Demonstrators Blur World's Fair Opening

Mass Arrests Mar New York Event

By JOSEPH BREU

NEW YORK (UPI) — Civil rights demonstrators harassed the opening of the World Fair today by scuffling with police, delaying subway trains and staging sit-ins.

A planned massive automobile stall-in blocked cars at scattered points, but the city traffic commissioner said traffic was less than normal.

Reinforced police squads made arrests following demonstrations ranging from Manhattan's Times Square to the Flushing Meadows fair grounds.

Involved in the sit-in demonstrations at the fair were Bayard Rustin, leader of last year's civil rights march on Washington and organizer of New York's first school boycott, and James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

At least 50 shouting, sign-carrying demonstrators picketed the Florida pavilion and shouted at Florida Gov. Farris Bryant: "Jim Crow must go—Governor Bryant must go." Bryant ignored the taunts and entered one of the buildings at the pavilion.

Halted Train

One of the demonstrators tried to scale the 110-foot citrus tower—landmark of the Florida exhibit—but he was dragged down by four policemen and carried away in handcuffs.

First demonstrators were picked up at 7:30 a.m. EST, when they delayed subway trains carrying visitors to the fair by pulling emergency stop cords, throwing themselves on the tracks and preventing train doors from closing. Faces of some of the demonstrators were bleeding when they were led away.

Other demonstrators were arrested at the fair grounds, some charged with felonious assault. Automobiles driven by CORE volunteers delayed fair-bound traffic at scattered points by "breaking down," running out of gas, or having "flat tires."

But City Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes, who spent 90 minutes in a helicopter hunting for an expected massive traffic jam, said traffic was less than normal. His pilot said, "There was no congestion at all — it was even better than usual."

By mid-morning, police had made 29 arrests. At least one policeman was injured.

A vanguard of stall-in automobiles — designed to block traffic by "breaking down" or running out of gas—was reported on the way to fair area highways. But no great, traffic tieups were reported.

The fair was declared officially open at 9 a.m. EST.

Converge In Force

A 1,000-member contingent from the national organization of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) converged on the fair grounds by train. It planned to demonstrate at pavilions of southern states and those of some industrial concerns.

A half-hour after the official opening, Bayard Rustin, who led the civil rights march on Washington and organized New York's first school boycott, arrived at the fair with 50 followers and said: "I have come here to court arrest."

He said he would either sit down at the entrance to a pavilion or create some other disturbance.

The subway demonstration began at 7:30 a.m. when a train en route to the Flushing Meadows fair site was stopped by the pulling of the emergency cord. Demonstrators then threw themselves onto the tracks while others kept the train doors from closing. Police made 23 arrests.

More Americans Killed in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet. (UPI)—Two more American soldiers were killed Tuesday night by the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas, raising to 129 the number of U.S. combat casualties since the United States began its aid program here.

The two men, an officer and an enlisted man, will not be identified until relatives in the United States have been notified of their deaths. They were killed by a Communist mine in the Mekong River delta, 35 miles south of Saigon, one of the worst areas of guerrilla activity.

Three Vietnamese soldiers riding with the Americans also were killed when the mine blew up their jeep.

Wet Ceremony Marks Opening Of World's Fair

Turnstiles Start Spinning As President Attends Event

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 1964-65 World's Fair opened today with colorful but rain-dampened ceremonies including a dedicatory visit from President Johnson.

The fair's 95 turnstiles at eight entrances began spinning at 9 a.m. EST, at the command of an electronic impulse from the atomic clock in Neuchatel, Switzerland. Fair chairman Thomas Deegan snipped a ribbon in the city's colors of orange and blue and welcomed the first visitor, William Turchyn, 18, of Neptune, N.J., with a handshake across the turnstile at the main gate.

The turnstile refused to work when Turchyn tried to make his entrance, and repairmen had to be summoned to get it in working order.

"That's not a stall-in, that's a stick-in," someone yelled, referring to the civil rights demonstrations which threatened to mar the opening day.

Largest in History

The fair officially marked the 300th anniversary of the establishment of New York as a city. It is the largest exhibition in history and 30,000 employees were on hand this morning to man its 134 pavilions, restaurants and amusements which cost more than $500 million.

About 2,000 police, evenly divided between fair personnel and city patrolmen, were on hand to maintain order in the face of threats from rebellious local branches of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) to stall hundreds of automobiles on major access routes.

One of their first tasks was to assist the Secret Service to protect Johnson, former President Harry S. Truman, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of India's Prime Minister Nehru, Marquessa Carmen Villaverde, daughter of Spain's Generalissimo Franco, and other notables.

The 646-acre fairgrounds, which was also the site of the 1939-40 World's Fair, was as soggy as a sponge after days of rain. But freshly laid sod, avenues of trees, and gushing fountains gave a finished look to the exhibition, which was actually only 95 per cent completed at the opening hour.

Other Dignitaries

In addition to Presidents Johnson and Truman, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Mayor Robert F. Wagner and other dignitaries were on the dedication day speakers list. Messages from former Presidents Herbert Hoover and Dwight D. Eisenhower also were to be read to the 16,000 invited guests at the Singer Bowl ceremony.

Eighty-eight units were in the opening parade, including military bands and colorful floats.

City Woman Named Red Cross Official

A Pampa woman was elected vice president of the Panhandle Association of Red Cross chapters Tuesday as the bi-annual meeting of the 24 chapter group came to a close at the Coronado Inn.

Mrs. Jack Foster was elected along with Terry Thomas of Amarillo, who was re-named president, and Mrs. Claire Green of Amarillo, who was named secretary-treasurer.

A brief business meeting concluded the program with chapters voting to hold three meetings a year rather than the present two and setting the third Tuesday in September, January and April as dates for the meetings.

The Hutchinson County chapter at Borger will be the host for the next meeting in September while the Amarillo Air Force Base hospital will host the January meeting and Hereford will be the site of the April 1965 session.

Dues for each chapter was set at $5 by the group and chapters joining or renewing their memberships are asked to send the dues to Mrs. Green at the Potter County Red Cross chapter.

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, host of the meeting Tuesday, said the program was a success and attendance was better than average at the day-long affair.

WEATHER

PAMPA AND VICINITY—Fair this afternoon and tonight. Increasing cloudiness Thursday. Warmer tonight. Highs today and Thursday mid 80s. Lows around 50. Westerly winds 15-25 m.p.h., increasing Thursday.

OPTIMISTS OPEN BIKE DRIVE — Evening Optimist Club President Gib Gibson gets a helping hand from Patrolman Preston Bailey of Pampa police as Optimist Lt. Governor Bill Jerkins of this district watches and the fifth annual Bicycle Safety week gets under way officially. The Optimists will spread stickers reminding motorists to watch for children riding bicycles all over the city and will conduct a bicycle inspection program between the hours of 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. Saturday at every school other than St. Vincent's and students there are asked to bring bikes to the nearest public school to their home. Bikes must have good brakes, two fenders and a reflector on the rear fender in order to be given the inspection stickers.

Money Bill Nearing Vote In House; O K Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration's $46.7 billion money bill for the Army, Navy and Air Force moved toward a House vote today with no major changes expected to be enacted.

The measure included $52 million for work on the proposed new supersonic bomber instead of the $5 million Johnson requested, but otherwise it embraced about what the President had asked.

Republicans said they wanted to increase the total by $126 million to finance a nuclear engine for the Navy's new aircraft carrier, which under present plans will be conventionally powered.

But it appeared that any such amendment would be ruled out of order on the ground that nuclear power for the new carrier — opposed by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara — had not been authorized by law.

Democrats and Republicans alike agreed in debate Tuesday that current defenses are sound. But questions were raised about the future development of new weapons and whether the United States can be certain it will stay ahead of Russia.

Other congressional news: Civil Rights: Southern Democrats seized the initiative in the Senate civil rights battle by offering and calling up a sweeping jury trial amendment. They jumped ahead of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's fair employment practices amendment to the House — passed bill, but Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said he thought they might be willing to lay aside their proposal temporarily if the Senate wanted to proceed first on the Dirksen amendment.

Prayer: Rep. Frank J. Becker, R-N.Y., the congressional leader of a campaign to amend the Constitution to permit prayer and Bible reading in public schools, said that Americans overwhelmingly support "this sacred project." He was the first witness as the House Judiciary Committee opened hearings on the emotionally-charged school prayer issue.

First Check Planned Today For Campaign

(See Photo on Page 4) Workers in Pampa's Community Concert Association membership drive scheduled their first check-in meeting at 4 p.m. today.

The campaign for new members, now in its second day, was reported progressing ahead of schedule.

Concert officials urged workers in Pampa, Canadian, Perryton, Clarendon, Miami, White Deer, Wheeler, Spearman and Panhandle to check in memberships.

Another check-in session is scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday and Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, Columbia Artists representative here to assist in the drive, said it is hoped the final check-in can be made at 4 p.m. Friday.

Memberships covering all concerts for the 1964-65 season are $10 for adults and $5 for students. There will be a minimum of three and possibly four concerts.

The association headquarters office in the Southwestern Public Service Co. lobby is open this week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. The telephone number there is 9-9361.

Pies: Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said frozen cherry pie manufacturers have a couple of months left to make sure their product contains more than a few lonely cherries swimming in a thin paste of cornstarch. The Food & Drug Administration (FDA) at Hart's prodding has assigned field investigators to buy 40 different brands of the frozen cherry pies. The government may write standards which bakers must meet, Hart warned.

New Teeth to Be Placed in Dog Law any dog from the city pound and a charge of $1 a day for care. The present fee is $1 and the care charge is 50 cents a day.

The new law ordinance is expected to carry a clause which will keep dogs impounded unless all regulations have been complied with by the owner.

Officials are pointing out that it will be a violation to permit a dog to run at large even though it is licensed and vaccinated.

City Attorney Bob Gordon, City Manager Harold Schmitzer and Police Chief Jim Conner were busy today drawing up an all inclusive ordinance for the control of dogs inside the Pampa city limits.

The legislation is being prepared for presentation at a meeting of the city commission set for 5 p.m. Friday.

The Friday meeting will be a continuation of Tuesday's regular commission session.

Officials indicated today it is possible the ordinance may get final passage tomorrow under emergency rules.

City Manager Schmitzer said the ordinance is being drawn to include portions of present dog control ordinances and will have provisions for stricter enforcement.

The legislation is being designed to make it a violation for dogs to be at large unless they are on a leash.

There is expected to be strict enforcement, too, of licensing and vaccination sections of the law.

The legislation also will call for a $10 fee to gain release of

Blaze Victim Dies of Burns In Amarillo

SHAMROCK — One of four persons burned critically Friday night in a booster-plant fire near here died Tuesday at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Glen Neuhaus, 21, of 900 N. Madden, died from the burns that injured Herman Watkins, 34, of Shamrock, Kenneth Satterfield, 35, of Lefors, and Kenneth McNeil, 19, of McLean. All three are listed in "slightly improved but poor" condition at the Amarillo hospital.

Neuhaus, who was an employee of the Southern Food Stores of Shamrock, had been working at the booster plant during a brief vacation. The fire occurred when a gas leak exploded while Neuhaus and the other men were using a cutting torch on the line.

Neuhaus was a native of Augusta, Ark., and was a member of the Church of Christ. He had lived in Shamrock since 1957 and married Miss Linda Gardner of Samnorwood in 1962.

Survivors include his wife and a son, Paul, both of Shamrock, three brothers, Donald of Augusta, Ark., Albert of Cincinnati, Ohio, and John Neuhaus of Shamrock, and his grandparents, Mrs. Clara Davidson of Watson, Ark., and Mrs. O. N. Neuhaus of Searcy, Ark.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Richerson Funeral Home in Shamrock.

Walter Rogers Reports

Water Use Expected To Double by 1980

We Americans now use more than 300 billion gallons of water each day — about one-third of the average daily streamflow in the United States, exclusive of Alaska and Hawaii. Our water requirements are expected to double by 1980. As population increases and industrial demands grow, water problems — which exist in some form in every part of the United States — are becoming more acute. And the challenges posed by these problems must be met.

One of the Texas Panhandle is as "water conscious" as any regional populace in the Nation. Rain, or its absence, has a dramatic way of affecting our lives and our fortunes. And certainly the citizens of some 100 American cities who each summer experience "waterless" days, when reservoirs or ground supplies run dry, are well aware of our water problem. But many of our fellow citizens do not as yet realize the extent of the problem; many city dwellers assume that water is as freely available as is the air they breathe.

The problem we face in the United States is to make the most possible use of the "manageable" water supply available to us. If the total quantity of rain and snow that falls on the United States in an average year were spread evenly over the country, it would stand 30 inches deep. But of that 30 inches, 21 inches return to the atmosphere. Our "manageable" supply consists of the nine inches that drains from the land or seeps into the ground. From this supply, we now withdraw about three inches of water — of which, after use, one inch returns to the atmosphere and two inches return to the stream network. Of that three inches we use from the supply available, we obtain about 80 per cent from lakes and streams and the other 20 per cent from wells.

Clearly, if we are to provide for the needs of the future, we must find ways to increase our ability to take larger amounts from the nine-inch total potentially available. Obviously, national averages such as cited above are misleading. As we of the Texas Panhandle know only too well, some areas of the country receive more precipitation than others. The problems, thus, differ from one area to another. In one part of the United States, the main problem may be supply. In another, distribution of an abundant available supply may be the difficulty crying for the solution. Other major problems are variability in the amount of the supply, chemical and sediment control, pollution control, and floods. In some areas, particularly in the Western United States, a combination of these problems heightens the challenge. In some areas, as most Westerners would quickly recognize, the total problem could consist of these factors: short supply, variability in the supply, distribution of the water available and control of chemical and sediment deposits.

To meet the demands of the future, federal, state, and private water resource development programs concentrate on five specific kinds of activity: regulating streamflow through the construction of surface reservoirs and through watershed management; more adequate pollution abatement programs; making better use of underground storage; eliminating wasteful practices to make more efficient use of the supply; increasing the natural water yield by desalting, weather modification, and other artificial means.

With all the competing uses for our limited natural water supplies, we must learn to conserve, use, and re-use with utmost efficiency, and find ways to increase our supplies. We must increase our understanding of the role of water in its many uses and to explore new and better ways of conserving precious water supplies and using them to the best advantage. Research, like that conducted at the University of Texas, is most important.

Increasing demands placed upon our limited water supplies have brought about conflicts in planning between the Federal and State agencies involved in water development activities and a competition for funds. The primary need at the present time is for some better means of orderly planning, coordinated effort, and a sensible division of responsibilities. The development of a water program for Texas, which is shifting from a dominantly urban and industrial economy, involves water for humans, cities, industry, agriculture, the control of floods, generation of hydro-electric power, providing for navigation needs, providing water-oriented recreation opportunities. In the planning of proper development of such a program, and in carrying it out, coordination and co-operation are absolutely essential between the Federal, State, local and private agencies and groups concerned with finding proper solutions.

Conflict over water resource development is a luxury the United States cannot afford.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
In Vienna, earlier this month, a United States diplomat with long years of service both inside and on the fringe of the Iron Curtain was speculating on the date when it might be said the first cracks appeared in the structure of world communism.

This correspondent had just returned to Vienna from a brief visit to Budapest, Hungary, and had suggested that one such date might be the 1956 Hungarian revolution.

The American diplomat made it much earlier, placing it instead at June, 1948, when Josef Stalin expelled Yugoslavia from the Cominform for hostility toward the Soviet Union and deviation from Marxism-Leninism.

"The Yugoslavs," he said, "by turning to the West for help demonstrated that they could live without the Soviet Union despite Stalin's best efforts to squeeze them into submission."

"The lesson was not lost upon the other satellites."

Turning Point
The Hungarian revolution marked a turning point, in that it led to increasing Soviet concessions to the rising sense of nationalism within others of the satellites.

George Smith, director in charge of the project, and James Malone, project chairman, awarded certificates and a plaque to J. T. Winters Jr., first place; Scott Rader, second place; Gerald Glover, third place; Dee Hawkins and Mary Lou Redus, tie for fourth place; and Randall Scott and Perilou Chandler, tie for sixth place.

Karon Ammons and Bill Gray were given special recognition by Corporation Court

Judge John Warner, a member of the club. Miss Ammons was the highest ranking entrant in the driving portion of the Rodeo and Gray made the highest score of all entrants in the written portion of the contest. Jaycee-Ettes assisted.

Fire Destroys Two Gotham Subway Units

NEW YORK (UPI) — A fire among train passengers. But several commuters and at least four firemen suffered smoke inhalation, and two firemen received minor shoulder injuries. Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson described the fire as the worst subway conflagration in his experience. He said his gas-masked firemen had to battle the blaze two levels below the huge terminal.

The heat from the fire in the tunnel complex was so intense the supports in the tunnel buckled. Traffic on the cross-town street had to be halted for a time between Fifth and Third avenues, and commuters in terminal two stories above the fire were affected by the smoke.

Chief Fire Marshall Martin Scott said all that remained of the trains were charred hulks. He said he had no idea how the blaze started about 5 a.m. in one of the trains and spread to the other at the shuttle platform. The trains were evacuated quickly. No injuries were reported

Fire and water caused some damage to subway shops near the platform, and the shuttle station and tunnel were a mass of twisted beams, fallen plaster and blackened rubble. Service on the shuttle line to Times Square was suspended indefinitely until the station is rebuilt.

White Deer Student Wins National Honor

WHITE DEER — An 18-year-old White Deer High School senior, who has always excelled in numbers sense and mathematics, was named winner of a National Merit Scholarship today. Richard Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ulrich, a chemist at Celanese Corporation, was announced as winner of the Dreyfus Merit Scholarship by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation of Evanston, Ill. Ulrich was the only Top O' Texas high school student to be named as a winner in the program which sees some 1,625 outstanding students take four-year scholarships to the college of their choice. Ulrich is president of the Future Teachers of America club at White Deer High School and a member of the National Honor Society, which is based on grades. Ulrich has applied for admission to Rice University at Houston and has been interviewed by Rice officials for admission, where he would major in mathematics if accepted. This past year the senior student was basketball manager and served as sports correspondent for the Pampa Daily News. He has been representative of the school since his freshman year in the University Interscholastic League numbers sense competition. Ulrich won third in district numbers sense as freshman, was third in regional competition as a sophomore, third in the state science contest as a sophomore, third in region number sense as a junior and has recently won the district numbers sense title for the third year in a row, heading for regional competition next week. Ulrich amazed his teachers when he posted scores of 721 and 793 in the verbal and mathematics divisions of his college board exam. The best possible score was 800. The youth's selection as a Merit Scholar is the second for White Deer High School in 14 years, the last coming in 1956 when John Parsons was a winner.

Red Cross Names High School Youth

James Earnest Head, a senior at Pampa High School, has been named as new water safety instructor for the Gray County Chapter of Red Cross, Mrs. Libby Shotwell, chapter official, said today. Head completed his training in water safety work at a West Texas University training program last Friday. Head will be employed by the Pampa Youth and Community Center as a life guard and will work with the Red Cross on its water safety program.

U. S. Anticipating New Cuban Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration, anticipating the possibility of a new Cuban crisis within six weeks or so, has contingency plans ready to meet threats on either the military or diplomatic front. The major peril stems from Russia's intention to turn over to Fidel Castro control of advanced anti-aircraft missiles capable of downing the high flying U2 American reconnaissance planes which keep constant surveillance on the island. Another type of crisis — this one diplomatic — would erupt if Castro goes through with threats to seek United Nations condemnation of the United States for violation of international law because of its aerial patrol of Cuba. What Happens What happens if the trigger-happy Cuban leader shoots down one of the U2 planes when he secures control of the missile systems, which Washington understands will occur about May 1? The answer, according to officials, is that American retaliation will be swift but tailored to the magnitude of the offense. The U. S. response will not be invasion, at one extreme, or mere diplomatic protest at the other. The punishment, in the words of Gilbert and Sullivan, will fit the crime. While plans obviously are secret, there is evidence American retaliation might take the form of wiping out the base from which any missile or missiles were fired. There are 24 of these locations, each with six firing sites. They were built by the Russians, whose military personnel have controlled them since their construction in 1962. Downed U2 A missile from one of these sites is credited with having destroyed an American U2, which flies at an altitude of more than 70,000 feet, during the October, 1962, missile crisis. Since then, the Russians scrupulously have refrained from bothering the U2 flights. Khrushchev was unable to persuade Castro to accept international inspection which the Soviet leader had promised to verify withdrawal of his intermediate-range nuclear missiles. These, which were zeroed in on targets in the southeastern United States, were withdrawn by Khrushchev along with his nuclear bombers under U. S. pressure.

LBJ Predicts Future Peace For World

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Johnson said today "I prophesy peace is not only possible, I predict it is coming nearer." The Chief Executive made the prediction in remarks prepared for the opening of the New York World's Fair. The theme of the fair is "Peace Through Understanding." Johnson said that unless this theme can be achieved, "then our hopes of today... will go under in the devastation of tomorrow." The President said that if his peace forecast is correct, people at the next World's Fair will see an America as different from today as the nation is different from what it was in 1939 when New York last had its fair. "They will see an America in which no man must be poor," the President said. And he said they will see "an America in which no man is handicapped by the color of his skin or the nature of his belief — and no man will be discriminated against because of the church he attends or the country of his ancestors." This was Johnson's only reference in the brief prepared text to the civil rights issue which underlay the "stall-in" demonstrations being staged on the opening day of the fair to point up the anti-discrimination battle.

Border Violations on Increase; More Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Illegal border crossings from Mexico increased sharply last year and are expected to go up more after the bracero farm labor program ends Dec. 31, the U.S. Border Patrol said in testimony made public Tuesday. The increased activity on the Mexican border was among reasons cited for a $1,570,200 increase in funds requested by the Border Patrol for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The request was made by R. F. Farrell, commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, in a statement submitted to the House Appropriations Committee in January.

The patrol is seeking a total of $18,679,500 for the 1965 fiscal year. Numerous Violations Congress was told that 32,568 border violators—more than in any year since 1958—were found in the southwestern states during the year ended June 30, 1963. "In order to locate those aliens who had evaded our forces on the border, periodic sweeps by small groups of officers were made in border agricultural areas," Farrell's statement said. The report said Task Force Operations also were conducted in interior areas where illegal aliens were known to congregate. During a six-month period, it said, seven such operations had netted 252 deportable Mexican aliens near Bakersfield, Calif., more than 200 miles from the border. The report said patrol officers, working under "considerable pressure," had picked up 49 percent of the Mexican border violators at the time of entry. The agency also reported an increase in smuggling of aliens to work on U.S. farms. Smuggling Workers In one case, it said, a labor contractor had smuggled in 33 Mexicans to pick cotton at $2.25 per hundredweight, of which the contractor kept 75 cents. In another case, the contractor received $2.50 per cwt. and paid $2.00 to the illegal workers. At the same time, Mexican cotton pickers were receiving only about 75 cents per cwt. on their own side of the border. The problem, the patrol said, would undoubtedly get worse after the bracero program ends this year. Under the program, thousands of Mexicans have been brought into the United States for agricultural work under Labor Department administration. "These many thousands of workers, who were formerly gainfully employed in the U.S. will undoubtedly exert considerable pressure along the border to return to their former jobs if they are not permitted to enter legally," the report said. The agency predicted that about 40,000 would be picked up in the border area during the current fiscal year and said an estimate of 45,000 would not be unrealistic for the 1965 fiscal year.

Lodge Wins in New Jersey Vote NEWARK, N.J. Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton picked up 176 votes and segregationist Gov. George Wallace of Alabama had 230 votes from both Republican and Democratic voters. President Johnson got 747 write-ins. Although Lodge held the lead for most of the night, it saw-sawed at times between Lodge and Goldwater, and shortly after midnight Goldwater was ahead of Lodge, 449 to 427.

MASON IS UNCOMMITTED
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Perry Mason made it clear today that he will not endorse any of the candidates for Los Angeles County district attorney in the upcoming election.

It was reported that a publicity man for one of the DA hopefuls approached a secretary of Raymond Burr, who portrays the intrepid Mason on television, seeking an endorsement.

"Perry Mason can not endorse any district attorney as a matter of principle. It might spoil the show's image," Burr's aide replied.

State GOP Committeeman Asks Support for Goldwater

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International
National GOP Committeeman Albert Fay urged this week in Austin that supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater "go to work immediately" to stave off the effects of a well organized group which is planning an anti Goldwater write in vote in the May 2 presidential Republican straw vote in Texas.

Fay was obviously referring to reports of efforts to organize a write-in campaign for ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

One such group is organized in San Antonio and another was formed over the weekend by a students' group at the University of Texas at Austin.

President Johnson came in for some criticism from Houston oil executive George Bush, who said Johnson's prediction of the end of the draft was "a phony olive branch to American mothers in an election year."

Asks Rights Views
Bush, seeking the GOP nomination to oppose Sen. Ralph Yarborough, also demanded that the senior senator "tell the people of Texas where he stands on the civil rights bill before the U.S. Senate."

Bush spoke in Houston. He was joined on the civil rights issue by Gordon McLendon, who is trying to oust Yarborough in the May 2 Democratic primary. McLendon said he would attack the civil rights bill in a swing through Texas this week.

Talks About Missiles
GOP Senate hopeful Robert Morris campaigned in Houston Monday. He said he had just returned from a trip to Washington and he now doubted if this country's missiles will operate under a sneak nuclear attack.

Morris said the test ban treaty keeps U.S. scientists from learning whether U.S. missiles are operational. He said he would call Sen. Yarborough "to account" in the general election for his vote for the treaty.

Dr. Milton Davis, another GOP senatorial candidate, told a Dallas audience he felt this country "should discontinue the foreign aid program altogether as long as we are doing it with borrowed money."

"I doubt that I would be willing to vote for a foreign aid program even if we had a balanced budget and were paying off our national debt," Davis added.

Republican John Trice, who will oppose Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in the November general election, Monday accused Carr of seeking to divide Texans "by pitting race against race while using Hitler's name to back up his charges."

Trice was joined by GOP national committeeman Fay in attacking Carr for "charging Texas Republicans are using methods similar to those of Hitler." They said Carr made the charge in a Fort Worth speech.

Dan Sullivan, Democratic candidate for congressman at-large, told supporters in Kerrville that incumbent Rep. Joe Pool's vote against the air pollution control act "is proof again that he is more concerned with Dallas business interests than with the welfare of the people of Texas."

LAW IS ADAPTABLE
We are all familiar with the multitude of changes in the past few years which have altered the course of industry and science—in fact, the course of human history. Naturally, these changes also have called for changes or modifications in the law of the land.

Fortunately the original makers of law knew they couldn't possibly foresee all that the future held, so they provided methods of changing the law. In this way, if a law became outdated it could be modified or even scrapped. A body of inflexible laws could be worse than no law at all.

Some persons feel the law is too rigid even with the changes permitted. However, most will agree that the entire body of law should not be changed overnight or without some thought. For instance, when you make a will you want to be certain that its terms will be carried out after you are gone. When you buy a house you certainly don't want your ownership upset overnight by an abrupt, ill-conceived change in the law.

An example of adaptability concerns a familiar object, the airplane. Years ago, a farmer in one state believed his property rights continued straight up to outer space. Then came the airplane. It flew through what he considered his property.

The law had to adapt to the airplane and specify just how high was "up" when it came to property rights. Conceivably, if the farmer owned the air, he and other property owners could charge a toll and air travel could become fantastically expensive.

In this case, not only were existing laws modified, but an entire body of new law set down to cover air travel, etc. The overall process took much time and research. In fact, the changes are still being made in this area.

The advent of the atomic age also has created a new set of laws. Modern maritime navigational methods have called for changes in the admiralty laws to mention only another area where the flexibility of the law has been at work.

With all these changes, new laws, etc., it is little wonder that the attorney's office is jammed with law books, periodicals and special materials. However, if it were not for the flexibility of the law, the world as we know it might not exist.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Italy Has New Rainwear Look

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEW YORK (NEA)—America is not the only country which sets aside national weeks to honor such necessities of life as hot dogs and shoe care. We have friends abroad who also indulge and recently Italy held its third annual Raincoat Week in Florence.

to hot dogs and footwear because of these promotions, but Italian rainwear, as a result of the annual showings, is fast becoming one of the strongest and best sold of all imported fashions.

This year the use of bright color is unabashed. Designers showed preferences for oranges, emeralds and violets. Even classic raincoat beige is darkened to look newer and livened up with bright linings. Many coats are lined with floral prints, colorful designs or checks to make rainy days seem less gloomy.

The raincoats are highly styled and differ from any other elegant coats only in that they're waterproofed.

There are slim beige coats, nonchalantly tied under a high waist with a belt. One shimmering, satiny pink coat is lined and trimmed with black and dressy enough to wear to the theater. Another lightly flared coat is lined and shawled with fur.

And for the women who cling to the military look, several designers showed the fitted waist raincoat, epaulet trimmed, brass buttoned, flap pocketed and belted. One designer uses a fiery red cloth, another a blue gabardine. The "officer's style" is still with us.

There is great use of reversible and double-faced fabrics, and a new summer-weight fabric, silk-like in feel. Almost every rain fashion was shown with a matching hat, or if the coat was lined with silk, with a matching kerchief.

Rainwear is now a fashion category in its own right, and these beautifully styled Italian rain fashions are slated to steal top honors when it drizzles.

Dear Abby...

One Woman's Complaint Is Another's 'Cake'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After reading about the woman whose birthday presents consisted of new carpeting, a sofa cover and an invitation to go out for dinner from her husband, and some charms for her bracelet from her son, but who was unhappy because she didn't get a cake, I couldn't resist writing to you.

March 8th was our 19th wedding anniversary. I have never had a cake. On my last anniversary I got a kiss, an embrace and a sincere "I love you." In 19 years we have gone out for dinner five times. My only complaint is that my husband isn't able to devote more time to our four youngsters. But knowing that he must travel 60 miles a day to support his family, I can overlook this. You made my day when you followed that woman's complaint with this sentence: "The most important thing a man can do for his children is to love their mother." My carpets are threadbare, I don't expect to go out for dinner in the very near future, and I don't own a charm bracelet. But when my husband comes home at night, I feel as though I am 21 and it's our first date. Just sign me—

LUCKY IN LOVE IN HARRISBURG

DEAR ABBY: Some women

are nuts. I'm talking about that shrew who didn't get a cake for her 46th birthday, and although her husband gave her lovely gifts and invited her out for dinner, she was so mad she opened a few cans for his dinner and went straight to bed. I have been married for 17 years, and the only time my husband ever thinks about my age is when he has to fill out some papers and has to know when I was born. And he never remembers from one time to the next.

NOT UTUS

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with having a child answer the telephone with, "Who is this?" My children (and I have five ranging from four to ten) do this all the time for me. If there is something wrong with "WHO IS THIS?", then I also give up.

BUSY MOTHER

DEAR BUSY: With little extra effort a child can be taught to ask, "Who is this, PLEASE?" And few callers object to being asked to identify themselves, if asked courteously.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for the woman who signed herself "I GIVE UP" because little twerps answer the telephone, "WHO IS THIS?" This happens to me often as I use the telephone a great deal in my business. When little ones answer the phone and don't want to give it up, but try to engage me in conversation I say, "This is Santa Claus and I am taking orders. Go get your mother." They run for Mamma real quick and pull her to the phone.

R. F. J.

CONFIDENTIAL TO W. B.: It is amazing how much more receptive a child will be to, "LET'S LOOK IT UP," than to, "GO LOOK IT UP!" Try it!

Cardigan-Cut Gives Laminates A Boost

NEW YORK (NEA) — If you think you see someone walking in the rain wearing only a sweater, take another look. He is probably sporting a laminated jacket which looks like a cardigan sweater.

major trouble is that it is hard to get a laminated garment to "drape" well. Men persist in their preference for clothes which look and feel like cloth. And why not?

So popular have sweaters become in past months that the sweater cut has spread to sports jackets and now lightweight, water-resistant outer coats — patch elbows and all. Laminates, lest we forget, refer to garments coated on the inside with urethane foam. This substance provides waterproofing and warmth, while keeping weight to a minimum.

With this behavior handicap to cope with, it was logical that laminate clothing manufacturers looked around for a type of garment in which drape was relatively unimportant. Hence, the concentration on straight-hanging, cardigan-type outerwear. Also to be found are modified, squared-off like jackets.

Laminates are coming through in bright, bold colors. Collars are low or nonexistent —logically, because laminates do not have an affection for creases. This property, at the same time, makes the garment wrinkle-resistant.

PHS Outlasts Caprock, 8-6, Ties for Second

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor
AMARILLO—Little Jerry Garrison finally quelled a Caprock rally in the last of the seventh inning to give the Pampa Harvesters a free-swinging 8-6 victory over the Longhorns. It was "The Chink's" third straight district victory, giving the Harvesters a 4-2 loop record and pulling them into a tie for second place with Borger.

Claude Middleton came out of his batting slump to lead the Harvesters hitting. "Miss Claude" going a perfect three-for-three, including a double. Every starter but one got at least one hit, with Shotgun Gregory batting in three runs with an inside-the-park homer and a sacrifice fly, Randit Madrid socking a double and triple, Steve Molberg a triple and single and Kenny Hebert and Rick Stewart also getting two good blows apiece.

The Harvesters assaulted Longhorn hurlers Duane Gore and Gary McSwain for 14 hits, but three Caprock double plays, aided by more of Pampa's unorthodox base-running, kept the scoring down until the Pampans started belting out triples and homeruns to forestall the host infield.

The Harvesters grabbed a run in the first and two more in the second and Jim Arthur was breezing along on the mound when the husky righthander got a sudden pain in his elbow and lost his control. Carl Harnsberger came in and was touched for a run in the third, and then lost his control in the fourth, a hit batter and walk setting up Mike Wolf's home run over the 320-foot left-field fence to put Caprock ahead, 4-3.

Garrison came in, fiddled around for a minute and then started firing curveballs, retiring nine straight batters and striking out five of them until tiring in the final frame. Meanwhile his mates put him solidly ahead in the fifth as Madrid and Molberg tripled to the fences and Gregory then lashed one into center which bounced over the fielder's head and rolled to the fence while Larry fled around the basepaths to make the score 7-4. Pampa added a final run in their last at-bat and apparently had the game wrapped when a single by Jerry Dunavin, Garrison's throwing error and a single by Gore put the tying run at the plate in the person of McSwain. The bespectacled righty slashed a liner to right, which the bulky Goodwin came in on with surprising speed, snaring it in a shoestring catch for the ball game.

Pampa plays a non-district game at Dumas Friday, with reserves expected to see a large part of the starting action, and then hosts Plainview Saturday.

Boston Red Sox Release Two-Sport Gene Conley

BOSTON (UPI) — Lanky Gene Conley, former baseball and basketball star, today was looking for a job.

The 6-foot-8 Conley was placed on waivers Tuesday by the Boston Red Sox and will be given his unconditional release Saturday afternoon if no other team buys him for $1.

Conley, with Boston since 1961, expressed dismay — but not surprise.

At his home in suburban Foxboro, Conley said, "I'm a little hurt by this news. Although I'm not completely surprised, I rather thought the Sox would go along with me a while longer."

"The arm felt good in Arizona, but as we moved north it became a little tight. The trouble this year is in the armpit, not the shoulder bother of a year ago."

He made it crystal clear that this wasn't the end of his colorful career. "I think I can help some clubs. I'm not ready to call it quits yet," he said.

The 33-year-old Conley was a rare find in this day of specialization. He was one of the few professional athletes to be a success in two sports.

But with old age, for an athlete, creeping up on him, many experts believed that his two-sports career may have shortened his baseball life. He had suffered several injuries in the pro hoop game.

The handsome hurler, 34 last year with the Bosox, had placed himself on the voluntary retirement list this season with the New York Knicks of the National Basketball Association in an attempted comeback in baseball.

There was some confusion at first regarding his status. Boston Manager Johnny Pesky told newsmen Tuesday that Conley had been given his unconditional release.

But Red Sox Vice President Mike Higgins later said, "Gene was put up on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release."

claims him within five days.

Registration for all Little League players will be held at 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Pampa Optimist Club.

All candidates, including those who played last year, must register, and must bring $2 registration fee and their birth certificates. Tryouts for new players will begin next week.

Leon Wagner Good Medicine For Ailing Birdie Tebbetts

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
Convalescing Birdie Tebbetts reports he's coming along just fine, thanks to plenty of rest and some home run therapy by Leon Wagner.

Tebbetts is recovering from a recent heart attack in Tucson, Ariz., and one of the few things he does every day is check to see how his Cleveland ball club is doing.

He has a special interest in Wagner because the Indians tried to get him from the Los Angeles Angels for two years and finally succeeded last December.

Wagner hit 26 homers for the Angels last year and insists he can better that total appreciably with the Indians.

He belted his second homer of the season with one on in the eighth inning Tuesday night to bring the Indians from behind and lead them to a 5-3 victory over the Kansas City A's.

Wagner's blow sailed completely over the right field "pennant porch" and came off loser Diego Segui, who had homered himself with the bases empty in the seventh to put Kansas City ahead, 2-1.

after giving up a homer to Bill Bryan and a single to rookie Dick Green.

Detroit defeated the Angels, 6-4, in the only other American League game played. The Washington-Minnesota game was rained out.

In the National League, Cincinnati beat Houston, 10-5, Pittsburgh downed Chicago, 8-5, and the Philadelphia-New York game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Ex-Dodger star Larry Sherry recorded his first AL victory by pitching three hitless innings in relief for the Tigers against the Angels after taking over for starter Frank Lary.

The Tigers scored what proved to be the decisive two runs in the sixth when Los Angeles Manager Bill Rigney employed three of the seven pitchers he used in the game: Two singles, an error and an infield out gave Detroit its two runs.

Dan Osinski was the loser.

O'Toole Wins Second
Cincinnati raked former teammate Jim Owens and four Houston relievers for 16 hits as southpaw Jim O'Toole picked up his second win of the season although he had to leave in the seventh after being hit on the finger by a batted ball.

Chico Ruiz hit an inside - right homer while Pete Rose, Vada Pinson and John Edwards each collected three hits for the Reds.

Gene Freese's pinch homer in the ninth inning off rookie Fred Norman broke a 5-all tie between the Pirates and Cubs and featured a contest in which nine homers, only one short of a NL record, were hit.

Rookie Jim Stewart, Andre Rodgers, Ron Santo, rookie Billy Cowan and Billy Williams connected for the Cubs while Roberto Clemente, Dick Schofield and Jim Pagliaroni homered for the Pirates as well as Freese.

Roy Face, last of three Pirate pitchers, was credited with his second victory and Norman was the loser.

UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — The hurt has left the heart of Sam Huff but the surprise and uncertainty linger on.

Huff is the iron-muscle line backer who, in one of the top surprises of the sports year, was traded to the Washington Redskins two weeks ago.

As one of the Giant greats and still a top performer his immediate reaction was to quit pro football.

"I still haven't decided," he said today. "My heart still is with football but now I'm thinking with my head instead of my heart."

Liston-Clay Rematch Up

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A September rematch between heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston was closer to realization today, as Liston's attorney Tuesday night said the former champ had agreed to meet all conditions listed by Clay's advisors.

Attorney Bill Cherry said at Chester, Pa., that Liston, who lost the heavyweight title to Clay a Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 25, agreed to sell his remaining stock in Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc., and also cancel Clay's return bout contract with the organization.

Liston also agreed to apply to the World Boxing Association (WBA) as soon as possible for reinstatement, Cherry added.

McDonald 'Thrilled,' But Still Unsigned

DALLAS (UPI) — Tommy McDonald, recovered from the shock of being traded by the Philadelphia Eagles to the Dallas Cowboys, says he is "thrilled" about the move to "a title contender," but admits that there is still nothing definite about him signing a Cowboys contract.

But after conferring here with Cowboys owner Clint Murchison Jr. and General Manager Tex Schramm, McDonald said he wanted to "go back and talk it over with my people back there."

Actually, there seemed little doubt that McDonald, who has caught 249 passes, including 50 for touchdowns in his last five seasons with the Eagles, would be in a blue and white Cowboy uniform this fall.

He explained that he was concerned about his off-season future and "just wanted to be sure I could do so well here as he has in Philadelphia."

McDonald, 29, said he felt he had "four or five years more of pro ball left and that is my first love—football."

But after conferring here with Cowboys owner Clint Murchison Jr. and General Manager Tex Schramm, McDonald said he wanted to "go back and talk it over with my people back there."

Yank Cagers Drop First Two Contests

MOSCOW (UPI) — It's nice to have faith in the face of adversity.

A touring United States men's amateur basketball team which has lost two of three Iron Curtain games seeks the equalizer tonight against Russia, a Coach John McLendon figure American fortunes are bound to improve.

The Yanks split a pair in Poland and lost, 82-65, to the Soviet Union Tuesday night.

"The Soviet team is energetic and aggressive," McLendon asserted after the game, "but I think we can play better, and I don't think the Russians can play much better."

Jim Barnes of Texas Western scored 16 points and Pete McCaffrey of the Goodyear Wingfoots tallied 14 at Moscow Hall. Contrary to expectations, the Americans did not try many long shots and Russia's zone defense thwarted their inside play.

Queens Trail Bulgaria, 7-0

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — The United States basketball team finds itself in the curious position of being behind before it even steps foot on the court today for its final elimination game with Bulgaria in the Women's World Championships.

The U. S. team, made up mostly of girls from the Flying Queens of Wayland College, Plainview, Tex., was scheduled to play Bulgaria Tuesday.

But the game was halted by rain midway through the first half with the Americans trailing, 7-0. As a result, the game will be picked up at that point, leaving the U.S. squad one foot in the hole.

The Americans and Bulgarians already have qualified for the final championship round-robin along with Russia, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and host Peru.

The United States and Bulgaria are playing for first place in group three.

Austin Wins JHS Golf

Austin of Borger won the first round of the district junior high golf tournament yesterday, totaling 227 for their first team.

Competing were three teams from each competing school, including Borger Houston, second with 348, Lee, third with 350, Perryton, Dumas and Pampa Junior High, 10th with 461. Lee's third team was sixth with 383.

Lee's low scorer was Charles McKinney with an 83. Tommy Rose was low man for the Rebel 8th grade with 88. Wesley Vienneau was low for Pampa with 93. Ernie Gilbert was low for the 8th grade with 120.

Glover Wins, Keeps Badgers in First

SAN ANGELO (Sp) — Jerry Glover won his fifth game of the season here yesterday to keep the Amarillo College Badgers in first place in the Western Junior College Conference.

The big Pampa hurler a three-hitter for a 2-1 victory in the opener, although the Badgers dropped their second game to the host Rams, 6-3.

Glover held a 1-0 lead going into the sixth inning, when the Badger defense allowed an unearned run to tie the game. Dean Reding's two-out double in the seventh scored the winning run, giving Glover a 4-1 district record and making the Badgers 6-2 in loop play.

Wheeler Calls Vote On Hospital Issue

WHEELER (Sp) — A $365,000 bond election for the purpose of building a new hospital has been called by the board of directors of South Wheeler County Hospital District. The election will be held May 5.

The proposed hospital would be built under the Bill - Burton program, which would be an outright grant of one half of all costs of building, equipping and furnishing a new plant. Hill-Burton does not participate in the purchase of a site.

The election was called Tuesday night at a special meeting of the directors.

The board proposed a tax rate of 45 cents which would be based on present county valuation. The directors stressed that the rate would have to be based on county valuation, which is governed by the Commissioners Court and not by the hospital directors.

They pointed out that the county tax rate is approximately 13 per cent of the actual value.
