Woman Held in Pampa Jail After Wheeler Auto Chase

WHEELER - Charges of burglary with intent to commit theft were filed today by County Attorney Guy Hardin of Shamrock against two Springfield, Mo., men after their arrest in McLean early Sunday morning for the Wheeler County sheriff's office.

Sheriff Bus Dorman said Harold Lee Breeden, a former Gray County resident, and Charles Ray Geren, 25, Springfield Mo., were being charged in connection with the March 23 burglaries of three Mobeetie firms and the attempted break-in of a fourth.

Douglas MacArthur: An Old Soldier Fades Away Gen.

By H. D. QUIGG United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) - A soldier of the long gray line, Douglas MacArthur of Samar, St. Mihiel, Bataan, Corregidor, Inchon - and a thousand campfires on a hundred battlefields – was home today, in death, in the city he once called the greatest in the world.

The withered body of the old fighter and statesmon lay in custody of the Army he loved, watched over by members of the armed services of which he was the senior ranking officer.

It was received by Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, commander of the First U.S. Army and was to remain for the day at a funeral chapel only two blocks from the starting point of General MacArthur's triumphal homecoming parade here 12 years ago.

It was on city hall steps in that parade -New York's biggest, with 71/2 million persons cheering the general on - that Mac-Arthur began his speech, "This is the greatest city in the world."

He had said that New York "is my home by choice." Sunday night he came home again. The cortege that traveled through the night from Washington arrived here shortly before 11 p.m., eight and one-half hours after his death in Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

It was in Washington, the city of his death, that he told Congress 13 years ago-while a (See OLD SOLDIER, Page 5)

Harbor he withdrew to Bataan. 1942-Evacuated Bataan in March with wife, son and staff officers, declaring, "I shall return.'

1945-Named commander of all U.S. Army forces in the Pacific; received surrender of Japan on Aug. 14 and named by Truman to command occupation forces.

1950 - Commanded campaign against North Koreans when they crossed the 38th parallel dividing Korea.

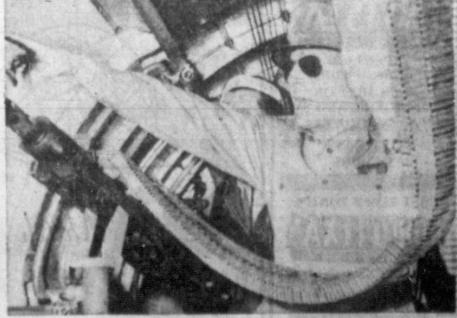

1951-Removed from command by President Truman. Returned to the United States to defend his position before Congress.

This is MacArthur as the world remembers him. The pjhotograph was taken in the South Pacific in 1945. The general designed his famous "scrambled egg" cap,

Just after the first series of major operations in March, General MacArthur posed with President Johnson in the general's suite in Walter Reed Hospital.

MacArthur never wore a helmet, but was often in the thick of battle. Here, he is directing the first U.S. paratroop operation in the South Pacific. The year - 1943.

in my dentist's outer office yesterday, a smartly dressed woman came in with her daughter, who appeared to be four or five years old. The mother wore a wool suit and a full-length coat with a fur collar, as it was exceptionally cold and windy for this time of year. The child wore a short organdy dress, anklets and a short jacket. She looked like a little doll, but her lips were blue and quivering and she was sniffling. I wanted to say something to the mother for disregarding the child's health and comfort for the sake of beauty. After my opportunity had passed I berated myself for not having said something. I could hardly sleep last night for worrying about that poor child. Should I call the dentist's nurse and ask her who the woman was, and write her an anonymous note? Maybe seeing it in writing would bring her to her senses? COULDN'T SLEEP

DEAR COULDN'T: No. If you start letting this kind of other people's business bother you, you will NEVER get any sleep.

DEAR ABBY: What a coincidence! My husband was stationed at Camp McCoy for a short time during World War II, and HE had "HERB" tattooed on him, But we were married at the time, and I am quite sure nobody ever saw HIS "HERB.'

HERB'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: Will you please describe the proper way to hold a fork while cutting with the knife? My husband holds his like a catapult. Perpendicular, at right angles to his plate. Our grown children have mentioned it to me, but I hate to hurt his

When the earth shudders, as it happened in Alaska, it spurs humans once again to the search for the secrets of nature. Earthquakes themselves are of use in the search. Much of the knowledge of the make-up of the earth's interior (1) came from the measurement of these shocks and their "echoes." Most stimulating recent attempt to get to grips with the actual properties of the earth is Project Mohole (2). Because the earth's outer crust is thinnest under the sea, scientists hope to overcome great difficulties and drill down to what could be the outer surface of the primordial earth. What they bring up would verify many of their theories. Already, we know a good deal about quakes. The imbalance of weight along some seacoasts, with pressure forces in two directions (3) seems to be a factor in one type. There are also quakes caused by movement of volcanic lava under the earth or during eruptions and other disturbances, still mysterious, as deep as 100 miles or more below the surface.

Summer came a little early this year for Julius Boros, who appeared as surprised as the next man that he had won the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament

The next man, in this case, was Doug Sanders who bogied the 18th hole Sunday to finish in a tie with Boros and then bogied the next hole in a sudden death playoff.

The warm - blooded Boros, whose game usually heats up with the summer sun, had a par to take the $6,600 winner's share of the $45,000 prize money. Boros immediately began getting ideas about this week's Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga.

"I never won a tournament before May and I'd imagine this win would really bolster my confidence for the Masters, he beamed.
