompoon by two lengths and Reaping Reward by 10 lengths before a near record crowd of 83,000 spectators who acclaimed a new three year old equine king with an ear splitting ovation.

War Admiral, the favorite at approximately 5 to 2, stepped the mile and a quarter under the guidance of Louisville's own Charles Kurtsinger in the remarkably fast time of 2:03 1-5. Only Twenty Grand's smashing 2:01 4-5 made in 1931, surpasses War Admiral's performance in all derby history, dating away back to 1875.

Kurtsinger also rode Twenty Grand so that the "Flying Dutchman" of the turf carried off a full share of the plaudits as he achieved his second derby victory.

Man O'War Nearby Not far from the blue grass farm where his famous sire, now twenty years of age, is spending his "old age," War Admiral wrote a brilliant new chapter to the Man O'War tradition. He was second of the famous line to capture the rich derby, thereby duplicating Clyde Van Dusen's feat in the thunderstorm of 1929.

Despite such bad behavior at the post that he was largely responsible for a delay of more than eight minutes in the getaway, War Admiral broke on top, soon too command, and made every step a winning one. The colt showed his flying heels to the sprinters, Fairy Hill and Heefly and had plenty of finishing power to stand off the surprising stretch challenge of Pompoon and the ace of Mrs. Eikel Y. Mars' stable, Reaping Reward, and "Oldy Duckling," who led the big field of 20 starters, Melodist.

Illness, which confined him to his Philadelphia home deprived Owner Samuel D. Riddle of the satisfaction of seeing his first derby entry race so brilliantly to victory.

Heavily back all day by a crowd that overflowed the historic Downs, War Admiral, in the favorite's role, paid off for each $2 mutual ticket on the basis of $5.20 to win, $4.20 to place and $3.40 to show.

Pompoon, third choice in the betting behind the Mars' entry of Reaping Reward and Military, paid $9.40 to place and $6 to show. Reaping Reward's show price was $3.80.

The victory's net money value to Owner Riddle was $52,050. This was the biggest "cut" in four years as the gross value of the race amounted to $62,575. Pompoon's good showing was worth $6,000 to Jerome Loucheim, Philadelphia contractor, as Quaker city color-bearers ran one two for the first time in derby history. Mrs. Mars had only the consolation of $3,000 for third money while $1,000 went to the Wheatley stable as Melodist, one of the outsiders, ran fourth.

The best derby weather in more than a decade, with a hot sun beaming down upon America's foremost horse racing carnival, contributed to a gala occasion. Vice President John N. Garner, Postmaster General James A. Farley and Alf M. Landon, defeated Republican presidential candidate of 1936, headed a host of celebrities who mingled with celebrities of the Hollywood scene, stars of the Broadway stage, old warriors of the ports arena such as Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, the aristocracy of turfdom and the hardboots of "Old Kaintuck."

65,000 See Races Estimates placed the aggregate attendance slightly below last year's record outpouring of 65,000 spectators.

In sharp contrast to the rodeo derby, today's race was anything but more serious than the getaway last year that marred the fractious behavior of War Admiral and several other colts at the post. Heefly, carrying the colors of the noted Waggoner Brothers' of Texas, finished sixth, two lengths behind Schemeshifter, after showing plenty of early foot but weakening under the fast pace in the stretch.

Here's the complete order of finish, with indicated margins separating the derby field: First, War Admiral, two lengths; second, Pompoon, eight lengths; third, Reaping Reward, three lengths; fourth, Melodist, one length; fifth, Schemeshifter, two lengths; sixth, Heefly, by head; seventh, Delfor, half length; eighth, Burning Star, by head; ninth, Court Scandal, length; tenth, Clodion, 1 1/2 lengths; eleventh, Fairy Hill, one length and half; twelfth, Merrymaker, half length; thirteenth, No Sir, by head; fourteenth, Grey Gold, length; fifteenth, Military, half length; sixteenth, Sunset Trail II, two lengths; seventeenth, Fencing, five lengths; eighteenth, Bernard F., length; nineteenth, Sir Damon, one length and a half; and Billionaire.

Oilers Defeat Phillips 15 To 10 In Game At Borger

Pampa's newly organized baseball team, the Oilers, coasted to a 15 to 10 victory over the Phillips 66 nine in Borger Friday night. The Oilers sent 10 runs across the plate in the first three innings and then nibbled away at the offerings of Wilson, who relieved Hadley, for five more runs to stay ahead.

Manager Fred Brickell sent McMullins, a newcomer, to the mound, although he was nicked for eight runs in 4 2/3 innings, he allowed only six hits. McMullins is in the army, at Fort Sill, and came to Pampa for a tryout with the Oilers. Carl Stewart finished the game, allowing two runs and three hits. One was a home run by Sam Hale, over the left centerfield fence.

Ben McLarry, Herschel McNabb and Eddie Sain were the "fair-haired" boys at the plate. McLarry bagged his second home run of the season, over the rightfield fence, and two singles. Sain came up with two triples, a double, McNabb collected a triple, double, and two singles. Cox hit a triple and Scalling added a double in the extra-base hitting department. McLarry also had a big night at the hot corner with four assists and three putouts.

A home run, double and single went to Manager Hale of the 66 club and Littrell bagged a double and single to lead the hitters. Clark at second base came up with nice assists and four putouts to star at fielding along with Parker.

Green, a newcomer at shortstop, failed to get a chance in the four innings he played after relieving Seaman, who handled only one ball. Green arrived yesterday from Gober where he is superintendent of schools and athletic director.

On Wednesday night Phillips will play a return game here. Manager Hale said yesterday that he would strengthen for the game.

'66' SOFTBALL TEAM DEFEATS DANCIGER 2-0

Phillips and Danciger softball entries in the Pampa Softball association staged one of the best games of the season Friday afternoon with Phillips eking out a 2 to 0 win. Tip Windom scored the first run in the fifth when he singled and scored on Franklin's double. Slim Wilson hit a home run in the sixth for the other score.

John Dewey allowed only one hit but walked eight to be in constant trouble. Patrick, new Danciger hurler, allowed only five hits. R. Dewey caught for Phillips with Herring catching Patrick.

The Sooners jumped into a big lead against Humble and started coasting. Humble put on pressure and caught up with the Sooners and it took two extra innings for the Sooners to take a 17 to 16 slugfest.

Bloom hit two home runs for the Sooners and Tom Perkins, White and Adkisson hit one each. Pettit hit for the circuit for Humble.

Mitchell and Grace were the opposing pitchers with Mitchell finally getting the decision.

Dallas Youth Wins League Meet In Brilliant Running

AUSTIN, May 8 (AP)—The brilliant sprinting of Lonnie Hill today won the 27th renewal of the state Inter-scholastic track and field meet for Woodrow Wilson high school of Dallas.

Hill raced to victory in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the only man to score two first places in the meet, for high-point honors. The 10 points plus two by Robert Fowler, who annexed third place in the 220-yard hurdles, proved the Dallas school's margin of victory.

Tied for second honors and pressing close were Brownwood and Mart with 11 points each.

The stellar performance of Joe Blagg, who ran second to Hill in the sprints, and James Thomason with third places in the shot put and discus heaves, were responsible for Brownwood's high ranking.

Mart, with Billy Gillan winning the shot put at 52 feet, 2 inches, and snaring fourth place in the discus, and Curtis Sandig hurtling the sticks to victory in the 220-yard lows, thrilled a crowd of 3,000 to divide runner-up laurels.

San Angelo ranked third with 10 points and Garland fourth with six. A number scored five each.

Figuring in San Angelo's excellent showing was the work of Harry Hays who was first over the finish line in the 440 yard dash and anchor man on the victorious mile-relay quartet. The relay group included Bobby Mansfield, Billy Holliday and Billy Johnston.

The black-headed all-round athlete shaved 1-10 off the existing mark of 10.4 set by Dusek of Lowake last year in the century and broad jumped 21 feet, 2 inches as compared with the old record of 20 feet 11 1-2 inches by Schranck of Aleman, also set last year.

KRETSINGER AND VOSS ATTEND HOUSTON MEET

Jack Kretsinger, district commissioner of the Texas Softball association, Panhandle division, and E. W. Voss, president of the Pampa Softball association, are in Houston today attending a state association meeting.

Recently Kretsinger was reappointed Panhandle commissioner and Pampa again named the tournament city by State Commissioner Harold White of Wichita Falls. Without warning, Commissioner Kretsinger last week received a letter from a Jack Rafferty of Houston who revealed that he was the new state commissioner and that cities desiring a tournament and a commission appointment should be present at a meeting in Houston Sunday.

Pampa will formally place a bid for both at this afternoon's meeting.

Why Do You Like the PAMPA NEWS?

Says The Housewife...

"I am busy most of every day with my household and my children... but like my friends I am intensely interested in the news of the day. I like The NEWS because I can lightly scan the pages and get the news I want hurriedly. And then when I have time I can read the interestingly written news stories, the society columns, the sport pages and other features, as well as the all-important "shopping news"—the latest announcements by Pampa stores. And then the children... each day I must read the delightful comics, and "I Saw" and "I Heard" to them."

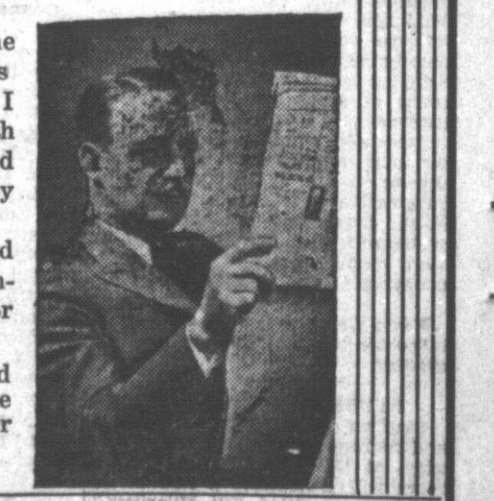

Says The Farmer...

"The farmer of today is as interested in the news as anyone... and he wants the news when it is news. That's the reason I and most all my friends prefer and insist on The NEWS. We know they must publish a timely edition each day to connect with all the trains and busses leaving Pampa, because we get our news in our NEWS long before it appears in other papers delivered in our community. And The NEWS Market Page can't be beat for accuracy, interest and usefulness to the farmer."

The Fastest, Most Reliable NEWS SERVICE in this TERRITORY

Says The Business Man...

"I must keep abreast with the news to keep abreast with my associates and my competition. I have the NEWS delivered at both my home and my office and find it a favorite with everyone of my family. "The NEWS just can't be equaled for complete news service, impartial editorial comment and for accurate market news. PROCLAMATION

May 9th to 15th has been declared SAFETY WEEK in Pampa and each and every citizen should consider each week as safety week as a matter of consciousness and practice. It is well, however, to have a special time for emphasizing the drastic needs for safety and for putting on tests. No person is immune from the dangers of motorized traffic, and each of us should, therefore, take some interest in whatever safety promotion there may be, and,

WHEREAS, the Kiwanis club has conducted a most vigorous campaign for the past three months, endeavoring to educate those who are ignorant of safety rules in driving and curb the reckless individuals who respect neither life nor property, and

WHEREAS, there were 38,500 persons killed in motor accidents last year and that 100,000 more were injured in plenty of attraction for the attention of each and every individual. Safety is a personal matter and the prevention of accidents is a personal as well as a general duty.

THEREFORE, it is a duty as well as a pleasure for me to declare the week of May 9th to 15th as SAFETY WEEK and to ask the aid and cooperation of all citizens in making the climax to a most successful safety campaign.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto signed my name, this the 7th day of May, A. D., 1937.

W. A. BRATTON, Mayor.

ENGLAND IS BUILDING BIGGEST LAND PLANES

LONDON (AP)—The first of 14 giant airliners—some to weigh 20 tons and carry 42 passengers—is building at Hamble.

These planes, to replace out-moded models on European and India routes, are said to be the world's largest land planes.

The European planes will carry 42 passengers by day; the Empire type, with a larger cargo of mails and freight, will carry 27 passengers by day, with sleeping berths for 20 passengers.

ous women's organizations—all there to lend their assistance to the important request just laid in the state highway commission's lap.

Judge Bobbitt and Mr. Hines, with their Pampa appearance, were nearing the end of a two-day tour of the Panhandle which began Thursday night at a banquet in Amarillo where they again were besieged with requests for action on the No. 1 Panhandle highway improvement project.

From Pampa they went to Clarendon where on Friday night they were guests at another banquet. Pampa and Gray county officials accompanied the commissioners to Clarendon. Before leaving Pampa, Chairman Bobbitt taken on an airplane tour of the Panhandle country along the Pampa-Borger highway route in order to get an aerial view of the various oil field industries and activities that are served by this main travel artery.

The trip began in a Cabot Co. plane and the highway commission chairman was the guest on the aerial hop of Reno Stinson, member of the Pampa Board of City Development highway committee.

James M. Collins, president of the BCD, presided at the mass meeting here Friday, and he introduced the various visiting delegations.

Hopes For Reality

Mr. Hines was introduced first. He said it would be a personal joy to him when the occasion came that the hopes of the Panhandle people in relation to the Pampa-Borger road would be a happy reality.

Judge J. Pickens, of Hutchinson county and the 84th judicial court district, introduced Judge Bobbitt. Music for the occasion was furnished by Pampa's four school bands.

The highway for which the much-needed improvement is being sought, today has only about eight miles of pavement over the 28-mile route.

The route has six miles of concrete highway from Pampa west to the Carson county line. This stretch was built by Gray county in 1930 at a cost of $140,000.

Traffic Heavy

Through the northeast corner of Carson county there is an unimproved dirt road which due to sandy soil, is extremely difficult to maintain. Heavy traffic forces Carson county to keep road equipment constantly busy on this 13-mile stretch. Part of the road in Hutchinson county, leading into Borger, for a distance of 3.9 miles, is poor and unimproved. In addition, there is 2.8 miles of pavement, which is in need of repair, and one-half mile out of Borger there is a bad railroad crossing.

Coming to this situation, most of the traffic between Pampa and Borger goes by way of Panhandle, a distance of 50 miles. The proposed route would be 28 miles long.

There is pavement from Borger to Stinnett, a distance of 13 miles. This paving was laid by the county, but later taken over by the state.

From Stinnett to Dumas there is about 30 miles of dirt road not even designated as a state highway.

At the noon luncheon in the basement of the First Methodist church at 1 o'clock, attended by about 300 heads of oil companies, carbon black and gasoline plants, oilfield supply houses and business men, figures showing the large amount of traffic over the highway was presented.

Figures Cited

Dan Gribbon, superintendent of the Texas company, production department, said that he was authorized by his company to ask for quick action on the road. He revealed that his company alone had 92 vehicles passing over the road twice daily and that he estimated more than 2,000 motor vehicles made round trips over the road, not including cars driven for pleasure or personal business.

It was estimated by Lynn Boyd, member of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners association, that 2,000 wells would be drilled in the Panhandle field within the next three years and that it would take 100,000 truck loads of material and 360,000 cars carrying workers to accomplish the work and that most of them would be used on the Pampa-Borger-Dumas road.

C. E. Sturdevant, superintendent of the Phillips Petroleum company, production division, declared that taxable property in the oil bearing counties served by the road exceeded $70,000,000. He also brought out the huge amount of revenue secured from car and gasoline tax.

Supply Men Speak

Emmett Egan, of the Oilfield Supply association, Reno Stinson of the Carbon Black Workers, and E. M. Keller of the Trucking Contractors association, spoke briefly on the need for a paved road between Pampa-Borger and Dumas. G. P. Buckler represented the land owners in a plea for a paved road.

John R. Roby, chairman of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce, presided and introduced John R. Baker of the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce who spoke briefly on cooperation and the shortened distance between Oklahoma City and Denver, Colo. over Highway 41 in Oklahoma and Highway 209 in Texas.

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the Texas Railroad commission was presented by E. J. Danigan. He urged the Panhandle oilmen to bear with the commission in its effort to secure greatest amount of oil from the earth. Chairman Terrell revealed that in the days of open flow production, as little as 26 per cent of the oil was recovered from the Burkburnett, Ranger, Wichita Falls and other fields. Under present methods, he declared, as much as 90 per cent is being recovered.

Terrell Issues Warning

"Do not produce too much oil and deplete your field with intensive drilling," warned Commissioner Terrell.

Chairman Terrell and the commission were thanked for their interest in the Panhandle field and for the raises in allowable by Tom Aldridge, representing Retail Merchants associations of the Panhandle.

"We are optimistic of accomplishing what we have set out as our objective this year," Harry Hines of the highway commission said. "Highway 209 is far behind schedule and we hope to remedy it as soon as possible."

"You good people of the Panhandle will be driving up and down better highways," declared Mr. Hines, who introduced Robert Lee Bobbitt, chairman of the highway commission, W. J. Van London, district engineer, and Tom Payne, secretary to Mr. Bobbitt.

88 other cities now awaiting their turn," members of the Patrol pointed out.

"The number of defective cars found in Pampa this time should be at least 40 per cent under that on the first visit here, it was said. The unit working here will be under the supervision of Hammett Vance, formerly stationed at Amarillo but who for the past two months has been working out of the Austin office in South Texas on the safety feature of the organization's activities.

Direction of the entire program for the district will be under Captain Berry, who has arranged a program to include nine other cities in this district, three of this number never having had a safety program.

Uniformed speakers will also be available for radio talks and lectures before Pampa school students, Captain Berry stated.

The highway patrol safety lanes will be established in the 400 block on W. Kingsmill-av and in the 100 block on E. Tyng-st.

Safety plays will be entered in the contest at the high school Tuesday night by Sam Houston, Baker, Woodrow Wilson and Horace Mann schools. A plaque will be given to the winner. The plays will be free to the public.

The general Kiwanis club committee sponsoring Safety Week is comprised of Chairman J. B. Massa, Fred Thompson, A. J. Johnson, Frank Harris, and Charles L. Woolley.

Club members sponsoring the public school safety plays are Garnet Reeves, Rev. Joseph Wonderly, M. P. Downs, L. N. Atchinson, Raymond Harrah, W. C. Kenyon, Fred Shryock, and R. W. Lane.

Club members Saturday were completing a tour of the city placing safety posters in various business houses.

The campaign will be launched Monday morning also with a radio program over Station KPDN.

'SHOTS IN ARM GIVEN TO PLANTS, TOO, NOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government scientists are trying "shots in the arm" to make plants immune to disease.

Dr. James Johnson of the bureau of plant industry has discovered that tobacco plants recovering from "tobacco streak" have considerable immunity from further infection by this virus disease.

Plant scientists until recently believed breeding was the only way to produce disease resistance in plants.

WEDDINGS AND BRIDAL SHOWERS HOLD WEEK-END INTEREST

MRS. DANIELS IS HONORED BY WILSON PUPILS

Gifts and Memorial Tribute Presented To Principal

Children of Woodrow Wilson school yesterday presented gifts to Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal of that school since it was built, who is retiring at the close of this term to a less strenuous position as grade teacher.

The gift for Mrs. Daniels was a gold locket, inscribed with the dates of her administration. She was also presented a sum of money to be used for a vacation trip this summer.

Patrons and friends of Sam Houston school were guests of the pupils and faculty at a spring festival Thursday evening, filling the new high school auditorium to see and hear a program of music and pageantry elaborately staged and costumed.

Spring Festival Of Pupils Seen By Many Guests

Featured was a dramatization of the Greek myth of Proserpina, goddess of spring. Principal characters were played by Betty Ann Culbertson, Joyce Wagner, Don Lane, Leroy Malone, Joan Appleby, John McColm, Katherine Doyle, Mona Cox, A. L. Patrick Jr., Dorothy Glen Kers.

Dances were by a chorus of Grecian maids, directed by Mrs. L. K. Stout and Miss Evelyn Sulbrock; a winter chorus, directed by Mrs. Sam Irwin; a flower chorus, directed by Misses Lillian Mullinax and Vida Cox and Mrs. Teresa Humphreys; a gardeners' chorus directed by Miss "Tidie Sessions"; and a maypole dance directed by Miss Florence Jones.

The pageant ended with a duet, "Do You Remember?", sung by Mrs. D. R. Brown and Howard Zimmerman, program guests.

Music by the school's Blue and Gold band opened the program under direction of C. O. Croson. Harry Lee Hawkins sang a solo, and Henry Snell played a cornet solo.

An accordion band played with Arthur Nizzi as director. The Blue and Gold chorus sang a number, directed by Miss Ruby Thompson. Girls in the chorus also acted as ushers, wearing their uniforms.

MOTHER'S DAY IS HONORED IN CHURCH PLANS

The first week of the First Methodist revival meeting is declared a success by minister and members. Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Flowers, evangelists, announced an interesting program for the last week beginning Sunday morning.

Gifts for New Home Presented To Mrs. Bowden

Mrs. R. L. Bowden was surprised with a housewarming Wednesday afternoon at her new home, 313 N. Wells. Mrs. Bill Donnell and Mrs. Russell Gallia were hostesses.

Church Honors Mothers

A Mother's Day program is scheduled this morning at Central Baptist church. Flowers will be presented to the oldest mother and the youngest mother attending, and the sermon of the Rev. John O. Scott, minister, will be on "Why Honor Mothers?"

SINGERS INVITED

A message from O. H. Dixon, president of the Potter County Singing convention, invites singers of this county to a program at River Road school, seven miles north of Amarillo on the Dalhart highway, next week-end. A concert will begin at 8 p. m. Saturday, and an all-day convention is scheduled to start at 10 a. m. Sunday.

SHOWERS HONOR TWO OF CITY'S RECENT BRIDES

Tea Is Compliment to Mrs. Snell Last Week

A tea and shower for Mrs. R. J. Snell, bride of the minister, replaced the usual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Matthew's Episcopal church Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Morris Levine and her mother, Mrs. Clark, were hostesses at their home on Mary Ellen-st.

Lovely flowers decked the tea-table and were suspended in a shower effect over another table where gifts for Mrs. Snell were heaped. The bride came to Pampa last week after her marriage at Winston-Salem, N. C., on April 24. She was Miss Mary Hill of that city.

Mrs. Alex Schneider Sr., and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, president of the auxiliary, poured tea. Members of the Auxiliary and other friends who brought or sent gifts were Mrs. E. H. Hamlett, Burns Kingston, W. C. Stack, Kiser, Otis M. Williams, L. L. Lewis, Joe Burrow, Clifford Braly, Tex DeWeese, Tom Bliss, Harry Bettis, S. C. Rogers, and Mrs. E. C. Seaman of Amarillo.

MRS. WARD IS GIVEN RAINBOW PARTY

Gifts at the foot of a rainbow were presented to a bride, Mrs. Doyle Ward, Thursday afternoon when Mrs. W. O. Archer and Frank Carterton entertained at the home of the latter. The honoree was before her recent marriage Miss Verlene Anderson.

Baskets of roses and bridal wreath decorated the rooms where games were played, and a toast to the bride composed by M. C. Cuthbertson was read by Mrs. Harvey Waters. Mrs. Ward was asked to look for a basket of gifts at the rainbow's end, and the gifts she found there were inspected by the guests.

Angel food cake and punch were served. Those presenting or sending gifts were Mrs. H. J. Lofland, E. G. Frasier, Rex McKay, R. A. Baker, W. A. Myers, J. B. Rose, Ed Anderson, Fred Fischer, Bill Kimbrell, E. M. Robb, Waters, D. W. Coffman, Cuthbertson, J. R. Eudaley, Bill Vasey, R. H. Cunningham.

POPULAR BOOK IS SUBJECT OF TALK MONDAY

Human Relationship Theme of the Best-Seller

Called "the only working manual ever written to help people solve daily problems in human relationship," Dale Carnegie's book, "How to Win Friends and Influence People," will be reviewed by Mrs. Hol Wagner tomorrow evening on a program to benefit the Pampa Public Library.

The public is invited to hear the review, at city hall club room Monday at 8 p. m. Proceeds from the admission fee of 25 cents will be used to purchase books for the library.

The book is the best non-fiction seller at present. Its author is a man to whom important business executives go for practical instruction on the vast subject of getting along with people. During the past 24 years he has trained more than 15,000 business and professional men.

His courses have proved so valuable in business relationships that such large conservative organizations as the Westinghouse Co., and New York Telephone Co. have had this training conducted in their offices for executives and workers.

Mrs. Wagner is known to club women of the city for book reviews given in informal, concise, and interesting style on a number of their programs.

Hobbies of Busy Women Discussed In Club Program

Hobbies of busy homemakers may enjoy were named by Miss Donnie Lee Stroop in an interesting program for Frisella Home Demonstration club Friday at Mrs. Albert Lockhart's home. She defined a hobby as "the thing you enjoy most."

Mrs. J. M. Daugherty spoke of the value of a hobby as a means of relaxation and of developing personality through achievement. Each member told of her own hobby, and answered roll call by naming some kitchen task she performs while seated.

A pantomime, "Lady Trying on Hats," was given by Mrs. Roy Tinsley, and a reading, "Mother's Day," Edgar A. Guest, by Mrs. Ira Spearman.

Report of the seventh annual women's short course at Canyon last week was given by Mrs. Norman Walberg. Interesting speakers there were Miss Mildred Hokers, state home demonstration agent; Dr. Jarratt of West Texas State college at Canyon, and Mrs. John Palmore, president of the State Home Demonstration association.

Mrs. Jewel Skaggs Back was present as a guest with members of the club.

MISS BINFORD AND MR. FAHLE WED SATURDAY

Marriage Is at Home Of Bride's Sister At Twilight

A twilight wedding at the home of the bride's sister Saturday evening united Miss Jewell Binford and Mark Fahle in marriage. The Rev. C. E. Lancaster, First Baptist minister, read the ring service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Downs. Relatives and intimate friends of the couple were present.

After Miss Clotilde McCallister had sung "I Love You Truly," Jaques-Bond, accompanied by Mrs. Tom Rose, the couple entered to the wedding march from "Lohengrin," Wagner, played by Mrs. Rose at the piano.

They stood before an altar improvised of fern and flowers over the mantel. Baskets of pink snapdragon and bridal wreath, and candleabra with white tapers flanked the greenery. Other bouquets of the pink and white flowers were placed about the rooms.

Miss Binford wore a floor-length gown of white lace, and her hair was held by a coronet of white flowers. Her bouquet, all in white, was of roses, sweet peas, and gypsophila.

An informal reception followed the wedding. Mrs. Downs served cake and coffee to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Fahle left for a trip to cities of southern Texas, after which they will be at home here. Her traveling suit was of British tan, with yellow and tan accessories.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Binford, formerly of Pampa. She was graduated from high school here and has been employed in the office of the Rose Motor company. Mr. Fahle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fahle of Borger, attended school in that city and has been with the Sinclair company here several years. His parents and sister, Marcell, were here from Borger for the wedding.

Miss Binford has been complimented at several parties since her engagement was announced. She was honored by Beta Sigma Phi sorority, of which she has been a member and officer, and by beginners in First Baptist Sunday school, where she is a teacher.

Latest of the parties for her was a pretty luncheon Thursday, when Misses Clotilde McCallister, Myrtle Faye Gilbert, and Josephine Lane entertained at the Courthouse cafe. Flowers centering the table, a corsage for the bride, and place cards were in honor of the motif.

A gift from the hostesses and Mrs. Finis Jordan was presented Miss Binford. Guests included Misses Wiley Pearce, C. L. Wooley, Downs, Sybil Weston, Pearl Ward, Frederick Gordon; Misses Lorene Nicholson, Minnie Olive Montgomery, Francis Stark, Lois Hinton.

Miss Patterson And Mr. Stark Marry Last Week

Miss Katherine Patterson, daughter of G. O. Patterson of Dalhart, and Curtis Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Stark of Pampa, were married Wednesday at Boulder, Colo. The Rev. Edgar Beckman, Methodist minister, officiated.

The wedding was attended by her sister, Mrs. Bert Price of Pampa, and his mother. The couple is at home now at 1021 Arapahoe, Boulder.

Mrs. Stark is attending the University of Colorado, and will continue his studies through the summer term. He was formerly employed with the Pampa drug store, after graduating from high school here.

Miss Patterson was graduated from Dalhart schools, but has lived here the past three years.

Farewell Shower For Mrs. Autry Given by Class

Complimenting Mrs. L. B. Autry, who will move soon to Palestine, Clara Hill class of First Methodist church gave a handkerchief shower at the church recently. Music by Mary Jo Shelleberger, accordionist, and Mrs. Lloyd Roberts, who sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. R. L. Flowers, made up the short program.

Mrs. L. C. Comillon presented the gifts, remembrances from the class members.

An ice course was served to Misses Autry, Jewel Purvis, Ralph Shine, Ralph Parker, Arthur Hefflin, Roy Pearce, C. R. Price, W. A. York, Walter Bogus, L. G. Lockhart, E. M. Proper, I. T. Goodnight, Paul Clifford, L. E. Hunter, H. E. Vean, H. E. Snyder, Roberts, Comillon, Flowers.

Book Reviewer

Mrs. Hol Wagner, above, was chosen by the Pampa Library Board to review a currently popular non-fiction book, Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People," on a benefit program tomorrow evening. Her book reviews are remembered as vivid features on a number of club programs by hearers who found it unnecessary to read the stories she had sketched concisely. Proceeds of the program tomorrow will go to the Public Library fund.

Art Exhibit of Pupils' Work Is To Be Next Week

Art work of older pupils at Sam Houston school, almost entirely original and creative, will be displayed at an exhibit announced for Wednesday and Thursday. The public is invited to see this work by fourth, fifth and sixth grade children.

Girls and boys who will show their efforts are art pupils of Miss Myrdred Bishop's classes.

Also on display at the school during the two days will be ten large pictures, copies of art masterpieces secured by pupils for sponsoring a showing of famous prints, and framed by a gift from the faculty fund.

Mothers Will Be Guests at Party

Mothers will be entertained by boys and girls of the First Methodist junior department with a tea at the church this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Members of the Clara Hill and Mothers classes will also be special guests.

This tea is an annual event in the department, and members will present the program honoring their mothers.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S PROGRAM A special service including talks, special music and other items of interest, will be conducted Sunday night by the young people at the First Christian church. The program will be in charge of Fred Lamb. The young people's choir will lead the singing.

BANKER AT 11 HE TAKES BABY AS 'COLLATERAL'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Truman O. Woodruff at 11 is a hard-headed banker and publisher.

As president, board of directors, cashier and janitor of the kids' neighborhood banking association, with deposits totaling $196.06, Truman doesn't permit family sentiment to over-rule his sound business judgment.

Asked by his mother for a $30 loan, the youthful financier asked: "What is your collateral?" "All I have is the baby."

A note was duly drawn in which a "baby, four weeks old," was listed as collateral.

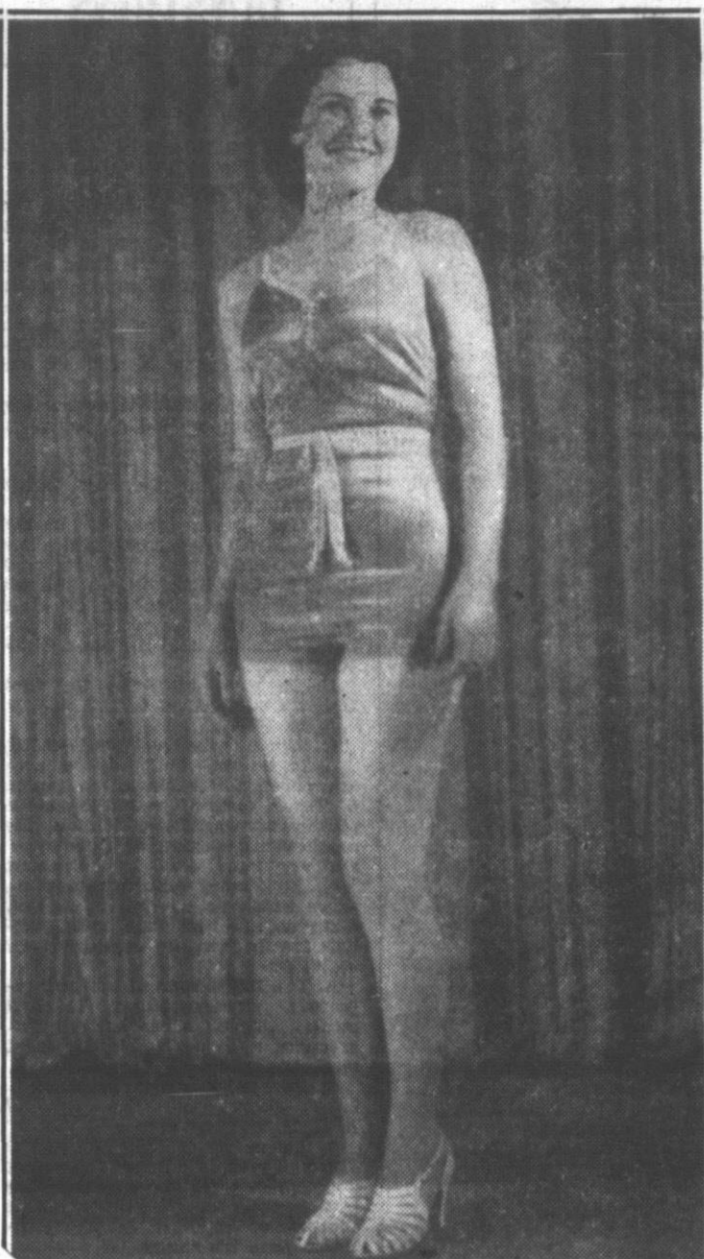

"We make small character loans, say for a nickel, or a dime, and charge 1 cent a week interest," the young banker explained.

When his own deposit in the bank reached $32, Truman purchased a ideas Germans also identify them—equipment and began publication of "The Midget."

His newspaper, priced at one cent the copy, now has a circulation of from 100 to 300.

Truman deposits his funds in a Salt Lake City bank. His father operates a dairy.

'Miss Borger' and 'Pioneer Queen'

Three Pampa judges unanimously selected Miss Pauline Matheny as "Miss Borger, 1937," as the beauty contest held in Borger and later three Amarillo picked her as the "Pioneer Day Queen" of the Guyton celebration. Measurements of Miss Matheny vary only slightly from those recognized on Broadway as ideal for dancers and feminine beauty.

SALVATION ARMY MAINTAINS 10 CHILDREN'S HOMES, HOSPITALS

(This is a series of articles written by Capt. Herman Lambrecht on the Salvation Army. This article is entitled "What is the Salvation Army?")

By CAUT. HERMAN LAMBRECHT.

The two previous articles dealing with special phases of the Army social program have dealt in the main with institutional care which the organization is in a position to make possible as the need arises. In addition to institutions already mentioned there are children's homes and hospitals. There are ten of these in the United States. In the larger centers settlement houses and nurseries are maintained. In addition to the nursery work, there is always a staff of visitors and investigators who render constructive aid in the home from which the children come.

A somewhat new departure from the usual procedure in the doing of social work is the establishing of summer camps where women and children are given vacations. Last year in the United States the general public made it possible for the Army to give 41,334 mothers and children a vacation.

There is being established each year a growing number of boys' clubs. They are contributing definitely toward the solution of the problem of juvenile crime. They are intended for boys who would ordinarily have no better playground than the city streets, and who have not been attracted by or included in other boys' organizations.

The class of relief work that has taken the time of most social workers during the last several years is the local family and the transient programs.

Family relief work is one of the most important and comprehensive of the charitable activities. The manner of its administration depends upon the size of the community. In the smaller places it is handled as a part of the work of the local corps, the officers ascertaining the needs of the poor during their visitation tours and immediately taking care of any existing need.

The transient problem is the newest and most difficult of all relief programs to handle. There have always been men and women on the road but never until recent years has this become such a major problem. Some are just "on the road" while others are really and truly seeking employment. The real difficulty is to decide in which of these two classes an applicant may belong. The first class is the easier to deal with in that a meal and a bed will generally handle the case and the applicant will take care of himself on the morrow and will resent any effort on the part of the social worker to do more for him. The latter class who really are on the road because of necessity present a problem not so easily dealt with.

These folks are handled in pretty much the same way as the local family cases are handled. The case is studied and the worker tries to do the thing most needed. Sometimes work is found locally, sometimes institutional care is needed, and sometimes it is possible to return the party or parties to their home community where work can be secured or relatives can assist.

There are other charities in which the Army engages. There are the Christmas dinners. In the Army this is not looked upon as a sporadic outburst of seasonal activity but as a part of the year's relief program. In some centers there are medical and dental clinics where the deserving may receive proper care. While all of the relief activities mentioned are a part of the general program of the Army the needs of the individual community where the Army operates are determining factors in setting a definite program for the relief activities of the Army.

No matter what the problem that the Army officer has to help solve the following is our guiding motto: "We must be as courteous to a man as we are to a picture—which we are willing to give the advantage of a good light."—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

With his colleagues so frequently divided 4-4 on New Deal legislation, the "baby" of the court shoulders the responsibility of casting the deciding vote in momentous cases.

FORD OPPOSES UNDISTRIBUTED PROFITS TAX

DETROIT, May 8 (AP)—Henry Ford, who steadfastly opposed the NRA to the day it was declared unconstitutional, said today he also would oppose the federal tax on undistributed profits.

He described it in an interview as "ramshackle legislation," enacted by "politicians who are parrots for the international financiers."

The Ford Motor Co., he declared, is the "target."

"The real purpose is to tax the independents, large and small, out of existence," he said. "The financiers want to drive every independent business man to borrow money, to make American business pay continual tribute to the money lenders."

He spoke approvingly of a "changed attitude" he noted in congress toward that and similar matters.

"Congress did not concoct this ramshackle legislation, although it passed the bill," he said. "Now it is trying to see how it can do better."

"If we know where the money is going, if we know anything to lift the national level, that would be different, but the spots where things are not getting any better are the spots where they say the money is going."

"If the government took every cent of Ford profits and used the money to raise the standards of the people, I'd take my hat off to them. That is what we have been trying to do for 30 years. They are not doing it."

"Do you believe the various government agencies succeeded in 'priming the pump' for industry?" he was asked.

"Government money provides no purchasing power and no market for industry," Ford replied. "And it hasn't provided employment, either, else, why do we hear of millions of men still unemployed?"

"Our government does not understand the primary necessity, which is production. We have not enough of anything, and all the politicians can think of is to make it harder for producers to produce."

"The answer to the unemployment problem is to produce more goods, and that is what we are trying to do."

HORSE OUTPOINTS MOTOR. WASHINGTON (AP)—In downright combat, a horse can move a big gun to a new point of vantage better than a motor, cavalry officers have told the house appropriations committee.

MOTHERS receive national honor one day of the year, but every day is Mother's Day in our hearts.

Here's the DRUM-MAJOR of the motor car parade

If you know a leader when you meet one, you'll see the moment you try this sparkling Buick why it's called the out-in-front car of the year.

You'll go for the way it goes for you—serene, steady, gallant as the figurehead on a buoyant ship—you're in for a thrill every time you put it into action.

You handle a wheel that turns as easy as the pages of a book. You press the treadle—and sink inches deep back in the soft cushions with the swoop of its take-off.

You click off miles by the score, the hundred—and no matter how far you range or what gait you travel, you can't get a whine out of that softly whispering engine!

The answer is you've got a car that was born to go places the way you want to go—smoother, safer, steadier than any car you've known.

Power in this flashing Buick is the power of eight straight valve-in-head cylinders. Its gait is the level gait of a car built close to earth with enough bulk to hold it there.

Its maneuverability is the quick mobility of a charger.

Yet the crowning touch of its creators was none of these but the figures they succeeded in writing on its price tag. The hard-to-realize fact is that this great straight eight can be bought for less than some of today's sixes!

There's just one way to get the true picture of Buick's standout value, and that's to drive it yourself. See your authorized Buick dealer soon and get your order in, and you'll enjoy a summer like you've dreamed of!

The Services a Bank Renders

—are part and parcel of the sound policies and efficient methods it practices.

PRUDENT loan and investment policies safeguard the depositor's funds and help earn for him the expense of handling his account. They serve the borrower by restraining him from unwise ventures and guiding him to embark only on sound operations.

They also serve the Community by giving encouragement only to vigorous, well-managed concerns, thereby helping to maintain a sound business situation.

Good banking stays within these real services. It does not seek by free favors, easy loaning practices or other such inducements to gain customers. Observance of this principle is a cardinal part of this bank's management policies in its relations with all customers at all times.

MOTHER'S DAY

Americans are inclined to tolerate or deplore, dully or enthusiastically celebrate the general run of special "days" and "weeks" which are the subject of proclamations every few days.

But today, we will all forget the scientific angles. Today the heart will rule the head when we look at and think of and remember our mothers—as the heart always rules when our individual mothers are concerned.

Nobody has ever written or said the perfect tribute to mother. Yet, men will continue to attempt it as long as they think and feel. Shakespeare time and again confessed he was not able to do the task.

SAFETY WEEK IN PAMPA

Annual Safety Week, sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis club and with the cooperation of all civic and public agencies, was launched in Pampa today.

Churches, radio, newspapers, theaters, schools, civic, welfare and social clubs all will play a part in the week's program.

In the churches today sermons will deal with the safety theme and the subject will be the principal lesson in Sunday school classes this morning.

There will be daily radio speeches, pounding home the principles of safety in the home, street and factory. In the schools teachers will expound daily safety thoughts in chapel programs.

Women's clubs and Parent-Teacher organizations will have their role to play in the educational program that is being climaxed this week at the conclusion of a 90-day safety campaign, inaugurated by Pampa Kiwanians.

Every day of the week will have its safety significance. Safe driving in the city will be stressed Monday, safe driving on highways, Tuesday; Wednesday will be "safe walking" day, Thursday will be "home safety" day, Friday will be "child safety" day, and on Saturday there will be a general observance of "community safety" day.

Safety pictures will be shown in the theaters. On next Tuesday night there will be one of the biggest features of the week in the High school auditorium where the city's public schools will compete in the Kiwanis Club annual Safety Play contest.

The safety first theme also will be stressed at meetings of civic clubs. Safety Week will have its effect on Pampans all next week. The lessons of the week, however, to be of any benefit, must not be forgotten when Safety Week is ended.

Safety is a matter for every day practice and not something to be thought about just one week out of a year.

To become safety-minded is to make your city a better place in which to live—it is protection for you and your children.

THE PAMPA-BORGER ROAD

It appears now that the Pampa-Borger road paving project has entered a stage where it is something more than a wish at the rainbow's end.

After hearing what State Highway Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt and Commissioner Harry Hines have to say about it, almost everyone is convinced that the state body really is going to work the thing out.

It's 50 miles from Pampa to Borger now, if you go the paved route via Panhandle. The short cut when paved will cut the distance to 28 miles. On top of that, the people who live on this route and the great carbon black, oil and gas industries who must use it commercially will be taken out of the mud and off the pumps.

One feels certain, after Friday's meeting with the two commissioners in Pampa, that there is no idle promise in their statements that they will get the job done and get it done "powerfully soon."

Indeed, Pampa and the other cities of the Panhandle are happy over the outlook for immediate action. But—

There must be no let-down in the vigorous campaign until the final contracts are let.

TEX'S TOPICS

"God could not be everywhere, therefore he made mothers." . . . It is Mother's Day, one day in the year set aside to pay reverence to the holiest thing alive. . . . On this day, thoughts go back to my mother, more than a thousand miles away. . . . It has been nearly two years, now, since last I saw her and kissed her goodbye. . . . It is a pleasant thought on this Mother's Day to know that before another month is spent, I shall be on my way back for a reunion with her, back to scenes of childhood days. . . . It is good to reminisce of those boyhood years when mother would go to a lot of extra work to have lemon pie and chicken and noodles on the table just because she knew it would make a boyish heart happy. . . . And, no matter how many guests were on hand, the chicken gizzards always would be served on an individual plate at my place. . . . Mothers are like that.

And, when I go back in a few weeks, it will be just the same. . . . She will see to it that once again I get the gizzards, and there will be plenty of chicken and noodles and my favorite-style lemon pie. . . . These seem like selfish thoughts to have on Mother's Day, but I feel sure they are the kind of thoughts my mother wishes me to have so that's why I got to thinking them, I guess. . . . And, now, just a word for all the mothers who read this. . . . We children too often show a lack of tangible appreciation of the sacrifices you have made. . . . May God forgive us—and bless you!

It now appears that the Texas Highway Commission members have come to a full realization that the people of the Panhandle are desirous of having the Pampa-Borger road paved. . . . They told the audience gathered in the Pampa High school auditorium Friday afternoon that they were going to stress every effort to get the job done soon. . . . That's the news the people wished to hear. . . . Everybody's feeling pretty good over the prospects, too. . . . Pampa had a real turn-out for the big highway meetings here.

Speaking of the two meetings held on Friday. . . . a word of praise should be given to the BCD officials and committeemen who arranged the luncheon for the visiting dignitaries and the oil field mass meeting at the high school later in the afternoon. . . . Chairman Bobbitt said the luncheon was the greatest thing of its kind he ever had attended. . . . The men worked diligently to arrange the two meetings and received a great amount of assistance for the high school meeting from the Council of Women's Clubs. . . . Every civic club in the city had a hand in making the two meetings a success, even in the face of the earlier announcement that the highway commissioners would have to postpone their visit. . . . It was a good job, well done.

And, now for a little look around: Sightseeing at some old Virginia battlefields is being mixed with horseback riding. . . . Fredericksburg battlefield has new bridle path 16 miles long, "the Meade Bridle Path," and Shenandoah and Blue Ridge are also equipped. . . . Klamath Falls, Ore., is a small town, . . . so small that its main traffic problem so far has come from sheep. . . . wandering band of sheep ran out an airport field, making it impossible for planes to land.

Highest marks in Boston College sophomore class are secured by Joseph Butler, a blind boy. . . . Butler, 21, is working his way thru school. . . . he plans to be a teacher. . . . The Transandin R. R., linking Argentina with Chile, partially destroyed by storms six years ago, is to be rebuilt by Argentina. . . . railroad, in highest Andes, has bankrupted three owners because of high cost of maintenance in snowy peaks.

British motorists may soon have to go easy on the horn-toting. . . . the minister of transportation recommends the use of a "phon" limit. . . . "phon" is the official unit by which noise is measured. . . . New York state farmers average eight hours work a day every day in year, state college of agriculture says. . . . college survey also showed that repairs, insurance, taxes and depreciation on average farm are $26 a month.

Two gangs of Scottish workmen are boring a tunnel thru the Grampian mountains to keep a date made two years ago. . . . two ends of tunnel are scheduled to meet in June. . . . five miles of solid rock must be blasted. . . . When the owner of Fido, a perky white poodle, was sentenced to jail recently in North Dakota, the dog grieved. . . . when master went to jail to serve sentence, Fido followed, whimpered until jailer let him in.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY Miss Moleta LeFors was elected sponsor for the Pampa chamber of commerce to the West Texas convention at Wichita Falls. Miss Margaret Schmidt was second in the balloting.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Schneider Sr. retired from management of the Schneider hotel after 16 years, and Alex Schneider Jr. was elected president of the New Schneider hotel corporation.

County commissioners passed an order creating a special road district in the Pampa precinct to make a bond election possible.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY In the Country club handicap golf tourney, Skeet Stewart, Odus Mitchell, and Edwin Viers tied for first place. . . . During the day's matches Marvin Harris shot a freak "hole-in-one," his ball landing in Ivy Duncan's hip pocket.

Glover and Boyington were awarded the contract for construction of the FW&D depot here.

A WATCHED POT THAT MAY BOIL OVER

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There have been many historic and exciting waterfront episodes in recent years which captured New York's imagination and caused an almost unanimous turnout of curious sightseers. The arrival of the Normandy on her maiden voyage tied up traffic and left the town in a dither of excitement for days. Then came the Queen Mary, rekindling enthusiasm and causing much speculation on the race for honors for the fastest crossings.

Neither of these boats, however, at least in my book, holds the key spot in interest. That belongs to the Finnish frigate Soumen Joutsen, a fullrigged throwback to the days when clipper ships were swans which view with the gulls on all major waters.

She came in like a gaudied bird, sails billowed, and she fueled them only when she entered the harbor, resorting to the more responsive control of her Diesels, such being the complexities of berthing a ship in New York.

All the old salts and the sea rovers who sailed in the old days but who now are relegated to life on shore sat around the docks and feasted their eyes on her. She is, really, a Finnish training ship and she carried 184 officers and cadets. It was the first time in history she had appeared in U. S. waters, and the five-day visit was a fitting celebration for the occasion.

Most of the cadets and officers were feted royally, with balls and banquets at hotels and in private homes, but New Yorkers when husbands can see their wives for non-support. . . . At this writing the deluded male is still legally affixed to his blonde affinity. . . . It'll be an interesting case to watch.

Street scene: A man on a bicycle-truck pedaling through 42nd street in the Grand Central district. The truck on the front of the wheel was really a black box, with this legend in white letters: "Bootblack supplies." Not a bad bunch, either. He makes money peddling around town and selling shoe-polish, brushes, etc. to shoe-shine boys whose supplies are running low.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Her picture is in the paper today. The society editor said Mammy's was an Ideal Mother's Day Face. The photographer said some picture magazine might buy the life-size head portrait he made of her. Mammy said she'd sell it, and wondered how much it might bring. She herself reverses the picture of her nearly 100-year old mother who died last January, and cherishes above all else in the world, save the God to whom she prays morning, noon and night, her 7 children for whom she also lives and prays. This she adores her children and her God. Their friends are her friends, their loves her loves. This has been her creed in raising her children: teach them the meaning of Beauty in all its great, exciting variations, and then let them do as they will for when they were little and when they were big she sacrificed to the bone. Her hands became gnarled with work—with washing, with hoeing, with picking cotton; her shoulders became rounded but she made her children stand straighter and taller. The desires of her children were her major passions. If one wanted to sell postcards, pictures, to buy a cheap watch, or a doll with eyes that would close and shut, or a pony, or a knife, she helped to the limit. Even the selling of chickens, or her calf. . . . Even now she asks only the privilege of waiting on her children. . . . Today and for a week to come the greatest happiness that could come to her would be for the church to be crowded for the revival, and today if all those young boys who fill her house night and day would go to church, she will be happy—and they have promised her they will go. For to her the great men who walk on earth are the preachers—all preachers. She makes no distinction. Thus sacrificing and praying and serving those she loves, she is the Typical Mother—as all mothers are the Typical Mother.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBEN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Every day is a threat-letter day in Hollywood. You have read about those that came to Ginger Rogers, to Clark Gable, Shirley Temple, Jane Withers, and Anna May Wong, but of the majority you never hear. The stars themselves don't say a word. At one studio alone it is estimated that the star family receives at least 100 "threats" a week. These arrive in the regular flow of fan mail, are turned over to studio police for scrutiny, and most of them tossed aside as silliness. Those about which there is any doubt are investigated quietly, and occasionally one gets into the headlines.

Often, as in the case of Ginger Rogers, that is the first intimation the star has that she has become the object of some fan's financial affections. The studio protects its people, wherever possible, from the mental strain involved.

Many Are Boys The youthful sailor who broke into print by demanding cash from Ginger Rogers some months ago, was arrested in short order by justice department operatives and is now serving a stretch. The most recent How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

The term pyorrhea means a flow of pus. It is used to describe a condition in which a pus-producing inflammation involves the gums about the teeth, and the bone sockets in which the teeth are fixed.

If it is not arrested, this condition ultimately results in destruction of the gum margins and loosening of the teeth, due to the loss of the socket structures and the membranes which attach the teeth to them.

The specific cause of pyorrhea, assuming there is one, remains undefined. However, we do know of a number of so-called contributing causes, and it may be that these entirely suffice to account for the condition.

Here it is well to repeat the words of an eminent specialist: "A disease of the mouth should be treated as one of the body as a whole, and the mouth must not be regarded as a separate entity, but due notice taken with regard to its association with the general bodily health."

The disease process called pyorrhea alveolaris is divided into three types or stages. These are really three stages of progression and are differentiated by the extent of tissue involvement and by the associated symptoms.

Usually the disease begins insidiously or acutely by involving the structures around the neck of the teeth, that is, the gum and periodontal membrane, the membrane interposed between the tooth proper, and its jaw socket. As the disease progresses, the following symptoms are witnessed:

The gum becomes detached from the tooth and forms a pocket which is partially covered by the overgrown and swollen gum margin or flap. There is deposited on the exposed periodontal membrane at the bottom of the pocket a serious hard mass of tartar, generally deeply colored, dark green or black. There is a general loosening of the affected teeth in their sockets. There is a discharge of pus from the pockets, which may be considerable, or scant, or even absent for long periods.

Pain is an uncertain symptom. It may be very acute, appear in bouts or be entirely absent. Referred pains are more common than local pains. Neuralgias, or pains referred to the eye, ear, nose, face and neck, may arise from this condition.

Ginger-threatener signed his name and address, making things simpler. He was 18. On two separate occasions Shirley Temple "threats" were traced to 12-year old boys. And that is the striking thing about the letter-writers—their almost invariable youthfulness.

Kids, mostly, who want a thrill, or seek notoriety, or just want to be up to something, one peace officer says. "It never does any of them any good—and can mean a penitentiary sentence."

Annoying as the would-be extortionists are, more so are the nuts and cranks and fantastic dreamers who harass the stars in person. Stars get their fame and their money from the fact that their celluloid images are seen by millions. Among these millions are people who get funny ideas—and quite a few who come to Hollywood to put their notions into effect.

It was unlawful to play tennis in England in the reign of King Henry the Eighth.

Preparing For College

A fine service booklet available through the Pampa Daily News Washington Information Bureau tells every prospective student exactly what he needs to know about college or high school matriculation.

It tabulates typical expenses during the freshman year in every type of institution. There are hints on personal budgets and pointers on financial self-help.

A special section deals with the work-related program of the National Youth Administration, which plans to assist a number of college and high school students this year.

Everyone planning to enter college or high school this fall will want a copy of How to Get a College Education.

Enclose 10 cents in coin to cover cost, postage and handling.

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

A professor of zoology in one of the colleges in Oklahoma is giving his students credit in a field zoology course for fishing in some of the Oklahoma streams. That is a very fine thing for him to do. Those students who are fortunate enough to have ichthyology under that professor are apt to learn more about fish than those who have to do all their study of fish through the imagination, and from the text book.

If students were allowed to supplement all their book studies by practical observations their work would be much more effective. No doubt educators are beginning to realize the importance of giving a more practical atmosphere for the student to do his work in. Not only does this practical method make learning easier but it also makes the routine of school life more interesting and less monotonous. Theory is a very useful thing but without adequate practice, it becomes nil.

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

"Nothing is more barbarous," says a character in Ludwig Renn's "Death Without Battle" (Dodd, Mead, $2), "than a class in decline." And this German novel is an attempt to show just how that barbarity displays itself and what it does to people who get in its way.

"Death Without Battle" is another novel about the rise of Hitlerism. It is blunt, raw, and shocking; it would seem quite unbelievable if the barbarities it records had not already been printed in the newspapers.

Herr Renn is principally concerned with the victims of the Nazi terror; with the workmen, the Jews, the Communists, and the ordinary, luckless, well-intentioned folk who just happened to be standing where the lightning struck. But he also devotes a good deal of time to the supporters of Hitler—the confused, desperate, essentially well-meaning people who were sold down the river by the dictatorship they had helped to bring on.

It was their fear and their confusion that made Hitlerism possible. They felt themselves trapped and they struck out blindly. In the end they put fetters on their own wrists; meanwhile, they supplied the snags with which cruelty and greed operate.

The book sketches in the history of Hitler's rise to triumph with quick, vivid strokes. Its narrative is now and then crude and jump, but the general picture which it presents is unforgettable, even if it has been painted many times before. For Herr Renn is able to write objectively. He not only tells of shocking things that were done; he tries to show how and why they were done. In the main he succeeds, and produces a book that will help you to understand the monstrosities of Nazism.

So They Say:

My fast is over. My trial is ended. I know God is with me and I am not afraid.

—JACKSON WHITLOW, Stopping Oak, Tenn., who fasted 52 days.

Fascism is the irreconcilable enemy of the Soviet Union.

—RUSSIA'S WAR COMMISSAR KLEMENTI VOROSHILOV.

I wanted to convince the Chinese, who are my brothers, that I am spiritually, as well as politically, one of them.

—THE REV. CARL M. HENSLEY, missionary, renouncing American citizenship to become a citizen of China.

We must concentrate all our genius on wrestling from this Germany of ours what the country needs to live.

—ADOLF HITLER.

SCENES IN HINDENBURG DISASTER--AND OTHER PICTURES

All that was left of the Hindenburg. The tangled wreckage of the ship is shown with the flames lapping about the girders. —Acme Telephoto

As the Hindenburg exploded at Lakehurst, N. J., last night, an Acme telephoto photographer—his camera focused on the mammoth dirigible—snapped the above picture, one of the most remarkable news shots ever taken. The airship was dropping her lines to be hauled into the navy mooring mast, and photographers were following a routine assignment. Suddenly the explosion demolished an entire section of the dirigible's structure and the "flying hotel" burst into a mass of flame. Rushed to New York, this picture was sped across the continent by Telephoto to appear here with news of the disaster.

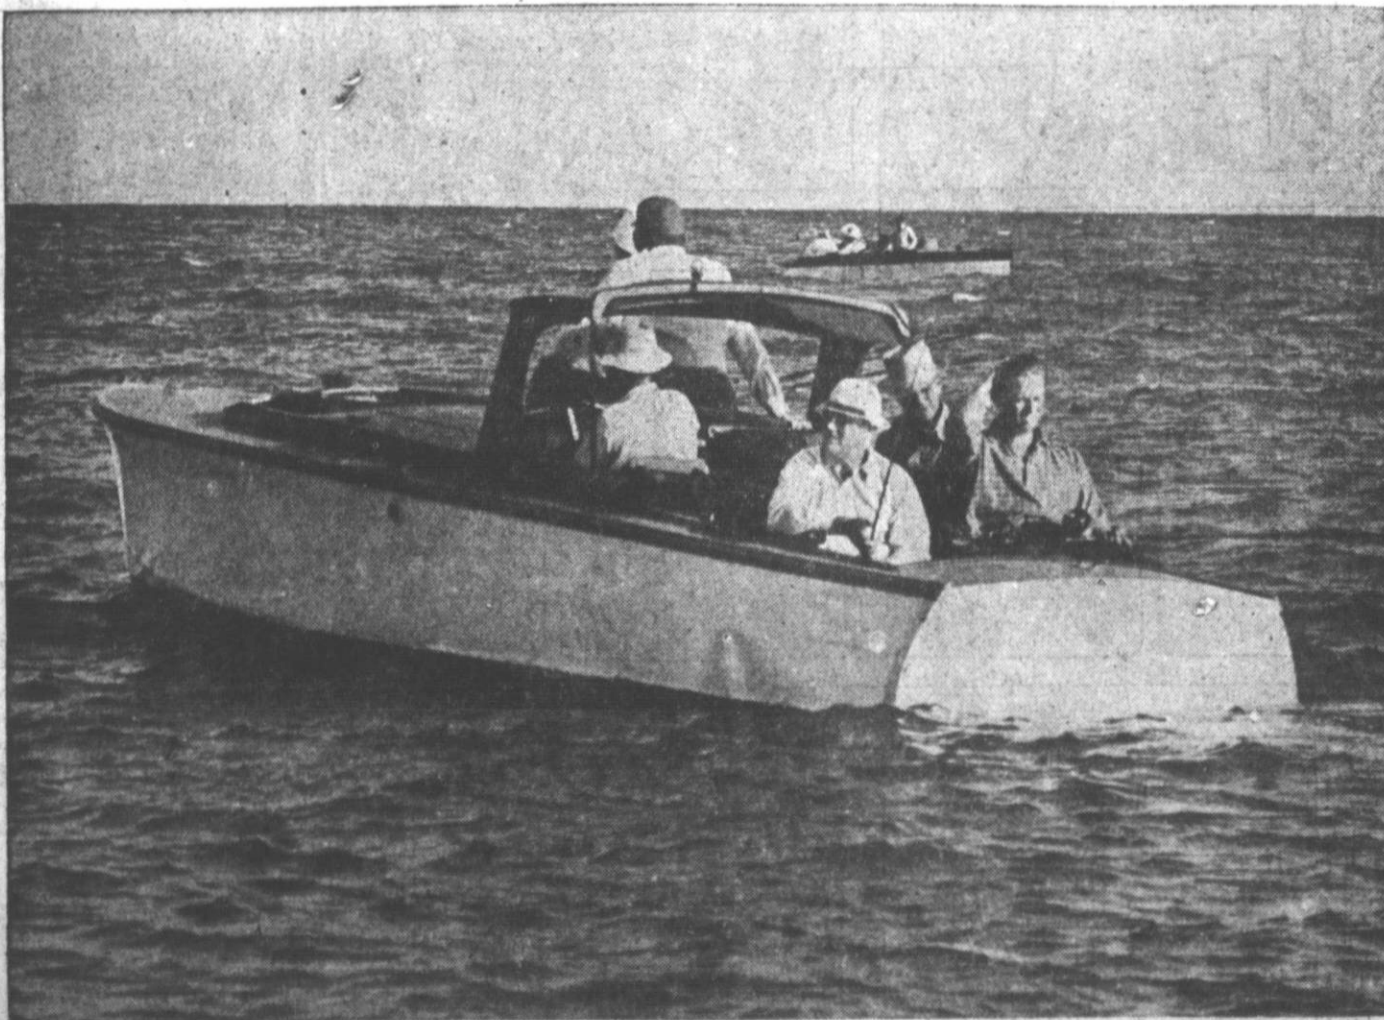

Shocked beyond speech — terribly injured—this survivor of the Hindenburg disaster is being given first aid on the spot. His face reveals his injuries. The expression on the face of the spectators holding him reflects the horror experienced by those who saw death drop from the skies — Copyright 1935 by the News Syndicate Co. —Acme Telephoto

President Roosevelt Fishes Off Texas Coast

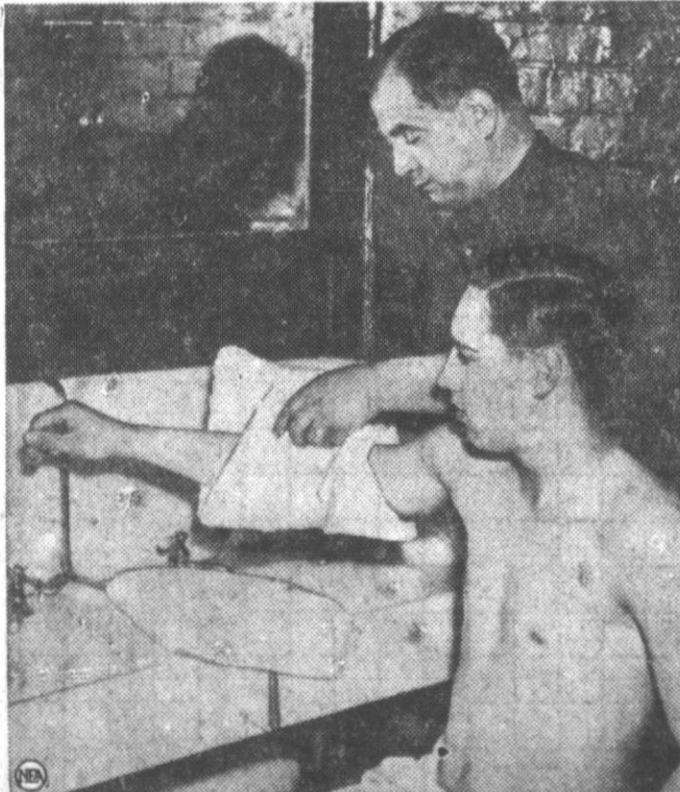

Here's President Roosevelt as he trolled for tarpon off Fort Aransas, Texas, on his fishing vacation. Beside him is Elliott Roosevelt, his son who lives in Fort Worth and joined him for his fishing excursion in the Gulf. The President caught one tarpon off the Aransas Pass jetties, fished for a day off Fort Isabel and then returned to Aransas Pass. (Photo by Frederick McGregor for NEA Service.)

Shopgirl Bride for Spreckels

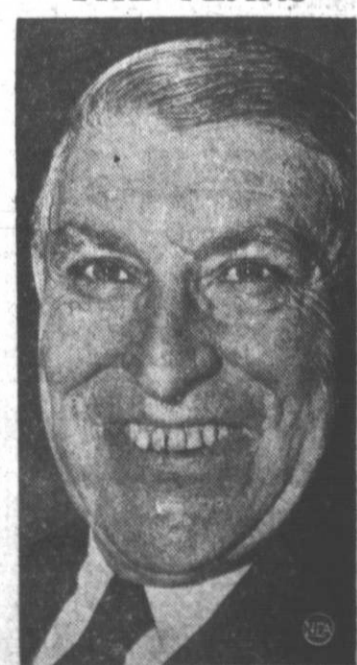

Pert Jane E. Turner, above, stepped from a San Diego, Cal., hotel gift shop toward a life of riches when she said "yes" to Claus Spreckels, Jr., heir to the vast Spreckels' fortune. Plans after their San Diego wedding included a honeymoon voyage to New York, then to their future home in Coronado.

ARMING HIM FOR DUTY

No arm gets more tender treatment or attention than the million dollar wing belonging to Master Robert Feller, sensational young strikeout artist of the Cleveland Indians. Trainer Lefty Weisman applies hot towels to the speedball pitcher's arm to bake out the soreness. Feller strained his arm in his first start of the campaign. The Iowa farm boy struck out 11 St. Louis Browns in six innings.

LAUGHING OFF THE YEARS

Advancing years hold no terrors for Justice Owen J. Roberts, youngest member of the United States Supreme Court. The smile that wreathes his whole face tells of his 62nd birthday hope to spend many more years on the high bench, no matter what Congress does in the way of limiting the ages of justices.

AFRAID to Love

Chapter XVI Norton was in the office again on Wednesday. Joan shuddered now every time she saw the man. Bob was right; he was a horrible person. But his presence was even more terrifying to her. He was another link in the past, and she could not breathe easily again until he was on his way back to California.

Over and over, she had persuaded herself that his discussion with Mr. Hendry of Jeremiah Jordan's murder meant nothing. Ten years ago, the Jordan case was a sensation in California. Nobody knew that better than she did. Certainly, then, it was not incredible that two old Californians should talk it over. Particularly if they had known Jeremiah Hendry. She did not tell Dorothy about it at home. There was no point in bringing unnecessary ugly details into their life. Forget it. Dorothy would say. And forget it she must. Nothing could matter now. Nothing.

"Good-bye before noon, Mr. Hendry brought the man over to her desk. "Mr. Norton wants to make a few changes in some of the terms of that agreement," he said to Joan. "Think you can go over it with him?"

"Of course." "Good-bye. I have a luncheon appointment with my lawyer. Charley, so I'll have to run along. Miss Barrett will take good care of you."

Norton looked down at Joan, a slight smile twisting his lip. His eyes were expressionless. "I'm sure she will," he said. He drew up a chair alongside of her desk and took out his copy of the Bella Terra sales agreement. Mr. Hendry went back for his hat and coat. A moment later, he stopped on his way out.

"By the way," he said to Joan, "I don't expect to be back this afternoon. If you want a few hours to go shopping . . ."

Joan smiled. "Thank you, Mr. Hendry, I do." He patted her lightly on the shoulder, chucking a bit to himself, and went out. Joan's eyes followed him to the door, and she realized for the thousandth time how kind he was to her. She could phone Dorothy now; they would have lunch together and shop all afternoon, until their feet ached. Dorothy did not have classes on Wednesday afternoon at the art school. She'd enjoy shopping for bridal lingerie.

Norton rustled the papers in his hand. Joan's smile vanished as she looked up and saw those piercing black eyes glaring through her.

"I can start immediately, Mr. Norton," she said with dignity, her arms and turn into a vampire. But for the first time in all the years she had been working, she felt uncomfortable for being alone with a man. She hoped his work would not take long.

He went through the agreement, slowly, thoughtfully. Occasionally he dictated a paragraph to be added, or changed. As she took down the notes, she could feel his eyes burning into her.

She made a pretty picture sitting there in her simple little black schoolgirl dress with the crisp white collar and cuffs. Through the window a sunbeam entered, and caught up the highlights in her golden curls. Her eyes were cast down, intent upon her notes, and their long dark lashes seemed to rest on the velvet of her cheeks—clouds which were a little pink now with a flush of embarrassment. Norton regarded her with undisguised appreciation.

After ten or fifteen minutes, he laid the papers deliberately aside. He noticed that the tiny clock on her desk marked the hour for tea.

"It's twelve o'clock," he remarked. "I'm keeping you from your lunch."

"That's quite all right," Joan assured him, her tone crisp and businesslike. "I think it would be very much nicer if I took you to lunch. We could return later and finish this."

Joan started, uneasily. "I'm very sorry," she stammered. "I can't—not today."

Norton smiled again. "I distinctly heard Mr. Hendry tell you to take the afternoon off. Why can't we spend it together?"

"I—I have an engagement." "Don't tell me that!" He laughed at her, waving aside her excuses. "How can you have an engagement when you just learned a moment ago that you would be free?"

He rose carelessly, walked over to the window and pointed outdoors. "It's too perfect an afternoon to waste in an office," he commented. "And I'm a stranger in your city. Surely you could show me a little hospitality."

He returned to his chair, and as he passed in back of Joan, he too dropped his hand to pat her shoulder. But in his manner of doing it there was none of the fatherly kindness which Mr. Hendry's similar action had denoted. Norton's touch on her shoulder was deliberate, purposeful, and unpleasant. Joan writhed under it.

Joan's nerves were quivering. She couldn't fool this man. His eyes saw too much. Even now they were probing, seeking, wondering what caused her hesitation. Was he tormenting her, knowing full well who her father was? With all the strength of will she smiled, to answer lightly.

"I imagine my father stayed in Sacramento but long enough for me to join his family. . . . I really came from a long line of gypsies. California was just one more stopping off place."

(To Be Continued) BOAR RUNNING PROVIDES THRILL AS RANCH SPORT DEL MONTE Calif. (AP)—Peaceful Monterey county has recently become the habitat of one of the most vicious of game animals—the wild boar.

Imported from Russia only ten years ago by George Gordon Moore and liberated on his ranch, the boars have found the low, forested mountains to their liking and multiplied. Artists from Carmel or guests at swanky Del Monte can now find some rather dangerous hunting if they go look for it.

"The Monterey porker is a dangerous foe when enraged," says the state fish and game department. "It can kill a mountain lion in short order."

A boar killed recently by Charles Bentley weighed nearly 400 pounds and had tusks 9 3/4 inches long, just one-eighth inch less than the official world record boar.

Hunting is rigidly restricted by private landowners through most of the boar's habitat, and their only natural enemies are roving bands of coyotes. As a result the herds are increasing rapidly.

DOOMED MAN REGAINS HEALTH IN 'CANINOBLE' ALBUQUERQUE N. M. (AP)—Karl Lindauer saved his life with his "caninoble," a dog-garden home on wheels.

When physicians in Asheville, N. C., in 1931 gave him only a year to live, Lindauer decided to seek health on the highways of the southwest.

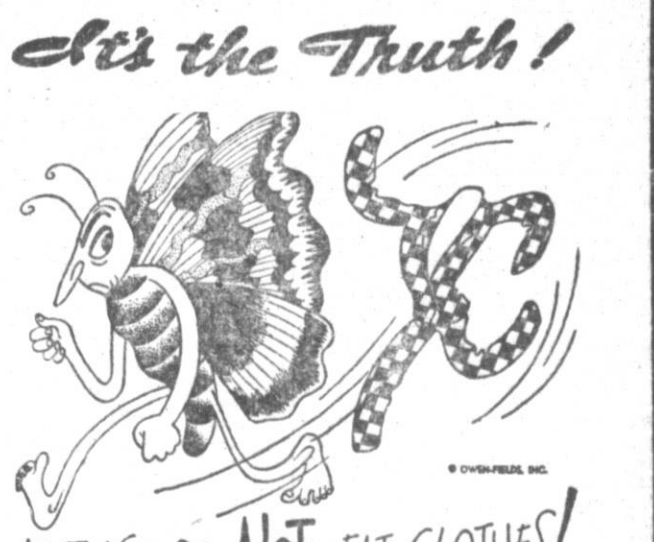

He set out in a coaster-type wagon pulled by two dogs. Now he has a four-wheeled, rubber-tired vehicle with 20 dogs. Six of them draw the "caninoble" while the others ride behind, awaiting their turn to be hitched.

For the last five years Lindauer has traveled in the national forests of Arizona and New Mexico. Today, at 45, he is tanned and robust. He wouldn't trade his quaint vehicle for the most luxurious automobile trailer.

"We travel as much as 18 miles a day," he says. "It isn't as fast as other people go, but maybe I'll live longer than a lot of them."

The tallest known tree in California, a sequoia sempervirens in Humboldt county, covers 664 feet. It has a circumference of 47 feet at the ground.

Practically every portion of the United States has poisonous snakes, though few are reported in certain states in the northeast.

BERNIE AND WINCHELL WILL CARRY ON AT LaNORA TODAY

'DRACULA'S DAUGHTER' TO BRING TERROR

Ben Bernie, the old maestro, and Walter Winchell, his radio enemy, will concert and carry on together in "Wake Up and Live," one of the principal films which will come here this week, at the LaNora theater today through Wednesday.

There is a type of picture for every temperament and every bent. For instance: for art, song, music, Grace Moore in "When You're In Love," at the LaNora Friday; for paths and human interest, "The Great O'Malley," at the Rex today; for riding on the range, Rex Bell in "Men of the Plains," at the Rex Tuesday; for pathos and melodrama, "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," at the Rex Friday; for first-class entertainment, Deanna Durbin in "Three Smart Girls," at the State Tuesday.

For terror and spooks and drama and mystery, one should see "Dracula's Daughter," at the Crown today. Friday and Saturday at the same theater one may see Buck Jones ride again.

AT THE LANORA.

Nine new songs hits by Gordon and Revel, ace Hollywood song-writers who have written many of the nation's leading musical successes, feature "Wake Up and Live," the Twentieth Century-Fox production featuring Walter Winchell, Ben Bernie and Alice Faye, which opens today at the LaNora.

Mack Gordon and Harry Revel, respectively the "words" and "music" of a combination that has clicked unfailingly, have turned out such well-known hits as "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?" "One Never Knows, Does One?" "Without a Word of Warning," "You Hit the Spot" and many others.

For "Wake Up and Live," which carries the Walter Winchell-Ben Bernie feud to the screen, Gordon and Revel contributed "Never in a Million Years," "It's Swell of You," "I'm Bubbling Over," "There's a Lull in My Life," "Wake Up and Live," "Ooh, But I'm Happy," "I Love You Too Much, Muchacha," "Red Seal Malt," and "Bernie's Love Song."

Bernie, a radio favorite from coast to coast, steps up to the microphone for three of the new Gordon and Revel numbers, singing "Bernie's Love Song" and his theme melody in the film, "Red Seal Malt," as well as taking a vocal part in the lavish production number built around "I Love You Much too Much, Muchacha."

GRACE MOORE COMING.

Grace Moore's eloquent singing has been combined with an engaging light comedy by Robert Riskin, screen author of "It Happened One Night" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," in Columbia's newest musical triumph, "When You're In Love," which opens Friday at the LaNora theater. Cary Grant appears opposite Miss Moore, with Aline MacMahon, Henry Stephenson, Thomas Mitchell, Catherine Doucet, and Luis Alberni in support.

Unlike Miss Moore's first memorable hit, "One Night of Love," her latest film vies away from the cyclical romantic-drama with operatic interpolations to present instead a whimsical, light-hearted romantic-comedy traversing the full range of musical entertainment.

Wide Musical Variety.

Miss Moore's musical repertory, for instance, includes such diversified numbers as "Visi Darte" from Puccini's "Tosca" and "One Fine Day" from "Madame Butterfly"; the Waltz Aria from "Romeo and Juliet" by Verdi; Schubert's "Serenade"; "In the Gloaming" by Annie F. Harrison; "Siboney" by Lecuona; "Minnie the Mocher" by Cab Calloway; and two specially written songs by Jerome Kern and Dorothy Fields called "Whistling Boy" and "Our Song." In addition, there is a spectacular ballet sequence staged by Leon Leonidoff, dance maestro of the Radio City Music Hall, New York.

'3 SMART GIRLS.'

Man proposes and woman disposes of him with swift dispatch, especially if he is a millionaire susceptible to the wiles of an international beauty who has her eyes on his bank roll. That, with amusing embroidery, is the theme of Universal's comedy drama, "Three Smart Girls," which opens at the State theater on Tuesday. Three sisters, living on the Riviera with their mother, hear that their wealthy father, divorced for ten years, is paying ardent attentions to a renowned lady of diverting charm.

Knowing that their mother still loves him, they rush to New York to save daddy from entangling himself. They use strenuous methods, employing a count to draw the beauty into an alliance which will prevent their father from marrying her.

The situations run the scale from the ridiculously funny to the uproariously laughable, according to advance Hollywood reports. Through mistaken identity, another man is given the task of snaring the charmer away from her prey.

Deanna Durbin, who has been singing on Eddie Cantor's national broadcasts for many months, makes her screen debut in "Three Smart Girls." She has the role of the youngest sister. The other two girls are portrayed by Nan Grey and Barbara Read.

While other studios are engaged in a heated quest for outdoor stars, from among all the younger Western stars, there is none brighter and more popular than the colorful Rex Bell, who will appear at the Rex theater this week, in "Men of the Plains," a stirring, exciting outdoor drama embodying red-blooded action of the kind both adults and children thrill to.

BRET HARTE'S STORY.

Bright with the romance and adventure of California's most glamorous era, Bret Harte's immortal "The Outcasts of Poker Flat" will be brought to the screen by RKO Radio, with Preston Foster being brought to the Rex theater Friday by RKO Radio, with Preston Foster starred.

Few authors have been so closely identified with a given place and period as was Bret Harte with the California of 1850 and 1870, and his colorful stories of the era have not only been read by millions in this country and abroad, but they left an individual record of life in the mining camps of the gold rush country.

Pouring from every section of the globe in the urge for gold, adventurers, eager boys, hard-bitten men, gamblers, dreamers, all made their way to the new Golconda and overran the timbered slopes of the Sierras in search of the elusive metal. Every race and every type of humanity was represented among the gold-maddened miners and deeds of the utmost selfishness and cruelty contrasted with acts of nobility and sacrifice.

Against this epic background Bret Harte painted his portraits of the types he made famous the world over—John Oakhurst the gambler, "The Heathen Chinese," "The Duchess," "M'liss," "Luck of Roaring Camp," and the rest. In "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," Harte reached what is perhaps his dramatic peak in unfolding a story of conflict and regeneration amid the snows of the Sierras, at a time when awakening public opinion was beginning to take drastic measures in ending the reign of lawlessness and unchecked murder.
