VARIETY SHOW WILL BE GIVEN HERE TONIGHT

PROCEEDS WILL SEND JUNIOR BAND TO CONTESTS

Plays, music and stunts will be scrambled in an entertaining program this evening as junior high pupils and their friends give a benefit performance to send the school's prize band to the National Band contests at Oklahoma City next week.

Civic clubs and individuals will assist the students in this fun program, to which tickets are being sold by junior high pupils. The entertainment will begin at 7:45 at the new high school auditorium.

Eligibility to enter the national contest was won by the band when it was given a highly superior rating in state contests here recently.

Junior high will contribute two numbers to the program this evening. Dramatic students will present a one-act play, "Oh, Mrs. Townsend," directed by Eugene Mann, and a double-faced quartet skit will be given by Glee club members.

A burlesque bathing revue will be the offering of Lions club members, who will parade in beach togs. Howard House, versatile entertainer, will present a skit that he has never given in Pampa, an Indian act in costume, with music and sketches.

Skits on the "Top O' Texas" fests theme will be presented by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The American Legion announced they will present a "mystery" stunt.

GIRL WILL NOT BE SENT TO REFORMATORY

A 12-year old Pampa problem-child will be rehabilitated in her home town instead of being sent to a reformatory, according to a decision reached yesterday by members of the Gray County Child Welfare board.

The board, headed by Mrs. W. R. Ewing, was called into session yesterday afternoon when county officials were presented with the case of the girl who was reported to have become a delinquent.

The girl was questioned at a meeting of the board held in the office of County Attorney J. W. Gordon.

Members decided to place the girl on probation and to place new interests and means of recreation at her disposal.

"It was the opinion of the board members that the girl could be given a better chance in life by keeping her under local surveillance than by sending her to a reformatory," the county prosecutor said.

BARCELONA ANARCHIST REVOLT IS SPREADING

CERBERE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, May 7 (AP)—

The anarchist revolt against the Catalan government spread today from Barcelona to towns and villages outside the regional capital.

The anarchists, border advisers said, seized the town of Fiqueras with the aid of soldiers garrisoned at San Fernando fortress.

Public officials were ousted there and at Gerone by militant anarchists protesting against what they consider too conservative an administration by the autonomous Catalan regime, allied with the Madrid Valencia government.

Street fighting in the "civil war" within a civil war spread to Barcelona's suburbs, the meager advisers said.

Four hundred persons were killed and 1,000 injured in two days of battling, a Barcelona radio broadcast said yesterday.

CANTOR HAS SON

BEVERLY HILLS Calif., May 7 (AP)—

Eddie Cantor, the plaintive comedian, finally has a son in his family. One of his five daughters, Natalie, was homecoming today with a hunk, a hunk, youthful antiques dealer, after a ceremony at the Cantor home here.

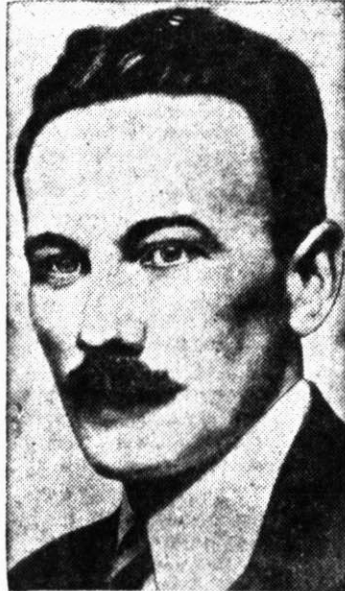

I Heard . . .

That C. P. Buckler and C. T. Hunkapillar beat Hamp Brown and DeLea Vicars in a hotly contested golf match the other day—that the Jaycee softball team is looking for a hunker, etc., following a 23 to 0 whipping by the Texas boys yesterday evening—also that the American Legion will donate 25 percent of the net proceeds from its dance at the Southern club tonight to help defray expenses of the Pampa Junior high band to the National Band contests in Oklahoma City.

HELP OFFERED FILM STRIKERS BY CIO GROUP

HOLLYWOOD, May 7 (AP)—The plan of striking film studio craftsmen to put new pressure on major producers by a national boycott and widespread picketing of theaters gained headway today.

The Committee for Industrial Organization offered its help to the Federated Motion Picture Crafts, American Federation of Labor affiliate.

L. P. Lindlof, of Lafayette, Ind., president of the Painters' Union, aligned with the A. F. of L., telegraphed Charles Lessing, F. M. P. C. head, asking the names of the strike-affected studios. He said when these were received he would ask all labor councils in which which painters are members to boycott theaters showing their productions.

John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chief, telegraphed C. H. Jordan, local organizer, that union workers, no matter what their affiliations, should support the strikers.

The general executive board of the United Automobile Workers, C. I. O. affiliate, telegraphed Lessing, it accepted by the film producers but better working conditions for that picture making was almost unhampered. The F. M. P. C. estimates 6,000 are on strike.

The Screen Actors' Guild, which is acting separately from the F. M. P. C., has presented its demands for better working conditions for bit and extra players. Its committee, composed of Robert Montgomery, Frankfort-Tone, Kenneth Thomson and Aubrey Blair, conferred with a producers' committee headed by Joseph M. Schenck and will report back to a general meeting of the Guild next Sunday.

DAN GRIBBON NAMED ROTARY CLUB'S HEAD

100 AMARILLOANS AT LOCAL BANQUET ON THURSDAY

Dan Gribbon was introduced as president-elect of the Pampa Rotary club last night when good fellowship and fun prevailed at an inter-club luncheon with the Amarillo Rotary club in the basement of the First Baptist church. More than 100 Rotarians and Rotary Anns from Amarillo attended the banquet at which more than 220 persons were seated.

Amarillo Rotarians staged a hilarious program featured by the presentation of a "mellodrammer" of the old west in which members played the parts of cowboys, Indians and a fair maiden from the east and an Indian princess. Charlie Lambie was the instigator of the farce comedy.

Professor Herman Grossback (Wes Izzard) and Lo Sin (Dr. Rue Parcells), Chinese mystic, gave a baffling exhibition of second and third sight as the professor passed through the audience selecting objects and subjects which the blind-folded Lo Sin easily identified.

Burton Tolzeln and his Rotary club orchestra played during the early portion of the meal and presented an overture as part of the program. Mr. Tolzeln, violinist, and Lowell Staff, accordionist, played several numbers.

The luncheon and program was arranged by Frank Foster, chairman of the inter-city relations committee of the Pampa club, and Jim Farwell, chairman of the same committee for the Amarillo club. Mr. Farwell, representing President Horace Russell of the Amarillo club who could not be present because of illness, presented President Farris Oden of the Pampa Rotarians with a beautiful basket of roses. He also introduced Carl McCaig as president-elect of the Amarillo club.

The banquet hall was decorated in Rotary colors and Welcome signs. Bowls of large peonies and double baby breath were on each table. Favors of novelty whistles and miniature hammers were at each plate. The banquet was prepared and served under direction of Rotarian Frank Allison of the Canary Sandwich Shop.

Guests included presidents of local clubs and their wives.

HITLER WILL SEND MEN TO PROBE CRASH

BERLIN, May 7 (AP)—A shocked and fearful German nation summoned an official commission today for a quick trip of investigation overseas to fix the cause of the tragic Hindenburg disaster, yet rallied amid the deepest mourning to follow "the same path of aerial trail-making."

The Nazi air ministry called an early afternoon conference of officials of the Zeppelin Construction company, the Zeppelin Airlines, and the German Institute of Aeronautical Research to decide the personnel of the commission that will speed by plane and liner to Lakehurst.

The German people, from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Dr. Hug Eckenker down to the poorest workman in the stunned and fearful knots that gathered in the streets, were plunged into profound and amazed grief.

All Suspectious

Some at Frankfurt-On-Main, the zeppelin's home city, stood beneath half-staffed flags to wonder of "sabotage."

"What else could it be?" they asked.

There was no official expression of such suspicion.

So great was Germany's wonder that "our pride" had burned and fallen with a loss of 34 lives that few were willing to hazard a definite guess as to the cause. There was some speculation that a "static spark" in the dirigible's metal structure had ignited the gas.

As early as November 10, 1930, Dr. Eckenker gave the Associated Press an interview in which he expressed the belief that the British R-101 accident proved the necessity of helium gas. The United States has a virtual monopoly on that gas.

Chancellor Hitler, at his mountain retreat near Berchtesgaden, received the news in stunned silence.

Later, he sent a message to President Roosevelt, thanking the United States executive for his expression of sympathy.

Then he prepared to decide on a period of national mourning.

Dr. Eckenker was expected here late in the day from Vienna.

TESTIMONY OF 2 WITNESSES IS TAKEN HERE

After enthusiastic welcomes at Dumas, Sunray, Slinnett, Borger and Skellytown, Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt of the Texas highway commission and his party arrived in Pampa at noon over Highway 209 from Borger and were honor guests at a banquet in the basement of the Methodist church. Heads of oil companies, supply houses and other lines of business were in attendance.

Accompanying Mr. Bobbitt from Austin were Harry Hines, member of the commission, Tom Payne, secretary to Mr. Hines, C. V. Terrell, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, and others. W. J. Van London of Amarillo, district highway engineer, was also with the party.

The party breakfasted in Dumas after spending the night in Amarillo. They drove to Sunray and then to other points along the highway. Many Pampans drove to Dumas this morning to accompany the party on the trip. Delegations from Dumas, Sunray, Borger, Skellytown and the Panhandle joined the caravan for Pampa. From the other direction came John R. Baker, president of the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce and his party, and delegations from Wheeler and Mobeetie.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, Chairman Bobbitt was to speak at a mass meeting in the high school auditorium where five Pampa school bands were to provide music. The program was to be broadcast over station KFDN, Pampa.

The trip to Pampa was arranged by the Pampa chamber of commerce of which James Collins is president and John Roby is chairman of the highway committee.

A large delegation of Clarendon citizens was to meet the state officials here and take them to Clarendon where they will spend the night.

SHERIFF WILL ATTEND OFFICERS CONVENTION

Sheriff Earl Talley, of Gray county, will attend the annual convention of the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Peace Officers Association to be held in Hollis, Okla., May 11 and 12.

The first day will be filled with morning, afternoon and night sessions including entertainment and addresses by prominent Oklahoma and Texas officials.

The annual business session will be held on the morning of May 12 and will be held in the Herring Hotel. Sheriff Talley will be held at the Hollis football stadium.

Senators Pass Bill to Conserve Soil in Texas

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—The Senate finally passed a bill today intended to conserve Texas' soil. The House previously had approved a bill on the same subject, and a composite measure will be worked out in a conference committee.

Features of the Senate bill included:

A conservation district could be formed of a county by election of the tax-paying voters, and directing boards would be provided for counties, six state districts and the state as a whole.

Participation in the program would be optional with farmers.

Financing would be by diversion of six cents of the state general fund ad valorem tax.

Proponents urged action to conserve "the greatest resource of the state" while opponents criticized the plan on grounds of cost and government control.

The Senate adopted a resolution requesting Governor James V. Allred to terminate Texas' part of the interstate oil compact if investigation showed it was not obtaining a fair proportion of the national production.

Groups Cheer Every Mention Of 'No. 1 Job'

Thirty-three city and county delegations attended the Amarillo chamber of commerce state highway convention last night at the Amarillo Thursday night, and each "asked for something," but there was no doubt but that the most popular project in the Panhandle now is the Pampa-Borger-Dumas road.

Whenever that road was mentioned, there was prolonged cheering. It was the only road specifically alluded to by the principal speaker of the evening, Robert Lee Bobbitt, chairman of the commission. He complimented Amarillo citizens for helping their neighbors get the road, although the highway will not touch Amarillo. The largest out-of-town delegation was from Pampa, about 25 attending, second largest from Moore county and third largest from Borger.

Newspapers from Pampa and Borger, carrying big headlines announcing the tour of the commission, were circulated among the 400 guests. The various delegations combined to leave the impression with

Prehistoric Animal's Head Found Near Here

Floyd Studer, an ardent archeologist who resides in Amarillo, and a professor of archeology from West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, were to drive to Pampa this morning to study the head of a prehistoric animal or mammal uncovered south of Pampa yesterday afternoon.

The head, in an almost perfect state of preservation, was uncovered by E. M. Parker, trucking contractor, who with his men were loading sand at the J. L. Noel pit about 10 miles south of Pampa. The men carefully removed the skull and brought it to Pampa. They did not try to find if the rest of the animal was in the pit.

The head measured 20 inches from the base of the skull and the lower jaw measured six inches across. Well preserved, but dull, teeth in the center of the upper jaw were 2 1/3 inches long and 1 1/2 inches wide.

On display in the window at Frank's Store in the 200 block on South Cuyler street, the head created much interest today.

33 ARE DEAD OR MISSING IN AIR TRAGEDY

HINDENBURG IS MASS OF WRECKAGE AT LAKEHURST

(By The Associated Press)

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 7 — The flaming destruction of the once seemingly impregnable dirigible Hindenburg brought swift action today by the American and German governments to determine the cause of the disaster.

Thirty-three persons were known dead or missing.

Of the 97 passengers and members of the crew aboard when the greatest of all airships exploded, burst into flames and crashed to earth last night—just as it was lowering to the mooring mast, and only 200 feet above the ground—65 persons survived. One of those killed was a spectator, burned to death in the falling, fiery debris.

The ruins of the luxurious liner of the skies lay crumpled on the landing field at the naval station a junk heap of black metal, a mass of ghastly, grisly framework.

On the lips of everyone was the question—what caused the crash, what was the matter? Twenty times had the Hindenburg crossed the North Atlantic safely.

Hydrogen Blamed

As Washington officials and Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador, opened inquiries, three possible causes—all, however, relating to the highly-inflammable hydrogen used in the German zeppelins—were outlined by the ship's designer and pilot of numerous voyages, Dr. Hugo Eckener.

"I should say that if this disaster was caused by sabotage," said Dr. Eckener, who was in Austria at a speaking trip, "only the firing of a burning bullet into the bags . . . could have accomplished it. That seems highly unlikely."

"This distance and on the basis of incomplete information," Dr. Eckener set forth these possibilities:

"1. When the ship is lowered, some hydrogen usually is released. This free hydrogen in the air might have been sufficient to cause the zeppelin to be ignited by lightning or a spark."

"2. When landing, the water ballast is released from the tanks. A stream of water, connected with an electrical conductor to bring up a spark from the mast, might have served as an electrical conductor to bring up a spark from the mast."

"3. Some aboard may have made a fire, a spark possibly from a cigarette lighter. I regard this also as unlikely, for the conduct of passengers and crew is watched carefully."

Smoking on the Hindenburg was allowed only in a spark-proof compartment.

Commander Gives Report

Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, commandant at the naval station, said the fire originated at or near the stern of the ship about 6:25 p. m. (EST).

In his report to the navy department, the commandant, a veteran in lighter-than-air service, said:

"About 4 minutes after the ropes had been dropped a fire appeared in the after part of the ship and worked progressively forward. The ship settled to the ground tall first and was practically completely ablaze for her entire length by the time the ground was reached . . ."

Fred D. Fagg, director of the federal bureau of air commerce, was on hand preparing for the government's inquiry. Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper appointed a board of inquiry to hold public hearings. The secretary said they would probably begin during the afternoon and not later than tomorrow morning.

A navy inquiry was regarded as a certainty, since the dirigible crashed on a naval reservation.

Identification Difficult

The identification of dead was difficult. The ship's manifest was destroyed in the holocaust. Zeppelin officials were in frequent communication with Germany, checking last minute changes in the passenger lists. Reservations had been made for 39 persons, but company officials said only 36 were aboard, and 61 members of the crew.

All bodies recovered from the twisted wreckage were wrapped in blankets and placed in a hangar which was closely guarded. All but officials of the line and navy officers were barred entrance.

The entire naval preservation was barred to everyone except officials and newspapermen.

Oil Allowable May Be Changed At Hearing

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—The advisability of holding Texas oil production at its present level or reducing it will be considered at the statewide prororation hearing here May 7.

Ernest O. Thompson, recently said that the national production was exceeding market demand and should be curtailed. Texas production was increased this month over last.

In addition to evidence on conditions in the oil fields, reports also will be received on gas operations.

The Texas basic allowable for May was 1,412,069 barrels daily, 71,269 barrels more per day than the recommendation of the United States bureau of mines.

The allowable always increases substantially during each month because of completions of new wells.

Many believed the bureau's estimate of market demand for June would be higher than that for May due to the fact that gasoline consumption is greater in June.

"We are very happy. We always are very happy," the duke said, smiling. The woman for whose love he renounced a throne nodded her emphatic approval.

The bride-to-be's trousseau, including a wedding gown in "wallis blue," is virtually complete.

The date for the wedding will be announced after the coronation of the duke's brother-successor in London next Wednesday. Herman L. Rogers, spokesman for the betrothed pair, said the announcement may be made next Friday, adding that it certainly would not be on Thursday, May 14, for that is an unlucky date.

ROLLED, TOSSED WITH GAS PAINS!

Stomach Pains at Night Almost Unbearable, But Van-Tage Relieved!

Many druggists in this section say they never saw anything like the way Reliable People praise Van-Tage. This is the Amazing New Medicine which is being sold in Great Quantities here in Pampa. Recently Mrs. A. B. Shepherd, of Three-D. Stock Farm, Arlington, Tex., endorsed it.

"No matter what I ate, even a drink of pure water, would fill me up with gas until I could hardly breathe, and make me have terrible pains in my stomach. I couldn't even keep a drink of water on my stomach. It seemed like I had to get up three or four times every night. I was so nervous and full of gas pains that I just rolled and tossed from one side of the bed to the other. My kidneys also broke up my rest, too, as they were so sluggish that I had to get up three or four times every night. I read about Van-Tage and got it. The very first dose seemed to go right to work on me, and now I am not in misery with gas and I feel like an entirely different person and can hardly believe it!"

VAN-TAGE helps invigorate bowel, stomach and kidney action. Its 21 Great Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents cover 30 ingredients in all have a surprising effect on suffering people. Due to the immense volume in which it sells, Van-Tage is NOT expensive, so get it—TODAY—at Cretney Drug Store, next door to LaNora Theatre. Adv.

Alert Church Is Need of Nation, Says Evangelist

"If the church is ever desecrated it will be from within and not from outside enemies," declared Evangelist R. L. Flowers at the First Methodist revival last night. "A slow sleeping paralysis has set in in the church within the past 10 years and it is slowly taking away from the church its crusading spirit. One of the most alarming things in the life of the church today is the complacent manner in which the modern day church looks upon affairs in the church and state."

"A wave of immorality of gambling, of intoxication is sweeping this nation like a wild fire. Try to arouse the church on the state of things and you are called a radical or crazy. The man that says everything is all right in America is a blind optimist. The only antidote for all these un-American and un-Christian ideals and standards is the church alive and alert and facing the situation as it really is. Yet a sleepy, indifferent church would fiddle while the whole thing burns."

"Some of the subtle things creeping in upon the people of America, robbing the church of its powers, are satisfaction with present conditions, assuming the attitude of the defeatist, no need of God in business, home or social life. These and other things are leaving in their wake a paralysis that is positively demoralizing to the church."

Mrs. R. L. Flowers will deliver a message tonight at the church. Her messages on Sunday were heard by interested audiences.

Tiny Pupils Star In Piano Recital

Very young pianists were of outstanding interest on the Music week recital by pupils of Mrs. May Foreman Carr last evening, when an appreciative crowd heard the program at city club room.

The program was varied with vocal solos. In the pre-school division, Brent Fisher sang with accompaniment by Carolyn Lipshy, Norman Carr, baritone, sang Danny Boy, Weatherly, and Rolling Down to Rio, German.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sparks visited her mother in Glen Rose the past week.

Invited by Amarillo women for an inter-city match on the Country club course there, about 20 women golfers will go to Amarillo Tuesday afternoon.

The usual Ladies' Day games of the Ladies Golf Association here will begin at 1:30 Monday on the Pampa Country club course. Play will be in flag tournament style with prizes to be awarded for first and second places.

Matches are still being played in the handicap tournament of this week. A dust storm Monday prevented most of the scheduled matches that day, so they have been played during the week and two are still on schedule.

YOU AND YOU ARE CAUSES

This is a queer, saddy-tangled world we live in, and the best way to give yourself a splitting headache is to try to figure out just who is to blame for the things that go wrong in it.

Judge Benjamin Scheinman of Los Angeles, Calif., started thinking along these lines the other day. Judge Scheinman presides over the court in which the coppers daily unload their assortment of drunks, vagrants, and other petty offenders—the misfits of metropolitan life for whose infinitely complicated web of mistakes and offenses society can think of no answer but 10 days in the jug.

So the judge unburdened himself to Ted Le Berthon, reporter for the Los Angeles Evening News. "We may be arresting the wrong people," he mused. "We may be making a mistake in arresting drunks and vags and not arresting those who provide the breeding ground for drunks and vags, and who certainly contribute to their delinquency."

And then the judge began trying to figure out just who these contributors to delinquency might be. He mentioned the sweatshop employers who pay starvation wages; the politicians who decree that jobless single men on relief must get along and stave off the soul-racking monotony of idleness on $15 a month; the saloonkeepers who sell liquor to these men until they are drunk and after they are drunk; the commercial employment agencies that make them pay to get jobs; the flophouse owners who herd men six or eight at a time in dirty ill-ventilated rooms.

All these things added together, the judge remarked, are enough to drive any man to ruin. Dirt, idleness, hopelessness, friendlessness—put them to work on a man, and you need not be surprised if he winds up, frowny and befuddled, in police court.

"There is another angle, too, for us to ponder over," continued the judge. "If you and I voted into office the fellows who later decided that a single man on relief should live on $15 a month, we, too, might be subject to arrest."

In other words, when you trace the offender's troubles to society you wind up by putting the finger on yourself. For if we live in the kind of society that drive a certain percentage of its misfits to drink and vagrancy, and if we ourselves consent to that society's existence and do nothing to iron out its rough places—then we ourselves are the ultimate offenders.

PROGRESS IN THE AIR

A newspaper item reveals that production of American-type planes is to be an outstanding feature of Russia's plane-building program. This news, coming shortly after revelations that Russian American-type craft completely outclassed other ships in engagements over Madrid, should bolster this country's pride over its progress in this line of aviation.

Another news story reveals that two Akron, O., inventors have patented a new type of airship control that may avert the danger of airships, struck by gusts or squalls, twisting and breaking in midair. It was just such disasters that befell the navy's Shenandoah, Akron, and Macon and shattered the nation's faith in lighter-than-air craft.

Whether the new invention will change this attitude remains to be seen. If it does, and somehow the jinx that has dogged our dirigibles, Uncle Sam should just about lead the aviation parade.

WHY INFLATION

There is, of course, a cause for inflation. It is the natural result following certain conditions. The primary causes of inflation are:

- 1. The government not taxing enough to pay its bills as it goes.
2. The government allowing monopolies, creating artificial prices in some of the comforts and necessities of life.
3. The government permitting banks to artificially expand credit.
4. Large production of the metal used as a base for money.
5. The belief of the people that paper money and bank deposits are wealth.
6. Restricted production.
It is hard to conceive what will prevent inflation from continuing, other than complete price fixing of all services and commodities.

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT

The British admiralty has awarded contracts for the building of three new battleships of 35,000 tons each. Since two other battleships have already been begun, this will give the British fleet five ultra-modern battleships by 1945—more than any other fleet on earth will then possess.

This bit of news undoubtedly will lead American jingoes to demand that we immediately expand our own battleship program. We are now about to start construction of two—but the British are building five! If we don't watch

TEX'S TOPICS

As this goes to press, the people of the Panhandle were assembled in the Pampa High school auditorium to let Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt and the Texas Highway commission know that there is a volcano of interest in the improvement of the Pampa-Borger-Dumas highway. . . . A great throng was on hand to greet the head of the commission, Member Harry Hines, and the others and to listen to what they had to say about prospects of something being done in a hurry about the Panhandle's No. 1 paving project.

A couple hours ago another meeting of the highway commission with oil field and supply men was held at a luncheon in the First Methodist church. . . . The Pampa Chamber of Commerce arranged the meeting to impress upon the state road officials that every last person up here at the Top O' Texas is vitally interested in this much-needed project. . . . One feels certain that the commissioners will turn back toward home tonight with a definite assurance that something concrete should be done about getting the job done.

April, the last "r" month, brought the end of the oyster season. Bivalve devotees are considering a drive to make the succeeding month May. . . . A native of China greets another by shaking his own hand. It is a valuable thing to keep in mind for the next election campaign. . . . A Pampa bartender shies at putting it on the cuff. He read somewhere that the government is going to enforce the anti-trust law.

Hearing the talk about a memorial to Thomas Jefferson, the office blond thinks his activity during the last election may have caused his death. . . . A number of actresses are burning to get that lead role in "Gone With the Wind." In fact, it's almost an epidemic of Scarlet fever. . . . A superstition has it that a mother attending her baby's christening should carry an egg, a coin, and a pinch of salt in her pocket. This is said to assure the infant strength, happiness, and wealth.

Human eyes are called upon for more severe visual tasks today than ever before, due to the increased use of mechanical equipment and to increased speed. . . . In Louisiana and Virginia, voters must not only be able to read the Constitution, but must be able to "understand" it, too. In Mississippi, they must be able to "explain" it. . . . Some species of birds molt all their feathers at once and are unable to fly during the time. Others replace only a few at a time.

The Jewish population of the world has been estimated at more than 14,021,000. . . . The Bank of England has a $200,000 kitchen which can serve lunches at the rate of 2000 a day. It is said to be the largest and most costly staff kitchen in London. . . . Superstition has it that the finder of a horseshoe should hang it up with the ends pointing upward, so that "the coming good luck may be held within the curve of the shoe."

Mexico led the world in silver production in 1936, with $2,100,000 ounces; the United States second with 64,000,000 ounces. . . . Not all states of the Union have the same residential requirement for voters. . . . Bret Harte's poem about a Chinaman's uncanny skill at cards, that has appeared in thousands of children's school primers, is the most famous poem ever written on the subject of cards.

The cameraman's job in the production of a motion picture is said to be the hardest; the actors and actresses get the credit. . . . The Chinese language embodies 30,000 written characters. . . . On July 14, 1879, Louis XVI, king of France, wrote in his diary: "Nothing." It was on this day that the Bastille fell, 100 of the king's men were slain, and the revolution began in earnest. . . . Turtles can't hear high-pitched tones.

The first recorded experiment in electricity took place 60 years before the birth of Christ, when the Greek, Thales, of Miletus, rubbed pieces of amber and observed they attracted light objects. . . . "Pirates" have become so skillful at copying exclusive dress designs and flooding the market with them that dressmakers of London and Paris lose $2,000,000 annually in this way.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY Honor students were announced from Pampa schools. Ina Mickey and Clara Brown were valedictorian and salutatorian for the graduating class. Willard John and John Walstead honor boys. Frances Campbell and Sam Keith had highest grades for seventh grade students.

Misses Stalls and Pyron and Mrs. Annie Daniels took third grade pupils on a picnic to LePors.

AMERICAN Legion members, with their band, went to the district convention at Quanah. They wore cowboy regalia and gave concerts in cities en route advertising the Frontier Days celebration.

Olive Joyce Oswald, 3 years old, was winner of a juvenile beauty contest here.

out, the British battle fleet will in a few years be stronger than ours. To all of which the ordinary citizen might properly reply—what of it? It is very hard to figure out any set of circumstances under which we might be fighting England, and it is even harder to figure that such a war would win it. That being the case, we can very well look on the British battleship program with unruffled calm.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It was just seven years ago that Justice Joseph Force Crater, dining with friends at a Broadway cafe, got up from the table, stepped into a taxicab, and, for all that police have been able to ascertain, vanished from the face of the earth!

Seven years it has been, yet despite an international search extending from New York to Hawaii, to Alaska, to Africa and from South America through Europe and every nation on the globe, not a trace of him has been found.

Since then, of course, like periodic clashes of summer lightning, there have been electrifying rumors that the judge had been found, but invariably these have been untrue. Once he was "seen" somewhere in the Great Painted Desert, disguised as a prospector. Again he was "glimpsed" aboard a fast ocean liner. . . . clues which sent international police tumbling along the trail with no result.

It is a bizarre and melodramatic tale when one digs down into the known facts: 1. There is no known reason why he should have effaced himself—if, indeed, he was not murdered. He had done nothing wrong. 2. He disappeared on the night of August 6, 1930—a night on which he had dinner with William Klein, a lawyer who dealt in theatrical cases, and two show girls. They dined at a restaurant in 45th street, and the judge enthusiastically displayed a ticket to a musical show which he intended to see that night. 3. Suddenly he arose and excused himself. He stepped to the curb and hailed a passing cab. They saw him enter it, and from that day till this he has not been seen.

4. Earlier in the day Judge Crater cashed two large checks—one for $3,000 and the other for $2,150. 5. As he departed from his office, carrying two pasteboard folders and a bag of personal papers, he remarked: "I'm going swimming—up Westchester way." 6. Meanwhile, his wife, Stella Crater, was at their summer home in Maine. 7. She rushed back to their empty apartment in New York to find two things. One was his papers, plus a considerable sum of money and his life insurance policies, neatly arranged in bureau drawers. The other was a brief, poignant note—a message such as a playwright might have wished his hero to say under similar circumstances. It said simply: "Am weary, love." It was signed, "Joe."

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, May 6 (AP)—Deep sea fishing may be one of the favorite recreations of President Roosevelt—every man to his taste—but Governor James V. Alford is inclined to evade it. In World War days, too, the governor was a "gob."

"For one thing, it takes too long to get anywhere on the water," he says. "Sometimes you have to fish 40 or 50 miles to get to fishing grounds. I'd rather hunt."

Crime conditions in Texas, in the opinion of Governor Alford, are improving. In the first year of his administration about 25 men were put to death, while in the first four months of this year only one paid the extreme penalty.

The governor believes the "killer" type has been giving Texas a wide berth because of, first, "a change in the attitude of the pardoning power," and, second, generally improved law enforcement. "I think the killers have concluded they are headed for trouble in Texas," he says.

The mail of Texas Senators may differ in volume, but much of it is similar in that it deals with taxes. Senator Morris Roberts of Pettus who represents 13 counties, receives about five letters a day, written mostly, he says, to oppose taxes of one kind or another, or taxes of any sort. "My constituents are thinking about taxes more than any other subject before the legislature," Roberts says.

The mail of Franklin Spears of San Antonio, who represents four counties, is so heavy he employs three girls. "A large part of it is written in opposition to a sales tax and in favor of natural resource taxes," he says. "Much also has dealt with the question of repealing the horse race wagering law. Most of the letters have favored repeal."

As a result of tension over the race betting repeal controversy, Senators, in closing days of the general session, were almost afraid to leave the chamber. Both sides in the argument were watching each other and Senators were fearful of a coup in their absence. The difference of one or two votes meant a great deal. One morning Senator Weaver Moore of Houston, repeal opponent, came to the press table and joyously asked: "I have to go over to the House for 15 minutes. Do you reckon I can risk it?" He was advised to leave word with someone to send for him if an emergency requiring his vote should arise.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULGIM

Last night, Pampans who had not seen C. V. Terrell, chairman of the State Railroad commission in several years, were gladly surprised by his appearance. There was a time a few years ago when his health was none too good, but the judge (he sat on the bench down at Decatur) has built up his health until now he looks younger and better than he has for ten years. It seems that age has passed him by. In fact, Vernon Terrell looks the same and acts the same as he did when this writer sat behind Carl Schuiker in the fourth grade down at Decatur a long time ago. . . . The judge being a calm deliberate man with a sense of humor, works with dignity but last night he set a pace for spry Jack Dunn as they moved thru hotel lobbies. Vernon Terrell is the sort of man who makes what are known as "old friends" every year of his life and he never forgets them, but they all those friends he has made here during the years are welcoming him back to Pampa.

He is not a back-slapper, nor is he fond of loud talking, nor does he make rash statements, and never promises, but wherever he is, his friends quietly flock around him, rejoicing in his friendship that seems to flow from him, rejoicing in his safety, strength and his natural goodness of character.

These types may be seen among all age groups, but are perhaps most common among young individuals of the present. Recent studies lead to the belief that both the excessively thin and the excessively heavy young person suffer not because of constitutional disabilities, but from emotional or psychological disturbances. The excessively thin person whose appetite is deficient, may be a victim of "anorexia nervosa"—loss of appetite due to some psychologic disturbance. The overweight, omnivorous young person may have his or her "all-consuming" appetite because of some psychologic difficulty. The pleasures of eating serve this type of person as a compensation for need and popularity, which they miss.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Robert Montgomery had to fight to do it, but he has done it. If you see "Night Must Fall" you must agree that that boy can act. Here is a murder picture as far removed from the average screen thriller as a Tiffany diamond is from a dime store. It is no sense a guessing contest like the average mystery film. You know, almost from the first, that Danny the hotel page-boy is the murderer.

You watch him, live with him, see him carry on his masquerade of innocence while plotting other murders, see him break in terror when alone and yet strive further to lift himself to "distinction."

Baby-Faced Boy Watching Montgomery's characterization, you see the working of a misshapen mentality in the midst of everyday surroundings. Danny, the baby-faced page-boy, worms his way into the service of an old country woman (Dame May Whitely) and intrigues her repressed niece (Rosaling Russell) who lives with her. As the girl who suspects and yet is fascinated by the killer, Miss Russell gives a brilliant performance, and Dame May Whitely, especially in a later dramatic sequence, proves herself a real actor.

Eerie, suspense-filled, and morbid in a sense, the film should prove exciting to many and, to psychiatrists, a real delight. To play the role, Montgomery had to build studio conventions that he was fitted only for the cocktail-shaking playboy parts of his more recent past. He collected fan criticisms of himself in previous roles and used them as argument. After the picture got under way, Metro began to realize that it had something, and production plans were expanded.

To young director Richard Thorpe this was a real opportunity and he has made the most of it. His first ambitious undertaking, the film owes much of its quality to his touch. Another Triangle Story For "The Woman I Love" praise should be reserved. Director Anatole Litvak had a time-worn triangle, some exciting aerial warfare scenes from a previously released foreign version of the same story, and a capable cast for his materials. Louis Hayward plays the young aviator who falls in love with Miriam Hopkins. She is the wife of the man (Paul Muni) who is to become his air-companion and best friend. The situation is no more and no less interesting than usual, despite the efforts of all concerned.

"The Woman I Love" lifts it above the ordinary run of war stories, and a youngster named Wally Albright (not so long ago he was a curly-headed baby in Gloria Swanson films) brightens the proceedings.

Helen Broderick got her first start in "Pify Million Frenchmen," and so did Betty Compton, who is Mrs. Jimmy Walker. Another to see stars down promised in the same revue was Evelyn Hoey, who was found slain last year on a rural farm in Pennsylvania. . . . The Hoey girl was one of the rare beauties of the theatrical world. . . . Her forte was singing torch ditties in night clubs.

Croson Will Teach Band This Summer

Summer band training for ward school students this year will be in charge of C. O. Croson, director of Sam Houston Blue and Gold band. It was announced this week. The band program will begin June 7. Students who wish to enroll for the vacation band are asked to do so before May 25. They or their parents are invited to see Mr. Croson by that time.

A summer school band program has been effect here the past few years for both high school and ward musicians. Pupils are trained to their places in regular bands at the beginning of the school term. Mr. Croson is completing his first year as a band director in Pampa schools. The Sam Houston band took first rating among ward school bands in the recent North Texas contests here.

How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO GARDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

SKINNY AND FATTY. No circus is complete without the sidshow characters of the living skeleton and the mammoth lady. Strangely enough, the living skeleton is seldom female, though occasionally a "man mountain" may be shown in place of the fat lady.

Nearly all of these sidshow characters suffer from some pathologic condition. The skeleton man is quite likely to have some disability affecting his fat digestion and absorption, possibly a blockage of his lymph duct. The mammoth lady probably has a disturbance in the function of the glands of internal secretion.

Outside the circus we frequently find individuals both excessively thin and excessively overweight. The thin individual often has a chronically bad appetite, while the overweight one is an omnivorous eater.

These types may be seen among all age groups, but are perhaps most common among young individuals of the present. Recent studies lead to the belief that both the excessively thin and the excessively heavy young person suffer not because of constitutional disabilities, but from emotional or psychological disturbances. The excessively thin person whose appetite is deficient, may be a victim of "anorexia nervosa"—loss of appetite due to some psychologic disturbance. The overweight, omnivorous young person may have his or her "all-consuming" appetite because of some psychologic difficulty. The pleasures of eating serve this type of person as a compensation for need and popularity, which they miss.

Frequently anorexia nervosa develops as a sequel to attempts at slimming because of excessive plumpness. The psychologic motive for overeating and the subsequent underweighting may remain fundamentally the same, though the behavior pattern of the individual swings from one extreme to the other. In such instances, there is little to be gained by urging the underweight individual to eat more, or by pressing the overweight person to reduce his food intake. A more effective approach to both is by way of psychologic treatment.

Of course, in every case care will be taken first to rule out the existence of some physical or functional difficulty adequate to account for the patient's condition.

4,000 TEACHERS AND PUPILS ATTEND MEET

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—More than 4,000 high school pupils and teachers prepared today to begin the 27th annual interscholastic league meet—test of "brawn" and "brawn" for winners of earlier district and regional contests. Preliminaries were scheduled today with finals tomorrow.

Regional winners will compete in scholastic events including debate, declamation, extemporaneous speech, essay writing, three-8 contests, typing, shorthand, journalism, one-act play presentations and art. In the "brawn" division were 375 athletes seeking championships in track, field and tennis. A rural pentathlon was a feature of the athletic competition, also. Only one of last year's champions, Edward "Lefty" Brown of Waco high school, had returned to defend his title. Last year Brown and Charles championship. Brown is paired with Edward "Moe" Monroe this year.

San Antonio with 44 students from six high and junior schools, and Dallas with 25 representatives from five high schools registered the largest delegations. RABBIT DRIVES HELP FARMERS BEAT DROUGHT WILLISTON, N. D. (AP)—The long-eared North Dakota jackrabbit is helping farmers in this prairie state to beat the drought. Thousands of rabbits are killed annually by farmers who sell the pelts to firms which use them to make low-priced fur coats with fancy names, felt for jaunty bonnets and for dozens of other uses. More than 11,000 rabbits were killed in 35 days by farmers in this vicinity, netting them $1,150. Fur dealers skin the "jacks" and give the bodies back to farmers for poultry and hog feed. They are also soaked in brine and shipped to fox farms for food.

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

These horrible pictures of the Spanish civil war featured in the newspapers should make us realize more clearly the awful agony the innocent people of Spain are passing through. It is a shame to civilization (if worthy to be called that) that such unnecessary misery is promiscuously and brutally dealt out to the multitudes of men, women and children. The great tragedy of the whole thing is the fact that whatever is the outcome of the Spanish war, it will not have accomplished any worthwhile thing after all the inestimable sacrifices. Would it not have been much better for the Spanish loyalists to have granted any kind of government than to pay the price they are paying with no assurance that after all their cherished form of government will be preserved?

Let us hope that nations will get a realistic picture of what the infamous business in Spain really amounts to and profit by their sad experience. Someone has accredited General Sherman with the statement: "War is Hell." If that word could be fittingly applied to the horrors of war in Sherman's day, what word in the English or any other language could describe modern war?

The fight against a dictatorship is not simply a fight between rival extremists. It is a part of the eternal conflict between those who can detect a divine spark in humanity, and who want to bring it to flame, and those who cannot. Because it sets forth this conflict with warm sympathy and deep, unperturbed wisdom. "Bread and Wine" by Ignazio Silone (Harper's; $2.50), is a notable novel. The book deals with Italy under Mussolini—with an Italy that is just declaring war on Haile Selassie's dark empire, and with an idealistic Italian revolutionist who returns from exile to try to rouse his countrymen to revolt. The cards are stacked against the revolutionist, overwhelmingly. Poverty and ignorance, a blind and hopeless acceptance of life's injustice, a sullen inertia beaten in by centuries of oppression make the masses unresponsive. There are spies everywhere, and no man can be trusted. On top of everything else, the war fever has been roused and mass enthusiasm for conquest is at a high pitch. The revolutionist does not, as a matter of fact, accomplish anything. A few pamphlets distributed, a few defiant slogans scribbled on walls, and he is done for. Outwardly, he has failed miserably and been defeated eternally. And yet, says Signor Silone, he has not failed, his defeat is not eternal. Life is somehow greater than the sum of its parts. God does not fight on the side of the heaviest battalions, after all. The individual revolutionist may die; in the end, he is inevitably on the winning side.

KENTUCKY DERBY, NATION'S MOST FAMED RACE, TO BE RUN TOMORROW

WAR ADMIRAL IS FAVORITE TO WIN CUP

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 7 (AP)—While thousands of turf followers milled today on gaily decorated streets, where only a few months ago flood waters stood several feet deep, nearly a score of the nation's equine royalty awaited the coronation of the Kentucky Derby winner as king of the three year olds.

Around 4:45 p. m. (CST) tomorrow starts Bill Hamilton will release the barrier, yell "come on" and the 63rd running of the country's most famous horse race will be underway to the accompaniment of the cheers of 65,000 spectators.

A little more than two minutes later, at the end of the mile and a quarter whirl, the winner will have a horseshoe of roses draped around his neck, the fortunate owner will collect upwards of $50,000, and the backers of the victorious horse will rush to the mutual windows to collect.

More than $1,500,000 may pass through the mutual windows for the greatest play since the days of Reich Count and Gallant Fox.

The added impetus of a wide open race, with at least seven horses racing, consideration of figures to draw the largest crowd in derby history through the turnstiles of historic Downs. Officials have prepared for a record attendance by increasing the seating capacity to 30,000.

The consensus of the experts is that the winner will come from either Mrs. Edna Y. Mars' Willy Way stable or Samuel Riddle's barn, with the latter sending out the favorite in the diminutive War Admiral, a son of Man O'War.

War Admiral will enter the race the only unbeaten horse in the field. The offspring of "Old Red" is expected to go to the post at odds of close to 9 to 5.

In meeting Mrs. Mars' Reaping Reward and Military, however, War Admiral will be asked to match strides with one horse seasoned by racing and another who had shown his class as a two year old.

While War Admiral and Mrs. Mars' entry are expected to battle it out in the mutuels, there should be plenty of support for Dellow, the Wheatley stable's Melodist, Heffly from the Waggoner Brothers' Texas owned Three D's stable, Maxwell Howard's Sceneshifter, ace of the pair trained by Earl Sande, and J. H. Louchheim's Pompon, the erstwhile favorite.

Heffly, Pompon and Sceneshifter forged into the picture with brilliant workouts. The favorite, Maxwell Howard's Sceneshifter, is expected to win the Derby distance in 2:06 2/5 in his final prep. Pompon worked himself back into consideration with an excellent mile and an eighth trial over the Derby course. Sceneshifter turned up with a speedy six furlongs in 1:12 2/5.

A victory for any of the others, including Mary Hirsch's owned and trained No Sir would furnish even more of an upset that when Bold Venture won last year and paid $43 for each $2 ticket.

Cubs Climb From 6th To Tie For 3rd In One Week

By SID FEDER

For a bunch of cripples who were supposed to need wheel chairs and stretchers, those Chicago Cubs are showing a lot of health.

In spite of a casualty list that makes Wrigley Field resemble a base hospital, the Cubs have climbed from sixth place to a tie for third in the last week, and are showing no signs of letting up.

When pitcher Larry French and second baseman Billy Herman went on the hospital list with Tex Carleton, Curt Davis and Gabby Hartnett last week, the "experts" figured it was curtains for the Cubs.

Since then, the Cubs have won six of seven starts, they've averaged close to nine runs and 13 hits a game, and have held the enemy to less than four scores per nine innings.

Their surge wound up in third place yesterday when rain cut their tilt with the Phillies to five innings, with the Cubs winning 1-0 for their sixth straight triumph. Bill Lee, going the route for the second in the week, muffed the Phils with one lone hit.

The big change in standings for the day came in the American league where the Tigers topped the Yankees 12-6 and the Red Sox nosed out the Browns 2-1 to throw the lead into a three-way tie. Hank Greenberg, with a homer, double and triple led the drive against Yankee pitching at Detroit, while Pootsie Marcum burst his third straight win to give Boston its win and a share in the loop pace.

For the first time this season, the Cincinnati Reds showed a winning streak of two by blanking the Giants 4-0 behind Lefty Lee Grissom's five hit hurling. The Dodgers snapped the Pittsburgh Pirates' streak at four straight by a seven-run rally in the fifth inning for a 9-5 victory. The Cards and Boston Bees were rained out.

Connie Mack's upsetting Athletics topped the Chicago White Sox for the second day running, 3-1. Roy Weatherly's homer with a mate on base in the eighth gave the Cleveland Indians a 4-2 win over the Washington Senators.

NO LOST BASEBALLS
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Frank (Red) Mueller, Lincoln high school baseball coach, called his candidates together early this season and admonished them to take care of the 24 new baseballs the team owned.

"The athletic fund is running low," he said.

He counted the baseballs a month later. He found 26.

and then whipped him for the title. The wise ones say he will be a 3 to 1 choice by the time the fighters enter the ring.

Tony hangs his hope of victory on punching power and spirit. His manager, Sammy Goldman, argues that one punch slung on the button will drain the speed from Ambers' nimble legs and let Tony come in for the kill.

The feeling persists that it will be Ambers' fight. Never a knock-out hitter, Lou substitutes quantity for quality and he can pepper his opponent with the speed and facility of a cooper going around a barrel.

TONY CANZONERI WILL BOX AMBERS TONIGHT

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Battle scarred and weary, Tony Canzoneri will bring his ancient armament into the Madison Square Garden ring tonight for one last fling with destiny and Lou Ambers' lightweight title.

If he wins, Tony will defend the title he has held twice. If he loses, a great fighter ends his career and goes back to his Marlboro farm and life among the cows and chickens.

Ambers, young, fast and confident, is a 12 to 5 favorite over the man he once served as sparring partner. He lost to Tony in their first bout.

SHOWDOWN IN TEXAS - AGGIE RACE NEARING

(By The Associated Press)

The make or break stage was at hand in the Southwest conference baseball chase today.

Texas and the Texas Aggies meet different foes in games which may bear heavily on the hot race that has developed between the schools. The farmers are stepping on the Longhorns' heels and a win today over Rice would force Texas to its utmost to keep the flag it has won so many times in the last 22 years.

The Longhorns tangle with Southern Methodist at Austin. Despite the Mustangs' unimpressive record this season, its narrow lead behooves Texas to play at top speed.

Another conference game matches Texas Christian and Baylor.

The Aggies kept up their dogged pursuit of the Longhorns with a 7-3 victory over Rice yesterday, laying 522 to with their bats after seven scoreless innings.

The Longhorns also had their hearts in their throats at the end of seven innings, when the lowly Mustangs held them at 5-11. Then the Ponies went haywire afield, committing enough errors to allow six Texas runs in the eighth. Huson, meat while, was pitching without great effectiveness but his mates were fielding well. He allowed eight hits, O'Neill and Dougherty of the Ponies 11.

Only four Dodger pitchers have gone the route this season and Van Mungo is all four of 'em. Here is one for the book in the way of long distance releases. . . . Mahmud Elana, since 1919 a regular on the Sing Sing baseball team, has been sent to Albania (now, not Albany of the New York-Penn league) but Albania of the League of Nations . . . Governor Lehman pardoned him on condition he be deported immediately. . . . Blaza was a 10-year man at Sing Sing, but that didn't keep him from leaving for Albania in charge of a federal immigration officer. . . . Begins to look like the surgeons have the baseball situation well under control.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Looks like a large week-end, mates. . . . Today the Gas House Gang invades the Polo Grounds. . . . Tonight: Ambers vs. Canzoneri. . . . Tomorrow: Kentucky Derby. . . . The New York race mob is off to Louisville in full force ready to go up or down with War Admiral. . . . With a little co-operation from Jupiter Pluvius, they can't see how this colt can miss. . . . What's this about Burleigh Grimes having his picture taken with an umpire? . . . Eddie O'Brien, the Syracuse runner, whose mother is seriously ill, rushed home to Atlantic City for a blood transfusion. . . . Speaking of the Reds, the Cincinnati Times-Star eight' columned: "18,000 mourners at Sunday wake at Redland field."

So exact are the specifications of a tennis ball today that, if a ball is dropped from a height of 100 inches into a concrete base in a room where the temperature is 60 degrees, the perfect ball will bounce between 55 and 58 inches. . . . If the temperature is raised 10 degrees, the ball will bounce five or six inches higher.

Joe DiMaggio's lay-off doesn't seem to have impaired his batting eye. . . . Bob Feller, Roy Weatherly and Geoffrey Heath, the three Cleveland juveniles, have rented a house and live together with a housekeeper on hand to see they get good home cooking when the Indians are at home.

OLD MARBERRY PULLS DALLAS FROM CELLAR

(By The Associated Press)

Where They Play Today: Dallas at Houston (night); Fort Worth at Galveston (night); Oklahoma at San Antonio (night); Tulsa at Beaumont.

Some day time will motion old Fred Marberry to the sidelines.

In his 40-odd years he has slanted many a freak pitch toward the batter's box, including a stretch with Washington's Senators, and should by ordinary calculations be ready to call it a day.

But you couldn't tell it by the way he performed last night. Through nine innings the aging veteran whipped them past futilely swinging Houston batsmen. They managed six hits off him but when a score was in the offing he bore down. Houston's only run was unearned, Harvel letting a hit get by him.

Marberry had to pitch good ball to keep up with Allyn Stout. Except for eighth-inning wildness, Stout likewise pitched air tight ball, allowing only four hits. When it was over Marberry was on top, 2 to 1. The win pulled Dallas out of the cellar.

Frank Anderson of Galveston also had something to boast of. He blanked Fort Worth 4 to 0 in a four-hit exhibition which kept the ball within the infield for five innings. Anderson is a former Georgia-Florida leaguer.

Another South Texas game proved that Beaumont's youngsters are not at the league helm by accident. They shelved a recent flurry of jitters that threatened to cost them their leadership and annexed their second straight game in whipping Tulsa 7 to 4.

An important sidelight of the game featured Boots Poffenberger, Beaumont pitcher. He pitched good ball, holding the hits to nine scattered blows; he booted the ball around the infield to endanger his leads; and then, as if to do penance for his awkwardness, stepped to the plate and slapped out two doubles.

Oklahoma City kicked San Antonio into the basement, 5 to 4. Easterling and Kott got ninth inning hits to overcome a Mission lead.

GULLIC'S HOME RUN BEATS INDIANAPOLIS

CHICAGO, May 7 (AP)—Milwaukee's home run record in the American association was alive today, due largely to Ted Gullic.

Indianapolis had an 8 to 2 lead when Gullic tripled to drive in two runs as the climax of a four-run rally. The Indians picked up another run in the fifth, making it 9 to 6, but Gullic banged out his sixth home run with two men on, topping off a five-run uprising that gave the Brewers a 11 to 9 decision.

The Saints, with Johnny Welch outpointing Paul (Dizzy) Trout, in a hurling duel, beat Toledo, 4 to 1. Each pitcher allowed only five hits.

Minneapolis pounded three Columbus pitchers for 14 safeties in a 12 to 6 victory.

Kansas City bunched seven hits off Dick Bass to defeat Louisville, 4 to 3, in their series opened.

Oilers To Play Borger Tonight

Determined to get revenge for a 15 to 4 defeat here a week ago, Manager Sam Hale and his Phillips 66 nine of Borger will be in fighting trim for the invasion of the Pampa Oilers tonight, according to word from Borger. Manager Hale plans to send Hadley to the mound with Foynter behind the plate.

Manager Fred Brickell will probably retaliate by sending Carl Stewart to the hill in an effort to curb the 66 batters into submission. Or Brickell may use Lefty Goodell in order to get another look at him under fire. Goodell, in his first appearance, gave promise but he was wild and was hit rather freely. Dalley and Hutton will be in reserve.

Season admission tickets to home games will be available to fans Monday when a campaign will be launched by sponsors of the team. Thirty home games have been assured and a book of tickets will be sold for $10.

Each book will contain 30 individual tickets, each numbered. Each game played will be designated by a number and the ticket in the book bearing the corresponding number will be good for admittance to that game only.

Number 1 ticket in the book will be good for admittance to the game with Buck Lal's Hawaiians on the night of May 17. Ticket No. 2 will be for admittance to the game with the House of David on the night of May 18. The No. 3 ticket will be for the second game with the Hawaiians. All stars on the night of May 19.

Business Manager Harold Miller has been unable to get a game for Sunday afternoon. Teams in Oklahoma have not started traveling as yet. On Wednesday night the Phillips 66 team from Borger will probably play a return engagement.

WATER BOARD PLANS TO GET MONEY SHARE

The Panhandle Water Conservation Authority came into existence yesterday in Amarillo with directors setting their first objective the securing of proportionate part of the $500,000 federal flood control and water conservation fund.

The Authority succeeded the Panhandle Water Conservation association following its creation by an act of legislature last week. All officers and directors were retained.

Present from Pampa was C. H. Walker, Gray county director, and County Judge Sherman White.

Carl Hinton of the Amarillo chamber of commerce was named general manager of the Authority at a salary of $1 a year. He was instructed to attend the Southwestern Agricultural associations meeting in Boise City, Okla. Wednesday. County representation at the meeting was also urged.

The act creating the Panhandle Conservation Authority sets it up as a "body politic." It provides for its officers, gives the organization power to issue bonds, and to accept aid from the federal government.

Purpose Outlined

As stated in the bill, purpose of the authority is "for the control, storing, preservation and distribution of waters of the Red, Canadian and Brazos rivers and their tributaries, for domestic and municipal use, flood control, irrigation and conservation."

The authority is given a $3,000 appropriation under the bill, which was signed by Gov. James V. Allred Tuesday.

While Senator Small has maneuvered it through the Senate, the Panhandle representatives pushed it by the House under exceptional circumstances.

Other acts of the new authority's directors here yesterday include adoption of a resolution expressing appreciation to Marvin Jones and other Southwestern congressmen for their assistance in furthering the water conservation program; and also a resolution expressing appreciation to Sen. Clint Small, Representatives Jack Little, Amarillo; Max Boyer, Perryton; A. B. Tarwater, Plainview; Gene Worley, Shamrock; Bob Alexander, Childress, and to Mr. Hinton.

Promising one of the most vital dramas distinguishing the motion picture screen, "The Woman I Love" has been produced as a romantic action picture starring Paul Muni and Miriam Hopkins and featuring Louis Hayward in a domestic triangle developed amid the frenzied days of the World War on the Marne front and mounting to a sensational denouement during a spectacular air battle fought by two French flying heroes whose heartaches over one woman form the motives of the story.

The picture comes from RKO Radio, which has lavishly mounted and cast the production as one of its major offerings of the season. The magnitude of the affair upon the power of its theme and the eminence of its principal players.

merce banquet to honor the highway commission.

Many From Other Cities

C. V. Terrell and Col. Ernest O. Thompson of the railroad commission were honored guests.

Fully two-thirds of the more than 400 men and women at the banquet were out-of-towners, coming from every section of the Panhandle to express their appreciation for the splendid work done by the commission.

"I believe we ought not to promise anything until the revenue does nothing not just, frank and fair to all others."

Criticism Invited

The highway commission chairman invited constructive criticism and urged working together like partners.

One of the main interests of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, said Mr. Brymer, is completion of the road from Pampa to Dumas through the oil field. He mentioned other important "feeder" roads.

Mr. Brymer introduced 33 Panhandle delegations.

System Praised

Mr. Terrell spoke briefly.

"I was delighted to come here to honor the highway commission," he said. "I never have heard anyone criticize any member of the commission and I know of no state in the union that will compare with the Texas highway system."

Harry Hines, only other member of the commission present, revealed the millions that had been spent for roads in the Panhandle within the last year.

"And there's at least that much more ($4,000,000) in the hopper now," he said. "The tourist 'crop' last year was larger than the cotton crop in Texas and it is the duty of the state to close the gaps."

"I want this made plain," announced the distinguished visitor: "We, the highway commission—had agreed with the highway commission of Oklahoma to bring the entire commission and state engineers to meet at Amarillo and the Red River at 10 o'clock on the morning of May 8 for the purpose of not theorizing, but of definitely solving two important bridge problems."

"Just prior to that I had arranged to meet at Amarillo and said to the commission as a body would visit several sections of the Panhandle to get definite 'eye-to-eye' information on highway problems."

"Tuesday the chairman of the Oklahoma commission called and said that some important highway legislation coming up the commission couldn't keep the engagements."

"Of course, out of deference to their request, the Red River engagement was postponed and the commission felt it would be better to postpone the general Panhandle meeting, but it developed later at least two members of the commission could be here so we are going to carry out the original plans for the tour."

Delegations were at the banquet from Brownfield, Hereford, Plainview, Stinnett, Panhandle, Wheeler, Tulla, Memphis, Muleshoe, Pampa, Dimmitt, Dumas, Perryton, Clarendon.

ash-strewn ruins of the airship—the first of the Zeppelins to carry a commercial passenger to death.

Insurance authorities in London said the ship was insured for $2,500,000 with $2,000,000 held by Lloyds underwriters and the rest by German interests.

With Dr. Eckener saying sabotage could not be entirely eliminated as a possible cause, Senator Copeland, chairman of the committee on commerce, said one of the purposes of the government's inquiry was to determine if sabotage brought the disaster.

"There are two things I want to know," he told reporters in Washington.

Many May Die

"I want to know if there was any sabotage connected with the disaster, and I want to know the type of material connected with the inferno construction of the dirigible."

Many of the survivors—some of whom jumped from the liner as it fell to earth, others who were catapulted to safety in the impact, and even some who staggered out of the inferno alive—were in dangerous condition in hospitals near the air station.

Captain Max Pruss, who was commanding the Hindenburg for the first time, was one of those in a critical condition.

Captain Ernest A. Lehmann, whom Pruss succeeded and who was on the ship in an advisory capacity, also was in a very serious condition. Scores of spectators witnessed the sudden, shocking tragedy. One instant, they waved greetings up to passengers standing in the windows of the observation compartment.

Then, in a flash, a cannonading explosion jarred the huge cigar-shaped craft, a streak of flame lashed out, and the Hindenburg plummeted clumsily to earth.

Tiny black objects—bodies—hurtled from the flaming craft. On the ground, women spectators screamed and covered their eyes in horror.

In the span of seconds before flames enveloped the silver fabric of the world's largest dirigible, some of the passengers and crew jumped or were hurled clear of the falling ship.

Captain Ernest Lehmann, a Zeppelin commander in the world war and commander of the ship on previous voyages, was gravely injured. So was Captain Max Pruss, the veteran airman making his first voyage as Lehmann's successor in command. Lehmann made the trip in an advisory capacity.

Others were trapped in the blazing stern, their screams audible to the comparatively small crowd gathered to witness what they considered a "routine" arrival of the big Zeppelin.

What happened to the airship that had made so many safe crossings to this and other countries remained a mystery.

Carl Weigand, skipper of the S. S. Deutschland, who rushed to Paul Kimball hospital at Lakewood to see Captain Lehmann, quoted him as saying:

"I don't know what happened. She just went up."

"Something strange caused that tragedy," said Gill Robb Wilson, state aviation director, announcing immediate federal and state investigations. There was an explosion, he said, in No. 2 gas cell stern.

Disasters Remembered

The disaster, writing a fiery finis to the Hindenburg's 135,000 miles of safe transit across the Atlantic, was the first major wreck to involve a lighter-than-air ship carrying paying passengers.

All other crashes, in the 78 years since Count Zeppelin began the use of dirigibles, involved military or naval craft.

It was America's fourth major tragedy of its kind, the other three being the naval dirigible Shenandoah, which broke in two during a storm over Ohio, Sept. 2, 1925, with a death toll of 14, the destruction of the Akron off Barnet inlet, April 4, 1933, which killed the pilot, and the crash of the Macon into the sea, off the California coast, early in 1935.

Curious humanity, in long untrusting streams of thousands, poured into Lakehurst throughout the night and early morning, eager to gaze in awe on the scene.

Ten miles out, on roads radiating from the pine-hemmed airport, guards shouted in vain at the oncoming hordes of motorists:

"Nothing but ambulances down this road!"

The determined crowds abandoned their cars and pressed forward on foot, through wood, swamps and thickets to the spot where lay the fused, skeletonized girders of the Colossus of the skies.

Navy men patrolled the high fence, which many agile spectators had climbed before the "keep out" lines were formed.

In the Zeppelin company's office, beside the hangar, a score of Germans, grim and nervous, conversed gutturally. An officer with a head swathed in crimson-stained bandages, roared thick German into a telephone.

Eleven times, a truck backed up to the hangar. Each time, it brought another charred body.

MURAL PRESENTED.

CLARENDON, May 7 (AP)—A mural in memory of the late R. B. Masterson, Texas cattleman, has been presented to the Hall of Texas Cattle Kings at Dallas by his son and former ranching partner, R. B. Masterson Jr., of Amarillo. The painting is to be part of the brand-new exhibit at the Pan-American exposition. Painted by Harold D. Bugbee, Clarendon artist, the mural portrays the historical legend of moving Masterson cattle from Wheeler county to the Masterson ranch in King and Knox counties 40 years ago.

NEW YORK, May 7. (AP)—Landing stocks encountered recovery difficulties in today's market and closing price trends were indefinite.

A few specialties advanced sharply on comparatively small turnovers and resistance was displayed by others. But vigor was lacking in either direction.

Steel scrap at Pittsburgh, long considered an economic barometer, was reported to have suffered another decline of 50 cents a ton, putting it down about 18 from its spring peak.

Official figures on last week's freight loadings revealed the highest aggregate since last November, but the increase over the preceding week was less than seasonal. Activity was a bit more pronounced than yesterday, but declines were still relatively slow. Transfers were around 850,000 shares.

merce banquet to honor the highway commission.

Many From Other Cities

C. V. Terrell and Col. Ernest O. Thompson of the railroad commission were honored guests.

Fully two-thirds of the more than 400 men and women at the banquet were out-of-towners, coming from every section of the Panhandle to express their appreciation for the splendid work done by the commission.

"I believe we ought not to promise anything until the revenue does nothing not just, frank and fair to all others."

Criticism Invited

The highway commission chairman invited constructive criticism and urged working together like partners.

One of the main interests of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, said Mr. Brymer, is completion of the road from Pampa to Dumas through the oil field. He mentioned other important "feeder" roads.

Mr. Brymer introduced 33 Panhandle delegations.

System Praised

Mr. Terrell spoke briefly.

"I was delighted to come here to honor the highway commission," he said. "I never have heard anyone criticize any member of the commission and I know of no state in the union that will compare with the Texas highway system."

Harry Hines, only other member of the commission present, revealed the millions that had been spent for roads in the Panhandle within the last year.

"And there's at least that much more ($4,000,000) in the hopper now," he said. "The tourist 'crop' last year was larger than the cotton crop in Texas and it is the duty of the state to close the gaps."

"I want this made plain," announced the distinguished visitor: "We, the highway commission—had agreed with the highway commission of Oklahoma to bring the entire commission and state engineers to meet at Amarillo and the Red River at 10 o'clock on the morning of May 8 for the purpose of not theorizing, but of definitely solving two important bridge problems."

"Just prior to that I had arranged to meet at Amarillo and said to the commission as a body would visit several sections of the Panhandle to get definite 'eye-to-eye' information on highway problems."

"Tuesday the chairman of the Oklahoma commission called and said that some important highway legislation coming up the commission couldn't keep the engagements."

"Of course, out of deference to their request, the Red River engagement was postponed and the commission felt it would be better to postpone the general Panhandle meeting, but it developed later at least two members of the commission could be here so we are going to carry out the original plans for the tour."

ash-strewn ruins of the airship—the first of the Zeppelins to carry a commercial passenger to death.

Insurance authorities in London said the ship was insured for $2,500,000 with $2,000,000 held by Lloyds underwriters and the rest by German interests.

With Dr. Eckener saying sabotage could not be entirely eliminated as a possible cause, Senator Copeland, chairman of the committee on commerce, said one of the purposes of the government's inquiry was to determine if sabotage brought the disaster.

"There are two things I want to know," he told reporters in Washington.

Many May Die

"I want to know if there was any sabotage connected with the disaster, and I want to know the type of material connected with the inferno construction of the dirigible."

Many of the survivors—some of whom jumped from the liner as it fell to earth, others who were catapulted to safety in the impact, and even some who staggered out of the inferno alive—were in dangerous condition in hospitals near the air station.

Captain Max Pruss, who was commanding the Hindenburg for the first time, was one of those in a critical condition.

Captain Ernest A. Lehmann, whom Pruss succeeded and who was on the ship in an advisory capacity, also was in a very serious condition. Scores of spectators witnessed the sudden, shocking tragedy. One instant, they waved greetings up to passengers standing in the windows of the observation compartment.

Then, in a flash, a cannonading explosion jarred the huge cigar-shaped craft, a streak of flame lashed out, and the Hindenburg plummeted clumsily to earth.

Tiny black objects—bodies—hurtled from the flaming craft. On the ground, women spectators screamed and covered their eyes in horror.

In the span of seconds before flames enveloped the silver fabric of the world's largest dirigible, some of the passengers and crew jumped or were hurled clear of the falling ship.

Captain Ernest Lehmann, a Zeppelin commander in the world war and commander of the ship on previous voyages, was gravely injured. So was Captain Max Pruss, the veteran airman making his first voyage as Lehmann's successor in command. Lehmann made the trip in an advisory capacity.

Others were trapped in the blazing stern, their screams audible to the comparatively small crowd gathered to witness what they considered a "routine" arrival of the big Zeppelin.

What happened to the airship that had made so many safe crossings to this and other countries remained a mystery.

Carl Weigand, skipper of the S. S. Deutschland, who rushed to Paul Kimball hospital at Lak quality. It was concerning such prayer that the ancient writer said that "the prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

It is constructive and interesting to study this lesson in the light of these things. Abraham was making a prayer for Sodom and Gomorrah that they might not be destroyed because of their sin.

What we have in this prayer is a conception of mercy and grace, so in advance of conceptions of God that are more definitely related to the New Testament that one marvels to find such an expression in the Book of Genesis, which goes so far back in the history of the race.

"Will thou consume the righteous with the wicked?" asks Abraham. It is more than a prayer—it is a questioning; it is reasoning; it is, in a sense, a trial of the God in whom Abraham believes. It is a striking and penetrating question. Are not the good and the innocent, even if they be few, to be considered as well as the guilty? "Suppose there are 50 righteous," said he, "suppose there are only five."

Compare the spirit of this appeal of Abraham with what has happened in history, and with what is happening even in our modern, supposedly scientific, enlightened, and humanitarian age. We have seen within our own day civilian peoples destroyed in war, women and children bombed with products of modern scientific destructiveness, with no regard for mercy or tenderness or justice.

The spirit of Abraham's prayer rebukes our modern day, and reminds us that if we really had the spirit of prayer, we would understand that there is grace and mercy with the Almighty, even as the narrative records the answer to the prayer.

A great preacher once was asked what he would do if he found, after death, that instead of there being upon the throne of the universe a God of love, as he proclaimed, there was a mighty tyrant. He answered, "I should go up to him and say, 'Sir, I expected better things of you.'"

Abraham's prayer to God revealed the spirit of his own life and of his own great discovery of the principle of mercy and justice. Would God that everywhere in the world there were the same regard for the security and right of the good, the innocent, and the true!

LORAIN, O. (AP)—The Ritz family has had time on its hands for three generations. Paul Ritz, his three brothers, two uncles, his father and grandfather all have followed the same occupation—clock making. The grandfather, Casper Ritz, learned the business unaided by tinkering with clocks in the attic of his home. By 1865 he was so adept he opened a shop in Brookville, Ind., and his sons and their sons have been on the job ever since. Paul says the way to learn watch repairing is to "start big and work down." From the comparatively simple steps in repairing a gigantic clock, the be-

ABRAHAM A MAN OF PRAYER. Text: Genesis 18:17-32.

BY WM. L. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance.

We have studied Abraham as a man of faith. Faith and prayer go together, though prayer is more instinctive than faith. A man who has little faith will pray in an emergency, and men who profess to disbelieve in God have instinctively called upon Him when they have been confronted by danger or tragedy. Prayer in its deepest aspect is that outreach of the soul toward some power or strength that is needed. But prayer in its truest aspect is much more than that. It is associated with the reality of faith, with spiritual vision, and with the commitment of the soul in definite ways.

The man who cries to a God in whom he does not believe is, after all, making something of a mockery of prayer; but where a man has yielded himself to the divine will and the divine control, and his whole being is attuned to truth and righteousness, prayer is of a different

Doctor Drowned as Flood Balked Rescue

Driving snow and a gale which lashed the surging flood waters hindered the three rescuers who are dramatically pictured above as they attempted to save Dr. J. H. MacDonald, whose automobile was swept off a bridge near Blissfield, Ont. Apparently injured, Dr. MacDonald had drowned before the three men could get his body from the almost submerged auto. The doctor had been on his way to Woodstock, Ont., where a washout caused a train wreck that killed two trainmen. The flood waters, which covered a large section of Western Ontario, drove 12,000 persons from their homes, mostly at London, and caused damage estimated at $1,000,000.

Giant Ford Tri-motor To Be Here Saturday, Sunday

The huge Ford tri-motor plane pictured above will make a return visit to Pampa tomorrow and Sunday and will carry passengers on both of the days, according to Jim Hatfield, manager of the Tom Rose Ford dealer. The ship, capable of carrying 14 passengers, is powered with three 425 h. p. Wasp motors which consume 90 gallons of gasoline per hour. It has a wing span of 80 feet and weighs seven tons. Prad Kane, veteran pilot, will be at the controls of the giant air cruiser, which will fly from the government flying field. At present the Ford tri-motor is at Altus, Okla., and a number of Tom Rose officials and friends will drive to Altus Saturday morning to return in the ship. Accompanying the Ford will be a stunt ship which will be piloted by Bennie Stanton. The little plane is a five-passenger bi-plane, the only one built to carry four passengers in the front cockpit. During the last two years the big Ford has flown in 30 states and carried more than 200,000 passengers safely, of which nearly 60 per cent were taking their first flight.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR BECOMING TEXAS RANGER STILL SAME AS 100 YEARS AGO, SAYS COMMANDER

AUSTIN, May 1 (AP)—Broad-shouldered H. H. Carmichael, commander, believes the qualifications for Texas Ranger service are the same today as a century ago. "The only difference between the force today and many years ago is modernized equipment," he says. Born more than 100 years ago with the Republic of Texas to combat bandits, warring Indians and desperadoes, the Rangers still have the same objectives generally, excluding the Indians, he explains. "Although each officer has at his disposal fast automobiles, sub-machine guns, scientific detection methods and other new facilities, the same type of man is required to perform the duties expected of him," says the Ranger commander whose title of colonel comes from a national guard affiliation. There are only 36 Rangers today compared with former forces four times that large. Their work supplements and dovetails the services of the 147-man Highway Patrol and local peace officers. Modern facilities have been an inestimable aid to the Rangers, Carmichael asserts. "We still have a frontier to cover—some 1,200 miles of border land on the meandering Rio Grande—and officers in that section, although often forced to use tactics of many years ago, find their work speeded up but made no less difficult by modernized equipment. "A Ranger tracking cattle rustlers or border smugglers leads his horse in a trailer, drives to a point where an automobile no longer can operate and then takes to his horse. "Formerly each officer was his own intelligence and identification bureau, whereas each now has at his disposal efficiently manned laboratories of the public safety department. "The modern officer, however, must know how to "lift" a fingerprint or preserve a minute blood stain for chemical analysis. His conventional dress contrasting with the buckskins of other day Ranger commanders, Col. Carmichael is none the less active. His duties include also supervision of the highway patrol but he often is on the scene of Ranger raids and other work. He brought to the department some 30 years of army background, including overseas duty in the World war. His army rank comes from the national guard in which he served 10 years as assistant adjutant general when the Rangers were under that department. They were transferred in 1934 to the public safety department along with the highway force. Like many previous commanders of the century-old enforcement body, Col. Carmichael has had wide experience in Texas, including the East Texas and Borger oil fields.

WOMAN TELLS SIDE IN TEXAS 'DREYFUS CASE'

NEW YORK, May 7—A smashing indictment of the American judicial system was delivered today by Mrs. Nelle Harvey, Wichita Falls, victim in the Texas "Dreyfus case." Mrs. Harvey, erroneously convicted and imprisoned on check forged charges and sentenced to nine years in the state penitentiary, tells her side of the story in a current true detective mystery magazine, the publication which figured in her release last January after she had been in jail six months. Mrs. Harvey takes this opportunity to clear herself fully of the charges brought against her, as well as to point out the injustices she feels she suffered at the hands of the law. As to the latter, Mrs. Harvey claims she was not given the protection fully accorded the accused; that the fact that her handwriting did not match the forged signatures was not given sufficient consideration; that testimony favorable to her case was ignored in one of her trials; that the Texas Rangers' investigation of her case could have been more complete; that too great reverence was given the "positive identifications" of the prosecution's witnesses in view of the considerable physical differences between her and Mrs. Billie Swor Bell, the actual forger. An epilogue to Mrs. Harvey's story is supplied by her friend, Mrs. Vera Bickerstaff, who with Mrs. Harvey's attorneys, Earl Kuntz, and Senator C. C. McDonald, and John Patterson, Falls county prosecutor, fought tirelessly for her release. Persons entering the United States from abroad numbered 44,307,496 in the 1936 fiscal year compared with 41,730,336 the year before. The figure includes transients as well as immigrants.

"SUFFERED SIX YEARS WITH CONSTIPATION"

"For six years I suffered with constipation, and I decided to try ALL-BRAN. I have been eating it once a day for about four years, and it has certainly done the work." —Mrs. Herman Futrell, 905 W. Oak Ave., Jonesboro, Ark. Tests prove that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is safe and effective for correcting common constipation. Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, and gently exercises and cleanses the intestines. It also furnishes vitamin B to tone the intestines, and iron for the blood. Just eat two tablespoons daily, either as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. Three times daily in severe cases. You'll find this food far better than habit-forming pills and drugs. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

LENOIR, N. C.—William "Uncle Bill" Washington, 71, came to town for the first time in 20 years and said he was worried. He complained that the tax collectors hadn't been around yet this year and he wanted to pay his assessments on the farm where he lives alone. The last time he came to town, he recalled, was to get the latest news of the World war. "THE BOSS IS 'IN'." HUTCHINSON, Kas.—The telephone rang in the superintendent's office at the state reformatory. "I'm locked in," said the caller. "And why not?" he was asked. The answer made several faces red. A guard dropped the bars on the print shop door without noting the new superintendent, C. A. Bestwick, was inside on an inspection tour. Mexico's 1930 census disclosed that 1,188,852 residents—mostly Indians—knew no Spanish. They represent 7.18 per cent of the Mexican population. MELLON'S RESEARCH INSTITUTE HAS 322 LABORATORY ROOMS

PITTSBURGH, May 7 (AP)—Mellon Institute today dedicated its $6,000,000 new building, the world's largest research institution, its exterior a Greek temple nine stories high, its interior new laboratory magic.

It has three and one half miles of corridors leading to 322 laboratory rooms where at present 185 scientists work. These men have actually increased their scientific accomplishments because of their new facilities. Dr. Edward R. Weidlein, director of the institute, told distinguished men from all over North America who came to the dedication. In the new laboratories the scientist can get the temperature of tropics or arctic or the climate of the Sahara for his experiments simply by turning a thermostat. If he wants a vacuum resembling that on the surface of the moon he can get it out of a pipe in any laboratory. Other pipes will give him steam, gas, hot or distilled water with the turn of a valve. Shelves are hooked into the walls. Ten minutes is enough to change the shelf arrangement of an entire room. Furniture is made without bolts or screws—only a rubber mallet is needed to take apart laboratory tables or to add to them. In this magnificent temple the scientific workers receive an average pay of $4,000 a year. These men and the 777 scientists who have preceded them since the institute was founded in 1911 have, by their discoveries, established ten new American industries, aided about 4,000

ADMIRATION - TRIPLE-SEALED IN "CELLOPHANE"
DECISION GOES TO THE Bag ... ON POINTS
The first three rounds were a draw between the two favorites: Coffee-in-Bags and Coffee-in-Other-Containers. In the first round, the quality of the two was the same. In the second, both had the same oven-freshness. In the third, fragrance and flavor were uniform in both. But in the fourth...
Coffee-in-Bags won the decision on price!
When the housewife finds that Admission Coffee in the moisture-proof Cellophane bags is the same fresh, fragrant, delicious coffee as that packed by other methods, she will certainly choose the bag at about 4c the pound less. Methods of packaging, plus Admission's fast truck delivery service, assure her of an equally good coffee at a more economical price.
Buy it in the bag and save the difference.
Admission Coffee comes packed three ways: vacuum glass jars, slip-covered tin cans, and in triple-sealed Cellophane bags.

On Capitol Hill

BY HARRELL E. LEE.

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—Advocates of a one-house Texas legislature failed again to obtain submission of the proposition to the people but they intend to keep trying. They appear to have a great deal of hard work ahead, the proposal mustering only 53 votes in the House whereas 100 are required for submission.

Rep. Wilson Fox of Taylor, House sponsor of the proposed constitutional change, predicted in his closing talk the electorate eventually would have a chance to pass on it. Opponents don't believe such a vote will be ordered within the next several years.

One argument for the proposal was that it would frustrate efforts of those interests which desire to block legislation. Opponents said that might be true in part but added that the blocking of bad legislation was as important as the passage of good bills.

The proposition can't come up again until 1939 as constitutional amendments can be submitted only at regular sessions.

Efforts in other southwestern states to submit the unicameral plan also met defeat this year. Nebraska is the only state so far to adopt it. The bill to repeal the law permitting horse race betting would have been killed in the Senate April 28 except that J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, an opponent of repeal, voted against a motion to table. The motion lost, 14 to 15.

Tabling would have had the effect of killing the proposal. Gov. Alfred said, however, that even though the motion had been adopted he would not have considered it a direct vote on the question and would have stood in his intention to call a special repeal session.

The prediction of many that general increases in salaries of state officials and employes would follow adoption of the constitutional amendment raising the pay of the governor and five other officers appeared to be coming true.

The first beneficiaries were district judges. The legislature passed a bill increasing their pay from $4,000 to $5,000 a year while Gov. Alfred was out of the state and Lieut. Gov. Walter F. Woodul signed it. The lawmakers also approved a proposal raising salaries of judges of the Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals from $6,500 to $8,000 a year, members of the commissions of appeals of the two highest courts from $5,700 to $7,500, judges of the courts of civil appeals from $5,400 to $6,500 and of the state's attorney in the Court of Criminal Appeals from $4,500 to $6,000.

The Standard Oil and American Tobacco companies were dissolved in 1911. Simultaneously the court agonized trust-busters by ruling that the Sherman Act must be construed "in the light of reason" and that agreements in restraint of trade were illegal only when they limited competition unreasonably. Later the court was to hold, in effect, that it was legal to establish a monopoly unless this was done with wicked intent.

The United Shoe Machinery case involved an instance of complete monopoly, but in 1918 the court approved the corporation on the ground that its merger of plants and machines made for efficiency.

Then, in 1920, the court turned down the government in its suit to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation. Four justices, with three dissenting, held that dissolution might involve a risk to the public interest.

That was the last big dissolution suit until the government moved against the Aluminum company the other day.

Curry sees art in blocks and tackles. MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin university football players are running through their plays in slow motion these days. They're being sketched by John Steuart Curry, "artist in residence" at the university.

Curry is sketching the blockers and tacklers with crayon in preparation for a set of six oil paintings. Says he: "Everyone paints the dramatic part of football and misses the rest. I think one ought to be able to catch the man-to-man play, the following of plans and assignments, without losing the dramatic element."

Court's Aluminum Ruling Holds Interest Because Of Past Trust Decisions

By RODNEY DUTCHES Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—It is rather commonly believed that the anti-trust laws virtually have been emasculated by past decisions of the Supreme Court. But even the most conservative lawyer has to admit that when it comes to predicting the court's present-day position on an old issue, you can never tell.

In anti-trust cases the court, perhaps, has demonstrated its mental elasticity more frequently than in any other field. That's one fact which makes the government's dissolution suit against the Aluminum Company of America so interesting. The court consistently has held against price-fixing agreements among competitors, but its decisions as to monopolies — the Aluminum company is charged with being a monopoly under the Sherman act — have varied.

The Justice Department shares a widespread curiosity as to what the court will say in the Aluminum case. Reports that the suit is only an administration movement against rising prices are but half true. It was reported in these dispatches last August, after some major oil companies and their officers had been indicted for alleged price fixing, that "The Department of Justice will soon be prosecuting important individuals and corporations in other industries on charges of violating the Sherman Act."

The background stretches over decades in which demands for rigorous enforcement, or more teeth in the law in order to prevent concentration of wealth and economic power, have been countered by demands for relaxation on the ground that the law interfered with business efficiency and fostered ruinous competition.

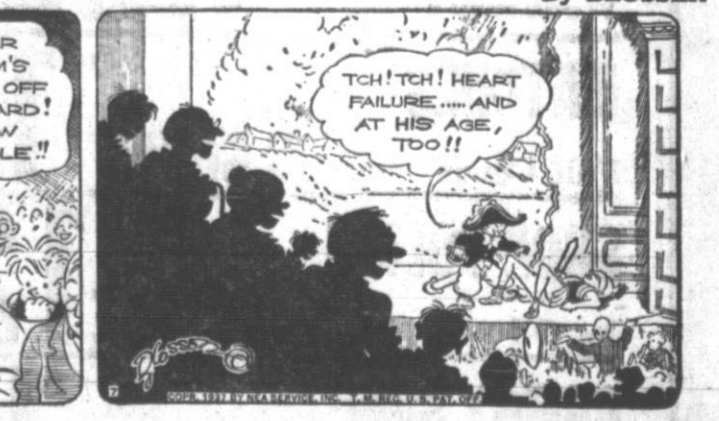

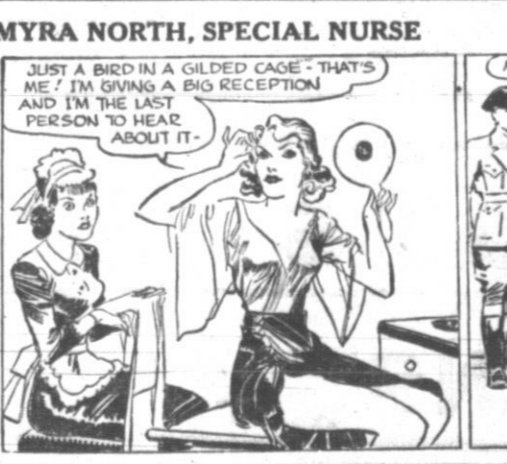

It's a Broad Law The Sherman act was passed in 1890. Designed to prevent monopolistic corporations from controlling prices by acquiring plants and restricting production it prohibited suppression of competition. It declared illegal "every contract, combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy, in restraint of trade or commerce Anyone engaging in such a combination or monopoly or attempting to monopolize "any part" of that trade was subject to a $5,000 fine or a year in prison. This was a broad law and some of its earlier victims were labor unions, although the law had grown out of agitation against oil, whisky, lead, sugar and other trusts.

In 1895 the Supreme Court took its first great whack against the anti-trust laws. The government had sued the American Sugar Refining co., whose acquisitions had resulted in a nearly complete monopoly. The court held that manufacture was inherently a local pursuit and that a combination of manufacturers didn't violate the act, since it affected interstate commerce only indirectly. This historic decision attracted no great attention because the "free silver" issue was blazing. An era of big mergers and consolidations followed. President Theodore Roosevelt, differentiating between "good trusts"

3 BOYS JUMP FROM WINDOW OF HINDENBURG

Cabin Boy Snickers And Is Rebuked By Steward

Chapter XV On Tuesday evening, Bob had dinner with Mr. Hendry in Green Hills. Old Abraham tried to outdo, if possible, his previous excellent efforts. There was roast guinea-ven with oyster dressing, candied sweet potatoes, fresh green asparagus, and to top it off, tempting old-fashioned strawberry shortcake made with ripe, red luscious berries.

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 7 (AP)—The world's greatest airship nosed cautiously into a rain-swept port in the murk of twilight, and an instant later—scant minutes from security—she was a mass of flames.

She had idled in the neighborhood more than an hour—officers had avoided the great saucer of the field where thin flashes of lightning accompanied squalls of wind and circled in the distance, where the sky was clear of clouds.

Gleaming despite the dusk, the great ship settled carefully after the storm moved on. Streamers of liquid droplets of lightning and sparks of fire were seen to stream from the tail and observers could see through the windshield into the control cabin as she neared the ground.

Two weighted cables dropped several hundred feet to the ground. The ground crew seized them. The powerful droves of the motors were only sound in the still, twilight hush.

Then came a dull, sickening boom. The entire stern burst into red flames and black, clouded smoke. Then the forward fabric caught fire, and her steel girders horribly ground, in the scarlet light of her ground in the scarlet light of her own end. It only took a minute.

Even in death she was majestic. Against the brooding background of gray clouds and the lonely tower that was her port, the great Zeppelin held the center of a natural stage in a drama of death.

Little human figures ran crazily. Shrieks and hysterical screams came from the few hundred men and women spectators who had braved the rain to see the end of just another routine voyage.

A boy sobbed. Red faced men gasped, cursed and looked. The crushed skeleton of the ship blazed fiercely. Cars with shrill sirens, trucks, delivery wagons, every motor car on the reservation, streaked in a mad race.

The twilight had dimmed into funeral gloom then, with only the flames and occasional blasts from the wreckage to tell the story. Among the first survivors were three boys in their late teens in the white and red cabin boy.

They were brought to the waiting room and customs officers and visitors flocked around them. They said they had jumped out of a window.

The boy snickered at something and one of the stewards turned to him. In German he said: "And you can laugh, you little fool!"

A new type of painters' canvas, said to be more durable than the ordinary variety, has been developed from flax by the Northern Ireland Linen Research Association.

"I was somewhere south of Pleverville. We'd come upon an old shaft abandoned, so it seemed. Of course, foolishly like young fellows are, he had to examine it right off, without a thought of the danger. I went down ahead. I remember, while Charlie scouted around the surface. But I got no more than 30 or 40 feet down that shaft when the whole shebang caved in on me. I tell you, I thought that was the end . . ."

"You were buried beneath it?" Hendry nodded. "Buried under a couple of tons of dirt and rock. And forty feet below the surface at that. Fortunately, there was a sort of cave to one side of the shaft, and I just naturally fell into it. There must have been enough air, too, to keep me going for some time."

"How long were you down there?" "Well, I don't rightly remember. It seemed like 20 years, believe me. But Charley said it was only a matter of 10 or 12 hours. In the meantime, he was digging frantically down the shaft to get me out. Somewhere, he happened on a couple of other fellows. The three worked to clear away the dirt. I don't remember much about it. Guess I was pretty near out of the picture when they finally brought me up. Gosh, almighty, I'll never forget how tickled I was to wake up and see that big black face of Charley Norton. Perhaps that's why he doesn't look so bad to me. I was expecting to see an angel instead."

Bob took a long breath. "That must have been an experience," he remarked. "I'll bet you left that mine pretty fast."

"No, we didn't. We seemed to get a hunch about it after the accident. It must have been a lucky spot, or I'd never have come out alive. So we stayed around a bit. And we cleaned up a nice little penny on the place before we were through."

The uncharitable thought flashed through Bob's mind that perhaps Charley Norton was just as interested in getting something out of the mine as he was in saving his friend's life, but he put it out of his head quickly.

"Life must have been pretty thrilling," he said instead. "out in the old west."

"It was that," Hendry agreed heartily. "A fellow never quite knew what sort of fortune lay in store for him from one day to the next. Prospecting in the old days was a rough gamble. But we had our fun out of it—Charley and I. There was another fellow, too, Jerry Jordan. The three of us roamed the mountains of California together for nearly 10 years."

"What happened to him?" "Oh, that's a nasty story. Jeremiah was killed. Murdered. And by some young fellow he'd done a great deal for. Made quite a bit of money, Jerry did, and he had a nice little business. This fellow was his confidential assistant. One day some easy money came through the office and I guess it was too much for him. He shot Jordan. Shot him in the back."

Bob frowned. "They got him later?" "Yes, they got him all right."

Bob stared into the fire, shaking his head. "Imagine a rat like that can you? Shooting a man in the back. And for a few paltry dollars! It makes you stop and think twice before you make a new friendship, doesn't it?"

(To Be Continued)

FRENCH CREDIT U. S. WITH SIT-DOWN PARIS (AP)—As far as France is concerned, the "sit-down" strike is an American invention.

Officials of the General Confederation of Labor told The Associated Press that the stay-in strike in the Goodyear Tire's Akron plant in March, 1936, was probably the first practical application of the new occupational method.

Inspired by the success of the Goodyear strike employees of three motor and airplane factories in the Paris district occupied their plants for four days until they got higher wages and paid vacations. They were the sit-down pioneers in France.

This was the signal for the epidemic of strikes that spread over France in the summer of 1936.
