Barry Foresees Another Crisis In Cuban Tiff

Accuses Administration of Politics in World Affairs

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater said today that he would not be surprised to see another Cuban crisis just before the presidential election in November.

Goldwater made the statement here as he boarded his campaign plane. He had scheduled appearances in Boise, Idaho and Great Falls, Mont., today before making what aides described as a major speech in Minneapolis tonight.

Goldwater addressed a crowd of more than 14,000 here Wednesday night and said he was "terrifically encouraged" by early campaign reaction.

He speculated on the possibility of a crisis in Cuba when asked about Wednesday night's speech in which he accused the administration of playing politics with world affairs.

He specifically said that the Kennedy administration waited until the last "perilous moment" in 1962 to move against Russian missiles placed in Cuba.

Asked about that statement as he boarded his big campaign plane, Goldwater recalled that he had predicted some critical foreign affairs development and missed calling the Cuban crisis by only two days.

He was then asked what kind of development might occur this year.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see it happen in Cuba again," Goldwater said.

In his talk Wednesday night the Arizona senator described himself as greatly surprised and greatly pleased at initial responses to GOP campaign efforts.

The rally Wednesday night in the new Seattle Coliseum was one source of encouragement to the GOP nominee. There were loud cheers, fireworks, cascading balloons and an overflow crowd which responded warmly to his regionally televised speech.

Before the cheering coliseum crowd which overflowed the 14,250 seats and left a couple of thousand standing outside, Goldwater Wednesday night delivered a sharply worded criticism of Kennedy-Johnson foreign policies, charging that the Democrats made cynical use of world affairs for domestic political purposes.

He said the nation must be prepared for "a crisis of some sort just before an election" and he compared the foreign policy views of the Republicans and the Democrats.

$11 Million Suit Lodged Against Murchison Bros.

LUBBOCK (UPI) — D. W. Lewter of Lubbock, a former partner of the Murchison Brothers of Dallas in a multi-million dollar Lubbock feed operation, filed an $11 million cross-action against them Wednesday—the largest civil suit in Lubbock county history.

The feed operation was placed in receivership in April. Lewter allegedly owned 25 per cent of the feeding operation. John D. and Clint W. Murchison Jr. owned the rest.

The Murchisons asked for an accounting and sale of the firm's assets, contending Lewter made purchases without their knowledge.

Lewter, in the cross action, said the Murchisons had no right to dissolve the joint venture.

Lewter last March announced sale of some 1,000 head of cattle at the feed lot to J. D. Leftwich and H. T. Luther, both of Lubbock.

The feeding operation, one of the largest in the nation, was placed in receivership after two weeks of hearings.

Taylor Has Little Hope in Viet War

By DONALD H. MAY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor's five-day review of the situation in South Viet Nam led today to a view that the anti-Communist war could not be won militarily in the foreseeable future.

This assessment by one high-ranking U.S. source came as Taylor briefed Congress and prepared to return to Saigon tonight.

It was disclosed that when Taylor gets back new efforts would be mounted to clean up Communist insurgents in the area surrounding Saigon.

But there were no indications of a major shift in U.S. strategy in the beleaguered and internally troubled Southeast Asian country.

Some U.S. officials believe the American-supported war effort is not in desperate straits because of recent political turmoil in Saigon. But the outlook for a quick military victory over Communist guerrillas was not encouraging.

One official source said the main hope of winning the war now lay in attempting to bring the Communists to realize the futility of pursuing aggression any further.

War Too Costly

The aim, he said, would be to convince the Reds that for them, the war would be too costly to continue and too barren of expectations for gain.

Taylor was scheduled to Washington at 6:30 p.m. EDT before his departure. He briefed the House foreign affairs subcommittee on the Far East and later, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Both sessions were closed.

U.S. sources said one result of a high level review of Viet Nam strategy here during the past few days has been that previous plans for a mop-up around Saigon should now go forward.

This was envisioned as much more than a military operation. It would also involve coordination of police and civilian administrators in an attempt to beef up government control and security in the areas involved.

Three of the four provinces surrounding Saigon have been considered among the toughest problems in the battle against Red insurgents.

The conclusion of Taylor's talks here, sources said, was that the mop-up around Saigon could proceed, even though the South Vietnamese government will be in a state of reorganization for several months.

Taylor conferred twice with President Johnson Wednesday on the status of the American-backed war by South Viet Nam against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas. Johnson told newsmen afterward that Taylor reported there had been "continued progress" in the bush war.

Thousands Homeless In Florida

By AL ROSSITER JR.
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI)—Monstrous hurricane Dora, the worst of the century in this area, smashed through this historic coastal city today and inland across north Florida, leaving a multi-million dollar trail of damage.

There were no immediate reports of casualties, but thousands were homeless in Dora's wake along the Atlantic Seaboard from this oldest city in the nation north to the Georgia and South Carolina beaches.

Homes were unroofed, seaside restaurants and cottages undermined and toppled into 25-foot waves, fishing piers smashed and amusement park ferris wheels twisted to hulks. Beaches were chewed up along nearly 400 miles of coastline.

Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia said damage to his state's coast was sure to run into the millions. Both Sanders and Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida sought federal disaster aid.

Uses Guardsmen — Sanders ordered about 150 National Guardsmen into Brunswick to guard against looting. Fifteen per cent of the buildings in the city of 30,000 were said to be destroyed.

At Jacksonville Beach, perhaps the hardest hit spot along the wide swath cut by Dora, city councilmen made a preliminary estimate of $10 million in damages. In other cities, authorities were still picking through debris making their first surveys of the destruction.

There were reports of looting in both St. Augustine and Jacksonville.

Dora, its winds reduced to bare hurricane force of 75 miles an hour in gusts, crunched through the piney woods and recently harvested tobacco land of north Florida. The center was located at noon EDT about 70 miles west-southwest of Jacksonville. The storm was moving between west and west-northwest at about 10 m.p.h.

Hurricane warnings went up along the elbow bend of Florida's north Gulf Coast and the Florida-Panhandle and south Georgia areas were warned of approaching gales and rains that may total 10 to 15 inches in the coming two days.

Ethel Moves Westward
Meanwhile, hurricane Ethel pounded westward almost in Dora's tracks with building fury. The weather bureau located the storm at noon EDT about 850 miles east of Palm Beach and said it was moving westward at about eight m.p.h.

Maximum winds had reached 95 m.p.h. in the storm's center. Miami forecaster Paul Moore emphasized "it's much too early to say what this one will do."

Dora moved like a bulldozer across St. Augustine early today. Huge oaks were toppled and seawater flooded the streets, including the old slave market where segregationists and civil rights demonstrators

Texas Pins Hope On Athens Entry

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI)—Sharon McCauley of Athens, Tex., will carry the hopes of Miss Texas in tonight's swim suit judging at the Miss America Pageant. She competed in the talent division Wednesday night, singing two numbers from "Gypsy."

Sharon sang "Let Me Entertain You" and "Everything is Coming Up Roses" after rehearsing most of the day. The talent phase was won by Miss Minnesota, Barbara Hasselbert.

Johnson Orders FBI To Report on Riots

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has asked the FBI for a comprehensive report on its investigation of recent racial riots and other disturbances to see if they fit a common pattern.

The Chief Executive told a news conference Wednesday that "considerable agitation" obviously was involved in disturbances in both the North and South. He declined to say, however, whether FBI had found any signs of outside agitation or political motivation so far.

Government Available
He said the government would be available to local authorities "for any supplementary work that may be within our authority under existing law." As examples, he cited Mississippi, Georgia, New York, New Jersey and Maryland where disorders have arisen in the past.

The President's impromptu White House conference touched upon several other issues figuring in his election campaign against GOP presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater.

He did not reply directly when asked his opinion of Goldwater's proposal for a 25 per cent reduction in federal income and corporate taxes over a five-year period.

Instead Johnson praised the effects of the administration's $11.5 billion tax cut which Goldwater voted against in the Senate—and cited statistics he said showed "confidence in our economic prosperity."

Studying Economic Situation
He said that executive and congressional experts are studying the nation's economic situation to determine the wisdom of possible further tax cuts. He said he would report their views to Congress next January.

Sources close to the Treasury Department reported last month that Johnson was thinking of asking Congress to approve a $1 billion to $3 billion cut in excise taxes in time for the nation's 1965 Christmas shopping.

On other matters, the President said:

—He had named a panel of prominent Americans "above partisan politics" as special consultants on foreign policy problems to the President, the secretary of state and secretary of defense. He said the panel would serve informally.

—He was pleased that a contract settlement had been reached between the United Auto Workers union and Chrysler Corp. Johnson, who has urged wage and price restraints in the past, expressed satisfaction over reports that the new contract would be non-inflationary.

—He said Wisconsin demonstrations would be postponed pending a meeting between him and Wisconsin's governor Friday.

WEATHER

Pampa Due Decision On Junior College

The decision by the State Board of Education of whether Pampa will get a junior college is now less than 48 hours away.

The board is expected to render a decision Saturday morning in Austin either granting or denying Pampa's request for a junior college.

At 7 a.m. tomorrow, a group of 15 Pampa businessmen will leave for Austin to be present at Saturday morning's board session.

Pampa made a formal request in mid-summer asking for the creation of a junior college district in Pampa.

In August a committee of five conducted a public hearing and investigation into the feasibility of a junior college in Pampa and reported the finding back to the board. It was announced at that time that the final decision on the request would come Sept. 12.

If the board grants the request, the way will be paved for a countywide election to determine if the voters of Gray County want a junior college here.

If this election is passed, a bond issue will be voted on to finance the proposed $1.6 million school.

Members of the junior college committee of the chamber were optimistic today over chances for the approval.

The only opposition against the college, so far, was raised by representatives of Frank Phillips College in Borger and Amarillo officials of the Phillips Petroleum Company.

Attending the Saturday morning session in Austin from Gray County will be E. L. Henderson, Burt Nichols, Jim Nation, Arthur Teed, Gene Hollar, James McCune, Jim Sanders, Wayland Merriman, Mack Hiatt, Bill Craig, Jim O'Connor and E. O. Wedgeworth of Pampa; John Haynes of McLean; John Sween of Lefors; and Texas Legislator Grainger McIlhenny of Wheeler.

Odd Weather Pattern Blamed for Storms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A grand-scale weather pattern which developed in the east central Pacific up around Kodiak has brought down a number of rockets at Cape Kennedy, Fla., and delayed the next U.S. manned space flight.

It also is being blamed for devastation wrought in Florida by Hurricane Cleo and whatever damage is done by Cleo's gigantic successor Dora.

Weather men say Cleo and Dora were permitted to approach the U.S. East Coast by an atmospheric circulation pattern of continental proportions which displaced normal air flows far to the north.

High-altitude jet streams, which might have steered Cleo and Dora away from land if they had been more southerly, have been crossing the country over the Great Lakes and north-eastern states. This pattern first manifested itself in the Pacific and was repeated over the continent.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) had five rocket-spacecraft combinations in place on their Cape Kennedy launch pads when Hurricane Dora threatened.

Tropical Atlantic hurricanes normally are nudged northwestward toward continental United States by the so-called trade winds. Often they run into jet streams, also known as the high westerlies, blowing from west to east. In that event, they are steered harmlessly back to sea.

This year the jets, as a result of that vast weather pattern generated in the Pacific, were too far north of their usual route to push the big winds away from the coast.

There is no indication that the pattern will change much in the next several days.

Theft, Vandalism Investigated Here

Three cases of theft and one of vandalism was being investigated today by Pampa police.

D. D. Slocum of Amarillo reported that someone stole an electric shaver from his car yesterday afternoon while it was parked at Highland General Hospital.

The shaver was valued at $25. Bobby Light, 709 E. Locust, a nurse at Highland General Hospital reported that someone took $15 cash from her purse at the hospital yesterday morning.

C. D. McAnally, 317 N. Nelson, said someone stole a bicycle from their front yard over the weekend. The bicycle was valued at $20.

In the case of vandalism, Conner Hicks, 304 N. Nelson, said someone shattered the windshield of his car with an airgun while it was parked at his home.

Red Cross Appoints New Home Chairman

Mrs. Jack Foster has been appointed as home service chairman of the Gray County Red Cross to replace Mrs. O. K. Kreimeyer, who recently resigned.

Other new appointments include A. J. Dickens, new director to replace resigning member Don Smith, and V. J. Drew as chairman of the volunteers.

BACK WITH BOYS

DALKEITH, Scotland (UPI) — Owen Holmes, 14, was allowed Tuesday to return to a boys' technical class after promising to wear a cap to keep his Beatle-style hair from getting caught in the machinery. He had been forced to attend a girls' class for two weeks until he made the promise.

TOO BELIEVING

LONDON (UPI) — John Michael Cameron, 26, an antique dealer, walked up to two shabbily dressed men and asked them if they were policemen. They were policemen. They said they were not. So he climbed a drainpipe and tried to break into a house. When he descended, they admitted they were policemen and arrested him.

Gen. Carl Spaatz Scholarship Given By Industry Firm

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — A scholarship honoring Gen. Carl A. Spaatz was announced this week for the Falcon Foundation, which provides pre-school support to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

C. B. Thornton, chairman of the board of Litton Industries, Inc., announced the scholarship. Thornton formerly lived in Haskell, Tex., and Lubbock, Tex.

Spaatz commanded Kelly Field in San Antonio, from 1920 to 1921, and later commanded the First Pursuit Group at Ellington Field, Tex.

Spaatz was first chief of staff after the Air Force was established as a separate branch of the armed forces in 1947.

Maj. Gen. Robert J. Smith of Dallas is president of the Falcon Foundation.

The $1,000 scholarship will be awarded annually to an outstanding prep student planning to enter the Air Force Academy.

Yarborough Says He Was Falsely Accused

By United Press International

Sen. Ralph Yarborough said Wednesday he was falsely accused of getting his son a $12,000 a year federal job while the boy was still in law school.

Yarborough said his opponent in the November election, Republican George Bush, made the accusation "in many speeches over Texas."

Yarborough said in Austin, that his son, Richard, graduated from the University of Texas in 1955, two years before Yarborough was elected to the Senate. He said he made his son an assistant legislative assistant at a salary of $5,456 in 1958, three years after he graduated.

Richard later became a legislative assistant at a salary of $12,115 and is now his aide at $12,992, Yarborough said.

Not While Student

"My son never drew any federal pay or held any federal job at any time when he was a student," Yarborough said. "I have had many difficult political campaigns in Texas but this is the first time that my opponents have descended to the villainy of a lying attack on my good family."

Meanwhile, Bush continued a speaking tour of the Pannhandle South Plains region, with more stops scheduled for today.

Bush called for an end to government involvement in farm problems.

He told a dinner in Plainview Wednesday night he favors "an agricultural system responsive to the basic law of supply and demand."

No Simple Answers

He said he does not "have any simple answers to the complex problems, but I do believe we should strive to get the government further out of the agriculture business."

Bush planned stops today in Lubbock, Slaton, Ralls, Crosbyton and Floydada.

In Washington, Sen. John Tower, R - Tex., attacked Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in a Senate speech. Tower spoke in reply to an earlier remark by Fulbright that there was little chance the nation could escape disaster if Republican candidate Barry Goldwater is elected president. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was speaking against Goldwater's foreign policy proposals.

Tower said Fulbright does not understand communism and was guilty of misreading history.

AEC Announces Contract Bids

AMARILLO (Sp) — Albert L. Smith, Inc., of Fort Worth, is apparent low bidder for construction of an explosives machining building at the Atomic Energy Commission's Pantex Plant near Amarillo. The firm's bid, one of 10 opened Wednesday at Pantex Plant, was $377,132.00. The project is to be completed within 180 days after the contractor receives notice to proceed.

On another project, Claude E. Mathis of Amarillo is apparent low bidder for construction of an inert machining building also to be constructed at Pantex Plant. Mathis bid, one of seven also opened Wednesday was $61,400. This project is to be completed within 129 days after the contractor receives notice to proceed.

Women to Attend Vatican Sessions

CASTLE GANDOLFO, Italy. (UPI) — Pope Paul VI has announced that women will be permitted to attend some Ecumenical Council sessions this autumn for the first time in 20 centuries of Roman Catholic history.

The pontiff said the women would be members of Roman Catholic religious orders and lay organizations. But he made it clear their attendance would be limited to council debates regarding women's role in the church and they would be observers only.

The Pope disclosed the historic decision in informal remarks following a special mass for local nuns at the summer papal residence.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Colby & Co. feels there is little doubt that the market, in terms of the industrial average, is going much higher.

The firm still feels its long range prediction, including an advance in the Dow-Jones industrial average to the 925-950 level, is still intact.

Richard T. Leahy of J. W. Sparks says that from a technical standpoint the fact that the industrial average failed to follow the carrier average downward suggests that a new and more vigorous advance is about to take place.

Bache & Co. feels the current market is one on the lookout for fundamental values and feels that investors should tailor their buying programs with this in mind.

BUYS N.Y. FIRM MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — General Mills announced Wednesday the purchase of the assets of Collett-Week Corp., an Ossining, N.Y., producer of fine chemicals, for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Texans Leave Farms Faster Than Most

DALLAS (UPI)—Texans are taking to the factories and other non-farm type jobs faster than in most states.

Between 1939 and 1963, non-farm type employment in Texas increased 151 per cent, compared with a national average of 86.7 per cent.

Texas ranks first in the south and sixth in the nation in the 1963 figures for total non-farm workers.

All this came from a government study not yet released, entitled "Employment and Earning Statistics for States and Areas." The southern regional director of the Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics, Brunswick A. Bagdon, released a summary of the 728-page study.

It shows that Texas now has about 2,761,000 non-farm workers.

In 1963, according to the study, the average gross pay of factory production workers was $87.57 a week in Dallas, $102.24 in Fort Worth, $113.70 in Houston and $72.22 in San Antonio.

In the South, only Baton Rouge, La., with $127.30 a week exceeded the average weekly factory production wage in Houston.

As the number of non-farm workers increased, so did wages. The gross average weekly earnings of Texas factory production workers was $53.24 in 1949. By 1963, the average weekly wage for Texas had increased 82 per cent to $97.29.

The study noted that Texas has a concentration of workers in highly skilled industries, such as chemicals, petroleum refining, primary metals, machinery and transportation equipment.

The highest average weekly factory production wage reported in the study was Flint, Mich., with $149.61.

Carriers to Start Survey on Acreage

Pampa Postmaster O. K. Gaylor announced today that rural mail carriers will begin distributing 1964 acreage survey cards to patrons on their routes the last of this week.

The Post Office Department assists the Department of Agriculture in making this survey each year. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1964.

To be sure this community is well represented in the survey, Postmaster Gaylor urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mailbox.

Rural mail carriers working this project are: I. E. Byars, Rural Route One; C. W. Coffey, Rural Route Two; Mrs. V. T. Alexander, Star Route Two; C. W. Huffman, Star Route Three; and D. E. Bradford, Star Route Four.

Chrysler in Bag, Reuther Now Turns to Ford Deal

By JAMES STICKFORD UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther goes to Ford Motor Co. Friday where he will demand a better contract than the $90 million, pattern-setting agreement he reached with Chrysler.

Reuther told reporters Wednesday night, "the basic provisions of the economic packages at Ford and General Motors generally will follow the pattern set at Chrysler."

The labor leader said Chrysler rated its original offer made Aug. 17 at 39 cents an hour for the three-year life of the contract and then agreed to add 15 cents new money.

Chrysler, he said, will sign provide the extra 15 cents an hour per worker and another agreeing to pay 3 1/2 cents an hour to give 12 minutes additional relief time for every assembly line worker.

two letters — one agreeing to Chrysler, he said, will sign two letters — one agreeing to provide the extra 15 cents an hour to give 12 minutes additional relief time for every assembly line worker.

Ups Pensions

The Chrysler settlement called for pensions up to $400 a month at age 60, early retirement, wage increases, additional relief time, two more paid holidays, an extra week's vacation, improved benefits for retired workers, improved insurance benefits, increased survivors benefits, and improved jobless benefits.

Reuther and Chrysler administrative Vice President John D. Leary agreed the settlement was non-inflationary. Leary said, "we wouldn't be a part of any inflationary settlement."

Reuther said, "this is a non-inflationary settlement and in no way will cause a car price increase. They could still cut prices and make a profit more satisfactory than the rest of American industry."

The new contract has to be

Final Tickets Drawn In Legal US Lottery

SALEM, N.H. (UPI)—The final 1,328 New Hampshire sweepstakes tickets were drawn Wednesday in the nation's first legal lottery in this century.

The $125,000 added sweepstakes race will be held at the Rockingham-Park horse race track here Saturday.

The state sold 1,910,031 of the $3 tickets since March in the controversial lottery. Proceeds from the event are earmarked for the state's educational program.

Six lucky ticket holders will win $100,000 in the Saturday race and others will win amounts ranging from $200 to $50,000.

All the tickets sold were dumped into huge plexiglass drums and 332 tickets were drawn and matched with the names of the 332 horses nominated for the race.

Since the drawings were made from six drums, each horse was matched with the names of six ticket holders. That means the winning horse will pay $100,000 to each of six persons. Six others will get $50,000 each for the second place horse, and the third place horse will pay $25,000.

Possibly a dozen of the 332 horses nominated actually will run in the Saturday classic. Those ticket holders whose KING PAYS VISIT IJMUUDEN, The Netherlands (UPI)—King Olaf V. of Norway, arrived Wednesday to start a state visit to the three Benelux countries. He will be in Holland through Saturday.

Others who were matched with Thoroughbreds that were nominated but not entered will get at least $200 each.

Russians Study Drug for Help On Space Trips

WARSAW, Poland (UPI)—Soviet scientists are experimenting with drugs to enable specimens to survive the physical stresses of flights to Venus and Mars, Western sources said today.

The sources said private talks with Soviet research scientists at the 15th International Astronautical Congress here showed that the Soviets are planning for flights to other planets or long orbital flights around earth.

A United States congressional space expert said, however, that the reports to the congress, now in its third day, show that the United States leads the Russians in the space race.

Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee, said that U.S. weather satellites and the Ranger 7 moon shot "will make some other people realize we're pretty well ahead in the game and maybe they'll quit fooling as they have in the past."

Asked if the "other people" referred to the Soviets, Miller said "there are only two nations in this business at this time"—the United States and the Soviet Union.

Western sources said a report that the Russians are experimenting with a drug to decrease the effects of gravity on the human body indicates that manned interplanetary flights are in the planning stage.

The drug would enable a space man to endure a higher number of "G's," the measurement for force of gravity. A fast turn in a supersonic jet fighter exerts about 10 G's on the pilot, or a force 10 times his normal weight.

According to the sources, the Soviets have conducted experiments in which drugged humans have undergone 22.4 G's for 50 seconds, and 26.4 G's for 8 seconds. The current goal, they said, is 30 G's.

The sources said a flight to Mars or Venus would require higher resistance to gravitational stress because it might involve a direct re-entry to the earth.

ELECTIONS SET SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—The civilian junta government has scheduled elections Sept. 1, 1965, for a new president, a congress and local officials.

Rotarians Hear Talk by Scouter

Scout executive John Brewer told Rotary members that "Scouting is always interested in tomorrow" at the club's luncheon meeting yesterday in Coronado Inn. He said that the scouting program has changed since it first began in 1910, but the basic idea is the same — that of helping our youth grow from boyhood to manhood.

There is an opportunity for all men to serve in scouting, he added.

Brewer, who has served in scouting for 16 years, is the scout executive for the Adobe Walls Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

For the Boys, Lemon Meringue Torte

Have you ever found a man, young or old, who doesn't light up with smiles when lemon meringue pie is brought into the conversation? It seems to be the all-time favorite, a dessert certain to soothe the master of your household into complete docility — for at least as long as he has more pie to consume!

If you have a difficult time making a lemon pie just the way he likes it, try this recipe for Lemon Meringue Torte. Success is assured because the filling comes from a can of pie filling that's velvety smooth, possessing just the right amount of nippy lemon flavor. Canned lemon pie filling makes it so simple to prepare a pie or torte that you'll decide to serve them more often.

Instead of a baked pastry crust this torte boasts a meringue shell that crisps and bakes for hours while you sleep, or are busy elsewhere.

Once the meringue shell is done, lavish the bottom with sweetened whipped cream. Then spoon the lemon pie filling on top and crown with an additional fluff of whipped cream. This is a refreshing dessert that makes the end of a meal a happily anticipated event.

LEMON MERINGUE TORTE
 4 egg whites
 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
 1 No. 2 can (2 1/2 cups) lemon pie filling Beat egg whites, cream of tartar and salt together until stiff peaks form. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until very stiff. Spread in a buttered 9-inch pie plate. Place in 450 degree oven, turn off heat and let stand in closed oven for 3 hours or overnight. Add confectioners' sugar to whipped cream; spread half in bottom of torte shell. Spoon over lemon pie filling and top with remaining whipped cream. Chill thoroughly.

Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Try Rabbit for Cool Weather Menu

Because it's autumn — meaning cooler weather and a change of activities — don't "fall" down on your meal planning. The youngsters come home from school with an "educated" appetite, and they look to their mom for the answers. To vary your menus in keeping with the changing season, include proteinful rabbit meat this delicious way. It's easy to prepare, too!

OVEN FRIED RABBIT
 (2 to 3 lbs. Tender Rabbit)
 1/2 cup flour

1 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. pepper
 1/2 cup shortening

Shake moist pieces of rabbit meat in a paper bag with flour, salt and pepper. Place in shallow baking dish. Pour melted shortening over all pieces of rabbit. Place in oven at 375 degrees for 1 to 1 1/2 hours, or approximately 30 minutes per pound, turning once to assure even browning. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Is Fish Good Food for Brain?

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Q — I am not doing very well in high school. My grandmother keeps urging me to eat more fish and celery because she says they are brain foods. Is she right?

A — No, fish and celery are not brain foods. Your grandmother's belief possibly comes from the fact that nerve tissue which makes up part of our brains is rich in phosphorus and fish provides phosphorus containing compounds. But meat, poultry, eggs and milk are also rich in this nutrient. Just why celery could be thought to be a brain food is a mystery because celery contains very little phosphorus.

Q — Is it true that adolescents and adult women have greater need of iron than adult men?

A — Yes, according to Frederick J. Stare, M. D., professor of nutrition, Harvard School of Public Health. In his comprehensive new book, "Eating For Good Health," he writes, "Adolescents and adult women have need of more iron than do adult men."

"Particular attention should be given to menu planning for these groups to see that good

Food Buying Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Week-end food shoppers are sure to find a pleasing variety of meats and fruits and vegetables to satisfy the hungry appetites of the back-to-school crowd.

Produce bins will be brimming over with colorful variety in early fall fruits including apples, grapes, nectarines, pears, Italian prunes (or purple plums) and melons. Abundant vegetable choices include cabbage, celery, cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, onions, peppers, potatoes, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes.

Meat counters will feature a variety of plentiful beef cuts. Pork roasts, bacon, broiler-fryer chickens and turkey. Eggs, canned pink salmon, fish sticks and fish portions are other good maindish buys.

sources of this mineral are provided daily — meats, dried beans and peas, enriched cereals and breads and highly colored fruits and vegetables, particularly those that are yellow and green.

"The diets of teen-age girls are inclined to be low not only in iron but also in vitamins A and C and calcium. This again helps to emphasize the desirability of seeing that foods are chosen wisely from a wide variety of sources."

Shellfish Kabobs, Switch for Barbecues

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's a barbecue switch from hamburgers and steaks. It's a combination of popular shellfish alternating on skewers with artichoke hearts, onions and mushrooms. Both delicious and different.

SHELLFISH KABOBS
 (8 Servings)
 1 (9-ounce) package frozen rock lobster tails (2 to 3 tails)
 1/2 pound large shrimp, fresh or frozen
 1/2 pound scallops, fresh or frozen
 1 (9-ounce) package frozen artichoke hearts
 2 medium onions, quartered
 8 button mushrooms
 Marinade

cook frozen artichoke hearts as directed on the package; drain and chill.

Drain seafoods from marinade, reserving marinade for basting. Thread seafoods along with artichokes, onions and mushrooms on eight 6 or 7-inch skewers in the following order: artichoke heart, scallop, onion wedge, shrimp, mushroom, lobster meat, artichoke heart. (If desired, use four 12-inch skewers repeating this pattern twice.)

Cook over glowing coals for 5 minutes on each side, brushing often with reserved marinade.

Thaw frozen rock lobster tails. Remove meat and cut into 1-inch chunks. Shell and devein shrimp. Arrange lobster meat, shrimp and scallops in a shallow dish. Pour marinade over, cover and refrigerate for at least 1 hour before cooking time. Turn once or twice during marinating time. Meanwhile,

MARINADE
 1/4 cup white vinegar
 1/4 cup salad oil
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/2 teaspoon dried basil
 Dash garlic powder

Combine all ingredients in a jar, cover tightly and shake well to mix.

Use glass jars for freezing most fruits and vegetables, except those packed in water.

Many Combinations Using Mint Help Make Roast Lamb Taste Even Better

MINTED BARTLETT PEARS are good with roast lamb.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The flavor of mint is traditionally used to make roast lamb taste even better, in jelly or as a sauce made with vinegar. There are many other combinations using mint, for example, minted Bartlett pears.

For a switch from mint, try hot curried pineapple with lamb. Drain a can of pineapple chunks; saute in butter lightly and sprinkle with curry powder to taste. Mix gently and serve hot with lamb. You'll be delighted.

MINTED BARTLETT PEARS
 (6 servings)
 3 fresh California Bartlett pears
 1/4 cup water

2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup mint flavored jelly, softened
 Green food coloring (optional)

Pare, halve and core pears. In a skillet or large shallow pan, combine water, lemon juice and salt. Bring to boil; add pears, cut sides down. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Turn pears; spoon jelly and food coloring into cavities. Cook uncovered 5 minutes, basting frequently with the minted syrup. Serve warm or at room temperature with roast lamb, broiled lamb chops or lamb steak.

Two Problems May Have Single Answer

Florida's flood control canals are choked with weeds. Manatees eat nothing but weeds and are threatened with extinction. The Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District has launched a three-year study to see if the problems don't have one simple solution — put manatees in the canals where, theoretically they will eat all the weeds and flourish. Five of the aquatic creatures, known as sea cows, were captured and put to work. The biggest was a female 11 feet, 4 inches long and weighing 2,170 pounds. Scientists will watch from the banks, hoping the manatees became fat and happy.

Women Advised to Get Gun to Get Man

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A top New York psychologist and author urges the nation's Annies to get their guns if they want to bag a man.

In a news conference in connection with the 72nd annual convention of the American Psychological Association Tuesday, Dr. Albert Ellis, author of "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Man-hunting," said the trouble with most women is they "don't have the guts to go after what they want."

"Women today are still sitting fearfully at home, anxiously waiting for a friend to dig up a male," he said. "Go out and look! By no means listen to Mama. Be yourself and forget about marriage as a status symbol." Ellis advised.

Ellis said mother doesn't necessarily know best about landing a husband.

"She orients daughter's efforts toward the average male. Consequently, the intelligent, or above average female is missed."

He distinguished thusly between the "average girl" and the "intelligent girl."

"The average girl can meet two average males and presumably, one of them will meet her approval. The intelligent girl has a more difficult time of it. She is selective. She may look over 15 or 20 men before finding one that is right for her."

"This selectivity, the author-psychologist said, makes it difficult for the intelligent woman."

"She has to go after the intelligent male, and we all know how rare a bird that is."

Moreover, the choosier she is—the longer it takes and the older she gets and the tougher the competition becomes.

"So present man-hunting techniques become frantic, panicked."

Among older women, the game becomes highly competitive and only the fittest succeed in landing a husband.

East German Dog Defects to West

BERLIN (UPI)—An East German police dog named Harro turned on Communist border guards Tuesday and defected to the West.

The dog jumped into the 50-yard-wide Landwehr Canal and paddled furiously to the U.S. sector borough of Kreuzberg while five excited Communist policemen shouted "Come back Harro, here Harro, here Harro."

But the German Shepherd never even looked back. The dog was hauled up the steep western bank of the canal by a West Berlin policeman and a passerby.

Harro—a common name for dogs in Germany—fled from Treptow Park where there is a big Russian war memorial. The Communists use many dogs in anti-refugee border patrols.

West Berlin police sent Harro to a dog pound.

Finnish Ex-Premier Dies of Hemorrhage

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI)—Former Finnish Premier Sakari Tuomioja died Wednesday night. He had suffered a brain hemorrhage more than 2 months ago while serving as United Nations mediator for Cyprus.

Tuomioja never regained consciousness and died in Helsinki's Kivela Hospital.

The 53-year-old Tuomioja was born in Tampere, Finland, in 1911, the son of a newspaper editor.

He served Finland in many public offices before he became one of the United Nations' top trouble-shooting diplomats. He was appointed by U.N. Secretary General Thant as mediator for Cyprus last March. He turned his considerable talents to the job with the unflinching good nature, heartiness and energy that had been his hallmark during his career in Finland and as the U.N. representative in Laos in 1959 and 1960.

He conferred quietly with all parties to the dispute—Cyprus, Turkey, Greece and the United States and Britain.

His work was centered largely in Geneva.

When he suffered his massive stroke in Geneva he lapsed into unconsciousness and never came out of it. He was flown back to Helsinki.

Navy Identifies Victims of Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Navy Wednesday identified one officer killed and four sailors missing in the crash of a U.S. patrol bomber in the South China Sea.

The Navy said eight survivors were picked up by the destroyers Maddox and Bausell. The SP2E Neptune plane crashed Monday, it said.

Dead was Lt. Cdr. John Clarence Thomas, whose wife, Ruth, lives at the Marine Corps air station at Iwakuni, Japan.

His father, Earl Thomas, and mother, Mrs. Cleo Reener, are from Portland, Ind.

Listed as missing were: Michael John Ulicski, aviation structural mechanic 1.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ulicski of Parkville, Minn.

Deloss William Anderson, aviation machinist mate 1.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Anderson, Spokane, Wash.

Donald Frank Marit, aviation ordnance man 2.C., husband of Mrs. Ruby Catherine Marit of Litchfield, Ill.

Wesley David Newborn, aviation electrician's mate 2.C., husband of Mrs. Pauline Newborn of San Diego, Calif.

Oswald Compared To Potential Assassin Types

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—A staff psychiatrist at the U.S. Medical Center said Wednesday similarities exist between accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald and 11 other potential presidential assassins.

Dr. David Rothstein made the observations in an article, "The Presidential Assassination Syndrome," written for the archives of General Psychiatry, a publication of the American Medical Association.

Rothstein, who interviewed the 11 during the last year, said the similarities included a disturbed family background, hostility toward authority, suicidal and self-destruction tendencies, difficulty with self-identity and a poor record of military service.

All of the men, Rothstein said, were schizophrenic.

"However, this may be incidental to the fact that they were here," he added.

Each, Rothstein said, has had tendencies to use an alias. He said they have a desire to belong to a group, but were unable to become good members.

Oswald, a professed Marxist, tried to join various Cuban military and political groups and professed to be the chairman of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

Oswald also used an alias to purchase the rifle allegedly used to assassinate President Kennedy.

CLAIMS STRENGTH
JAKARTA (UPI)—Communist Leader D. N. Aidit said Wednesday his party, despite its registered strength of only about 2 million in a nation of 100 million, is Indonesia's strongest political organization.

"If general (parliamentary) elections were held now, the PKI (Communists) would be elected by one-third of the Indonesian people," Aidit said in a speech.

US Grand Jury Studies Dealing Of Paul Sandblom

HOUSTON (UPI)—A federal grand jury that is looking into high-powered gambling in Houston also is looking into the high-powered dealings of bankrupt promoter Paul Amos Sandblom of Corpus Christi.

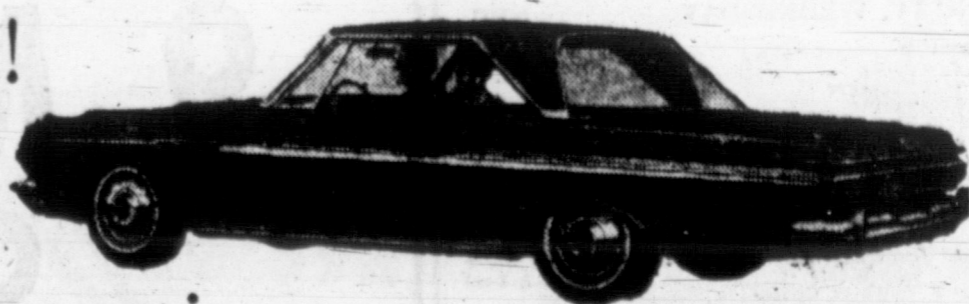

Sandblom, a super-salesman whose insurance and investment empire spread into other states, has been charged with violation of federal and state securities laws.

His shifty get-rich-quick schemes collapsed when he went bankrupt early this year, leaving an estimated $40 million owed to investors.

Hemphill County Seeking Bids on Court House Job

CANADIAN (Spl) — Bids are now being sought by the Hemphill County Commissioners Court on a $100,000 remodeling project on the Hemphill County Court House.

Plans include installation of new aluminum framed doors and windows throughout the building, central heating and central air conditioning for the building; complete new electrical system; new ceilings throughout the building with the exception of the district courtroom; new painting and interior trim throughout the building, a new concrete and steel stairway and a new glass and aluminum entry for the front of the building. Roof repair will also be included.

Commissioners voted to undertake this project last spring. It will be paid for with county funds on hand which are a little more than the estimated minimum of $100,000 the project is expected to cost. A similar but more extensive project was decisively turned down by the voters last fall.

Hollywood Indian Hunter Quits, Will Try Broadway

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Remember Robert Horton, the former "Wagon Train" scout who'd ride off at the beginning of each episode to look for Indians—and rarely found them?

After five years of frustrated Indian hunts he quit the television series in disgust and headed for Broadway.

He was welcomed back East with that special chilly reception New York show biz smart guys reserve for cowboy actors. The general feeling was that Bob couldn't act his way out of a phone booth without a horse and a few redskins skulking in the brush.

But Horton showed 'em. After a year under contract to Richard Rogers, he hit Broadway in "110 in the Shade."

The former Flint McCullough of "Wagon Train" won gratifying reviews and a permanent job for a year. In a season that produced a trio of feminine stars, Barbara Streisand, Sandy Dennis and Elizabeth Ashley, Horton was the one new face among actors to stand out.

Now the musical has run its course, and Horton is looking for new enterprises. One of them is a record album titled "The Very Thought of You," which the actor hopes will establish him as a singer of songs.

"I may or may not have a recording career," he said during lunch at the Brown Derby. "But I am working up a singing act for night clubs. No gimmicks, just a man standing up to sing some standard tunes."

"After a season of clubs, I hope to go back to Broadway in another musical. If I should find a hit like 'Hello Dolly' it could change my whole career."

Horton is a curious man. He has a full head of reddish-brown hair, straight-forward eyes and an aggressive jaw. By his own admission he has no sense of humor. And the muscles around his mouth begin to tighten when he suspects he is being "put on."

Estate of Actor Has Shaw Letters

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sir Cedric Hardwicke's will, filed for probate this week, disclosed an estate which included letters and correspondence with playwright George Bernard Shaw.

Hardwicke died in New York City Aug. 6 at the age of 72. The will, dated April 2, 1963, stated that he did not want to be buried in Forest Lawn Cemetery here.

The exact amount of Hardwicke's estate was not stated, but it was in excess of $10,000. Named beneficiaries were his sons, Edward, 32, London, England, and Michael, 17, Beverly Hills, Calif.

The elder son received all correspondence between his father and Shaw prior to 1934, as well as a copy of Shaw's play, "The Apple Cart."

He is definitely not a man to needle. He takes life seriously, perhaps too seriously, and his career is a holy mission.

Medic Association Refused TV Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's three television networks said Tuesday they have refused to sell the American Medical Association (AMA) time for a series of one-minute commercials attacking the Johnson administration's health care plan.

Spokesmen for the National Broadcasting Company (NBC), the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) and the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) said the decision to turn down the AMA was based on a long-standing principle prohibiting sale of time for commercials on controversial issues.

"I'm surprised that the AMA even asked for time," one spokesman said. "This policy is as old as the networks and they know it as well as we do."

The AMA is opposed to the health care plan which combines health insurance for the elderly with increases in Social Security cash benefits.

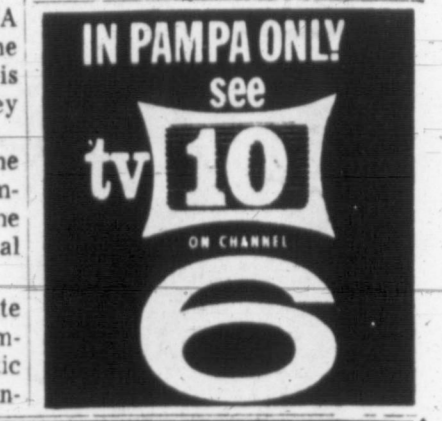

tages of the Senate-passed health care plan were weighed against the advantages of private care.

The bill has yet to be approved by the House.

BLAST KILLS WORKER

VIENNA (UPI) — One worker was killed and more than 50 others injured in an explosion Tuesday in the "Czechoslovak-Soviet friendship" chemical plant at Zaluzy, in Northern Bohemia, according to Radio Prague.

The cause of the blast was not determined immediately.

Palestine Topic In Arab Summit

ALEXANDRIA, U.A.R. (UPI) — The Arab summit conference Wednesday discussed the Palestine problem amid growing optimism for a "totally successful" meeting of the 13 kings and heads of state.

The Arab leaders turned to the issue of Palestine after agreeing on military measures to counter any attack by Israel on any of the Arab League members.

Tunisian Secretary of State Bahi Ladgham told newsmen that the Palestine problem "is the key to all other Arab causes."

"If the conference succeeds in reaching practical solutions to counteract the Israeli threat, it should likewise manage to overcome all remaining problems," he said.

On his way to the session, Jordan's King Hussein said the conference situation was "fairly good and I am very optimistic."

An official spokesman said the summit reached unanimous

Truck Rams Into Picket Line, 2 Killed, 3 Hurt

BONDUEL, Wis. (UPI) — Two men were killed and three were injured Wednesday when a truck tried to crash through a picket line thrown up by farmers attempting to bar the shipment of meat to market, police said.

Shawano County police said the picket line was composed of members of the National Farmers Organization (NFO), which has been conducting a livestock "holding action" for the past three weeks.

There have been numerous acts of violence linked to the holding action in the Midwest, but Wednesday's incident was the first in which persons had been killed or seriously hurt.

Police Sgt. Ed Krueger said NFO members had thrown up a picket line at the Equity Co-operative.

He said a truck tried to go through the line and ran over the men. The victims were not immediately identified.

Afterwards, Krueger said, picketers tried to attack the truck driver.

MAN IS KILLED

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (UPI) — James C. Reynolds, 60, was struck by a car and killed Sunday night on the Queen Isabella Causeway that connects South Pade Island and Port Isabel.

SCOTT MAKES PURCHASE

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Scott Paper Co. announced Wednesday the purchase of a ground wood pulp mill in Sheet Harbor, Nova Scotia and 11,000 acres of timberland, also in Nova Scotia, from Fraser Companies Ltd.

Purchase price was not disclosed. The pulp mill's capacity is about 100 tons daily.

BODY DISCOVERED

LUBBOCK (UPI) — Police Monday sought to identify the badly decomposed body of a Negro man who was found near a cemetery. Police said the body had apparently been there several weeks.

KENTUCKY JONES — Actor Dennis Weaver is a changed man. Gone is the nasal tone; gone is the limp of his "Gunsmoke" role. Now Dennis is a modern man, dressing and speaking well—the hero of the new NBC situation comedy, "Kentucky Jones."

Cowboys Heading For 'Roundup in Sky'

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It used to be that when a cowboy sang of "The Great Roundup in the Sky" you could assume that he was thinking of heaven. But no longer.

There is now a possibility that he will be referring to a job of punching cattle for Trans World Airlines.

The fact is, Old Point, that just this week there was inaugurated regularly scheduled commercial airline flights to move veal calves from the United States to Europe.

I guess this about does it as far as the old west is concerned. Riding herd on horseback is going to seem like pretty pale stuff compared to wrangling dogies by jet transport.

I expect that in a few years a whole new category of folklore will spring up, particularly if a range war breaks out between TWA and Pan-Am.

Not Far Fetched

It isn't too far fetched to fancy that some day a movie studio will remake "High Noon" at 36,000 feet. This will be followed by a cluster of television programs based on the adventures of airborne cowpokes.

Instead of westerns, we will be watching ozoners. The Chisholm Trail will be replaced by the great circle route. The cast will carry parachutes instead of saddle bags.

As the hero of these aerial horse opera, I foresee someone like Tex Altimeter, a foreman at the Pan Am spread who is regarded as the fastest draw east of the Kennedy International Airport.

The big scene comes one night when they are moving 200 head from New York to Milan.

Italy. A thunderstorm develops and it looks as if they might have a stampede on their hands.

Gang Of Rustlers

Not only that, there is a gang of rustlers back in the tail compartment; a tribe of Indians is on the warpath in the rest room, and the pilot is really an escaped convict who is trying to get across the Mexican border.

To make matters worse, an ornery, no good skunk whom Tex had given a second chance is trying to force his attentions on the stewardess.

Just when it appears that all is lost, Tex whips out his trusty guitar and sings:

"Oh, give me air, lots of air in the starry skies above,
"Don't fence me in.
"Let me ride through the wide blue yonder that I love,
"Don't fence me in."
In the nick of time, there appears on the horizon a fleet of airplanes with red, white and blue insignia. It is a posse of air traffic control tower operators from the Federal Aviation Agency.

Meanwhile, back at the TWA terminal...

COMMUNICATIONS TEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The forces are conducting a global communications exercise simulating "conditions that would exist during a major enemy attack on the free world nations."

The exercise, designated "High Heels III," is being directed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and will continue for most of the rest of the month. It does not involve the movement of forces, but tests worldwide communications and reporting procedures.

LAURA: "Say, Leo." LEO: "Yeah, what's up?" LAURA: "Do you think it's right for us to snooze in front of the tourists?" LEO: "Well, why not? We need our little cat naps. Don't you agree, Martha?" MARTHA: "Zzzzzzz." LEO: "How about you, Grace?" GRACE: "Zzzzzzz." (This brief colloquy between the Lion family might have been overheard at the San Francisco Zoo.)

Women May Be Prosecuted for Remaining Mute

DALLAS (UPI)—Two women have discovered they may be prosecuted for refusing to testify before a military general court-martial, even though they are civilians.

They were to be arraigned today before U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

The women refused to testify at the court martial of Lt. Cmdr. John Birdsong Nelms, 35, who was sentenced to a year in prison and received a dishonorable discharge last June.

Nelms, a Navy pilot, was accused of adultery, molesting a child, abortion, assault and battery on a female, drunk driving and committing immoral acts.

The charge against the women, who were not identified, is one of the few provisions of the Uniform Code of Military Justice under which civilians can be tried. Conviction could bring up to a $500 fine, six month jail sentence or both.

Kewanee Buys Oil, Gas Lands

BRYN MAWR, Pa. (UPI)—The Kewanee Oil Co. announced acquisition Wednesday of six oil and gas producing properties totaling 2,720 acres in Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas.

William Wikoff Smith, president of Kewanee with headquarters here, said the properties involve 23 leases and 99 producing wells.

Oklahoma properties are adjacent to the present Kewanee acreage in Cache Creek Field and the Stringtown Field. The New Mexico property is in Roosevelt County, and the Texas acquisition, totaling 1,190 acres, is in McFarland Field, Andrews County and Panhandle Field, Wheeler County.

No purchase price was disclosed.

Exercises Scheduled On Atmosphere Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States plans to conduct exercises in the Pacific this fall to assure that atmospheric testing can be resumed quickly if the nuclear test ban treaty is broken.

A military-civilian task force of several hundred men will participate in the exercises designed to guarantee that the nuclear tests could be started within two or three months if necessary.

No nuclear explosions will be set off but 20 planes will be aloft. Airborne and sea-going targets will be used to prove out instruments and procedures that would be used if atmospheric testing ever is resumed.

In announcing the exercises late Tuesday, the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) emphasized in a joint statement that the United States "earnestly hopes" its capability to resume such testing will not have to be exercised.

Exercises Scheduled On Atmosphere Tests

The statement points out, however, that U.S. Senate ratification of the test ban treaty last year was based on assurances that this country would maintain "the facilities and resources necessary to institute promptly nuclear tests in the atmosphere should they be deemed essential to our national security."

The exercises will begin in mid-October in the Johnston Island area, where high-altitude nuclear tests were conducted in 1962. Johnston Island is 700 miles southwest of Hawaii.

A mixture of river silt and pitch is used to make the clay discs or pigeons used as targets in trap shooting.

Television in Review

New 'Celebrities' Out To Open '65 Season

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—With the television season set to open full blast next week, video executives are dispatching some of their biggest celebrities to the hinterland to form lasting friendships with the public. Fortunately, we were able to collar some of these celebrities for exclusive statements before they left. Remember, you read them here first.

Gary Crewcut, the handsome young leading man: "A scoop for you, baby. I'm forming my own production company. I'm 23 already, and if Frank Sinatra had my assurance he could be another me. Maybe you saw my last series, 'The Ensign.' It was great, but they didn't know what to do with me. The girls worship me, and I like some of them. The press releases describe me as rugged, which is about right."

Harry Middleground, the famous producer: "Well, look, it's true that this season I'm bidding for the rights to James Joyce's 'Ulysses.' Thomas Mann's 'The Magic Mountain' and Marcel Proust's 'Remembrance of Things Past,' as well as for all of D. H. Lawrence's works which look adaptable to television. Maybe you've seen my movies along these lines. I want to be identified with great things. Desperately."

May Marker, the legendary leading lady: "No matter how much one has achieved, one must be willing to gamble in experimental shows if one wants to mature in one's profession. That is why next season I will have a special entailed. May Marker Presents Labor Day with Bob Hope and a Cast of Thousands From The Hollywood Bowl."

The Channel Syim: Regularly scheduled boxing broadcasts, bow off network television Friday with ABC's final "Fight of the Week," which matches middleweights Dick Tiger and Don Fullmer in Cleveland. Artist Marc Chagall's interview at the United Nations for NBC-TV's "Today" show takes place Sept. 13, not Friday, as reported Wednesday by way of a network-communications error.

QUARANTINE TIGHTENED

FORT ORD, Calif. (UPI)—The Army clamped tighter quarantine measures on this sprawling recruit training center Wednesday in a new effort to curb the spread of meningitis.

The new restrictions were announced after the 78th case of the disease this year was reported. Eleven soldiers and one Army dependent have died during the outbreak.

Daily Care Vital to Teens

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Procrastination does little to help a teen-ager get rid of limp, oily hair and skin problems the day of a big party. One day's scrubbing can't overcome weeks of neglect.

But constant daily care with soaps and lotions designed for young skins helps keep the complexion clean and clear.

Body changes and the tensions of just growing up contribute to teen discomfort. Facing a blind date or going to your first big outing with the fellow you've had your eye on for some time add to the strain.

Keep calm and collected by being sure of your clothes and cosmetics. Being well-groomed and knowing it gives you needed confidence. Thus you can concentrate on your date rather than berate yourself because of unruly hair, ragged nails and greasy clothes.

Start at the top in building your grooming quotient. Experts with a firm that specializes in cosmetic aids for teenagers (Bonnie Bell) recommend a shampoo that takes out excess oil and helps control dandruff. Soak facials, morning, noon and night, wash away grime and excess oil that plug up pores and encourage acne. Follow these with an antiseptic cleanser.

At night, you may want to use a medicated mask on troublesome spots to clear away blackheads.

Before a party, treat yourself to a scented bath, another facial and don't forget your deodorant and hand lotion.

If you do have facial blemishes, there is a medicated, tinted foundation make-up to smooth over these. Press on your powder and brush away the excess. Apply lipstick and you are ready to go. Remember to keep your make-up light so your youthful good looks shine through.

TEEN REFRESHER — Chicken, Watusi, frog, hully-gully. Whatever the name of the dance-floor game, teenagers doing them need a break. This young miss slips away from the party and refreshes perspiring hands and face with a towelette with an antiseptic cleanser.

At the party, use a special towelette with an antiseptic cleanser to remove old makeup before putting on new. You'll continue to feel refreshed even after hours of dancing the slop or the chicken.

The Mature Parent

Too Much too Soon Asked of Oldest Son

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Another child and our two boys, 7 and 10, recently cracked a window in the other boy's garage. Our younger son stayed with the other boy while he confessed what they'd done to his mother; but our older one came home, never saying a word about it. It was only by accident that we found out that he had been involved. His father and I are worried about this attitude. When he and his brother get into something, it's always the little one who has to admit it for both of them.

ANSWER: You regard him as sneaky, don't you? Your contempt is not going to endow him with courage, you know. So I remind you that it is you who have taught him that younger children can get away with misbehavior for which older children are reproached and punished.

As your older son, he has learned that you will excuse his little brother for all kinds of things from spilling milk to smearing jam on the upholstery which you have not excused for him. Not unnaturally, when he and his younger brother get involved in behavior which he knows will arouse your reproach, he removes his reproachable olderness from the situation and lets indulged youngness take the gaff. I am not excusing your son. What I'm trying to do is to arouse your awareness of your contribution to his conviction that youngness is an especially privileged state. I want to dissolve the contempt you feel for his "sneakiness" so that you won't be conveyed to him when you discuss his behavior with him. If it is, he's going to get sneaker and sneaker.

Because he's already sad enough that you've found him disappointing so much more often than you've found his younger brother.

How often during his early years of experience as a new brother did you say to him things like this: "Don't push Buddy for grabbing your crayons. He's too young to know what he's doing. . . Buddy isn't old enough to know he shouldn't run across the street but you are. . . You're too old to want to sit on my lap like a baby."

What your older son's "sneakiness" tells you is that you have demanded more maturity from him than he was able to deliver to you. You have made him so ashamed of his failures to produce a "big" boy's superior behavior that he can't confess his inferior behavior. You have asked for too much too soon.

The Doctor Says:

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A woman's 6-month-old grandchild has a weeping eruption all over his body. The doctor called it eczema.

He had the mother substitute goat's milk for cow's milk in his formula. He also prescribed a tar ointment but since the eruption is slow in clearing up, the reader is worried and wants to know more about this condition.

The eczema of most infants is due to some form of allergy. Although many doctors believe cow's milk to be a cause, this is hard to prove and it has been shown by carefully controlled observations that cow's milk alone is rarely if ever the principal cause. It may, however, be a factor. Eggs and orange juice or some combination of these foods may be the underlying cause.

Infantile eczema usually shows some improvement in the summer and, regardless of season, it often clears up spontaneously by the time the child is 2 years old. These same children, however, are apt to develop hay fever or asthma as they grow older. One baby who was allergic to wool was cured of his eczema when a woolly toy animal was taken away from him and replaced by an animal covered with one of the new synthetic fabrics.

Whatever the cause, soap and water (especially hard water), wind and strong sunlight will aggravate the condition. Overfeeding, especially with fatty foods, will also make the eczema worse.

An important part of the treatment is to prevent the child from scratching the lesions. This may require putting splints on his arms. The skin should be cleaned with lanolin or mineral oil. Antibiotics are sometimes necessary to prevent or cure infection. The treatment is difficult and authorities do not always agree on what is the most effective treatment.

Your doctor may have to try several methods before any improvement is noted. A cortisone ointment sparingly applied is recommended by some. A crude coal tar cream has proved very effective in many cases but it should be made with a greaseless base like a vanishing cream.

Q — My 6-year-old grand-daughter has become so fond of cola drinks that she cries if she doesn't get them. She drinks them at mealtime instead of milk and her parents say they won't do her any harm. What do you think?

A — Although the cola drinks contain only about a third or a fourth as much caffeine as coffee and tea, a growing child doesn't need this stimulant. The chief harm arises when these drinks are allowed to replace the milk the child really needs. Her crying is not a reason for giving in to her in this matter. Being the grandmother does not leave you in a very good spot to dictate the way the child is brought up.

Dear Abby...

Bigger the Foot - The Greater the Loot

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago I went to a wedding reception. After the gifts had been opened, the bride passed her shoe around to be filled with money. I had never seen anything like it before. Is that the custom nowadays? It seems to me if you take a gift, that should be enough. The people I have asked said they had never heard of such a thing either, and I wonder if you or any of your readers have. Thank you.

SHOCKED
DEAR SHOCKED: I have never heard of this "custom" either. Next time he's passing the GROOM'S shoe around, the bigger the foot the greater the loot.

DEAR ABBY: First of all, these names are fictitious. My son, John, married Jane, a lovely quiet girl who worked to help John finish college. They have been married three years. Jane has a friend, who is pretty, unmarried and vivacious. Well, I think Linda goes to John and Jane's apartment a little too often for everybody's good. She stays with them on weekends and holidays. (She sleeps on the pull-down bed in the living room.) When Jane's mother suddenly became ill last month, she flew to be with her in another state. Linda then moved into Jane's apartment to "keep-house" for John. (In a 3 room apt.) I am not inferring that there was anything wrong, but it looked bad. I've already heard some talk about them. Even though my son is bright and has always been a good boy, I don't know how strong he is against temptation. Jane is not the jealous or suspicious type, but I think someone should tell her not to be so trusting. Should I?

USE ANY NAME BUT MINE
DEAR USE: Your son is the one you should talk to. If he's "bright" he will quickly see the light. And if he's "good" he will want to avoid the appearance of evil. And if something IS going on, he'll know he isn't fooling anyone.

DEAR ABBY: That paragraph out of your book, DEAR TEEN-AGER, telling girls exactly what to say to boys who ask them to "prove their love" was wonderful advice. I could have used it four years ago.

I was in love with a boy I would have done anything for. And I did. Everything you listed happened to me. I committed an immoral act. I threw away my self respect. I lost my reputation, and I did get in trouble.

If young girls would only listen to your advice daily, they could save themselves and their parents a lot of heartaches.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HARD LUCK HARRY IN SCHENET-ADY: Many of us don't recognize that opportunity is knocking until we hear it knocking next door.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

POLLY'S POINTERS

By POLLY CRAMER

Real 'Stocking Cap' Made of Old Nylons

DEAR POLLY — A nice hat can be crocheted from old nylon stockings. For mine, I used all cut the feet of 38 stockings. Start at the top of a stocking and cut around and around in strips about one-half inch wide. You get more stretch when they are cut this way. My hat is a pillbox made with a single crochet stitch. I left the nose in a natural color. Crochet around and around, doily style, for the hat top. I made mine about 8 inches wide across the top of the crown, the sides drop 3 inches with a turn-up of 1 1/2 inches. This is very pretty with a veil.

DEAR POLLY — I thought some of your coupon clippers might enjoy using my "purse-veler." I do not like having a purse full of clipped coupons to be redeemed at the grocery, so I use a hair clip to hold them neatly together. This makes a wonderful third hand at the checkout counter.

DEAR POLLY — Wool material will often shrink a little when dry cleaned. Therefore, I end all of my wool materials with the cleaners before cutting and making. This costs only a few cents a yard, so I feel the small expense is well worth it.

DEAR POLLY — Another use for discarded nylons is to draw them over your fancy shoes while you drive to a party. You leave them in the car and quickly pull them on again for the drive home.

GIRLS — These nylons could be cut off to about the height of boots so they are easier to get off and on.

DEAR POLLY — Unless "defrosting" is in your regular cleaning schedule, it is so easy for the homemaker with an automatic defrosting refrigerator to let this job slide by. To remind myself of this unpleasant task, I put a strip of adhesive tape where it is noticeable when I open the door on the tape. I mark the date it was cleaned last like they do on the car lubrication stickers. It certainly keeps me from forgetting.

DEAR POLLY — After washing cotton knit "footies," stretch them over the bottom of your shoes to dry. They will fit more comfortably.

Future Homemakers Honored at Lefors

LEFORS (Spl)—Miss Charley Gustin, president of the Lefors Future Homemakers of America honored freshmen members of the organization with a slumber party in her home, recently.

Miss Frances Gifford wrote a speech, welcoming the girls in Shakespearean style. Cakes, dips, cookies and other refreshments were enjoyed throughout the night.

PROGRESS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Something new in the realm of coordinated furnishings for the home: the decorative window shade that has its own matching fabric.

Now, homemakers who want to achieve that "all of a pattern" look can easily come up with draperies, slipcovers, upholstery and other fabric furnishings that repeat the motif of the window shade — or vice versa. The Window Shade Manufacturers Association reports.

Lefors Senior Citizens Feted

LEFORS (Sp)—Lefors Home Demonstration Club was host to the monthly Senior Citizens party in Lefors Civic Center Thursday.

Homemade ice cream, angel food and pound cake were served from a table centered with two large daisies, flanked by double candles and potted ivy, both in white ceramic containers.

Party whistles - blowers and penny suckers completed the refreshments plate.

Guests enjoyed visiting with old friends and playing table games.

Following the refreshment period, Mrs. G. W. James took movies of the party which will be shown at next month's gathering.

Birthday gifts were presented to Mrs. Jane Cates and Mrs. Fannie Merideth. Door prizes were won by J. H. Stephens and Mrs. Emily Smith.

Approximately 20 senior citizens attended the party.

Clothes Poll

By HELEN HENNESSY. Don't take that third martini this fall or you may trip over your feather boa. Don't laugh. It could happen.

Accessories for the coming season will take some getting used to. At first glance we may seem like refugees from late television who somehow got on the wrong side of the screen.

The trumpery offered us this season is not just reminiscent of the Garbo and Harlow era. It's taken right from it without one whit of redesigning.

For evening, coque feathers will encircle the neck and fall to any desired length and gloves will be shirred and decorated with fake gems.

The evening bag, as we know it, may disappear into some future period when it will be revived as "cute and quaint."

For us this fall there are flapper bags fringed in jet beads to swing and twinkle on the arm or over the shoulder. Another relic from "way back when" is the jeweled satin bracelet pouch, deep enough to house the toy poodle if you want to take him along.

Gold tassels and fringed pendants will swing on long chains just above jet-fringed shimmy belts, resting low on the hips. And the old-fashioned bow-knot pin will replace all the butterflies and birds that perched on collars this summer.

Even hosiery will be decorated or textured. For evening some stockings are delicately painted to look like lace, another throwback to the 30s.

Next time you watch the late show, don't ridicule the fashions. Come fall, you may see the same lovely visions in your own full-length mirror.

Chic Chat

Q: I understand that skirts will be shorter this fall. I have quite enough trouble right now with short skirts because I have heavy legs. How can I wear anything that comes only to mid-knee and still look attractive?

—Mrs. John Y. You can't.

But you don't have to either. The fall skirts will be pleated, flared or paneled. You can sneak in an additional inch with no one being the wiser because the skirts will swing when you walk. Wear stockings with seams and in shades that aren't too light. You'll look trim and as up-to-date as the next gal.

Why Don't They? List Grows

By GAY PAULEY. NEW YORK (UPI)—At some time or another, almost everyone has muttered "why don't they?" when struggling with a stubborn piece of equipment or wishing vainly for a needed convenience.

Hardly a day goes by that I don't add a "why don't they?" to my collection. Apparently thousands of others do the same for the National Family Opinion, (NFO), Inc., a Toledo-based consumer research firm, is in with another compilation from its 85,000 homemaker consultants who write suggestions for manufacturers.

From NFO and my own notebook, here are some.

—Why don't they? —Make measuring spoons singly instead of bunch four together so that all four have to be washed although only one has been used.

—Quit pricing so many items "two for cents" when a customer actually needs only one item.

—Use plastic instead of metal for the base of aerosol-packed shaving creams. The metal bases rust and leave rings on the inside of medicine cabinets.

—Make more half-size and large size housedresses with slight flare and in small prints or solid colors instead of featuring gathered skirts and big, bold prints which are not flattering to the fuller figure.

—Manufacture some refrigerators without freezer sections. Many families living in the suburbs or rural areas have large separate freezers, use the small freezer in the refrigerator rarely, but would like the extra refrigerator space for storing foods purchased on weekly shopping trips.

—Lower the height of some of the "family size" food boxes. Most shelf space is a little too short and the crammed boxes spill.

—Stop "improving" satisfactory established products. One woman says, "I'm stuck with a supply of an old favorite so changed that I'll never buy it again."

—Sell iron-on patches in assorted sizes, shapes and colors.

and package them in clear plastic for see-through ease of choice at home.

—In supermarkets, enforce the rule of "five items or less" in the express checkout lanes and detour the selfish shopper who empties eight and nine items from a cart and holds up others more conscientious.

King-Size Beds Crowd Standards

CHICAGO (UPI)—King size beds are becoming so much a part of America's sleep pattern that in another five or 10 years homemakers may find it difficult to buy blankets and sheets to fit today's standard double bed.

So reports one mattress company, Spring Air, which says taller Americans steadily are moving toward wider and longer bedding.

"It's only a matter of time before the 60 and 80 inch mattress will take over as the standard double bed," said the company. The standard now is 54 inch-

Davis Cup Stars Have Hot Round

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—U.S. Davis Cup Captain Vic Seixas learned the hard way that Dennis Ralston rapidly is rounding into form for the Challenge Round—showdown against Australia at Cleveland later this month.

Then he discovered the same thing about Chuck McKinley—the easy way.

Ralston ran the 41-year-old Seixas through a 6-1, 6-4, 6-2 wringer in the fourth round of the U.S. tennis championships Wednesday and while Vic was resting from the ordeal he watched McKinley blast hard hitting Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y., in a slambanger, 7-5, 6-4, 8-6.

Ralston, McKinley, three Australians led by Wimbledon champ Roy Emerson, one Mexican, and two Britons gained the men's quarter-finals Wednesday and four will shoot for the semis today.

McKinley was matched against left-hander Roger Taylor of England and Emerson drew Aussie junior champ Tony Roche.

Friday's quarter-finals will send defending champion Rafael Osuna of Mexico against Britain's Mike Sangster and Ralston against Fred Stolle of Australia, two-time runnerup at Wimbledon.

Roche pulled out the only decision faintly resembling an upset in the men's division by defeating eighth-seeded Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., in five sets Wednesday but the girls produced a real shocker when Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego knocked out second-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia.

Karen, seeded 11th, resorted to an effective lob after losing the first set and came back to win 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 from the powerful Australian who won the U.S. crown in 1962 and Wimbledon in '63.

Others who reached the women's round of eight were defending champ Maria Bueno of Brazil, second-seeded Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., fifth-seeded Nancy Richy of Dallas, sixth-seeded Ann Haydon Jones of England, seventh-seeded Robyn Ebberm of Australia, ninth-seeded Carole Caldwell Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, and unseeded Carol Hanks of St. Louis.

San Antonio Drops Opener

By United Press International

The El Paso Sun Kings and the Albuquerque Dukes each took the first game of their best-of-five-Texas League play-off series Wednesday night.

Both of them were squeakers.

El Paso jumped on San Antonio starter Donald Arlich for six runs in the first three innings, added another in the sixth, and then held off a late surge by the pennant champion Bullets to glean a 7-6 victory. The game was played in San Antonio.

Albuquerque got one run in the bottom of the 16th in an endurance contest at their home field to scoop up a 6-5 win. Tulsa used five pitchers in their attempt to capture the $2,000 bonus awaiting the winner of the playoffs.

The Tulsa contest was a tight one, with the Oilers leading until the ninth inning, when the Dukes' Al Norris socked a two-run homer to tie it up at 5-5.

Brack Bailey also had a lone homer for the Dukes and Leroy Maittyka and George Kerneck contributed lone homers for the Oilers.

Tonight's playoff action has the Oilers again at Albuquerque and El Paso at San Antonio.

Houston Additions Prep for Chargers

HOUSTON (UPI)—The three latest additions to the Houston Oilers squad spent their first day of training Wednesday working on plays, signals and blocking assignments to get them ready for the season opener Saturday against San Diego.

They are offensive end Donnie Craig, offensive guard-tackle Sonny Bishop and fullback Bob Jackson, who all came from Oakland in a trade for Oilers running back Billy Cannon.

Oiler coach Sammy Baugh said Bishop may set the pace for Oiler offense and hoped his presence would make for good blocking for pass plays.

Sunny Jim OK

NEW YORK (UPI)—The condition of Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, retired dean of American horse trainers, remained satisfactory today at Physicians Hospital.

Fitzsimmons, who celebrated his 90th birthday two months ago, underwent a two-hour operation for a ruptured appendix and a strangulated hernia Tuesday.

Pampa Favored In Opening Tilt

By KARL O'QUINN

The second week of the football season sees the debut of the Class AAAA and B schools and most of the AAA schools around the state.

The Pampa Harvesters headline the local slate as they play host to Perryton Friday at 7:30 p.m.

This will be a case of a good AAAA team against a good AAA team. The Rangers are expected by some to give Dumas trouble but this seems a little far-fetched.

Both of the clubs won four and lost six last year and both have about the same number of lettermen and starters returning. Pampa has 17 lettermen and 6 starters. Perryton has 16 lettermen and six starters.

The Harvesters' hands return from a team that beat Lubbock and Amarillo last year, however, while Perryton recorded no such important victories.

The Harvesters size and depth should wear down Perryton in the late stages of the game and provide the margin of difference. If Pampa's defense jells the score could be big, but even if it doesn't, the Harvesters should be able to outscore Perryton, by at least one touchdown.

Wheeler, the District 5-B favorite, opens against tough Mangum, Okla., at home. The Mustangs are running at less than full strength for the game with end Danny Dorman out for sure with a sprained ankle and halfback Bobby Vanpool a doubtful starter because of boils on his thighs. Coach J. T. Hill has more depth than anybody around, though, and should be able to go one week without them. The Mustangs in a close one.

Panhandle goes to McLean in the only game of the week involving two area teams. McLean looked impressive against AA Shamrock last week even though it was unable to score and lost, 6-0. Panhandle dropped a 26-0 decision to Sanford-Fritch, another AA team. The pupil, Fred Hedgecock of McLean, should teach his former boss, Ed Lehnick of Panhandle, a few tricks and win his first game as a head coach.

White Deer, one of the favorites in District 2-A, hosts rugged Gruver, which banged Clarendon 28-6 last week, and will have to be sharper than in its opener to win. The Bucks fumbled nine times and lost five of them against Boys Ranch but managed to capitalize on breaks for a 15-0 win. A week of practice can work wonders and it's about time White Deer showed its stuff. The Bucks by a touchdown or more.

Canadian entertainer Sanford-Fritch and it will look like David and Goliath on the field. The host Wildcats are light and short while the Eagles are big and burly. Lee Rawlings, S-F's star guard, should spend most of the time in the Canadian backfield and severely hamper the running efforts of Keith Arnold and company. Sanford-Fritch by two touchdowns.

Lefors has an open date but the other members of 5-B see action for the first time this week.

Groom, one of the chief challengers to Wheeler's bid for a second straight title, visits Vega. The Tigers should excel on defense with Bob Garmon at a linebacking post but may not be able to score enough to beat the Longhorns. It's a toss-up but Vega gets a shaky vote in the home field advantage.

Miami waits until Saturday night to open its season with the Siverton B team. The Warriors are thin on depth and experience and probably won't be able to handle the visitors.

Mobettie opens its 8-man season on the road against Lakeview. The Hornets are experienced and ready and should start off the season on a winning note.

In other games it should be Berger over Littlefield, Tascosa over Odessa Permian by a hair, Odessa over Amarillo by the same margin, Caprock over El Paso Burges for its first victory in history, Dumas over Palo Duro by less than a hair, Lubbock over Midland Lee and Hereford over Plainview.

It should be Phillips over Childress handily, Spearman over Booker, Shamrock over Memphis, Claude over Clarendon and Darruzzett over Forgan, Okla.

Tiger Leaguers Set For Practices

Optimist Tiger League officials have announced the rosters and practice times for the six teams to comprise the league.

The teams will have names later but at this early date they are known only by numbers.

T. L. Garner will coach the Northern League team No. 1, Richie Gardner Northern No. 2, and Benny Stout Northern No. 3.

Kent Mitchell will handle Southern No. 2, Jim Keel Southern No. 4 and Jack McCabe Southern No. 6.

All three Northern League teams will practice Saturday at Travis School, the Southern No. 2 squad will practice at Wilson School, the Southern No. 4 team at Lamar and the Southern No. 6 team at Baker school. All practices are Saturday at 5 p.m.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The San Diego Chargers and the Buffalo Bills were picked today to win the 1964 divisional titles in the American Football League in a nationwide survey conducted by United Press International.

With the start of the AFL's fifth season just two days away, the defending-champion Chargers were made a near-unanimous choice to repeat in the Western Division while the Bills were chosen to edge the Houston Oilers after a close race in the Eastern Division.

Giants Eye Two; Cannon Healthy

By United Press International

If the New York Giants are looking for running backs, they might consider two of the newest members of the unemployed.

The Washington Redskins released halfback Billy Barnes Wednesday and the Green Bay Packers asked waivers on fullback Frank Mestnik.

Either player could wind up with the Giants, who begin defense of their Eastern Division title in the National Football League next Sunday with only three veteran ball carriers—Joe Morrison, Alex Webster and Dick James.

Mestnik is no stranger to the Giants. He was a member of their taxi squad in 1962 and starred in the Packers' preseason victory over Allie Sherman's crew at Green Bay, Aug. 15.

Barnes, a seven-year veteran was a big factor in the Philadelphia Eagles' 17-13 victory over the Packers in their 1960 championship game. The ex-Wake Forest star, traded to the Redskins in 1962, never was able to recapture the form of his Philly days.

The Redskins also asked waivers on defensive halfback Dale Hackbart, who quarterbacked Wisconsin into the 1960 Rose Bowl; former Olympic sprinter Frank Budd, a flanker; fullback Dave Francis, defensive tackle Ben Davidson and place-kicker John Seeborg.

All 47,577 seats available for the Packers' opener against the Browns at D.C. Stadium Sunday have been sold. The Pittsburgh Steelers welcomed two newcomers — defensive back Mary Woodson, obtained in a deal with the Eagles, and tackle Ray Mansfield, acquired from the Baltimore Colts.

Billy Cannon showed up in the Oakland Raiders' camp all smiles and proclaiming, "my leg has completely healed." The former LSU All-America revealed he had suggested the Houston Oilers trade him to the Raiders.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sandy Koufax or Dean Chance? No matter which of the two Los Angeles aces you pick as pitcher of the year, you're in trouble.

Each has his own legion of loud supporters, who claim their man is the only logical choice for the Cy Young award, annually bestowed on the outstanding major league pitcher of the year.

The matter comes to a head now because the Baseball Writers' Association of America, which conducts the voting for the award, has put the ballots in the mail.

Tough Choice
Too bad it's impossible to vote a split ticket, but either Koufax or Koufax is going to win the award and making a choice between them is akin to picking out the greenest blade of grass.

Sandy won the award last year, along with practically everything else. He's at somewhat of a disadvantage this time, though, because elbow trouble has sidelined him for the final month.

My particular vote went to Chance and promptly drew a strong objection from Sandy's Dodger teammate, Ron Perranoski.

"I admit I've never seen Chance pitch for the Angels," Perranoski declared. "But even so, there's no doubt in my mind at all that Koufax is the best pitcher in baseball. I honestly think he should get the award again."

Rigney Differs
Fair enough, but now listen to Angel manager Bill Rigney. "If there's a better pitcher around than Chance, I haven't seen him," says Rigney. "I'm not taking anything away from Koufax, but I'd have to vote for Chance." Perranoski, however, won't hold still.

"Considering all the injuries Sandy had this year, it's amazing he did as well as he did," says the Dodger reliever. "He would have won at least 25 games again if he could've kept pitching."

Longhorns Hit By Early Injuries

By United Press International

Coach Darrell Royal paraded his Southwest Conference (and national) champion Longhorns before the SWC press tour Wednesday and announced that because of injuries, he may cancel a scheduled Saturday intrasquad game.

The Longhorns have been plagued with early season injuries and had a total of 10 disabled players, including both starting ends.

Sandy Sands of New London, Tex., who missed play last year because of injuries, carried the weight at end and was expected to see heavy action this year.

Fox Dark Horse In Skipper Race

By HARRY GRAYSON
PHILADELPHIA (NEA)—The new manager of the San Francisco Giants, and there will be one shortly after the season ends, will be — hold onto your hats — Charles Francis Fox.

An intimate of Horace Stoneham tips me to the fact that Charley Fox, currently managing the Tacoma farm club of the Pacific Coast League, is the owner's choice to succeed Alvin Dark. The Giants' front office does not deny it. Neither does Fox.

So permit me to introduce Charley Fox, the Walter Alston of 1965—Fox is even less-known to the general public than was Alston when the Darrtown woodworker was brought up from the minors to manage the Dodgers 10 years ago.

Alston, a first baseman, struck out in one time at bat for the St. Louis Cardinals Fox, then a 19-year-old catcher, caught in three games for the wartime Giants of 1942.

"I forget how many times I was at bat, but the record book shows I hit 429," he laughed when I reached him on the telephone in Portland, Ore. "Then I went into the Navy for three years."

Fox is a handsome, square-jawed, sandy-haired Irishman who will be 42 Oct. 7. I asked him how he would like to manage a big league club.

"What a baseball man wouldn't," he replied.

"Dissatisfied with Dark, Stoneham is turning to the man who knows the Giants best. Even if nobody knows him. Fox broke in as a minor-league player-manager in 1946 at the age of 23. He has been in the chain for 19 years and the most active figure in Giant training camps. He has had a hand in the development of most of the Giants, and they like him. He is closer to Stoneham than any other practical baseball man in the organization."

After managing in the chain for 11 years, Fox scouted free agents and explored the National and American Leagues until this season. "After I won a third successive pennant with Phoenix in the Arizona Instructional League last winter, Stoneham told me I should return to managing," said Fox. "He sent me to Tacoma."

"And it wasn't because Charley Fox is a singer of sweet Irish songs, which he also happens to be."

Fox will realize a boyhood ambition when named the new head of the Giants.

Charley was born in the Bronx and raised in the Polo Grounds. He was Bill Terry's batting practice catcher. He played with the Eddie Grant American Legion team at the famous old park when it was unbeaten for two years. He was graduated from St. Agnes High School in Manhattan.

Fox managed St. Cloud of the C Northern League for eight campaigns. There he set starting a number of budding stars, Orlando Cepeda among them.

"Helped me a lot," recalled the trouncing first baseman. "Lot of little things. Just would walk up and tell me quietly, 'Nice man.'"

"Helped straighten me out behind the plate and at bat," said Tom Haller, the big catcher.

"Charlie worked on me for three winters in Phoenix," said rookie-of-the-year candidate Jim Hart. "I was turning my head on certain pitches. He kept after me until I held it in and still."

"Charley taught me my change-up," testified Ron Herbel, the bespectacled right-hander. "Great teacher."

"It was in the Instructional League in Tampa in 1959 that Charley showed me how to get more spin on the ball," said pitcher Bob Bolin.

"You have to learn when you are exposed to Charley," said Cap Peterson, the utility man and pinch-hitter.

I asked Charles S. Feeney, vice president in charge of practically everything, about the imminent appointment.

"Nothing will be done until the end of the season," said Chub Feeney. "Charley Fox is highly regarded in our organization as an appraiser of talent, instructor and manager. He's aggressive, bright and all baseball. Don't get oversold on him now, but he'll be a major league manager some day."

Like after this season.

Club Owners OK Sale of Yankees

BOSTON (UPI)—The Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) can go right ahead with its $14 million purchase of the New York Yankees.

But even the other American League owners fear the deal will land them in the federal courts. And they insist the network and the Yankees must bear the brunt of any investigation and prosecution.

That guarded approval and warning was neatly packaged in a two-paragraph resolution voted 8-2 by the league owners. It was announced Wednesday night by league President Joe Cronin.

The decision took a full day of closed door meetings—a total of more than five hours of prepared statements and searching questions.

The vote was exactly the same as resulted from a hurried and controversial telephone poll on Aug. 14.

The pair who voted against the sale Aug. 14 and again Wednesday only repeated their original opposition.

Chicago White Sox owner Arthur Allyn fears admission of the network into league membership will create a conflict of interest. He said he would sell the stock he holds in CBS to avoid the prohibition stated in the league constitution.

GRIFFITH ARRIVES

LONDON (UPI)—Welterweight champion Emile Griffith arrived Wednesday night for his world title fight with Brian Curvis of Britain Sept. 22.

Cardinals Make Run for Pennant

By United Press International
The St. Louis Cardinals are making their long-awaited pennant run but the odds and National League history suggest it's too little, too late.

Only a year ago the Cardinals staged a spectacular drive of 19 victories in 20 games that carried them to within one game of the Los Angeles Dodgers on Sept. 16. Then the pressure told and the Cardinals lost three straight games to the Dodgers and faded out of the race.

Now it's the Philadelphia Phillies whom the Cardinals are chasing—chasing with a string of four consecutive victories and 13 wins in their last 16 games which have reduced their deficit to five games. They've cut six full games off the Phillies' lead in two weeks but their moment of truth is not yet at hand—only in sight.

The Cardinals cut another full game off the Phillies' lead when they beat the front-runners 16-5 in 11 innings Wednesday night while the Pittsburgh Pirates were defeating the third-place Cincinnati Reds 4-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers were pounding out an 8-1 triumph over the fourth-place San Francisco Giants.

Lead By Five
And so, as the National League countdown continues, the Phillies lead the Cardinals by five games and both the Reds and Giants by six games.

The Cardinals scored two runs in the ninth inning to tie the score and then poured across five runs in the 11th to give Bob Humphreys his second big league win. Singles by Curt Flood and Lou Brock, who had five hits, and Bill White's double broke the tie. Singles by Ken Boyer and Dick Groat and an error by Richie Allen completed the rally.

Brock's five hits led a 20-hit attack that also included three hits by Boyer and two each by White, Julian Javier and Tim McCarver. Ruben Amaro had three hits for the Phillies.

Jim Pagliaroni's two-run double was the big blow of a fourth inning in which the Pirates scored all their runs. Bob Veale was tagged for 13 hits in 5-2-3 innings but scored his 16th win against 10 losses. Chico Ruiz had three hits for the Reds, whose Joey Jay lost his 11th decision.

Finley Selling His Franchise
CHICAGO (UPI)—Charles O. Finley went ahead today with plans to sell his Kansas City Athletics. He said he wanted no part of baseball "because of such lousy shenanigans" as CBS' purchase of the New York Yankees.

"There's nothing but selfish interests in approving this sale," Finley said here after the American League formally approved the Columbia network's purchase.

Powell's Return Boosts Baltimore Flag Chances

By United Press International
The Baltimore "cop" is back on the beat.

The "cop" is John (Boog) Powell, the 6-foot, 4-inch, 235-pound outfielder who has been the big stick of the Orioles since the start of the American League season. He's back swinging that stick again after being sidelined with a wrist injury Aug. 20 to make it that much tougher for either the Chicago White Sox or New York Yankees to steal the flag.

Powell has played in four games since returning to the lineup Sept. 6 and the figures speak for themselves. He's made seven hits in 13 at bats, smashed three homers and knocked in five runs. Result: The Orioles have won three of the four games.

Powell represented nearly all the offense the Orioles had Wednesday night when they split a doubleheader with the Washington Senators — winning 6-3 and losing 4-3 — to pick up a half-game on both pursuers. They are now a full game ahead of the White Sox and 1 1/2 games ahead of the Yankees.

Hit Two Homers
Powell hit a pair of two-run, 400-foot homers in the first game, driving in four runs and pacing Dave McNally to his eighth win of the season and he had three singles in the second game before ex-Oriole Willie Kirkland broke it up with a ninth-inning homer. Steve Barber, who struck out 13 batters, suffered his 13th loss in the nightcap as Claude Osteen limited the Orioles to seven hits in winning his 13th game.

With his .538 batting average since returning to the lineup, Powell has increased his home-run total to 34 and his runs batted in total to 85.

The Minnesota Twins topped the White Sox 5-2, the Detroit Tigers blanked the Yankees 4-0 and the Boston Red Sox edged out the Cleveland Indians 6-5 in 10 innings in other AL action.

Pizarro Takes Loss
Rob Allison tripped home two runs and scored a third on a sacrifice fly by Jimmie Hall as the Twins rocked 17-game winner Juan Pizarro for three runs in the third inning and went on to hand the White Sox their third straight loss. Jim Grant pitched a six-hitter and walked only one in scoring his 15th victory against 10 losses.

The Tigers snapped the Yankees' five-game winning streak behind the five-hit pitching of Mickey Lolich, who hurled his third straight shutout and raised his record to 16-7. Whitey Ford matched zeroes with Lolich until the seventh when the Tigers scored all their runs on singles by Gates Brown, George Thomas and Dick McAuliffe and Don Wert's three-run homer. Lolich struck out 12 to win his seventh straight game and stretch his string of scoreless innings to 27.

Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run 10th inning homer off Ted Abernathy to give Red Sox relief ace Dick Radatz his 14th win against eight losses. Al Smith also homered for the Red Sox while Fred Whitfield and Woody Held connected for the Indians.

BREAKS OWN RECORD
NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Farington of Richmond, Ohio, shattered his own American harness racing record of 203 races won in a single season by capturing six races over the Labor Day weekend to boost his 1964 total to 208.

In choosing Hubert Humphrey as his running mate in the election, President Lyndon B. Johnson has clearly indicated what the Party of the United States, if Mr. Johnson had wanted to maintain a balance in the party and in the top national offices, he could have chosen a staunch anti-communist such as Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut or he could have chosen someone like Senator Richard Russell of Georgia who stands for the tradition of states rights which once was the tradition of the Democratic Party, though it is no longer.

But the selection of Senator Humphrey of Minnesota makes plain to all that the "great society" of which Mr. Johnson speaks is nothing but the program envisioned by the radical Americans for Democratic Action. Senator Humphrey was one of the founders of the ADA, and he is today deeply involved in all its activities.

Now, the ADA is dedicated to undoing the federal design for America that was the handiwork of the Founding Fathers. It aims at a welfare state that is run by a tightly centralized national government with strong police powers to enforce its will.

For example, he was one of the authors of Medicare, which would go far toward creating the kind of medical mess in this country that has been the result of socialized medicine in Great Britain.

Almost everyone with any familiarity with the development of community agitation troubles in this country knows that Hubert Humphrey has a so-called "civil rights" proposals that now are producing a harvest of civil disorders in New York City, Rochester, Jersey City, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Senator Humphrey, it seems, genuinely believes that it is better to give away America than to defend our national substance or strength. He is all for the "peace" cause, which is natural because standing for U.S. interests in a hard struggle is contrary to the essential softness of the man.

Back in 1958, Senator Humphrey spent eight and one-half hours talking with Nikita Khrushchev. The senator used this interview as a publicity boost. But there's a difference between Khrushchev talking and Humphrey talking.

That Mr. Johnson would impose on his party and on the nation a running mate who is so obviously lacking in the stern stuff of statesmanship is deeply shocking. What he does, in effect, is risk the future of the American people. A Johnson

EXCESSIVE WAGE INCREASES Labor Unions are making a serious mistake in refusing to limit their demands for wage increases and fringe benefits within the limit of increasing manhour productivity.

Moreover it should be remembered that because the amount of capital required to carry on our industries increases rapidly from year to year that a part of the benefits accruing from increased efficiency must be used to reward the savers who have supplied this extra capital.

Labor sometimes points to large salaries paid to executives. It should be remembered however that executives make no organized demand and that there is no coercion in the amounts they receive.

If unions insist on salaries in excess of the increase in productivity, they will most certainly bring upon us government intervention in the matter of wage and price fixing. But when we have wage and price fixing by government, we will have a completely government-managed economy which will involve government direction of both capital and labor.

Our choice is between the free market on the one hand with demand and supply regulation, with such a running mate, would expose the nation to the danger of leadership that is dedicated to letting every nation on earth — and all the most irresponsible elements within — regard this rich republic as a grab bag.

Barry's Goal Is for GOP Long Pull

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Politically speaking, there are two Barry Goldwaters. One hasn't much liking for the necessary business of meeting the public. The other is fascinated by the mechanics of organization politics.

He intends to do something about it, not just for this election, not just for the conservatives he represents, but for the party's long pull no matter who is in the ascendancy.

Chiefs Urge Stepped Up War in Viet

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Four of the five members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff have told Defense Secretary McNamara they now favor sharply stepping up the U.S. role in the Viet Nam war.

According to Pentagon sources, the chiefs of staff agree that the shipment of men and materiel down the Ho Chi Minh trails must be stopped. The movement of weapons by boat and junk from North Viet Nam and Cambodian ports must be cut off.

The high officers think the air and ground war in the south must be stepped up with increased men and equipment. Air strikes against the Viet Cong must be increased. More rapid steps must be taken to up the fighting capability of the Vietnamese army and militia.

One major object would be to destroy trucks. Some military men think transportation is a major Red bottleneck and that without trucks this infiltration would slow to a crawl. (The Ho Chi Minh trail starts out as a truck route, then divides up into a mass of forest trails and swamp routes.)

Magazine Charges Gold Outflow Is 'Unreported'

By SAM CAMPBELL

For the past two weeks, United Press International has reported an improvement in the U.S. gold balance. The report for this week is that holdings of U.S. government securities for foreign account declined by 72 million.

That means that foreigners could take out $72 million less American gold from Ft. Knox if they cashed their claims today than what they could have taken out last week.

Good, If True The UPI based its report on a statement by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. An honest inference from the statements of the past two weeks, therefore, is that the American money managers are managing to check the gold outflow.

Charge Repeated On July 30, American Banker magazine ran a headline stating "$70 Million U.S. Gold Loss Goes 'Unreported' in Fed's Statistics."

The American Banker article stated as follows: "The United States lost $70 million of gold in June, though weekly reports from the Federal Reserve show no loss in nearly six months and an outflow of only $50 million for the entire year to date."

Instant Sicknes Editor: No one would have expected Spatanga's life long republican Zebb Boggs to say anything good about President Johnson, or even consider that Barry Goldwater might not win the Presidential election.

letin, show changes in the 'total' stock of gold. The latter includes the Treasury's Exchange Stabilization Fund, and the June gold loss came out of this Fund.

The decline in June follows a loss of $35 million in May. The Treasury has been able to handle these sizable losses without having them reflected in weekly reports — which would receive widespread publicity — since it took in $177 million of gold in April and credited the entire amount to the Fund.

Treasury officials say they put the gold in the Fund, rather than in the monetary stock, since they knew it would be on hand only a few months and did not want to 'mislead' the public by showing a sudden increase. At the same time, however, the usually large gold holdings of the Fund do enable the Treasury to absorb gold losses quietly without the unfavorable publicity that would attend dipping into the monetary stock."

Just what the motive may be for the government's alleged rigging of gold news was indicated neither by American Banker magazine nor by 'Monetary Notes.' Walter E. Spahr, editor of the latter publication, did accuse Treasury and Federal Reserve officers of 'window dressing.'

INSTANT SICKNESS

Editor: No one would have expected Spatanga's life long republican Zebb Boggs to say anything good about President Johnson, or even consider that Barry Goldwater might not win the Presidential election.

Looking very perplexed old Zebb answered, "Yeah, ah know, ah've had plenty of misgivings 'bout that feller Johnson, but just the thought of Hubert Humphrey becoming President of the United States makes me instantly sick."

How Weather Eye Soared Into Success

Here is a close-up of Nimbus-A, advanced meteorological satellite launched on a polar orbit by NASA. After the 8-foot-tall, paddle-like wings open, Nimbus positions itself for picture taking.

One of 60 ground weather stations that receive data from Nimbus-A, orbiting weather satellite, is this 85-foot-diameter antenna at Rosman, N.C.

Map shows orbit of Nimbus-A, which enables it to provide the world's first television coverage of the entire earth by a weather satellite.

Another of those privileged sanctuaries which somehow protect an aggressor from a taste of his own medicine has emerged in Southeast Asia.

It is President Sukarno's Indonesia which regularly and openly sends guerrilla fighters against the Federation of Malaysia's territory in Borneo and twice in the last two weeks has landed small groups of heavily armed fighters on the Malaysian mainland.

U. S. troops encountered the privileged sanctuary during the Korean police action.

Although opposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the United States adopted as a deliberate policy a hands-off attitude toward Red China despite the fact that so-called Red Chinese "volunteers" were pouring into the Korean peninsula, indefinitely prolonging the struggle and preventing a clear-cut decision.

The privilege sanctuary also has protected Communist North Viet Nam and continues to protect frankly aggressive Red China in Southeast Asia.

Preventing Big War

In Korea, the policy was designed to prevent a small war from escalating into a big one. The same thinking prevails today, although in each case the powers involved — the United States in Korea and in Laos and South Viet Nam, and the British, Australians and New Zealanders in Malaysia — must have in mind a stopping point at which the policy is junked and aggression answered in kind no matter what the risks.

In Laos and South Viet Nam, the United States has attempted to make it clear to the Communists that it will reply to direct attack taking on a war with China if necessary.

Similar British warnings have been issued to Sukarno.

As a deterrent, the U. S. position seems to have had some effect on the Chinese.

So far, British warnings have had no effect on Sukarno.

No Clear Decisions

As usual in today's jumbled world where clear-cut decisions are difficult to come by, the Malaysia problem poses more questions than answers.

The first of these, of course, is what to do about it.

The second is, just how far do Sukarno's ambitions go and what is his real objective.

And a third deals with Sukarno, the man.

The question of what to do about it now has been tossed to the United Nations, with the chances of preventive action remote.

So far as ambitions go, Sukarno is not believed to want more land than the island of Borneo of which he now has considerably more than half. Even this, Sukarno has denied, charging instead that the whole Federation of Malaysia is a British plot to strangle Indonesia. Further, Sukarno is not believed anxious to have Red China at his doorstep such as would happen if Red China took over Singapore and Malaya.

TWO POLES ESCAPE

LINZ, Austria (UPI) — Two young Poles escaped to the West after hiding on a freight train for six days, Austrian police disclosed Tuesday. The two disembarked at the Austrian border station of Summerau.

The refugees escaped detection while the train passed through Poland and Czechoslovakia and crossed into Austria. Their names were withheld.

BAN SLOPPY DRESS

EL CAJON, Calif. (UPI) — There'll be no barefoot boys — or girls — with cheek on campus at Grossmont Junior College when school starts next Monday.

School officials Tuesday banned barefeet, tattered sweat-shirts, shorts, T-shirts, floppy shoes and other similar attire.
