Pilot Aided by Pathet Guards In Laos Escape

By MARTIN STUART-FOX
VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Two Communist Pathet Lao guards helped U.S. Navy Lt. Charles Klusmann escape from three months' captivity in a Red prison, reliable sources said today.

The sources said the guards led Klusmann to a Communist Meo tribesman who inhabit the highland jungles of Laos, and then defected to right wing Laotian forces themselves.

Five or six other prisoners escaped from the Communist jail at the same time, the sources said.

A blanket of official secrecy hung over the escape of the 30-year-old Navy pilot, whose unarmed reconnaissance plane was shot down by Communist groundfire on June 6 while flying a mission over Red-held positions.

Official sources had instructions to release no details, but bits and pieces of Klusmann's epic were coming out from unofficial sources.

Met By Wife

Klusmann's wife, Sara, 30, had flown to Travis Air Force Base, Calif., earlier in the day to meet her husband, who flew in from Thailand via Honolulu.

"I'm certainly happy to be here," Klusmann said on landing. "I'm glad to be back. I feel good. I expected to be back. I feel real good."

His wife told newsmen: "I feel better than I've ever felt in my whole life."

When Klusmann saw Adm. Moorer—who was aboard the Kitty Hawk when Klusmann took off on his ill-fated flight last June 6 on which Communist ground fire shot down his photo reconnaissance plane over Laos, Klusmann said.

"I owe you an apology. You told me not to get shot down and I did."

The admiral replied: "Glad to see you back."

Leave In Car

Several minutes after the plane landed, Klusmann and his wife climbed into a waiting car and were driven off, presumably to the hospital for tests and word from doctors when he could talk to newsmen about his escape from Laos and how he made it safely to Thailand and freedom.

Klusmann was sent to reconditioner Communist positions in Laos at the request of Laotian

884 Claims on Unemployment Handled Here

Pampa's five-county area office of the Texas Employment Commission handled 884 claims for unemployment insurance during August, according to William Ragsdale manager.

Ragsdale said there were 32 fraud investigations among the claims, but only one case of fraud was discovered. This case, Ragsdale said, now is pending before the state office in Austin.

The local employment commission office covers Gray, Wheeler, Hemphill, Roberts and Lipscomb counties.

The great majority of claims filed in the local office, Ragsdale said, are from Gray County.

So far, there has been only one conviction for fraud in the Pampa area during 1964. That was early in the year, Ragsdale said, when a claimant was found guilty and fined $100 in Gray County Court. The $96 fraudulently received was recovered, according to Ragsdale.

Ragsdale said last figures available show that approximately $313,196 in unemployment insurance was paid out in 1960 on claims in the Pampa-office.

Cases are finally disposed of in the state office," Ragsdale said, "and we do not have the figures available locally."

Almost half the discoveries of fraud perpetrated in Texas by claimants for unemployment insurance during fiscal 1964 were detected at the local TEC office level, according to R. L. Coffman, state administrator.

"Of the total 1,413 fraud discoveries in Texas, 672 improper claims involving false statements were detected by TEC claims examiners at the local office level," Coffman said.

The state administrator stated that nearly $61,000,000 was paid out to eligible unemployed workers in Texas in fiscal 1964. This entailed 2,908,819 claims actions by 369,900 claimants.

MD Campaign Set for Tonight

Hundreds of volunteer workers in Pampa will go from house-to-house tonight in a one day effort to raise $10,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation.

Lee Thomas of Skellytown, drive chairman, said that one volunteer in each city block of Pampa will go from house-to-house in their block asking for donations.

The drive will begin at 6:30 and end at 9 p.m.

The money raised will be used to help victims in the Panhandle area afflicted with the disease.

Thomas said plans are nearing completion for the building of a Muscular Dystrophy Clinic to be located in Amarillo.

The children were not expected to see their father until he is released from the hospital, naval authorities said.

Latest FBI Probe Into Baker Case Started Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI has begun an investigation at President Johnson's bidding into the latest round of charges and denials in the controversial Bobby Baker case.

The White House announced Wednesday Johnson had ordered the probe after Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., charged Baker had "conspired" with two other persons to make an illegal $25,000 campaign donation to the Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund in 1960.

Williams named construction magnate Matthew H. McCloskey, a long-time Democratic party fund-raiser and former U.S. ambassador to Ireland, as the man who allegedly funneled the contribution through Baker.

McCloskey denied the charge in a statement from his Washington office. He said he welcomed the investigation.

Top O' Texas Tourney Signs Strongest Field

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor
Entries in the Top O' Texas Tournament reached 150 yesterday afternoon with golfers such as Rives McFee and Bobby Greenwood strengthening the field even more.

McFee, of Garland, and Greenwood, of Cookeville, Tenn., are both North Texas State golfers. McFee has won six tournaments this year.

Jerry Columbus, the Colorado amateur champion, and Larry McAtee, a former Colorado title-holder, have entered but Jerry Wright, runner-up to Columbus this year, withdrew.

Former Texas quarterback Walter Fondren and a current Longhorn golfer, Randy Geiselman, added their names to the roster along with the Coloradans and North Texans.

The field's early entries indicated that this would be the strongest group in the 27 years of the tournament.

Defending champion John Farquhar of Amarillo and his former teammate at Texas Tech, John Paul Cain, were among the first to sign up. Cain is a former Texas Amateur champion and Farquhar was low amateur in the U.S. Open this year.

The University of Houston sends two of its NCAA champions, Wright Garrett and Marty Fleckman, Garrett won the Trans-Mississippi this year and Fleckman the Texas Amateur.

Dave Eichelberger of Oklahoma State, who lost to Garrett in the Trans-Mississippi finals, and Richard Yates of Corpus Christi, who finished second to Fleckman in the Texas Amateur, will also be here.

Max Hickey and Johnny Hatcher head the local contingent in the tourney.

Hickey tied for second in last year's tournament and has won at Friona and Pamel this year. Championship flight golfers play for the medalist's silver cup tomorrow. The tournament starts Saturday with 18 holes medal for championship players and 18 holes match for members of the other 10 flights.

Sunday sees more of the same and the remainder of the championship flight plays 36 holes Monday for the title. The four left in each of the other flights play 18 holes medal-to-decide winner and runner-up.

Hatcher was second to Hickey at Friona but has won numerous Panhandle tournaments in

Blinkin' British Beatles Banned By Billeter

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Americans around Fort Pitt again are refusing to quarter the British.

There are no jingoistic intentions, it's just that local hotel-keepers say they want no part of the Beatles, the British musical quartet, when they perform here, Sept. 14.

The city's hotels put out the "no vacancy" sign Wednesday for the Beatles, explaining that the group's teen-aged fans go into such a frenzy that the inn-keepers fear their plush hostilities may suffer.

High-Priced 'Dog Feast' Denied by US

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—A U.S. military spokesman today denied press reports that 200 war dogs bought and trained at a cost of $100,000 to protect Vietnamese villages have been eaten by the villagers.

That would work out a cost to the American taxpayer of about $6.50 a pound, compared to the 20 cents a pound which is the going price for dog meat in the Saigon market.

However, the American spokesman said the report was unfounded "as far as we can determine."

The English-language Saigon Post said 200 dogs had been flown to Saigon from Germany on commercial airliners, put through six weeks of training and airlifted to tribal villages for sentry duty.

When dog handlers returned to the villages a few weeks later, they found that most of the animals had ended up in family cooking pots, the Post claimed.

The Post headlined its story "Costly counter-insurgency brainstorm goes to pot."

While denying the story, the American spokesman did reveal that the United States has so far supplied 330 war dogs for the civil war against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

He said 100 were on duty with scout platoons, 170 worked with sentries at military installations and 60 were still in training.

Barry Blasts LBJ's Misuse Of Draft Law

Plans Move on To Nail Down Medicare Issue

Higher Payroll Tax to Be Basis of Financing Measure

By HALE MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration forces moved today to nail down a decisive Senate victory for President Johnson's health care for the aged program, already a key issue in the presidential campaign.

The Senate was to act on a number of amendments to a Social Security bill which was expanded Wednesday to include the health care plan and a 57-a-month hike in cash benefits for Social Security recipients.

Final Senate passage was virtually assured. An agreement was reached to limit debate to two hours on each amendment and two hours on the bill itself.

This clinched a final vote on the over-all bill before lawmakers take a three-day Labor Day recess.

Boosted by five Republican votes and the support of freshmen Democrats, the Senate Wednesday approved 49 to 44, the proposal to provide hospitalization and nursing care benefits for the elderly.

The Republicans who cast the deciding votes Wednesday were Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, both of New York; Clifford Case, N.J.; Margaret Chase Smith, Maine, and Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif.

The only non-southern Democrat who voted against the bill was Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio.

It would be financed through higher payroll taxes under the Social Security system and would provide a basic package of health protection for persons age 65 and over.

Johnson Praises Action

President Johnson issued a statement hailing the Senate action as a "victory not only for older Americans but for all Americans."

He said that "in a free and prosperous society there is no need for any person, especially the elderly, to suffer personal economic disaster and become a tragic burden upon loved ones or the state through major illness" when it could be avoided under a pay-as-you-go Social Security system.

His Republican rival, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, voted against the health care amendment. He assailed the plan as a "step toward transforming our Social Security system into public relief or charity program."

Backers of the health care proposal, despite their elation, knew the biggest fight lay ahead—getting it through the House, which never has approved a Medicare plan.

It will be up to Johnson and his lieutenants to persuade House Ways & Means Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., to change his mind and accept the health care compromise.

Cash Benefit Boosted

In addition to health care, the Senate also approved a companion amendment that struck out a House-voted 5 percent boost in Social Security cash benefits and substituted a more liberal $7-a-month boost.

Demos Blamed in 'Schemes'

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
PRESCOTT, Ariz. (UPI)—Republican presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater accused the Johnson administration today of using the military draft law for social and political "schemes" and pledged that Republicans will end the draft altogether, and as soon as possible.

The Arizona senator made the statements in remarks prepared for the official beginning of his election campaign. He was to speak from the steps of the Yavapai County Courthouse where he launched two victorious Senate campaigns.

He said the Johnson administration had a clear and immediate challenge to restore respect for law and order across the nation "And not just prior to election day either." He also said the administration had "pulled out all stops" to create an "artificial prosperity" in an election year.

Goldwater commented on the draft law after resting his charge that the administration is dismantling the mighty military arsenal which it inherited from former President Eisenhower.

"This administration," he said, "uses the outmoded and unfair military draft system for social schemes as well as military objectives."

Would End Draft
"Republicans will end the draft altogether, and as soon as possible. That I promise you."

"Republicans understand that the military forces need trained volunteers who make the military service a career. Republicans understand that the purpose of the military forces is not social, or political — it is to help keep the peace of the world."

To use military services for political and social schemes — as this administration does — is to drift closer to war on an ebbing tide of military strength," the senator said.

Goldwater did not elaborate on his reference to "political and social schemes," but Press Secretary Paul F. Wagner — who sought an explanation at the request of newsmen — said the remarks referred to President Johnson's proposals for special rehabilitation of men rejected in pre-induction physical examinations for physical or educational reasons.

Restates Philosophy
In a speech which carried a blunt restatement of his conservative philosophy, Goldwater said the election will give the nation a choice which goes beyond "political personalities... political promises... political programs" and involves the sort of world we want for ourselves and our children.

"Choose the way of this present administration," he said, "and you will have chosen the way of the regimented society, with a number for every man, woman, and child; a pigeonhole for every problem, and a bureaucrat for every decision."

"Choose the way of the present administration and you have the way of mobs in the street, restrained only by the plea that they wait until after election time to ignite violence once again."

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hdwr. Ad.

Medicare Bill Will Increase Payroll Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here is a schedule of the payroll tax increases, compared with present schedules, which would be required to finance the administration's health care plan approved Wednesday by the Senate.

The percentages are paid by both employer and worker, hence the total tax would be double the figures below.

| year | present | proposed |
|---------|---------|----------|
| 1965 | 3.625 | 4.2 |
| 1966-67 | 4.125 | 4.4 |
| 1968-70 | 4.625 | 4.9 |
| 1971 | 4.625 | 5.2 |

In addition, the proposal approved by the Senate would increase the base on which the tax is levied from the present $1,800 to $5,600 in wages per year.

The combination of payroll rate-increases and the salary base increase would finance on a pay-as-you-go basis both the health care and $7-a-month boost in cash benefits.

Austin Trip Set For Report on Junior College

Plans for a trip to Austin to appear before the State Board of Education and hear the decision of whether Pampa will get a junior college will be discussed at a meeting of the junior college committee meeting at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Members of Chamber of Commerce committee will travel to Austin and be present to hear the decision Sept. 12.

The committee made a formal request to the board for permission to establish a junior college in Pampa last month through an investigative committee of the board.

The committee reported their findings and the results of a public hearing back to the board along with a recommendation to either grant or deny the request.

If the board grants the request, an election will be called in Gray County to determine if the voters here want a junior college.

Proposed plans call for the college to be constructed at a cost of about $1.4 million. E. L. (Smiley) Henderson is chairman of the junior college committee of the chamber.

Narcotics Raid Nets 8 Suspects

GALVESTON (UPI)—The FBI and Galveston County authorities arrested eight suspected dope peddlers early today in what Sheriff J.D. Kline called the largest narcotics raid in years.

Three policemen from Lamarque, Tex. played major roles in the four month investigation and arrests. All suspects were watched by the Lamarque officers as they allegedly bought narcotics from government agents.

Texas' Wallet in Fine, Fat Shape - - For A Change

AUSTIN (UPI)—The state of Texas took a look in its wallet Wednesday. Unlike most of us, it found a lot more money than usual.

The federal government's tax cut got some of the credit. Comptroller Robert S. Calvert did the peeking. He announced the state finished the 1964 fiscal year $73 million in the black.

That's almost twice as much as the general revenue balance on hand at the end of the last fiscal year, $38 million. Calvert said the kitty was well sweetened by a $24 million increase in sales tax receipts and a $12 million increase in money from gasoline taxes.

Calvert's chief clerk, Kenneth I. Kimbro, estimated about half the increase in sales tax receipts came from a general rise in prosperity.

With the tax cut leaving more money in wage-earners' pockets, Calvert explained, they spend more. That means they pay more money out in sales taxes on their purchases.

Other significant increases in revenue were a $5.7 million boost in gross receipts and production taxes, which include levies on such items as crude oil, natural gas, minerals and utilities, and a $3.2 million boost in inheritance tax collections.

The comptroller said he could not promise the state's general revenue fund would not dip in the red in the coming 12 months but added a year-end balance has considerably more significance than the monthly balance reports.

PRODUCE MORE UNITS RUESSELSHEIM, Germany (UPI)—The Adam Open Auto Works, General Motors' West German subsidiary, turned out 360,000 units in the first six months of this year against 265,000 in the comparable period in 1963, the company said.

The figures include passenger cars, station wagons, and trucks.

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Republican Gov. Henry Bellmon thinks vice presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey will hurt the Democratic ticket in Oklahoma.

"I don't believe Oklahoma voters have much in common with Mr. Humphrey," Bellmon said this week. "In my opinion, his selection was an effort to please the labor leaders and more radical wing of the Democratic party."

"I would say Mr. Humphrey's selection will hurt the Democratic ticket in Oklahoma," Democratic state chairman Smith Hester took an opposite view.

"I think he'll help the ticket," Hester said. "Hubert Humphrey has a great background and knowledge of foreign and domestic affairs. He is one of our great leaders in the senate and he has demonstrated time and again that he has the confidence of senators and Democratic leaders in both the North and South and all across the country."

Texas School Desegregation Rolling Smoothly

By United Press International
School integration rolled smoothly along in Texas this week, forecasting another calm September.

More doors were scheduled to swing quietly open for Negro students when the majority of state schools begin the semester Tuesday.

The number of Negro students in classes with whites in Houston—the state's biggest school system—nearly tripled from last year's figure of 263 when school began Wednesday. Under the terms of a grade-a-year desegregation plan, Houston opened the fifth grade and kindergarten to Negroes Wednesday.

Advances in desegregation or integration for the first time were reported in 11 other Texas school districts that began classes this week. There was no violence or demonstrations.

Up 50 Per Cent
About 3,000 of the state's 330,000 Negro pupils are expected to attend classes with whites this year, a 50 per cent increase from last year's 20,000.

Barriers dropped this week in the following Texas schools: Georgetown, Thorndall, Smithville, Spring, Marshall, Lewisville, McKinney, Frisco and Katy.

San Marcos in central Texas completed desegregation by opening enrollment in grades 1-6. About 220 Negroes go to school with whites in San Marcos, where schools began desegregation in high school shortly after the 1954 Supreme Court decision outlawing segregated public schools.

Schools in Austin, El Paso and San Antonio have long since been completely desegregated.

gro technical high school.

The first Negro to enroll at the white technical high school was Donald Wallace, who arrived in time to work out with the otherwise white football team.

"He has quick movement and good hands," coach Griff Hughes said. "He should make a pretty good halfback."

Dallas and Fort Worth schools open Tuesday.

East Texas
A dozen Negroes went to classes with whites in McKinney, north of Dallas. One of them landed the drummer's job in the McKinney high school band.

One Negro girl entered the first grade Monday in Marshall, in deep East Texas, the part of the state most nearly like the Old South.

Frisco schools opened Monday with five Negro boys and one Negro girl enrolled in the high school with white students. No Negroes applied for admission to the elementary school.

Two Negroes enrolled in Tyler Junior College, which opens next week, but none was reported to have asked for admission to Tyler public schools, already open.

Six Negroes enrolled in Shadyville elementary school in the northeast Houston district. The district started a stair-step plan today and all six are in the first grade.

State Cool During Month of August

AUSTIN (UPI)— You may not have been able to feel it, but August played it cool in Texas.

The state climatologists office says the first 13 days of the month were about par for the course—bitterly hot. But then a cool front moved into the state from the north on Aug. 14, bringing with it the first good rains in two months.

Scattered but general showers followed regularly after that, with most of the state getting above average rainfall except areas of south and Northwest Texas.

Amarillo, however, was one of the Northwest Texas areas with more than normal precipitation. The August average there was 2.58 inches. On Aug. 14-15, the city got 3.94 inches and ended the month with a total of 5.87 inches.

Average temperatures were warm—slightly above normal in some places—but not near the searing heat that baked the state for days on end during July.

Midland was one of the hot spots in that it recorded 19 days of 100-degree-or-better temperatures in the month. San Angelo and Wichita Falls each had 15 days.

Heaviest rainfall reported during the month was 6.84 inches at Victoria, 3.71 inches more than normal. Abilene with 5.87 inches was 4.40 inches over normal. San Antonio with 5.19 inches was 2.83 inches over normal.

Pampa Winner Among Youths On Navy Cruise

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (Sp) — Joe Fischer Jr., 1429 Charles, in Pampa, is among 92 young winners of Science Fair competition the Navy is hosting in their annual Science Cruiser, program which began Monday when the youths arrived in San Diego.

Representing all of the states west of the Mississippi with the exception of Louisiana, Arkansas and Hawaii, the young men will cruise a day on board a guided missile ship, visit the Navy Missile Center at Point Mugu, Calif., visit local aerospace industry and research facilities and enjoy recreation on San Diego's beaches.

The science cruisers are guests of the chief of naval operations, under an agreement with national science fairs begun in 1958 as a reward for their achievements in the field of physical and life sciences.

Two Oil Employees Killed in Crash

VINTON, La. (UPI) — A single engine Beechcraft Bonanza light plane crashed 20 miles southeast of Vinton Wednesday, killing two oil company employees and critically injuring a third.

The dead were Emmett Hall, the pilot and Carl Thorsen, 36, both of Shreveport, La. Ray Hayward, 34, of Lafayette, La. was in a Beaumont hospital in critical condition.

The plane, en route from New Orleans to Shreveport, crashed on the R.A. Moore farm.

Boys Ranch Expects Record Crowd at Rodeo

A record attendance is expected for the 20th Annual Boys Ranch Rodeo at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch over the Labor Day week-end.

Nearly 100 of the top riders of all ages will compete for honors on professional rodeo livestock. All of the 325 boys will take active part.

Those boys who do not participate in the actual competition will work on the many other important parts of the rodeo, such as working the stock, acting as ushers, parking lot attendants, and operating the concessions.

This year the boys will offer a special treat to the visitors. The concession will feature real ranch-style barbeque from the Ranch's own beef stock.

Shaded picnic areas will also be available for those who wish to come early and eat before the rodeo.

Seating arrangements will include comfortable box seats and general admission bleachers.

Last year, more than 7,000 visitors were thrilled by the rodeo. This year's rodeo is expected to be the largest and most exciting ever.

Performances are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday.

All proceeds from the rodeo will go toward future expansion of the ranch.

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch is located 40 miles northwest of Amarillo on Highway 385.

Nimbus Camera Takes Sharp Night Pictures

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The shades of night no longer are able to assure the earth of after-dark privacy.

Thanks to a photo-sensitive cell the size of a fingernail, the Nimbus weather satellite is sending down photographs of the nighttime earth almost as revealing as those taken in broad daylight by older spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) released infrared photographs Wednesday showing what the planet's cloud and surface features look like in the dead of night.

The photographs are not supposed to be able to spot anything less than five miles across. But so sharp is Nimbus' "peeping tom" eye that it surprised its designers by delineating clearly the winding course of the Volga River and many other of Russia's great streams.

It photographed in great detail a whirling tropical storm 100 miles east of the Philippines and produced three-dimensional pictures elsewhere of cloud layers ranging from 5,000 to 30,000 feet in height.

The 830-pound Nimbus was launched into a near-polar orbit Aug. 28. It is the most sophisticated weather satellite to date. Its television cameras, trained continuously on the sunlit earth, are better than those aboard the Tiro weathercraft and take much finer pictures.

But Nimbus' great value is its ability to provide forecasters with space pictures of the earth's weather by night as well as by day. No other spacecraft — unless it was so ineffectual military satellite — has ever photographed the nighttime half of the planet.

Television in Review

New Season Indicates Soap Opera Resurgence

By RICK DU BROW HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — In television, an experiment is any idea that was popular a few years ago. This new season, soap operas, the pictorial equivalent of reading someone else's mail, are having a massive resurgence. It is only starting.

There are, of course, many show business precedents, such as the "continued next week" movie serials of years ago, and the radio soapers. In the coming season, most of the attention in this field will be focused on "Peyton Place," ABC-TV's new twice-weekly prime night-time half-hour serial, which debuts Sept. 15. But there are heavy rumblings throughout the video industry for more of these serials and/or continuing dramas — and many a major project of this type is being whipped up at the Hollywood studios. What are some of the more immediate reasons for this trend?

Daytime Rating Success

One reason, apparently, is the tremendous ratings success of CBS-TV's daytime soapers against the opposition of the other two networks. As an example of lasting power, "Search For Tomorrow" starts its 14th year on CBS-TV today. Some game shows seem to be taking it on the chin. At ABC-TV, for instance, the long-running "Queen For A Day" is off the fall schedule, and a new soaper, "The Young Marrieds" is set in a locale near to that of another new and successful ABC-TV serial, "General Hospital." In addition, NBC-TV has a relatively new serial, "Another World."

Another apparent reason for the trend is the enormous success in England of a twice-weekly show called "Coronation Street." This is also a serial. And a London dispatch in Variety, the show business weekly, speaks of British broadcasters' "increasing faith" in such twice-weekly programs. "The fall should see five such serials on the go," says the dispatch.

Consider Past Performance

A third reason for the trend toward continuing stories is the impact of some gambles with multi-part dramas in the not-too-distant past. A five-partner on "Lassie," for example, did wonders for its ratings. A key figure in the "Peyton Place" operation talks of the impression made by a two-part story that used both "Dr. Kildare" and "The Eleventh Hour." In the coming season, a two-partner is planned for "The Defenders" and "The Nurses." To executives, all of this is added proof of why independent dramas — or even anthologies with a starring host, such as the Richard Boone Show — have a tough time earning ratings.

Signs of the trend are coming thick and fast. ABC-TV has the No. 1 soap opera creator, Irna Phillips, as a top consultant. The same network's daily "Day In Court" show will have more running cases. In the non-soap category, CBS-TV has tentative plans for a series called "The Quest," which would continue weekly until an individual story is completed, and then start a new one. At ABC-TV it is rumored that if "Peyton Place" catches on big, it might go to three, four or even five nights a week.

Some observers, meantime, see certain values in the serial resurgence, claiming that these daytime dramas can provide a badly-needed training ground for young actors and writers.

Safety Group Issues Holiday 'Death Alert'

AUSTIN (Sp) — The Texas Safety Association has issued an "Accidental Death Alert" for the Labor Day holiday week and urged Texas drivers to display "caution" and "courtesy" in their driving.

Caution and courtesy will take you a long way in the hazardous traffic this week end," Quincy V. Tuma, of Houston, TSA President, said.

He said drivers must put all their driving skills to work for them, be prepared for the unexpected actions of other drivers, and adopt a proper driver attitude to stay out of trouble in traffic.

"Drivers must not only apply their driving skills and be on the alert for hazards, they must also maintain a proper attitude at all times behind the wheel," he explained.

"Your driver attitude about your own driving and that of other drivers has a profound effect on the possibilities of your being involved in an accident. So treat other drivers the way you want to be treated — with courtesy."

The TSA "Accidental Death Alert" goes into effect at 12:01 a.m. Saturday and ends at 11:59 p.m. Monday. The period coincides with "Operation Motor-

Draft Exams Due For 1,430 Youths

AUSTIN (UPI)—State Selective Service director Col. Morris S. Schwartz said Wednesday 1,430 18-year-olds will be called in October for mental and physical examinations.

Those youths will not be subject to immediate draft, however. They are being examined in accordance with President Johnson's order issued early this year to identify draft rejectees early so they can be offered special training.

Schwartz said 1,139 older youths, most of them about 20, will be called for the draft. Of these, only 236 will be inducted in October.

Records Continue to Fall in Olympic Games

(The following article was written by Jesse A. Pardue, third vice president of the American Athletic Union, and deals with the history of the Olympic Games.)

By JESSE PARDUE

Today's young Olympic supermen would undoubtedly beat the socks off the Greek athletes who competed in the first Olympics in Athens a round 3,000 years ago. And, the odds are great that they would also make mince-meat out of the contenders in the first modern Olympic game which was launched in Athens in 1896.

Especially such strong Texas hopefuls as Fred Hansen of Rice University, who has unofficially pole vaulted higher than anyone in three different competitive events (17 feet 4 inches); and Randy Matson of Texas A&M, who shows great promise with the shot put.

Better equipment, superior training, and better food undoubtedly give our modern contenders the edge. But it is also a continual striving to beat the "last" world's record. There is truth in the Olympic motto: "Citius, Altius, Fortius" (Swiftly, Higher, Stronger).

For instance, the 1896 pole vault record was 10 feet 9 3/4 inches. The 1960 record was 15 feet 5 1/2 inches. And no discredit to Fred Hansen, but I'm sure we'll see someone propelling himself over 18 feet high within the next two or three Olympiads.

But let us not look too far down our noses at the original Olympic athletes in those ancient games. Take for instance, the Olympic youth who after running a long distance race at a meet, immediately ran home 32 miles to tell his girl friend. And these early chaps were no slouches when it came to building stadiums, either. They had one that was every bit as big and better in area than any arenas built in modern times. That sealed 40,000 on grassy slopes.

But probably there will be more participants (7,000 from 90 nations) in the upcoming Tokyo Olympiad than there were spectators at most of the ancient meets. Tokyo expects a view the 18th Modern Olympiad to be held Oct. 10-24. This event should provide more thrills, heroics and records broken than ever before.

There were other differences between modern and ancient Olympics. No women were allowed to participate, or even to watch, under the threat of being thrown off a nearby cliff. And possibly it's a good thing, too, since all of the young stalwarts performed in their birthday suits, as was the custom of the day.

The U. S. Olympic team is supported only by private contributions. Help them make a good showing in Tokyo this October. Your contribution — a nickel, dime, quarter or dollar — may be mailed to: U. S. Olympic Fund, 301 West Building, Houston, Texas.

STUFFY BABY

LUANDA, Angola (UPI)—Manuel Antonio Paycas patted what he thought was a stuffed baby crocodile as he toured the local museum Tuesday. The crocodile bit him. Embarrassed museum officials hurried out with a notice warning visitors that all the animals in the museum were stuffed—except one. They said the baby crocodile was kept for scientific purposes.

EXECUTE REBELS

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—Five "counter revolutionaries" were executed by firing squad at dawn Wednesday, the Algerian Ministry of Justice announced.

Four of the men were condemned to death for hurling explosives near a residence of Premier Ahmed Ben Bella on May 30. The fifth was condemned for stealing arms and slaying a policeman in the village of Bougara last June.

Western Casserole Is New Main Dish

WESTERN FLAVOR—Austex Western Style Beans with Beef supplies a satisfying foundation for budget meals. The new canned product is being introduced to homemakers in this area by Austex Foods Division of Frito-Lay, Inc.

What good cook couldn't use another main dish idea to provide satisfying nourishment at only pennies a serving!

That's what Austex Western Style Beans with Beef is all about. It combines tender, plump pinto beans and juicy beef morsels in a special sauce seasoned brightly with western spices.

A filling main dish is Western Casserole. It furnishes the protein nourishment of both beef and beans. Yet it costs only pennies a serving. Add a crisp green salad, crusty rolls of bread, and glasses of milk to

New Idea About Food Temperature

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My mother always insisted that a good hot meal was much better for us than the same amount of food served cold. Now, my daughter, a home economics major at college, says my mother was wrong. Who is right?

A—Two "homey" ideas about food, though harmless enough, run counter to sound nutrition. One is the emphatic conviction that a good hot meal is much more nourishing than a cold one. Nutritionists explain that the nutrients in food, not the temperature at which it is served, determine how nourishing it may be. Whether you prefer it hot or cold is strictly a matter of taste.

The other misconception will be welcome news to many. Hot biscuits and bread fresh from the oven are nutritionally just as good for you as those served only when they are cold, old wives' tales to the contrary.

Q—Does frozen orange juice contain as much vitamin C as fresh orange juice?

A—According to the American Dietetic Assn., the two products are remarkably similar in their Vitamin C content.

Food Buying Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An attractively priced, abundant array of fruits and vegetables, meats, fish, and eggs awaits this week's shopper as the school season begins to get underway.

Ground beef and hams are the best buys in red meat this week. Broiler-fryers, turkeys, canned pink salmon, fish sticks, fish portions and eggs complete the good buy outlook in proteins.

There will be quite a variety of colorful, abundant vegetables at markets this weekend, including cabbage, carrots, celery, eggplant, lettuce, onions, potatoes, and tomatoes. The top buys will be fresh sweet corn and squash.

Among the best fruit offerings are apples, cantaloupes, grapes, peaches, and pears. Plums, prunes, and honeydews are especially abundant.

Jumbled Cookies Adds to Variety

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Drop cookies now take on a multiple personality. Just for the fun of it, try combining applesauce, semi-sweet chocolate morsels and-butterscotch morsels with the raisins and nuts generally used in jumbles.

APPLESAUCE JUMBLES
(4 dozen)
Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Sift together and set aside: 2½ cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon cloves. Combine and beat till creamy: 1 cup sugar, ½ cup shortening. Beat in, one at a time, 3 eggs. Continue beating till light. Stir in: flour mixture, 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels, 1 cup raisins, ¾ cup applesauce, ½ cup chopped nuts.

Drop by tablespoons on a greased and floured cookie sheet. Bake 12 minutes in preheated 375-degree oven.

Cabbage Salad

Use the liquid from pickles to make this picnic, or table, salad. Combine 4 cups of finely chopped cabbage, ½ cup sliced celery, ¼ cup grated carrots, ¼ cup thinly sliced onion, ½ cup sliced sweet gherkins, 1-3 cup pickle liquid. Chill. Add ¼ cup french dressing, tossing lightly but thoroughly. Yield, 6 servings.

Hamburger Treat

For a hamburger treat, try this. Combine 1½ pounds of ground beef, ¾ cup of rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked), 1 tablespoon of instant minced onion, ½ teaspoon of salt, and one jar (5 ounces) processed blue cheese spread which has been mixed with 2 tablespoons of milk. Shape into 6 patties. Broil or pan-fry to desired doneness. Serve on buns.

Fresh Summer Fruit Compote Aid in Beating Summer's Heat

FRESH SUMMER FRUIT served poached for August dessert.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

On warm summer evenings, a chilled compote of fruits, served with delicately flavored coconut cookies, makes a welcome and really pleasing dessert.

With so much excellent fresh fruit in the market, you'll have no trouble in selecting a variety.

POACHED FRUIT COMPOTE
(Serves 4)

1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrate for lemonade
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 stick cinnamon
4 whole cloves
2 pounds fresh fruit

Use peaches, apricots, plums, grapes or nectarines. Remove pits, seeds and skin as necessary.

Corny Sandwich

Try this hot sandwich come cooler days. Prepare corn bread mix as directed on the package. Bake in a pre-heated oven (425 degrees) about 20 minutes. Cut into 4 pieces and split horizontally. Spoon 2 cans (1 pound each) of pork and beans over the corn bread on a broiler tray. Top with 8 bacon slices. Broil 3 to 5 minutes or until the bacon is crisp. Put a tomato slice on top of each sandwich and broil 2 additional minutes. Yield, 8 servings.

Put a jar lid in the bottom of a double boiler. It will rattle when the water is evaporated.

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 cups packaged grated coconut
Cream butter until softened. Gradually add sugar and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Stir in flavorings; then stir in baking powder. Add flour in 4 additions, beating until well blended after each. Stir in coconut. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake at 375 degrees for about 10 minutes.

Shrimp Salad in Tomato Towers

SHRIMP SALAD in tomato towers—a fine one-dish meal.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Looking for a one-dish meal to serve cold on porch or patio during the long Labor Day weekend at home?

Then try this combination of shrimp, rice, eggs and tomatoes presented in a "tower" of brilliance and delightful flavor.

SHRIMP SALAD IN TOMATO TOWERS
(6 servings)
1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen
1½ cups cold cooked rice
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ cup diced green pepper
1-3 cup cooked salad dressing
6 large tomatoes

Chicory
Cook shrimp in boiling salted water to cover for 3 to 5 minutes or until shrimp are bright pink. Remove shells and devein shrimp; chill. Dice shrimp, reserving six whole shrimp for garnishing. Combine chopped shrimp with rice, hard-cooked eggs, salt, pepper and green pepper. Toss with salad dressing. Peel tomatoes, if desired, and cut crosswise into three slices. Sprinkle cut edges with salt. On a bed of chicory, reassemble each tomato, stem end down, spooning shrimp salad mixture between slices as you stack. Top each tomato-tower with a whole shrimp-pegged with a toothpick.

Danes Approach to a Cold Table

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

More and more Americans are giving Swedish smorgasbord or Danish cold table parties in their own homes. Particularly in warm weather the buffet supper table, laden with a great variety of pickled and fresh fish and seafood, cold and hot meats, salads, relishes and desserts, is a welcome way to entertain.

We asked Gunnar Flygenring, director of the restaurant in the Denmark Pavilion at the New York World's Fair to tell us how the Danes approach a cold table.

He gave us the following guidance rules:

"1. The guest approaches the table solemnly and lingers briefly in awe and respect at the edge before the first onslaught.

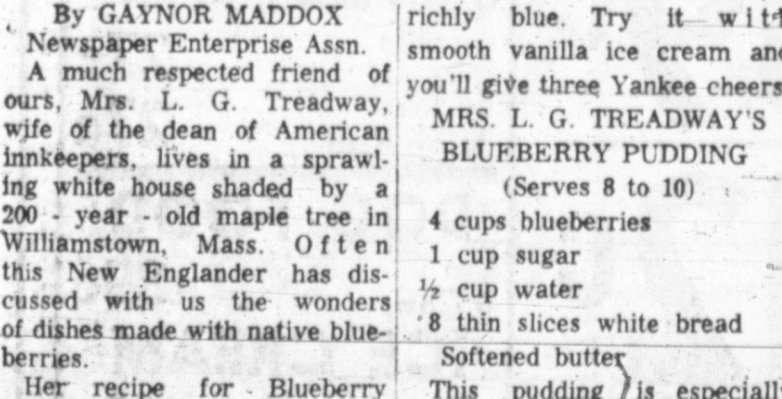

"2. The guest heaps a variety of herring, sardines and other riches of the sea on one or two plates (depending on his appetite), then proceeds to his own table at a suitable, dignified speed.

"3. Armed with another plate the guest returns to the grand cold table, but this time he is entirely on his own. Depending on his temperament and his capacity, he loads cold delicacies on the plate or makes a direct, frontal attack on the delicious warm or hot dishes.

"4. After the endless variety of cold delicacies, we safely recommend the guest to the cheese tray (by then he has had plenty of time to fortify his spirit with cellar-cold Danish beer). The cheeses come with or without holes, firm and soft, strong and mild—and all are delectable.

"5. Now comes the final temptation—the sweet things in life, the sum of daring dreams. In short: The fantasy and artistry of Danish pastry making."

Wonders Worked With Blueberries

HERE'S AN old-fashioned blueberry pie at its best.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A much respected friend of ours, Mrs. L. G. Treadway, wife of the dean of American innkeepers, lives in a sprawling white house shaded by a 200-year-old maple tree in Williamstown, Mass. Often this New Englander has discussed with us the wonders of dishes made with native blueberries.

Her recipe for Blueberry Pudding made with bread is old-fashioned, delicious and richly blue. Try it with smooth vanilla ice cream and you'll give three Yankee cheers.

MRS. L. G. TREADWAY'S BLUEBERRY PUDDING
(Serves 8 to 10)
4 cups blueberries
1 cup sugar
½ cup water
8 thin slices white bread
Softened butter

This pudding is especially good when it is made with small ripe native blueberries rather than large cultivated ones.

Bring the berries, sugar and water slowly to a boil and simmer for 10 minutes. Remove the crusts from the bread and spread each slice with softened butter. If a small 9x4½-inch loaf pan is used, the bread will just fit, 2 pieces in each layer. Place the bread, buttered side down, in the pan and cover with hot berries. Continue these layers, ending with berries. Let stand until cool, then chill in the refrigerator. To serve, unmold on a platter and slice. Serve with cream or ice cream.

All too often we are giving young people cut flowers when we should be teaching them to grow their own plants.

Hunt Defends
Radio Program
As Educational

DALLAS (UPI) — Multi-millionaire oilman H. L. Hunt said Wednesday his right-wing radio program "Lifeline" is a religious and educational service. He called a congressional investigation of the program an attack on the right of free speech.

The congressional investigation is aimed at the tax-exempt status of the Lifeline Foundation, set up by Hunt.

Rep. Wright-Pattman, D-Tex., sparked the investigation by the house small business subcommittee. Patman questioned an Internal Revenue Service spokesman at a subcommittee hearing Tuesday, asking whether the material carried in the Lifeline broadcasts was more political than educational.

The foundation, which produces the Lifeline show for airing on several hundred radio stations, could lose its tax-exempt status if it was shown to be a political movement.

"Lifeline presents broadcasts carrying out religious and public affairs education," Hunt said in a two-page reply Wednesday. He called the investigation an attack "on the right of free speech and fair comment."

"They seek to impose a condition on Lifeline that must be met before its right of free speech may be exercised. If this condition is not met, critics say Lifeline must be punished by having its tax exemption revoked," said Hunt.

Lifeline does not solicit contributions as a political organ, Hunt said but sells services and material to finance its activities.

No Clues Yet
In Theft of Masterpieces

GROTTAFERRATA, Italy (UPI) — "The countess will never lay eyes on those paintings again."

Luigi Trocchia, an old friend of the Countess Margherita Gallotti, 81, was speaking of two precious Raphaels and a self-portrait by Antonello da Messina stolen from her villa here.

Estimates of the value of the paintings have run between $2.5 million and $3 million, and their theft, announced Wednesday, may constitute one of the biggest art robberies of the century.

Trocchia said the paintings were not insured.

Police said they were stolen between July 9 and July 12, while the countess was on vacation. She reported the loss when she returned July 12.

Trocchia's pessimism could extend to 680 other major works of art stolen in Italy since 1957.

The thefts, never solved, have depleted Italy's artistic heritage with the persistence of mice nibbling at cheese.

The stolen works once belonged to a collection of 8,000 pictures brought together by George Sorridon, the countess' grandfather, who came to Rome from the Near East in 1838. The countess inherited part of the collection from an uncle.

Luci Baines Has Plans Set for Busy Week-end

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Luci Baines Johnson will fly to New Orleans Saturday for a week-end trip that will include a ship launching, a shrimp festival and a pro football game.

The 17-year-old daughter of President Johnson will break a bottle of champagne over the bow of an automated cargo ship, the SS Louise Lykes. She will attend a game between the Dallas Cowboys and the Chicago Bears Saturday night and drive 100 miles to Morgan City Sunday for the annual blessing of the shrimp fleet.

BIDS FOR MARKETS

PARIS (UPI) — French machine tool manufacturers were urged Monday to act now to get their share of America's expanding machine tool purchases.

The call was made in the official Monitor of International Commerce, published by the French National Center for Foreign Trade.

French production of machine tools was down last year due to severe competition in France's traditional markets from Japanese and American machine tool producers.

Crewmembers Go On Hunger Strike

HOUSTON (UPI) — A hunger strike by a Greek crew who charged their captain with brutality threatened to halt the sailing of a merchant ship here today.

Crewmen on the Archon-Rafael, a British-owned grain ship sailing under the panamanian flag with a Greek staff, went on a hunger strike Wednesday. They said they would not return to work until the captain, Caristostomus Samonas, was replaced.

The port agent for the National Maritime Union, Kirby-Smith McDowell, said crewmen told him they had received no pay for the last seven months, were given bad food and refused medical attention. "It's a pitiful situation," he said.

He said the seamen demanded to be flown home if another skipper is not named.

Prices Reduced On Line Pipe By U.S. Steel

PITTSBURGH (Sp) — U. S. Steel has announced price reductions in certain items of line pipe reflecting an average reduction in all line pipe of 6 1/2 per cent.

The new published prices covered miscellaneous quantities (1,000 tons or less of an item) of light wall thicknesses of butt-weld, electric-weld, and seamless steel line pipe in size 4 1/2 inch through 16 inch O.D.

Standard pipe in standard weight and heavier, and miscellaneous quantities of line pipe in the same weights are not affected by this move.

The new published prices also covered trunk line pipe (over 1,000 tons of an item) in all wall thicknesses in sizes 4 1/2 inch through 16 inch O.D. Sizes larger than 16 inch O.D. are not affected by this move.

The new reduced prices on pipe reflect the competitive situation which exists in the market for these products today.

Included in the revised price lists for the first time were prices at its new electric resistance weld facility at McKeesport, Pa. This mill is now producing electric resistance weld line pipe in sizes 8.5 inch through 20 inch O.D.

The revised prices were effective Tuesday.

The edible bud of the palmetto palm of southeastern U.S. is said to have the flavor of young cabbage.

Accident Deaths Hit High in July

CHICAGO (UPI)—More Americans died in traffic accidents during July than in any previous month in history, the National Safety Council said Tuesday.

Howard Pyle, president of the safety council, said the July toll of 4,410 deaths broke the old one-month record, set a new July record, helped set a record for the first seven months of the year and was sending the United States toward a new annual death mark this year.

"At a tragic pace, traffic ac-

$3 Million Art Theft Reported

By Countess

ROME (UPI)—Three Renaissance masterpieces valued up to $3 million have been stolen from a Roman countess in what may be one of the biggest art thefts of the century, police reported yesterday.

The said the paintings—two Raphaels and a self-portrait by Antonello da Messina—were taken in July from the villa of Countess Margherita Gialliotti at nearby Grottaferrata. The theft was discovered only a few days ago when the countess returned to her villa following a summer vacation.

Police said the value of the three masterpieces was tentatively estimated at from 1.5 billion to two billion lire ($2.5 to $3.2 million).

Art experts, however, said such an estimate was "somewhat exaggerated."

New TV Series Stress Comedy

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Vacations are over, it's getting darker earlier, and television sets are being flicked on again. The new video season will go down as the year of the situation comedy. More of them will dot the tube than any other category of shows.

To the horror of critics, all three networks have aimed their new series smack dab at the average viewer. Light entertainment. Significant, meaningful, uplifting claptrap has been routed.

Police said the value of the three masterpieces was tentatively estimated at from 1.5 billion to two billion lire ($2.5 to $3.2 million).

Art experts, however, said such an estimate was "somewhat exaggerated."

Fall Fashion Is Knee-High

KNEE-HIGH FASHION — Fashion is going dotty this fall. Stepping onto campuses will be knee-highs, brightly spotted with dime-sized dots (left). The perfect partner to skirts or Bermudas, these socks are in not-too-bulky combination of arlon, dacron and nylon. Another footnote to the air of casual dress is the ankle-high boot of vivid fleece, held snugly to the feet with a belting of leather over the ankle. School-bound lassies who know their fashion primer will come out for the wildly patterned, over-the-knee socks (right). Jumbo mosaic blocks march smartly up each side of the leg. Over-the-knee socks provide gay accompaniment to mid-leg boots when winter winds come whistling.

Nuptial Shower Fetes Miss Crow

Miss Vickie Crow, bride-elect of Gary Epperson, was honored with a pre-nuptial shower in the home of Mrs. Don Walburg, 1421 Harles, on Aug. 28.

Assisting Mrs. Walburg with most duties were Mmes. Roy Cahill, Artie — Sailor, W. C. Moseley and S. W. Kretzmeier.

In the receiving line were the groomer, her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Crow and Mrs. W. C. Epperson, mother of the prospective bridegroom. Miss Crow was presented a corsage of white mums tied with gold ribbon and Mrs. Crow and Mrs. Epperson received white mum corsages tied with white ribbon.

A vocal selection "I Pledge My Love," was presented by Miss Judy Caskey.

Covered with a white lace cloth, the serving table was entered with an arrangement of white mums in a white milk glass vase with streamers bearing the bridal couples names extending from each side of the centerpiece. Gold tapers in crystal holders appointed the table.

Presiding at the punchbowl as Mrs. Roy Cahill Jr. and Miss Judy Caskey served the kiss.

Clothes Poll

By HELEN HENNESSY

The gal who doesn't know enough to come in out of the rain may be smarter than you think. At least she'll have a chance to wear some of the best looking clothes on the fall scene.

Dog walkers, career girls and opera buffs can now shed water with the ease of the proverbial duck's back — and look like slick chicks while they drip dry.

Stormy weather fashions run the gamut from nylon or vinyl rain suits (these come with both wrap-around skirts and slinky pants) to ankle-length coats for evening. And rainwear, this year, often hides its light under a bushel — like with crackerjacks, the surprise is inside.

Silk scarves, fringed blankets, fake mink-gills, polar bear and Mongolian lamb are all used for linings. But if money is no object, the fur needn't be fake.

Natural fur linings reverse in most cases, and when they don't, they come with a variety of waterproof shells for day and evening.

There is a wild assortment of fake fur and fake leather (polar bear, python and such) that's on the outside rather than in the lining. And these synthetics actually shed water.

For evening, pastel tweeds, blistered nylons and fake leather that looks like satin have their own dresses to complete

Ice Capades Styles Become More Chic

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — More chic and less chichi are in the demand for today's entertainment spectaculars.

Miles White, who's costumed everything from Broadway shows to circuses, says so. White, whose latest costuming job is an ice show, said that the spangles are fewer, the style details greater now in dressing a show.

"We see less corn, more chic," said White. "More nakedness? Wrong word, my dear, but the right idea."

"Actually," he continued, "we used to think that you couldn't dress a female skater in anything but formal leotards. Now for some productions, we have them in high style ball gowns."

White is one of three designers who've created the sets and more than 500 costumes for the Ice Capades, which opened its silver anniversary show at Madison Square Garden for a one-month run after which it will do a 24-city tour for 10 months. The other designers are Robert Fletcher and Billy Livingston.

White talked of some of the costuming he has done for individual stars as well as for entire productions since he came to New York from his native Oakland, Calif.

His first theatrical break came when he did "The Pirate" with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne "so long ago I won't tell you."

He worked for Norman Bel Geddes, the theatrical and industrial designer, when "Barbara" (Bel Geddes' actress-daughter) was about this age.

He measured the height of a six or seven-year-old girl.

It was through Bel Geddes that he began to costume circuses, while continuing with a long string of Broadway hits including "Oklahoma," "Pal Joey," "Best Foot Forward," "The Ziegfeld Follies," "Time Remembered" (with Helen Hayes), "Two's Company" (Betty Davis), "Eugenia" (Tallulah Bankhead), and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" (Tammy Grimes). He did the costumes for the late Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days," and currently is represented at the New York World's fair with an exhibit for the Electric Light and Power Co.

YELPLESS SHAMPOO
NEW YORK (UPI) — If you have a white French poodle or a lovable mutt — who yelps, jumps and maybe even nips at bath time when a little soap accidentally runs into his eyes and stings, try baby shampoo.

The same no-tear formula that keeps baby from crying at shampoo time can solve canine bath time problems. The dog will turn out fluffy clean, immaculate enough to happily curl up in his favorite chair or on the foot of junior's bed.

Please send your fashion problems to Helen Hennessy in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Gardens Toured by Mr. and Mrs. Club

Touring the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Carlson and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell comprised the program for the Mr. and Mrs. Garden Club when the group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Waldon Moore, 2000 Mary Ellen at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 1.

Following the garden tour, the group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Carlton, 331 N. Faulkner, for a business meeting and social hour.

Mrs. Robert Coley, president, reported on information received on Christmas paper to be sold by the club. Mrs. Walter Spoonmoore gave a report on her recent visit to the Texas Garden Clubs headquarters building and garden in Fort Worth.

Next meeting for the organization will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 6 with Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, 637 N. Nelson.

DEAR POLLY — I had trouble with our eat sleeping on the living room furniture. A few mothballs under the cushions did the trick. Now Miss Kitty will not go near the furniture.

—LILLIAN

DEAR POLLY — My letter was prompted by one from M. C. about putting outmoded equipment to use. I, too, use my wash boiler for that big batch of homemade bread. I found our long - discarded coal scuttle in the coal bin and with hot suds, a stiff brush and lots of elbow grease removed all traces of coal dust and found it in perfect condition. After it was thoroughly dry, I spray painted it blue on the outside and cream on the inside and now it holds our magazines, furnishes color accent needed in the living room and is a conversation piece.

—ANNA

DEAR POLLY — After walking around all day with sore feet, I found an idea that makes sense. If new shoes hurt your heels or pinch a toe or two, wet your nylon hose in the spot where your foot hurts. Put the shoe back on and walk until the nylon dries. You will find the wetness causes the shoe to stretch in the spot where it hurt. Once you have done this you will walk in comfort.

—SUE

DEAR POLLY — In answer to the letter about old outmoded equipment, perhaps readers would be interested in the uses we have found for such things in our remodeled, 80-year-old country weekend house. An old lap robe, from horse and buggy days, had the picture of a lion in the center. We cut it down, put it in a bright red frame and it hangs over our fireplace. On the ends of the raised hearth are an old earthenware churn and a wooden half - bushel measure which was used to measure corn in a grist mill. They, too, are painted red and hold pine cones and kindling for the fire. The lion picture is a conversation piece and the family likes to reminisce about the early days when it was used as a lap robe.

Fiddles Have Been Known to Snap a String

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What can I do with a husband who talks of nothing but his ailments? He is tall, handsome and the picture of health. He has been examined by experts, who all say he is as fit as a fiddle. Yet he has driven away a l.m.o.s.t. all his friends because he complains so much. He even tells the clerks in stores about his aches and pains. If we go on a trip, all he remembers about it, afterwards are the places where he had the headaches. I am —

GETTING DESPERATE
DEAR ABBY: If your husband continues to complain about his health after the experts affirm that he is as "fit as a fiddle," quit fiddling around and take the cue. Ask one of those experts to recommend another expert — in the psychiatry department. Fiddles on occasion have been known to snap a string.

joy it because you haven't complained.

DEAR ABBY: Tell Joe, who couldn't seem to stick with a diet, that his idea of going to jail for 30 days and living on bread and water was not so dumb. If he has all that money for doctors, why not get himself a few acres of land in an out-of-the-way place and build his own "jail"? He could get a time lock and lock himself in with only a jug of water, a few oranges and some carrots. I've had a weight problem for years and that's what I do. I built myself a little place near Palm Springs, and when I put on about ten extra pounds, I lock myself in for 36 hours at a crack. I am 56 and in fine shape. If Joe lives anywhere near Palm Springs, Calif., he is welcome to use my "jail."

Take a Minute to Apply Lipstick for Neat Result

PROPER APPLICATION — Right tone of lipstick for complexion and costume tops off a woman's image. To apply properly, brace finger under chin, part lips slightly. Outline lips with lipstick and fill in.

The Doctor Says

WHAT'S in a Medical Name? Specialists are Explained By WAYNE BRANDSTADT, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Pithiologist. There's a $64 word.

If you ever needed the services of such a man, you were under the care of a doctor who specialized in the treatment of tuberculosis.

The practice of medicine has expanded so greatly that lots of specialists are required. Many people wonder about these titles. Let's try to clear the air.

An anesthesiologist does not always put you to sleep. He may inject a drug into your spinal canal so that you can remain awake throughout your operation. A dermatologist is a skin specialist and a gerontologist in or geriatrician specializes in the diseases of the aged — a field that is growing because of the increased proportion of persons over 60 in our population.

An internist treats the so-called internal diseases but does not operate. His special field has been subdivided to include our old friend, the pithiologist; the gastroenterologist, who treats diseases of the digestive tract; the endocrinologist, who treats diseases of the glands of internal secretion (pancreas, pituitary, thyroid and sex glands); the cardiologist or heart specialist; the rheumatologist and the allergist.

The obstetrician gives prenatal care to expectant mothers, delivers them and cares for them during the postnatal period, and the gynecologist is a surgeon who treats all other conditions of the female reproductive system. These two specialties are usually practiced by the same man.

The oncologist specializes in the treatment of tumors, especially cancer.

The ophthalmologist is a surgeon who fits glasses and treats all diseases of the eyes.

The otologist treats the ears; the rhinologist, the nose; and the laryngologist, the throat. More often a surgeon, the otolaryngologist, treats all three fields. The orthopedist is a surgeon who treats fractures, dislocations, and other diseases of the bones and joints.

The pathologist specializes in laboratory procedures and when all else fails he performs an autopsy to determine the true cause of death. One of his chief services to the living is the microscopic examination of tissue specimens taken to determine the nature of a lesion.

A pediatrician takes care of infants and children, but he now has a counterpart, the ephiatrician, who takes care of the very special problems of teenagers. The physiatrist is a specialist in treatment and rehabilitation by physical means.

The proctologist is a surgeon who takes care of rectal diseases. The radiologist or roentgenologist not only interprets X-ray films — he gives treatment with X-rays, radium and radioisotopes. The urologist is a surgeon who limits his practice to diseases of the kidneys and male reproductive organs.

Although this list is not complete let's not neglect the greatest specialist of all, the general practitioner, who, it has been truly said, specializes in all the diseases of men, women and children.

Tie or fasten the legs of two or three card tables together to make a long table for entertaining buffet style.

Grass stains should be rubbed with glycerin and left to soften for 30 minutes before washing.

By ALICIA HART, Beauty Editor, Newspaper-Enterprise Assn. For once in our lives — we women are told it's all right, even essential, to keep our mouths open. This is when we apply our lipstick.

According to cosmeticians, a woman's lips look messy with lipstick splashed here and there when she swipes at her mouth, lips pursed shut.

To apply your lipstick correctly, put it on as the final touch in your make-up.

Steady your hand with a finger under your chin and part your lips. Draw a clean, clear outline, either with lipstick or a lip brush, around your lips. Now fill in. Reach to the corners of the mouth and inside the lips to bring out the fullness. Let lipstick set for a minute and blot.

Many models use more than one lipstick shade, applying one over the other for an intriguing tone.

No matter what color you select, it should complement the tones of your foundation, powder, eye make-up and the clothes you wear. A cosmetics specialist (at Harriet Hubbard Ayer) suggests that pink, red or blue-red lipstick be worn if your dress is black and your over-all make-up light. If your make-up is dark, you may want to select an orange hue. She also says that women with dark complexions should avoid the bluish reds.

Whatever the shade, use lipstick as the final perfect accent, the dot above the "i."

DIETERS BOOM SOFT DRINKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Weight-conscious Americans are proving a boon to the soft drink business. A survey by the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute shows consumers of the new dietetic or low-calorie beverages drink more than consumers of regular soft drinks.

The Institute explained that once a person is convinced that use of dietetic drinks eliminates the excess intake of sugar, all restraint is removed. It no longer matters to many, for example, how many drinks are consumed.

The Mature Parent

Resistance to Pusher Creates Dawdling Habits

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I have a boy, 13, who can't do anything until the very last minute. If I say anything I get accused of riding him. But if I didn't he would let his laundry accumulate until he didn't have a clean shirt and then I'd get complaints about that. My husband is just like him. If we're going out, he always has a million things to do at the last minute before he joins us in the car. He encourages the boy to put things off, finding excuses for him instead of backing me up.

ANSWER: You're telling me that your men folk dawdle. Know something? Dawdling is never resistance to collecting laundry or joining us in the car. It's never resistance to the action we want from the dawdler. It's resistance to some pusher's suggestion that the dawdler can't move without pushing. So, if you are involved with dawdlers, you will get nowhere by making issues of collecting laundry or joining you in the car. The problem is your own secret certainty that your dawdlers are not going to move unless you push them. It will compel you to continue pushing them until you realize what that secret certainty costs you in tension, exhaustion and resentment. Can you realize this?

I hope so. Because it is only through a sudden, outraged appreciation of what our pushing costs us that we can stop it. It is only when we can feel our tension and register the exhaustion of our faces in the mirror that we can rise up in defense of ourselves and cry out to our own hearts (or to our dawdlers): "I am more important than collections of laundry or excursions in the car! Never will I abuse my valuable energies again by pushing you to do what you don't want to do! If you don't want

Bedtime Yarns Now Automated

NEW YORK (UPI) — How effective are your bedtime stories when your little rascals are scheduled to fall asleep but don't?

If you need help or run out of patience, tell your yarns to a tape recorder. Mothers have discovered that tape recorders can be handy assistants at such times," says Thomas W. Lentz, of RCA Victor.

The tape recorder automatically turns itself off. to move, stand still! Wear soiled shirts until they fall off you! Sell the car if you don't want to use it! Whatever you want, I'm through pushing you to want something else!"

That's how dawdlers are dealt with. There's no other way. So it is a difficult way. For our certainty that our dawdlers will refuse us any consideration is our certainty that we do not deserve consideration. Register this, my friend. Because the unpalatable fact is that unless we can show consideration for ourselves, our resisting dawdlers will assume that we can manage without it.

Ruth Millett Men Forget There Are Two Sides to a Coin

Men frequently complain that women are difficult to live with. They forget that there are two sides to a coin.

These suggestions are for you husbands to consider and judging from the letters many wives have written, you should benefit from these hints.

1. Share the doings of the day with your wife. Don't clam up as soon as you get home in the evening. The "strong silent type," with emphasis on the "silent," is a bore to live with.
2. Have enough common courtesy to let your wife know if you are going to be late to dinner. Nothing annoys a woman more than to get a meal ready to serve and then have to sit and wait because the man of the family hasn't bothered to say he'll be late.
3. Be neat. No woman likes to feel like a servant — and that's the way she feels if she has to pick up after you constantly.

4. Show some appreciation for the things your wife does for your comfort. And go easy on criticism. Praise gets quicker results than fault-finding.

5. Don't be a stay-at-home stick-in-the-mud. Most wives like some social life, but it isn't much fun if they have to argue before you'll go out with them.

6. Work out some kind of financial arrangement so that your wife doesn't have to ask for every cent she spends. That may make you feel big and important — but it's hard on her dignity.

7. Tell her how important she is to your happiness. When a woman knows she is needed, she will do her best to make you happy.

By K. C. THALER

United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—The United States and several of its European NATO Allies are currently debating behind closed doors the crucial question of who should release the Polaris missiles for firing from the American projected mixed manned nuclear fleet (MFL).

The discussions are among the U.S., Britain, Italy, West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium, Greece and Turkey, both on the merits of the MFL and its technical problems and controls.

They must decide before long whether the MFL should be adopted at all and whose finger should be on the atomic trigger if it is established.

The American plan calls for a surface fleet of 25 vessels manned by mixed Allied crews and with each ship equipped with some 16 Polaris missiles.

Wants Veto Right
Britain has been dragging its feet on the MFL and has put up amendments to the American plan. Britain wants a veto right against triggering off the deterrent.

There have been various conflicting suggestions lately on this score, one calling for majority decision and another proposing that those who contribute most to the MFL should have the right of decision.

The latter ideas have caused fitters in London—and among some of the smaller West European Allies. Since the United States and West Germany would on present estimates contribute the overwhelming bulk of the force, financially and in terms of weapons, they could among themselves decide to trigger the nuclear Polaris.

Fear Armed Action
The British argument against this—as well as that of the smaller nations—is that the United States, aided by Germany, could involve the MFL in armed action against the wish of the other participants whose men will man the fleet.

This, some argue, would in effect give Germany a finger on the nuclear weapon.

Britain has been quick to make known that it insists on retaining a veto as a nuclear power in its own right. France opposes the MFL and has stayed away from the current Allied consultations altogether.

Consequently, some new thinking is being urged and alternative methods of control are being considered in an effort to get an agreed system that would be as foolproof as possible.

The United States and Britain are agreed that the projected association of the European non-nuclear nations of NATO with the nuclear deterrent should safeguard the principle of non-dissemination of nuclear weapons.

Meredith Causes Little Stir at New University

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—Two years ago James Meredith became the first Negro to enter the University of Mississippi. Today he was settling down to three years of postgraduate study at Ibadan University in the West African nation of Nigeria.

Two persons were killed in the rioting over Meredith's admission to Ole Miss. His arrival at Ibadan, 125 miles inland from Lagos, late last month was so quiet it almost went unnoticed.

Meredith stuck it out at Mississippi for the time required to complete his college credits. He was graduated one year ago with a bachelor of science degree in political science.

Meredith, 31, and his wife, Mary June, are the first American Negro couple to enroll at Ibadan for postgraduate study.

NEW OFFSET PLATE

NEW YORK (UPI)—SCM Corp. announced Wednesday a new microstatic paper offset plate to be made in its electrostatic photocopiers and used on any standard office offset-printing press.

At the moment the Merediths and their four-year-old son, John Howard, are living in the quarters of a professor currently on leave.

When classes begin next month, the Merediths hope to move into a cottage at a nearby housing project rented to them by the Nigerian federal government.

Meredith will continue his studies in political science. His wife is studying English literature. Their son will be entered in the school for the children of university staff members.

Meredith said he intends to return to the United States after completing his postgraduate work here. He declined to say what kind of job he would be looking for.

ANIMAL ANTIQUE—Australia's platypus, a living fossil, has a bill and webbed feet and lays eggs like a duck. Yet, it is a mammal. It is rarely seen in its natural state during daylight, but can be seen to good advantage in a glass-walled tank at Healesville Sanctuary, near Melbourne.

Injured Dallas Girl Sorry, Mad at Boys

DALLAS (UPI)—Cheryl Howard, 10, is going to be in Methodist Hospital from six weeks to three months recovering from injuries suffered when she was run down by two boys in a speeding station wagon last week.

She said she does not know what she would say if the boys visited her in the hospital.

She said she is "a little bit sorry" for them but "a little bit mad," too.

The boys are John Raymond Acord Jr., 16, of Hutchins, Tex. and Doyle King Barnes Jr., 13, of Balch Springs.

Admit Their Part

They admitted Saturday they ran her down as she rode her bicycle, stopped to lay her beside the road, then sped away. They are in the juvenile home, charged with juvenile delinquency. They will also be charged with failure to stop and render aid, police said.

Cheryl's left leg is broken in two places. The lower part was operated on Friday.

She can move her left arm, but it is weighted with a cast from the elbow to the knuckles. Her right leg is scraped and bruised.

Father to Visit

John Raymond Acord Sr., father of the driver of the white station wagon for which police searched day and night for a week, said he had gotten permission from Cheryl's father to visit her.

He said he hoped his son and Barnes could visit her, too.

Cheryl was asked what she would say if the boys came in her hospital room.

"I don't know," she said. "They shouldn't have run away. But they were scared probably."

Mexican Chief, LBJ to Discuss Chamizal Treaty

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—President Adolfo Lopez Mateos said Tuesday he will meet President Johnson Sept. 25 in the long-disputed Chamizal district of El Paso, Tex.

In a four-hour broadcast to the nation, Lopez said also that Johnson has assured him that Mexico's "only serious problem" with the United States—the alleged salting of Colorado River water—can be solved by next winter.

He praised the late President Kennedy for "the friendship which, with cordial expressions and memorable deeds, he showed our country in the discharge of his high position."

It was Kennedy who ended a century-old dispute over ownership of the Chamizal area by agreeing last year to cede it to Mexico.

The Colorado River problem affects farmers in the Mexican area of Baja California state. They have complained for years that the saltiness of the Colorado water that reaches their lands after flowing through Arizona causes crop losses to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

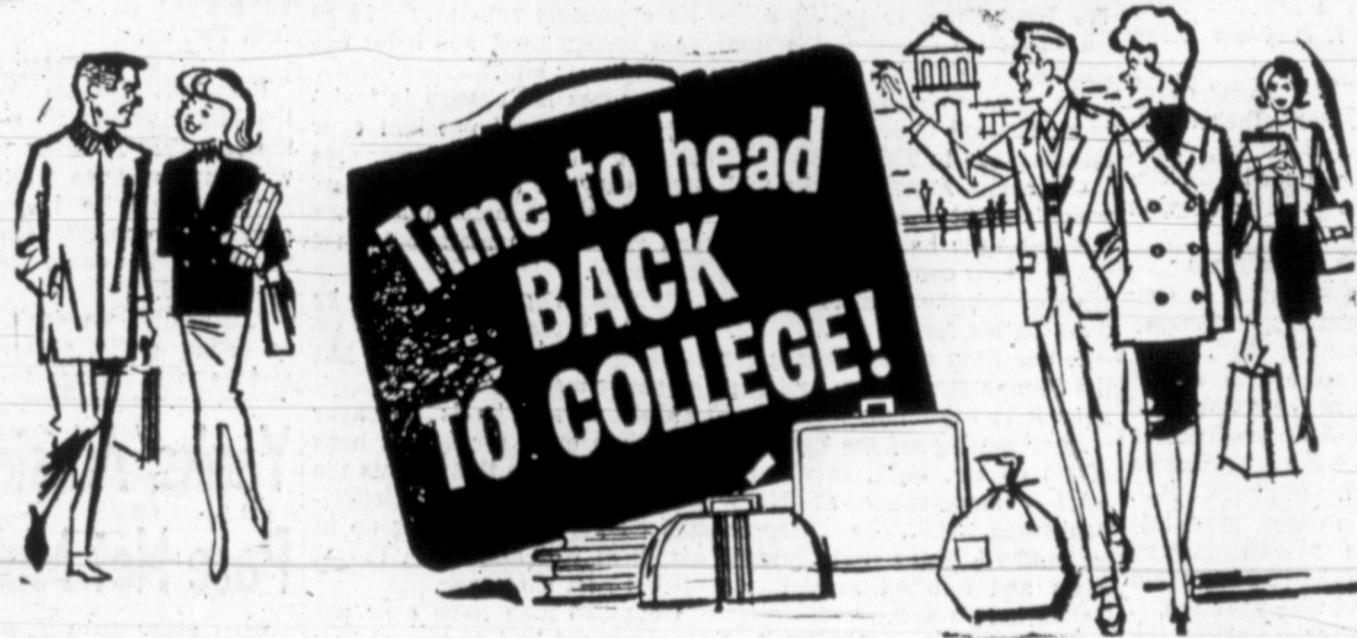

Lopez' speech was his sixth and last "State of the Union" report. On Dec. 1, Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, now interior minister, will succeed him as President.

By KARL O'QUINN
Washington was eliminated from even a mathematical chance of winning the American League pennant yesterday and Kansas City was eliminated Monday.

This is one way of saying it is almost magic number time again.

That's the little number that comes into prominence about the end of the baseball season (no other sport is bothered with it) to keep a running tab on how near a team is to elimination.

In case you're interested here are a few more magic numbers: For Philadelphia - Cincinnati 26, San Francisco 23, St. Louis 24, Pittsburgh 18, Milwaukee 17, Los Angeles 16, Chicago 11 and Houston 6. The Mets were eliminated some time ago.

For Baltimore it is: Chicago 28, New York 28, Detroit 17, Minnesota 16, Los Angeles 14, Cleveland 16 and Boston 7.

For the White Sox it is one less for each team except Baltimore, which is 29.

Most people know how to use the magic number - any combination of wins by the leading team and losses by the trailing team amounting to the magic number eliminates the trailing team - but few know how to figure it.

Just in case you want to try your hand at it, this is how you do it.

Add the total games played by the trailing team and subtract from the number of games to be played (162 in the majors). Add this remainder to the number of games won by the trailing team plus one. The one prevents a team from tying for the championship. Then subtract the number of games won by the leading team from this total. It really isn't that confusing. Try an example.

Philadelphia's record is 80-51 while San Francisco's is 74-60. The Giants have played 134 games, 29 less than the total possible. Add 29 plus one to the 74 games won by San Francisco and you have 103. Subtract Philadelphia's wins (80) from this and you have a magic number of 23.

Isn't that a valuable bit of knowledge?

White Sox Battle To Keep Minozo

CHICAGO (UPI) - The Chicago White Sox today prepared for a showdown battle with Commissioner Ford Frick over whether Minozo stays with the team or goes back to where he came from.

The White Sox announced Tuesday that they had acquired Minozo from their Indianapolis farm club. But Frick quickly quashed the deal, ruling that Minozo cannot play with the White Sox.

Frick said that the White Sox action in sending Minozo to Indianapolis earlier in the season was an attempt to "assign" a player to a club outright and at the same time retain control of him.

Frick said his disapproval was based on an interpretation not specifically covered by major league rules.

The rule states that if a player's contract has been assigned outright to a minor league club, the major league club can reacquire the player only after he has gone through an unrestricted draft.

General Manager Ed Short of the White Sox said Minozo was not assigned outright to Indianapolis, but instead was given an unconditional release and signed with the Pacific Coast League farm as a free agent.

Minozo went off the Chicago roster on July 13 as a free agent. His contract was bought from Indianapolis by the White Sox on Sept. 1.

Short said he plans to appeal Frick's ruling. He said that other major league teams had six chances to pick up Minozo.

Texans Ranked

NEW YORK (UPI) - Two Texas welterweight fighters were rated among the top 10 boxers in their class today by Ring Magazine.

Maguel Gonzales of Odessa, Tex., made his appearance in the ratings in the No. 9 spot, while Curtis Cokes, the one-time high-ranking title challenger from Dallas, barely stayed in the ratings at No. 10.

Among the heavyweights, Houston's Cleveland Williams was ranked No. 4 and Texas-born Zora Foley was No. 6.

Musial Better

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - Stan Musial, resting comfortably in a St. Louis hospital, today showed marked improvement and expected to be with his family for the weekend.

"Tests will be taken during next several days," Dr. I. C. Middleman said. Stan "is going to be fine."

The 43-year-old Musial, who retired last year after playing with the St. Louis Cardinals for 22 seasons, was stricken with viral encephalitis. Dr. Middleman said. He said the condition accompanied physical exhaustion and prescribed complete rest.

Cardinal publicist James Toomey said Musial "has been going at a pretty good pace and has been running around for the government in connection with the physical fitness program."

August A. Busch Jr., Cardinal president, who named Musial a vice president when Musial retired as an active player at the end of the 1963 season, said, "It certainly was a shock to us, but I guess in view of his schedule and activities it's something that could happen."

In addition to Musial's duties as director of the national physical-fitness program and vice president of the Cardinals, he is director of a St. Louis bank and co-owner of a restaurant and a bowling alley.

Musial was attending a baseball game at Busch Stadium when he became ill.

Heat Hurts Longhorns

By United Press International
Southwest Conference football coaches kept an eye on the thermometer today. They didn't want any players to collapse from heat like Texas quarterback Jim Hudson did Tuesday.

Hudson was scheduled to be released from a hospital today but will take it easy for a few days.

Aside from that, Texas coach Darrell Royal had other troubles. End Dan Mauldin, back Phil Harris and guard Olin Underwood were still out with pulled muscles.

Longhorns Scrimmage
The Longhorns held a controlled scrimmage Wednesday in a late-afternoon drill.

Rice was also off to a bad start. Sources at the school said letterman guard Ronnie Ulbrich appears to have withdrawn from football. Fullback R.J. Nitsche, who missed play last year because of an injured shoulder, re-injured it again and will be out this year too.

Coach Jess Neely worked the Owls in two sessions in shorts and reported all players within weight limits.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles ran his Razorbacks through two sessions and then the squad ran "until they almost dropped." The Hogs had no major injuries to key players.

West Texas Weather
The defensive backfield play of the Texas Tech squad pleased Red Raider coach J.T. King. He credited some of it to "ideal West Texas weather."

King cited the play of backs Jimmy Edwards, David Ball, Billy Weise and Robert Yancer, and of safety men Teddy Roberts and Guy Griffith.

Texas A&M coach Hank Foldberg had only one player on the bench at drills—letterman end Duffy Fletcher, who hurt a knee during the summer.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs got a surprise break from their afternoon training session and got a lecture instead. Coach Hayden Fry called the team in its best ever physical and mental shape.

John Roderick, who has been ruled ineligible anyway because of grades, is the only SMU injury so far.

Reserve fullbacks Carroll DuBoise and Ernie Bayer and halfback Jim Fauver along with passer Kent Nix took the spotlight in a 25-minute scrimmage at Texas Christian, where regular fullback Larry Bulach and end Joe Ball were nursing injuries. Two players—center Jacky Huffman and halfback Tommy Kimbrough—quit the squad.

ADDED STARTER
WESTBURY, N.Y. (UPI) - Irvin Paul has been added to the field for Saturday's $50,000 National Pacing Derby at Roosevelt Raceway. The addition of the seven-year-old gelding boosts the number of entrants in the derby to eight.

Matson Leaves For Final Trials

By KARL O'QUINN
Randy Matson left today for the West Coast to get in a little practice before the final Olympic trials Sept. 12-13.

He plans a change in strategy in an attempt to sew up a berth on the plane to Tokyo.

Ordinarily Matson works with weights right through a meet but this time he plans to taper off and stop completely about a week before the meet to concentrate on his form.

It has been a long season for the Pampa strong man and perhaps it is beginning to show.

After getting off the best toss of his career, 64-11, to win the AAU championship at New Brunswick, N.J., he dropped off to 62-9 1/2 in the first Olympic trials and finished second to Dallas Long's 64-0.

His 62-11 in the US-USSR dual meet was not good enough for second.

But Matson feels confident of winning an Olympic assignment. He thinks 64 feet will place him at least third among the six shot putters entered and qualify him for the biggest meet of all.

Long has already made the squad, barring collapse in the upcoming meet, but Matson, Parry O'Brian, Dave Davis, Gary Gubner and John Garth will compete for the other two spots.

Matson thinks someone will toss the ball 70 feet some day but "I don't see how anybody can throw it much further than that."

Randy said there was no truth to the story that he chose A&M over Southern Cal because the Californians showed him the town and the Aggies showed him the weight room, but he cannot stress the importance of the weights program too much.

"I'd hoped for 62 feet at the beginning of the year," he said, "but the weights helped me more than I thought they would."

He points out that he started lifting weights much later than most shot putters. Long started when he was a sophomore in high school and has reached his peak, or nearly his peak, at the early age of 24.

Most shot putters are at their best at 27 or 28, Matson says, which would put Long at his top form for the 1968 Olympics.

Randy hopes to make the Mexico City Olympics four years from now and at least one other, if his work will permit it.

He plans to continue his schooling until the 1968 Olympiad in order to keep in training. He will miss the upcoming fall semester "if I make it this year," he hastily amends, and will do some post graduate work. He has finished his freshman year at Texas A&M as a business administration major.

Matson looks forward to getting back to competition in the discus next year, particularly since he has thrown it 182 feet this year despite his lack of practice in the event.

Kubek Symptom of Yank Trouble

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK (NEA) - Tony Kubek was the symptom of the proud Yankees' troubles heading into the American League stretch.

The sad New York story was too many accomplished ball players being unable to get their feet off the ground and keep them there for any great length of time.

"Things started breaking badly for me - and this club - right at the start," said Kubek, pounding his right fist into a king-size glove in the dugout. "I tore a muscle in my back in spring training. That kept me out of 20 games. I was hardly back when a torn muscle in the rib cage put me on the bench for another stretch."

"I began to believe that this

just wasn't my year when on our last trip to Baltimore I came down with a virus and lost 12 pounds."

Kubek, who is big for a shortstop, still looked pale and swinging the bats well again. Young Mel Stottlemyre straightened out the pitching and the inflammation has been rubbed out of Whitey Ford's right hip.

"While one of our principal handicaps has been failure to drive in runs, pitching is still the big thing in baseball. The Dodgers demonstrated that last season when they won with little more than pitching."

"Jim Rouston and Al Downing got off slowly this season. Pete Mikkelsen tailed off after a wonderful first half as a relief pitcher. We were in a bad way when Ford strained his hip and three relief men - Hal Reniff, Steve Hamilton and Bill Stafford - suffered arm misery simultaneously. No wonder Yogi blew his gasket."

"Mickey Mantle hurt again dealt us another blow. Roger Maris's having a good year but his home run stroke is off. We have hit 30 fewer home runs than we had a year ago at this time when Mantle was playing only one-third and Maris no more than half of the time."

"Lack of hitting magnified our mistakes in the field and we got to trying too hard and pressing."

"You left Tony Kubek with the idea that all the Yankees had to do was get back to doing what comes naturally."

Norwegian Tops Mark

OSLO (UPI) - When Terje Pedersen of Norway shakes a slump he makes sure that the whole world knows about it.

The 21-year-old dental student Wednesday became the first man to hurl the javelin more than 300 feet. He accomplished this feat during a Norway-Czechoslovakia track meet with a heave of 300 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Pedersen, who has been experiencing a personal slump since July when he set the pending world record of 285 feet, 10 inches, now seems to be the favorite in this event in next month's Olympic Games at Tokyo.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) - Unbeknownst to Bo Belinsky, his boyhood dream soon may come true.

Ever since the flamboyant 27-year-old southpaw first wrapped his fingers around a baseball, he has yearned to pitch for a New York major league club.

The closest he ever came to that dream was little more than a year ago when the Yankees confided they'd take him during one of his many crises with Los Angeles, but the Angels decided to keep him instead.

Now he's in another pickle for hitting a sports writer but he's closer to a New York club than he ever was.

Ever mindful of baseball's tampering rules, the Mets admit they're interested in Belinsky and the Angels, with whom he now is under suspension, indicate they're equally interested in seeing him go.

There's only one hitch: the Angels would like left-handed pitcher Al Jackson in return for Bo.

Weiss Interested
President George Weiss of the Mets makes no secret of the fact that Belinsky would be welcomed at Shea Stadium.

"We would be interested in anyone who might help us and we think he could help us," Weiss said.

"Naturally, we don't wish to be found guilty of tampering, and he still belongs to the Los

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - Defending champion United States and top-seeded Australia led a trimmed field of eight nations today into the quarterfinals of the second annual world women's tennis team championships at the Germantown Cricket Club.

The United States meets Argentina, while Australia plays Canada in the grass courts play. Other contests pit third-seeded Great Britain against South Africa, and fourth-ranked Germany against France.

The U. S. and Aussie teams, which draw byes in the opening round, gained second-flight wins over Ireland and Denmark, respectively, by 3-0 tallies Tuesday. Daily competition between teams consists of two singles matches and one doubles test.

The United States got off to a flying start when Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., defeated Ireland's Geraldine Houlihan, 6-2, 6-2. Nancy Richy, of Dallas, Tex., followed with a 6-3, 6-2 win over Elinor O'Neill. Miss Moffitt then paired with Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, of San Diego, Calif., to vanquish Miss Houlihan and Miss O'Neill in the doubles, 6-1, 6-2.

Orioles, Chisox Gain on Yanks

By United Press International
It's no coincidence that Hank Bauer arrived in Baltimore and Milt Pappas arrived as a mature pitcher in the same season.

It would be difficult to find two men in baseball whose personalities clash more violently than the tough, dedicated manager who made it the hard way and the kooky kid who made it the easy way. And yet their ability to get along is proving to be a vital factor in the Baltimore Orioles' drive to win their first American League pennant in history.

Under Bauer's realistic, no-nonsense leadership, the former Baltimore problem child has compiled a 13-5 record and in these clutch days of the AL race has turned in two consecutive shutouts and four shutouts in his last five starts.

Pappas achieved his 13th win and missed a no-hitter by the margin of Zoilo Versalles' single with two out in the eighth inning — when he pitched the Orioles to a 2-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins Wednesday night and preserved their half-game lead over the Chicago White Sox.

It was a night of great pitching in the AL—the White Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 7-0, the Los Angeles Angels shut out the New York Yankees 4-0, the Cleveland Indians routed the Washington Senators 9-0 and the Kansas City Athletics topped the Boston Red Sox 9-5 — but Pappas' performance was by far the best.

Strikes Out 10
Pappas struck out 10 batters and walked only one in raising his lifetime mark to 94-63. Except for Versalles, the only Twin to reach base was Earl Battey, who walked in the third inning, and Pappas got all the help he needed on a homer by Sam Bowens in the second inning and a round tripper by Luis Aparicio in the ninth.

Until Bauer's arrival this season, Pappas always had been regarded as one of the most precocious young pitchers in baseball but he was famous for his fun-loving personality as he was for his fast ball.

The White Sox kept pace with the Orioles as Gary Peters pitched a five-hitter for his 16th win behind a nine-hit attack that included two hits each by Bill Skowron and Pete Ward. Hank Aguirre, kayoed in 4-1-3 innings, suffered his eighth loss against four wins.

Pitches Ninth Shutout
Dean Chance pitched his ninth shutout of the season for the Angels and reduced his league-leading earned run average to 1.61 with a four-hitter that snapped the Yankees' four-game winning streak. Joe Adcock's three-run homer was the big blow behind Chance, who has allowed the Yankees just one run in his last 48 innings against them.

Lee Stange and Gary Bell combined in a two-hitter for the Indians, whose 12-3 hit attack was led by homers by Max Alvis, Bob Chance and Leon Wagner. It was the Indians' 11th victory in their last 12 games.

Jim Gentile drove in three runs with a homer and a single to pace the Athletics' Orlando Pena to his 12th win despite two homers by Tom Thomas and one by Felix Mantilla. Bill Monbouquette suffered his 12th defeat against nine wins for the Red Sox.

AAU Boxing Champion Valdez Looks Too Innocent for Fighter

By KENNETH CARR
HOUSTON (UPI)—If you were looking for choir boys instead of boxers, Jesse Valdez would fit the bill.

The baby-faced Valdez, who just turned 17, is quiet, polite and looks as innocent as the Easter bunny. He also is the national AAU welterweight boxing champion.

At 5-foot-11 and 147 pounds, Valdez is the type a stranger would pick from a crowd in a gym and make himself look for a chance to get him in a sparring session.

That's the funny thing about boxing—looks are deceiving. The frail Valdez is a tiger in the ring who would beat the brains out of his own grandmother if she climbed through the ropes.

This bit of character, reference comes from Valdez' trainer, Charley Court, who has nursed him along since he was a Golden Gloves novice.

Can Counter-punch
Valdez is a classic-style fighter who also can counter-punch and bob and weave when he has to. He never has been stopped in 100 fights and he has won 90 of them. Since Court took over as trainer two years ago Valdez has lost only three fights—all on disputed split decisions.

Valdez took the regional and state Golden Gloves welterweight titles this year in Texas and was voted outstanding fighter in both tournaments. A natural crowd pleaser, he went on to the national finals at Louisville only to lose to A.C. Hill of Indianapolis in the quarter-finals—on a split decision.

Takes A.A.U. Title
Valdez came right back to take the national AAU tournament by beating Quincy Daniels for the title. Daniels was a bronze medal winner in the 1960 Olympics.

A split decision knocked Valdez out of the Olympic trials in New York recently. He lost to Maurice Frelot, a tough U.S. Marine who had won 180 and lost 5 in the amateur ranks.

Soon, however, Valdez will get another crack at the Olympics. He is now at Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif., for three weeks of training, then elimin-tion bouts.

"I know I'm in good shape and I know I can bust that guy (Frelot) and put him out of business," Valdez said in a way that somehow didn't sound like braggadocio.

"He's got blood in his eye," Court added.

APPEALS FINE
INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Former Indianapolis 500 race winner Parnelli Jones has filed an appeal on an $1100 fine imposed on him last week.

The fine was levied on Jones and Roger Ward, another former 500 winner, for disregarding the yellow caution light during the recent 200-mile championship race at Milwaukee.

57TH YEAR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1964 17

All the Phillies Get Into the Act

By United Press International
A hero a day to keep the contenders at bay.

That's the formula the Philadelphia Phillies are using as they move down the stretch of the National League pennant race with the Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Cardinals and San Francisco Giants—pending in their wake.

With no super star to lead them, the Phillies are keeping the pressure on their pursuers by producing the right man at the right time. One day it's Johnny Callison in the hero's role... another day it's Rich Allen... and still another day it's Jim Bunning or Tony Gonzalez.

It was Chris Short's turn Wednesday night and the 26-year-old left-hander responded with a four-hit, 10-strikeout performance that enabled the Phillies to beat the Houston Colt .45's 2-1 and retain their 5 1/2-game grip on first place. It was a key victory inasmuch as all three contenders—the Reds, Cardinals and Giants—won and would have made up a full game each had the Phillies lost.

Kayoed in the second inning on Sunday, Short bounced back Wednesday night with his fourth complete game in his last five starts to raise his record to 15-7. The Phillies scored both their runs in the fourth inning when Wes Covington and Clay Dalrymple singled, were sacrificed along by Frank Thomas and tallied on a single by Tony Taylor.

Finishes Strong
Short faltered in the sixth inning when a walk and singles by Mike White and Bob Aspromonte produced Houston's run but he settled down and finished strong. Allen's throwing error put the tying run in scoring position with one out in the ninth but Short retired Joe Gaines and Carroll Hardy to end the game.

The Reds beat the Chicago Cubs 1-0. The Cardinals topped the Milwaukee Braves 6-2. The Giants blanked the New York Mets 4-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5 in other NL games.

Jim O'Toole pitched a brilliant seven-hitter over 12 innings and the Reds finally edged out the Cubs on consecutive singles by pinch-hitter Marty Keough, Chico Ruiz, and Mel Queen. O'Toole struck out seven and walked three in scoring his 14th win against six losses.

Cards Hold Pace
Bob Gibson's seven-hit pitching and a nine-hit attack enabled the Cardinals to keep pace with the front-runners. Ken Boyer drove in one Cardinal run with a sacrifice fly and scored after trailing home a run in a two-run third inning to lead the St. Louis attack that brought Gibson his 13th win. Hank Fischer suffered his ninth setback.

Juan Marichal, back in form after being hobbled with a lame back for a month, pitched a four-hitter to win his 18th game for the Giants. Marichal also contributed a hit that led to a run and Tom Haller's homer and a two-run single by Hal Lanier accounted for the other San Francisco runs.

Derrell Griffith's two-run double snapped a 5-5 tie in the 12th inning and brought the Dodgers' Larry Miller his third win while tagging the Pirates' Vern Law with his 12th loss. Willie Davis had three hits and Dick Tracewski and Maury Wills two each for the Dodgers while Jim Pagliarone had three for the Pirates.

Constellation Beats Eagle

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—The 12-meter yacht Constellation, $250,000 worth of sturdy hull, finely polished brass and precision sails, stood poised today to defend the America's Cup against Britain's finest.

As reigning king of U. S. yachts, Constellation is the prime target of two 12-meter British yachts seeking to wrest the 113-year-old silver cup from U. S. domination.

Constellation Wednesday won the right to carry the Stars and Stripes into the Sept. 15 cup finale by outtailing rival American Eagle by 4 minutes and 29 seconds in an elimination trial race on Rhode Island Sound.

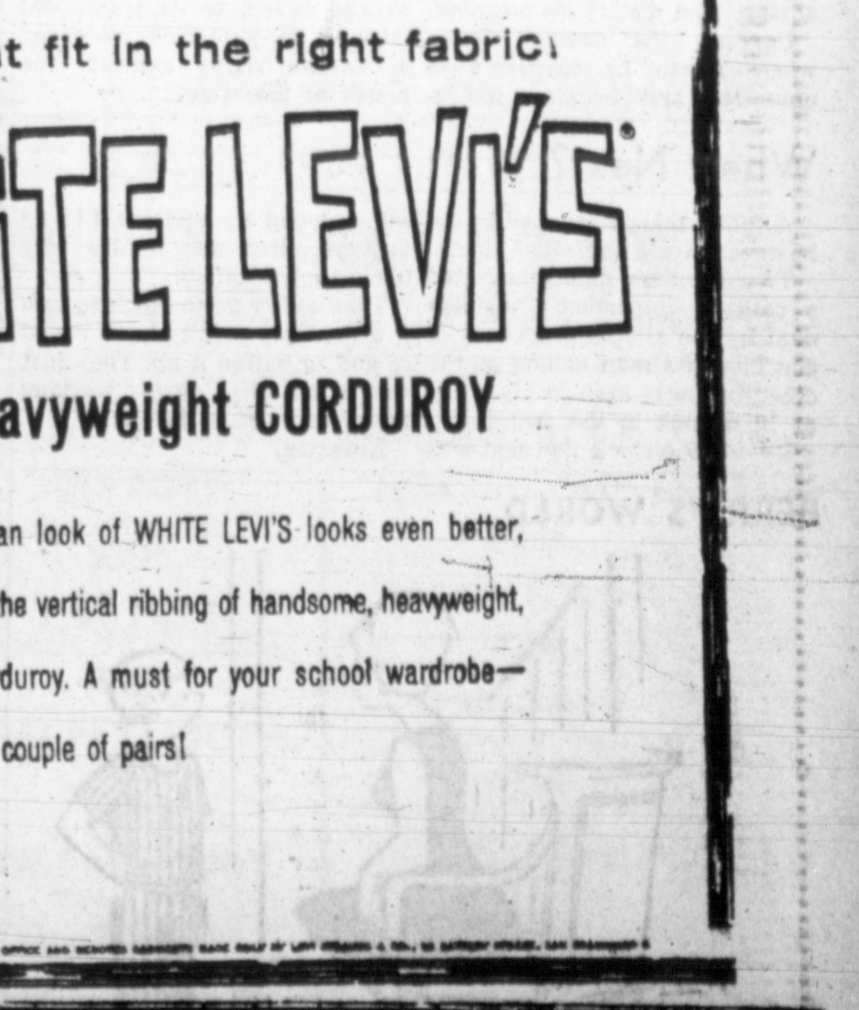

Yachtsmen's eyes are now on the Royal Thames Yacht Club, which must choose a challenger from either Sovereign or Kurrewa V.

Constellation's victory yesterday on the 24.3-mile course was her sixth in seven final tests against the Eagle. The Eagle defeated Constellation on Tuesday in a gallant bid to re-establish herself as a contender, but was soundly trounced Wednesday.

The New York Yacht Club announced its decision shortly after the two U. S. yachts returned to docks.

There was no indication when the British club would select a challenger. Sovereign and Kurrewa split a pair of short races Wednesday, each winning one by two- and a-half minute margins.

Sovereign remained the favorite despite a loss to Kurrewa Tuesday.

The right fit in the right fabric.

Saari Cracks Metric Mile Swim Record

NEW YORK (UPI)—Another sports barrier has fallen.

The sub-17-minute swim in the men's 1,500 meters was accomplished for the first time in history Wednesday by Roy Saari, a powerful 19-year-old sophomore at the University of Southern California, with a clocking of 16:38.7 in the finals of the event in the Olympic trials.

Saari bettered his own world mark of 17:05.8 established at Tokyo a year ago and also cracked Murray Rose's pending mark of 17:01.8, set in the 1964 national AAU championships.

Saari beat his closest rival by over 30 meters while completing his third team-making performance of the current trials.

Sunday he took the 400-meter freestyle in 4:13.5 and his second place finish Saturday in the 400-meter individual medley also was good enough to earn him a place on the squad. In addition, Roy turned down a berth on the U.S. water polo team to concentrate on swimming. His younger brother, Bobby, is a member of the water polo team.

The Ring magazine ratings also boosted previously unrated Billy Daniels of New York into 10th place, replacing inactive Henry Cooper of England. Doug Jones, who was upset by Daniels, dropped from second to fifth place among the heavyweight contenders.

'The Press' Has Veered

There has been a great deal lately in the way of a general and broad criticism of news-gathering and disseminating media. We wish it were possible to stand up four-square in defense of "the press" under these attacks. Unfortunately, we cannot. In all too many instances, "the press" (which includes wire services, commentators, radio and TV newsmen and the like) has permitted itself to become the tool, not of the businessmen who buy the ads and who pay the bills, but the tool of the state. And this is both tragic and dangerous.

When Thomas Jefferson uttered his famous statement to the effect that if he had to choose between a government without newspapers or newspapers without a government, he would not hesitate to choose the latter, he was thinking of newspapers as they had already appeared within the United States.

The newspapers of the 18th and early 19th centuries were fearless and outspoken critics of government and all the corruption and collusion which ordinarily goes hand in hand with instruments of power.

Indeed, this is the function of the press. Only a newspaper, unfettered and without a government subsidy or tie, can fearlessly expose the wrong doing of men who have power. Peter Zenger and a host of others of the newspaper field since that early day, have languished in jail and have suffered all manner of retribution and abuse rather than betray their sacred trust, the trust of bringing the truth to their readers.

But somewhere in the 20th century, the function of newspapers has almost imperceptibly changed. Instead of standing as a watchdog, unchained and forever growing to expose wrong doing in high places, the rank and file of American newspapers all too frequently have begun to act as though they were extensions of the state.

Instead of protecting the interests of their readers by opposing taxation and by calling for accountability and frugality in all public places, they have actually taken the lead in clamoring for more public expenditures, more goodies in the public trough, more men in power who favor this general socializing of the wealth of the land.

And there can be no question at all, even the gathering of straight news and the reporting of it without bias and prejudice to their readers, is becoming more and more a lost art. Even the "objective" reporter appears to have a political point of view which he can hardly contain himself from expressing. If he cannot put his view into words, he can place emphasis at certain points either by commission or omission of certain factors, which may color a story and distort its meaning.

Perhaps the decline began when so many newspapers were unionized and became instruments wherein union dues payers influenced their editorial stands in favor of collectivization and compulsion.

Perhaps it began even earlier, when government universities and government high schools began to teach journalism and, in process, created the myth that government is always to be depended upon, that it is always wise, always honest, always the port of refuge in a storm.

Perhaps it began in the general apathy and laziness of many writers who find it much easier to let the government hand them a prepared written statement than to ask questions and do their own writing.

In any case, however it began, the field of journalism has insensibly veered from its traditional base. It is too often the voice of entrenched privilege. It is the voice of special interest. It is now not so much the voice of the citizen and the businessman. It is the voice of the tax collector, the government stooge, the labor boss, and of those who do not hesitate to stoop to acquire power in order to foist off their programs on the public in general.

Fortunately, there are a few members of "the press" who have opposed the general trend. And we can tell you how to distinguish the responsible elements of the press from those who are irresponsibly seeking to be popular, to follow the trend. The press is not a lost cause. Distorted though much of it may have been, it is better than no press at all.

VIET NAM REPORT

How Stage Was Set in Viet Nam

NEA Washington reporter and military analyst Ray Cromley recently completed an extensive tour through South Viet Nam.

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The third convulsion in South Viet Nam's government since last October took place largely because of antagonism among professional men and intellectuals in the nation's large cities. This opposition to governmental policies translated into the student riots, which, in turn, brought about the upheaval within the regime of Nguyen Khanh.

A strong anti-Khanh and anti-American attitude was in evidence during my tour through Viet Nam recently.

I was having a late dinner in the back room of a Saigon restaurant with a group of students, professors and professional men — mainly architects, engineers and lawyers. They were open and friendly.

I asked them what they thought of the U. S. bombings in the Tonkin Gulf. It was a pleasant question. I expected a polite "It was good" answer. But instead there was dead silence. I fidgeted and so did they. Finally, after prodding, I got one student to answer.

"It depends on why you did it," he said. "Did you bomb North Viet Nam to help us or because of your domestic politics? Are you here to help us or to carry out your own aims?"

This led to more questions by the others. They asked: "We don't mind your insisting on a Viet Nam government friendly to you. But why don't you give us some say in choosing that government? Why must it be headed by a man you choose? Why did Mr. Lodge pick the government after he ousted Diem? And why did you then oust that government and choose Khanh?"

A few days later I talked to a range of other professional men. To a man, they had nothing against Khanh personally. They approved of a stronger, firmer government. But they didn't like his suspicion of civilians. They didn't like his military government. They didn't like open U.S. steps to prevent anyone from ousting Khanh.

As one former high Vietnamese government official put it in a private conversation we had at his home: "We don't mind military men having the final say. After all, this is war. But why can't there be a civilian prime minister under a military chief of state? Let the military men run the military council. Give them, if you wish, a veto power on anything concerning the war. But in Khanh's government there's little place for civilians."

Another professional man talked to me at length a few days later while we were waiting out a rainstorm in a Saigon sidewalk cafe.

"You Americans talk democracy," he said. "But you back a dictatorship. You've got to show some leadership. Give us some demonstration of democracy so we'll have something to fight for."

"What have we got to fight for now? Some of us know and hate communism. But most of our people don't know what communism is. Do you expect them to fight for a military dictatorship?"

"You interfere so much in some ways. Yet you are afraid to interfere in important ways you could help. Take up your courage and do something to create democracy in South Viet Nam, instead of wringing your hands and saying 'we can't interfere in your internal affairs.' Because you are already interfering."

I talked to the managing editor of a prominent Saigon newspaper. "Khanh and his people don't trust me," he said, "because I once fought in Ho Chi Minh's army."

"But I fought as a nationalist against the French colonialists. I quit when we won our independence and found that Ho was a Communist. There are a lot of people like me. But this government doesn't want us."

I interviewed a veteran politician who is trusted and respected by a wide variety of Americans and Vietnamese. Some think he some day will be head of the government when civilians again run the country.

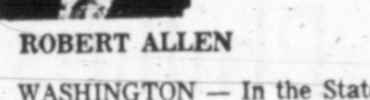

"There is no place for a man like me now," he said. "I am waiting. I want to do something for my country in the government. But I am not asked. I am not used."

Estimated $200 Million in Ransoms Collected By Rumanian Reds, Used For Trade with West

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — In the State Department, it is apparently the practice for one set of officials to pursue a policy while another is either indifferent or ignorant about it.

Secretary Dean Rusk is directing negotiations aimed at expanding trade and diplomatic relations with Rumania. At the same time, State Department intelligence and security officials have detailed information about a far-flung traffic in human lives being conducted by the Red rulers of Rumania that is netting hundreds of millions in "hard" currency, chiefly dollars.

These dollars are being used to buy plants, machinery, equipment and other capital goods from eager sellers in NATO countries — foremost among them Britain, France, Italy and West Germany.

Between 70,000 and 100,000 human beings so far have been "sold" in this shocking traffic. Scores are being "peddled" every week. Graphically illustrating how lucrative this extraordinary business is is an authoritative estimate that it has produced more than $200 million for its Communist operators.

The sordid nature and extent of this traffic is being unfolded in a series of private hearings by the House Immigration subcommittee, headed by Representative Michael Feighan, D-O.

His revealing investigation is an outgrowth of a study last year by a special Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, also headed by Feighan. In a little-noticed report, based on talks with numerous Iron Curtain refugees, the committee stated:

"These interviews provided direct information on the organization and structure of a massive Communist blackmail operation at work in the free world. Persons in the free world with relatives living in Iron Curtain countries are contacted and informed that for a price in hard currencies exit permits can be obtained for their relatives."

"The price tag on these exit permits varies according to ability to pay. The evidence obtained points to a well-organized and widespread Communist scheme to extort funds under the guise of melting conditions behind the Iron Curtain."

ATTEMPTED COVER-UP — Representative Feighan's forceful inquiry has pinpointed Rumania as the chief offender and beneficiary of this cross traffic in human lives.

Another explosive development was an attempt by certain State Department officials to deny knowing anything about this highly lucrative Communist "business." Only when Feighan bluntly went over their heads and made it clear he had irrefutable evidence did other officials produce the jolting reports he knew were in State Department files.

These official documents spell out in full detail the whole shabby operation, as follows:

What it amounts to is a large-scale, highly organized traffic in refugees.

PAUL SCOTT

Red Rumania, with which the State Department is negotiating expanded trade and diplomatic relations, is literally selling freedom to thousands of its nationals and making hundreds of millions in "hard" currencies which the Bucharest rulers are using to buy Western supplies not obtainable in the Soviet bloc.

Headquarters of this huge "shakedown" are in London.

In charge is a Hungarian with Rumanian citizenship, and presumably a trusted Communist. He functions under the guise of conducting an export-import business, dealing almost entirely with Rumania.

There is considerable evidence that he gets a 10 per cent "cut" on all the money he handles.

This top agent has numerous "runners" throughout free Europe, Latin America and the U.S. These "runners" contact relatives and friends of Rumanians who have sought exit visas or are deemed likely prospects.

The relatives and friends are told an exit visa can be obtained for payment in "hard" currency — dollars preferred.

THE WAY IT WORKS — Two factors largely determine the price: The value placed on the would-be refugee by the Communists; and the amount the relatives and friends can raise.

The rates range from $1,000 to $5,000.

Testimony and other evidence obtained by Representative Feighan's committee indicates that between 70,000 and 100,000 Rumanian refugees have paid an average of $3,000 for their freedom — for a total of more than $200 million in Communist coffers.

But that isn't all the Reds got. In addition to this huge hoard of "hard" currency, they also divested these refugees of all their property and physical assets. They were allowed to retain only the clothes they wore and around $100 in Rumanian currency. Everything else was taken by the Red regime.

It even chiseled on the $100 in Rumanian currency, as the refugees were required to pay for their transportation from this pitiful sum. When they finally left Rumania, they virtually had nothing but the clothes they were wearing.

Payment of the "purchase" price is made in the following manner:

The money is deposited in the name of an individual in a numbered account in a Swiss bank. Upon notification of that, the refugee is issued a Rumanian "Certificat de Celatorie" — an exit visa. When he arrives at a specified destination in the West, a cable is sent releasing the deposited sum.

In all traced instances, the top London agent collected this money.

In a number of established cases, he funneled these funds into other accounts used in buying goods for Rumania.

Most of the refugees go to France and Austria. Lately, a number have headed for Rome. All their identification cards are stamped "Transit Visa" with no final destination indicated. They do not settle in these countries. They are merely stopovers en route to places which admit them for permanent residence.

Considerable numbers have come to the U.S.

FOREIGN FLASHES — Rumania, in anticipation of expanded diplomatic relations with the U.S., is looking for a large establishment in Washington to house its embassy. In the meanwhile, to celebrate the elevation of the Rumanian legation to embassy rank, Rumanian representatives gave a lavish party attended by State Department officials and numerous foreign diplomats.

Panamanian Ambassador Miguel Moreno, who has been participating in the long-drawn-out backstage deliberations over differences with the U.S., is quitting the end of this month. U.S. authorities hope Moreno will be replaced by a more friendly envoy.

Japan is establishing a watch factory in Ecuador with production slated to begin by the end of this year. West Germany is providing Turkey with two Norwegian-built torpedo boats. They weigh 76 tons and are manned with 20-member crews. Each is equipped with two torpedo tubes and two 40 mm automatic guns. The boats are being given to Turkey in accordance with the NATO mutual military aid agreement signed in 1963.

How to Think on Paper: Standard Plan Suggested

By SAM CAMPBELL
Occasionally, when you are dealing with a particularly complex problem, it is helpful to do your thinking on paper. This is true especially when the facts involved are so numerous that one or more of them is likely to be lost in the shuffle.

Making random notes on pocket-size 3x5-inch cards is one way to go about assembling ideas as they hit you. And such notations may be the extent to which you will have to go in working out the problem.

Outline Useful
However, it sometimes happens that random notes are insufficient to give a clear picture of what the situation really is. When this is so, an outline will be useful. By using a standard method, the outline can be drawn without any particular literary talent or effort.

A method that has worked well for me is the following:
Problem First
First of all, I try to state the problem as clearly as possible. This is the part that is hardest and that requires the greatest time. But once accomplished, the rest of the outline flows naturally.

Step Two is to clarify, if necessary, any words used in the statement of the problem. This is a desirable step especially when specific words are used in a specialized or non-ordinary way.

The third step is to list all the possible choices to a solution of the problem. It is helpful here to include the full range of potential solutions, not only those you particularly like, but those you would reject — the apparently absurd with the apparently too expensive.

Note Consequences
Step Four is to write down the foreseeable results and side-effects of each potential solution.

Step Five is to make a choice between the potential solutions by the process of elimination. On occasions, it will be found that a combination of two approaches can be made. Sometimes, a less expensive solution can be tried first with the more expensive approach being kept in reserve, to be used if the first try fails.

In addition to helping to clarify your own thinking process, the standard outline is helpful in trying to explain to someone else why you made the decision that you did.

State The Unknowns
Very often, you will come upon unknowns in this paper-thinking process. These should be frankly stated as unknowns. In other instances, you may have to operate on "best judgments," "horseback opinions," and on assumptions. These should be frankly stated either in Step Two or in a subsequent step between No. 2 and No. 3.

Another use of the outline is not to make a decision at all, but merely to forward information to a decision-maker in such a way that he will understand your point of view and the REASONS for your point of view.

Don't be discouraged when you find that stating a problem often is very difficult. You will find that every problem can be stated eventually, and you will discover the meaning of the old saw that a problem well-stated is a problem half-solved.

UNTHINKABLE THOUGHTS

Editor:
A few months ago Senator Fulbright said it was time for the United States to start having unthinkable thoughts and explained just how we could put our little foot right there to the tune of a one-step-at-a-time surrender.

Now a whole group of red blooded Americans took offense to this kind of advice coming from the high and mighty office of a United States Senator.

But my uncle Stretch Falsehood said he agreed with the Senator because he'd always found the path of least resistance best for himself. Uncle Stretch said he especially liked the part about having unthinkable thoughts because since the return of women's short skirts he'd been sneaking off from aunt Etter on windy afternoons down to Elm street and watching the pretty girls go by.

Uncle Stretch said his conscience had been hurting him because of his unthinkable thoughts, but thought that since a United States Senator had advocated our nation having unthinkable thoughts, he could now enjoy windy afternoons and short skirts with a clear conscience.

UNWARRANTED SUBSIDY
(Christian Economics)

Uncle Sam has now loaned out $29.5 billion. He has borrowed every cent of this money and he pays about 4 1/2 per cent for it, yet he loans much of it for 2, 3, 3 1/2, and 3 3/4 per cent. Two per cent loans are made through the Rural Electrification Administration, to the United Nations, and to the United Kingdom.

Although 98 per cent of our nation's farmers now have electric power, the Rural Electrification Administration continues to loan two per cent money to finance electric cooperatives which pay no federal income tax and are furnishing electricity to industrial, commercial, and non-farm residential consumers. R.E.A. loans have been made to finance such projects as snow-making equipment for a ski resort, a housing development and electric equipment for a lumber mill and a race track. Such purposes, of course, have no relation whatsoever to the purpose of R.E.A.

To borrow money from the Farmer's Home Administration, one must give evidence that he could not obtain credit on reasonable terms from private institutions. If a bank would loan on that basis, it would be court-ordered bankruptcy. The Federal Government escapes that fate only because it can levy the costs upon the taxpayers.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Does not any law or regulation that increases minimum wages for women and those under 18 years of age above the minimum for men, like the ruling in California which went into effect Aug. 31, 1964, tend to cause more juvenile delinquency and make it harder for women and teenagers to get jobs where they have an opportunity to learn how to earn more wages? If so, how and why?"

Answer: All people who have had successful experience in business know that each individual must produce and thus earn his own wages if he is to have a steady job. So any minimum wage law or ruling that makes it so beginners cannot earn their own wages and leaves only menial tasks for them to do, retards their ability to get more wages later, or it may keep them in school where they are not interested and where they are indoctrinated; where they come in contact with instructors who are not enough interested in learning themselves so that they are willing to answer questions to determine whether tax-supported schools violate the stealing commandment. Nor are they able to define stealing other than what the state says is stealing.

Of course the state can make stealing legal but it cannot make it moral. To make a law that keeps the youth of the land under the influence of politicians where the government has a monopoly on education is gradually leading us into state socialism and collectivism and is bound to greatly reduce production, increase crime and injure everyone.

Wit and Whimsy

The doctor's small boy had been in the habit of having a romp with his father every evening before being tucked in for the night, but of late the nightly bout was foregone in consideration for father's patients.

On the fifth successive night of disappointment Bobby was very quiet, thinking. His mother could not get the reason from him. Then, just as she kissed him goodnight, he sat up and said very lowly:
Bobby—Mother, I guess daddy's not a very good doctor. Is he?
Mother (laughed) — Why, Bobby. What makes you say that?
Bobby—Cause, he never gets through seeing his patients.

What Next?

A funny thing happened in the business world the other day. Two-business men transacted a rather important business deal by the simple procedure of one business man calling on the other business man in his office at 10 o'clock in the morning.

By 10:25 o'clock the deal was all wrapped up and the first business man was on his way back to the office.

They didn't go to lunch to talk it over. They didn't play a round of golf to button it up. They just met in an office during working hours and talked business. Amazing.

I interviewed a veteran politician who is trusted and respected by a wide variety of Americans and Vietnamese. Some think he some day will be head of the government when civilians again run the country.

"There is no place for a man like me now," he said. "I am waiting. I want to do something for my country in the government. But I am not asked. I am not used."

I checked these thoughts with a high American official in Saigon. "Khanh's keeping too many GESUNDHEIT — Well, it's sneezing season, as this quintet of suffering sneezers indicates all too clearly. Early fall is blossom time for the unattractive greenish spikes of the ragweed plant, and about 1 in 20 Americans knows it as his period of annual torture. Eyes water, noses tickle and itch and sneeze after sneeze leave the victims weakened. And except for those lucky enough to travel anywhere outside the United States or in some wooded sections of the country during ragweed season, there's no escaping it. Even celebrities aren't immune (note Dick Van Dyke in the first photo). But sufferers can take some solace in the recent development of antihistamine drugs which has eased the discomfort.

By United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Construction contracts in July were 12 per cent over a year earlier, F.W. Dodge Corp. reports. The major gain was a 22 per cent spurt in non-residential contracts.

NEW YORK—The American Dental Association may have touched off a big competitive war in the electric toothbrush market by giving its approval to the electric brushes made by General Electric and Squibb division of Olin-Mathieson Chemical Co. Four other companies instantly said they would seek the same approval.

WASHINGTON—Retail sales fell seasonally by a slight margin last week but remained 7 per cent from the level of a year ago, the Census Bureau reports. The seasonal slump was all in durable goods.

CHICAGO—Steel scrap prices fell as much as $4.02 in Chicago this week.
The slump follows a rise that had brought the scrap prices to the highest levels in five years.

BUYS FIRM
NEW YORK (UPI)—Ciba Corp. announced Wednesday the purchase of Gland-O-Lac Co. of Omaha, Neb. for an undisclosed amount of cash.
Ciba said it would operate the Omaha manufacturer of animal health products as a wholly-owned subsidiary, and that all officers and employees will be retained.

SEES NEW-OUTLETS
NEW YORK (UPI)—Rubber's best growth prospects lie outside the tire industry, the head of a leading rubber products and bowling ball manufacturing company said Monday.

John T. Whitely, president of Amerace Corp. told a meeting of chemical specialty salesmen that rubber's biggest growth is "in other products where new job opportunities are being created at a rapid rate."

THREE ON THE HOOF—These youngsters don't believe in throwing the bull; they ride it. Olin and Etta Wyland of Croweburg, Kan., and their cousin, Cindy of nearby Arma, often lope along on this yearling Hereford bull. The bull, apparently, take this in stride.

3-Year-Old Boy Saved From Well by Following Orders

FREMONT, Calif. (UPI)—A night operation to recover the 3-year-old boy, who followed orders explicitly, was pulled on Tuesday night from a "fantastic 100-foot deep abandoned well effort" on his own behalf.
Young Bettencourt fell into the 18-inch diameter well while playing with companions in a grassy field near his home. He apparently was caught on a ledge or some other object just from the side of the shaft at the 24-foot level.
When firemen reached the scene they were told by the boy's parents, Gary and Patricia Bettencourt, both 25, that Jerry had "difficult breathing because of his asthmatic condition."
The firemen lowered an oxygen mask to the youngster and shouted directions on how to use it. The boy clamped it to his face and kept it there during the rescue operations.
The workers decided a rescue by rope might be safely accomplished. They lowered a plastic rope, the boy tied it beneath his armpits and was lifted to safety.
Rescuers expected an all-

Bandits Add Urbane Touch To Stickups

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jesse James preferred trains. John Dillinger leaned to banks. But a band of daring stickupmen here added a modern and urbane touch to armed robbery by staging a commando-style raid on a fashionable mid-Manhattan apartment building.
Three gunmen in sport shirts, slacks and gloves swooped down on a converted townhouse on the same block where Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and publisher William Randolph Hearst Jr. have apartments.
The bandits bound and gagged seven persons and then ransacked five apartments in leisurely style. They escaped with jewels and cash worth $25,000.
There were no injuries in the bold daylight stickup.
There were 2,275,790 fires in the U.S. in 1962.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Alexander Hamilton Institute says that, barring an extended auto strike, it does not foresee a severe market decline from present levels.

The firm feels the absence of heavy downside volume and price adjustments in glamor stocks to more realistic appraisals of their near term prospects is constructive.

Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. says that despite the sharp rises many stocks have experienced over the past two years, the market has been relatively restrained and orderly, which suggests that any further reaction in prices should be no more than a temporary interruption of the long term uptrend.

Leslie M. Pollack of Reynolds & Co. says that until stronger evidence to the contrary comes in he will continue to base his thinking on the assumption that intermediate tops have been formed by the leading averages.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Edward F. Underwood of Mitchum, Jones & Templeton Inc. says this is clearly not the time for complacency nor for stubbornly maintaining deteriorating positions.

Underwood feels that even if the over-all trend continues and is extended, it is extremely unlikely to be uniform or all encompassing. Underwood maintains that only positions in technically strong issues will prove profitable.

Goodbody & Co. says that developments in the auto and railroad labor negotiations will probably be a determining, if not controlling, factor in the stock market during the next week or two. The firm feels their ultimate settlement, which may carry some inflationary overtones, will set the stage for a renewed advance.

Force of air rushing over wings and fuselage of fastest supersonic aircraft is 10 to 12 times greater than that of any recorded hurricane.

Oilwell Announces

Pampa Representative
DALLAS (SpI)—The appointment of Virgil Lane Jeter, effective Tuesday, as field representative at Pampa for the Oilwell Division of U.S. Steel Corp. has been announced by R. E. Dickson, area manager of the division.
Jeter joined Oilwell in 1956 at Borger where he was located prior to this appointment. He is a native of Floydada.

RECOMMEND SALE

NEW YORK (UPI)—REX Express said Wednesday its directors have recommended that the 60 railways that own the company offer to sell a 20 per cent interest to Greyhound Corp. for $10 million.
The proposal appeared to be a counter proposal to the bus operator's offer to buy the railway express company outright.
