4 Viet Bases Hit; Oil Depot Blasted

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced today that U. S. Naval aircraft damaged or destroyed approximately 25 patrol boats in their attack on North Viet Nam bases. Two American planes were lost with pilots, he said.

Revealing details of retaliatory blows ordered by President Johnson, McNamara told a news conference that 64 sorties — that is, single planes — were launched by the aircraft carriers Tinian and Constellation against four North Vietnamese patrol boat bases and an oil storage depot that supports the bases.

The oil depot was 90 per cent destroyed. It contained 14 tanks, representing 10 per cent of North Viet Nam's petroleum storage capacity, he said.

The U. S. air raids took place over a five-hour period, from noon to 5 p. m., Viet Nam time, today. That was midnight to 5 a. m. EDT.

Two Planes Lost
"Two of our aircraft were lost and two were damaged," McNamara said. "All others have been recovered safely."

Besides the damage inflicted on the four torpedo boat bases and their support facilities, the secretary said, "approximately 25 patrol boats were damaged or destroyed."

McNamara identified the targets as the PT boat bases of Hon Gay, Loc Chao, Phuc Loi and Quang Khe, and the Vinh oil depot.

McNamara said he thought the pilots of the two American planes were definitely lost. The planes were knocked down by heavy anti-aircraft fire and plunged into the sea.

U. S. planes were not opposed by anti-aircraft missiles, he said.

Bad weather prevailed in the target areas, McNamara said. He was asked whether any action was taken against anti-aircraft emplacements. He said no—that the targets were only the torpedo boat facilities.

The secretary said no civilian population centers were located close to the North Vietnamese bases that were attacked.

Whether further attacks may be necessary "depends entirely on North Viet Nam," the defense chief said.

Demonstrates U.S. Purpose
Asked whether the American strike accomplished the intended U. S. mission, McNamara's response was that it "very clearly demonstrates" to the North Vietnamese the intention of the United States to operate unimpeded on the high seas.

McNamara asserted that the destroyers Maddox and C. Turner Joy, which were attacked Tuesday by an estimated six Communist torpedo boats, were continuing their patrol in the Gulf of Tonkin today.

The Navy revealed that the planes shot down were one Skyraider attack plane, a piston-engine plane used extensively in Korea and in South Viet Nam, and an A4 Skyhawk, a jet propelled attack bomber.

To Bolster Forces
At the same time McNamara announced moves he said were now in progress to bolster U. S. forces in the Pacific against further aggressive Communist acts. These included:

—An aircraft carrier task group is being shifted from the first fleet, which operates off the U. S. Pacific Coast, to the western Pacific. The attack group normally is based at San Diego.

—Interceptor and fighter-bomber planes have been moved into South Viet Nam.

This indicated a firm U. S. readiness to ward off any North Vietnamese air attacks on South Viet Nam and to counterattack with fighter-bombers against enemy bases, he said.

—Selected Army and Marine forces have been alerted and made ready for possible movement. These forces were not identified nor was it disclosed where they are based.

—An anti-submarine task force has been moved into the South China Sea.

The defense chief remained at his desk at the Pentagon through the night receiving reports on the air strikes. He revealed the results at a news conference at mid-morning.

Security Council Gets Urgent Call Over Viet Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States called the United Nations Security Council into session today for an urgent meeting on the crisis in North Viet Nam.

Expected time was 3 p. m. EDT.

Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made the request in an urgent letter to Ambassador Sievert A. Nielsen of Norway, president of the council for August.

Under Security Council rules, any of the 11 members can convene an urgent meeting at any time.

Stevenson's letter was delivered shortly before midnight to Nielsen, who immediately telephoned other council members.

Stevenson, who broke off a Maine holiday to fly back to New York by military plane Tuesday, said in his letter: "On behalf of the United States, I request that you convene an urgent meeting of the Security Council to consider the serious situation created by deliberate attacks of the Hanoi North Vietnamese regime on United States naval vessels in international waters."

Frank Carpenter, the American mission's press officer, said that at the meeting, "in conformity with the President's Johnson's instructions, we would inform the council of what has been done, and what is the situation right now."

Australia Terms U. S. Strikes as Fully Justified

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Australian External Affairs Minister Paul Hasluck said today the American strikes against Communist North Vietnamese air bases in retaliation for torpedo boat attacks were "completely justified."

Australia, which is the only foreign country besides the United States to have combat advisers in South Viet Nam, was the first country besides South Viet Nam itself to support the American action officially.

Hasluck said in a statement, "The Australian government believes this action was completely justified as North Viet Nam could not be left undisturbed in its capacity to launch and renew such attacks."

Johnson Warns US Won't Allow Red Aggression

North Vietnamese Hostility Called
'Deliberate, Willful, Systematic'

By MERRIMAN SMITH
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — President Johnson today denounced North Vietnamese hostility against U. S. naval vessels as "deliberate, willful and systematic aggression" which the United States could not permit to go unchallenged.

In a speech prepared for ceremonies dedicating the Samuel I. Newhouse Communications Center at Syracuse University, the Chief Executive said while the United States offered no threat whatever to any peaceful power, there could be "no peace by aggression and no immunity from reply."

Johnson spoke here shortly after Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reported in Washington that 64 U. S. naval air sorties against North Vietnamese torpedo boat installations had resulted in destruction or damage of 25 North Vietnamese patrol craft, the destruction of an oil dump and four patrol boat bases with a loss of two U. S. Navy planes and damage to two others.

Johnson called the North Vietnamese attack on Aug. 2 and Tuesday against American destroyers as "deliberate, unprovoked."

"The attacks have been answered," he said, referring to the Seventh Fleet air strikes reported by McNamara.

The President told his audience that no one could be detached about the flareup of hostilities in Southeast Asia.

"Aggression—deliberate, willful and systematic aggression—has unmasked its face to the world," he said. "The world remembers—the world must never forget—that aggression unchallenged is aggression unleashed."

"This, the President added, was why the United States had to answer aggression with action.

Explaining that the United States acted only after "long provocation" he said the government of North Viet Nam was now willfully and systematically violating agreements of 1954 and 1962 when the North Vietnamese approved the declaration of neutrality of Laos and promised to respect the territory of other nations.

He noted that North Viet Nam was now engaged in aggression against the Viet Nam republic and Laos as well as against the United States.

"There can be no doubt about the policy, no doubt about the purpose," he said of the North Vietnamese actions. "So there can be no doubt about the responsibilities of men and nations devoted to peace."

Flaunting World Peace
He insisted that peace would require much more than assuring the safety on the high seas of American vessels and the surface craft of other nations.

"The government of North Viet Nam is today flaunting the will of the world for peace," he said. "The world is challenging."

Added Violence Plagues Jersey

By JOEL N. SHURKIN
JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Rioting bands of Negro snipers exploded dozens of Molotov cocktails, hurled rocks and set fire to an abandoned tenement Tuesday night in a renewed outburst of rioting in this industrial city's Negro slum.

It was Jersey City's third straight night of disorder, but the violence was more sporadic and more subdued than on the previous two nights.

Twenty-four persons, mostly Negro youths, were arrested and five stores were looted in the latest round of uprisings, but officials said today they believed the worst of the trouble was over and expressed the hope that the city was returning to normal.

About 45 Catholic and Protestant clergymen formed a group called the Hudson County Conference on Religion and Human Rights and planned to present Mayor Thomas Whelan with a list of Negro grievances.

Whelan said he would be willing to meet with "any responsible spiritual and lay leaders," but reaffirmed his "get tough" policy against lawlessness.

He also agreed to go to Washington in behalf of the Community and Neighborhood Development Organization to ask for funds to allay some of the grievances within the Negro community.

The mayor, who rejected an offer from New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes for state police and National Guard troops, warned Negroes that "anyone who attacks a policeman had better be prepared to come out second best."

The first case filed by police under the three-month-old ordinance ended when a jury found the defendant not guilty during a trial last month.

Another charge also was filed yesterday under the ordinance. W. M. Luster, 1033 S. Banks, was charged by Dog Warden Buster Collins with allowing his dog to run loose. Luster pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for 1:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The ordinance was enacted by the City Commission in June in an effort to stem the large number of dogs running loose in the city.

It provides that dogs, licensed or unlicensed, be kept under control at all times. Conviction carries a maximum fine of $200.

Mercury May Blow Top Over State

By United Press International
A hot August sun beat down on Texas today, sending temperatures well into the 80s by early morning in north central and northeastern parts of the state.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said head records may be broken during the day.

Skies were generally fair over all the state. The only rain in sight was possible isolated thundershowers in the Panhandle late today.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 65 degrees at Lubbock to 81 at Dallas. Amarillo's .02 inch rain was the only measurable amount for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a. m.

Tuesday it got up to 107 degrees at Wichita Falls and 104 at Childress, Mineral Wells and Presidio.

A U. S. Weather Bureau national summary showed Wichita Falls had an average maximum temperature of 103.4 degrees for the entire month of July.

Barry Flies Back To Capital, Backs Johnson's Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater flew back to Washington today expressing firm support of President Johnson's decision to make a retaliatory air attack on North Vietnamese PT boats and oil storage depots.

The Arizona senator cut a California vacation short by one day to return to Washington.

Bodies of Rightists Unearthed

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Three badly decomposed bodies found in shallow graves at a farm pond site near Philadelphia, Miss., were identified today as those of three civil rights workers who disappeared 44 days ago.

A terse FBI announcement, read here and in Washington, made no mention of the cause of death or whether arrests in the case were imminent.

Positive identifications from fingerprints and dental records were made of two of the workers—Andrew Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both white and from New York.

A tentative identification was made of the third worker, Negro James Chaney, 21, of Meridian, Miss.

They vanished the night of June 21 near Philadelphia following their arrest on a speeding charge while participating in a summer campaign by college students to register Negro voters in Mississippi.

The bodies were found late Tuesday, six weeks and two days after Philadelphia authorities said they were released from jail, by FBI agents digging around a newly-constructed farm pond dam in dense nine thickets and underbrush five miles southwest of the small east Mississippi city.

The graves were a stone's throw from state highway 21, the same one on which the burned out station wagon owned by the workers was found 13 miles northeast of Philadelphia the day after they disappeared.

The bodies were discovered under dirt apparently excavated for a pond, placed in plastic bags and rushed to the University of Mississippi Medical Center here by ambulance where experts worked through the night on the identifications.

The three men were active in the "Mississippi Project," a summer campaign by college students to register Negro voters.

They disappeared June 21 following their release from a Philadelphia jail where they had been held on a traffic charge after going there from Meridian to inspect a burned Negro church. Their burned station wagon was found the next day.

FBI authorities said a search of the area would continue today for more clues and Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson said "the investigating forces of the state of Mississippi will exert every effort to apprehend those who have been responsible for their deaths."

Gasoline War in Second Week Here

Pampa's on-again off-again gas war goes into its second week with the price of regular gasoline cut to 18.9 and 19.9 cents per gallon.

Local service station operators say this is the lowest price the gas is expected to dip.

Operators predicted the price war to last another five or six days.

Pampa and Amarillo are the only two Panhandle cities involved in the price war.

Gas in Amarillo is also selling at 18.9 and 19.9 cents per gallon.

Week Could Become Jackpot for Lyndon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This week could be the beginning of an election-year legislative jackpot for President Johnson in Congress.

The Chief Executive's anti-poverty, foreign aid, food stamp, wilderness reserve, and government pay raise bills all will be voted on as House and Senate cranked up a three-week rush toward adjournment.

Quotes From The News

By United Press International

WASHINGTON — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, discussing an investigation into violence on television:

"We discovered that unjustifiable violence and brutality permeate new shows which center around college campuses, hospitals, psychiatrists' offices and other unlikely locations, in addition to the presence of violence in its earlier habitat — adventure, western and detective programs.

JACKSON, Miss. — Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson explaining why he kept Mississippi Democrats from endorsing a presidential candidate until after the party's national convention:

"Committing this convention and this state party to a course of action before we have witnessed the performance of both major national conventions would place Mississippi at a disadvantage which is not necessary to bear."

NEW YORK — USIA Director Carl Rowan on foreign reaction to racial violence and the image of America as the land of equality:

"The trouble is that our founding fathers laid down this ideal with such dramatic eloquence that the eyes of men everywhere remain fixed on it and us."

JERSEY CITY, N.J. — A spokesman for the Congress of Racial Equality after leaving a meeting with Jersey City Mayor Thomas Whelan:

"He's going to solve the problem with a night stick."

There could be action this week also on Johnson's Appalachia development plan and on a long-dormant extension of federal aid for depressed areas.

Democratic leaders, who already claim a high batting average for the 88th Congress, say the record should look even better by the end of the week.

Republicans are prepared to argue between now and November that the record is a sorry one. This week they will be alternately pushing and dragging their feet in an effort to lend Johnson as little help as possible in his campaign for election.

Win or lose on this week's issues — and Democratic leaders cautiously predict Johnson will win — congressional managers on both sides of the aisle hope that another three weeks of hard work will put the legislative docket in shape so the lawmakers can quit for the year before the Democratic National Convention opens in Atlantic City, N.J., Aug. 24.

Republicans were expected to join Democrats today in approving a $207 million pay raise for the military, sending the legislation to the White House to take effect Sept. 1.

The Senate tackles its perennial foreign aid chore today. The House already has given Johnson about what he wanted, $3.3 billion. Senate leaders hoped to shove off a host of curtailing amendments to pass the aid authorization at some figure close to Johnson's $3.5 billion request.

FOUL BIRDS

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Two birds at the Milwaukee County Zoo were under glass today where they could be seen but not heard.

Zoo Director George Speidel said the two myna birds, Joe and "Whats'is Name," were put in soundproof exile because they used language so foul "you couldn't print it."

FORMER PAMPAN — Mrs. Royce Skelton who attended schools while living in Pampa from 1949 to 1958 is shown selecting a law book from the library of her boss, Dallas attorney Clayton Fowler, defense lawyer for accused killer of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Lovelorn Peacock Wails Out Woes; Neighbors Fuss

TOTNES, England (UPI) — Dr. Esmond Jellicoe's neighbors complained this week that his lovelorn peacock is keeping them awake at night.

Jellicoe earlier had one of his two peacocks operated on after the local council told him to "abate the noise" of the two birds calling to the doctor's four peahens.

But the bird died and the other peacock has been carrying on ever since—usually at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Jellicoe's wife said the death of the peacock grieved the family and "we can't have anything like that again."

"My husband and I think the neighbors' objections are unreasonable. We are very attached to our birds and don't want to move them from here," Mrs. Jellicoe said.

"Besides children who come to the office adore the birds. They give them something to watch while they wait."

One of the nine complaining neighbors did not sympathize. "It is impossible to sleep when the peacocks start calling," Joe Seaford said. "They begin at 3 a.m. and it sounds like babies crying—only much louder."

Ex-Pampa Girl Works for Ruby Defense Lawyer

DALLAS (Spl) — She isn't talking, but it's possible that a former Pampa Beatrice Skelton knows a lot about the Jack Ruby case.

Mrs. Skelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Goff of Wichita Falls, is a legal secretary for Dallas Attorney Clayton Fowler, Ruby lawyer and president of the Dallas County Criminal Bar Association.

Mrs. Skelton lived in Pampa from 1949 to 1958 and Horace Mann was the first school she attended. She is a graduate of Wichita Falls High School and attended Midwestern University.

She and her husband, Royce Skelton, have lived in Dallas since 1962. He works in the tariff department of the Texas-Louisiana Freight Bureau.

Festival Plans Set in Panhandle

PANHANDLE (Spl) — Plans are being made for the annual Fall Festival Aug. 29. The affair will be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Plans call for a parade, beard growing contest, beauty pageant, bicycle races, barbecue, concession stands and game booths.

Horseman events will include flag races, pole bending, barrel races, keyhole races and baton relays.

Persons interested in any of the events should contact Bill McLeod in Panhandle.

RELATIONS IMPROVEMENT

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Alexei Adzhubei, son-in-law of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, called for improvement in relations between Russia and West Germany in an interview published Monday.

"When Khrushchev meets with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, they may well discuss the German problem," Adzhubei said in the interview with the Munich newspaper Muenchner Merkur before he ended his West German tour last Saturday.

Pampan to Receive BS Degree at OSU

STILLWATER, Okla. (Spl) — Wing Tan Wong of Pampa will receive the BS degree in civil engineering from Oklahoma State University at summer commencement exercises at 9 a.m. Saturday in the OSU field-house.

A total of 688 degrees will be conferred by President Oliver S. Willham, including 332 undergraduate, 300 advanced and 26 associate degrees.

The 658 graduates are from 241 towns and cities, including 157 in Oklahoma, 48 in 32 other states and 36 cities outside U. S. borders.

BUS GOES OVER CLIFF
SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Eighteen persons drowned and 22 were injured Sunday when a bus lost a connecting rod, ran out of control and plunged off a 60-foot cliff into a river, national police reported Tuesday.

APPEAL BACKFIRES
LONDON (UPI)—Ralph Richardson complained to the local government that he paid the same property taxes as his mother, who lived next door in a bigger house than his. Richardson, a plumber, demanded that his taxes be cut. London council investigated, rejected Richardson's appeal and raised the taxes on his mother's house. "I wish now I hadn't appealed," Richardson said.

The laser beam is also used to "spot weld" holes and tears in the retina to prevent detachment.

Hopeful Scientists Study Mars for November Shot

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — American scientists this week pored over Ranger 7's historic close-up photos of the moon and prepared for a double attempt in November to probe the secrets of Mars, where some form of life might exist.

Scientists at California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) here were jubilant over last Friday's success of Ranger 7 in hitting the moon and sending back 4,316 television pictures of the lunar surface. Their triumph in capturing the first close-up pictures of the moon's face, spurred plans for sending two unmanned spacecraft — Mariners 3 and 4 — more than 66 million miles on a fly-by mission of the red planet in November.

High government sources said the Mars expedition by the identical Mariners also might have military implications. They would not elaborate on this. Plans called for the Mariners to be launched within a few days of each other in November. If launched successfully, the two Mariners would still be travelling through space on their eight month long missions when scientists launch Ranger 8. Ranger 8 will be a repeat of Ranger 7, except it will aim at a different target on the moon. Ranger 8 is expected to be hurled aloft on its four-day 228,000-mile mission early next year. Ranger 9 will follow. This is to be the last shot in the lunar-pictures-taking program, budgeted at about $270 million, and aimed at preparing for landing astronauts on the moon by 1970. Pravda Compares Red Chinese to GOP Candidate

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist party newspaper Pravda this week scoffed at Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi and his comrades and compared them to "the hothead from Arizona."

"Hothead from Arizona" is a favorite Pravda label for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

The occasion for the scorn was an interview given by the Chinese to the Austrian newspaper Kurier. The newspaper quoted one Chinese official as saying a "war in Southeast Asia wouldn't be so bad an affair."

That is "hothead talk," said Pravda, and it shows the Chinese leadership is not taking part in the "struggle for peace."

According to Pravda, the newspaper quoted another, unnamed Chinese official as saying:

"If I were in the United States, I would vote for Goldwater. Goldwater might be good for the United States and the whole world since he would aggravate the U. S. internal situation and speed up the process of development" of the world as Peking sees it.

Pravda said it is too bad the Chinese official who said that did not give his name. If he had, Pravda said, he would be getting fan mail from "the hothead of Arizona."

FORMER TEXAN DIES
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Mrs. Julia Agnes Sharp, 93, aunt of the former western film star Hoot Gibson and a former society columnist for the El Paso Times. Mrs. Sharp, who died Friday, also was a deputy sheriff in El Paso from 1917-1929. She was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress in 1934 as a resident of Pomona, Calif.

Ranger 7 and guided it to its target, still were in the early stages of studying its invaluable pictures, which vaulted America ahead of Russia in interplanetary exploration.

BARRY'S BIGGEST BACKER—Mrs. Barry Goldwater proudly points to a painting of her son, Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee. The painting hangs in Mrs. Goldwater's Phoenix, Ariz., home.

Air Agency Gives Report of Tests Of Sonic Booms

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Two out of every 100 Oklahoma City area residents registered complaints during six months of exposure to sonic booms, the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) said Tuesday.

The agency said candid, sound film movies of crowds showed most people took little notice of the thunder-like noise of supersonic aircraft. The movies showed crowds of shoppers, children in a wading pool and golfers on the greens.

The tests here were conducted by the FAA to determine public tolerance to noises that would be created by a proposed supersonic transport plane.

The agency said publicity about the tests seemed to produce more complaints than a gradual increase in the intensity of the booms. In its first preliminary report on the boom test program, the FAA said it received 8,355 damage complaints, including 2,170 formal claims for payment. It approved 163 claims for a total of $8,608 and rejected 1,732.

Sheriffs' Group To Ask Control On Arms Sales

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Sheriffs' Association will ask the 59th Legislature to restrict the sales of firearms to ex-convicts, it was announced this week.

The association said it will sponsor legislation similar to that on the books in California, where an ex-convict must get authorization from a judge before he can buy a gun and can be penalized if he fails to get a judge's permission before buying firearms.

The sheriffs' group said it will also seek laws strengthening the hot check and bail bond procedures.

The association vowed to oppose efforts to abolish the death penalty and revise the state's criminal code.

The legislative program announced was outlined in a resolution passed last week at the group's 86th annual crime seminar in Corpus Christi.

Dear Abby....

Nerve Needed to Tell A Snoop She's a Snoop
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who is the nerviest person I've ever known, but I hate to hurt her. She walks into my house without knocking and has scared me out of my wits so many times it's not even funny. She opens my refrigerator to see what's there. She lifts the lids off my pots to find out what I am cooking. She even adds water if she thinks it needs it. If a letter happens to be laying around, she'll read it. She has even picked up my husband's check stubs and studied them. I could go on and on. Don't tell me to keep my doors locked. With children it's hard. I have never taken such liberties in her house. Is there some nice way I can put a stop to this? I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world.

DEVOTED READER
DEAR READER: There is no "nice" way to tell a snoop that she's a snoop. Keep all personal mail and check stubs out of sight. And when she adds water to your soup count to ten. But don't complain of HER nerve: IF YOU haven't the nerve to tell her SHE'S nerry!

DEAR ABBY: How does a 20-year-old girl who has just announced her engagement with intentions to get married next summer tell her parents that she has to get married as soon as possible?

THE GIRL
DEAR GIRL: In plain English. And fast.

DEAR ABBY: Where we live, the houses are very close together. Lately I have seen a boy, who can't be more than nine years old, hanging out of the bathroom window, smoking. I see him almost every day. He is obviously smoking on the Q. T., and blowing the smoke outside. I know his mother just to say "hello" to. Do you think the next time I see her, I should tell her what her son is up to?

A NEIGHBOR
DEAR NEIGHBOR: Put yourself in her shoes. IF YOU had a child that age, doing what hers was doing, wouldn't you want to be told?

DEAR ABBY: I appreciated your column on how much satisfaction some of your readers got from giving away the clothing of their loved ones after they had passed away. When my mother died, I couldn't bear to give her clothes away, so I wrapped them in paper and packed them in boxes. Thirty years later, upon opening the boxes, everything was moth-eaten and yellowed with age. How much better it would have been for her lovely clothes to have been worn out by some friend!

CLOTHES POLL

By HELEN HENNESSY
Contrary to those tired old jokes, most women come by their minks honestly. They buy them themselves. And when this major fashion event takes place, a lot of cash changes hands. Unless you grow money on trees in your garden, you won't plan to have your mink made into a nice rug for the fireplace at the end of one season. So it's wise to choose the shade most becoming to you even if it isn't the current favorite.

But that's not the way things go most of the time. I was told by a man who should know, Michael Forrest (who selects and designs fine furs for Coopchick - Forrest) says that women too often make the mistake of buying the shade of mink that is currently getting big play. "Dark mink is 'in' right now," he said. "So everyone wants it, whether it suits them or not." This is a downright silly approach to a luxury purchase. If you look drab in dark mink, why buy it? Next year Autumn Haze may once more be top man on the fashion totem pole. You'll still have your mink: it won't be the current favorite, and you won't look any better in it than you did when you bought it. You can have the style altered to follow a new trend, but you're stuck with the color you chose.

Too many of us confuse fashion with style. A chic woman has style because she wears what's best for her, regardless of fashion's whims.

Why spend good money to become part of this year's herd? Next year's will be another breed anyway.

Chic Chat
Q—I am very interested in reading fashion magazines and in looking at fashion pictures in the newspapers. But the descriptions under the pictures often confuse me when such words as cire, pannier and cloque silk are used. It's never clear what terms like these mean. How can I find out? —Laura J.

A—Dear Laura J: Cire is a fabric that has a shiny waxlike finish. Cloque silk has a raised, blister-type surface and a pannier skirt is one that has side fullness or drapery. If you would like to learn more about the vocabulary of fashion, there is a book, called The Fashion Dictionary by Mary Brooks Pickens that would be helpful to you.

Please send your fashion problems to Helen Hennessy in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Oil, Gas Keystone of Panhandle Growth

The Panhandle continues to grow and prosper. A keystone of our area's economic activity is the oil and gas industry. This report is the first of several that will make you on the make-up of our Panhandle-area economy. For a number of months I have been compiling data from reliable sources in and out of Government — from business and industrial firms and organizations, State and local government sources and from statistics compiled in Government agencies.

I believe this compilation of data will be extremely helpful to businessmen, farmers and ranchers, to chambers of commerce and boards of development, to labor organizations, the press and radio and television, and to citizens generally who wish to be informed on the great economic strength now realized and potential, of the Texas Panhandle. A major factor in the economy of the 28 counties comprising the 18th Congressional District is the development and production of oil and natural gas resources. According to the latest available information from the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, the value of oil and gas produced is $269 million annually. The U. S. Bureau of Mines reports that in 1961 the 28 Panhandle counties produced 39.9 million barrels of oil, with a value of almost $119 million. Natural gas production totaled about 1.2 trillion cubic feet, with a value of $150 million.

From this oil and gas activity comes a $72.7-million-a-year industry payroll for more than 11,000 employees, according to the Texas Employment Commission. In addition, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association estimates a distribution of some $33.6 million annually among the district's farmers, ranchers, and other landowners in payment for production from their acreages.

In 1961, according to the Texas Railroad Commission, producers in the 18th District were operating some 13,550 oil wells and 5,850 gas wells. Corporations and individuals continue to invest millions annually in the search for new fields and development of those already found. The Oil and Gas Journal reports that 1,056 wells were drilled in the 28 counties in 1962 — and 109 of them were wildcat exploratory wells. Some $64 million was spent in the district in 1962 for drilling and about $12 million was lost to dry holes.

Major oil companies have more than 5 million acres under lease in the 18th District — approximately 30 per cent of the total land area. In addition to the royalty money distribution cited above, millions of dollars are paid out in lease rentals and bonuses.

The district has three refineries with a total capacity of some 131,000 barrels of crude oil a day. These are located in Hutchinson, Moore, and Potter counties. The natural gasoline plants which extract liquid products from natural gas total 30, and handle some 3.6 billion cubic feet of gas a day. Seven carbon black plants in the District process about 143 million cubic feet of gas daily.

The 18th District includes nine of the top 100 Texas counties (there are 254 counties in all) ranked according to the value of oil and gas production. With state rankings shown in parentheses, they are: Hutchinson (16), $36 million from crude oil and $13 million from natural gas; Gray (19), $37 million oil and $9 million gas; Hansford (33), $7 million oil and $14 million gas; Sherman (37), $53,000 oil and $26.5 million gas; Carson (44), $13 million oil and $12 million gas; Ochiltree (50), $13 million oil and $9 million gas; Potter (65), $18.5 million gas; Roberts (66), $4 million oil and $8 million gas.

Also important is the Helium Conservation Program, a national program to conserve the limited and irreplaceable resources of helium gas. Congress has authorized obligating $47.5 million a year for the acquisition of helium. In 22-year contracts with four companies — a milestone of partnership between Government and private enterprise — helium is being extracted from natural gas at five plants, two of them in the Panhandle at Dumas and in Hansford County. The main storage of the extracted helium is in the Clifside Field northwest of Amarillo. An estimated 82.5 billion cubic feet of helium will be delivered during the life of the program.

Tshombe Rise to Power Fails in Halting Rebels

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The rise of former secessionist leader Moise Tshombe to the premiership of the Congo has failed so far to end or even diminish its Communist-inspired rebellions.

Reports from the vast hinterland tell of new rebel conquests. Congolese troops retreats, evacuation of whites from several towns and the death of three or four whites at the eastern Congolese mining town of Kalima.

The spreading rebellion engulfed huge areas and threatened major cities. Rebels were reported within 65 miles of Leopoldville last week. One band of tribesmen fought to within 25 miles of Stanleyville Monday.

When Tshombe became premier July 16, he appealed to all dissident elements right and left to join him in a "government of national reconciliation."

His most impressive achievement on record was a public reconciliation with former leftist leader Antoine Gizenga and former South Kasai secessionist Albert Kalonji.

But rebellion raged on in the back country.

RIOT TOLL INCREASES

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Another victim of last month's Singapore race riots has died, bringing the death toll to 23, police reported Tuesday.

MOSCOW (UPI) — A ballet director said Tuesday the Soviet Union needs a new popular dance step to combat the twist, which is invading Russia.

Igor Moiseyev of the famed Moiseyev Ballet said the Soviets must replace the twist with "vibrant optimistic dances with a sporting and comradely spirit — something that is lively and not a death jig."

Gorilla Escapee Cooks up Storm in Monkey Kitchen

Washington Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
President Johnson had to reach far and wide to find appropriate companions to walk the political plank with Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

They and four others were proscribed as Democratic vice presidential nominees because they were members of the Johnson cabinet or seat regularly at cabinet meetings. This is a new rule of politics, with little substance and no precedent whatever. It is subject to change at the political convenience of any president.

Stevenson and Kennedy, of course, are politicians in their own rights, each with a hard core national following. When the President foreclosed any claim either Stevenson or Kennedy may have had on the vice presidential nomination he took a calculated risk. The risk was that he might enrage Stevenson or Kennedy followers by this seeming slight to their heroes. Enraged, these voters might punish Johnson on election day.

Greater Risk

There was a greater risk. That was that the followers of the other of that pair might have built up such a ruckus and head of steam at the Democratic National Convention that Johnson would have been compelled to choose between them for vice president. LBJ did not want either Stevenson or Kennedy on the ticket with him.

Proscribed with Kennedy and Stevenson were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Sargent Shriver, Peace Corps director and a Kennedy in-law. All had figured in speculation about the vice-presidential nomination. Such speculation is a kind of bingo or souat tag engendered in Washington newsmen when they have no better game to play.

It is possible to conceive of four less likely Democratic vice presidential nominees than Rusk, McNamara, Freeman and Shriver. But it is not easy. Rusk and McNamara are aloof types. They are warm, perhaps, in their personal relationships but cold as IBM computers in their public associations. Moreover, McNamara is a Republican, if anything, and Rusk has no political background at all. As public speakers, Rusk and McNamara are long on logic and solid argument. Both are dull when in full cry. None could accuse either of being a good campaigner able to stir an audience to any kind of emotional fervor.

Sorry Relationship

McNamara is identified with the foggiest, soggiest, sorriest area of U.S. foreign relations—Viet Nam. Rusk has responsibility for our whole world situation. It is no secret that the situation of the United States in the cold war world today is not the strongest argument for a Democratic landslide next November.

Shriver's Kennedy connections must be computed in political terms. But against him it would be argued that he should sing in the chorus for some time before aspiring to solo parts. In-law relationship to America's first political family is not enough.

Freeman is the only politician among the four. He also is a lame duck governor of Minnesota who was glad to escape the political shadows for the agriculture hot spot. That cabinet seat is almost as dead.

Viet Cong Kills American Soldier

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas shot and killed a U.S. soldier in an ambush north of Saigon Tuesday as he was returning from a peaceful mission helping Vietnamese Villagers clear land. Four Vietnamese soldiers riding with the GI also were killed.

The ambush shooting of the Army enlisted man raised to 264 the number of Americans to die in Viet Nam since large scale military aid began in 1961—180 of them killed in action.

DEPOSITS RISE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Deposits in the nation's largest mutual savings banks rose 9.1 per cent over the 12 months ended June 30, the American Banker reported Tuesday. Total deposits as of July 1 were $34,692,000,000.

ly as an electric chair. Moreover, Freeman recently lost a popularity contest among American wheat farmers.

It is a matter of record that no one has loved a secretary of agriculture since 1940 when FDR fell for Henry A. Wallace. That mesalliance almost shattered the Democratic party.

But Will He Work On His Own Time?

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police Sgt. James Gorman, head of a burglary detail, will have his work cut out for him when he returns from vacation. Burglars cleaned out $500 worth of fishing and camping equipment from his garage.

coln Park Zoo this week and cooked up a 20-minute storm in the monkey house kitchen. A kitchen attendant dashed from the room "so scared I had to sit down."

The gorilla's brief bid for freedom ended when he was "shot" with a tranquilizer from an air rifle. But before the beast was lugged back to his cage, the zoo was turned into something of a turmoil.

Sinbad's escape came when Roy Hoff, senior zoo keeper, moved him from a cage outside of the monkey house to an inside cage, both of which are connected by a barred runway. Dr. Lester E. Fisher, zoo director, said Hoff forgot a door was open between the inner cage and a keepers' runway. Sinbad took a walk.

Hoff said Sinbad "was six feet from me" in the runway. "I hollered 'get back in there,'" but Sinbad ignored him.

"Instead", Hoff said, "he went for the door at the end of the ramp going into the kitchen." Kitchen attendant Barney

TOO YOUNG WILDWOOD, N.J. (UPI)—Glenn A. Ansbauh of York, Pa., received a broken jaw when he was punched by a man who told him he was "too young to smoke."

Ansbauh told police he was on the boardwalk when the man approached and socked him. He was taken to Burdette Tomlin Memorial Hospital.

The man fled after the at-

Giusti said he "heard Roy hollering about something." "I turned around and saw something black," Giusti said. "I looked twice. I went out the door. He came at me and I just closed the door in time. I was so scared I had to sit down."

Sinbad reacted to the door being slammed in his face by sitting down in the middle of the kitchen floor, Giusti said. The door leads into the viewing part of the zoo.

With police reinforcements standing by, an attendant took aim with a rifle which shoots a hypodermic needle that injects a potent tranquilizer into the target, and Sinbad slumped to the floor. The "overgrown boy" fell asleep.

Eight men gingerly hauled the slumbering ape back to his cage to let him sleep off the effects of his taste of freedom.

Three years ago, Sinbad bit the hand of Elizabeth Smith, a former zoo secretary who was feeding him grapes.

West, Midwest Like Humphrey; South Doubtful

By WILLIAM THEIS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Western and Midwestern Democratic leaders voiced enthusiastic support Tuesday for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as the party's vice presidential nominee, but Southern leaders were cool toward the Minnesota senator.

A United Press International survey also showed areas of strong support for Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy even though President Johnson has ruled out Kennedy and other Cabinet members. Massachusetts national committeeman John E. Powers said he still hopes to nominate Kennedy at the party's national convention in Atlantic City.

Powers said he liked Humphrey but felt the convention delegates should be allowed to make a choice "and I believe that Bobby Kennedy is best suited."

Indicate Agreement
Party leaders from 28 states who expressed a preference indicated at the same time that—in general—they would go along wholeheartedly with Johnson's choice.

Southerners generally urged that the choice be left to Johnson.

But Arkansas party Chairman Leon Catlett said, "We prefer almost anybody to Humphrey."

A scattering of other suggestions emerged in the South. Mississippi Democratic Chairman Bidwell Adam proposed Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and charged that Humphrey "holds utter contempt for the South."

North Carolina Chairman Lunsford Crew said Democrats in his state probably would support the President's choice but that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., would be "very popular throughout the South."

Support for Humphrey was strongest in the West and Midwest.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential nominee. But he told newsmen Tuesday that "in my part of the country Humphrey is favored so far among delegates to the convention."

Party leaders in Pennsylvania, California, West Virginia, Ohio, and Illinois also expressed a strong preference for Humphrey even though some are booming "favorite sons."

Wisconsin Gov. John Reynolds, Iowa Gov. Harold E. Hughes, and Minnesota Gov. Karl R. Rolvaag all expressed confidence that Humphrey would get the nod. Kansas party Chairman Jack Graves said Humphrey probably would run better in Kansas than Kennedy.

Connally Plans Tour of Four Mexico States

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas Gov. John Connally announced Tuesday he will tour four states in northern Mexico Aug. 15-18.

Connally said he will visit Chihuahua, Coahuila, Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon. He described the visit as the first of its kind by a Texas governor.

Connally's hosts will be Gen. Praxedes Giner Duran, governor of Chihuahua; Gov. Braulio Fernandez Aguirre of Coahuila; Gov. Praxedes Balboa of Tamaulipas and Gov. Eduardo Livas v. of Nuevo Leon.

Connally and his party, including a plane-load of Texas newsmen, are scheduled to arrive at Chihuahua city from Laredo, Aug. 15.

The governor plans to lay a wreath at the shrine of Father Hidalgo, hero of Mexican independence; receive official greetings; at a special session of the state congress and be a guest of honor at a luncheon of government officials and community leaders at the Fermont hotel.

Reception Planned
Govs. Connally and Giner will meet informally after lunch, then hold a joint news conference at the government palace. A reception at the city hall hosted by the mayor and city officials will be followed by a private dinner at Gov. Giner's home.

Connally and his party will arrive in Saltillo, Coahuila, Sunday Aug. 16. Connally will lay a wreath on the monument to Gen. Zaragoza, a native of Goliad, Tex., and address a session of the state congress at the government palace.

Following a luncheon of government and civic leaders at the Casino de Saltillo, he and Gov. Aguirre will tour local industries and hold a press conference at the government palace. A dinner is planned at Aguirre's home that evening.

Connally will go to Ciudad Victoria, Tamaulipas, Monday, Aug. 17. After an airport reception, Connally will place a wreath at the monument to Presidents Carranza and Juarez and speak to the state congress.

Itinerary Outlined
He will then visit the state museum and tour a ranch, textile mill, school and hospital. Following a civic-government luncheon at the San Antonio Motel, he and Gov. Balboa will hold a private conference before a joint news conference.

In the evening there will be a private dinner at Balboa's home following a festival and fireworks display at the stadium.

The Texas group will arrive in Monterrey Tuesday Aug. 18 and attend receptions at the airport and the government palace. After a tour of Monterrey industries, there will be a luncheon at the Condominio Acero and a joint press conference at the Ancira Hotel. Gov. Livas will host a private dinner at his home.

Connally and his party will return to Texas the morning of Aug. 19.

Ballerina Director Named in Dallas

DALLAS (SpI)—Famed prima ballerina Marina Svetlova has been appointed to the newly created position of ballet director of Dallas Civic Opera, general manager Lawrence Kelly announced.

Madame Svetlova will have complete charge of the company's corps de ballet and all other activities relating to the dance. Hers is the third major artistic position for Dallas Civic Opera, joining with the artistic director and conductor, Nicola Rescigno, and the production manager, Jean Rosenthal.

Star Football Teams Readying for Game

FORT WORTH (UPI)—The rival coaches put the finishing touches on their game plans today for tomorrow night's 30th annual Texas High School Coaching Clinic All-Star football game in TCU Stadium without a major injury on either squad.

The North, the underdog this time after dominating the series over the past decade during which they piled up a 16-10-3 lead in the standings, got its only injured player back in the fold in yesterday afternoon's workout.

Terry Scarborough, an end from Class A state champion Petersburg, had suffered an ankle and muscle injury Monday, but was back on the field in good shape 24 hours later.

On the South, Victoria's Mark Weaver, also an end, appeared to have fully recovered from a first-day heat attack, and New London's Danny Bigbie was running with less and less interference from blistered feet.

Abilene Host For Grid Tilt

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Abilene, Tex., has been selected as the site for the Midwest championship of the National college division football championship of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in 1964 and 1965, NCAA executive director Walter Byers announced Thursday.

Byers said the 1964 game will be played Dec. 12 under a two-year agreement that has been signed.

Selection of the Midwest site is pending.

The Tangerine Bowl of Orlando and the Camellia Bowl of Sacramento, Calif., were designated earlier as sites for the Atlantic and Pacific Coast championships.

Fight Results
By United Press International—LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Thad Spencer, 196, Pasadena, Calif., knocked out George Johnson, 204½, Oklahoma City (9).

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Roger Rischer, 197½, San Francisco, outpointed Bill McMurray, 208, Sacramento (12).

Coach Charles Qualls had his North squad out in shoulder pads and shorts yesterday afternoon for polishing up drills and practice on place kicking.

The same pattern was in vogue in the North camp, where San Antonio Lee's Linus Baer and Port Arthur's Charles Wilson were dividing the punting chores and Wilson and Ronny Menn of Rockdale doing the place kicking.

Coach Jim Acree noted one change in his tentative starting backfield when he said that Tommy Luker of Class B Stockdale had moved in ahead of Tim Schmidt of Mason at the wingback slot. Luker is one of the two players on the South squad who has not been offered a college scholarship.

Big 33 Contest Might Become Annual Fixture

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The Pennsylvania Big 33, which beat Texas in the first schoolboy football meeting between the two states, says now it wants the game to be an annual affair on a home-and-home basis with the Texas Coaches Association as co-sponsor.

Texas coaches reportedly oppose a renewal of the game next fall because it would lure top Texas athletes to Pennsylvania instead of the Texas All-Star schoolboy game.

Al Clark, president of the Big 33 and sports editor of the Harrisburg Patriot-News, is the man who extended the invitation to make the game a regular affair. He said today Pennsylvania would be happy to meet Texans on their home ground after their All-Star game.

Pennsylvania whipped Texas 12-6 Saturday night in the first game between the two states, which both boast they produce the top scholastic grid material in the country.

"The premise before the game was: Pennsylvania produces the best," Clark said, adding, "The premise is that now, too."

Liston and Clay Bout May Not Be for Title

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Once-invincible Sonny Liston and young Cassius Clay Jr., more recently Muhammad Ali, will climb into a ring in the fall and fight it out again. What for, remains to be seen.

It may be the world heavyweight championship or it may not. But they'll fight.

The 22-year-old Clay, who won the title from Liston by a TKO here earlier this year, signed a contract Monday in Louisville to fight Sonny sometime between Sept. 15 and Oct. 31.

The World Boxing Association (WBA), headquartered here, says it probably won't recognize a rematch for the title. Liston, who predicts he will win in 10 rounds, says it isn't a rematch at all.

"We didn't have any rematch clause," Sonny said at Chicago's O'Hare Airport Tuesday. "It's just a contract for the two of us to fight for the title."

Liston said the shoulder which he claimed went bum on him in the title fight and prevented him from meeting the sixth round bell, is fine now. "I feel that I'll knock him out within 10 rounds."

WBA President Ed Lassman said here Tuesday he felt certain the association would refuse to sanction the rematch, for which no site has been set. Possible sites mentioned included Louisville, Baltimore and Las Vegas, Nev.

The WBA has a clause in its by-laws which prevents any rematch agreements without the express consent of the association.

"In the first place, title rematches are against WBA rules," Lassman said. "Then there's the question of Liston being a partner in the promotion and the reported pre-fight agreement that Liston would manage Clay's next fight if Clay won."

C. F. McGinnis Gets First Ace

C. F. McGinnis, former Pampa City champion, made his first hole in one on a grass green yesterday afternoon on the fifth hole at Pampa Country Club.

The fifth is a 150-yard, par-3 hole.

Playing with McGinnis at the time of his ace were J. B. Parker, Pete Blanda, W. T. Fain and Jack Osborne.

McGinnis is also former Pampa Country Club champion.

Enrollment Hits New High Mark

FORT WORTH (UPI)—The world's largest coaching school pushed its registration more than 200 past its previous high mark yesterday.

A total of 4,065 coaches have now registered for the 32nd annual Texas High School Coaches Association Clinic.

The previous high mark was 3,826 set a year ago at Houston.

Hardin Cautious —For a Change

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Wayne Hardin had grim musings Tuesday about his Naval Academy football team's high pre-season rankings, noting that without all-American quarterback Jolly Roger Staubach, "We wouldn't even rate 9,000th."

"We lost 19 of our first 25 players," the red-headed Middle mentor said in comments about magazine rankings which forecast Navy will finish as high this season as they did last—No. 2.

Hardin talked to sports writers covering the Texas High School Coaches Association Clinic where he is a lecturer.

Staubach is a senior at the Naval Academy, and is on the regular summer midshipmen's cruise in European waters.

Hardin said he hopes Roger "doesn't fall overboard."

He did add that the high rankings for the Navy team are "the greatest tribute ever to a player"—Staubach. "I know of no other reason in the world why anyone would rate us a national contender."

This fall, Navy will engage Penn State, William & Mary, Michigan, Georgia Tech, California, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame, Maryland, Duke and Army in that order.

"If you can find a breather in that group, I'd like to know about it," Hardin said.

North Favored In Cage Game

By ED FITE
FORT WORTH (UPI)—Scoring potential and rebounding made the North a slight favorite to continue its dominance over the South tonight in the 20th annual All-Star basketball game of the Texas High School Coaching School.

The North, which boasts a 12-7 edge in the long series, packs a 24-point plus scoring average per man to only 17 points for the South and also should excel off the backboards with a nearly three-inch overall edge in height.

Both teams are expected to employ a run-and-shoot attack and the prospects of a record scoring encounter has assured a record basketball game crowd in keeping with the record-breaking theme of the 32nd annual coaching school.

A sellout crowd of 7,244 is expected to jam Daniel Meyer Coliseum for the game, compared with the previous high mark of 6,984, and more than 25,000 are virtually certain to flow into TCU stadium tomorrow night for the All-Star football game in comparison with the 1963 high mark of 22,358.

The North's starting lineup includes Mike Lochner of Graham, with a 24-point average, Billy Arnold of Haltom City 22 points; Farrar Stockton of Dallas Wilson 28; Terry Trippett of Odessa 29; and Larry Morris of McAdoo 20.

The South's probable starters are Jim Neison of San Antonio Jefferson 20 points; Jimmie Dale Lenox of Clear Creek 18; Mickey McCarty of Pasadena 17; Larry Miller of San Antonio Lee 18, and Rey Calderon of Houston Davis 14.

Lenox was elected captain of the South team, while Arnold, Lochner and Morris were named the North co-captains.

Harkrider Injured In Babe Ruth Tilt

LEVELLAND, Tex. (UPI)—The Texas Babe Ruth League baseball tournament was marred Tuesday night by a player collision that sent Dumas pitcher Wayne Harkrider to the hospital with stomach injuries.

Harkrider collided with Austin first baseman Hank Lawson, who was not injured. Harkrider was reported in good condition.

Despite the injury, Austin went on to beat Dumas 6-5.

In other games, Houston defeated Carthage 3-2, and San Antonio whitewashed Burkburnett 1-0.

San Antonio's Joe Nobis gave up only four hits in the latter game.

In the last game of the evening, Fayette County squeaked by Nederland 2-1 in a contest that went to nine innings instead of the regular seven.

Tomorrow, the Flax League of Kenedy plays Burkburnett and Leveland takes on Carthage. The winners of those games will meet at 10 p.m.

Consolation games pitted Columbia-Brazoria against Dumas, and Lamesa against Nederland.

Advance, Rosel Win in Tourney

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor
Advance Homes of Amarillo thumped the Pampa All-Stars 14-2 and Rosel Well Perforators of Liberal, Kan.; blanked Cabot 6-0 last night to complete the first round of play in the Top O' Texas Softball Tournament.

Four Industrial Softball League clubs are matched in tonight's consolation semi-finals in Optimist Park. Miami plays the All-Stars at 7 and Panhandle Packing takes on Cabot in the 9 o'clock game.

The Packers were seeded fourth in the tournament but lost a 6-5 game to Everybody's Loan Service of Amarillo Monday night.

Tomorrow Everybody's plays Weathered Humble and topped Rosel. Advance Homes to send the tournament into Friday's finals.

Advance Homes started slowly last night with three runs in the second inning but a nine-run burst in the third left no doubt as to the outcome of the game.

Pitcher Bill Friddell drove in two runs in the second frame to give himself all the runs he needed to win. Don Bernard had singled in one run just ahead of him.

Four singles and four doubles led to the nine tallies in the big third frame.

The All-Stars scored both their runs in the bottom of the third as Allen Self singled and Jim Enloe and Sam Harris doubled.

Friddell gave up four hits, three of them in the third, and walked none in winning the decision.

All-Star hurler Charlie Vaughan was touched for 13 hits and the loss.

Rosel demonstrated why it is seeded first.

Starter Lynn Chadd struck out

13 men in five innings before leaving the mound for a rest in right field. He walked one man and gave up three hits.

Rosel lost one of its star hurlers, lefthander Carlos Frey, just yesterday. He informed manager George Russell he would not play in the tournament but Russell has placed him on his roster, anyway. Frey has been hampered by the flu this season but has been effective.

Jerry Schultz relieved Chadd and gave up one hit in two innings while striking out three.

The loss of Frey is not expected to affect Rosel's chances of winning the tournament.

Lynn Chadd, one of three brothers on the team, won his own game in the first when he doubled and scored on an error which put Bob Oblander on first.

Oblander also scored in that frame but one run was all Chadd needed to win.

The Rosel starter also hit a triple and a home run and scored twice more to personally account for the victory.

Loser Nelson Kitchens allowed eight hits to the Kansans and had no trouble with them between the first and fifth innings but his teammates could get him no runs.

Home West got two of Cabot's three hits, Harold Reed the other.

Koufax Ready to Become Baseball's Richest Hurler

By JACK CUDDY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Sandy Koufax is compiling a remarkable set of figures this year but the one that'll mean most to the Los Angeles Dodger pitcher appears likely to be reached early in 1965.

That's when the 28-year-old strikeout marvel seems destined to become the first $100,000 pitcher in baseball history.

Other moundmen—including such greats as Bob Feller, Hal Newhouser and Warren Spahn—have been called hundred-grand performers; but none ever had that $100,000 salary on the contract line.

Right now Sandy is going so good that when he does suffer a loss it seems an accident—like having his 11-game winning streak snapped by the San Francisco Giants, aided by Dodger errors—although he had struck out 10 men.

The fact that the great southpaw has fanned 10 or more on eight different occasions this season indicates that the hitters are not likely to fathom his overwhelming combination of speed, curves and change-ups—before next year.

Shooting For $100,000
Sandy's 1964 salary is about $62,000, a compromise figure reached after a messy spring argument with Dodger Vice President E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi. Sandy will be shooting determinedly for $100,000 when he and Buzzie sit down to talk contract next January or February.

Koufax will be able to wind up and throw the strongest salary arguments ever fired across a conference table by any pitcher. Because of his current 16-5 record and 1.90 earned run average, Sandy is in perfect position to become:

—The first two-time winner of the Cy Young Award, given to the "pitcher of the year" in the majors.

—The first pitcher to win the "triple crown" for leading the league in percentage, wins and ERA since 1938.

—The first National League pitcher since Grover Cleveland Alexander to win the earned-run average crown three straight seasons.

What's even more important, however, will be the irrefutable evidence that Sandy is the National League's No. 1 gate attraction. When he is scheduled to pitch at any park in the league, attendance rises anywhere from 3,000 to 10,000.

Attendance Earns Raise
Remember that in 1947 Bob Feller earned nearly $100,000 with Cleveland because of his ability to pull 'em through the turnstiles. Bob, who had struck out a record 348 batters with a 26-15 record for the 1946 season, got about $70,000 in straight salary and another $25,000 or so through an attendance clause in his contract.

Newhouser also earned about $70,000 in his top year. Spahn is understood to be garnering about $65,000 now.

Even the fact that the Dodgers seem destined to finish far out of the money in the pennant race this season should not lessen Sandy's chances of getting his $100,000. The Dodgers continue to lead the majors in home attendance figures, and club owner Walter O'Malley is getting richer with every Koufax pitch.

Thus far, only five players have reached the $100,000 mark in straight salary; and all were slugging outfielders: Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays.

The experts have claimed that no pitcher could reach the six-figure level because pitchers "don't work every day." But the experts apparently never saw a pitcher like Koufax before.

Cowboys Retain Twenty Rookies

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI) — Twenty rookies remained on the Dallas Cowboy training camp roster today. Coach Tom Landry sent five packing Tuesday after reviewing game films.

He dismissed the newcomers on the basis of performance in a game-condition scrimmage Saturday against two semi-pro teams the Cowboys mauled. Those released were Texas Tech kicker H. L. Daniels, end Dee Andrews of Long Beach State, linebacker John Simons of Notre Dame, defensive tackle Elbert Whiting of Johnson C. Smith College and tackle Robert Thiele of Kent State.

Of the rookies, two are training with the College All-Stars, backs Mel Renfro of Oregon and Perry Lee Dunn of Mississippi.

The Cowboys open their National Football League exhibition season Saturday night against the Los Angeles Rams.

Texas League

Fort Worth gave the Texas League leading San Antonio Bullets a scare Tuesday night, but the Bullets held on and snuck by the Cats in both games of a doubleheader, 2-1 and 5-4.

San Antonio's Charles Harrison belted a homer in the fourth to break a 1-1 tie and cop the first game, but then the Bullets had to break another tie to win the second game.

Fort Worth had evened things up with a four-run, fourth-inning blast started by Ken Faulkner's two-run homer, but San Antonio pulled it out of the bag with a lone tally in the seventh.

The Los Angeles Dodgers swept a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 and 10-7, the San Francisco Giants edged out the New York Mets 4-3 in 14 innings and the Chicago Cubs downed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 in other National League games.

In the American League, Kansas City defeated New York 5-1.

Reds Move Up; Yankees, Birds Lose

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer
The Cincinnati Reds are proving to be just what the doctor ordered for manager Fred Hutchinson.

No better than a dark horse in the National League scramble, the Reds are doing their best to keep the ailing manager in good spirits and Tuesday night they treated him to a sweep of the Milwaukee Braves that moved them into third place, 3½ games behind the idle first-place Philadelphia Phillies.

Hutchinson, who had submitted to various cancer tests this week, sat with club president Bill DeWitt as the Reds downed the Braves 5-2 and 4-2. DeWitt said after the game that no definite date had been set for Hutchinson to resume command of the team but indications are that it will be in the near future.

Closing Rush Due
Indications are, too, that the Reds will be in good shape for a closing rush at an elusive National League pennant that nobody in the circuit seems to want.

The Los Angeles Dodgers swept a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 and 10-7, the San Francisco Giants edged out the New York Mets 4-3 in 14 innings and the Chicago Cubs downed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 in other National League games.

In the American League, Kansas City defeated New York 5-1.

Los Angeles beat Baltimore 5-0, Minnesota drubbed Boston 12-4, Detroit shaded Chicago 4-3 and Washington topped Cleveland 4-2.

Magie Number
The Minnesota Twins are the only sixth-place team in baseball with a magic number—and they've got two.

The Twins have long since given up their American League pennant hopes, of course, but they'll probably wind up the season as the greatest home run hitting team in history and Harmon Killebrew just might finish the campaign with 60 or 61.

With 56 games left to play, the Twins need only 76 homers to surpass the major league record of 240 set by the New York Yankees in 1961. And, at this moment, Killebrew is running one game ahead of the pre-Roger Maris mark of 60 set by Babe Ruth in 1927 and nine games behind the 1961 pace set by Maris on his way to 61.

Jim Hurtubise To Be Honored
HOUSTON (UPI)—Jim Hurtubise, badly burned June 7 in the Milwaukee 100-mile race, will be honored Aug. 12 at a benefit show by five Indianapolis 500 drivers, including current champion A.J. Foyt of Houston.

Money from the show in Houston's Sheraton-Lincoln Hotel will go to Hurtubise, now off the serious list at Brooke Army Medical Center's burn section in San Antonio, his wife, Jane and their three children.

Ebb Rose, a "500" veteran, is chairman of the fund-raising event, which will present movies of the "500," Atlanta, Daytona, and Milwaukee races.

Other drivers expected are Johnny Rutherford of Fort Worth, Jimmy McElreath of Arlington, Tex., and Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Real Benefactor

Which man is the greater benefactor? The one who gives all his surplus to charity? Or the one who invests his dollars in productive enterprise?

We do not mean to disparage charity. Kindness and generosity are worthy traits in human character. But the fact is that the man who invests his dollars in productive enterprise is doing more good with his dollars, usually, than he could do by a most noble outpouring of money into all the charities you can name.

Why is this? Because most charities are end products in themselves. They exist, in our distorted market, in such a way that they do not engender multiplication of human effort. This is not to say that a charitable operation of a hospital or some other worthy charity does not employ people. Of course it does. And it does a fine job, too, if it is well managed.

But the merit of enterprise is in the productive character of enterprise. When money is employed for business and industrial investment, that money is used for the purpose of making profits. And charitable organizations do not and are not able to make profits. Thus, money in business, breeds more money. And that money breeds more money. And so on. It is an endless chain and the chain expands, if the market is left alone and businessmen are left free to profit.

Which is better? To provide a beggar with a good meal; or to provide the beggar with a job? A good meal may be an act of kindness. But a job is a device wherein the beggar can improve himself and be a beggar no longer.

Jobs are provided, rightfully, not as an act of kindness, but because profits are being sought. The businessman who hires another does so because he is motivated to enhance his own profits.

He hires a man, not because he must of necessity love the man. He hires the man because he believes that man can and will aid in providing profits for him.

If the man turns out to be a liability, that is, if he does not earn profits for the employer, then that man should be replaced by one who will earn profits.

This seems to persons who are not acquainted with the market place, like a kind of heartless procedure. But is it? Do you feel heartless when you

Not Devils

All those astonishing electronic devices, which produce a wide assortment of miracles in a multitude of industrial operations, have come in for more than their share of fear and criticism based on the premise that they will create unemployment on an impossibly large scale. But — without minimizing any of the problems which progress inevitably produces — there is a very different side to this story.

For instance, some little time ago it looked as if two California oil fields would soon have to be abandoned because production costs were threatening to rise above the net value of the oil produced. Then the oil company concerned learned of some new electronic equipment that, according to its designers, could handle most manual chores in an oil field. It was installed — and it is fully living up to the claims. Automatic con-

Who Wants a Dead Phone?

When it comes to results, how does socialized enterprise stack up with private enterprise? A full answer would take many books. But a little example may give an inkling.

In England, where the telephone system is owned by the government and operated by the post office department, a male model bought a house. A telephone was on the premises and he asked that service be continued — phone communication is essential to his work. But the post office said, in effect, nothing doing. It seems there is a long list of people in the area waiting service, and he will have to take his turn. He can expect service, it was added, at the end of 1967 — a mere 3 1/2 years hence.

In this country, a delay of even a few days in providing requested phone or any other utility service is sure to produce loud and angry squawks. And private enterprise, whose existence is so largely dependent on the public good will which can only be gained by first class service, listens. It's different under socialism where the citizen takes what is given and can like it or lump it.

by a piece of merchandise, discover it is improperly assembled, of poor quality or otherwise inferior and you reject it? Of course not. You paid out good money for something that will give you a profit. If it is not as represented, you will have a few words about what you think of a firm that would offer it and you'll take your business elsewhere.

To protect you the businessman has to do the same thing with workers he hires. If he cannot and will not produce enough to justify the wages he gets, then the businessman cannot hope to retain your patronage.

Thus, a free market provides inescapable discipline. It induces superior performance. And there is nothing heartless about superior performance. As a matter of fact, the great joys of life come, not through mere pleasure seeking, but through disciplines that enable us to produce in superior fashion and to be able thereby to achieve more than average rewards.

Let us get back to charity again. In the market we have, distorted as it is by constant interferences and inroads performed by government, certain activities, notably hospitals and schools, are usually unable to produce a profit. And these are institutions that have a real value and are essential to a high standard of living.

If we could begin by reducing or finally eliminating taxation entirely, then schools and hospitals, if properly managed, could and would become profit-making enterprises. And how much better that would be for everyone. This would mean that at the end of a given year the school or hospital would be able to examine its own accounts, take what profits it had earned and either plow them back into new and improved services, or re-invest them in other profit-making enterprises.

What we want to do is to free the market of government interference. This would increase profits all around, reduce the number of non-profit enterprises and finally, reduce to a bare minimum any requirement for charity at all.

Charity is not a desirable end in itself. It may be a temporary necessity, occasioned by government intervention and coercion or by tragedy, accidents, acts of nature, and so on. But how much more of a benefaction is contained in profit-making investment than in sustained charity activities.

trols measure and record every barrel of crude produced from each well and when the crude is separated keep accurate track of the gas, oil, water and sediments that result. The information is transmitted automatically to headquarters. So 24 oil wells can be kept pumping for some 10 or 15 more profitable years — whereas, without the self-sufficiency and economy provided by electronic equipment, they would have been totally abandoned.

An invaluable resource has been saved. America's oil picture is a bit healthier. And jobs that would otherwise have disappeared with the fields exist for quite a number of people.

Electronic devices aren't devils. They open up frontiers of achievement that make the mind reel. We just have to learn how to use them properly.

National Outlook

Inflation — Semantics and Statistics

You can get an argument started among economists by asking whether we have had inflation in recent years and whether we are having it now. One reason it is hard to settle such arguments is that there are differences of opinion as to the definition of "inflation." Another is that there are a variety of statistics available for measuring changes in the general price level and room for argument as to the adequacy of many of them.

The reader is hereby put on notice that what he will get here is the columnist's own prejudices on those questions. First, there seems little profit in trying to define inflation as something other than a rise in the general price level — together with whatever basic causes may have brought it on.

There is a contrary school of thought which insists that price rises are merely one possible result of inflation — the inflation itself should be defined as an excessive expansion of money and credit.

Dubious Distinction

Everybody is entitled to his own definition, but it is hard to see any point in this distinction. Some expansion of money and credit is surely necessary as the economy grows. The only practical way we can tell whether the expansion is "excessive" is by the test of whether it leads to an increase of prices.

But even if you agree that inflation should be defined as an upward trend in prices, there is still room for controversy as to whether or not such inflation has occurred in the United States in recent years. The government's Wholesale Price Index has remained within a range of two percent during the past seven years. But the Consumer Price Index has been trending steadily upward and has increased by 10 percent since 1957.

The main reason for the difference is that the consumer index includes services, whereas the wholesale index is limited to commodities. The cost of consumer services — like hospital fees, transit fares, movie admissions and beauty — parlor charges — have been rising.

There are those who argue that the rise in consumer prices is illusory, since inadequate account is taken of improvements in the quality of products and services in the index. The government does, however, make an effort to discount price changes for measurable improvements in quality. Also, we should not forget that there are cases of product — deterioration as well as improvement — some types of repair services that consumers buy, for example.

Question of Concept

Our own opinion is that changes in the kinds and qualities of the things consumers buy create a "margin of indefinability" in the whole concept of "the general level of consumer prices." It is not a case of inaccurate statistics so much as of a concept which cannot be pinned down within narrow limits. The upward drift in the Consumer Price Index since 1957 is probably within the "margin of indefinability."

All in all we conclude that the country has not been in an inflationary situation during the past seven years. That is not to say that we may not be in danger of inflation in the future, or that expansion of credit may not be cause for concern on other grounds.

Between the Bookends

RUSSIAN COMMUNISM A FRAUD

Since the end of World War II, hundreds of "experts" have traveled to the Soviet Union viewed conditions there under carefully — selected conditions, and returned home to recite much the same propaganda that that given by the Soviets themselves.

Informed students of the nature of communism have learned to disregard most of these reports. They are considered to be nothing more than the reactions of naive people who have no knowledge with which to judge what they saw.

It is refreshing, then, to come across an analysis of Russian conditions, written by a man who understands the nature of communism and who understands economic principles — and who can then apply this understanding to what he sees. Such an analysis is contained in the new book, "Russian Communism — A Challenge and a Fraud," by Gen. William H. Wilbur (published by Caxton Printers, Cadwell, Idaho; $5.95).

General Wilbur has been a student of communism for three decades, and has made six deeply — penetrating trips to the Soviet Union. In addition, his grasp of economic principles would rival that of any successful businessman.

He frankly reveals the areas in which the Soviets have made astounding progress; and points out factually the areas in which their reputed success has been entirely fraudulent. The heart of his analysis is simple: in those areas where the Soviets have made the greatest advances, it is because they have rejected the principles of communism and socialism, and have instead adopted portions of the free enterprise system.

For example, industrial production is up. Why? Because the workers have been given maximum financial incentive to produce more. The concept of "from each according to his ability; to each according to his need" has been totally rejected. Those who do not produce make far less than the efficient producers.

No words of condemnation are strong enough in criticism of the policy our government has long followed of opposing right wing rulers and regimes while upholding, financing, and promoting left wing rulers in many parts of the world.

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel

Before answering reader mail, we would like to take a moment to congratulate Dr. Ross V. Speck of the Philadelphia Psychiatric Center for his pioneer study of human emotions and how they affect household pets.

Reporting in the latest Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association, Dr. Speck has found that household animals such as the dog and cat frequently reflect the tensions and emotional disturbances of their masters. Like a child growing up in a disturbed home, the pet may represent the deepest and highest aspirations in the life of its neurotic owner.

In one home Dr. Speck studied, the mother's phobia of leaving the house spread to her daughter, husband, cat and dog. A veterinarian who gets bitten by a pet he is treating might in some instances expect that the owner is going to give him trouble, too. Dr. Speck finds,

Regular readers of this column know that we have long held the same view. But when it is backed up by in-depth research and reported by an assistant professor at Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, it gives renewed encouragement and hope to the work we are trying to do here at the Institute.

And now, a peek into the mail bag.

Dear Dr. Cannel — My beagle is three years old and still not housebroken as he is afraid to leave the house. What can I do? — Mrs. Unhappy

Dear Mrs. Unhappy — The fact that you refer to your dog as "my beagle" shows that you have shut your husband out of your life. A re-examination of what you expect from your marriage is called for. Talk this over with your husband and, if possible, get him to go to a marriage counselor with you. A few visits should have your dog well on the way to both cleanliness and mental health.

Dear Dr. Cannel — I am a veterinarian with a large practice in household pets and am disturbed by the knowledge that if a pet bites me I can frequently expect similar trouble from the owner. What should I do when this happens? — Bones

Dear Bones — Clean the wound in the usual way unless it has been made by a denture, in which case you should add a dollop of toothpaste to the disinfectant to prevent cavities.

Dear Dr. Cannel — We recently got a leopard and find that it is unhappy all the time, whether we stay home with it or go out. — Lefty

Dear Lefty — Yours is a common problem. Send $1 to us here at the Institute for the informative booklet, "Attention Getting Devices And How To Turn Them Off."

Dear Dr. Cannel — Where are alligators found? — Tommy (aged 8)

Dear Tommy — Alligators are seldom lost. But your worry about them reveals your fear of being abandoned by your par-

CAPITOL EYE:

Goldwater's 'Rightists' To Lie Low

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent -
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
CHICAGO (NEA) — The word is being passed around among many of this country's leading arch right-wing organizations:

"If you want to help elect Sen. Barry Goldwater as president, lie low and be quiet."

Billy James Hargis, head of the Christian Crusade, summed it up when intercepted briefly in Chicago:

"The best I can do for Barry Goldwater right now is to go to Europe."

Hargis is indeed embarking on a European tour, and thinks other right-wingers ought to follow his example.

To the political realists in these groups, the case is plain. As the 1964 Republican nominee, their hero Goldwater is well-placed. In the light of all the furor over his "fringe" following, they are anxious not to embarrass him with a tight embrace.

The point was well illustrated in the two-day meeting here of the National Conservative Council, a Virginia-born group which has made third-party noises since its inception at Richmond last February.

In the Conrad Hilton, whose spacious corridors seemed to ache for a major party convention, Goldwater's name was on buttons, paper pennants, bumper strips and delegates' lips.

Yet the whole council effort was bent toward avoiding unseemly sounds that could hurt him. Reporters were barred from some sessions and improperly advised of others. A pro-Goldwater newspaper failed to staff the meeting altogether.

On the first day, the council's executive board whipped through motions supporting the Goldwater-Miller ticket and the GOP 1964 platform. There were only three dissents out of 16 states voting.

By the second morning it was clear the council was burying the third-party idea.

But the executive board's tight-lipped management of council affairs broke down somewhat the second afternoon. Hot-eyed delegates among the 170 from 33 states on hand for full sessions refused to ratify the board's support of the GOP platform and its no-third-party decision.

They rated the platform too liberal, and wanted a third party so candidates for lesser offices could run against "Socialist" Republicans.

The upshot of this noisy dissent, conducted behind closed doors, was that all resolutions were tabled and the entire conference abruptly adjourned — the action canceling the third day's program.

Dissidents erupted when the doors opened. One glowering man walked about, muttering to anyone who would listen: "I just want to make it clear. These people are not speaking for me."

A tanned Iowa farmer spoke darkly of possible Communist influence at the session: "I think maybe Khrushchev's sword came down in the middle of this room."

Another delegate could see

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government, which will not injure anyone)

Question: "Who pays for Bobby Kennedy's trip to Europe with his family? Do the American taxpayers pay for it for him to use a special U. S. Air Force plane? Wasn't his visit to Poland unofficial?"

Answer: Through the office of Congressman James B. Utt, the following statement was obtained from the Justice Department:

"The Attorney General went to Germany and Poland at the request of the State Department. The trip, which had White House approval, was for the purpose of furthering the national interest. The impetus for the trip came from an invitation from Mayor Willy Brandt of Berlin and from the German government to the Attorney General, to participate in ceremonies commemorating President Kennedy's memorial visit to Berlin last year. The State Department also felt that it would further the national interest if Mr. Kennedy would visit Poland, and he undertook this assignment as well. Therefore, the State Department paid the travel expenses of Mr. Kennedy and on aide.

"Mr. Kennedy paid all expenses for Mrs. Kennedy and three of their children, who joined him in Germany, having gone to Europe for a visit several weeks earlier."

Whether the average American believes Mr. Kennedy's trip to Europe was "furthering the national interest" may be subject to question. The fact is that those in political office will make such decisions, regardless of the beliefs of the individuals who foot the bills with their taxes.

Questions are limited to general human relations, questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

nothing but good, however, in the fact that neat control of the council effort had failed in part. Said he: "This is better than San Francisco. This is real Americanism. You can say anything you like."

A lot was said, and a lot was heard, despite obvious attempts to confuse the press. Most delegates who spoke made it quickly evident. They regard the federal government as an enemy, hardly less menacing than Moscow. The tenor of things could best be judged from the warm applause which greeted a man who was introduced as the representative of the "Republic of Vermont."

Nevertheless, though these curious sounds broke through, the council's managers applied their noise-suppressors effectively at crucial moments. If the far-right's new program is to be "silence for Goldwater," the Chicago meeting helped launch it auspiciously.

Local Navy Man Gets Promotion

Albert (Pete) Lewis son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lewis of 329 North Nelson, Pampa, advanced in rate to Radioman Second Class on July 21, at the U. S. Naval Construction Battalion Center in Port Hueneme, Calif., where he is now stationed.

Lewis was one of 13 enlisted men who was promoted at the Center after successfully passing last February's Navy wide competitive examinations for advancement in

PETE LEWIS rating.

Lewis, who entered the Navy Aug. 11, 1961, has been assigned to the Communications Division since he reported to the Center in March of 1964.

Geographically the Naval Construction Battalion Facility is located 60 miles northwest of metropolitan Los Angeles. It serves as an advance base depot for Pacific Construction forces and home base for Mobile Construction Battalions Three, Five, Nine, Ten and Eleven. It is best known as the "Home of the Pacific Seabees."

Lewis' promotion will not only mean a raise in pay but also additional professional and supervisory responsibilities of both a military and vocational nature.
