Young Texan of '64 Talks to Optimists

The 1964 Young Texan of the Year, 19-year-old Lindsey Enderby of Gainesville, visited Pampa Thursday and spoke to a joint meeting of Pampa Optimist Clubs Thursday evening at Coronado Inn while on the last two days of his statewide tour.

While in Pampa Enderby was given a deluxe tour of Celanese Chemical Co. plant and Cabot Corporation's local operation in addition to a guided tour of the town. He also inspected the Pampa Optimist boys' facilities during the day.

Another full schedule faced Enderby today as he started by speaking to the Amarillo Optimist club at 6:45 a.m. and addressed a noon luncheon in Lubbock.

On his statewide tour, young Enderby is getting the "VIP" treatment with Optimists taking turns escorting him from city-to-city. Each Optimist escorts him and signs an "honor roll" scroll with his name and club to record participation in the project.

Enderby attends Southern Methodist University in Dallas where he will be a sophomore in the fall. He was named winner of the Troy Post Young Texan of the Month award in June 1963 after being nominated by the Gainesville Noon Optimist Club. He went on to be selected Young Texan of the Year at the annual statewide Troy Post Young Texan Awards banquet in Austin on Feb. 29 of this year. For the latter honor, young Enderby received a trophy and a $2,000 scholarship. The all-expense paid state tour also was included in the award.

Eisenhower Praises Press Despite Sensation Seekers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newspaper Enterprise Association (NEA) said today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has expressed the highest respect for the press as an institution in spite of his criticism of "sensation seeking columnists and commentators" in his GOP convention speech.

In a copyright dispatch, NEA said that Eisenhower made his high opinion of the press clear in a letter written to Boyd Lewis, president and editor of NEA. The former Chief Executive wrote Lewis in response to Lewis' request for clarification of Eisenhower's remarks which touched off an anti-press demonstration at the convention.

Eisenhower said his criticism was directed toward "the relatively few individuals" among the press who "could not care less about the good of our party."

Bolstered US Forces Keep Eye on Chinese

Aircraft Expected In North Viet Nam

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. forces in Southeast Asia, bolstered by swift buildup of air power, kept a wary eye on Communist China today lest it decide to back up its threats with aggression.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Thursday it is "probable" that Red China will move combat aircraft into North Viet Nam because of the Navy's deadly raid on Communist torpedo boat nests.

But the Pentagon chief said there was no evidence at this time of any substantial movement of Red Chinese forces, either on land or in the air.

Top U. S. officials said the Navy's deadly reply to North Vietnamese attacks on U. S. destroyers in international waters, plus the prompt buildup of American power in the area, appeared to have answered its purpose for the time being.

Enters Talking Stage
There was a growing feeling in Washington that the "Battle of Tonkin Gulf" had entered the talking stage with the next moves probably to come on the diplomatic front.

McNamara said his assumption that Communist China may move some of its air force into North Viet Nam was based on the fact that the North Vietnamese have no combat aircraft of their own.

"I assume they would make such a request, and it would be answered," he said.

Communist China has offered "moral support" to North Viet Nam, but McNamara, the State Department and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, have said there is no evidence at this time of any Chinese buildup along the North Vietnamese border.

Even so, Congress was ready to give President Johnson a resolution backing any action he may deem necessary to halt aggression in Southeast Asia or other trouble spots.

Expresses Hope
Johnson Thursday night voiced hope that a "new and resolute morality" would develop in the near future that would lessen the danger of a major war.

He noted at a state dinner for U. N. Secretary General Thant that this century had seen formation of a resolute morality which rejected "both the immorality of war as well as the immorality of indifference and inaction toward all threats of war."

"This new morality of mankind is nowhere more manifest than in the growing respect for the peace-keeping and peace-making purposes of the United States."

A calm was reported to prevail in Peking where the People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, said in an editorial that Johnson has "taken the first step in extending the war in Indo-China." But the newspaper made no specific threats of Chinese retaliation.

Ham M. Luna, 60, Dies in Hospital

Funeral services for Ham M. Luna, 60, longtime Pampa resident, who died at 10:50 a.m. yesterday in Worley Hospital, will be conducted at 11 a.m. tomorrow in First Baptist Church, Rev. E. Douglass Carver, pastor, will officiate.

Mr. Luna was born Nov. 3, 1903 in Merit. He was a graduate of Plainview High School and attended Wayland Baptist College there.

He moved to Pampa in 1940 while employed as an auditor-salesman for Phillips Petroleum Co. In 1943 he was appointed Phillips bulk agent for Pampa and later went into the irrigation supply business here.

He made his home at 1317 Charles, and was a member of First Baptist Church and at the time of death was worshipful master of Top O' Texas Lodge 1381 AF&AM.

He was also president of the Pampa Shrine Club, and was a member of the Scottish Rite Bodies of El Paso and Killebrew. He was past president of the Pampa Lions Club and Pampa Country Club.

He was married to the former Nita Hopper in Plainview. (See LUNA, Page 2)

4 Klansmen Held For Murder of Negro Educator

FBI Files 'Felony' Charges on Quartet Arrested Yesterday

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Four Ku Klux Klansmen were held today in connection with the shotgun murder of a prominent Washington Negro educator on a lonely Georgia highway near here last month.

Authorities swore out warrants charging the four, seized late yesterday by FBI agents, with a "felony." The warrants were designed to hold the suspects until state authorities decided what specific charges, including murder, to file against them. Murder is among the charges classified as a felony.

The warrants were sworn out in Danielsville, Ga., the county seat of Madison County where Lt. Col. Lemuel A. Penn was shot to death July 11 while returning to Washington with two Negro companions after a tour of Army reserve duty at Ft. Benning, Ga.

J. J. Casper, assistant FBI director who headed up an investigation into the slaying, said earlier the four had been charged with murder in warrants sworn out in Danielsville. But state authorities, who would prosecute the case, apparently chose to use the broader "felony" charge for the time being.

They were being held under $25,000 bond each on a federal charge of violating Penn's civil rights which carries a maximum 10-year prison term upon conviction.

Murder is punishable by death under Georgia law. Traditionally, no bonds are set in murder cases in Georgia.

U. S. commissioner Girard Hawkins set temporary bonds of $25,000 against the four men at a preliminary hearing Thursday night at which he said one of the Klansmen confessed to participating in the shooting and implicated the other three.

The men were being held in the Clarke County Jail. Authorities said preliminary hearings probably will be held next Friday on the murder charges. The maximum penalty for conviction on murder charges in Georgia is death.

During a preliminary hearing, which was continued at the request of defense attorneys, Hawkins said James Lackey, 29, confessed to participating in the shotgun slaying of Penn and implicated the other three men.

The FBI charged that Lackey, a service station attendant; Joseph Howard Sims, 41, a machinist; and Cecil Williams Myers, 25, a textile worker; shot Penn and that Herbert Guest, 37, a garage operator, conspired with them to violate Penn's civil rights.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in Washington that Guest's garage was "a frequent gathering place for Myers, Sims, Lackey and other members" of the Klan. Hoover said Guest and two other men were arrested in Athens last June 21 after gunshots were fired into Negro residences and Guest paid a $105 fine for disorderly conduct.

Myers, Sims, Lackey and Guest, according to the FBI complaint, conspired with each other "and others unknown" to injure and intimidate Negroes "with the plan and purpose" of preventing them from exercising their rights under the new civil rights law.

PICO RIVERA, Calif. (UPI) — Los Angeles County Sheriff's Deputy Tony Sanchez was cruising in his unmarked car Thursday when he thought he sighted a teenage narcotics suspect.

Sanchez, an undercover narcotics officer, pulled his car to the curb, got out and chased the youth. During the youngster's flight around the block he dropped a bag containing heroin.

The youth beat Sanchez back to the officer's car, climbed in, started it up and roared away, leaving Sanchez literally holding the bag.

The car was recovered later several miles away. Sanchez vowed the next time he'd take the keys with him when he chases a suspect.

Temperatures in Austin and most of the Southwest are climbing over the 100-degree mark. (NEA Telephoto)

Rocky Supports Goldwater, Asks For Party Unity

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has joined the Sen. Barry Goldwater-for-president campaign and indicated he may actively stump the nation for the GOP standardbearer.

Rockefeller, outspoken pre-convention political antagonist of the Arizona conservative was roundly applauded Thursday when he told powerful New York state Republican county chairmen he was supporting the national ticket of Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., for president and vice-president.

The governor also made a strong appeal for party unity during the closed door meeting. "Sure, Rockefeller said he'd support the ticket," Republican state Chairman Fred A. Young told newsmen after the two-hour meeting.

"That means he'll go out on the stump," Young added. The chairman noted that four years ago Rockefeller made 283 speeches for GOP presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon.

"And then he got hit over the head with charges he didn't support the ticket," Young said.

The powerful organization of county chairmen, long influential in the moderate and liberal wing of the party, also went on record as "vigorously" supporting the candidacy of Goldwater.

South Viet Leader Claims 'Emergency'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Premier Nguyen Khanh today proclaimed a state of emergency, suspending all laws banning strikes and demonstrations, and decreeing death without appeal for convicted saboteurs and terrorists.

"We can be attacked at any moment," Khanh said. Grim-faced and in uniform, the military premier appeared at a news conference to announce the decree which made him the absolute ruler of the country.

Immediately after he read the decree, Khanh announced he was going to the front where South Viet Nam forces were braced for possible attack from the north.

Khanh acted swift and decisively in the wake of American retaliatory air attacks against North Vietnamese bases which could trigger Communist counter-blows against South Viet Nam.

The United States reinforced its air strength in this country and sent fleet units speeding into nearby waters.

"We as leaders of the anti-Communist struggle will go immediately to the front to inspect our defense system," said Khanh as he rose to leave the news conference. "Soldiers there need my presence."

Asked if by "front" he meant he was heading for the 17th Parallel, which divides North and South Viet Nam, Khanh said, "it's a secret."

He said the "coming weeks will decide the fate of our people," and called on the inhabitants of North Viet Nam to rise up and overthrow their Communist masters. He pledged South Vietnamese help in any uprising.

Foreign Commentary

By K. C. THLAER
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—Russia has decided to all appearances to "lie low" on East-West matters until after the American presidential election.
 Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, who until recently was pushing a deliberate East-West peace offensive in holding his hand on all major international issues.
 Soviet diplomats in Europe are spreading the word that nothing can be done until the future political course of the new U.S. administration is set.
 Russian foodragging was spotlighted clearly in recent Moscow talks between visiting British Foreign Secretary R.A. Butler and Kremlin chiefs.
 There is to be no Russian move, let alone "give," on disarmament, on European cold war problems or on South East Asia.

Watch American Scene
 It is going to be "wait and see" in the Kremlin while Soviet leaders keep an eye on the American scene in the next few months.
 At the same time major developments are anticipated within the Red camp itself that are likely to influence Moscow's foreign policy when talks with Washington are resumed in the new year.
 Khrushchev seems to have decided that something must be done to halt Red China's subversion of the international Communist movement.
 His choice is between letting the clash continue on an open showdown with his former Chinese allies.
 A rally of Communist parties expected to be held in Moscow shortly should indicate whether Khrushchev has sufficient backing to "excommunicate" Red China from the Red camp without harming himself and Russia's prestige.
Will Blame Kremlin
 Powerful voices among the Communists believe that Khrushchev has waited too long, that the Communist movement is irretrievably split and threatened with still further fragmentation for which the Kremlin leader will be blamed in the end.
 Russia's waning influence in Asia is reflected in Moscow's current aloofness in the Southeast Asian conflict and its desire to withdraw from the chairmanship of the Geneva conference which imposes co-responsibility with Britain for the observation of the peace settlements for Laos and Cambodia.
 Informed diplomats believe that a formal showdown with Red China would cause the Kremlin to seek increasing rapprochement with the United States to secure Russia's Western flank. Moscow, they say, might be prepared to pay a price for it which it will ponder in the coming months.

US Jury Indicts Five Steel Firms
DENVER (UPI)—Five steel wholesale companies engaged in the wholesale distribution of steel products in Colorado were indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on charges of conspiring to fix prices in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.
 Federal officials identified the firms as the Empire Steel Co. of Commerce City, Colo.; Steel Inc. of Adams County, Colo.; Silver Corp. and the Midwest Steel and Ironworks Co., both of Denver; and the Marsh Steel and Aluminum Co. of Kansas City, Mo.
 The federal panel charged the five corporations with unlawful price fixing during 1963. The indictment said the accused firms had sales in excess of $11 million during 1962.

'Hot End' Smoke May Be Answer to Cancer Problem

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—Harvard Prof. L. F. Quigley says one solution to the tobacco problem may be to smoke cigarettes with the hot end inside the mouth, as Venezuelan washerwomen do.

Cinch Evidence Sought by FBI in Slaying of 3

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—The FBI today sought to weave a mesh of evidence so thoroughly that anyone arrested for the slaying of three civil rights workers would find it difficult to escape punishment.

That apparently was the delay in bringing to a climax the investigation into the latest in a long list of racial killings in the state.

The FBI acknowledged that an informer provided the tip which sent agents to a farm near Philadelphia with earth moving equipment in search of the missing civil rights workers.

The badly decomposed bodies of Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, both white of New York, and James Chaney, a Meridian, Miss., Negro, were removed from graves about 23 feet under dirt at a pond dam on the farm.

Pampan Takes Over Post at West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. — Chaplain (Major) Porter H. Brooks, (son of Mrs. Lucy E. Schanefelt of Pampa) ordained an Episcopal minister in Amarillo, in July 1951, assumed the duties of Post Chaplain at West Point on Aug. 1, according to an announcement by Maj. Gen. James B. Lampert, USMA Superintendent.

Prior to coming to the Military Academy, Chaplain Brooks was on active duty as a military chaplain at Ft. Belvoir, Va. While stationed there he was sent to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. where he completed the Spring 1964 Associate Course at the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College.

Born in Chicago on July 5, 1926, but reared in Dalhart, Tex., he attended McMurtry College, Abilene, and graduated in 1948 with a bachelor's degree. He completed his theological education at The Protestant Episcopal Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Va. in 1951.

His military service includes two years near the end of World War II. Drafted in Dec. 1944, he took basic training at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Ark., went to Infantry OCS at Ft. Benning, Ga., and was a platoon leader in the 341st Infantry Regiment, 86th Infantry Division, with service in the Philippines.

During his seminary studies he belonged to the 710th Artillery Battalion, Alexandria, Va. as a range officer, and it was because his unit had been federalized during the Korean conflict that he returned to active duty as a chaplain immediately after ordination. Except for a short period, 1953-55, when he was rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Pampa, he has been on active duty since ordination.

His assignments include Battle Group Chaplain, 2nd Infantry; 160th Signal Group Chaplain; Regimental Chaplain in 110th Infantry, 28th Division; Tokyo Army Hospital Chaplain, Assistant Seventh Army Chaplain, and Administrative Officer, Chaplain Section, Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Military schooling includes Chaplain Basic Course 1951, Chaplain Company Officers Course 1955, Chaplain Career Course 1962, and the recent Ft. Leavenworth course.

Chaplain Brooks is married to the former Norma Singer of Buffalo, N. Y. They have three children.

Pastor Continues Talks on Prophets
"Hosea and the Love of God" is the sermon subject at the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday. This is the third in a series on the prophets, and the pastor, Donald S. Hauck, will preach at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship hours. He will be assisted in the pulpit by Ruling Elder William Chambliss.

At the early worship hour the choir, under the direction of Mrs. George Budd, will sing "Now Let Heaven and Earth Adore Thee," by Bach, as the morning anthem. At the 11 o'clock service special music will be provided by a Clarinet Choir under the direction of Mr. Fred Stockdale.

'My Last Sermon' Is Sunday Topic
"My Last Sermon" is the sermon to be preached by Rev. Glyn B. Adsit Sunday at the morning worship hour. This will be the last sermon Rev. Adsit will preach as minister of the Church. He is moving to Houston, to assume his new pastorate Aug. 15.

Evening worship will be held at 7 p.m. in the First Christian Sanctuary. This is a cooperative service between First Christian and Lamar Christian. Rev. Loren Williams will preach.

Youth groups begin at 5:45 p.m. with a snack supper. Study follows for CYF, Chj Rho, and Junior Fellowships.

FORMER PAMPAN — Chaplain (Major) Porter H. Brooks, son of Mrs. Lucy E. Schanefelt of Pampa, selected as new chaplain at the United States Military Academy stands in front of the chapel. Chaplain Brooks served as pastor of the Pampa St. Matthew's Episcopal church for two years.

Rev. Williams Sets Sunday Sermon Topic

Rev. Loren E. Williams has selected the topic "Grow Up to Salvation" for the Sunday morning sermon at the Lamar Christian church. The text for the sermon is I Peter 2:2 which pleads for humanity to grow.

Lamar Christian church and the First Christian church will continue their joint Sunday evening services through September. Services will be held at 7 p.m. in the First Christian church during August with a series of messages by Rev. Williams.

Members of the Lamar Christian church have been invited to attend a Basket Picnic at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Hobart Street Park in honor of Rev. Adsit and family who are leaving Pampa to fill a pulpit in Houston.

REV. HOWARD JONES — Baptist evangelist

RANDALL PURVIS — revivall leader

Washington Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
AFL-CIO President George Meany will lead organized labor into another presidential political battle this year sheltered by a Supreme Court ruling that the law on campaign expenditures does not mean what it seems to say.

The unions will be fighting for President Johnson and against Sen. Barry H. Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee. This is the usual political alignment of organized labor with respect to the major parties.

Meany explained this week in Chicago, however, that it was not customary for the unions to endorse a party. Endorsements are for people, Meany explained, where AFL-CIO will not make any endorsement announcement until after the Democrats nominate President Johnson on August 26.

After an AFL-CIO council meeting in Chicago, Meany denounced the Republican presidential platform. He called it an insult to the voters' intelligence. The forthcoming AFL-CIO presidential endorsement will endow Johnson with a fortune in union brains, brawn and money.

Much Money Involved
A great deal of labor money will figure in this year's presidential campaign despite a stipulation in the Taft-Hartley Act forbidding "any labor organization to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election at which presidential electors or a senator or representative" are to be chosen.

The law also forbids labor organizations to contribute or to spend in connection with primary elections or conventions to select candidates for federal office.

National banks and all corporations also are forbidden to spend or to contribute in connection with selection for any political office, federal or otherwise. But the courts have held that these prohibitions do not extend to spending and contributing for the education of the citizens. More specifically, the Supreme Court has held that unions may make political medicine in their newspapers or use the medium of television.

For example, labor money was used in Michigan in 1954 for some television ballyhoo for the Democratic senatorial candidacy of Sen. Pat McNamara. He won the election. The government sought an indictment of the union that had paid for the television programs. The government lost.

Conducts Programs
Labor conducts its educational political programs through organizations supplementary to but controlled by unions or groups of unions. In some union jurisdictions there is a head tax of five cents or so a month to raise a political war chest. Five cents multiplied by many thousands comes to a lot of money. Some unions in closed shops industries spend from union dues for political education despite the objections of some members to the political objectives involved.

This practice was appealed to the Supreme Court which took a firm position straddling the fence on this peculiar aspect of the civil rights of a union member who is captive in a closed shop. The court held that the union could not be prevented from spending member A's union dues for political objectives which he opposed.

Guest, Youths To Lead Church In Revival Week

Rev. Howard Jones and Randall Purvis along with Hobart Baptist young people will lead the church in a revival August 16 to the 23.

Howard Jones recently graduated from Wayland College at Plainview, plans to enter Southwestern Seminary at Fort Worth this fall. Howard is pastor at Alaneard and is an outstanding young preacher.

Randall Purvis is the son of the pastor at Hobart church and is the music and youth director at the First Baptist church at Dumas.

Randall went to Howard Payne college and Southwestern Seminary and has been in music and youth work for about 12 years.

Business Highlights

By United Press International
DETROIT: Both General Motors and Chrysler joined the parade of companies reporting fat profit increases for the first half of 1964. GM earned $3.98 a share up 30 percent from a year ago. Chrysler earnings for the half were up 47 percent to $3.05.

NEW YORK: General Electric has announced it will invest $43 million to help revive the ailing French industrial and electronics combine, Compagnie des Machines Bull. The deal gives GE a better competitive position in the European computer market.

NEW YORK: Julio Lobo, once the world's biggest sugar dealer, has had to throw two of his companies into Chapter 11 bankruptcy proceedings. The two concerns handled 20 percent of U.S. sugar imports last year.

NEW YORK: Zuckendorf Hotels Corp., a subsidiary of Webb & Knapp, Inc., filed a Chapter 11 petition in Federal Court. Rent on the 2,000-room Hotel Taft was one of the principal debts listed.

WASHINGTON — The Securities and Exchange Commission has invited comment from mutual funds and similar investment management firms on its proposals for submission to annual reports disclosing interrelationships between themselves and those with whom they do business.

The SEC's proposals, which embody revisions of an original draft advanced two years ago, would require, among other things, disclosure of reciprocal business arrangements with broker-dealer concerns that sell fund shares and also execute transactions for the funds' portfolios.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

ROY PATTERSON, pastor
St. Paul Methodist Church

FROM THE PASTOR'S STUDY . . .

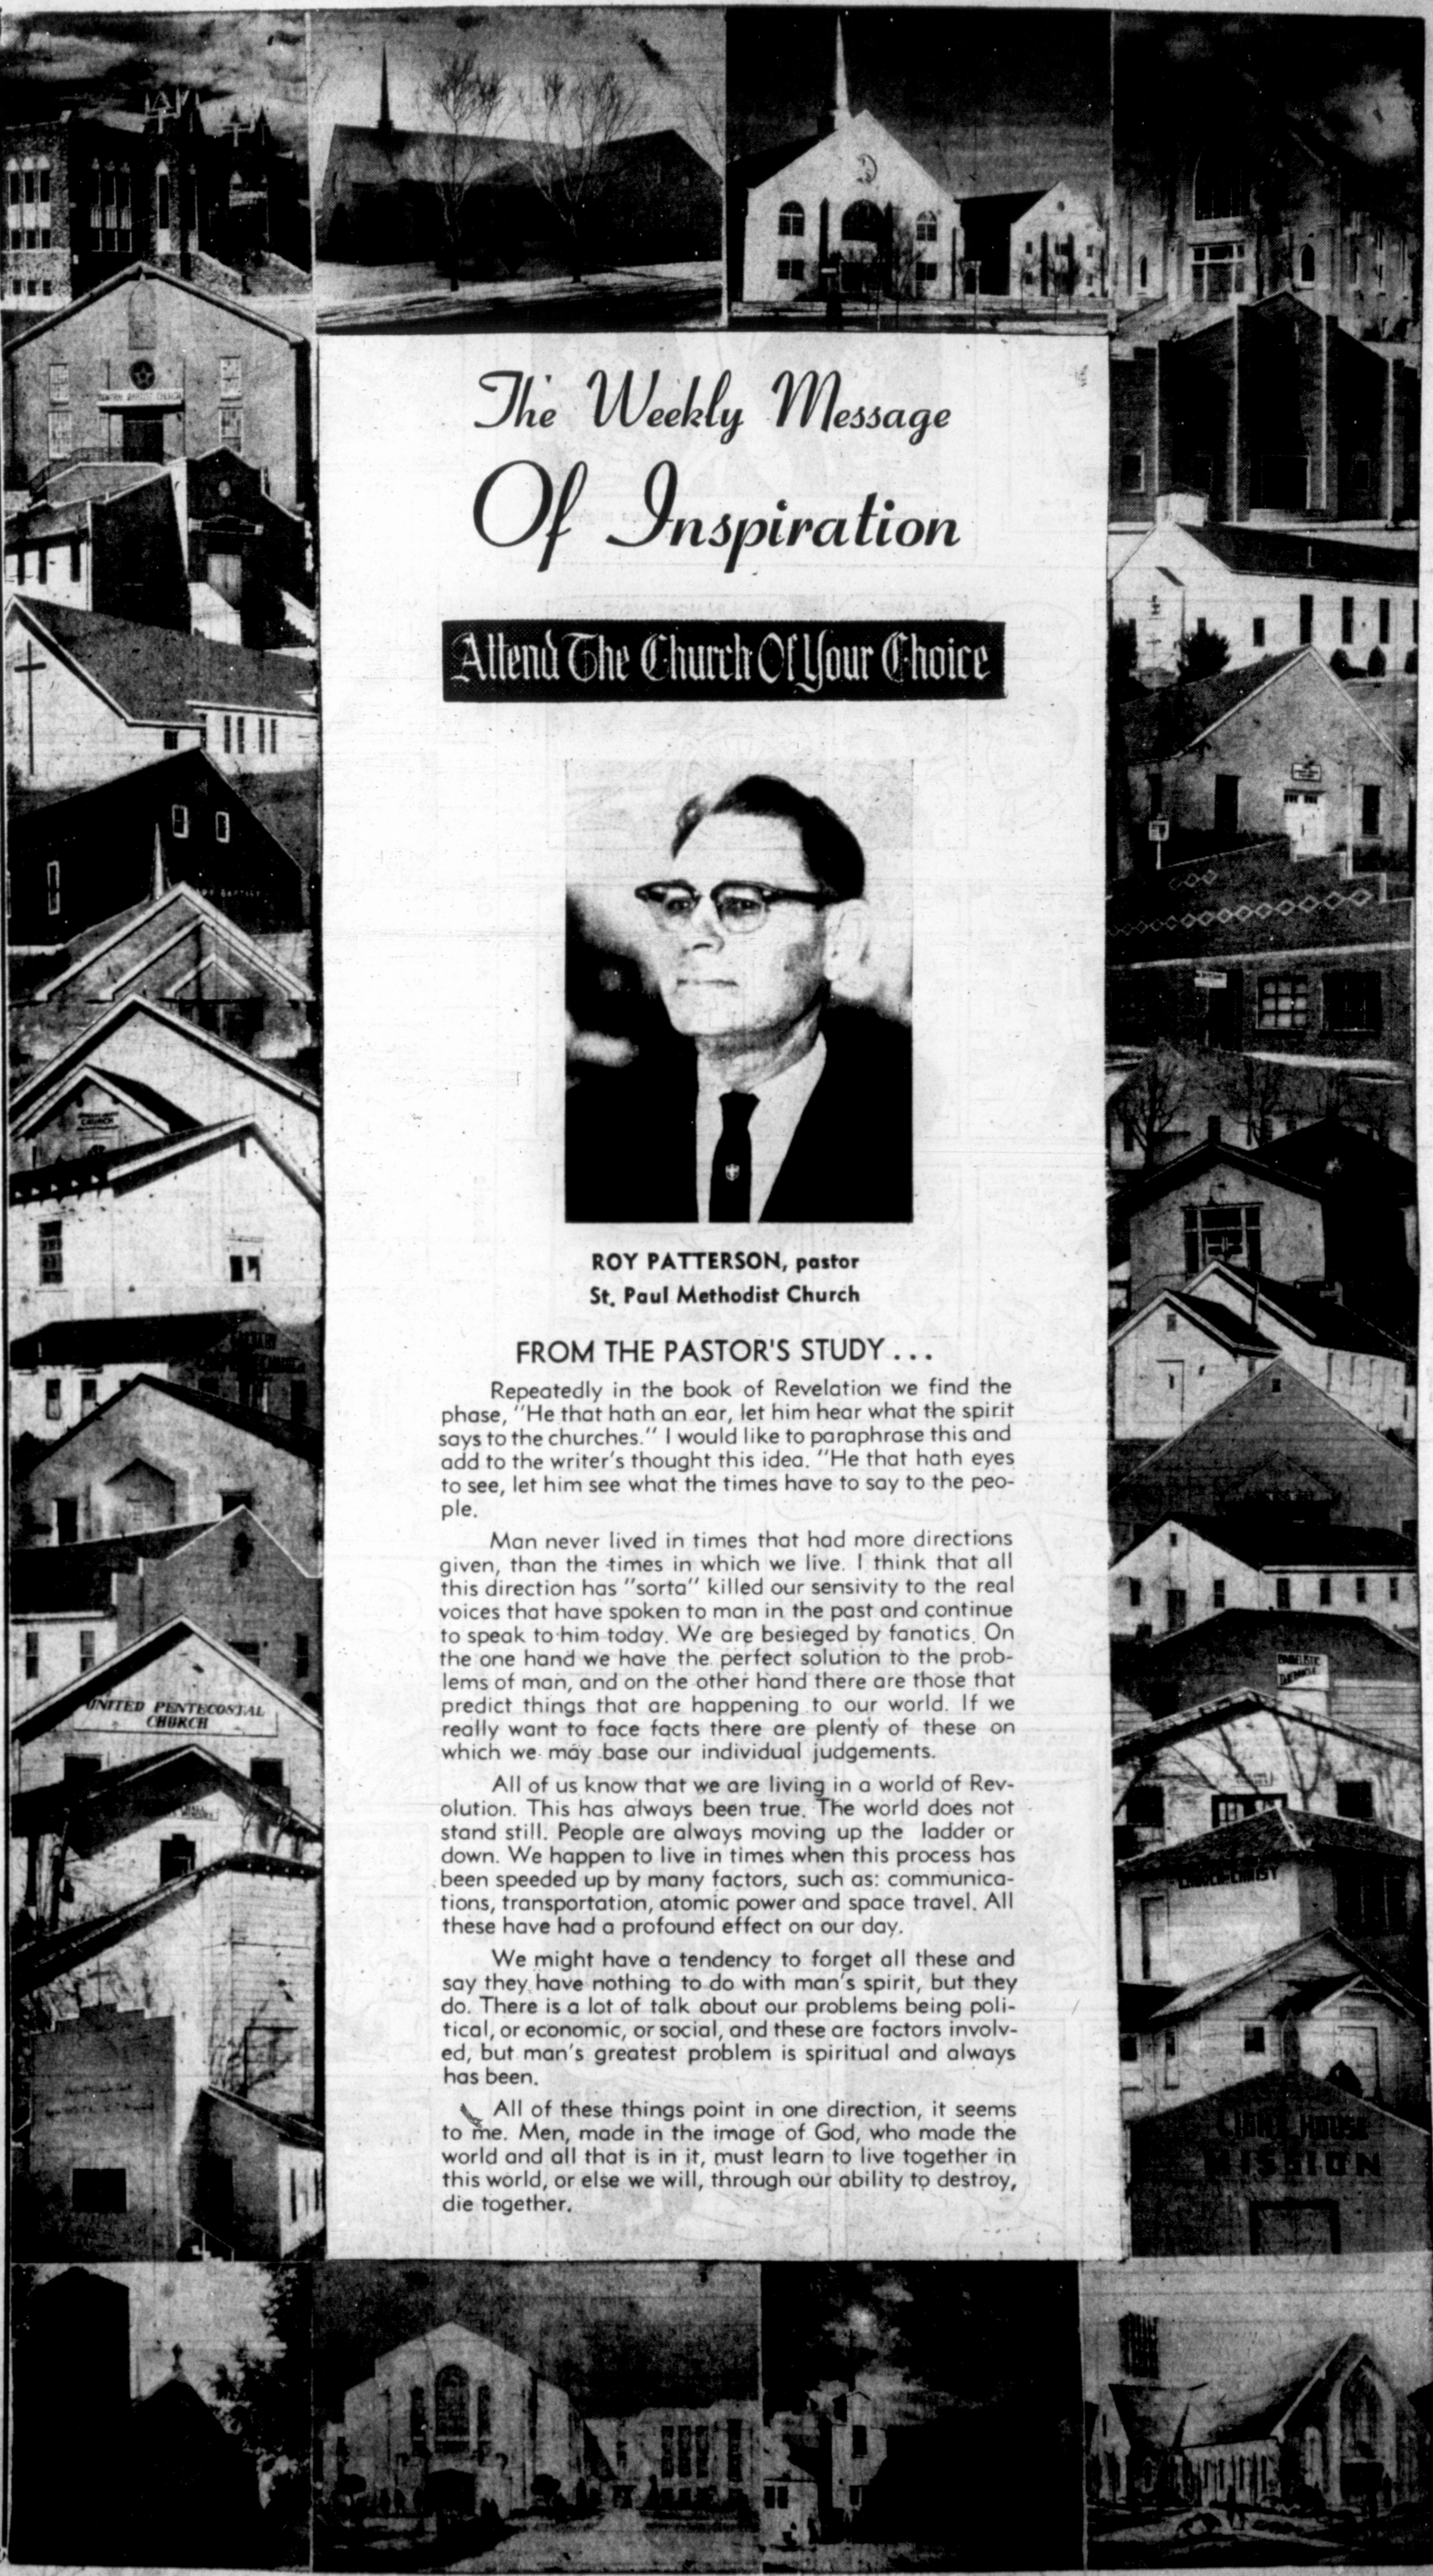

Repeatedly in the book of Revelation we find the phrase, "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the spirit says to the churches." I would like to paraphrase this and add to the writer's thought this idea, "He that hath eyes to see, let him see what the times have to say to the people."

Man never lived in times that had more directions given, than the times in which we live. I think that all this direction has "sorta" killed our sensitivity to the real voices that have spoken to man in the past and continue to speak to him today. We are besieged by fanatics. On the one hand we have the perfect solution to the problems of man, and on the other hand there are those that predict things that are happening to our world. If we really want to face facts there are plenty of these on which we may base our individual judgements.

All of us know that we are living in a world of Revolution. This has always been true. The world does not stand still. People are always moving up the ladder or down. We happen to live in times when this process has been speeded up by many factors, such as: communications, transportation, atomic power and space travel. All these have had a profound effect on our day.

We might have a tendency to forget all these and say they have nothing to do with man's spirit, but they do. There is a lot of talk about our problems being political, or economic, or social, and these are factors involved, but man's greatest problem is spiritual and always has been.

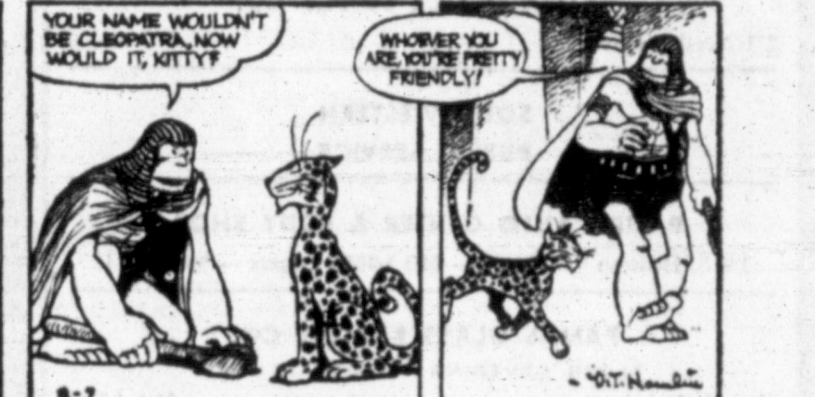

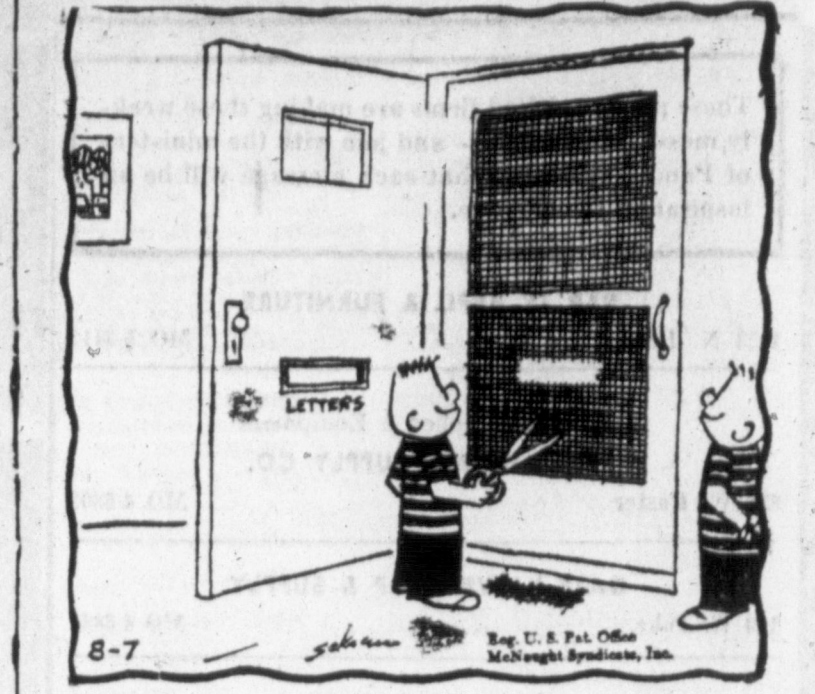

All of these things point in one direction, it seems to me. Men, made in the image of God, who made the world and all that is in it, must learn to live together in this world, or else we will, through our ability to destroy, die together.

Humble, Rosel Play for Crown

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor
After two rounds of play Weathered Humble and Rosel Well Performers of Liberal, Kan., are right where they should be — in the finals of the Top O' Texas Softball Tournament. Humble edged Advance Homes of Amarillo, seeded third, 2-1, and Rosel whacked Everybody's Loan Service of Amarillo 12-0 in last night's semi-finals. Top seeded Rosel takes on second-rated Weathered at 9 in Optimist Park tonight for the tournament championship. In the 7 o'clock preliminary, Panhandle Packing and the Pampa All-Stars clash for the consolation title.

Dumas Remains In Tournament

LEVELLAND, Tex. (UPI)—San Antonio and Austin went into the final stretches of the Babe Ruth League today undefeated and in good shape to go to the regional tournament at Paragould, Ark. Aug. 10-15. They were to play today in the double elimination Texas tournament. Also scheduled was a contest pitting Levelland with Dumas. Both those teams have one loss. Thursday Levelland defeated Fayette County 3-2. Dumas triumphed over Nederland 5-1. San Antonio whipped Houston 5-1. Austin defeated Fayette County 8-4 and Dumas dropped Houston 6-4.

Lamar, Denison Legion Winners

AMARILLO (UPI)—Houston Lamar whitewashed Lubbock 2-0 Thursday night and Denison shaved Amarillo Tascosa 2-1 in the second round of the Texas American Legion baseball tournament. Tonight, Houston goes against Austin Travis in the main game and Denison is matched with Monterey in the loser's bracket.

Bryant Chairman Of B Committee

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Starting this fall, the Texas Sports Writers Association will name a Class B all-state football team. The organization voted the move Thursday and named Tommy Bryant of the Amarillo Globe-News as chairman of the selection committee. In the past, a Class B all-state basketball team has been named, but not a roster of football standouts in that division. Class B gridders play only to regional championships. Naaman Nickel of the Odessa American was named chairman of the Class AAAA basketball committee to fill a vacancy.

IN GRID GAME

North Upsets South 23-14

By ED FITE
FORT WORTH (UPI)—The North won the game 23-14, but the South's great Negro half-back, Warren McVea, won the fancy of the record crowd of 39,233 sweltering fans who paid to see him in action in the Texas Coaching School's first integrated football game.

The San Antonio Brackenridge all-star who is headed for the University of Houston was the lure that all but filled TCU Stadium. And, although he waited until the fourth quarter to do it, the 170-pound flash gave the expectant crowd its money's worth.

Fairly well shackled on the ground by a sticky North zone defense, McVea got his chance on the receiving end of a pass for a dazzling 26-yard slashing run that set up a touchdown. He got another chance with a North kickoff later and speedily spun his way 72 yards before being chopped off four yards shy of a touchdown by Bob Bearden of Abilene.

McVea, who nosed out the favored Kansas took a couple of innings to get warmed up but then broke loose for six runs in the third and again in the fourth to end the game on the eight-run rule.

Lynn Chadd struck out the first nine batters he faced and fanned 11 of the 12 he met in four perfect innings. Jerry Schultz relieved him at the beginning of the fifth and retired two men before giving up Everybody's first hit, a single to Ira Van Zandt. F. D. Dillard popped up to first baseman Charlie Haddock, who made a fine running catch in right field, for the game-ending out, one man short of a no-hitter and a perfect game.

Six hits, five errors and a walk combined to produce the first six runs by Rosel in the third. Those scored in the fourth came on two doubles, a triple and three singles, plus one error.

John Harris, whom Everybody's borrowed from Graham Plow for the tournament, took the loss. He was relieved by F. D. Dillard in the third inning but had already given up five runs.

Elorde Called Month's Best

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gabriel (Flash) Elorde of the Philippines was named "fighter of the month" today for the third time by The Ring magazine because of his impressive seventh defense of the world junior lightweight crown at Tokyo on July 27.

Elorde, 28, scored a technical knockout over Japan's Teruo Kosaka in the 12th round before 8,000. Elorde scaled exactly 130 pounds, the junior lightweight limit.

This time Elorde had stiff competition for fighter-of-the-month honors from former middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria. Tiger impressively launched a comeback July 31 at Madison Square Garden by stopping "spoiler" Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico in the sixth round.

Weaver was the wheelhorse of the North attack with his 70 yards being the top rushing effort of the night. He scored one touchdown from five yards out, Hagle got one from a yard away and Ricky White of Dallas Wilson spun out of a time-killing sneak at the middle of the line to roll 32 surprising yards for another with just five seconds left in the first half.

And, Overton's Jim Johnston kicked in with a 25-yard field goal as the North fashioned a 16-0 first half cushion.

The South's Charles Wilson, Port Arthur, got both of the Rebels' touchdowns from two and five yards out, and gained 31 of the yards in a 40-yard scoring drive.

Rockwell's Jackie Anderson with a 36-yard interception run-back and Dallas South Oak Cliff's Mike Livingston with a 34-yard kickoff return launched two of the North's scoring drives and Gilbert touched off the other with a key interception.

The crowd, unofficially estimated at 45,000 because officials "ran out of tickets," far outstripped the old series record throng of 22,358 set last year at Houston.

The South had been favored to win this game—the 30th in the series—because of the presence of McVea and his fellow San Antonian, Linus Baer. But, Baer left the game with a knee injury in the second quarter and the load was placed on McVea.

North Coach Charles Qualls said his team "had to" zone McVea, because "nobody could have stayed with him man-for-man."

"I felt that Jim Hagle (Corsicana) and Ridley Gibson (Quanah) did a marvelous job in that regard and they got particularly fine backup work from Mike Janzen (Hurst Bell) and Larry Gilbert (Kilgore)," Qualls said. Gilbert was the overwhelming choice as the game's outstanding lineman with his pass receiving and great defensive play.

Chicago Favored

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Bears, losers only once in six matches against the pick of collegiate football heroes, were favored today to rack up another win in tonight's 31st renewal of the College All-Star grid game.

The Bears, their morale jolted by the deaths of teammates Willie Galimore and John Farrington in a training camp auto crash, had the added incentive of revenge to prod them toward another win.

The All-Stars won last year's game against the National Football League champion Green Bay Packers 20-17, and they also won the last time the Bears were in the game, in 1947 when Frank Leahy coached the collegians to a 16-0 decision.

This was added ammunition for Bears owner Coach George Halas to give his behemoths, and he reminded them frequently during training that "we can't afford to lose two in a row."

However, the Bears will be against a team which will equal them in size and speed, but not in experience, and Otto Graham, tutoring the All-Stars for the seventh straight year, believed that with luck his squad could win.

"We're not as big or as fast as we've been," he said, "and we've had more injuries than usual to hamper our drills. But we have some fine football players, and I hope they'll be enough."

The game will be nationally televised and broadcast, but still will pull a sellout crowd of about 75,000, with local interest boosted by the appearance of the home town Bears.

Amarillo Beaten In First Round

LURBOCK —Abilene beat Amarillo Graham Plow 4-1 in the first round of the state semi-tournament last night. Jerry Glover played second base and after Dean Reding was ejected from the game, first base for the Plowboys and hit a triple and two singles in a losing effort.

The Plowboys are slated to play a losers bracket game tomorrow afternoon at 3 against an unknown opponent.

Borger, with Colt hurler Bobby Price on the roster, makes his first appearance tonight at 10 o'clock.

Randall Scheduled

HOUSTON (UPI)—Fourth-ranking welterweight Garland (Rip) Randall will fight Manuel Gonzalez for the third time here Aug. 11.

57TH YEAR FRIDAY, AUGUST 7, 1964

Farrell Finally Wins Eleventh

By United Press International
A funny thing happened to Dick Farrell on the way to a 20-victory season.

When the muscular right-hander stopped the Cardinals 4-1 on June 14 for his 10th victory of the season against one setback it seemed only an injury could prevent him from becoming the first Houston pitcher to win 20 games in one season.

However, 10 unsuccessful starts and six defeats lay on the road to victory No. 11, which was finally achieved Thursday night, seven weeks later, at the expense of the league-leading Phillies, 2-1. The 6-foot-4, 220-pound fastballer is now aiming to better his 14-13 mark of 1963.

Farrell blanked his former teammates on four hits for eight innings Thursday night before being lifted by Manager Harry Craft after Wes Covington's one-out double in the bottom of the ninth. Relief ace Hal Woodeshick faced only pinchhitter Gus Triandos, whose single scored Covington with the Phils' only run.

Owens Saves Game
Woodeshick was yanked in favor of Jim Owens, another ex-Phillie, who served up a game-ending double play ball to Tony Taylor, which made Farrell's record 11-7.

The loss decreased Philadelphia's lead to 1½ games over idle San Francisco.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh beat Los Angeles 4-1, Cincinnati clobbered Milwaukee 9-3, and St. Louis downed Chicago 5-3. The Mets and Giants were idle.

In the American League games, the Yankees remained in first place with a 5-3 triumph over Kansas City, Minnesota nipped Boston 6-5, and Detroit defeated the third place White Sox 5-2.

Friend Wins 10th

Pirate second baseman Bill Mazeroski drove in three runs with a single and a double as Bob Friend bested Dodger starter Larry Miller. The Dodgers were limited to nine singles by Friend. Tommy Davis had three. Roberto Clemente, the major leagues' leading hitter, did not play because of a sore back.

Deron Johnson and Vada Pinson drove in five runs between them and Frank Robinson had a perfect night with three hits as the Reds moved to within four games of Philadelphia. Joey Jay (7-8) won his third in a row, although he yielded Hank Aaron's 18th homer in the sixth with two aboard. Hank Fischer, the Braves' starter, was the loser.

Chicago outthit the Cardinals 11-5 but lost when Bill White extended his hitting streak to 14 games with a two-run double in the third. Bob Gibson evened his record at 9-9 with ninth inning relief help from Mike Cuellar and former Cub Barney Schultz. Dick Ellsworth, (12-13) was charged with the defeat.

In the American League games, the Yankees remained in first place with a 5-3 triumph over Kansas City, Minnesota nipped Boston 6-5, and Detroit defeated the third place White Sox 5-2.

Deron Johnson and Vada Pinson drove in five runs between them and Frank Robinson had a perfect night with three hits as the Reds moved to within four games of Philadelphia. Joey Jay (7-8) won his third in a row, although he yielded Hank Aaron's 18th homer in the sixth with two aboard. Hank Fischer, the Braves' starter, was the loser.

Chicago outthit the Cardinals 11-5 but lost when Bill White extended his hitting streak to 14 games with a two-run double in the third. Bob Gibson evened his record at 9-9 with ninth inning relief help from Mike Cuellar and former Cub Barney Schultz. Dick Ellsworth, (12-13) was charged with the defeat.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh beat Los Angeles 4-1, Cincinnati clobbered Milwaukee 9-3, and St. Louis downed Chicago 5-3. The Mets and Giants were idle.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

'Economize—or Perish'

For persons on the threshold of economic inquiry for the first time, we would like to recommend a dandy little volume just made available through Northwood Institute at Midland, Michigan.

It is called: "Economize — Or Perish" and it comes from the pen of Dr. V. Orval Watts. The language of economics, as has sometimes been noted, is often obscure and confusing. Someone has said that economics is a term applied to a language of obfuscation in which the obvious is concealed. While this may be true in some cases, it certainly is not true of Dr. Watts and he is never more clear and easily understood than in this new booklet. If parents have youngsters getting ready to go to college or who are interested in the subject, this little paperback (only 50 cents) puts forward some basic essentials in a way anyone can remember them.

Dr. Watts begins by reminding us that "praise of poverty" and a "scorn of affluence" are about as ancient as the records of human beings can be traced. And then he jolts us by showing that one of the major circumstances which made America a land different from all others was that in this country right from the beginning we took it for granted that we were NOT going to be bound by poverty and the limiting conditions of our forefathers.

The problem, as he shows it, is that in America, having worked hard to produce a superior way of life, we now have a host of politicians who are trying to persuade us that a too much spending in the "private" sector is selfish and narrow and that wealth should be transferred to the "public" sector for the government takes on what appears to be an all-out attack against poverty, it adopts a means whereby the wealth that may be in the private sector can be taken out and diverted into public channels. Thus, private wealth can be replaced by public prosperity. But the overall result will be private poverty glossed over as the government becomes more affluent.

Moving closer to his subject the author states: "Life is purposive action and economy of effort is essential for achievement of any purpose. The urge to economize, therefore, begins with the will to live."

In other words, if you wish to accomplish any given purpose, you will have to harness your energies to that purpose. And this means, of course, that you will have to remove your attention and energy from other possible avenues you could pursue, thus "economizing" in the management of your time and resources.

He provides a marvelous illustration by calling to mind the Martin family, reported in Reader's Digest, December of 1955. The aim and purpose of Mr. and Mrs. Martin was to have 12 children and to send them all to college. How they actually achieved this goal is a thrilling tale, for the income of Mr. Martin was low and the cost of college for 12 is very high.

The Martins could not have made this achievement had they not learned the value of economy. That is, they refrained from doing other things they also wanted to do, so that their major achievements could be attained.

Other areas which are dealt with in this book include: the subject of profits, the concept of self-control, the recognition that human wants and desires have no limits, and the equal recognition that the person who learns how to economize can get what he wants.

Here are some typical quotations: "Success in getting profits is necessary for the growth and development of any individual and for the survival of any species. If any living creature expands its energies so as to get in return no more than enough to replace the energy spent, it may subsist, but it cannot grow, it does not gain the reserves necessary to replace losses from unforeseen accidents, and it does not get the means for reproduction."

Or again: "Desires of free men are limitless because, in freedom, men's minds develop insatiable hungers as the bodies of animals do not. Only the restraints of physical force — initiated against them, legally or illegally, by their misguided fellows — can put a stop to the efforts of individuals."

"Economize — Or Perish" is not a text book. It's a handy, pocket-size introduction to a vital field that can be accepted and understood by nearly anyone. It can be obtained at Northwood Institute, Midland, Michigan, or at Freedom School, Box 165, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Is 'Leniency' Reforming Criminals

By Ray Cromley

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Federal Bureau of Investigation studies of 56,126 offenders already have produced figures which lead some government crime specialists to privately question the effectiveness of our present methods of probation, parole, conditional releases and suspended sentences.

These preliminary studies were on offenders "actively handled in 1963" whose records were available to the FBI.

A fourth of this total had only one arrest on their records. But 75 per cent had been arrested an average of 4 1/2 times each.

According to their criminal histories, 52 per cent of these repeaters had received "leniency" (the term used in the study) in the form of probation, suspended sentence, parole or conditional release. Of these, 68 per cent received "leniency" once, 20 per cent twice and 12 per cent three times or more.

More than half of those arrested for murder or serious assault had been previously granted "leniency" for one crime or another. Almost a tenth of those arrested for murder or serious assault had previously been granted "leniency" three times or more.

The average man or woman arrested for murder or serious assault had a criminal record going back 13 years. He or she had been arrested an average of eight times. The 56 per cent who had been granted "leniency" at one time or another for some crime had an average of five arrests after having been granted that first "leniency."

(Since the year 1925, 14 special agents of the FBI have been slain in gun battles. Twelve of these 14 were killed "by criminals" who had been paroled, placed on probation or had received some other kind of lenient consideration from the courts.)

Two-thirds of those arrested for robbery, burglary, auto theft, bogus check passing and sex offenses previously had been granted "leniency" for one crime or another. The average man or woman arrested for robbery had an average criminal career of 13 years, with nine arrests. The two-thirds who previously had been granted "leniency" had an average of six arrests after the first "leniency."

These preliminary analyses show one other thing — the youthful age at which most repeat criminals first violate the law.

Of the 56,126 cases studied, 66 per cent had been 24 or under at the time of their first arrest. Forty per cent or more were teen-agers when first arrested. Most had crime records which spread out more than a decade.

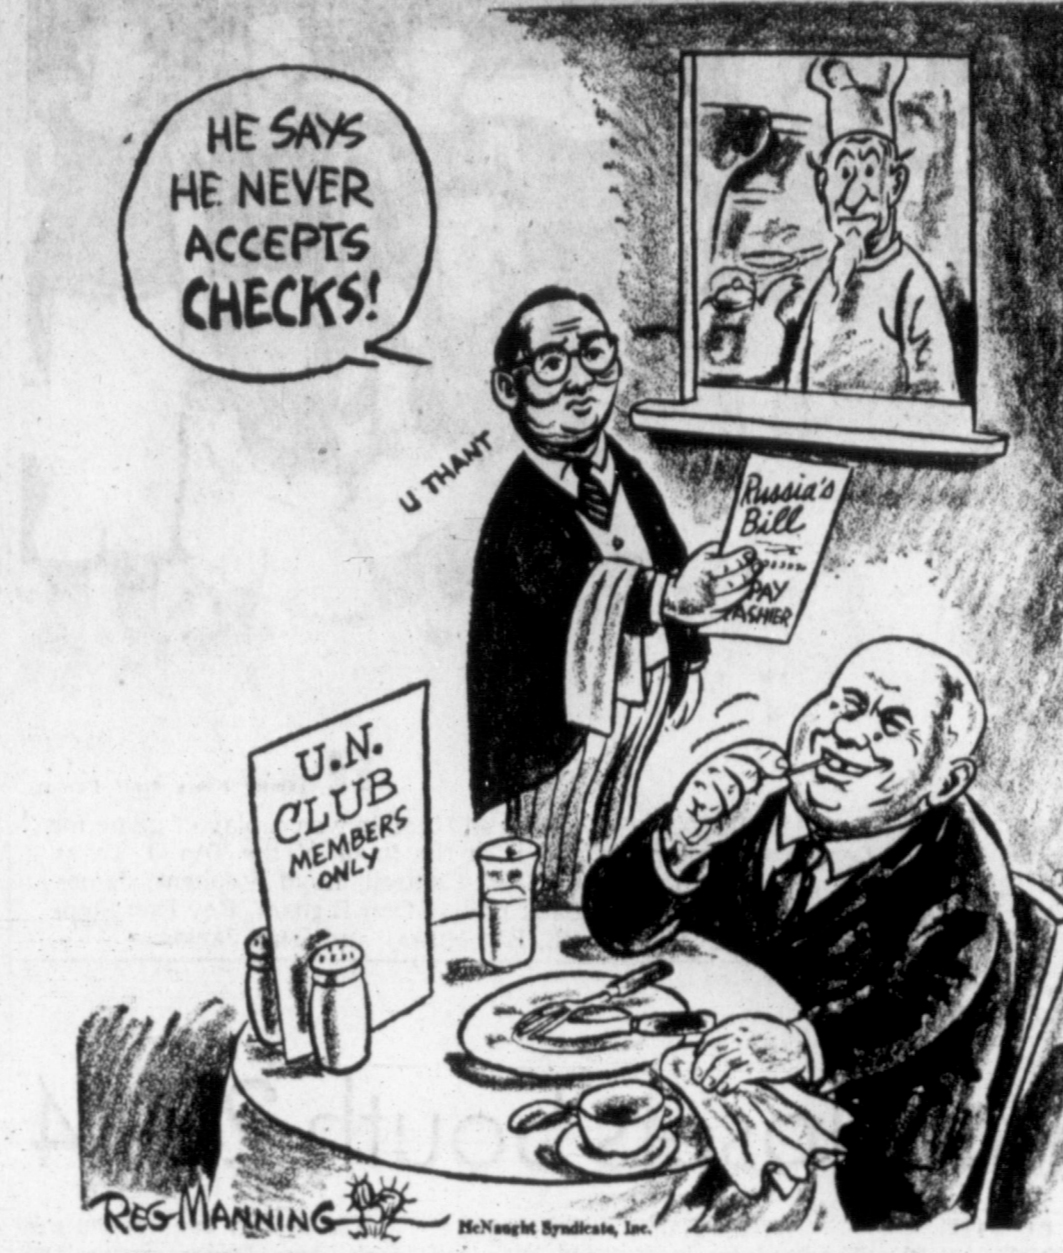

The crime specialists don't have solutions. But FBI speakers regularly quote Judge Sam Tatum of Tennessee, who said: "I became judge of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court on June 1, 1939. Since that time I have tried approximately 8,000 boys and girls under 17 years of age for violating the law."

"Of that number only 42 were regular in attendance in Sunday School or church."

Soviet 'Re-export' of Surplus U. S. Wheat OK'd by Commerce Department Counter to Policy of State Department

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Large amounts of the U.S. wheat sold to Russia, presumably to ease a critical grain shortage, are being used by the Kremlin to bolster its fraying grip on disaffected satellites — with the official sanction of the U.S.

A graphic illustration of this extraordinary backstage policy is the Commerce Department's authorization of the Soviet's "re-export" of 160,000 metric tons of U.S. wheat to Rumania. Value of this grain is more than $12.5 million, and it is approximately one-tenth of the total sold to Russia last year.

Explanation for this unpublishable transaction is that the 160,000 tons of U.S. grain were in repayment for a Rumanian "loan" of 400,000 tons to the Soviet.

That's what Representative Glenard Lipscomb, R. Calif., member of the powerful Appropriations Committee, was informed when he uncovered this affair and began asking blunt questions. He discovered it while studying a Commerce Department report titled "Export Licenses Approved and Reexports Authorized."

In a series of sharp inquiries, Lipscomb cited the glaring "ironic contradiction" in the department's action.

On one hand, the State Department is assiduously wooing Rumania with trade and offers to encourage it to pursue a more independent course toward the Kremlin. At the same time, the Commerce Department is aiding Russia to retain a firm hold on the dissenting satellite.

"The Commerce Department complied with almost miraculous speed in issuing the necessary re-export authorization," pointed out Lipscomb. "There are strong indications that an informal okay was actually given by the Department soon after her such permission was sought by the Soviet. Thus, not content with bailing the USSR out of its agricultural morass, it appears that the administration has helped Khrushchev make good on a wheat debt to Rumania."

"This has helped to strengthen Soviet-Rumanian economic ties and runs directly counter to the administration's professed policy of encouraging less satellite reliance on the USSR. What makes this action all the more ironical, is that it came at the same time the department of State was negotiating with the Rumanians for expanding trade and diplomatic relations."

"In essence, therefore, the same Rumanian 'independence' the administration cites in claiming justification for granting highly significant trade benefits is being undermined by policies which bolster Soviet-Rumanian ties. Certainly here is a classic example of what could be called talking out of both sides of one's mouth at the same time."

MORE UNANSWERED QUESTIONS — Neither the State nor Commerce department has answered Representative Lipscomb's caustic blast.

So far as they are concerned, they are obviously proceeding on the basis of "the less said the better." This seems particularly the case in replying to three highly pertinent questions the young Californian has raised, as follows:

"How real was the need for wheat in the Soviet if they can afford to trans-ship an amount as large as this to a satellite?"

"Since the wheat we sold to Russia was subsidized grain — which means the American people paid a significant part of the total — is the Soviet making a profit on this 're-export' to Rumania, a profit on an investment by American taxpayers?"

"Is this another attempt by the administration to get around the demands of the American maritime unions? These unions, against tremendous federal pressure, took a firm stand that 50 per cent of the vessels which shipped the wheat to Russia should be American bottoms. Is this the way the administration is trying to get around the demands of our workers most seriously affected by this affair?"

These forcefully relevant questions remain unanswered. Lipscomb vigorously contends "the security and integrity of the nation" require a prompt and full answer, but none has been forthcoming — and isn't likely to be.

Senator Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., member of the foreign Relations Committee, has joined Lipscomb in assailing this transaction. Dodd declared he was "amazed to discover" that the Commerce Department had authorized the "re-export" without ascertaining its terms.

"The Department could not tell me," said Dodd, "whether the Soviet had charged Rumania more than it had paid the U.S. or less. I believe that the Department owes Congress and the American people a full explanation of this disturbing development."

ATOMS FOR RUMANIA — In those recent backstage trade negotiations with Rumania, the U.S. expressed willingness to sell it a nuclear reactor under certain conditions.

This is admitted by Assistant Secretary of State Robert E. Lee in a letter to Representative Lipscomb. The latter wrote Secretary Rusk regarding reports that the Rumanians are seeking a reactor and other major industrial facilities, and Lee, replying, admitted it.

THEY'RE OUR MOTHERS (Christian Economics)

EDITH KERMIT ROOSEVELT
Once upon a time each trip to the beauty parlor spelled adventure. I looked forward once a week to relaxing under the dryer. I always read some of the romance magazines scattered about. The capers of the movie stars and even the experiences of housewives were challenging examples. Life's prizes — a good husband or a successful career — were readily available for girls with initiative and character. "Good girls" were not only pure. They were tender and loyal. "Bad girls" were silly, weak-willed creatures who gave their all without benefit of clergy and suffered thereby. Some found redemption in an understanding, lawful husband.

Yes, there was gossip and trivia in these magazines. But why be serious all the time? The magazines were an innocent escape.

But I had to wait a little longer on my last visit to the beauty parlor, and a more extensive perusal of these magazines stunned me. A change had come over them. A big proportion of these pulp magazines for women were publications of the sort one could formerly see only in "special" bookstores in big cities catering to peculiar people. Gone were the tales of sentiment and true love. Instead, an extraordinary emphasis, perhaps the unnatural in sex. Many presented a picture of an American society corrupt from top to bottom, where the main interest was sex and money obsessively pursued. Khrushchev could do no greater softening-up damage to American character than this distorted and untrue picture of American womanhood. Their contents are more detailed and lurid than the men's magazines of the same type. When one thinks that they are addressed to the mothers of the nation, the effect becomes horrifying and downright dangerous in a cold war.

Not only are the movie stars pictured as hard-boiled and lustful — qualities played up as the key to popularity — but they are frequently described as psychopaths.

This same unreal approach is what we are seeing to an increasing degree in some of these women's pulp magazines. These stories are not descriptions of normal life, or even life in most circles in Hollywood or New York City. Actually they resemble case histories collected in a clinic. Virtually everyone suffers physical frustration. We are presented as a nation of weaklings and neurotics and these twisted figures become actually glamorized in these pages. Typical themes in the March issue of True Story include "I Was Only Half a Woman," "My Husband Stomps at Nothing in the Name of Love" and "What Every Wife Should Learn: Too Much Virtue Can Hurt You." What can mothers who are led to think of this as what everyone is doing be telling to our sons who man the military forces?

Everything is presented as a "problem." The April issue of a magazine bearing the misleading title "True Love" describes a "Strange Party Game." In what we are given to understand is an average middle-class suburban community, wife-swapping involves the use of whips, black velvet masks and handcuffs as aids. In the April edition of Personal Romances a teenage lover repeatedly kicks his girl in the stomach in order to induce a miscarriage.

However, it is only natural for humans to fear something they do not understand, and particularly if it seems to have a tendency to cause temporary unemployment. During the early days of the Industrial Revolution in England, workers objected to use of horses to run equipment instead of manpower. The same has been true through the ages as men invented machines which reduced the amount of labor necessary to produce an item for human use. The results have been that costs were lowered to where luxuries soon became necessities, and the increased production meant more jobs, not fewer.

When the automobile was invented it was a rich man's toy. Such persons as Henry Ford, found ways to automate, so they could reduce the price of autos, while paying higher wages for fewer hours of work. While they put the buggywheeler manufacturers out of business, intelligent carriage makers like Studebaker switched to making autos.

It would be foolish for the owners of the machines to expect the workers to be subservient to them. On the contrary, the more elaborate the piece of machinery, the more necessary it is to have skilled workers to operate it. The more skilled the worker is, the more likely is the individual to be independent.

What is significant in these magazines is a new political orientation. We are led to believe that it is society and not the individuals concerned who are responsible for these "problems." The traditional incentive to better one's self downgraded as "status seeking." Racial intermarriage is a popular theme and it is almost invariably treated in a manner to inflame passions and prejudices. Curiously, a story in the March issue of Photoplay even picks up the Kremlin line that not only racists, but anti-Communists and American society generally were responsible for the President's assassination — not an avowed Marxist.

What is most distressing is not so much the sensationalism but the utter joylessness and futility they picture. Remember all this is specifically aimed at our wives and daughters.

Wit and Whimsy

True progress consists not so much in increasing our needs as in diminishing our wants.

A western bookseller wrote to a house in Chicago asking that a dozen copies of Canon Farrar's Seekers after God be shipped to him at once. Within two days he received this reply by telegraph: "No Seekers after God in Chicago or New York. Try Philadelphia."

We discover in ourselves what others hide from us, and we recognize in others what we hide from ourselves.

Happiness is not given but exchanged.

He who goes to law for a sheep loses his cow.

One woman (to another in doctor's waiting room) — Oh, I feel so much better now that the doctor's found out there's really something wrong with me.

When C. C. Green, of Wichita Falls, Tex., found a wallet containing $1,000 at Brownwood, Tex., he turned it over to police for return to the owner.

Recently Green received a telephone call from Wichita Falls police informing him that someone had found his wallet, containing $430. Green didn't even know he had lost it.

The wise carry their knowledge as they do their watches, not for display, but for their own use.

Here's to the ships of our navy, Here's to the ladies of our land, May the former be well-rigged, And the latter be well-manned.

The Doctor Says:

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Hay fever is almost never caused by hay and is rarely associated with fever. In fact, if you have fever with it you should look for some other cause. For this reason we doctors prefer to call it allergic rhinitis.

Hay fever may occur at any time of the year because a great variety of allergens may cause it, but for most victims—and there are about 9 million in the United States—the attacks start in early August. Sneezing, running nose and reddened eyes for most sufferers are ushered in with the pollination of ragweed plants and the misery lasts until the first frost.

The exact date when the pollination of ragweed or any other allergenic plant starts varies in different parts of the country and will vary in the same part from year to year because of changes in the weather. An unusually warm summer will not only cause earlier pollination but will also increase the quantity of pollen in the air.

This is especially true if the hot weather is attended by an abundant rainfall. The date of the frost is also subject to variation.

For those victims who want to have a vacation in a region where the ragweed pollen count is low, most of Canada can be recommended. Other favored spots include the area west of the Cascade Mountains in Oregon and Washington, the woods of northern Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire and Maine, the central Adirondacks region and the southern tip of Florida. Ocean voyages are also pollen-free and pleasant (for those who do not get seasick).

Your vacation should be scheduled, if possible, to coincide with the period of heaviest pollination in your community.

It is important to treat your hay fever by every means known because it so often paves the way for serious infections in the sinuses and the middle ear. But you never should attempt to treat this disease without medical supervision.

The most effective treatment is the taking of desensitizing injections before the hay fever season starts. This can be done only after careful testing has revealed what allergen or allergens are causing hay fever in you.

For temporary relief of symptoms one of the many antihistamines may be prescribed by your doctor. The effectiveness of these drugs is greatly enhanced if they are given in combination with methylprednisolone. Nose drops and nasal sprays are best avoided because of the rebound reaction that occurs when the shrinking effect on the mucous membranes wears off.

Dear Abby.... Ask Daughter Since She Tells You Everything

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was going through my daughter's dresser drawers looking for something I had misplaced when I came across a letter she had written to you, but not mailed. In it she thanks you for helping her out of some "mess" she had gotten herself into. We are very close, my daughter and I, and she has always come to me with all her little problems. I don't want to ask her what the "mess" was because I don't want her to get the impression that I was snooping through her things, but I want your explanation of that "mess" whatever it was. Please don't feel that you would be betraying her confidence by anything you tell me, Abby, because we are just like sisters, and she tells me everything anyway. She signed herself "O L D ENOUGH."

HER MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Since she tells you everything, why don't you ask her?

DEAR ABBY: Will you please help settle an argument between my mother and me? A friend of ours to whom I had sent an announcement of my high school graduation sent me a very nice card and on it she wrote: "I did not know what to get you so I have enclosed a five dollar bill." Abby, the envelope was sealed up tight (I opened it myself) but there was no five dollar bill inside. I am writing my thank-you notes and my mother says I should just thank her for the gift and let it go at that. I think I should tell her there wasn't any five dollar bill inside because maybe she forgot to put it in, or someone opened the envelope, took it out and sealed it back again. What do you think? I don't want her to think I am hinting for the money.

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: Write and thank her for remembering you on your graduation, and tell her frankly that no money was enclosed.

DEAR ABBY: I was asked to be a bridesmaid. The bride's mother is making all the bridesmaids' dresses in the same style, but in different colors. I am the only redhead in the bunch, and she gave me the pink dress to wear. Abby, redheads can't wear pink! I asked her if I could have another color, but she said all the other colors
