Three Young 'Eagles' At Cliff Nest Near Pampa

Here Are Official Rules For Ringer In Marbles Tournament

RINGER is played in a ring 10 feet in diameter, with 13 marbles arranged in a circle in a cross. The object is to shoot these marbles out of the ring, the player shooting the largest number of marbles out of the ring in any game being the winner of that game. No less than two and no more than six may play in one game in RINGER. The tournament is for boys only. All tournament play is for fair, and marbles must be returned to owners after each game.

EQUIPMENT: The playing surface shall be a smooth, level area of hard ground, hard clay, or other suitable substance. The ring is inscribed upon the area, 10 feet in diameter, and all play is within this ring. (Note: The outline of this ring shall not be so deep or wide as to check the roll of a marble.)

With the center of the Ring as a point of intersection, mark two lines at right angles to each other to form a cross, which shall be a guide for placing the playing marbles. Place one marble at the center and three on each of the four branches of the cross, each marble three inches away from the next one.

The Lag Line is a straight line drawn tangent to the ring and touching it at one point. The Pitch Line is a straight line drawn tangent to the ring, directly opposite and parallel to the Lag Line.

Playing marbles shall be round. All marbles in any one playing ring must be of uniform size. The standard size shall be five-eighths inch in diameter. Slight variations may be allowed by the referee for manufacturing fault.

Shooters shall be round and made of any substance, except steel or any other metal, and shall not be less than one-half inch or more than six-eighths inch in diameter, as determined by the referee.

PLAN OF PLAY: The lag is the first operation in RINGER. To lag, the players stand facing the Pitch Line, or kneeling down upon it, and toss or shoot their shooters to the Lag Line across the ring. The player whose shooter comes nearest the Lag Line, on either side, wins the lag.

Shooters must lag before each game. The player who wins the lag shoots first, and the others follow in order as their shooters were next nearest the Lag Line. The same shooter that is used in the lag must be used in the game following the lag.

On all shots, except the lag, a player shall knuckle down so that at least one knuckle is in contact with the ground, and he shall maintain this position until the shooter has left his hand. Knuckling down is permitted, but not required in lagging.

Starting the game, each player in turn shall knuckle down just outside the Ring Line, at any point he chooses, and shoot into the ring to knock one or more marbles out of the ring.

A player continues to shoot when he knocks one or more marbles out of the ring—provided his shooter remains inside the ring. When a player's shooter passes outside the ring, whether or not he has scored on the shot, he shall cease to shoot, but he shall be credited with the marbles he has scored.

After a miss a player picks up his shooter, wherever it lies, until his next turn, and then is permitted to take rounders and shoot from any point of the ring line.

PLAYING REGULATIONS: Marbles knocked out of the ring shall be picked up by the player who knocks them out.

Whenever a marble or shooter comes to rest on the ring line, if its center is outside the ring, or exactly on the ring line, it shall be considered out of the ring, if its center is inside the ring, it shall be considered inside the ring.

If a shooter knocks out two or more marbles in a combination play he shall be entitled to all points on the shot.

When a shooter slips from a player's hand, if the player calls "slips" and the referee is convinced that it is a slip, and if the shooter did not travel more than 10 inches, the referee may order "no play" and permit the player to shoot again. The referee's decision is final.

The game shall end when one player has knocked seven marbles from the ring.

SCORING: For each marble knocked out by a player, he shall be credited with the score of ONE. The player having credited him the largest number of marbles at the completion of the game shall be the winner of that game.

In games where more than two players are engaged, if two or more players lead with the same score those in the tie shall play a new game to break the tie.

A player refusing to continue a game, once it is started, shall be disqualified, and if only two players are engaged, the game shall be forfeited to the offended player.

In New Chapter of Taylor Murder

STORIES IN STAMPS

DEFENDS SELF BY ITS SMELL

HALFWAY between an elephant and a horse is the tapir, shy animal of the South American and Malayan jungles. One of the most defenseless animals in the world, this strange creature depends mostly on its keen sense of smell to avoid its enemies.

With hoofs like the five-toed horse of ages ago, the tapir resembles that domestic animal also in the shape of its head. But jutting out from its face comes the short trunk that is used very much like an elephant's trunk.

Tapirs are vegetarians and wallow mostly in jungle swamps. A Malayan tapir can be distinguished from one of South America by the absence of a mane and by a blanket of white thrown over its body. North Borneo pictures this animal on a stamp issued in 1909.

LAWMAKERS' SALARIES CUT IN HALF TODAY

AUSTIN, May 11 (AP)—Texas lawmakers' salaries will be cut in half today.

The pay slash from $10 to $5 a day, a constitutional provision after the regular 120-day session, found important work yet to be done, but how long the legislators would continue their labors at reduced wages remained a question.

Two years ago the regular session went four days overtime but the consensus was it might take a couple of weeks this time for both houses to agree on appropriations and possible taxes.

Hanging fire was the horse race betting repeal issue on which Governor Allred said he would call a special session unless there was a direct vote.

The Senate took the day off to attend President Roosevelt's visit to Texas A. & M. college.

House-approved proposals to boost taxes on natural resources and corporation franchises rested in a Senate committee where they awaited possible rejuvenation. A combination bill might result if the upper chamber thought increased appropriations called for more revenue.

The House sent the governor a bill appropriating $1,634,000 for two new hospitals for the insane, one to be located in West and the other in East Texas.

Gem smuggling, once estimated to be a $50,000,000 business, has declined in recent years.

It is estimated that Hawaii pays more taxes into the United States treasury than 19 of the states.

RANGER CAPTAIN PLACATED IRATE RESIDENTS IN SAN PERLITA CASE

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—Ranger Captain Bill McMurrey, a ranch owner, prefers law enforcement as a vocation.

The former cowboy and deputy sheriff turned over management of his Texas ranch to a foreman in order to devote all his time to the service.

Officials, including Gov. Allred, say Murray is the type who made famous the ten-gallon hatted Rangers.

He's faced death in the line of duty but, characteristically, he says about his most "interesting" experience: "Can't say. Each day brings its own experience and all are about the same."

The nearest he ever came to tasting lead was in quelling a free-for-all at a dance.

A Mexican grabbed a shotgun and jabbed it in the officer's face, cutting his lip with the muzzle as he pulled the trigger. The weapon failed to fire. McMurrey wrested it from the man and it discharged during the tussle, the load nearly killing the Mexican.

Called to San Perlita last November after the mysterious disappearance of John and Luther Blanton on a ranch near their home, the Ranger placated irate residents who demanded that they be allowed to enter the property to conduct their own search.

He spent many nights and days on the strange case, later investigated by federal agents after alleged threats were made against other members of the Blanton family and persons who persisted in pursuing a clue to the disappearance in border brushland.

The 47-year-old officer, appointed captain in 1935, has been on a horse with a pistol near at hand most of his life.

On duty he is noted for a relentless devotion to work. At home he is a family man, devoted to his wife and their daughter, a Hebronville school teacher.

The United States patent office has operated for three years without costing the treasury a single dime.

BREAKING IT UP

Officers of the law, speaking of them generally, are "on the public pan" so much of the time that it seems fitting and proper attention should be called to it.

To be more specific—this reference is to the work that has been done by the Gray county prosecutor's and sheriff's office in breaking up what they declare to be a band of professional check forgers that has victimized many persons throughout the Panhandle.

Six persons now are in jail in three Texas cities—each charged with being a member of this same bogus check outfit.

Important in this connection is that the work of Gray county officers has aided in putting all of the suspects in jail.

Deputy Inman has been devoting most of his time to the bogus check case in the past few weeks. His tips have landed two in jail at Amarillo and caused the law to catch up with the two others in East Texas.

Perhaps a dozen or so Pampa firms will follow the case with interest. At least that many say they have been duped by the forgers now in the three jails.

The arrest in Oklahoma Sunday, according to the officers, rounded out the job of corraling the gang. The officers have done their part. The case now goes to the courts.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—The senate, in one of its rare moods of indignation, administered a mild spanking to Postmaster General Farley without anyone knowing much about it except Mr. Farley and his postal hands.

The senate postoffice committee had been struggling for months with a "star route" mail contract bill without making much headway.

There are 11,000 such routes, mostly far out in the country districts, and a fourth of them expire each year. For some years past they have been opened to competitive bidding each time but the house and senate postal committees got the idea that it would be well to have the postoffice department keep a good contractor on the job for longer than the usual four years.

Farley was against it, and so were most of his appointive employees, but a committee of permanent, irremovable civil service employees said it would create a better spirit among the contractors. They would supply better trucks, give more expensive service for the money, etc.

There was plenty of argument on the other side, about the need of opening all government contracts to public bidding, and all in all it held the bill on the senate calendar until a day before this year's group of contracts was to be let.

It happened that this year's group covered the New England and North Atlantic states and senators from these states were all set to push the bill through to permit the old contractors to stay on the job. But just as the bill was heading for passage, word came from the postoffice department that a little delay wouldn't make any difference, so the bill was allowed to rest over the week-end.

But no sooner had the bill been shipped over than the postoffice department began letting contracts to the low bidders. Angry New England senators pointed out that this year's crop was the last of the Hoover administration contractors, and it looked like a patronage trick to get them out.

At the very next meeting, the senate re-drafted the bill to provide that these New England contractors should be permitted to retain their contracts, regardless of competitive bidding. The bill passed 50 to 25, with more Democrats than Republicans on the winning side.

Even senators who had opposed the principle of the bill supported the amendment to give this year's crop of contractors the benefit of the legislation.

GHOSTS

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—The gypsy problem was bad in New York, as usual, last winter, but they got out much earlier than hoped for this spring. Gypsies seem to think there is no place like New York for hibernating during the cold months, and much as they are unwanted, there isn't a thing the authorities can do about it.

As soon as the neighbors become aware of the calamity there is always a howl and many angry storms of protest, but there isn't anything anybody can do. If the real estate people attempt to evict, a suave lawyer appears with a copy of the lease, or contract, duly signed before witnesses. Thus legally protected, they stay till the nomadic urge returns.

Literature is filled with romantic tales of fabulously beautiful and chaste gypsy maids. If such damsels exist I would greatly admire seeing one. In the last five or six years I have seen some thousands of gypsies, but never one that could even remotely be called beautiful. But then, maybe that was because of the dirt. Beauty just cannot be seen when it is covered up—even on gypsies.

Collette Lyon's uncle, Ned Brush, is back from a European jaunt and visiting his niece for a week at the Warwick. Brush says he has only one complaint. It was all right being called Mr. Brush in London, Mr. Brush in Paris, Senor Brush in Spain, but he always felt silly when he was addressed as Herr Brush in Hamburg.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM
Last week Clarendon which never has much trouble with its boys, considering the number who have made names for themselves, dedicated its Boys' Recreation hall. It is located on the third floor of the new high school building. It is equipped with table tennis sets, dominoes, boxing gloves, wrestling mats, horse shoe rings, "the Clarendon News catalogued. The hall reminded one of the YMCA gymnasium at Breckenridge with its indoor swimming pool, of the boys recreation hall in smaller towns over the country, of the fine advantages for boys in LeFors where juvenile delinquency and "playing hooky" have been wiped out. . . . Most people agree that Pampa's greatest need now is not recreation for married adults, but for children and youth—adults are kept busy in a dozen different ways; practically every one in town is on some committee or another, the adults play cards or they play golf or they go to the show or listen to the radio, according to their tastes. For the children and youth there are a few courts for the rather expensive game of tennis, youth in active and it must be up and doing satisfying a growing body. Only at rare intervals does it like to sit. . . .

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The peeping of the birds and the popping of the popples are no surer signs of film-land spring than these: Betty Furness pops up with another of those god-darned hats. Last spring it was vegetables. . . . Now it's flowers. . . . She does 'em herself and admits it. The same girls who last Christmas posed with Easter bunnies are posing with Independence Day firecrackers. . . . Producers and stars go into bundles on football stories. . . . The bars at Malibu beach houses are getting polished for the summer siege. . . . And Marion Davies' colossal colonial house by the water's edge prepares anew to be the Grand Hotel of the elect, the Mecca and Medina of all who would be in the swim, social and aquatic.

Wallace Beery buys a trailer, very fancy, and steps out. . . . And Guy Kibbee rods-and-reels with new gusto. . . . And fashion designers reel and swoon over materials for next winter's gowns. The boys who own boats get down to the harbor with scrapers and paint buckets and act like actors acting like sailors. . . . It's open season on suckers. . . . Best time in the year to unload a boat on some unsuspecting friend who's been reading Masefield and thinks the only overhead on a boat is the sails. . . . Yearn for Ranch Life.

ENOUGH'S ENOUGH
OKLAHOMA CITY—It was 11:30 p. m. Mrs. Lee Beville called police, complaining of a prowler. Officers seized a suspect. "He looks like the man," said Mrs. Beville, "but I don't want to file charges." At 11:50 the bluecoats were called to her home again because a man was "tearing the screen off a window." Police found the same man near the house. "Yes," said Mrs. Beville, "he looks like the man, but I don't want to file charges." "This," an officer said, "is where I come in. I'll file those charges myself." According to estimates, the White House and its grounds are valued at $21,936,000.

How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. LAGO GALSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine
PYORRHEA PROMOTERS. Pyorrhea may involve one tooth, several adjacent teeth or all the teeth on one or both jaws. The condition may develop acutely following an infectious disease which debilitates the individual. When the condition is local, it may be the result of an inflammatory periodontitis, due to ill-fitting crowns or bridges, or to other forms of local injury. Pyorrhea is associated with scurvy and has been lately charged, in many instances, to dietic deficiencies, notably the lack of vitamins A, C, and D. Disease conditions closely resembling pyorrhea have been produced in experimental animals by keeping them on deficiency diets. An authority on oral disease says: "It is well known that the gums of children suffering from nutritional deficiency show a tendency to spontaneous gum bleeding and other signs of pathologic change. In chronic periodontal disease (pyorrhea alveolaris) a history of bleeding gums having occurred during childhood is commonly obtained. Such facts may legitimately be regarded as evidence that early dietic deficiencies act as a predisposing cause of inflammation infections of the gums and alveolar process." Infections arising at or near the marginal ring of the gums surrounding the teeth are also considered important contributing causes to the development of pyorrhea alveolaris. Such infections are favored by bad oral hygiene. A German authority has called the first stages "schmutz-pyorrhoea" (dirt pyorrhoea). Neglect of oral hygiene is followed by the depositing of tartar on the neck of the teeth. This tartar acts as a local irritant and initiates those processes which, if unremedied, lead to a full-blown case of pyorrhea. The hered-contributing causes of this condition also suggest the ways for its prevention. Foremost is the periodic visit to a dentist for a general and complete inspection of gums and teeth, and for such cleaning and scraping as the teeth may require. Such dental attention is particularly indicated following early debilitating disease and during pregnancy as well as after delivery. A diet adequate in mineral salts and vitamins also will help safeguard the teeth and oral structures against disease.

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

Sometime ago, Richard West presented a review of Harry Stekol's book, "Humanity Made to Order," through the Dallas News. In his review Mr. West suggested that stanch capitalists would find support for their contentions in Mr. Stekol's book. From the protest sent into the paper from the author of the book, it would seem that the reviewer missed the main point that the author had in mind. Evidently the author is strongly opposed to capitalism, and intended that his book should be a condemnation of that system. It all goes to show how the same treatment can be contorted about by a variety of personal view points and made to express just what pleases the particular gusto of its reader. It is easy to imagine the feeling of the book's author when he discovered that some one had given such a different interpretation to his work than he had intended that it should have. Since observing this little episode, I just wonder how many of these articles in my column land where the author wishes that they might. If I ever say anything here that I do not mean to say, I would appreciate it very much if some mind-reader would call my attention to it.

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

"The East Wind," by Compton Mackenzie (Dodd, Mead; $2.75), is the first volume of a quartet of novels by the same author. If you have any thoughts of reading them all, I advise you to begin now and not wait until all four have appeared. Mr. Mackenzie has been infected with the same germ of literary elephantiasis which has recently brought down many of our leading writers. If English novels are your meat, this book should give you rather more than your fill. Next to the Coronation, it is the most excessively British production to have made its appearance this year.

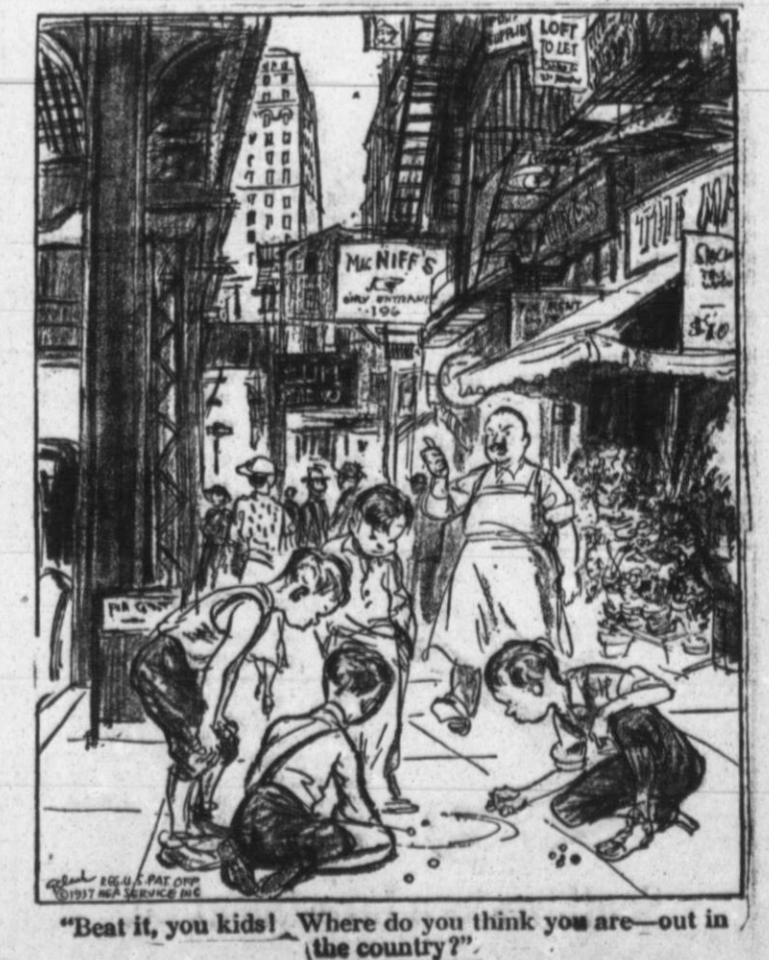

The story centers on John Ogilvie and his friends; Emil and Julius Stern, one destined to be a revolutionary, the other a musical prodigy; their mother, Miriam Stern; Cissie, a show girl; Fitzgerald, the doctor, and a horde of others who appear, vanish by pictures in ancient monuments and mummies. I have no doubt that Mr. Mackenzie feels very deeply about the people in this book, and that the novel itself is in essence a record of his own intellectual conflicts and eventual conclusions. Unfortunately, he views his characters and himself without the saving grace of humor, and for that reason all too frequently misses fire entirely. There are a great many fine things in the book, but they are separated by passages of the most monumental dullness. It would seem that Mr. Mackenzie needs a great deal more of the light touch. As the book stands, it contains too little of value to make the necessary digging for it worth while.—E. M. T.

PAMPA NAMED SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT CITY FOR PANHANDLE BY BOARD

KRETSINGER IS COMMISSIONER FOR DISTRICT

Pampa was named tournament city and Jack Kretsinger of Pampa was re-elected commissioner of the Panhandle district of the Texas Softball Association at a meeting in Houston Saturday afternoon. Commissioner Kretsinger and E. Voss, president of the Pampa Softball Association, returned this morning from the meeting.

Loaded with data on last year's successful tournament and carrying letters from the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, Pampa Board of City Development, Mayor W. A. Bratton and civic clubs, Commissioner Kretsinger and Mr. Voss presented Pampa's application to State Commissioner Jack Rafferty. Amarillo was the only other Panhandle city making a bid for the tournament.

Pampa's delegates showed that a park with suitable seating capacity and lights was available and that the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce had voted to sponsor the tournament. The interest in softball here astonished the state director and his board.

The Panhandle district comprises the north 20 Panhandle counties: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley and Collingsworth.

All district tournaments must be played between August 1 and 20 with the state tournament between August 20 and September 1. The Fort Worth Star Telegram will sponsor the men's state tournament and send the winning team to the national tournament in Chicago at a cost of $750. No provision was made for a girls' division this year.

Commissioner Kretsinger will begin immediately the organization of play to decide entries in the district tournament here. Date of the tournament will be set soon.

OPERATOR IS HEROINE IN $50,000 BLAZE IN FIRE AT PAWNEE

PAWNEE, Okla., May 11 (AP)—Pawnee's citizenry counted the cost of its first major fire in 18 years at between $50,000 and $60,000 today and gave thanks to Miss Grace Brown, chief operator at the telephone exchange, that it hadn't been worse.

When the flames roared through the Long Bell Lumber company last night and threatened to spread into the business district, the conduit lines into the exchange were burned out quickly.

Miss Brown commandeered a taxicab, sped seven miles to the small town of Lela and notified fire departments of surrounding towns that help was needed.

SOUTH AFRICA LEADS BRIGHTON, ENG., MAY 11 (AP)—

South Africa advanced to the third round of European zone Davis Cup tennis competition today when Vern Kirby scored the clinching victory in the series with New Zealand. Kirby defeated E. B. Andrews of New Zealand, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3 in the first of the final days singles matches thus giving South Africa a 3-1 lead with only one match to play.

Phillips Team Will Play Oilers Here Tomorrow Night

WTCC SESSION HAS 26 BANDS IN ATTENDANCE

BROWNWOOD, May 11. (AP)—Special trains and motorcades were arriving here today to swell the attendance at the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to an estimated 6,000.

Among the arrivals for the second day of business sessions were 26 crack Texas bands. Led by the motorized battery of the United States field artillery and a number of band directors experienced in showmanship, the official parade this afternoon will bring the convention to a peak of color and enthusiasm.

More than 1200 West Texas musicians will march in the parade in the competition for a $50 award and the distinction of being named the official West Texas chamber of commerce band for 1937—and the best band in the 133-county area.

Wichita Falls and Abilene delegations swung into the final play of their contest for next year's convention. Balloting will start this afternoon.

Attorney General William McCraw, taking the place of Gov. James W. Van Dyke, had conference schedules, will be the principal speaker today and President Van Zandt Jarvis, Fort Worth, will deliver his annual address.

George W. Cottingham, editor of the Houston Chronicle, was the speaker at a luncheon for newsmen and chamber of commerce presidents and secretaries with Rufus Higgs, Stephenville publisher, as toastmaster.

Group conferences on soil conservation and oil development will follow the parade. Louis Merrill, regional director of the United States soil conservation service; R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the Spur agricultural station, and State Senator E. M. Davis were speakers for the soil conservation conference, and Col. E. O. Thompson, chairman of the Railroad commission, and J. C. Hunter for the oil conference.

MAN O' WAR SONS TO RACE IN PREAKNESS

BALTIMORE, May 11. (AP)—Two speedy Man o' War colts, one a Kentucky derby champion, the other a winner of the Pimlico futurity, may make the Preakness a family affair in the 47th running of the eastern racing classic Saturday.

Samuel D. Riddle's War Admiral, fresh from triumph in the derby, and Walter M. Jeffords' Matey, winner of the futurity last fall, both sired by the great Man o' War, will meet for the first time in the Preakness.

War Admiral already is the public choice to take the $50,000 feature of the season at Pimlico and become the sixth horse in history to win both derby and Preakness.

Sir Barton, Gallant Fox, Burgo King, Omaha and Bold Venture turned the trick.

He is sure to be the odds-on favorite but some look to Matey and to J. H. Louchheim's Pampon, second to "The Admiral" in the Churchill Downs classic, to give the little-brown-colt-a-race.

EDWARD GOES INTO QUIETEST SECLUSION

MONTS, France, May 11.—The Duke of Windsor, who would have been crowned King of England tomorrow had not been abdicated for love of Wallis Warfield Simpson, withdrew into strictest seclusion today so no shadow would fall on the coronation of his brother-successor, King George VI.

English correspondents were informed by their London offices the Duke had appealed to them to omit his name as much as possible from the reports of the coronation events. At the Chateau de Candé, near here, where he is visiting with his fiancée, he declined to pose for photographs.

He spent some time last night, it was reported, composing a special coronation message of good wishes and loyalty to King George, once his subject, now his sovereign.

WELL FLOWS OIL.
PALESTINE, May 11. (AP)—Placid Oil Company's No. 1 Elliott, in the Periclia district, flowed oil with water under high gas pressure today. Operators are still hopeful they will be able to plug off salt water and complete the well as a producer. The well blew out last week and hurled 2,000 feet of tubing into the derrick.

The Pampa Oilers will return to the home lot tomorrow night after two games away from home. Their standing on the road was .500—a win over Phillips and a 13-inning loss to Luber. Tomorrow night the Oilers will try to hike their average with another victory over the Phillips 66 team from Borge.

Game time has been set back to 8:30, where it will remain during the summer unless another change is necessary in mid-season. Admission will be 40 cents per person.

Despite a damp playing field and a cool wind, Manager Fred Brickell put his Oilers through a stiff workout yesterday afternoon. He paid particular attention to the willow-wielders who have been in a slump and to smoothing out fielding difficulties.

A changed batting order may be sent against the 66 batters tomorrow night. With McLarry hitting the ball hard and often, he will probably be sent up in the order to replace Beason who has been hitting the ball hard but "where they are."

Floyd Lisie will probably be on the receiving end although Eddie Sain's great hitting makes him a factor in the receiving assignment. On the mound will be either Goodell or Hutton, it is believed.

Phillips will have a strengthened team, according to Manager Sam Hale who is tired of being on the receiving end of a barrage of runs. The wily Hale refused, at last questioning, to tell what was on his mind in the way of a recovery program for his 66 club.

Freddie Steele To Battle Battaglia

SEATTLE, May 11 (AP)—Freddie Steele, world's middleweight boxing champion, vowed today he would silence some eastern critics by trouncing Frankie Battaglia, a tough Minneapolis fighter, in a 15-round title bout here tonight.

Steele declared he was thoroughly aroused by written opinions that "he doesn't look like a champ."

"The critics even said Freddie looked out of place in a ring after they saw him successfully defend his crown in New York against the man from whom he won it—Eddie Beaton," Steele said.

"I'll make them eat those words," said Steele as he shook the good right fist he had ready to stuff into Battaglia's face. "I'll show 'em whether I'm a champion." The demonstration was to be at Battaglia's expense.

Battaglia was substituting for Ken Overlin of Richmond, Va., who became ill after arriving in Seattle for the bout.

JAMESON TO GEORGIA

SAN ANTONIO, May 11. (AP)—Betty Jameson, local school girl who recently won the Texas Women's Golf association tournament for the second consecutive time, left today for Atlanta, Ga., where she will compete in the southern tournament beginning Monday, May 17. Kay Pearson of Houston accompanied her.

SKELETON SHAKES

ALBANY, N. Y., May 11. (AP)—Pete, the Indian skeleton in New York state's museum, has the jittery visitors declared today. The shaking, described as a subtle sort of quiver, is mostly in the left arm, they said. Guard Bert Van Loan, however, has a hunch that Pete's ancient joints are hung in such neat balance that the vibration of the ventilating fans produce the shakes.

VALENTI PUTS GALVESTON IN SECOND PLACE

(By The Associated Press.)

TODAY'S GAMES:
Galveston at Dallas (night).
Houston at Fort Worth (night).
Other teams—off-day.

Galveston's surprising Bucaneers moved into second place in the Texas league today on the heels of a Frank Merrill stunt by Joe Valenti, Pirate third baseman.

While Beaumont's Exporters maintained their lead over the field with 10-9 victory over the San Antonio Missions, Valenti stepped up to the plate in the ninth inning with one out and the score tied and slammed the ball over the fence to give his team a 4-3 victory over Houston.

Mike Cvangros, veteran southpaw, went the route and allowed but seven hits—but that was one too many. Bubber Jonnard gained his third straight relief role victory on the mound.

Beaumont staged a garrison finish to nose out the Missions. San Antonio scored seven runs in four innings on eleven hits before Beaumont scratched the scoreboard but the Shippers counted four in the fifth, five in the seventh and one in the ninth for victory.

The Fort Worth Cats had two big innings to down Tulsa 13-4. The Panthers scored seven runs in the sixth and six more in the eighth. Twenty-nine hits were made on both sides, the Cats getting 18. A rainstorm cut the game to eight innings.

Rain caused postponement of the Dallas-Oklahoma City game.

HOME RUN KINGS' BATS ARE STRANGELY SILENT

CHICAGO, May 11. (AP)—It's there in cold figures but the major league home run picture doesn't look right these days.

Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Fox? Today it was Dick Bartell, the New York Giants' shortstop and Alex Kampouris, the Cincinnati Reds' little second baseman, with six apiece. The names of Gehrig and Fox didn't even appear in the list of sluggers with four or more round trip belts to their credit.

Not only that, but the American league—the "hitters' league"—was trailing the National "pitchers' league," in total homer output for the season. The junior circuit was trailing 54 to 68.

George (Twinkle-Toes) Selkirk, the man who patrols Babe Ruth's old right field territory for the Yankees, and Gerald Walker, the Detroit Tiger who has been a ball of fire at bat this season, each had five homers.

A's And Indians Are Still Tied For Lead In American

(By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

All but one of their winning pitchers are strangers to the major leagues, in only three of their fourteen games has a starting pitcher finished—yet today the Philadelphia Athletics, frequently lampooned this season as ragged-trousered urchins clinging to Connie Mack's hand, remain deadlocked with the Cleveland Indians at the head of the American league.

While the Indians were winning their fifth straight yesterday, 6-5, because Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox heaved a double play ball wild in the eleventh inning, the A's kept step by turning back the Detroit Tigers, 9-5.

The victory was the second for Luther Thomas. Two victories each also are credited to Almon Williams, George Casler and Harry Kelley. Of the foursome, only Kelley has big league background. He won fifteen games for Mack last year, a 30-year-old "rookie" who is a minor league veteran.

Defeat for the Tigers, their third in a row though Gerald Walker extended his hitting streak to 16 games, combined with the Yankees' 7-0 shutout of the White Sox as Monte Pearson hurled the first one-hit game of the season, brought the two into a tie for third place.

Pearson got able assistance from Joe DiMaggio, with his first two homers of the year; and George Selkirk, with his fifth.

The only disturbing note to the Yankee cause was an injury to Catcher Bill Dickey. Hit in the arm by a pitched ball, the hard-hitting receiver may be out two weeks.

In the other American league game, Julio Bonetti shut out the Senators with two hits for eight innings, was clipped for three hits and as many runs in the ninth, but lasted to lift the Browns out of the cellar with a 6-3 triumph, his first of the year.

The Pirates kept up their terrific pace in the National league. Bill Swift's eight-hit, six-strikeout, no bases-on-balls pitching set back the Bees, 4-1, made it three straight for the Bucs and four successive whalings for Boston.

Fantastic pitching also marked the other National league battles. Van Mungo stopped the Cardinals with four hits and so inspired his Dodger mates they played error-less ball for the first time this season and stole five bases to win 8-2.

Buckey Walters tamed the Reds with four hits as the Phillies came out of a four-game losing streak with a 10-3 triumph over Cincinnati, and Clyde Shoun, with home run assistance from Aule Galan and Ripper Collins, pitched the Cubs to a 4-3 decision over the Giants.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Monte Pearson and Joe DiMaggio, Yankees; Pearson held White Sox to one hit in 7-0 shutout for third victory and drove in two runs on three hits; DiMaggio cracked out two homers.

Clubby Dean, Athletics: His second homer of season, plus two singles, led attack in 11-inning, 6-5 trimming of Red Sox.

Bucky Walters, Phillies: Set Reds down with four hits as Phils ended four-game losing streak with 10-3 victory.

Bill Swift, Pirates: Scattered eight hits, and fanned six to halt Bees, 4-1, and kept Bucs in lead.

Van Mungo, Giddy Brack and Helnie Manush, Dodgers: Mungo won fourth straight with 4-hit, 8-2 trimming of Cards; Brack and Manush stole two bases each.

BOB FELLER TO TAKE SCHOOL EXAMS TODAY

VAN METER, Ia., May 11. (AP)—Bob Feller, 18-year old baseball idol of thousands of American youngsters, opened a campaign today—for a high school diploma.

Before the graduation exercises Friday night the Cleveland Indians' bashful pitching sensation must take examinations in physics, psychology, literature and history.

"I can't figure out which will be tougher—facing Lou Gehrig or taking that physics exam," he said as he prepared to catch the orange and black Van Meter consolidated school bus that comes past his farm home.

Bob said he figured he'd have to do some "cramming" for those exams. As for Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, and the other heavy hitters of the New York Yankees, Bob would only intimate he expected to have his fireball smoking by May 23 when Cleveland plays the Yankees in New York.

The young farm boy arrived at the Des Moines airport yesterday after a flight from Cleveland.

Giants in Granite Take New Form at Rushmore

Swinging across the precipitous face of granite Mount Rushmore, in the Black Hills of South Dakota, skilled workmen have resumed the sculpturing of four gigantic figures, under the direction of noted Gutzon Borglum. At the left are the heads of Washington and Jefferson, not yet completed. At the right men so tiny as to be almost imperceptible are at work on the chin of Abraham Lincoln. Theodore Roosevelt's figure will be cut last. Workmen, let down over the face of the mountain on seats attached to cables, carve with pneumatic drills.

VAN SWERINGEN EMPIRE'S NEW "CABINET"

Dissolution of the Chesapeake Corporation and simplification of other features of the complex financial organization by which the Van Sweringens built up control of $3,000,000,000 of railroad properties was pledged by the new "board of directors" of the rail empire, preliminary to the Senate investigation of the transaction by which they became its rulers. Pictured at a directors' conference in New York are, left to right, Robert Young, Charles Bradley, George A. Ball of Muncie, Ind. (from whom the Midamerica Corporation control was purchased), Frank F. Kolbe, and Frank B. Bernard of Muncie.

There She Goes! F. D. R. Cementing Louisiana Ties

There was a terrific din and bricks spewed in every direction a few seconds after this picture was taken of a chimney literally tumbling to destruction in Peoria, Ill. Workmen chiseled out a few bricks at the base, the tall figure swayed, bent, crumpled, crashed.

Not completely without its political significance is President Roosevelt's fishing trip, as this picture of him dining with Louisiana's young and energetic Gov. Richard Leche shows. While the President drank his demitasse he also further cemented the allegiance of the old Long political faction to the New Deal.

Alimony Sitter Warming Up

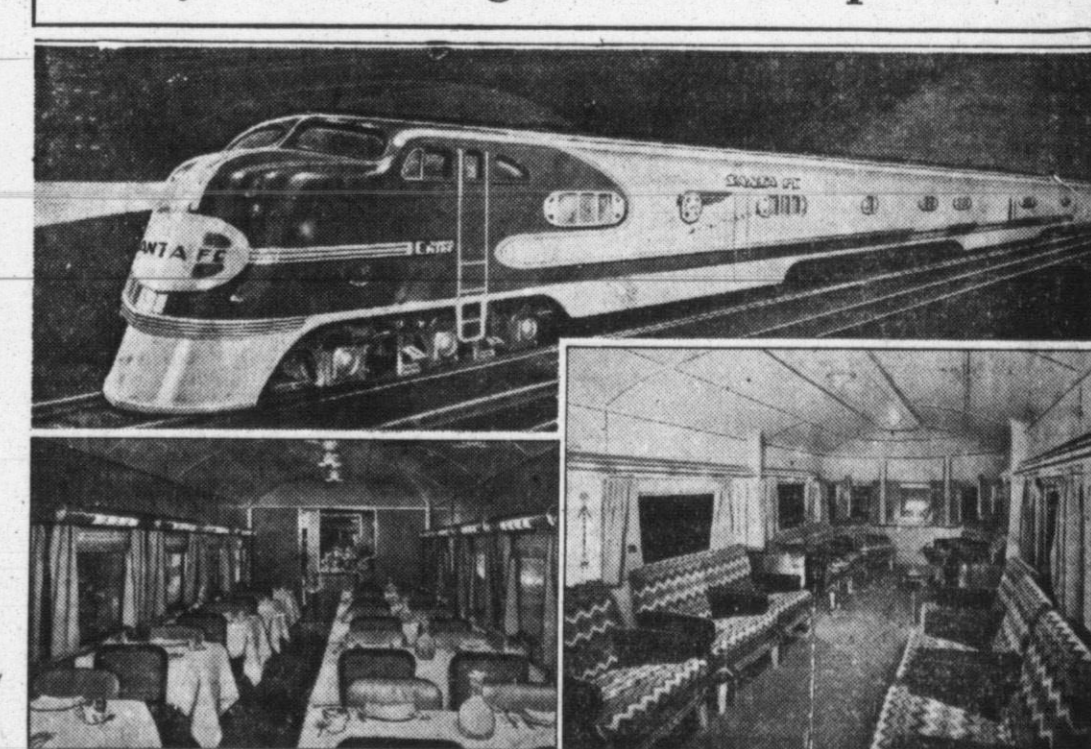

Chill winds and rain sent Mrs. Genevieve Johnson, Longmont, Colo., alimony sitter, huddling into warm blankets, sniffling and shivering, as the above photo shows. However, she was determined to stay in her husband's front yard until he paid back alimony, she said. Sympathizers, like this truck driver with bologna, brought her food. Meanwhile Longmont's tourist business boomed.

Navajo Craft Designs Used in Super Chief

FROM the Navajos of the picturesque southwest, the Santa Fe drew the inspiration for the design of its new stainless steel streamline train, the Super Chief, newest of the luxury trains in the west. The rich colors associated with the country through which the train travels have been used as the background for decorations, faithfully reproducing the art and craft of the Navajo Indians. Sand paintings, silver craft and weaving have been skillfully combined with rare woods and modern design to give the train all the beauty and color of the desert. The train was built by Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Company of Philadelphia. The locomotive was furnished by the Electro-Motive Corporation of Chicago. Throughout the train, each compartment has its own color scheme and arrangement, and each has been designed so that suites may be formed by use of connecting doors. In the cocktail and observation lounges has been reserved much of the beauty of Navajo life. Sand paintings have been used in the pier panels to illustrate the characters which occur in the story of Dsilyl Noyani, the "Myth of the Mountain Chant." All of the figures are executed in native colored sands and charcoal. Coverings are reproductions of rare Navajo museum pieces, and lighting fixtures have been adapted from the fourth painting of Dsilyl Noyani. The "Plumed Arrows" have been fashioned into glow lights and a rear table lamp employs the sacrificial knife stem for a base with its shade fashioned of goat skin.

Din Of Disapproval Over Jefferson Memorial Plan Makes Project Doubtful

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Pampa Daily News-Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 10—There has been such a terrific din of protest against plans for the Thomas Jefferson memorial here that it now seems almost inconceivable that the sponsors can ever get away with it.

The project has been bombarded, strafed, bayoneted, blasted and ridiculed by nearly all the local folk, reinforced by members of Congress. Add a large number of recent visitors who became enraged on hearing that their beloved Japanese cherry blossoms would have to be destroyed if Jefferson were to be properly honored in accordance with the official blueprints.

Objections have been aimed at three chief points:

1. The design, which is that of a Greek temple closely resembling the Parthenon.
2. The site, which calls for a rejiggering of the Tidal Basin around which the cherry blossoms bloom annually in a thick unbroken line, and for reconstruction of a large area which Washingtonians consider especially beautiful in its present form.
3. The fact that the architect, John Russell Pope, was chosen at a star chamber session rather than in open competition.

Responsible for all this was the official committee headed by Congressman John Boylan, a veteran Tammany man and real estate operator. For years he evidenced his intense admiration for Jefferson by annually introducing a bill for a memorial, and finally under a Democratic administration, obtained authorization for $3,000,000 for that purpose.

In Secret Session
Given full power by Congress, Boylan and his commission have been able to dictate. They can be checked only by refusal of the House Appropriations Committee to vote a grant of $500,000 which President Roosevelt and the Budget Bureau have approved for a start on the project or failing that, by a vote of the House or Senate to delete the appropriation.

Three Senate members of the commission approved their plan in secret session. But conspicuous on the commission was Joseph P. Tumulty, a lawyer-lobbyist here since he was secretary to Woodrow Wilson. Opposing public hearings, Tumulty is said to have declared that "we are not going to connect Jefferson with anything commercial or utilitarian."

So the result was approval of the classic Pope and his design for a huge temple with Ionic pillars which would practically overshadow the Lincoln Memorial. Standing at the south end of the Tidal Basin on a causeway, the temple and rest of the plan would require making the irregular basin a rectangle and the destruction of most, if not all, the 723 cherry trees in the affected area. Such a huge amount of draining, filling-in, highway building and other work would have to be done that engineers and certain architects have said the ultimate cost would run between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000. Pope, incidentally, would be paid 6 per cent of $3,000,000.

Critics complain that the temple with its "squat dome" would be "grandiose" but "dull and pompous." The League for Progress in Architecture says the design is "completely inappropriate and completely without imagination or vitality." Local citizens' associations are howling day and night. Women's clubs have joined them. The Washington Restaurant Association fearing loss of cherry-blossoms will discourage tourists, has protested. The American Automobile Association calls the plan "unwarranted and indefensible vandalism."

Some Want Stadium
Congressman Otha D. Wearin of Iowa and others have demanded that commission plans be shelved while the governments Fine Arts Commission and the National Park and Planning Commission work out something "which will include a national competitive design contest. There is no lack of suggested alternatives as to site or design. Many demand a big stadium or auditorium, and some want the site placed on the Potomac, near the George Washington Memorial Highway down toward Alexandria and Mount Vernon.

Several New York architects have come to defense of the Pope plan, although others at least as prominent have attacked it. The former demand "dignity," "faithfulness to Jefferson's ideals" and "fidelity to the ancient L'Enfant plan for laying out the capital city—which called for a five-point cross with the Capitol at one end, the White House at the other and the Washington monument between them.

Trials of Capital Society
Society life in Washington is much harder than most outsiders suppose.

Mrs. Harry Woodring, attractive wife of the acting secretary of war, had an "at home" the other day and expected only 200 guests. But the D. A. R. was meeting here and 625 came.

More refreshments were ordered on the double-quick. But when the trucks came with food and drink they couldn't get near the Woodring mansion because of the traffic jam.

from districts which ban whiskey generally voted against it.

The amendment was killed, 78 to 62.

Rep. E. H. Thornton, from the anti-prohibition stronghold of Galveston, vainly sought adoption of a series of amendments. One would have eliminated the section giving liquor board inspectors the powers of peace officers, and after that was defeated he offered one to place them under bond. A third would have permitted places accused by the liquor board of violating the law to seek court injunctions whereby they might operate until their cases had been settled by the courts.

A local option proposal from the dry side was offered by Rep. Ben Sharpe of Paris but fared no better than the sale-by-the-drink amendment. It would have permitted dry counties to vote on whether they wanted to continue whiskey sales under doctors' prescriptions.

During 1935, Canada exported fresh apples to the value of $8,821,000.

Johnson also carried Bianco, his home county, Hays, where he worked his way through college, Washington home county of his predecessor, the late Rep. James P. Buchanan, and Caldwell.

This district has a record of keeping its congressmen in office many years. One of Johnson's predecessors still lives. He is Albert Sidney Burleson of Austin, who was postmaster general in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet.

Cleavage of legislators along wet and dry lines, while not as sharp as in previous prohibition battles, nevertheless was evident during House consideration of a proposed new central liquor regulatory statute.

The division was particularly noticeable on the vote on an amendment which would have permitted sales of hard liquor by the drink under local option. Representatives of districts where hard liquor is legal generally voted for it while those

Says Sitting Bar to Citizenship

To Circuit Judge W. R. Hunter, above, of Kankakee, Ill., belief in the sitdown strike is a "form of anarchy" and should constitute a bar to citizenship. Examining applicants for naturalization, Judge Hunter asked opinions of sitdowns, warning "such strikers are violating the law. They're anarchists and can and should be punished." No applicant professed belief in sit-downs.

Lyndon Johnson of Johnson City, elected by a plurality of 3,168, stressed the issue more than the other advocates. Merton L. Harris of Smithville, another supporter of the plan, finished sixth, 691 votes ahead of Polk Shelton of Austin, who was on the other side.

Johnson carried six of the ten counties. Perhaps most surprising were his pluralities in Travis county, home of four opponents, Shelton, C. A. Avery, State Senator Houghton Brownlee, and Ayres K. Ross, and in Burnet county, former home of Senator Brownlee.

His vote in Travis county was 2,962 against 2,167 for Shelton, runner-up. He beat Brownlee in Burnet county 518 to 471.

Johnson also carried Bianco, his home county, Hays, where he worked his way through college, Washington home county of his predecessor, the late Rep. James P. Buchanan, and Caldwell.

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—Complete results from the special congressional race in the 10th district showed the four major candidates who supported President Roosevelt's Supreme Court reorganization proposal received 21,390 votes to 7,439 for its two foes.

Snooper hears that Alta Marie Terrell went into a beer parlor to try to buy some ice cream in Austin.

Miss Pattison was wondering how she could bring the mattress from her bed in cabin 10, home as a souvenir.

Eddie Bissett and Kathleen Kuehl enjoyed each other's company.

Frances Hampton and Louise Collins played bridge all the way to Carlsbad.

Everyone was forced to buy colored glasses Sunday on the way back because Wayne Harrison purchased the loudest red shirt obtainable in Carlsbad.

Dan Wallace got up at Hereford when the bus stopped for gas and walked down the street before he remembered he had his shoes off.

Ernest Waverly Cabe Jr. told of experiences back in his boyhood days in Arkansas and also demonstrated the old art of hog calling every chance he obtained.

John Mitchell, while sleeping on the bus, had his complexion changed when the girls placed lipstick and rouge thickly upon him.

Mr. Cabe seemed very disgusted when he had to crank the bus because the starter was broken.

The boys in cabin 17 had a good old "pillor fight."

Mr. Cabe gave everyone 30 minutes to eat lunch, and then took one hour for himself.

Will someone please examine Bob Watt's head? He looked for the Port of Entry one hundred miles from the other side of Clovis and thought Carlsbad was north of Pampa because he had the map upside down.

Ask Allan Wise, Bobby Banks, Chester Hunkapillar, and Hampton Stennis how they like sleeping on a sheet that has been "salted down."

Ernest Prather, Bob Watt, and Arthur Schaeffer don't seem to cater to those lovely girls from Vega. The girls would get out of the car, thus making the boys arrive at camp several hours after taps had been blown.

Winston Savage speaks Spanish very eloquently. When some obliging Mexicans gave an entertaining musicale on the camp lawn at Carlsbad, Mr. Savage encouraged them by yelling, "Bravo, bravo, bravo!"

Mr. Savage, Bob Kilgore, Helen Draper, Rose La Neil Williams, Arvo Goddard, Ruby Sciafer, and others had a good time creating traffic jams in the caverns when they would stop and gaze at the ceiling apparently at something grand and sure 'nuff they did it just to laugh at the one behind them when they'd crane their necks.

Eita Marie Choate remarked to Chester Hunkapillar that a certain formation looked just like a bear. Whereupon Choate replied, "Yes, it really does, horns and all."

The girls riding the bus sang all right for the first hundred miles or so, but by the time they got to Clovis, they had the tunes so mixed up that one could not tell whether they were singing "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," "Yes, We Have No Bananas," or humming a military march. Maybe they were merely giving a reading.

Instructors Urge Students To Attend Summer School

In enrolling students for next year, home room teachers are finding a number of students deficient in grade points and units and recommending summer school in order to make up this deficiency.

Summer school opens May 31, and ends July 24. Classes will be held from 7:30 until 12 o'clock. Classes in social science, English, mathematics, and other sciences will be taught by instructors chosen from the present teaching staff.

Some of the advantage of summer school are providing some profitable leisure time, making up a subject in which a student has failed, accumulating necessary grade points and speeding up graduation.

Junior high school students who have less than the three credits requirements to enter high school will find it to their advantage to attend summer school.

If any of the above conditions apply to you you will be interested in knowing that tuition fees are nominal in cost: $10 for one-half unit; $18 for two half units, and $25 for three units.

Students Are Urged To Hunt Receipts For Book

Next Monday is the big day! The annual staff is ready to reveal the nature of these surprises, other than to say that the book is entirely different in appearance from previous annuals. It is 20 pages larger than last year's book, has one new section and many changes in other sections, and has more and better pictures than previous annuals.

The printing and binding of the books are being done by the commercial department of the Pampa Daily News. Photography was done by O. Wirsching and W. Fletcher. The engraving was done by the A. Zeese Engraving Co. of Dallas, there being no local engraving plants.

Students are asked to please follow carefully the instructions given them when opening the books when they receive their annuals if they wish to take proper care of the binding. Covers will be of slightly better quality than last year but will not be faked. The staff found that with only $3 to spend per book, it was impossible to buy imitation leather covers, as the best prices they could get were $1 per cover, and the remaining $2 would not have enabled them to put out as large a book as last year.

Students are asked to please follow carefully the instructions given them when opening the books when they receive their annuals if they wish to take proper care of the binding. Covers will be of slightly better quality than last year but will not be faked. The staff found that with only $3 to spend per book, it was impossible to buy imitation leather covers, as the best prices they could get were $1 per cover, and the remaining $2 would not have enabled them to put out as large a book as last year.

HAVE YOU GRATITUDE? How many of us are fully appreciative of the privileges extended to us by the faculty, and board of education? Do we ever stop to check up and show our gratitude for these privileges which are ours? No school in the entire state of Texas does more for the welfare and happiness of its student body than does Pampa.

In the matter of equipment for example don't we have most everything we need for our class room and laboratory needs? Isn't our new $80,000 auditorium equipped with the last in scenic effects, electrical devices, and seating arrangements? Don't we have the privilege of going here once a week to listen to interesting assembly programs that have been carefully prepared for our entertainment and pleasure?

A way is always found for students to go to different schools to participate in athletic, musical and other inter-scholastic events. Sometimes this necessitates much money and inconvenience but the school authorities realize the advantage of this and meet the situation.

The school board provides the best type of instructors for us. Men and women who have spent years in study and research in their various field of specialization.

After all aren't privileges extended to us to help develop our initiative and judgement? So why not value rather than undervalue these privileges and show our appreciation? Remember the old saying "Ingratitude is one of the greatest of sins."

AND A SWELL TIME WAS HAD The fourth annual trip to the Carlsbad Caverns is over and tired but happy seniors are dragging around to the last classes of the year.

For four years the seniors have made trips to the Caverns and returned rich with adventure and travel and full of the wondrous beauties that nature has shown them. This trip has replaced the "sneak day" that the seniors used to have near the end of the school year, a day in which all seniors used to skip and go on a picnic and afterward crash the show. Nothing was gained by this and usually a lot of mischief and trouble resulted, so it was suggested by Principal L. L. Sone that it be made an annual trip to be made to some point of interest.

This trip to Carlsbad has become a tradition in Pampa high school and it is a very good thing. Many boys and girls will never have the privilege again to visit such a wonderful sight of nature. Many may not and many will never have the pleasure of associating again with their classmates. It is the one big thing students look forward to when they will be a senior.

It was a lot of fun and we think we gained a lot of knowledge that will never come out of books by this trip and the seniors of '37 wish the seniors of the following years as good a time as we have had.

E. N. DENNARD TAKES POSITION AT MARSHALL Doyle Osborne Will Succeed Dennard In Position

Such sorrow is being expressed by the student body, the faculty and administrative heads over the leaving of E. N. Dennard, assistant principal.

Mr. Dennard leaves our high school to accept a position at Marshall, Texas, as principal of the high school there, after teaching here for the past four years.

Along with the duties of assistant principal, Mr. Dennard has taught accounting, American history, civics, and economics, coached the Gueffria basketball, football, and track team.

He has always taken an interest in the entire student body and has done much for them, and the entire school is sad because of his leaving at the same time joyous at the prospect of his promotion. Supt. B. B. Fisher and Principal L. L. Sone highly recommended Mr. Dennard for his new position.

Mr. Dennard was graduated from Trinity university in 1929 receiving a B. A. degree. Prior to coming to Pampa he was principal at Palmer, Texas, for four years.

Doyle Osborne, head of the history department and instructor in debate, will succeed Mr. Dennard as assistant principal to Mr. Sone.

Banquet Plans Are Kept Secret

Ab—mystery is in the air! Every senior is agog with curiosity about the Junior-Senior banquet. It is the last tribute the juniors pay to the seniors. Very few know anything about the favors that are to be used.

The girls are running around in circles trying to find out who's going to wear what and "who" she is going with.

The decorations, according to Miss Anna Louise Jones, junior sponsor, are being planned and the table decorations are being made by the juniors. The banquet will be held Saturday, May 15.

Band and Glee Club To Give Broadcast

Wednesday afternoon the high school band and glee club gave a 30 minute broadcast over station KPDX.

The band opened the program with "Children's March" and the glee club sang "Will You Remember?" The band then played the "Safari" overture and the "Gateway City" march, and the glee club sang "Blue Hawaii."

Both organizations closed the program by singing and playing "Dear Old Pampa High School."

PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL ONE-ACT PLAY, "CABBAGES" WINS FIRST AT STATE CONTEST IN AUSTIN

Colleen McMahan, Dick Kennedy Win Recognition

Pampa High school's one-act play, "Cabbages," won the state Inter-scholastic league contest last Saturday in Austin for the second time in four years.

Colleen McMahan won the Samuel French award for the best individual performer in the contest. Dick Kennedy also won a medal for his outstanding performance.

Other members of the cast were Albertine Schulke, Gene Finkbeiner, Richard Kilgore, Annie Johnson and Betty Rains. The group was accompanied by their director, Kenneth Carman, and stage managers Roy Lee Jones and Mickey Ledrick.

The cast left Austin Sunday for a trip to Galveston which was awarded them because they were unable to make the annual senior trip to Carlsbad Caverns.

POETS HEAD LIST OF FAVORITE ENGLISH AUTHORS FOR THEMES

Poets are more popular with seniors than novelists and short-story writers, if the English IV term themes are any index to the tastes of students, says Mrs. Hol Wagner, head of the English department.

"My Favorite English Author" was the subject assigned, in which students were asked to write an appreciation of the author they liked best, based upon what they had read by that author.

Wordsworth and Burns tied for first place, with Tennyson running a close second. Burns and Tennyson were far more popular with boys than Wordsworth, who was decidedly the girls' favorite.

Dickens ranked highest among the novelists, with Robert Louis Stevenson and Rudyard Kipling next in preference. Other novelists chosen by students were Thackeray, Scott, and Jane Austen.

Three students expressed a preference for Shakespeare. Milton and Byron were each the favorite of two. The following older poets were chosen by one student each: Shelley, Keats, Robert Browning, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, and Pope.

Two present day poets were chosen, Noyes and Masefield, and Kipling also was well liked for his poetry as for his novels and short stories. One boy expressed a preference for the great lexicographer, Samuel Johnson.

Thought appeals to students more than mere art, Mrs. Wagner says. Their simplicity and naturalness added to their appeal. Tennyson's high idealism explains his popularity. One boy said "He seems to me purer than any of the others."

The appeal of Dickens is also easy to explain: His novels are humanitarian in spirit, written in behalf of the poor and downtrodden, with the hope of bringing about reforms in the wretched conditions existing in the courts, the schools, and the slums. Kipling's vigor makes him a favorite with both boys and girls. The romantic quality of Stevenson's writings explains his appeal. Stevenson believed that literature should be an escape from life.

OUTINGS BECOMING POPULAR AMONG PAMPA HIGH STUDENTS

Flies on their hoods, ants down their backs. Poison ivy everywhere, mustard on their slacks. Pickles fallen in the dirt, weiners in the coals.

Just another bunch of picnickers. The poor dumb souls! Spring not only brings flowers, leaves, fever, and puppy love, but also drags with it a double helping of the picnic rage.

The schedule of Pampa high for the last two weeks has been one solid mass of picnics: Future Farmers' picnics, Future Homemakers' picnics, band picnics.

Everyone seems to think that food tastes better if it is flavored with savory wood smoke, unsavory sand, and unpalatable ants. The boys can't enjoy baseball unless there is a nearby creek for the ball to fall in. "Some fun," they say. Maybe so.

NEW REMINGTONS INSTALLED. Five new Remington typewriters were installed in the commercial department last Wednesday afternoon. The old Remingtons were removed.

115 Students Return Tired But Satisfied

Blasphemy and sore jointed seniors were seen stumbling around the halls of Pampa high school Monday morning, after their annual trip to Carlsbad caverns, but when asked how they enjoyed their trip, all seem ready and willing to try it again.

Friday morning the group of 115 seniors, parents, and teachers left Pampa by bus and automobile for the trip of almost 400 miles to Carlsbad. The trip down was made without any accidents, but a few flats were had.

On arriving in Carlsbad the party was divided in two groups and assigned to their cabins in either Camp D or Camp Hermosa, which are known as the two best camps in the city.

After refreshing themselves, the seniors sought entertainment, some swimming in the Pecos River, some just watching, and still others exploring the town. Later in the evening a picnic was enjoyed by the entire group, after which most of them retired early so to be fresh for the cavern trip next morning.

Saturday morning found the seniors up bright and early and ready for the 28-mile drive from the city of Carlsbad to the caverns. Here they joined other school groups and tourists to begin the seven-mile walk through the cave. At the entrance, a natural arch 90 feet wide and 40 feet high, a government official gave a brief talk on the caverns.

The walk began at 10:30, following the trail in twos. The trail in the main corridor of the cave is almost a mile long and leads into the first named room, the Green Lake room, which derives its name from a small green pool alongside the trail.

The group then passed through a short artificial tunnel to the King's Palace, thought by the entire group to be the most beautiful chamber in the cave. Many "ahs" and "ahs" could be heard as the party passed under the gleaming onyx curtains separating the King's Palace and the Queen's Chamber.

This room is particularly famous for its elephant ears or draperies, some hanging straight, other draped or folded back.

Next comes the Papoose Chamber, a beautiful little room which leads back to the King's Palace, where the trail leads to the lunch-room, at the beginning of the Big Room. Here the group stopped for a period of 45 minutes for lunch. Leaving the lunchroom, the group entered the Big Room, which is nearly 4,000 feet long and 625 feet wide, and at one place the ceiling reaches 325 feet above the floor.

In this room the party was stopped and asked to be seated around the "Rock of Ages." Then the superintendent of the caverns gave a brief talk, telling how many were in there at the time. There were 1,363 in their and 800 or more of them were from Texas. After his talk, all lights in the Caverns were turned out for 30 seconds, and as they were being turned back on, a quartet sang "Rock of Ages." This was one of the most impressive parts of the trip.

From the Big Room the group began the return trip, and on nearing the entrance the party was again impressed by the beauty of the sun beams shining into the cave. Many of the group had their picture taken as they came out of the cave as a moving picture was being taken of the party.
