

Dear Abby... 'Cat' With Nine Wives Is a Speedy Mover

DEAR ABBY: I have had nothing but advice since I announced my intentions to marry this summer, so I might as well get your opinion. I know what you will say when you learn the number of times my fiancé has been married, but you are wrong. None of the failures was his fault. He has been married eight times. He told me about each marriage and I know for a fact that he has had a run of very bad luck. He is 48 and has nine children (with five of his wives) and I am 30 and have never been married. My friends and family have been trying to talk me out of marrying him, but I feel in my heart that we can make this marriage last. I have known him one year. He has a lot of character, otherwise he never would have told me how many wives he has had. He's a traveling man, and I probably would have never found out. Does our marriage have a chance?

NUMBER NINE
DEAR NUMBER NINE: Every marriage has a chance, but I am inclined to vote with your friends and family. Don't get carried away by his "character." It's not easy for a man to hide eight wives and nine children. Good luck to you and the "cat" with nine wives.

DEAR ABBY: A middle-aged woman I work with keeps asking, "When are you going to find me a man?" So far I've been able to laugh it off, but I know she's serious. I am married, and I do know some eligible, unattached males, but I'm not sure how they would like her. She is entertaining, not bad-looking (she does have a good figure for a woman her age), but she is aggressive and rather loud. I'm afraid if I fixed her up with any of my friends it might put a strain on our friendship. I like this woman, personally. How can this problem be tactfully handled?

CO-WORKER
DEAR CO-WORKER: A good rule for a matchmaker is: "Never arrange a date unless you feel that you are doing both parties a favor."

DEAR ABBY: I am 76 years old and live alone in a mobile home. When my husband was living, I had many friends. In fact, one year I received 81 Christmas cards. This mobile home is on a busy turnpike and it is difficult for my friends who drive to visit me, so consequently I have very few guests and I get terribly hungry for people to talk to.

It is true I am hard of hearing, but I do wear a hearing aid. Now I am told by my relatives that I talk too much. Yes, I admit I am deaf, but I see no reason why I should become mute, too, so I talk to my cat. Tell me, Abby, do you think it is possible for a person who loves people and enjoys conversation to talk too much?

LONELY
DEAR LONELY: Yes—but if you can overcome it. The next time you are with someone, make an effort to let that person talk without interrupting him.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my voice. It is naturally very high pitched. Everybody says I sound like a baby and I am 14 years old. I don't talk baby talk or put my voice on an act. This may seem like a dumb question, but is there some way I can make my voice deeper or more normal?

BABY TALKER
DEAR BABY TALKER: Yes. Ask your parents to get you an appointment with a speech therapist.

Program Given By Mrs. Burton

Mrs. D. V. Burton presented the program, "The Theater," to El Progresso Study Club members when the group met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ben Hamilton at 1001 Duncan.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. V. J. Drew, president, the roll was called and minutes were read by Mrs. Kermit Lawson, secretary. Mrs. Tom Perkins announced the Antique Show and offered tickets for sale.

Mrs. Burton, introduced by Mrs. Veri Hagaman, related her own experiences with the theater through the years and embarked on her topic with the following quotation of William Shakespeare: "All the world is a stage and all the men and women in it merely players. They have their exits and entrances and one man in his time plays many parts."

The speaker then gave the life of Helen Hayes, great actress, followed by a brief history of the theater in America.

Members attending were Mrs. D. V. Burton, J. F. Curtis, V. J. Drew, Elmer Fisher, Veri Hagaman, Ben Hamilton, Kermit Lawson, Tom Perkins, Glenn Radcliff, Lonnie Richardson, Bruce Riehart, F. R. Spears and John Gill.

Pioneer Program Is Presented by Mrs. J. L. Lindley

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Jess Lindley was hostess to the Pioneer Club in her home recently. The hostess served refreshments of black bottom pie, candy, nuts—and a drink—to 10 members.

Mrs. Paul Bryant gave the devotional. Mrs. Bessie Caudle was in charge of the program and gave a paper on the life history of two of her great-uncles, Ben and Seeb Merry, early-day Hemphill County landowners. One was 6 feet, 6½ inches tall the other 7 feet tall. They had a sister who was 6½ feet tall.

Those present were Mrs. M. Simpson, E. H. Snyder, F. D. Teas, Ben Beard, Martha Newton, John Jones, W. A. Merrill, Paul Bryant, Bessie Caudle and the hostess.

De Gaulle Back in European Doghouse

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle of France is back in the doghouse again with his European Common Market partners.

This time the trouble is over moves to give a new push to plans for European political unity which have been at a standstill for three years.

The idea gaining ground for some time was to hold a Common Market foreign ministers conference to be followed by a six-nation "little summit" meeting later this summer.

The Italians suggested the foreign ministers meeting be held in Venice May 10 to get things rolling again.

De Gaulle turned down the Venice meeting on the grounds that there had not been sufficient time to prepare for it.

His reply to the rest was "yes" in principle—but it was coupled with so many "ifs" that there are growing suspicions in Europe that the French leader does not, in fact, want European political unity discussions at the moment.

Earlier talks on a blueprint for a politically united Europe broke down because of basic disagreements between De Gaulle and the other Common Market countries over just what kind of political unity they had in mind.

De Gaulle called for a loosely knit confederation of completely independent sovereign states, or "Europe of Fatherlands" (Europe des Patries).

The others—particularly West Germany, Belgium and The Netherlands — had set their sights on a closely integrated political union.

De Gaulle insisted his kind of Europe must be "untainted" by any hint of "Atlanticism" and that it must have its own nuclear defense, entirely independent of the United States nuclear deterrent.

The other Common Market members argued Europe must depend for its defense in the foreseeable future on the American nuclear "umbrella."

Last Nov. 11, in a speech at Strasbourg, De Gaulle indicated he was willing to get political unit talks started again though he said nothing to show his ideas on it had changed.

Agrees To Talks
In January he met in Paris with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, Erhard, who faces tough parliamentary elections in October, extracted a promise from De Gaulle to agree to resumption of political unity talks, including a six-nation "little summit" meeting.

This was politically valuable for Erhard in an election year. De Gaulle agreed and still agrees—"in principle."

But the strings he now has attached, such as careful advance preparation, agreement beforehand or Common Market farm policy, definition of the objectives of a six-nation summit and guarantees that it would succeed have raised doubts in the minds of other Common Market leaders whether De Gaulle isn't just stalling.

Austerity Paying Off for Brazil

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
For exactly a year now Brazilians have been living under an austerity program as tough as the grim career soldier who in April, 1964, took over from inept and leftist-leaning President Joao Goulart.

But this week, when President Humberto Castello Branco marked the first anniversary of Brazil's revolutionary regime by accepting another $43.4 million in U.S. loans, there was further proof that austerity is paying off.

The loans under the Alliance of Progress will go into electric power projects, highways, low-cost housing, water works and expansion of the metal cement and plywood industries.

The money was only a part of the $350 million which the United States has pledged to shore up the Brazilian economy.

But equally important was the new vote of U.S. confidence in the new regime's pledge not only to save Brazil from communism but also to restore economic and political stability.

Brazilians still grumbled because still plaguing the country was the inflation which through three successive administrations had nearly wrecked the cruzeiro.

One year ago the Brazilian housewife had to pay 170 cruzeiros for two pounds of black beans. Today she pays 320 cruzeiros. Sugar has gone up from 140 cruzeiros a year ago to 312.

Rate Stabilized
But today the unofficial rate of the cruzeiro is pegged at 1,830 to the dollar, exactly what it was a year ago and in itself a mark of international confidence in the new regime.

During Goulart's 31 months in office the cruzeiro fell from 250 to the dollar to nearly 2,000.

The Castello Branco regime has carried out reforms by remarkable use of the carrot and the stick.

To workers grumbling about rising prices and decreased purchasing powers he granted a pay raise from $23 to $31 by raising the minimum wage 57 per cent. The unions had demanded a 100 per cent raise.

Relieves Grumbling
The president thus relieved some of the grumbling and at the same time indicated he would hold the line against excessive demands.

At the same time he promised easy credit and tax reductions on imports for companies agreeing to hold down prices.

The Brazilian cost of living jumped about 85 per cent last year. It had been forecast at 140 per cent. Next year the government hopes to cut it to less than 50 per cent and around 10 per cent thereafter.

Under government pressure, backed by the military, the Brazilian congress has passed laws for land reform, a tightened system of tax collection and an even break for foreign investors.

Southwestern Bell
1965: Your Bonus Year for Telephone Service

Put telephone wires underground and you've put them in a safe place. Safe from wind, rain, hot weather, cold weather, stormy weather. Safer from the slow death of ordinary weathering. Safer from man-caused damage, too. All around safer from the kinds of trouble which most often affect the talkability, hearability and dependability of your phone service.

That's why this year Southwestern Bell is spending $10 million burying hundreds of additional miles of telephone cable underground. In effect, buying life insurance for your telephone service.

There's another tangible benefit, too. Because of this buried cable construction program, new jobs will be created. Some in the telephone business (which already has 52,179 persons on the payroll), but most important, an estimated 500 new jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

This is a 1965 communications bonus from Southwestern Bell. Part of a massive construction effort (our biggest ever) to make the world's best telephone service even more useful, dependable, convenient and valuable seven days a week, good weather and bad.

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE

UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The annual corporate exercise of informing the stockholders on the state of their companies has almost run its course for 1965; the springtime spate of annual reports is beginning to subside.

Some characteristics are common to all: The consolidated balance sheet, the earnings statement, the letter from the president, the chairman or both. But as usual, there is a difference of opinion as to what other things stockholders would want to know about the company, its personnel and its products.

Color photography, pictures of the company, its products in appropriate settings, its plants and, in many cases, its overseas locations, featured some of the layouts. Others contented themselves with a straightaway presentation of financial statements. A few gave prominent space to employees of long service.

General Motors' report cover showed in color part of its diversified line of passenger cars; highlights of its tremendously profitable year and the 10-year trend of the company's output and earnings were presented in at-a-glance style tables and graphs or charts. Ford's and Chrysler's reports were similar in content. Ford embellished its information with a two-page spread of photographs of principal executives, backed up with a graph of the company's table of organization.

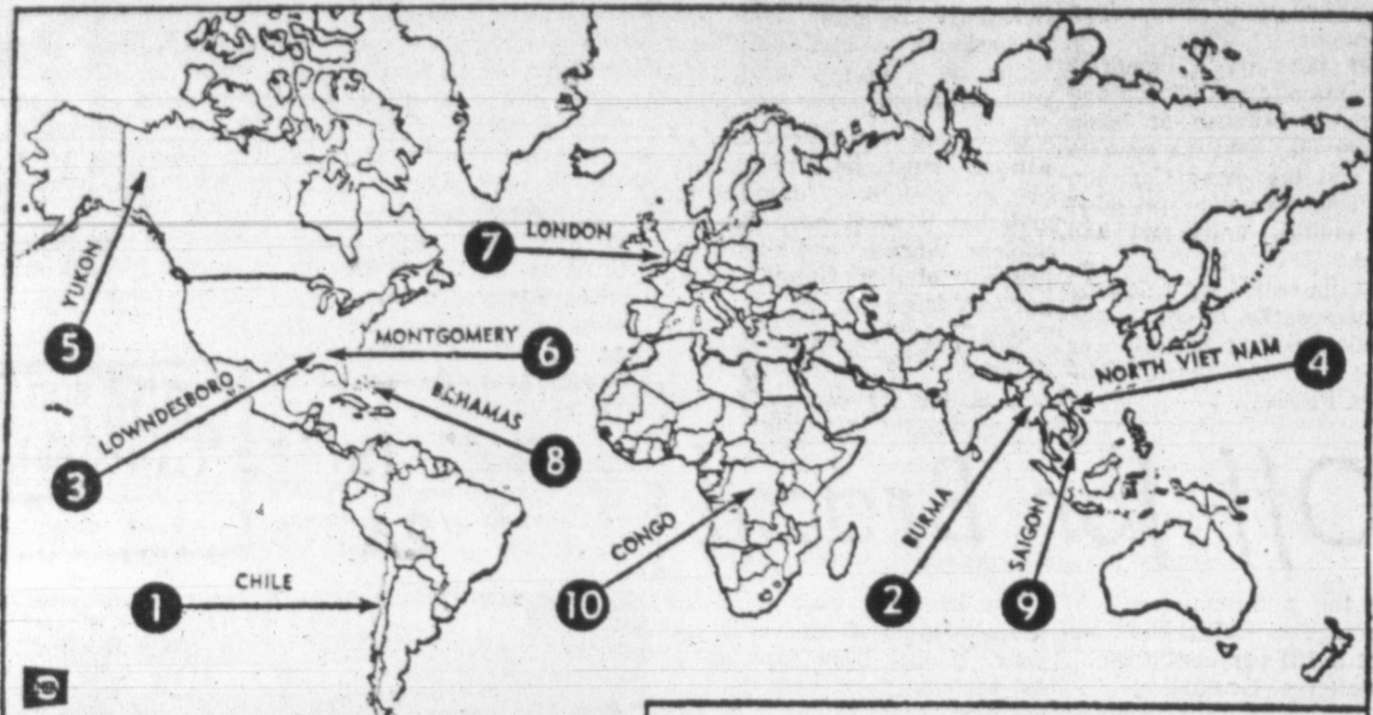

Rockwell-Standard Corp. put a picture of 51-year-old Kenton, Ohio, employe, Frank E. Rogers, on its cover and carried his brief account of his work for the company; two other employes, one in the industrial products divisions, another in the aircraft divisions, were pictured. "The stars of this report are three employes who are on the firing line..." said the company in describing the theme of the report.

Southerners Have Merit In Protecting Rights Bill

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
There is merit but no political force whatever behind the complaint of Southerners that President Johnson's hurry-up voting rights bill violates the U.S. Constitution.

The merit stems from the fact that the Constitution reposes in the states the power to establish voter eligibility. But the state may not refuse eligibility by reason of sex, race, color or previous condition of servitude. Such refusal would violate the Constitution. The stipulation with respect to race, color and servitude is contained in the 15th Amendment which became effective March 30, 1870.

The 19th Amendment dealing with women's suffrage, which was effective Aug. 26, 1920, forbade discrimination by reason of sex. There are other but less directly affirmative constitutional prohibitions against voter discrimination. The Supreme Court has held, nevertheless, that the authority of the states in voter eligibility is primary. A 1937 decision, for example, asserted the constitutionality of a Georgia poll tax as a prerequisite to voting. It said then:

"Privilege of voting (note the word privilege) is not derived from the United States but is conferred by the state and save as restrained by the 15th and 19th Amendments, the state may condition suffrage as it deems appropriate."

There is merit, therefore, in the argument that the Johnson bill violates the Constitution because it authorizes the scrapping of state voter eligibility tests by federal registrars. It would be more nearly in conformity with the letter and spirit of the Constitution if the federal registrars accepted the stipulated state tests but applied them in a manner which would not be discriminatory. The tests of themselves are not necessarily discriminatory.

In any event, the 1937 opinion appears to add substantial merit to the Southern complaint that the Johnson bill violates the Constitution. Nevertheless, his complain of merit lacks all political force because there is no doubt whatever that (A) the Congress will enact, (B) the President will sign and (C) the Supreme Court will hold the bill constitutional.

The constitutional provisions are fuzzy in that the authority of the states in matters of voter eligibility are qualified by other constitutional provisions. To that extent the Constitution ceases to be a rigid document and becomes flexibly subject to the current points of view of the justices.

Cumulative Impact
It is not unreasonable to assume that the court's point of view will have been affected not merely by recent racial disorders but by the cumulative impact of several years of demonstrations, violence and national discussion of civil — especially voter — rights. The justices read the newspapers and hear the electronic news reports.

Long-Running Steel Talks Resume Today

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The acute realization that a strike deadline in the steel industry is only 26 days away today spurred negotiators to extra efforts to reach a contract settlement.

The tempo of talks between the United Steelworkers Union (USW) and the nation's "Big 11" steel producers spread to three levels. If no contract agreement is reached by April 30, the nation's 450,000 basic steelworkers are free to strike the following day.

The 12-man industry-union team is comprised of top level negotiators who have been discussing the USW's economic demands, said to total $1 an hour. Eight USW representatives and four industry officials who represent the 11 companies in the bargaining sessions are well aware of the deadline. Both sides have shown restraint with few exceptions.

Non-economic issues are within the scope of joint union-management subcommittees. These discussions center around a wide range of demands sought by the union to protect its members in an era of technological changes.

The third level discussions concern plant-by-plant problems. Many of these local issues have been resolved but union and industry representatives still have a task ahead of them.

The union placed its economic demands before the "Big 11" a week ago today and there was a week ago today and there was a fiery reaction. R. Conrad Cooper, chief bargainer for the industry, said the cash demands were "preposterous."

The court often reverses itself, sometimes under circumstances warranting one of Mr. Dooley's famous sayings. Mr. Dooley was the creation of the late Finley Peter Dunn, Mr. D. engaged in conversations with his good friend, Hennessy, to whom, one day, Dooley remarked:

"No matter whether the Constitution follows the flag or not, the Supreme Court follows the illicient returns."

The mother and a 16-year-old son escaped. The home was located about three miles from here in unincorporated area. The victims were identified by police as Deborah Harris, 14; Kenneth Harris, 12; Gloria Harris, 7; Cynthia Harris, 5; Robin Townsend, 4; and twins Lisa and Lori Barfield, who would have been 2 years old today. They were all the children of Mrs. Irene Harris, 35, who escaped with her son Jimmie.

Red Chinese Have New Target

By LEON DENNEN
NEW YORK (NEA) — Red China, in search of Marxist-Leninist allies against Russia, is now courting "revolutionary" splinter groups in the United States — outfits like the one that plotted to blow up the Statue of Liberty.

Judged by Peking's propaganda, Mao Tse-tung even hopes for the emergence of a pro-Chinese party in the United States based on the Negro population as the "vanguard of the American working class."

Even the Russian press was unusually restrained in comments on the recent assassination of Malcolm X, dissident Black Muslim leader. But according to Red China's leading People's Daily the slain man was a "martyr" whose death showed that "in dealing with imperialist oppressors violence must be met with violence."

So far Mao has been conspicuously unsuccessful in his efforts to inspire the creation of an organization to oppose the pro-Russian Communist Party of the United States.

Few Negroes regard the Red Chinese dictatorship as an improvement on the rule in Selma. This was said bluntly in a message to Mao Tse-tung that the Congress for Racial Equality (CORE) sent in 1963 after a Peking rally in support for the American Negroes in their struggle against discrimination.

"While CORE often is critical of actions or inactions of the federal government, we reject the view that the United States of America has an imperialist policy of racial discrimination," the message informed Mao.

"We are for freedom and democracy for all, including the Chinese people. CORE believes that with its methods success can be achieved without slave labor camps and mass exodus of people from their homes which have occurred in China." But Mao's future hopes, as Chinese propaganda indicates, are not based on Negro leaders on contempt charges for refusal to answer questions in a grand jury investigation into a possible conspiracy to incite to riot during last summer's Harlem disorders. William Epton, PLM leader in Harlem, is awaiting trial on a charge of criminal anarchy.

The mastermind of the Revolutionary Action Movement is said to be Robert F. Williams, a native of North Carolina now working for Communist Cuba and China. He is believed to have directed from Havana, where he now resides, the plot like Dr. Martin Luther King, Roy Wilkins of the NAACP or CORE's James Farmer.

Several leaders of the Progressive Labor Movement were arrested in New York recently

Maximize Profits Secured by State

AMARILLO — Farmers need a system of operations to maximize returns on their places, says James Murphrey, Panhandle area farm management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Murphrey says too many farmers jump from one enterprise to another instead of having a definite system. A plan can help the farmer hone his operation into a stable, money making operation, he says.

"The tendency to plunge in and then jump out of different farm enterprises is one of the main faults of big farmers here in the Panhandle," Murphrey says.

According to Murphrey, farmers are more successful when they have a definite system of operation.

A system has many advantages, he says. It stabilizes credit needs, buying and selling channels and time of income. More important, a system gives a farmer a chance to work on the efficiency of an enterprise.

"For example, when a man has wheat pasture," Murphrey said, "he shouldn't lease it one year, buy steers for it the next year and run cows on it the third year."

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

Notes from the foreign news cables:

Soviet Calendar:
 Regardless of reported peace feelers from Viet Nam, the feeling in Moscow is that North Viet Nam still has shown no evidence of a desire to negotiate a cease-fire. U.S. and South Viet Nam warplanes are limited as to targets and so far the war is a lot cheaper for North Viet Nam to maintain than it is for the United States.

Coolness in the Tropics:
 Relations between the Philippines and next-door neighbor Indonesia appear to be heading steadily downward. Filipinos have become wary of the large number of illegal Indonesian entrants in their southern islands and suspect that some of them, coming from a nation where the Communists are active and influential, are security risks. The recent arrest of 14 Filipinos in Indonesia, two of them reportedly held on charges of being "strongly anti-Communist," has contributed further to the falling out between the two neighbors.

Zorin Mission:
 French officials believe Russia's new ambassador to Paris Valerian A. Zorin, who takes up his post this week, is coming to Paris with orders to talk serious business with the French government. The French doubt he will offer a new Franco-Soviet alliance. But they believe he may make serious efforts to split France further from the United States and Great Britain.

New Passports:
 The French government plans soon to issue "allergic passports" printed in French and English to be carried by diabetics and other sufferers from chronic ailments liable to sudden collapse. The "passports," to be distributed by family doctors, will list types of treatment these individuals cannot stand.

TO ATTEND CENTO
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk left today here for a two-day ministerial meeting of the Central Treaty Organization CENTO in Teheran, Iran, April 7-8. He will stop in Geneva on the way back.

CAUGHT IN VICE ROUNDUP — Peggy Randal, left, and Ann Marie Gardner, right, were two of 104 persons arrested in a giant vice roundup in Los Angeles. Telephone answering service owner, Delores Hartman, center, was also arrested in connection with call-girl activities in the Los Angeles area.

Divers Search Cave for Explorers

FIFTYSIX, Ark. (UPI)—Six scuba divers searched through the treacherous caverns of Rowland Cave today trying to find four explorers missing in the flooded shaft since Saturday.

ACCUSED BOMBER — Nguyen Van Hai, accused of being one of the Communist Viet Cong terrorists who bombed the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, awaits a medical examination in a Saigon hospital. He was shot by police at the scene of the blast, which claimed 17 lives and injured more than 150. He is listed in serious condition.

SAVINGS ON INCREASE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans saved $29 billion during 1964—a record amount of money for peacetime.

President Johnson said Sunday that Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) figures show the total wealth of all U.S. families was above the $1.1 trillion mark by year's end. He noted that 1964 savings were about one-third higher than in the two previous years.

BIG AIR SHOW

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal Aviation Administrator Najebe E. Halaby, with President Johnson's approval, hopes to stage the biggest air show in the nation's history.

Halaby asked Congress for $2.5 million to run the 10-day show at Dules International Airport in nearby Chantilly, Va., in the summer of 1966.

$150,000 ESTATE

LONDON (UPI)—Earl Alexander of Hillsborough, a one-time messenger boy who rose to be first lord of the Admiralty, left an estate worth nearly $150,000, his will disclosed Saturday.

Alexander died Jan. 11 at the age of 79.

Actor Faces Murder Count

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Actor Tom Neal, who once battled Franchot Tone for the affections of Barbara Payton, faces arraignment today on charges he fatally shot his estranged wife.

Neal, 51, was to be arraigned before Municipal Judge Eugene Theriault in the death of his wife, Gail, 29, whose body was found last Friday in the couple's home here.

Police said Mrs. Neal had been shot in the head with a 45-caliber bullet late Thursday night or early Friday morning. A spent cartridge was found, but the weapon that fired it remained missing.

Neal surrendered later in the day and was booked on suspicion of murder. Police said he declined to make any statement.

Major League Roundup

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

Like Bill Russell, who was a high school basketball teammate back in Oakland, Calif., Frank Robinson is the "big man" on his team.

Robinson's team happens to be the Cincinnati Reds, who finished only a game behind the St. Louis Cardinals in the frantic National League pennant race last year despite an "average" season by their outfielder.

Robby's hitting in 1964 was, of course, average only by his own standards. He batted .306 with 29 home runs and 96 runs batted in, a considerable output for anyone. But the 29-year-old Robinson can do better, and down in Tampa, Fla., they think this is going to be one of Frank's big years, which naturally means a big year for the Reds.

Celtics Take Opener Over 76ers, 108-98

By United Press International
The Boston Celtics and Los Angeles Lakers are one-fourth of the way to a championship showdown in the National Basketball Association, but injuries still might bar a meeting between the regular-season division leaders.

The Celtics overcame a long list of assorted ailments to defeat the Philadelphia 76ers 108-98 on Sunday, and the Lakers beat the Baltimore Bullets 122-115 on Saturday despite losing high-scoring Elgin Baylor in

Snead Taking Aim on Masters After Winning

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI)—Sam Snead, just a month shy of his 53rd birthday, took aim today on golf's "youngsters" in a bid for a fourth victory in the Masters after winning his first regular tour victory since 1961.

Snead, who became the oldest man ever to win a major PGA tournament with a 72-hole total of 273 in the $70,000 Greater Greensboro Open, staved off rushes by Jack McCowan, Billy Casper, Phil Rodgers, Labron Harris, and Tony Lema to pick off the $11,000 top prize money in the GGP Sunday.

He did it with a warm putter and a stroke of luck that let him "hit some bad shots and get away with it."

"That'll make them change the odds a little bit at the Masters," said Snead. "Instead of 20 to 1 I'll be 19 to 1."

McGowan, Casper and Rodgers tied for second at 278, five strokes off Snead's pace. They each got $4,733 while Harris received $3,200 for fifth place and Lema got $2,900 for sixth.

Bert Weaver won himself a place in the Masters with his final round 67 for a 281 total that left him tied with Glenn Stuart, Dan Sikes, and Miller Barber a stroke behind Lema. They got $2,275 each.

Tied at 282 were Kel Nagle, Tommy Aaron, and Bobby Nichols, who each got $1,800. Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Bruce Devlin and Jay Dolan had one-under par 283s for $1,450 each. Bob Zimmerman and Dale Douglass were at even par 284 for $1,150.

Hyatt Wins Pigeon Race

The Top of Texas Racing Pigeon Association flew their third yearling race Saturday from Waurika, Okla., a 200 mile flight. There were nine lofts competing with a total of 77 birds.

Herbert Hyatt, Pampa, flying his first season with the club, won first place with a speed of 1139.15 yds. per minute. In second place was Gordon Miller, Pampa, with 1127.33. Lloyd Gooch, Pampa took third and fourth with speeds of 1125.44 and 1117.64 yds. per minute; and Bob Baird, Pampa, took fifth with 1109.71.

Sixth place was won by Gooch with 1103.10; in seventh and eighth was A. J. Tipton, Borger, with a speed of 1090.83 and 1090.21; J. E. Cantrell, Pampa, took ninth with 1090.18; and Gooch took tenth with 1068.92.

The next race will be Saturday, April 10, from Dallas, a 300 mile station.

Matson Reaches Best Efforts When Tired

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer
AUSTIN (UPI)—Randy Matson, whose ascendancy to the world shot put throne seems "just a matter of time," appears to flaunt one of nature's time-tested laws in that he hits his peaks when he's tired.

The magnificently muscled Pampa, Tex. youngster, just out of his teens, showed shockingly close to Dallas Long's world record of 67-feet 10-inches last Saturday in the 38th annual Texas Relays, where he lofted the 16-pound ball record a full 8-feet and also posted a new discus mark.

The Texas A&M sophomore's 67-9 effort came on his first throw in the finals after he had created a short lived Texas Relays mark of 65-9 in Friday's preliminaries and kicked in with a discus mark of 188-8.

Matson had said after the prelims that he wasn't optimistic about improving on that figure because he felt tired. That was the same response reporters received back in February after a 65-8½ world indoor record at Fort Worth. Just 24 hours later he proceeded to raise that mark to 66-2½ in Dallas.

enrolled as a freshman at Texas A&M in September, 1963. He's gained 13 pounds since his silver medal appearance at Tokyo.

He plans to boost that weight to around 265 with a dedicated program of weight lifting and conscientious training.

Matson, who says he wants to be the "world's best in both the shot and discus," has a much longer road to travel in the discus—an event he has practically ignored since his high school days when he was hurling the lighter prep platter over 192-feet.

His official career best as a collegian has been 189-1½, but many track coaches contend when the muscular Matson sets his mind to it, he'll be whirling it out around the 211-9½ world record mark.

Shockers Batting at .421 Mark

The undefeated Pampa Shockers are slamming the ball at a tremendous .421 team clip after four victories to date.

The Shockers also boast a pitching staff which has allowed only three earned runs and six total runs in the four tilts, while the batters have averaged nearly 14 runs per game.

Leading the mound staff is Jerry Largin, with his one-hit performance against Mobeetie, while Roy Harper has two of the wins, allowing only one earned run, by powerful Quail.

The Harp is leading the hitters with a fantastic .667 batting average, followed by first-baseman Lawrence Jones and shortstop Teddy "Octopus" Phillips with .600 each.

Harp leads the team in doubles, Jones, centerfielder Stetvie Oler and leftfielder Scott Sanders are tied for the triples lead and catcher Gary Hyatt and Largin head a speedy base-stealing crew. Leadoff man Oler leads the squad in runs scored, Harper, Sanders and Hyatt are tied for the RBI leadership.

The Shockers will probably start Lang or Stone Stone (0-0) against Mobeetie tomorrow.

The games with Elk City and Quail here have been postponed until next week due to Babe Ruth tryouts.

Long, retired from track and now a dentistry student at University of Southern California said he, "certainly wasn't surprised" at the showing of his Olympic teammate. "It's just a matter of time before he breaks the record," Long said. "He's got all the physical equipment—that's for sure."

That equipment Long is talking about is a still expanding, deceptively slim 258-pound youngster on a 6-foot 6½-inch frame. He has grown an inch and put on 33 pounds since he

By BOB COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Latin American politics, to the North American observer, is often a combustible mixture of coup and countercoup, revolution and confusion — not particularly important.

But add the specter of Nazism to this simmering political stew and you glimpse the 15-year ordeal of Theodor Binder, jungle doctor.

This soft-spoken man with piercing gray eyes, a disciple of Albert Schweitzer and a refugee from Nazi terrorism, arrived in 1948 to work with diseased and illiterate Indians and mestizos in Peru's interior. But he did not escape from Adolf Hitler.

"I was soon reintroduced to Nazism," Theodor Binder explained in his German-accented English during a visit to New York recently. "We were invited to the home of a rich German planter and on the wall of his main room was a big picture of Hitler."

"He asked if I had any German newspapers with me. I said 'no,' and explained why. I was immediately ordered out of his house."

Binder soon discovered that Peru's Nazi community was and is flourishing. "Hitler's pictures are all over. These sad people have regular meetings and spend much of their time trying to convince Peruvians that Hitler was right and that the concentration camps were Hollywood propaganda. They are dangerous."

In the beginning, neither Dr. Binder nor his wife Carmen paid serious attention to the Nazis. The Binders had come to Peru to start a hospital. And in 1955, a group of well-equipped buildings rose from the tangled rain forests and fetid swamps of the country's interior.

Money poured in for its support — from Germany, Switzerland, Sweden. A U.S. foundation was established for the Hospital Amazonico Albert Schweitzer. Boston's Cardinal Cushing contributed $10,000.

In Peru, the government and several wealthy families also give Binder aid — among them, Maria Louisa Gildemeister, head of the powerful and respected family which is Peru's largest sugar exporter.

With that contribution, Theodor Binder and his hospital apparently became political tools.

"Miss Gildemeister was the head of our Lima foundation," Dr. Binder said. "But when the government thought about passing land reform bills about two years ago which would have deprived her of some of her holdings, she decided to fight. I think she planned to use our hospital as a political battleground. Perhaps she felt that discrediting me would help her."

Reports were circulated to everyone who had a connection with the hospital — even in Europe — that "I was a Communist, that I was a Nazi war criminal, that I wasn't a doctor, that I wasn't Theodor Binder."

Peru's Gildemeister family has been a potent political and economic force for more than a century. Its New York bank says "it is very well regarded by Peru's banking and commercial people."

With such backing, the rumors about Dr. Binder were not taken lightly. Der Spiegel, Germany's influential news magazine, wrote a critical account of the hospital. The German press circulated stories that Binder was misusing contributions to the hospital, that he didn't take proper care of patients, that he committed sexual offenses against nurses and patients.

Said Binder: "It was filthy. And none of it — not a shred of it — was true. They succeeded in uniting Peru's Communists and the Nazis against me."

Official Peru then cast a stormy look in the direction of the beleaguered hospital. The minister of public health, whom Binder says is a close friend of the Gildemeister family, ordered an investigation.

"We welcomed the investigation," the doctor recounts, "until we found that three of the four men to be sent were our worst enemies, so we refused to allow them to enter the hospital."

The Peruvian press was then invited by Binder to visit the hospital. "And all the papers and magazines, with the exception of one controlled by the Gildemeisters, exploded the rumors and printed the truth."

Since the propaganda stopped the flow of funds from Germany, the doctor last February invited two members of the board of the U.S. foundation to inspect the hospital. Their verdict, as several German newspapers reported, was that "all of the allegations are false."

Yet the rumors persist and funds are still frozen in Germany. "Miss Gildemeister has much money," Dr. Binder says, "and she has told me she will not rest until I leave Peru. But I will never leave."

The Nazis haven't stopped fighting, either. Binder maintains that former SS generals walk freely through Lima streets. "They and their foul friends are fiercely anti-Semitic. They poison the atmosphere. And they have had their bad effect on Peruvians."

But the jungle doctor, his wife and staff refuse to allow their enemies to stop the work of the hospital. They treat some 400 outpatients a week and about 40 bed patients. A grant from an American foundation sponsors research in fungus diseases.

U.S. Peace Corpsmen have worked at the Hospital Amazonico Albert Schweitzer, Theodor Binder still hopes to establish clinics elsewhere in Peru.

Connally Asks OK Of New Tech Institute

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. John Connally said today he will ask the legislature to approve an emergency appropriation for a new vocational and technical institute at James Connally Air Force Base at Waco.

The governor sent a special message to the legislature asking that authorization be given Texas A&M University's board of regents to acquire the base, which is to be deactivated by the federal government in September 1966.

Connally said the state-operated vocational institution would be "tailored to meet the present — and hopefully the future — needs of the Texas industrial basin." It would offer technical courses ranging from data processing and drafting to glass blowing and possibly airline stewardess training.

"There are many possibilities," said Connally. "James Connally Air Force Base is one of the finest facilities in the state."

Connally asked the legislature to authorize: —An appropriation of $200,000 to A&M for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1966, "to initiate the necessary planning and prepare the requisite facilities for admitting the first class in September 1966."

—The A&M board to accept the school, either as a gift or in a purchase arrangement to be worked out later.

GOP Set to Present Rights Bill Proposals

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican leaders planned today to present their counterproposal to President Johnson's voting rights bill.

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford Jr., Mich., and Rep. William M. McCulloch, Ohio, ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, were to unveil the bill at a news conference.

The news conference was scheduled for 11 a.m. EST.

The proposal is being billed as one "more comprehensive in its application" than the administration's bill. This was interpreted to mean that the bill contains proposals for eliminating racial barriers in all parts of the country, not just in states where less than 50 percent of the eligible electorate voted as under the administration bill.

Meanwhile, in the Senate, Democratic leaders meet with Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach to consider proposals for pin-pointing the impact of the administration bill and strengthening its constitutionality.

Other congressional news: Investigation: Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., urged a full-scale Senate investigation into the "organization structure, financial resources and tactics" of the Ku Klux Klan. He called on Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to introduce the necessary resolution to the Senate.

Hospital Care: The House Rules Committee continues the debate on the administration's pet hospital care program. The committee holds hearings today and Tuesday on the measure which offers hospital insurance for persons over 65 years, financed by Social Security taxes. The measure is expected to be cleared for floor action on the House floor by Wednesday.

Submarines: The Senate Armed Services Committee said Sunday it voted to authorize construction of two more nuclear attack submarines than the Defense Department wanted because of the increasing threat posed by enemy undersea strength.
