Instead of Retiring, Miller Getting Busy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rep. William E. Miller, who recently announced he was retiring from Congress to spend more time with his family, instead is running for vice president on the Republican ticket. Miller said he was thrilled that Sen. Barry Goldwater asked him to run and the GOP nominating convention enthusiastically had made the selection official Thursday night.

Miller not only will run with Goldwater, he will battle from now to Nov. 3. On past performance he can be expected to throw at President Johnson everything but the cow palace, where he agreed Thursday night to take on the task.

But he said it wouldn't have occurred to him to decline no matter how much he sought the

Johnson Starts Campaign Bit In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson will fly to his Texas ranch today for a weekend of soaking up the sun and reading up on government reports, the White House announced.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater may be occupying the political limelight this week, but his November opponent, President Johnson, is getting into campaign trim with some impromptu hand-shaking forays near the White House.

The President took his wife for a lunch-hour stroll Thursday among crowds of startled tourists and government workers in Lafayette Square, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the Executive Mansion.

The walk seemed a spur-of-the-moment affair. The Chief executive told White House staff members it was such a nice day that he thought his wife, Lady Bird, might enjoy a stroll even though the temperature hovered at a humid 90 degrees.

It was the second time this week Johnson has decided to forego his desk for a brief "meet the people" turn outside the White House. Not that he needs much practice. During his whirlwind travels around the nation since his accession to the presidency last November he has shaken thousands of hands.

The Chief Executive began Thursday's stroll after he said farewell to a diplomatic visitor, Australian Foreign Minister Paul Hasluck. "You get in your cool car," Johnson told his visitor, "and I'm going to take my wife for a walk in the park."

Russians Worry Over Nomination

LONDON (UPI) — A Soviet commentator said today the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater makes the Russians "feel they must be more on their guard than ever."

"No one can say how our two countries and the world as a whole may be affected by the growth of ultra-right trends in America's foreign policy," Aleksandr Yevstafeyev said in a Moscow Radio broadcast beamed in English toward the United States.

Yevstafeyev said his comments were his own opinion. He said that at one time Goldwater's drive toward the nomination was passed off as "the ravings of a mere handful of men."

"But Hitler started the same way," the Communist commentator said. "He began by shouting about patriotism and the anti-Communist front and ended up with the furnaces of Auschwitz and Dachau..."

Air Force Orbits Three-in-One Shot

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Air Force orbited three satellites with one rocket today in the first step of a space maneuver to strengthen America's cosmic watch for nuclear test ban cheating.

The three spacecraft, hurled into the misty sky by an Atlas-Agena rocket, were expected to reach the high point of their 63,000-mile orbit tonight when attempts will be made to send one satellite on a new orbital path.

The 115-foot rocket, making its 14th straight successful shot thundered into the darkness at 3:22 a.m. EST (4:22 a.m. EDT) with three spacecraft perched in its nose.

The slivery rocket arched over the Atlantic seconds after liftoff and climbed aloft. Less than two minutes later, it disappeared into low clouds.

Seconds after blastoff, the Air Force fired a small sounding rocket to take a look at the satellite's exhaust.

The final success of the orbit won't be known until about 18 hours after the launching.

An Air Force spokesman said it took 15 minutes after blastoff for everything to be proceeding according to schedule. "As far as we're concerned, it's on time on the line," he said.

Two of the moonlets were twin 493-pound radiation snooters looking for sneak atomic tests more than 100 million miles away in violation of the test ban treaty signed in Moscow on Aug. 5, 1963.

Now 44-Year-Old Mother

Harding 'Love Child' Reveals Secret

By MYRAM BORDERS
GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — An attractive 44-year-old mother of three has let her 18-year secret out of the bag—she was the "love child" of the late President Warren G. Harding, whose scandal-racked administration shocked the nation in the 1920s.

Tall, blondish Mrs. Henry E. Blasing spoke out for the first time Thursday. She said her claim she is the apparent only child of Harding was based on what she had been told by her mother, Miss Nan Britton, now 67, and living in seclusion in Evanston, Ill.

"I was so young I don't even remember when I was first told," said Mrs. Blasing. "I guess that when my mother

Spring Goes Dry, Water Sells for Same As Milk

BRACKETVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Water was selling for the same price as milk today in Bracketville because the town's spring is going dry.

The spring, which has bubbled cool, clear water for the town for 112 years, is now putting out only occasional spurts of dirty water not fit to drink.

Every day townfolk line up with buckets, jugs and double boilers for their daily ration of 50 gallons per person, trucked in from nearby ranch wells by the Texas Highway Department.

No Luck Drilling

A waterworks crew drilled away at a new well but at $48 feet still had no success.

Bracketville, a cattle town of 1,600 located near the Mexican border, is where the movie "The Alamo" was made. Its spring is located at a dude ranch on the site of old Fort Clark, a cavalry installation that closed 20 years ago.

Up until Wednesday, the spring had filled the town's water needs to the bubbling tune of as much as 500,000 gallons a day.

City manager Fred Frerich said work was started on the new well about two weeks ago, when the spring's flow first started to ebb. The town has no reservoir and the last time it rained there was in mid-May.

Prayers for Rain

Frerich said the new well was expected to be producing drinkable water by the end of the week.

Until then, grocers continued to sell it at 25 cents a quart and Rev. Leo Glasgow of the Bracketville Methodist church vowed to lead his congregation in prayer for rain.

Husband Shared Secret

The disclosure by Mrs. Blasing was known long ago by her husband, but kept for 18 years from neighbors, friends and their three sons. It came five days after historian Francis Russell made known existence of 250 love letters purportedly written by Harding to another woman, Mrs. James Phillips of Marion, Ohio, where Harding published a newspaper before he became president.

Russell said the letters provided the first evidence to support persistent rumors Harding had affairs with at least two women. Miss Britton was reported to have destroyed love letters from Harding. The Harding-Phillips letters

Russell said the letters provided the first evidence to support persistent rumors Harding had affairs with at least two women. Miss Britton was reported to have destroyed love letters from Harding. The Harding-Phillips letters dated from 1909-1920. Harding was elected president in 1920 after he assertedly was asked by Republican convention leaders whether there was any reason that he should not be nominated. He served until his death in August, 1923.

During Harding's tenure, there was the impending disclosure of scandals in the Interior and Justice departments and in the Veterans' Bureau. These culminated in the 1929 sentencing to prison of former Interior Secretary Albert Fall in the "teapot dome" scandal.

Mrs. Blasing, whose birth certificate listed her as Elizabeth Ann Christian, prefers the name Ann. She, her husband and their sons — Tom, 17, Jim, 13, and Philip, 10 — live in a two-story, cream-colored stucco house with a swimming pool in this quiet Los Angeles suburb.

Asked whether she remembered Harding, Mrs. Blasing said she had no personal recollection of him, but recalled her mother and her aunt — Mrs. Elizabeth Willets, with whom she lived in adoption for many years — talking about him.

"It was as if he was a friend of the family," she said. "My mother always spoke of President Harding in glowing terms. I don't know why they stopped seeing each other."

Asked how it feels to be a president's daughter, Mrs. Blasing replied: "It's hard to describe one's feeling. I just took my mother's word for it. And as far as she was concerned, he was tops."

Scranton, Family Planning Vacation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton prepared today to take an extended vacation with his family.

The Pennsylvania governor appeared extremely relaxed and cheerful after a whirlwind month-long campaign for the party's presidential nomination that ended in his crushing defeat, his first political setback, at the hands of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Helmeted Police Break up Riots In Mississippi

GREENWOOD, Miss. (UPI) — Helmeted police, using nightsticks as prods, Thursday broke up three civil rights demonstrations in front of the Lawrence County Courthouse and jailed 111 persons.

Several of the white and Negro demonstrators kicked and fought back as they were loaded into buses and taken to the city and county jails.

An FBI agent filming the arrests was shoved by a fat, middle-aged white man, who was collared immediately by two policemen and led away. The man later showed up at the scene of the demonstrations, however, and was seen chatting casually with officers.

The demonstrations started shortly after the courthouse opened and continued into the afternoon, when a brief but heavy shower drenched the area.

About 100 Negroes stood in line outside the courthouse to register to vote and watched silently while the younger and noisier pickets marched briefly with placards before they were arrested and hauled to jail, singing "freedom" songs on the way.

Those who remained in the line were not arrested and were admitted to the courtroom in small groups to fill out voter application forms.

Civil rights workers charged that during the afternoon a Negro who had been in the registration line, identified as Silas McGee, 21, was forced into a pickup truck at gunpoint and beaten.

Police said they had no report of the incident but it was learned Justice Department officials had taken an affidavit concerning the incident from McGee, a local man who has been active in the civil rights movement.

McGee told civil rights workers he was struck with a board and a length of pipe. A local physician said McGee was treated for a head wound which required five stitches.

Rockefeller was not present for the Goldwater speech. Scranton called it "a strong speech" but declined to comment on specific parts. Some Pennsylvania delegates pulled their discarded Scranton buttons from their pockets and pinned them on again.

Candidate for Vice President Is Free - Swinging Campaigner

By DAVID SMOTHERS
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The man tapped by Barry Goldwater to run with him on the Republican ticket is a free-swinging campaigner who once suggested the 1964 GOP presidential nomination wouldn't be worth having.

Now Rep. William E. Miller, outgoing chairman of the Republican National Committee and Sen. Goldwater's choice for the No. 2 spot on the ticket, says he will be "delighted" to join Goldwater in making the race.

Miller is a scrappy, sharp-tongued 50-year-old, seven-term House member who earlier had planned to retire at the end of this year and go back to the practice of law in Lockport, N.Y. He has abandoned that plan. Obviously, he also has changed his views on what kind of chance the GOP will have in November to capture control of the White House.

Had Other Goal

Three years ago, when he was named to his party's top post, he said the urgent immediate goal was to win Republican control of the House and to narrow the Democrats' margin of senatorial power.

Unless substantial republican gains were made in the 1962 congressional election, Miller said, the 1964 GOP presidential nomination wouldn't be "worth a damn." The gains he forecast for that year were not realized. The GOP picked up one seat in the House and lost three in the Senate, leaving Democrats in firm control of the Congress.

Miller brings to the ticket not only candor but guts. He is five feet eight inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, and is accustomed to carrying a large sharp political needle.

Both in his chairmanship of the GOP National Committee and in a previous job as chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, he was known for his readiness to stick that needle into Democrats of whatever station.

Goldwater promised Wednesday night to run his campaign against President Johnson not on personalities but on issues. Presumably Miller will be influenced by Goldwater's example. That may require some change in Miller's style.

Made Strong Demands

Miller once labeled former President Harry S. Truman a "hatchet man" and demanded that President John F. Kennedy apologize for remarks Truman had made.

He also called on Kennedy to recall Assistant Secretary of State Mennen Williams from

Cohn Cleared Perjury Charges

NEW YORK (UPI)—Attorney Roy M. Cohn, former counsel of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy's investigating committee, was found not guilty on three counts of perjury and four of obstruction of justice by a federal court jury Thursday.

The jury of 11 men and one woman completely exonerated the 37-year-old former Communist hunter and his 57-year-old co-defendant, attorney Murray E. Gottesman. Gottesman had been charged with two counts of perjury.

The announcement of the verdict by jury foreman Claude Applegate resulted in an outburst of cheers from the defense table and friends of the defendants.

Judge Dudley B. Bonsal smiled at the outburst even as court attendants admonished the spectators to be quiet.

It was the second trial of both defendants, whose first trial ended in a mistrial because of the death of a juror's his Congo assignment lest he spread "hoof-in-mouth disease" all over Africa.

In 1961 he proclaimed discovery of an "integrity gap" at the White House. At a Lincoln Day dinner he said promise-happy Kennedy men stood to "sell more of our people into government slavery than were freed by the Emancipation Proclamation."

After Goldwater's runaway nomination for the presidency Wednesday night, nobody questioned his right to name a running mate of his choice. His selection of Miller ruled out an endorsement of the party's liberal bloc, which had battled in vain to win the top party spot for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

Goldwater and Miller are old friends and on most things see eye to eye. Besides that, Bill Miller brings certain obvious assets to the ticket.

He is a Roman Catholic, and Catholicism is considered a political plus since the Kennedy victory four years ago. He hails from New York, the ultimate in big, northeast, industrial states where the western-oriented Goldwater will need plenty of help. He has a pretty wife and an attractive family of four children.

SEES LOWER SPENDING

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Budget Director Kermit Gordon expects federal spending for the fiscal year which ended June 30 to be lower than previous estimates.

Gordon told newsmen this week after meeting with President Johnson that he expected the last official estimate of 1964 spending to be lower when final figures are available by the end of this week. The $68.3 billion estimate was made in May and included an estimated deficit of $8.8 billion.

Palo Duro Indian Proven Authentic

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—The skeleton of a young Indian chief found in a West Texas cave is a major anthropological find for the area, a scientist said Thursday.

The skeleton, almost perfectly preserved, was found with arrowheads and rare Indian artifacts in a cave in the wild Palo Duro canyon near Amarillo. It is believed to be that of a young brave, perhaps a chief, of a migrant Indian tribe who died as the tribe wandered through the plains hundreds of years ago.

Authorities said it may be 1,000 years old.

Arrowheads, Beads, Tooth

Both Dr. Jack Hughes, geology professor at West Texas State University here and a curator of paleontology at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum in Canyon, and Jim Word of Floydada, vice president of the Texas archeological society, said they were sure the discovery was authentic.

Hughes said he would stake his scientific reputation on it.

Hughes said the items found with the skeleton indicate he lived "a few centuries before" the Spanish explorer Francisco Vasquez Coronado led an expedition through the same area in

1541 in his futile search for the legendary "seven cities of Cibola."

Found with the skeleton were flint tools, arrowheads, knives, a seashell inlaid with turquoise and jet, braid, tubular beads made from bones, and a petrifid tooth.

Found in Cave

"It's very rare to find anything like that in this area," Word said. "This fellow apparently was someone with a lot of influence—maybe a chief."

"There's no question it's authentic."

The skeleton was found July 8 by Jimmy Sorenson, 34, owner and operator of a tourist business in the canyon. He said he was intrigued by holes he noticed in the wall of Timbercreek Canyon, one of the largest tributary canyons of Palo Duro.

He and friends began to dig around the holes, broke into the cave, and found the skeleton.

SEARCH FAILS

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—Two Frankfurt prosecutors said Wednesday their hunt in East Berlin for the body of Adolf Hitler's deputy, Martin Bormann, was a failure.

Prosecutor Wilhelm Metzner said he and his colleague, Johannes Werle, went to East Berlin and had a mass grave opened at the site of the Veterinary Institute, after a Czech gravedigger said he helped bury Bormann there.

The gravedigger was present for the opening and pointed out the exact place where he recalled he buried Bormann below seven other bodies, Metzner said.

"But we found no trace of Bormann," he added.

NO FREE BUTTONS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Time was when presidential candidates gave away campaign buttons to anybody willing to wear them. Not this time.

At this Republican National Convention the minimum passable Goldwater button goes for 50 cents, and there are fancier models — some more or less jeweled — selling for much fancier prices.

A hot item is canned beverages in six-packs, bearing the senator's name. It is touted as a good mixer, like ginger ale, only better.

REFUSES VISIT REQUESTS

Cadillac

YOU MAY BE LOSING MONEY BY PAYING LESS

There are many cars that cost almost as much as a Cadillac. But it is a matter of fact that the decision to buy one of them could be a false economy.

Consider the major items included in the basic price of a Cadillac that are usually extra on other cars: automatic transmission, high-performance engine, power steering, power brakes, automatic cornering lights, and power windows on most models.

Then think of what a new Cadillac can save you on operation and maintenance. Cadillac is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in gasoline efficiency—and it is so soundly built that it has reduced upkeep expense to the practical minimum.

You're ahead again—every mile you drive.

Finally, reflect on Cadillac's historically high trade-in value. No car at or near its price preserves so much of its owner's original investment through the years.

So add it all up. You'll see what most owners mean when they say you don't spend more for a Cadillac. You just invest a little more—and get a lot more back.

Dear Abby...
Know Faults And Help Will Come

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me? I want to be a virgin when I get married, but it's getting harder every day. I shoplift for kicks (have never been caught) and I also smoke and drink when I can get it. People say I look like a tramp and I guess I do. All this is because my father is trying to run my life. He won't let me out after 6 p.m. unless he knows where I'm going, who with and how long I'll be gone. Even when I tell him the truth, he says I'm lying. I'm sick of being watched like a criminal. I know I'm running with the wrong crowd but they are the only ones who understand me. I am overweight and my mother never lets me forget it. I break everything I touch because I'm so nervous. If you don't tell me where I can get some help soon, so help me, Abby, I'm going to find some high place to jump off of.

WANTS TO DIE AT 15
DEAR WANTS: Show a copy of this confession to your family doctor or pastor. If you can't communicate with your parents, take your misery to a trusted relative. That you recognize your shortcomings and WANT to get help means your struggle is half-won. To "jump" would be meaningless and a tragic waste of life.

DEAR ABBY: I have a son and a daughter. Both have been married many years. Several years ago I made an heirloom quilt. I could never make another one as my eyes are not good enough and there was much close work involved. I have been offered $100 for it many times, but have refused it. My daughter once said she would like to have it for her daughter, who is now a teenage girl. This girl is very unappreciative, and has never taken very good care of her things.

My son asked me years ago if I would "will" it to him. He has a lovely wife who would take good care of it. I don't want to hurt my daughter's feelings, but I would rather see my son and his wife have it. What should I do?

DEAR PONDERING: Treat yourself to the pleasure of giving it to your son and his lovely wife while you are living.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that when a person is under an anesthetic he talks very plainly and usually says things he would never say if he were conscious. Is this true? I am scheduled for some surgery (not serious) soon and this is very important to me. Is there any other way a person could be "put under" for an operation and be assured that he will not talk? I can't ask my doctor because he belongs to our club and we know a lot of the same people and he might wonder why I am asking. Please don't use my name.

Candidate for Vice President Is Free-Swinging Campaigner

By DAVID SMOTHERS
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The man tapped by Barry Goldwater to run with him on the Republican ticket is a free-swinging campaigner who once suggested the 1964 GOP presidential nomination wouldn't be worth having.

Now Rep. William E. Miller, outgoing chairman of the Republican National Committee and Sen. Goldwater's choice for the No. 2 spot on the ticket, says he will be "delighted" to join Goldwater in making the race.

Miller is a scrappy, sharp-featured 50-year-old, seven-term House member who earlier had planned to retire at the end of this year and go back to the practice of law in Lockport, N.Y. He has abandoned that plan. Obviously, he also has changed his views on what kind of chance the GOP will have in November to capture control of the White House.

that needle into Democrats of whatever station.

Goldwater promised Wednesday night to run his campaign against President Johnson not on personalities but on issues. Presumably Miller will be influenced by Goldwater's example. That may require some change in Miller's style.

Made Strong Demands
Miller once labeled former President Harry S. Truman a "hatchet man" and demanded that President John F. Kennedy apologize for remarks Truman had made.

He also called on Kennedy to recall Assistant Secretary of State Mennen Williams from his Congo assignment lest he spread "hoof-in-mouth disease" all over Africa.

In 1961 he proclaimed discovery of an "integrity gap" at the White House. At a Lincoln Day dinner he said promise-happy Kennedy men stood to "sell more of our people into government slavery than were freed by the Emancipation Proclamation."

After Goldwater's runaway nomination for the presidency Wednesday night, nobody questioned his right to name a running mate of his choice. His selection of Miller ruled out appeasement of the party's liberal bloc, which had battled in vain to win the top party spot for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

Goldwater and Miller are old friends and on most things see eye to eye. Besides that, Bill Miller brings certain obvious assets to the ticket.

Cohn Cleared Perjury Charges

NEW YORK (UPI)—Attorney Roy M. Cohn, former counsel of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy's investigating committee, was found not guilty on three counts of perjury and four of obstruction of justice by a federal court jury Thursday.

The jury of 11 men and one woman completely exonerated the 37-year-old former Communist hunter and his 57-year-old co-defendant, attorney Murray E. Gottesman. Gottesman had been charged with two counts of perjury.

The announcement of the verdict by jury foreman Claude Applegate resulted in an outburst of cheers from the defense table and friends of the defendants.

Judge Dudley B. Bonsal smiled at the outburst even as court attendants admonished the spectators to be quiet.

It was the second trial of both defendants, whose first trial ended in a mistrial because of the death of a juror's father.

He is a Roman Catholic, and Catholicism is considered a political plus since the Kennedy victory four years ago. He hails from New York, the ultimate in big, northeast, industrial states where the western-oriented Goldwater will need plenty of help. He has a pretty wife and an attractive family of four children.

SEES LOWER SPENDING
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Budget Director Kermit Gordon expects federal spending for the fiscal year which ended June 30 to be lower than previous estimates.

Gordon told newsmen this week after meeting with President Johnson that he expected the last official estimate of 1964 spending to be lower when final figures are available by the end of this week. The $98.3 billion estimate was made in May and included an estimated deficit of $8.8 billion.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids addressed to the Mayor and City Commission of the City of Pampa, Texas, will be received at the office of the City Secretary, City of Pampa, Texas, until 5:30 A.M., Tuesday, July 28, 1964, and then publicly opened and read for furnishing all plant, labor, material and equipment and performing all work required for the construction of certain street improvements consisting of curb and gutter, 6 inch, processed gravel base and hot-mix concrete asphalt wearing surface on streets in the City of Pampa, Texas, as designated in the Plans and Specifications. Envelopes containing bids shall be marked to designate the project and opening time and date.

All proposals shall be accompanied by a Bank Money Order, Cashier's Check or Certified Check upon a National or State Bank in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the total maximum bid price payable without recourse to the Mayor of the City of Pampa, or a bid bond in the same amount from a good solvent surety company, as a guarantee that bidder will enter into a contract and execute a performance bond within fifteen (15) days after notice of award of contract or forfeiture of Notice of Award of Contract shall be given by the Owner within ten (10) days following the bid opening. Bids without check or bond will not be considered.

All bid securities will be returned to the bidder within ten (10) days after the bid opening, except those which the Owner elects to hold until the successful bidder has executed the contract.

The successful bidder must furnish performance bond and payment bond upon the forms provided by law in the amount of 100 per cent of the contract price from an approved surety and company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as surety on bonds of said work done under this specification.

Under this letting the City proposes to guarantee full payment in cash to the Contractor within thirty (30) days after the date of completion of the work.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in bids received. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the bid price the City reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof or to reject the bid.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions which may affect the work. Plans, Specifications and Bidding Documents may be secured from the office of the City Engineer, City of Pampa, Texas.

Palo Duro Indian Proven Authentic

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—The skeleton of a young Indian chief found in a West Texas cave is a major anthropological find for the area, a scientist said Thursday.

The skeleton, almost perfectly preserved, was found with arrowheads and rare Indian artifacts in a cave in the wild Palo Duro canyon near Amarillo. It is believed to be that of a young brave, perhaps a chief, of a migrant Indian tribe who died as the tribe wandered through the plains hundreds of years ago.

Authorities said it may be 1,000 years old.

Arrowheads, Beads, Tooth
Both Dr. Jack Hughes, geology professor at West Texas State University here and a curator of paleontology at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum in Canyon, and Jim Word of Floydada, vice president of the Texas archeological society, said they were sure the discovery was authentic.

Hughes said he would stake his scientific reputation on it.

Hughes said the items found with the skeleton indicate he lived "a few centuries before" the Spanish explorer Francisco Vasquez Coronado led an expedition through the same area in

1541 in his futile search for the legendary "seven cities of Cibola."

Found with the skeleton were flint tools, arrowheads, knives, a seashell inlaid with turquoise and jet, braid, tubular beads made from bones, and a petrifried tooth.

Found in Cave
"It's very rare to find anything like that in this area," Word said. "This fellow apparently was someone with a lot of influence—maybe a chief."

"There's no question it's authentic."

The skeleton was found July 8 by Jimmy Sorenson, 34, owner and operator of a tourist business in the canyon. He said he was intrigued by holes he noticed in the wall of Timbercreek Canyon, one of the largest tributary canyons of Palo Duro.

He and friends began to dig around the holes, broke into the cave, and found the skeleton.

NO FREE BUTTONS
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Time was when presidential candidates gave away campaign buttons to anybody willing to wear them. Not this time.

At this Republican National Convention the minimum passable Goldwater button goes for 50 cents, and there are fancier models — some more or less jeweled — selling for much fancier prices.

A hot item is canned beverages in six-packs, bearing the senator's name. It is touted as a good mixer, like ginger ale, only better.

REFUSES VISIT REQUESTS

YOU MAY BE LOSING MONEY BY PAYING LESS

There are many cars that cost almost as much as a Cadillac. But it is a matter of fact that the decision to buy one of them could be a false economy.

Consider the major items included in the basic price of a Cadillac that are usually extra on other cars: automatic transmission, high-performance engine, power steering, power brakes, automatic cornering lights, and power windows on most models.

Then think of what a new Cadillac can save you on operation and maintenance. Cadillac is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in gasoline efficiency—and it is so soundly built that it has reduced upkeep expense to the practical minimum.

You're ahead again—every mile you drive.

Finally, reflect on Cadillac's historically high trade-in value. No car at or near its price preserves so much of its owner's original investment through the years.

So add it all up. You'll see what most owners mean when they say you don't spend more for a Cadillac. You just invest a little more—and get a lot more back.

If a Cadillac has long been in your plans, visit your dealer and get all the dollars-and-cents facts.

EFFICIENT SURFACES

Counter surfaces in the bath and kitchen should be efficient as well as colorful. The efficient countertop should be surfaced with a durable material such as ceramic tile that will withstand even the hardest household treatment. A kitchen countertop should be impervious to hot pots and pans and stains from foods. Real ceramic tile fits perfectly since it is both fireproof and stainproof.

Dear Abby....

Know Faults And Help Will Come

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me? I want to be a virgin when I get married, but it's getting harder every day. I shoplift for kicks (have never been caught) and I also smoke and drink when I can get it. People say I look like a tramp and I guess I do. All this is because my father is trying to run my life. He won't let me out after 6 p.m. unless he knows where I'm going, who with and how long I'll be gone. Even when I tell him the truth, he says I'm lying. I'm sick of being watched like a criminal. I know I'm running with the wrong crowd but they are the only ones who understand me. I am overweight and my mother never lets me forget it. I break everything I touch because I'm so nervous. If you don't tell me where I can get some help soon, so help me, Abby, I'm going to find some high place to jump off of.

WANTS TO DIE AT 15
DEAR WANTS: Show a copy of this confession to your family doctor or pastor. If you can't communicate with your parents, take your misery to a trusted relative. That you recognize your shortcomings and WANT to get help means your struggle is half-won. To "jump" would be meaningless and a tragic waste of life.

DEAR ABBY: I have a son and a daughter. Both have been married many years. Several years ago I made an heirloom quilt. I could never make another one as my eyes are not good enough and there was much close work involved. I have been offered $100 for it many times, but have refused it. My daughter once said she would like to have it for her daughter, who is now a teenage girl. This girl is very unappreciative, and has never taken very good care of her things.

My son asked me years ago if I would "will" it to him. He has a lovely wife who would take good care of it. I don't want to hurt my daughter's feelings, but I would rather see my son and his wife have it. What should I do?

Candidate for Vice President Is Free-Swinging Campaigner

By DAVID SMOTHERS
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The man tapped by Barry Goldwater to run with him on the Republican ticket is a free-swinging campaigner who once suggested the 1964 GOP presidential nomination wouldn't be worth having.

Now Sen. William E. Miller, outgoing chairman of the Republican National Committee and Sen. Goldwater's choice for the No. 2 spot on the ticket, says he will be "delighted" to join Goldwater in making the race.

Miller is a scrappy, shrewd, 50-year-old, seven-term House member who earlier had planned to retire at the end of this year and go back to the practice of law in Lockport, N.Y. He has abandoned that plan. Obviously, he also has changed his views on what kind of chance the GOP will have in November to capture control of the White House.

Had Other Goal
Three years ago, when he was named to his party's top post, he said the urgent immediate goal was to win Republican control of the House and to narrow the Democrats' margin of senatorial power.

Unless substantial republican gains were made in the 1962 congressional election, Miller said, the 1964 GOP presidential nomination wouldn't be "worth a damn." The gains he forecast for that year were not realized. The GOP picked up one seat in the House and lost three in the Senate, leaving Democrats in firm control of the Congress.

Miller brings to the ticket not only candor but guts. He is five feet eight inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, and is accustomed to carrying a large sharp political needle.

Both in his chairmanship of the GOP National Committee and in a previous job as chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, he was known for his readiness to stick that needle into Democrats' of whatever station. Goldwater promised Wednesday night to run his campaign against President Johnson not on personalities but on issues. Presumably Miller will be influenced by Goldwater's example. That may require some change in Miller's style.

Made Strong Demands
Miller once labeled former President Harry S. Truman a "hatchet man" and demanded that President John F. Kennedy apologize for remarks Truman had made.

He also called on Kennedy to recall Assistant Secretary of State Mennen Williams from

Cohn Cleared Perjury Charges

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attorney Roy M. Cohn, former counsel of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy's investigating committee, was found not guilty on three counts of perjury and four of obstruction of justice by a federal court jury Thursday.

The jury of 11 men and one woman completely exonerated the 37-year-old former Communist hunter and his 57-year-old co-defendant, attorney Murray E. Gottesman. Gottesman had been charged with two counts of perjury.

The announcement of the verdict by jury foreman Claude Applegate resulted in an outburst of cheers from the defense table and friends of the defendants.

Judge Dudley B. Bonsal smiled at the outburst even as court attendants admonished the spectators to be quiet.

It was the second trial of both defendants, whose first trial ended in a mistrial because of the death of a juror's father.

his Congo assignment lest he spread "hoof-in-mouth disease" all over Africa.

In 1961 he proclaimed discovery of an "integrity gap" at the White House. At a Lincoln Day dinner he said promise-happy Kennedy men stood to "sell more of our people into government slavery than were freed by the Emancipation Proclamation."

After Goldwater's runaway nomination for the presidency Wednesday night, nobody questioned his right to name a running mate of his choice. His selection of Miller ruled out appeasement of the party's liberal bloc, which had battled in vain to win the top party spot for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

Goldwater and Miller are old friends and on most things see eye to eye. Besides that, Bill Miller brings certain obvious assets to the ticket.

He is a Roman Catholic, and Catholicism is considered a political plus since the Kennedy victory four years ago. He hails from New York, the ultimate in big northeast industrial states where the western-oriented Goldwater will need plenty of help. He has a pretty wife and an attractive family of four children.

SEES LOWER SPENDING

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Budget Director Kermit Gordon expects federal spending for the fiscal year which ended June 30 to be lower than previous estimates.

Gordon told newsmen this week after meeting with President Johnson that he expected the last official estimate of 1964 spending to be lower when final figures are available by the end of this week. The $98.3 billion estimate was made in May and included an estimated deficit of $8.8 billion.

Palo Duro Indian Proven Authentic

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—The skeleton of a young Indian chief found in a West Texas cave is a major anthropological find for the area, a scientist said Thursday.

The skeleton, almost perfectly preserved, was found with arrowheads and rare Indian artifacts in a cave in the wild Palo Duro canyon near Amarillo. It is believed to be that of a young brave, perhaps a chief, of a migrant Indian tribe who died as the tribe wandered through the plains hundreds of years ago.

Authorities said it may be 1,000 years old. Arrowheads, Beads, Tooth Both Dr. Jack Hughes, geology professor at West Texas State University here and a curator of paleontology at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum in Canyon, and Jim Word of Floydada, vice president of the Texas archeological society, said they were sure the discovery was authentic.

Hughes said he would stake his scientific reputation on it. Hughes said the items found with the skeleton indicate he lived "a few centuries before" the Spanish explorer Francisco Vasquez Coronado led an expedition through the same area in

Found with the skeleton were flint tools, arrowheads, knives, a seashell inlaid with turquoise and jet, braid, tubular beads made from bones, and a petrified tooth.

Found in Cave
"It's very rare to find anything like that in this area," Word said. "This fellow apparently was someone with a lot of influence—maybe a chief. There's no question it's authentic."

The skeleton was found July 8 by Jimmy Sorenson, 34, owner and operator of a tourist business in the canyon. He said he was intrigued by holes he noticed in the wall of Timbercreek Canyon, one of the largest tributary canyons of Palo Duro.

He and friends began to dig around the holes, broke into the cave, and found the skeleton.

SEARCH FAILS

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Two Frankfurt prosecutors said Wednesday their hunt in East Berlin for the body of Adolf Hitler's deputy, Martin Bormann, was a failure.

Prosecutor Wilhelm Metzner said he and his colleague, Johannes Werle, went to East Berlin and had a mass grave opened at the site of the Veterinary Institute, after a Czech gravedigger said he helped bury Bormann there.

The gravedigger was present for the opening and pointed out the exact place where he recalled he buried Bormann below seven other bodies, Metzner said.

"But we found no trace of Bormann," he added.

NO FREE BUTTONS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Time was when presidential candidates gave away campaign buttons to anybody willing to wear them. Not this time.

At this Republican National Convention the minimum passable Goldwater button goes for 50 cents, and there are fancier models — some more or less jeweled — selling for much fancier prices.

A hot item is canned beverages in six-packs, bearing the senator's name. It is touted as a good mixer, like ginger ale, only better.

Cadillac

YOU MAY BE LOSING MONEY BY PAYING LESS

There are many cars that cost almost as much as a Cadillac. But it is a matter of fact that the decision to buy one of them could be a false economy.

Consider the major items included in the basic price of a Cadillac that are usually extra on other cars: automatic transmission, high-performance engine, power steering, power brakes, automatic cornering lights, and power windows on most models.

Then think of what a new Cadillac can save you on operation and maintenance. Cadillac is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in gasoline efficiency—and it is so soundly built that it has reduced upkeep expense to the practical minimum.

You're ahead again—every mile you drive. Finally, reflect on Cadillac's historically high trade-in value. No car at or near its price preserves so much of its owner's original investment through the years.

So add it all up. You'll see what most owners mean when they say you don't spend more for a Cadillac. You just invest a little more—and get a lot more back.

If a Cadillac has long been in your plans, visit your dealer and get all the dollars-and-cents facts.

Dear Abby... Know Faults And Help Will Come

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me? I want to be a virgin when I get married, but it's getting harder every day. I shoplift for kicks (have never been caught) and I also smoke and drink when I can get it. People say I look like a tramp and I guess I do. All this is because my father is trying to run my life. He won't let me out after 6 p.m. unless he knows where I'm going, who with and how long I'll be gone. Even when I tell him the truth, he says I'm lying. I'm sick of being watched like a criminal. I know I'm running with the wrong crowd but they are the only ones who understand me. I am overweight and my mother never lets me forget it. I break everything I touch because I'm so nervous. If you don't tell me where I can get some help soon, so help me, Abby, I'm going to find some high place to jump off of.

WANTS TO DIE AT 15
DEAR WANTS: Show a copy of this confession to your family doctor or pastor. If you can't communicate with your parents, take your misery to a trusted relative. That you recognize your shortcomings and WANT to get help means your struggle is half-won. To "jump" would be meaningless and a tragic waste of life.

ly and usually says things he would never say if he were conscious. Is this true? I am scheduled for some surgery (not serious) soon and this is very important to me. Is there any other way a person could be "put under" for an operation and be assured that he will not talk? I can't ask my doctor because he belongs to our club and we know a lot of the same people and he might wonder why I am asking. Please don't use my name.

Other relatives present were Cloyd's mother, Mrs. George W. Cloyd of Childress, and his sisters, Mrs. Lon Morton of Childress and Mrs. E. F. Green and her daughter, Lou Ann of Amarillo and Sgt. and Mrs. Jerry Green and Chris. Green has just returned from Thailand.

Russell Circle With Mrs. Hinkle

WMU Joy Russell Circle, Hobart Baptist Church, met at 9:30 a.m. July 15 in the home of Mrs. Darrell Hinkle, 2542 Charles.

Mrs. Bill Simpson, circle chairman, lead the watchword to open the meeting with Mrs. Sam Jungbluth leading the opening prayer.

Minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report were given by Mrs. Tommy Richardson. The July community missions project was discussed. The first chapter of the mission book "History of Women's Missionary Union," was taught by Mrs. Carrol Smith.

Guests attending were Mmes. David Cooper and Jimmy Clark. Members attending were Mmes. Darrell Hinkle, W. D. Hyde, Eugene Brock, Raymond Smith, Larry Ray, Chalmer Fuhart, Carl McAnally, Simpson, Smith, Jungbluth, Richardson and Hinkle.

All the WMU circles of Hobart Baptist Church will meet for a Royal Service Program at 10:30 a.m. August 19 in the church.

EASIEST EXPANSION AREAS

Two areas most likely to produce added living space in your home are the attic and the basement. But utilizing these areas shouldn't add to the burden of the busy homemaker, says the Tile Council of America. Colorful and easy-to-clean materials such as ceramic tile should be used in creating these new living spaces. Floors, walls and countertops of ceramic tile are stainproof and offer no special cleaning problems.

A paste of cream of tartar and peroxide applied with a stiff brush will help remove the discoloration left by a drippy faucet.

One of the most versatile fish, halibut, is temptingly flavorful when served with just butter and lemon.

A soft paint brush is a handy tool for dusting books, bric-a-brac, and other small items.

Letter Provides Guides For Christian Death

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
Dying is the one act to which all human beings are inexorably committed.

Most of us would like to put it off as long as possible, and to face it with dignity and courage when it is no longer avoidable.

A few rare souls have the grace to look upon dying not merely as an inevitable fate which must be endured, but as a positive opportunity for service.

Pope John XXIII was a good example. His death last year was to use an old-fashioned term—"edifying" to the whole world.

But you don't have to be a Pope to die well. We recently were permitted to read a letter which a lady in Meridian, Miss., wrote to a friend in Washington, D.C.

It was a private letter, never meant for publication. But it describes a truly Christian death so vividly that we asked the author's permission to quote from it, and she has graciously assented.

She is telling about the death of her elderly mother-in-law. The first paragraphs of the letter explain that "Mama" suffered a heart attack and was taken to a hospital, where she lingered on the edge of life for four days.

"I wish I could write well enough to do justice to those last few days of Mama's life. None of us will ever forget them. All of the children were here."

"She was dying and she knew it. But she kept herself bright and alert until she had talked to each one of us individually. There was nothing mushy or tear-jerking about these conversations. She just had little messages for each of us, and she took the time to deliver them."

"The marvelous thing is that she managed to change all of our thoughts about death. . . . 'She told us that she was not afraid, and that we need not be afraid either. She told us that she was ready, not just to leave this world and a sick old body, but ready and happy and truly eager to get on to what was waiting for her.'"

"She said to keep living our lives with love and kindness, and to be ever mindful of God, and we would have nothing to fear when our time comes to face death."

"I am sure that many people pass on feeling that way, but 'High Vision' Topic At First Christian Church. 'A High Vision,' will be the sermon preached at the Morning worship hour by Rev. Glen B. Adsit at the First Christian Church. The evening Union service with Lamar Christian Church will be held at 7 p.m. in First Christian sanctuary. Rev. Adsit will also preach at the evening services during July. Youth groups meet at 5:45 p.m. for snack suppers and study begins at 6 o'clock."

Missionary to Give Sermon Here Sunday

Speaker for both morning and evening services of the Highland Baptist Church will be Rev. Richard Lunsford, who is a return missionary from Alaska. In the morning worship service Rev. Lunsford will preach on "Heirs of God" with his scripture taken from Exodus 3:15.

For the evening worship service he will relay his experiences with the mission work in Alaska and tell about the devastating earthquake. For his sermon topic he has chosen, "Led or God" with scripture found in 1 Kings 19:11-12.

HONORED

WASHINGTON (UPI) — National honors were accorded recently to 61 Catholic Civic Clubs by the Commission on American Citizenship of The Catholic University of America in recognition of outstanding achievements that distinguish them among the more than 5,000 clubs active in parochial schools.

Ten of the clubs received Good Citizenship Awards from the Commission, which sponsors the clubs. Honorable Mention Citations went to 20 clubs and another 31 won Letters of Recognition.

Canadian Church Meets to Mark 70th Anniversary

The First Baptist Church of Canadian celebrated the 70th anniversary of the church July 12 with an all-day meeting and reception.

Following the morning service the members enjoyed a basketball dinner. A program was held at two o'clock and followed by a reception at four o'clock.

The church was organized July 15, 1894. Since members did not have a building of their own services were held in the old Opera House which is still in use as a meeting place for the Rebekah and Oddfellow lodges.

The church was organized by Mrs. J. C. Studer. Mrs. Vas Stickley, Mrs. G. W. Arrington, Miss Mattie Gallagher, Mrs. J. T. Jackson, Mrs. Walter Lyon and Mrs. J. F. Johnson. The first resident pastor was the Rev. J. W. Whitley who served from 1897 until 1908. There have only been sixteen pastors during the seventy years the church has been in existence.

Washington Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
The break in the Republican party front between dejected liberals and triumphant conservatives has been papered over, a temporary job for appearances sake more than for any other else.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania did what he was expected to do Wednesday night and he did it well. He delivered to the Republican National Convention a rousing unity speech endorsing Sen. Barry M. Goldwater as the presidential candidate of a united Republican party.

The catch is that the Republican party is not united at this moment nor is it likely to be soon. The eastern liberal Establishment long has controlled the Republican party, chosen its nominees and dictated its platforms. These liberals are out. Their Scranton-for-president campaign never got off the ground. The liberal leaders of the Republican party from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower down to the least of them proved themselves in the clutch to be hapless amateurs.

No Effective Strategy They were unable to devise or to execute effective pre-convention or convention strategy. As a group they have been humiliated by an upstart politician whom many of them regard as almost illiterate, a trigger-happy cowboy. Some of the news pundits and one-time political bosses who comprised the Republican Establishment have reacted as though the national convention had nominated for president public enemy No. 1 to run on a platform committed to piracy and other international crimes.

It is likely that never since Thomas E. Dewey struck out in 1948 against Harry S. Truman have so many big shot Republicans been so unhappy, sorry for themselves and thinking of revenge. They may think better of revenge before they achieve any. There was a zip and go, a freshness of environment and a wholesome enthusiasm in the convention hall when Goldwater was finally nominated that seemed to suggest that this upstart senator may not be, after all, merely a sacrificial lamb. Faintly beginning to be heard in convention precincts on the morning after — very faintly, it is true — was the speculative question:

Speak Of Victory "Do you suppose it is possible that this fellow might win; possible that once more at long last the Republicans have a winner?"

On top of that question inevitably appear others: Could it be that there is a new trend of thinking among the people that the polsters have missed? Could Goldwater have struck his pick into a golden vein of popular thinking that somehow has alluded all other political pros?

These questions arise because of the lopsided nature of Goldwater's triumph in San Francisco. He did not squeak throughout of a disciplined army of delegates in committees and in the convention itself. These dedicated delegates evidently believed absolutely in the justice of their cause and the greatness of their candidate.

There is no evidence that Goldwater has been winning so far by default. There was no evidence, either, that Goldwater had bought delegates or seized them by intimidation as was charged in Scranton's still incredible letter to the senator challenging him to debate.

Neither can the liberals put up much instant proof of used against Goldwater. This was that he can't win. The liberals licked Taft with Ike in 1952 by a combination of the maneuvers used this time against Goldwater. This time they goosed.

CITIZENS AGAIN! WASHINGTON (UPI) — O ne-time movie star Deanna Durbin and at least 220 other Americans have had their U.S. citizenship restored since the Supreme Court's ruling affecting Americans living abroad. State Department officials disclosed this and estimated that about 10,000 persons, mostly in Europe, are likely to be eligible to regain citizenship as a result of a May 18 decision putting naturalized citizens on an equal footing with native-born Americans.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

A. BRUNS, PASTOR
ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH

I invite you to think with me on a part of God's Word, precious indeed, because God speaks to us through the mouth of the Psalmist David. We find that Word recorded in the Book of Psalms, the 40th in number, verse 17 where it reads as follows: "Yet the Lord thinketh on me". Have you ever flown in an airplane? And if you have, did you ascend 5,000 feet or more to look back to the earth? How small all things appear. The highways seem as ant-trails, and men look as specks of dirt on the face of the earth. But were we to ascend high enough to reach the moon, how small the things of this earth must appear! You attend a convention in San Francisco this week and you see the thousands of people gathered into one place, it is easy to get lost in the crowd because you are only a very small part of that crowd. I, the small piece of matter that I am, stand aghast when I stand face to face with the great universe composed of thousands of planets, stars, moons, asteroids and what not, thousands of miles in diameter and millions miles apart. And how I think of that God who made all these things and holds them in the hollow of His hand to lead and guide, protect and uphold all His creation. Who am I in the presence of a God like that? He is so vast that the entire universe is not able to contain Him. How small and insignificant I am in His presence! Can I expect this mighty God even to notice me? Could I dare to entertain the hope this God to render any help or comfort to me when I am in distress, in aches or pains? When we look at ourselves and compare ourselves to God, the prospect is gloomy indeed. — But that is not the way the Psalmist thought of it. He says: "Yet He thinketh on me". The Psalmist believes that he can wait patiently and know that God moves in His own mysterious way His wonders to perform. If God did not think on me, how would we explain the fact that He, in the fullness of time, sent His Son into a sin-sick world to save me from sin's strangle-hold and eternal death? Jesus is my Savior and Friend. So I can say with confidence: "The Lord is my Keeper". The words: "He thinketh on me" put melody into my heart, relaxes my nerves, and brings peaceful thoughts to my mind. No matter how trying the day, God's presence and His benedictions fill my soul with hope. How about you? Think on these things!

Pampa, Borger Score First Round Victories

Use Long Ball Attacks to Beat Hereford and Nazareth Teams

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor
Borger waltzed and Pampa scrambled into tonight's winners bracket finals with victories last night in the opening round of the District 18 American Legion Tournament.

Borger disposed of Nazareth 11-1 in a battle of the runners-up of the north and south zones and Pampa rallied to edge Hereford 11-7 in the ninth inning to give the north zone a sweep of the first two games.

Hereford and Nazareth scrap for survival at 5 today in a losers bracket match. Pampa tries Borger for the third time this season at 8, looking for its third victory.

The Hereford-Nazareth winner will play the Borger-Pampa loser tomorrow at 1:30. The survivor of that game will enter the finals against the Borger-Pampa winner at 4 tomorrow afternoon. Should the undefeated team lose there the finals are scheduled for Potter County Stadium in Amarillo Sunday.

Hereford, champion of the south zone with a 9-1 record, shocked Pampa's Rebels with six quick runs off Jerry Garrison, but the little lefthander settled down and took control of the game from the third inning onward.

Pampa used power hitting to pull ahead by one run but Hereford tied the score at 7-7.

Then, in a bitter ending to a hard-fought contest, the Hereford defense collapsed in the bottom of the eighth and Pampa scored four runs to win.

Garrison struck out 18 men in winning his fourth game of the year against one loss.

Borger led its game from the opening frame but Nazareth stayed close until the fifth inning, when Borger used the long ball to score five runs and break it open.

Hereford Takes Lead
Hereford scored four runs in the first inning and two in the second to stun Pampa.

Danny Loerwald and Lynn Cook singled in the first. Mike Itanspot was safe on an error by second baseman Mike Stewart and Garrison walked Steve Hodges to force in a run.

A throwing error by Stewart allowed Cook to score and Charley Moreno singled in Ranspot and Hodges before Garrison caught Gary Stagner looking at a third strike to end the inning.

Steve Molberg gave an indication of things to come with a towering home run in Pampa's half of the first inning to get one run back, but Hereford was scoring again in the second.

Frank Cain was safe on Molberg's error. Cook walked and Steve Hodges doubled to score both of them.

Pampa pulled its defense together then and Garrison bore down to halt Hereford's attack long enough to allow the Rebels to take the lead.

Kyle Vann led off the Pampa third-frame attack by getting on on shortstop Frank Cain's error. Mike Stewart followed with a triple, Molberg a double and Ricky Maynard a home run to make the score 6-5, Hereford, and chase starter Larry Minks from the mound.

Hereford reliever Ed Mims gave up two more runs in the fourth to lose the lead. Ronnie Oler walked, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Vann's single. Vann went to second on center fielder Charley Moreno's error and came in on two more wild pitches.

Hereford tied it up again in the seventh with a triple by Ronny Duncan and a single by Moreno, but three errors in the eighth allowed Pampa to score four runs and win.

Maynard and Daniels singled to drive in two runs in the eighth but by that time two were already in without a hit and Mims was handed the loss.

Borger Scores Early
Borger led off its game with a pair in the first inning. Larry Lewis was safe on third baseman Ken Schulte's error, stole second and came home on David Dillingham's double. Dillingham scored later on a passed ball.

A double by Mike Glasscock and a single by David Burns added another Borger run in the fourth.

Nazareth matched that one in the fifth in the same manner. Dennis Gerber doubled and Clyde Schulte singled to score him.

Dillingham began the Borger rout in the fifth when he hit Dennis Gerber's first pitch to him over the center field fence. Ronnie Scott walked and Terry Brewer homered. Greg Pollard scored on two errors and a wild pitch. Glasscock walked and came home on Lewis' single to end the scoring for the inning.

Dillingham doubled and scored on an error in the sixth to make it 9-1, then drove in the winning run in the next frame.

David Burns was hit by a pitch, Lewis doubled and Derry De Shields and Dillingham singled to score two runs.

The game was called because of the ten-run rule after Lewis crossed the plate.

Nichols Leader

By ROBERT GRIMM
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Golf's glamour boys went out after husky Bob Nichols' three-stroke lead today in the second round of the PGA tournament, but the native Kentuckian's record-breaking 64 may be a tough nut to crack.

The 28-year-old Nichols, who now hails from Corona, Calif., took aim with his Kentucky "long rifle" Thursday to set an 18-hole record for the PGA championship as well as a course record at the rain-swept Columbus Country Club.

The sparkling 32-32 — 64 was three strokes or more better than any of the other 161 pros could do, including fair-haired boys Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema and Mike Souchak.

The rolling, par 70, 6,851-foot hard course played slower than a muddy race track, but that didn't bother Nichols, who strung together eight birdies and only two bogeys for his record round that eclipsed by one the PGA single-round record held jointly by Jerry Barber and Bruce Crampton.

Colts Try Borger

The Pampa Colts take over Optimist Park after the American Legion Tournament tomorrow night at 8 for their last game of the regular season with Borger.

Bobby Price (2-3) will start against the Braves, who won the first half championship of the Tri-State League.

Barber Powers Birds by Yanks

By United Press International
Steve Barber, who's had a bundle of surprises for the Baltimore Orioles in the last five years, saved his biggest one for the New York Yankees.

The Yankees, like everyone else in the American League, always knew the erratic, 25-year-old left-hander could throw a fast ball. What they didn't realize was that he also could hit one.

Barber, a "fitful star" since joining the Orioles in 1960, did just that Thursday night and with one surprise wallop paved the way for a 6-1 victory, ended New York's six-game winning streak, moved the Orioles past the Yankees into first place and helped to breathe new life into the Chicago White Sox' flag hopes.

Barber's blow was a modest enough hoist into the lower right field stands — hardly a Ruthian wallop but nevertheless one which the Yankees' Roger Maris needed a ticket to catch. It followed a double by Sam Bowens and sent the Orioles into a 2-1 lead.

Gathers 10 Hits
Barber went on from there to pitch a four-hitter and register his fifth victory of the season behind a 10-hit attack that included three hits by Bowens and two by Norm Siebern. Jim Bouton, a 21-game winner for the Yankees last season, suffered his eighth loss against eight wins.

For Barber, who also was a 20-game winner in 1963, it was his first win since June 25 when he beat the Yankees 3-1. The Orioles now lead the Yankees by a half-game and hold a 1½ game lead over the third-place White Sox, who routed the Boston Red Sox 9-3.

The Cleveland Indians outslugged the Kansas City Athletics 12-9 in 10 innings and the Washington Senators defeated the Minnesota Twins 7-2 in other AL games; Detroit and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

YANKS NAME TWO
NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees named Bruce Henry as their new Yankee stadium manager and Bill Bergesch as their traveling secretary.

Phillies Regain Lead in National

By United Press International
Fred Hutchinson is a man who scorns charity but his Cincinnati Reds will gladly take that National League pennant nobody else seems to want.

While the Philadelphia Phillies and San Francisco Giants continue to play patty-cake with the lead, the Reds have mounted a drive that has carried them to within 3½ games of first place.

Maybe they're doing it with mirrors or perhaps it's plenty of faith and hope, but in any event the Reds swept to their fourth straight victory and their sixth in eight games Thursday night with a 3-2 decision over the Houston Colts.

The Phillies, meanwhile, eased back into first place with a 7-5 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates (only their second win in eight games) while the accommodating Giants bowed to the Milwaukee Braves 6-0 (their third consecutive loss and fourth in five games).

Marty Keough scored from first base on Deron Johnson's single in the third inning to snap a 2-2 tie and Bob Purkey and Sam Ellis made the one-run margin stand up the rest of the way with stout relief pitching. The win went to Purkey, who allowed five hits during 3 2-3 innings of middle-inning relief but didn't permit a run.

Keough, Johnson and Leo Cardenas had two hits each for the Reds while Bob Lillis had three for the Colts.

Jack Baldschun, one of the league's less-publicized relief stars, shut out the Pirates for the last two innings to preserve Art Mahaffey's eighth win for the Phillies. Cookie Rojas had two doubles and a single and sparked two run-scoring innings to lead the Phillies' eight-hit attack while Jim Pagliaroni homered for the Pirates.

New Study of Keynes

The great Sir Maynard Keynes has at last met his Waterloo. There have been countless efforts to refute various sections of the writings of the popular Fabian, and there was, a few years ago, the work of Henry Hazlitt entitled "The Failure of the New Economics." This detailed study did a great deal to clear the air and to cause eminent economists to hurry back to "General Theory" to check their premises.

But there has now appeared a work by W. H. Hutt, professor of commerce and dean of the faculty of commerce at the University of Cape Town, Africa. This is called: "Keynesianism—Retrospect and Prospect" (Henry Regnery Co., Chicago, $7.50) and we are doubtful now if even the most erudite and hard-bitten proponents of the Keynesian theories can stand up against this scholar marshals in his 400-page study.

The problem of dealing with Keynes, reveals Professor Hutt, relates to the lack of consistency within the body of Keynes' thinking and writing. Almost any master's works can be summarized Keynes' do not seem to lend themselves to summary. For a long time Dr. Hutt was concerned with the fact, believing that somehow he had failed to come to grips with just what Keynes was striving to say.

And we suspect that this has been a problem for more than one scholar. Often, an appearance of erudition serves the purpose of those who offer the invisible clothes for the emperor. Rather than being thought that less than erudite, in the presence of a supposed pundit, it is relatively simple to "oh" and "ah" over the weave of the fabric that may not even be there.

But finally Hutt has summarized Keynes. And having done so, he offers to the reading public what is doubtless one of the deepest, most impressive and, at the same time, one of the most difficult works.

These Wars Are Over At long last it looks as if something constructive may be done within the foreseeable future — or sales — taxes that are a hangover from World War II and the Korean War.

At long last it looks as if something constructive may be done within the foreseeable future — or sales — taxes that are a hangover from World War II and the Korean War. The taxes are often called luxury levies. But that, to most minds, is a misnomer. The toilet articles used universally by women hardly fall into the luxury class in our kind of society. Nor do handbags, wallets or wedding rings, all of which are subject to the tax. Nor does a coat with a little fur trim which is another tax-soaked item.

Around the World

MADAME NHU, AGAIN

The State Department has denied a visa to Madame Nhu, who had been invited to speak here in the United States. The State Department, in so doing, contended that, if admitted, she would engage in activities which would be prejudicial to public interest or endanger the welfare and safety of the United States.

Thus, a former first lady of a regime that had been a dutiful ally of the United States is barred from telling her story to the American people. What a mockery of free speech!

Actually, the facts are coming out that last summer and early fall certain State Department officials did plot against our ally, President Diem; that as a result of this intrigue his government was overthrown. The military situation in Viet Nam has been deteriorating ever since.

The State Department has belatedly acknowledged that the so-called religious persecution by President Diem was non-existent or exaggerated and that it was all "good public relations by the Buddhists."

These are just some of the facts that are to be suppressed by the denial of a visa to Madame Nhu. Meanwhile, elections are won or lost and Communists take over more and more countries as a result of these very acts of concealment.

Two years ago the State Department denied a visa to Moise Tshombe, deposed President of Katanga, who also had been invited to speak in the United States under very similar circumstances. It was intolerant of his point of view, as it is now of Madame Nhu's.

Two years have passed. Partly because our policy planners refused to listen to Tshombe, the situation has been deteriorating badly in the Congo. Belatedly, Tshombe has now been recalled, this time as head of state. Two vital years have been lost, men have died, chaos has been spread over Africa.

I don't know what Madame Nhu would have said if she had come here to speak. I do not know what her 18-year-old daughter Le Thy would have said. She too was denied a visa. She too was held a threat to the best interests of the United States.

But what an image we must present to the world. What of free speech in the United States. I am afraid that this exciting tradition that is so much a part of our international men is the real loser in this new L'affaire Madame Nhu.

Wit and Whimsy

When merit has been achieved, do not take it to yourself; for if you do not take it to yourself, it shall never be taken from you.

Two maiden ladies set about taking care of the house of the Reverend Mr. Bronson of the Methodist church while the latter was at the lake resort for the summer.

The first night in the strange old house was rather fearsome for the pair, but they had managed to fall asleep when a light from the porch about midnight.

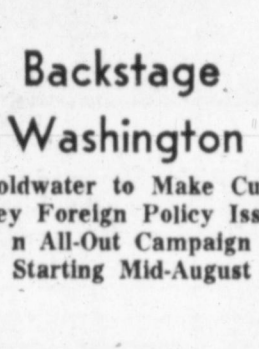

There's a burglar at the door, was the strained whisper that awoke the younger of the two sisters.

The younger spinster was a resourceful soul. She crept down stairs, thinking meantime what a man would do under like circumstances, and when she had stumbled to the partly open window demanded, in the deepest tones she could command: Younger Sister — Who in hell's there?

GOLDWATER TO MAKE CUBA KEY FOREIGN POLICY ISSUE IN ALL-OUT CAMPAIGN Starting Mid-August

SAN FRANCISCO — Senator Barry Goldwater intends to make Communist-ruled Cuba the principal foreign policy issue of his "no punches pulled" drive for the White House.

This major campaign strategy decision has already been made by the victorious Republican standard bearer and his inner advisers.

Still under consideration is a dramatic proposal for Goldwater to launch his all-out attack on the "failures" of the Kennedy-Johnson administrations, Cuban policies with a nationwide televised address from Key West, Fla. — Some 90 miles from Castro's Red bastion.

This spectacular plan is being urged on Goldwater on these grounds: —It would be "characteristically dynamic" and is actually certain to make a powerful impression on U.S. voters.

—It would impart to his discussion of the tensely controversial problem special "immediacy and vividness."

—And his address would serve as the opening shot in his fight to sweep the South — a basic factor in his strategy to win the presidency.

While no date has been fixed for the formal launching of Goldwater's campaign, two tentative decisions have been reached: Prescott, Ariz., where he made his first speech for a Senate seat and where an uncle built for sentimental reasons his choice for the "opening salvo"; the campaign should get aggressively underway by mid-August — several days before the Democrats hold their national convention at Atlantic City.

This early start is strongly favored by most of Goldwater's inner counselors, on the theory that the additional time is highly desirable to permit him to fully "spell out" in nationwide radio-TV addresses his underlying concepts and views.

Goldwater campaign strategy calls for "unprecedented" use of the airwaves, with several or more broadcast addresses a week throughout his two-and-a-half months of projected campaigning.

Editor: What has the Church come to, when the National Council of Churches openly espouses invasion of a sovereign State of the Union?

Members of churches belonging to the National Council of Churches should protest this unprecedented action and refuse support of the organization. Why should a few left-slanted clergy, responsible for this outrage, speak for millions of Protestants? If financial support were withheld by church members, this movement would soon die on the vine.

general counsel on President Eisenhower's White House staff, and has been one of Goldwater's key advisers for more than a year.

Both Eisenhower and former Vice President Nixon will be asked to serve as "advisers" during the campaign, exactly in what capacity has not yet been determined.

Republican members of both branches of Congress also will be asked to join various task forces. Already a number of them are being sounded out on this, notably Representative Melvin Laird, Wis., chairman of the GOP Platform Committee.

Each task force will prepare one or more "position papers" that will cover every major issue in the campaign. Upon approval by Goldwater, these studies and findings will be published as official campaign documents.

In addition to regular press coverage, some of these position papers will be given further distribution in the form of advertisements in newspapers in key voting areas.

It is the GOP candidate's intention to have his national campaign headquarters in Washington function closely together with both the National Committee and the Senate and House Campaign Committees.

Question Box

QUESTION: "What do the politicians of both parties mean when they use the word 'moderate'?" Its use has become noticeably popular recently, almost as if it were thought up to serve some special design or purpose in the current national election campaign.

ANSWER: It seems to us that they mean to deceive and misguide and confuse the voters. Undoubtedly, the word has no mathematical meaning. It has as many meanings as there are individuals.

It is a clever word because moderation in certain things, like eating and drinking, is good. But moderation in morals or ethics or justice has no meaning. How can there be moderation in respecting the God-given inalienable rights of every human being?

"Moderation" as used by political office seekers or holders, however, is a bad word, since it does not throw any light on what the many who use it means. It is a chameleon word, a stealthy, furtive, weasel word.

Invariably the politicians use it to mean that there should be a certain amount of government interference with the individual's right to make his own decisions. Each individual should have the right to make decisions so long as he gives others the same right to decide how their creative lives are to be used.

The word "moderate" means to the politicians that they need not absolutely respect private property. They have the idea that the individual gets his rights to own his life and his property from the state and not from nature when he was born.

It is a clever way of fooling the people in order to get votes and get control over the lives of other people. It might be likened, as Herbert Hoover said, "to driving in the middle of the road. You are likely to be hit from people going both ways." But since the word has different meanings, one good and one bad, the politicians like to use it.

In most cases it merely means a form of state socialism. It means imposing a certain amount of force against individuals to deprive them of their God-given rights. Yes, beware of the politicians or anyone else who uses the word "moderate" in relation to politics.

National Outlook

By GEORGE HAGERDORN

Competition—Then and Now Gardiner C. Means is an old soldier in the war against so-called industrial concentration. For some thirty years he has been telling the same story—the decline in competition as a dependable regulator of our economic system.

In a recent presentation before a Congressional Committee he starts, characteristically, with a description of the American economy of a century ago. It was an economy of family farms and small enterprises.

He sums up with the remark that, in that period: "National economic policy could be decided on the basis of a body of economic theory which assumed that all production was carried on under conditions of classical competition." The remainder of his statement is devoted to arguing—in the name of statistics or the size and number of business firms—that this assumption no longer applies.

What Is Competition? Just what is meant by "classical competition" is not clear. Some definitions set up theoretical norms which never have been applied, and never could be applied, in practice. But the implication is that competition, as the word is understood in common parlance, is less intense in the jet age than it was in the horse and buggy days.

But a more realistic reflection on the commonly known historical facts should convince us that the very reverse is true. Competition is a matter of having a wide variety of choices open to the customer—choices as to what he will buy and who he will buy it from. Our grandfathers and great-grandfathers had far fewer choices in that respect than we do now.

In the essentially localized markets of a century ago there were, as a practical matter, few choices available in most purchases. If a farmer needed a plow, he had it made in the local blacksmith shop. He could not spare the time, and had no means of transportation, to travel around comparing products and prices. The housewife had one local general store in which she could make her purchases—she could not go from shopping center to shopping center before making her decision.

The same technological developments that led to mass production in large firms enormously expanded the choices available to consumers. Once coal producers competed only with each other; now they compete with petroleum, natural gas, water power and nuclear energy. Railroads have to compete with trucks and airlines.

The question of whether competition is more, or less, intense than it used to be is a matter of more than academic interest. The rise in our standard of living during earlier periods indicates that competition was then a reliable economic regulator and protector of the consumer. It follows that it is capable of doing an even better job under modern conditions of wider choice.

The "Decline and Fall of Competition" is a dramatic story as Professor Means tells it. But it is myth, not history.

Head of Schools Visiting Convent At Panhandle

PANHANDLE (Sp) —Mother Mary Immaculate, head of all school sisters of St. Francis in the United States, Austria and Argentina, arrived in Panhandle last week for dedication ceremonies Aug. 3 of a chapel adjoining Santa Maria Catholic Convent. She plans to remain here more than a month.

The dedication ceremonies will start at 10 a.m. and are open to the public. Bishop Lawrence M. DeFalco of the Amarillo Diocese will officiate, according to Mother M. Feliciano, mother superior of the convent.

The chapel, costing $51,000, will seat 96 in the congregation, with a seating capacity in the choir of 18. There will also be a sacristy, a guest room and auxiliary dormitory, with a seven-bed capacity.

The interior of the new chapel has above the pulpit a wood carving of the crucifix, and at the stations on the walls are other wood carvings, all imported from Italy. The crucifix is nearly life-size, while the other carvings are about eight by ten inches.

Mother Feliciano stated that the chapel was built to compromise between the nuns and novices, whose ages run from 16 to 81 years. The older nuns are originally from Austria, while the younger ones are from throughout the United States. The Mother Superior also stated that three languages, —German, Spanish, English, are spoken, besides the Latin used in religious observances.
