SEN. ROBINSON BOOMED FOR COURT VACANCY

GIRL SLAYER IS DESCRIBED AS COOL, UNMOVED

JERSEY CITY, May 19 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Gladys MacKnight was portrayed in court today as a cool young woman who asked "where's the old man" after her arrest on a charge of hacking her mother to death with a hatchet.

The girl, on trial for her life with Donald Wightman, 18, her former sweetheart, for the slaying of Mrs. Helen MacKnight, 47, Bayonne club woman, also "wanted to see the newspapers," a witness said.

Gladys stared at Emily C. Hassmiller, Bayonne policeman, as she gave this testimony.

The girl's tennis logs she wore when arrested were stained, the policeman said.

The state then called Dr. William B. Braunstein, pathologist and blood expert, who testified the stains on the hatchet, and the dark blue clothes Gladys wore were "human blood of the same type."

Gladys "Cried Hard." A sharp kitchen knife which the defense will try to prove was used by Mrs. MacKnight to threaten her daughter, bore "a man's stain on the handle," Dr. Braunstein said.

There were stains of a brownish character on the blade, he said, but they were "too diffused" to be analyzed.

Mrs. Doris French, of Bayonne, mother of Gladys's high school chum, Doris French, testified the girl and Donald came to their house after the slaying.

She said Gladys rushed in shouting, "Doris, Doris."

A few minutes later, Mrs. French went upstairs, she said, and saw Gladys "sitting on the edge of Mr. French's bed," crying very hard.

"I asked her what was the matter," Mrs. French related.

"I couldn't understand what she was saying except that there was something the matter with her hands were over her eyes."

"Gladys" called downstairs then and told Mr. French to go and get the car key and not let Donald have the car.

"She said, 'don't let Donald come upstairs. I don't want to see him. I don't ever want to see him again.' Gladys did not meet Mrs. French's eyes when the mother of her best friend walked down from the witness stand and identified her.

The testimony that Gladys tried to keep Donald from fleeing was the first given thus far in the girl's favor.

STEEL FIRM ACCUSED OF INTERFERING WITH BARGAINING ELECTION

PITTSBURGH, May 19 (AP)—Chairman Philip Murray of the steel workers organizing committee charged today Republic Steel Corporation had sent its private police heads in to Alliquippa "to interfere" with the collective bargaining election of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation workers tomorrow.

The steel union's charges were made on the eve of the largest labor board-supervised election in the history of the country, which was agreed to last week by Jones & Laughlin in ending a 36-hour strike at its plants in Alliquippa and Pittsburgh.

Results of the election will determine whether the union is to represent all of the company's 27,000 workers as the exclusive collective bargaining agency.

Liedown Strike at Hospital Ends With Patient's Removal

SAN ANTONIO, May 19 (AP)—The 10-day-old liedown strike at the county hospital has ended.

The liedowner, A. T. Chauncey, 36, was removed from the hospital by his consent, by police late yesterday and he was placed in the care of the associated charities which expects to send the man to the home of a sister in Palestine.

Chauncey was admitted to the hospital on May 10 after being hurt in a traffic accident. After being treated, he refused to leave the hospital because one of his crutches was broken in the accident. Hospital attendants secured another pair for him but he still refused to go, insisting that he be treated for arthritis.

Damages of $10,000 were asked today by Mr. and Mrs. William C. White, of LeFors, in the death of Carl White, their 15-year-old son, who was electrocuted while playing at a dump ground near LeFors last Friday.

The amount was asked in a lawsuit filed in district court by the parents of the boy through the Pampa law firm of Willis and Via.

Allowable of the Panhandle oilfield, not including Moore county or the Osborne Pool in Wheeler county, was reduced 4,340 barrels daily by order of the Texas Railroad commission this morning. A cut of 38 barrels was made in the Moore county allowable and a reduction of 65 barrels in the Osborne area.

The cuts followed large hikes as of May 1 when the Panhandle allowable was upped 9,138 barrels. The net gain during the two months is therefore 4,798 barrels which is favorable.

New production is expected to reach a new peak for the year this month if the last two weeks paces the opening period.

AUSTIN, May 19 (AP)—The State Railroad commission today fixed the oil allowable production for Texas in June at 1,350,262 barrels daily, 4,138 barrels below the estimate of demand made by the federal bureau of mines and 60,974 barrels less than the basic allowable for May.

The commission previously had announced the allowable beginning June 1 would be 1,354,400 barrels but the formal order gave the lower figure, which also compared with estimated production on May 15 or 1,448,701 barrels.

It was the first time in months that the Texas production had been ordered cut below the bureau of mines estimate of market demand but the action was not unexpected. Members of the commission had been saying that production was exceeding demand and storage of both crude and gasoline was piling up.

The factor of 2.32 per cent of the average hourly production on which the allowable of the East Texas field is based, was not changed, and would permit production at the start of the new proration period of 462,000 barrels, compared with 467,500 on all May 15.

Allowables by districts, on May 1 and June 1, follow: Panhandle 81,288 and 76,948; Moore county 1,286 and 1,348; Osborne area 700 and 635; North Texas 65,963 and 60,450; Ford county 565 and 550; West Central Texas 65,350 and 65,460; West Texas 187,915 and 172,492; East Central Texas 79,570 and 76,269; Rodessa 40,583 and 35,068; Southwest Texas 226,862 and 213,697; Gulf coast 201,754 and 186,275.

AUSTIN, May 19 (AP)—Texas on June 1 will cut back for the first time in many months to the oil production figure recommended by the United States Bureau of Mines.

C. V. Terrell, railroad commission chairman, announced the basic allowable next month would be 1,354,400 barrels daily, a reduction of 55,631 barrels from the basic figure for May.

It will be an even larger cut from the present production allowance as the output always soars above the basic figure due to completion of new wells. The allowable two days ago was 1,448,701 barrels.

The reduction was not unexpected. Commissioners had said at the monthly proration hearing that oil in storage had increased considerably since the first of the year and that gasoline stocks were heavy.

Terrell said the cut was necessary "to bring Texas production within current market demand as required by Texas law."

SAINT BERNARD GOES BERSERK, KILLS GIRL

GRENOBLE, France, May 19 (AP)—A great St. Bernard, noted for its rescue feats, rushed down the snowy slope from the storied monastery of Mount St. Bernard today and killed a 10-year old girl before her father's eyes.

The little girl, Marianne Bremond, was on a skiing trip from her home at Chesières, Switzerland, with her father and two sisters. She was so severely bitten she died shortly after monks from the monastery drove off the dog and administered first aid. Her father was unable to save her.

As it was their wont, the dog, with other Saint Bernards, dashed out to greet the travelers near the monastery. Monks were at a loss to explain the ensuing assault.

It never had happened before, they said. The dog in question was "known for its good disposition," they added.

ESTATE DIVISION SETTLEMENT ASKED BY E. J. DUNIGAN

Legal action to terminate a community property trust and to establish his minor daughter's property right so that they may be protected, was filed in district court today by E. J. Dunigan, Jr., of Pampa.

The action asks that rights of the daughter, Patricia Ann Dunigan, be established in property belonging to her under a three-eighths undivided interest in an estate valued at $171,695.62 by a community property appraisal made in 1930 following the death of her mother.

The other five-eighths interest is to be vested in the plaintiff in the litigation, a friendly action to settle estate division.

PIONEER BALL WILL BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

The Panhandle Centennial committee which operated in 1936 plans to get "out of the red" Friday night when another old time dance will be held at the high school gymnasium. It will be the last dance before the Top O' Texas Fiesta to be held June 3 and 4. Last year, the Centennial operated at a loss and a series of old time dances have been held since then to pay off the deficit. Attendance at each dance has grown larger and at the last affair more than 600 persons paid admission.

It is likely that the dance will become a regular affair in Pampa. At first it was held every three months, and the dances increased until they were being held at the rate of one per month. The pioneer dances during the Fiesta will undoubtedly be one of the most popular features of the celebration.

Homer Ratliff and his band of musicians who have played for all the dances will furnish the music. The old-time steps and square dances will be on the program.

Miss Ina Mae Dean, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Dean, 1208 Duncan-st., was selected by three out-of-town judges at the LaRosa theater last night as "Miss Pampa of 1937."

Miss DeAnn Heskell, "Miss Pampa" of 1936 and 1935, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Heskell, 722 E. Kingsmill-ave., was the runner-up in the Chamber of Commerce contest, and was selected as alternate.

Miss Dean is qualified to compete at Fort Worth on June 3 with beauties from other 20 Pampa girls in the state-wide contest to pick Texas Sweetheart No. 1. She also is eligible for a role in Billy Rose's Casa Manana revue at the Port Worth Fiesta.

Miss Dean and Miss Heskell were picked from among 20 Pampa girls who competed for the title. Both will be given all-expense trips to Fort Worth as guests of the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Pauline Metheny, selected two weeks ago as "Miss Berger," will come to Pampa for the state-wide Fiesta and will ride in the parade with "Miss Pampa" on June 3.

BABES IN THE WOODS' SLAYER BREAKS DOWN

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—Sobbing violently, Mrs. Helen Tierman, 28-year-old widow accused of the "babes in the wood" torch-axe murder of her daughter, Helen 7, collapsed in the Riverhead jail today.

Dr. Albert E. Payne, prison physician, administered a restorative. He said she showed signs of "deep emotional exhaustion."

Restored to consciousness, the blond alleged slayer dozed fitfully on her jail cell cot.

Earlier a prison attendant said, Mrs. Tierman begged for information on the condition of her son, Jimmy, 5, whom she also assertedly sought to kill last Saturday morning during a picnic outing in the woods of Brookhaven, Long Island.

"How is Jimmy?" she cried, according to the attendant. "I hope he's better. I hope he is taken in by some good family."

Police said the woman had confessed that she attempted to "get rid of the children" so she would have more room in her shabby, West Side apartment in which to entertain her sweetheart, George Christodoulis, 29-year-old Greek restaurant worker.

HELIUM GAS FIELD IN NEBRASKA DISCOVERED

LINCOLN, May 19 (AP)—The existence of an uncharted helium gas field in east central Nebraska six miles north of Columbus, was announced today by Dr. G. E. Condra, director of the conservation and survey division of the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Condra said helium was first noted in gas escaping from a well in that vicinity five or six years ago, but that the helium content of the gas purposely was kept a secret.

Helium, valued for use in lighter-than-air craft because of its non-inflammability, was the subject of much discussion after the destruction of the Zeppelin Hindenburg which used highly inflammable hydrogen gas. Virtually all known deposits of helium are in the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Harold S. Kennedy, helium expert in the Bureau of Mines, said today he had no report of a helium gas field in Nebraska.

Kennedy said the bureau has tested a few helium gas samples from Nebraska, but there was no commercial production of natural gas in Nebraska and helium, a non-inflammable gas useful for dirigibles, was found chiefly in natural gas fields.

All appropriations for burned schoolhouses, several of which the governor has vetoed, failed of endorsement.

'Humanness Toward Home Town Folk' Urged by Banker

SAN ANTONIO, May 19 (AP)—Tom H. Nees would have Texas bankers exhibit a greater degree of humanness toward "the home town folk," President Nees told the Texas Bankers' Association at the opening of their convention yesterday.

Legislators were wondering what the exact administration position would be on the new surplus control and price stabilization bill proposed by farm organizations.

Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the House Agriculture committee said the bill would have to be examined carefully in hearing before Congress would undertake to replace the soil conservation act.

BABY KILLED, THREE TEXAS TOURISTS HURT

HOLTVILLE, Calif., May 19 (AP)—A baby girl was killed and three Texas tourists were hurt when their automobile missed a turn on the highway here and plunged 20 feet into the Alamo river at midnight.
The body of Betty Anita, 2½-year-old daughter of Mrs. Melba Pocio, 21, of Tyler, was not immediately recovered.

Mrs. Pocio, Miss Josephine Smith, 19, of Fort Worth, and H. O. Johnson, 28, of Austin, extricated themselves from the car as it sank in deep water and were saved.
At the Imperial county hospital, physicians said the two women and Johnson were suffering from shock and minor injuries.

Deputy Coroner Herbert Hughes reported Johnson had given the women, hitch-hiking to Los Angeles, a ride from El Paso. Tired from driving, he turned the wheel over to Mrs. Pocio late last night, Hughes was informed.

While search was started for the baby's body, irrigation district officials shut off the river's flow. They said it would take 12 hours for the level to drop sufficiently to recover the automobile.
Mrs. Pocio said her father, W. M. Cain, lives on R. F. D. No. 5 at Tyler.

PENSION PAYMENT BILL MIGHT BE INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Rep. Clifton A. Wood (D., Va.), chairman of House conferees on the independent offices supply bill, said today a separate bill may be introduced to appropriate funds for old age assistance payments, including these for 126,000 Texans.

Unless the conference committee seeking an adjustment of House and Senate differences on the independent offices bill reaches an agreement "in a day or two," he said, special legislation will be offered for the federal old age payments.

The social security board completed April old age assistance payments, but had no money for May allotments. The pending independent offices bill is primarily an appropriations measure for the fiscal year starting July 1, but contains provision for federal participation in old age assistance programs for the remainder of the current fiscal year.

EXPERT SEES EXTINCTION OF MIDDLE CLASS

DALLAS, May 19 (AP)—Dr. O. E. Baker, a top-flight American authority on farm economy, foresees the probable extinction in 100 years of the great American middle class, city-nurtured bone and sinew of the nation.

The senior agricultural economists of the United States department of Agriculture linked this possibility with a steadily lowering birth rate.

He told the Texas Geographic Society last night that the middle classes in the metropolitan centers were drawing off the best brains and much landed wealth from the farms of the country. "Grave social and economic problems, he said, are arising from this maladjustment."

Dr. Baker said rural youths were flocking to the cities in great number and soon became a part of the urban middle classes, which in turn were neglecting to maintain their numbers.

Most of the population replenishment, he deduced must soon come from the poorer classes. "Our middle class families can raise more children if they are willing to make the sacrifice," he said. "All real wealth is accumulated through sacrifice."

Against present trends, he said, he hoped the farming population could be persuaded to love the land and pass on its estates from generation to generation. As it now is, he said, rural youths who came to the city often inherit land, and thus land properties tend to be concentrated in urban centers.

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Ten years ago A. L. Berger and his wife were in a Booneville, Mo., hospital after an automobile accident. Recently he sought reservations in Booneville for the Kemper Military School commencement May 27. The hotels were booked up. Berger wrote the hospital. It reserved a suite for him.

Texas once was called "Philisbella" after the Spanish sovereigns, Philip and Isabella.

PROPERTY TAX

Few very people realize how important a property tax really is in our social life. It means that no man can own property — not personally use and enjoy — and have it be of any value to him unless he first shares the benefit of this property with others.

The owner of a business property only pays the tax himself when he fails to manage his property on a competitive basis in such a manner that he benefits his customers.

Under this condition of property tax, the owners of wealth must share its benefits with others, or get no benefits themselves. A factory, farm or mine is not worth anything unless it produces what others want.

The customers thus cannot operate without raw materials; the producers of raw materials share the benefits. The wage earners who operate the plant share them.

Ogden Mills reports that over the eleven year period beginning with 1919 all corporations of the United States paid out as operating expenses 96 per cent out of every dollar of gross income received.

In the older countries, where large amounts of wealth were exempt from taxation, this condition did not exist.

A uniform property tax is the fruit of a true democratic government and is one of the great benefactors to humanity, as a property tax is in reality nothing but a tax on consumption or a tax on mismanagement of the owner of the property does not use it to benefit society and labor.

BETTER PARENTS NEEDED

A minister recently pointed out that parents have delegated too much responsibility of making men out of their sons, to school teachers, Scout leaders and Sunday school teachers.

He says, "If the boy is fortunate enough to find one of these good men or women to guide and instruct him, he may become a useful citizen, but the odds are against him."

"The young people of today are not responsible for the mess in which humanity finds itself. They did not invent the weapons, write the laws nor originate the hatreds and prejudices that set man against his brother."

We older people certainly should analyze our actions. We are not leaving as good a government to our children as we inherited; the morals of our people are not on nearly as high a standard as they were when society was protected by the foresight of the framers of the Constitution.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON — The British admiralty quickly came to the relief of the American naval building program, as well as its own, after the report that an airplane bomb had sunk the battleship Espana.

But along came the British admiralty. Barely had the sea claimed the Espana — an old tub that you could split open with a pocket knife — than the admiralty published the report of a freighter captain who said he saw the planes but didn't see them bomb the warship.

As a matter of fact, some of the smarter arm-chair fighting men in these parts think the air forces haven't demonstrated so much killing power in Spain as might have been expected.

Court scene: Justice Brandeis, while listening to arguments on the validity of a Georgia tobacco warehousing tax, pressed an attorney to explain why warehousing should be considered interstate commerce when growing the tobacco was considered not so.

The Supreme Court held in the AAA case that agriculture was strictly a local industry. The attorney squirmed. He wouldn't say that agriculture was not in interstate commerce, but he insisted that problem was not involved in the Georgia case.

TEX'S TOPICS

Mrs. Toy Johnson, Pampa's double for Wally Warfield, now that she has signed a contract to appear in the Dallas Cavalcade of the Americas at the Pan-American Expo this summer, will bring her hometown nationwide mention.

Judge Ivy Duncan gives a swell "pep" talk. His latest effort in that direction was the splendid encouragement he gave to Junior Chamber of Commerce members at their noon-day luncheon yesterday, when he commended the membership for its untiring work in sponsoring the Top O' Texas Fiesta here on June 3 and 4.

"Pop" Hodges is having time trouble. So is Charlie Maisel. Judge B. S. Via is thinking seriously about riding a steer at the Fiesta Rodeo.

Gypsy Rose Lee today wired her regrets at being unable to attend the Top O' Texas Fiesta. Her studio reports that she is making a picture which prohibits her leaving Hollywood.

Strange how nothing is new. Union musicians have been interpreting the Wagner act for years. Mary Pickford said if she hadn't suddenly changed her mind, she would have been on the ill-fated Hindenburg.

Grand Rapids furniture factories had their first strike in 26 years, which might be blamed on the period trend from Victorian to Modern. Maybe ex-King Edward VIII was like so many of the horses that threw him—he couldn't get used to the reign.

Remnants of the 1903 St. Louis world's fair have been dug up, too late, it is feared, to be revived for the current epidemic. Since an undersea photographer says the octopus really is not vicious, what are politicians going to use to describe the opposition?

King George should have known better than to jig dance in ermines and crown. Next thing the economy party will have him doing the court jester's work.

Touched, perhaps, by the anti-burlesque epidemic, Detroit police arrested a man for using a siren on his truck. Judging from annuities reported settled on the Duke of Windsor, he should be able to live like a king, anyway.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY Congressman Marvin Jones addressed the high school graduating class, and 20 diplomas were presented at the commencement program.

The Rev. Tom Brabham arrived from Cross Plains to succeed the Rev. J. H. Hicks as pastor of First Methodist church. Mr. Hicks' ill health forced his retirement.

Forty laws were judged by J. D. Hudson of Claude to start the Lions club beautification contest, of which Ralph Thomas was chairman.

"Why don't you answer him yes or no and be done with it." The attorney blinked. Brandeis grinned, stopped his questioning, whispered a remark in Justice Butler's ear and they both chuckled.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK — Manhattan has many fine restaurants but you will search far and wide before finding any more satisfactory ones than the better Swedish restaurants up in the west Fifties.

They tell me a trick of savoring these delicacies is an abundance of pickles. A bite of pickle or condiment should be taken between each hors d'oeuvre, such as a wine taster uses coffee or a cigar between each sip of grape.

It is not an exaggeration to say that a minimum of 100 kinds of appetizers are laid out for the pleasure of guests, and if you aren't careful there'll be no room for the sumptuous dinner which is supposed to follow the hors d'oeuvres.

And the most delightful phase is the check at the end of the repast. With their rich abundance of excellent food and fine serving, the prices are uniformly small.

A unique dinner show and one that is timely is the ice carnival in the Summer Terrace at the New Yorker. It is not so much the idea, rather it is the execution which makes for such rapt attention as the entertainment unfolds.

That odd-looking hombre who wanders the town in knee-briches and a black beard isn't a hallyoo man or the leader of some strange religious cult.

How's Your Health?

"Half the world wants to tan, and the other half doesn't," says a noted dermatologist. "And sad to say, all too much of either half is getting what the other half wanted and did not get."

Some measure of this, however, can be avoided. To those who do not wish to tan, there are certain agents available which, when applied to the skin, will intercept and render ineffective the tanning rays of the sun.

On the other hand, those who desire to acquire a deep bronzing of the skin, but who are not capable of developing a tan "to suit their fancy" may again help nature through the device of certain chemical preparations.

To prevent the skin from becoming tanned, one may apply a solution consisting of 4 parts of zinc oxide, 32 parts of glycerine, and enough rose water to make a total of 100 parts.

There are many preparations sold to the public as sunburn and suntan preventatives, and one must bear the above described hazards in mind when using them.

Those who tan slowly or faintly can use a suntan stimulant oil to hasten and deepen tanning. One such is composed of olive oil to which is added a small quantity of oil of bergamot.

A. There are 40,000 described species of flies, about 11,000 occur in North America. Flies are among the oldest of insects. Their fossil remains are found in the rocks of early geologic ages and are also preserved in amber.

Q. How was the theme, Nature's Paint Pot, carried out in the Mardi Gras parade? W. H.

A. The parade consisted of 17 floats illustrating colors as displayed by nature in various ways. These included the rainbow, flames, the sea and its fish, polar life, water fowl, fruits, birds, autumn leaves, butterflies, and the aurora borealis.

Q. Was Edward Everett highly educated? H. J.

A. He was a graduate of Harvard University, and before becoming professor of Greek at his alma mater, went abroad to travel and study, receiving his Ph. D. at Gottingen.

Q. Where is Paderewski at present? W. C.

A. He is living in Switzerland.

This, That and Everything

The driver who struck and killed a filling station operator happened to be an instructor in safety campaigns, and was on his way to a certain city for the purpose of conducting a safety campaign.

When a doctor is afflicted by some disease, his critics are quick to point out his limitations in dealing with that type of sickness. I knew a certain fellow once who criticized a physician severely because the doctor made some helpful recommendations to some patients on the subject of how to prevent baldness — incidentally the doctor himself was baldheaded.

When a preacher or some Bible teacher makes a moral error, people like to make much over it. These incidents so common to human experience do more than demonstrate the imperfections of humanity; they demonstrate a subtle tendency very conspicuous in human nature — one that makes us seek escape from responsibility by pointing out the "so-called" inconsistencies.

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

Cornelia Hancock was a New Jersey Quaker maid of 23 when the Battle of Gettysburg was fought. Her brother-in-law, a Philadelphia surgeon, went to Gettysburg to care for the wounded and Cornelia went along to help him.

As a result, she became one of the most distinguished nurses of the Army of the Potomac, and army nursing was her job until the fall of Richmond. She followed the army down across Virginia, helped care for the terrible streams of wounded men after The Wilderness and Cold Harbor, and kept a hospital going during the long, dreary siege of Petersburg.

Her story of this experience is told in "South After Gettysburg" (University of Pennsylvania Press, $2), which is made up of letters she sent home at the time. It is one of the most completely interesting sidelights on the war you would care to read.

This gentle little Quaker saw quite as much horror as any of the World War nurses whose memoirs have recently gained so much publicity. Her story, indeed, is very like theirs; the same admiration for the heroism of the common soldier, the same hatred of war and its futile waste, the same irritation at the pompous stupidity of officialdom.

Her reputation at home suffered badly when she went to war. The cackling hens of the neighborhood assumed that a lone woman among so many men must—well, you know, uh-huh, tsk, tsk. But she became famous, at last, when a New York newspaper devoted a laudatory column to her; then the home folks stopped shaking their heads and began to brag about her.

Her letters are full of information, and are irresistibly appealing in their revelation of her own quaint and sturdy personality.

"I can't understand a word," was the reply, "but the king, sure is himself matried. Ain't it thrilling?"

OVER-PRODUCTION IN CRUDE OIL CLAIMED AND DISPUTED

EXPERTS DIFFER AS TO WHETHER OUTPUT JUSTIFIED

BY ALFRED WALL.
TULSA, Okla., May 19 (AP)—Two schools of thought developed today in the petroleum industry over expressed fears of an over-production of crude oil.

On the one hand were those who contended the sustained output in the past few months had boosted stocks of both crude and refined products to the danger point. On the other were leaders who discounted inventory figures and pointed to a sustained demand with the heavy consumption season just under way.

In the face of Bureau of Mines recommendations for increased production in both Oklahoma and Texas for June were the warnings of Col. E. O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad Commission, and Charles F. Roesser of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Thompson said the figures indicating above ground storage of crude at 303,000,000 barrels and motor fuel stocks at 81,000,000 should receive the close attention of the industry.

Industry and its regulatory bodies, Roesser held that "a serious situation exists."

Leaders here, while fully alive to the situation, were inclined to believe a steady market and vigorous demand justified both crude production and present refinery operations.

"The mid-centrifuge refinery market is strong and unchanged," said one authority. "The demand and movement of gasoline is improving steadily and many industrial purchasers are inquiring already for next winter's supplies. In the face of such business conditions we certainly are not pessimistic—yet."

There are companies in the area actually seeking crude connections, he added, and no reports had been received of purchasing companies ready to get up any.

The deliberation of state regulatory bodies to set the June allowable are expected to result in a thorough canvass of the general market demand situation.

Agitation for an increase in the price of crude oil disappeared in view of reports of large storage stocks.

Open weather brought a burst of activity in the field.

A total of 681 new wells were completed in the United States during the week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported and that was 89 more than the week before.

The increase in operations this year over last was shown in the fact that to date the year's completions have totaled 10,470 as against 8,439 in the same period of 1936.

Operators pointed out that while good production had been uncovered and pool openers and extensions were included in the list, the year's drilling had failed to bring thus far a major discovery.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—A mild drizzle of liquidation washed stock market leaders down fractions to a point or so today.

Despite these declines copper, farm implements, oils and some rails turned ahead for modest gains.

Wall Street men said market sentiment was muddled and buying impetus had been momentarily dulled by strikes, controversy over the administration's Supreme Court plan and indications the current session of Congress would be protracted.

A gradual hardening of prices up to around mid-day was followed by quiet back-sliding. Toward the close, however, numerous issues in the loss column were pushed up from earlier lows.

Transactions totaled about 750,000 shares.

FRENCH REMOVE LAST BARRIERS TO MARRIAGE

BY LOUIS MATZHOID.
MONTS, France, May 19 (AP)—Prosecutor Maurice Carcaonne of Tours today removed the last remaining obstacles to the marriage June 3 of the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

The prosecutor granted the Duke's wedding application, including permission to dispense with posting banns and a special authorization for a civil ceremony at the Chateau de Candé.

French law requires legal publication of banns—or notice of intention to wed—15 days before the ceremony in the town hall.

Removal of marriage registers from town halls also is prohibited by French law, hence for the ceremony outside the town hall at the chateau, special permission was necessary.

The invitation list and names of the wedding witnesses were expected to be announced late today or tomorrow.

A double wedding party to get around the absence of members of the British royal family was understood to have been planned. One party would be at Candé, after the ceremony, and the other at Wasserlemburg in Austria, where the duke said he would honeymoon and where said he would honeymoon and where the Duke of Kent and the prince royal, Windsor's brother and sister, are expected to join Edward and his bride.

(A report from London said the duke's emphyria had announced there would be about 20 guests from England at the wedding, all personal friends of Edward.)

HUGE GOLDEN EAGLES FOUND IN BIG BEND

ALPINE, May 19. (AP)—Golden eagles so large Mexican cowboys lasso them, are noted in a national park service report on 78 species of birds in the Mexican area of the proposed Big Bend International Peace park.

The report was prepared by Ernest G. Marsh Jr., graduate student at the University of Texas, based upon a biological survey he made for the national park service in the Santa Rosa and Del Carmen mountains of northern Coahuila.

The golden eagle, common in Mexico, New Mexico, and southern Texas, attains a wingspread of more than seven feet, the report says. It feeds largely on jackrabbits, rattlesnakes, and carcasses of large animals. Marsh quotes a ranch manager in Coahuila that the bird "deftly" these large birds are roped by flesh at one meal.

"Occasionally," the report says, "these large birds are reported by horsemen, who after allowing the eagle to gorge itself, suddenly jump from cover to run down the confused bird which can rise on wing only with the greatest effort."

Question has been raised whether eagles kill young stock animals, the report says. Seven calves, one week old, were killed within several days in a mountain pasture of Mexico.

"The ranch manager," Marsh says, "reported the cause being a nesting eagle, but on investigating I found each animal mortally wounded by three to five deep holes along the sides of the vertebral column. All seven had punctured viscera and one was lacking a tail. None of the flesh had been eaten. While the evidence seemed enough to indict the eagle, dogs were unable to pick up the trail of a lion or bear."

The report says wildlife authorities of the national park service say that even though the golden eagle might be guilty of these stock depredations, such damage would be far outweighed by the beneficial result in maintaining the balance of nature through its preying upon gophers, jackrabbits, and other rodents and parasites destructive to agriculture.

PADRE ISLAND BILL VETOED BY GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, May 19 (AP)—Padre Island as a unique pleasure resort with causeways at either end remained but a dream today.

Governor James V. Allred's swinging veto axe yesterday cut short visions of authors of a bill which would have converted the tenuous sandy strip in the Gulf of Mexico from Corpus Christi to Brownsville into a state park.

The governor said much of the 90,000 acres which the proposal permitted the state to buy might already belong to it and that authority to purchase implied private ownership.

"The island has never been surveyed and consequently no field notes have been returned to the general field office," he said. "I find, however, that the title of private claimants is based upon an old Spanish grant to Nicholas Balli and Juan Dose Balli, but only to 11 1-2 leagues and no more. I am certain that Padre island actually contains over 30 leagues of land.

"This is potentially valuable oil land and we should be extremely wary in recognizing title in others to land which probably belongs to the school children of Texas."

Allred also objected to the proposal because the state would not acquire the mineral rights, that expenditure of $500,000 was possibly too great and that causeway tolls, out of which would be paid costs of the causeways, were an indirect tax on the people.

He quoted Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, as saying "it would be quite expensive to build these causeways and they would be subjected to constant danger of destruction" by storms.

The governor, saying the highway commission would have to maintain the long driveways for automobiles and clear them of rubbish after storms, pointed to millions of dollars already expended each year for highway maintenance.

Bilbo's Divorce Case Under Way

POPLARVILLE, Miss., May 19 (AP)—A no longer wise-cracking Theo G. Bilbo, United States Senator from Mississippi, and a tearful Mrs. Bilbo argued their domestic troubles today in a courtroom filled with interested but taciturn farmers and housewives.

Bilbo is seeking a divorce from the school teacher whom he married in 1903 and twice made the state's "first lady," basing his plea on a charge of "habitual, cruel and inhuman treatment."

Mrs. Bilbo, in her answer and cross-bill, denied the charges, accused him of "abandonment and constant unfaithfulness," asked temporary alimony and attorney's fees and a legal separation.

Argument started yesterday over Mrs. Bilbo's contentions that the action should be tried in Jackson, Miss., where she is now living.

3-YEAR OLD BROTHER BEATS BABE TO DEATH

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—Three-month old Dolores Galvin was dead today, allegedly beaten to death by her brother, Noel, 3. In a moment of childish jealousy or exuberant playfulness.

A toy airplane and a toy truck became lethal weapons in the hands of the three-year old who readily admitted to police that he struck his baby sister with the toys.

"The baby was undoubtedly killed by her brother," said Assistant District Attorney Anthony D. Vioganni after he and Detective Lieut. Harry Bilms investigated the circumstances in the grief stricken Brooklyn home.

An autopsy was to be performed today but the tragedy was officially classed as an accident by police.

The mother had left the infant in her crib in the living room and gone into the kitchen to prepare the baby's formula.

Noel was playing in the living room with several metal toys. The mother returned, found the baby in convulsions, beaten about the head.

DYNAMITES BY DAY STITCHES QUILTS AT NIGHT. OATTTWA, Ill. (AP)—Albert Small handles dynamite by day and needles at night. His hands are as nimble with sand-plant machinery as they are with the tiny stitches he uses to complete his quilts of 50,000 parts.

Before starting a new quilt Small drafts the design he wants to follow. Then he cuts the cloth blocks, no larger than a dime, sometimes getting as many as 1,600 out of a single yard. He stitches every night for months until a quilt of intricate red, blue, yellow, white and green patterns is finished.

OILERS HOPE TO CONTINUE WINNING STREAK OVER HAWAIIANS TONIGHT

PAMPANS BEAT BEARDED BOYS IN 15-5 TILT

Big bats of the Pampa Oilers boomed loud and long at Road Runner park last night in a 15 to 5 triumph over the House of David bearded team. Tonight at 8:30 the Oilers will try to continue their winning streak with another victory over the Hawaiian All Stars. Carl Stewart will probably be on the mound against the visitors.

Big Lefty Cox got his eye on the ball last night and besides bagging his first home run of the season helped his batting average with three singles in five times at bat. McNabb bagged himself a triple and single and Manager Brickell picked off a double and single. Summers and Beason got a pair of singles each.

Eggleston, bearded shortstop, was the only visitor to get a hit, but he was out in the first inning with Sam Dalley's crew ball. He managed for three singles. Cato got two singles and Tucker bagged a double.

Dalley allowed the visitors only eight hits but he walked five to get in trouble. The Oilers collected 15 hits off three David hurlers. H. Anderson started but left for the showers in the second. Armstrong fared no better and left in the third. Up to the hill amid loud cheers stepped the old favorite, Doc Talley. He thumbed and curved the ball to allow only one run and four hits the rest of the way. The run, Cox' homer, was the first earned run off the veteran in 12 games of relief hurling this season.

When it came to fielding, Al Summers led the pack with seven assists and four putouts without an error. Only one fly ball was caught in the outfield, it going to McNabb.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Oilers will try to break into the win column against the Huber Blackfaces of Borger here.

Dizzy Dean And King Carl To Face Each Other Today

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., (By The Associated Press.)
Barring a last-minute change of heart by Manager Bill Terry of the Giants or interference by the weather, baseball's battle of the century is scheduled today when New York's Carl Hubbell faces the Cardinals' Dizzy Dean on the mound.

It's a natural, Hubbell is shooting for his sixth straight victory this season and his 22nd in an unbroken string that began last July. Dean was beaten after five great efforts this spring, but he was superb in victory and he's out to make the fans forget that one licking.

Dean's new teammate, Lon Warneke, set the stage for today's scrap with an eight hit flinging job that beat the Giants yesterday, 4-3, in the first game of their western tour. The defeat dropped the Giants into a third place tie with the idle Brooklyn Dodgers.

After spotting the New Yorkers a two-run lead in the first when Jimmy Ripple followed Joe Moore's double with a home run, the Cards opened fire on Slick Castleman with Johnny Mize's second inning homer, tied the score, then won in the seventh when three hits and an error produced two more runs.

Warneke's feat found handsome companion pieces in Pittsburgh and New York where Darrel Elijay (Cy) Bianton and rookie Spurgeon Chandler pitched the Pirates and Yankees, respectively, to fine victories. Pittsburgh's league leaders turned back the Phillies, 2-1, while the Yanks and Chandler shut out the Chicago White Sox, 4-0, to remain hot on the trail of the Athletics.

The A's turned to slugging to topple Detroit's Tigers, 8-7, and keep their clutch on the American League lead. Chubby Dean socked a homer with two aboard in the eighth to give Philadelphia its one run margin.

The hitters held sway in all other American league games. A ninth inning single by catcher Walter Millies sent in the run that enabled Washington's Senators to beat the St. Louis Browns. In Boston, where the Cleveland Indians turned back the Red Sox, 7-4, Lynn Lary hit five for five for Cleveland and Manager Steve O'Neill sent six Indian hurlers to the mound, among them Bob Feller, making his first appearance since he hurt his arm in the first game.

He was yanked after walking one man on five pitches.

The Bees and Reds, who open the night baseball season in Cincinnati tonight, were rained out as were the Dodgers and Cubs at Chicago.

SCARED FROM DEATH
BELLEVILLE, Ill.—Warren Frank Paule, 2, fell into a cistern and remained submerged for two minutes. No water entered his lungs or stomach, and within a few minutes he returned to play, "sound as ever," physicians said.

They attributed his escape from death to the fact he was so frightened he had clenched his teeth and held his breath while under the water.

The western pine beetle destroys more merchantable timber than forest fires.

PGA TOURNEY OPENS MONDAY IN PITTSBURGH
BY BILL BONI.
NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—All of the "big names" of professional golf except Walter Hagan will be on hand next Monday for the annual P. G. A. championship at the Pittsburgh Field club.

"The Hag," named non-playing captain of this year's American Ryder Cup team, will miss both the pro-am and the preliminary rounds, and the U. S. Open next month at Birmingham, Mich. He has been playing in Australia and will join his team in England for the matches with the British June 29 and 30.

The two national champions of 1936 top the 116-man field. One is Denny Shute, modest, quiet-spoken veteran from Massachusetts, who won the P. G. A. at Pinehurst last November. The other is Tony Manero, the crisp-hitting New York-born campaigner who, since he took the open title at Baltusrol last June, also has moved to Massachusetts.

Though the 64 low scorers in the two-day 36-hole qualifying round will be eligible for the match play starting on Wednesday, actually only 63 positions will be available. Shute is competing in the preliminary test merely because he has a chance at the Alex Smith memorial trophy which goes to the low man and, as defending champion, is automatically eligible for the man-to-man combat.

Besides Shute, the winners of seven of the eight previous P. G. A. tournaments will be on hand. Tops on the list is Gene Sarazen, who won in 1922, 1923, and 1933; Johnny Revolta, winner in 1935; Paul Runyan, 1934; Olin Dutra, 1932; Tommy Armour, 1930; and Leo Diegel, 1928 and 1929. The only winner since 1928 who will not compete is Tom Creavy, who beat Shute for the title in 1931 at Providence, R. I.

The 36-hole P. G. A. qualifying play is the first part of the Ryder Cup elimination. The four to go abroad will be chosen on the basis of low average scores in this and the 72 holes of the U. S. Open at Birmingham, Mich., June 10 to 12.

BACK INJURY TO KEEP HELEN FROM PLAYING
BERKELEY, Calif., May 19 (AP)—Recurrence of a back injury, which forced her to default a national singles' final match to Helen Jacobs in 1933, kept Mrs. Helen Willis Moody from returning to competitive tennis today.

The former tennis queen withdrew from the California state tennis championships because of slight recurrence of the injury. She was entered only in mixed doubles, in what Mrs. W. has to have been her first appearance of the year in tournament tennis.

MORRIS CALLED PRO
HOLLYWOOD, May 19 (AP)—Glenn Morris, Olympic decathlon champion, has foretold his amateur standing by signing a contract to act in Tarzan movies, a letter from Daniel J. Ferris, national secretary of the A. A. U., said today. The Fort Collins, Colo., athlete is under a five-year agreement with producer Sol Lesser that will pay him upward of $250,000.

MISSIONS WIN OVER DALLAS IN 12-2 ROUT

(By The Associated Press.)
WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY.
San Antonio at Fort Worth, Beaumont at Dallas, Galveston at Oklahoma City, Houston at Tulsa. (All night games.)

San Antonio's temperamental Missions continue their roles as the Texas league's Jekyll-Hyde outfit.

They have picked up where they left off last season in executing with the greatest of dexterity the transformation from a lowly ineffectual club one night to a mighty giant-killer the next.

So far this season they have neatly balanced, with this sort of off-and-on business, their 17 wins against 19 losses. Last night their cue was to win and they did, Dallas three Curt Fullerton, last year's most effective hurler, into the box. It turned out to be a lion's den for him the Missions belting him for six runs in seven innings and the fall-in Klamer for six more in the ninth. The slaughter ended 12 to 2.

Klamer did himself no good as a ninth-inning relief hurler in hitting a batter, walking another and letting three others get hits. Yet the Missions on their good nights might be as poisonous to any other league chunker.

Bob Moncrief, young right-hander, allowed the Steers seven hits. Beaumont, meanwhile, still felt its pulse pounding with the exertion of regaining the league lead.

The gallant young Exporters built up a seven-run lead over Fort Worth only to have the Cats lay to in the eighth for six tallies. The rally ended there, however, and Beaumont tacked on another score in the ninth to make a victory doubly certain.

In winning the Exporters shouldered into the league lead past the losing Oklahoma City Indians. The margin, however, was a mere half game and Beaumont probably was glad to take on the less rambunctious Dallas Steers tonight.

The Indians found Houston too difficult, losing 6 to 2. Galveston added to the cellar discomfiture of Tulsa, 5 to 2.

Pensions To 26 Millions And Court Plan Depend On Security Act Ruling

By RODNEY DUTCHER WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—It is hard to think of anything more immediately important than the Supreme Court's forthcoming opinions in the social security cases.

1. An old-age benefit system covering 26,000,000 persons, and an unemployment system covering most of those persons are at stake. It is very likely that the decision will determine the success or failure of the President's Supreme Court plan in Congress. At least it will have a highly important bearing on the question of whether the anticipated "compromise" on this measure will be an actual compromise merely a face-saving arrangement to give Roosevelt what he wants.

2. The Constitution, if the social security taxes are declared valid by a majority of the nine justices, will become a Constitution markedly different from the one the country had had under previous interpretations. This it seems that the Supreme Court is more spectacularly on the spot than ever before. Also that Justice Owen Josephus Roberts especially on the that same spot, both because of his peculiar status as the court's "odd man" and because of the majority's opinion which he himself read when the AAA and railway retirement act were invalidated.

3. The Constitution, if the social security taxes are declared valid by a majority of the nine justices, will become a Constitution markedly different from the one the country had had under previous interpretations. This it seems that the Supreme Court is more spectacularly on the spot than ever before. Also that Justice Owen Josephus Roberts especially on the that same spot, both because of his peculiar status as the court's "odd man" and because of the majority's opinion which he himself read when the AAA and railway retirement act were invalidated.

Most senators, at least, believe that Roosevelt's court program would pass with no essential change if the court were to decide against the government in the social security cases. Belief is common on Capitol Hill that a decision one way or the other might swing four or five votes if not more. The significance of such a swing is indicated by the fact that administration leaders now privately claim assurance of 49 of the 96 Senate votes for the Roosevelt plan, while leaders of the opposition claim to be assured of 52 votes against it.

Many lawyers are inclined to believe that validation of the employer-employee tax would leave few constitutional restrictions on use of the taxing power for purposes of the general welfare.

Justice Roberts, in the AAA case held processing taxes illegal on the ground that they were an instrument in a coercive scheme for regulating local affairs.

In the Railroad Retirement Act case, which requires employer-employee contributions to a pension fund, Roberts held that the act fell outside congressional power to regulate interstate commerce.

"There is no warrant for taking the property of one and transferring it to another without compensation," he said. He described the act as an attempt for social ends to impose by sheer fiat non-contractual incidents upon the relation of employer and employee, not as a rule or regulation of commerce and transportation between the states, but as a means of assuring a particular class of employees against old age dependence.

AAA taxes were levied expressly for the purpose of paying benefits to farmers, however, and old-age social security taxes are not similarly earmarked. The government has argued that the taxes were separate from the old age benefit features and that the system was not dependent on this tax, but could be financed by other revenue-raising means.

It's Up To Roberts. Various issues are involved—the taxing power and the general welfare clause of the Constitution, the due process clause and the question whether or not the function of providing for assistance in old age is or isn't a function reserved to the states.

Thus there are various grounds raised on which the court could knock out all or parts of the social security program as it relates to old getting it off the table. Then he solidified the ranks of Representatives having "burned schoolhouse" bills and led a move to have all of them set for special order. Two efforts to make such a setting failed. The voting machine indicated that the third succeeded but a verification disclosed that it likewise was unsuccessful by a close margin.

The Shamrock lawmaker next got the "burned schoolhouse" measures included in a batch of bills which the House was considering setting for a special night session but his colleagues finally decided to kill all the proposed settings.

One reason for the lateness in setting the session's adjournment date was the feeling of many in the House that the Senate should make the first move.

They took the position that if the House suggested a quitting time the Senate could lay the resolution on the table subject to call, not call it up until it knew when it would be ready to quit, and thereby have the upper hand in determining when the session ended. Their advice was that the House await a resolution from the Senate, which would give the lower chamber the advantage.

Publicity attending a seizure in Wichita Falls of a number of copies of a publication apparently was a stimulant to the sales of the paper. It had been circulated in Austin some time earlier but the Wichita Falls incident it reappeared on the streets.

APPEARS HONEST NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—"What's your occupation?" Desk Sergeant F. W. Hamilton asked the man brought to police headquarters.

"Stealing," was the reply. "No, not what you are charged with," said the officer, "but what is your occupation?"

"That's right, stealing," the man insisted. "I steal coal from the Chesapeake and Ohio. I hope the Judge gives me 30 days in jail." Hamilton booked him as Fred Bond, 35, and set a hearing on a larceny charge.

On Capitol Hill

AUSTIN, May 19 (AP)—The slowness of John Dolllins, Representative from Waco, in having his picture taken for inclusion in the House group photograph hung in the chamber every two years led to a resolution in his behalf.

The resolution, by Rep. Robert A. Fiches of Brenham, head of the picture-taking committee, excused Dolllins from an afternoon session and made him an appropriation for a shine, haircut, shampoo and anything else necessary to get him in readiness to sit for the picture.

It recited that Dolllins' constituents were anxious that his likeness be in the group picture.

The appropriation hardly could have been termed excessive for the purpose for which it was intended. It was for "39 cents or so much thereof as necessary."

Eugene Worley, Representative from Shamrock, ran into a multitude of difficulties in his effort to obtain House floor consideration of a bill appropriating state money to rebuild three schoolhouses in his district.

Worley got permission to lay the proposal on the table subject to call but couldn't discover a way of

AFRAID to Love

Chapter XXV Back at the Downs' house, Dorothy paced the floor with ever increasing anxiety. What was keeping Joan? Surely it had not taken her more than two hours to tell her story to Mr. Hendry.

A strange foreboding possessed her that Mr. Hendry may have been intolerantly harsh, and Joan, frightened this turn of events, had carried out her first impulse and run away. She blamed herself for not considering that eventually before this, she might have offered to accompany Joan, or at least to have waited for her somewhere. It was a mistake letting the poor girl go off alone; she was so morbidly upset by the continual persecution that she could no longer think straight.

But she could not have run away. Over and over Dorothy pursued herself at one o'clock in the morning, without any clothes, without any money? Dorothy knew that Joan had only a small sum of money in her bag.

"I'll wait another ten minutes," she decided. "I'll wait until two-thirty, and then I'll phone and see if she's still there."

She continued to pace up and down the room, stopping every once in a while to peer out into the street for some sign of Joan's return. At two-thirty, she went to the phone in her aunt's room and called the Hendry house.

She waited, listening to the steady ring at the other end. There was no answer. She called the operator again to make sure that she was ringing the right number. She listened again to the buzzing call signal. Even if Mr. Hendry were asleep, he'd have heard the telephone by this time. And if he were asleep, where was Joan? Five minutes after she left him, she would have been home.

Dorothy was trembling with a new fear as she finally replaced the telephone on its hook. Something had happened. In frantic haste, she changed her pajamas for a dress, slipped on shoes and stockings and a heavy coat, and ran from the house. She, too, sped in the direction of Mr. Hendry's little white cottage.

At every bend in the road, she stared ahead for some sign of Joan, but she saw none. Green Hills still slept in quiet contentment.

Then, in the next instant, the air was suddenly split with the shrill cry of police sirens, and as Dorothy turned into Mr. Hendry's street, a car sped by her, then another, and from the opposite direction, two more appeared.

She stopped in her tracks, and a terrible fear chilled her to the very marrow of her bones. For each one of the police cars was drawing up in front of the Hendry cottage, and from within there came the frantic, hysterical cries of a woman. She recognized the voice of Sybil Hendry.

Seven miles north of Green Hills lies another suburb—Burlington. A small mill town it is, lacking the charm and dignity of its neighboring community. No main highway connects it with Green Hills, but one who knows the community might find a narrow dirt road, lonely and deserted, heading due north to a corner of Green Hills and crossing the interlocking farm roads to the village of Burlington. Farmers use the road, and domestic workers from Green Hills.

And this night, in blind terror, Joan Barrett stumbled into the Burlington road. Where it led to, she neither knew nor cared. She followed it—the full seven miles—half running, half walking, but keeping everlastingly on.

She huddled now, like a terrified kitten, outside the dark railroad station in Burlington. Her feet flew around her face in wild disorder, for the wind had come up strong. In the light of the street lamp, her dark eyes loomed large with fear, and her lips quivered.

With one hand, she drew her coat tightly around her, and the other hand—the one for which she had lost the glove—she tucked inside, to keep it warm.

Her black slippers were scratched and soiled, and there was a long rut in her left stocking. There were dirty marks upon her coat, too, for twice she had stumbled in the dark and fallen.

Each time she had wondered vaguely what made her get up. She was so tired, so tired that it was good to fall and lay for a moment on the cold ground. But a fierce, impelling force drove her on, and in her wild fancy she heard footsteps behind her; heavy relentless footsteps which would follow her to the ends of the earth.

The fate of her father pursued her. She could never escape it, no matter what persuasion Dorothy used.

She was caught, as he had been, in the same inevitable net of circumstance. Mr. Hendry had been murdered, and they would say that she had done it. For 40 thousand dollars. Yet in her purse was scarcely more than ten dollars. Not enough for another escape. Ten dollars, and when that was gone, the police would find her.

It had been wrong to run away. She knew that. She was a coward. Every step of the seven miles she had traveled, the words rang in her ears: "You're a coward! You're afraid!" Yet she could not stop, for the fear drove her on.

Even now, she trembled more because she was no longer running. She must keep on, hurrying before the fate which pursued her. But the road ahead lay along a main street, and she must compose herself. Policemen patrolled main streets, and one would think it peculiar to find a girl running along the streets at such an hour. And if she stopped here, he would guess what she was running from.

She knew so well that that would mean. Months in a tiny cold cell, with bars to shut one in, and never another breath of sunshine. . . . A long trial; hours of sitting bent in a crowded courtroom, surrounded by scornful eyes, seeking in vain for one kindly face, one friend who might believe. . . . And then the inevitable doom—rape about one's neck—or here in New York, the electric chair.

SUCCESSOR OF VAN DEVANTER IS CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON, May 19 (P)—Capital speculation over a Supreme Court successor to retiring Justice Willis Van Devanter included today a host of government officials.

There was no official indication, however, that the President had chosen a nominee, although some said Mr. Roosevelt probably would submit a name to the Senate before Congress adjourns.

Under the law, there is no requirement that a lawyer be named to the tribunal. Officials said it would be possible for the President to select a leading economist for a place on the court.

There was also speculation as to whether he might name a woman to the bench. Some observers mentioned the name of Judge Florence E. Allen of Cleveland, a member of the sixth circuit court of appeals.

Others prominently discussed in connection with the nomination included: Robert H. Jackson, 45-year-old assistant attorney general, one of the attorneys who represented the government in arguments before the Supreme Court on constitutionality of the social security act. He also was a leading spokesman for the government before the Senate judiciary committee on behalf of the Roosevelt proposal to reorganize the court by adding as many as six new justices in the event those over 70 did not retire.

Frankfurter Mentioned. Felix Frankfurter, Harvard law school professor who has advised the administration on its legislative program.

Donald Richberg, former head of the national recovery administration and long a leading labor attorney. He now is engaged in private law practice here.

James M. Londs, 38, chairman of the securities commission and newly designated dean of Harvard law school. He has aided in drafting a number of new deal laws.

Attorney General Cummings and Solicitor General Stanley Reed.

Frank Murphy, former governor general of the Philippines, and now governor of Michigan.

Samuel Rosenman, Ferdinand Pecora and learned hand of New York courts. Pecora was a former member of the securities commission and was attorney for the Senate committee which investigated Wall Street practices. Rosenman was counsel to Mr. Roosevelt when he was governor of New York.

Government attorneys said there was some question whether a member of Congress would be eligible for appointment to the court because of the recent legislation permitting justices to retire at full pay and still be eligible for service if needed.

Poppans, crocodile skins, frozen lobsters, cosmetics and oysters are among the many commodities for which American trade envoys report there are definite foreign demands.

It was nearly five o'clock when she reached the city. In a lurch wagon near the bus terminal she had coffee. Two cups of starchy coffee quivered inside of her. Then, in the ladies' room she combed her hair and brushed off her shoes and coat. She must appear reasonably presentable before she went to look for a room.

For the first time, she wished her hair were not so conspicuously blond. She walked across town to the Grand Central Station. If she lingered in the bus terminal too long, she might attract attention. She bought a newspaper and turned immediately to the classified columns. One after another she copied the advertisements of rooms to rent. She checked off only those which specifically quoted the price.

At ten o'clock, she visited the first one on her list. It was in an untidy house on a poor side street, and it looked out over a dreary vista of roof tops. Mrs. Griggs, the landlady, showed her the room. Here might be refuge. At least until she had thought this whole terrible thing through, and planned her next move. Without a moment's hesitation, Joan handed Mrs. Griggs six dollars for the first week's rent.

COMPROMISE SUGGESTED IN COURT FIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Victorious Senate foes of the Roosevelt court bill turned away from indications of administration compromise today in pursuit of a triumph on the Senate floor as decisive as the adverse vote in the judiciary committee.

Opposition leaders said the measure was dead. They forecast the compromise advance unsuccessfully in the committee by Senator Logan (D., Ky.) would prove the new fighting ground.

Logan, a supporter of the President, suggested that one additional justice be appointed each year if any members of the Supreme Court served past 75. The number would drop back to nine when the older justices retired.

The Roosevelt bill would permit an increase up to a membership of 15 if justices over 70% did not withdraw. The court would remain permanently at the number to which it was raised.

No one qualified to speak for the administration had conceded the battle for the President's bill had been dropped, but Logan said his compromise was favored by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader.

Congressional interest in the judiciary situation was divided almost equally between speculation over the administration's position and candidates for the vacancy on the Supreme Court created by the retirement of Justice Van Devanter.

Many Senators expressed the view Senator Robinson would be appointed. Senator Pittman (D., Nev.) openly advocated it.

Among other names mentioned was that of Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, who said he did not wish to be considered.

STAGE SET FOR FINISH FIGHT ON SYPHILIS AS U. S. ENTERS WAR BEGUN BY OTHER NATIONS

This is the sixth and last article in the series presented by NEA-Pampa Daily News in the nationwide drive on so-called "venereal diseases."

The experiences of these nations show that syphilis can be controlled when the people recognize the nature of the disease and attack it openly.

The time will come when boys and girls of high school age will be suitably informed concerning the nature of this disease, the method of transmission, and the steps that are necessary for its control.

With such dissemination of the necessary knowledge, we may look forward to a time not so many years hence when syphilis will not be a problem as serious as that which confronts us today.

Moreover, it has shown that statistics are not really reliable because of the taboos against this disease and its hidden character. It was emphasized that some means must be developed to determine exactly how many cases actually are present in each community.

Evidence was brought out that a considerable number of people do not get adequate treatment for syphilis because of the cost of the drugs that are required. It was recommended that charitable organizations and public health agencies make these drugs available, without cost, to those who cannot afford them. Many state laboratories now make Wassermann tests without cost to those who cannot pay for them.

City, Rural Plan.

In the great campaign which is now being developed throughout the United States, public health agencies and medical societies will cooperate for the handling of every one who requires medical care for syphilis.

No doubt, in the large centers, public clinics will be set up in which those who require treatment, but cannot afford the costs, will be able to secure satisfactory service. At the same time, these clinics may be used to educate the young physicians of the future in the proper methods of diagnosis and treatment of this disease.

In smaller communities and in rural areas, treatment will be given, both to those who are indigent and to those who are able to pay, in the office of the family doctor, and arrangements will be made on a wide scale to disseminate to these men the latest information that is available in regard to the diagnosis and treatment of syphilis.

A campaign of this type, carried out on the scale that is being planned, eventually will yield definite results.

Gains Elsewhere.

In contrast to the records of the United States, the Scandinavian countries have made great headway against syphilis.

Formerly 6,000 new cases of syphilis were reported each year in Sweden; today only 431 new cases are reported each year.

In Great Britain, in response to a national campaign, with provision of free drugs for those who are unable to afford them, the record of prevalence of syphilis decreased 50 per cent from 1920 to 1934.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

Lon Warneke, Cardinals—Held Giants to eight hits, shut them out in seven innings and won his fifth game of year, 4-3.

Cy Blanton, Pirates—allowed only three balls to be hit out of infield after first inning, gave two bases on balls, six hits and fanned eight in 2-1 defeat of Phillies.

Spurgeon Chandler and Lou Gehrig, Yankees—Former chalked up first victory with six hit, 4-0 shut-out of White Sox; latter hit second homer of year and drove in two runs.

Chubby Dean, Athletics—His eighth inning homer with two aboard enabled A's to retain lead by nosing out Tigers, 8-7.

Lyn Lary, Indians—got five for five, all singles, scored three runs and stole two bases as Red Sox were beaten, 7-4.

Walter Millies, Senators, and Beau Bell, Browns—Former's single drove in winning run in 7-6 defeat of Browns; latter barked two doubles and triples in four trips to plate.

BING CROSBY'S HORSES HAVE STARTED WINNING

HOLLYWOOD, May 19 (AP)—The steeds that race under the colors of Bing Crosby suddenly seem to have forgotten who their owner is, and are winning.

This has caused gasps of amazement among rail-birds, film people and close associates of Crosby. The crooner-actor, himself, cannot understand it.

"Nothing whatever has been changed in the systems of conducting the Crosby stables," he said today. "They lose for years, and now they win. I simply can't account for it."

Crosby has had five winners at Agua Caliente in the past week. Another horse of his placed.

Longhorns Permit Aggies to Capture Southwest Title

AUSTIN, May 19 (AP)—The Texas Longhorns put away their balls and bats today, signalling the end of their vain quest of the Southwest Conference baseball championship.

The Steers and Texas Christian lowered the curtain yesterday on the conference season, the Progs completing the Longhorns' late-season collapse 11 to 7.

Billy Disch's men, who let the Texas Aggies take the championship away from them, seemed an uninspired lot against the right-hand pitching of Aubrey Linn, C. C. Hughson, Steer mound ace, failed to halt a Prog victory march in the fifth and yielded to Hughes, who let in six more runs.

STUDENTS SHOULD ASK FOR ACCOUNT CARDS

High school students who plan to enter industrial and commercial employment for the first time this summer should apply now for social security account cards, E. L. Tutt, Dallas, field representative of the Social Security board, said today.

"Many boys and girls will be finishing school within the next week or two, and will take regular employment. Some not graduating this year will work during the vacation period and others will be employed part time. As monthly retirement benefits, payable at age 65, are determined solely on the basis of wages received in included employment it is important that these young men and women apply now for account numbers, so that wage records may be set up for them," Tutt explained.

Letters and explanatory literature will soon be sent to superintendents of schools throughout the district, requesting their cooperation in acquainting advanced students with the benefits and requirements of the law, Tutt said.

Employers are required to make complete reports to the Bureau of Internal Revenue showing the name and account number of each worker, their employ, and the wages paid in each case. For this reason, Tutt declared, many employers are refusing to give jobs to those who do not have account numbers.

Application for account numbers may be obtained from any postmaster prior to June 30. After that date,

DIZZY DEAN TO HURL DESPITE SORE THUMB

ST. LOUIS, May 19 (AP)—Sore thumb or no sore thumb, Dizzy Dean will hurl against Carl Hubbell in today's Giant-Cardinal "game of a century," Red Bird Manager Frank Frisch declared.

Dean exhibited a taped right thumb yesterday.

"I burned a little hole in it lighting a cigarette in Pittsburgh," he said. "The sulphur from the match stuck to the flesh. . . . If that thumb feels like it does right now I will not be able to pitch Wednesday's game. "That's a good alibi," a bystander suggested.

"I don't need no alibi," Dean retorted.

$100,000 FIRE IN TEXARKANA EXTINGUISHED

TEXARKANA, May 19 (AP)—Fire which did an estimated $100,000 damage early today threatened an entire business block and was brought under control by every available piece of fire-fighting equipment.

B. E. Moore, assistant manager of the S. H. Kress store, where the blaze was discovered, estimated the stock loss at $50,000 and believed the building loss would equal or exceed that. Basements of adjoining stores were flooded and smoke damage was considerable throughout the block.

Fire Chief Joe Benjamin said the fire was believed to have originated in the Kress basement. It raced up the elevator shaft, and made a roaring furnace of the rear end of the store when it was discovered by a policeman at 11:30 p. m.

Spectacular bursts of flame from burning candy, paint and insect spray made the fire difficult to fight. It was brought under control at 3 a. m. and firemen were still spraying the embers at 6 a. m.
