

Dora Pushes Six-Foot Waves Into Florida

Storm Shifts North; Beaches Evacuated

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI) — Hurricane Dora veered to a northwesterly course today but raked this ancient city's coastline with the outer teeth of 115-mile-an-hour winds.

Tides up to six feet above normal piled against the deserted coastline here and gusts up to 81 m.p.h. were reported at exposed Marineland, Fla., on the seashore 18 miles south of St. Augustine.

With the shift in Dora's course, the Miami Weather Bureau ordered gale warnings removed on the Florida Gulf Coast between Sarasota and Apalachicola and other warnings down south of Sarasota and on Lake Okeechobee.

Dora's outer fringes brought gusts of nearly 40 miles an hour along the Georgia coast.

At 9 a.m. EST, the Weather Bureau located the center of Dora's 50-mile-wide eye about 100 miles east-southeast of St. Augustine. It was moving at a slow 8 m.p.h. on a northwest course, the Weather Bureau said.

Fred Willis, St. Johns County civil defense director, estimated frequent hurricane-force gusts in the 75-mile-an-hour range here at St. Augustine and sustained winds of 55 to 60 m.p.h.

The northeast Florida coastline, with 25,000 persons huddled in 213 shelters after fleeing their beach homes, waited anxiously as Dora's fearsome center, packing 125 m.p.h. winds, moved slowly forward offshore, slightly north of Daytona Beach.

Winds up to 60 m.p.h. began hitting the coast from New Smyrna Beach northward to Jacksonville beach at daybreak.

The storm slowed somewhat in its course toward the mainland but forecasters warned that the top winds of 125 miles an hour would strike during the day any place from Cape Kennedy northward along the Florida coast.

Dora claimed three lives Tuesday in the rush by people to prepare for the onslaught. Two Navy fliers died in the crash of an attack bomber being evacuated from the Sanford, Fla., Air Station and a Brunswick, Ga., man was swept to his death while attempting to retrieve a boat that had slipped its mooring.

Exactly where the full fury of the huge storm would hit the coast remained in doubt as the storm hovered offshore.

Slowing In Speed
"Hurricane Dora has a large, ill-defined eye and the hurricane is gradually slowing in forward speed," the weather bureau said. The hurricane is expected to reach land near St. Augustine today, but with the large center it may be any place from Cape Kennedy northward along the Florida coast.

Gusts up to 76 m.p.h. began buffeting the water-lashed beaches north of Daytona Beach shortly before dawn and weathermen said sustained hurricane-force winds of 75 m.p.h. and higher raged just offshore.

The Miami Weather Bureau centered Dora at 7 a.m. EST about 100 miles east of Daytona Beach, near latitude 29.3, longitude 79.4. It was moving toward St. Augustine at about 11 m.p.h.

The eye of Hurricane Dora is reported as 50 miles in diameter so that a large stretch of the coast from Cape Kennedy northward will feel the effects of the strong winds estimated to be up to 125 m.p.h. near the center," the Weather Bureau said.

Hurricane warnings flew over a 350-mile strip of coast from Stuart, Fla., to Brunswick. The weather bureau changed postings on the Florida West Coast to include only gale warnings from Fort Myers northward to Apalachicola. It said the storm's fury should diminish somewhat once it strikes across the Florida Peninsula.

Gale Warnings Up
Gale warnings were also displayed from Brunswick to Myrtle Beach, S.C. from Stuart to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and over huge Lake Okeechobee.

The most fearsome destructive force packed by Dora was 5 to 10 foot tides forecasters expected to come crashing against the northeast Florida coast by midmorning. The Jacksonville Weather Bureau warned that a tide of such magnitude could bring disaster to Jacksonville Beach and nearby Mayport.

Dora spawned a northeaster off North Carolina and residents along the Outer Banks a narrow sand spit off the coast — began preparing to evacuate.

Much of the Atlantic coastline from Stuart, Fla., to Myrtle Beach was buttoned up, including the nation's space center at Cape Kennedy. Thousands moved into emergency shelters or took refuge with relatives and friends living away from exposed coastal beaches.

Excepted from the commercial break were shipments of food, medicines and medical equipment being sent to Cuba for "inherently humanitarian reasons" and the ships needed to carry them.

The council called also for early convocation of a new inter-American conference, presumably to permit further discussion of the Cuba issue.

UAW and Chrysler Reach Agreement
DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union and Chrysler Corp. have reached agreement on a new three-year contract that includes the fattest pension in auto industry history, informed sources said today.

Sources said the UAW obtained from Chrysler the $4.25 a month per year of service pension benefits included in the original demands, thus making maximum benefits, including Social Security and other items, in the neighborhood of $400 a month.

An announcement was expected shortly. The source said the contract included many other benefits.

Uruguay Breaks Relations With Communist Cuba

MONTEVIDEO (UPI)—Uruguay broke off relations with Red Cuba Tuesday night. Mexico is now the only Latin American nation maintaining formal contact with Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime.

Leftist students and workers protesting the break scuffled with police in the streets here Tuesday night, but there was no report of casualties. Protest demonstrations on a larger scale appeared likely today.

In Moscow, the Soviet agency Tass predicted that "mass democratic organizations" in Uruguay — presumably meaning the Communist-infiltrated unions — would take to the streets.

Foreign Minister Alejandro Zorrilla de San Martin called in Cuban Charge D'Affaires Aldo Martinez today to notify him formally of the break.

President Luis Giannattasio and five other members of the nine-man executive council voted to terminate diplomatic and most commercial relations with the Castro regime. The other three councilmen did not support the move.

Excepted from the commercial break were shipments of food, medicines and medical equipment being sent to Cuba for "inherently humanitarian reasons" and the ships needed to carry them.

The council called also for early convocation of a new inter-American conference, presumably to permit further discussion of the Cuba issue.

CHILDREN FRONTLINE TROOPS

'Needle War' On in Arkansas

DEWITT, Ark. (UPI)—Some two dozen or so children planned to trudge off to school again today — the frontline troops in Arkansas' strange "needle war."

They knew the doors would be shut to them.

On one side are their parents — members of a sect called the Church of the First Born. They say vaccination violates their religion, and refuse to allow the children to be vaccinated.

On the other side is the state educational system, backed up by the state supreme court and by a law that requires all school children to be vaccinated to prevent the spread of smallpox.

The children tried to enroll Tuesday, but school officials turned them away.

One of those turned down was the son of Dean Williams, a spokesman for the church members. The boy would have been in the second grade.

Williams vowed the children would return today and every day until they are thrown off the school grounds.

"We feel obligated to make a public showing," Williams said. "This matter of freedom of religion must be settled. They can't tell us what we must believe. It must be settled or we will have a state church."

The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday refused 5-2 to allow the children to attend classes while it decides the basic question of the school board's power to demand vaccinations.

Plans Initiated For Citizens' Safety Council

Officers Elected in Steps to Broaden Resident's Education

First steps were taken today to organize a Citizens Safety Council in a move to broaden traffic safety education in Pampa.

Council officers were elected at a meeting in City Hall this forenoon and the citizens group will be headed by John Warner, corporation court judge, who was named chairman. Other officers include K. A. Sorenson and A. D. Pickett, vice Chairman, and Sheila Chisolm, Secretary.

Mrs. Thelma Bray, chairman of a sub-committee of the City Traffic Commission, presided at today's initial organizational session.

The group, acting in a "voice of citizens' capacity" will serve in an advisory capacity to the Pampa Traffic Commission.

Jack Miller, Traffic Commission chairman spoke at today's session and explained purpose of the new safety council.

"The most important aspect of solving a city's traffic problems," Miller said, "is traffic safety education."

Miller pointed out that this should be the chief goal of the new council as it works with schools, PTA groups and others involved in solving traffic problems.

"We just hope it continues," Sullivan said. "We are keeping our fingers crossed."

53,000 in Gigantic Welcome

By JOHN GOLDSMITH
LOS ANGELES (UPI)

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater headed his presidential campaign caravan up the West Coast today from a tumultuous one-night stand in Dodger Stadium, where 53,000 persons gave a rousing reception to his proposal for a 25 per cent income tax cut over five years.

The big rally was another Southern California success for the Republican presidential nominee, who won an important victory in this state's primary election.

Goldwater himself was delighted with the proceedings. Asked whether he was satisfied, as he returned to his hotel here, he said:

Best Ever
"Yes, I'd like to have one like that every day. That was the best I've ever had."

It was an encouraging climax for the first day of the senator's intensive campaigning. From Los Angeles, he was to head for Sacramento today with later stops at Klamath Falls and Eugene, Ore., and a night foreign policy speech in Seattle, Wash.

The rally had all the Hollywood trimmings indigenous to this area.

Feature of the evening, of course, was Goldwater's tax speech. He attacked what he called the tax "gimmickry" of the Johnson administration and proposed his own program involving a five per cent income tax cut for individuals and corporations in each of the sub-Goldwater entered the stadium

Hearty Reception
His speech was interrupted more than 60 times by applause and sometimes the crowd broke in to chant, "we want Barry."

Musical bands, costumed Goldwater girls and a number of television celebrities gave the affair a Hollywood touch. As Goldwater entered the stadium in an open car with his wife, Peggy, by his side, the roar of the crowd filled the place. His top-down convertible came in at the centerfield entrance and (See APPROVES, Page 3)

Price Will Open Office for GOP
Gray County Republicans will officially open their campaign headquarters Friday with an "open house" highlighted by a speech by Bob Price, Republican candidate for Congress from the 18th Congressional district.

The headquarters at 118 W. Foster will be open to the public between the hours of 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. Friday. Refreshments will be served and campaign literature will be available.

Price's speech will be broadcast over KPDN from 5:30 p.m. until 6 p.m. Republican party officials and workers from this district will be present at the opening.

Mrs. E. R. Sidwell will be in charge of the headquarters from now until the election. Daily hours will be from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Former Aide to Goldwater Gets Bid in Arizona

By United Press International

A former campaign aide of GOP presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater won the Republican nomination for governor of Arizona Tuesday in the highlight of primary elections in six states.

Richard Kleindienst, who served as field director of the "Draft Goldwater" committee before the GOP National Convention, rolled up a decisive victory over publisher Evan Mecham, who was the unsuccessful GOP candidate against Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., in 1962. Sam Goddard, the nominee in 1962, won the Democratic gubernatorial nod again this year.

A onetime Hayden aide, Roy Elson, apparently won the Democratic nomination for Goldwater's Senate seat. Gov. Paul Fannin was unopposed for the Republican nomination for the Senate.

Elsewhere across the nation, primaries were held in Minnesota, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Vermont and Colorado.

In Minnesota, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, a contender almost to the last day for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, easily won renomination. He was leading his combined Democratic opposition at one point by a 10 to 1 margin. He raced Republican Wheelock Whitney, mayor of Wayzata and head of a Minneapolis investment firm, who was unopposed for the GOP nomination.

New Hampshire Republicans again nominated Manchester insurance man John Pillsbury as their candidate for governor, re- (See ARIZONA, Page 3)

The Mr. and Mrs. Garden Club toured the garden of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell on Aspen Street recently. The garden is beautiful with many things blooming at this time, such as sweet alyssum, delphinium, pink cockscomb and roses galore to name only a few. Caldwell propagates his own roses from cuttings, using his own special process of mixing cuttings.

Also on the garden tour was the attractive and colorful garden of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Carlson on Charles Street. The special attraction there was the rock garden - water pool combination which Carlson built. He also collects and uses outstanding pieces of driftwood in his garden. Aside from gardening, but still of interest to gardeners, are the tables Carlson makes from rocks.

The National Flower Show Judges of this area are sponsoring a new series of Flower Show Schools to be held in Amarillo Sept. 16 and 17 with examinations on Sept. 18. We would like to urge anyone, garden club members or not, to attend this session. Cost will be $3 for the one day, paid at the door or 2.75 with advance registration.

Mrs. R. G. Murrie of Waco will be the instructor on Sept. 7 on Horticulture and Flower Show Practice.

Working in Yeager and Starkweather Park Thursday morning were Gladys Osborn, Maybelle Carlton and your columnist. As we are trying to get the weeds away from the four rows of cushion mums which are planted in front of the Red Barberry on the upper slope at Yeager and Starkweather. These mums are loaded with buds and will burst forth into bloom soon.

We do know that many people appreciate our park areas and Pampa will benefit from well kept parks; so, wouldn't you like to be a part of this effort?

Mrs. V. N. Osborn will serve delicious blueberry muffins with our coffee when we work Thursday morning at 8:30 a.m. in Yeager and Starkweather again, and also in the small park area at the Duncan, Starkweather, Louisiana intersection. We will be looking for you.

GARDENING TIPS

These tips were furnished by Maybelle Carlton for today.

It's time to start cuttings from your favorite roses or a few of your friends and neighbors favorite ones. Make a hole three to five inches across, six to eight inches deep and fill with good sand. Make cutting four to six inches long; dip in hormone powder, and insert in sand and cover with a glass jar; keep moist but not soggy. Water occasionally all winter. Remove jar on warm days in spring at intervals until the plants are climatized.

Ground covers for those hard to grow spots are very successful. Ajuga is good and has a bronze-blue green color with a colorful blue bloom in spring. I have some to give away to anyone who will come on Sept. 15 only, at 331 N. Faulkner St. Place all flower stalks, grass clippings, leaves, etc. in a pile for composting. Add a layer of soil and some manure to start bacterial decomposition; turn a few times this winter and the compost will be ready for spring use.

According to the moon signs, Sept. 9 through 11 will be a good planting time.

Husband Feels Safer in Cellar During Storms

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a good man in every way, so please don't take this as a complaint against him. Every time it starts to storm and thunder, Bob runs down to the cellar to hide, and he stays down there until the storm subsides, even if it takes all night. It doesn't make any difference if we have guests or not, if a storm comes up and it starts to thunder, Bob runs off like a madman to hide in the cellar. I have asked him to see a head doctor, but he says there's nothing wrong with him. What must I do? He is 53 and has been this way ever since we've been married.

FRAYDY CAT'S WIFE: DEAR WIFE: Your husband's reaction to thunder storms is not as unusual as you think. His behavior is undoubtedly a hold-over from a childhood terror of storms which he never overcame. If this is his only eccentricity, tolerate it good-naturedly. And don't worry about what your guests think.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell your boy friend's ex-girl friend to lay off?

TIRED OF HER: DEAR TIRED: You don't. The boy friend does. If he's "tired of her," too," that is.

DEAR ABBY: We've been having a rip-roaring argument in our bridge club over something that happens every bridge night. About half the girls feel that if your opponent is careless enough to hold her cards so that they can be easily seen, you should take full advantage of the situation without so much as a twinge of conscience. The other half, including me, says that this is just as dishonest as taking money out of a purse that was carelessly left on a bus. We've agreed to let you settle the argument, but I'll bet my next week's booby prize that you'll be on our side.

HONEST ABE: DEAR ABE: Pick up the booby prize. I know it's tiresome to continually tell one to hold her cards up, but it beats peeking, even though you do get an eyeful due to someone else's carelessness.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a counsellor for the state and occasionally he sees clients for private counselling. He is a qualified marriage counsellor and anything he earns after hours is his. Lately he has been giving free counselling to a pretty young woman who is trying to save her marriage. He has never given his services free before, and I resent his giving up one night a week for this woman. She can well afford to pay him. So why is he giving her counselling for free? What is your advice?

RESENTFUL: DEAR RESENTFUL: Nothing is "for free." Your husband is being compensated for his time, if only in satisfaction. You should consult a counsellor to find out how to cope with a husband who is toiling elsewhere when his own fences need mending. (P. S. And pay the counsellor in cash.)

POLLY'S POINTERS

By POLLY CRAMER

Belt Kept in Place With Spray Backing

DEAR POLLY — My favorite dress had a worrisome belt that kept loosening with each breath. I took since it simply slipped through the buckle with no eyelets to hold it in place. I sprayed the back of the belt with the same rubber backing used to spray on rugs to make them non-skid. It worked beautifully. It has not washed out and has not marred the appearance of the belt. Hasn't slipped a single time.

JESSIE: GIRLS — This is a problem I am sure we have all had at one time or another.

POLLY: DEAR POLLY — My hint is for you girls who go in for coloring your shoes with these handy new shoe coloring products. Try masking off the sole edges of the shoes with transparent plastic tape and you will find the coloring job really looks professional. No more color on the soles and inside the edges of the heels. These stray bits of coloring often give a homemade look to what is otherwise a professional-looking job. Since I started to do this, no one can tell I did them myself. Any little spots you might miss due to the tape overlap can be touched up just beautifully with a small paint brush out of a water color set.

JUDY: DEAR POLLY — I store my cosmetics on a closet shelf in a transparent topped, bright plastic bread box — the kind made to hold only one loaf. Roomy enough for the "works," tall enough so bottles and jars stand upright, this handy box is easily transported to the bedroom, bath or wherever you make up.

Enclosed Patio Extends Season

Here's a way to extend your outdoor living into the early spring and late fall days, and evenings when it is generally too cool for comfort.

Some enterprising home owners have built a covered patio with adjustable louvers, wind screens at either end. With the adjustable louvers, air circulation can be controlled on the patio to keep it cool in the summer but snug and warm on cooler days.

The screens are generally built with the lower half in a solid board pattern of tongue-and-groove western wood. The upper half is built of louvers fitted on dowels so that they can be opened or closed. It is easiest to install the louvers vertically, and, again, western woods may be used. These wind screens may be painted, stained or allowed to weather.

The patio roof may also be built of louvers, but the adjustable feature is not needed. The louvers will work well to give a maximum combination of shade and air circulation on hot days; but will act to keep out cool breezes in the autumn and early spring, especially when the wind screens are closed.

DOWN AND DOWN—Some persons jump for joy, but some jump for a living; they are the paratroopers. And science is continually trying to help them get down in better ways. At left, shuttlecock-shaped "Paracone" has been designed to replace the chute. It is gas-inflated and will fall open-end upwards, with the jumper or jumpers riding inside on an inflatable mattress. The "Paracone" would protect against enemy fire and act as a lifeboat in water, an igloo in polar regions of a shield against the sun. At right, is another new development, a steerable parachute designed to allow forward motion and acceleration or deceleration. A forward speed of 13 miles an hour could be obtained. Shape of the canopy and slits in it do the job.

Three separate cases of theft, reported to Pampa police yesterday, are under investigation today.

Leo Simpson, 840 S. Cuyler, told police that someone stole a 1 1/2-ton floor jack from the rear of his pickup while it was parked near his garage. Simpson valued the jack at about $120.

R. M. Klose of San Antonio reported that while his automobile was parked at Coronado Inn yesterday someone stole a leather briefcase from inside. The briefcase was valued at $25.

John Truby, 1905 N. Wells, reported to police yesterday that someone stole two boys shirts from inside his auto while it was parked in the Coronado Shopping Center yesterday morning.

Price Hits Opponent On Backing Humphrey

In a speech before the Conservative Club of Groom Tuesday night, Bob Price, Republican candidate for Congress, accused his Democrat opponent of "selling out the people of the Panhandle by endorsing Hubert Humphrey as the Democrat's vice presidential candidate."

Price will spend Saturday campaigning in Sherman and Hansford Counties. He will attend the Stratford Jamboree Saturday morning and at 7:30 p.m. Saturday will speak at his kick-off rally in Spearman.

Three Sentenced In County Court

Three pleas of guilty and one of innocent were heard yesterday in Gray County Court.

Joe H. Armstead, 310 W. Craven, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Also fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail was Elmond D. Allard of Amarillo after entering a plea of guilty to driving while intoxicated.

Mrs. Jay Culbertson of White Deer was fined $5 and court costs and sentenced to one day in jail after she pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling with worthless check.

Bobby Ray McGinnis of 1437 E. Francis was placed under a $500 bond after pleading not guilty to a charge of driving while license suspended.

Red Cross Trying Expansion Plan

A trial plan to enlarge the territories of local Red Cross offices was explained to members of the Gray County Red Cross board at their meeting Tuesday in Coronado Inn.

Dick Strayer, field representative of the Red Cross from Amarillo, said local Red Cross offices which now serve only their own counties will expand to serve adjacent counties which do not have Red Cross facilities.

Strayer said the plan was adopted across Texas on a one-year trial basis and if successful, will be adopted permanently.

The Gray County Chapter will now serve Wheeler, Roberts, Hemphill and Donley Counties.

Aid Received for Meningitis Victim

Police Chief Jim Conner said approximately $100 in contributions has been received at the police department, so far, to help defray the cost of medical expenses for a young patrolman's 3-month old son who is stricken with meningitis.

The drive started within the department but outside contributions have been mounting, said the Chief.

The patrolman has worked only about a month since his discharge from service. He hasn't been on the job long enough to become eligible for city hospitalization insurance.

Anyone who wishes to help the young officer may mail contributions to Chief of Police Jim Conner at City Hall.

Thirteen Negroes were turned away from an all-white high school at Canton, Miss., before ever leaving the automobiles driven by white civil rights workers that brought them there.

School officials told them to return to the local Negro school. Attorneys for the group said they would seek court action requiring the Canton school to desegregate.

A Negro father who enrolled his six-year-old daughter in St. Mary's Catholic school in Jackson, Miss., was confronted in front of the school Tuesday by a group of white parents.

"What are you doing here?" one of the white parents asked. "I came to enroll my child," the Negro replied.

"Why don't you take her to her own school?" the white man snapped.

Catholic schools in Mississippi started classes Tuesday under a new policy calling for acceptance of any qualified Catholic first grader. No figures on the numbers involved were made available.

circled the diamond toward the speaker's rostrum on second base.

He was introduced by retired Air Force Gen. James Doolittle. The crowd cheered and applauded for about 10 minutes before it quieted down enough for Goldwater to start his speech.

Reform Tax Structure

"Fundamentally," he said, "we must have a complete reform and reconstruction of our federal tax structure. Under a Republican administration we will have that reform. But we need not wait for that total overhaul before we begin stopping the abuses."

"I will, as one of my first actions in the White House, ask the Congress to enact a regular and considered program of tax reduction. I will also ask that Congress to stop the wild spending spree begun by this administration."

He contrasted his tax program with the two-year, $11 billion Kennedy-Johnson tax cut and said his plan represented a "return to sound Republican principles of fiscal responsibility."

On the other hand, Goldwater said, the democratic administration's tax cut was a reckless effort to create a deficit "in the midst of good time."

END FREE CALLS

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The post office has corrected the electronic quirks which allowed free telephone calls in on numbers 07579 and III.

The government moved to cut off the free calls when two magazines disclosed that anyone dialing long distance on the two numbers could do so without paying, even in pay telephones.

jecting a comeback bid by former Gov. Wesley Powell. The Pillsbury win set up a rematch between him and Democratic Gov. John King, who was unopposed. Pillsbury lost to King in 1962.

Powell's role in this year's election will be watched closely by the state's GOP chiefs. He bolted the party in 1962, when Pillsbury defeated him for the gubernatorial nomination, and supported King. Many believed it was his support which gave King the victory, the first by a Democrat in 40 years.

Democratic Gov. John Reynolds was renominated in Wisconsin and Republican Warren Knowles won the right to oppose him. Sen. William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., rolled to easy re-nomination in the primary.

Milo Is Loser Knowles, who was endorsed by the Wisconsin GOP, defeated Milo Knutson, who said he was a "Goldwater conservative," for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Vermont Republicans, seeking to recapture the governorship they held for all but two of the last 11 years, chose Lt. Gov. Ralph A. Foote to face Democratic Gov. Philip H. Hoff in November. Hoff was unopposed for re-nomination.

On the Democratic side, former state Sen. Frederick J. Fayette was chosen to oppose Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., who was unopposed. State Sen. Bernard O'Shea won the nomination for Vermont's only seat in the national House of Representatives. Rep. Robert T. Stafford, R-Vt., was unopposed.

In Colorado, state Sen. Edwin Lamm won the GOP nomination to oppose Democratic Rep. Wayne Aspinall in the 4th Congressional District. State Rep. Frank Evans easily captured the 2nd District Democratic nomination to face GOP Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth in November.

$2,000 Bond Set In Assault Case

A bond of $2,000 was set on a 20-year-old Amarillo man yesterday afternoon by Justice of the Peace G. L. (Nat) Lunford on charges of assault with intent to commit rape.

Charged with the offense by city police was Emilio B. Rivera. Rivera is accused of entering the home of an acquaintance and attempting to criminally assault his wife.

The incident allegedly occurred about 1:35 a.m. Sunday morning.

21 Executed in US Last Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Twenty-one persons were executed by civil authorities last year. The number was by far the lowest on record since 1930. The U.S. Bureau of Prisons, in its annual report of executions in the 50 states and federal jurisdictions, said Monday the number was less than half the total for 1962 when 47 persons were executed.

Texas had the largest number with four. New York, Ohio, Mississippi, Arizona and Georgia followed with two each. The federal government and Missouri carried out one execution each—their first in six years. Other states with one execution in 1963 were California, Florida, New Jersey, Oklahoma and Washington.

Actor Wins Fight On Radio Ban In London Parks

LONDON (UPI)—Actor Dere Bond today enjoyed a victory—he can't very well shout about his successful one-man war against blaring transistor radios in London's royal parks. Bond three weeks ago complained about the noise filtering up to his apartment overlooking suburban Richmond Park. He then rallied his neighbors. Hundreds of letters began pouring into the Ministry of Public Works.

Today, large "radios not allowed" signs were being put up in eight large royal parks. Radios had been banned since 1955, but the order was buried among the small print of many other regulations listed in noticeboards at park gates. J.R. Hare, superintendent of Hyde Park, said, "at first no one minded a bit of music within reason. But youngsters walk around with their sets turned up at top strength."

Desires of Russians May Help Evade War

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The more the Russian people desire consumer goods the less danger there will be of an all-out war between the United States and the Soviet Union, the 72nd annual convention of the American Psychological Association has been told. Dr. George Katona, program director in the survey research center and professor of economics and psychology at the University of Michigan, said Monday that the Russians are learning of consumer goods through U.S. efforts to extend the American way of life into Western Europe. "Just as the ideal of human rights and freedom spread from America to the rest of the world," he added, "so is the ideal of higher living standards and consumer comforts now penetrating into Europe, Asia and Africa. "We do not think simply of the spread of the mass consumption economy to Western Europe," Katona said. "Even Communist countries are not immune to the sweet poison emanating from America. There are increasing indications that the desire for consumer goods and consumer comforts has gained in importance among the Russian people. "The greater this concern, the greater the hope for peace."

SMOKING MOTHERS
 OXFORD, England (UPI) — Mothers who smoke during pregnancy have smaller babies and double the risk of a premature birth, Scottish Prof. Sir Dugald Baird told a medical conference Monday.

He said babies born to smoking mothers average six ounces smaller than those born to non-smokers.

Perle Mesta to Throw 'Public' Party at Pageant

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Mrs. Perle Mesta, the celebrated hostess with the mostes, will do her bit for the 1964 Miss America pageant tonight—but this time the "party" will be held in public, right on the city's famous Boardwalk.

Mrs. Mesta, who was in her party-giving glory during the Democratic National Convention here last month, will serve as grand marshal for the festival of floats down the Boardwalk to Convention Hall.

The evening festival marks the first highlight in the beauty pageant which will reach a climax Saturday night when the new Miss-America will be crowned.

The judging will get underway Wednesday night. Contests will be held in evening gown, swim suit and talent categories as preludes to Saturday's finals.

The 38th annual Miss America contest officially began Monday with the registration of the 50 beauties from as many states. Normally, this is a routine event, but there was an unexpected touch of anxiety Monday when Miss Kentucky nearly was eliminated for tardiness.

Linda Sawyer, 21, of Louisville, Ky., dashed into the registration room just as the other candidates were having a group photograph taken. She was quickly registered and hustled before the photographers for the group picture.

Failure to register could have eliminated Miss Sawyer, a tall, brown-haired beauty who explained she was tardy "because my plane was late."

Dynamite Found in Alabama Business Puzzles Officials

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Nearly 100 sticks of dynamite attached to a burned-out fuse were found Tuesday at a store in a white business district.

Although this city has been plagued with racial bombings during the past several years—including the dynamiting last Sept. 15 of a Negro church that killed four small girls—Police Chief Jamie Moore said "we know of no known motive for this."

The area is heavily populated. There are several stores and two churches nearby. The dynamite was found at 77th St. and 2nd Ave. in the East Lake section.

Cotton Production Estimate Is Down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Texas cotton production for 1964 was estimated Tuesday at 4,200,000 bales, down 50,000 bales from the Aug. 1 estimate and 217,000 bales below 1963 production.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated the nation's 1964 cotton crop at 14,945,000 bales, up 160,000 bales from last month's forecast.

Today's estimate, based on Sept. 1 crop conditions, compares with output last year of 15,327,000 bales and five-year average production of 131,905,000 bales.

The crop reporting board estimated cotton yields' this year would average 511 pounds of lint an acre, compared with last year's 516 pounds and a five-year average of 454 pounds.

WEDDING GOES ASTRAY

SAN JOSE DE ORIENTE, Colombia (UPI) — A wedding reception here broke up in confusion early Monday when it was learned "hat the bride had eloped with her stepfather and the groom with his mother-in-law."

Relatives are trying to locate the two errant couples.

Negroes Refused Admittance To All-White School

CANTON, Miss. (UPI)—Thirteen Negro students attempted to enroll in the all-white high school here in this racially tense central Mississippi city Tuesday but left quietly when jected by school officials. The Negroes drove up to the school in four cars. As each car stopped in front of the brick building, a white man spoke briefly to the drivers and the cars drove away.

Civil rights workers said earlier they would not oppose school officials if the youngsters were turned away, but would follow with court action later.

The group was part of 19 students who applied last week for transfers from the local Negro school. Their applications were taken under study by the board of education and they were told to stay in the Negro school pending further word.

American Davis Cup Stars Favored to Gain Quarters

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — It's cut down day at the National tennis championships today with U.S. Davis Cuppers Dennis Falston and Chuck McKinley favored to move into the quarter-finals along with top-seeded Roy Emerson.

Ralston drew Vic Seixas, the 41-year-old non-playing captain of America's Davis Cup team, and McKinley drew Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y.

Emerson, the Australian ace who was idle Tuesday, meets Torben Ulrich of Denmark. Defending champion Rafael Osuna of Mexico could run into difficulty against 17-year-old Cliff Richey of Dallas.

Team Owners To Vote Again On Yankee Sale

Richey, considered America's prime hope for the future, overcame determined Patricio Rodriguez of Chile 6-4, 7-5, 12-10, as darkness gathered over the center court at Forest Hills Stadium.

Ralston dispatched Crawford Henry of Atlanta, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2. His Davis Cup partner, fourth-seeded McKinley, earned his quarter final berth on Monday along with Holmberg.

Osuna moved into the fourth round Tuesday, with an easy 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 triumph over Australia's Owen Davidson and he was joined in the bracket by fifth-seeded Fred Stolle of Australia, who rallied from near-elimination to defeat South Africa's Cliff Drysdale, 4-6, 6-8, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, the defending champion in the women's singles, was idle Tuesday but swings back into action in a quarter-final match against Judy Tegart of Australia.

The special session, called by league President Joe Cronin to quell a storm of public dispute over the sale, had been billed as a routine affair at which eight of the 10 clubs would re-evaluate their previously telephoned and telegraphed approval of the radio-television network as a fellow owner.

But the closed door session at 11 a.m. EDT threatened to mushroom from family fust protracted into a full scale study of franchise ownership and location and possible conflict of interest.

Threatened investigation by the Justice Department and Congress and the opposition of at least one National League owner also hung over the American League bosses.

Attending and taking part in the special meeting were Cronin, the chief executives from each of the 10 clubs, and CBS president and spokesman Dr. Frank Stanton.

Though the Yankee franchise transaction was alone on the meeting agenda, such matters as the proposed sale by the controversial Charles O. Finley of his Kansas City Athletics franchise and the rumored shift of the Cleveland Indians to Atlanta or Seattle were more than likely to be raised.

SIGNS CONTRACT
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves have signed 18-year-old Russell (Rusty) Riley of Grayville, Ala., to a 1965 contract.

Riley, a catcher, will play with the Greenville team of the Western Carolinas League next season.

TL Opens Playoffs

By United Press International
The San Antonio Bullets, winners of the Texas League championship, host the fourth-place El Paso Sun Kings tonight in the opener of league playoffs.

Tulsa will travel to Albuquerque in the other half of the night's action.

The playoff will be a best-of-five series, which after tonight will shift to El Paso and Tulsa. The winning team gets a $2,000 bonus.

Tulsa picked up second place, six games back of the Bullets, Albuquerque was third, 9½ games behind, and El Paso fourth 18½ games behind. Austin and Fort Worth were 22 and 34 games behind, respectively.

San Antonio has already received $2,000 for the pennant. If they win the playoffs, they will divide the $4,000 total among the players, who get no part of gate receipts.

It now appears Meredith will be in shape to share the signal-calling duties with Roach, while Georgia Tech rookie punting specialist Bill Lothridge provides "last ditch" support.

Roach will probably be in command when the Cowboys open the season Saturday night against the St. Louis Cardinals. Meredith has been limping through workouts this week.

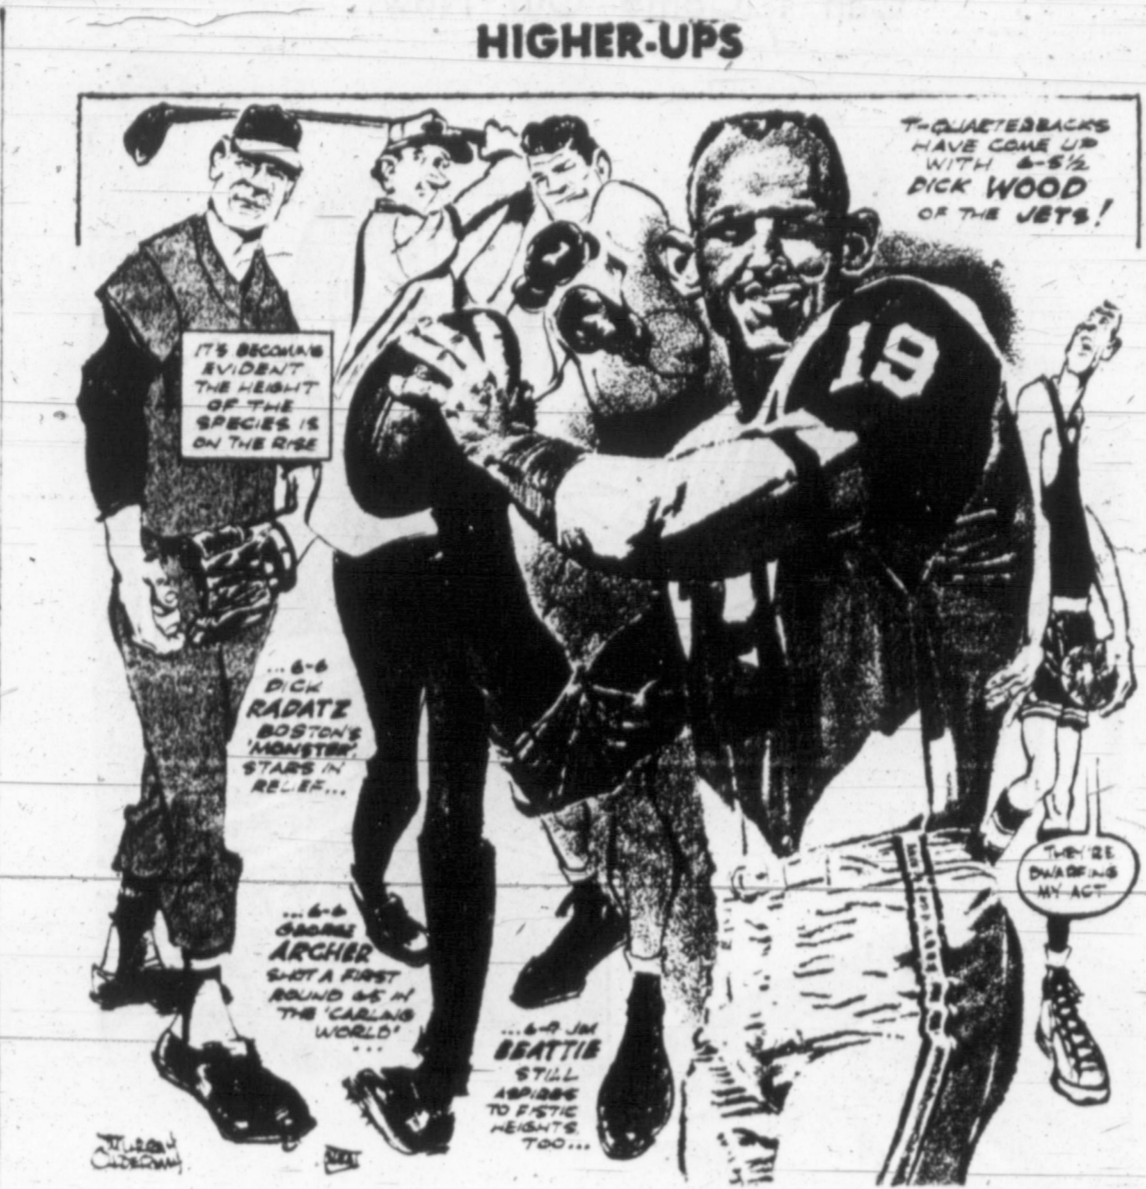

The visiting Rangers will likely find this lineup against them if Pampa receives the kickoff: Terry Criss, a 6-0, 170-pound two-year letterman, and Ricky Maynard, an inch shorter and 10 pounds heavier, at the end posts.

Phil Klaerner, 230 pounds, and Jerry Goodwin, 175, at the guard slots.

Carl Johnson and Myron Scribner, two 190-pound two-year lettermen, at tackle.

Jim Arthur, a 5-11, 185-pounder.

Gibbs Pact A Problem

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys were faced today with a lesson Sonny Gibbs knew all along: You can get just too many quarterbacks.

Gibbs, signed for a reported $100,000 a year for three years, played one down of an exhibition game in 1963, and then sat on the bench for the rest of the season.

Gibbs was pushed to the background again this year in practice and exhibition games. And finally, the Cowboys yanked him from the squad Tuesday and placed him on waivers. But any club picking up Gibbs via waivers ought to keep in mind they'll have to assume the balance of the former Texas Christian star's no-cut contract.

Also placed on the waivers list Tuesday were rookie quarterback John Jacobs and offensive end Jimmy Evans. Both were put on the list and recalled once before, so they may be had for the $100 waiver price if the Cowboys can't work out a trade for one or both.

The Cowboys' number one quarterback, Don Meredith, suffered a knee injury that threatened to keep him on the injured list for the season last week. The cowboys quickly talked John Roach, a former Green Bay Packer stalwart who had retired to Dallas, into taking over.

Holladay kept his sophomores together as a unit for the most part last year and as a result only one of them lettered. The Shockers ran up an 8-2 record last season, however, and many of them are ready to challenge the old men of the squad for their jobs.

Before practice started, Holladay was looking forward to having two good lines but he has been disappointed in that respect so far. The backfield has come through very pleasantly, however, and he now counts on nine backs with very little difference in quality between them. This will probably lead to a Paul Dietzel type of substitution, by units. The Harvester mentor said he definitely would use two back fields Friday against Perryton.

The torch, brought from Okinawa by a prop jet YS11, the first commercial plane built in Japan since the end of World War II, arrived in Kagoshima on the southern tip of the southernmost main Japanese island of Kyushu this morning.

The torch reached Japan 21 days after it was lit in a special ceremony at Mount Olympus.

Harvesters Look For Winning Year

By KARL O'QUINN
The Pampa Harvesters have had ten straight losing seasons, but it looks like the string is about to run out.

This year's edition, the third one under Otis Holladay, has size, depth and experience. To make up for a lack of speed there is a quickness which will spring many a runner through the line, even if it gets him further.

Billy Quarles, a 225-pound junior letterman at guard, has decided to pass up football for his studies, but Holladay still has 17 lettermen returning, all of them seniors. Six of them have two letters to their credit.

Holladay kept his sophomores together as a unit for the most part last year and as a result only one of them lettered. The Shockers ran up an 8-2 record last season, however, and many of them are ready to challenge the old men of the squad for their jobs.

Yankee Rookie Wins Fifth Game

By TIM MORIARTY
UPI Sports Writer
Yogi Berra, like a lot of people, finds Mel Stottlemyre's name a little difficult to pronounce.

The New York Yankees' manager, though, doesn't have any trouble explaining how happy he is that Mel was called up from Richmond of the International League a month ago to bolster his shaky pitching staff.

"Any pitcher who keeps the ball low the way he does can't miss sticking in the majors," says Berra. "He's a wonderful prospect."

Stottlemyre is more than that. Although only 22, he's showing signs of developing into the stopper of the Yankee staff.

The right-hander from Yakima, Wash., used his sinker ball to pitch the Yankees to within a game of the pace-setting Baltimore Orioles and to one percentage point of the second place Chicago White Sox when he beat the Minnesota Twins 2-1 Tuesday night in the only American League action.

Shows Good Control
Stottlemyre scattered nine hits while New York collected only four off Camillo Pascual and two successors. But the Yankee rookie struck out eight and again showed marvelous control—issuing only one walk.

In gaining his fifth victory in seven decisions, Stottlemyre lowered his earned run average to a nifty 1.96. He has given up only 12 earned runs in 55 innings.

The Yankees scored an unearned run in the top of the first and the Twins got it back in the bottom half on singles by Rich Rollins and Zolo Versalles and Harmon Killebrew's fielder's choice.

Pascual then retired 17 Yankees in a row until Roger Maris led off the seventh with a double to right. After Mickey Mantle walked and Joe Pepitone sacrificed, Elston Howard singled to score Maris with the winning run.

It was a tough loss for Pascual (13-11), who gave up only three hits and fanned 10 in the seven innings he worked.

Dodgers Down Phils
In Tuesday's only other major league game, the Los Angeles Dodgers scored three runs in the first inning and made them stand up for a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. The loss reduced the Phillies' National League lead to six games over Cincinnati, St. Louis and San Francisco.

The Dodgers chased Art Mahaffey (12-7) in the opening frame on singles by Maury Wills and Willie Davis and doubles by Jim Gilliam and John Roseboro.

Jim Brewer, making only his second start of the season, gave up eight hits in 6-1/3 innings as he staggered in his second victory in four decisions. The Dodger southpaw was relieved by Ron Perranoski in the seventh after the Phils cut their deficit to 3-2 on a double by Gus Tfiandos and Ruben Amaro's single.

Shockers and Junior Highs Open Seasons

The junior high schools get the 1964 football season under way for Pampa tomorrow with three games.

The Shockers play their first game Saturday night at Perryton.

Kenneth Friemel makes his coaching debut as his Pampa JHS 8th graders travel to Shamrock for a 4-30 game. The Pampa 7th grade team, coached by Frank Craig, plays its first game at the same site an hour earlier.

The Lee 9th squad hosts Phillips at 4 p.m. and the Lee 8th graders play Phillips, also at 4, but in Phillips.

Pampa 8th grade is home against the McLean B team Saturday morning at 10.

Lee 7th grade waits until Sept. 18 to open its schedule at home against Dumas.

U.S. Communist Threat Internal

There is widespread recognition today that communism has made great inroads in the world. Almost everywhere statements of this kind are heard. Yet, the fact is that very few people, even those who live in what we call "communist" Russia, really understand communism.

Indeed, in this country, we have so frequently linked communism with Russia that it is safe to say a great many Americans, if not most of them, confuse communism with Russia. They imagine that Russia is the embodiment of communism and that if we can attack and destroy Russia, we will be attacking and destroying communism.

Lately, many Americans have added "communist" China to this identification process. And Cuba. And possibly a few of the eastern European satellite nations. Thus, the supposition is that these nations are "communist" and that we may have to fight all of them if we are ever going to check communism.

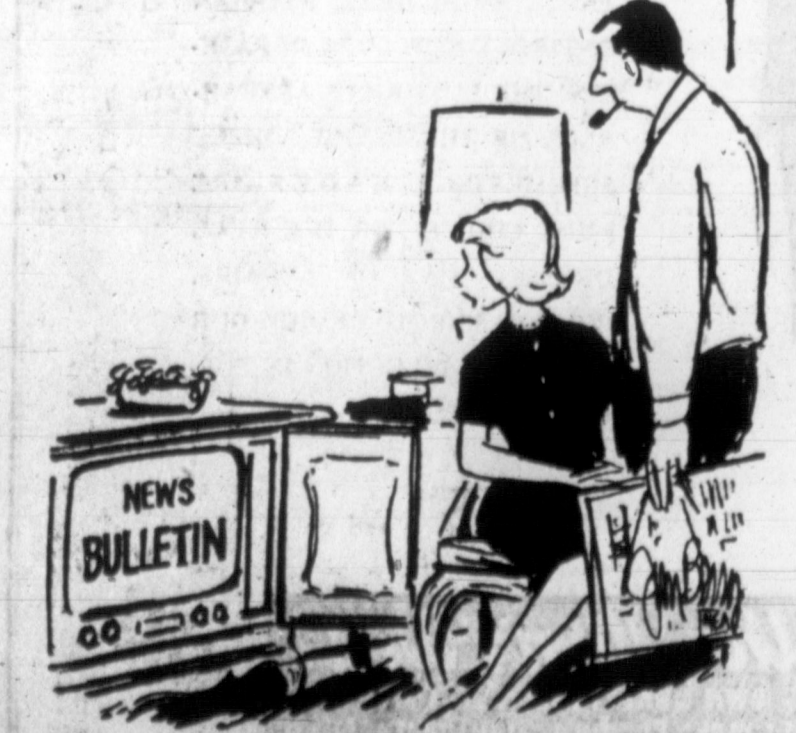

Actually, this isn't true. Communism is a particular doctrine, a pattern of belief. And, insofar as belief is concerned, there are millions of doctrinaire communists right here in this country who think of themselves as Americans.

Let it be understood that these people are not sympathetic to Russia or China or Cuba to the extent that they are anti-American at least in a political sense. The American communist simply favors economic and moral doctrine as expounded by a long list of communist writers and thinkers. In so doing, he does not feel disloyal to this country. He simply wishes to see the American economic system weaned away from capitalism and from the concept of private property.

Don't take our word for it; look it up. A communist isn't necessarily a Russian or a Chinaman or a Cuban. A communist is any person who believes that private property, particularly productive property, i.e. the tools used in production, should not be privately owned. He wants to see them owned or at least managed by the government.

A majority of the voters in America for several decades have been voting in favor of policies and personalities who favor more and more government ownership or government management of the tools of industry and trade. In this sense, the American political format has been most favorable to communism.

What Type Campaign Will It Be?

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Concern that the 1964 campaign will be shot through with smears seems to be bothering the top figures in both major parties.

President Johnson took some cognizance of the problem in his acceptance speech. To a sentence which included the words "The growing forces in this country are... not the forces of bigotry and fear" he added two more: "and smear."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, his running mate, cautions against "gutter" politics in the weeks ahead.

The GOP nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater, has been echoed by other Republicans in forecasting an extremely bitter campaign.

In a few days both national chairmen will follow past official performance and sign the Fair Campaign Practices Code, which formally aligns the two parties on the side of decent campaigning. Yet no Democratic or Republican leader appears to doubt that the code will be quickly breached.

The fair campaign practices committee, a financially frail but still enduring organization which probes this field under the guidance of such distinguished figures as Charles P. Taft, voices new worry that false charges involving racial issues and political extremism will play a considerable role in the fall campaigns.

In its fourth biennial "State by State Smear Study," the FCPC says on the racial matter: "It is certain that candidates' attitudes and postures toward integration will be discussed intensively for years, especially in southern general and primary elections."

"Only total absence of realism would permit one to hope that such discussions will be fairer in the South than the poor-to-mediocre record of the northern states."

As for extremism, the committee's latest report — basically a review of 1962 malpractice — indicates concern that charges of "radical rightism" may this year and henceforth be as widely flung as those of "far leftism" have often been in the past. Says the committee: "Loose labeling of everyone to the right of one's own position in the spectrum of radicalism can only pollute the political atmosphere until no rational argument can be heard."

The FCPC found, incidentally, that both in 1962 and 1960 "soft on communism" was a favorite campaign smear-tune. It notes that "soft on (John) Birchism" is in 1964 the "emerging epithet" at the opposite end of the scale.

The committee sees trouble ahead, too, in what it brands as "audio forgery" — the growing practice of altering tape recordings of a candidate's voice to distort the meaning of what he says.

Cited is a 1963 governorship campaign in which Republicans used 30-second spot announcements which seemed to put the late John F. Kennedy through his own voice — on record as favoring a general racial "mix."

The tape actually sliced out 22 pages of text between the President's opening words — a simple greeting to newsmen — and the language dealing with a "mix." Stripped away was a long question from a reporter. It made clear that Kennedy's view that Negroes in decades to come would be mixed in their voting — dividing their support between the two parties.

The FCPC warns lawmakers and enforcement agencies to be on increasing alert this year and later for this devastating distortion through use of the candidate's own voice. It is highly tempting in this era of electronic campaigning.

Wrong Enemy at Awkward Time Is President's Dilemma in Viet Nam

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The U. S. faces a major confrontation in South Viet Nam with the wrong enemy, at the wrong time, and in the wrong place.

To their sudden shock, President Johnson and his chief policy makers have found themselves maneuvered into the dangerous position of either having to involve the U. S. in another Korean-type war or agree to a political Dienbienphu.

Neither alternative is very attractive with a presidential election less than two months away.

That's the inside word leaking out of the sharp policy debate now going on at the highest level of government on what action, if any, the U. S. can take to save the disintegrating situation in South Viet Nam.

The consensus of opinion of these policy-makers is that the President's choice has been narrowed to these ominous alternatives by a combination of mistakes in Saigon and Washington.

The first involves the apparent political trap that Peking lured President Johnson into the Gulf of Tonkin when North Vietnamese PT boats launched their unprovoked attack against patrolling U. S. destroyers.

Second thoughts have convinced these policy makers that the Chinese Communists stayed out of this world headline battle to pinpoint the confrontation as one between the U. S. and North Viet Nam.

By responding with a "limited" attack on North Vietnamese bases, President Johnson spotlighted the Communist puppet regime in Hanoi as the U. S. enemy in South Viet Nam and not the Chinese Communists.

THE HIDDEN PLAY — Significantly, the U. S. response to the Peking ploy now leaves the Chinese Communist leaders a free hand to make their big play in South Viet Nam.

The Chinese Reds can turn the heat on by having their North Vietnamese puppets step up the war in South Viet Nam without fear that the U. S. will strike back at China.

On the U. S. side, President Johnson is left with the choice of either meeting the new threat with Marines and extending the war into North Viet Nam or trying to negotiate a political settlement with the Hanoi regime from a position of weakness.

If the latter policy is adopted, the President's advisers agree that the price for a settlement will come high — neutralization of South Viet Nam at best, or a Communist take-over at the worst.

Unlike the 1962 Cuban crisis — where there was a direct confrontation between the U. S. and Russia, the main enemy in that conflict — President Johnson is heading to the brink with North Viet Nam, a second-rate Communist power that is not the real enemy in the Far East.

Around the World

By Robert Morris

THE ISSUE IS JOINED

In Atlantic City, President Johnson directly joined issue with Senator Goldwater by selecting Senator Humphrey as his running mate. In the Senate and as a spokesman for administration policies, Senator Humphrey has consistently represented a point of view antithetical to that of Senator Goldwater.

By passing up the moderates, as well as those Senators such as Symington, Jackson and Dodd who have been identified with a stronger defense and security stance, the President has obviously cast his lot with the policy planners, the Americans for Democratic Action and the Reuther-led pressure groups.

Senator Humphrey has been the policy planners' spokesman on disarmament. Their plans in this realm call for the gradual dismantling of the military strength of the United States, with commensurate changes in our constitutional structure, and the transfer of "peacekeeping" functions to the international agencies.

Senator Humphrey has also been a spokesman for the planners on the Test Ban Treaty. This treaty was forced upon the Senate even though the hearings brought out that serious risks were being incurred by our ceasing to test in the atmosphere at a time when our Soviet enemy had surpassed us by a wide margin in high-yield tests.

The Senate was actually misled by the assurances that certain safeguards would be implemented if it ratified the treaty. The promised safeguards are not being implemented and concerned military men can only conclude that the Soviet power establishment is translating its exclusive scientific discoveries into lethal weapons which it will dramatically unveil at some future date.

Senator Humphrey has also been one of the strongest advocates of federal action to solve our racial and economic ills.

So, the issue is joined, decisively. Senator Goldwater's assignment is not an easy one. He will have to show that the Test Ban Treaty has not erased tensions, but has only given Khrushchev a cover for a future military breakthrough. He must show that disarmament in the face of Soviet power does not lead to peace but only accelerates war. He must show that trusting the UN to perform responsibilities now held by the US military is the path to surrender.

He must show that prodigious federal government spending has already built up a federal debt that exceeds one trillion dollars with no sign of abating. This debt must be paid, by our sons and grandsons, or expunged by devaluation, repudiation, or the dissolution of the national entity.

These great issues demand exhaustive public debate, and precious time is rushing by.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Let Us Continue? Friend, You Have Already Arrived

By SAM CAMPBELL
As the Day of the Great Ceaseuppance approaches, an increasing number of business people are searching heart and intellect to find out what ought to be done to avert the penalty for a long series of past errors.

Out in California directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce have approved a "Declaration of Principles."

The Declaration

- a. The right to worship God in one's own way.
- b. The right to acquire, keep, and freely dispose of private property.
- c. The right of free speech, press, and assembly.
- d. The right to work in callings and localities of our choice.
- e. The right to privacy in our homes.
- f. The right to go into business, compete, make a profit or a loss.
- g. The right of habeas corpus — no excessive bail.
- h. The right to contract about your affairs.
- i. The right to trial by jury.
- j. The right to protection by government from violence, fraud, and monopoly.
- k. The right to move about freely.

The Declaration comes at a time when specific actions are afoot that curtail your choices in each of these areas, except one.

Your exercise of your right to worship is reduced by income tax laws which discriminate between different religious denominations.

Your right to dispose of private property is infringed by racial legislation.

Your right of free speech is suppressed by veiled threats of the Federal Communications Commission to punish radio and television stations that air anti-bureaucracy programs.

Your right to work in callings and localities of your choice is infringed by union shop and monopolistic union hiring halls.

Your right to go into business is hampered by a succession of state and local taxes that come due before you open your door for the first day of trade.

Your right to contract is curtailed by the ever present party of the third part; to wit, the bureaucracy — its board, its commissions, its administrators.

Your right to trial by jury has, in sensitive areas, been replaced with trial by commissions which act simultaneously as judge and prosecutor.

Your right to security from violence is winked at by high officials as mobs pillage in the streets. Government bureaus themselves have become the greatest monopolists and a mechanism for fraud that totals into the billions of dollars annually.

The exercise of your right to move about freely is limited partly by the confiscation of your income and in special cases by union monopolies that prevent plying of trade in places of your choice.

However, habeas corpus still is recognized — and bail is reasonable.

Humanity sees the shackle on its leg and surmises it is free because the iron is not clasped tight. A buffoon shouts "What freedom have I lost?" Poor wretch, he's lost them all — well all but one. "Let us continue," another echoes, but a somber wall of fact booms back an answer, "Why, man, you're already here, but chin up, the bail is reasonable."

Wit and Whimsy

Many years ago, Jim Reed, then Speaker of the House of Representatives, went into a barber shop in Washington to be shaved. The barber, following the custom of his clan, began a program of urging additional services on the Speaker.

"Hair's pretty thin, sir?" he commented, fingering the few stray locks on an otherwise bald pate. "Been that way long, sir?"

"I was born that way," said Reed unemotionally. "Afterward, I enjoyed a brief period of hirsute efflorescence, but it did not endure."

The barber gasped — and said no more.

Later, someone remarked that the departing patron was Speaker of the House.

"Speaker!" exclaimed the tonsorial artist. "Say, don't I know it! That fellow really is a speaker!"

When a man knows his own moral failings, he should take the same care of his soul, as he would of a wounded arm or leg.

Down in Kentucky they do things in their own way.

Man from the North who had returned to his birthplace for a brief visit — Hello, Tom! I heard that Bill killed a man. Is it true?

Tom — Sure. He chased the feller three days with a shot gun, finally got a good bead on him, and biffig him right through the lung.

Man — And killed him?
Tom — You bet!

Man — Well, how is it that they didn't lynch Bill for cold-blooded murder?
Tom — Well, the feller that Bill shot didn't have a friend on earth, so the game warden jest fined Bill two dollars fer huntin' without a license.

The race of delight is short, and pleasures have mutable faces.

We are wont not to believe a liar even when he tells the truth.

An old couple in the South were much distressed, owing to their increasing poverty. Thinking their son in the North would help them, they wrote, stating their trouble, and saying that if he did not aid them they would be obliged to go to the poorhouse.

A couple of weeks passed, and then came a letter from the son, saying:

My dear parents, — just wait another week and I'll come home and go with you.

Your affectionate son

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not insure answers.)

Question: "Is Lord Acton's statement that 'All power tends to corrupt. Absolute power corrupts absolutely, a principle'?"

Answer: It is not a principle because there are exceptions to it. It is dangerous to make this statement without revising it. It leaves the impression that the man who accumulates capital on a free market basis is corrupt because he has power to distribute this wealth. A man should have the right to distribute his wealth in a manner that will give him the most satisfaction and the government should not interfere, so long as it is not for the purpose of initiating force.

It is hard to see how the man who acquires more and more understanding of the laws of the universe is corrupting himself by this additional knowledge or power. The fact of the matter is that the more a man knows, the more humble he is because he knows how little he does know. The less he knows the more he believes he knows most everything.

If that statement was revised to say that all power that is acquired by initiated force or fraud tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely, it would probably be true. We know of no one who has had absolute power. Even a dictator has to limit his power in order to keep control over his subject.

So the next time you hear the power statement made, correct the man who makes the statement and point out that it probably is true if he is referring to power arrived at by initiated force or threats of same. But power that is acquired by benefiting others, certainly does not corrupt.

Since no one ever had absolute power, except in his own mind, the last statement is meaningless. We can only imagine that if someone had absolute power gained by initiated force that he would be very corrupt.

The danger in saying that it is a principle leads people to believe that anybody who has ability and will power to accumulate tools and reduce the cost of living for all those who buy his services, and increase real wages is a corrupted person.

Too many people believe that now without confusing them by this half truth.

Walter Rogers Reports:

Government Must Stop Mob Violence

Mankind lives in constant physical dangers from many sources. This is a fact of life that must be faced. These dangers, however, through the advance of civilization have been minimized by the development of laws and rules of conduct under which mankind can live, one with another, and enjoy rights, privileges, powers, and immunities intended for the individual by our Creator. One is thus spared the fears, the trials, and the tribulations that constantly beset the wild animal. This is one of the major differences between the civilized and the uncivilized.

However, it must be remembered that man is an animal and has not always been civilized. Many places in our world today have inhabitants who are uncivilized and resemble in many respects the wild beasts of the forests and the field. Especially is this true with relation to their reactions to emotional disturbances.

Even the most civilized man in many instances is faced with challenges and causes that sorely test his mettle and cause him to border on reverting to the uncivilized. We have had many evidences of this in recent months and the law-abiding people of this country are justly and duly alarmed. It has been suggested that these disturbances, these riots, and this violence are the direct result of spontaneous reactions on the part of minority groups as an expression of their dissatisfaction and their distrust. Frankly, I prefer to believe the former until adequate evidence is produced to establish the latter.

In either event, these reprehensible activities are uncalled for, unjustified, and criminal. If the participants have such limited character, such disregard for the rights of others, and such questionable patriotism, then it becomes the duty and the responsibility of constituted authority in this country to intervene and to stop such lawlessness.

The duty is clear; the question is, what agency under constitutional authority is charged with this primary responsibility. Many who in recent years have abhorred, criticized, and condemned the use of Federal troops and Federal officials in quelling disturbances (and in my opinion they were correct in many instances) are now clamoring for federal intervention and are caustically criticizing the President for failure to send in federal troops. It is my opinion that if the President should yield to these demands, the same people would immediately change their tune and begin to criticize him for the use of federal troops. This is a matter that is entirely too serious to be used as something with which to play politics. It strikes at the very taproot of sound government.

No community, no state, and no nation can survive that yields to mob rule or permits flagrant lawlessness. This should be foremost in the minds of those who are really sincere in their desire to solve this tragic problem. The law enforcement agencies of the various areas in which these activities have occurred are entitled to the highest plaudits and acclaim of every citizen of the United States.

If the ranks of these local and state law enforcement agencies are not sufficient in number to cope with the problem, then these ranks should be enlarged and these officers should be equipped with proper weapons to meet this challenge. If federal help is needed in providing assistance to the local communities and the states, it should be promptly furnished. If these criminal activities reach the point either in fury generated in a single disturbance or in constantly recurring instances, that federal intervention is indispensable, then it would, in my opinion, be justified for the federal government to take whatever steps are necessary to see that law and order is maintained. I am sure that whatever may be done will generate bitter and caustic criticism, especially from those who are participating in the mob violence and also from many who know little or nothing about the situation but are willing to offer their unso-lited advice. But if the United States of America is to preserve and maintain its status as the nation that has reached the highest peak of civilization and has made the greatest contribution in providing the laws and the rules of conduct by which man can live with man in peace, then this lawlessness must be stopped.

Motorist Gets 41 Tickets in Single Chase

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ted Thompson, 32, of Houston faced more than 40 traffic charges and a charge of aggravated assault on a policeman Monday as the result of a high-speed chase.

Police said Thompson side-swiped a police car in Pasadena Sunday. They chased him at speeds up to 100 miles an hour and wrote out 41 tickets for alleged infractions before he was stopped, officers reported.

Three policemen were injured when one patrol car smashed into the rear of another as Thompson was halted on Texas Highway 146 near La Porte.

Traffic charges were brought against him by La Porte and Pasadena police and Deer Park officers were considering other charges.
