FDR Arrives From Texas With New Support

Washington saw these three big smiles when the President returned from his two-week fishing trip to Texas and brought back with him the Lone Star contingent of the Roosevelt family. Even broader than the President's wide, happy grin are the smiles of Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt and her daughter, Ruth Chandler Roosevelt, one of the President's favorite grandchildren.

Crushing Wind, Dust And Hail Precede Rain

Pampa found itself in the path of a freak wind, dust, rain, hail and electrical storm last night—a storm that finally brought 62-inch of precipitation in the city area.

The storm, preceded by heavy, black clouds in the northwest, broke over the city at 7:45 p. m. It suddenly turned dark and the wind whipped a pall of dust ahead of the rainstorm. The dust, however, was short-lived when rain began falling in a short, heavy downpour.

Limbs were broken from many small trees by the gale. The 62-inch of moisture fell here within a period of half an hour.

Pampa power lines threatened for a moment to give in to the storm, at its height, but service was restored almost immediately and continued uninterrupted.

Two miles west of Pampa, it was reported, the rain skipped a wide area and not enough rain fell to settle the dust.

The weatherman indicated that additional showers will come to the north Panhandle tonight or Tuesday.

ALLRED POINTS OUT NEED OF NEW REVENUE

VETOES THREE BILLS; RACE ISSUE IS DISCUSSED

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—The legislature, starting the final week of its general session, heard today a sharp reminder from Governor James V. Allred on the condition of state finances written into messages vetoing three more bills.

In vetoing appropriations of $8,000, $2,731 and $420 to replace school buildings in the Old Glory, Leesville and DeWitt districts, destroyed by fire or other causes, the governor spoke of the large deficit in the treasury, increased appropriations and the fact new revenue had not been provided.

"The state is heavily in debt," he said. "Its income is limited. It must continue to function and retire its deficit. We cannot continue this government and meet its obligations without additional taxes, which have not as yet been provided, and at the same time pay off our debts and deficit."

The other bill vetoed appropriated $3,847.95 to Clemon Leonard Bradley and Cecil May Bradley Adams, heirs of David Clinton Bradley, deceased, as a result of a claim filed in Jack county. The governor said the money had escheated to the state and it was not sound policy to permit appropriations for claims of that character after such a lapse of time.

In a press conference, the governor voiced hope the legislature would stay in session until it had passed

Wedding Details Stir Controversy

The wedding date was nearing as this charmingly intimate picture of the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield was taken in the old world garden of Candé, near

Monts. France. Wedding details were stirring controversy on the other side of the channel, but "the course of true love never did run smooth."

LOUISIANA'S CHAIN STORE TAX UPHELD

PROCESSING REVENUE MUST NOT BE REFUNDED

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld provisions of the 1936 revenue act restricting government refunds out of the $953,000,000 of processing and floor stock taxes collected under the invalidated agricultural adjustment act.

Chief Justice Hughes, delivering the 8 to 1 opinion, said: "We conclude that the authorized procedure provides for a full and fair hearing and determination of all matters of fact and that, through judicial review, it provides for the protection of all the legal rights of the petitioner including any constitutional right which it may be entitled to invoke with respect to the refund which it seeks."

"The petitioner may thus obtain through this proceeding whatever judgment its case warrants, a judgment which the government, by virtue of the requirement that the commissioner of internal revenue shall make refund accordingly, binds itself to pay."

Administration officials engaged in attempting to balance the budget expressed gratification at the court's decision.

It was delivered on litigation by the Anniston Manufacturing company of Alabama seeking to recover $269,854 paid as taxes under the agricultural adjustment act.

A major requirement of the 1936 revenue act was that all taxpayers in order to obtain a refund prove that they had not passed the cost of the levy to the consumer or anyone else but themselves.

Justice McReynolds dissented but wrote no opinion.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The Supreme Court failed today to pass on constitutionality of the federal social security act.

Before adjourning until next Monday it announced opinions in nine cases. The social security decision will be delivered either next Monday or on Tuesday June 1 when the court adjourns for the summer.

The major decision today upheld provisions of the 1936 revenue act barring refund of $953,000,000 of processing and floor stock taxes collected under the invalidated agricultural adjustment act unless the taxpayer proved that he bore the cost himself.

Another decision held constitutional a 1934 Louisiana statute imposing a graduated license tax on chain stores, based on the number of units operated throughout the state and elsewhere.

Nineteen decisions remain for delivery during the next two opinion sessions. Administration leaders attempting to balance the budget eagerly await.

POLICE SEEK LITTLE GIRL'S BRUTAL KILLER

BROOKHAVEN, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—The incoherent talk of an injured 4-year old boy today was the only aid to Suffolk county police in their search for a solution to the brutal murder of the boy's 8-year old sister.

The children remained unidentified. Raymond Cataldo of Riverhead, who thought they were his children whom he had not seen for a number of years, later found that his children were safe with their mother in Brooklyn.

The girl's body was found yesterday afternoon in a thicket a hundred yards east of this south shore Long Island village. Her throat was slashed and her body was burned. Gasoline had been poured on her clothing and ignited.

The little boy, who said he was her brother, was found a few feet away. He lay as if asleep. He had been stabbed and also burned.

The identification of the girl and boy, who was found nearby alive, but with his throat cut, was difficult. Police said an effort apparently had been made to kill them both with a knife or ax, the slayer attempting to cover up evidence by

JAYCEES HAVE $3,000 INVESTED IN RODEO

More than $3,000 already has been invested by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce in the rodeo and special rodeo attractions for the Top O' Texas Fiesta here on June 3 and 4.

"The rodeo is not a private show being operated aside from the general fiesta," W. B. Weathered, general chairman of the fiesta committee, said today.

"On the other hand," he said, "the rodeo is the biggest and most expensive attraction. The Jaycees have for the fiesta. It is wholly sponsored by the civic club. The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce is putting up all the prizes, paying for all the stock, the employees and for the special attractions which will appear in the rodeo arena.

"If the rodeo makes any money, the Chamber of Commerce gets the profits."

That Pat Gerald, for several years head coach of the Panhandle Panthers at Panhandle, has signed a contract to become head coach at Vernon. Also that a certain well known Panhandle coach is being considered to fill the vacancy.

That a Boy Scout leadership training course is scheduled to begin in Pampa, probably next week, and that every father should attend.

LATE NEWS

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Police said today that Mrs. Helen Tiernan, 28-year-old attractive waitress, confessed she killed her 8-year-old daughter, Helen, and assaulted her 5-year-old son, James, in woods near Brookhaven, Long Island.

DRILLING OF TEST WELL RESULTS IN SUIT

J. M. Stein, of Gray county, was made defendant in a lawsuit filed in Gray county district court by D. A. Finkelstein, seeking to recover $2,608.89 alleged to be due the plaintiff as the result of an agreement the two entered in the drilling of a test well.

The petition sets forth that Mr. Stein, in return for a third-interest in the well, agreed to pay a third of the cost of drilling and completing the well on a lease described as E 1/2 of NW 1/4 of section 105, block 3, of the IGN Ry. Co. survey.

Cost of drilling and completing the well, according to the petition, was $18,326.69. It is further alleged that Mr. Stein paid $3,500 to the plaintiff, but that $2,608.89 still is owed, being the difference between the amount paid and one-third of the total expense.

WOMAN CLAIMS STRANGE MAN ATTACKED KIDDIES

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Police announced today that Mrs. Helen Tiernan, 28, said she was the mother of the little girl found slain in a woods near Brookhaven, N. Y., yesterday. She said a strange man attacked her and her two children.

Detective Naughton said he learned at the nursery that Mrs. Tiernan had taken her children, James, aged 5, and Helen, aged 7, for an outing yesterday and returned without them today. Telling nursery officials she had placed them in a home on Long Island.

Later, Naughton said, she related taking them for a picnic near Brookhaven.

Hillbilly Wedding 'Shot Up' By Feudist In Play

A hillbilly Romeo and Juliet center the plot of "Moonshine and Honeysuckle," junior class play which will be presented at high school auditorium this evening and tomorrow.

Jeanette Cole and Don Taylor play the lovers, Buck Gaddis and Annie Bevin, whose wedding is "shot up" by Peg-Leg Gaddis (Norman Cox) in a burst of indignation at the Bevin family, enemies in an ancient feud.

The climax of the play comes when court is held in a cabin yard to try Peg-Leg, and fuel is added to the quarrel by Annie's moonshiner father, Tom Bevin, played by Bill James. Only when he is threatened with prosecution by a Gypsy woman who has helped him sell his illegal product, does the mountain Montague relent and let the wedding proceed. Doris Cupp has the gypsy's role.

OUT-OF-TOWN JUDGES WILL PICK BEAUTY

Three out-of-town judges will select "Miss Pampa of 1937," from among two dozen of the city's most beautiful girls at the LaNora theater tomorrow night.

"Miss Pampa" and her alternate will be chosen. On Thursday these two girls will go to the Fort Worth Fiesta where they will compete with beauties from other cities for the title of Texas Sweetheart No. 1 and a role in Billy Rose's Casa Manana revue.

The Pampa contest is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. All expenses of the two girls will be paid to and from Fort Worth.

As extra attractions to tomorrow night's beauty show, the LaNora will present KPND's Mystery Pianist on the stage. Other stage attractions will include numbers by several pupils from Kathryn Vincent Steele's school of dancing.

Virginia McNaughton will appear in a cowboy dance. Keaton and Patsy Rhoades, June Amick, and Carrie Jean Speed, will present a tap dance number.

The beauty contest show is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Tuesday.

New Premier Tries To Form Cabinet

VALENCIA, Spain, May 17 (AP)—Dr. Juan Negrin, socialist former minister of the treasury, began today in an effort to form Spain's sixth civil war government.

President Manuel Azana, called from virtual retirement to find a "win the war" government after Premier Francisco Largo Caballero was forced to resign, selected Dr. Negrin as a premier-designate after he had talked with both the treasury minister and with Diego Martinez Barrio, president of Congress.

Dr. Negrin, the new man of the hour, is 48 years old and a former professor of medicine in the University of Madrid.

LEGION MEMBERS WILL ATTEND DALHART MEET

Members of the local American Legion post will journey to Dalhart Tuesday night to attend the 18th District monthly American Legion meet. The Dalhart post has prepared an interesting program, with Community Service as the theme.

Lou Roberts, 18th District committee chairman, has urged all posts to be represented at this meeting. Mrs. Mary Clay, president of the Legion Auxiliary of the 18th District will also be present.

The regular meeting of Kerley-Crossman Post No. 334 will be held Wednesday at the Legion Hut at 8 p. m. Final plans for holding the Top O' Texas marble tournament will be perfected.

THOMPSON WARNS OIL STOCKS NEED WATCHING

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—Oil men attending the monthly prorating hearing of the state railroad commission today received warning that stocks of crude and gasoline were increasing and needed close watch for the welfare of the industry.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the commission and chairman of the interstate oil compact, reported that above ground storage in the nation was 303,000,000 barrels, an increase of about 15,000,000 since the first of the year, while gasoline stocks totaled 81,000,000 barrels.

"More crude is being produced than consumed," Thompson said. "This heavy stock of gasoline must be worked off this summer."

A number of fields asked increases in allowances for June, while E. V. Cottingham, commission engineer, reported the average bottomhole pressure for the East Texas area had declined 2.85 pounds in the last month. He recommended, however, that there be no change in the factor on which the allowable in East Texas is based.

On May 12, Cottingham said, the average pressure in East Texas was 1,176 pounds per square inch. In the period from April 12 the allowable production was 13,789,483 barrels, or 459,649 daily.

BLAST KILLS 50

HONGKONG, May 17 (AP)—A terrific explosion at Queen's Pier killed an estimated 50 persons tonight. The blast, either an exploding ship's boiler or a charge of dynamite, scattered bodies a quarter of a mile and littered the waterfront with dead and dying.

The meeting Wednesday night will end with a Dutch lunch.

STUDENTS INVITED TO SEE BRIDGE PICTURE

School students are invited to attend the meeting of the American Petroleum Institute tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in city auditorium when the American Steel & Wire company will show a sound-motion picture of the construction of the Oakland Bay bridge. No charge will be made.

The picture is entertaining as well as educational. It shows construction of the bridge from dredging to setting piers through construction of cement and steel work, threading of the huge cables, riveting and other operations.

Tomorrow night's meeting will be the last during the summer months.

SIDEWALK ROOFING ON FOSTER BEING REMOVED

More of the out-of-date sidewalk roofing in Pampa was being torn down today when workmen began removing the awning along the side of the old Pampa National bank building on West Foster avenue.

The roofing was condemned more than a year ago but was never removed, according to City Manager O. L. Stine. The city building inspector said the wood was rotting away and that part of the awning might fall.

Last night's strong wind damaged sidewalk roofing on South Cuyler street.

The city inspector, Sam Thomas, this morning issued a warning to store owners to see that their awnings were high enough from the sidewalk to allow pedestrians clear walking under them. Many awnings in the city are not more than 5 1/2 feet from the sidewalk and that is about a foot too low.

British Press Airs Quarrel With Edward

DISAPPEARANCE OF LOCAL MAN PUZZLES WIFE

LONDON, May 17. (AP)—The British press today brought out into the open the controversy over a royal recognition of Mrs. Wallis Warfield by a controversy of its own over the possibility of formal announcement of her engagement to the duke of Windsor by King George VI himself.

While the Sunday Referee reported the king was ready to extend the royal family's sanction of the match by announcing the betrothal of his brother and the woman for whom Edward gave up his throne, the Express said such a move was impossible.

"Ecclesiastical objections" to Mrs. Warfield as a twice-divorced person, the Express said, prevented the king from taking any such action.

The Sunday Referee, which has not always been correct in its information concerning the abdicated monarch and his American fiancée, predicted King George would announce his brother's engagement this week.

Even the Sunday Referee, however did not fill out the style with which Mrs. Warfield would be designated, a question vexing court circles almost as much as the romance which brought about Edward's abdication and paved the way for George's coronation last Wednesday.

The king alone, court circles agreed, must determine whether or not Mrs. Warfield will become merely duchess of Windsor or will take precedence as "her royal highness, the duchess of Windsor."

Edward's feeling such a style was due his bride, was reported to have insisted his young brother make it clear she would take her husband's rank and be "H. R. H."

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, backed by the church and some court circles, was generally considered to be leading the opposition to conferring royal status on the woman for whose love Edward stepped down off the empire's throne.

In the meantime, Mrs. Warfield's assumption of that name for the ceremony with Windsor was made completely legal through publication of the deed poll, by which she

WAR HEROES WILL BE HONORED MEMORIAL DAY

Tribute will be paid on memorial day to all World War veterans who died in action during the World War, and to those that have died since that time, by the local post of the American Legion.

The service will be held Sunday night May 30. Kerley-Crossman Post No. 334 was named for George Kerley who died October 10, 1918 at Camp Travis, and A. E. Crossman who died January 10, 1918 at the same camp.

A special memorial service dedicated to all World War veterans will be presented on memorial day at the First Baptist church, where Rev. C. E. Lancaster, the pastor, has offered his pulpit to the local Legion membership.

This will be the first Memorial Day services held in the form of a church program by the local American Legion post in a number of years.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON.

Quarrels among children in the family are largely a matter of habit. A child becomes so accustomed to taking an exception to every move made by the others that about half the time he fusses without one thing to fume about.

Children do get jealous of each other, of course, and they are also greatly afraid of being imposed upon. What is more common than to hear Johnny growl, "Send Bob this time. I went last. He never takes his turn?"

But by and large, most of them have no real grievance. Their little spats are mostly on top. The child who has a real hurt and who is actually unhappy, is usually silent about it or else he tries to cover up by behavior entirely unrelated to his trouble.

Whatever the cause may be for the every-few-minutes wrangling, a mother gets nervous just the same. There are homes where to try to read or think is utterly impossible. Even to do housework in such an atmosphere, is an eternal attempt to maintain composure and peace of mind.

So Customary They're Unnoticed. She may become so accustomed to the continual scarring that she does not actually notice it, but merely wonders why she herself is so irritable and fret.

Without any word to her family, she might begin in her own quiet way, to observe the chief causes of battle. It may take days, but with her attention fixed on each child, it should not be difficult to find the trouble.

In most cases she is likely to discover that habit and chip-carrying are all there is to the matter. If it is true she suspects no imposition, or teasing or overbearing behavior on the part of any of them, then the situation calls for no uncertain measures.

Frankly and flatly she must put the problem up to the youngsters themselves. "I won't have this screaming and quarrelling one minute longer," she should announce quietly. "You would not be permitted to act this way any place else, and you must not do it here."

If they see that she means what she says, they are going to bury their small axes with amazing speed. It is strange how enforced good behavior reacts on the thoughts and actions of the disciplined. These children will be feeling more kindly toward another in a little while, their small grudges forgotten.

If the mother finds that one child is the source of most of the trouble, the storm center so to speak, then her safest move is to study him as a problem.

He may need some very special handling to overcome his bullying, which is step-child to some unhappy complexity in himself, and needs wisdom and patience to overcome.

Whatever the cause of these chronic fracas, the parent has the right of any citizen in his own house, that is, to insist on peace, to demand amiability and expect the family circle to behave decently to each other. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

Colorful hostess at the coronation ceremonies, Mrs. Rama Ran, wife of the deputy high commissioner of India, is shown above as she presided at a reception of 150 officers of the Indian coronation contingent at the Overseas League House, St. James. The Indian representatives attended in native costume.

Resplendent in her striking coronation finery, Mrs. Homer Cummings, wife of the attorney-general of the United States, is shown here as she left Buckingham Palace during the coronation ceremonies. Mrs. Cummings broke precedent when she appeared at the coronation court in a gown of red.

Symbolic of the British empire is this picture showing Mrs. Ba Maw, wife of Dr. Ba Maw, chief minister of Burma, in native dress, as she appeared in London for the coronation ceremonies. Dr. Ba Maw and his wife flew to the coronation from their isolated homeland in the Far East.

SALVATION ARMY GIVES AID TO SUFFERERS IN TIME OF DISASTER

(This is one of a series of articles on the Salvation Army, written by Captain Herman Lambrecht, who has been in the work done by the army in time of disaster.)

By Capt. Herman Lambrecht Even as the Salvation Army strives to do its share in the carrying out of the social program in a community where it has a corps, so does the organization do its bit in any time of disaster. There are oftentimes many small items that are overlooked in the general confusion following a disaster. The Army strives to do the task that needs doing.

This writer has been called upon to act in two major disasters. The first was the flood of 1927 when the Mississippi river destroyed so many millions of dollars of property. Again in 1933 while stationed at Harlingen, hurricane caused many to be homeless and hungry and ill. The Salvation Army was on the scene and even during the storm was caring for the distressed and preparing food to be served when the wind abated.

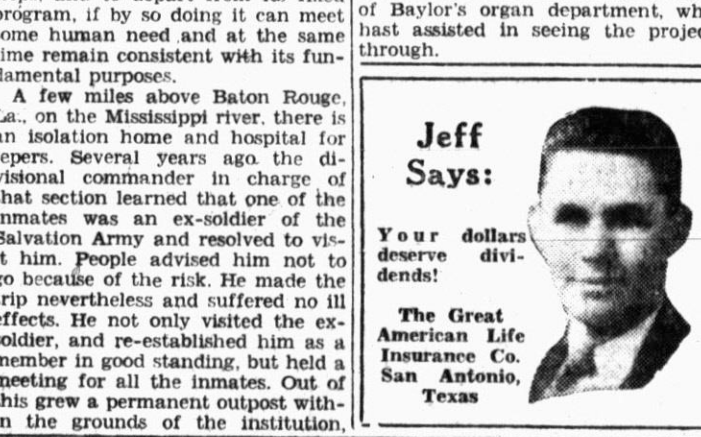

In the recent New London disaster the Salvation Army was on the job of providing relief to the distressed and preparing food to be served when the wind abated.

The latitude enjoyed by the officers in their efforts to meet emergencies as they encounter them has given rise to a number of individualistic enterprises throughout the country which are worthy of note. It is not readily placed in any of the social service classifications in the preceding instalments. These activities are not only picturesque in themselves, but illustrate one of the most essential characteristics of the organization—its readiness to do the unusual thing, to take unprecedented steps, and to depart from its fixed program, if by so doing it can meet some human need and at the same time remain consistent with its fundamental purposes.

A few miles above Baton Rouge, La., on the Mississippi river, there is an isolation home and hospital for lepers. Several years ago the divisional commander in charge of that section learned that one of the inmates was an ex-soldier of the Salvation Army and resolved to visit him. People advised him not to go because of the risk. He made the trip nevertheless and suffered no ill effects. He not only visited the ex-soldier, and re-established him as a member in good standing, but held a meeting for all the inmates. Out of this grew a permanent outpost within the grounds of the institution.

Brooks Presented Organ WACO, May 17 (AP)—Baylor University will hold Sunday afternoon, May 30, be presented with a new $55,000 pipe organ as a memorial to the late Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor for 29 years, by the alumni association and friends of the university. It was announced by President Pat M. Neff. The pipe organ will have 100 stops and will be the largest and best equipped concert organ in the southwest in the opinion of Prof. Robert Markham, head of Baylor's organ department, who has assisted in seeing the project through.

HAWAIIAN ALL STARS TO PLAY OILERS FIRST OF TWO GAMES TONIGHT

BEARDED BOYS WILL BE FOES TUESDAY NIGHT

Buck Lal and his Hawaiian All Stars will be in Pampa tonight for the first of two games with the Pampa Oilers. Their second appearance will be on Wednesday night. In between, that is tomorrow night, the House of David bearded team will be here. Games will be called at 8:15 o'clock with admission 40 cents. Season tickets will be good for the games.

The boys from the enchanted isles came from behind to take an 8 to 3 game from Phillips of Borger yesterday afternoon. Pitcher Hanahana, a midsize left-hander, threatened the Phillips sluggers with five hits, three doubles and two singles. Hadley worked for the Phillips team, allowing 12 hits. He had things under control until the last two innings when the Hawaiians scored six runs.

Lal is Veteran. Buck Lal is a veteran ball player who still takes his turn at the hot corner. He is a resident of Philadelphia where he played ball with the Bushwicks, considered one of the strongest semi-pro teams in the east. He played several years of professional ball in the International and other leagues. He has a son on his team this year.

The veteran American went to Hawaii during the winter and recruited the strong team which will appear at Road Runner park tonight and on Wednesday night.

One of Lal's chief threats is a pitcher named Hula Hopli. He is a right-hander with an assortment of baffling pitches. Al Wong is a fielding and base stealing ace despite the fact that he is only five feet, three inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. In Abbele, the Hawaiians have an outstanding catcher while Mark is the outfielder de luxe of the team.

The Hawaiians will take the field in grass skirts, showing fans that the added paraphernalia doesn't hinder their effectiveness on the playing field. The visitors will also present a native dance.

Tomorrow night the House of David will be here with their famous pepper game.

From Borger comes word that: Behind Bump Hadley's fine pitching the Phillipsmen held the lead until the eighth frame. In the eighth, the boys from Paradise Isle caught up with Hadley in the tough spots and scored three runs. In the ninth they scored three more.

Hale, Littrel and Al Thomas hit doubles for Phillips. Hanahana and Abbele, Hadley, Wilson and Poynter.

INDIANS SCALP MISSIONS IN 2 LEAGUE TILTS

Beaumont's Exporters could feel the breath of Oklahoma City's rampaging Indians on their necks today in the topsy-turvy Texas League race.

The Redskins scalped San Antonio's Mission in two games yesterday, 6-2 and 10-5, to advance within a half game of the Exporters, who have been leading the drive for some time. Beaumont managed to win the second tilt of a double bill with Tulsa and remain in front.

Lefty Jack Brillheart pitched his sixth victory of the season in the first game against San Antonio. He held the Missions to eight hits while his mates pounded out eleven, taking a 5-run lead in the third. In the nightcap, Clay Touchstone was hit freely but thirteen hits behind him put him over. Five San Antonio hurriers tried to stem the tide in the two games.

Clyde Lahti was invincible against Beaumont in the first game, allowing but five hits for his third straight shut-out, 10-0, but in the afterpiece Harris publicized Lahti's feat with a five-hitter. Beaumont bounced in four runs in the first inning and was never headed in winning 5-1.

Fort Worth's Cats went into undisputed third place, breaking a tie with Galveston for that post by smashing the Bucs 9-1. The Panthers rode with Jackie Reid, who limited Galveston to six hits for his sixth victory of the season. The Cats thereby made a clean sweep of the three-game series. Fort Worth has won seven of their last nine contests.

Red Harvel went on a hitting spurge to lead the Dallas Steers out of the cold regions of the cellar. Harvel smashed a homer, double and three singles to lead a 17-hit assault that brought Dallas victory over Houston 11-4. All the Steers connected for at least one hit. Frank Pappish, young Southpaw, got his first chance to start a game and responded by holding Houston to nine hits and two earned runs.

Just how close the Texas League race is to date is shown in the fact that but six games separate the last-place Tulsa Oilers from the leading Exporters.

Tonight's schedule: Houston at Oklahoma City. Galveston at Tulsa. Beaumont at Fort Worth. San Antonio at Dallas.

Approximately 18,500,000 of the world's 33,775,000 telephones are in North America.

CITY GOLFERS DEFEATED BY AMARILLOANS

Thirty out of the more than 50 local golfers who signed to make a trip to Amarillo yesterday afternoon for an inter-city match at the Wolf-lyn club, lost out 63 to 37 points in some well-played games. John Austin carded a 65, seven under par, to lead the Pampa shot makers in strokes. John Mann of Amarillo carded a 54.

Late arrival of many local players forced matching of players who shot widely different scores. A return match, with at least 40 Amarillo players coming to Pampa, will be staged at the Pampa Country club on next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock. Different pairings will be made for the return match. Del Love said this morning. Points were divided with one point to the winner of each nine holes and one point to the winner of the match.

Last night's rain was expected to improve the local course which has been worked over and placed in excellent condition. The fairways have been dragged and rolled, the greens worked over and the tee boxes evened up under direct supervision of the club pro.

Results of yesterday's matches, Pampa players named first: Grover Austin 0, John Mann, 3. Fred Newsome 2 1/2, Henry Gosnell 1/2.

Floyd Ward 2 1/2, Sam Page 1/2. Mark Heath 2, Bus Kaufman 1/2. Del Love 1, Jack Bush 2. Mack Graham 1/2, John Hodges 2. Red Watkins 0, Joe Stensons 3. Jimmy Hulme 1/2, Jimmy Croom 2 1/2.

3 SPECTATORS FATALLY HURT ON SPEEDWAY

LANGHORNE, Pa., May 17 (AP)—Racing cars killed three spectators and injured four others yesterday in the 50-mile feature event on the opening day program at the Langhorne speedway.

Roaring along at better than 100 miles an hour, Frankie Bailey, 22 of New Brunswick, N. J., swerved his racer to avoid Henderson's car. He lost control and the racer smashed through an outer fence into a group of spectators, killing the third. The crash occurred during the twenty-sixth lap of the race.

The dead were: Lewis Tanner 18, of Bristol, Pa. Robert Somson, 13, of Philadelphia. Anthony Zukes, 19, of Philadelphia.

The injured: Bailey, driver, possible internal injuries. Francis Plichowski, 23, of Philadelphia, fractured skull and internal injuries. Harry Hey, 19, of Philadelphia, possible internal injuries. Jesse Jacobs, 13, Philadelphia, possible fractured skull.

Henderson jammed on his brakes and swerved his machine to avoid the youths, witnesses said. He escaped injury. Frankie Breeder, of St. Louis, was declared the official winner. His time was 18 minutes, 35 seconds.

POMPOON-WAR ADMIRAL FEUD MAY BE CLASSIC OF RACING

May Be Pitcher

BALTIMORE, May 17 (AP)—Out of War Admiral's flashing triumphs in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness there shaped up today a feud of thoroughbreds that may become a classic of American racing.

The other principal is the long-striding bay colt, Pompoon, the only race horse that has ever been able to get up and run with the brilliant son of Man O' War as a three-year old.

This strong-limbed son of Pompey from the stable of J. H. Louchheim was a length and a half behind the champion at the finish of the derby. Yet, having proved he is a stayer, he came back at Samuel D. Riddle's sleek brown speedster in the Preakness Saturday at Pimlico with such force that he made the race one of the greatest in the historic "old hilltop" course has ever seen.

In the crowd of more than 40,000 witnessing the thrill packed contest was Cyrus F. (Danny) Clarke, who had trained Pompoon for the effort falling short of success.

He soon had his determination back and his stable's challenge to the Admiral was: "We'll catch him before the summer's over. You can bet we will."

When this statement reached Charlie Cursinger, War Admiral's jockey, it fell on doubting ears. The Flying Dutchman answered: "Well, he's still got to catch us."

And, just as the derby battle was re-fought in the Preakness, the Pimlico stretch duel may be reenacted in the Belmont, since both horses are shipping to New York for this mile and a half contest.

WATER IS FOUND 200 MILES AS SEA OFF THE MOUTH OF THE AMAZON RIVER; THE FORCE OF THE CURRENT CARRIES THE FRESH WATER THAT DISTANCE.

Just four weeks ago today, big league baseball lifted the curtain on its annual follies—and already a lot of the production heads are yelling for more asprin.

To mention only a few, there's suffering Steve O'Neill, who came jitters for the far away from home jitters of his Cleveland Indians, and Bill Terry, who wonders why the second division clubs always pick on his Giants; and Charley Grimm, whose injured list is so long and still growing that he's thinking of instituting hospital cots in the Cubs' clubhouse.

The week-end added a few more pains to these sufferers and a lot of others, but for Pie Traynor and the Moguls—particularly the latter, everything was beer and skittles. The faithful turned out all over both circuits yesterday, with some 180,000 cash customers coming through the gates.

Traynor couldn't find a thing to worry about even if he looked for it. His Pirates, for years one of the outfits that had the star and didn't know what to do with it, have reversed themselves completely, and at their current pace are going to be about as easy to catch as Jesse Owens. Continuing to show their new-found "zip," they knocked off the Cardinals again yesterday 2-1 to take a 3 1-2 game hold on first place in the National league.

Joe McCarthy, whose Yankees didn't give him any cause to smile on their just concluded western whirl, found the clouds disappearing as his revamped lineup regained first place in the American league by topping the Athletics 8-4 before 38,728 fans, largest Shibe park crowd since the championship days of '29, '30 and '31. Rookie Tom Heurich did the heavy clouting and Red Fulting made a seventh hit 1937 pitching debut.

Cleveland's Indians, by dropping a 6-4 decision to the White Sox in Chicago, maintained their record in their away from home games this season. So far, they've played four, and have lost four times.

The Giants, still third in the national league, would be a lot higher if they could get by those second division outfits. Claude Passeau blanked them 6-0 for the Phillies yesterday, marking the eighth time out of 11 losses this year that the league champions have been belted around by second division trouble-makers.

Claude Passeau blanked them 6-0 for the Phillies yesterday, marking the eighth time out of 11 losses this year that the league champions have been belted around by second division trouble-makers.

For a few moments, things looked brighter for Charley Grimm yesterday, with catcher Gabby Hartnett and pitcher Tex Carleton returning to the Cubs from the hospital list. But Hartnett went right back in with a split finger, and Carleton, as relief pitcher, lost a 3-2 decision to the Cincinnati Reds. Chick Hafey, at bat for the first time in two years, drove in the winning run with a fly in the ninth.

Two distance battles marked the program, with the Boston Bees nosing out Brooklyn and Van Mungo 3-2 in 12 innings, and the Boston Red Sox socking Washington's slipping Senators 6-5 in 11.

Detroit's Tigers finally clicked against the St. Louis Browns with a 6-4 win as Roxie Lawson came through with his fifth pitching triumph.

Pirates Knock Off Cards To Take Lead Of 3 1/2 Games

(By The Associated Press)

Just four weeks ago today, big league baseball lifted the curtain on its annual follies—and already a lot of the production heads are yelling for more asprin.

To mention only a few, there's suffering Steve O'Neill, who came jitters for the far away from home jitters of his Cleveland Indians, and Bill Terry, who wonders why the second division clubs always pick on his Giants; and Charley Grimm, whose injured list is so long and still growing that he's thinking of instituting hospital cots in the Cubs' clubhouse.

The week-end added a few more pains to these sufferers and a lot of others, but for Pie Traynor and the Moguls—particularly the latter, everything was beer and skittles. The faithful turned out all over both circuits yesterday, with some 180,000 cash customers coming through the gates.

Traynor couldn't find a thing to worry about even if he looked for it. His Pirates, for years one of the outfits that had the star and didn't know what to do with it, have reversed themselves completely, and at their current pace are going to be about as easy to catch as Jesse Owens. Continuing to show their new-found "zip," they knocked off the Cardinals again yesterday 2-1 to take a 3 1-2 game hold on first place in the National league.

Joe McCarthy, whose Yankees didn't give him any cause to smile on their just concluded western whirl, found the clouds disappearing as his revamped lineup regained first place in the American league by topping the Athletics 8-4 before 38,728 fans, largest Shibe park crowd since the championship days of '29, '30 and '31. Rookie Tom Heurich did the heavy clouting and Red Fulting made a seventh hit 1937 pitching debut.

Cleveland's Indians, by dropping a 6-4 decision to the White Sox in Chicago, maintained their record in their away from home games this season. So far, they've played four, and have lost four times.

The Giants, still third in the national league, would be a lot higher if they could get by those second division outfits. Claude Passeau blanked them 6-0 for the Phillies yesterday, marking the eighth time out of 11 losses this year that the league champions have been belted around by second division trouble-makers.

An independent Democratic newspaper, publishing the news fairly and impartially at all times and supporting its editorial columns the principles which it believes to be right and opposing those questions which it believes to be wrong, regardless of party politics.

PAMPA ON PARADE

One of the best methods for Pampa clubs, merchants, civic, and patriotic groups to back up the Junior Chamber of Commerce in making a success of the Top O' Texas Fiesta on June 3 and 4 is to answer the appeal for participation in the parades to be held on fiesta days.

Put a float in the parade and compete for one of the cash prizes that are being offered. The civic body, sponsoring the event, is not financially able to bear the total cost of all floats in the parade.

Merchants already are responding to the appeal. There should be more of them, and there are many social, civic, and patriotic groups that ought to be represented in the parades.

TIE BETWEEN NATIONS

A visitor from Mars, reading American newspapers, watching American newsreels and listening to American radio programs recently, might have found cause to wonder just whose king was being crowned over in London.

But the explanation is not simply that we are a nation of blind Anglophiles. It goes deeper than that. The simple tie of a common language, for one thing, is extremely powerful.

And, underlying everything, there is the dim sense that in some way these two great nations do stand for a common heritage in the way of liberty and democracy. We cannot be indifferent to each other.

MARTYR TO SUCCESS

The Senate committee's investigation of the financial deals of the late Van Sweringen brothers contains few more painful episodes than the one relating to the Kentucky scrub-woman who, having saved $2000 by laying aside one or two dollars a week, invested the lot in "gill-edged" bonds issued by a Van Sweringen corporation and promptly saw half her investment wiped out.

The woman wrote the brothers a letter pleading that they buy back her securities "at the best price you can give me," as she had five dependents to care for and times were getting hard.

The tale of the rice and fall of these "financial titans" is usually told in cold figures. This little incident is a useful reminder that there were poignant human values involved in the story, too.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON.—Political worms don't turn often, but the house, which has been one a long time, has been making a turn of sorts and is so delighted with itself it fairly chorles.

Those who saw the house turn against the President's plan to make the CCC a permanent organization will understand.

The CCC has been a popular business ever since the President, freshly seated, told the country he wanted to use what spare money he could amass to send poor boys into the forests to be made sleek and sound.

So it was with much surprise that the house developed a real antagonism to making the CCC a permanent institution. The house long has been considered almost wholly subservient to the President.

The debate began with general expectation that the house would kiss the bill across, even though it would cost about $350,000,000 a year—close on to the cost of the army or navy.

A half hour before the vote was taken, reporters caught some of the drift and hazarded guesses that there "might" be enough votes to defeat the permanent plan.

Besides the new-found desire for economy, two fears are behind the opposition of many members: First, that some future President might convert it somehow into a wide-fung political organization; second, that it might become an adjunct of the military.

He was roundly jumped on by almost everybody from the President down. Actually some of the camp are so imbued with pacifist senti-

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK.—All this talk and bluster about purging burlesque of the naughty strip act shouldn't be taken too seriously. . . Not if the records mean anything. It is a dull day when no Black Maria backs up to the entrance of some stage door to whisk a couple of cuties down to the hard-boiled sergeant on a charge of indecent exposure.

Gypsy Rose Lee, who epitomizes every strip-girl's ambitions, has been carted off to jail. . . Mae West, certainly no paragon of Victorianism, made frequent trips to the hoosegow during her New York days for producing and appearing in "immoral" plays.

The current peevish apparently is against one particular form of nudility. True it is that girls in all the night clubs are unclothed, too, but that is different. In burlesque the girls come out fully clothed and disrobe in the presence of their admiring auditors, whereas the night club lassies already are pared down to the cuticle on their toe-nails when they make their appearance.

Actually, burlesque girls are rarely as completely nude as those damsels found in the after-dark supper clubs. True, they wear only a couple of satin rose-buds and, as they say on Broadway, a G-string. . . But you'll have to admit that is something, at least. . . The night club girls often wear nothing at all.

There is, just beneath the surface, a reason for the current drive against theatrical "vice." . . To operate theaters one must have a license, and at the moment the burlesque licenses have expired. This gives the reformers an opportunity to sandbag producers, and they are attempting to eliminate burlesque completely. . . Unfortunately, the night clubs all have licenses; so the police aren't even looking in their direction. . . If they did they would be met with a mess of legal action that would probably stymie any "corrective" measures attempted.

So, if this department seems skeptical, it asks tolerance on the grounds that it has seen too many previous "drives" which gained nothing other than a great deal of publicity for some of our high-powered public-spirited servants.

VETERAN U. S. CLERK FOR 50 YEARS DIES

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—A colorful career including 50 years as United States clerk for the western district of Texas, was at an end today for Doc Hill Hart.

The 70-year-old Tennessean who once covered his circuit embracing the southern and western districts by stage coach, died at Austin last night after a long illness.

He was appointed in 1887 and was known as the oldest federal clerk in point of service in the country. A native of Gallatin, Tennessee, he came to Texas in early manhood.

People You Know

There is no way to depict the utter beauty of a rose, it stands impregnable to the persuasion and magic of paint or words, and so do the rose hedges at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Biery on North Gray This morning there was an odorless, pink blanket of blooms extending the length of the house and the front and back yards, and there were more buds than blooms. Walking in that part of town last night after the rain (O enchanting sound!) one encountered their odor and followed it all the way back early this morning while the roses were exulting in the rain-washed air, the blue sky, the still clear, cool air, mottled with dustless sunshine. . . The Bierys wanted to live happily after marriage two and a half years ago so they planted roses, and lilacs and spirea and honeysuckle and grass, and then there was a baby. . . The rose hedge came from Mrs. Wynne's which is the mother of many a rose hedge in Pampa, and which is now ready to burst into full bloom.

The honeysuckle at the Biery home is also in bloom and has covered a trellis and has hidden a window within two years. Yesterday, two little girls were calmly snapping off roses at the hedge and adjusting the second to Mrs. Biery gave them a pair of scissors to use.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Ernest Haller, the cameraman, is seeing red, these days. Infra-red. He has paraphrased, too, the popular song of a few years ago. His new title is "Night in Day."

Haller, following assorted experiments over the past year, is introducing infra-red into moving pictures. It is the use of infra-red sensitive film materials which makes possible the filming of night scenes at high noon.

Infra-red rays are those below the spectrum bands visible to the naked eye. An electric iron turned on in a dark room, for instance, will impress its rays on infra-red film. Pictures may be made of points many miles away because the infra-red film ignores haze and murk. The naked eye cannot see the hot iron in the dark room. Infra-red film can.

That is the basis of Haller's championing of the former laboratory material in active movie production. He used it first for a few scenes in "The Cat and the Hat" next in "Mountain Justice." Night scenes in the current Bette Davis vehicle, "That Certain Woman," are being shot in broad daylight for the most part.

Haller visions economy on one hand and artistic advances on the other through the use of infra-red movie photography. Primarily, he says, great savings in the use of lighting equipment will follow because infra-red rays are present everywhere during the day and because they have the peculiar quality of registering in reverse to turn day into night.

The experiments in movie infra-red photography have resulted in the "speeding up" of negative materials.

How's Your Health?

Among the ancient sacred writings, the counsel is to be found that when a man reaches the age when he is within five years of his father's age at death, he too should prepare to die. This advice shows the ancient's appreciation that length of life is largely dependent on heredity.

The modern counsel on this score, however, is not to prepare to die at the attempt to outlive him. For we know that, though heredity largely determines one's life span, wise use of our biologic resources can lengthen our stay on earth and what is even more important—make it pleasurable and productive.

To outlive our fathers, we must "husband our strength," as early as we attain to the necessary wisdom, and certainly when we are past 40. But how is one to husband one's strength? The formula is simple.

Foremost, inspect your girth and your diet, and adjust the second to the first. Rid yourself of all surplus weight. To carry about a load of fat is to shorten one's years for certain. To be rid of the fat, all that is required in the vast majority of cases is to reduce the caloric intake. This does not imply "going hungry," or eating little. The bulk of one's meals bears no direct relation to their caloric content.

Specifically it is best to have the reduction diet prescribed by one's physician. Made to order, such a diet is most likely to suit the individual's tastes. Furthermore, as the physician studies the past dietary habits and practices of the patient, he will be in a position to include in the ordered diet the indicated corrective elements.

Exercise and adequate rest are two of the most important factors to anyone past 40. The best forms of exercise are walking and gardening, the first because it employs the big muscles, the second because it calls for "bending with a reason." More strenuous forms of exercise should not be taken unless one's physician permits.

Eight hours rest every night, and two hours relaxation during the day, at noon time and immediately after work, are highly desirable.

Every person past 40 should have a thorough physical examination once every year. This checkup is highly advisable.

Heretofore infra-red photography has been devoted to comparatively "slow" objects, completely still pictures. Following the experiments a major raw stock purveyor to the industry speeded up the film so that increasingly fast action may be recorded via infra-red.

Haller is enthusiastic enough to predict a time when there will be no "night shots" in Hollywood except those taken between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. "It will take time to realize all the possibilities," he says. "In my experiments, I have used all kinds of filters and combinations of filters. Any number of effects can be obtained already."

For one thing, studios would no longer need powerful banks of sun-lamps and masas to light large areas, such as battlefields.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. What are the names of the various stakes and handicaps in the Detroit races? M. P. A. The thirteen stakes and handicaps that will feature the Detroit Racing Association's spring meeting are as follows: Handicaps—The Inaugural, the Colonel Alger, the Belle Isle, the Wolverine, the Frontier, the Michigan, the Liberty, the Ontario, and the Windsor stakes; the St. Clair, the Pontchartrain, the Moslem Temple, and the Woodword.

Q. Is the home of Annie Laurie still in existence? M. G. A. It is still inhabited, and has lately been offered for lease for the first time in its history. It has been occupied by Lauries since 1611.

Q. Where was the first public zoo established? L. P. O. A. The first zoo of which there is a record was established in China about 2000 B. C., but it was primarily for scientific study and was known as the Intelligence park.

Q. Why is a Jefferson, Texas, paper called the Jimplicitee? H. W. A. The paper received its unusual name when it was founded by the late Colonel Ward Taylor in 1865 with the motto: Join Industry, Manufacturing, Labor, Energy, and Capital in Unity Together Everlastingly.

Q. Please give the names of some Red Cross National Aquatic Schools in the east where camp counselors and athletic trainers can take 10-day courses. E. W. A. The following aquatic schools have such courses in June: Camp Brooklyn, Narrowsburg, N. Y.; Camp Carolina, Brevard, N. C.; Chautauque Institution, Chautauque, N. Y.; Camp Kiwanis, South Hanson, Mass.; Camp Lettis, Edgewater, Md.

Q. Where was Gus Gennerich buried? F. H. A. This bodyguard of President Roosevelt's died in South America. His body was brought back to this country, funeral services were held at the White House, and the casket was taken to Middle Village, Long Island, and interred in the Lutheran cemetery.

Q. In what form are eggs imported into the United States? C. F. A. Eggs are imported into the United States in the form of shell eggs; whole eggs, dried; whole eggs, frozen; dried and frozen yolks; and dried albumen. The largest amount comes in the form of dried and frozen yolks and dried albumen.

Q. Twilght of a World," by Franz Werfel (Viking: $3), is a collection of eight short novels and long stories bound together by a single thread of retrospective longing into one volume.

The stories, only a few of which have been previously translated into English, are of varying excellence. A good many of them are products of the author's earlier creative years, and as such will disappoint readers who became first acquainted with him through his later works.

To my mind, the most wholly satisfactory stories are "The Staircase," a monologue which a young girl holds with herself as she mounts the staircase to the fourth floor of a hotel, and "Class Reunion." Other readers will of course prefer other stories according to individual tastes.

In all of these tales there is a note of longing for a day that is past. As he looks back on the declining years of the Austrian empire, the writer feels a great nostalgia for that lost era. The stories are preceded by a long essay on the meaning of imperial Austria, which in the light of some of Mr. Werfel's other work is somewhat difficult to understand completely.

It is clear, however, that to him those last years of a great tradition are representative of his youth, of his first ideas and ideals. He mourns, also, for the color and the glory which have gone out of the Austria which he loved. Widely different as these tales appear on the surface, the connecting link exists.

The book is, of course, somewhat biased, rather sentimental, but well worth reading for all of that.—E. M. T.

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

"If I were in his place I would do so-and-so." This is gist of what a lot of people have the habit of saying. Usually, the more inclined we are to speculate on what action we would take if circumstances had placed us in position of others the more prone we are to neglect doing very much about the situation we happen to command. Now I would always condemn one for suggesting what he would do if in the position of others, but such speculations are much more in order when we are not neglecting our own place of responsibility.

In fact it is difficult for us to know just what course we would take if in the position of someone else. If we were in the place of the other fellow, chances are that we would do very much the same as he does. In viewing such matters as others' conduct under important occasions, people usually see the conspicuous occasion without observing the multitude of other factors, less obvious but as dynamic as the occasion under special consideration.

So it is a good policy for us always to remember that there are many points to be considered in estimating the wisdom of others' actions that are not so easily seen as the "occasion" which generally gives rise to such comment as "If I were in his place, I would—"

Administration Relief Bill Cut Improbable Despite Economy Cry

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 15—Despite the furore over economy, odds favor passage of a relief appropriation of $1,500,000,000 as asked by the administration, rather than a greatly reduced sum such as is demanded by many members of Congress.

A cut is possible but not probable. Unofficial poll-takers estimate that a hundred or more members of the House are willing to vote for a relief appropriation of $2,000,000,000 or $2,500,000,000. Leaders of the Maverick-Voorhis group, which seeks a program based on the latter sum, claim they have nearly 140 votes lined up.

Such a bloc isn't large enough to put over its own program. But the size indicates that sufficient strength will be available to block a reduction to $1,200,000,000 or a billion dollars. The best guess is that the extremists on each side will cancel each other off.

In any event, relief will continue to be a major all-year-round issue.

Mayors Up In Arms

The U. S. Conference of Mayors, which has proved itself capable of effective pressure here, is up in arms against proposals which would fail to keep the bargain Roosevelt made with municipalities to take care of the employable relief clients thru a federal work program. This group insists there are already 600,000 employables on direct local relief who are eligible for WPA, though Harry Hopkins says 350,000. "The group doesn't believe that even the billion and a half dollars asked by the President will last after next February unless current policy and the present program are radically curtailed."

In this connection, it can be said that the President's request for that sum was accompanied by the assurance that if federal work relief policy would not be changed, this created widespread suspicion here, shared by persons ordinarily well informed, that Roosevelt had in the back of his mind the possible necessity for a federal deficiency appropriation for relief by next March. April which would lift the cost well above $1,500,000,000.

There are about 2,650,000 persons on WPA rolls now. Hopkins says $1,500,000,000 considering funds otherwise available and deducting sums for other activities, would keep a monthly average of 1,720,000 on the rolls during the next fiscal year. It's an "irreducible minimum" according to Hopkins, and his hopes of getting by on it while adhering to present policy is based on continued pickup in private employment. A cut to $1,000,000, he says, would provide for an average of fewer than 1,000,000 PWA workers.

Question of Who Pays

The mayors are going to plug the argument that every successful attempt to shift more of the relief burden back to the states and municipalities means an increase in taxes on owners of homes and other property. They take the attitude that the question is largely one of who pays for relief—home owners or the "big boys" who pay income and corporation taxes.

Managing the affairs of large cities, where the relief problem is chiefly concentrated, these men insist that it is hopeless to expect states to tax or appropriate adequately for relief. The reason they give is that legislatures of most industrial states are disproportionately weighted or representatives of the rural "cow counties," who refuse to spend money on urban problems, thus making cities depend on the general property tax. Much of the cost of the social security act has been pushed onto counties and towns rather than the states.

Paul V. Betters, executive secretary of the mayors' organization, says the cities and states already are paying for 100 per cent of direct relief costs, all local and state shares in the social security program, about 20 per cent of the WPA program, 55 per cent of all PWA projects now operating, and supplemental relief to "thousands of WPA workers because of the inadequacy of WPA wages." The WPA recently presented statistics showing local and state funds used for relief and work programs had increased from $338,000,000 in 1933 to $1,244,953,000 in 1936.

Want Standards Lowered

But the federal budget needs balancing and everybody admits it. The relief fight in large part is actually over the question whether federal taxes shall be raised to maintain present relief standards, or whether the nation shall operate with a locally administered dole paid with federal assistance. Do so for favor drastic relief cuts do those for various reasons, important among which are the desire to avoid higher taxes and a belief that relief standards should be lowered in certain areas.

Whether a return to the dole would actually prove less expensive to the federal government is a controversial question. The usual proposal for the federal government to match funds with localities 50-50. But there are about 2,500,000 direct relief cases and about 2,000,000 cases now handled by WPA. They add up to 4,500,000 cases for which the federal government would be one-half responsible. History of FEHA showed that relief standards everywhere rose ap-precisely when the federal government began contributing.

There's nothing in any angle of the situation which offers much promise that higher federal taxes in the next year can be avoided.

ONLY BOONES FIGURE IN STRANGE WEDDING

MARTINEZ, Calif., May 17 (AP)—The great-great grandson of Daniel Boone came west to marry today and started a strange cycle of coincidences.

Daniel R. Boone, 26, of Denver, Colo., and Miss Marjorie Anne Hudson, 24, of Dayton, O., were married by the Rev. John R. George of the Baptist church.

Boone, a traveling salesman, happened to mention he was a great-great grandson of Daniel Boone, the American pioneer and explorer. Mr. George's wife, the former Olive Barber, surprisingly volunteered the information she was the great-great granddaughter of American Boone, Daniel's sister.

And the Rev. Mr. George declared he was a great-great grandson of Philip Herrod, who accompanied Daniel Boone from Virginia through the Cumberland Gap before founding Herrodsburg, Ky.

The Indians once captured American Boone. Mr. George related, and Herrod and his brother, John, raided the redskins' camp and rescued the girl.

Boone said his father resides in Kentucky near the original Boone homestead.

Crushed to Death

WELLINGTON, Kas., May 17 (AP)—Joe Cummins, 34, switchman, was crushed to death between the couplings of a switch engine and a freight car in the Santa Fe railroad yards last night. He came here from Borger, Texas, in 1926. The widow and two children survive.

SAFE AND SANE DRIVING

BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

NIGHT ON THE HIGHWAY

Nearly two-thirds of the fatal motor car accidents take place between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. Yet traffic for that 12-hour period is only about one-third of the 24-hour total.

Cool nerves are demanded for night driving. The four-lane roadway very likely means that double the usual number of flashing headlights must be gaged and passed safely. The speed with which some of these rushing demons approach is terrifying.

Keep well to the right side of the road, and be continually on the lookout for the slow car ahead. There may be a stalled car on the pavement and you may not have even the warning of a single small tail-light. Crashes occur from this cause all too frequently.

Look carefully also for the thoughtless rural walker, who may be tramping ahead of you down your own (which is his wrong) side of the road. You may be able to discern only the dimmest outline before you have to swerve suddenly to avoid him.

And if you have to stop for a puncture, or for any other trouble, pull entirely off the roadway if possible. There is the only safety.

12 KILLED ON TEXAS ROADS IN WEEK-END

3 DROWN, ONE SHOT TO DEATH IN STATE FATALITIES

The year's largest week-end toll of violent deaths in Texas had claimed 18 victims today, traffic accidents accounting for 12.

The grim reaper took three lives by drowning, one by gunshot wounds, one by cuts from a hoe and one by electrocution.

Austin and Dallas each had two traffic fatalities. W. A. Henderson, 46, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver and T. M. Collins, 74, was fatally injured when he walked into the side of a car at Dallas.

At Austin Miss Jewell Denton, 29, of San Antonio, died from injuries received in an automobile collision March 23, and Harry O. Bouchard, Jr., 11, was killed when he fell from a trailer.

Emil Drabek, 20, was killed in an automobile accident at Shiner. James Stafford, 47, died from injuries when he collided with an automobile at Olney. Mrs. R. H. Dillard, 21, was killed when the car in which she was riding overturned near Wichita Falls.

J. C. Whaley, 75 of Gainesville, was killed at Nacogdoches when the car in which he was traveling struck a ditch and bounced against a tree. Howard Vaughan, 19, of Harrold, was killed in an automobile collision. Elton Rogers, 27, of Artesia Wells, was killed when an automobile overturned near Laredo.

A FRAID to Love

CHAPTER 23. Philip stood at the window of his hotel room in San Francisco and looked out on the city below him. The rain was pouring down with a depressing steadiness, and out across the bay a fog was beginning to rise.

"What a night, no thought, to land in a strange town where one didn't have even a nodding acquaintance with another soul!"

"He was getting fed up with this wild goose-chase for Sybil. Fifty dollars a week, to track down a 15-year-old school girl! Sybil might have thought of something more clever."

"What more could he discover in San Francisco than he had in Seattle?"

"Thanks to the susceptible Miss Baldwin, he had in his pocket the name of the school which Joan Barrett had attended prior to her transfer to Eastman high school in Seattle, when she was 15 years old! He could go there tomorrow and meet another Miss Greeley and be informed as to the girl's marks in simple algebra, and her attendance record in the gymnasium, and the quality of her accent in Spanish. Tommyrot!"

"Probably when he got back to New York he would be able to qualify for the interesting position of truant officer."

"He thought, a little grimly, that it might have been better if he'd had it out with his uncle, and San Francisco, too. The fuss would have been over by this time, whereas this hide-and-seek game might go on forever. Curse Joan Barrett! Yes, and Sybil, too. A girl like her didn't have to resort to schemes like this to get her man."

Well, one more day, and he'd see the end of San Francisco. Tomorrow, no matter where the trail led, he was going to make his own trail down the coast. To Hollywood, then down to the border, perhaps. To Santa Anita. Or Agua Caliente. Those sounded like hot spots.

There would be money from Sybil tomorrow. Express money, and his own monthly allotment from their trust fund. When he spoke to her on the phone a while ago, she had promised to wire it to him the first thing in the morning. He hadn't said anything about quitting; he could drop her a line once he got the money, the thought of it. He'd done enough already. Let Sybil chase her own will o' the wisp from now on.

Santa Anita! He smiled, and turned his back on the gloomy outlook from the window. There were races down there... and easy money. Was it Santa Anita now? He tried to remember. Or was the race at Turf again this year? Or had he better try Agua Caliente? There was a pretty casino there, so he'd been told. Would this be the right season for Agua Caliente? Or had he better take in the races—Santa Anita or the Juana? Which one?

Well! He'd better find out where he was going and what he was going after before he got started. There'd be no sense in arriving at the race track out of season when the casino was going full blast in another city. He walked over and picked up the phone. "Send me up an evening newspaper, will you?" he asked smoothly. "Oh, any one will do. Wait a minute—make it the final sports edition. Thanks, Sybil. Maybe I'll be down to see you later."

He grinned at his own reflection in the bureau mirror. If the evening date with a good-looking telephone operator.

Later—an hour or so later—having discovered all he wanted to know on the sports page he turned back to the front of the paper to scan the general news. Local gossip, for the most part, but he read it for want of something better to do.

The senator from California was making himself heard in Washington—page one. Details of the war in Spain—dull details, Philip thought. What the devil were they fighting about, anyway? A Hollywood divorce—he read that one through.

On page two, more details about San Francisco's latest crime sensation. He read that through, also. Crime was always interesting on a rainy evening. Apparently he had arrived in town too late for the beginning of this one; was already two days old. The police had made no arrest, but there were suspects. Philip considered the suspects. In his mind, he convicted the guilty party with very little reflection.

Reading down the column, he was pleased to notice that Mr. Burton, of the district attorney's office, agreed with him.

"I feel convinced," Mr. Burton was alleged to have said, "that the crime was a combination of murder and robbery." There is no doubt of it. The case is parallel, almost detail for detail, to the famous Barrett case of a decade ago....

Philip sat up. The famous Barrett case. He read down the column quickly, to find a further reference. There was none, however. A moment later, he picked up the telephone again.

"Get me the office of the Evening Times, will you, sister?" He tapped the edge of the telephone table nervously as he waited for the connection. This was getting exciting!

"He spoke to two or three people at the 'Times' office before he was finally referred to the paper's 'morgue,' its library.

"Have you anything in your files on the Barrett case?" Philip asked. "About ten years ago."

"What?" exclaimed the morgue assistant, answering the call. Philip repeated his question. "Say! The voice was suspicious. 'Are you trying to kid me, fellow?'"

"Philip was a little taken back. 'Certainly not,' he said with dignity. 'I saw a reference to the case in this evening's 'Times.' I thought you might know something of it....'"

"Wait a minute!" The voice became more understanding. "Where were you 10 years ago?"

"In the East. In New York, as a matter of fact...."

"Ch-h-h. That's it. Well, let me tell you, buddy, for six months the 'Times' carried practically nothing else but the Barrett case. That was a sensation, that was. I don't know how you ever heard of it in New York!"

Philip rubbed his knee with satisfaction. Boy, if this was the right track, would Sybil eat it up!

"Say, would it be possible," he asked the voice at the other end, "for me to come down and look through those back issues?"

"Sure. Come ahead. Come down any time tomorrow...."

"There's no chance of seeing them tonight?"

"O. K. It's your funeral if you want to come out on a night like this.... Ask for O'Reilly. That's me."

"Thanks, O'Reilly. I'll be right down."

He hung up the phone and sat there, ready to cheer for himself. Was he getting somewhere! Well, he guessed, Sybil knew what she was about when she sent him out on this job.

Half an hour later, he was in the morgue of the 'Times,' going through a stack of newspapers which the obliging O'Reilly kept piling higher and higher.

"Whoa, there!" Philip protested finally. "This is plenty for tonight. I don't want to write a book on the case."

O'Reilly shrugged. "Most of 'em do that come in here. What do you want to know about it?"

Philip lowered his voice confidentially. "I don't want it to get around, but I'm here on a special investigation into this Cummings affair."
