Goldwater Says Farm Problem Can Be Solved

Candidate Also Renews Appeal For Help of Democratic South

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater today attacked the Johnson administration's "arrogant and bureaucratic-minded" Department of Agriculture and said a "willing president" can work with farmers to solve agriculture's problems.

The Republican presidential contender, starting the third day of a southern stumping tour, also renewed his appeal for help from Democratic voters in the once solid South.

Goldwater spoke at a GOP breakfast here, then made a downtown appearance in front of the local courthouse.

He again praised the action of Sen. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina in defecting from the Democrats to the Republican party.

Would Move Slowly

Goldwater took pains at the rally breakfast, to say that he would not move to abolish the federal farm programs overnight. He said that "in fact, the president couldn't do it if he wanted to."

Challenging statements made by some local Democratic leaders, he said he has never advocated the immediate removal of government price support programs from such commodities as tobacco, cotton and peanuts.

"Working with farmers," he said, "a willing president can work out the problems that agriculture finds itself in."

In telling his audience that he would not move to end farm price support programs overnight, Goldwater said such programs are "creatures of Congress."

Also Cites TVA

It was the same phrase he employed Wednesday to assure a Knoxville, Tenn., audience that a president could not take "arbitrary" action with respect to the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA).

Goldwater said he favored action on farm programs on a crop by crop basis after careful study. He said he is not interested, for example, in advice from senators and congressmen who talk about tobacco but know only "that you buy it by the pack."

Thurmond introduced Goldwater at a rally in Greer, S. C. Goldwater, anticipating Thurmond's formal announcement, campaigned through Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama Wednesday declaring that the South Carolinian's switch sets an example for Democrats in the South and elsewhere in the nation.

Promises Return

Goldwater brought his campaign plane here after a night rally in Montgomery, Ala. There he promised that a Republican administration will move to curb Washington's "federal bureaucracy" by returning government functions to the states along with tax revenues to assist in their financing.

In the West Gate shopping center near Macon Ga., Goldwater said he was "very pleased and extremely encouraged" by the response to his first campaign foray into the once Democratic South. His trip will take him to New Orleans for a speech tonight.

Several thousand well-wishers, many of them youngsters, crowded the Macon shopping center and a shopping center in the town of Arner Robins near Robins Air Force Base where Goldwater's campaign plane made its landing.

McNamara Likely

In both places the senator said it was Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and not Goldwater who was likely to close such military installations.

At Memphis, Tenn., GOP officials claimed that 10,000 people turned out on the downtown bluff on the Mississippi River to greet Goldwater. A police official estimated the crowd at about 30,000, but said it was the largest he had ever seen assembled in Confederate Park overlooking the river.

Goldwater, who has not had a poor evening crowd since he began his intensive campaigning, had another fine turnout in Cramton Stadium in Montgomery. The 25,000-seat stadium, host to the annual Blue-Gray football game, was nearly full for the rally, and about 700 teen-aged Goldwater girls in white evening gowns decorated the sidelines as he spoke.

'BEST INTERESTS' — Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina waves to newsmen in Columbia, S. C., after announcing yesterday that he had become a Republican to protect his constituents' "best interests." Thurmond today introduced GOP candidate Barry Goldwater as America's most "courageous man."

Thurmond Introduces Barry as 'Courageous'

GREER, S.C. (UPI)— Sen. Strom Thurmond, who repudiated the Democratic party Wednesday night to become the Deep South's only Republican senator, today introduced GOP presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater as one of America's "most courageous men."

In his first public appearance since switching parties, Thurmond presented Goldwater to a crowd at the Greenville-Spartanburg Airport. His defection gave a considerable boost to Goldwater's chances of carrying South Carolina in November.

The 61-year-old conservative told his constituents that Goldwater would make a great president.

"He has risked the ire of the liberal, left-wing, socialist establishment in this country—even in his own party—in order to stand by his convictions as to the meaning and intent of the Founding Fathers in giving us the United States Constitution," Thurmond said.

Thurmond, in a statewide television address Wednesday night, had accused the Democrats of "abandoning the people" and leading the country toward a "socialistic dictatorship."

He read to the crowd today a speech he made in 1960 in presenting Goldwater the annual George Washington Award of the American Good Government Society.

In that address—made shortly before the 1960 GOP convention—Thurmond noted that South Carolina Republicans had favored Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination.

"Knowing the Southern people as I do, it is my opinion that if he should be selected as the nominee of either major political party, he would carry the South," Thurmond said in the 4-year-old speech.

"If elected, he would make a great president," Thurmond said in his praise had "stood the test of time."

"Here is a man who has stood consistently against the tide of centralized government, Communist appeasement, fiscal extravagance, state socialism and submission to the tools of internationalism," Thurmond said.

Julian, '67, the so-called "Black Eagle" of Harlem and one of the first American Negro flyers, told newsmen the offer to bet "is being formally made to apply to a Birmingham Republican presidential candidate."

Natally dressed in a light suit and sporting a monocle in his right eye, Julian revealed his challenge Wednesday after arriving here aboard the S. S. France from Europe.

"I don't want to mention his name," Julian said, "but if the Republican standard bearer will mortgage all of his holdings, I will deposit three tons of gold bars worth approximately $3.5 million betting that he will run a very, very poor second."

"We will let Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller hold the stakes," Julian said; the gold belonged to a firm of which he is executive vice president called the Regional Resources Corp. of Panama City. It just borrowed 40 tons of gold from a Swiss financial concern, he said.

Ollie's contended it was located far from any interstate road and did not cater to transients and therefore the restaurant should not be subject to the civil rights law.

The restaurant, owned by Ollie McClung and his son, Ollie Jr., who are white, is located in a Negro neighborhood, but caters to white patrons, except for takeout orders.

The government argued that the restaurant should come under the accommodations section because segregation breeds racial friction which would hamper interstate commerce.

Rights Workers' Deaths Due Quiz By Federal Jury

By United Press International A federal grand jury will consider possible indictments next week in the slaying of three civil rights workers in Mississippi.

Reliable sources said the grand jury would begin its probe Monday in Biloxi. The sources said 120 subpoenas were served on persons in the Philadelphia, Miss., area where the three workers disappeared June 21.

Bodies of the three—Andrew Goodman, 20, Michael Schwerner, 24, both of New York, and Negro James Chaney, 22, of Meridian—were found six weeks later following a massive search by the FBI and military authorities.

Each had been shot. Federal authorities refused comment on the grand jury report, but the source disclosed the government would seek indictments against as many as nine persons.

In New York, a two-day boycott of the nation's largest school system was scheduled to end today. The boycott was touched off by a controversial school board plan to transport students away from neighborhood schools in order to get better racial balance.

Other developments: JACKSON, Miss.: Church leaders from nine denominations announced formation of a committee to assist in rebuilding Negro churches burned in Mississippi this summer. The group said 22 churches had been damaged or destroyed by arsonists during the civil rights campaign in the state.

Viet Guerrillas Renew Offensive After Month Lull

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—Communist Viet Cong guerrillas who bided their time during a month of political turmoil in Saigon today renewed the full fury of their military offensive in the countryside.

American military advisers said the Viet Cong are attacking in greater force than at any time in the past two months.

The Communists launched seven full-scale attacks in the lower Mekong River Delta south of Saigon on Monday night. This surpassed their four-night average during their July offensive, which was the worst of the year.

The crescendo followed a week in which Vietnamese forces lost 245 men killed, 540 wounded and 180 missing for a total of 965 casualties, a record for 1964. The rebels lost 290 killed, 120 captured and an unknown number of wounded.

Commander Nguyen Cao Ky, commander of the Vietnamese air force and the key man in stifling the weekend "generals' coup" in Saigon, told UPI that two outposts were overrun in the Mekong Delta on Monday night. He said this was the Communists' first double victory in the Delta in the past six months.

American negotiator William C. Foster in his wind-up speech today read a message from President Johnson, saying everyone should be prepared for new agreements next year.

Neither Western nor Communist officials were too despondent over the slim results, however.

They said it would have been hard in any case to reach any major new agreements in a year when elections are being held in the United States and Britain—and in which Russia has been preoccupied with Communist China.

Police Claim Cult Chief Stole Goods To Equip 'Chapel'

DENVER (UPI)— Denver police Wednesday interrupted Meynard R. Levinson's plans to start his own religious plans. They said he tried to equip his "chapel" with religious items stolen from the Immaculate Conception Cathedral.

Detectives said more than $500 worth of religious items—including a 3-foot bronze cast crucifix, clerical-type robes and two bronze cast candlesticks—were discovered in the 21-year-old Denver man's rented apartment.

They also found a dozen books on witchcraft and cultism. Levinson said he had not had time to organize a congregation.

Councilman Upholds City Dog Ordinance

Commissioner L. P. Fort today declared that Pampa's dog ordinance should not be weakened by a reduction of fees charged for retrieving stray dogs after they have been picked up for running at large.

The recently passed city ordinance provides a $10 fee for retrieving the dog, $2 a day for board—and a requirement that the dog be vaccinated before being released. The Ward 4 commissioner charged that the new dog ordinance again is under attack.

"The attackers, of course, are the violators," Fort said. "This is only human. There are those who believe that it is not humane to keep dogs confined. We respect their freedom to that belief, but we also have to remember there are citizens who do not want dogs running over their property. They have to be considered, too."

Fort stated that under the new ordinance, one citizen was acquitted on a charge of allowing his dogs to run loose. "His dogs still are running at large; another citizen was fined $1, but this has not stopped his dogs from running loose at night," he said.

Fort stated that he thought the reason the ordinance was passed in the first place was to permit a dog owner to enjoy the dog on his own premises or in a street if the dog is under control.

"Another reason for the ordinance," Fort said, is that it allows citizens who do not want dogs in their flower beds, yards or garbage cans, to be free to choose not to have to contend with such a condition.

"I do not see where lowering the pound fee would solve our dog problem."

The commissioner added: "The pressure to cripple the ordinance seems to be on, and citizens who do not want other people's dogs running on their property should again express themselves."

Nobody appeared at yesterday's public auction sale of 11 dogs that had been impounded. None of the owners showed up to retrieve them. The dogs were destroyed in the pound's gas chamber.

Fund Drive Sets Check-in Meeting

A check-in meeting for workers in the advanced gifts division of the Pampa - Lefors United Fund will be held in the United Fund office tomorrow at 5 p.m., according to Norman Henry, general chairman.

Henry said that the drive was progressing very satisfactorily and that the workers had made most of their initial contacts.

The advanced gifts section, which is under the direction of E. L. Green Jr. and Joe Reid, is limited to major contributors and their employees.

This year's United Fund goal is $70,000.

Funds to Aid LBJ Projects

By FRANK ELEAZER WASHINGTON (UPI)

The House appropriations committee today voted just under $1 billion in a final catchall supplemental money bill. It carries funds to crank up President Johnson's anti-poverty, food stamp and mass transit projects.

The appropriation bill will come up in the House Tuesday. It brings to about $94 billion the total funds appropriated by Congress this year. This is about $3.7 billion less than President Johnson requested.

However, much of the apparent saving represents bookkeeping transactions that will not save any money.

Many members viewed today's money bill as the most hopeful sign yet that the 88th Congress is about to grind to a halt. The final supplemental always is held up until leaders are reasonably sure nothing more will be needed.

The decision to move now with the bill lent support to earlier hints that Johnson's $1 billion Appalachian development program will not be brought to a vote in Congress this year.

Today's bill includes $13 million, as requested, to implement the new civil rights law. Most of the money will go for educational work. Enforcement funds also are provided.

A Public Health Service request for $1.9 million to set up a "national clearing house for smoking and health" was turned down for the present. Also passed over "without prejudice" was a request for $5 million to get started on a survey for a new sea level intercanal.

The committee allowed $750 million of the $947 million sought to put the job corps and other features of the President's anti-poverty bill into operation. About 40,000 youngsters are to be enrolled initially for work and training on public projects reminiscent of the old

Physician Named As UF Chairman

Dr. Joe R. Donaldson, local physician and active civic leader, has been named chairman of the special gifts division of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund Campaign.

Dr. Donaldson is immediate past president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

A goal of $70,000 has been set to support the six participating agencies.

Oct. 20 is the date set for the kickoff of the general drive.

Johnson Makes Anti-War Pledge In Oregon Talk

By ALVIN SPIVAK PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)

President Johnson received an enthusiastic greeting today from thousands of supporters who braved a steady rain to hail his arrival in the third state of his four-state Western tour.

The President flew here from Seattle, Wash., where, in a speech Wednesday night he issued a series of anti-war pledges that re-emphasized the question of nuclear arms control as an election campaign issue.

Johnson told a civic dinner that the nation and the world "can rest assured that we have taken every step man can devise to ensure that neither a madman nor a malfunction could trigger nuclear war."

Further, he said, he "will never let slip the engines of destruction because of a reckless and rash miscalculation about our adversaries."

Johnson brought a conservation message with him to Portland for a speech before public and private power groups connected with an 11-state inspection of hydroelectric facilities.

The visit was officially a non-partisan one and Johnson was met at the ramp by Oregon's Republican Gov. Mark Hatfield. But there was a political tone to the crowd reception, with much of the throng made up of youngsters holding aloft pro-Johnson placards.

Amid applause and the screaming of teen-age girls, Johnson walked along a lengthy link-chain fence behind which the airport crowd pressed and shook hands with hundreds standing in the front row.

Johnson wore a light raincoat but held his hat in his left hand much of the time despite the downpour.

Johnson pointed up the nuclear issue at a non-partisan dinner sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce and three Seattle area universities.

The event climaxed the first day of a two-day tour through four western states and the Canadian province of British Columbia.

Heading from Seattle to Portland, Ore., for a breakfast sponsored by public and private power interests, Johnson issued a statement hailing the partnership of both groups in this area.

He said an 11-state intertie of Northwest and Southwest power facilities represents "true conservation—the cooperation of all in the development of our resources for the benefit of all."

"This is the kind of conservation action we intend to continue," Johnson declared.

The President described the intertie as "the most exciting transmission system in our history."

Businessmen to Visit New Plant

About 10 representatives of Pampa industry and business will be the guests of the Southwestern Public Service Co. tomorrow at a preview open house at the company's newly enlarged Plant X, according to Gordon Lyons.

The company has just completed the installation of the largest single generating unit in their system at their base load generating station.

Plant X, which now has four generating units in service, including the new 210,000 kilowatt generator, is located on Farm Road 1055, four miles south of Earth and nine miles north of Amherst.

The open house will include a tour of the plant as well as a luncheon.

A public open house will be held Saturday and Sunday.

Wallace Blasts Press, Praises Rights Opponents

HAMMOND, Ind. (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, in his first northern foray since Democratic primary time, hailed opponents of the civil rights act Wednesday night and said the nation's press "does not tell the truth."

Wallace got a three-minute standing ovation when he started his speech to a group called the Society for the Preservation of Every American's Rights (SPEAR). During the talk, he got his biggest applause for his attack upon the press.

"In the main, they don't tell the truth," Wallace said. "They malign and distort, even about the attitude of the people here. If you don't agree with them, you are a racist, a bigot and immoral."

The Southern governor said he was the only person to address the National Press Club in Washington and not receive a certificate of appreciation. "I suppose that's because I'm a bad burger," he said. "But I told them they can take their certificate of appreciation and they know what they can do with it."

For Wallace, who carried Lake County in Indiana's Democratic primary last May, "visit home" "if I'm ever run the trip here was almost a out of Alabama, I'm coming to Lake County," he said. "This crowd has again shaken the eye teeth of the liberals. I know I'm home here."

CAR HITS BUS
LEONARD, Tex. (UPI) — Four children were under observation in a hospital today as the result of a collision between their school bus and a car. The bus was traveling south on U.S. 69 Wednesday when it collided with a car driven by Bobby D. Daniels of Denison.

AID FIGURES ANNOUNCED
PARIS (UPI) — The United States and 11 other free world countries gave a total of $8,145,000,000 in economic aid to developing countries last year, it was announced Wednesday by the 12-nation Development Assistance Committee (DAC) of the 21-member Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).
As in previous years, the United States was by far the biggest foreign aid giver. Its foreign aid in 1963 totalled $4,726,000,000.

Two Pampans Fined In Disturbing Peace

Two Pampa men were charged with disturbing the peace today before Corporation Court. John Warner in connection with an affray Saturday night which started at a downtown pool hall. Wayland Holtman and Bill Warren were placed under a $100 suspended sentence after entering a plea of nolo contendere.

Police said the affray at the pool hall led to another fight Saturday night at the Top O' Texas Drive In Theater which resulted in two other boys being charged with disturbing the peace.

Paul Bynum, 18, was fined $25 after pleading guilty and Larry Filippo, 17, pleaded not guilty.

One boy was slightly injured during the Drive In fight. Earl Mixon, 17, received a cut on the head when he was struck with a tire tool.

He was treated and released from Highland General Hospital.

Deadline Facing Bargainers in Ford Negotiation

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union and Ford Motor Co. today opened a marathon bargaining session to write a new contract by 10 a.m. EST Friday and head off a strike by 130,000 workers.

UAW President Walter Reuther and Ford Labor relations Vice President Malcolm Denise led bargainers to the negotiations table after a night of subcommittee meetings.

Reuther told newsmen Wednesday he expected bargainers would work through the night right up to the deadline. The union established the strike deadline at Ford Wednesday. Reuther said the "dynamics of the negotiations require a strike deadline." The union and Ford he said, were apart in both economic and non-economic aspects.

Reuther said the company and union had not agreed on alleged wage inequities in the economic area and were still apart on the non-economic items of production standards and working conditions.

"These areas have not yielded to non-crisis bargaining, and we hope they will yield to crisis pressure," Reuther said. Ford has offered the union a three-year contract including the same benefits that the union won from Chrysler in the pattern-setting agreement last week.

Absentee Voting To Start Monday On Wet, Dry Issue

Absentee balloting for the Oct. 10 "wet-dry" election in Precinct 3 of Gray County will begin Monday, according to County Clerk Charlie Thut.

The election was called by the Commissioners Court Monday following a petition presented by 56 residents of the precinct.

The election, if passed, would legalize the sale of all alcoholic beverages in the precinct for off-premises consumption.

The area bounded by Precinct 3 includes the intersection of Highways 66 and 70 and the McClellan Lake area.

Absentee voting will end on Oct. 5.

Food Stamp Program
For food stamps for the needy, the committee allowed the full $60 million requested.

With this money, the Agriculture Department will expand its present experimental program to 60 new areas and about 600,000 more needy people by June 30.

Participants will buy at a discount, depending on need, stamps that can be spent at face value at corner grocery stores. Only U.S.-produced foods can be bought.

To assist cities in solving their mass transit problems the bill provides $75 million of the $225 million sought for grants and $2.5 million of the $5 million requested for loans. It also contains $187,500 of the $375,000 estimated as needed for administration costs of the program.

Among other items in the bill was $150,000 to implement a new law tightening rules on securities sales by over-the-counter dealers.

Calypso Flips Combine Staples From Islands of Paradise

Down the way where the nights are gay and the sun shines brightly on the mountain top...

This rhythmic Calypso song brings vivid memories of tropical islands, warm summer nights and refreshing food.

A recipe has been devised that combines all the luscious staples of these tropical paradises — pineapples, rum, sugar and bananas.

A cooling dessert, fit for an evening in any Calypso-land or right in your own home, is Calypso Flips made with banana flips.

The banana-shaped flips not only look attractive but their spongy texture perfectly holds the cherry, pineapple and banana filling of the recipe.

The creamy rum sauce topping will make your family and guests believe they are sampling an authentic island treat.

Make up a batch of Calypso Flips, put on a stack of Calypso music and sit back and dream of your favorite island paradise while enjoying your dessert.

CALYPSO FLIPS
4 Banana Flips
1-3 cup well-drained crushed pineapple
1/4 cup well-drained chopped maraschino cherries
Creamy Rum Sauce
Carefully remove filling from Banana Flips. In bowl, fold pineapple and cherries into filling. Replace filling in cakes.

Serve topped with Creamy Rum Sauce. Garnish each serving with additional pineapple and sliced cherries, if desired.

Makes 4 servings.
CREAMY RUM SAUCE
4 egg yolks
1-3 cup sugar
1 cup light cream
1 tablespoon dark rum or 1 teaspoon rum flavoring
Dash nutmeg
In top of double boiler, beat egg yolks with sugar until thick. Add cream and cook slowly over hot but not boiling water until thick, stirring frequently.

Remove from heat, cool slightly and add rum and nutmeg. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Shaker Pudding Can Be Adapted for Every Season

HASTY PUDDING was adapted from an old Shaker recipe.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. In Hancock, Mass., at the Shaker Village restoration, we learned that the inventive Kitchen Sisters of the community, aprons, could produce a different pudding for every day in ten were tapioca, potatoes, dried

The Sisters set out summer puddings of wild strawberries, blackberries, plums and blueberries. Currants and elderberries were stewed into sauces in neat muslin caps and long for pudding batters.

In winter, the ingredients of ent-pudding-for-every-day-in-ten were tapioca, potatoes, dried fruits, jellies and jams and maple syrup. The Shaker Sisters listed their puddings by fanciful names in the "Cooking Calendar" in the great kitchen of the Hancock community:

Quaking Pudding, a bread-crumbed custard; Bird's Nest Pudding, cooked apples in a ring of pastry; Elack Pudding, made with dark herry jam or preserves. Frequent mention is also made of English Pudding, a trifle pudding, fragrant with spices and plump raisins.

The old Shaker recipe has been adapted for modern day use into a Hasty Pudding, a raisin-studded cake-like topping covering a smooth sauce.

HASTY PUDDING
(5 or 6 servings)
3/4 cup maple - blended syrup
1-3 cup water
1 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/4 cup raisins
Combine syrup and water in saucepan and bring to a boil. Meanwhile, sift flour with baking powder and salt. Add brown sugar. Then add milk, vanilla, and butter and mix only until smooth.

Pour into greased 1-quart casserole or baking dish. Sprinkle with raisins. Pour boiling syrup over batter. (This makes a sauce in bottom of pan after pudding is baked.) Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve warm with light cream or soft whipped cream.

Corny Treat
Try this corn bread variation. To a package of corn bread mix, add 1 teaspoon oregano and one (4 ounce) can of sliced mushrooms, drained, along with the egg and milk called for on the box. Bake in a pre-heated hot oven (425 degrees) about 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Good for You
Cabbage is an excellent source of Vitamin C. One cup of cabbage cooked in a small amount of water, only until tender, yields the recommended daily amount of the vitamin needed. In contrast, this same amount cooked in a large amount of water for a long time yields little more than half the necessary daily amount.

Breakfast Important For Married Teens

You are fortunate if you are a married teen-age couple who has formed the habit of starting each day with an adequate breakfast. Breakfast is important if you are going to have an adequate diet because teenagers are still in an active period of growth.

A breakfast built around breakfast cereal and milk is an economical way to make certain one-fourth the total daily caloric requirements and protein allowance are consumed. Just plan the morning meal around a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, and you will have an adequate meal.

Such a breakfast is a real timesaver, too. Start now during September Better Month to establish the good breakfast habit for you and your husband. With a basic cereal and milk breakfast, there is less temptation to snack on high calorie foods or to overeat at the other two meals.

Speedy Nutritious Breakfast:

Food Buying Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Week-end food shoppers will find a good selection of late summer fresh vegetables along with the colorful fruits of the fall harvest season now coming to market.

Meat counters will feature good choices in many cuts of beef and pork, along with top buys in turkey and broiler-fryer chickens. Good choices in seafood include canned pink salmon, fish sticks and fish portions.

Produce counters will abound with cabbage, carrots, corn, lettuce, onions, peppers, potatoes, squash, sweet potatoes and tomatoes. Fruit selections for salads, and desserts include apples, bananas, grapes, pears and plums.

Food Page

Dessert Supreme

Serve individual wedges of blue cheese, softened to room temperature, with fresh or candied fruit, wafers and nut meats for dessert. Pears, apples and peaches all go well with blue cheese. On a lazy susan or large platter, arrange the cheese wedges in the center and surround with quartered sections of fruit, nuts and assorted crackers.

Veterans of WWI Recall Memories

CHICAGO (UPI)—The battles were long ago. Their names were Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and Argonne and Marne. The men who fought them, the white-haired American veterans of World War I, sat in convention today. Some called themselves forgotten men. Some shook their heads and muttered, "We forgot to take care of ourselves."

Nearly 8,000 former doughboys opened their 12th annual convention of the Veterans of World War I in the swank Palmer House Tuesday. They will talk about old times, good times, and bad times until they break up and head home again Thursday.

"We're forgotten men," said Charles V. Falkenberg of Chicago, former judge advocate of the veterans group.

PAM MARTIN

Pam Martin, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Martin, 100 E. 25th, and Sally P. Prince, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Prince, 1114 N. Somerville have been named semi-finalists in the Miss Teenage of Pampa contest.

Semi-finalists will be named each week until Nov. 6. On that date the winner of the Miss Teenage of Pampa will be chosen from the semi-finalists. She will represent Pampa in the national contest to name Miss Teenage of America to be held in Dallas Nov. 6.

The contest is open for girls between the ages of 13 and 17 and entry blanks are available at KHHH radio. Deadline for entry is Oct. 28.

President Takes Look at Newest Rocket Projects

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—President Johnson got a quick look at America's newest rocket projects Tuesday and vowed never to let the nation accept second place in the space race.

"We can't be second in space and first in the world," the President told engineers and technicians gathered in the blockhouse of the world's most powerful-known rocket.

"As long as I am permitted to lead this country I will never accept a place second to any other nation in this field."

As the President spoke, scientists were completing a test countdown for the 190-foot Saturn-1 super rocket that is scheduled to orbit an unmanned Apollo moonship test model Friday.

Johnson paid the surprise 90-minute visit to the Cape while returning to Washington from Miami Beach where he addressed a labor convention.

POKER FOR PARTY

LONDON (UPI)—President Johnson's political campaign in Britain will get a 10 per cent voluntary "tax" — from American poker players in London.

Denis Plimer, who runs the campaign for Johnson in Britain, said:

"A lot of Americans in London meet together regularly to play poker. They've decided to give 10 per cent of the pot to party funds."

Injured Crewmen Still in Hospital After Air Rescue

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI)—Three injured crewmen of the Spanish freighter Sierra Aranzazu remained in a private hospital here today while 14 others prepared to return to Spain by air.

The 17 survivors of the ship's 20-man crew arrived here by Navy plane Tuesday from the U.S. base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Capt. Pedro Ibarburen Gortia, 2nd Officer Javier Cabello Fernandez and 3rd Engineer Jose Baquero Iglesias were killed when the ship was machine-gunned Sunday night by two unidentified launches.

A little known Cuban exile group claimed it "torpedoed" and sank the freighter.

A spokesman for the "Secret Organization for Continental Action" (OSAC) telephoned the ship sinking claim to UPI in Miami Tuesday.

The claim didn't jibe however, with the reports from the surviving crewmen that the Spanish ship was sunk by machine-gun and cannon fire.

FAILS AGAIN

WINCHMORE HILL, England (UPI)—Miss Edith MacGowan, a 75-year-old retired schoolteacher, has failed her driving test for the 22nd time in six years.

On The Record

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

FAIR TRIAL

Our notions of due process of law are likely to be lumped and dismissed as lawyers' "technicalities." Yet due process which is largely our procedural rights in our court system has its roots deeply in the American people's long fight for a fair trial.

It is true that your lawyer selects the proper court — federal or state; district, county, or justice — in which to file your case. For unless the court has jurisdiction, it cannot render a judgment — and make it stick. The court must exercise lawful control over the property or the persons involved in a lawsuit.

The American revolutionaries in 1776 took to arms in large part against King George over due process. The Declaration of Independence said:

"He (King George) has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers. He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

They further complained bitterly "for transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offenses."

"Venue", a court's proper location to try cases, is important. Otherwise, the Administration of Justice is impaired. The American who had sailed to England for his trial could justly say that he was being denied due process of the law.

And so, in Texas today certain suits are local. In such cases one can sue only where the property, person, or the transaction involved in the contest was located. Example: A foreclosure of a mortgage on real estate. Other actions may be brought anywhere the defendant can be found and served with a summons.

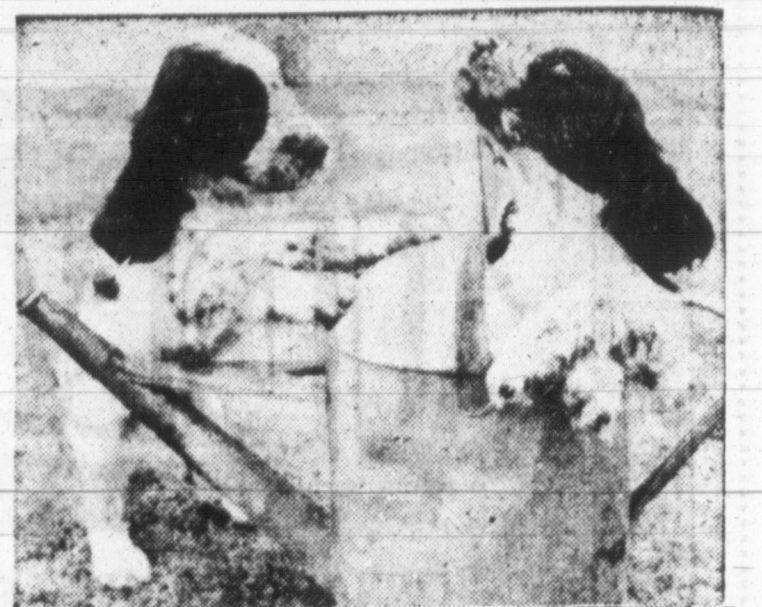

"Venue" means the place where the action is tried. In civil suits it may be changed by agreement between the two parties, or for the convenience of the parties.

Where a case has had wide publicity before trial, especially notorious criminal cases, a lawyer may seek a change of venue — of location of the trial — in order to get unbiased jurors.

Jurisdiction and venue, only two of several concepts of due process, may seem dry as dust at times, but not if your liberty depends upon a fair trial.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Priest Blesses Tokyo Monorail

TOKYO (UPI) — A white-robed Shinto priest has blessed Tokyo's new 65-mile-an-hour monorail which opens today in good time for the Tokyo Olympics Oct. 1024.

The Japanese believe the nine-mile monorail is the world's longest. Carrying up to 500 passengers, it will permit tourists, arriving by air for the Olympics, to reach downtown Tokyo within 15 minutes.

Until today, the trip usually took more than an hour through the congested traffic of this world's largest city (population 10,629,525 as of Aug. 1.) The monorail cost $54.4 million. It is one of many projects rushed to completion for the Olympics. Value of all such projects, including new subways and express highways, totals $3.5 billion.

This figure is less incredible when it is realized that Tokyo badly needed these new facilities, Olympics or not.

The monorail is being operated by a private company. It was built by Hitachi, Japan's biggest electrical manufacturer, under license from the Alweg Company of West Germany.

The track is supported by pylons. It runs along a new expressway and over Tokyo. Construction began 17 months ago and was completed last month.

VIEW OBSTRUCTED

MANCHESTER, N. H. (UPI) — Maybe Bertrand Doyan, 17, of Manchester just can't say no to hitchhikers.

He was fined $25 for operating a motor scooter with his view obstructed. Police said Doyan was carrying five passengers including one on his shoulders.

MARCH, England (UPI)—Oscar Rolke claimed a world record in darts Tuesday — 55,000 points in 27 minutes, 15 seconds.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ken Hammill & Co. believes a minor correction would not be surprising in view of the sharp rise of the past three weeks.

Ward says that while a normal correction could occur at any time, and should be expected during September, the market's technical pattern remains selectively bullish and the prospect of creeping inflation remains a very important background factor and is another valid reason for buying and holding carefully selected stocks.

HOME BASE FOR JACK RABBITS—At Oakland Airport in California, some 10,000 jack rabbits roam freely over the grasslands adjacent to the runways. Airport officials say the rabbits never interfere with their operations, so they haven't bothered to rid the area of them. The rabbits love about in large herds and they appear to know that they mustn't cross runways when airplanes are in sight. Airport officials don't plan to rename their field Hare Airport (with apologies to Chicago).

Homicide Filed in Death of Trainmen

MERIDIAN, Tex. (UPI)—Bosque County authorities have filed negligent homicide charges against Aubrey Leon Butler, 41, of Hubbard, Tex. in connection with a car-train crash that killed two trainmen. Butler's loaded gasoline tank truck was hit by a Santa Fe passenger train Monday at nearby Clifton. Kirby Vaughn, 71, of Temple, Tex., the train's engineer, and H. L. Himmelrich, 38, of Cleburne, Tex., died in the flames that surrounded the engine. County attorney Charles Bolton said witnesses reported Butler failed to stop or slow down at the intersection.

FUN IN CEMETERIES

PETERBOROUGH, England (UPI)—The Peterborough council has decided to mechanize its grave-diggers because it cannot find enough young men to do the work. After announcing that the council will buy a tractor and digging unit, Cameron Smedley, director of cemeteries here, said Wednesday: "I don't know why the young chaps don't want the job. I find lots to laugh about in a graveyard."

Loss of Water Still Mystery in Weslaco

By JAMES T. YOUNG
 WESLACO, Tex. (UPI)—Lost: 1,500 gallons of water a minute. Destination unknown. Value great. Return to city of Weslaco. If all goes as planned, these are the only places it can go.

A want ad like that may be the next step in Weslaco's battle with a mysterious "Niagara-to-nowhere" that has been draining the city treasury as it pours out of the city water pipes. The problem is that somewhere along the line, about 22 million gallons of water disappear from the city water pipes every month. The frantic city fathers have been trying since 1962 to determine what happens to it. Every time they hit on a lead, it turns out to be a dead end—or explains only a much smaller loss. If all the paperwork is correct—and the figures get a very careful going over—the water roars out of the pipes at a rate that would send up a fountain three or four stories high day and night if the leak were on the surface. Would Gush Out. Even if the water seeped gently to the surface, it would have formed a sizable lake by now, big enough to float away this city of 15,000, or at least turn it into a South Texas Venice. In the arid Rio Grande Valley, any new lake would stand out like an iceberg in a sandbox. The thought of all that water going unused is enough to make strong men weep in an area where irrigation water is rationed like war time gasoline. The city buys its water from a local water district. A meter measures the water as it flows into the city system from the district's supply pipe. Theoretically, the month's reading should match the total arrived at by adding the readings on all the water meters in Weslaco. If all goes as planned, these are the only places it can go. No luck. One city official said he was considering a canvass of the city with a divining rod. People Offer Solutions People all over the country have read about the problem and sent in suggested solutions.

A Waco, Tex., man suggested that a Mexican Tequila factory may be tapping the water supply. (The Mexican border is only 14 miles away, but that's still a pretty far stretch for an international siphon.) City officials tend to discount the illegal water-tap theory. As one said, "what could anyone do with 22 million gallons of water a month? And where could they hide it?" City manager Cecil Massey said the mystery may be solved in the next 30 days by a report from the city engineers. "We told them to tell us something conclusive, or tell us who CAN tell us," he said. Like the mysterious water leak, the task may prove easier to talk about than attend to.

CANADIAN (Sp) — Formal opening and dedication of the $300,000 Edward Abraham Memorial Home, an ultra-modern convalescent home for elderly citizens of the northeast Panhandle area, is scheduled in Canadian Sunday afternoon.

A brief dedication ceremony is planned in the lobby of the newly completed nursing home at 2 p.m. and it will be followed by an open house until 5, during which time visitors will be taken on a conducted tour of the building.

The general public is invited to attend both the dedication and the open house.

The home is not yet open for patients, but it is expected that the first patients will be admitted within a few days after the formal opening.

The home has been built as a memorial to the late Edward Abraham, who was working as a one-man Canadian Chamber of Commerce committee attempting to organize just such a project at the time of his death three years ago.

The project was launched in December of 1961 with a $50,000 gift from the Abraham families, who later increased the gift to $70,000 and donated the hilltop site for the home. The initial gift was offered to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, with the provision that the contribution be matched by contributions from citizens of the Canadian area. The money was raised, with gifts coming not only from Canadian and Hemphill county but from many donors in other communities of the northeastern Panhandle and Western Oklahoma. . . . the area which the new convalescent home is expected to serve, and the total of $152,000 in contributions has been matched by a federal grant from Hill - Burton funds to finance construction of the $304,000 structure.

The home has facilities for complete nursing care for thirty-seven elderly patients, thirty-two of them in the sixteen semi-private rooms and five in private rooms. The all-masonry building is completely fire-proofed, fully air-conditioned for summer and winter weather, with individually controlled thermostats in each room, and fully furnished and equipped for comfortable living.

In addition to the patient rooms, it has a spacious lobby and dining room, a TV lounge, a modernly equipped kitchen, laundry facilities, a personal service room for barber and beauty care services, and a chapel.

It is located atop a hill in the southern part of town, affording its residents a view of the broad Canadian river valley and the distant hills from every room.

Under provisions of the Abraham family gift which started the project, the memorial home is to be administered by a board of directors, appointed by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. Members of the original board have been Erbin Crowell, chairman; Malouf Abraham, vice-chairman; Harry Wilbur Jr., secretary; Guber Lee Mitchell, Dale Nix, and Mrs. E. H. Morris. Three new members have recently been appointed to bring the full board membership to nine. They are Elton Miller, Gilbert Dickens and Don Powell. Board members will serve three year terms, with terms staggered so that three members will be replaced each year.

Administrator of the home is Eugene Thompson, a native of Canadian who recently returned from Colorado to assume the management post.

er Bonnie Lee II battling a marlin which he estimated weighed 160 pounds.

The duel between man and fish began at 4 p.m., PDT Monday when Bonham hooked the marlin on a 12-pound test dacron line while the boat was about 8 miles offshore.

After five hours on the line, the marlin rammed the side of the 36 foot boat and smashed the tip of his bill, Bonham said. The 5-foot-11, 180-pound fisherman struggled through the night against his adversary. Bonham sat in a deck chair with a spotlight pinpointing the fish.

At 9:30 a.m., PDT, Tuesday, the line snapped and Bonham's big one got away. At this point the Bonnie Lee was 20 miles offshore.

"I guess it was kind of foolish to fight one all night," said Bonham, his hands cut and his shirt spattered with blood.

Bonham, a member of the San Diego Marlin Club, caught a 257-pound marlin several years ago.

Corky Smithson, 20, San Diego, Bonham's boatman, was aboard the Bonnie Lee during the big fight.

Study Under Way On Food Sweetening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is studying whether artificial sweeteners might be detrimental to health.

Deputy FDA Commissioner John L. Harvey said Tuesday the study was prompted by an increase in the use of sugar substitutes, particularly in carbonated beverages.

Chief sugar substitutes are saccharin and cyclamate. Due in large part to the popularity of low-calorie soft drinks, artificial sweetened foods and drinks are being widely consumed.

The FDA has considered in the past that moderate use of artificial sweeteners and artificial sweetened foods generally was safe.

NON-STRATEGIC TRADE

LONDON (UPI) — Britain announced a new sort of trade with the Communist bloc Tuesday. London Zoo sent two turtles, two South American electric eels and two lungfish to Budapest Zoo in Hungary for 18 sturlets and six pike-perch.

TIPRO Meeting Seeks Reduction In Import of Oil

FORT WORTH (UPI)—The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) adopted resolutions Tuesday calling for import reductions through administrative and legislative action.

The legislative and administrative action which TIPRO's resolutions favored would include removal of economic advantages and a reduction in offshore production. Offshore production is taking an increasing amount of the domestic market.

A final sessions Thornton C. Huddle of San Antonio, co-chairman of TIPRO's imports committee, said IPAA has not been as active as it should have been. The resolutions adopted differ from the IPAA stand.

But after the resolutions were adopted, C. A. Alcorn of Houston suggested that every effort be made to cooperate with IPAA so that the independents will have a united voice in Washington.

Prison Rodeo Set for October

HUNTSVILLE (SpI) — The 33rd Annual Texas Prison Rodeo to be held each Sunday in October in the prison's 30,000-seat stadium will offer a thrilling balanced program of entertainment for each member of the family.

Aside from the lineup of the nation's topflight celebrities, there will be a host of inmate contests, inmate entertainers, plus a bevy of special attractions to round out a fast-moving two hour show.

Personal appearances will be made by The Duke of Paducah Oct. 4 and 11. The Harmonica Rascals Oct. 18 and 25, and the star attraction of the last performance, Oct. 25, will be Jimmy Dean, talented singing sensation of television fame.

Inmate events include hard money, calf tussle, bareback bronc riding, brahma bull riding, saddle bronc riding, wild horse race, mad scramble and the chariot race.

A number of the best inmate entertainment groups will also perform each Sunday in October, beginning at 1 p.m.

These groups include the Goree Girls, the Jail House Beatles, Barber Shop Quartet, Gomer, Clyde and Crawdad of the Hungry Three Trio and Inmate Clowns.

Another non-prison event will be the girl's barrel race, featuring the top riders from Texas and neighboring states.

Waste-Watchers Turned Loose on Bosses

By FRANK ELEAZER WASHINGTON (UPI) — The good news today is that congressional waste-watchers have been turned loose on their bosses. So maybe taxpayers will find out at last what the new swimming pool for House members is costing.

Don't expect too much more than that, though.

When Congress created the General Accounting Office (GAO) to keep a sharp eye on government spending, it naturally had in mind government other than Congress. As a result, the critical audits fired off by GAO sleuths through the years have pointed the finger everywhere but at Capitol Hill.

After a recent soul-searching, however, the lawmakers told the auditors to look over at least part of Congress' own handiwork — and furthermore to let the public know whatever they found. Rep. Oliver P. Bolton, R-Ohio, claims credit for this.

What Bolton did was persuade fellow members to authorize "on-site" audits of the multi-million-dollar activities of the office responsible (under direction of diverse committees of Congress) for erecting a $26 million new (or second) office building for senators; for putting a $24 million marble east front on the Capitol; and more recently, for constructing the world's most expensive office building for House members.

One lawmaker has called the new building a parking garage (three levels of space for 1,600 cars) with added offices (for 169 members) upstairs. Others tend to call it the third or new-new house office building. Officially, it is named for the late Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Whatever you call it, it is costing $86 million.

Pursuant to the new law, the GAO now is negotiating with the architect of the Capitol for a place to sit down and get on with its work. Find a spot shouldn't be much of a problem. After eight years the new buildings all but completed and none of its principal tenants is due to move in for three more months.

A GAO spokesman declined to say what happens then. One thing was sure, though. Short of any actual skulduggery, fraud, theft, or faulty construction, the auditors aren't looking for trouble.

Cancer Society To Convene Here

Members of the American Cancer Society from 26 counties in the Texas Panhandle will gather in Pampa Tuesday for the District 3 annual meeting.

Principal speaker will be Irving R. Rimer, assistant vice president for public education and information of the American Cancer Society in New York.

The one-day affair will begin at 9 a.m. with registration in the Coronado Inn.

The meeting will end at mid-afternoon following work sessions on service, education, and publicity.

Mrs. Jack Foster, district director, will preside at the three scheduled business sessions.

Realtor Points Out Benefits of New Law

More Americans will be able to buy better homes with the help of a section of the recently enacted housing law of 1964. Joe Fischer, president of the Pampa Board of Realtors, pointed out today.

The portion of the new law referred to by Fischer is an amendment to Sec. 203 (b) of the program of the Federal Housing Administration. It increases the maximum home mortgage limits which may be insured by the agency from $25,000 to $30,000 for one-family houses; from $27,500 to $32,500 for two- and three-family houses; and from $35,000 to $37,500 for four-family houses.

This part of the new law was among those sections of the 1964 bill supported by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the Pampa board is a member.

"The most significant thing about this new provision is that it will make it possible for purchasers to buy a better house for a lower down payment," the president of the local realtors said. "Here are a few examples:

"Under the old law, a family buying a home valued at $29,000 had to make a down payment of $4,000 in order to qualify for FHA insured financing; under the new law, the minimum down payment on the same home can be as low as $3,200.

"Under the new law, a family seeking a house valued at $34,600 may purchase it with a down payment $5,000 lower than under the old law which required anything in excess of the $25,000 mortgage to be added to the down payment. The down payment, under the new law, would be $4,600 as compared to $9,600."

It is noteworthy, too, that as FHA has said — the increase in the agency's home mortgage limit recognizes the recent general high level of prosperity and increased purchasing power which enables families to meet higher monthly mortgage payments on larger and better homes, the realtor leader said.

He added that many families are now enjoying current incomes that will easily sustain the higher monthly mortgage costs, although they may not have had the time to accumulate the higher lump sum down payments required under the old law. It is in this situation that the new provision will enable them to put their home purchase plans into effect without the delay that might have been necessary up to now.

If home purchases under the new FHA section follow the recent pattern, Fischer observed, existing houses will dominate buyer choices. According to the latest figures, more than three out of every four home mortgages insured by the agency had existing-homes as security.

There are many reasons for this enduring popularity of the pre-owned home," Fischer said. "A well-maintained existing home in a good neighborhood has proven its value. It has been through the 'shake-down' period, and any flaws that may have existed originally usually have long since been spotted and remedied. In addition, many such homes offer real values in living amenities in the form of larger lots and rooms, established shrubbery and landscaping, and a complete array of civic services such as schools, roads, shopping centers and churches."

Two-Price System Booster to Spur Gas Exploration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A revolutionary two-price system designed to spur discovery of new sources of natural gas was recommended today in a landmark decision by a Federal Power Commission (FPC) examiner.

Ceiling prices on gas sales to pipeline owners—ranging from 10 to 16.75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet—were proposed for producers in the Permian Basin area of Texas and Oklahoma.

Texas Doctor Points Out Cost of Medicare

AUSTIN (Sp)—Texans would have to dig deep down into their pockets for an additional $104 million if the "medicare" proposal were enacted. Cost estimates on this pending legislation were released today by Dr. Max E. Johnson of San Antonio, president of the Texas Medical Association.

"The 'medicare' provisions of the Social Security Amendments of 1964, now being considered by the U.S. House of Representatives, would cost the people of Texas an additional $104,100,000 in taxes each year, starting in 1965," Dr. Johnson explained. Dr. Johnson also stated that by 1971, Texans would be paying $109,000,000 annually, just to pay for the "medicare" program.

"The legislation being considered," Dr. Johnson said, "would not only increase the Social Security tax rate but would increase the tax wage base as well." The bill calls for an annual employee and employer Social Security tax rate of 4.25 percent of up to $5,600 of earnings, or a maximum of $238. This is an increase of $64 from the present rate. The employer matches the worker's contribution. In 1971 and thereafter, the tax on both the employee and employer would be increased to $291.20 (5.2 per cent).

"This additional increase in Social Security taxes comes at a time when Texans are starting to enjoy the reduction in federal income taxes, as a result of action by Congress earlier this year," the medical association leader noted. Dr. Johnson concluded that the increased taxes being proposed to finance the "medicare" proposal would reduce and in some cases offset entirely the tax savings that the people of Texas had anticipated.

The "medicare" proposal, which passed the Senate by a narrow margin two weeks ago as an amendment to the Social Security bill, would provide limited hospital benefits to all those over age 65. TMA favors currently existing programs in the State, which provide extensive hospital and medical services to needy Texans who are recipients of Old Age Assistance.

An estimated 72 per cent of the elderly in Texas are covered by health insurance. The State of Texas provides a comprehensive program of hospital, medical, surgical, and nursing home-benefits to those on OAA. Health insurance policies were purchased by the State for the 229,000 needy aged on the OAA roles, providing coverage for more than 30 per cent of the entire elderly population. The Texas 65 Health Insurance Association, many private health insurance companies, and Blue Cross - Blue Shield of Texas also provide low-cost health insurance that is especially tailored for the aged.

"When the extremely high cost and limited benefits of the 'medicare' proposal are compared with the extensive and efficient program of medical care for the needy aged already operating in Texas," Dr. Johnson said, "it is obvious that the proposed federal program is unnecessary and not needed."

PHILANTHROPIST DIES

HOUSTON (UPI)—Phil Rich, a man who came from Russia 60 years ago as a penniless orphan, then built a fortune and gave much of it away to philanthropies, died Tuesday. He was 73. Rich operated a motion picture theater in Richmond, Tex., in 1912, and later formed the Phil Rich Fan Manufacturing Co. with his sons and built it into a major concern. The Rich Foundation, charitable organization he founded, helped several causes, including Boys Harbor at La Porte.

Crisis Casts Shadow Over Nuptial Plans

ATHENS (UPI)—The Cyprus crisis today cast its shadow over festivities for the forthcoming wedding of King Constantine to Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark.

Constantine, 24, and Anne-Marie, 18, will be married tomorrow.

Greeks and one of the largest assemblages of visiting royalty since World War II have been celebrating the occasion for a week.

Lynda Bird Johnson, the daughter of President Johnson, arrived in Athens Monday to attend the wedding. She went sightseeing on Crete Tuesday.

President Makarios of Cyprus, the only non-royal chief of state attending the wedding, was expected here today.

In this connection, the Athens newspaper Mesimvrine Tuesday called U.S. representation in Athens "poor" compared to that of the British government.

Prince Philip of Britain piloted his own plane into Greece, bringing his and Queen Elizabeth's two oldest children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne. The British youngsters will serve as attendants at the wedding.

Mesimvrine said Miss Johnson's presence was a "gesture of familiarity" on the part of the U.S. President.

But it said "the family of the American President never represents the American government and in this connection the omission is felt."

"Circles close to the American Embassy attribute the poor appearance of the American delegation to the heat of the Cyprus crisis," it said.

The United States has been criticized both in Greece and Turkey for its role in trying to solve the Cyprus dispute.

Texas Teen-Agers Held in Robbery

EL DORADO, Ark. (UPI)—A teen-age Texas couple was being held in the city jail today while authorities continued an investigation into a report they pistol whipped and robbed a man in his motel room.

A 16-year-old Lubbock youth and 14-year-old Canyon girl were arrested by Magalia police at a road block less than an hour after C.M. Richie, a Dallas salesman, reported he was beaten and robbed Wednesday.

Richie said two teen-agers entered his room, whipped him with a pistol and tied him with a blanket. He said they took his wallet, which contained $6 and several credit cards, and his car keys. He managed to get loose in a few minutes and report the incident.

Richie was treated at a hospital and released.

Czech Festival Planned at Fair

The American Czech Festival Committee announces the Annual Czech Festival will be held Oct. 11 at the State Fair Grounds of Texas in Dallas.

The program will be held at the Coliseum and will open at 10 a.m. and the program will start at 11. Following the program, there will be a social gathering at the Band Shell from 1 until 7 p.m. with plenty of music and refreshments available.

Airliner to Offer 'Astrovision' as Passenger Bonus

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)— Later this month travelers will get their first dose of the latest thing in airborne entertainment—"Astrovision."

American Airlines calls the setup a "personal entertainment system." It includes movies, live television, hi-fi music and closed circuit television pictures of takeoffs, landings and the terrain below.

Newsmen had a preview of the system Wednesday in a mock-up of the 707 astrojet in the Tulsa assembly center.

A nine-inch television receiver is mounted between the backs of each two-unit seat in the first class section.

A plane waiting on the ground or in a holding pattern in the air can pick up television from a local station. A remote camera on the front of the craft, equipped with a telescopic lens, can show landings and takeoffs and interesting shots from the air.

The selection runs from movies to documentaries with regular series shows thrown in.

If the passenger doesn't want to watch he can listen. A separate circuit feeds either popular or classical hi-fi music into personal ear plugs.

American said all 45 of its long-range jets will be equipped with Astrovision by the end of September.

Army Backs Down For Beatle Show

DALLAS (UPI)—The U. S. Army, which faced the British unflinching at Bunker Hill and Trenton, retreated before the Beatles Wednesday.

Armed forces exhibits for the American Legion convention here next week won't go up until Sunday because the mope-headed British singing quartet will do a show in the same auditorium Friday.

"If we parked a tank out in front, that crowd might strip it," said an officer.

GETTING THERE FASTER—How long does it take two helicopters to get into action 8,000 miles away? Using a new concept, not long. Two Chinook CH-47A helicopters were disassembled, loaded and unloaded and then reassembled in a total of 28 hours. The fact that they were loaded into a C-133B aircraft, an air freighter, accounts for the speed of delivery. Above, the copters are shown being loaded at Ft. Benning, Ga.

TWO KILLED

HOUSTON (UPI)— Walter Louis Clay, 47, and a passenger in the station wagon he was driving, Mrs. Betsy Sims, were killed Tuesday night when the vehicle collided with a truck in northeast Houston. Three persons were injured in the smashup.

LOWERS BASE PRICE

PITTSBURGH (UPI)— Crucible Steel Co. of America said Wednesday it has reduced by 11 per cent the base price of two grades of special-purpose high speed tool steel to reflect lower production costs.

Newlyweds Use Old Car

OLD-FASHIONED DEPARTURE — Recent newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Havenhill, are pictured leaving on their wedding trip in the back seat of a 1925 Ford T-Model touring car. Driving the auto is Canara Carruth, while the bride's father, Harry V. Gordon, is pictured in the front seat when he decided to accompany the couple. Gordon and Carruth, co-owners of the car, later got left behind as the newlyweds decided it would be more practical to travel in a later model vehicle.

Highland Girl Scout Neighborhood Association Plans Fall Schedule

Highland Girl Scout Neighborhood Association planned "A Weekend at Camp Mel Davis" theme for the next meeting of the association to be held from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. Oct. 16 at Girl Scout Little House, 720 E. Kingsmill.

The Association met Tuesday at the Little House.

Activities planned for the all-day meeting include instructions in elementary camping skills, troop camp - out planning and rules concerning use of the camp. Council delegates from the Highland Neighborhood will be elected at this meeting.

Other plans made by the Association include a work - day to be held from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. to paint the inside of the Little House. All Girl Scout Troops of Pampa are asked to participate in the workday and are asked to contribute $1 for the purchase of paint. Those attending should bring a sack lunch, and coffee will be served.

Oct. 8 was set as the date for polishing the floors and making ground repairs at the Little House.

Troop leaders will go to Camp Mel Davis on Oct. 20 for an on-the-spot training course. The council bus will leave the Little House at 9 a. m. and arrive in Pampa at 2 p. m. from the camp. Leaders participating in this training course should bring a sack lunch.

A neighborhood play - day will be held at Camp Mel Davis on Sept. 25 with Troop 5 serving as hostess. Those interested in participating in the play - day should make reservations by Sept. 21. Mrs. John Holt Jr., is the leader of Troop 5.

Attending were Mmes. W. J. Felter, Troop 1; Walter Jordan, Troop 92; Jim Radcliff, Troop 35; Roy McCoy, Troop 35; W. R. Woodward, Troop 11; John Holt Jr., Troop 5; Richard Stowers, Troop 28; Raymond Laycock, Troop 54; Ben Graham field advisor, and E. P. Turner, neighborhood chairman.

The newest for little girls: the blouse slip. The Carter creation is a knit jumper with a three-quarter sleeve blouse that continues on to become a petticoat. The ruffle of the petticoat sticks out at the hem of the jumper. The waist of the jumper is elasticized so the little miss doesn't have to fuss with a belt — or worry about losing it.

Dear Abby....

Widow Impressed by the Big White Teeth He Had

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I pulled out of the parking lot behind a supermarket too quickly, and I almost ran over a man who was walking toward his car with a large sack of groceries. He dropped the sack and a carton of eggs went ker-plunk! I said, "Oh, I'm so sorry — I hope your wife doesn't break your neck." He smiled and said, "No harm done, Madame, and besides, I have no wife."

I don't know why, but I quickly replied, "That's a coincidence, I have no husband." (I am a widow.) Then he grinned broadly, revealing the most beautiful even white teeth I've ever seen, and he tipped his hat. Abby, please don't think I'm crazy, but I haven't been able to get that man's face and voice out of my mind. I would like to see him again. But how? LADY IN THE BLUE SEDAN

DEAR LADY: Go back to that supermarket at approximately the same time you met him there. If he has any interest in seeing you again, I'll bet you see him.

DEAR ABBY: It is appalling how few people know the art of getting along with one's neighbor. Years ago I found a method that could be used in a variety of situations.

A dentist lived next door to us. We each had large, well-cared-for yards. On week - ends he would rake all his trash in a pile and push it alongside our bordering shrubs. I retaliated by adding to the pile as much as I could scrape from under my own shrubs, and pushing it directly onto his lawn. It took only two offenses on my part to cure him.

People who have nifty neighbors could use this method. It could be applied to borrowers who never pay back. And wives who get a little too cozy with other women's husbands could be taught a lesson by this retaliation trick. I have used this principle with great success for years and have suffered no loss of friends.

ELIZABETH
DEAR ELIZABETH: Your "eye-for-an-eye and tooth - for-a-tooth" system would work very well — until you ran out

Johnson Family Holds Reunion

WHEELER (Spl) — The family of Mrs. R. O. Johnson met Sunday in the American Legion Hall for a dinner in honor of Mrs. Johnson's 92 birthday which was on Sept. 10. All but two of Mrs. Johnson's children were present. Mrs. Altha Whitener who is seriously ill in a Shamrock Hospital was unable to attend. Mrs. Exer Murchison was unable to attend the dinner, but arrived about six that afternoon.

Those attending the dinner were, Loran Rhine and Barry Lee of Fort Worth; Herman Whitener and Billy Jack Whitener of Leveland; Messrs. and Mmes. A. C. Johnson of Kellon; Sonny Johnson and Sharon of Pampa; Harold Savage of Wheeler; J. D. Rutherford of Wheeler; W. H. Johnson of Friona. Mmes. Ola Cooper and Kim of Optima, Okla.; Bettie Richards of Bethany, Okla.; Messrs. and Mmes. John Johnson of Muleshoe; Web Johnson, Ricky, Kenny and Jessie of Masterson; Mrs. Mary Johnson of Amarillo; Jim Johnson, Lecia and Anna, Miss Gall Craddock of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Robertson of Flat Rock, Mich.; Mrs. Sally Lou (Robertson) Wilson, of Oklahoma City. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of Springdale, Ark.; Mmes. Elizabeth Scott, and Evie Vinson of Wheeler; Messrs. and Mmes. David Hamilton, Patty, Ronnie, and Mark of Snyder, Okla.; Jimmy Hyde, DeWayne and Connie of Sentinel, Okla.; Mrs. Lorene Tucker and L. H. and Joe and Mrs. J. A. Tucker all of Shamrock and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson of McAdoo.

Those visiting in the afternoon were DeAlva Whitener of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Whitener, Mrs. Novella Vanpool and Becky and Mr. and Mrs. Hirman Whitener and Judy and Jamie of Wheeler, John Baird of Kellon, Mrs. Irene Savage and Palmer of Wheeler.

Cheese and cheese dishes should be cooked slowly. Fast or high temperature cooking makes cheese tough and rubbery.

Membership Coffee Given by Society

Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society entertained with a membership coffee, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in Lovett Memorial Library auditorium.

The auditorium was decorated in a patriotic theme. Campaign posters were displayed, depicting the programs planned for the coming year. The patriotic idea was further carried out with a red, white, and blue table, centered with a large eagle and drums, surrounded by miniature flats and stars. Red, white, and blue bunting was used around the room and was the focal point of the table.

Mrs. Lonnie Richardson, accompanied by Mrs. John Gill, presented three musical numbers. She sang "My Hero," "With a Song in My Heart," and "The Bells of Saint Mary." Mrs. Richardson will be singing in the Amarillo Symphony Chorus this year.

Following the program, Mrs. R. R. Jordan, president, opened the business meeting. Letters of resignation were read from Mrs. Barrie Barrett, nominating chairman, an Mrs. H. M. Dees, treasurer. Mrs. J. E. Curzon also announced her resignation as parliamentarian. Mrs. Paul Davis will be the new treasurer and Mrs. Paul McLaughlin, the nominating chairman.

Yearbooks were discussed and should be ready by next meeting.

An AIME dance was announced to be held Oct. 10, in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. Also, Ladies Night at AIME Oct. 13, will be in place of next month's meeting.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Herman Jarrard, James

Pampa Pound Pirates Meet

TOPS, Pampa Pound Pirates, met for regular meeting with pledge being given and minutes of the previous meeting read and approved. Mrs. Milton Smart gave the treasurers report and this was approved.

Mrs. Elzie Teague reported that a total of sixteen and one half pounds had been lost and eight pounds had been gained for the past two weeks.

The day club has challenged the night club to a losing duel. The club that loses the most will be treated to a cook-out party. The lady losing the most weight will receive a gift from the losing club.

The group went through the ritual for the ones who lost the most, the ones who had stayed the same and the ones who had gained.

Each member was asked to bring three white elephants to be used in the program next week.

The mystery box was won by Mrs. Bobby Patterson. It was a zipper fastener.

The 12 members present sang the theme song to close the meeting.

If a nail in a plaster wall becomes loose wrap a little cloth around the nail, saturate the cloth with glue, replace nail in the hole and let glue harden.

Harvesters to Tangle With Ysleta Tomorrow

Pampa High School Harvesters with a victory under their belts from last week will tangle Friday night with the El Paso Ysleta Indians who lost their opening game of the season to Midland last week 26-0.

Scouts who saw Ysleta fall to Midland last week said the Indians are a much better team than the score indicated. Statistics wise the Indians fared nearly as well by chalking up six first downs compared to Midland's seven first downs. Midland completed one pass out of five whereas Ysleta completed

Rains Slow Workouts For SW Conference

By United Press International Heavy rains forced curtailment of training sessions at Southwest Conference football camps Wednesday but some teams got muddy and wet in preparation for weekend openers.

The University of Arkansas will take a 52 man team from Fayetteville to Little Rock for their opener against Oklahoma State Saturday, the largest lot chosen for a road trip since Coach Frank Broyles has been at the school.

Broyles put the Razorbacks through a signal drill in a steady light rain. He said the team would leave Friday and spend the night in Little Rock before the game.

Mustangs Indoors Heavy rain at Dallas forced the Southern Methodist Mustangs inside for their workout, where they conducted light body contact drills in preparation for their Saturday game with Florida at Gainesville, Fla.

Coach J.T. King of the Texas Tech Red Raiders had some good news. He said tackle John Carrell, who injured a back muscle in workouts, will be five whereas Ysleta completed only one pass out of 10 attempts.

The defensive strength of the Indians was shown by the fact that Midland was forced to punt six times. Ysleta was forced to punt eight times during the grid contest.

Comparing the weight of the Indians and Harvesters find the two teams nearly evenly matched. The Indian offensive unit averages 179 pounds per man while the Harvester offense has a one-pound advantage tipping the scales at 180 pounds per man. The defensive units show a reversed position with the Ysleta team averaging 173 pounds against the 172 pound average of Pampa.

One starting position has changed hands for the Harvesters during the week's workouts. Pampa coaches have decided to move Larry Eckroft into a starting position to replace Dan Patterson at guard. Team members elected Jim Arthur to serve as team captain for the Ysleta game.

The Friday night contest will be the first time the two teams have met during the past three years. The Indians are rated in the El Paso area as being one of the city's stronger teams this season.

Other team members who will see action on the offensive line are Larry Watson Jim Brumley Larry Leonard, and Jimmy Brown. Backfield men who will get into the game includes Jerry Roden, James Williams, Lewis Mirrors, Larry Daniels and Kyle Van.

Starters on defense who won't play on the offensive unit are James Williamson, left end; Car Johnson, and Larry Eckroft at guard positions; Linebackers Jerry Garrison, Scriber and Dean Evans.

Shockers Meet Berger Pampa High School Shockers will meet Berger's B Team at 7:30 tonight in Harvester Stadium. The Shockers will be seeking their second win of the season while Berger will be playing their first contest of the grid year.

Piper in Doubt Rice, which will not play its season opener until Sept. 26, ran through two workouts in the middle of a steady rain. Coach Jess Neely said he did not know if his top tailback, Paul Piper, would be able to play in the team's opener against Louisiana State a week from Saturday. Piper broke a bone in his hand in a Tuesday session.

The Texas Aggies worked out for an hour indoors and then took to the mud for an hour workout in the rain. The Aggies meet Louisiana State at Baton Rouge this weekend.

Baylor and Texas Christian also had light workouts that were slowed somewhat by the rain.

SPORTS FARE AT 1964 STATE FAIR

TRYING FOR SIZE Ten-year-olds David Cantrell, left, and John Bonno try out mementos of Texas' great athletes from the Texas Sports Hall of Fame, which will be a featured attraction at the 1964 State Fair of Texas in Dallas October 10 through 25. David wears L. D. (Dutch) Meyer's letter sweater from TCU and holds Kimbrough's football, used in 1940 when Texas A&M defeated UCLA 7-0. John has a ball and mitt that belonged to Monty Stratton, Greenville's great White Sox baseball player, and wears Bobby Morrow's jacket from the Olympics in which the Abilene Christian College star raced to victory. The free permanent museum is in the Varied Industries Building adjacent to the Wax Museum.

I don't know whether this you to worry about you being unhappy and tells you to come back where you belong.

Yes, this is where I belong. I hope you'll be happy to see me back.

I'll even start over from scratch and try not to pick up any old feuds. I hereby promise not to argue with Cousin George Smith, Sobbin' Jack York, Bo Brown or Red Dog Hatcher unless provoked first. Not even Buell Frogge or Weakeye Jones.

And I'll be even gladder to come back where they really play high school sports. Frankly, there isn't a team in the Rio Grande Valley in a ny sport, with very rare exceptions, that could stand up to a West Texas team.

Uh-huh, it's true... dirt, dust and winter weather notwithstanding, I found three months of the Rio Grande Valley all I could take. The weather's pretty... but the people just ain't the same. I always admitted that West Texans were the friendliest people in the world, but I never knew how friendly until I was away from them... and I guess I never really realized how much I missed you until Bill Oler and his family came down to visit this summer.

It's a pretty nice place to live where people will drive 600 miles just to spend a few days with you... and to bring you the regards of everybody back home. Maybe even more so when a boss thinks enough of

UPI Football Winners In Nation's Top Tilts

Today's Sport Parade By MILTON RICHMAN UPI Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Pickin' the weekend winners—or who can ever figure out women, horses or football teams: Best bets in that third category this weekend look like Texas, Oklahoma, Syracuse and Southern California, although as Syracuse coach Ben Schwartzwalder points out: "Always bet on us but make sure you get 28 points."

Here's the way they shape up around the country:

The East
Syracuse over Boston College—Soph Floyd Little has some of the same earmarks as Jimmy Brown, or so they say.

Penn. State over Navy—Surprise! The Nittany Lions stop Stauch.

Army over Citadel—By one of those lopsided scores.

Also: Buffalo over Boston U., Westminster (Pa.) over Carnegie Tech, Coast Guard over Springfield, Massachusetts over Maine and Vermont over American International.

The South
Oklahoma over Maryland—The Sooners win the first one for new coach Gomer Jones.

Georgia Tech over Vanderbilt—Tech rather easily although Vandy has improved its though forward wall.

Florida over SMU—Larry Dupree too tough for the Mustangs.

Mississippi over Memphis State—O' Miss can hardly Miss.

Also: North Carolina over North Carolina State, Florida State over Miami (Fla.), LSU over Texas A. and M., Alabama over Georgia and Auburn over Houston.

The Midwest
Wisconsin over Kansas State—The Badgers in a breeze even without Rick Reichardt.

Northwestern over Oregon State—Kind of close.

Kansas over Texas Christian—Home field may be all that saves the Jayhawks.

Also: Iowa State over Drake, Nebraska over South Dakota, Bradley over Butler, Wichita over Montana State, Wittenberg over Baldwin-Wallace, Toledo over Villanova and Xavier over Miami (Ohio).

The Southwest
Texas over Tulane—If not, you get your money back.

Arkansas over Oklahoma State—Razorbacks should better last year's 5-5 record.

Texas Western over North Texas State—No sweat.

Mississippi State over Texas Tech—The Bulldogs get off on the right foot.

Also: East Texas State over Abilene Christian, Arizona State over Utah State, Ohio U. over West Texas State and New Mexico State over Alington State.

The Far West
Southern Cal over Colorado—

Billy Patton Becomes Golf Tourney Favorite

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Billy Joe Patton, only player to match par so far, automatically became the favorite today in the third round of the U.S. Amateur golf championship which will start minus defending titlist Deane Beman.

Beman won't play because he was eliminated, 4 and 2, by Vern Novak, of Hibbing, Minn., Wednesday in the prime upset of the tournament thus far.

Novak, a 22-year-old miner's son, scored his dazzling upset in the first round and then was knocked out himself by Bill Ferrell, 1 up, a southpaw golfer from Orlando, Fla. Patton and Ferrell were among the 16 golfers who survived the first two rounds. Patton meets Billy Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.; today and Ferrell faces Gerald Schreiber of Evansville, Ind.

Today's two 18-hole rounds will reduce the survivors to four for a pair of 36-hole semifinal matches Friday. Those winners will meet in a 36-hole final on Saturday.

The popular bespectacled Patton, who amazed everyone by almost winning the Masters in 1956, has matched the Canterbury course par of 71 for the 67 holes he has played so far, counting two qualifying rounds.

The 42-year-old Morganton, N.C. golfer, moved into the third round with a 4 and 2 victory over Marvin Giles III, of Lynchburg, Va., a co-medalist.

Lippy Leo Would Love Job Of Managing, But No Offers

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lippy Leo Durocher put it squarely on the line: He'd love to manage again but nobody has been breaking his door down to get him.

Fiery and forceful as ever although not quite so independent as in the past, the 58-year-old coach of the Los Angeles Dodgers made it clear he'd be receptive to "the right kind" of managerial offer.

"That doesn't mean that I'm not happy here," he emphasized. "I've never been treated better in my life than I have been with this club," Durocher declared. "I'll always be grateful to Walter O'Malley and Buzzy Bavasi for giving me a job here."

Three Teams Tie in AL Race Is Real Possibility

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The first three-way tie for a pennant in major league history became a real possibility today when the American League's three contenders found themselves separated by a mere .001 in the standings.

All that's needed to make it an official three-way snarl at the top is for the New York Yankees to beat Los Angeles in their two-light game tonight. The Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles, who became locked in a two-way tie after Wednesday's games, are idle.

The race reached its most frantic stage of the season on Wednesday when the White Sox beat the Detroit Tigers 4-1, the Yankees downed the Angels 9-4 and the Orioles lost to the Minnesota Twins 2-1. That put the White Sox and Orioles in a flat-footed first-place tie with identical 88-61 records for .591 percentages with the Yankees right behind at 85-59 and 500.

The White Sox and Orioles each have 43 games left to play while the Yankees have 18.

Either Fisher or Hoyt Wilhelm has finished eight of the White Sox' last 11 victories and neither knuckleballer seems any worse for the wear.

Maris Homers

The Yankees, who have won nine of their last 13 games for the fastest recent pace of the three contenders, saw Roger Maris hit a two-run sixth-inning homer to open up a 3-3 lead. It was Maris' 22nd homer of the season and the 1,000th hit of his career. Jim Bouton received credit for his 16th victory with relief help from Steve Hamilton and Pedro Ramos.

The Orioles, struggling at a 500 pace since Sept. 1 mostly because of light hitting and a weary bullpen, managed seven hits off Minnesota's Camilo Pascual but four of them were by Brooks Robinson and Pascual struck out 12 batters.

The Twins scored both their runs against rookie 16-game winner Wally Runkler in the fourth inning on Harmon Killebrew's 47th homer, two walks and a double by Pascual.

Indians Win Two

The Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from the Washington Senators 3-1 and 3-2 and the Boston Red Sox routed the Kansas City Athletics 10-1 in other AL action.

Sonny Stibert pitched a six-hitter and hit a homer and a double for the Indians in their opener and then Sam McDowell went 7 1/3 innings for his ninth victory in the second game. Johnny Romano homered for the Indians in each game and Billy Moran had three hits in the nightcap.

Tony Conigliaro hit his 22nd and 23rd homers. Dick Stuart hit 33rd and Bob Tillman his 15th as the Red Sox backed Bill Monbouquette with a 16-hit attack. Monbouquette went the route with a 10-hitter to win his 11th game against 13 losses.

CARRYING THE TORCH—Thousands of Japanese flags were waved and shouts of Banzai echoed through the city of Naha, Okinawa, when the Olympic flame arrived in this U.S.-administered island. The torch, of course, was en route to Tokyo for the Olympic opening.

American Cup Race Resumes After Layover

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—Constellation and Sovereign meet again today for the America's Cup after a one-day, windless layover and for the British it was the moment of truth.

Constellation has one victory and there were few who would bet she wouldn't take four straight in this 113-year-old sailing championship.

Peter Scott and his crew of Sovereign were hoping they had lost a battle but not the war. At shortly after noon today, the British will try for a comeback.

Wednesday was sunny, 70 degrees and lovely at sea. But it was no day for champion caliber sailing. The wind was less than four knots.

The second race was called off at 1:30 p.m. EDT because the New York Yacht Club felt the two 12 meter craft could not complete the 24-mile course in the prescribed six hours. Afterward, no one disagreed.

The Playoff Possibility

In the event of a three-way tie, the teams will play a round-robin with the first two teams losing two games being eliminated. The only two-way tie in the AL's history occurred in 1948 when the Cleveland Indians defeated the Boston Red Sox in a one-game playoff.

The National League has had four playoffs—in 1946, 1951, 1959 and 1962.

The White Sox, who think of the race in terms of a battle of bullpens, trailed 1-0 until the seventh when a single by Bill Skowron, Pete Ward's double, a wild throw by Mickey Lolich and Jim Landis' single vaulted them into a 2-1 lead. Eddie Fisher, who has relieved in eight of the White Sox' last 10 games and nine of their last 12, took over for firing Gary Peters in the eighth and preserved the soph lefthander's

Countdown Continues

And so the countdown continues even though the Houston Colts slowed the Phillies' march toward their first flag since 1950 with Wednesday night's 6-5 victory. The Reds were the only contender to win—beating the Chicago Cubs 5-3—while the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Cardinals 3-2 and the New York Mets topped the Giants 4-0. The Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-5 in a so-what game. The Colts kayoed 17-game winner Jim Bunning with a four-run fifth-inning rally climaxed by John Bateman's two-run single to snap the Phillies'

Vikings, Redskins Lead After 1st Week's Play

NEW YORK (UPI)—The surprising Minnesota Vikings and the rejuvenated Washington Redskins have taken the lead in the team rushing and passing statistics after the first week's play in the National Football League.

The Vikings, who won all five of their pre-season games, relied primarily on backs Tommy Mason and Billy Brown to roll up 313 yards rushing in a 34-24 victory over the Baltimore Colts.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton was also a star for the Vikings in the free scoring battle. Tarkenton passed for 150 yards, and coupled with the rushing totals, gives the Vikings the lead in total offense with 463 yards. They also picked up 27 first downs, tops in the circuit.

Green Bay, with Golden Boy Paul Hornung back at his familiar halfback position, gained 197 yards to give the Packers second place in rushing while Los Angeles totaled 148 yards and Cleveland 143 to round out the top four.

Sonny Jurgensen made Redskin officials grin with delight, despite his team's loss, as he completed 56.7 per cent of his passes for 235 yards in the best passing performance of the day. Jurgensen, who was acquired from the Philadelphia Eagles in exchange for Norman Snead, had been out with an injury for most of the pre-season schedule but was in top form in spite of bad weather conditions.

Pass defense was the keynote of the Rams-Steelers game won by the Rams, 26-14. The Steelers allowed Los Angeles only 27 yards through the air while the Rams were best in overall coverage, stopping all but 28.1 per cent of the Pittsburgh passes and intercepting five.

Countdown Continues

And so the countdown continues even though the Houston Colts slowed the Phillies' march toward their first flag since 1950 with Wednesday night's 6-5 victory. The Reds were the only contender to win—beating the Chicago Cubs 5-3—while the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Cardinals 3-2 and the New York Mets topped the Giants 4-0. The Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-5 in a so-what game. The Colts kayoed 17-game winner Jim Bunning with a four-run fifth-inning rally climaxed by John Bateman's two-run single to snap the Phillies'

Phillies Reach Point of Magic Number for Flag

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies' invisible ally — time — is back at work for them in the National League pennant race.

Although more than two weeks remain in the season, the Phillies have reached the point where they have a practical magic number—the number of victories that will clinch the pennant even if their rivals win all their remaining games.

The number is "11" — meaning that if the Phillies win 11 of their last 16 games, it's all over — no matter what the other contenders do. Those 11 victories would give the Phillies a season total of 99 — a total which is now inaccessible to the St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Reds and San Francisco Giants.

Actually, a 500-pace — eight victories in their remaining 16 games — is almost certain to do the trick. That 500 pace would give the Phillies 96 wins and mean that the Cardinals would have to take 15 of their last 16 games to win the flag. The Reds would have to take all 17 of their games and the Giants could only tie for the pennant.

Homer Is Disastrous

Denis Menke's three-run second-inning homer off Ron Taylor proved disastrous for the Cardinals although they knocked out Denny Lemaster with a two-run rally in the eighth. Doubles by Curt Flood and Lou Brock, an error and a sacrifice fly by Bill White gave the Cardinals their runs before Bob Tiefenauer retired the side.

Tracy Stallard pitched a five-hitter and struck out 10 for the Mets, whose eight-hit attack was led by George Altman's two-run homer and a double. Gaylord Perry suffered the first loss of his career to the Mets and saw his season record reduced to 11-10.

three-game winning streak. Ruben Amaro singled home two runs in the eighth to cut the Phillies' deficit to one run but Bob Bruce came on in relief to preserve Hal Brown's third win against 15 losses.

Johnny Edwards knocked in three runs with three singles and Vada Pinson, Frank Robinson and Deron Johnson had two hits each to lead an 11-hit attack that brought Cincinnati's Jim Maloney his 14th win. Ron Santo hit his 27th homer of the season for the Cubs.

Donn Clendenon, Jim Paganoni and pitcher Vern Law hit homers in the midst of a five-run second inning Pittsburgh rally that blitzed Phil Ortega and dealt him his ninth loss. Law went eight innings to equare his record at 12-12 with Al McBean pitching a scoreless ninth.

Rifle, Pistol Club Elects Officers at Night Meeting

The Pampa Rifle and Pistol club held its annual meeting Tuesday night in the indoor range at Recreation Park and elected officers for the coming year.

The following officers were elected: Jerry Lundsford, president; Rob McCann, vice president; Fred Carothers, secretary; Jack Mitchell, treasurer; Ron Earnest, executive officer; Roger Mabra, range officer; Ry Jordan, chief instructor and Paul Edwards, property officer.

Events to be held during the coming year were discussed. Events scheduled for this year are small-bore winter league program, the Junior Tournament, NRA Sighting-In Day and the DCM Qualification firing.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Critics of Supreme Court

Since Thomas Jefferson criticized the U. S. Supreme Court as "the subtle corps of sappers and miners constantly working under ground to undermine the foundations of our confederated fabric," there have been many critics of the federal judiciary. We suppose Chief Justice Thomas Marshall and his supporters back in the early years of the 19th century would have called Thomas Jefferson an extremist just as did the minions of King George III when Jefferson and company were telling him off in 1776.

We doubt if even Robert Welch has offered any stronger criticism of the court than did Jefferson. And in fairly recent times, Franklin Roosevelt used some rather intemperate terms about the "nine old men" on the Supreme Court when they ruled a lot of his pet panaceas were outside the powers of the federal government as limited by the Constitution.

Then there's Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, who in a magazine article said the Supreme Court is defying the people's will by dictating the form of legislative government the states must have.

Some of the recent "law-making" decisions of the Warren Court probably have drawn more fire from the ordinary John Citizens, but the one which has upset the state politicians most is the one discussed by Dirksen. In that case, the Supreme Court ruled that states must disregard their own constitutions and their own people's will and must have representation in both houses of their legislatures based on population.

Some of the defenders of the majoritarian-minded court tend to call the court critics "extremists" or worse. But we note one of those who has been quietly vocal about the court is a member of the court, Justice John M. Harlan. Justice Harlan has written 20 dissents to the court in the past year, and he wrote 22 the year before.

In one of his recent dissents, Justice Harlan said, "These decisions give support to a current mistaken view of the Constitution and the constitutional function. This view, in a nutshell, is that every major social ill in this country can find its cure in some constitutional 'principle,' and that this court should 'take the lead' in promoting reform when other branches fail to act.

"If the time comes when this court is looked upon by well-meaning people—or, worse yet, by the court itself—as the repository of all reforms, I think the seeds of trouble are being sown for this institution."

Any reasonable court receiving that kind of warning from one of its own members would stop and take a look at what it is doing and where it is going. But apparently the Earl of Warren and his fellow majoritarians are determined to go blithely on their way until they have completely torn down the last vestige of constitutionalism in the United States.

Medical Amendment

Those who call themselves "liberals" in the U. S. Senate have adopted an ingenious device in the Medicare amendment to the Social Security bill. If the Senate amendment gets by the House, the bill will set in motion payments to millions of persons before election. But the increased taxes which it will take to finance the payments for medical aid would not be collected until after election.

Those who have bleeding hearts for the elderly persons were much in evidence in the Senate arguments. One senator was quoted as saying he didn't want to send old people who needed medical help to the welfare office. But he'd send them to the Social Security office for precisely the same purpose. In both cases it would be taking a handout at the expense of others, willingly or unwillingly. Under the Social Security Medicare plan it will be years before any substantial number of those receiving payments will have paid for much of it with their own "contributions."

The Medicare advocates have had almost nothing to say about how much their program will increase Social Security taxes, starting next year. It is a political fact of life that "benefits" are voted in effect before election, and that the taxes to pay for them do not take effect until after elections.

Some of the politicians have deplored the fact that under the present Kerr-Mills Act those seeking medical aid must have a "means test." In other words they must prove some basis of "need" before they can collect. Some folks forget that some of the long suffering taxpayers need the money that is being taken from them against their will to finance a questionable Social Security program which is admitted to be more than 300 billion dollars in the hole already.

The Medicare program is just one more expansion of the federal programs which will not stay within the costs estimated by the sponsors. It will continue to cost more, and the children and grandchildren of those collecting will find themselves taxed ever heavier to pay the "benefits" which the recipients are collecting now.

That is, unless the whole bubble bursts and it becomes necessary to abandon the "social insecurity" scheme.

Proof - And Indifference
The belated Soviet announcement of Richard Sorge as its wartime spy in Japan and the simultaneous news report that H.A.R. Philby, former British diplomat is now employed by the Moscow press agency, Novosti, should spell out a conclusion that is just not being drawn in the 1964 political campaign.

The United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee surveyed the activities of the Institute of Pacific Relations in the early fifties. It took the testimony of Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby on his return from duty in Japan. General Willoughby courageously told the Senate that Richard Sorge had headed an international spy ring which, in the summer and fall of 1941, served the Soviet cause by averting a Japanese attack on the USSR in support of the Nazi campaign in Europe. The abuse heaped upon General Willoughby by the press and government officials has rarely been equaled. The fact was that from his vantage point in the German Embassy in Tokyo, Sorge was able to tell Moscow that the vast Japanese military movements southward meant an imminent attack on the United States. Moscow did not alert Washington to the impending Pearl Harbor attack.

At the same time, the Subcommittee brought out that clandestine Soviet collaborators high in our government, including Harry Dexter White, were pressuring Secretary of State Cordell Hull to reject the 90-day truce the Japanese offered. General George C. Marshall and others have acknowledged that, in view of the German failures in the Moscow campaign in the winter of 1941-2, Japan might not have struck at Pearl Harbor 90-days later, if the truce had been accepted.

Sorge had a American confederate, one of whom was Agnes Smedley, who nevertheless was recommended by a high State Department planner as a CIA propagandist in 1949, an effort that was spiked by Lyle H. Munson, now head of The Bookmaler, who was a CIA officer at the time. Agnes Smedley later mocked her government defenders by willing her ashes to Chinese Communist General Chou Teh.

H.A.R. Philby, as British M-15 in Washington, in conjunction with Burgess and Maclean, worked incalculable damage to the United States, particularly during the Korean War. They had access to our most intimate security secrets and military plans.

Yet, in today's political world, Sorge and Philby are not really branded villains. The acknowledgment of the Sorge spy role comes in a Moscow-dated limited dispatch that makes him out a sort of legendary hero. Not only are these important Communists not branded by contemporary historians, but their defenders and past supporters still hold high and respected positions in government, politics, education and the communications fields, and only a handful of people on the Washington scene will publicly acknowledge concern for internal security.

Secretary Rusk, one of the leaders of this group, favors a much bigger "opening to the left."

He is privately advocating to NATO foreign ministers that it is in "our interest" that Russia should "prevail" in its quarrel with China. He takes the stand that should Communist China and Russia "announce" that they are at war with each other the West should support Moscow rather than use the struggle to force the Communists to free the enslaved people of East Germany, Hungary, Poland, North Viet Nam and North Korea.

THE OTHER GROUP — The other, more loosely organized group, including Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., and ex-official member of the National Security Council, Senator Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., and Senator Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, favors a tougher line toward Russia and progress in the undeveloped areas without radical change.

While this group of legislators can reach the "ear" of President Johnson regularly, they have not been effective in influencing the present course of U.S. foreign policy.

They lack the "advance" information and control of policy-making agencies necessary to give them the lever to head off the more radical policies of the Rusk - Bundy group before the President endorses them.

Backstage Washington

Secret CIA Report Censored in Sharp Dispute By President's Advisers over Improving World by Radical Changes

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The slowly emerging views of the Second Vatican Council on the great problems of our times are being watched as closely in Washington as in Rome.

Already, the position of Pope Paul VI that progress can be made without radical change in the world's social order has touched off a sharp policy dispute among President Johnson's top advisers in the administration and Congress.

One group of policymakers headed by Presidential Assistant McGeorge Bundy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk are so violently opposed to this approach that they have edited from official papers, prepared for circulation at the highest level of government, all references to Pope Paul's position.

The powerful Rusk - Bundy group which currently dominates the development and execution of U.S. foreign policy, argues that peace and progress in the world can only come through radical changes — especially in the undeveloped areas of Asia, Africa, and Latin America, and in the world power blocs.

They are citing the late Pope John's willingness to accept an "opening to the left" in Italian politics to try to win the support of influential U.S. Catholics in key positions in the administration, Congress, and the Church, for their radical plans to bring highly centralized, socialist governments to the Congo, South Viet Nam, and other Asian and South American countries.

Secretary Rusk, one of the leaders of this group, favors a much bigger "opening to the left."

He is privately advocating to NATO foreign ministers that it is in "our interest" that Russia should "prevail" in its quarrel with China. He takes the stand that should Communist China and Russia "announce" that they are at war with each other the West should support Moscow rather than use the struggle to force the Communists to free the enslaved people of East Germany, Hungary, Poland, North Viet Nam and North Korea.

So far, these legislators have refrained from using their most potent weapon — their power bases in Congress — to check the Rusk - Bundy group because of their deep party loyalties and glimmering hopes that President Johnson would see through their radical policies.

With a presidential campaign underway, none of these legislators wants to take the responsibility for giving the Republicans the opening in Congress that a public lifting of the lid on the messy foreign policy situation would afford them.

With one exception (and that legislator's name does not appear in this column) members of this group honestly believe that GOP challenger Barry Goldwater's election would bring more disorder to the U.S. and the world than now exists.

THE CENSORS AT WORK — The controversial editing incident, which highlights the differences between these two groups, came when one of the Rusk - Bundy group decided to circulate a thought-provoking paper on "Trends in the World Situation," prepared by CIA director John McCone's estimate's branch.

As drafted for policy-making purposes, the secret document carried a section pertaining to the views of Pope John and Pope Paul, as follows:

"John XXIII's response to gestures from the Communist states (gestures prompted largely by a Communist recognition that the Catholic populations of Eastern Europe were not giving up the Church and by a consequent desire to develop some kind of modus vivendi); his willingness to accept an 'opening to the left' in Italian politics; his apparent willingness to accord the national episcopates greater freedom, and his encouragement of ecumenism — all these have contributed to a reduction in confessional tensions and a decline in anticlericalism as a political force.

"Above all, they have given the Roman Catholic Church a new image, one of liberalism and progressivism, and thus reduced the appeal of the prophets of revolution.

"Pope Paul's visit to the Holy Land and the reception accorded him by the leaders and peoples of the Eastern Churches has further spurred the ecumenical movement and contributed to the growing feeling that progress without radical change is possible not only within Europe but within all of Christendom."

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

Washington, D. C., the nation's capital, is a unique city. The only industry is the federal government. The nearly 800,000 inhabitants are governed by three District Commissioners, appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. Two must have been bona fide residents for at least three years, and the other is an officer of the Army Corps of Engineers. They have absolute power in municipal affairs. All property owners pay taxes on real estate and for other privileges to the U.S. Treasury Dept. It's a transient city and 57 per cent of those living there are born elsewhere and may some day return. It has magnificent beauty and despite its "bigness" has retained distinctive charm. It's one of our favorite cities, a place to visit and love in all seasons.

Today's smile: The mother of a college freshman wrote to the dean and asked that he keep a close watch on her darling. Her letter said in part: "See that he studies, gets plenty of sleep and doesn't drink or run around with girls. You see this is the first time he's been away from home except for two years in the Marines."

The nation's most unique laundry is now operating at Springfield, Mass., where it was licensed by the Atomic Energy Commission. It's equipped to suds duds contaminated with uranium, carbon, gold, iodine, thorium, strontium, sodium and mixed fission by-products. We don't know if they starch collars and cuffs.

Thoughts while shaving: A recent survey at a noted Boston hospital revealed 80 per cent of all patients examined had no organic illnesses related to symptoms they reported but 84 per cent had problems of a psychiatric nature. All of which proves what a doctor friend told us, that half of the patients who consulted him had nothing wrong with them. . . . A witty economist said recently: "A recession is a period in which you tighten your belt. A depression is a time when you have no belt to tighten. When you have no trousers to hold up, it's a panic."

Maybe the non-tobacco cigarette will be the answer to the Surgeon - General's frightening report. A any rate a cancer research - treatment center is conducting experiments with lettuce, beet, cabbage, dandelion, Swiss chard, spinach and other leaves, which are cured, blended and mixed with aromatic flavorings to develop a cigarette free of tobacco but still retaining aroma and flavor. Maybe they ought to try cornsilk. . . . This is going to be an even mightier nation. Latest figures from the Census Bureau estimate the population at 200 dreds of thousands of dollars Congress votes each year for intelligence gathering operations aren't helping them learn the true story of the historic planning now going on in Moscow, Peking, Saigon, Geneva, Washington, as well as in Rome.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Flash! 427,000 Workers Disappear in Statistics

By SAM CAMPBELL
On July 30 of this year, American Banker magazine caught the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in the act of issuing a false report on the gold gap. The error of this government agency was on the optimistic side; that is, it gave an erroneous impression that from the United States' view point the gold picture is better than it really is.

Rigging of the gold statistics raises a grave implication whether publishing of economic indicators by government sources is reliable as many persons have heretofore believed. Now another publication—the Investment Bulletin issued by American Institute Counselors, Inc., Great Barrington, Mass.—points a questioning finger at government statistics in another area.

June-July Decrease
In early August, we read that the government had reported a decrease in the percentage of the unemployed. This decrease was from 5.3 per cent figure of June to 4.9 per cent in July. Now the thing about a percentage is that the figure by itself doesn't mean anything. You've got to take into consideration what the percentage is a part of. In the case of joblessness, the number of unemployed is used as the numerator of the fraction and the number of persons in the total labor force is used as the denominator. When the resulting fraction is reduced, it yields a percentage.

Now when you take any fraction and subtract an equal number from both the numerator and denominator, the effect is to make the resulting percentage smaller. Try it, and prove to yourself that this is so.

Equal Amounts Trimmed
As pointed out by Investment Bulletin, this is how the government showed a percentage reduction in unemployment from June to July.

To be specific, the Department of Labor trimmed 427,000 off its figure for the total labor force and it trimmed an equal number off the number of unemployed. This made the final figure come out 4.9 per cent for July as contrasted with the 5.3 per cent for the previous month.

The justification that the Department of Labor gave for making this subtraction was that its employees had estimated that the total labor force had shrunk by 427,000 persons between those two months.

Now it is not unusual for the labor force to shrink. In the fall, for instance, numerous students give up their jobs and go back to school. They no longer are in the market for work, so the labor force is smaller.

But in this particular case, the alleged shrinkage took place in mid-summer. The same months of the previous year showed no such shrinkage. What then was the basis of the Labor Department's estimate? Where did those 427,000 able-bodied American workers disappear to?

Television commentator Harold Fishman, speaking in Garden Grove the other evening, observed that the English call elections when the prevailing circumstances best suit the party in power. On the other hand, he said, we Americans have a pre-set election date but we suit the circumstances to it.

He was referring to Viet Nam, but the cutting and trimming of statistical circumstances could apply to the domestic scene as well.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone)

Question: "During these boom times, Congress must raise our national debt limit. If we as a nation cannot reduce our national debt during prosperity, when will we cope with this responsibility?"

—Mrs. K. M. S.
Answer: This is a question which has been raised by true economists for quite a few years.

Since 1930, the federal government has shown a budget surplus in only six years. Politicians of both parties have followed the false theory that they could "prime the pump" by spending money they did not have. The old ideas of saving during comparatively good times "for a rainy day" have been scoffed at by those who have contended there is nothing wrong with government debt. "We owe it to ourselves," was the cry of the politicians of a few years back.

It is nothing but fiscal irresponsibility for the people of today to continue blithely spending what they do not have, with the expectations that the children or grandchildren of the present generation either must pay the present generation's debts or repudiate them.

Political governments are like people, in that if they are to gain the respect of others they must be responsible. If they fail to pay their debts, they will lose the respect and the patronage of others.

Individuals eventually find they must do without some of the luxuries, reduce expenditures to a bare minimum, and pay off their obligations, or else their credit rating is destroyed. Nations are no different. They must be able to delay the time of reckoning for a longer period of time, because they have control of the paper currency. But eventually the political agencies will have to become fiscally responsible or lose their credit.

BED PARTNERS
Editor:
My uncle Jed Peters has been a dyed in the wool democrat ever since the dyed in the wool democrat doctor first slapped his behind and brought him into conscience existence. In fact the old doctor declared that Jed did not cry out as other babies, but yelled loud and clear, 'Democrat!'

Uncle Jed opinions that feller Barry Goldwater shored to goodness must be Mr. original evil reincarnated and he feels that it is plum sacrilegious to doubt any position a democratic leader may take.

Aunt Martha usually goes along with Uncle Jed in political opinions. However, she admits to being plum perplexed about the Democrats trying to make bed partners out of such opposites as Mr. Kukluxkian, Mr. Communist and Mr. John Birchite.

Aunt Martha declares that if she were to put those three in her guest bedroom, that shored to goodness, Mr. John Birchite would tear her pretty new red blankets to shreds; Mr. Kukluxkian would tear the black bed springs coil from coil, and old man Communist would sneak under the floor and yank the whole foundation out from under the house.
