"Doctrine of Atonement" which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, April 18.
The Golden Text is "John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon in the following from the Bible: "Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not that which had seen Him after He was risen. And He said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:14, 15).
The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus' last proof was the highest, the most convincing, the most profitable to his students. He showed the final demonstration of the truth which Jesus taught, and for which He was crucified, opened a new era for the world. Those who slew Him to stay His influence perpetuated and extended it" (page 43).

Echoes of the supreme court Wagner law decision on Monday came in an announcement from Pittsburgh that the steel workers organizing committee was preparing to file charges of discrimination against union men of the Weirton Steel company and at St. Louis where a federal court order gave an employer an order restraining picketing of his place of business.
Other Disputes
Other disputes, involving several thousand workers, in all, kept 4,500 potter men in the East Liverpool, O., area idle; hampered bus lines at Muncie, Ind.; and marked a drive to unionize auto mechanics at Houston, Tex.

for company CIO union workers contended recognition had been extended them by the management but company officials denied this was so.
Workers and employers alike speculated meanwhile on the possibility of the sit-down technique being replaced by the "slow-down." In the Tennant Manufacturing company plant at Detroit, a General Motors subsidiary, employees used the new protest method, resembling a slow-motion movie or stalling in a basketball game, it was disclosed yesterday. The workers claimed the management had refused to negotiate grievances under the provisions of the General Motors-United Automobile Workers of America agreement.
Packard Conference
An official of the U. A. W. A. said the objective of workers in a slow-down was to "try to see how little they can do without actually stopping work entirely."
Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard company, said he accepted the request of Richard T. Frankenstein, U. A. W. A. organization director, for a conference this afternoon to "formally present demands to you on behalf of your organized employees."
A sudden walkout of bus drivers and street car operators left Akron, O., without service. Wage negotiations had been in progress for weeks between the Akron Transportation company and the union. P. P. Gill, union secretary, termed the walkout an "outlaw strike."

The governor filed without his signature a resolution memorializing Congress to reimburse Oklahoma for revenue lost through being deprived of taxes on Indian lands. He explained that he had been holding up action to see what Oklahoma would do about permitting Texans to fish in Red river and that sufficient time elapsed for the resolution to become effective without his signature.

he would join with supporters of the bill to close the hearings. He has remained non-committal on the bill.
Much of the discussion of compromises centered on a proposal by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.), a pivotal member of the committee, for an unconditional increase of two justices on the supreme bench.
The court senators on both sides of the court issue criticized the McCarran proposal, there was a strong belief within and without the committee that eventually a compromise of this kind would be reached.
No Word From FD
There still was no indication that President Roosevelt would be willing to accept less than the six new judges provided in his bill if members over 70 do not retire. Opposition leaders said, however, they were receiving indirect suggestions that the chief executive would like to talk to them.
Democrats in the senate were understood to have submitted many of the compromise proposals to Mr. Roosevelt in writing weeks ago. One of them would permit appointment of sufficient judges to keep the majority of the court at all times under 70 years of age. Another would fix the terms of justices by constitutional amendment.

"That's a bad situation over there," Thompson said, "and I'm sure I would be much better satisfied here."
He said he signed a contract with Greenville school officials but was not bound to accept the position.

YOUNG MAN DIES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 16 (AP)—Sallow-faced Roy Wilburn Eatmon, 24, died calmly in Tennessee's electric chair at dawn today while his wife and year-old baby waited outside the death house to take his body back to their farm home near Osceola, Ark.
The frail but composed youth was executed for killing a Memphis filling station operator during an attempted holdup.
Talking of the holdup-killing last night, Eatmon said:
"I had not had a regular job for a year or more. I had a wife and baby to support.
"I needed the money, but of course whiskey had something to do with it."

History Of A Sit-Down Strike

Dallas Woman For 15 Months Has Watched Over Furniture Moved Out On Walk

DALLAS, April 16 (AP)—In the history of sit-down strikes let this be recorded:
Mrs. Onie Martin, 55, has maintained in more or less continuous degree a 15 months' vigil over furniture placed on the sidewalk in front of the home she lost through foreclosure.
Jan. 8, 1936, Constable Louis Brown, commissioned with a writ removed the furniture. When protests did no good, Mrs. Martin covered the goods, including a grand piano, with tarpaulin, climbed into an automobile at the curb, and sat.
The case was in court today. Mrs. Eless M. Thompson, who obtained possession of the house, sought a temporary injunction, alleging the furniture constituted a nuisance and traffic hazard. She asked $3,000 damages.
Mrs. Martin testified she intended to move the furniture "sometimes." "I don't know when. I takes money to move it and I haven't any money."
Relatives and friends have helped Mrs. Martin keep the watch. She said she did not keep a constant surveillance but spent the major portion of the time between 5 p. m. and daylight on guard.
She has told an interviewer "we wore out the seats of two different coupe models and now we have a two-door sedan."

PAPERS PRINTING STORIES OF HITLER ARE SUPPRESSED
WARSAW, April 16 (AP)—Polish newspapers defying an unofficial "request" not to print stories romantically linking the names of Chancellor Hitler of Germany and Pilsa Negri, Polish star of silent motion pictures, were suppressed by the government today.
Although no official order was issued, newspapers were made to understand such reports were not wanted, and when the Kurjer Codzienny and the Agencia Agrarna persisted in reprinting such stories from British newspapers, the government took action.

Business On Uneven Trend

Some Retailers Report Improvement, Wholesale Volume Up

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Cross currents were evident in some divisions of trade this week, Dun & Bradstreet said today in the weekly review of business.
"Many retailers had the most consistent improvement thus far this spring," the agency said, "while the uneven gains of others varied daily with wide weather fluctuations."
"Wholesale volume was buoyed chiefly by summer requirements, as substantial stocks showed orders to most apparel branches. "Urgency for delivery spread to more divisions, but the rise of industrial operations in some districts was shortened by the confusion in the labor situation."
The agency estimated retail sales for the country as a whole at from 8 to 15 per cent above the same week last year, but when compared with the immediately preceding period some key cities reported declines.
Percentage gains over the 1936 comparative in major geographic regions were: New England 10 to 18; east, 8 to 20; middle west, 12 to 18; northwest, 12 to 22; south, 12 to 20; southwest, 8 to 12, and Pacific coast, 10 to 20.

SANITY TEST FOR THREAT NOTE WRITER

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—Federal prosecutors prepared today to ask a sanity test for John Busas, 19-year-old garage mechanic seized as the writer of extortion letters to Ginger Rogers, the actress.
"I don't think he's insane or feeble minded, but the case shows a mental complex and a sanity hearing is the usual procedure in the case of minors," said Assistant District Attorney Martin Ward.
Among those planning to make the trip to Lubbock are Gentry, W. C. Blankenship, city superintendent, Edmund Notestine, newly-elected business manager, W. T. Strange, Jr., Cal Boykin, and possibly Bob Schermerhorn.

'Daring' Style Creations Of 1911 Event To Be Superseded In This Year's Affair

Not all the ostrich feathers sent to England this season will be used in the traditional court headdresses. Madelon Chaumet uses several, tinted water-lily pink, in this becoming evening hat which has a foundation of black net.

By MILLIE HUDSON
LONDON, (AP)—Present coronation dress styles, with the exception of a few revivals, differ widely from those which prevailed in 1911 when King George V was crowned.

For in 1911 there was a daring note in styles. Tight corsets had been discarded and "big" waists were in vogue. Necklines had been cut down a little and sleeves shortened to the elbow.

Queen Mary apparently was not in favor of these new styles. A style specialist in 1911 wrote: "I hear that Queen Mary dislikes both low-cut necks and elbow-sleeves for the daytime, and has desired her maids-of-honor not to abandon a collar or lace round the throat and cuffs near wrist. For a pretty, full throat, however, the low-cut style is undoubtedly becoming, and Paris has so definitely declared in favor of no collar that it will almost surely be the fashion."

The same writer, heralding the spring fashions of 1911, wrote: "The empire high waistline has conquered all opposition and is revived in full fashion. . . . Big waists are quite the vogue; to pinch in the figure anywhere above the hips, and thus make them prominent, is to be quite out of date. Straight as possible is to be the outline of the whole costume."

History Repeats Itself
History is now repeating itself, for the high empire waistline is again. Skirts however do not hang straight from bust to hem as they once did.

The modern empire has allied itself to the princess style. The bodice still extends a little below the bust, and the waistline is often carried up higher in front than at the back as it was in 1911. But the skirt below is more or less fitted to the figure, particularly about the natural waist and hips.

History also repeats itself in the tunic style, a popular vogue of the moment. Nearly all the gowns worn at the last coronation were made in one piece. At the same time a tunic effect was given in many cases by trimming or by a band of another material carried round below the knees. As a rule the dress was a one-piece foundation and had draperies or decorations to give a high-waisted tunic effect. The straight line of this silhouette was considered "extra graceful."

Straight Lines Good Then
The tunic dresses and suits in fashion this spring usually have a slight flare which modifies the straight line of the skirt below. And they are generally shorter.

The pencil-straight outline was also followed in coats and skirts, as well as in gowns, during the last coronation, one of the most chic of the coats being described as "quite short." They came eight or ten inches below the waist and were cut so that they hung from the bust, almost shapeless and quite loose. In contrast the costume coats of today, though still Today much similarity is noted. Among the reminders are crinoline feathers and roses, which are used generously in decorations.

To say that the hats our mothers wore were large is putting it mildly. They were terrific—in brim, in crown and in trimming effects. But so are some of the hats today.

Reading + Writing

By John Selby
There is something so supremely daring in Donald Culross Peattie's new book that the mere statement of what it is leaves the prospective reader a little startled. It is "A Book of Hours," a modern version of an old, old habit. It is written for no purpose, unless interpretation of a nation to a nation can be called a purpose. Nowadays I fear it cannot—we want books about commoners who married a king, and kings who gave all for love, and trips like that.

No, Mr. Peattie's "A Book of Hours" is only a pretty gesture to 99.44-100 per cent of America. For a few it will be a delight and an experience. These will see that Mr. Peattie's journey around the clock, from three in the morning onward, is one of the finest expressions of American thought we have. Mr. Peattie is a naturalist, or a biologist, whichever you will. He likes lying on his stomach to watch a bundle of insects. He is utterly unconcerned about you and what you think of him. He cares very little for what you and I call success. He can even see a city objectively, whereas we cannot see it at all, as a rule.

He sees man, too, objectively. That is, man is to Mr. Peattie another manifestation of nature, just as a bug is, or a water lily. He thus can think straight, without bending all thought to fit the concept of man in the mind of man. This produces something that will seem, to certain minds, out of drawing—I suspect that it is the other way around.

Listen to this: the beginning of "Six post meridian."

"Now there is emptying of the city centers, the running away of blood from a congested plexus of the human body social, a compensatory ebb for the flow of the morning. Already the buildings are nearly void. The sun blazes upon the western window spaces, so that falsely the tall towers seem illuminated. . . . This is a melancholy hour in the trade hubs, with the afternoon's news already dead on the deserted stands, the ticker tape cut off by Atropos. . . ."

"A Book of Hours," by Donald Culross Peattie (Putnam; $2.50).

Hollywood Marital Circus Goes On As Dan Cupid Takes Drubbing

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 16—Cupid has taken a bad beating recently in Hollywood, but is still ahead on points.

Several marriages and romances went to pieces but the situation is not alarming, however.

A spring survey today into the realm of tender emotions showed that the John Barrymore-Elaine Barrie affair tops the entries on the debit side of the ledger.

The big bust-up occurred last New Year's eve when, after a short period of married life, Miss Barrie and her elderly husband quarreled at a night club.

She filed suit for divorce. There were rumors of reconciliation. Elaine said John was trying to win her back, but that she would have none of it. Barrymore hasn't talked.

As the matter stands today, there will be no reunion, Elaine declares.

For the second time within a year, Adrienne Ames obtained a divorce decree from Bruce Cabot recently. Their reconciliation attempt after the first decree was a flop.

Betty Compson, star of the silent screen, won a divorce from Irving Weinberg, theatrical agent, on testimony that he was cruel and went about with other women.

Outwardly, there were no hearts badly broken when Arline Judge got a Reno divorce from Wesley Ruggles, film director. Almost before the ink was dry on the decree, the petite brunette was honeymooning with Dan Topping, sportsman.

But getting cupid down for the count here is something else again. He rallied to score the following:

The marriage of Louise Rainer, Viennese actress, to Clifford Odets, scenarist.

Mary Astor, of diary fame, sloped to Yuma with Manuel Martinez Del Campo, Mexican insurance salesman.

Myrna Loy married Arthur Hornblow, producer, and Lyle Talbot took as his wife, Marguerite Ethel Cramer of New York society.

A notable reconciliation occurred between Mr. and Mrs. Stan Laurel after the dazed comedian amnesiaed himself in marital difficulties.

There is no accurate measuring stick for Hollywood romances in determining their depth and durability, yet these have reached the stage of definite engagements:

Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond are to be married in June. Janice Jarrett has renounced her film career for Melvin Purvis, ex-department of justice agent, and a wedding late this month. The marriage day of Pickford and Charles Rogers is unset.

These publicized romances can be taken for what they're worth:

Carol Lombard-Clark Gable, Tyrone Power-Sonja Henie, Rochelle Hudson-Lee Bowman, Johnny Downs-Eleanor Whitney, Martha Raye-Bill Borrow, Shirley Ross-Eddie Anderson, Jean Harlow-William Powell.

And many others, mentioned in print, but apt to be radically revised tomorrow.

The Lupe Velez-Johnny Weissmuller marriage is in a niche by itself. The idea the public is supposed to get is that they are happiest when fighting.

Dr. H. E. Hogan Speaks Before East Ward PTA

Dr. J. E. Hogan was a guest speaker at a meeting of the East Ward Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon when members discussed the Summer Round-Up, heard a program by students and presented the past president with a gift of appreciation.

Diseases of children was the subject of the doctor's address and he listed the common ailments of pre-school children and beginners. He stressed the importance of immunization and co-operation in parents in combating spread of communicable diseases.

Pupils of Mrs. George Long presented the program of songs and readings that they presented on the P.T.A. broadcast during the forum over KRST Thursday morning.

A gift of appreciation, a white purse, was presented by the association to Mrs. James T. Brooks, outgoing president who has served in that capacity for the past two years. During the past year the organization has purchased three radios for the school in connection with the visual education program. Miss Milton Powell's room won the contest.

Fifteen parents were present.

FINICKY APPETITES OFTEN ONE RESULT OF CONSTIPATION

When nothing tastes right, and you don't eat as you should, the trouble may be common constipation. Poor appetite is one of its symptoms. Others are headaches, listlessness and sallow complexion.

Constipation is usually due to "low-bulk" meals. Serve your family Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a generous source of "bulk."

Within the body, this food absorbs twice its weight in water, and gently exercises and sponges out the system. How much better than taking pills and drugs!

ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Three times daily, in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into appetizing muffins, breads, etc.

Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Famed Novel Is Made Into A Photoplay

New Star Presented In 'The Soldier And The Lady,' At Ritz

Bringing to life on the screen the exciting adventures and desperate struggles of Jules Vern's immortal "Michael Strogoff," is the new film "The Soldier and the Lady," picture of the Vern novel with the new star, Anton Walbrook, in the hero role. The picture is at the Ritz Friday and Saturday.

Dealing with the efforts of Strogoff, a courier of the Tsar to reach a besieged Russian army at Irkutsk during a sudden rebellion of the Tartar hordes, the picture has many exciting episodes.

These include the shadowing of the courier by a woman spy; his rescue of the spy from the attack of an enraged bear; his meeting with the traitor commanding the Tartar rebels; his romance with the Russian girl who accompanies him on his perilous journey; his fight with Tartar pirates; his capture by a Tartar patrol as he tries to reach the Russian lines; the intensely dramatic moments when he is condemned to be blinded by having a white-hot sword passed before his eyes; the death of the spy; and his triumphant revenge on the Tartar leader in the palace at Irkutsk.

As a counterpart to these gripping scenes, "The Soldier and the Lady" shows what has been acclaimed as two of the greatest battle sequences ever recorded by the camera; namely, the defeat of a Russian army by two Tartar cavalry regiments, and the final annihilation of the rebels as the courier leads the Grand Duke's forces on them from Irkutsk in a surprise sortie.

"The Soldier and the Lady" marks Anton Walbrook's American debut. In the feminine leads are Elizabeth Allan and Margot Grahame. Akim Tamiroff, Fay Bainter and Eric Blore are also cast under George Nicholls, Jr.'s, direction and Pandro S. Berman's production.

Some 50,000 American tourists visited Mexico City last year, remaining an average of 10 days in the republic and spending about $200 apiece.

Curwood Novel Of West Brought To The Queen Theatre

Kermit Maynard comes to the Queen theatre Friday and Saturday in what is declared to be one of the best of the more than 100 starring photoplays he has made. The production is "Gallop, Dynamite," an adaptation of James Oliver Curwood's exciting story of the early west, "The Dawn Rider."

Comedy, romance and melody are all woven into this exciting story of the Texas Ranger who avenges the death of his younger brother by bringing about the assassination of two murdering thieves and the accidental death of another. The intervening action is marked by suspense typical of the Curwood writings.

Ariane Allen, a newcomer to the screen, supplies the love interest in "Gallop, Dynamite," while others in the cast are John Merton, John Ward, Stanley Blystone, David Sharp, Francis Walker and others. Maynard's horse, "Rocky" also holds a prominent place in the picture.

JOHNNY MACK BROWN STARRS AT LYRIC
Johnny Mack Brown is the star of the western adventure melodrama booked at the Lyric theatre Friday and Saturday. He appears as the outdoor hero in "Trail of Vengeance." Playing with him in the picture are Iris Meredith, Warner Richmond and Karl Hackett.

New Rail Pension Plan Submitted

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—A new railroad pension proposal punched a $100,000,000 hole in administration revenue estimates today, forcing budget bureau officials to recheck federal income and outgo for this fiscal year.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee introduced yesterday a rail retirement program which would give the roads and their workers tax refunds of about $50,000,000 each.

Doughton said the new plan, designed to replace the court-contested 1935 retirement legislation, was acceptable to the carriers, rail brotherhoods and the administration.

The treasury, objecting to a voluntary pension plan formulated by management and labor, originally contended no tax refunds should be granted.

Although ignoring this, Doughton's program would lift the tax rates to meet treasury standards.

Johnny Mack Brown and Iris Meredith provide the romantic element in Johnny's new western adventure film, "Trail of Vengeance," booked at the Lyric Friday and Saturday.

STUDENT SIT-DOWN STRIKE ENDS AFTER GENERAL PADDLING

INDIANOLA, Okla., April 16 (AP)—High school students in this little southeastern Oklahoma town were back in their classes today after a threatened sit-down strike ended in paddlings for 40 boys.

Another form of punishment was to be given about 30 girls who participated with the boys in a parade in support of J. W. Weeks, school principal, whom the board failed to re-elect for next year. The students had announced a sit-down strike would be called after the parade.

T. J. McKnight, school superintendent, persuaded the students to return to classes, then called the boys one by one into his office, for an old-fashioned paddling.

NEW STAR

A new star in the film world is Anton Walbrook, shown here with Margot Grahame. The two appear in the film version of the famous Jules Vern novel, "The Soldier and the Lady," the picture title being "The Soldier and the Lady." The production is at the Ritz Friday and Saturday.

Jas. Stewart, Simone Simon Starred In New Version Of Film

The talking-picture version of one of the most popular photoplays of all time, "Seventh Heaven," is the featured attraction at the Ritz theatre Sunday and Monday. The run opens with a midnight matinee showing Saturday night.

In the roles first played by Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are Simone Simon, the young French actress, and James Stewart, an up-and-coming featured player of Hollywood.

Few theatre goers are unfamiliar with the poignant love story in which Chico and Diane are the principals. Chico, the Paris sewer worker, saves the girl from an attack in a cafe, takes her to his garret to live, posing as her husband to avoid trouble with the police. War comes, and the two realize they are in love. Chico leaves Diane, but promises to return. The girl later hears he is killed, but keeps her spiritual trust, confident that he will return in person. This situation develops into a stirring romantic climax.

In the supporting cast are Jean Harsholt, Gregory Retoff, Gale Sondergaard, J. Edward Bromberg, John Qualen, Victor Kilian, Thomas Beck, Sig Ruman and Mady Christians.

Has New Type Picture Role

Joseph Calleia The Hero Of 'Man Of The People,' At Queen

Joseph Calleia, talented actor who heretofore has played the villain in many a film, becomes a hero in a new production, "Man of the People," which plays Sunday and Monday at the Queen theatre, with a Saturday midnight matinee preview.

Calleia plays the familiar role of an honest lawyer pitted against the crooks in a big city. A poor boy who has risen to a prominent place, he becomes assistant district attorney and is promptly disgusted with the system which whitewashes political favorites.

When he refuses to play the game, he is ousted. A sympathetic governor appoints him head of a special investigating committee. His first discovery is that a big corporation, in which the mother of his sweetheart is a stockholder, is corrupt. He prosecutes; and wins not only the case but the girl.

Florence Rice plays opposite Calleia. Ted Healy has a comedy role and others in the cast are Thomas Mitchell, Catherine Doucet, Paul Stanton and Johnathan Hale.

WOULD PUT QUINS IN HUGE CASTLE

TORONTO, April 16 (Canadian Press)—A grandiose plan to enshrine the Dionne quintuplets in the $2,000,000 Casa Loma "White Elephant" castle and as its sponsor said—"pay off the entire national debt in 36 years" was under consideration today by the Toronto civic property committee.

The children would be made "Canada's greatest tourist attraction" under the scheme of Alderman Percy Quinn who was named a committee of one to take the plan before the property commissioner.

DRIVING—AND WALKING—CAREFULLY

"Walk Carefully—Drive Sanelly—Arrive Safely" was the prize winning slogan awarded in a contest connected with a safety campaign sponsored by the chamber of commerce of a Texas city—and it covered the subject thoroughly in few words, the way a slogan should do.

We have been accustomed to demanding that drivers of cars shall drive safely, but there has been little insistence that people shall walk safely. This in fact of the fact that many of the accidents, as we have come to call them, are due to careless or illegal walking.

In cities where are traffic lights grown people too often pay no attention to the regulations and invite disaster. Too impatient to remain on the sidewalk until the street is clear for them to cross, they walk halfway into the roadway and run the risk of being struck and injured.

The drivers should drive carefully without a doubt, but the burden is not altogether on the driver. Pedestrians are under as great obligation to use care as is the driver.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — There was a dinner, a most important dinner, for Jacques Stodt, who translates fairy tales from the Persian into French and then English. But I didn't get there.

As I was ransacking the place for a clean collar, the telephone rang, and a no-good who doesn't have to work, said: "If we hurry, we can be there before midnight; it's only 70 miles."

So I flung off one slightly mussed mess jacket and got into some good feeling but very soiled fishing togs — you know, corduroys, boots, etc.—and seven minutes later was on the curb to greet my tempter as he drove up.

By that time we were purring up towards George Washington Bridge, which we crossed, and then launched out into Route 27, which curls away into a fastness of hills that become wilder and higher as New York is left behind.

We swung through a drift of Jersey hills and began the climb that took us into some of the best deer country in the state. Then we streaked past an open water-shed, turned into a wooded lane, and followed it until it evolved into a fine, hard dirt road that saved us miles of hill climbing.

"Come on," said No-Good. We stalked into the inn. The old keeper greeted us with a mug of something warm and fragrant of apple toddy.

"Fishin'?" he said. "That's right. I hope to high sky you got plenty of bait."

"Sure, plenty. Big ones, too, big fat night-crawlers. But they ain't going to do you no good."

That brought our mugs down with a clump. "It's like this," said the old keeper. "A call come for you half an hour ago. It said git on back to town in a hurry."

Professor No-Good put in a hurry call for New York. I am here to state that his face fell a foot when he got the bad news. Mournfully he explained: "Some confounded relative of mine has left me some money. I don't know his name, but he's a half-uncle, or something. My lawyer says I must be in town in the morning."

Well, it was a swell ride back. We ate bacon and eggs in Chiles at 4:25 A. M. The waiter who brought it said he was due off in just half an hour.

"Home and to bed?" we suggested. "Hell, no," he said, "I'm going fishin'!"

A recent visitor was writer Charles Bennett, although he is not related to Constance, Joan and the other Bennetts. He's here to fashion manuscripts for a film company.

NEWS

BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLOTT Copyright, 1937, by Paul Mallott

Senate line-up on court plan declared close. Check shows Roosevelt majority to slim. Administration statements viewed as bluffs. Last-minute switches to bill held likely.

WASHINGTON, April 16—President Roosevelt has been telling friends privately he has an absolute minimum majority of five votes for his court packing bill in the senate.

Ordinarily, in such circumstances, officials do not find it necessary or advisable to advertise their confidence so strenuously. The constant reiteration of these claims has, in fact, aroused some vague suspicion that something must be wrong somewhere on the inside.

The president seems to have a good chance to get 50 votes, of which 10 are by no means certain. The opposition has 40 votes sure and will get at least four more for a probable total of 44.

Only two senators are still really doubtful, and they will probably vote against. This means the situation is so tight as to be really dangerous from the president's standpoint.

There is a rather general belief, for instance, that certain states will fare better than others, as will certain senators.

Line-Ups: On the basis, therefore, not of how they stand, but how they may be expected to vote, the following classification is authoritative: Mr. Roosevelt's bag—Ashurst, Barkley, E. A. Tamm, Clegg, Bone, Bulkley, Byrnes, Caraway, Dietrich, E. J. Hayden, Green, Guffey, Harrison, Hayden, Hitchcock, Hughes, Lee, Logan, Lundeen, McAdoo, McGill, McKellar, Minton, Neely, Norris, Overton, Pepper, Pittman, Pope, Reynolds, Robinson, Schwartz, Schwellenback, Sheppard, Smith, Thomas (Edw. D.), Thomas (Elmer), Truman—38.

Likely to jump to Mr. Roosevelt—Bankhead, Brown, (Fred H.) Brown (Prentiss M.), Chavez, Gillette, Hatch, Herring, Maloney, Murray, O'Mahoney, Radcliffe, Wagner—12.

Such as against—Adams, Austin, Bachman, Bailey, Borah, Bridges, Bulow, Burke, Byrd, Capper, Clark, Connally, Copeland, Davis, Donahy, Frazier, George, Gerry, Gibson, Glass, Hale, Holt, Johnson (Hiram), King, La Follette, Lodge, Loneran, McNary, Moore, Nye, Shipstead, Smith, Steiwer, Townsend, Tydings, Vandenberg, Van Nuys, Walsh, Wheeler, White—40.

Likely to be against—Andrews, Duffy, Lewis, Russell—4.

Doubtful but probably against—Johnson (Edwin C.), and McCarran—2.

While all these deductions naturally cannot be guaranteed, they are likely to prove no less than 96 percent correct. Reasonable doubt, in several instances, have been resolved in favor of Mr. Roosevelt, so the percentage of error will very likely fall against him, and make the result even closer than the figures indicate.

Soothsayer: The word among the wise about Farley's predictions is that he has never mentioned how many votes he has, but has only said he has enough. Thus, it appears he is seeking to preserve his reputation as a prognosticator, while, at the same time, trying to keep his eyelash majority from defeatist dandruff.

Farley also knows what is not generally known, namely that the house judiciary committee, which is supposed to handle the legislation after the senate gets through with it, contains a majority against the president's program, and this majority probably cannot be broken down or hurled away by any or all of the tactics used successfully by senators.

Pontiac's Essay Contest Attracts Much Interest. Although the Pontiac Motors national essay contest has been going only one week, the interest it has created exceeds even the fondest expectations of sponsors and dealers alike. Preliminary reports received covering only the first few days show that many thousands of people all over the country have entered, taken their demonstration ride in a new Pontiac and sent in their essays.

$25,000 OFFERED FOR FLIGHT FROM CHINA TO DALLAS. PASADENA, Calif., April 16 (AP)—Colonel William Easterwood of Dallas, Texas, announced today he would pay a $25,000 prize for the first non-stop airplane flight from Hongkong, China, to his home city, Pasadena, Calif.

Motor company, local Pontiac dealer whose salesmen have been busy giving demonstrations, is enthusiastic. "If as many people in other cities are trying to win one of these prizes as they are here, then it looks to me as though a large percentage of American motorists will be well familiar with Pontiac's superior riding and driving qualities and will appreciate more than ever that Pontiac is, truly, 'America's Finest Low-Priced Car.'"

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

Chapter 18: TWO UNWANTED KISSES. Eve caught and kissed them indiscriminately. Marilyn in a 5-and-10 cent store hat and the expensive moleskin coat, just a little worn at the cuffs, which had cost some friend a lot of money before it was passed on to Marilyn.

"Or establish an airplane service," said Denny, buttering a waffle. They ate and talked and laughed drawer where Uncle Henry had put it some days back. "Isn't this grand?" Marilyn said as they all sat down to waffles and coffee on the bare table.

"Darling, we made up our minds you shouldn't be nosedick this first Sunday!" It was Marilyn, a whirlwind of affection. They were all dashing for the house. Little Judge cast one look about him, and then scampered around the corner of the house like a kitten let out of a basket, thin and neat and scurrying in the handsome overcoat made for some larger boy.

"We're seven-year locusts, darling," said Marilyn. "Have you got coffee? Mitzl will send Jean back to the hot-dog stand for everything else, but I said, 'I know my darling Eve has lots of coffee!'"

Mitzl's plump black-eyed face tipped up close to Denny's as she pulled his head down for a kiss. In the old way. Quantities, it seemed, had happened in the week Eve had been in exile. She piled their plates with more food and laughed and talked excitedly with them, basking in their company.

 Talk about gold-studded stuff, Colorado has a 40-mile highway that's actually peppered with the precious yellow metal—$12,000 worth per mile!
 Carveth Wells will tell all about this "road of gold" in the Continental Oil Company broadcast, "Exploring America with Conoco and Carveth Wells," which may be heard at 8:30 p. m. Saturday over radio station WFAA, Dallas. The travel program will be devoted to the Pike's Peak region of Colorado.
 Going back to the days of '59 when thousands of people from all sections of the country set out for Colorado in their Pike's-peak-or-bust covered wagons, the popular explorer-reporter will show how the finding of gold led to the discovery of much greater wealth—colorful scenery and a health-giving climate. Questions And Answers On Syphilis
 (The following questions and answers on syphilis have been prepared in connection with the series of articles written for the press and radio delivery by Big Spring physicians. The campaign is designed to acquaint the public with, and enlist its support in, a campaign against the evils of venereal diseases. — Editor's Note.)

1. Give a short historical sketch as to the origin of Syphilis.
 Answer: Whether syphilis was known in Europe before 1493, is still discussed. Bloch insists that there is no evidence of pre-Columbian syphilis in the eastern hemisphere before the return of Spanish sailors from Hayti, from whom it spread among the inhabitants of Barcelona. In 1493, it reached Italy with the army of Charles VIII. His soldiers syphilitized Naples; the disease spread throughout Italy, and in a few years Europe was aflame. Other writers contend that Chinese records, the Bible, and old medical writings describe lesions resembling syphilis. Old bones show lesions which appear to be syphilitic. The balance of evidence, according to the best syphilographers, is in favor of the American origin.

2. Describe the spirochaeta pallida, the germ which causes syphilis. When and by whom was it discovered?
 Answer: The spirochaeta pallida is an exceedingly delicate spiral organism, about 0.25 micron in thickness and of an average length of 7 microns or about the diameter of a red blood cell. It has 6-24 spirals. It is quite transparent and actively motile. Schaudinn and Hoffman identified the organism in 1905, as the cause of syphilis.

3. Describe the weakness of the spirochaeta pallida that protects the human race from a more widespread infection.
 Answer: The organism has a low viability, cannot resist drying or disinfectants and is, as has been said, anaerobic, which means it does not grow well in the presence of air.

4. When can you at all times find the biological conditions that perpetuate the infection?
 Answer: Anaerobiosis, or lack of air, and moisture make it a disease of intimate contacts for only in the mouth and vagina and under the foreskin are found year in and year out the biological conditions which perpetuate the infection.

5. Describe the viability of the spirochaeta pallida.
 Answer: It probably cannot survive exposure to air and light, even in a moist environment for more than eleven and one-half hours. It may survive in autopsy material and in the syphilitic fetus as long as twenty-six hours after death, and in properly kept moist tissue slight motility may be preserved three months or more. It perishes at once on drying, and this fact does away with all necessity for the disinfection of special cleansing

6. How long does the spirochaeta pallida, the germ which causes syphilis, live in the human body after death?
 Answer: It has been observed active as long as twenty-six hours after death.

Dangers
 7. Why are pipes, cups, and moist dressings passed from person to person, dangerous.
 Answer: Because the organism may live thirty minutes on cool moist surfaces.

8. What effect has drying on the spirochaeta?
 Answer: It perishes at once on drying.

9. Discuss subvarieties and strains on the spirochaeta pallida.
 Answer: The now well-substantiated clinical observation that patients who develop marked cutaneous or skin symptoms, are relatively immune for neurosyphilis or syphilis of the nervous system, and that patients with neurosyphilis can seldom give a history of marked skin manifestations, has been used as evidence that each type of manifestation was produced by a separate strain, though susceptible of other interpretations. Just where the influence of the strain or organism ends and the susceptibility of the host begins, it is impossible to define with our present knowledge.

10. Every patient infected with syphilis combines in the course of his disease the interaction of four elements. What are they?
 Answer: The susceptibility of the host, the strain of the organism, the duration of infection, and treatment.

Total Resistance
 11. What animals offer a total resistance to syphilis?
 Answer: Guinea-pig, dog, and goat.

12. What animals lend themselves well to experimental syphilis?
 Answer: Rabbit, and ape.

13. Why do some patients have eye involvements, others bone involvements, and others still different organs affected?
 Answer: It may be due to differences in the susceptibility of the host's structures, but there are too many other factors such as accidents in initial distribution, and peculiarities of the strain of organism involved, to permit of a definite decision as yet. It may be due to special strains of the spirochaeta.

14. What is the first local evidence of syphilis?
 Answer: The chancre.

Systemic Infection
 15. How soon does syphilis become a systemic infection?
 Answer: The blood becomes infected usually within forty-eight hours to a week after inoculation.

16. Does the spirochaeta pallida necessarily require an abrasion for an entry into the body?
 Answer: No, but abrasion favors infection.

17. What is a chancre?
 Answer: The chancre is a local reaction to the infection at the portal of entry of the organism. The first step after penetration is an invasion of the perivascular lymphatics by the spirochaeta pallida, followed by a vascular reaction which assumes the form of endothelial swelling with proliferation and development of an obliterative endarteritis. This is accompanied by perivascular infiltration with lymphocytes, the appearance of plasma cells, and finally fibroblastic proliferation and healing.

18. Why does a chancre heal while there is still an active syphilitic condition?
 Answer: It is due to the influence of an as yet uncomprehended biochemical mechanism.

19. If the reaction that causes the inhibition and destruction of the spirochaeta in the chancre was complete throughout the body, would there be a spontaneous cure?
 Answer: Yes.

20. Does structural healing necessarily mean the bacteriological sterilization?
 Answer: No, the healing of lesions may be induced without materially or permanently affecting the progress of the disease.

Relapse
 21. How do you account for relapse?
 Answer: During the healing of each local focus some organisms are failed to be destroyed and though their virulence has been attenuated or weakened, they may sometime in the future acquire sufficient virulence to again incite or relapse into infection.

22. Does the semen ever contain spirochaeta in active or late syphilis?
 Answer: Yes, many years after gross signs of the disease have disappeared.

23. Can you have a relapse at the site of the chancre?
 Answer: Yes, it is quite possible.

24. Is healing a proof of a cure?
 Answer: No.

25. Is the nature of systemic defense in syphilis different from other infections?
 Answer: Yes.
