NEW TOP — Two hundred blocks of Pampa's asphalt streets are being covered with a "seal coat" this summer as part of a five-year maintenance program. This is the second year of the program and the 1964 project is about 65 per cent complete. Above, employes of a local construction firm are covering the hot asphalt with selected gravel on the left and rolling the gravel on the right to pack it down. The black strip up the middle of Finch St. is covered with the hot asphalt but still lacks the gravel cover.

Wagner to Take Over in Harlem

Vandalism, Looting Continues

By RICHARD A. ROWDEN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner flew here today to take personal charge of restoring law and order in the third straight night of violence, vandalism and looting in the nation's largest Negro section.

The mayor, who broke off a vacation in Spain, was expected to arrive this afternoon as riot police prepared for another hot, humid night of disorder and destruction. The city has agreed to several demands of angry Negro leaders, but extremist voices in Harlem continued to whip up hatred among roving street mobs.

Looting continued even after dawn this morning. Police arrested two teen-age youths as they attempted to steal musical instruments from a shop window smashed by vandals during the night. A Negro woman blew a whistle to summon passing radio patrolmen.

Wagner told reporters as he left Madrid this morning that he does not think it necessary to call in federal troops. He said he had "full confidence" in New York police to control the situation, which showed signs of spreading to other Negro areas in the city Monday night.

The police department beefed up its forces in Brooklyn's teeming Bedford-Stuyvesant area, where rioting Negroes had destroyed property and battled riot squads.

Picket City Hall

Representatives of several Harlem civil rights organizations picketed City Hall today in a vain effort to meet with Acting Mayor Paul B. Screvane. They said they wanted to take Screvane on a tour of Harlem and warned his aides that there would be more violence unless the police tactical patrol force is removed from the area.

The pickets were told Screvane was not available. They said they would wait for Wagner.

Gunfire continued until daybreak after helmeted riot police tangled with a menacing mob of several hundred Negroes in the embattled neighborhood where full-scale rioting flared on the two previous nights.

After quiet was restored this morning, police said the three nights of disorders had resulted in one death, serious injuries to 70 civilians, 33 police hurt in the line of duty, 157 arrests and damage to 87 stores, many of which were looted.

Scores of other persons suffered minor injuries not carried on police or hospital records.

The single fatality occurred Saturday night.

Police said 22 persons were arrested and an indefinite number were injured in several outbreaks of violence, vandalism and looting late Monday night and early today.

In the most explosive incident, a squad of police charged "like buffalo" through broken-in doors and windows into an Eighth Avenue tavern to clear out Negroes they believed had been part of the street gang. Nine Negroes were injured, one critically, as the nightstick-swinging police rushed in. Three policemen were cut by flying glass.

U.S. Says Cuba Lying in Charge Of Sentry Killing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has implied broadly that Cuba was lying when it charged that American Marine guards shot and killed a Cuban sentry at the American naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Monday an investigation by the Guantanamo commander showed that one shot was fired over the head of a group of Cuban sentries Sunday night after one of them first fired at a Marine guard.

McCloskey said there was no sign that anyone was seriously injured.

Barry Called 'A-Bomb Hitler' By Raul Castro

Election Would Touch Off WW III, Says Cuban Minister

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban Defense Minister Raul Castro Monday night attacked Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater as a new Hitler with atomic bombs whose first act as president would be to touch off World War III by invading Cuba.

"If he wins, in that very instant in which he takes office we shall have to mobilize and live in a permanent state of combat alert," Premier Fidel Castro's younger brother said in a radio broadcast from Havana. The broadcast was monitored here.

Speaking at burial services for a Cuban sentry he claimed was killed by gunfire from marines at the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Castro accused the United States of "another provocation."

"If we want to provoke the United States we could take a good missile whack at a U2 (reconnaissance) plane and then send back the pilot's corpse," Castro said. "But we do not want to provoke."

Castro eulogized the sentry, Ramon Lopez Pena, 19, as a "militant Communist" and predicted that "someday" Cuban troops would use "bayonets to drive the Marines into the sea from Guantanamo."

Much of Castro's two hour and 15 minute speech, was devoted to Goldwater, who, Castro said, differed from Hitler only in that "Hitler didn't have the atomic bomb and Goldwater indeed has the atomic bomb."

Castro said he personally did not believe Goldwater would win the presidential election. But he said the possibility of a Goldwater victory has Cubans "very worried."

"Goldwater is war — world war," he said.

To meet what he termed the "evil" or Goldwater's election, Castro suggested the creation of "a world front, a front of

Book Lambasting LBJ Surprises Author on Sales

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—Copies of a book sharply critical of President Johnson are selling "faster than I ever dreamed it would," said the author Monday.

"We sold out the first printing," said J. Evetts Haley, Texas historian and political figure. "We sold over 8,000 copies in one day." He refused to say how many had been sold altogether.

The book is titled "A Texan Looks at Lyndon, a Study in Illegitimate Power." It takes issue with Johnson's political rise, his personal financial affairs, and his conduct of the presidency.

Haley once ran for governor of Texas on a strongly conservative platform and has often opposed Johnson's political stands.

More copies are being printed for nationwide distribution, said Haley, who financed the printing himself and distributed the book through the Palo Duro Press of Canyon, which he owns.

He said that as far as he knows, no Republican organizations have ordered the book as a group. "The most enthusiastic buyers so far have been individuals," he said. "Individuals have bought one to 25 copies apiece."

"We've had some big orders of 5,000 and more from book and retail stores."

Pampa Spurns Use Of Federal Grants

Pampa's City Commission frowned unofficially today on federal aid grants for municipal projects.

The matter came to the fore when Mayor H. R. Thompson read an article from Town & City magazine which explained how cities could avail themselves of taxpayers' money through the federal government by taking advantage of Public Law 660, administered through the Texas State Department of Health.

The article went on to explain a situation in which Pampa, for instance, could avail itself of 30 per cent of the construction costs of the city's proposed $950,000 sewage treatment plant.

Pampa recently approved a bond issue in that amount to take care of the project.

After reading the article, Mayor Thompson said:

"I merely bring this to the attention of the City Commission. However, I believe every city should take care of its own business."

Commissioner L. P. Fort put in his opposition to any thought of federal aid for Pampa.

"There is always a hook in it," Fort said.

Later he explained the statement by saying that the "bait always looks good, but if you bite, you're hooked."

The commission took no action on the subject of federal grants to cities, but let the matter drop without further comment.

In other business:

City commission passed on final reading the ordinance to require labeling of imported meats sold in Pampa markets. The ordinance will become law within the next two or three weeks following final publication of the ordinance in the newspaper.

Preparation for Community Fair Well Under Way

It's fair time in Pampa. Workmen are busy today putting up the bigtop, and setting up the amusements and rides for the first annual Top O' Texas Community Fair.

The event will get under way at 6 p.m. tomorrow at the corner of Gwendolen and Hobart.

The Fair is sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce. It will be open from 6 until 12 p.m. Wednesday through Friday and from 1 p.m. until midnight on Saturday and Sunday.

Activities for the event include a queens' contest, carnival midway and rides, a two ring circus, baking contest, art show, talent show and merchants' exhibit.

A total of 19 contestants have entered the queens' contest representing various civic clubs and organizations in Pampa. Balloting for the candidates ended last night and coronation is scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow night.

Performances for the circus are scheduled at 1:30 and 4 p.m. each day of the Fair except on Saturday when two additional performances at 7 and 9 p.m. will be held.

Admission to the Fair grounds is 25 cents per person. However, if a ticket was purchased from a club's entry in the queen's contest, admission will be only 10 cents.

Fair officials indicated that if this year's show is a success the Jaycees plan to make it an annual event.

City Of Pampa Hits Record High In Water Usage

Pampa's water consumption rate set an all-time record high yesterday when the city pumped a little over 8,101,000 gallons.

The previous record was 8 million gallons pumped on an extremely hot day in the summer of 1955.

E. S. Lowery, superintendent of the water department, said the reason for the high water consumption was due to the prolonged heat wave, causing residents to use a large amount of water on their lawns and gardens.

He also said that if the heat wave continued the water consumption rate might reach the 10 million gallons mark by the end of the month.

This is the maximum the water system can pump, said Lowery, however Pampa has a reserve system that can be used for about 24 hours if this occurs.

Several times this year water consumption has neared the 8 million mark but yesterday was the first it went over.

Usually the average daily rate for the hot summer months is about 7 million gallons a day.

Lowery said a thundershower is the only thing that can drop the daily water consumption rate.

The forecast for Pampa and vicinity? Continued Hot.

Gum-Chewing 'Parasite'

Blue-Jeanned Russian Is Siberia-Bound

By JAY AXELBANK
MOSCOW (UPI)—Aaron Gelfon, a Moscow teen-ager who had an uncontrollable urge to imitate Americans in everything from chewing gum to blue jeans, was on his way to Siberia today as a "parasite."

Gelfon was ordered banished to a Siberian town for five years of socially useful work. The "comrades' court" that sentenced him made it plain his career to this point has done little for society.

Gorki Street would be his," the newspaper Evening Moscow said in reporting the case. Gorki Street is Moscow's Broadway.

Speakers shouted "shame, shame," when Gelfon criticized Soviet clothing.

His old classmates said that while they were talking of Soviet space shots and local sports events, Gelfon would talk about the United States.

When they were working, he would be approaching tourists, with offers of $11 for a shirt, $22 for a jazz LP record, and $33 for a pair of pants.

When they were working, he would be approaching tourists, with offers of $11 for a shirt, $22 for a jazz LP record, and $33 for a pair of pants.

Goal Was Jeans

But Gelfon's real goal was a pair of Texas-style blue jeans, the court was told. He risked several police warnings and continued his trading to get them.

By the time he picked up his goal, he had been chucked up on a charge of parasitism, which is described in Soviet law as being "stubbornly opposed to honest work... enriching himself at the expense of the state."

Gelfon's sentence to Siberia, the court believes, will get him back on the right path. If it doesn't, he could be imprisoned.

As Evening Moscow put it, he was sent "where the frost makes a man move quickly, where you can't bury your nose in a wine glass."

HOT TOPS

CROYDON, England (UPI)—Judges here tempered justice with comfort Monday when they took off their wigs in an effort to beat Britain's current heat wave.

The temperature was 75 degrees—sizzling by British standards.

Usually the average daily rate for the hot summer months is about 7 million gallons a day.

Dr. Sam Wines, Dines New Bride 'Til Early Hours

CHICAGO (UPI)—Convicted wife slayer Dr. Sam Sheppard wined and dined his shapely new bride until the early hours of the morning today before his takeoff for New York to wait out a hearing Wednesday which may determine whether he returns to prison.

"I cannot look forward to anything beyond next Wednesday," Sheppard said in a Chicago nightclub. "I'm like a little boy taking his first steps out of his home."

Sheppard was joined at the nightspot by the former Adrienne Tebbenjohanns, his German pen pal bride, and F. Lee Bailey, his chief counsel.

Nine years ago today Sheppard entered Ohio Penitentiary for the bludgeoning slaying of his wife, Marilyn. Bailey obtained Sheppard's release from the prison last Thursday on a writ of habeas corpus which claimed he was denied a fair trial.

Sheppard was dressed in a dark blue suit. He spoke softly and glowingly of "my wife, my marriage, my family, my children." When the conversation turned to Marilyn Sheppard, 31 years old and pregnant when her body was found in the blood-spattered bedroom of the couple's Bay Village, Ohio, home more than 10 years ago, Sheppard's eyes lighted up as he maintained his innocence.

"My lawyer has in his hands the means to prove my innocence," Sheppard said emphatically, hitting the table with his hand.

Water Easier to Take Away Than to Return

Part one of a two-part series. EDITORS — Nature gave water to the High Plains of West Texas and New Mexico. Man is taking it away at an alarming rate. It is a major problem to this region grown rich on what water can bring. Here, in a two-part series, is a report on the water depletion and what is being done to prevent it.

By JAMES M. SHEVILS
LUBBOCK (UPI)—The water beneath the High Plains of Texas and New Mexico is like money in the bank. It is easier to take out than put back.

Like money, it has made the region rich. Like money, there is only so much of it. The bank balance is getting low; dangerously so.

Twenty million years ago, nature created a vast supply of pure, sweet water in the sands below the surface of the plains. But there was no way to replenish it.

A little over 50 years ago, man discovered the water-bearing formation and slowly began putting it to his own use. Hand pumps gave way to windmills and, eventually, irrigation wells. The arid, barren land burst into bloom.

Today, thanks to the most extensive irrigation development on the face of the earth, the High Plains enjoys one of the highest standards of living in the world.

Highest Family Income
—One county, Lubbock, has the highest family income of any county in the United States.

—More cotton is produced in the 23 counties surrounding Lubbock (pop. 143,000) than in any area of the same size in the world. The crop accounts for 15 per cent of all cotton grown in the U.S.

—Almost one-third of the world's grain sorghum for cat-the feed is produced in the High Plains.

—Lubbock, one of the nation's fastest-growing metropolitan centers, has more than doubled its population in the last 15 years. Its annual construction volume is higher than that of dozens of larger cities. Family buying power is now $7,000 annually.

But there's a fly in the ointment. And many High Plains residents, including farmers themselves, refuse to acknowledge it.

BEATLE-FULL—The Beetle button that Jon Mazzone, 7, of Bristol, Conn., holds spent some time in his stomach. He had placed it in his mouth when all of a sudden, a friend yelled, "Boo!" and the pin went the button. The pin was removed by surgery.

Underground water in the Ogallala formation—the primary source of all High Plains water and the basis of the area's entire economy—is being depleted at an alarming rate. It is not being replaced.

Unless man learns how to make more intelligent use of the available water supply, the unparalleled prosperity of the region will end—possibly in our lifetime.

There are three major reasons why the underground reservoir is not being refilled.

—The average rainfall on the High Plains is slight, 15-20 inches a year.

—The hard composition of the soil prevents any significant seepage deep down into the ground. Only about .15 of an inch of rain finds its way into the Ogallala each year.

—The water which does gather in the myriad of lakes and ponds in the area is subject to an enormously high rate of evaporation—as much as 90 per cent.

First Well in 1911
—Since the first irrigation well was sunk in 1911, more than 60 million acre-feet of ground water have been pumped from the Ogallala formation. This is almost one-quarter of the total available supply.

Furthermore, farmers are dipping into the underground reservoir as if there were no tomorrow.

Latest figures from the Texas Agriculture Extension service show an increase of 297,154 irrigated acres on the Texas High Plains this year over 1963. A total of 5,437,560 acres—better than 52 per cent of all the crop land in the High Plains—is under irrigation.

more than in 1963. Heaviest irrigated counties are Deaf Smith, Farmer, Castro, Swisher, Lamb, Hale, Floyd and Lubbock. In New Mexico, Martin and Lea counties lead in irrigation.

Statistics Tell Story
More revealing are statistics on the capacity of the wells. Last year, 19.3 per cent of the wells had lifts of under 125 feet—that is, water could be pumped to the surface at 125 feet or less. This year, only 18 per cent had the same lift—411 additional wells had lifts greater than 125 feet.

At the same time, output capacity has declined. In 1963, 65 per cent of irrigation wells produced less than 700 gallons per minute (g.p.m.). This year, 67 per cent—37,062 wells—are producing less than 700 g.p.m. It is only a question of time, then, when man will exhaust the precious underground water supply. Water experts all agree on that. When will it run out?

"That's something we'd all like to know," says Don Reddell, agriculture engineer at the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District in Lubbock.

Speeding the Day
"One of these days, it's going to run out. We know that. And at the rate we're using it, we're speeding up the day."

The High Plains district, which takes in 13 counties, represents the largest and richest agricultural area in Texas. More than 3,000 of its 5,000 acres are irrigated by some 32,000 wells.

There is hope, however. "Through research and conservation, we will certainly be able to prolong the life of the ground water supply," says Reddell. "That's not going to eliminate the day when we're going to run out of it. But we should be able to stretch it for generations to come."

Barry Relaxes With Hams 'Round World

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—"All men are created equal," said Sen. Barry Goldwater into the microphone of his ham radio outfit, but from the moment of their creation "it depends pretty much on what the individual does."

Over heavy static an otherwise nameless "Fred" in St. Louis listened to Goldwater's interpretation of Thomas Jefferson's remarks on equality. The Fred complimented his radio friend "Barry" on his appraisal of the Communist menace in Goldwater's book, "Conscience of a Conservative."

His back to a picture window framing a breathtaking view of this desert city, the GOP presidential nominee then turned to a "Ray" in St. Louis, to a "Ken" there, and finally contacting an operator who identified himself as XEICBX—Goldwater announced to the visitors in his home "this is Mexico City."

Former President Truman relaxed by playing poker and talking with friends. President Eisenhower played golf and bridge. President Kennedy had a variety of outside interests, and President Johnson relaxes at his Texas ranch. Candidate Goldwater has a number of hobbies, but lately much of the fun has been with his fellow radio hams.

Bank Offers Cheap Halves

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—The Second National Bank of New Haven sold John F. Kennedy half dollars Monday for 49 cents and a three day supply of the new coins was exhausted in less than three hours. Henry P. Brightwell, vice president, said the bank was "swamped" with customers the minute the doors opened. The offer was made to alleviate a critical shortage of pennies in the bank's routine business.

LISBON (UPI)—The semi-official publication of Prime Minister Oliveira Salazar's National Union Movement, Diario da Manhã, Monday said that the United States should "free" its own Negro population before interfering in African affairs.

The attack on the United States came in an editorial published just three days before President Americo Thomas begins a two-week tour of Mozambique, one of Portugal's two major African territories.

Quotes From The News

By United Press International
NEW YORK — Acting New York Mayor Paul Scavone appealing for an end to violence in embattled Harlem:
 "This most marvelous city in the world could be a shambles almost overnight without law and order. Our civic survival depends upon the rule of law, enforced by the police and the courts."
NEW YORK — Congress of Racial Equality National Director James Farmer describing the scene after the rioting:
 "I saw bloodshed as never before... all over the streets of Harlem."
MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. George Wallace announcing his withdrawal as candidate for president:
 "The people of the South are going to wipe the smiles off the face of some of the liberals in this country."
PHILADELPHIA — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, commenting on his losing battle for the Republican presidential nomination:
 "Politically we did not prevail in San Francisco. As a matter of principle, we were never beaten, because the principles for which we fought will live on so long as America is the nation we love."

Mrs. George Honored for Service

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS — Receiving an orchid is Mrs. Opal George, left, which was a gift of G. G. Harwell, district superintendent of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Amarillo. Mrs. Velma Sutton, right, chief operator of the Pampa office, is pinning the corsage on Mrs. George. A service anniversary party was given in honor of Mrs. George upon completion of 35 years of service with the company July 14 at 1:30 p.m. in the Southwestern Bell lounge at 301 N. Ballard. The event was hosted by Mmes. Sutton, Barbara Carothers, Billie Wilson, Mary Cook and Vaneta Gray. A gift was also presented to Mrs. George from her fellow employees and friends. The serving table, covered with a hand crocheted cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink and orchid flowers, held the punch bowl, which contained pink punch and a cake decorated in pink and orchid.

Dear Abby... She's Been Going To Wrong Doctor

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my wife. She has been going from one doctor to the next for almost 30 years. When he tells her there is nothing wrong with her, she finds another doctor. The doctor and drug bills every month are tremendous. I wouldn't mind if she were really sick, but she isn't. She carries a pocketbook full of pills in case she has some sort of "attack," which she has never had. She is up on all the known diseases, and is always looking for new ones. What is your advice? I'm sick of telling her that she isn't sick.

HER HUSBAND: DEAR HUSBAND: People who are preoccupied with diseases and imaginary illnesses are indeed "sick." Tell her present physician about your wife's history. Perhaps HE can convince her that she needs help above her eyebrows.

DEAR ABBY: To celebrate our fifth wedding anniversary, my husband and I would like to have a big wedding with all the trimmings. I want to send out invitations, have a white gown and veil, and everything just like it was the first wedding. The reason for this is because we eloped, and realize that we missed something. Has anyone ever done this before?

MY DREAM: DEAR MY: I doubt it. White weddings with all the trimmings are for the first plunge only. Have an anniversary party, but skip the gown and veil.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and I like this boy. I don't want to find another boy because, well, you see, he's special! My problem is that he likes me only as a friend and that's not good enough. He likes a girl who is very sexy, makes average grades and has dirty hair. She is sort of cute, but so am I. I am clean and make good grades and my friends say I have a good personality. Who do you think deserves him, and how can I get him?

ONLY A FRIEND: DEAR ONLY: It doesn't matter who I think "deserves" him. The other girl has him. Your chances for making a boy, who likes you "only as a friend," like you in any other way are very small indeed. Settle for friendship... honey. And don't knock the competition, or you won't even have his friendship.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a friend who, when you call her up and ask if she is going to be home that evening, says she is, but she plans to watch her favorite TV program, so unless you want to watch it, too, you had better stay home?

HAD IT HAPPEN: DEAR HAD: I'd prefer her company to the person who tells me I'm welcome, then spurns me for the BOOB TUBE.

Manners Make Friends

Set up a quiet study area for youngsters, and part of the battle is won.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Everyone was enjoying the cooler weather after the rain. Now that the Republican National Convention is over we can get some sleep. But isn't TV wonderful. Maybe some day we will be able to watch the antics of the folk on the moon.

Guests in the Jay Evans home over the weekend was his brother, Otis Evans and wife of Sentinal, Okla.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moseley last week were Mrs. Moseley's sister, Mrs. A. T. McCampbell of Post.

While Mrs. Martha Carter was visiting her sister in Amarillo last week her son, James Carter and family joined her there for a visit. Carter, who has served in the armed forces for over 20 years was separated from the service recently and is moving to El Paso.

Fishing season seems to be in full force. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins spent last weekend at Lake Marvin and report a fair catch and a lot of fun.

Roddy and Cathy Van Huss of Wichita Falls are spending the week with their grandfather, Emmitt Hethcock and great-grandmother Mrs. Mollie Hethcock; also their grandmother, Mrs. Jessie VanHuss.

Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Turner spent Monday night in Sayre, Okla. visiting his brother and wife, the Lonnie Turners.

Had a nice visit with Uncle Billy Frost. He is always so jolly, but says it is getting to be quite an effort to get down to the Center. We surely miss him.

A sign of the season; Ship Ahoy! A Russian correspondent wired his office that American automobiles are so inefficient they have to be pushed along the highways with boats. (Bill Vaughn)

Hostesses were the Friendship class of the Presbyterian Church. Serving sandwiches, cookies and coffee were Mmes. Brent Blomkvist, K. A. Sorensen,

Jaycee-Ettes Meet For Salad Supper

Jaycee-Ettes met at 6:30 p.m. July 16 for a salad supper in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Hayes, 2232 N. Christy. Assisting with hostess duties were Mmes. Bert Queen and Gage Robertson.

Mrs. Jim Osborne, president, presided over the business meeting. The following committee reports were given: Mrs. Jim Alexander reported on ticket sales for the Pampa Community Fair; Mrs. Nathan Lancaster reported on the Senior Citizens meeting at which the Jaycee-Ettes served as hostess; reports were also given on the July 30 salad supper in Perryton, the July 4 concession stand at the rodeo grounds and on a trip to McLean on July 9 for a possible Jaycee-Ette extension there. Another meeting with wives of Jaycee members in McLean is planned for July 30.

An announcement was made concerning the baking contest to be sponsored by the Jaycee-Ettes at the Community Fair. Mrs. Glen Franks and Mrs. Bert Queen were appointed co-chairmen for this project.

Members were reminded of the Borger summer-area convention set for August 21-23 and a called meeting of the club has been scheduled for August 6 at 7:30 p.m. Next regular meeting of the Jaycee-Ettes will be men's night to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the park on August 20.

Attending were Mmes. Richard Cooke, Alexander, Jerry Don Hopkins, Franks, Eddie Polnac, Hayes, Ross Pool, Lancaster, Robertson, Osborne, John Warner, Queen, Jake Webb and D. R. Watson.

SHOWERS FOR YOUNGSTERS

If the youngsters in your family enjoy their daily ablutions in the form of a shower, try installing a child-sized shower head. This can be done by tapping into the regular shower standpipe about half way from the top. A cut-off valve is connected at the top shower head. Floors in a shower stall should be surfaced with unglazed, slip-proof ceramic tile. It's a good idea, too, to have a ceramic "grab bar" installed three to four feet from the floor.

Spats, once the trademark of the elegantly dressed male, now appear for feminine footwear. The National Shoe Institute reports the spat idea is "catching on fast" — and the trend could mean ankle coverings in various fabrics intended to be worn with high heels for town, low heels for almost anywhere.

Tucson Dr. Issues Warning On Sprays
TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Hair sprays can cause a type of acne which does not respond to conventional treatment, says Dr. Kenneth G. Baker, of Tucson. During 1962, at the peak of popularity of the beehive coiffure, maintenance of which calls for repeated spraying, Dr. Baker treated an unusually large number of teen-age girls for eruptions on forehead, face and neck. Questioning revealed that these patients used hair spray intensively, some as often as 25 times. If you use a hair spray, wear a cosmetic mask, Dr. Baker suggested.

Designer Oleg Cassini advances the "crack in the picture window" dress for fall. That's what he calls it. It's a fitted, sleeveless black with a diamond-shaped bare space at the waist. One shoulder covered, one shoulder bare. That's a look for a fall advanced for fall by the nation's trend-setting designers.

Serene TV Mom Slugs Kid in Show

By VERNON SCOTT HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jane Wyatt, the serene mother of "Father Knows Best," slugs a kid in a new television show, but that won't dispel her image as lovable Margaret Anderson.

Anyone who belts a kid actor can't be all bad, and such is the case with Miss Wyatt.

But she is so firmly established in the minds of televisioners as the ideal housewife and mother that she could spend the rest of her career strangling small fry on television with impunity.

"I played the role of Margaret Anderson for six years," she said during a lunch break at Universal Studios. "And the show has been running ever since (4 years). Everywhere I go people call me Mrs. Anderson. And because I played Robert Young's wife, they frequently refer to me as Mrs. Young. It's all very confusing."

Dons Blonde Wig

For her role in NBC's "Project 120," a two-hour special titled "The Window-Makers," Miss Wyatt has donned a blonde wig to help disguise her identity. But it won't help much. She still looks like Margaret Anderson.

"I have no objection to being so closely identified with that role," she smiled. "She was a generous, intelligent and decent woman. I'll always be thought of in that light."

"Even the crew members of this special I'm doing call me Margaret from time to time. I don't mind a bit."

In private life Miss Wyatt is Mrs. Edgar Ward, and she's been married 29 years. She is the mother of two sons, Christopher, 27, and Michael, 20. Christopher recently made her a grandmother.

Mother By Proxy

In addition to her own family, Jane considers herself mother by proxy to the youngsters who portrayed her children for 234 segments of "Father Knows Best." She corresponds regularly with Elinor Donahue (now Mrs. Harry Ackerman) and Billy Gray.

"They call me from time to time just to talk things over," Miss Wyatt said. "I find it very flattering."

"And, of course, Bob Young and I have remained good friends since the show went off the air. He is a wonderful man and a really terrific father to his own children."

"The 'Window Makers' will be seen this fall and later released in Europe as a feature movie. In it Miss Wyatt plays a disagreeable maiden aunt who is stuck with three orphaned children, one of which she socks in the kisser, as noted earlier.

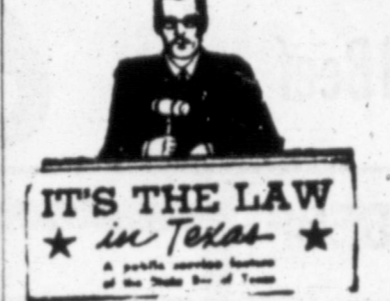

It isn't the first time Jane Wyatt-Margaret Anderson has departed from her sweet-as-honey image. In a recent segment of "The Virginian" she played a psychopath who murdered her daughter.

You'd think that would have been enough to blow the Margaret Anderson bit for good and all.

"Not so," said Jane. "I guess I'm one of the few actresses in Hollywood who can get away with murder."

TOP SECRET—An up-until-now secret candidate for the Top O' Texas Community Fair was announced by the ESA Sorority. She is Carletta Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson, 2123 N. Russell. Miss Johnson competed with 18 other contestants for the title. Balloting ended at 6 p.m. yesterday. The queen will be named on opening night of the Fair tomorrow.

THE LAWYER'S ROLE

There was a time when the method of trying lawsuits was so technical and strange to the average layman that the lawyer was considered a behind-the-scenes manipulator.

Now, since the public has come to know more about trial procedure, this erroneous conception largely has been corrected. The attorney is pictured for what he really is—a hard-working fellow who presents a case in a manner designed to fully and legitimately protect his client's interests.

The lawyer's duty starts with his first contact with his client. When advised of the controversy, he usually questions his client thoroughly to determine all of the facts involved. His first duty is to objectively evaluate the facts involved. He immediately advises his client to tell everything. Fact and circumstances which may seem trivial to the client can be of great value to the lawyer in the trial of the case.

The attorney then fits the law to the facts involved, and determines the theory under which lawsuit or controversy must be approached. It is surprising to the layman to learn that no two cases are alike; and, that nearly always it is necessary for a lawyer to "hit the books" to find a case or decision which governs the particular principle involved. This is sometimes a long and arduous task depending, of course, upon the intricacies of the factual and legal situation.

Quite frequently the lawyer will find it necessary to take statements of opposing parties or of witnesses to determine what facts they know that will confront him later in the trial. He is permitted to do this under our rules at any time before the trial. He also immediately starts planning his strategy, and determining the main points, factual and legal, upon which he will rely.

The next step in nearly every instance is negotiations between the parties which may or may not lead to a settlement. This usually takes considerable time, ingenuity and diplomacy. As a result many cases are settled out of court.

If the case is not settled, the attorney then prepares for trial. The case may be won or lost in trial preparation.

One of the most important aspects of a trial is the jury. The fate of the lawsuit is determined by 12 persons drawn from different walks of life, of different interests, and frequently of different race, sex and nationality. The lawyer presents his client's case to the jury through examination of witnesses and the introduction of other evidence. Based on this evidence the jury decides what are the facts of the case and renders its verdict in accordance with their findings.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

IT'S A STRIKE—This is what the designers say will be the stylish bowling costume on the moon. Rusty Anderson models a far-out ensemble at the International Bowling Fashions Show in New York. She's holding a transparent bowling ball.

FASTEST GUN IN THE WEST?—The two tough hombres squared off and stared defiantly at each other. And then, Pow! The silence of Virginia City, Mont., was shattered. Had the gunfight been real, the feller in the white shirt would be long gone. The winner of the mock battle is the man behind the cloud of smoke. The timing apparatus between the two gunmen determined who drew first.

Red Wheeler-Dealer 'Sells' Refrigerators

MOSCOW (UPI)—Nikola Basilievich Bychkov was a salesman who profited from the Russian housewife's longing to own a refrigerator. Bychkov, 40, took orders and money for refrigerators, and, explaining that they were hard to get, took bribes for his services. But then he took the next train out of town. There were no refrigerators. The story came out in the newspaper Sovietskaya Rossiya Sunday. It told how Bychkov, in travels from city to city, beguiled customers with "his kind simpleness, a charming smile, and his badge of a sports master."

about the Soviet citizens who willingly paid bribes to get an item in short supply. "What are you so angry about?" it asked its readers. "Let us assume for the moment Bychkov is not a criminal but really a worker in the trade and is ready to do a favor for someone close, for a certain sum. "Then he is simply a bribe-taker and you are bribe-givers. Shouldn't you thank Bychkov for saving you from criminal responsibility?"

Bychkov was so fond of sports that he traveled with soccer teams on their road trips. On one such trip he roomed with the manager and sold him one of his nonexistent refrigerators. The newspaper said the Bychkov is now serving a prison term — his ninth — but that there is more to the story. What

Woman Senator Refuses to OK GOP Candidate

DETROIT (UPI)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) refused Sunday night to give her unqualified personal endorsement to Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, but got in step with the Arizona senator's foreign policy attacks on the Johnson administration. Asked if she gave her "unqualified endorsement to the Republican presidential nominee," the lady from Maine told United Press International, "I wouldn't put it that way. "Let's say that I'm a Republican, and as such I accept the decision of the Republican majority and will support all the nominees." Earlier, in her first public appearance since the Republican national convention, Sen. Smith told an audience of about 4,000 persons that foreign policy decisions should not be delayed "until after the elections for fear of losing votes." In a statement that appeared to defend Goldwater from Democratic charges that he "shoots from the hip" on the issues, the senator said: "The timid and the procrastinators quickly and loudly condemn those with a sense of urgency and decisiveness as irresponsible and reckless. "The end result has been a tragic lack of clearcut national objectives and national strategy. The Communists have employed a strategy of dynamic aggression in the full spectrum of the exercise of power. The strategy of the United States has not been one of initiative but rather predominantly one of reaction." Sen. Smith gave the keynote speech at the convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which had endorsed her bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's daughter Luci has been practicing Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" which she will read at the National Music Festival Thursday at Interlochen, Mich. Luci, 17, will perform at the Interlochen music camp as a guest artist along with the famous pianist, Van Cliburn. She will rehearse her narration with Cliburn Wednesday.

U.S. to Rule on Marine's Shooting Of Jap Woman

TOKYO (UPI)—An American military spokesman announced today the United States has jurisdiction over a U.S. Marine Corps sentry who shot and killed a Japanese farm woman Monday at the Marine maneuver ground on the slopes of Mount Fuji. Japanese authorities made no statement of their own. But it was not believed they would press for jurisdiction. However, Japanese leftists were expected to continue their angry protests.

The spokesman said the Marine, Pfc. Manuel A. Covarrubias, 22, of Wapato, Wash., shot the woman in the line of duty while both he and she were within the fenced area of an American military reservation. Under the U.S.-Japan "status of forces" agreement, Japan has jurisdiction over American servicemen while they are off duty or off the base or both. The spokesman said neither was the case in this instance. Covarrubias has been restricted to Camp Fuji pending further investigation, but has not been arrested.

He was quoted as saying, "I couldn't tell whether the person was male or female—Japanese or American. The fog was quite thick and visibility was bad."

The woman, Miss Yuki Katsumata, 45, spinster sister of a Japanese farmer, died six hours after the shooting of buckshot wounds in the groin and hand.

A Marine Corps spokesman said she was seen leaving a tent in the fuel and maintenance area. He said Voarrubias challenged her three times in English and once in Japanese before firing.

The Marine spokesman said Miss Katsumata "had been apprehended by Marine sentries in the Fuji camp area" three times in the past four months.

PROFILE OF A CANDIDATE—II

Goldwater Trouble With Demos Started in '32

EDITORS NOTE: This is the second of five dispatches on the private life and public career of Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican candidate for president. It tells about his marriage, military career and entry into politics.

By LOWRY BOWMAN
Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater began having trouble with Democrats—or at least with a Democrat—in 1932.

He and G. Mennen Williams, later to become Democratic governor of Michigan, were courting the same girl.

The girl was Peggy Johnson of Muncie, Ind. The Goldwater campaign proved irresistible, and they were married in 1934. Williams, a good loser, attended the wedding.

NEW HEARING AID $99.50

This very new instrument is manufactured by an old, reputable firm, and has been proven successful. It has a special telephone pick-up, can be worn in either ear, is made with three transistors, and carries a full year guarantee.

You will like this hearing aid! Now to try this new instrument, come to our monthly Hearing Aid Service at the Adams Hotel in Pampa on Wednesday, July 22 from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m., or call Mr. Reach to come out to your home. There is no obligation, of course, and budget terms can be arranged.

Goldwater threw himself into the campaign for Miss Johnson's hand with the same fervor that marks all of his undertakings. It was this fervor that took him out of business and into politics after World War II.

Had Military Inclinations
Before his parents sent him to Staunton Military Academy in Virginia for his preparatory school education, Goldwater had expressed a half-formed desire for a try at West Point and a military career. He changed his mind after four years of military discipline at Staunton, but the military has remained one of his loves.

Goldwater fell in love with airplanes when Charles Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight was the talk of the world. He learned to fly in an old Great Lakes trainer and has held an Army reserve commission since 1930.

Three months before Pearl Harbor, Goldwater signed up for a year of active duty with the Army Air Corps, but when war came he had trouble wangling an active duty assignment because of a knee injury suffered during his high school basketball career.

It took the intervention of Arizona's two senators to get him on active duty, and he promptly volunteered for the hazardous duty of flying P-47 fighter planes across the North Atlantic to England.

Later he became chief pilot of the so-called "pony express run" supplying B-29 bomber bases in India through flights over the Azores, North Africa and Pakistan. He also flew cargo across the "hump" from India to China and stayed in active service briefly as a reserve lieutenant colonel after the war ended.

is composed of congressmen and congressional staff members.

Life as president of a prosperous Phoenix department store after the war could not satisfy a 35-year-old man whose activities always had been far-ranging.

There now were four Goldwater children, Joanne, Barry Jr., Michael and Peggy, and they occupied much of his time. But he was looking for new fields and new interests. Politics began—gradually at first—to fill the gap.

In 1946 Arizona became the third state to pass a right-to-work (open shop) law, and Goldwater was instrumental in the drive to get the law passed. He volunteered to head the retailers' part of the campaign, and much of organized labor's opposition to Goldwater stems from that.

Begins Political Climb
Goldwater the politician began to emerge in the late 1940's when a reform group began struggling with the city administration. The reform group charged that the city of Phoenix was going broke and that prostitution and gambling were rampant.

Goldwater, the city's "man of the year" in 1948, was urged to lead a "reform" slate in the municipal elections of 1949.

Until this time Goldwater had stayed out of partisan politics although his name was becoming known in Arizona political circles. He had served as general chairman of the Phoenix Community Chest, had served on the Arizona Interstate Stream Commission and had been a member of an advisory commission to the U.S. Interior Department on Indian Affairs.

He began to recall the long political discussions with his uncle Morris in past years, and finally he made a last-minute decision to run. He wrote his brother Bob that he had decided to run for city councilman because "I couldn't criticize the government of this city when I, myself, refused to help."

Leads Ticket
Goldwater, then 40 years old, led the ticket and was chosen vice chairman of the new city council.

Goldwater's transformation into a politician was complete. The following year he became campaign manager for gubernatorial candidate Howard Pyle, helped him win and incidentally helped revive the Arizona Republican party.

Goldwater and Pyle covered every corner of the state in Goldwater's private plane, talking Republicanism at airport rallies. Goldwater soon was as well known as his candidate, and his turn came in 1951.

His backers urged him in 1951 to accept nomination for another term in the Phoenix city council, but Goldwater had his eyes on the Senate seat held by powerful Sen. Ernest W. McFarland, a Democrat who held the prestigious post of Senate majority leader.

He rode over McFarland on the Eisenhower tide of 1952, and political leaders of both parties recognized him even then as a man to watch. (Tomorrow: Home and Hobbies.)

Texas Follows Trend In Number of Crimes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Total number of crimes committed in Texas during 1963 followed the national trend with an increase of about 11 per cent over the 1962 rate, the FBI's annual uniform crime report showed today.

Texas reported a total of 127,412 major offenses against society during 1963, compared to a total of 115,693 the previous year. Not only did the total number of crimes increase, but the percentage of crimes rose by 9 per cent per 100,000 population.

Winners Named In Dress Revue At Panhandle

PANHANDLE (Sp) — Winners in the 4-H dress revue presented here Friday night have been announced.

Judy Caldwell, 17 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Caldwell Panhandle, was the winner in the senior division and her alternate was Diane Labus, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Labus, Panhandle.

Winner of the junior division was Jane Hudson, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hudson of Groom. Her alternate was Debbie Labus, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Labus.

In the different divisions, winners were Linda Blackwall of Groom, Paula Roberts, of Groom, Debbie Labus, Jane Hudson and Judy Caldwell.

The judging contest, junior division, was won by Margaret Milligan of Conway with Carol Ann Williams of Conway placing second. Senior division winner of the judging contest was Judy Haskins of Panhandle. Placing second was Sandra Kotara of Groom and Diane Labus placed third.

Incidence of aggravated assault in Texas showed the biggest jump, up 16 per cent over 1962. Theft over $50 jumped 14 per cent and robbery 10 per cent.

The Dallas metropolitan area led the state of Texas in total number of murders in 1963 with 122. Houston, the perennial leader, was close behind with 120. But Houston led the state in all other categories because of its great concentration of population.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said the continued upswing in crime in the United States was consistent in all areas led by suburban communities up 13 per cent, while the cities averaged a 10 per cent rise and rural areas 6 per cent.

Hoover noted that crime across the country is increasing five times faster than the population growth. Since 1948 the national population has jumped 8 per cent while the crime ratio has risen 40 per cent.

PLANE NOSES OVER
CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — An Eastern Air Lines plane with 56 persons aboard nosed over and skidded off a runway Monday night when its front wheel collapsed after landing.

"There was no panic and no one suffered even so much as a scratch," said an airlines spokesman.

Most of the 51 passengers aboard the four-engine plane, flight 702 from Atlanta to Cleveland and Detroit, took a later flight.

NO REACTION
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House had no reaction Monday to the withdrawal of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace from the presidential race.

"Yes, we've heard about it," Press Secretary George E. Brady said.

"Naturally Mr. Wallace makes his own decisions. We have no reaction one way or another."

LBJ Asks Cash For Rights Cost

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today asked Congress to appropriate $13 million to carry out provisions of the new civil rights law.

The money would enable the Justice Department to expand its staff of lawyers to handle the enforcement features of the act.

British Bet Heavily On Barry to Win

LONDON (UPI) — One of the chief London bookmakers reported Monday a heavy bet on Sen. Barry Goldwater to win the presidential election.

"We were surprised but we think this was because we were offering very generous odds of 7-1 against," said a spokesman for the bookmakers (Ladbroke's).
