LBJ Reshuffles Top Officers in Nuclear Fleet

Also Talks With Freeman on Cutting Cost of Farm Program

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson reshuffled the top officers of the nation's Strategic Air Command (SAC) Saturday and put in hours on agricultural matters — national and personal.

SAC is the nation's nuclear bomber armada. In national agricultural matters, he talked with Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, probably about how to reduce the cost of the multi-billion dollar federal farm program.

In personal agricultural matters, he accepted a prize-winning boar from an Iowa delegation. The President wants to upgrade the swine herd on his LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex.

He elevated Lt. Gen. John D. Ryan from second-in-command to commander-in-chief of the Strategic Air Command, effective Nov. 30. Gen. Thomas S. Power, present SAC commander, will retire then.

Johnson assigned Lt. Gen. Joseph J. Nazzaro, commander of the Eighth Air Force, to take over Ryan's job as SAC vice commander. He selected Maj. Gen. Horace M. Wade to replace Nazzaro.

Wade now is assistant deputy chief of staff for plans and operations at Air Force headquarters.

The President will attend memorial services at 3 p.m. EST Sunday in Austin, the Texas state capital, for President John Kennedy. The services will start an hour and a year after Kennedy was officially declared dead and the presidency passed to Johnson.

Former Vice President John Nance (Cactus Jack) Garner will observe his 96th birthday in Uvalde, Tex., Sunday and he invited both the President and Texas Gov. John Connally to a 4 p.m. EST celebration. The White House did not immediately announce whether the President will go.

Presented Boar

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Juhl of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, presented the President a nine-month old white Yorkshire boar named "Mr. High-IQ" for "high Iowa quality."

Dallas Schedules Silent Tribute to Honor Kennedy

DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas will come to a halt for 60 seconds Sunday and stand in silence to the memory of President John Kennedy, who rode into history down one of its freeway approaches.

If everything goes according to plan, at 1 p.m. CST, one year to the minute since the official hour of Kennedy's death, all traffic will stop and all citizens will put aside what they are doing.

Memorial services will be held in many churches. Flags will be flown at half-staff again, reminding Dallas of the moment that brought it a shame it has continually protested it did not deserve.

US KEEPS TENSE VIGIL ON CAPTIVE AMERICANS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials kept a tense vigil Saturday over the plight of 60 American and 600 Belgian hostages in the Congo. Efforts to negotiate their safety remained inconclusive.

Leftist rebels hold one of the hostages, American medical missionary Dr. Paul Carlson, under death sentence on spying charges.

In Nairobi, Kenya, U.S. ambassador William Aitwood had hoped to open talks at noon local time Saturday with Thomas Kanza, foreign minister of the Congo rebel regime. But Kanza did not appear.

Francis T. O'Neill, chief mediator for the National Mediation Board, met behind closed doors with representatives of the three holdout off-train unions.

The mediators were buoyed by a string of eight successes in 12 hours which produced tentative agreements covering eight non-operating unions representing 370,000 railroad employees.

Still unsettled were disputes involving the machinists, electrical workers and sheet metal workers unions of the AFL-CIO railroad department. The three unions represent 49,000 workers.

American, Belgian Hostages Removed

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, (UPI) — Premier Jomo Kenyatta of neighboring Kenya called on both sides in the Congo rebellion Saturday to proclaim a cease-fire pending negotiations on the fate of 1,000 white hostages held by the Communist-led rebels.

The situation was growing more serious by the hour and the rebels announced they had removed 600 white hostages — 60 of them Americans — from Stanleyville into an unknown destination in the steaming jungles of equatorial Africa.

Talks in Nairobi on the fate of the hostages failed to start Saturday as hoped. Rebel "Foreign Minister" Thomas Kanza failed to turn up but it was not known if the rebels were spurning the talks they already agreed to or he was simply late. There was some hope he would arrive Sunday.

CHARITY BALL — Pampans decked out in evening attire all for charity Saturday night to attend the Junior Service League's annual Charity Ball. Pampa Country Club took on a carnival air with floating balloons, calliope and carousel horses providing a gay backdrop for the affair. Dr. and Mrs. James Moritz, 1824 Grape, are among more than 200 persons who attended the ball and are shown batting at a low flying balloon.

Second Jet Downed In Laos; Pilot Saved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another U. S. reconnaissance jet, the second lost this week, has been shot down by ground fire over south central Laos, the Defense Department announced Saturday.

The department said the plane, an RF101, was lost about midnight EST Friday night. The pilot, Capt. Burton L. Waltz of Fort Morgan, Colo., was rescued.

The announcement said a U. S. escort plane delivered "suppressive fire on the ground installation which had downed the reconnaissance aircraft."

The pilot, Capt. Waltz, was injured. He suffered compound fractures.

The announcement said the mission of the aircraft was the same as the F100 which was shot down Wednesday — to "gather information on infiltration of North Vietnamese troops and material into Laos in violation of the Geneva accords of 1962."

The pilot in the Wednesday incident was killed.

Hunters Find Body of Girl

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — The body of a 7-year-old Negro girl, missing since she was forced into a white man's car a week ago, was found today.

Police said the body of Gladys Johnson was found by quail hunters in a field near St. Mary's, Kan., about 25 miles northwest of Topeka.

She had been the object of a search by hundreds of local and county law enforcement officers, military personnel and civilians.

A 45-year-old railroad engineer, William Frederick Zimmer, of Kansas City, Kan., was arrested last Sunday, a day after the girl was reported kidnapped.

Zimmer was arrested in Marysville, Kan., and was charged with first degree kidnapping.

Slaying Count Filed Against Pampa Man

Charges of murder with malice were filed against 35-year-old Albert (Ab) Branscum by the Gray County Sheriff's office yesterday. He is charged with shooting his 29-year-old estranged wife to death on Oct. 8 of this year and then turning the pistol on himself.

Branscum was released yesterday from Highland General Hospital.

He was transferred to Highland General earlier this month from Amarillo's Northwest Texas Hospital. For several days following the shooting, Branscum lay near death in the Amarillo hospital, listed in very critical condition from two bullet wounds in the head. His condition began showing unexpected improvement in days following the shooting and he was brought back to Pampa.

Following his release, he was brought before Justice of the Peace G. L. (Nat) Lunsford where he waived a preliminary hearing on the charges. Branscum was placed under a $5,000 bond by Lunsford. He was then released after posting bond.

Murder with malice is the highest form of murder charge that can be filed in Texas. In some states, it's known as first degree murder.

The sheriff's office accuses Branscum of shooting his estranged wife, Glenna Fay Branscum, to death with a .22 pistol at approximately 8:45 a. m. Oct. 8 at the couple's shop.

LBJ State Park OK'd by Connally

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Lyndon B. Johnson State Park across the road from the LBJ ranch had the endorsement of Gov. John Connally today as "an excellent idea."

Connally said Friday he will ask the legislature next year for funds for the project "if necessary." There is no money in the budget for the 245-acre park, and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission said earlier this week it might get funds through private donations.

A condemnation suit may be necessary to get the land. Earl Sweeney, a retired Houston marble dealer, does not want to sell. He objected to the park as a means to keep him from selling a small tract for $25,000 to be used as the site of a curio shop.

Trade With Russia Under Quiet Study

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow and Washington are quietly studying plans for turning Soviet-American trade into big business, reliable diplomatic sources said Saturday.

The sources said the State Department has begun soundings on ways to ease export restrictions on trade with Russia. At the same time Soviet authorities were reported moving to ease bureaucracy and red tape, which Western businessmen claim often foul up trade deals.

The outcome of these separate policy reviews in Moscow and Washington could lead upsurge in trade from the present trickle level of approximately $50 million both ways, the sources said.

This is far less than the trade volume between France, West Germany and England and Russia. The visit to Moscow of almost 100 top American businessmen has acted as a spur to rethinking of the U.S.-Soviet trade situation.

The businessmen, who ended a week of talks here with top Soviet officials, including Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, are returning home this weekend for talks with high administration officials.

Many of them have said privately they will be lobbying for more trade with the Soviet Union. Already, the sources pointed out, a recent U.S. Senate canvass of American businessmen revealed strong sentiment for stepping up trade between both nations.

One Year From Three Shots That Changed History

By NORMAL RUNNION
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Was it really a whole year ago? It will have been at 1:30 p.m. EST—Nov. 22, 1964.

Twelve months distant from three bursts of gunfire out of the sixth floor window of the Texas School Book Depository building in Dallas.

Where were you that day? If you were in a newsroom, will you ever forget the horror of what you saw on the wire: F-L-A-S-H

DALLAS — President Kennedy shot and seriously, perhaps fatally, wounded by assassin's bullet.

If you were Mrs. Mary McGrahn, a New York cleaning woman, do you remember telling people at St. Agnes Church, "Jesus, Mary, Mother of God, President Kennedy was shot." Charles Brehm of Dallas will never forget. He saw it happen. "He was waving and the first shot hit him, and then that awful look crossed his face."

A Gigantic Shock
Can anyone really forget those four numb days when, as it was written, grief rolled over the nation like a gigantic shock wave, and you wondered at the time if it would ever subside.

Has it really subsided yet? Not on the faces of the thousands who make their way up the green, sloping face of Arlington National Cemetery to stand beside his grave, or who wince at the sight as they see the eternal flame flickering in the dark of a Washington night.

Where, now, are the principals of that terrible day in Dallas?

Lee Harvey Oswald lies in his grave in Ft. Worth, unremembered. His foul crime against a man, and against humanity, is still not understood even despite the Warren Report's searching analysis of his twisted mind.

Jack Ruby, his killer, sits in a Dallas jail cell, awaiting execution—or a commutation, or a new trial—while his mind deteriorates.

Gov. John Connally of Texas, who nearly died from one of the assassin's bullets, is fully recovered.

Jacqueline Kennedy lives quietly in New York, with Caroline and John-John.

Lyndon Baines Johnson is president of the United States in his own right, elected by the biggest margin in American history.

Life, of course, goes on, and the world changes, as it always does. There is much that has happened in the last 12 months that John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th president of the United States, with all his dreams and aspirations, would have been happy to see.

He fought so hard that final year for the tax cut and the civil rights bill. On that muted November day when his successor stood before a stricken Congress and said, "let us continue," he called for passage of both bills as the most fitting memorial that could be provided for John Kennedy.

In February, the tax cut, designed to stimulate the national economy, became law. On June 10, the Senate invoked cloture in a civil rights bill for the first time in its history, and on July 2 the most far-reaching piece of rights legislation since the days of Civil War reconstruction became the law of the land.

It has, for the most part, been obeyed. The fact that Americans, North and South, largely have accepted it would have made John Kennedy more happy than his mere passage.

There are many other things that this cultivated and witty man would have enjoyed. He would have liked the accomplishment of the Washington Senators, whom he kept seeing lose on opening day of the baseball season, who finally climbed out of the American League cellar. True, they only went up one notch, but progress in all things is noteworthy.

Many Events Since
He would have been proud of the American Olympic team that won more gold medals than anyone else at the Tokyo Olympics.

This man who pushed so eloquently for Negro equality would have welcomed the decision of the Nobel Peace Committee to award its 1964 prize to the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

These are all rather small things in the scheme of the awesome power that radiates from the President's office in the White House. In the word of big matters that count, there has been much that has been good, and much that has been bad that Kennedy was spared.

He would have reacted with dismay to the racial violence that erupted this summer from Harlem, Rochester and Jersey City in the north to Philadelphia, Miss., in the South.

A president who fought with such deep conviction for the nuclear test ban treaty, he would have been disturbed by Red China's nuclear explosion, heralding the spread of atomic weapons which Kennedy viewed as a setback to mankind.

He would have understood the internal forces that brought about the change in leadership in Britain and Russia, but he probably would have regretted the disappearance of his old foe Nikita S. Khrushchev from the scene.

Khrushchev was the bad that Kennedy was spared.

Better News Looms For Deer Hunters

There's good news for deer hunters who have missed contacting that big buck, said Roland (Buck) Williams, state game warden for Gray and Roberts County.

"The said weather conditions are bound to improve since conditions for the opener 'couldn't have been much worse from the hunters' viewpoint."

Williams said hot, humid, or ten times wet, windy weather, plus the bright moonlit nights, provided an ideal situation only for the deer.

"The hunters found gusty winds creating spooky conditions for the deer," said Williams. "Besides, in the rainy areas, the deer didn't move much. Also, there's lots of feed almost everywhere and the deer didn't have to scrounge around, and become exposed."

"Just as soon as it gets cooler and the bucks begin moving around both night and day, the hunter should be in much better luck. The dark of the moon also will encourage more day feeding."

The State Wildlife Department, responsible for game management problems, is strictly on the hunters side this fall because many sections have such a great deer overpopulation that only a good harvest will prevent danger of a winter dieoff.

NO MORE CLATTER
MILDENHALL, England (UPI)—The early morning clatter of milkbottles is not heard more. The local dairy is delivering its milk in plastic bags.

New Cafeteria Holds Preview

Representatives of stores and service establishments in Coronado Center got a preview of Jackson's Cafeteria at a dinner in the newly completed cafeteria Friday night.

Business tenants were hosted by the center's co-owners and other officials from Roswell, N. M., as guests of the Coronado Leasing Company.

Lou Troja, president of the Coronado Center Merchants Association, was master of ceremonies and introduced guests who included Stanley Mathis and Donald Anderson of Roswell co-owners of the center; George Freyer, leasing agent, William Adams, general manager of the Roswell firm's shopping centers; H. E. Harrington, administrative assistant; City Manager Harold Schmitzer, E. L. Green Jr., president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, and J. C. Roberts, president of the Downtown Businessmen's Association.

The new cafeteria, consisting of the main dining room, three separate dining rooms for parties or civic clubs and groups, has a seating capacity for 350 persons.

Food service is supplied by one of the most modern equipped kitchens in the Panhandle. Jackson said finishing touches are being put on the cafeteria which probably will be opened to the public within a few days.

The cafeteria will be managed locally by Aaron Feaster, co-owner, who has moved to Pampa from Colorado City.

President Troja of the center merchants' association said Christmas plans at the center are completed and call for the arrival of Santa Claus by helicopter at the center next Friday with special rides and entertainment for children.

Special days, Troja said are being planned for surrounding areas during the Christmas season.

Roberts, president of the downtown businessmen's group, was presented with a check for $150 from the center merchants as their contribution to Christmas decorations for Pampa streets.

"We have provided the place," Mathis said, "and the center merchants are taking it from there."

In presenting the check for Christmas decorations in Pampa, Troja stated that the Coronado merchants feel the center is a definite asset to Pampa as a whole and that the entire city will benefit as it attracts more people to Pampa.

Entertainment at the Friday night dinner was furnished by Jerry Whitten, Pampa organist, and the Cavaliers, Amarillo quartet.

New System to Speed State Mail Service

Incoming and outgoing mail to and from Pampa will now be speeded up due to a new intra-state system adopted by the U.S. Post Office.

Under the system, sectional centers have been set up in the most populated areas of the state. A sectional center at Amarillo will handle the Panhandle and all points with the Zip Code 790.

For example — if you mail a letter to Dallas it will go to Amarillo. From there it will be taken by truck to a crossroads point. All sectional centers within a certain district will also send a truck with letters designated for this area aboard.

The truck will rendezvous about midnight and exchange mail and then speed back home. The next morning the mail will be assorted and delivered to the addressee.

Post Office officials urged the importance of using the Zip code numbers on all letters. They said under this system the code number greatly aid in correctly routing the letter.

The Post Office first inaugurated the sectional system Nov. 14 and officials said, "we're just now getting the bugs ironed out."

Pampa Resident Given Sentence

R. T. Franklin of Pampa was metted a three-year suspended sentence Friday in 31st District Court after pleading guilty to a felony charge.

Franklin pleaded guilty to charges of burglary and was sentenced by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich.

The charges were in connection with the break-in June 28 of the American Legion Drive Inn.

Prosecutor was Bill Waters of Pampa.

Rains Fill Lake Meredith Floor

Lake Meredith, created by the Canadian River Dam, is showing signs of what the future holds.

The past week's rains have enlarged the lake to 2,800 acre-feet of water backed up behind the dam. The lake is three miles long, filling the canyon floor from wall to wall.

The water is now within inches of the top of a temporary diversion dam which protects the unfinished river channel outlet.

Should the lake receive additional rain, the water could spill over the temporary dam and empty through the river channel. Officials said that there would be no danger for any structures if this occurs.

When finally completed Lake Meredith will fill the canyon floor from wall to wall and run 28 miles long from the Canadian Dam.

Traffic Accidents Increase Over State

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas traffic accidents so far this year are 12 per cent higher than in the same period of 1963, the Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

Through noon Friday, 2,308 persons had been killed in 2,004 accidents, compared with 2,248 deaths in 1,862 wrecks to this date last year.

Thefts From Autos Reported to Police

Minor thefts from automobiles kept Pampa police busy over the weekend.

The first report came from Vernon Stuckey, 2333 Christine, who told police someone stole a movie camera and two pairs of mens pants from his automobile.

Stuckey said the theft occurred between 7:45 and 11 a.m. Friday at the Coronado Shopping Center.

C. L. Farmer, owner of Farmer's Motor Mart, 1534 N. Hobart, reported yesterday that someone stole four hubcaps from a 1961 model car. Farmer said the hubcaps were valued at $50.

A 700x18 size truck tire was reported stolen Thursday night from the rear of a pickup owned by Warren Rice of Lefors.

The tire was taken from the truck while it was parked at

Newsmen, Statesmen Pay Howard Tribute

NEW YORK (UPI) — Statesmen and fellow newspapermen the world over paid tribute Saturday to Roy Wilson Howard, the crusading editor who began his career as an 88-a-week reporter and went on to become one of modern journalism's most towering figures.

Howard, who took over as president of United Press while still in his 20's and later presided over the nation's 17 Scripps-Howard Newspapers, died Friday night at the age of 81.

Private funeral services, attended only by members of the family, were held Saturday. The family announced that there would be no public funeral. Howard's body was cremated.

Howard was stricken with a heart attack in the lobby of the Pan Am Building on Park Avenue late Friday afternoon and was given first aid in his office upstairs. He later was taken to Doctors Hospital where he died of a massive coronary failure.

The venerable editor and publisher was actively involved in the Scripps-Howard operation at the time of his death, and his sudden attack stunned many friends and associates.

President Johnson led national and world figures in mourning his death.

"He was already a legend in his profession and will go down in the history of journalism as one of its commanding figures," said the President in a statement Friday night from his Texas ranch.

Other tributes from luminaries both within and outside the newspaper profession came pouring in Saturday, some of them from men who competed fiercely with Howard during his distinguished career.

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, president of the University of the Philippines and a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist, described Howard as "a great man, great by any standards."

Romulo Grieved

Romulo, close personal friend since 1928, added: "I am shocked and grieved to learn that my good friend Roy Howard has passed away. I had known him for more than a quarter of a century, and I have learned to admire his integrity of character, his brilliant mind, his devotion to truth and to the high ideals of his profession."

Former President Harry S. Truman expressed regret upon hearing of Howard's death. "He ran a good series of newspapers," Truman said. "I used to read them all the time."

United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson who, like Truman, was not endorsed by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers when he ran for president, joined in the tribute.

"I have lost a good friend but more than that the newspaper business has lost one of the founders of modern journalism," Stevenson said. "During his long career, daily newspapers have greatly changed and he had much to do with these developments."

Wheeler Court to Open New Session

Wheeler County will begin a new term of court Monday when District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich impanelles a new grand jury.

The court will go into session at 10 a.m. and the first item of business is the appointment of a foreman.

Grand jurors will convene at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Canadian. District Attorney Bill Waters said he had no specific business to present to the jurors.

Youth Sentenced in Burglary Case

Harris W. Casey, 19, of Pampa was sentenced to a three-year probation sentence late Friday by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich.

Casey entered a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary. The charges were in connection with the July break-in at the Service Liquor Store.

Resident Active in Aiding Blind Through Surgery

A Pampa man is actively engaged in a nationwide project dubbed, "the magnificent dream of giving eyes that others might see."

The Pampa man, Joe Tooley, owner of Richard Drug, became interested in the project as part of his work with the Pampa Lions Club, which helped to organize the High Plains Eye Bank in Amarillo.

Providing corneas needed for operations on individuals whose eye corneas have become diseased is the concern of some 90 eye banks across the U. S., most formed since the 1940's.

Staffed by volunteers working under the guidance of interested physicians, the eye banks are non-profit organizations dedicated solely to the problem of obtaining donor eyes for use in eye surgery and research.

About half the eye banks are affiliated with the Eye-Bank Association of America, founded in 1961 by the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology to help coordinate eye-donor programs.

The need for donor eyes is great, according to Tooley, who reported that every 20 minutes someone in the United States loses his sight, adding to the 1-3 million who are already blind. Some 3,000 a year have their sight restored by corneal transplant, and specialists estimate that 40,000 more could benefit from the operation.

Special procedures have been worked out for the pledging of eyes. Willing one's eyes to an eye bank is useless since by the time wills are probated, donated eyes are medically unusable.

The proper method is to obtain a pledge card from an eye bank (or from Tooley), sign it in the presence of two witnesses, and arrange with your trustee or next of kin to contact the eye bank immediately upon your death.

All eyes are useful as general state of health and condition of sight is of small importance. Speed is essential, however as most surgeons will not operate with tissue more than a day old, although some will use corneas as old as 72 hours provided certain tissue preservation techniques have been employed. The best are those removed within two hours of death and transplanted within the next 22 hours.

"Eyeball Network," made up of a group of ham radio operators, goes on the air each morning, locating eyes available for operations across the nation. In Oklahoma City, Okla., recently, a three-year-old girl was accidentally burned in one eye by a lighted cigarette. An immediate corneal transplant was indicated, but no eyes were available in Oklahoma City.

Within a few hours after the Oklahoma City ham radio operator went on the air, an eye was located in the Illinois Eye Bank in Chicago. By early evening, the eye, carefully packed, had been flown in and the operation had been performed. Today, the little girl enjoys normal vision.

Top O' Texans who want to participate in "the magnificent dream of giving eyes that others might see," should contact Tooley for additional information. "And do it today," Tooley said.

City Young GOPs Attend Meeting

Several members of the Pampa Teen-age Republican Club attended a Panhandle area Young Republican meeting in Amarillo Saturday to discuss formation of an area Young GOP association.

At the meeting, committees were appointed to work on an association constitution, platform and program.

Those from Pampa named to committee posts included Larry Hollis, constitution; Daryl Nestiel, platform, and Jane Moore, program. Also attending from Pampa was Shirley Hollis.

Following the morning session, the group attended a luncheon where Hank Brown, Amarillo campaign manager for Bob Price; Bryce Beard, Potter County GOP chairman; and John Kenehan, Randall County Republican chairman, were the guest speakers.

Newspaper Strike Settled in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — Striking pressmen voted 210-14 Saturday to ratify settlement of the key issue that had shut down Detroit's two newspapers for 132 days, opening the way for the papers to resume publishing early next week.

The Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press had been shut down since July 13, the longest that any major newspapers had been idled by a strike in the nation's history.

Guerrillas Driven Out by Floods Killed in Viet Nam

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Scores of Communist Viet Cong guerrillas driven from hiding by last week's savage floods are being massacred by government troops, military sources reported Saturday.

A total of 135 Communist guerrillas was killed within the last two days and 68 more captured by government soldiers stationed at this port city 380 miles north of Saigon. Only three government dead were reported in four lopsided battles.

All the battles were fought in flood-devastated lowlands within 20 miles of this city, or at the foot of the nearby mountains, as the guerrillas apparently straggled from their network of hideouts in search of food and supplies.

The Viet Cong have lost many weapons, hideouts, and much food," Brig. Gen. Nguyen Khanh Thi said Saturday. "Militarily speaking, it is very easy to get the Viet Cong now."

His troops caught two bedraggled Viet Cong units in the open in broad daylight on Thursday, the general said. Fifty seven of the guerrillas were slain and 55 captured. Government forces seized a dozen weapons.

Two more clashes Friday brought death to 80 more guerrillas. Fifteen others were captured, and 29 weapons seized.

In Saigon, the government proclaimed martial law in the six provinces hardest hit by the floods — Quang Nam, Quang Ngai, Quang Tin, Binh Dinh, Phu Yen, and Phu Bon.

The provinces stretch along the central Vietnamese coast for 178 miles. The decree, signed Friday by Chief of State Phan Khanh Suu, is to be in effect for 60 days.

The martial state obviously was intended to strengthen the government's hand in resettling the devastated region, where close to a million persons were left homeless and in danger of disease and hunger.

Congo

Kenyatta said in a statement: "The situation in the Congo is becoming more and more serious. The purpose of these talks is to explore all possible means of saving the lives of the civilian population, including all foreigners in Stanleyville and to ask the Congolese to avoid any actions which might prejudice our efforts."

Whether the Congolese government would heed the appeal remained to be seen. But President Joseph Kasavubu has rejected past U. S. and Belgian appeals to slow the drive on Stanleyville because of fears the 1,000 white hostages held by the rebels might be massacred.

Of the 1,000 or so hostages held by the Communist-led rebels as "prisoners of war," most are Belgian but there are British, French and other Europeans among them. About 650 of them were in Stanleyville itself, the others in small towns.

The most immediate issue was the fate of Dr. Paul Carlsson, an American missionary doctor who has been sentenced to die Monday as a "spy" and as a U. S. Army major who fought the rebels. The U. S. Embassy denies all rebel charges. His original execution date of last Monday was postponed so Kenyatta could negotiate.

Little Hope Seen For Settlement of UN Finance Tiff

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Twelve Afro-Asian nations began a last-ditch effort Saturday to avoid a showdown between the United States and Russia on the question of U.N. finances.

Their chances of success appeared slim. With only nine days left before the opening of the 1964 General Assembly session, both sides appeared to be staying firm on a collision course.

Representatives of Afghanistan, Ceylon, Jordan, Mali, Nigeria, Ivory Coast, Ethiopia, Algeria, Kenya, Indonesia, Japan and Pakistan conferred informally Saturday on ways of breaking the deadlock.

The twelve were named by the Afro-Asian group Saturday night to make on final try at mediating the dispute and avoiding a showdown in the assembly on Russia's unpaid bill of $6 million dollars.

The Afro-Asians went ahead with their last-ditch attempt despite the collapse Friday of another mediation effort.

Former Resident Describes Experiences as Missionary

Ed Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Reed of Crosbyton, is currently doing Church of Christ mission work in Nigeria, which he has described in letters home.

ED REED
... Missionary to Nigeria

Excerpts from his letters give an interesting description of Nigeria, where he says there is an upper class and lower class with no in-between.

Reed is a former resident of Pampa and graduate of Pampa High School. His work in Nigeria is being partially supported by the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ.

Shortly after his arrival in August he wrote, "The compound where we live is surrounded by small villages where no one hardly ever wears clothes until they are about 13 or 14 years old. . . . In Ava, about 25 miles from the compound, there is a TV station, the last thing I expected to see in Nigeria. The Americans and British put up the station, then left it to the Nigerian people. . . ."

"The country around us is the most beautiful I have ever seen. There are big palm trees, coconut trees, bamboo trees and rubber trees everywhere. We also see orange trees, lemon trees, pineapple plants, yam plants and many, many more kinds. . . ."

"Last night we heard jungle drums back in the rain forest where there is almost no modern civilization at all. Tomorrow we plan to go way back into the jungle forests or rain forest, as many call it. . . ."

In a letter August 28 Reed wrote, "We will have been here three weeks tomorrow. Our work is rapidly speeding up and it looks like we have a hard five months to go. Each of us have spoken with an interpreter several times and we are learning how to direct our thoughts simple enough for him to understand. It is quite a job learning to speak with an interpreter, more so than we had expected. . . ."

"The culture is so different from anything we have ever known before—it is hard to believe some of the things we see. These people are coming out of paganism and it is hard to realize the manner of some of their customs. . . . You can get a pretty good picture of these people by reading I and II Corinthians and viewing some of the problems, that young Corinthian Church faced. . . ."

Reed arrived in Nigeria during the rainy season and said during a thunderstorm they were beset by bugs trying to find shelter, ants, big roaches, spiders, fire flies, crickets and lizards. Fortunately bug poison was located. He said, "The roaches over here are about two inches long and one inch wide. . . ."

An account of his experiences was contained in a September 18 letter. "Bible training college has been in effect for three days now. We have been attending some Bible classes with the third year boys. . . . All of us are taking a course in John and Hebrews. Rees Bryant (M. A.) is teaching John, and Dr. Farrer (B. A., M.S., M.D., and F. A. C.S.) is teaching Hebrews. As you can see, they are very qualified men and excellent teachers. . . ."

"We have had a flat, the second this week, on our Volkswagen since yesterday. It was used for a hospital call by one of the native boys on our compound. He came back this morning and reported that it is setting in a village not far from the compound with another flat tire. There is no spare, so one of us has to go to Aba for a spare and guess you know who lost the toss. . . . Aba is a large township for Nigeria and is the place we get most of our supplies. The spare was in bad shape so I had to go to the Nigerian Tire Company and pick up a recap. It is a lot easier said than done. . . ."

"First I had to go to the head man and make my request. Between his pigeon English and my West Texas slang, we had a pretty hard time understanding one another. After I finally got my point across, I was sent to the rear of the factory to wait with another gentleman who knew less English than the first man. By this time, I decided to act out what I wanted. . . ."

Reed said in Aba he was met by dozens of children peddling everything from groundnuts to July newspapers. He purchased a "Time" magazine, which kept them in touch with what is going on in the U.S. . . ."

He added, "Traffic in Aba is really something to see. Few people have cars (or motors as the Nigerians call them) and taxis and lorries are everywhere. Lorries are big trucks crammed full of people going to different places. . . . something similar to the trucks we see on the South Plains. . . . The drivers of these lorries and taxis are undoubtedly among the world's worst drivers. Lorries seem to try to take all the road now. We have been attending some Bible classes with the speeds of 70 m.p.h. and better on highways, (Coal tars) that about the width of one-half of an American two-lane-highway. They pull out in front of anybody without looking or caring. Many times the driver of one of these vehicles will be full of palm wine or dope, which they can buy openly on the market. . . ."

Likewise the taxi drivers go at

"Bicycles are another traffic hazard. Almost everyone either walks or has a bicycle. The cyclist rides all over the road and on all sides whenever they feel like doing so. Motors and Lorries have the right-of-way, but often this makes little difference to the cyclist. . . ."

When they arrived at the village where the car was sitting, they were met by a swarm of friendly Nigerians who were more than eager to help. Reed said, "These people are very friendly and are eager to make you feel welcome. They continually repeat 'Ibialla, which means 'welcome.' . . ."

Reed began speaking appointments in Ibia-land Sept. 17 and these were complicated by more flat tires. . . ."

At one of the villages, after both the right rear tire and the spare went flat, Reed and another worker rented a canoe. He said, "One native boy stood in the middle of the boat and held a long pole, while the other native sat on the back and paddled us downstream. The water (of river) was beautiful. It was blue-green in color and was so clear we could see all the way to the bottom which sometimes was quite far. We could see all sorts of tropical fish swimming beneath us. The bottom consisted of snowy-white sand and small underwater plants. The day was hot and we could hardly resist jumping in, clothes and all. . . ."

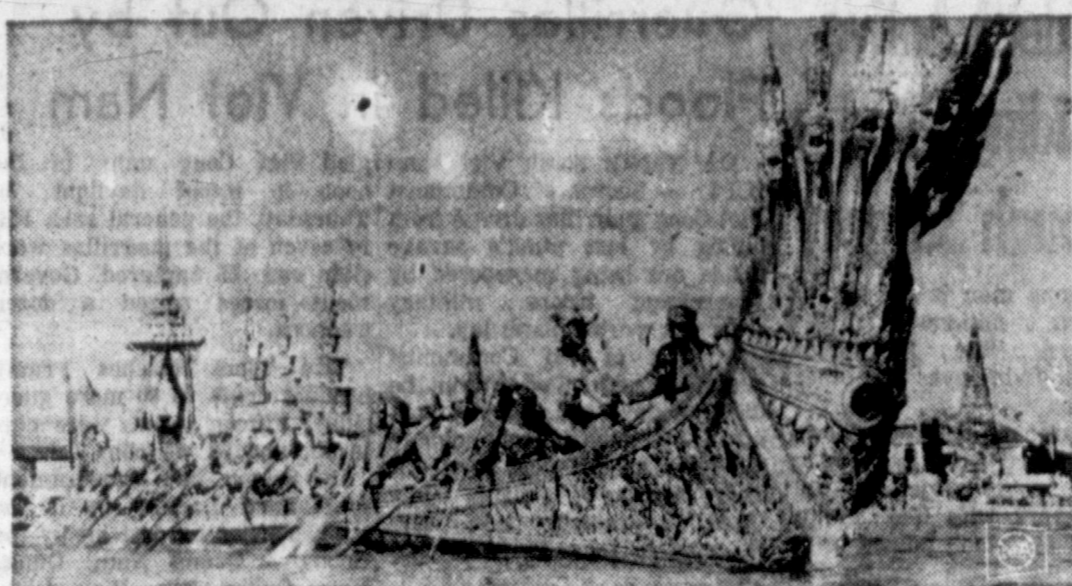

Their return to the compound was completed by riding in a taxi which picked them up on the coal tar (highway). Reed said, "Man, that ride was worse than a roller-coaster at the state fair. . . . He drove 70 miles per hour without any lights except when he met another vehicle. The moon was out and shined pretty, but we were just hoping another taxi wasn't coming toward us, and driving by only moonlight. We made it back safe and sound. How, we are still wondering. . . ."

Reed's schedule has been full and includes the many speaking appointments and baptisms. One morning in September, a woman in a village not far from the compound dropped her baby in the fire, he said. Since they did not have the facilities to treat a case at the compound, Reed took the mother and baby in the Volkswagen to the hospital. . . ."

He said, "The little baby had third degree burns on its little legs and feet and one big burn on its stomach. It was burned so bad that it felt no pain. Luckily there were no burns around the upper part of the baby. We rushed it to the hospital where we left the child and its mother. . . ."

Reed concluded one letter stating he had to take a bath and would be bathing in a wash tub. . . ."

He said, "I can say one thing for the people in Nigeria—they are what they appear to be. Their personality is not hidden as many people in America try to hide theirs. If they don't like something you do, they will tell you about it. If they like something you do, they will tell you about that, too. I'm not knocking America, though. I still think it's the greatest country in the world. If you don't think so, just come to some of these other countries. . . ."

Monopoly Suit Filed Against Ohio Newspaper

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has charged Freedom Newspapers, Inc., and the Lima (Ohio) News with illegal monopolization of the newspaper business in Lima, Ohio.

The charge was made Thursday in a civil anti-trust suit in Toledo, Ohio. The suit also named Raymond C. Hoiles, Clarence H. Hoiles and E. Roy Smith.

Acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the complaint asked that the defendants be ordered to divest themselves of their interest in the Lima newspaper, that existing agreements against competition be voided and that the defendants be forbidden to engage in similar conduct in the future.

Freedom Newspapers, based in Santa Ana, Calif., owns 78 per cent of the Lima News.

The suit charged that the defendants sold advertising and subscriptions below cost and at a loss in order to force a competing newspaper, the Lima Citizen, to sell out to them. Over a six-year period, beginning in 1957, the losses exceeded $6 million but were covered by Freedom Newspapers' profits from its other operations, the suit said.

Katzenbach said these activities violated both the restraint of trade and the anti-monopoly sections of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Homecoming Set At Berger High

BERGER (Spl) — The 10th annual Homecoming of all Berger Ex-students is scheduled Thursday at Berger High School, according to Jerry Elder, exes' president.

Registration will be held in the cafeteria between 9 and 10 a. m., with class reunions and elections to follow immediately.

The business session and coronation will be held in a general assembly at 10:30.

Capping festivities will be a homecoming dance from 8 to 12 Thursday night with Billy Dees and the Deonaires.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Gray County Agent

Flip Breedlove, Donley County Agent, advises that the Rolling Plains Registered Beef Cattle Association will hold its 6th annual bull sale in Clarendon on the 2nd of Dec. 1964 at 12:30 p.m. at the fair building. Walter Britten will be the auctioneer. Seventy-one bulls will be offered for sale, featuring top blood lines, good beef producing bulls and good herd bull prospects. There will be 50 herefords, 10 Galloways and 11 Angus bulls in the sale. The new sales arena is heated and you will be comfortable regardless of the weather. If you wish to come by plane, you can land at the city-county airport, buzz the fair building and a car will meet you. Those wishing a catalog in advance of the sale can write to H. M. Breedlove, secretary and manager, Clarendon.

SCD News Gray County

By ARNEAL SCOTT
Truitt Johnson recently developed a complete conservation plan on his ranch northeast of McLean. Truitt plans to seed grass and construct a cross-fence so that he can manage livestock grazing more effectively. Also he plans to develop additional livestock water facilities.

Range Seeding

There are several acres of land in Gray County that have been turned out to pasture without being seeded to native grass. Undesirable forbs and grasses cover the ground which provides some early spring grazing; however its potential is limited.

Seeded grasses will establish in two to five years and dependable year-around grazing can be expected. Experiments have proven that desirable grasses will produce more pounds of beef per acre in most cases.

Harris King, Roy McCracken, R. D. Williams, Alvin Bell, Leroy Williams, Truitt Johnson, O. R. Blankenship, John Haynes, Eben Warner, Cecil Sealey, Harvey Taylor, Lester Bailey, Elmer Immel and L. T. Goldston are some of the people that plan to do range seeding in Gray Co. this winter. Nearly all of these farmers and ranchers have had good results from range seeding in the past.

Make plans now to establish desirable grasses if you have land that's not paying expenses. Range seeding should not be done later than April 30 of next year.

OUTSTANDING FARMERS
— Two brothers, Jim and Paul Akin, were honored Thursday night at the annual Farm-City Week banquet upon being selected Gray County's outstanding farmers. They were presented with plaques by Duggan Smith, right, president of the Pampa Jaycees. The Jaycees were sponsor of the outstanding award. Approximately 400 persons attended the banquet and heard Reagan Brown, sociologist for Texas A&M, deliver the main address.

Farm-City Week Theme is Better Understanding

The most extensive plans ever developed for a Farm-City Week in Texas have been announced by Chairman Dolph Briscoe Jr. of Uvalde.

"The week-long series of events, Nov. 20-26, is aimed at bringing about better understanding between urban and rural segments of our people," Briscoe, a rancher-businessman, said.

Theme this year is "Partners in Progress."

Briscoe said mayors in more than 850 towns and cities in Texas had been asked to proclaim the week and to appoint a local Farm-City week committee.

Governor John P. Connally proclaimed the week in Texas. Earlier President Johnson proclaimed it nationwide.

"Many civic clubs, farm groups and individual farm leaders have planned special luncheons, tours and other events," Briscoe said.

A 33-member speakers bureau composed of some of the state's top authorities on agriculture was formed to furnish programs for civic clubs and other organizations.

Briscoe said forty per cent of Texas' labor force depends directly or indirectly upon agriculture for its income.

He stressed that never before have urban and rural Texans needed so strongly to understand each other's complexities and the dependency each has for the other.

Briscoe named other state committee members as Calvin Pigg of Renner, co-chairman; John G. McManey of College Station; Dan Sparks of Texas; and James E. Vance of Fort Worth.

Farm-City Week is in its 10th year. Kiwanis International serves as coordinating agency with the National Farm-City Week Committee, Inc.

Large Attendance Expected at '64 Cattle Conference

Advance registrations point toward a record attendance at the 1964 Southwestern Cattle Feeding Conference according to Lloyd Bergsma, Director of the Cattle Feeders Division. Bergsma said that more than a dozen states would be represented at the Conference.

The 1964 Feeding Conference will get underway with a meeting of the Cattle Feeders Division membership at 3:00 p.m. Monday, Nov. 23. The Conference program will begin Tuesday, Nov. 24, at 9 a.m. All activities will be in the Holiday Inn West.

The 1964 Conference program will offer those attending information on the most important topics confronting the cattle feeding industry today. Animal disease problems, cattle feeding research, market news, custom cattle feeding and marketing are some of the topics to be discussed by authorities representing the major feeding regions of the nation.

Bergsma said that with trading in cattle futures to begin late this month the address by Everett Harris, President, Chicago Mercantile Exchange, would be of special interest to cattle feeders.

Conference registration will begin at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. This will be a profitable day for feeders to spend in Amarillo.

Takers Selected For County Census

Enumerators have been named in Gray county for the 1964 Census of Agriculture. Crew Leader Mrs. Thelma Bray said today.

Enumerators in Gray county belong to a force of 23,000 throughout the nation employed temporarily by the U. S. Bureau of the Census for this year's Census of Agriculture.

It is the enumerator's responsibility to locate every farm within an enumeration district assigned to her, determine if the operator of the farm has answered all questions on a questionnaire that will be mailed to the farmer by the Census Bureau, help the farmer complete any unanswered questions on the form, check answers for accuracy, and deliver the form to the Census Bureau.

The enumerators will be trained in a special 4-day home study course designed to prepare them for the farm census, their crew leader said.

Appointed were Mrs. Bob Echols, Pampa; Mrs. Lloyd Harvey, Pampa; and Mrs. Tony R. Smitherman, McLean.

Borger Shuts Out Harvesters, 21-0

UP IN ARMS — Borger quarterback Billy Flaughner (24) goes up in the air for a successful jump pass, flipping it past two onrushing Pampans, including Trigger Evans (55) and an observant official.

THE CLUTCHING HAND — Borger's Robin Harrington (11) swivels away from the grasp of Pampa's Trigger Evans (55), but an unidentified Harvester reaches past Darrell Phillips (76) to slow him down. Harrington led the way in the Dogs' 21-0 Saturday victory.

Pampa Fumbles Scoring Chances Away

By JEFF COHANE
News Sports Editor

BORGER — A chilly wind blew over the half-filled, half-frozen Bulldog Stadium yesterday by the name of Robin Harrington, who led the Borger Bulldogs to a 21-0 victory over the Pampa Harvesters.

The Harvesters kept David Dillingham from the district rushing title as they held him to 45 yards in 11 tries, but the feet-footed Harrington, out much of the season with injuries, slashed his way to 149 yards in 13 carries for the difference.

Pampa, handicapped by five fumbles which caused them to lose at least one cinch touchdown, went down to their fifth shutout of the season, tying the record of the 1961 squad.

The Harvesters finished tied for eighth in district 3-4A play with Caprock, the first time since 1960 that the Big Green had ended in the cellar.

Red Griffith played one of his finest all-around games to finish in a blaze of glory for the Harvesters. The tall fullback ran for 51 yards in 15 carries, stood out on blocking, and was in on 11 tackles. San Williams led the attack with 75 yards in 18 carries, and Joey Roden had 50 yards in seven trips. Phil Kleamer played his best game of the season, springing runners with smashing blocks constantly, along with Larry Leonard.

Cornerman Phil Smith was in on 11 tackles, and received plenty of help from Williams, Trigger Evans, Jerry Goodwin, Kleamer, Terry Criss and Myron Scribner.

The difference was the fumbling, plus a smashing Borger defense led by David Anderson, Preston Wilson and Joe Barron.

Early in the game, Williams took an intercepted pass back to his 48. Chinky Garrison, Griffith, Williams and Roden moved the ball in six plays to the Dog 20, but the Harvesters fumbled away the ball at that point. Barron recovered on the 19, and two plays later, Harrington broke up the middle from his 31, cut right and outran everyone but Criss, who shoestrung him at the Pampa eight.

Three plays later Harrington went four yards up the middle for the score with 1:45 left in the period. Dillingham kicked the extra point.

Late in the quarter, Borger took a short punt on their 45 and marched the distance in five plays, aided by a 15-yard penalty. Big gainers were an 18-yard burst by Harrington and the 14-yard weaving scoring jaunt by Dillingham at 10:33 of the second canto. The kick was wide.

Pampa, shifting in and out from T to I formation, immediately marched back as Garrison returned the kick from his 10 to his 25. With Williams scrambling and fighting for extra yards, the Harvesters drove slowly down, a five-yard penalty giving them the ball on the five and Smith keeping for a first down on the four. Pampa promptly fumbled again and Borger's Jim Shaw recovered on the seven.

Dillingham opened the second half with a fantastic unaided 95-yard kickoff return, but the apparent score was nullified by a penalty.

Late in the period, Pampa fumbled again and Barron recovered on the Harvester 27. Harrington slashed for 21 yards in two carries, although the Harvesters held two of his mates to minus three yards. Quarterback Billy Flaughner ended the struggle by floating a basketball pass to end David Carruth in the end zone. Flaughner then passed to Shaw out of fake punt formation for a two-point conversion with 2:42 to go in the third stanza.

In the fourth quarter, Borger used another long Harrington run to move to a first down on the Pampa 20, but Smith, Scribner, Carl Johnson and Roden set back four straight plays and took the ball on downs on the 29. Pampa promptly moved out against the Dog reserves from the Harvester 29, led by Griffith, with Roden's 20-yard scamper getting a first down on the Dog 17. Borger promptly put the starters back in, a penalty set Pampa back to the 28, and Larry Stephens' pass was intercepted by Carruth on the 13.

Pampa Hoopsters Win First, 61-51

By RONNIE OLER
News Sports Reporter

DUMAS — Mac McWilliams led the Pampa Harvesters from behind midway in the third quarter and then put them back in the lead to stay early in the fourth period to pull out a 61-51 win over the Dumas Demons in the opening basketball game for both teams last night.

Hulon Kirkland's rebounding and deadly shooting by the Demons kept Dumas ahead from the opening whistle, but the 6'4" ace fouled out midway in the third frame and from then on it was all McWilliams and Ropes Roper as the 6-3½ pair hogged the backboards and the baskets for 18 points each.

Kirkland dominated the backboards in the first quarter, stuffing in rebounds to give Dumas the opening lead. Davey McDaniel hit in turn for the Big Green to cut the host edge to 12-11 at the quarter.

With Kirkland still on the boards and Ronnie Stephenson doing the shooting, Dumas opened it up despite McWilliams' sniping, pulling to a 28-23 half-time margin.

Kirkland fouled out trying to defend Roper midway in the third period and the tide immediately changed. McWilliams and Larry Lewis closed the gap and Mac made a pair of free throws to give the Harvesters the lead for the first time, 36-35.

Pampa held the edge at 39-37 after three quarters, but Lane Boyd tied it up with a pair of charity tosses. McWilliams hit a 12-foot jumper and the Harvesters were ahead again, but Gary Kimble tied the score once again.

McDaniel then stuffed in a rebound and the Harvesters were home free as Lewis joined in the scoring to put Pampa into the big lead.

McDaniels and Ronnie Curlee added eight points each to the Harvester tallysheet, with Lewis canning seven. Rickey Price led the Demons with 14 points. Kirkland had 13 rebounds.

The Pampa Shockers romped to a 56-21 victory in the opener as Little Butch Crossland and Steve Williams tallied eight points apiece.

Fort Worth Castleberry Leads Upsetters Into Playoff Derby

By United Press International

FORT WORTH Castleberry, McAllen and Deer Park were the surprise entries in the Class AAAA-AAA state schoolboy championship playoff derby today, while Class-AA's top-ranked Phillips and fifth-ranked Plano were surprise departures from the title search.

Castleberry knocked off seventh-ranked Wichita Falls Rider 19-12 and McAllen upset fourth-ranked Victoria 14-6 as the two top divisions completed filling out their playoff vacancies Friday night.

Deer Park upset AAA's fourth-ranked Clear Creek 34-28. Iowa Park, ranked third in that division, nosed out Phillips 5-2 on penetrations after the two teams battled to a 12-12 deadlock at Borger, while Marlin's big team upset Plano 13-6 at Hillsboro.

Otherwise, the final weekend of the regular season in the AAAA and AAA brackets and the opening round of playoff activity in AA and A fairly well followed the form chart.

Ysleta High, Odessa High, Dallas Hillcrest, Texarkana, Houston Jones, Spring Branch High and Waco Richfield joined Castleberry, McAllen and Deer Park and such earlier winners as Dumas, Andrews, Sweetwater, Wichita Falls Hirschi, Vidor, Cypress-Fairbanks, San Marcos and Kerrville in the AAAA playoff round.

Lamar Consolidated backed into the II-AAA berth despite a 6-0 loss to Port Lavaca when Bay City knocked Wharton out of the running 21-14. Kerrville also lost its finale, 38-12, to South San Antonio, but an early season forfeit had kept the latter school out of contention.

First-round pairings in the two top divisions include: AAAA—Ysleta High vs. Odessa High, Tascosa vs. Castleberry, Paschal vs. Hillcrest, Garland vs. Texarkana, Jones vs. Spring Branch High, Nederland vs. Galena Park, Richfield vs. McAllen and Highlands vs. Bur-

Panthers Shut Out Warriors

By MIKE MCHONE
News Sports Correspondent

MIAMI — Quick George Trenfield scored two touchdowns Friday night to lead the Follett Panthers to an 18-0 victory over the Miami Warriors in the final district 5-B game for the two teams.

Trenfield and speedy Lonnie Appel were the difference in a cold and spectacular ball game, which saw Follett take its fourth straight loop victory, while the Warriors finished without a district win.

Miami made their only threat of the game in the first quarter, driving to the 19 on the running of Dave Bowers and Lloyd Seitz, but Dee Harris intercepted a pass on the 15 to end the threat.

Midway in the second quarter, Follett gained heavily on an exchange of punts with the wind at their backs, taking the ball on the Tribe 47. Trenfield and Appel ran it across, Trenfield scoring from 20 yards out. Ken Gill, Doug Talley and Troy Poore swarmed Appel on a conversion attempt.

Midway in the third quarter Jimmy Scheer recovered a Miami fumble on the Tribe 20. Five plays later, Trenfield went eight yards around end. The middle of the Miami line smothered the conversion run.

Nine minutes deep in the final quarter, a fourth-down gamble of Miami's failed on the Warrior 33. Six plays later Appel smashed over from two yards out. The conversion pass was incomplete.

Darrouzett's Duke Drops Groom, 32-12

GROOM — It was just a case of too much Dana Duke Friday night as the talented Longhorn quarterback led Darrouzett to a 32-12 victory over the Groom Tigers to end the district football season.

Duke scored two touchdowns and set a third up with his passing and kicked two extra points to lead the Longhorn offense, while the Horn defense stopped the Tigers cold, both of Groom's touchdowns being scored by the defense.

The only threat of a dull first quarter was by Groom, driving to the Darrouzett 15 behind fullback Larry Lamberson before losing the ball on downs.

A short punt into the wind in the second quarter gave the Horns the ball on their 40. Duke led the way to the Groom 30, then went back to kick a field goal. As expected, it was a fake and a pass, but Duke calmly stood off the rush to connect to the one-yard line. Darryl Duke scored from one yard out and Dana kicked the extra point.

Darrouzett opened the second half with an inside kick and recovered it on their 40. The Duke brothers drove it down and Dana scored from 20 yards out, again kicking the point.

Groom drove right back to the seven and Lamberson went across for a touchdown, only to have it nullified by a penalty. On the next play Darrouzett recovered a fumble.

Late in the period, Groom punted to midfield and Dana went right straight back up the middle for a touchdown.

Set up by another short punt in the fourth quarter, Darrouzett scored again as Darryl went 35 yards on a counter.

Dana was hit as he went back to pass soon after, and the ball flipped up in the air, to be snatched off by Lamberson who went 36 yards to pay dirt.

Three plays after the kickoff, fullback Jim Meier went 40 yards for the final Horn TD.

Rice Rolls By Horned Frog, 31-0

HOUSTON (UPI) — Senior quarterback Walter McReynolds led the Rice Owls over the ground and in the air to a 31-0 runaway win over Texas Christian University's helpless Horn Frogs Saturday.

An alert Rice defense set up repeated scoring situations, picking off five TCU passes in the first half, and repeatedly crash through the Frog's offensive line.

Fullback Gene Walter scored Rice's first touchdown on a 3-yard run. The Owls' other scores came on passes of 7 and 34 yards by McReynolds, a 71-yard punt return by David Ferguson and Larry Rice's 34-yard field goal.

TCU's first serious scoring threat came deep in the third quarter when fullback Ernest Bayer ran 30 yards down into Owl territory. The Owls' stout defense held and forced TCU to kick five plays later.

It was the home finale for 14 Rice seniors. Chilly football weather and a slippery field hindered both teams and caused several TCU fumbles.

Wingback Billy Hale picked off the first aerial in the first quarter, returning the ball seven yards to TCU's 35. Fullback Gene Walker carried the ball down to the Frog goal line and scored from three yards out for the first Rice score.

Rice picked off another pass four plays later, but was forced to kick by the TCU defense. Ed Dale Callinan grabbed another aerial at the Frog's 27, and McReynolds hit end Bert Barron for a 34-yard tally on the next play.

In the second period, McReynolds moved the Owls 35 yards in seven plays, hitting fullback Gene Fleming for a 7-yard touchdown. Three plays later, Randy Howard's pass intended for Charles Campbell was taken by Rice's Ronnie Cervenko, who ran the ball 19 yards to the TCU 29. Larry Rice, who kicked the Owls' four extra points, came in to kick a 34-yard field goal.

Ferguson ran 71 yards on a punt return to score the Owls' final touchdown.

Arkansas Blanks TT, Closes Out Unbeaten

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — The third-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks closed out their first undefeated season in 55 years and clinched the Southwest Conference championship Saturday by stepping on Texas Tech 17-0.

A homecoming crowd of 45,000 at Tech's Jones Stadium saw the Raiders fold in the second half after they had held the Cotton Bowl bound Razorbacks to a scoreless tie during the first 30 minutes.

Hog-quarterback Fred Marshall made the difference between the two teams.

Marshall passed for one touchdown, and piled up the yardage on other throws. It was the fifth straight game the Hogs have shut out an opponent.

Arkansas scored two touchdowns in the third quarter and a field goal in the final period to win its 10th game of the season.

Tailback Bobby Burnett

capped a 65-yard drive by diving over Tech's six-yard line for the first Hog score. Tom McKnelly's kick was good.

The Hogs recovered a Texas Tech fumble on Tech's 28-yard line to set up their second score. On the next play, with 46 seconds left in the period, Marshall threw a touchdown pass to end Jerry Lamb in the corner. Again, McKnelly's kick was good.

Arkansas ended the scoring with 5:15 left in the game on McKnelly's 39-yard field goal.

Although both teams played to stalemate in the first half, Arkansas' great defense twice cheated Tech out of field goals in the second period.

Fullback Charley Daniel blocked Kenneth Gill's kick from 20 yards out with 8:11 left in the half. Five minutes later, the entire Razorback line rose to block Richard Perry's kick from the Arkansas 13.

Sooners Upsets Nebraska, 17-7

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — The Oklahoma Sooners, unleashing a relentless second half ground attack, scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns Saturday to hand fourth-ranked Nebraska its first loss of the season, 17-7, before 55,000 chilled but cheering homecoming fans.

Despite the loss, Cotton Bowl-bound Nebraska won its second straight Big Eight championship when Missouri upended Kansas, 34-14.

Playing in 47-degree weather, Oklahoma spotted Nebraska a 7-3 lead and then used brutal running by sophomore fullback Jon Kennedy and left half Larry Brown to snap the Cornhuskers' 16-game win streak.

Oklahoma scored first when Butch Metcalf kicked a 23-yard field goal in the second quarter, but Nebraska came back to go ahead minutes later when quarterback Bob Churchich fired a 56-yard touchdown pass to end Freeman White.

Oklahoma, stung by the loss of its star runners, fullback Jim Grisham and right half Lance Rentzel, who was hurt in the first quarter, got to rolling midway in the third quarter, showing flashes of its old self.

Kennedy, who replaced Grisham, sparked an 88-yard, 24-play drive that saw quarterback Bobby Page dive over from the 1 to put the Sooners ahead.

Three minutes later, Oklahoma end Allen Bumgardner intercepted a Churchich pass at midfield and on the first play, Brown blasted over center and sped 48 yards for the touchdown that put the game out of Nebraska's reach.

Churchich, the Big Eight's leading passer, completed 12 of 24 passes for 160 yards and snapped Dennis Claridge's school record of 829 yards passing in one season. Churchich, a talented sophomore, wound up his first season with 893 yards through the air.

Nebraska, which lost a bid for its first unbeaten season since 1915, had the best rushing defense in the nation going into the game, but Oklahoma paid little heed. The Sooners banged out 268 yards on the ground and, for the first time this season, did not fumble once.

Nebraska, which wound up its regular season at 9-1, meets Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day. Oklahoma (5-3-1) ends its season next Saturday with its traditional game with Oklahoma State.

Michigan Hits Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Michigan, a team of opportunists, shut out Ohio State 10-0 Saturday to win the Big 10 football title and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

The Wolverines capitalized on a fumbled punt recovery and other breaks to strike for a touchdown with 44 seconds left in the first half and a fourth period field goal. That was the difference in a grinding defensive battle in a showdown game between the two old rivals.

A crowd of 84,685, most of them disappointed Ohio State fans, watched in silence as the hardhitting Wolverines stopped the Buckeye offense on a wind-swept field in 22-degree temperatures.

The victory was Michigan's sixth against one loss in the Big 10. It was a big one that gave the Wolverines the title by half a game over the Buckeyes who finished 5-1 in league play.

AF Shot Down

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Fighting-mad Colorado finished its poor season with a top performance Saturday, edging cross-state rival Air Force 28-23 before 26,500 fans.

The Buffaloes, who had won only one game before Saturday, scored in every quarter. The victory was clinaxed by a 91-yard kickoff return by halfback Bill Symons in the fourth quarter.

The game was interrupted in the third period by a free-for-all on the field which emptied both benches. Colorado guard Tom Kresnak and Air Force center Bill Nemeth were boot-ed out of the game after the fray ended.

Wildcats Slip By Okie State

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — Kansas State parlayed a blocked punt into the winning touchdown Saturday in the fourth quarter to nip Oklahoma State 17-14 and vault into respectability in the Big Eight conference.

With the Cowboys leading 14-10 and with about five minutes left in the game, reserve end Bob Nichols blocked a punt attempt by Jeff Williams on the Oklahoma State 26-yard line.

Larry Condit scooped up the loose ball and romped untouched into the end zone.

Kansas State's victory was its third in the conference giving the Wildcats a possible fifth-place tie with a 3-4 record.

Not since 1958 had the Wildcats won three games in one season, and not since 1955 had they won that many conference games. It was Kansas State's first victory over the Cowboys since 1936.

Oklahoma State now is 3-3. Only Oklahoma remains on the Cowboys' schedule.

The winning margin turned out to be a 22-yard field goal by Wildcat Jerry Cook. K-State took a 3-0 lead on the kick with time running out in the first quarter.

Oklahoma State stormed back to take a 7-3 halftime lead with quarterback Glenn Baxter hitting halfback Williams with a 49-yard scoring pass. Baxter injured an ankle later in the quarter and was forced out of the game.

The see-saw battle teetered back to Kansas State late in the third quarter when quarterback Ed Danieley connected with Larry Condit on a 42-yard scoring pass.

But the Cowboys were not through. Defensive guard Hugh McCrabb recovered a fumble by K-State's Ron Barlow midway in the fourth period on the Wildcat 43. On the next play a pass interference call gave Oklahoma State a first and goal on the 7.

On fourth down fullback Walt Garrison bulled two yards for the score.

Kentucky Cops

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Underdog Kentucky, pushed out over the field in the first half, roared back on the deadly Rick Norton - Rick Kestner pass combination Saturday for a 12-7 victory over Tennessee.

Norton, the SEC's leading passer, connected for one touchdown and set up another to give the Wildcats third place in the SEC, their highest finish in a decade.

Irish Romp

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — No. 1 rated Notre Dame, its passing attack numbed by 15-degree temperatures, crushed Iowa with its ground game 28-0 Saturday for the ninth consecutive Irish victory.

The Irish tried only 10 passes, all by star quarterback John Huarte. He connected on only four of them, but one of the completions hit end Jack Snow for a 66-yard touchdown play.

The completion gave Snow a new Notre Dame record with his eighth touchdown catch of the year with one game left to play.

Bear Rally Tips SMU Mustangs

DALLAS (UPI) — Terry Southall in the first three minutes on a 21-yard scamper by Richard Stark and again in the third and final periods on 41 and 37-yard runs goals by last year's national punting champion, Danny Thomas.

For a while, the slim crowd of 15,000 shivering 38-degree weather thought that SMU not only would break a four-game string of shutout defeats, but might also chalk up its second victory against seven defeats.

But, Southall — hurt when he tackled SMU's Dan Crowder in the opening minutes after Crowder had set up the Mustang score with a 19-yard runback of an interception — hobbled back into action and found his passing range to Elkins, Harlan Lane and Ken Hodge.

Fullback Tom Davies, who had starred in last week's victory over Kentucky, also contributed some key runs in the third against three losses inside the Southwest Conference.

It took the two last half surges to overcome a fired-up SMU team that bounced back ferociously from a 44-0 shellacking at the hands of conference champion Arkansas a week ago to score a touchdown.

Missouri scored its final touchdown in the closing seconds. Reserve quarterback Mike Jones on his first play of the year threw a 12-yard pass to Jim Waller.

Missouri marched 68 and 57 yards and scored on a 12-yard pass in the final quarter to snap a 14-14 deadlock in sub-freezing weather.

The victory left Missouri with a 6-3-1 season record and Kansas finished 6-4.

It was the first time in 10 years that either team had won two consecutive games and the 34 points represented Missouri's highest production of the season.

The Tigers took a 14-7 lead early in the third quarter but Kansas drove 87 yards in nine plays to tie the contest. Missouri bounced back with a 68-yard drive in 11 plays.

Halfback Charlie Brown scored on a 40-yard dash-off right guard. Missouri launched another scoring march moments later after receiving a punt on its own 43. Fullbacks Gus Otto and Carl Reese along 9-yard ground attack.

Otto scored from the 4-yard line with Brown spearheaded the 9-yard ground attack.

Stratford Elks Pass Parade Nips White Deer In Bi-District, 14-7

By JEFF COHANE
News Sports Editor

STRATFORD — Twenty-two hundred frostbitten fans watched the Stratford Elks combine an equally deadly pass defense and the running of a cripple out of a sickbed for a 14-7 victory over the fumble-fingered White Deer Bucks Friday night.

The Elks came from behind midway in the final quarter on the deadly passing of quarterback Charles Plunk and the running of fullback Terry Mathews, with their aerial defense killing two Bucks threats in the final minutes. White Deer, on the one-man gang efforts of Big Eddie Kleibrink, had led 7-6 in score and 3-1 in penetrations going into the late stages.

The Bucks were completely crippled by fumbles as they bobbed the ball nine times in the 25-degree weather, aided by the hard hitting of Elks Harry Hamilton, Danny Haney and Boyd Spurlock. Their defense in turn, led by Kleibrink, Larry Simmons, Vernon Marlair, Gary Smith, and Monte Hawpe, had held the Elks to only eight yards rushing until Mathews came on the scene. Taped from waist to ankles, the supposedly crippled fullback smashed for 59 yards in 14 carries, scoring the winning touchdown and eating up the clock in the final minutes.

Kleibrink put on the finest performance of his career as he used the strong side of his line like a club. Smashing right time and again behind gaping holes opened by tackle Charles Smith, backed by guard Gary Smith and end Monte Hawpe, the Big Buck fought, slashed, powered and drove for 95 yards in 22 carries. White Deer actually gained 155 yards rushing, but lost 30 yards on fumbles and Stratford's red-dogging of quarterback Calvin Luman.

The Bucks' pass defense couldn't cope with the passing of Plunk and Jim Hudson however, as Stratford threw 17 aerials and completed 12 for 190 yards. The versatile Hudson, in addition to throwing passes and running for 45 yards in five carries, caught five passes for 64 yards.

Three plays after the kickoff, Spurlock dove in to recover the first of a long series of fumbles on the WD 42. Stratford moved to the 24, but the Bucks held on down and took the ball back on their 25.

WD punted out to the Elk 45 and Stratford started again. Plunk was pushed back to the 42 by Kleibrink, but then faded back and hit Spurlock on the WD 33. Spurlock outran his defender and over the goal line with 4:12 left in the quarter. A conversion pass was broken up by Luman.

Early in the second quarter, Stratford tumbled deep in their own territory. The ball rolled back toward the goal line with four Bucks and two Elks all taking a stab at it before Stratford finally recovered on their three. They punted out to their 35 and Randy Elliott swivelled down the sidelines to the 14. Marlair carried twice to the six, but two Buck fumbles in a row and a red-dog rush on Luman gave the Elks back the ball on their 24. Plunk threw a swing pass to John Brannon, but Brannon let go of the ball as he was hit and James Wheeler grabbed it in the air on the 29.

White Deer tumbled again and Luman recovered on the 20. Kleibrink then smashed on a trap play to the 14. A penalty put the ball on the eight and Big Eddie barreled up the middle for the touchdown with 1:02 left in the half. Johnny Mooney kicked the extra point, but the Bucks were penalized five. Mooney calmly stepped back and kicked again for a 7-6 lead.

Plunk and Hudson took to the air and passed to the WD 25 as time ran out.

Early in the second quarter, WD took a short punt on the Elk 40 and Kleibrink and Vernon Marlair marched to the 22. Luman hit Hawpe with a fourth-down pass good for seven yards and a first on the Elk 15. Stratford held on their 14 and Mooney attempted a field goal, which fell short.

Gary Smith recovered a fumble on the Stratford 48. Kleibrink carried eight times in a 10-play drive, but Stratford held on downs on their 26 in the fourth quarter.

Hudson recovered a Buck fumble on the 30 after an exchange of punts, and Plunk went to the air, hitting two passes to the 11, keeping to the six and then passing to the one. With 6:24 left in the game, Mathews plunged over right guard for the touchdown. Brannon then passed to Hudson for the conversion.

White Deer quickly moved to the Stratford 37, and Luman heaved a fourth-down pass to Otto Wheeler on the 21. Spurlock smashed in and knocked him loose from the ball.

Mathews then ate up the clock until finally relinquishing the ball on the White Deer 40 with 39 seconds left. Luman passed to Otto Wheeler on the Elk 35, but Brannon reached up and stole the ball out of his hands to clinch the bi-district title.

Briscoe Takes Two High School Scores Games at Canadian

— CANADIAN — Fast-breaking Briscoe led to a 89-55 victory over the Canadian Wildcats Friday night in the Cats' opening basketball game of the season. While Marvonus Mickie and keep-alive the Broncoettes to a twin sweep, 64-53 over the Wildkittens.

With 6'3" Orville Atherton completely dominating the backboards, Briscoe roared to a 30-12 quarter lead and was never headed. The foul-filled game saw thirty whistles blown on Canadian and 20 on Briscoe, with four Cats fouling out of the game.

Atherton connected on 10 field goals and 14 free throws for 34 points, aided by Tommy Hayes with 20. Butcherboy Bennie Eckles led the shorter hosts with 15 markers.

Marvonus-Mickie started off at last year's clip, banging a way at the nets for 48 points. Canadian took a 17-13 quarter lead on the shooting of Squeaky Petree, Susie Owens and Dora Mae Hext, but Mickey led the way to a 33-27 halftime edge and stretched it to 51-36 at the three-quarter mark.

Squeaky finished with 27 points, Susie had 15 and Dora Mae 11.

Canadian hosts Lefors for a twin bill Tuesday.

Beavers Rally

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon State put together a last-ditch scoring drive and scored in the final minute of play Saturday to edge Oregon 7-6 on Steve Clark's conversion and keep-alive its hopes for a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Fullback Booker Washington plunged over from less than a yard out with just 54 seconds remaining in a tense Pacific Athletic Conference football game.

Gophers Goof

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Wisconsin's angry seniors, led by little halfback Ron Smith who ran for 160 yards and one touchdown, upset Minnesota, 14-7, Saturday in a frigid Big Ten football finale.

Porter Propels Herd By Pirates

By KEITH GEISLER
News Sports Correspondent

LEFORS — Dunk Porter set a school rushing record Friday night as he smashed for 264 yards in 13 carries to lead the Wheeler Mustangs to a 59-0 victory over the Lefors Pirates.

Porter was the whole show as he rolled up the highest single-game rushing total ever recorded at Wheeler, and tops for the Top O' Texas this year, to give the Mustangs a 10-0 record going into their Thanksgiving Day bi-district game against Matador at Memphis.

The Pirates promptly fumbled again on their 30 and in three plays, it was Porter up the middle for 23 yards and a score, making it 39-0 at the half.

The Pirates came fighting back in the third quarter as 100-pound sophomore Johnny Dunn made a personal pest of himself as far as Porter was concerned, getting four straight tackles on the big boy. Lefors took the ball and drove to the Wheeler 12 in 11 plays. Sanders, Bruiser Nichols and Tony Pittman sharing the load, but lost the ball on a fumble again.

Wheeler then stormed back in eight plays; Tommy Smith going the last 19 yards.

In the fourth quarter, Wheeler drove in six plays for their 47 to the Pirate 37, where Porter went around left end for the touchdown.

Wheeler's reserves came in and Mike Goad passed from his 47 for another tally, hitting Johnny Hutchison for 20 yards, and then Frankie Rogers for 23 and the score. Adams' extra point was nullified by a penalty, and his second try was blocked by Finney.

USC Holds

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — University of Southern California stayed in the running for the Western Rose Bowl bid with a decisive 34-13 victory over UCLA Saturday in their annual cross-town battle before 62,108 fans.

The victory left Southern California and Oregon State tied for the Pacific-Eight Conference championship with 3-1 records. Oregon State ended the season with an 8-2 overall record while Southern Cal is 6-3 and still has a game with Notre Dame next week.

Trojan halfbacks Mike Garrett and Rod Sherman ran the Bruins dizzy while quarterback Craig Fertig passed for three touchdowns as Southern California scored in every period.

UCLA held scoreless in the first half, came to life at the start of the third quarter on the passing of Larry Zeno who completed five straight throws, the last for six yards to Kurt Altenberg for a touchdown.

Late in the game reserve quarterback Steve Sindell guided UCLA 73 yards to another score. He threw five yards to Altenberg for the touchdown. But the game was out of UCLA's reach by then.

After a Year, Dallas Can't Forget

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DALLAS (NEA) — Rain drips from the plastic flowers, spreading the ink on the handwritten notes pinned to the green wreaths. Cold needles of water bounce on the sidewalks and turn the lily pond into a boiling sea.

The squat brick and cement buildings which face the plaza are dark and streaked with water. The wet, black streets glisten. A man, standing in the doorway of the Texas School Book Depository to escape the rain, ceaselessly snaps pictures.

It is November in Dallas. A year ago on November 22, Main and Elm and Houston streets were bathed in sunlight, lined with people straining to catch a glimpse of the motorcade which was to take the President of the United States to the Dallas Trade Mart.

But on this day, the rain has cleared the streets and traffic is slow and silent.

"Dear God," the note pinned to the plastic wreath says, "Please take care of our beloved President. We miss him very much and sort of feel that even though he isn't here, his body, on earth with us, he is still watching over us to protect us from other evils. God bless you, President Kennedy, and your beloved family. Thank you for being our President."

"There are always a dozen or so people around Dealey Plaza," a policeman said. "Children stand by the flowers and their parents take pictures. They walk across the street to the depository and stand by the door. They point to the window where Oswald was. Nobody says much."

Dallas was wounded when John Kennedy was murdered and a year later, the wound has yet to heal.

"There's talk about placing a memorial here somewhere," a Dallas newspaperman said, "but I don't think many people want it. They're trying to forget — and they can't. A memorial would only make it more difficult."

Nothing has changed around Dealey Plaza, a triangular strip of grass which inclines downward toward Elm Street, where the President was assassinated. And, in Dallas, where new buildings sprout quickly, this is unusual.

Newspaper stories or films can't show distance. But the visitor sees the triple underpass just a few feet from where John Kennedy was shot. Had his limousine been under the railroad bridge when the shots were fired, November 22 would have been a sensational, but not tragic day.

"I used to drive down Elm on my way home from work," a resident said. "But that was before November 22. I go down Main now and, even so, whenever I see the depository, I think of that day."

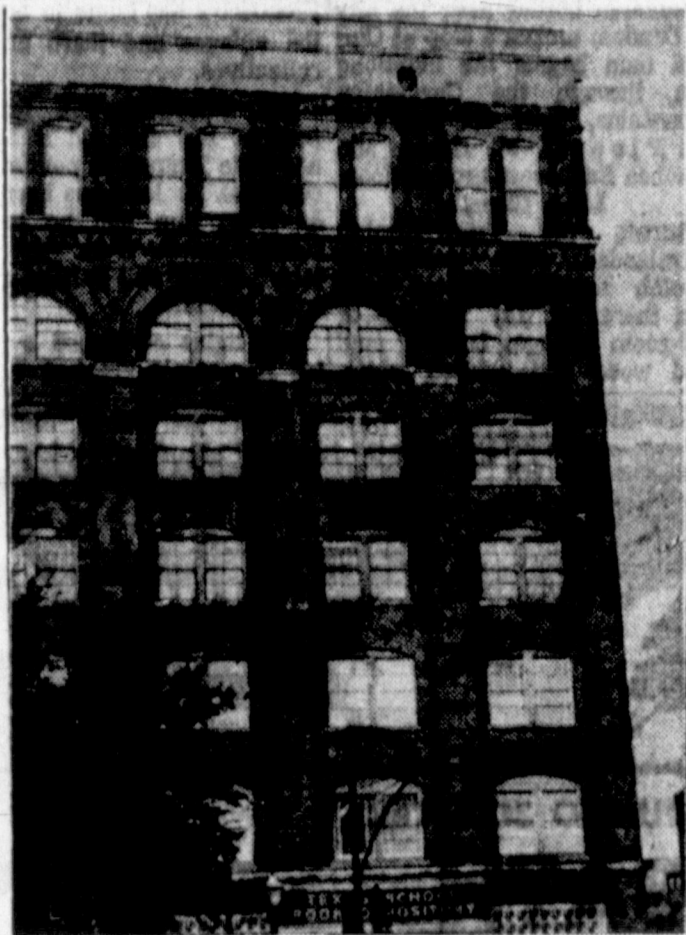

"Friends from other states have said to me, 'It could have happened in any city.' Sure it could. But it happened in Dallas and we have to live with it."

The grassy incline of Dealey Plaza used to be covered with sprays of flowers and wreaths. The grass is clean, now. Only the marble plaza which overlooks Elm and the triple underpass contains flowers. A nd notes of grief.

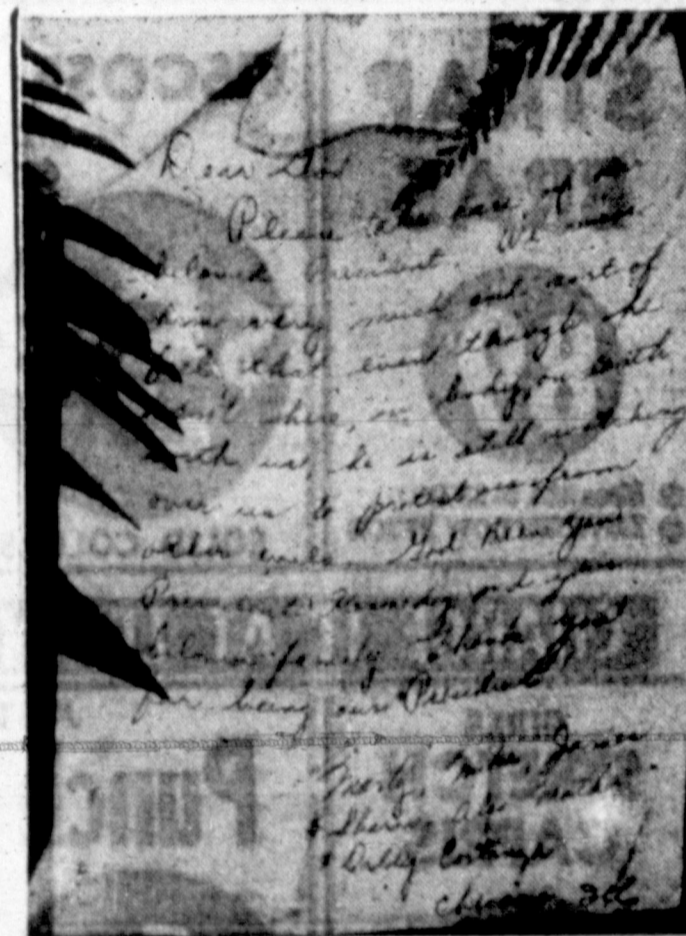

"I don't think there are many people who come to Dallas who don't at least drive by the depository," a hotel clerk said. "People are always asking me how to get there."
"A couple of times a week I have to take people there," a cab driver said. "I went there for myself a couple of days after the assassination. That was enough."

"Dallas residents are just not going to volunteer their thoughts," a newspaperman who covered the assassination said. "People are always asking me about it and I say as little as possible. I'd rather not."

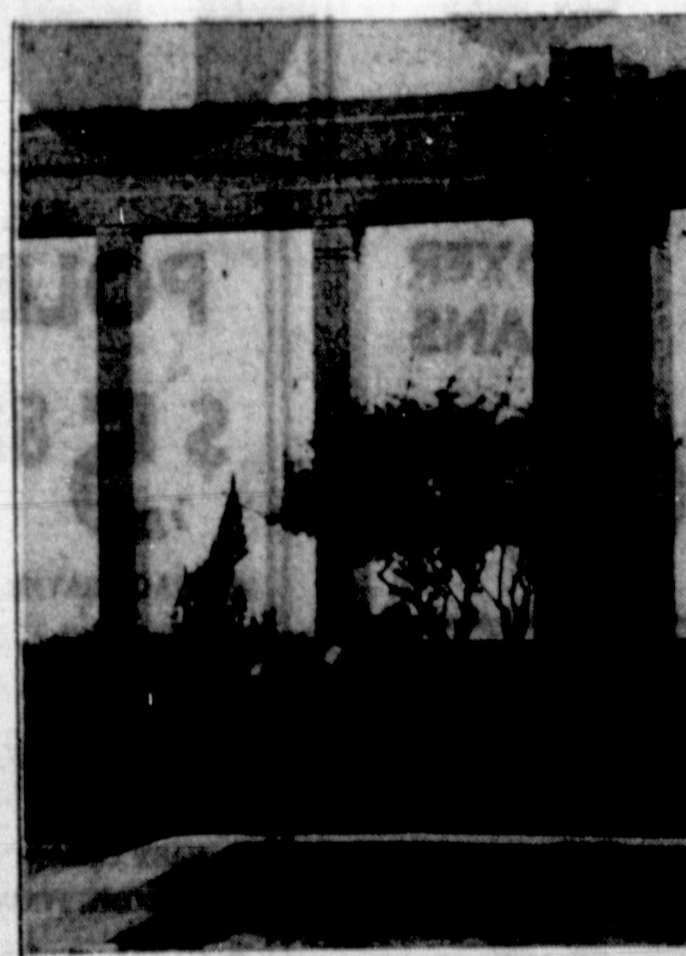

Time stands still at Dealey Plaza. The noise and rush of Dallas pass over it. And for both the visitor and resident, the only people near are the gunman in the window and the man in the open car.

They come to look . . .

They leave their notes . . .

They place their flowers.

Confidence Permeates Romanian Capital

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

BUCHAREST, Romania—An atmosphere of aggressive confidence permeates this Balkan capital which among the satellites has taken the lead in asserting independence of Moscow.

Romania considers itself no less Communist than its neighbors but it is a communism based on nationalism. And as Romania loosens its ties to the Soviet Union, its economic and cultural links with the West increase in direct proportion.

At the Foreign Office, a spokesman reacts with obvious irritation to a suggestion that the overthrow of Nikita Khrushchev may have an influence on Romania's own future policies. "It is an internal problem in Moscow," is the flat reply.

"We do not believe that political differences should interfere in relations between states. Romania has good relations with all the Socialist countries, the Soviet Union, as well as (Red) China and Albania."

Will Buy Goods
He reacts with similar irritation at a suggestion that Romania seeks help from the United States.

"We will buy from the United States," he said, emphasizing the word "buy." "We will buy whole factories. But we're not asking for help."

Between the questions and the answers lies the story of Communist Romania, 1964. Hemmed in by the Black Sea and by Communist neighbors, Romania is ruled by a dedicated Communist regime headed by Gheorghiu-Dej who spent the years from 1933 to 1944 in prison as a convicted underground Communist agent.

But Romania's language is Western in origin, Latin rather than Slavic.

The tall, modern buildings of Bucharest's business district are Western in appearance and the iron grill-work of the balconies and the flower gardens of Bucharest residences slightly reminiscent of Paris, of which the people once thought of themselves as an outpost.

And even if the Romanians consider Khrushchev's downfall an internal matter for the Soviets, there can be little doubt that they contributed to it.

Major Factors
Major factors were Romania's adamant refusal to play the role of raw material supplier to the Soviet economy, its undisguised disapproval of Khrushchev's open quarrel with Red China, and the part Romania's "de-Russification" played in breaking up the one-time monolithic structure of world communism.

It was last May that President Johnson declared the United States would seek "to build bridges across the gulf which has divided us from Eastern Europe."

In June, the first of these bridges created a new link between Bucharest and Washington in an agreement which made Romania the first Communist country to be permitted to buy U.S. industrial equipment on credit.

The U.S. legation in Bucharest was lifted to the role of embassy and the way was opened for expanded cultural relations and tourism.

From Budapest, Hungary, following the route of the old Orient Express linking Paris and Istanbul, the train crosses the Romanian border near the city of Oradea, makes a stop at Cluj and then begins the nightlong run through the Carpathian Mountains, past the lights of the Ploesti oil fields, and reaches Bucharest around noon.

Electricity has come to most of the villages and there are the collectives.

But otherwise, life for the peasant has changed little. He has little interest in politics, except that his land has been taken from him and he resents taking orders from "the system." Water still is hand-drawn from a well.

The lights of Ploesti symbolize Romania's greatest wealth, despite extravagant misuse of the oil fields by the German occupiers in World War II and later by the Russians.

In Bucharest are the planners, without which no Communist system exists.

Even critical observers agree that Romania's natural wealth has given it a fantastic rate of growth which over the last five years has averaged more than 13 per cent annually.

Recently the government granted workers a 10 per cent wage increase, and figures that with others granted over the years, the real wages of Romanian workers have more than doubled since 1951.

EMBARRASSING BLAST
LANCASTER, England (UPI)—A trumpeter with the King's own Royal Border Regiment turned as red as the raspberry he blew during a procession fanfare here.

The sour note came prior to the installation of Princess Alexandra as chancellor of the new Lancaster University. As the groaning blast echoed, the procession faltered. Prime Minister Harold Wilson smiled and the guests giggled.

Rail Merger Has Approval of Lines
CHICAGO (UPI)—A proposal to study the merger of the Santa Fe and the Frisco railroads had the official approval Friday of both lines.

E. S. Marsh, president of the Santa Fe, and L. W. Menk, president of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway—better known as the Frisco—announced Thursday that a joint study will be made that will explore the feasibility of merging into an 18,000-mile system.

At the same time Marsh revealed the Santa Fe was deferring merger talks with the Missouri Pacific (MoPac) Railroad.

Pledges Announced At Lubbock School
LUBBOCK (Sp)—Texas Tech fraternities have pledged 149 students in fall rush for 1964.

New pledges include the following Pampa students: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Joe Fran, Robinson Jr.; Phi Kappa Alpha, James Anthony Edmondson, and Phi Gamma Delta, Claude Allen and Bailey.

Top Trumpeter, PHS Band to Give Concert

Members of the Pampa High School band have started selling tickets for the upcoming concert which will feature Carl (Doc) Severinsen, well known recording star and lead trumpet player with the NBC band, as guest soloist.

Fred Stockdale, high school band instructor, said that Severinsen is among the elite of professional musicians who command top fees and he is acknowledged to be the finest trumpeter playing today. Among his latest recording achievements is "The Big Band's Back in Town" which is a collectors item for every serious student of the trumpet.

"There are several reasons why Severinsen has been called the most exciting musician on the list of top trumpeters today," said Stockdale. "He is first of all an artist whose excellent taste reflects in everything he plays. His tone quality is one which all teachers agree they would like to have their students imitate. He is easily the most versatile trumpet player playing everything from progressive jazz through the classical repertoire."

Pampa's two-part concert will be presented at 8 p.m. Jan. 7 and 8 in the Robert E. Lee Auditorium with all profits going into the band fund which sponsors the organization's annual trip to Enid, Okla., for the Tri-State Band Festival. The concert is being sponsored by the band and the Band Booster Club.

The concert is scheduled to be presented in two parts. The first half of the concert will include the whole 103 piece band with Severinsen as guest soloist. Special original compositions that were written for Severinsen will be presented during the half. The second half of the program will be presented by Swing Kings, a 22 piece band composed of the concert band members, with Severinsen as jazz soloist.

Stockdale said the reason for Severinsen's acceptance to do the concert here was due to the band's performance in state-wide competition last year and efforts of the local Band Boosters. Severinsen heard a tape recording of the Pampa High band when it was judged to be among the top five high school organizations in the state. After hearing the recording he agreed to come here for the fund raising project.

REHEARSALS — Members of the full concert band are shown in the top photo working on some of the original compositions that will be presented at the concert. The compositions were written by New York composers especially for Severinsen's style of play. Some of the well known work to be heard at the concert will be included in the American Civil War Fantasy which is a medley containing popular tunes of the Civil War period. Included in the medley are 'Listen to the Mockingbird', 'Dixie', 'Battle Hymn of the Republic' and others.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORMSON

ONE OF THE MOST, if not the most, elegant style shows ever staged in Pampa was held in the Coronado Inn's Starlight Room Tuesday afternoon. Overheard some who attended the luncheon and style show on a rainy afternoon say it was the most fashionable show ever viewed. Alpha Omicron Chapter of ESA sponsored the event and plan to make it an annual occasion. Know fashion-minded women of Pampa already are looking forward to next year's production. Pampa merchants furnished styles which were fabulous and the models all looked lovely. Am always surprised to learn how many pretty and poised women our town has. Speaking of models, four outstanding models at the show were A. J. Carubbi Jr., Carlton Freeman, George Simmons and Tom Rose. Although the girls gave professional modeling performances, they didn't outshine the men one bit. Modeling the latest fashions were Eleanor (Mrs. Clifford) Braly, Charlene (Mrs. James) Frazier, Olivia (Mrs. Jerry) Hopkins, Ethel Mae 'Sis' Ledrick, Frances (Mrs. George) Cree, Glenda (Mrs. Roy) Anderson, Thelma (Mrs. Howard) Cruise, Evelyn (Mrs. W. L.) Epps, Sue (Mrs. E. M.) Keller, Joan (Mrs. Gerald) Simms, Carletta Johnson, Ruth (Mrs. Jake) Osborne, Shirley Sanders, Virginia Stoops, Helen (Mrs. Gene) Hall and Ruth (Mrs. Doug) McBride. Giving colorful descriptions of the fashions and cleverly entertaining the audience were Viola (Mrs. Rufe) Jordan and Katherine (Mrs. Dudley) Steele. One thing noticed at the style show, other than the beautiful apparel, was the way mi-lady is taking to the current hot fashion. Nearly all those attending the event were perfectly hatted. ESA Sorority has been active in Pampa 18 years and has one charter member, Wilsie (Mrs. Bruce) Parker, who is very active in the organization.

MORE AND MORE evidence of the Christmas season keeps popping up. Many already have received invitations to holiday parties, letters to Santa are arriving at the News office, the post office is accommodating the early birds by selling them the new Christmas stamp series and seen on display in the Red Cross office was a Christmas card received by Libby (Mrs. F. W.) Shotwell from a young serviceman and wife stationed in Japan. Mrs. J. M. McCracken has returned from a visit to Tulsa. While there Mrs. McCracken had the pleasure of seeing daughters Margaret (Mrs. Carl) Morgan and Betty (Mrs. Loren) Miller model in an amusing style show depicting nurses and women doctors of a century ago and today, sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Tulsa County Medical Society. Tom and Harlene Rose, accompanied by Harlene's mother, Mrs. H. B. Howse, spent last weekend in Oklahoma City visiting relatives and attending the OU-Missouri game at Norman. Friends are happy to learn Clarisse (Mrs. John) Nutting is home after a recent sojourn in the hospital. Barbara and Art Dobbin took granddaughter Stephanie home to Lubbock to mother and daddy, Priscilla and Don Stephens, who are attending Tech, and spent the weekend before Art took off for Boston. The C. T. Boones, former Pampanos now living in Lubbock, were recent houseguests of Mrs. Katie Vincent.

SOME PEOPLE like Emma (Mrs. Glen) Larsen, just make you feel wonderful to see. Emma is not only a pretty blonde with a sweet way about her, but also has an infectious smile. Edith and D. W. Osborne's daughter Rosemary works for the Treasury Dept. in Washington, D.C., but the most interesting aspect of the job is that the offices for Rosemary's section are in the old Ford Theater Building, famous for the assassination of Lincoln. Am certain the next few months will go slowly for the D. W. Bonds. The foundation for their new home on Aspen was poured last week. Also learned the L. B. Paddens have moved into the home purchased from Betty Brown on Mary Ellen and are awaiting Thanksgiving when daughters Sally and Suzanne come in from the University of Texas to arrange their rooms. Azelle Loftus will be in a flurry of activity now that daughter Maynette's engagement and approaching marriage has been announced. Frances (Mrs. George) Cree, Theresa (Mrs. Ralph) McKinney, Chris (Mrs. Bill) Campaigne and Doris (Mrs. Bob) Johnson are wearing stunning hairdos this fall. Somehow the word "winsome" comes to mind when thinking of Lucille Weathered. Lucille and A. L. were entertaining daughter Jeanette and family for a visit last week, their first in a year as son-in-law Capt. John Thompson is in the Air Force stationed at Waco.

THE TALENTS OF Alieth (Mrs. Bob) Curry seem endless. Alieth's latest creation was the unusual carousel arrangement used as the centerpiece for Junior Service League's coffee Tuesday morning at the Country Club. Placed on a table covered with a pink linen cloth, the three-foot high centerpiece was designed with a red and white striped ribbon top, three feet in diameter, under which hung huge red balloons. Pink satin ribbons fell from the center top to miniature horses, some red and white striped and some black and white striped, complete with manes. Pink and red roses were banked about the horses' feet on the revolving carousel. Seem at the coffee were Lyle (Mrs. Jim) Baldridge, Nancy (Mrs. Billy) Davis, Janice (Mrs. Richard) Hankins, Jo (Mrs. Fred) Stockdale, Myrtle (Mrs. Skeet) Roberts, Jean (Mrs. Charlie) Cook and Helen (Mrs. Buster) Carter. Jean (Mrs. Tom) Braly serves the League as president. If anyone is having difficulty finding Alice (Mrs. Eben) Warner, look for her at the ranch. Believe it or not the chic Alice says she loves to work cattle. Speaking of chic Pampanos, another is Wilma (Mrs. Bob) Gordon, who is always perfectly ensembled whether shopping downtown, attending church or socializing. Fall parties are much more interesting now that fashion has decreed something in mode besides navy, brown and black. Guests at the tea last week hosted for friends of Mary (Mrs. Homer) Johnson and Gladys (Mrs. R. E. Jr.) Batson complimented the table which was covered with a gold cloth and centered with fall flowers. Costumes ranged in color from winter white through the spectrum of fall tones to smart black. Sandra (Mrs. Jack) Dennis and Mary Johnson wore white, Betty (Mrs. Don) Cain was suited in yellow, while Anne (Mrs. Rex) McAnelly and Chris (Mrs. Crawford) Atkinson wore suits in different shades of orange. Doris (Mrs. Felix) Vendrell's dress was red topped by a white sweater and to complete the range of green, Jane (Mrs. O. B.) Worley, Margaret (Mrs. Jimmy) Thompson, Barbara (Mrs. R. E.) Dobbin and Katy (Mrs. Julian) Key were found in suits of various shades of that color. Blue seems a favorite color in costume suits worn by Evelyn (Mrs. Ralph) Sidwell, Hesta (Mrs. Rue) Hestand, Gladys Batson and Jean (Mrs. Charles) Cook. Judy (Mrs. R. I.) West wore a striking purple jumper while Merle (Mrs. Paul) Carmichael looked stunning in a brown wool floral.

DON LANE attended the State Cancer meeting in San Antonio and proved the perfect husband by taking wife Susanne and son Richard along. Feit it was time to introduce first-order Richard to Texas history. Adrienne (Mrs. Jack) Foster and Josephine (Mrs. Kermit) Lawson also flew down for the meeting. Phoebe and Ron Goodling of Washington, D.C., are the parents of a new son, Grandmother Pebble (Mrs. Frank) Carter has returned from a visit with the new arrival. Music lovers will be interested in the Amarillo Music Teachers Assn.'s presentation of the noted duo-piano team of Robert and Joan Cowan, recently returned from a European tour. The recital will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 30, in Amarillo's Stephen F. Austin Auditorium.

Alpha Omicron Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sponsors Luncheon, Style Show

STYLE SHOW MODELS — Shown are Carlton Freeman and Mrs. Jake Osborne, who modeled in Tuesday's style show sponsored by Alpha Omicron Chapter of ESA. Mr. Carlton is wearing a maroon and black satin lapel dinner jacket of 100 percent silk. The one button coat is of the latest evening styling for men's apparel. Mrs. Osborne is modeling an imported knit suit of sparkling metallic cloth topped by an oyster colored sheared beaver jacket.

ROARING 20'S — Mrs. Jerry Hopkins is shown modeling a dress of red crepe with long red fringe, reminiscent of the Roaring Twenties, now called the Dicotek look, in Tuesday's style show. Mrs. Hopkins chose an emba azure mink stole to complete the costume.

Guild Concludes Study of Genesis

Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church met Monday evening at 7:30 in the Church Parlor.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Irene Smith, president, who announced plans for the Christmas party to be held Dec. 7, in the home of Ila Pool, 1610 Charles Street.

Interesting thoughts for meditation were presented by Mrs. Lalar Wilkinson on "Our Need for Neighborliness." The "Life of Joseph" was presented by Alma Wilson. As this meeting concluded the study of "Genesis," Mrs. Luther Kirk, study leader, re-emphasized spiritual values to be gained through the study of the trials and temptations affecting the lives of these great men of God.

Refreshments were served to members, and one guest, Miss Gail Lani Wilkins, by the hostess, Lillian Mulanax.

Merten Club Hosts Alanreed Group

Merten Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Jack Howard, with the Alanreed Home Demonstration Club as guests.
 A business meeting with Mrs. V. Smith, president of Merten Club, presiding, was held followed by a recreation session led by Mrs. J. Lloyd Laramore. Prize winners were Mrs. O. E. Wylie and Mrs. George Smith. At noon members and guests were served luncheon provided by the members of the Merten Club.
 Attending from Alanreed were Mmes. Robert Bruce, H. H. Worsham, F. R. Crisp, Cecil Carter and George Smith. Present from Merten Club were Mmes. V. Smith, Elbert Tempin, O. E. Wylie, J. Lloyd Laramore, Jack Howard; W. L. Groves, N. A. Briden, Gilbert McVey and A. M. Nash.

EVENING WEAR — Mrs. Gene Hall, Mrs. Jake Osborne and Mrs. George Cree are shown, left to right, wearing late-day styles. Mrs. Hall wears a vampire red cocktail dress of all over embroidered lace with iridescent beaded trim, accented by gold accessories. Mrs. Osborne models a gown designed for at-home entertaining or lounging of nylon lace with nylon gold trim. The gown features a flowing black velvet trailing scarf. Gold tasseled earrings, gold bracelet and black velvet pumps complete Mrs. Osborne's ensemble. Mrs. Cree is shown in an unusual two-piece cocktail dress of Italian peasant silk with contrasting beige nylon marquisette shift. The sheath dress is strapless and the sheer shift is trimmed in silk matching the dress. French kid elbow-length gloves, ribbed satin bag and matching pumps complete Mrs. Cree's holiday costume.

FLUTTERY
NEW YORK (UPI) — The newest flutter in the false eyelash field comes from a London manufacturer's new design. The maker has introduced ready-trimmed, pre-shaped lashes tailored for left and right eyes.
 The self-adhesive lashes, says the maker, can be worn three to five times before the adhesive needs renewing.

HOLIDAY FASHIONS — Pictured left to right are Mrs. Clifford Braly, Mrs. Ray Anderson, Mrs. W. L. Epps and Mrs. Doug McBride, wearing floor-length gowns designed to make mid-lady's holiday season bright and gay. Mrs. Braly wears a gown of imported silk crepe in pale pink with matching hand-beaded Chanel-look blouse. Mrs. Anderson wears a gown of mauve and aqua-satin brocade with matching jacket. The cut-away skirt gives walking ease to the pencil, slim skirt. Mrs. Epps models a two-piece ensemble for evening wear. The jeweled, sequined top is hand made and is worn with a long black silk chiffon skirt which is softly gathered. Mrs. McBride is shown in an aquamarine silk pea de soie gown with Paris styling. The bodice of the gown is embellished with matching sequins and the skirt features side pleats which gives the gown a flowing effect when the wearer walks.

CASUAL WEAR — Miss Virginia Stoops, Mrs. E. M. Keller Jr. and Mrs. Ethel Mae Ledrick modeled casual wear in Tuesday's style show. Miss Stoops is shown in an all white ensemble of flannel slacks topped by a lace trimmed white wool sweater. Mrs. Keller wears black stretch pants with a blouse of acetate crepe hounds-tooth check accented by an ascot tie in bright gold. Mrs. Ledrick models stretch pants with matching silk water color check print blouse. These casual fashions will make any woman's holiday leisure hours comfortable and happy.

Hobart Baptist WMS Circles Meet for Study

Hobart Baptist Women's Missionary Society Circles met recently in members homes for business sessions and mission study.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CIRCLE met Nov. 10 in the home of Mrs. Fred Bridges.

Meeting was opened by the reading of the prayer calendar. Mrs. Jimmie Clark led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Merl Smith, circle chairman, was in charge of the business meeting. Visitation plans were made for the month of November and the community missions project was discussed. Plans were made to provide a Thanksgiving dinner for a needy family. Minutes of the last two meetings were read and the treasurers report given by Mrs. Bill Simpson. The watchword was repeated to close the business part of the meeting.

The mission book, "Frontiers of Advance," was taught by Mrs. Darrell Hinkle. The meeting was closed with prayer led by Mrs. Tommy Richardson.

Members present were Mmes. Bill Simpson, Tommy Richardson, Fred Bridges, Darrell Hinkle, Merl Smith, Jimmy Clark, Eugene Brock, and one new member Mrs. Leslie Sigler. Two visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Don Beene and Mrs. Donald Salmon.

KATHLEEN CLARK CIRCLE met at the home of Mrs. Dale Butler. After a business session, the mission book, "Frontiers of Advance," was taught by Mrs. Charles Glascock. There were seven members present.

Thanksgiving Meal Will Be Sponsored By Groom Women

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Berinda Rogers, Riley Walters

Mr. and Mrs. Riley S. Walters Jr. ... nee Berinda Rogers

Miss Berinda Rogers and Riley S. Walters Jr. exchanged wedding vows at 6 p.m. Nov. 6 in Barrett Baptist Church. Rev. M. B. Smith performed the double-ring ceremony before a candlelit altar decorated with baskets of gladioli. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Rogers, Star Route Two, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley S. Walters, Sr., 1021 Prairie Dr.

BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal" was gowned in a floor-length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a fitted bodice of chantilly lace designed with a sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves which came to petal points over the hands, and a softly gathered skirt. Her shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a rhinestone tiara. She carried a white Bible, gift from her grandmother, topped by a white orchid and split carnations, and wore a pearl dinner ring belonging to Mrs. Ann Uzzle of Mobeetie.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Douglas Rogers, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Karla Walters, bridegroom's sister, attended as junior bridesmaid. Dressed identically in street-length dresses of blue chiffon over taffeta featuring sweetheart necklines and full gathered skirts and wearing coils of blue bows with blue veils, they carried bouquets of white pom-pom mums. Serving the bridegroom as best man was Douglas Rogers, brother of the bride, and knit suit complemented by green accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of white carnations.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall. The bride's table, covered with a white lace cloth over blue, was centered with an arrangement of blue and white gladioli flanked by double candelabra holding white tapers. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bridal couple, appointed the table.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Miss Cathy Johnson and Mrs. Harry Scoggins, aunt of the bride, served the cake. Guests were registered by Mrs. Kathy Powell.

For a wedding trip to Amarillo the bride donned a white wool two-piece suit complemented by tapestry accessories and lifted the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a 1964 graduate of Pampa High School, is employed by Marie Foundations. The bridegroom, a 1962 graduate of Pampa High School, is employed by Webco Construction Co. The couple is making their home at 1111 S. Banks.

PRE-NUPITAL EVENTS

A rehearsal dinner honoring the wedding party was hosted by the parents of the bridegroom the evening preceding the wedding ceremony in Lewis Buffetaria.

CLEAN SWEEP

New designs in appliances are permitting more flexibility in kitchen design. Wall-hung refrigerators, for example, not only place frequently needed food and drink items within easy reach but also avoid the interruptions in counter work space caused by free-standing refrigerators. Unbroken counters surfaced with waterproof and scorch proof ceramic tile are among the most important facilities in one of the most important rooms in the home.

Engagements Announced

NEWELL - MARTIN — Announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nancy Susan Newell, to John Bingham Martin is Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Pierce Newell of Oklahoma City, Okla. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Margaret Martin, 720 N. Gray. Vows will be read Dec. 19 in Oklahoma City.

LOFTUS - SCOTT — Mrs. Azelle Loftus, 1615 N. Russell, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Maynette, to John William Scott of Amarillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Scott of Amarillo. Wedding vows will be solemnized Jan. 30 in First Methodist Church.

DECORATING TIP

Variety of color or pattern in floor often provides an effective definition for various activities in the home. The 250 different colors and endless variety of sizes, shapes and textures of ceramic tile make this life-lasting, waterproof material ideal for dividing rooms. Using this method instead of actual partitions is especially desirable in small homes. A feeling of spaciousness is achieved without sacrificing identity.

Garden Club Has Program on Parks

Pampa Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Myron Dorman Jr., 421 Red Deer, with Mrs. Carlos Grissom Jr. serving as co-hostess.

Meeting was opened with the club collect led by Mrs. W. R. Campbell. Mrs. Milo Carson, president, conducted the business session at which minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Owen Gee, secretary. Treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Bob Miller.

"Horticulture Tips" were given by Mrs. Ira Carlton who suggested that all bulbs for spring be planted at this time. Mrs. Carlton also stated that now is the time to plan broad leaf evergreens.

Mrs. Fred Cary presented "Iris Tips" stating that selection be made by choice of colors and the bulbs should be planted in a sunny spot.

Mrs. Carlson asked the club to vote on having a zone meeting here next fall. Mrs. Carlson also reported on the zone meeting held recently in Perryton and showed several interesting items from the meeting.

A nominating committee with Mrs. W. E. Hinton serving as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ira Carlton and Mrs. Floyd Watson was appointed for the selection of new officers.

Mrs. Harry Vanderpool was welcomed into the club as a new member.

A program on "Parks, National and State" was presented by Mrs. Lee Moore. The speaker stated that in 1914 the National Park Service was organized and was the first of its kind in the world. Mrs. Moore gave a brief resume on various national parks, showing pictures of the highlights of each one.

Mrs. H. H. Boynton closed the meeting by reading a Thanksgiving poem.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Lee Harrah, Fred Hart, Ira Carlton, Owen Gee, W. R. Campbell, W. L. Waggoner, Milo Carson, W. E. Hinton, Lee Moore, Bert Robinson, Melvin Bailey, Bob Miller, Joe Weaver, Melvin Stephens, C. C. Matheny, Fred Cary, Myron Dorman Jr., Carlos Grissom Jr. and H. H. Boynton.

JACK FROST

Winter's coming, and soon. The long, dreary, winter afternoons can be brightened if the children have a place to expend their energy. Today's style leans to ceramic tile areas coming in for rugged wear and tear; children can't mar it no matter how hard the play. Fall is the perfect time to remodel that "spare room" into a winter playground for those husky youngsters.

Patsy Janett Pritchard, Floyd E. Gray Exchange Double-Ring Wedding Vows

Mrs. Floyd Edward Gray, nee Patsy Janett Pritchard, became the bride of Floyd Edward Gray in a double-ring wedding ceremony performed at 8 p.m. Nov. 21 in Agnew Pentecostal Holiness Church, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Rev. Alfred Spell officiated the rites before an altar appointed with two 15-branch candelabra centered with an arch of greenery and a prie dieu flanked by two baskets of gladioli.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pritchard, 2005 Hamilton, are the parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ree Gray of Nowata, Okla. Billy Hedrick of Oklahoma City provided traditional wedding selections on the organ and accompanied Rev. Carl Flowers of Apache, Okla., as he sang "Always," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest."

BRIDE

Wearing a formal length gown of white chantilly lace over tulle, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The gown was designed with a fitted bodice of chantilly lace featuring a sweetheart neckline trimmed with sequins and seed pearls and long tapered sleeves ending in petal points at the wrists, and a bouffant skirt of tulle overlaid with a chantilly lace tier. The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and her waist-length veil of bridal illusion flowed from a crown tiara of tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white min-mothers wore corsages of pink carnations.

RECEPTION

Church Fellowship Hall was the scene of the reception which followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white organdy cloth and appointed with a three-tiered pedestal wedding cake decorated in white and royal blue and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Assisting with the houseparty were Mrs. Glen Rochelle, Mrs. John C. Shepherd and Mrs. Willard Means all of Oklahoma City. Miss Shirley Spell of Stillwell, Okla., attended the guest register.

For a wedding trip to points of interest in Missouri, the bride traveled in a royal blue knit suit with matching accessories. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 1800 1/2 Exchange, Oklahoma City.

The bride, a graduate of Pampa High School, attended Southwestern Bible College, Oklahoma City, and is now employed by Unit Parts Company of Oklahoma City. The bridegroom, a graduate of Nowata High School, is now attending Southwestern Bible College and is employed at Kimberlin's IGA Store in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Walton Hosts Charity Circle

Charity Circle of St. Paul Methodist Church met Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. John Walton.

Mrs. S. T. Holding offered the opening prayer and conducted the business meeting, during which circle members decided to prepare a Thanksgiving basket for a family. Names were drawn for prayer pals.

Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Kit Autry, prepared a basket of cookies, candy and fruit to take to Mrs. Grace Newman, circle member, who is confined in the hospital.

Mrs. Holding introduced the lesson, "Our Children and Theirs," then presented Mrs. W. L. Smith, guest speaker, who gave an interesting and informative talk on "Chile, Its People and Customs."

Mrs. Smith concluded her talk by displaying jewelry made from gold, items made from copper, and a handsome leather hand-bag, as well as pictures of a daughter's family and home in Chile.

Mrs. Neal C. Jordan, 2516 Charles, will be hostess for the next circle meeting, Jan. 27 at 2 p.m.

Refreshments were served to two guests, Mrs. W. L. Smith and Mrs. Gary Martin and members Mmes. N. C. Cotten, Neal Jordan, E. B. Jones, Art Heflin, Kit Autry, S. T. Holding and John Walton.

Dissolve salt in a little boiling water and mix with cereal for even flavor.

JOHNSTON-WILSON -- Betrothal of Barbara Sue Johnston to Jerry C. Wilson is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Johnston of Overland Park, Kan. Vows will be exchanged Dec. 14 in Colvary Church of the Nazarene in Lubbock. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon G. Wilson, 1221 Williston.

Dear Abby....

This Kind of Business Leads to Moral Bankruptcy
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with two teen-aged children. For the past six months I have been seeing a lot of a man who is also my financial advisor. He has been like a father to my children. He is married and has three children of his own. Ours is a platonic relationship and nothing more. He spends many evenings in my home, and quite often it is 2 and 3 a.m. before we realize it. I would not want to cause him any trouble at home, but he has told me that he didn't have much of a marriage before he met me so I shouldn't feel guilty. If I suggest that we talk business only at his office, he'll be hurt. And besides, I would miss him terribly. Yet when I think of his wife and family my conscience bothers me. Can you advise me?

NAMELESS, PLEASE
DEAR NAMELESS: Give this "platonic relationship" another six months and it will be another one of those "it just happened" affairs. See him at his office. The kind of business that finds a married "advisor" lounging around a divorcee's home at 2 and 3 a.m. can lead to moral bankruptcy.

DEAR ABBY: My husband sleeps in his underwear, but that's not my problem. Sometimes if he can't sleep he will go into the living room and watch television and then he falls asleep on the couch. Our daughter came home late with a date one night and when she turned on the light in the living room, there was Pa asleep on the couch in his underwear. You can imagine how embarrassed my daughter was. He reads your column, Abby, so maybe if you said that some people should have a little more respect for other people, it might help.

LOUISVILLE
DEAR LOUISVILLE: On the nights your daughter has a date, impress on your husband the importance of sleeping in his own bed. If he's really bull-headed, buy him a nice pair of pajamas and try to get him to wear them. Or would he rather provide his daughter with a good excuse for not coming home at all?

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a wonderful guy who has one bad weakness. He likes to speed. He drives like he is on a race track all the time and he doesn't think a thing of the risks he takes. His family and friends have all tried to tell him his reckless driving will be his undoing one day, but it doesn't seem to mean anything to him. He thinks it is a matter of being able to "handle" his automobile. He knows cars inside and out and he is a good driver, but anything can happen at 95 and 100 miles an hour. Abby, I love him and I don't want to lose him. How can I make him understand that if he doesn't slow up he might end up committing suicide and maybe murder?

ONE WHO CARES
DEAR ONE: Your "wonderful guy" is still a little boy. The most important person in his world is himself. No matter how "good" a driver he is, a blow-out, or another driver who could be in the wrong, could spell disaster for your friend and anyone who is unlucky (and stupid) enough to be with him. If you marry him before he reforms his driving habits, I hope you look good in black.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A TORN DAUGHTER": The only way to "handle" senile parents is to love them, love them, love them. No matter what they say or do, assure them that they are loved and respected. That is what they need most because their sometimes hostile and unlovable behavior has lost for them the ability to command love and respect and they miss it.

It isn't easy to hear one's own mother curse you, or accuse you of stealing her shoes, her money, or anything else she herself has misplaced, or hidden. Elderly people often lose, misplace or "hide" things, and because they can't face the painful fact that they are losing their memories, they blame others. I know you can't always take a hysterical mother in your arms when she is cursing you, or even trying to strike you, but when you realize that she will have forgotten everything in five minutes, how can you but disregard it? Try harder not to hear her accusations, and to answer them all with, "I love you, Mama. Remember, I love you."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Concentration of Power

With the changes of many faces in the 88th Congress, there are also likely to be some changes in the ground rules.

For some time, now, the "liberal" Democrats have been chafing at the restraints to hasty enactment of legislation posed by seniority, committees, unlimited debate (in the Senate) and other age-old trappings of the Congress.

Now they will be in a position to impose their will. Sen. Joseph S. Clark has drawn up proposals for "reforming" the Senate to maximize administrative changes of speedy action on its programs and minimize any discussion of the opposition views.

The House during the 88th Congress effected a compromise that reduced the ability of the Rules Committee to cool off legislative proposals before they reached the floor. Now compromise may not be necessary, and more power may pass from committees.

With the new majorities and with the clear break of the conservative South from the mainstream of the Democratic party, changes in the new Congress may be major.

This is all a part of the gradual transfer of power from the legislative to the executive and judicial branches. Increasingly in recent decades administration have proposed legislation and written it, then demanded that it be enacted. And the Supreme Court has been accused even by some of its own justices of appropriating powers that belong to Congress by writing new laws.

There is no question that all this makes government whether it makes it better. The presidential election is decided by the whole nation, and no president since Washington ever could claim to represent all states. The Supreme Court is not even elected.

Congress is the branch that is closest to the people. There are many divergent points of view in the U.S. deserving of attention, and if the balancing power of Congress is weakened, all of us will lose even faster.

Lady Godiva and Taxes

Remember Lady Godiva? Quite a few people remember that the lovely lady of Coventry rode a horse down the street sans clothing, and with only her long flowing hair to cover her. But most of them do not remember why.

Just to refresh your recollection, Lady Godiva made her famous ride because of taxes. Chambers Encyclopedia puts it this way:

"Godiva, the wife of Earl Leofric, begged that he would lessen the burdensome taxes on Coventry town. Leofric consented on condition that his wife would ride naked through the market when all the people were present. Godiva took him at his word and made the remarkable journey covered with nothing but her luxuriant hair. Her equally remarkable husband kept his promise and granted a remission of the tolls. There is no inherent reason to doubt the story though its later versions are plainly fictitious. Some writers assert that Godiva ordered all to keep within doors during her ride, and that this was done; others that one man, the famous Peeping Tom, disobeyed and was very properly struck blind for his impertinence; others again that a miracle made Godiva invisible. A Godiva, wife to Earl Leofric (died 1057) certainly existed and was a benefactress of several monasteries, including Spalding, Stow (Lines) and Coventry.

And while we are not advocating nudity in order to obtain reduced taxes, it may be that soon the whole taxpaying public will find itself without at least a shirt. Perhaps when the shirts are gone, the present day "Earls of Leofric" will take Espionage or Treason?

Attention is called to a review of Reminiscences by General Douglas MacArthur, written by Lawrence Sullivan and appearing in the current issue of Christian Economics.

General MacArthur refers to an intelligence leaflet issued by the Chinese general, Lin Piao, declaring that he had "been assured that Washington would restrain General MacArthur from taking adequate retaliatory measures against my lines of supply and communications" in case the Chinese General crossed the Yalu bridges into Northern Korea.

The question arises as to who "assured" General Lin

Piao that General MacArthur would not take military measures against him.

These are two possibilities: The Communist-dominated union that transmits the cables from the Pentagon and the Communist sitting behind the military desk in U.N. Possibly one or the other of these sources informed the Chinese General, probably before MacArthur himself knew that he would not be permitted to bomb the Yalu bridges. In normal times such communication with the enemy would be called treason, but apparently such things are happening in our country today and "none dare call it treason."

BERRY'S WORLD

"Go, Mr. Humphrey, did anyone ever tell you that you look kinda funny on a horse?"

WASHINGTON: GOP Moves To Regroup For 1966

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Two factors impel some key Republicans to urge speedy party rebuilding despite the cautionary note sounded by others:

1. Concern that failure to move swiftly will allow Sen. Barry Goldwater's forces, led by GOP National Chairman Dean Burch, to fortify their command of party machinery.

2. Awareness that mountainous effort will be required to restore the Republicans' decimated ranks in Congress and hold important GOP governorships in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Oregon. These are crucial 1966 foundation stones for an effective presidential bid in 1968.

A party insider's comment suggests why No. 1 bulks large in some Republican minds: "Burch and company think they already have it made. They think the moderates won't have any better luck getting together now than they did before the San Francisco convention."

A Republican regular with good credentials among both conservatives and moderates rates quick countermoves essential for those who want to unseat the confirmed Goldwaters. Says he:

"We have to get something up there quick with a different tag on it, otherwise we'll be into another default situation as we had earlier this year."

In this man's view, this means shunting Burch and his post-San Francisco lieutenants to the sidelines at the earliest hour and installing a chairman capable of sustaining a new, non-Goldwater Republican image. A particular secondary target is John Grenier of Alabama, Burch's top deputy.

The principal figures mentioned for Burch's job all have drawbacks of one sort or another. Idaho's Gov. Robert Smylie, non-Goldwater campaigner for Goldwater, a successful battler for 10 additional GOP seats in his legislature, has two years of his term still to serve. He could not manage the national committee full time until 1967.

Ohio's respected Republican state chairman, Ray Bliss, is seen by some party men as "all-ways the technician, never the front man." Besides, he hesitates to cut sturdy financial roots in Ohio.

Touted right now by many leaders is Richard Nixon, who good soldiered for Goldwater across the continent. He is politically knowledgeable and offers the comfort of the familiar.

But at least one veteran GOP regular thinks Nixon repeatedly commits grievous errors. This source regards Nixon's current comments as seriously divisive, as the kind of chopping at party rivals one expects of a candidate for the presidential nomination (which Nixon denies he is).

Says the veteran: "Nixon got well campaigning hard) and then blew it all in five minutes. He dances that death dance of his with inexorable regularity."

The Chicago meeting of Republican governors, probably on the weekend of Dec. 5-7, will give GOP prime movers their first big chance to review the field and narrow the choice.

The effort to "nail" Burch may require a hard vote test at a national committee session in January. Some think the "undecided" number at least a third of the committee and hold the balance of power.

Meantime, the other "urgency factor" spurs many Republicans. In addition to the vital governorships on the block in 1968, at stake then are newly vulnerable U. S. Senate seats presently held by Senators John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, Caleb Boggs of Delaware, Jack Miller of Iowa, Milward Simpson of Wyoming, Gordon Allott of Colorado, Len Jordan of Idaho, the converted Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, and — especially — John Tower of Texas. The GOP holds a modest 32 of 100 today.

Nov. 4, election day plus one, seemed not a bit too soon to start.

Justice Dept. Starting Drive to Collect $178 Million in Fines, etc., Levied by Federal Courts

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department is finally doing something about trying to collect more than $178 million in fines, judgments and other assessments imposed by federal courts.

Acting Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach has directed the 92 U.S. attorneys throughout the country to institute immediate vigorous measures to collect the unpaid accounts in their districts. Under the law, these federal prosecutors are responsible for that, but the record shows most have been very lax.

To ensure that this long-overdue crackdown is carried out, Katzenbach has established a special collection unit in his department's Civil Division.

Manned with "collection specialists," the new agency has the specific function of seeing to it that both the huge backlog of pending assessments and those hereafter imposed by federal courts are paid. The agency will accomplish this primarily by maintaining a close check-up on the U. S. attorneys.

This is the first time the Justice Department has done anything about this problem.

The need for such forceful action is clearly shown by the fact that an estimated $50 million — more than one-fourth of the outstanding $178 million — is deemed uncollectible for a variety of reasons.

The Justice Department's belated reform is directly due to an unpublicized investigation by a House Government Operations subcommittee, headed by Representative Dante Fascell, D-Fla.

Working quietly and thoroughly, this group of three Democrats and two Republicans examining the government's collection procedures has pinpointed a number of glaring shortcomings. The probe is far from complete. The preliminary findings cover only the Justice Department. Other departments are being subjected to the same searching scrutiny.

MISSING RECORDS — One discovery made by the Fascell subcommittee is that during the five-year period 1958-63, the Justice Department wrote off as uncollectible almost as much as U. S. attorneys collected — $91,871 million as against $95.5 million.

Attorneys general during this period were Republican William Rogers and Democrat Robert Kennedy.

Capping the revelation of this giant $91 million write-off of fines and judgments, Comptroller General Joseph Campbell informed the House investigator that his auditors had been unable to determine whether that was proper. The probe had asked him to dig into the matter.

Campbell explained no comprehensive judgment could be made because "no records were available."

Jobs But No Workers

(Christian Economics)
A company using large quantities of hickory sent three men into eastern Kentucky to locate standing hickory timber and to hire men to split up the billets.

An abundance of timber was located but labor to do the work was not available. Not one single billet was produced and all the money spent cruising to find the hickory and to hire the men was wasted.

With all the poverty and unemployment in that section of Appalachia, no men could be found although the work is not disagreeable and good wages were offered. Presumably it is more attractive to sit and wait for the government's big anti-poverty campaign to move in than to work in the timber getting out hickory billets. As our government teaches more and more people that they can live without work, our difficulties will multiply. Subsidies do not produce sturdy self-reliant people.

Other important disclosures by the Fascell subcommittee are: An estimated $300,000 in fines levied against U. S. Communists under the Smith Act are still uncollected.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, late chairman of the U. S. Communist Party, owed the government more than $5,000 in fines at the time of her recent death in Moscow. Although pleading inability to pay, she was able to make several trips to Russia.

More than 50,000 unpaid fines and judgments levied by federal courts in New York City are unpaid.

Blame for this sorry backstage situation is charged by the House probers to both the Justice Department and the U. S. Attorneys. Says the subcommittee: "Data on uncollectible fines is available in the files of the 92 U. S. attorneys; however, it had never been requested by the Justice Department until March 1964, after the subcommittee began its investigation . . . The Department's records do not disclose the specific basis on which the 91,871,455 in deductions for uncollectibility were made."

"No division or branch of the Justice Department has, or exercises, over-all responsibility for judgment collections. U. S. Attorneys have responsibility for judgment collections except in those cases in which the litigating divisions retained collecting responsibility. After the subcommittee's investigation was started, the Civil Division established a collection unit comprising collection specialists."

Other members of the subcommittee are Representatives Torbert McDonald, D-Mass., Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., John Anderson, R-Ill., and Robert McClory, R-Ill.

Perhaps you read of the Australian javelin thrower who, finding himself stranded in England without money, had himself crated, labeled as "plastic emulsion," and shipped home C. O. D. by air freight. Upon determining that he had finally been deposited in an Australian warehouse (did he recognize familiar voices or hear a kookaburro singing in a nearby gum tree?) he let himself out of his container and walked off.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not insure anyone.)

QUESTION: "How many bureaus are there in the Federal Government? What are their total fiscal expenditures? How many are employed by these bureaus in relation to the population? What was the wage expenditures of these bureaus in the last fiscal year?"

ANSWER: The answer to these questions hardly comes under the title of what will improve the well being of mankind on this earth, other than the fact that there are entirely too many bureaus and they are spending entirely too much money and there are too many people on the government payroll.

Besides the bureaus there are many, many committees with the authority to spend money. In the "Manual of U.S. Government," it says that there are sixty-three bureaus. But that, of course, depends upon what the definition of a bureau is. We do not believe anyone really knows how many people are employed by the federal government, or how many committees or how many agencies besides the bureaus there are also listed Agencies, Boards, Commission, Services, Divisions, Administrations, Authorities, Offices, etc. etc. There are also unlisted bureaucratic run programs such as the Eskimo Dwellings Lending Program, as revealed in Willis Stone's "Fact Sheet."

Some of the bureaus are as follows: Executive Department: Bureau of the Budget.

Department of State: Bureau of Economic Affairs, Bureau of African Affairs, Bureau of European Affairs, Bureau of Far Eastern Affairs, Bureau of Inter-American Affairs, Bureau Near Eastern and South Asian Affairs, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, Bureau of Intelligence and Research, Bureau of International Organizational Affairs, Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, Bureau of Administration.

Under the listing Department of the Treasury: Bureau of the Mint, Bureau of Customs, Bureau of Accounts, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Bureau of Narcotics, Bureau of the Public Debt, Department of the Navy: Bureau of Naval Personnel, Bureau of Weapons, Bureau of Ships, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Bureau of Yards and Docks, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery. There are six bureaus under the Post Office Department and no bureaus listed under the Department of Justice.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare lists the following bureaus: Public Health: Bureau of Medical Services, Bureau of Freedmen's Hospital, Bureau of State Services; Education: Bureau of Education, Research and Development, Bureau of International Education, Bureau of Educational Assistance Programs, Bureau of Higher Educational Facilities; Food & Drug: Bureau of Medicine, Bureau of Scientific Standards and Evaluation, Bureau of Regulatory Compliance, Bureau of Educational and Voluntary Compliance; Social Security: Bureau of Hearings and Appeals, Bureau of Federal Credit Unions; Welfare: Bureau of Family Services, Children's Bureau.

Under the Department of Interior there are seven Bureaus listed and the Department of Labor lists seven. The Labor Department's seven listings are the Bureau of Labor Standards, Bureau of Employees Compensation Appeals Board, Bureau of Labor Statistics, Bureau of Employment Security, Women's Bureau and the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training.

Most all of these bureaus and the expense of them violate the principle that the government has no right to do what each and every individual as an individual doesn't have a moral right to do.

It seems that we have to learn the hard way by having the government take from us the inalienable moral right to try to preserve our lives and get more freedom and maintain it. But the government makes it very difficult for people to make a living and to keep some of the liberty which we originally had under the Constitution as first established.

Consider, if you will, the far-reaching economic effects of this achievement. Crated, the man must have weighed at least 200 pounds. At 10,000 miles, this added 1,000 ton - miles of air freight to the airline's and the nation's business. It meant more hours of labor for the crater, the freight handlers, the truckers, and the airline workers. This added, ever so slightly to the national figures on personal income. There was a plus figure for British exports, for Australian imports, and also for the production and shipment of plastic emulsion, whatever that is. By each of these circuitous paths, the transaction will work its way into the gross national product figures for Great Britain and Australia, and for western Europe, the Pacific area, and the fee world.

And the remarkable thing is that all of this will come about without anybody — so far as we can tell from the story — paying a penny for the shipment. If you don't believe that prosperity can come this easily, you need only look at the G.N.P. figures — which, we are constantly being told, are the measure of our economic growth. We can prosper now and pay later, if at all. There's nothing like the wonders of modern economics. And javelin throwers aren't the only people who are practicing it.

ARE THE MISSILES REALLY GONE?
(Chicago Tribune)

Fidel Castro's Cuban Communists apparently have their fingers on the buttons that control SAM anti-aircraft missiles installed by Russian technicians at 24 Cuban sites in 1962 during the crisis over discovery of long-range Soviet ballistic missiles on the island.

This much, at least, was confirmed recently by a state department spokesman. While the state department continued to remain silent was on persistent, though unconfirmed, reports of a new Russian military build-up, including more intermediate and long-range missiles, it was the introduction of such weapons into Cuba which brought the eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation between the U.S. President Kennedy and former Premier Khrushchev.

That Castro now has Cubans trained to handle SAMs capable of knocking down our high-altitude U-2 reconnaissance planes which fly over Cuba is important. Of far more vital concern to American security is the reported presence of Soviet ballistic missiles able to hurl nuclear warheads against our major cities.

In its October Washington report, the American Security Council remarked that these accounts of the Russian missile buildup came from the same refugee and underground groups which first reported the Russian missile threat in 1962.

Washington pooh-poohed these eyewitness reports until almost overnight it was announced that our U-2 flights had sighted missiles being installed on new concrete launching pads. Today Washington maintains what the American Security Council calls a "stony wall of silence" or — unofficially — seeks to cast doubt on the reliability of the reports.

Meanwhile, Castro's gunners have their itchy fingers at the controls of missiles capable of ending our U-2 overflights. The U-2 became our only means of inspecting the Soviet island when Khrushchev and Castro rejected President Kennedy's original demand for on-site inspection of the announced missile withdrawal.

How much longer President Johnson will continue the U-2 flights in the face of the risk posed by Castro's gunners remains unknown. If the refugee and underground reports have validity, our U-2 planes cannot spot the vast caves said to contain the big missiles or the concrete underground silos from which they might be launched. When Mr. Kennedy yielded on the vital point of on-site inspection to determine if the Soviet missiles had really been removed, America's national security suffered a fatal impairment. Not even U-2 pilots can see underground.

Surveys conducted during one week in the month of November have reported colds in one-third of U.S. homes. Other surveys have indicated that approximately 78 per cent of the people have at least one cold each year, 25 per cent have four or more and the average is between two and three per person per year.

TV Convinced Man Of Bonanza Success

By GERALD S. SNYDER NEW YORK (UPI)—A popular television show helped convince businessman Donald Pruess that a "western trend" was evident in the country back in 1960.

So Pruess, a student of trends, went into the restaurant business and today, still riding the trend, he boasts 49 franchised "Bonanza" steak houses.

It didn't happen as quickly and as easily as all that but Pruess says the market was there. All that was needed was someone to prod it.

Pruess chose the suburbs of large cities. "Steak is the most staple eating out food," he explained. "The idea was to start a western style steak house catering to the whole family."

Got Western Start Bonanza meant plenty and there were plenty of things western all around, he said. "I started with Davy Crockett and coon skin hats, and Disneyland, frontierland and now even LBJ."

"That's when I do my planning so that the day is used for execution," he says. "Success is a matter of being able to keep your equilibrium when things are moving at a fast pace."

"It comes with hard work, long hours, guts and gumption," he said.

The total area of land administered by the National Park Service is about 21,000 acres.

At age 7, Pruess began selling magazines door-to-door and went on to numerous other jobs, from working as a forest ranger and selling football equipment to serving as the board chairman of Esther Williams' International Swimming Pool Corporation.

PAMPA BEAUTY — These four coeds were among eight chosen as 1965 Yucca (yearbook) beauties by a panel of newspaper, radio and television representatives during two rounds of judging this week at North Texas State University. Each coed will be featured in a full-page display in the 1965 yearbook. The winners, selected from an original list of 61, are, from left to right, Carmen Davis of San Antonio and Gail Culpepper of Pampa; Beth Simmons of Rochester and Nancy Hunt of Atlanta. Miss Culpepper, a senior elementary education major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Culpepper, 712 N. Gray.

Confed Ship to Be Brought to Surface

VICKSBURG, Miss. (UPI)—The stocky skindiver, muddling to his black rubber suit, scrambled aboard the barge — bringing more bad news to the small band of men awaiting his report.

"How bad is it?" The question came from Capt. W. A. Bisso, cigar-chewing skipper of the salvage crew which had been working for the past three months on the project — resurrecting a ghost of Civil War days from its watery grave.

"She's cut through to the boiler room," said the diver, still gulping for air after several minutes below the murky surface of the Yazoo River.

Reclaim Gunboat It was a moment of decision in a mammoth effort to reclaim the Union gunboat Cairo from the winding stream where it struck Confederate mines and sank 102 years ago.

Less than a week earlier, Bisso had advised the Warren County, Miss., board of supervisors the ironclad could best be salvaged if it were in two or perhaps three segments. The board asked for one final effort to bring up the ship intact.

But, as Bisso feared, the aging timbers had given way to the steel lifting cables. The skindiver's report that the cables had cut halfway through the hull left the workers no choice.

They set about the job of cutting the vessel in half and raising the two segments. The dramatic slicing of the old warship recently climaxed an eight year battle, marred by costly delays and repeated setbacks, to recover the vessel. But it set the stage for eventual completion of the project.

Part Of Museum Plans called for lifting the halves onto a sunken steel barge, which in turn would be refloated and carry the Cairo to the surface. The vessel then would be brought downriver to Vicksburg where it was destined to become the main attraction in a Civil War museum.

The 175-foot gunboat, longer than half a football field, was on a mission to clear the winding Yazoo of mines when it collided with two mines on Dec. 12, 1862, and sank in 32 minutes. The officer in charge, Lt. Cmdr. Thomas O. Selfridge, wrote later there was no loss of life, with all 160 men and officers picked up by other ships in the small convoy.

White Deer dominated the All-Corners Volleyball Tournaments this past week by winning both the Mixed and the Men's Division. In the first round action of the Mixed Tournament Pampa Warehouse beat Bonita News 14-3 and 15-4; La Bonita Beauty Salon took Surplus City 15-4 and 16-14; in quarter-finals Hininger's bumped Louises Beau-n Salon 15-2, 12-15 and 15-1; Amarillo Pushers lost to White Deer 15-4, 12-15 and 15-5; Amarillo YMCA took Pampa Warehouse 16-18, 15-7 and 15-6 while Far More Homes of Amarillo lost to La Bonita 15-5 and 15-10. In semi-final action White Deer took La Bonita 15-6, 8-15 and 15-11; then Amarillo YMCA bumped Hininger's 14-16, 15-9 and 15-11. In the finals White Deer came out on top of YMCA 15-2, 8-15 and 15-4.

In the Men's Tournament first round games Dairy Queen took W-B Pump 17-15 and 5-2; White Deer bested Pioneer Natural Gas 15-2 and 15-5 then in semi-final games Dairy Queen knocked off Weco Spikers 15-6 and 15-9 and White Deer took Weco in the finals 5-5, 1-3-15 and 15-9. Another volleyball season will start in April of next year.

Fedgling Actress Dreams of Family Life

By VERNON SCOTT UPI Hollywood Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The younger generation is getting more difficult to impress every day.

Take 21-year-old Janet Margolin, the Lisa of "David and Lisa," who is working opposite Marlon Brando and Yul Brynner in a new movie.

Most fledgling actresses would walk burning coals to work and learn from this brace of stars. But not today's heroine.

"It's not a dream come true for me," said Janet during a shrimp salad lunch at the Brown Derby. "My dreams are about marriage, children and a home."

Be that as it may, the dark-eyed, dark-haired youngster has pursued an acting career with the relentlessness of a Canadian Mountie on the scent of a felon. Since age 12 Janet has been in full chase of stardom — but not the tawdry sort celebrity enjoyed by the big boxoffice names in Hollywood. No, sir, Janet's got integrity.

Fussy About Roles Integrity is one of Janet's favorite words. She will only accept roles that meet her standards of artistic merit.

If that sounds like so much hogwash, remember Janet is only 21 and hasn't had to fight her way from anonymity and poverty to national recognition as have so many star performers.

The daughter of a Russian-born New York public accountant, Janet was raised in prosperous and artistic circumstances.

She was unknown until her performance in the Art House wows "David and Lisa." But this year she will be seen in a small role in "The Greatest Story Ever Told," a supporting role in "Bus Riley's Back in Town" and in a modest part with Brando and Brynner in "Morituri" for 20th Century-Fox. After playing a mentally-disturbed girl in "David and Lisa" Janet was afraid that she would be type-cast as a nut. Now, however, that possibility doesn't frighten her.

"I look like a kook anyhow," she said. This observation is not exactly true. Janet wears little or no makeup, and her long, straight hair cascades to her shoulder blades.

Has Large Eyes She's a pretty girl with large, sensitive eyes. Her mind is inquiring and her conversation is filled with idealistic nostrums for the salvation of mankind — mostly through integrity.

Janet continues to make her home in New York City where, she says, other interests occupy her thoughts. "I don't think acting has caught me up and got me hooked," she said, almost nobly. "It's an insidious thing that creeps up on you. I'm really not ambitious. I'm kinda lazy."

What would she do if, for integrity-filled reasons, she gave up acting? "I could easily find other things to interest me, occupational therapy, for instance," she concluded.

And that for the moment, is Janet Margolin's story. It might be interesting to check on Janet when she is 31.

Dream Comes True in New Pipe Milling

McKEESPORT, Pa. (Sp1) — A pipe dream came true — the world's most modern electric resistance weld pipe mill — was officially opened today at United States Steel's National Works in McKeesport, Pa.

The new facility produces quality ERW line pipe in impressive, unprecedented dimensions; the longest lengths with the thinnest walls ever made. Product size is in the widely used 8 1/2 through 20" O.D. and lengths are produced up to 80 feet, the longest available in the industry. Strong, light walls are made in a range from 3/8" down through 9/16 thousandths of an inch "thin."

Electric resistance weld (ERW) pipe is used primarily for long distance transmission of natural gas, oil, gasoline and other petroleum products. This size range is also used for transporting solids, in slurry (watery mixture) form, such as coal and other minerals.

In describing the new mill, L. B. Worthington, president of U. S. Steel, said the ERW facility is another significant step in the Corporation's ambitious program to modernize and expand its total production capabilities. This is the third major facility put into operation by U. S. Steel in the Pittsburgh District during the past ten months. Her term this accelerated expansion program "Ferro - Dynamics," to indicate U. S. Steel's surge of progress.

The manufacturing process from raw coil to finished product includes forming, welding, sizing, testing, straightening, cut - off and facing equipment as well as complete finishing, shipping and auxiliary facilities.

Visitors to the new facility today saw coils of flat steel strip automatically fed into the pipe-making unit, watched it being inspected, formed, and welded. The welding process was plainly seen on a closed - circuit TV screen near the unit. In less time than it took to walk the length of the 485 - foot line, visitors watched large diameter, thin - wall pipe delivered to the inspection table in extra - long lengths.

Wildcatters List Oil, Gas Finds

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas wildcatters had nine oil and 17 gas discoveries last week, the State Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The activity gave wildcatters 313 oil and 737 gas wells so far this year, compared with 295 oil and 584 gas finds in the same period last year.

Regular drillers reported 182 oil and 56 gas completions last week, giving them 7,567 oil and 2,453 gas completions for the year as compared with 7,786 oil and 2,222 gas wells in this date a year ago.

Oil discoveries were three in the Houston district, two in the Midland district and one each in the Corpus Christi, Abilene, San Angelo and Wichita Falls districts.

Gas finds were five in the Corpus Christi district, four in the Refugio district, three in the Houston district and two each in the San Antonio, Abilene and San Angelo districts.

The average calendar day allowable was 2,933,719 barrels. The commission said 290,896 wells were producing from 6,235 fields.

Low Production, Cut Incomes Cause Spiral

WASHINGTON (Sp1) — Lower crude oil production and reduced incomes for thousands of independent U. S. oil producers have been the major factor in the downward spiral in domestic oil exploration, drilling, development and employment since the mid - 1960's, the Department of Interior was told today.

By contrast, said the Independent Petroleum Association of America, some 30 large companies have accounted for all the increase in U. S. oil production and increased income from crude oil sales, and have substantially increased their crude oil producing capacity and share of U. S. production.

The deteriorating position of thousands of independent oil producers, who traditionally have found the bulk of U. S. petroleum reserves, is adversely affecting the search for and development of new reserves needed to meet expanding U. S. petroleum requirements, said a special IPAA report on U. S. oil and gas producers.

The bleak economic conditions facing small U. S. oil producers was detailed for Interior officials along with an IPAA appeal for a 275,000 - barrel reduction in oil imports in the next import allocation period beginning January 1.

Highlights of the worsening position of the thousands of independent producers versus the 30 larger industry units, presented by IPAA President H. A. True, Jr., Casper, Wyo., and other IPAA officials who led a delegation conferring with Secretary Stewart Udall and other officials of the Department of Interior, were as follows:

1. In five years since mandatory import controls were imposed, U. S. crude oil production in 1963 increased 488,000 barrels daily over 1959 and all of the increase was by the 30 - odd larger units which increased production by 526,000 barrels a day.

By contrast, production by the thousands of independent producers actually declined by 38,000 barrels a day and the smaller producers' share in U. S. crude production dropped from 38 percent in 1959 to 35 percent in 1963.

IPAA noted that, during the period of U. S. import restrictions, production has increased 40 percent in Canada, 17 percent in Venezuela, and 48 percent in the oil - rich Middle East.

2. Both the large and small producers increased oil exploration and development expenditures in the five years 1952-57, and spent almost equal amounts relatively stable levels. However, expenditures by the thousands of independents dropped sharply by 38 percent, from $2.40 billion in 1957 to $1.51 billion in 1963.

3. In the Louisiana - Texas Gulf Coast, dominated by the larger industry units, oil reserves, producing capacity and production have been expanded by 30 percent since 1957, and income from crude oil sales by 25 percent.

4. In the Kansas - Oklahoma area, where independent producers predominate, by contrast, reserves, capacity and output dropped from 10 to 15 percent, with a 12 percent decline in income from crude production.

5. Most significant, in this period, average crude oil income per producing well declined 22.7 percent in Oklahoma - Kansas, while it increased 22.3 percent in the Gulf Coast area.

6. In a special survey of 12 large banks which specialize in oil loans, IPAA said it found a three - fold increase in oil payment loans, made primarily to large companies for acquisition of producing properties. These loans rose from $393 million in December 1959 to $1,147 million in December 1963.

Direct production loans to independents have increased $52 million to $390 million since 1957, demonstrating that - in face of decreasing activity and incomes

Casper College to Conduct Course in Drilling Practices

DALLAS (Sp1) — The American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors announces the sponsorship of the University of Oklahoma course, "Advanced Drilling Engineering Practices," to be held at Casper College Jan. 25 through Feb. 5, 1965. This is the first of the more advanced type of program to be presented in the Rocky Mountain Area.

This training program is designed for tool pushers, drilling superintendents and engineers with a certain degree of engineering training and mathematics.

The two-week program will be presented by Dr. Preston Moore of the University of Oklahoma and Frank Cole of Cole Engineering Co. in Norman, Okla. Dr. Moore is well-known for his work in hydraulics and air gas drilling. Cole is widely known as the co-author with Arthur McCray of the textbook, "Oil Well Drilling Technology," which is used as a text in 20 of the 22 colleges and universities offering degrees in petroleum engineering.

Cole has specialized on minimum cost drilling techniques which are receiving widespread acceptance. Moore and Cole have prepared a special notebook which serves as a text covering the curricula presented.

Hidden somewhere among the 26 million voters who supported Sen. Barry M. Goldwater for president was a hard core of conservative citizens who may be expected to continue the bloody battle to turn the Republican party to the right. At the very least they seek to turn the party away from the left.

How many there may be of these hard-nosed conservatives is a question of much significance to the future of the GOP. Republicans should have some idea of those numbers before they decide who should walk the plank and who should be promoted to party leadership.

For a starter: There are more than 200,000 hard-nosed conservatives in New York state. There is a minimum of 203,369 of them and, likely, a great many more than that. The 203,369 New Yorkers thus confidently tagged as hard-nosed conservatives were those who voted on Nov. 3 for Prof. Henry Paolucci, the Conservative Party Inc., (CPI) candidate in New York for the U. S. Senate.

Cheerful Note
If conservative Americans have nothing else to be cheerful about, they have New York state's Conservative Party Inc., a remarkable outfit. CPI was played on the 1962 New York state ballot by petition, a formidable achievement. It fielded a candidate for governor — a Syracuse businessman named David H. Jaquith who was absolutely unknown politically.

New York state requires a party to poll a minimum of 50,000 votes to remain on the ballot for the following election. Jaquith, in 1962 polled more than 141,000! This was an achievement bordering on the miraculous. It was a measure also of the burning resentment of conservative New York Republicans against the soft-boiled Republican leadership of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

The conservatives this year put up unknown Prof. Paolucci for the Senate solely as a rallying point for assembly of another protest vote against the Rockefeller - Javits leadership which CPI decries and is determined to destroy. Paolucci's vote was sufficient warning to the soft-boiled state Republican leadership that it must in the future give some consideration to conservative citizens.

Sums Up Meaning
The New York Journal American summed it up in these words: "What all this means, in terms of New York politics, is that the Rockefeller Republicans must reckon with a small but potent leverage group whose vote or endorsement might make or break a GOP candidate for almost any important state office."

Might make or break candidate? In an moderately close election the upward of 200,000 conservative votes in New York state undoubtedly could assure the election or assure the defeat of a Republican candidate. And that is how the Conservative Party Inc. intends to play it.

No. 1 objective is to get rid of Rockefeller, then of Javits. After that the conservatives hope to begin sharing top Republican policy making responsibility in New York state.

For the long view, the CPI intends to persuade Republican national conventions against the custom of rejecting conservative candidates for the presidential nomination on grounds that a conservative could not carry New York state. CPI hopes to arrange it so that Republican national conventions will come to understand that no soft-boiled or liberal Republican presidential nominee can expect to carry New York against CPI opposition.

Surprise Planned for Cactus Jack Garner

UVALDE, Tex. (UPI)—One of the first things John F. Kennedy did on the last day of his life was telephone an old man in Uvalde, Texas, to wish him a happy birthday.

The old man lives on. Today, the first anniversary of the assassination of the President, John Nance (Cactus Jack) Garner is 96 years old. He is amazing for his age. A "surprise" birthday party was planned at his home for 3 p.m. Invitations were sent to President Johnson and Gov. John Connally in Austin.

After serving as vice president during the first two terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Garner quit politics in 1940 and vowed never to return to Washington.

He went home to Uvalde and blurred into the mists of history as a stern speaker of the House, the vice president who broke with Roosevelt on the third-term issue.

Great Joy
Now, entertaining visitors is his great joy. No longer does he nip bourbon. (He used to raise his glass, and, as a toast, say he was "striking a blow for liberty.")

He likes to kiss pretty girls who come to see him. And he loves to talk.

He lives in a small house behind what is now the Garner museum in Uvalde, a town of 10,000 some 65 miles west of San Antonio.

A maid keeps house for him during the day. A male companion spends the nights with him.

"Please don't leave now," Garner often tells visitors. "Stay a while and talk."

Each year since 1958, local citizens have staged a small birthday party for him. The high school band plays on the pecan and oak tree-shaded lawn to delight him.

Walter Koenig, owner of a San Antonio restaurant, always bakes a big cake.

Garner likes to talk of his lawn, the pecan crop, local honey known as "juajilla" and the massive oaks.

He does not hunt any more, but he likes to talk about the deer and how the fishing is. Deer come near his home and squirrels scuttle around the yard. It is a tranquil place.

Smokes Cigars
On occasion, Garner will invite a visitor to "strike a blow for liberty" from the bottle of bourbon that is off limits to him.

He gave up cigars for a while, then began to smoke them again.

Friends say he is in good health for his age. Sometimes he uses a walking stick and he wears glasses or a green eyeshade. But he is not noticeably hard of hearing.

Last year on his birthday, the bushy-browed Garner posed for photographs but refused to speak into microphones. He said a personal message to the public would only bring hundreds of letters which he was unable to answer.

In recent years he has given large sums of money to Uvalde Junior College, and tells anyone that he is "a great believer in public education."

Garner is a wealthy man, but lives so humbly that no one would think so. Even the two television sets in his sitting room are a bit aged, as is his furniture and clothing.

But that's the way Garner wants it.

Variety Wide In Memorials To Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—During the year since his assassination, John F. Kennedy has been honored by a wide variety of memorials.

Congress authorized construction of a national cultural center in Washington—a project dear to his heart—and decreed that it be named the John F. Kennedy Memorial Center.

The U. S. Space Flight Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., was renamed Cape Kennedy.

Harvard University announced plans for a $6 million Kennedy Memorial Library.

New York changed the name of its international airport from Idlewild to John F. Kennedy.

Berlin named in his honor the city hall plaza in which he once assured its beleaguered citizens, "Ich bin ein Berliner" ("I am a Berliner.")

The state of Maryland named its new turnpike "The John F. Kennedy Highway."

Hundreds of other cities and states named highways, streets, parks or public buildings in memory of the slain President.

The U. S. Treasury minted a new half dollar bearing his image.

Plans are now being drawn for a permanent memorial marker at his grave in Arlington National Cemetery. It will include the "eternal flame" which has burned over the grave for the past year.

Christian Science Church Schedules Thursday Services

Thanksgiving Day services will be held in the Christian Science Church at 10 a. m. Thursday. Visitors are welcome.

One feature of the service will be a period when individuals may express their thanks to God in their own words.

The sermon on "Thanksgiving"—as in all Christian Science services—will consist of readings from the Bible, and also from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

The Golden Text for the day is from Psalms 22:27. "All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord; and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee."

A related passage to be read from Science and Health includes these lines: "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established" (p. 467: 9-13).

Transcripts Due On Warren Report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Transcripts of the Warren Commission hearings on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and accompanying exhibits—in 26 printed volumes weighing 54 pounds—will be made public Monday, Nov. 30.

The hard-cover volumes will be sold by the Government Printing Office (GPO) for $76 a set. At the outset, the volumes can be purchased only in complete sets.

CONSTRUCTS SCHOOLS

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—A Himalayan expedition led by Sir Edmund Hillary has reported it had constructed three schools, two bridges and an airstrip on the slopes of Mt. Everest.

Hillary, the first man to conquer Everest, led an expedition which recently reached the top of previously unclimbed 21,700 foot Mt. Tamasarku in the Everest range.
