Bob Kennedy Scratched From VP Eligible List

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has eliminated Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy from his list of eligibles for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination. Among others who have been mentioned are Sen. John O. Pastore, R. I.; Edmund S. Muskie, Maine; Abraham A. Ribicoff, Conn.; and Thomas J. Dodd, Conn.; Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City and Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Johnson's associates denied that he had engaged in a "stop Kennedy" move. They noted that the President's decision to exclude cabinet members and cabinet confidantes from con-

15-Year-Old Admits Theft of 17 Autos

A series of 17 car thefts, covering a four-month period, were cleared up yesterday with the arrest of a 15-year-old Pampa youth.

The boy has given authorities a signed statement admitting stealing 13 cars in Pampa, three in Borger and one in Amarillo. The youngster was arrested in Borger late Wednesday night by Borger police.

He had driven to Borger in a stolen car from Pampa and had planned to take a car there and drive it back to Pampa when he was apprehended.

Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner said the youth was arrested at the North Plains Hospital in Borger.

According to the statement given by the youth, he had stolen a car from the hospital parking lot in Borger and started to Pampa. He became afraid of a thunderstorm and drove back to the hospital. He went into the hospital lobby to wait until the storm cleared.

An attendant became suspicious of the youngster in the hospital at the late hour and called police. The youth was taken into custody and readily admitted the series of thefts. Conner said none of the stolen cars were badly damaged.

He said the youngster would take a car and after driving it around town for a few hours, park it.

He always was alone when he took the cars, Conner said, and told no one what he was doing.

The chief also pointed out that this was the first time the youth has been in trouble with police here.

The boy was due to undergo further questioning today by police.

CONTACT MADE — Rescue workers watch as a bulldozer digs a hole into a crumbling hillside near Chamagnole, France, in an effort to reach nine men trapped in a chalk mine 223 feet below ground. Contact was made with the nine and food, clothing and medicine were sent down to them, and hope flared anew today for another five men sealed separately from the nine. Faint taps were heard today believed made by the missing five.

Hope Held for Five Thought Dead in Mine

CHAMPAGNOLE, France (UPI)—Distinct taps from deep inside a chalk mine where nine men have been trapped since Monday indicated today that one or more of their five missing comrades may still be alive.

A mine official said that because of the new "signs of life," test shafts would be sunk into the area in a "crash" drilling program.

Rescue workers battling around the clock to save the nine men caught in a cave-in 223 feet underground tapped out four knocks on the surface of Mount Rivel early today.

They heard four distinct taps in reply from below—not far from where the nine miners were located Tuesday.

A few seconds later the rescue workers knocked three times. Three taps came back.

A total of 14 men disappeared when the mine caved in with a roar Monday. Nine were contacted underground the next day, but the other five were missing and hope for their lives had begun to fade.

Earlier rescuers conducting drilling operations had reported hearing sounds from below. But they said these were not replies to tapped messages from the surface.

The taps this morning ap-

BenJack May Be First Extradited

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Ben-Jack Cage, the Texas insurance tycoon who jumped bond on his conviction for embezzling $100,000 and fled to a haven in Brazil, may be the first person extradited in a new treaty with that country.

Texas Gov. John Connally signed the extradition papers Thursday.

Texas Secretary of State Crawford Martin said the papers had been mailed to U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk for final processing but that it would probably be more than a month before Cage could be brought back.

Cage would be the first person brought back from Brazil under the new treaty, which has been approved by both national legislative bodies in that country.

The Brazilian president has signed it and all that remains is the formality of exchanging copies of it between U.S. and Brazilian embassy officials. This should come in a few days.

When the treaty goes into effect, it will eliminate Brazil as a haven for criminals, the last country in South America to agree to mutual return of fugitives from justice.

Misses Dead Center By Scant 10 Miles

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Ranger-7 paved the way for America to land a man on the moon today by sending back thousands of "excellent" closeup pictures before a bulls-eye strike on the lunar surface.

"The whole mission was a complete success, it hit right on target," said a jubilant scientist at the flight's control center here. The mission ended years of frustrating failures in the Ranger program to find out what sort of surface would greet man when he reaches earth's satellite, possibly in 1969 or 1970.

Ranger 7 "struck only 9 or 10 miles from dead center," said project manager H. M. Schurmeier.

The up to 4,000 pictures transmitted across a quarter million miles of space in the dozen minutes before impact were described as "excellent... not interrupted" by the Goldstone tracking station on California's Mojave Desert.

At the control center, elated scientists, technicians and newsmen yelled in glee over the success of the mission that followed nearly 70 hours of flight from Cape Kennedy.

President Johnson personally congratulated laboratory director Dr. William Pickering by telephone.

"We are proud of the tremendous technical achievement which this successful flight represents," Johnson said. "This is a basic step forward in our orderly program to assemble the scientific knowledge necessary for man's trip to the moon."

"I recognize that this great success has come only after a number of failures and partial failures in our efforts to send probes to the moon," the President said. "This success should spur us on to added effort in the future."

The President said "our Soviet competitors have had many unpublishable failures to the moon and the planets." Soviet failures, he added, confirmed the complexity of the American success today which he called a "magnificent achievement" in the "peaceful exploration of space."

Pickering told a news conference "It's been a long road, but this shot was a textbook operation... everything went the way it should."

There was a possibility the pictures "if as clear as indicated" would be made public within a few hours.

When the signal was sent to the Ranger 7 to turn on its six television cameras to robe the ageless mysteries of the lunar landscape the tracking station reoriented the equipment was "in full power and... sending strong video pictures."

Ranger "took excellent pictures to the end" a space official said when the space probe impacted on the lunar Sea of Clouds at 6:25 a.m. PDT (9:25 a.m. EDT). First pictures were of an area 300-400 miles square but just before impact it filmed objects as small as an automobile.

"The mission is an entire success," a JPL scientist said flatly during the crucial approach. "All cameras are transmitting excellent video pictures" as the Ranger hurtled toward its doom on the Sea of Clouds.

The Sea of Clouds region is where American astronauts on the Apollo spacecraft mission might first land on the moon in 1969 or 1970. Ranger 7's pictures were designed to tell scientists whether the lunar surface is smooth or rugged.

The scientist further stated that "we have had a maximum amount of camera coverage" which meant everything the cameras had been scheduled to take—4,000 pictures—to pave the way for man's setting foot on the lunar surface. Success of the Ranger meant the United States could proceed with its Apollo program of sending a manned spacecraft to the moon and be able to tell what terrain would be available for a landing.

Downtown Unit OKs Request for Council

Directors of the Downtown Business Association of Pampa yesterday afternoon approved a recommendation to be presented to the City Commission concerning downtown parking meters.

The recommendation asks for the deactivation of 19 blocks of parking meters for another 30-day trial period.

"During the period," the recommendation states, "we request the chief of police reactivate meters within a given block only upon the written application of a majority of business firms within the block. At the end of the trial period, we recommend the permanent removal of all meters which have not been reactivated."

Kirk Duncan, chairman of the parking meter committee, presented this proposal yesterday and it was unanimously approved.

The board also voted to request the city to blacktop and mark the Sante Fe parking lot within the next 60 days.

In making the recommendation, Duncan said, "Nothing would please the merchant more than to provide shoppers with free parking. However, one of the facts of life is that the employee will compete with the shopper for prime parking space. The competition is unfair, for the employee arrives early, stays all day, and leaves late.

"The public should understand," Duncan said, "that the purpose of meters is not to punish the shopper; rather, they are to help him find a space in front of his favorite store."

The recommendation will be presented to the commission at their regular meeting Tuesday.

Objections to Motors Voiced By Gondoliers

VENICE, Italy (UPI)—Fifty-six gondoliers threatened to burn their boats unless the city government does something about the way their competitors, the motorboat pilots, are whipping up waves in the grand canal.

The long-bowed gondola, propelled by a singing gondolier in flat straw hat and striped shirt, has been a part of the Venetian scene for nearly nine centuries. The motorboat has come only in the last few decades.

But in that time the motor-driven water taxis and buses have taken over most of the business on Venice's 177 canals. The protesting gondoliers Monday stacked their frail craft in St. Mark's Square and prepared for the burning if the city officials turn down their plea.

They are not complaining about the competition from the motorboats, they said, only about the way the water taxis churn up the canal, swamping the gondolas and damaging their delicate hulls.

They want controls imposed on motorboat traffic on the grand canal, where the city recently allowed the water taxis to cruise.

But it was plain that the gondoliers were objecting to the way the motorboats were muddying their economic waters.

Sixteenth century Venice had 10,000 gondolas crowding its canals. There are fewer than 400 today, and almost the only customers now are tourists.

Saigon and French Stands Embarrass U.S.

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Saigon, the United States has been embarrassed and irritated by Premier Gen. Nguyen Khanh's aggressive cry for a "march to the north" against Communist North Viet Nam.

Coming at almost the same time and a cause for further irritation was President Charles de Gaulle's news conference assertion that a "military solution cannot be expected" in South Viet Nam and that therefore neutralization provided the only solution.

The positions advocated by Khanh and by De Gaulle, at opposite ends of the poles, clashed with the United States' own position which is in-between.

How seriously Khanh took his own proposal is a matter of speculation but both were a challenge to U.S. initiative in Southeast Asia.

Hindering U.S. Policy
As for De Gaulle, the United States believes that if he cannot help the U.S. effort in South Viet Nam, at least he should not hinder it in the same way he already has had a negative effect on U.S. influence in Europe and upon U.S. initiative within the Atlantic Alliance.

The United States never has threatened armed reunification of Viet Nam, a position which General Khanh now declares is South Vietnamese policy.

It does demand a return to the 1954 Geneva accords which gave independence to Viet Nam and provided for reunification.

BAD IMPRESSION

HOUSTON (UPI)—Houston firemen were ordered Thursday to take down their pin-ups from the firehouse wall.

Specifically, the ban imposed by Fire Chief Joe Lobue covered "lewd, nude or obscene pictures, including calendars."

It seems a group of school children visited a fire station recently and saw some of the pictures on the wall.

of the country through free elections.

And to De Gaulle's proposal that another conference be called, President Johnson replied bluntly that "we do not believe in conferences called to ratify terror."

Both Khanh and De Gaulle would undermine a U.S. policy which began to emerge upon the arrival in Saigon of Gen. Maxwell Taylor as the new U.S. ambassador there.

Gave Laos Bombers
This was the policy which gave the converted T28 airplanes to the Laotians, enabling them to bomb and strafe the otherwise militarily superior Communist-led Pathet Lao.

It was the policy which stepped up the already-costly military aid to South Viet Nam.

It also was the policy under which various U.S. military leaders were able to declare that the United States would risk war with Red China if necessary to protect the independence of Southeast Asia.

But its success was dependent upon the United States retaining the initiative to decide when, where and how to apply its vast military strength.

It was a strategy that for years has proved itself a successful restraint against any Red Chinese attack on Formosa and its outlying islands of the Quemoy and the Matsus.

Barry Starts Brief Holiday at Campsite

MONTE RIO, Calif. (UPI)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater today began a short pre-campaign holiday by hobnobbing with notable assembly at the annual encampment in Bohemian Grove.

The Arizona senator was a guest in former President Herbert Hoover's cave man camp, one of many campsites in the 2,600 acre enclosure. Rest and relaxation were the order of the day and, later, a talk at the closing assembly of the annual outing.

Goldwater flew here from Washington Thursday, landing at nearby Santa Rosa. He was met at the airport by his host, Army Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer (ret.), a friend since World War II, and by Herbert Hoover Jr. They drove immediately to the grove.

The senator, who has been insisting that the California holiday was to be private and without fanfare, eluded newsmen for his getaway from Washington. Reporters and photographers were on hand, however, when he stepped off a turbo-prop Convair.

Hoover suggested that Goldwater might want to have a word with newsmen, but Goldwater quickly replied: "No, I don't. There will be no press conference."

Goldwater will stay in the grove until Saturday when the annual outing ends, and then head for a visit with his family at the Calboa Bay Club in Southern California. There, it was reported, he has asked that a no-press policy be observed.

The annual encampment in Bohemian Grove is, technically, an outing of the Bohemian Club, which has its headquarters in downtown San Francisco. Actually with the help of former President Hoover and others, the grove has become an annual gathering of top names in all fields from all over the country.

Dallas Group Fears Riots and Disorder

DALLAS (UPI)—A biracial committee held a news conference Thursday across the street from a Black Muslim temple and said they feared the city was on the brink of riots and disorder.

During the conference grunts and whacks could be heard coming from the Black Muslim building, like those made by persons practicing karate.

The five-man committee, aired a long list of complaints against what it called "token" integration and poor job opportunity for Negroes.

It also charged brutality by some police against Negroes.

Other complaints were that Negro housing was inadequate, that churches did not follow the Golden Rule in all race relations and that most civic leaders have just stood pat on racial matters.

The new committee includes one white man and was created July 13 at a special meeting. Dallas already had a committee of 14, half Negro and half white—which worked to improve better race relations in the city, but the new committee is more Negro oriented and more militant.

It is headed by Clarence A. Laws, southwest regional secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Thursday's press conference was held at the Dallas NAACP headquarters right across the street from the Black Muslim "Muhammed's Mosque of Islam."

Other members of the group are Wayland Boles, E. Brice Cunningham, Roosevelt Johnson and the Rev. L. Butler Nelson. Boles is the white member.

The committee called for sweeping social changes and said the conference was held "because we feel the city of Dallas is on the brink of riots and disorder."

RUTH MILLETT

A friend canceled an appointment with me the other day. Her explanation: her husband asked her to meet him to help him choose a new hat.

Like a lot of other husbands, hers has evidently been made so aware of his wife's superior taste he has reached the point where he doesn't trust himself to select a hat without her help.

It's dreadful the way we women have managed to get ourselves up as the final authority in the family on all matters of taste.

Dad looks longingly at a comfortable chair in a department store, and we tell him it would look horrible in the living room. He meekly accepts the verdict.

He announces that he is going to buy a new suit and mom either gets along to make sure he gets what she thinks is right, or gives him explicit directions about the kind of suit to buy.

Even when he goes down and selects a gift for his wife to surprise her on her birthday or wedding anniversary, she may sneak back to the store and exchange it for something she likes better.

No wonder the poor men don't trust their own ability to pick out anything without first consulting mom.

We have managed to convince them that we know what's best for the whole family — and it ain't necessarily so!

Dear Abby....

Pity Brain Tests
Aren't Required, too

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 29 and very much in love with a 34-year-old man who was married for eight years. He recently divorced his wife because, after spending a fortune on doctors, he found out that the reason they had never had children was because his wife couldn't have any. This man is crazy about children and says he won't take a chance on marrying another woman who can't give him a family. I know this is going to sound horrible, Abby, but he says that the day I can give him proof that I am pregnant, he will marry me. But not until. He says he will even put it in writing. He has a lot to offer a girl, and I see nothing wrong with his proposition, but I would like to know if it would hold up in court.

WILLING TO GAMBLE
DEAR WILLING: If you see nothing wrong with this proposition at age 29, I doubt that I can educate you in one letter. As for whether his "deal" (written or otherwise) would hold up in court, a lawyer can tell you. A pity they don't require BRAIN tests along with BLOOD tests before marriage.

DEAR ABBY: My wife seldom throws anything out, and consequently our home is cluttered with old newspapers, magazines, rags, empty catsup bottles, pickle jars, outgrown children's clothing, toys, and I could go on and on. I have attacked this mess a few times and admit that the last time I was quite vocal about my displeasure, which did not make for domestic tranquility. We have children 12, 8 and 4. My wife is in good health and does not work outside the home. Can this problem be solved?

SEMI-HAPPY
DEAR SEMI: Your house is not a home. It's a fire trap! If your wife is in good health, she is apparently lazy, disorganized and in need of some help. "Attack the mess" together. The Salvation Army would appreciate the toys and clothing. Don't permit your wife to accumulate another collection even if you have to sacrifice a little "domestic tranquility" to achieve some semblance of orderliness.

DEAR ABBY: I know you usually stick up for the teen-agers, but I think you should mention that there are plenty of parents who have tried their best to raise their children to be honest and decent, but something goes wrong in spite of their efforts. Thank you.

HOUSTON PARENT
DEAR PARENT: Yes, what you say is true. But I am reminded of an incident which occurred in your city not long ago. Judge L. J. King, of Criminal District Court No. 2 found a young man in his court whom he had already placed on probation. He told the lad that now he would have to give him a prison sentence. The boy answered, "Good! I'd rather go there than go home!"

DEAR ABBY: My name happens to be KILROY, and wherever I go, people say, "O-Kilroy was here!" Will you please tell me who Kilroy was?

KILROY
DEAR KILROY: The expression originated during World War II. I don't know whether Kilroy was a legendary character or a real one, but I'll bet one of my readers can come up with the answer. Does anyone know?

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor
Says

Pain's Location Only One
Fact That Must Be Known

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—In a recent column you say that "the typical ulcer pain is localized with a finger tip." Does one press hard or lightly with the finger? I have a pain about four inches above the navel. Would that be from a stomach ulcer, my gall bladder, or an injured disc?

A—You don't press to locate a pain—you just point. If you have to press to elicit the pain we doctors would call it a point of tenderness rather than a pain. Your own pain could be that of a peptic ulcer, heartburn, gall bladder colic (although this is more common on the right side), pancreatitis, coronary heart disease, strain of the abdominal muscles from coughing, or possibly colitis, although in colitis the pain usually covers a wider area and shifts about.

So you can see that a doctor must know a great deal more about you than the fact that you have a certain type of pain before he can diagnose the cause of your trouble.

Q—My doctor says I have a floating kidney but that there isn't anything to do about it. He did say that it could easily become infected. What is a floating kidney and how will it affect my health?

A—Very little is written about floating kidney any more because it is a condition in which the kidney is not fixed and immovable but may slip up or down a short distance. It will not affect your health, but worrying about it will.

Q—Our 17-year-old son was sent home from school with a rash. The doctor says he has infectious mononucleosis. What causes this? What are the symptoms? What is the difference between infectious and contagious?

A—Infectious mononucleosis is a disease in which the mononuclear white blood cells are greatly increased in number. It is believed to be caused by an as yet unidentified virus. It is spread from person to person by close contact. In some victims there is a faint rash.

Other symptoms are fever; enlarged, tender lymph nodes, especially in the neck; and sore throat. Cortisone and related hormones or chloroquine are used in the treatment.

An infectious disease is one that is caused by a germ or virus. Not all such diseases are contagious, which means readily passed from one victim to another. The degree of contagion and the mode of transmission of different germs vary.

Fuller "Peasant" Skirts Stressed by Dior

By ALINE MOSBY
PARIS (UPI)—The House of Christian Dior stressed fuller "peasant" skirts and long jackets today in its fall and winter line of suits.

Dior designer Marc Bohan showed a squared-off jacket in his parade of 200 creations that are destined to influence what women will wear in the coming months.

Another type of suit, which he called a hunting outfit, had a straight skirt and an extra-long straight jacket.

The Dior dresses had blouse tops and extra-full skirts which

Bohan also dubbed "peasant style."

Another type of Dior dress was belted to emphasize the bust. Its giant raglan sleeves gave extra width to balance narrow skirts.

Bohan also showed tube dresses with raglan sleeves. This sheath line also dominated his cocktail-dress styles.

Dinner gowns featured extra-bouffant skirts. Many of the evening dresses were cut very high, with the usual shocking neckline conspicuously absent.

HAT-BUYING RULES

When you shop for a new hat take two precautions to be sure you'll be satisfied with your purchase. Wear the costume for which you are buying the hat and look in a full-length mirror rather than the usual small table glass.

FOOT GROOMING

The open, airy summer shoes make foot grooming doubly important. Be sure you remove calluses, pump bumps and rough skin and give yourself a weekly pedicure to ensure pretty feet.

Two Businesses Plan Grand Openings Here

Two new businesses in Pampa have scheduled grand openings for tomorrow evening.

Both located in the Pampa Hotel, they are: the Kon-Tiki Room, main floor dining room featuring Polynesian and American foods, and the Crystal Lounge, in the hotel basement. The Crystal Lounge is operated by Buddy Roland, a resident of Pampa since 1940 and former employe of Copan Drilling Corp. The lounge has been completely redecorated and new equipment installed. Aside from beverages, food from the Kon-Tiki also is available in the Crystal Lounge. The lounge is open for dancing from noon until midnight on weekdays and from noon Saturday until 1 a.m. Sunday.

The Kon-Tiki Room, located just off the hotel lobby, has been completely remodeled in South Sea motif and will feature a live combo on Fridays and Saturdays with dancing throughout the week.

Kon-Tiki's operator, G. E. (Smitty) Smith, is a pioneer in the preparation and serving of Polynesian food in the United States, having trained for the business in Honolulu 39 years ago. He was a contemporary of the famous Trader Vic on the West Coast and operated Polynesian restaurants in California until relocating in Amarillo last year. He presently is lessee of the Kon-Tiki Room in the Americana Motor Inn in Amarillo.

To get the operation off to a good start, Smith brought head chef James Mason and head waitress Vivian Montgomery from Amarillo to Pampa to train personnel here.

The Kon-Tiki Room has been completely remodeled in South Sea Island decor and new equipment, including a huge Chinese chop suey range, has been added.

Smith said improvements will amount to some $15,000.

A special combo will play for the Saturday night grand opening and the event will be aired for three hours by radio station KHHP.

For those unfamiliar with Polynesian cuisine and South Sea Island cookery, Smith said he would always be on hand to offer palatable suggestions.

Aside from Polynesian dishes, the Kon-Tiki also offers a complete American menu for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Hours are: Sunday through Thursday, 6 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Friday, 6 a.m. to midnight; Saturday, 6 a.m. to 2 a.m. Sunday.

The restaurant, Smith said, is catering to clubs, card parties, and business and civic groups.

Americans Safe After Grenade Attack in Viet

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—Six American soldiers escaped injury today when a terrorist threw a hand grenade at them but two Vietnamese children and one adult were seriously wounded.

Bystanders said the soldiers were standing in front of a tailor's shop waiting for the American community's special bus when a young Vietnamese man glided past on a bicycle and tossed a grenade wrapped in white paper.

The grenade went wide of the American group and exploded in front of the next shop, breaking all its windows and digging a large hole in the pavement. The terrorist escaped.

Indians Build City of Tepees At Parley Site

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (UPI)—Indians from across the nation have built a tepee city on the site of their old hunting grounds along the Goose Creek in Sheridan. They are here to celebrate the Congress of American Indians and All American Indian Days.

Every major tribe in the nation is represented among the official delegates to the congress and delegates from some of the smaller tribes still trickled in today.

The Redmen brought many of the citizens and tourists out with a parade through the streets of Sheridan Tuesday.

Two Indian dance groups—the Ute Mountain tribe from Towaoc, Colo., and the Inter-Tribal Indian Club from Salt Lake, Utah—are participating in the festivities.

The Miss Indian America pageant has 22 entrants representing 16 states and 19 tribes.

Tuesday, Walter Wetzel of Browning, Mont., president of the congress, called for Indians to unite "to gain the achievements they want."

His sentiment was echoed by Robert Burnett of Rosebud, S.D., executive director of the congress.

"The Indian is not on equal footing any place and especially on equal employment," Burnett said. He added that by unity alone could the tribes hope to achieve the progress they seek.

Castro's Sister Granted Asylum

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Mexican government Thursday granted political asylum to Juana Castro, sister of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

The government said that Miss Castro, who denounced her brother for handing Cuba over to the Communists, must refrain from any political activity or "agitation" while in Mexico. It said she had met the legal requirements for asylum, which include evidence that the person's life would be endangered if he returned to his homeland.

Miss Castro, 32, has been in virtual hiding since defecting last month, apparently fearing retaliation from her brother. She officially applied for asylum this week.

Junior College Plans—VI

High School Grad Needs More Training

Let's face it. The average high school graduate, fresh out of school, isn't equipped to step into a job!

This statement isn't made to disparage our very fine school system and first-rate teachers; neither is it made to infer that the class room is the only place where an ambitious person can acquire an education. The point is that the new graduate simply hasn't had the opportunity to acquire the experience and training for the complex jobs of today.

The "War Babies" of World War II are now entering colleges in unprecedented numbers; class rooms are bursting at the seams, and the costs of higher education are sky-rocketing. There are predictions that the cost of a college education may soon be as much as $20,000! Quite obviously, many young people are going to be deprived of a higher education unless drastic steps are taken. Quite obviously, Pampa needs a junior college.

The need is unquestionable, but are we willing to pay the cost?

Using county valuations, the tax rate to support a junior college is estimated at 40 cents. A house with a market value of $10,000 would be taxed approximately $4 each year. Is this prohibitive?

After weighing the cost against the many benefits to the community, a junior college appears to be a real bargain, which I am most willing to buy.

Rescue of Man In Well Fails

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—Rescue workers used a huge drill to cut a rescue hole to a farmer trapped 31 feet down in his water well early today but when they got to him he had suffocated.

The victim, C. G. Rosser, 58, went into the well Thursday afternoon to enlarge it. At about 4 p.m., a section of the well caved in, trapping him.

Two other men working with him and some nearby construction workers and highway patrolmen ran a tube into the hole and began pumping air into it.

No sound was heard from the well and the drill was rushed in to begin the rescue hole. At 11 p.m. workers sighted one of Rosser's hands. It took another two and a half hours to get a rope around the body and bring it to the surface.

Perryton Sheriff To Head Law Unit

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI)—Ray Phagen of Perryton, was elected president of the Sheriffs Association of Texas this week in the closing session of the group's three-day convention.

Vice presidents chosen included Earl Franklin, Marshall; Mike Flournoy, Wharton, and Cecil Turner, San Angelo. R. C. Johnson of Dalhart, Gilbert Sommerfield of Mineral Wells and Carl Black of Cameron were named directors. Outgoing president Henry C. Mayfield of Lamesa was awarded a life membership in the association.

WATER SUPPLY DROPS

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

PASTOR REV. J. B. CALDWELL
HI-LAND PENTECOSTAL HOLINESS CHURCH

DANIEL 3:14-20

In the book of Daniel, the Hebrew boys were first tempted to COMPROMISE. The King had been good to the boys and had even paid homage to Jehovah God of Israel. This surely made it hard for the boys to refuse to return the compliment and pay homage to Nebuchadnezzar's image. But to bow down was to violate the commandment against idolatry.

Secondly they were tempted to CONFORM. Heathenism was so tolerant that it recognized all the gods of the various nations. There was nothing strange in worshipping the gods of another nation in addition to your own good. Everyone did it, why be different? Man is a social creature. He likes to be a part of the crowd. It is difficult to stand alone while everyone else "adjusts" to the crowd.

The Bible is clearly intolerant of sin and false worship. The Christian is to be tolerant toward the sinner and the worship of false gods, but never toward sin and false worship. Much of modern education is to teach youth to adjust to this evil world. The declared purpose of the Christian is to be not conformed to this world. Romans 12:2.

The prompt answer the boys gave the King was, this matter was in the hands of God, whom they served. Two things they were certain of, Our God is able to deliver us. They were absolutely sure God would deliver them out of the King's hands, but if not, be it known unto thee, O King, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image. Many glibly use Christian terminology while denying the very heart of Christianity — the cross. They say, "we will not bow down as long as God keeps us out of the fire. But if he ever fails to deliver us, we will try another god." The boys said, O King "no matter what God does in this situation, we are totally committed to him we will not bow down."

While a consecrated life brings a smile of approval from God, it often also brings the fury of man. The fourth man did not appear upon the scene until after the boys had gone beyond the point of no return. When we are to stand and answer like these boys, do we serve God for what he is to us, or for what he does for us? What will God answer?

57TH YEAR FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1964 9

Colts, Graham Plow In Tournament Finals

The Pampa Colts complete their round-robin of teams in the National Baseball Congress District Tournament tonight with a game against Amarillo Graham Plow at 8:15 in Borger.

The Colts beat Umlinger 16-4, Stinnett 11-1 and Borger 10-5 in previous games to advance to the finals undefeated.

Graham, like Pampa, has clinched a trip to the state semi-pro tournament in Lubbock beginning Aug. 6. The Plowboys, who split four Tri-State League games with Pampa, lost a first round game to Borger, then beat Umlinger 4-2 and Stinnett 13-3 before gaining revenge on Borger with an 11-0 victory last night.

Colt manager Tom Glover plans to start Jerry Garrison on the mound tonight in search of the district championship. Garrison spent the season with the Pampa Rebels and starred in the Legion district tournament in Pampa recently. The little righthander struck out 18 Hereford batters in a first round game to advance the Colts to the winners bracket finals.

Except for Garrison, Glover's lineup will remain approximately the same. Ray Dean will catch, Jerry Glover will be at first, Morle Terrell at second, Claude Middleton at third, Keith Gregory at shortstop, Mike Stewart in left field, Roy Stephens in center field and Royce Harnsberger in right field.

SAFE AT FIRST — Steve Williams beats out an infield hit in the climactic sixth inning of last night's 9-8 victory by Pampa American League over Dumas. Wayne Harkrider is the first baseman.

Babe Ruth Tourney Finals Set Tonight

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor

Mighty Dumas fell before an upstart Pampa American League team that just refused to be beaten in last night's Babe Ruth District Tournament.

The 9-8 victory by Pampa forced the double-elimination tournament into its 19th game as Dumas suffered its first loss. The two teams play for all the marbles tonight at 8.

Dumas appeared ready to make the championship game another runaway, as it had all but one of its previous games, with a seven-run first inning, but Johnny Marsh came to the rescue and halted the stampede.

two runs scored and the game-ending double play.

Jones also scored two runs and was three for four at the plate. Steve Williams and Dickie Henley were two for four.

Tim Galloway doubled and singled in his three at bats to lead Dumas hitters. Colin Freeman tripled in his only time at the plate, as a pinch hitter. Butch Rogers was also two for three for Dumas.

Marsh was not overpowering but was very effective. He struck out five and walked three in 5 1-3 innings and gave up three hits and two runs. With a giant assist from Molberg he won the decision.

Unknown Orioles, White Sox Gain On Yanks; Phillies Win

MONTREAL (UPI) — C. L. (Gibby) Gilbert, homesick, minus a first name, on probation and unheard of until Thursday, was the surprise leader entering the second round of the $50,000 Canadian Open championship today.

The 23-year-old native of Chattanooga, Tenn., who hasn't won a nickel in 19 previous tournaments, held a one shot lead over Bob Shave Jr., the croquet putter from Willoughby, Ohio.

Gilbert, a crew-cut youngster who seldom makes the cut in any tournament he has played, put together three consecutive birdies on the back nine to come up with a four-under par 67 on the tough Pinegrove course.

"It was my biggest thrill in golf," said the youth, who admits that "I get homesick after every two or three tournaments."

The 5-foot-11, 165-pounder, playing in the third-to-last threesome, was given some polite applause from about 34 fans still remaining around the home hole — a far cry from the gallery of about 3,000 that followed Arnold Palmer, who could do no better than an even par 71 over the soggy 7,080-yard par 36-35-71 layout.

Three shots off the pace at one-under 70 entering the second round, were co-favorite Jack Nicklaus, veteran touring pro Bill Collins, Rex Baxter, Bob Rosburg, Gary Player's South African brother-in-law, Bob Verney, and Al Geiberger. Defending champion Doug Ford could do no better than a six-over 77.

Unknown Orioles, White Sox Gain On Yanks; Phillies Win

By United Press International

The Chicago White Sox and the Baltimore Orioles are rehearsing for the dramatic American League production of "September in August" which opens next Friday in Yankee Stadium and runs for 19 straight games.

The drama was written and produced by an unwitting schedule maker who exhausts all games among the three contenders by Aug. 23, with nothing left for the September "stretch drive" except meetings with the also-rans.

The Yankees play 15 consecutive games with the second-place Orioles and third-place White Sox beginning a week from today in New York with home series in each city to follow. Immediately after Baltimore and Chicago finish with the Yankees they engage each other in a final four-game set at Chicago beginning Aug. 24.

For years the Yankees have deprived the AL of a true September pennant chase. Now, with the promise of a red hot race, the schedule is the villain.

Gain On Yankees

Both the White Sox and the Orioles shaved a half-game off the idle Yankees' lead Thursday.

The Orioles moved within a half game of first place by out-slugging the Minnesota Twins with five home runs for a 7-4 decision. Jackie Brandt cracked two homers in support of rookie Dave Vineyard's second victory since being called up from the International League two weeks ago.

Vineyard had a five-hit shutout until the eighth when the Twins scored twice. He needed relief help in the ninth when pinch-hitter Ron Henry hit a two-run homer.

In the only other American League contest, the Senators rallied to stop the Indians 8-7.

St. Louis topped Chicago 8-7. Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Houston 1-0 and 8-3. Los Angeles overcame New York 5-3, and Philadelphia rallied to defeat San Francisco 4-3 in 10 innings in National League action. Milwaukee and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Friend or Foe?

In the current edition of the Communist Party newspaper, The Worker, Gus Hall, who bears the dubious title of "national spokesman" for the party, uses a great deal of Page 1 space explaining "How the People Can Defeat Goldwater."

Which leads us to observe that Messrs. Hall, Khrushchev and Company have made a point. They have no difficulty in distinguishing friend from foe. The ability to recognize readily friend or foe is a faculty few Americans possess.

Inside the paper, another story informs us that Khrushchev sees "Goldwater Platform as a Peril to U.S. and World."

It seems that Republican Candidate Goldwater has incurred the inveterate ire and sore displeasure of the Communists. It is apparent that they see in Mr. Goldwater not a friend, but a foe, of the Communist philosophy and socialist system.

In the ancient city of Ninevah there were more than six-score thousand persons who could not discern between their right and left hands.

Sometimes a man's friends are his foes and his foes are his friends. In opposing Goldwater, the Communist leaders have done him a favor. Their enmity he can well afford.

Take Time

If you cannot take time to read good books, then you cannot take the time to achieve the reward that comes through familiarity with great ideas.

... Where the Heart Is

"It takes a heap of living," as the late and beloved Eddie Guest wrote so long ago, "to make a house a home."

Next to our sustenance, nothing is so important to us as our home. In fact, only the food industry gets more of our dollars than that of building our homes.

development and changing social patterns.

It was with some premonition of what lay ahead that industry leaders organized more than 20 years ago, the National Association of Home Builders.

Over the years they have policed themselves through Standards or Ethics committees more rigidly than have the various Federal, state and local regulations.

Up-to-date in his profession, as he must be, the Registered Builder is plainly a fellow who is old-fashioned enough to put integrity and reputation above price.

Professions and Images

What professions now command greatest prestige in the public eye?

The National Opinion Research Center of the University of Chicago made a survey in order to find out. Supreme Court justices came first, followed by physicians.

The Center made a similar study 17 years ago. And it is significant that then, as now, the justices and the physicians held a firm grip on first and second places.

One can draw his own moral from that.

As the Chicago Tribune observes, "That physicians should hold their own, while public officials have slipped, ought to interest those who want to give the government a hand in our medical care."

Let those who would subject medicine to a bureaucracy take note!

National Outlook

By GEORGE HAGERDORN

The major statistical indicators are always watched closely. There has been a special interest in such information this year as observers try to detect the effects of the tax reduction enacted in February.

The Commerce Department has just released data on the gross national product, and its various components, for the second quarter of 1964. Since the reduction in withholding rates went into effect in March, the second quarter is the first period in which we would expect to see the impact of the tax change clearly recorded.

But an inspection of these new figures leads to some curious results. The increase in the gross national product between the first and second quarter was substantial — about $9.7 billion on an annual rate basis.

The actual enactment of the tax cut does not seem to have accelerated the rate of increase in total economic activity. Looking at the details of the figures, it is also difficult to see the direct impact of the tax cut.

Our experience since enactment of the tax cut is too short, and the figures just quoted are not precise enough, to permit drawing firm conclusions at this time.

The expected upsurge in consumer demand has not yet materialized — at least not in the mechanical fashion predicted by administration economists.

The record suggests that the stimulating effect of the tax reduction has operated chiefly through its impact on business incentives and business confidence.

It may seem that this is raising an irrelevant question — if tax reduction gives the economy a boost, why argue about the process through which this occurs?

The liar's punishment is not in the least that he is not believed, but that he cannot believe anyone else.

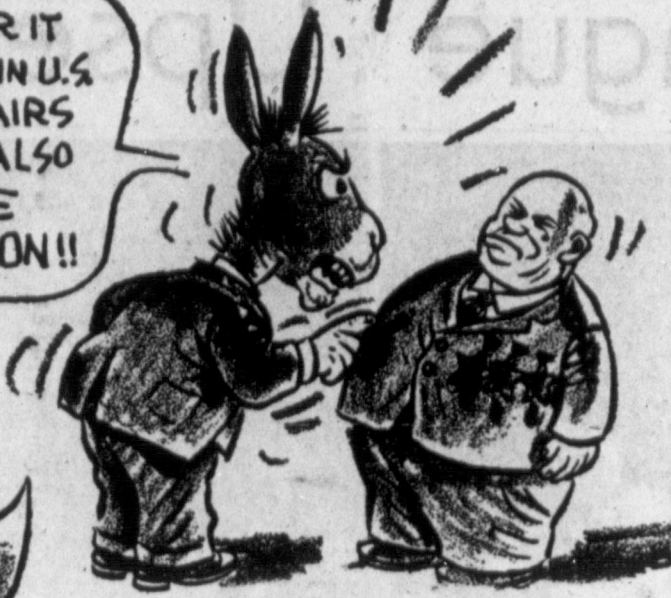

The American bison, commonly called buffalo or plains buffalo, formed the mainstay of the economy of the Plains Indians, providing them with meat and hides for food, clothing and shelter.

Before the white man arrived their number was estimated at 60,000,000, probably the greatest aggregation of large animals ever known to civilized man.

Unpublished OAS Report Leading to Crackdown on Cuba Clearly Documents Castro's Subversion in Hemisphere

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Behind Fidel Castro's bombastic fulminations against those sanctions voted by the Organization of American States is the infuriating realization that he was caught with the goods and couldn't get away with it.

This was one time the burly Communist Cuban dictator couldn't lie, intrigue or bully his way out. The irrefutable evidence was overwhelming against him.

In the long and tense closed-door deliberations that culminated with 15 of the 20 OAS nations approving the tough crackdown, the decisive factor was an unpublished report documenting in detail Red Cuba's vicious and ruthless record of inciting violence, chaos and subversion throughout Latin America.

Submitted by a five-member OAS committee appointed especially to investigate many charges and complaints, the report's unchallengeable disclosures and findings are a devastating indictment of the Castro regime and its malevolent machinations.

The report's over-all conclusion sums up graphically the scathing tenor and forcefulness of its condemnation, as follows:

"Virtually from the time the present government of Cuba came into power, that country has been converted into a true base for the promotion of subversion in other republics of the hemisphere. The purpose of extending the Communist revolution to the remainder of the hemisphere has been publicly stated by members of the present government of Cuba and brought out also in connection with invasions or attempted invasions.

"There exists a constant and systematic activity of radio propaganda, through government transmitters of Cuba, aimed at defaming the governments of other countries of the hemisphere, discrediting representative democratic institutions, insulating the executives of other republics of the hemisphere, fomenting disorders and inciting violent subversion of legally constituted regimes. The government press and the single party of the Cuban government constantly carry on work along the same line.

"In some countries, the intervention and direct participation of Cuban diplomatic and other agents in their internal affairs has been revealed. Various governments have reported to this committee that the repeated and numerous trips to Cuba of citizens belonging to the Communist or extreme leftist political groups have been for the purpose of instructing the said citizens in typical methods of subversive activity."

Members of the committee that unanimously presented this scathing report are: Argentine Ambassador Rodolfo Weidmann, chairman; Colombia Ambassador Alfredo Vasquez Carrizosa; Costa Rica Ambassador Gonzalo Facio; U.S. Ambassador Ward T. Allen, and Uruguay Ambassador Felix Poleri Carrio.

THE SINISTER DETAILS — The committee's voluminous evidence on Castro's "acts of intervention and aggression against Venezuela," which led to the demand for the drastic economic and diplomatic sanctions, is starkly conclusive and damning.

Sensational disclosures highlighting these findings are: —Former President Romulo Betancourt's testimony that, shortly before he took office, Castro personally attempted to shake him down for a $300 million loan to finance what he characterized as "the master plan against the gringos."

—When Betancourt flatly balked at this, Castro retaliated with a prolonged campaign of violence, subversion, insurrections, and an attempt to assassinate Betancourt.

—In preparation for one invasion attempt by Communist guerrillas, some 300 tons of Cuban weapons and munitions were cached in Venezuela. The OAS investigators obtained documentary evidence that these arms were made in Belgium for Cuba, and transported to Venezuela by an aluminum boat powered by a motor purchased by the Castro regime from a Canadian company.

Betancourt told the OAS committee that shortly after he took office, he was "surprised to learn that a mass demonstration was to take place in Caracas at which one of the candidates whom I had defeated was to speak with Castro."

During Castro's visit, he conferred with Betancourt at his home and proposed the $300 million loan to finance "what he called the 'master plan against the gringos.'"

"I replied that this was impossible," related Betancourt, "that at the beginning of this period of constitutional government, our treasury was in a bad state, our reserves depleted and the public debt, though undetermined, was estimated to exceed 4 billion bolivars."

"Castro then told me there was a formula, which the Cubans had figured out. The formula was that with our petroleum royalties, which we could take in kind, we should open up a $300 million credit for his government in gasoline and refined crude petroleum. My answer to that was not difficult. I told him no."

"From then on, Castro-inspired terrorism and attacks on Venezuela intensified. It was announced that Defense Minister Raul Castro and economic czar Ernesto Guevara would visit Venezuela at the invitation of the Venezuelan Communist party. That was blocked by Betancourt personally phoning Castro's Foreign Minister and warning that if the two came they would be met at the airport and promptly de-

New Political Action Won't Aid Evils Done by Previous

By GEORGE BOARDMAN People who sincerely believe that further political action may negate a few of the evils created by political action insist that by use of the "existing structure" many of the existing evils created by the "existing structure" may be alleviated.

The "existing structure" is something of a hodgepodge including the Constitution, political parties, political candidates, politicians in and out of office, would-be newcomer type politicians and government, per se.

But, it is that existing structure which has caused the mess which now plagues every thinking American. It was also the existing structure which brought about the American Revolution against the structure which existed by a minority of the population while the majority wanted the evils corrected within the existing structure.

Realists recognized a rotten existing structure and wanted out. They recognized that the removal of one or two or a half dozen rotten supports of the existing structure would not provide safety and that rot would rapidly spread to any sound supports brought in to replace the rotten supports.

But there were also a couple of principles involved, a couple of which the realists asked questions. Did one man have a right to feed upon the earnings of another without the consent of the victim? Was this not a form of thievery? Did a majority of the people have the right to elect men to steal from others for their own support and the support of others if a majority of the people decided upon that ruler?

What about the rights of every individual born to be free? Or were some men born to be rulers and others to be slaves? Actually, the existing structure provided answers to all of the questions but the realists just didn't like the answers.

I find myself unable to criticize those who believe they can alleviate the evils created by the existing structure for its own aid and comfort and protection, at the cost of those who earn and invest and create, by working within the evil structure, itself. It was only a few years ago when, unthinkingly, I imagined that "good" men could be elected to power after which they would commit political suicide to rid themselves of power over others. I couldn't find much in history to justify my ideas but I guess I figured hope and faith would turn the trick, since George Washington had managed to walk away from the power he held.

But a question remained unanswered: Do I have the right to my life and to the fruits of my labors? As I searched for answers, I discovered I could not sanction the existing structure which denied my unalienable rights.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Journalism Profs To Discuss Ruby Case at Meeting

AUSTIN (UPI) — College journalism teachers from throughout the nation will discuss the courts, the press and fair trial as an aftermath of the Jack Ruby case at a meeting next month of the Association for Education in Journalism.

The national convention at the University of Texas Aug. 26-30 will have as its opening dinner speaker Frank Ahlgren, editor of The Memphis Commercial Appeal. Ahlgren, who is president of the American Council on Education in Journalism, will describe some pressures and problems of the metropolitan newspaper editor.

Dr. Norris Davis of the host school will lead the session on the trial of Ruby for the murder of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

LBJ Needs 'Right' Mate for South Vote

ATLANTA (UPI) — Southern leaders indicated this week that President Johnson's chances in Dixie in November hinge on his choice of a running mate.

These politicians agree that the presidential race probably will be very close in the South but that the "right" vice presidential candidate could give the edge to the Democrats in some states.

Realizing that the choice was strictly up to the President, they offered some suggestions for "Mr. Right" and a unanimous nomination for "Mr. Wrong."

Without exception, Southern politicians polled by United Press International voiced objection to, or were cool toward, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy because of his stand and views on civil rights.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver was the man most frequently mentioned as a vice presidential candidate acceptable to the South, followed, with almost equal sentiment, by Sens. Eugene McCarthy of Wisconsin and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

There also was some objection to Humphrey because of his championing of the civil rights bill.

Other possible Democratic vice presidential nominees mentioned were Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia and Sen. Thomas Dodd of Connecticut.

Virginia Gov. Albert S. Harrison said GOP presidential candidate Barry Goldwater was running ahead in his state at present but that Shriver as the second man on the Democratic ticket could turn the tide.

Gov. Carl Sanders said it was "mighty close" between Johnson and Goldwater in Georgia, but added that "November is still a long way off and we'll just have to wait and see how the picture shapes."

Little Theater Offers Jingle With Tickets

Residents of Pampa have been greeted at their doors during the past week with this jingle by members of Pampa Little Theater, who are currently pushing ticket sales for their musical comedy.

"We are plugging 'Jug of Wine,' And what is that, you say? You can see it Aug. 5 through 9. It's PLT's musical play."

A large cast of Pampans are rehearsing nightly polishing their performances, vocal numbers and dances for the production.

The cast varies in age from 14 years to middle age, and the characterizations are deftly handled. With music composed by Homer Krueger, assisted by wife Anita, and the dialogue by Gail Krueger, Homer's mother, patrons of the Little Theater are promised three hours of completely enjoyable entertainment.

Additional lighting has been provided for this production, which features performances at 8 p.m. beginning August 5, with a Sunday matinee on August 9 at 2:15 p.m. The usual frenzy of the final week before performance time is prevalent at 600 W. Browning, where PLT members have constructed an auditorium in the Holy Souls School Building. The auditorium has been air-conditioned, and this particular play will not be in the round, as the previous play was. All seats are on risers at one end of the auditorium.

If you have not been contacted to purchase a ticket, you may call MO 9-9051 after 7:30 p.m. any evening or tickets can be secured from Little Theater members. Seating capacity is 110, and all seats are reserved.

Goldwater Sons Reveal Worry on Father's Safety

HONOLULU (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's sons disclosed Wednesday that extra security measures have been taken to protect the GOP presidential candidate against any possible assassination attempt.

Barry Jr., 26, a broker, and Michael, 24, a banker, said as they wound up a Hawaiian vacation that the family was "truly fearful" of an attempt on Goldwater's life.

"Extra security precautions have been taken," Barry said. "But we know that there is always the possibility that someone may make the attempt to kill dad. It's just one of those things we have to live with."

Michael added that President Kennedy had been "all things to all men—yet he was assassinated."

TIPRO Protests Import Proposal

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) sent U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall a telegram Thursday protesting a proposal to allow 50,000 barrels of oil to be imported from Puerto Rico daily.

"TIPRO strongly opposes Phillips proposed expansion of import program's Puerto Rican loophole by 50,000 barrels per day, said TIPRO president E. Bruce Street.

"We find no valid excuse for interior's not including imports via Puerto Rico under percentage ratio with domestic production. This project should be denied on grounds of national security, preservation of domestic producing industry and equity for all company interests," said Street.

FAT BRIDES FEARED

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — James M. Landis, 64, a close adviser to three presidents and former dean of the Harvard Law School, was found dead Thursday in the private swimming pool of his fashionable home on the grounds of the Westchester Country Club here.

The body of Landis, who played major roles in the administrations of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, and John F. Kennedy, was found by a next door neighbor, Miss Nancy Gustafson about 7 p.m. EDT.

Police said the Westchester County Medical Examiner's Office was conducting an investigation of the incident, but that preliminary evidence indicated there was nothing suspicious about it. Miss Gustafson said she "saw him floating in the pool" and police said "the couldn't have been in the pool too long, because he came home around 5:15 p.m."
