PAMPAN SUES FINANCE FIRM OF AMARILLO

CHARGES HIS CAR WAS UNLAWFULLY ENTERED

Charging that his automobile was unlawfully entered and driven to Amarillo by the defendant, J. H. Marshall, of Gray county, today filed suit in district court for $127 damages against The Plains City Finance Co., of Amarillo.

Marshall's petition alleges that his locked auto was taken from its parking space in downtown Pampa on Feb. 20 by agents of the defendant.

It is further charged that the car was damaged by being driven to Amarillo without oil. It is also stated that a month later the plaintiff was forced to pay $206.65 to recover the car from the defendant.

Alleging that the company had no right to take or enter the car, Marshall charges that he lost his salary of $80 a week as a traveling salesman for four weeks and that the car was damaged to the extent of $307. He also asks personal and punitive damages of $500.

HOUSE INCREASES OIL, GAS, SULPHUR TAXES

AUSTIN, April 6 (AP)—The Senate received today the third of four major revenue-raising bills this session—a proposal to increase the natural gas production tax from 3 to 4 per cent of value.

Other levies approved by the House were bills to raise the oil tax from 2 1/2 to 6 per cent of value and to boost the tax on sulphur from $1.03 to $1.28 per ton.

The proposed sulphur levy increase was set for a hearing today before the state affairs committee and the oil tax bill was to be heard on April 13.

The fourth large tax proposal, a bill to triple the levy on corporation franchises, has been engrossed and faced early floor consideration.

Hours of debate on amendments offering different rates preceded final action on the gas tax bill with motions to postpone consideration defeated by slim margins.

LAW BANNING MEXICAN LIQUOR SALES ASKED

MEXICO CITY, April 6 (AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas will ask Congress to prohibit sale of intoxicating liquor throughout the country three days a week and manufacture or sale of such liquor in zones inhabited by Indians.

The President, in a statement last night, said his proposed law would prohibit sale of liquor on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays which are days when Indians come to town to sell their wares. It was expected the legislation would be enacted early in June.

Mother Nature Has Corner on Market

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP)—Mother Nature is "cornering" the corn market.

Grain traders said today skyrocketing corn prices to the highest level in 17 years and dwindling supplies have brought about a market phenomenon—a "natural corner."

This is to be distinguished, they said, from that now impossible market situation known as a "technical" or "manipulated corner." The latter is now unlawful. The "natural corner," traders said, just can't be helped. Farmers make it by having corn for feed.

Mother Nature has been doing none of the market manipulation which bring about a "technical corner." Instead, over a period of years she has been restricting the supply of corn.

As a result there is now a widespread shortage of corn supplies. Many traders believe there is not enough corn to meet livestock feeding requirements.

Women Will Rule Town Two Years

FORD, Kas., April 6 (AP)—Someone mentioned "beer"—and things started foaming.

That's why this western Kansas town looked forward today to two years of petticoat government. There will be a woman mayor, woman city clerk, woman police judge and a women's council.

The whole thing stacked up as a bit of a joke with the women until the morning of the election. Abruptly a third ticket appeared advocating the sale of beer. Right then telephones started ringing.

The women had E. H. Patterson, owner of a truck line, keep 15 trucks busy taking supporters of the female ticket to vote. The women won over two male tickets by almost two to one.

"We are united on opposition to beer," declared the mayor-elect, Mrs. Kathlene Emrie, 50. She defeated Mayor John Small, 86 to 52.

No licenses will be granted in this community," she vowed solemnly between telephone calls either from well wishers or persons seeking jobs.

"We believe the community can grow better if the church influence is permitted to operate. Four of the 'selected' councilmen teach Sunday School classes."

FIRE-FIGHTING OUTSIDE CITY IS QUESTIONED

Should Pampa's city fire department be used to fight fires outside the city limits?

This question arose for pro and con discussion at last night's meeting of the city commission, when Fire Chief Ben White asked commissioners what should be done about calls from points outside the city.

City Manager C. L. Stine informed the commissioners that all insurance companies have crossed the city boundary line, and stated that if a truck were to be involved in an accident on a call into the county, damage insurance could not be collected.

Chief White said he had discussed the matter with county commissioners to see if the county would provide equipment to take care of county calls. With this arrangement the city would be donating use of its firemen for the call.

He stated that county officials said they were without authority to take this action and that the county did not have enough money to take on the additional expense of buying county fire equipment.

It was also pointed out that there now is a bill before the state legislature making provisions for county governments to appropriate money for the purchase of county fire-fighting apparatus.

V. F. W. TO MEET

Plans for a picture presentation and report of the membership committee will be made at tonight's meeting of Veterans of Foreign Wars chapter in the American Legion hut. Meeting time will be 7:30 o'clock with Commander H. P. Lusby presiding. Members are urged by the commander to be present early so that the meeting will not be held late.

1,500 Rebels Starving On Spanish Peak

ANDUJAR, Spain, April 6 (AP)—Two months of determined insurgent officers were reported today to have set up a reign of terror over 1,500 slowly starving men, women and children on top of El Cabezo (The Summit) mountain in Southern Spain.

A story of spreading sickness from malnutrition and of hard-fisted efforts to put down a move toward capitulation after eight months of siege was brought down from the 2,000-foot high fastness by three men who fled under cover of night and surrendered to government troops.

The deserters, two civil guards and the young son of the chief guard of Lugar Nuevo palace, said the populace was driven to desperation by hunger and accused the commanders, a Captain Cortes and Lieutenant Ruano, of establishing military terror to quell a rising disaffection.

ANOTHER WAR IS INEVITABLE SAYS BARUCH

URGES WORLD TO PAY NO HEED TO WAR-LIKE RULERS

(Editor's Note: Bernard M. Baruch was chairman of the War Industries Board during the World War. Woodrow Wilson placed the responsibility of supervising the mobilization of materials for the American and Allied armies and the civilian population. At Versailles, Mr. Baruch was economic advisor to the American Peace Commission.)

By BERNARD M. BARUCH
Written for the Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—On this twentieth anniversary of America's entrance into the war, I would like to believe the world had learned the futility of conflict.

I would like to believe that aggression and nationalist hatreds exist only in the history books, that nations could settle their disputes peacefully. I would like to believe the world practiced the high idealism of Woodrow Wilson, that his hope had become a reality. I would like to believe every nation hated war equally.

But we learned little, if anything, from the war. The nations of the world are marching again down the same old road that led to 1914.

It is horrifying to consider the consequences of the war for which the world is now preparing. You may be sure the civilian population will not be spared. The devastation in Spain is but a miniature example.

There is more to the disheartening situation than the billions being spent for defenses and armaments—billions which, if used in the ways of peace, would go far toward abolishing slums and lessening poverty.

Economic Gibraltars and Verduns have been erected and these barriers to trade have increased the international ill-will. Their elimination alone would be a great contribution to peace.

OIL PRODUCTION SHOWS DECREASE DURING WEEK

TULSA, Okla., April 6 (AP)—A decrease of 6,429 barrels daily brought the nation's production of crude oil to 3,428,446 barrels daily for the week ending April 2, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Oklahoma showed an increase of 8,200 barrels daily to a total of 648,725 barrels daily. East Texas increased 783 barrels daily to 460,250 while total Texas showed a decrease of 15,739 to 1,501,789 barrels daily.

Louisiana decreased 120 barrels daily to 246,045. California was down 4,000 barrels daily to 585,250 and Kansas showed a hike of 2,515 barrels daily to 189,175.

Eastern states including Michigan increased 1,945 barrels daily to 155,212 and the Rocky Mountain section decreased its production 290 barrels daily to a total of 71,230 barrels daily.

Rebels Cry 'Kamerad' in Spain

Fighting with the rebel troops, these two German aviators and the Moor were captured by Loyalist troops in their great drive on the Guadalajara front. Also taken, according to military reports, were hundreds of Italian soldiers and great stores of ammunition as the government troops pushed toward the rebel capital at Burgos, 150 miles north of Madrid.

Man Wounded Mysteriously While In Jail

Gray county jail had a mystery on its hands today as officers sought to determine what happened to William Craven, 50, Eunice, N. M., after he had been jailed last night for intoxication.

Craven was found in his cell this morning, bleeding from a lacerated and blackened eye, a lacerated ear and body bruises.

The prisoner said he didn't know what happened to him—that he couldn't even remember being arrested nor being taken to jail.

Other prisoners, when questioned about the incident, said that Craven fell off a table and struck his head on the floor.

Justice of the Peace Charles I. Hughes, before whom Craven was arraigned this forenoon, said that the man appeared to have been beaten up.

Constable Otis Hendrix, who arrested Craven, told the court that his prisoner had no wounds when put in jail last night.

The prisoner, who has been in Pampa only two weeks, is no relation to the Pampa city clerk of the same name.

After a doctor was summoned to dress his wounds, Craven was sent back to jail to serve out his sentence for drunkenness, of which he pleaded guilty.

BALKANS USED AS THREAT TO QUIET ITALY

(By The Associated Press)
Great Britain and France were reported today to try to lure up the Balkans against Italy if Premier Mussolini moves to quit the international "Hands off Spain" agreement.

That plan was recounted by an informed Paris source as the Spanish insurgents, friendly to Italy, claimed new important successes on the northern front. Their commanders asserted 2,000 government soldiers had been killed in recent fighting for Durango and Bilbao.

The possibility Italy might quit the 27-nation non-intervention accord was raised by an Italian spokesman as the outgrowth of authoritative Italian charges that France had "flagrantly violated" it, allowing the Madrid-Valencia government.

Britain and France would act to isolate the Balkans from Italy only as a "last resort," the Paris sources said, as they are not anxious to attempt a major political realignment in Europe.

The insurgent successes in northern Spain brought a "final ultimatum" from insurgent General Emilio Mola to the Basque defenders of the coastal city of Bilbao. He warned them to "surrender or suffer literal destruction of the province." (The province of Vizcaya.) Mola's men were within sight of one objective, the strategic town of Durango. Their commanders said inhabitants of that town and of Bilbao were fleeing.

The Madrid-Valencia administration organized new militia bodies to reinforce troops striving to break the semi-circle of insurgent lines near Madrid.

A Panamanian mineral boat, the Andira, said to have been chartered by a British company, was reported sunk by an insurgent cruiser in the Bay of Biscay.

Insurgent-held Algeiras, near Gibraltar, was subjected to a government air bombing.

On the Cordoba front, in the south, the government reported new successes pointed toward the Penarroja coal fields.

ALLRED SAYS AGAIN HE CALLED NO NAMES

AUSTIN, April 6 (AP)—Gov. Allred reiterated today he did not mention any group by name in his statement against sit-down strike organizers.

Harvey C. Freming, lieutenant of John L. Lewis, C. I. O. and head of the Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers union, had said at Houston his union did not contemplate sit-down activities.

"My statement," Allred said, "was directed at sit-down methods and organizations sponsoring them. If Mr. Freming's union doesn't believe in sit-down strikes and does not start them, they haven't anything to worry about."

The governor said Freming in response to his request had furnished him with the names of eight Texas organizers for the oil union.

CITY MAKES PROFIT OF $709.24 LAST MONTH

The City of Pampa took in $709.24 more than it spent in March, according to a monthly report submitted to the city commission last night by City Manager C. L. Stine.

Total revenue last month from taxes, water, sewer, garbage fees, sale of distilled water, dog licenses, and liquor and beer licenses amounted to $11,539.90. Total expense was $10,814.75, of which $8,140.42 was for salaries.

The city manager also reported the following bank balance in city funds:

General, $2,387.33; water and sewer, $1,748.72; garbage, $1,738.82; interest and sinking, $37,307.25; trust, $1,115.83; library, $214.49; swimming pool, $2,650.13; parks, $734.00.

Stray Dogs Executed By Dozens With Deadly Gas

Pampa's death chamber is claiming its victims. In Nevada the state collects the supreme penalty of human life with lethal gas, and here the city snuffs out canine life by the monoxide route.

The little house of death is situated on the hill just west of the city swimming pool. It is here that the municipal dog pound is maintained.

Unlicensed dogs found running at large are corralled from city streets by Dog Warden L. H. Poteete and taken to the pound where they are kept for three days.

If at the end of that period the owner has not appeared to pay the $1 or $2 license fee, a dog is taken into the "death house," which is connected by a hose to the exhaust pipe of an automobile.

3-Minute Death
The death sentence is carried out with the starting of the motor which sends the deadly fumes into the sealed chamber. Death comes humanely and without suffering in less than three minutes.

So, if your dog turns up missing—better get in touch with the dog warden at the police station in city hall. If it has no 1937 license, more than likely your pet has fallen into the hands of the law.

If you appear at the backyard, it is no excuse for not having a tag, officials state. All dogs which are without licenses are subject to "arrest" by the warden, whether they are tied or running at large.

Officials said that more than 700 dogs were executed in the canine death house last year. Probably that many more will be sent along to "dog-heaven" this year, they stated.

Licenses for male dogs cost $1 and for females, $2. It was pointed out, too, that you may save a dog's life if you appear at the pound before execution date and pay the license fee, which makes the dog yours.

According to his monthly report for March, Warden Poteete picked up 134 straying, tagless dogs in March.

One or twice, dog-lovers visited the pound and freed a penful of the dogs. The city has taken steps to prevent a recurrence of the "rescue" by placing a watchman on duty at the pound.

MAJOR SIGHS WRECKAGE OF MISSING SHIP

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 6 (AP)—Major A. D. Smith, division superintendent of the Transcontinental and Western Air, in a radio message to the airport here at 10 a. m. today said the wreckage of an airplane was sighted northwest of Mount Baldy in eastern Arizona.

The veteran pilot, flying a trimotor transport, said the wreckage was in an inaccessible region.

Attendants at the airport said Major Smith did not say whether there was indication of life at the wreckage, which led them to believe all apparently were dead. He said the wreckage was located at an elevation of approximately 8,500 feet on the side of the mountain.

After circling the spot to make a map of the location Major Smith headed back toward the Winslow airport.

Major Smith said he was certain it was the twin motorized ship. Pilot Glen Moser flew out of Burbank, Calif., Saturday morning.

The ground party organized at Winslow included Major Bertrandias, in charge, Sheriff Lefe Hatch of Navajo county, Captain Morgan of Los Angeles, Calif. county sheriff's office and a department of commerce inspector.

WICHITA FALLS POLICE CHIEF DIES SUDDENLY

WICHITA FALLS, April 6 (AP)—Police Chief George H. Hodgins, serving his third term as head of the police department here, died of a heart attack this morning.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., 67 years ago, Hodgins was a vaudeville and minstrel performer from childhood until he came to Texas in 1906. After serving as flour mill inspector at Galveston and Fort Worth, he became superintendent of the Wichita Mill and Elevator company in 1913 and held that post until 1923, when he was drafted as police chief.

Politics twice caused his resignation but he was appointed for his third term a year ago.

Hodgins was en route to police headquarters in a scout car to go on duty this morning when stricken. He died in the emergency room of a hospital a few minutes later.

'Panorama Of The Pampas' Is Another Entry

Only four days remain for contestants to enter suggested titles for Pampa's annual June celebration. The deadline falls on Saturday, April 10.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is offering a $10 cash prize for the best name submitted and the best letter of suggestions for features to be made a part of the observance.

The title should be one that can be made permanent and used down through the year.

Among recent entries received are these:

"Frontier Pageant," by Mrs. J. H. George; "Panhandle Boosters Celebration," by Mrs. Robert F. Hodge; "Pampa's Industrial Reunion," by Mrs. F. E. Drury; "Panorama of the Pampas," by Mrs. Walter L. Parker; "Plains Industrial Celebration," by C. D. Turcotte; "Hot Time in Cowtown," by Mrs. W. A. Williams; "R. I. Wheeler; 'Gully Jumpers Sings' by I Saw; "Plainsmen and Hillbillies Jubilee," by Mrs. William Groves, Wheeler; and "Panhandle Wheat and Oil Festival," by Mrs. E. E. Campbell.

It's not too late to get in a winner. Mail or bring your suggestions to the June Celebration Contest. Editor of the Pampa News. Remember—Saturday is the deadline.

REMISSION OF HARRIS LEVY IS APPROVED

REPRESENTATIVES ALSO MUST PASS ON MEASURE

AUSTIN, April 6 (AP)—The Senate voted today to override the veto by Gov. James V. Allred of a bill remitting certain taxes to Harris county. However, his similar disapproval of a measure instituting a new clemency system for Texas.

AUSTIN, April 6 (AP)—The Senate voted today to override the veto by Gov. James V. Allred of a bill remitting certain ad valorem taxes to Harris county for flood control purposes.

The vote of 18 to 7 gave more than the two-thirds majority necessary to pass a measure over the governor's objection. However, before the bill could become law despite the veto similar action would have to be taken by the House of Representatives.

The governor vetoed the bill on the grounds the state could not afford to lose the revenue and a bill at the same time he would not approve any other measures making remissions to individual counties.

A number of other individual remissions have been passed by the legislature or are pending and a bill to permit ad valorem taxes to all counties has received approval of the House.

The Harris county bill would remit one-half of the ad valorem taxes collected for state purposes, estimated at about $303,000 a year. Senator Weaver Moore of Houston, who made the motion to override, said the port of Houston and the flood control project was a matter of statewide concern, not merely local.

Before voting on the Harris county proposal, the Senate laid on the table subject to call a motion to override Governor Allred's veto of an enabling act for a constitutional amendment creating a new clemency system for Texas.

Senator Ben Ornel of Wichita Falls argued against the motion, asserting the act had violated several provisions of the constitution and the governor did this duty in returning it to the legislature. He said another bill was being drawn which would eliminate the objectionable features.

Previously, a charge was made by Senator Joe E. Hill of Henderson that friends of a bill to repeal legalized betting on horse racing were

BOTH PARTIES IRKED AT ELECTION RESULTS

DETROIT, April 6 (AP)—Michigan Republicans apparently reversed the trend of last November in Tuesday's election for minor state officers.

Most of the contests in yesterday's off-year election were close, but incomplete returns indicated Republicans selected two justices of the state Supreme Court and four incumbents of lesser offices, some by the narrowest of margins.

The Democrats, however, could boast the only runaway victor in State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagener, whose majority approached 10,000. Two other Democrats held majorities that seemed fairly safe.

Some political observers had expected the election to provide a test of public sentiment toward reorganization of the United States Supreme Court and conciliatory dealings with sit-down strikes. Issues that have arisen since the Democratic landslide of November.

The prevalence of split ballots complicated any analysis of the returns as a referendum on national issues.

Democratic leaders—conceding nothing until the count was completed—blamed rain that fell all day yesterday for their reduced strength.

WOMEN GOLFERS ORGANIZE AND PLAN FOR WEEKLY MATCHES.

MRS. THUT TO BE PRESIDENT THIS SEASON

Ladies Day Will Be Monday on Club Course

Members of the Ladies Golf association will tee off next Monday at 1:30 for their first game of this season, following reorganization and the annual election of officers last evening at the Country club house.

Mrs. Charles Thut was elected president for this season to succeed Mrs. Mark Heath. Mrs. Arthur Swanson is to be vice-president and Mrs. Carl Luenders secretary and treasurer.

Plans were made for the weekly ladies' day matches to continue this year with interesting additions. Games will be on each Monday afternoon on the Country club course. Last year's plan of giving small prizes the first three Mondays and counting scores for a grand prize the last Monday of each month, will be continued.

New features will include a ringer tournament, to start Monday and last through the month. Each member will post her score for each hole, and whenever she makes a lower score for that hole, she will post it, so that her lowest score for each hole will count for her season's total.

Another plan is for inter-city matches once a month, with women from neighboring towns.

Tentative plans were discussed for a monthly golf and bridge luncheon, and bridge games when the weather is too bad for golf on regular days. All women golfers in the city, whether or not they are members of the Country club, are invited to join this organization. Those who wish to play Monday are asked to be ready to tee off promptly at 1:30.

Those present yesterday, in addition to the officers, were Meses. W. Murphy, Burns, Heath, Lynn Boyd, Beard, Frank, W. M. Miskimins, Larry Padden, Del Love, and Carl Smith.

Brummett Named To School Board In Hopkins Vote

By Helen Partridge
HOPKINS, April 6 — B. V. Brummett of Hopkins No. 2 was elected on the Hopkins school board Saturday. Only 36 votes were cast, out of approximately 150 families represented. W. R. Barrett received 15 votes, and Homer Gibson a write-in vote.

Mrs. R. S. Partridge returned Sunday evening from Roswell, N. M., where she has been the past few weeks visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. Mike Crow.

Mrs. Moore Jones is confined to her home with the mumps. Several cases have been reported the past two weeks.

Kenneth Laycock from the Abra school in the Sam Norwood district entered Hopkins No. 2 school Monday, enrolling in the fifth grade. Kenneth is a brother of Hulei Laycock, teacher at Hopkins.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mallow are visiting in the home of Mr. Mallow's sister, Mrs. Helen Laycock. The couple were married Sunday at Sayre, and will make their home at Lawton, Okla. Mrs. Mallow was Juanita Coleman of Shamrock before her marriage.

WORLD HEALTH AND MISSIONS IS WMS TOPIC

Methodist Women in Circle Meetings At Homes

Study of health work by missionaries occupied circles of First Methodist Missionary society yesterday afternoon, with a lesson from the book, "Out of Africa," was given for McCullough-Harrah society.

Circle one of first church met with Mrs. Sam B. Cook. Mrs. Lee Harrah was leader of a program on Christian Missions and World Health. She discussed health work in Wesley House, Mrs. S. C. Elkins spoke of missionary doctors, and Mrs. W. R. Frazee of training for health work.

The Bible reading was by Mrs. F. W. Shotwell and the devotional by Mrs. Joe Shelton. Eight members attended.

Business preceded the program for circle two meeting in the home of Mrs. R. W. Lane with 15 members and two visitors, Mrs. A. D. Hill, and Mrs. Earl McConnell. New members were Mrs. Sam Sheppard, Mrs. W. E. Jarvis, and the general president, Mrs. H. McBeck who is to meet with the circle this quarter.

Largest attendance among circles during the first quarter won for this group a cash award for its flower fund. Reports showed activities of various committees during the quarter.

The program on health was given by Mmes. McGee Ketter, Glen Radcliff, and A. F. Johnson. Mrs. W. R. Ewing reviewed the article, "First Readers of the New Testament" from the World Outlook magazine. The opening prayer was by Mrs. Tom Cook.

Mmes. F. L. Stallings and Joe Gordon were hostesses to circle four. After a devotional by Mrs. J. M. Turner, topics were presented by Meses. H. H. Boyington, Hampton, and S. C. Evans. Refreshments were served to 15 members.

Meeting in the home of Mrs. A. N. Franklin, 21 members of the McCullough-Harrah society heard a review of chapters from the mission study book by Mrs. H. H. Bratcher. Pictures shown by Mrs. H. L. Wallace added interest to the program.

A handkerchief shower was presented to Mrs. Ida Cox. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Johnson.

Popular Wheeler Bride-Elect Is Shower Honoree

By Ferrol Ficke
WHEELER, April 6 — Complimenting Miss Nerlene Young, bride-elect of Richard Carter of Eagle Lake, a shower was given by Meses Helen and Anna Mae Green Friday afternoon. Miss Young and Mr. Carter are to be married April 8.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Young, a graduate of Wheeler high school last spring, and popular in younger social groups here.

The public speaking class of Wheeler high school presented a two-act play, Hands Up Friday evening to a large crowd in the auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ficke were given a farewell party at the home of his mother, Mrs. John Ficke, last Thursday by a number of friends.

First President To Officiate for P-TA Installation

Mrs. G. C. Malone, first president of Sam Houston Parent-Teacher association will officiate at the installation of new officers Thursday afternoon when the group meets at the school building. Mrs. Carl Boston, new president, and other officers who will serve next term are to take their posts.

The program will feature a debate on the relative merit motion pictures and radio in the child's education. Mrs. Odus Mitchell will discuss the movies. Mrs. Walter Warner the radio. The opening devotional will be by Mrs. W. Purviance. Reports from the district convention of last week-end will be given briefly by delegates.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton
(An open letter to boys about birds)

Dear Children:
I have just come in from a long ride in the country, and here's what I saw: chickens, turkeys and ducks, cows, sheep and pigs, all out enjoying the sun.

The chickens were scratching for bugs, and the ducks were diving for tender morsels under the water, but the dignified turkeys were pretty full and were just walking around.

Of course the pigs were rooting for dear knows what, and the cows were still munching the lunches they had in their barns, but both were contented out in the sun. The sheep seemed to be doing very well, too, finding enough short grass here and there to help out.

But every one of these animals and each of the fowl knew that he had a good regular evening meal coming to him as soon as he got back to the barn. The farmer would see to that. They had homes that were warm and dry and secure, and all the food they could eat. It didn't really matter much whether they scratched or grazed, at all. They would all be taken care of, and they knew it.

If an enemy came near, the farmer, their master, would chase him away.

Early Birds Are Hungry
Now that is not all that I saw when I was out in the country, not by any means.

Can you guess what else there was to interest me? It was the birds, the little wild birds that had just come up from the warm south to sing for us and be friends all summer.

I saw two bluebirds, three robins, a flock of red-winged blackbirds, and some song sparrows, who have the loveliest song of all the early birds.

The little bluebirds are so blue, and their stomachs so pink in the sun that you want to hug them, if you could hug a bird. And the robins are so kind and trusting that you feel you just must do something fine for them. They came, you know, and so did the bluebirds, before the cold weather was over—so anxious were they to get here that they, I don't know, but they must have been hungry on ice days.

I said to myself, and I know you will think of it, too, that these wild birds never ask anyone to feed them, or keep them safe from hawks or other enemies. They don't know, even where they will sleep.

Spare Them From Death
No farmer gives them regular meals, and they ask nothing, not a single favor, of anyone. They are all trying just to live in this lovely spring world, and to give us joy by their songs.

It would be grand if every one of us could help these visitors along.

Large Cast Will Present Minstrel To Benefit P-TA

Sixty Pampans make up the cast of "Dixie Blackbirds," minstrel which will be presented by Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association Thursday and Friday evenings in the new high school auditorium.

Tickets are on sale now, priced at five cents less than they will be if bought at the door. Mrs. Emmett Gee is ticket chairman.

The entertainment is in four acts, starting with a juvenile minstrel show, and including an adult minstrel and two blackface skits. Dances by pretty girls in unique costumes, tuneful songs and new jokes will be interspersed. A special feature will be George Porter and his auto-harp.

Actors in the skits are Miss Ruby Thompson, Emory Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cone, Emmett Gee, and Charlie Maisel. Other prominent men make up the minstrel cast.

The minstrel is under direction of Miss Bennye Barksdale of the Sewell Producing Co. of Atlanta, Ga. Proceeds will go to the fund for equipping the new Woodrow Wilson cafeteria.

Reporter's Book To Be Reviewed In Open Program

Mrs. Arthur Corse, teacher in the Laketon school and national member of the A. A. U. W., will be the speaker when the book review committee of the local chapter presents a program open to the public Monday evening at 8 o'clock in city club room. No admission charge will be made.

The book for review is "I Found No Peace," by Webb Miller, newspaper correspondent who tells of his experiences in reporting four wars and the intervals between. Interviews with such modern notables as Mussolini, and reports of timely events including the Spanish civil war, are included in the book.

Mrs. Tom Aldridge, chairman of the book review committee, will be in charge.

and all the other birds that will come soon, the flickers and woodpeckers, the wrens and the warblers, the red birds and the thrushes. Some of them are brown, and you may not know them, but all of them are lovely.

So we'd better put away the slings and all the guns, or anything that would hurt them. And just because they need some kind of help, and safety, how nice it would be to build bird houses, where danger cannot reach them.

LUNCHEON FOR WMU INCLUDES EXTRA GUESTS

Business, Program Follow Meal at Church

A luncheon with several guests was enjoyed by 38 members of First Baptist Missionary union yesterday at the church, preceding a business meeting and a mission program. Harry A. Miner, new educational director for the church, and Mrs. Miner were introduced.

They were luncheon guests, as were the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, Miss Leah Lane, and Mrs. Henrickson of Pennsylvania, guest of Mrs. T. L. Anderson.

Mrs. Miner sang a solo as a preface to the program from Royal Service magazine. Mrs. L. N. Wagoner, new chairman of missions, was in charge of the discussion, assisted by Mrs. Lancaster.

Mrs. T. F. Morton presided for the business session, when plans were made for the meeting next Monday. A revival will be in progress in the church then, and the union will give its meeting time to the Rev. L. R. Scarborough of Fort Worth, evangelist.

FACULTY MEMBERS ATTEND DISTRICT P. T. A. CONFERENCE HELD AT PERRYTON APRIL 2

Outstanding Talk Is Given by Selby At Meeting

Local faculty members who attended the district P. T. A. conference at Perryton April 1-2 were Supr. R. B. Fisher, Principal L. L. Sone, and Mr. Ernest Cabe. Betty Jo Townsend and Howard Snow, students, also attended the round table discussion concerning recreation activities.

Approximately 250 persons, teachers and delegates attended.

Various committee chairmen read their committee reports during the morning session.

Perryton's widely heralded school band opened the afternoon program after which students representing schools from each town carried on a round-table discussion of recreation and its related subjects.

Supr. R. B. Fisher, five principals, several teachers and numerous parents attended, assisted in the program, and shared in this city's share of the annual rewards.

Principal L. A. Selby of Pampa Junior high gave one of the outstanding talks of the conference Friday morning when he discussed "What Pupils Think of Their Parents."

Mr. Fisher took part in the superintendent's panel Friday afternoon.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar of Pampa, district president, was given a basket of flowers from the Pampa B. C. D., with compliments to the conference.

A.A.U.W. Award To Be Given Some P.H.S. Girl Grad

Annually the local A. A. U. W. gives a scholarship to some girl graduate of Pampa high school. This girl may be a senior finishing P. H. S., or she may be a girl who has already attended college one, two or three years, but she must be a graduate of Pampa high school. Points that will be taken into consideration are: scholastic standing, general character, need, personality, and service to school.

The written application must be made to the Chairman of the Scholarship committee, Miss Kathleen Milam, on or before the first of May, 1937. Funds received from the show held in the LaNora theater on March 19 are to be used in the award. One-third of the amount is to be given as a gift, the other two-thirds to be used as a loan, with a limit of $100. The district recipient of the scholarship must use the award not later than the following school term.

The loan fund will bear interest at a rate of 2 per cent per annum, with interest beginning the date the girl leaves school. Interest and principal are to be repaid in monthly payments of 10 per cent of the original loan until the loan is paid, payments to begin one year after the recipient leaves school, unless other arrangements are made.

In order to receive the Scholarship loan fund the recipient will have to sign a legal note made payable to the Pampa branch of the A. A. U. W. This note must also be signed by a parent or guardian of the recipient.

Pampa Teachers Judge Contests

Several teachers went to Alanreed Saturday morning to judge contests in the Gray county Inter-scholastic League meet. Pampa does not enter the County contest because a school of a certain size doesn't have to enter the county contest but goes directly on to the district meet. The district meet is to be held in Pampa some time this month.

Some of the teachers who went to Alanreed are Ernest Cabe, Kenneth Carman, Miss Helen Martin, and O. F. Shewmaker of Junior High.

Our Faculty

Odus Mitchell is to Pampa high school what Knute Rockne was to Notre Dame. He is honored and respected not only by faculty and the student body but the alumni and the townspeople as well. He has placed Pampa on the map in sports events.

Mitchell was born in the little town of Killeen, in Bell county, Texas, on June 26, 1899.

His father never dreamed that he would some day be the famous coach of the Pampa Harvesters. Mitchell was two years old when he moved to Ballinger and stayed there for 10 years. He then moved to Floydada and from there to Crosbyton for his ninth and tenth grades, where he was on the basketball, baseball and track teams. He took his eighth grade at prep school in Canyon.

When he finished prep school he then entered W. T. S. T. C., where he played football, basketball, track and baseball the entire four years. He played end in football, center in basketball, first base in baseball, and in track he won the T. I. A. A. in pole vaulting. He was a high jumper, high hurdler, and ran in the relay. An election was held in the different activities and Mitchell was elected captain of the basketball, baseball and track teams. Incidentally his first football game was played against T. C. U. He was also elected best all-round athlete one year.

In 1925 he met and married Rowena Shields of Childress. In 1929 their son, Shields, was born; in 1933 Marlon, and in 1935, Joe.

During his years as coach of the Harvesters Coach Mitchell had many offers of better positions but has preferred to remain on the faculty of P. H. S.

J. C. Prejean has been helping the Harvesters to victory for the past two years. Before coming to Pampa, Mr. Prejean taught his first year in Shamrock. His vocation, he says, is coaching and not teaching; however, he teaches several history classes.

Mr. Prejean has a delightful East Texas accent. He is a full-fledged Texan, being born in Orange, Tex. He graduated from Texas university where he played football. Mr. Prejean is a communicant of the Presbyterian church.

Students Worry as Exams Draw Nigh

"Now lay me down to rest Before I take tomorrow's test If I should die before I wake, Thanks go, I'll have no test to take."

Such are the thoughts of the students of PHS as the time draws nigh for second six weeks examinations. Overworked students are becoming frequent sights around the halls. Work that we should have been doing is piled high and must be done now! Oh! gracious! such is the life of a poor pursuer of higher learning.

This week at whatever time date and place our instructors wish the ax to fall will be the scene, location and period of our battles, with knowledge.

Marionettes and Cartooning Are Hobbies of Student

Much talent is hidden away in the halls of Pampa high school but about the most remarkable is the master of the marionettes, Jack Johnson. He is a sophomore in school and has always made good grades. He manufactures realistic puppets for a hobby.

Several of his shows have been presented by him at school carnivals, etc., and have been on exhibition in local store windows. Everyone who has seen his puppets perform, has highly praised his handiwork.

Several years ago he saw a marionette show that was brought to Pampa by a famous theatrical man and ever since he has been highly interested in marionettes. His keen sense of humor and witty originality make his small shows very amusing.

The Open Road for Boys, a magazine, has accepted two of his cartoons and the American Boy has asked him to submit some sketches to their magazine. He seems greatly surprised that more Pampa boys are not using marionettes and cartooning as a hobby as they are both interesting as well as humorous.

Principal Sone Passes on Files For Journalism

The journalism class has just completed two files, planned by Principal L. L. Sone, which will contain back copies of the Little Harvester, the school paper.

Mrs. Midyette, instructor of the class, was astonished to find that no files of the paper had been kept in previous years.

Copies of the Little Harvester will be saved for the future journalism classes so that they may know of the past activities of the school and the planning of the faculty and administrative officials.

The class is indebted to Principal Sone for his forethought in this matter, and for his passing on this project.

Pampa Lions Are Given Luncheon

The Lions club of McLean entertained the Pampa club with a luncheon last Tuesday. Arthur Teed, president of the Pampa Lions, was in charge of the program.

The Pampa High School mixed quartette composed of Ethel Wilder, soprano; Colleen McMahan, alto; Gene Finkbeiner, tenor, and Chas. Hickman, bass, entertained with a group of negro spirituals, and two popular numbers, "Trust In Me," and "Goodnight, My Love." After many requests, Gene Finkbeiner played two piano numbers, "Whispering" and "Nagasaki."

Twenty members of the Pampa club enjoyed the hospitality of their neighboring club.

FFA BOYS TO GIVE FATHERS A STEAK FRY

Boys in the F. F. A. club voted to have a steak fry for the boys and their fathers at a meeting last Monday evening.

A committee was appointed to complete arrangements and the date will be announced soon. All members are urged to attend.

LATIN CONTESTANTS

Pampa entered the Shamrock Latin tournament Saturday to bring back third place. They competed with Shamrock, Wellington, and three Amarillo schools. Shamrock took the two first places.

The representatives from Pampa were for the first year team, John Edwin McConnell and Leona Wray. The first year essay writer was John Edwin McConnell.

Second year representatives were Margaret Tignor, Hazel Bath and Beryl Tignor.

'KING OF KINGS' SUNG

Thursday preceding the holidays, an Easter chapel was enjoyed by students of Pampa high school. Rev. Snell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, read the crucifixion and Rev. Snell, rector of the Episcopal church, read the resurrection. Miss Helen Martin directed the glee club in singing the "King of Kings" and the student body joined in singing "In the Garden" and "Rock of Ages."

The stage was decorated with Easter lilies.

DOLLAR FOR ARRIVAL

Previous reports that the second dollar to be paid for annuals was due April 1, are erroneous.

According to a correction made by Bob Curry, business manager of the annual staff, the last payment will not be due until April 15.

But it must be in by them or your annual will be put on the market and sold regardless of your first payment. "If you want your annual," Mrs. Hol Wagner declares, "pay up on time."

HOW CONSIDERATE ARE YOU?

Again the Golden Rule is brought forth, and this time as a little reminder to students to improve their attitude toward the speakers and entertainers that are brought before them. These people that entertain in our assembly programs do not come for their own benefit, but for your benefit and they like to be appreciated instead of being booed at.

Booing is the most impolite thing that an audience can do. Some people do it only in fun, but it only shows poor taste on their part.

Pampa high school has always prided itself on having the best sportsmen in the country, and that they are always willing to accept the bitter with the best. Some students have failed to uphold this standard. Has it been you?

HOME EC. RALLY TO BE HELD IN FORT WORTH

Pampa High School Delegates To Be Selected

April 29 and 30 and May 1 is the date the Homemaking Education Rally is to be held in Fort Worth in the Texas hotel.

Pampa High School plans to enter seven of the contests. Four girls from the Home Economics class and one girl from the Future Homemakers of Texas will go.

This week the H. E. classes are selecting the best in the class. Judges will be appointed then to select best entries for the contest.

The different contests Pampa plans to enter are: school girl's costume, street costume, special costume, and one entrant will select a play costume suited for a child described in a specific situation, planning a luncheon or supper and judgment in selecting and purchasing foods suitable for family meals.

The Homemaking Education Rally is a rally of homemaking students held annually by the Homemaking Division of the State Department of Vocational Education. Each year from 900 to 1100 students and teachers attend this rally. In the homemaking classes in more than 800 Texas schools, many phases of homemaking are taught. An effort is made through class and home project work to guide the students in their effort to attain certain definite objectives for the improvement of home and family life. Some of the objectives are: (1) To choose food wisely and to prepare and serve it economically and attractively. (2) To select materials, construct, and care for clothing, and to acquire individuality in dress, and the art of wearing clothes well. (3) To plan the house, select and care for its equipment and furnishings in a satisfactory way. (4) To be able to arrange furniture, flowers, wall hangings, etc. in an artistic and satisfying manner. (5) To develop an understanding of child life and child development with reference to the effect of relationships and environment. (6) To learn some of the principles of nutrition and to apply these principles from the standpoint of health and well-being in meeting individual and family needs. (7) To understand that education is a part of life itself, and is a continuous process and not limited by age.

The majority of schools entering the rally have a three-year program or course in homemaking education in the high school, though some have only a two-year program. Some of them have classes for boys and some of them for parents.

CAST CHOSEN FOR LEAGUE ONE-ACT PLAY

McMahan, Holloway And Kennedy Have Leading Parts

Last Friday night, one of the most important events in Pampa High School took place in the new auditorium. The cast for the Inter-scholastic league one-act play, "Cabarets" was chosen.

After a long consultation, the judges finally chose the following students: Dick Kennedy, Mr. Grossmeier; Colleen McMahan Mrs. Grossmeier; Annabelle Holloway, Lena Fischer; Gene Finkbeiner, Mr. Markle; Wanda Lee Dunlap, Tildy; Annie Johnson, Elizabeth, the maid. The part for Mr. Jenks, the reporter, has not yet been decided. Dick Kilgore or Earl Rice will be chosen for this role.

Others who tried out for the play were Betty Bains, Ed Bissett, Jack Johnson, Mary Jean Hill, Dorothy Jane Day and Alberten Schulkey.

The judges were Mrs. Ed Damon Mr. Kirby, and Archer Fullingim.

April Fool's Day Tradition Upheld By Senior Class

Another tradition was enforced last Thursday when the seniors dressed as five and six year olds for kid day. The day started with a lot of childish pranks, but as it progressed they seemed to take over the classes.

At noon these children went down to the park with their lunches in paper sacks. The only disaster of the day happened at noon when W. L. Davis and Jay Plank turned a car over on North Cuyler street by the park. Luckily no one was hurt.

Games of baseball and jump-the-rope were played.

Classes proceeded from one o'clock until three, when a broadcast was given from the auditorium over KPDM. Songs were sung by the group, and then the announcer interviewed some of the kiddies who gave snappy verses that they had learned. After the broadcast the kiddies went to the LaNora theater to see "Murder Goes to College."

Volley Ball Girls Win Over Miami

P. H. S. volleyball girls were again victorious last Wednesday night when the Miami girls came here for a return game.

The Pampa girls won five out of six games. Doris Gee was high-point man, with 11 scores.

FORMER PUPIL VISITS FRIENDS

Miss Maybelle Haines, former Pampa high school student, is visiting Miss Grace Coffin at her home in miles west of Pampa. Miss Haines now lives at Pollett, Texas.

Bare Legs, Lolly-Pops and Rompers Feature Kid Day

Bare legs, lolly-pops, rompers and roller skates were featured Thursday as the senior class celebrated its annual "kid day."

The majority of the class dropped false modesty and reverted back to childhood days. The girls wore knee-length dresses, pig-tails, and vari-colored ribbons in their hair, while the boys were arrayed in overalls, boy scout suits, cowboy outfits, and Lord Fauntleroy clothes.

Shy giggles and bashful guffaws rang merrily in the halls as the senior group threw sophistication to the wind and acted their age for the first time this year.

"Dummy" Annual Being Prepared

Mrs. Hol Wagner, annual sponsor, and her assistants have been having quite some trouble with nosy peeping-Toms whose curiosity leads them to wander into the room where they are preparing a "dummy" annual.

This "dummy" is merely a duplicate copy of the real thing, put together to show them just what the finished product will look like.

Mrs. Wagner will allow no one to get a look at the "dummy" as she wants the annuals to be a surprise when they are issued.

As far as she knows, they will be ready by May 14. The only statement she would make concerning their appearance is that they are "entirely different from any other published in Pampa, contain more news, are 20 pages larger than previous annuals, and will be a pleasant surprise to all buyers."

Little Orchestra Plays for Dance

Again the Student Council scores a hit. Friday night they put over a swell dance for the students. The Little Orchestra played for the dance. The student body really turned out for the occasion. There were approximately 150 there. The dancers enjoyed the Paul Jones two or three times. Those who played in the orchestra were Winston Savage, Ernest Cabe, Rose La Nell Williams, Eugene Finkbeiner, Charles Frazier, Eugene Finkbeiner, Jack Allison and E. L. Seastrand.

Physical Education Teacher in Hospital

Miss Kathleen Milam, physical education teacher in Pampa high school, underwent an appendectomy in Waco on March 26.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Interest in the news of today now prevails in the various home rooms. Students are asked to bring one or more interesting articles to be read in class. The current events followed the declamation contests.

New spelling words have been issued also. The words are the ones that are misused most in the everyday English speech.

'Cowman's Wife' Is Called Interesting And Exciting Book

By The Bookworm.

Surely you have all read about the lives of men on ranches and lived with them through some of their most harrowing and hair-raising experiences. Why not go with me to visit a woman who has lived on a ranch for many years and who can tell as many interesting and breath-taking events as any man who ever lived. This woman is Mrs. Mary Kidder Rak, who is the author of "A Cowman's Wife."

Although this book is a story of Mrs. Rak's life, you will enjoy it much more than any other book you have ever read because it is told in such an interesting manner. It tells of her many experiences with danger. She was chased by many wolves, thrown by horses, and yet she lives to tell of it! She even has the horrible adventure of being all alone on a stormy night, driving along a muddy road—when suddenly—bang!—a tire blows out! Can you picture her sorrow when she learns of her plight. You would expect her to sit down and cry and wait for someone to come along and fix her tire, but she certainly does not! She does nothing more than fix it herself.

I must not tell you too much about the book, or you will not wish to read it. However, I am sure you will not begrudge a moment of your time spent in reading this marvelous book. Read "A Cowman's Wife" by all means. You're missing a grand time if you fail.

Two Are Chosen For Essay Contest

Third and last tryouts for Inter-scholastic League Essay Writing were held two weeks ago in room 208. Two persons were chosen to represent Pampa high school in the contest. One student is to be the regular contestant and the other is to be an alternate. After three contests, Dorothy Jane Day and Bill Kretzinger were selected to write.

PAMPA HARVESTER BAND PLACES SIXTEEN MEMBERS ON ALL-STATE BAND

'37 Grads

Most people think she is an Indian because she has such a dark complexion. Maybe you think so, too, but she is only an English-Irish lassie.

Idabelle Wagnon came to Pampa in the latter part of August, 1936, from Lawton, Okla., where she lived for six months. She was born in Marlow, Okla., on Oct. 28, 1919. When only nine years old, she moved with her parents to Frederick, Okla., where she lived until moving to Lawton.

It is this 1937 graduate's wish to attend Horners Institute at Kansas City, Mo., next year and study fashion designing. She is exceptionally talented along this line.

After she finishes her course in fashion designing she hopes to have a shop of her own; but if this plan does not materialize she wishes to be employed by some large factory or exclusive shop creating fashions and designs.

P. T. A. To Present Four Act Play

The play to be given by the P. T. A., "Mary, Mary Quite Contrary," is an English comedy in four acts. It was written by St. John G. Ervine. The play consists of practically ten character parts, five men and five women, and is suited for advanced amateurs.

Contrary Mary, a very charming actress, sets a quiet country family agog when she comes down from London to visit them, and to talk over with the son and heir, the production of his play. Her venture in love with Sir Henry Considine keeps the play moving at an unusual rate.

John, Lionel and Ethel Barrymore played the leader on the New York Stage in 1935.

All members of the P. T. A. were urged to try out for this play. The play might be the step toward bringing back the "Little Theatre" to Pampa.

The cast includes the following: Sir Henry Considine, Pat O'Keefe; Rev. Canon Peter Considine, Eugene Mann; Mary Westlake, Louise Cunningham; Jenny, a maid, Lillian Rice; Miss Mimms, Mary Adams; Mr. Beeby, E. N. Dennard; Mrs. Considine, Sue Dodson; Sheila, Martha Jones; Geoffrey, Doc Kirby.

Agriculture Boys Receive Program On Waste of Soil

A week ago last Thursday, Mr. Dobkins, soil conservation expert, and R. W. McGinnis, his associate, gave a program for the agriculture boys of Pampa high school. Mr. McGinnis gave a convincing talk on the way the farmers have wasted the land and the means of preventing this waste. Immediately following, Mr. Dobkins presented a group of pictures illustrating soil erosion, soil conservation, and soil improvement. Besides the agricultural classes there were several history classes presented. There was a second program given at 8 o'clock that night. A few days ago Mr. McGinnis wrote a letter to Supr. R. B. Fisher congratulating him on the fine spirit and interest shown by the pupils attending the address. He said that in all his experience of addressing school groups, he had never encountered a group more intelligently interested in a subject than were the students of Pampa high school.

Rank Presents Lyceum Number

He's a she! No, she's a he; well, who is it? It was Jack Rank who furnished entertainment for our assembly program Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Rank is an actor who puts on a play by himself. His entertainment for our assembly was a three act drama called "April Showers." The feature of his work was lightning change of costume which enabled him to portray seven different characters of the skit.

This number was featured for the lyceum number of the year. The benefits of this program will go for the annual fund.

Girls Lose Tennis Matches to Canadian

PHS tennis team tied in matches with Canadian high school teams. The boys won all their matches but the girls failed to win. The boys' singles team was composed of Bobby Childers. He won his match, 6-3, 6-1. One doubles team composed of Howard Buckingham and Joe Isbell, won 6-4, 6-1. Another doubles team, composed of Jim Brown and Chris Martin, won 6-4, 6-1. The girl who played singles was Wanda Lee Dunlap; and doubles, Francis Thompson and Madge Lawrence.

AIRPLANE WINNERS TO BE ANNOUNCED SOON

The airplane model builders' contest closed April 1. Five beautiful models were entered in the contest.

The students have shown great enthusiasm in the contest. The planes were judged Monday in Supr. R. B. Fisher's office and the winners will be announced in assembly Wednesday.

They Continue To Be A Credit to P. H. S.

The Harvester Band continues to be a credit to Pampa High school. Sixteen of its members received appointment to the All-State Band.

Each member and his position in the band is as follows:

Bob Kilgore, solo clarinet.
J. I. Howard, first clarinet.
Jimmy Hammill, solo cornet.
W. B. Whittall, first cornet.
Bert Simmons, first French horn.
Ariene Saunders, second French horn.
Jack Allison, first trombone.
Jack Hessey, second trombone.
A. C. Cox, Jr., baritone, bass cief.
Douglass Stark, baritone, treble cief.
Noble Lane, bass drum.
Arvo Goddard, tuba.
Louella Saunders' bell lyra.
Billy Jones, bassoon.
Helen Draper, tenor saxophone.
Vernon Van Bibber, tympani.

"This group of boys and girls should be very proud and feel very honored," says Director Savage.

The All-State Band will play the night of April 24 in the new auditorium.

Physical Education Teacher in Hospital

Miss Kathleen Milam, physical education teacher in Pampa high school, underwent an appendectomy in Waco on March 26.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Interest in the news of today now prevails in the various home rooms. Students are asked to bring one or more interesting articles to be read in class. The current events followed the declamation contests.

New spelling words have been issued also. The words are the ones that are misused most in the everyday English speech.

'Cowman's Wife' Is Called Interesting And Exciting Book

By The Bookworm.

Surely you have all read about the lives of men on ranches and lived with them through some of their most harrowing and hair-raising experiences. Why not go with me to visit a woman who has lived on a ranch for many years and who can tell as many interesting and breath-taking events as any man who ever lived. This woman is Mrs. Mary Kidder Rak, who is the author of "A Cowman's Wife."

Although this book is a story of Mrs. Rak's life, you will enjoy it much more than any other book you have ever read because it is told in such an interesting manner. It tells of her many experiences with danger. She was chased by many wolves, thrown by horses, and yet she lives to tell of it! She even has the horrible adventure of being all alone on a stormy night, driving along a muddy road—when suddenly—bang!—a tire blows out! Can you picture her sorrow when she learns of her plight. You would expect her to sit down and cry and wait for someone to come along and fix her tire, but she certainly does not! She does nothing more than fix it herself.

I must not tell you too much about the book, or you will not wish to read it. However, I am sure you will not begrudge a moment of your time spent in reading this marvelous book. Read "A Cowman's Wife" by all means. You're missing a grand time if you fail.

Two Are Chosen For Essay Contest

Third and last tryouts for Inter-scholastic League Essay Writing were held two weeks ago in room 208. Two persons were chosen to represent Pampa high school in the contest. One student is to be the regular contestant and the other is to be an alternate. After three contests, Dorothy Jane Day and Bill Kretzinger were selected to write.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL

The 1936 conference in Buenos Aires, attended by President Roosevelt, included a new link in the chain of good will and understanding between the nations of the Americas.

Dallas, this year, from June 12 through Oct. 31, will hold a Pan American Exposition, featured in part, by Pan American Championship Games and Olympic events.

The Pan American Games seek further encouragement and development of the new inter-American friendships. Bringing together in athletic competition amateur representatives of nations of the western world, the Games should carry a moral.

Better that the young men of the Americas should strive in sportsmanlike manner for victory in the field of sports than with hatred try to conquer and kill a foe on blood-soaked battle fields.

It is with this in mind that the officials of the Pan American Exposition and Pan American Games plan on making the international sports program the finest friendship festival ever staged and one to more closely cement friendly feelings between the countries of Greater America.

57 VARIETIES

At the Inventors' Congress in Chicago, Mrs. Bess M. Hedge of Oklahoma City, submitted 57 different gadgets or appliances to ease the housewife's task.

That is what the world is crying for—more inventions that will make it possible to have better jobs for all people. When people come to realize that all business is to eliminate work, that all work in reality is to reduce work, then we will cease having laws that will paralyze industry and make things scarce in order to make a profit for the few.

Let us have more people with their eyes open and looking for methods to more efficiently relieve the drudgery of innoxious work.

CUPID'S RECOVERY

We have heard a great deal about the various deficits which have been piled up during the depression years. Probably the oddest of all is the one discovered by the University of Chicago sociologists, who report that since 1930 we have run up a deficit of marriages and divorces.

The sociologists are Professor Samuel Stouffer and Lyle M. Spencer, and they explain that, because of the hard times, 748,000 couples who ordinarily would have married remained single, while 171,000 married couples who ordinarily would have been divorced stayed married.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By PRESTON GROVER WASHINGTON—There now arises a new and crying need for reorganization of the government, what with all the lack of cooperation among the departments in the matter of stamp covers.

Now anyone not knowing the importance of a stamp cover in the affairs of this nation should go at once to his neighborhood philatelist (accent the second syllable, as in "emphatic"). There he will learn that certain stamps are world dozens of thousands, that daily columns are written about them in the newspapers and that people stand on street corners, pockets bulging with precious envelopes.

There is nothing so dear to the heart of a philatelist as a stamp cover shipped from some far off place on the first plane that regularly carried mail.

So there is a breathless rush of philatelists to receive a letter on the first clipper to carry mail from Hong Kong to Macao via Manila and points west. But not all philatelists have friends in Hong Kong or Macao so they send letters and money to the United States consuls saying, in effect, please send me a letter on the first China Clipper soon to leave.

Part of the desire for such stamps is pure love, but to many it is a business since such stamps quickly increase in value. The combination of pure love and commercial acumen has simply swamped the consul at Hong Kong. He is so distressed, that he telegraphed the state department to stop the flow. Already, he protested there are more requests for stamps than he, his secretaries, or even extra help could lick.

Now of course there is no letter writing in connection with sending such stamps. Philatelists just want the stamp, canceled by the postal help at Hong Kong or Macao. If some lovelick blonde consulate secretary should stuff a note in one of these returning envelopes asking at random for some philatelist to "come and see me sometime," it would sim-

TEX'S TOPICS

It beats all how you can get by, if only you come right out and tell the people that you are going to fool them. . . . It is when you try to fool him without first telling him about it, that makes the average person burn up.

In this connection, we figure that one of the best lessons we ever learned was the one that most everybody is smarter and has more sense than we have. . . . Barnum said a long time ago that one is born every minute, but we think the time can be extended on that. . . . Things have changed a lot since Barnum made that famous utterance, and modern folk know their onions pretty well, don't ever kid yourself that they don't.

We are just building up to the point that we now are going to bring out in the open. . . . And that is that we know doggone well we are not fooling anybody with the remainder of this column. . . . You may as well skip it, if you are looking for something local or personal. . . . It is the kind of a column that a fellow gets out with the aid of his scissors when he is so busy that he can scarcely find time to play golf, let alone find time to work.

No foolin': Sir Walter Raleigh first introduced the potato into Europe in 1585. . . . Tea is used as a drink by a greater number of people than any other beverage in the world. . . . Four principal types of camera now are being used by most amateur photographers: box with fitted focus; folding with bellows and movable focus scale; reflex with focusing through ground glass; and miniature taking tiny pictures for enlargement.

Pipe smoking is believed to have originated in America. . . . In his coronation speech, King Henry IV of France wished "that every peasant in my country have two chickens in his pot on Sundays." . . . The heart of a normal adult pumps about one gallon of blood a minute. . . . Timber wolves sometimes have been broken and trained to draw sleds.

Even though there is a big demand for scrap iron, motorists ought not to crash red lights. . . . A radio comedian's wife is suing him for divorce, charging excessive cruelty. That seems a mild way of describing listening to those jokes. . . . "Ape Runs Amuck in Chicago Zoo." It was rather callous of that Indianapolis clergyman to revive discussion of the Darwin theory.

Guinea pigs can be eaten, but are not generally used in this manner. . . . France was the first country to recognize the United States of America as a nation. This occurred on Feb. 6, 1778. . . . Walls 50 feet deep and eight feet thick enclose the 50 vaults of the Bank of England. . . . Smoke obscures 14.2 per cent of Baltimore's sunlight.

People who stutter often usually have a larger vocabulary than those without an impediment in speech. . . . The name of God is omitted from the Book of Esther in the Bible. . . . In the Samoan islands, whole villages often pack up and go on excursion visits to other islands as far as 60 miles away. The trips often last six months.

Women are getting together for gas mask drills in London. During a raid, the mortality would be dreadful if one of the girls left the room. . . . A lazy judge would select Paul White-man as three of America's 10 Best-Dressed Men. . . . To mollify his wife, the shrewd hillybilly, returning from a session with a sick friend will bring home a lollipop.

Five cities in the United States have more than 1,000,000 population, according to the 1930 census. They are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, and Detroit. . . . The present period in geology is usually thought of as having begun when man appeared on the globe, and is often referred to as the Human Epoch. . . . Humps of the back of a camel are masses of fat, not water reservoirs, as is commonly believed.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY S. C. Pearson assumed the duties of secretary for the Business Men's association, of which Tom Rose was president.

Charlie Austin kayoed Speedy Moore in a boxing match at the skating rink.

Howard Zimmerman was quite ill of pneumonia after an attack of measles. . . . Jack Waistad was kept out of school by an attack of flu.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY On the 25th anniversary of the founding of a newspaper in Pampa, a story told of the career of L. L. Ladd, who in 1907 started the Pampa Crony, a weekly paper that later became the Pampa News.

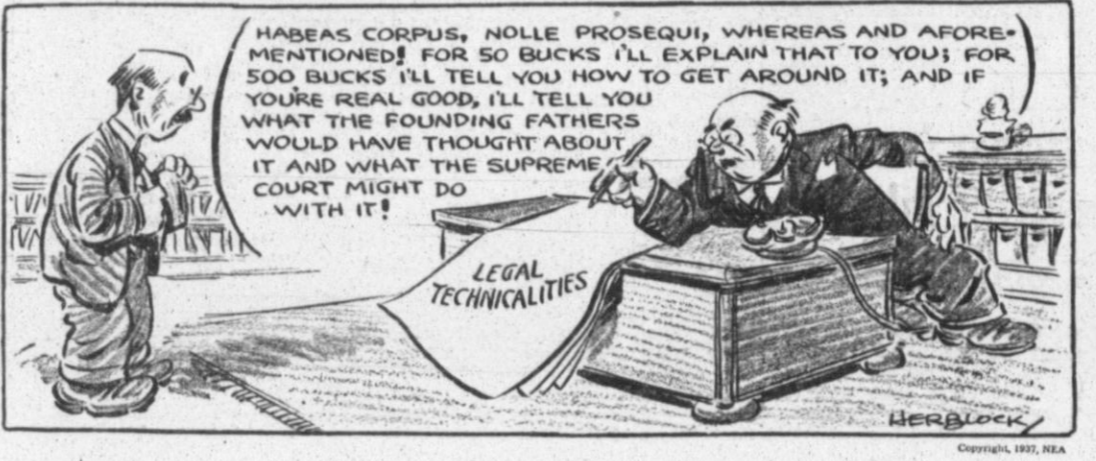

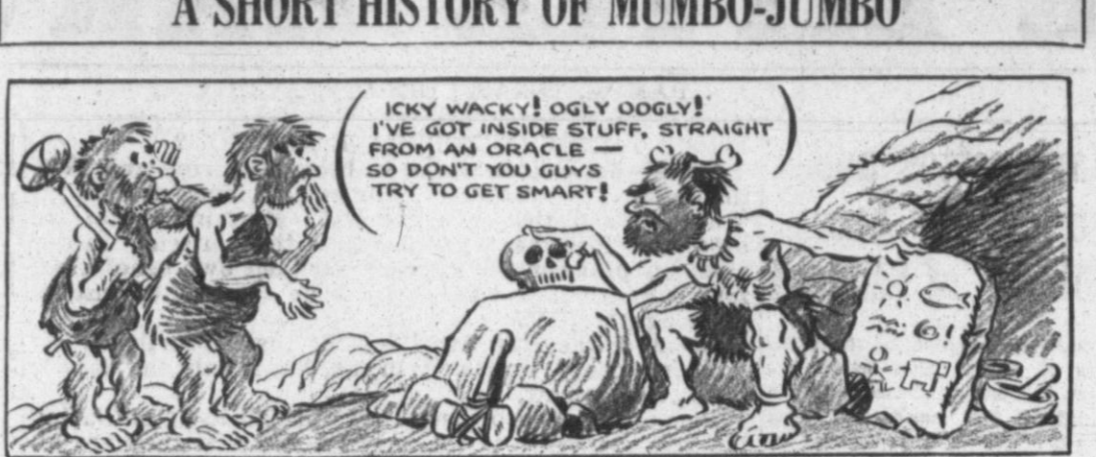

H. D. Bishop, assistant state attorney general, arrived to assist the grand jury in investigating asserted irregularities, in connection with road graveling contracts in precinct 2.

The bowling league finished its season, with the Schneider hotel team winners. Bill Holmes and Karl Cullum of that team were the two highest players.

ply be wasted on the Pacific air. It wouldn't raise the temperature of a true-love philatelist by a single degree, unless it was to make him impatient that she had not sent the note in a separate envelope, so he could have two first stamp covers.

Certainly when the government is reorganized there should be no such lack of coordination as has left the Hong Kong consulate so busy protecting missionaries and foreign trade that philately must wait.

A SHORT HISTORY OF MUMBO-JUMBO

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Convinced that winter is no longer lurking behind the house-eves, your favorite theatrical, literary, and screen stars have donned their tippets and away—darting thither and yon to places revealed only by the mail basket.

Estelle and LaRoy, who dance so divinely, write from Hollywood that they are at the Victor Hugo and won't be back until they make a picture for Walter Wanger. . . . Inquire after Don Voorhees and they'll tell you he's dawdling at his Jericho kennels, where he raises blue-ribbon Scotties. . . . Noel Coward, hoping to shake an attack of laryngitis, ducks down to Miami for a fortnight's sun-fete before hurrying to London for the coronation.

Mrs. Harrison Williams, rated the best-dressed woman in the world, is in Paris. . . . Even Helen Hayes is planning to desert her favorite street, Broadway, for a vacation abroad.

Howard Willard, with duffel-bag packed, hops off for Mexico with the avowed intention of losing himself in some half-baked cactus town. . . . He's the artist who paints (or rather makes) pictures out of old overalls. . . . His most noted canvas is a nocturnal scene painted on metal. . . . He wanted metal because it gave him moonlight a cold, metallic quality unobtainable in softer materials. . . . Withal, he is a moody fellow at times and solaces himself by playing the guitar, at which he is expert.

Maxine Elliott, one of the few actresses to have a theater named for her on Broadway, is at Cannes. Her villa (which the Duke of Windsor wanted to lease while he was still king) is a striking abode of African architecture. . . . Once it threatened to burn down, and would have, if a British battleship hadn't been anchored in the harbor. . . . The sailors quickly formed an impromptu firebrigade and put it out.

Otto Kruger departs for Los Angeles, and so does Bob Collier. . . . But the score is even, because Charlie Farrell and Phil Regan come in the same day. . . . Farrell will pause several days in Los Angeles. . . . Regan is here strictly to kill time and have fun.

Marc Connolly, with a new hit on Broadway, departs for Trinidad. . . . Lily Pons is in Detroit. . . . Eddie Dowling hops back from Bermuda and raises the pay of the entire cast of "Richard III." . . . Merle Oberon takes an automobile ride in London and ends in a hospital. . . . Guthrie McClintic has flown to the west coast.

Maxwell Anderson's Florida interlude continues at St. Augustine. . . . He hasn't written a single line of plays since leaving town, although he's been away three weeks. . . . However, that is only his way of keeping the faith. . . . Before leaving, this most prolific of current dramatists (he has three plays on Broadway now) took solemn oath not to write anything heavier than a two-syllable word. . . . nor has he.

'DATED' SLACKS

NEW YORK (AP)—Slacks, the wardrobe staple of many a woman who spent her 1936 vacation in camp or at the seashore, promise to be even more popular during the coming play season. No longer, however, will they be worn with last year's old sweaters and blouses. For this time they are matched or contrasted with both shirts and jackets of their own. Many of them are creased down the front and cuffed at the bottom like men's trousers.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

We haven't mentioned this before because we wanted to give the boy plenty of time to bring back a Boy Scout hat he took at the father and son banquet in the Red school building. We've waited more than a month for that boy to bring back Jack Crout's Boy Scout hat. Jack worked hard for that hat last summer; he's a Life Scout and he's a good Scout. In three months he'll be an Eagle Scout. He bought the hat with his own money with that Eagle ceremony in mind. He had a complete uniform until some boy took it. Some boy has it now because nobody would want a Scout hat except a boy.

Perhaps some boy has sold it to another, and if some boy has bought a Scout hat from another he ought to report it unless he knows. Maybe the boy that took it was a Scout and maybe he's well. Well, he's had more than six weeks to think it over, to repent, to become remorseful; he should know by now that that Boy Scout hat he took will sting and burn his conscience as long as his memory surges in his head.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—At fairly regular intervals the quiet neighborhood of Los Angeles' Fifth avenue—the 800 block—experiences the excitement of movie-making. The kids come from blocks around, and housewives saunter over.

The arrival of a sound truck at the Herbert E. Pelton house—844 Fifth avenue—tells the community that the Jones family is with it again. This cinema clan, seemingly destined to longevity like Charlie Chaplin's, Tarzan's and Philo Vance's, usually stays a day or so, during which the residents get the thrill of first-hand contact with the town's biggest industry.

Sol Wurtzel's minions selected the Pelton home, a pretty two-story Dutch Colonial dwelling, as exactly the sort of house the producer's Jones family would occupy. They chose it for its back and front yards as much as for its structure, for the Pelton home serves only for exteriors. When the Joneses are seen destined their home, they are cavorting in studio sets.

Only Mild Fads Mr. Pelton is an automobile distributor in Los Angeles. He and Mrs. Pelton and the two girls, who are in college, are only mild movie fans. They like pictures, but are choosy about what they see. Of course, after the studio put their own home on celluloid, they all want to see the Jones family. "Of course!" said Mrs. Pelton.

The movie people, including Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, Shirley Deane, George Ernest, Kenneth Howells, Florence Roberts, et al., have made a very good impression on Fifth avenue.

"They're very cordial," Mrs. Pelton said. "Of course, they're busy, and we all try not to be annoying. Have we ever appeared in the pictures?"

How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

THE HANGOVER

Excessive indulgence in alcohol is usually followed by what is described as a hangover.

Frequently, therefore, physicians are asked, "What is good for a hangover?"

To which question the only fitting answer is "Prevention"—that is, reasonable abstinence.

The individual who but occasionally indulges in alcohol is likely to recover spontaneously. In this sense, he will cure himself of his hangover. But there is no such thing as a "cure" for a hangover.

Alcohol is a toxic substance. The hangover is therefore the result of the intoxication. In addition the affected individual may suffer from the physical exhaustion resulting from his over-activity during the period of exhilaration. He may also suffer from acute malnutrition and during cold or very hot weather from exposure.

Treatment for a hangover must therefore be conserving and compensatory in nature. Rest in bed and sleep are essential requirements. If the individual finds it impossible to fall asleep, he may be treated with sedatives.

Usually the patient suffers from an acute gastritis, that is, an acute inflammation or irritation of the stomach and the intestinal tract. For this condition gastro-intestinal rest—that is, abstinence from food for a day or so—may be indicated. More commonly, however, the patient will benefit by taking a bland, liquid or soft diet.

Tomato juice and milk are two favorite foods in this condition. The intake of sugar usually also proves beneficial.

The hangover sufferer will benefit by a prolonged warm bath. Immersion in a tub for periods ranging from 15 to 45 minutes, repeated two or three times daily, will help him to recover.

The stimulating effects of coffee are well known and are frequently utilized in the treatment of a hangover. Coffee is also a diuretic and acting as a stimulant on the kidney function may help to eliminate the toxic products of the body.

But it is noted alcohol is no remedy for a hangover.

MAN'S LIFE STUDDED WITH SEVENS

BRESLAU, Neb. (AP)—William McCullough finds a lot of sevens in his life.

His 77th birthday fell on March 27, 1937, the seventh day of the week. He lives in School District 77, which includes Breslau, a name of seven letters, inhabited by seven families in seven houses. Thrown in for good measure is the fact that "William" has seven letters.

Oh, my, no! But it's interesting having them here.

Putting Papa The Jones family, typically American, includes a puttering papa, played by Jed Prouty. Putterers traditionally revel in back yards and garages. They dig in gardens, make holes in lawns, hammer at walls and tinker with the plumbing. All these things are done to the Pelton home, but that's all right because the studio not only does them to suit itself, but afterwards undoes them to suit the Peltons.

Mrs. Pelton thought it might be none of my business what the studio paid for its invasions of the Pelton privacy, but relented and said it was $100 a day. She thought it wouldn't last long, however.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. In what states are all motion picture houses closed on Sunday? H. F.

A. While many states have blue laws on their books, local option obtains in most of them, or some cities find ways of evading the actual letter of the law. Delaware, Maine and Vermont are listed as having no showing of motion pictures on Sunday.

Q. How many hours of sleep are needed by a boy 15 years old? O. E.

A. A boy 15 or 16 years old needs more sleep than any other time in his life after his infancy. He should have about nine to ten hours a day of sleep. He also needs more food at that time than at any other period of rapid development at that time of his life. Much of his future health depends on the care exercised through adolescence.

Q. Where was the former King Edward VIII when he broadcast his farewell address? R. M. K.

A. At Windsor castle.

Q. Who is president of the NVA? W. H.

A. Ted Healy is president of National Variety Artists, Inc.

Q. Where was Old Jewry and why was it so named? C. R. K.

A. Old Jewry was so named on account of its being one of the quarters of London inhabited by the Jews in early times, much of the property in the neighborhood being in their names in the 13th century. It commenced north out of Poultry street at North 43rd to Gresham street and included Cheap Ward and Coleman Ward, being known as Jewry Lane in the town of Elizabeth. There were many workers in glass and steel as well as artificers in precious metals in this locality.

Q. How many hospitals are there exclusively for negroes? W. R.

A. There are approximately 120 negro hospitals in the United States.

Q. Is there a memorial to Captain Cook? W. H.

A. On Kaealakeua Bay, Hawaii Island, stands an obelisk commemorating Captain Cook, who was slain near that point by natives. In 1928, a bronze tablet was dedicated in his honor and placed just below the surface of the water to mark the exact spot where he fell.

Q. In what role did Martini make his debut at the Metropolitan? A. F.

A. Nino Martini made his Metropolitan opera debut as The Duke in Rigoletto, Dec. 28, 1933.

Q. Why are Brussels sprouts so called? F. H.

A. The name was given because they were originally cultivated in Belgium.

This, That and Everything

By WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

Nothing, it seems, will make a fellow self-conscious so quickly as an unexpected fall. If you observe a person who falls you will find that the first thing he will do when he hits the ground is to look in every direction to see if anyone saw him.

It is a strange quirk in one's psychology that will cause him to become suddenly self-conscious, and that to such an extent that he wonders if anybody saw him even before he thinks about whether or not he is hurt.

Regardless of how unavoidable the fall is, the victim always experiences a feeling of guilt, and the thought uppermost in mind is to escape being seen by anyone. No when you analyze the psychology of this falling business, you find it to be a strange mystery indeed. One does not hesitate to relate the experience of falling—it just seems that he loathes being caught in the act.

The other day I saw a fellow leaning back in a chair when suddenly the chair skidded out from under him, and down he came. Despite the evident fact that he was hurt in the fall, he insisted on changing the subject when asked if he was hurt. Human nature is funny thing.

So They Say:

I have a new idea for a new invention. It is for a shampoo device because I do not like the way my mother hurts my neck when she washes my hair.

—David Houghton Sudeth, 8-year-old inventor.

Dietary, health, and better living conditions, all the result of education, are the reasons why the present generation is taller and sturdier.

—Dr. A. B. Chenoweth, professor of hygiene, University of Cincinnati

Sidown strikes in defiance of legislation in the lofty seats of high finance. The first was a strike of investment bankers, the second of utilities against the holding company law, and the third was against the Wagner Labor act.

—Judge Ferdinand Pecora, New York.

The Nazis are trying to build up an army in the United States. Two hundred thousand are organized now and there will be a million before the year is over.

—Congressman Samuel Dickstein, New York.

EARTH, LADEN WITH SELENIUM, BRINGS DISEASE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Selenium was what you if you don't watch out!

That's what Chemists Maurice Smith, K. W. Franke and B. J. Westfall of the United States Public Health Service have discovered in recent experiments.

Human beings get selenium from plants and animals raised on soil containing that heavy metal. In three northwestern states it was found that 92 per cent of the persons in 111 families on selenium-bearing soil had traces of it in their bodies.

Also in the group was a high percentage with diseased fingernails, intestinal disorders, disease skin and several cases of arthritis the chemists reported.

But there is comfort in the fact selenium is prevalent in only few isolated soil patches of the northwest.

NEW ENGINES SPEED UP NAVY SHIPS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Newly developed Diesel engines are expected by naval officials to enable supply and auxiliary ships to keep up with the speedy dreadnaught now under construction.

The engines, under construction for the past year, will be ready for tests by June 1.

Naval officers also emphasize the importance of Diesel engines in speeding up the U. S. merchant marine a valuable ally in war time.

Familiar Faces Are Seen At Old Berths In Practice

Infield workout on a freshly smoothed diamond featured the practice session of Pampa's newly organized ball club yesterday afternoon at Road Runner park. In a hitting practice, the boys banged the ball to all corners of the park.

Announcements that Fred Brickell would arrive Wednesday to take over management of the club was received with much joy. Brickell is a great ball player and a "prince of a fellow." He was a former Road Runner manager.

The rail birds, and there was a gang of them on hand yesterday, watched the infield practice with much interest. They saw Lloyd Summers, younger but heavier brother of Al Summers, peg the ball to bases in mid-season form. Floyd Lisle, veteran receiver, didn't exercise.

On first base was the elongated Lefty Cox, reaching far and wide with his huge mitt. The big fellow also showed some terrific hitting in batting practice.

Al Summers at second base was his old self, roaming far and wide after hot grounders and getting away snap throws in fine style. Ben McLary, last season's shortstop, had an assistant in Al Stock of Los Angeles who appeared at the field Friday afternoon and wanted a chance to show his stuff.

Sam Scalling, a former Road Runner who finished last season with the House of David, and Carl Beason, last year with Oklahoma City, were at the hot corner. Both are outfielders "by nature" but can take their place in the infield. Scalling's hand, injured in a car wreck a month ago, handicapped his throwing but it is hoped the injured member will respond to treatment. Beason has a mighty throwing arm.

Hershel McNabb, veteran outfielder, and Eddie Sain, former Road Runner catcher, were shagging flies in the outfield along with Keyser and Nicholson, Little Road Runners, and Riley.

Moundsmen working during batting practice were Carl Stewart and Bill Hardin, both old timers with Pampa teams. Mays, a new comer, and Harvey Hutton, former Coltex Gasser, were also on the mound.

Workouts are held every afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Training Camp News

TYLER.—Hal Schumacher, New York Giant pitcher, really believes in taking a strenuous turn in the outfield. Prince Hal chased a fly ball right into the fence yesterday and bruised his leg badly.

SARASOTA.—Joe Stripp, third baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is the latest addition to the club's imposing hospital list. An injured right shoulder has developed into a serious backache.

DALLAS.—The New York Yankees claim the backgrounds for hitting in their recent games are the reason they are hitting so well. They have been giving Texas fans the slugging show of the year with 35 hits and 27 runs in two games.

TYLER.—The barnstorming Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants came here from Baton Rouge for a game today. Cleveland leads the Giants in the spring series, four games to three.

LEESBURG, Fla.—One step farther along the homeward path, Cincinnati's Reds came here today for a clash with the Rochester Redwings, of which the Red's manager, Warren C. Giles, formerly was president.

BISBEE, Ariz.—Vern Kennedy and John Rigney will chunk for the White Sox against the Cubs today, opposing Larry French and Clay Bryant.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—Manager Jimmy Wilson selected Wayne Lanaster, rookie southpaw, as the Philie's starting pitcher for the 1937 National League season opener against the Boston Bees at Boston April 19.

BOB KAMRATH IS SENSATION OF NET MEET

HOUSTON, April 6 (AP)—The "Bitty" Grant-Wilmer Allison tennis feud was the center of interest today at the seventh annual River Oaks tourney despite 15 other third round matches.

Grant, defending champion and top seeded, was paired with M. E. Lapland, University of Texas star, and Allison had Bobbie Decker of Miami, Fla. on his hands. Allison was seeded No. 5.

Interest was in the question of whether Bitty and Wilmer would get together in the finals again. Allison, speaking for himself, said he doubted it.

The surprise package everybody was talking about was young Bobby Kamrath, Austin sensation who walloped Bobby Allen of Houston and Max Campbell, Rice Institute co-captain, yesterday. His performance furnished the dazzle for the first and second rounds that otherwise were the simple process of weeding out.

Bobby was paired in the third round with Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles, national clay courts champion and the tourney's second seeded player.

Today's matches included: Martin Buxby, Houston, vs. E. Holden, Houston; Joe Hunt, Los Angeles, vs. Bobby Curtis, Houston; Joe Lucia, Houston, vs. Junior Coen, Kansas City; Wilbur Hess, Houston, vs. Hubert Moore, Edmond, Okla.; Walter Seator, San Francisco, vs. Seary Ferguson, Dallas; Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, Fla., vs. Arthur Trum, Dallas, and Jake Hess, Houston, vs. David Peden, Houston.

MONTANEZ IS VICTOR OVER LOU AMBERS

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Pedro Montanez, of Puerto Rico, was the unofficial lightweight champion of the world today.

He earned this title, such as it is, by beating Champion Lou Ambers of Herkimer, N. Y., in a 10-round non-title fight at Madison Square Garden last night.

While from the start it was assured Ambers would save his crown, it looked for a while as if he wouldn't have a head to put it on.

Though he won the last four rounds and had Montanez hanging on at the final bell, the Herkimer hurricane was just a breeze for Montanez in the first six rounds.

Montanez dropped the champion with a hard right cross in the first round and kept pounding effectively at long range until Ambers discovered he could get nowhere by fighting at close quarters. But by the time the champion discovered it, Montanez's lead was too great.

By his showing last night, Montanez sewed up a shot at the title and probably a share of one of the biggest gates of the coming outdoor season. Forgetting Montanez's early margin and howling for Ambers at the end, the crowd of 17,352 remained to boo the unanimous decision.

50 Rookies May Be Carried on League Roster

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP)—It looks like boom year for American league rookies.

With the opening of the season two weeks away, 50 or more new men may be carried on the eight rosters up to May 15, with a chance at least 30 will remain after the date on which each major league club is limited to 23 players.

The Detroit Tigers may bob up with a flock of new faces. George Tebbets has appealed to Manager Mickey Cochrane as a catcher, and Eddy York, the slugger from Milwaukee, may get the third base assignment over Marvin Owen.

The Boston Red Sox survivors probably will be Catcher Gene Deaulets, a newcomer, Pitcher Archie McKain and Second baseman Bobby Doerr, who looms as a coming star.

Bob Feller, the sensational kid hurler on whom Cleveland Indian fans count so much, heads the list of Tribe newcomers.

METHODIST SOFTBALL TEAM TO WORK OUT

Softballers at the First Methodist church have decided to start off the 1937 season in a big way tomorrow evening at 5:30 o'clock when they will gather on the diamond south of Harvester field and take on any other church team or players from all churches combined if one church doesn't have a full team on hand.

The Methodists are scheduled to hold a workout this afternoon in preparation for the game tomorrow. Any church with a team is urged to have players on the diamond as soon after 5:30 o'clock as possible, or call Charlie Ward in advance and accept the challenge.

Several church teams are being organized, it is believed, and a league will be organized if enough interest is shown.

'Tots' Suggested As Name For Pampa Baseball Team

Another coined name for Pampa's baseball team arrived in the mail this morning when T. L. Sirman suggested the name "Pampa Tots."

Write Mr. Sirman, "If Pampa is at the Top-Of-Texas, why not call the team the 'Tots'?"

The contest will close at midnight on April 10 which is Saturday night. Have you sent in your suggestion to the sports editor of THE NEWS for the team? If your suggestion has already been submitted, it does not mean that you have lost a chance to win one of the prizes totaling $32, offered. At the close of the contest the committee will decide on a name. If several persons have entered that name, the winners will be decided by drawing names at a set game within a few weeks.

With Freddy Brickell arriving tomorrow to manage the club, action is expected. More strength should be here during the week. Definite date of the opening game of the season will be made within the next day or two, will be either Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon of next week.

In the mail today were many new names and some that have already been submitted. The new batch included:

- "Pampa Caprocks" from J. F. Smith; "Pampa Dynamoes" from Lefty Thomas; "Gray Majors" from Orville Heiskell; "Grayco Hurlers" by Mrs. H. H. Heiskell; "Pampa Gogetters" from W. R. Hallmark; "Pampa Texans" from L. S. Smith; "Pampa Oilers" from Walter L. Parker.

"Pampa Plainsmen" from Mrs. W. L. Parker; "Pampa Spudders" by Frances Catts; "Pampa Pals" from Edward Smith; "Pampa Gray Sox" by Wiley Christopher of Laketon; "Pampa Plainsmen" from D. C. Burns; "Pampa Junkers" from Roy Holt; "Pampa Raiders" from Alph West of Miami; "Pampa Pirates," from Mrs. H. H. Keyser; "Pampa Mavericks" from Tom Keyser; "Pampa Hornets" from Doug Keyser; "Pampa Badgers" from Mace Keyser; "Pampa Panthers" from Pearl Keyser.

Braddock Begins Chopping Wood

STONE LAKE, Wis., April 6 (AP)—James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, took up the life of a woodsman today.

The titleholder started the slow process of conditioning in the rugged outdoors of a $50,000 private estate on Little Sissabagama lake, in the wilds of the northern Wisconsin woods.

Braddock's camp is six miles from the closest highway and 24 miles from the nearest movie, so all he can do is to devote his time to conditioning himself for his championship ring engagement with Joe Louis, in Chicago June 22.

Braddock plans to plunge immediately into his five weeks of roughing, it, chopping down trees, hiking over the wooded trails and otherwise living an outdoor life. At the end of five weeks he will establish a training camp close to Chicago to sharpen his boxing.

Track-Field Meet Planned For Thursday

Harvester track and field prospects will get their first trial at competition Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Wheeler and one other nearby school will send teams here for an impromptu meet at Harvester field.

Coaches J. C. Prejan and Orlus Mitchell have been working their boys every day the weather has been suitable but they are still unable to decide the events best suited for the boys. They figured that the trials would be the best way to select starters in the various events.

Albert Ayer is the only veteran back from last season. Several newcomers show promise but weight will be lacking.

In between sprints, Coach Mitchell has been working his backfield men at passing, punting and in pass defense.

Practice is held every afternoon at 3 o'clock.

JACK SUTAK DEVELOPS PEG SLINGING 210,000 GOOBERS

DENVER (AP)—Sutak probably would make more money tossing peanuts than baseballs but the "big league itch" has got him. He is off to the training camps.

Sutak (Sutak—two sacks, no sales tax—with Sutak) can throw a 5-cent bag of peanuts from the basketball floor to the second gallery of the city auditorium and land it in the lap of a customer.

He charges 5 cents for the peanuts and a nickel extra for putting a curve on his pitch.

The curve is as perfect a one as ever cut the the corner of home plate. Sutak, who says he has no first name (the boys call him Jack), would have you believe the scouts sized him up when they saw him pitching peanut bags to the top row of the Denver sports stadium last football season. Probably they saw him in a Colorado college baseball uniform last spring.

The peanut vending business will lose a colorful figure if he makes the good with Winston-Salem in the Piedmont league, but baseball will hear some wisecracks.

"Nuts to you for a nickel," says he to sports audiences. "Delivered by air express, collect."

At the A. A. U. basketball tournament in the city auditorium his biggest profits come from the second gallery, but Sutak never left the main floor.

"It's tagged for the gent in the black suit," he would shout as he shot a fast one upward.

Invariably the sack of peanuts would land in the customer's lap.

He Lost a Nickel—Once. Once there was a customer who held his hat over his face.

"Hit it," he said.

Sutak was a little slow with his pitch and the customer pulled his hat away to see who was causing the delay. The bag of nuts hit him on the nose.

Customers throw nickels and dimes from the top gallery to the main floor.

"In three years I lost only one nickel," Sutak claims.

Frequently he catches a nickel in each hand simultaneously.

There are about 35 peanuts in a bag. Sutak sold 6,000 bags, 210,000 peanuts, at the week-long A. A. U. tournament.

"Those 6,000 pitches put my arm in good shape," he avers.

After this workout he left for his tryout with the Winston-Salem team, a Detroit Tiger farm.

Rangers and Red Wings Will Meet In Final Series

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, defending their world professional championship, and the New York Rangers, third place club which staged a brilliant comeback, meet tonight in the opening game of the series for the historic Stanley cup.

A capacity crowd of 16,000 is assured when this pair meets in their only New York playoff game. Because the circus has a prior claim on Madison Square Garden, the remaining games of the three-out-of-five series must be played at Detroit.

Mississippi farm income in 1936 exceeded $300,000,000.

ALLISON RETIRED FROM BIG TIME TENNIS, HE CLAIMS

HOUSTON, April 6 (AP)—Wilmer Allison, Davis cup player so many times he has to use his pencil before giving the exact number, said today he had definitely retired from big-time tennis.

"I'm too old (he's 32) and I've taken up golf," said the former national champion in singles, doubles, mixed and intercollegiate competition. "Besides, I thought it was about time for me to give the United States team a chance to bring the Davis Cup back across the water."

Asked what he thought about the United States' chances of winning Davis Cup honors this year, Allison said:

"You know this golf is a great game. It's tough, though. I mean it takes a long time to master. But I like it. Played 27 holes today."

Allison was paired today in a third-round match with Bobbie Decker of Miami, Fla., in the River Oaks event. He was defeated the last two years in the finals by Bryan "Bitty" Grant, third ranking star in the nation and top seeded in the tournament.

"If you want to see my final match in this year's tournament you'd better come out today," Allison said. "Next Sunday when they are playing the finals I'll be shooting golf."

Allison, member of the Davis Cup team last year, hadn't played in several months until he entered the tournament here. He suffered an injury last May in cup play with Grant and has not fully recovered.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Lon Warneke was slated to go the full nine inning route against the Boston Bees today. Cardinal manager Frank Frisch said Dizzy Dean will get a full game workout against Cincinnati Wednesday and Brother Paul will take his turn Thursday in the Brooklyn Dodger game.

SAN ANTONIO.—Mel Trotter and Al Thomas of the St. Louis Browns divided pitching honors against the Kansas City Blues today in the second contest of a two-game series.

PRESCOTT, Ariz.—Hugh R. McMullen, former catcher for the New York Giants, will manage the Pittsburgh Pirates' farm at Paducah, Ky. He was named yesterday by President Bill Benswanger.

SARASOTA, Fla.—Bob (Lefty) Grove, who has had but three innings of competition during the current citrus campaign, will face the Brooklyn Dodgers today in the Boston Red Sox training camp finale.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—The Boston Bees are scheduled to attempt the difficult task of stinging the St. Louis Cardinals. The Bees haven't scored a run in the last three days and 25 innings.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Tommy Bridges, the Detroit Tigers' leading pitcher over a three-year span, was named for his first start in more than two weeks today after apparent recovery from a muscle strain. He'll pitch against the Washington Senators.

RISKS TITLE. LOS ANGELES, April 6 (AP)—Henry Armstrong, the black emperor of featherweights, risks his reign tonight in a 10-round bout with Pete DeGrasse, Mohawk Indian. Back from a triumphal invasion of New York rings, the little negro is meeting a willing puncher who can take it.

Sam Breadon, St. Louis Cardinals' owner, works out with the Gas House Gang at Daytona, Fla.

PWA ENGINEERS HARNESSE SEWAGE GAS. WASHINGTON (AP)—Engineers of the Public Works Administration have succeeded in converting sewage gas into motive power for generating plants.

Three such projects, located at Coney Island, N. Y., Peoria, Ill., and Durham, N. C., are in operation.

PWA consulting engineers estimate at least $25,000 annually will be saved at the Peoria project. The sewage gas there had been burned as waste.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIEZF.

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Yale is counting on a back named Al Wilson from Sharples, W. V., as a running mate for All-American Clint Frank this fall.

Cosch America Ducky Pond says Wilson is going to be another Red Cap. Only reason you didn't hear more of him last season was because the turf in the Yale bowl wasn't suited to his peculiar close-to-the-ground style of running.

This will be attended to pronto. Under the pretext the bowl needs a general going over, the Eis will plough it up this summer and lay down a brand of sod that will be right down Wilson's alley.

Then they expect to sit back, turn the kid loose and watch him gallop with that pigskin.

This announcement isn't authorized by New Haven but it's the real McCoy.

Pedro Montanez will use some of the dough he got last night to open a bar in Harlem.

Yankees almost ran into a small riot in Tallahassee the other day when several dozen school kids almost broke down the left field fence in getting in to see Gehrig and DiMaggio.

Latest Kentucky Derby odds make Brooklyn, the E. R. Bradley colt, the favorite at 6 to 1.

(This corner still likes Brooklyn's stablemate, Billionaire) . . . Those who know say Gus Mancuso never has been given enough credit for the skillful way he handles the Giant pitchers.

Carved representations of human fingerprints have been found in ruins on an island off the coast of France which are believed to be 30,000 years old.

U. S. GOVERNMENT BUYS 16,697 WESTINGHOUSE REFRIGERATORS ON BASIS OF LOWEST 10-YEAR COST

U. S. Public Works Administration Awards World's Largest Single Refrigerator Contract

When the Government buys refrigerators for its low-rent housing projects, low operating cost is essential. Bids are based on initial price PLUS cost of electricity for ten years. On that basis, the Westinghouse Refrigerator won against all competing bidders. Because of the Westinghouse efficiency, Westinghouse could submit a lower over-all bid, even though four others quoted slightly lower initial prices for refrigerators.

It's 700 Miles Until April 27

More than 700 miles—all of Switzerland, half of France and Austria—still separated Mrs. Wallis Simpson and the Duke of Windsor after their latest moves to new abodes, as the above map shows. Mrs. Simpson left Cannes and went to the Chateau de Candé, in the Loire Valley, near Monts, France. The Duke left Enzelsfeld, 20 miles from Vienna, for a villa near Gmundsen, Austria. Inset maps give close-up views. Mrs. Simpson's divorce becomes final on April 27.

A Dime Store for Her Thoughts

Whatever Eleanor Young may be thinking of these days it's a pretty safe bet the thoughts of the New York and Newport debutante aren't very far from young Woolworth Donohue, who glances pleasantly from the inset photograph. Miss Young is reported to have captivated the grandson of the Woolworth chain store fortune founder. In Palm Beach, where these pictures were taken, the couple were seen much together.

Ford Strikers At K. C. Rest

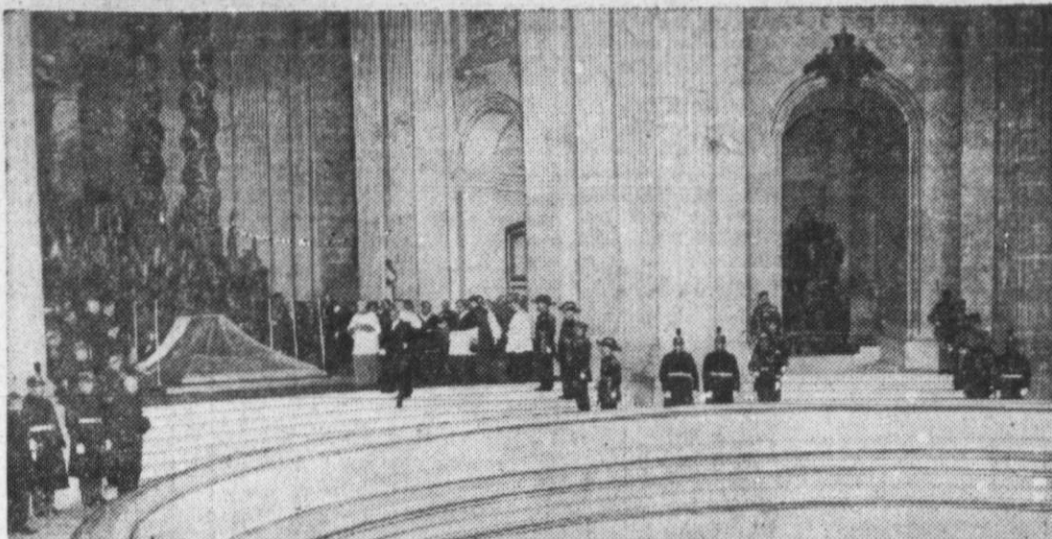

Ford auto assembly plant strikers in Kansas City started their sit-down on 20 minutes' notice, which left some of their regular tasks undone. As a result, piles of cotton intended for cushions became couches for idle employees in the upholstery department.

This photo shows how the sit-downers made the most of the situation. It was the first strike in the Ford auto industry.

When Foch Joined Other Heroes in Les Invalides

UNDER the huge dome of Les Invalides, in Paris, the body of Marshal Ferdinand Foch was placed with other great heroes of France as these pictures were taken. The upper photograph shows part of the throng, which included President Lebrun and the nation's leading statesmen, at the casket before it was placed in the sarcophagus. This mausoleum, between the columns at upper right, shows a group of poilus, uniformed as when Marshal Foch commanded them. They are bearing an effigy of the marshal. The dark object in the lower right-hand corner of the same picture is the tomb of Napoleon. The photograph at left shows the six French soldiers carrying the casket of Marshal Foch to its last resting place in the sarcophagus.

His daily program apparently undisturbed by the furor over proposed Supreme Court changes which would affect his position, Pierce Butler, conservative member of the court, quietly starts his daily stroll in Washington in this photo, one of his latest. Justice Butler, 71 years old March 17, started his career in Minnesota as a farm boy.

As Hair Flew in Picket Battle

The camera here has caught the full force of picketing ardor and shows a striker enthusiastically yanking at the hair of a non-union worker who was trying to break through the picket lines around a garment factory in Kansas City. Police interference helped but zealous clashes like the one shown above were frequent as strikers fought to keep plants idle.

Flaming Death Trap for Seven

Spanish Rebels on Defensive

Following up an attack which forced Rebels from Alcaracejos and saved valuable mercury mines at Almaden, Spanish Loyalist troops drove from Pozoblanco and Villanueva to trap the fleeing enemy at Villaharta, just outside Cordoba. Loyalists immediately renewed their drive on Jadrake, north of Guadalajara, started a new campaign for Burgos from the Santander area, and another on Motril on the south. Rebels suffered minor setbacks before Madrid. Meanwhile, Rebel revolts and unrest were reported at La Linea, Malaga, Tetuan and Tarifa.

Running Away With Atlantic Title

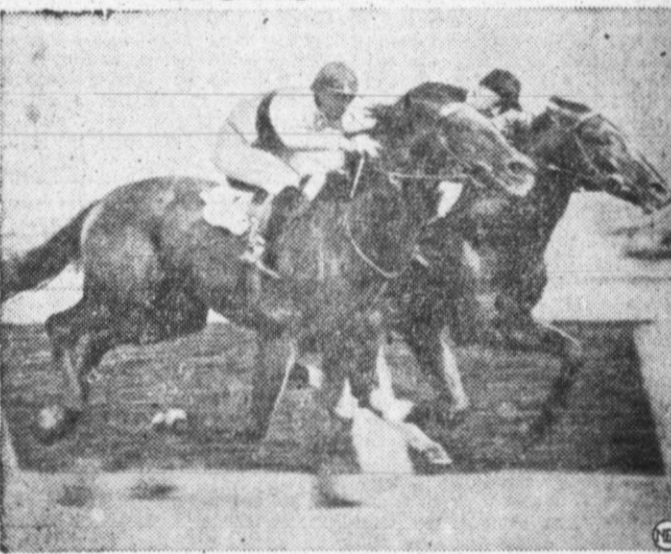

The long blue ribband that symbolizes speed supremacy of the Atlantic flutters from the mast of the French liner Normandie, seen hot-footing it toward the home port at La Havre after wresting the speed record from the Queen Mary on an eastward voyage. The Normandie crossed from Ambrose Light to Bishop's Rock, Eng., in 4 days, 4 minutes, 23 seconds.

Paris Red Undaunted by 'Headache'

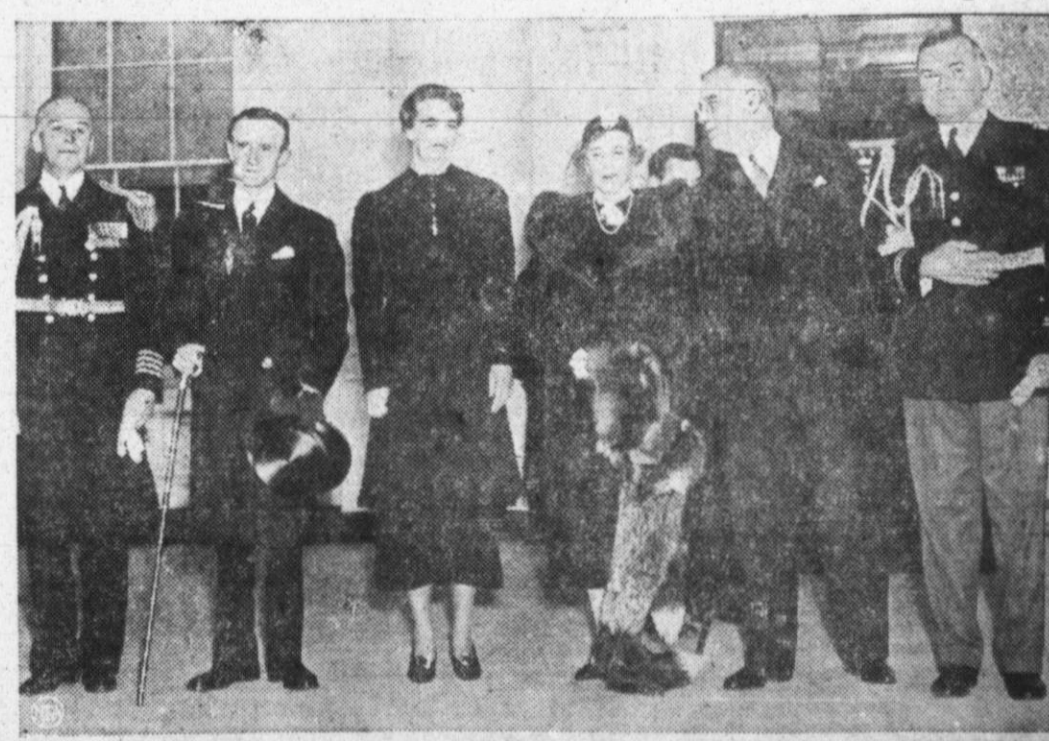

Wounded in the rioting at Clichy, Paris suburb, a French Communist with bandaged head perches on a crumbling barricade, lifts clenched fist in the air and daunts defiance of the Fascist legions of Colonel Casimir de la Rocque. Four rioters were killed and 250 injured in the Clichy battle.

HORSE FLIES

It looks as if these horses, Prince Quex, nearest camera, and Peerage, were really and truly "flying down the home stretch" as the camera catches all eight hoofs off the ground. Peerage won the race which was run at Melbourne, Australia.

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

REDUCED
Informed circles report that retail automobile prices will not be lifted until the 1938 models are introduced. This despite the fact that direct labor costs have spurted from $138 to $150 a car. It also isn't to be overlooked that raw material prices are higher.

Because of this knowledge motor shares aren't in favor with stock buyers who assume positions for a period of three to six months. In their way of thinking profit margins are being cut down. Chrysler is cited as an example. For 1936 the corporation netted a profit of $58 a car. Since the turn of the year the margin has been reduced some twenty-five per cent.

CAUTION
Your correspondent has been informed that stock salesmen are sweeping through middle western cities urging people to purchase shares of brewery companies. The "build-up" is based on the fact that higher wages paid workers will increase the sales volume of beer. This—it is said—will allow for fancy dividend payments to stockholders.

The story as presented isn't entirely true. Beer trade insiders who report that sales are larger but that the margin of profit aren't. Malt, hops and corn prices average some 98 cents a barrel of beer higher than they did last year. Payroll and distributing costs are also above last year's average. In all, informed people say that 1937 brewery company earnings will show a modest increase over the 1936 income results.

SQUEEZED
While the stock market acts slightly the shares of Union Bag & Paper have spurted to new high levels. Those close to the management say that because of decreased operating costs plus increased sales volume the margin of this year's profits will outrun those of last year.

The inside story is that a certain professional assumed a large short interest in the shares. Friends of the management don't like this man. With the company's business volume in favor of the shares, a short squeeze started. As a result this trader and his followers find life miserable.

INVESTIGATION
Well founded reports are that the Securities Exchange Commission has finally decided to investigate the recent activity in the Canada Dry Ginger Ale shares. A questionnaire was mailed to certain stock brokers. It seeks to learn the details of all transactions from January 2 up to March 18. In that period the price of the shares spurted from 27 1/2 to a high of 37 5/8. As usual spokesmen for the S. E. C. refuse to comment. While the Canada Dry shares were running wild your correspondent exclusively disclosed that Coca-Cola insiders knew nothing of a pending merger with Canada Dry. That was the hot tip making the rounds of the financial district. The S. E. C. is investigating to discover whether or not the shares spurted because of a professional market play.

BETTER
Average steel production continues to run along at the 1929 peak levels. But trade insiders say that corporations are doing much better in the way of earnings. For example the current steel trade's capacity is about 5,000,000 tons greater than in 1929. Also, capital setups are expected to better those of 1929.

DOUBT
As of March 31 Marion Steam Shovel preferred dividend accumulations amounted to $47.25 a share. Insiders say that nothing will be done this year to take care of these arrearages. The inside story is that the management is playing cautiously. It wants to see how earnings will run through 1937 before making any such move.

It is confidently reported that manufacturing costs are increasing. Because of this there is uncertainty surrounding the company's selling policies. It may be that this year's earnings will not run as high as those of last year. At the best preferred dividend accumulations will not be cleared until some time next year.

TIRES
Well posted brokerage circles report that investment managers have been quickly accumulating tire company shares in the recession. With the new price increase offsetting the wage increases, the profit margin on tires continues large. There's proof. Last year the Good-year strike closed the plant for a five week period. Yet the profit for 1936 was larger than that of the previous year. In spite of current and pending labor troubles similar

Q. Where was the last Indian fight in Brown county and when?
A. According to M. R. Cheatham, then in the Ranger company which engaged in the fight, the last Indian fight in that section was in 1874 at the point where Highway 7 crosses Clear Creek, on land owned by Cheatham. The Indians, having stolen some horses, were pursued and overtaken, and in the fight three were killed and taken to Brownwood, where two were hanged from a pecan tree on the banks of the slough, and one was fastened upright on a mule that was led around the public square.

Q. What was the immediate cause of the outbreak of hostilities between Mexico and the United States in 1846?
A. When Gen. Zachary Taylor left his camp near Corpus Christi in the spring of 1846 and advanced with a small force to the Rio Grande, he was ordered by the Mexican general to retire beyond the Nueces. Taylor refused to retire, skirmishing resulted, and on May 8 a serious battle took place near Brownsville, followed four days later by the United States declaring war on Mexico.

Q. In what way was King Fisher killed?
A. While a deputy sheriff at Uvalde, he went to Austin on business in March, 1884, and there met his friend, the notorious Ben Thompson. Thompson took a few drinks and declared his intention of going to San Antonio to settle an old grudge with "the San Antonio gang." Fisher went along to try to keep his friend out of trouble. Two years before Thompson had killed Jack Harris in Harris' theater. Going to this theater, Fisher accompanying, Thompson called for Billy Simms, who had succeeded Harris as the theater manager and in the brawl that followed Simms' appearance, both Thompson and Fisher were shot to death. Who killed them was never definitely determined.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with Major Hoople

60 JAKES GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH HAS SHRUNK TO A TROUPE OF PERFORMING FLEAS—HMF—JUST ANOTHER HOOPLE APPEARANCE THAT TURNS OUT TO BE A TOY BALLOON, EH?—STEP THIS WAY, LA-DIES AND GENTLEMEN!—THE HOOPLE FLEA CIRCUS—HA-HA—WELL—A HOOPLE OUGHT TO GET ALONG ON EVEN TERMS WITH FLEAS—IF THE FLEAS CAN STAND IT, I KNOW JAKE CAN!

INDEED! HAVE A CARE, MADAM, HOW YOU CAST SCOFFING ASPERSIONS AT THE NAME OF HOOPLE! JMF—AS PROMOTER OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST EXTRAVAGANZA—THE NAME OF HOOPLE HAS BEEN ASSOCIATED WITH THAT OF P. T. BARNUM—AND JOHN RINGLING—

EGAD, THAT WILL STILL HER DEROGATORY INNUENDOES

KEEP YOUR GUARD UP, MAJOR—SHE'S COMING BACK AT YOU—

OUT OUR WAY

WHY YOU'VE BROKEN THE LEGS OFF THE DRESSER!

YEAH—WELL, TH' DRAWER STUCK—AN' I HAD MY FEET AGAINST 'EM

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

THIMBLE THEATRE Starring POPEYE

HERE I WAS FEELIN' HAPPY LIKE AS IF THEY WASN'T NO TROUBLE ON EARTH 'N' LOOK WHAT I RUNS INTO

WHAS THE TROUBLE HERE?

NOTHING THAT WOULD INTEREST YOU, MISTER—IM JUST A THIEF AND HE'S TAKING ME TO JAIL

WHAD YA STEAL, A PIANNO OR SUMPIN'?

TO STARVE BEFORE I'D EAT A PIANNO

COME ON, GAL

JUS' A MINUTE, OFFICER, I WANT TO TALK TO THIS GAL

HUNGRY, EH? AN' YA JUS' STOLE THINGS TO EAT?

OF COURSE

I STOLE FRUIT FROM OLD WHISKERS' STORE AROUND THE CORNER—I HAD NO RIGHT TO DO IT—BUT—WELL, SOMETHING I THINK I HAD NO RIGHT TO EVEN LIVE

I'M AFRAID IT WILL BE MORE THAN A FINE, WHISKERS IS AS MEAN AS THEY COME—HELL INSIST ON A SENTENCE

WISH I WAGN'T A COP

THIS HURTS

Shylock's Pound of Flesh

I'D LIKE T'GET A PEEK AT WHATS LAYIN' 'BOUT—AH, THERES A CLEARING WHERE I CAN LOOK OUT?

TH' COUNTRY'S GETTIN' ROUGH—TH' TREES LOOK STRANGE, BY GOSH TH' WHOLE LANDSCAPE'S UNDERGOIN' A CHANGE!

ALLEY OOP

AS MUCH WALKIN' AS I'VE BEEN DOIN' TODAY, I OUGHTA GIT SOMEWHERE SOON, I'D SAY!

TH' COUNTRY'S GETTIN' ROUGH—TH' TREES LOOK STRANGE, BY GOSH TH' WHOLE LANDSCAPE'S UNDERGOIN' A CHANGE!

A Change in Scenery

I'D LIKE T'GET A PEEK AT WHATS LAYIN' 'BOUT—AH, THERES A CLEARING WHERE I CAN LOOK OUT?

TH' COUNTRY'S GETTIN' ROUGH—TH' TREES LOOK STRANGE, BY GOSH TH' WHOLE LANDSCAPE'S UNDERGOIN' A CHANGE!

WASH TUBS

WELL, JOE I GUESS OUR BETS OFF. THE FIGHT SEEMED TO BE A DRAW.

LIKE HECK IT WASN'T EASY WON BY A KNOCK-OUT.

SURE! MAKE HIM PAY UP, BUD.

YOU KEEP OUTTA THIS, LULU BELLE WON.

VER' CRAZY! LULU BELLE'S STILL FLAT ON THE FLOOR.

THE REEFRES A CROOK!

WHO SAYS SO?

I SAW SO!

A Free-for-All

VER A LIAR!

YER ANOTHER!

SOCK HIM! HE'S FIGHTIN' LULU BELLE I'LL HELP YOU!

SAYS YOU! SEZ ME! HEY! WHO HIT ME? WHAM!

WHOP! BUT IM ABOUT TO HELP!

THERE AINT NOBODY NEUTRAL!

MYRA NORTH, SPECIAL NURSE

OH WITH GRIEF AND ANXIETY OVER JACK'S FATE AT THE HANDS OF MYSTER, MYRA FEARFULLY ENTERS THE DARK TORTURE CHAMBER.

OVER HERE, PLEASE! YOU'LL FIND YOUR BRAVE FRIEND CONTEMPLATING HIS TROUBLES IN WHAT WE CALL THE 'SWEAT BOX'.

BLAZE! WHATS THIS?

IT'S NOT JACK, THANK HEAVENS!

IT'S GRITON MASTER OF THE TORTURE CHAMBERS! LANE MUST HAVE ESCAPED. WAKE UP, YOU SCOUNDREL! WHAT HAPPENED?

THIS MAN NEVER WILL TALK AGAIN, MYSTER, NOR WILL HE TORTURE ANY MORE PRISONERS!

A Shock for Hyster

IF HE DOESN'T GIVE US SOME ACTION, WE'LL HAVE TO ELECT SOMEONE ELSE TO HIS OFFICE! IT'S OUR DUTY!!

YOU'RE RIGHT, ELMER! BELIEVE ME, THE SHERIFF IS SHORE HOLDIN' THE SACK!

IF HE DOESN'T GIVE US SOME ACTION, WE'LL HAVE TO ELECT SOMEONE ELSE TO HIS OFFICE! IT'S OUR DUTY!!

YOU'RE RIGHT, ELMER! BELIEVE ME, THE SHERIFF IS SHORE HOLDIN' THE SACK!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

THESE MYSTERIOUS FOOT-PRINTS HAVE THIS WHOLE TOWN WORRIED! MY WIFE DOESN'T SLEEP NIGHTS!

MINE DOESN'T, EITHER! SHE EVEN KEEPS ALL THE WINDOWS AND THE SHUTTERS CLOSED!

IT'S HIGH TIME THE SHERIFF WAS SHOWIN' A LITTLE ACTION!

YES! IT'S HIS DUTY, AS MUCH OF THE LAW IN THIS TOWN, TO CAPTURE THAT RASCALION!

Wagging Tongues

IF HE DOESN'T GIVE US SOME ACTION, WE'LL HAVE TO ELECT SOMEONE ELSE TO HIS OFFICE! IT'S OUR DUTY!!

YOU'RE RIGHT, ELMER! BELIEVE ME, THE SHERIFF IS SHORE HOLDIN' THE SACK!

IF HE DOESN'T GIVE US SOME ACTION, WE'LL HAVE TO ELECT SOMEONE ELSE TO HIS OFFICE! IT'S OUR DUTY!!

YOU'RE RIGHT, ELMER! BELIEVE ME, THE SHERIFF IS SHORE HOLDIN' THE SACK!

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

WHAT AM I DO?

I WON'T DATE WITH THAT LITTLE PERCUAL GRIMP, AUNT PENNY HAS SICKED ON ME! YOU JUST HAVE TO HELP!

WELL—I

I HAVE MY HANDS FULL AS IT IS, BOOTS! HEAVEN KNOWS I'M HAVING ENOUGH TROUBLE SAVING MY OWN SKIN

I'LL DO ALL I CAN, OF COURSE—but WHERE AUNT PENNY IS CONCERNED, IT'S EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

IN OHIO, WPA WORKERS ARE FIGHTING A FIRE THAT HAS BEEN BURNING FOR FIFTY-TWO YEARS

...A COAL VEIN, IN HOCKING VALLEY, IGNITED IN 1864.

THE TIDES, TRAVELING FROM EAST TO WEST, ACT AS BRAKES ON THE EARTH'S WEST TO EAST REVOLUTIONS!

IT IS ESTIMATED THAT THEY PROVIDE A BRAKING POWER EQUIVALENT TO 20 BILLION HORSE-POWER.

AS the tons and tons of water rushing west, under the influence of the moon, strike the continents rushing toward the east, they offer resistance to the earth's motion. Their power comes not from the moon, but from the earth. If the earth did not revolve, the moon's pull would merely raise a mound of still water.

Chapter XII
 Martha stared at Neal, the color draining from her lips. "Do you mean that?"

"I do. There's a good possibility that these messages from Betty are perfectly genuine. In them she's given you definite instructions—and the best advice is to follow them. He touched her arm. "Why don't you go to your room and rest up for a few minutes? Then we'll have some lunch."

She shook her head. "I don't feel like eating."

"I'll call you later, then. Meanwhile, try to forget this. There's not a thing to be done right now."

Long after the boy had left her luggage and disappeared into the hallway, Martha stood motionless by the window staring down at the busy traffic of Market street. Conflicting thoughts cluttered her tired brain and she felt somehow empty and gone. Yesterday at Del Monte she had managed to forget her troubles a little, and in the gaiety of the ball room she had convinced herself that everything would turn out right, and that she would find Betty's note.

At last from sheer nervous exhaustion, she dropped onto the bed. The drone of the city lullied her into a fitful sleep—a sleep filled with nameless fears, with dreams in which she saw the face of Speddon and heard Betty's voice crying out to her.

She was awakened by the soft brain of the room's telephone, was startled to see that the falling dusk had already darkened the windows. Still trembling from the effect of her nightmare, she took up the receiver. It was Neal. "How about dinner?"

Martha hesitated. Why should she go out with this man, not knowing how or why or whether he was misleading her? Yet he claimed to be a friend—and she so needed friendly advice and help. There surged through her mind the thought of dining alone, of staying in this room, a terrible loneliness. "All right... I'll be down in a moment."

"There's a nice cocktail lounge on the second floor," Neal said. "It's called the Comstock. See you there in 10 minutes?"

"Yes."
 In spite of herself, Martha was grateful for the soft-sheer lights of the cocktail lounge, and the deep, bright chairs. She was grateful for the presence of Gerry Neal. He had changed into a comfortable, smart-looking suit of easy tweed. Certainly Martha told herself, he looked anything but dangerous. One would take him for a young investment banker, perhaps, but never for a man living deviously by his wits and through hands to others.

When the waiter had set the thin-stemmed glasses on the table, she said suddenly, "Why don't you tell me what you know about Betty and Speddon?"

Neal's smile faded. His eyes grew serious as he answered, "I'd like to, Martha. I really do mean that. But, well, it just wouldn't—shall I say, 'good business?'"

"And that business is what?"
 "I can't tell you that now, either. He raised his glass. "Let's drink to an early solution of the mess we're in."

But Martha refused to accept his evasion. "You do admit that you know more of what's happened than you've told me, then?"

"Well..." Frowning, he set down his cocktail. "I've told you I'm acquainted with Speddon. I've admitted that you and Betty were involved in something which can have serious consequences. I've explained my disappearance from the trailer. He smiled disarmingly. "The bitter truth is that I've only one piece of information that you yourself don't know. I wish it were more—much more."

"But that one piece of information might be the key to the whole thing?" Martha pressed.

"It might. Right now I can't say." "Why don't you tell me what it is? You don't seem to realize what it would mean to me to know Betty and I have been like sisters since we were ten."

Neal looked at her squarely. "I understand, Martha. And before very long I think we'll be hitting this thing head-on. Until then, I'm going to keep quiet. Chances are, now, I've reserved a little table at the Deauville."

Martha sagged visibly. For a moment she had been hopeful that Neal was going to confide in her. "Why—why must you be so maddeningly stubborn?"

"You'll know that, too, when the time comes, Martha. I've said it before, and I repeat—just trust your Uncle Gerry for a while longer. It's your best chance now, if you'll pardon the immodesty."

She knew that he hoped the cocktail and the glamorous surroundings of the Deauville club would take her mind off Betty's disappearance. But tonight it was no use. Realizing that she was for the moment helpless, Martha did try to enter into the spirit of the moment. She had been not as successful as she had been that exciting day in Del Monte. The

They left early, and Neal took a taxi to carry them up the Coit Tower road where they could view the awesome accomplishment of the great bridge.

"We should come here tomorrow," he told her, "and have a look at the Golden Gate bridge. She's just about finished..." He pointed into the blackness of the Gate.

"I'd like to," Martha said. "But tomorrow I'm going to try to sell some Airstream Trailers for Mr. Sloss. If I don't do something I'll go mad."

He took her hand. "I know. And you're right in wanting to go ahead and follow Sloss' instructions. I have an idea it will solve things quicker than anything we can do."

Many Feel Court's Loss Of Power And Prestige Is Inevitable And Near

Even If the President's Plan Should Fail Terms May Be Limited, With Congress Given Power To Override 'Veto'

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Daily News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Witnesses appearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee in opposition to the President's plan have warned the country against accepting a reform which might open the way either to the German type of non-parliamentary Fascist government—or the English system of parliamentary government.

Some of the clearest thinkers on the other side agree with them as to the latter possibility, without admitting that adoption of the Roosevelt proposal would in any way bring the country nearer a dictatorship.

Successively within the next decade, certain New Deal strategists would like to see:

Adoption of the Roosevelt plan in the near future—followed by a decline in the prestige and power of the court as an institution.

Ten or 15-year terms for Supreme Court justices, instead of life tenure as at present.

A constitutional amendment such as has been proposed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, permitting Congress to override Supreme Court negatives of its legislation.

Eventual removal of the court's power to declare laws unconstitutional.

Theoretically, that would leave Congress supreme in the field of government aside from the executive branch and its veto power. It would result in a parliamentary form of government more similar to the English than the present system. No English court can declare an act of Parliament invalid.

Such predictions are all the more interesting because of the fact that you can find leaders on both sides who agree that the principle of the Wheeler amendment will eventually get into the Constitution. Most conservatives oppose that principle, although some may pretend to favor it as a means of diverting support from the President's plan.

Some liberals fear it, believing congressional discretion is not a sufficient safeguard against abrogations of civil and religious liberties.

Didn't Mean Wheeler

Recently this writer mentioned the case of an unnamed senator who was understood to be ready to deliver his own vote and that of his colleague from the same state for the President's plan if he were given a certain circuit court judgeship for himself.

Some of Senator Wheeler's political enemies in Montana are said to have whispered the story that the senator described was Wheeler.

That rumor is untrue and absurd. If Wheeler has any personal ambitions in the court fight—say concerning the presidency of the United States—certainly no one can say they have motivated his course. For one thing, Wheeler's record as a fighting liberal stands out over a long period of years. And, for another, Wheeler probably isn't improving any 1940 chances by assuming leadership in the battle against the Roosevelt plan.

Some critics of Wheeler have whispered that he harbored jealousy and dislike of Roosevelt. But the Montana senator denied that vigorously when he appeared before the Judiciary Committee to attack the plan. He pointed out that he was the first senator to come out for Roosevelt's first nomination and had preserved "an exceedingly friendly relationship" with him.

Most Effective Senator

Wheeler led off for the opposition at the hearings because he was the most effective, if not the ablest man the opposition could put up. Especially is he a tower of strength because most of the Democratic senators who make up the backbone of the opposition—such as Burke, Bailey, Copeland, Glass, Byrd, King and Connally—always have been known as conservatives. Wheeler, on the other hand, has led some of the hottest battles for New Deal legislation. He was in an excellent position to point scornfully to a lot of "New Deal liberals who have left or are going to leave to take fat jobs in Wall Street." And Wheeler was emotionally effective when he said he had suffered for his liberalism and wanted to have the court preserved as a bulwark against laws arising from hysteria.

Once when he was trying to out Attorney General Daugherty, Wheeler accused the Department of Justice of trying to "frame" him in Montana. Wheeler hasn't forgotten. Attorney General Cummings is one of his pet dislikes, and he loses no chance to say that "we don't need a new Supreme Court; what we need is a new attorney general." It's a good bet that Wheeler derives renewed ardor for the fight from the thought that Cummings might be one of Roosevelt's six new justices.

Rose Begins Fiesta Rehearsals at Fort Worth

"Stick with me and you'll climb the ladder of stardom," perhaps is what Billy Rose, famed Broadway showman, is telling the cluster of Texas beauties at the first rehearsal of the Casa Manana Revue of 1937 which will be presented this summer as the feature of the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta.

ALLRED ASKED TO INVESTIGATE OIL UNION FOR 'COMMUNISM'

WILL DEMAND APOLOGY IF ATTACK IS UNBIASED

HOUSTON, April 6 (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred, outspoken critic of sit-down strike tactics, was invited by the Committee for Industrial Organization today to investigate the Oil Workers' Union and "help purge it of any sit-down advocates or Communists."

Harvey C. Fremming, Oil Union president and leader of the C. I. O. drive to unionize the oil industry, extended the invitation after an exchange of telegraphic messages with the Governor.

"In view of the fact Governor Allred has asked for the names and addresses of Oil Union organizers, we presume he plans an investigation," Fremming said. "The information he sought was given to him and we would welcome an investigation that would purge our organization of any member subversive to American institutions. We are anxious as Governor Allred to find such members if there are any."

"We will guarantee to dismiss immediately any such persons an investigation by the Governor uncovers. We're proud of our personnel. We believe Governor Allred has been misinformed and we welcome any investigation he wants to make."

The Oil Union's executive committee passed a resolution extending the same offer to the American Federation of Labor. Holt Ross, Southern representative of the A. F. of L., had charged here and at New Orleans that there was "Communism" in the C. I. O.

Fremming said that if any investigation by Governor Allred failed to show sit-down advocates or Communists he would ask the Governor to retract any implication in his public statement that the Oil Union had such persons in its membership.

The sit-down strike situation, a nation-wide topic, was projected in Texas on the eve of the launching of the C. I. O. unionization drive. In Austin, Gov. Allred said of his public statement denouncing sit-down strikes that he didn't mention any organization but "if the shoe fits the C. I. O. they can wear it."

The sit-down strike situation, a nation-wide topic, was projected in Texas on the eve of the launching of the C. I. O. unionization drive. In Austin, Gov. Allred said of his public statement denouncing sit-down strikes that he didn't mention any organization but "if the shoe fits the C. I. O. they can wear it."

TOOLS TO WAR ON CRIMINALS ARE INVENTED

(A-P Science Editor)

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Discovery of two tools for scientific crime detection, one a light that reveals fingerprints never before visible, and the other a method of marking ransom money so a suspected bill will shine like a glow-worm, was made public today.

Both came from the Bell Telephone laboratories.

The suggestion of a police official who visited the laboratories only two weeks ago, turned up the fingerprint discovery.

Dr. Francis F. Lucas discovered the method, which mineralizes the prints and makes them permanent, in contrast to present silver nitrate and iodine fuming methods which tend to fade.

The mineralized prints show as dark lines. Having made them indestructible as metal, Dr. Lucas turned to another department of metallurgy, which uses ultra-violet, or black light, to reveal metallic crystals not otherwise clear.

The surfaces carrying the indestructible prints were soaked with dyes invisible under light, but which shine like glow worms, under the invisible rays.

This makes the mineralized prints stand out like iron bars in a night lighted window.

A black or colored surface, which masks fingerprints of it can be dyed any color desired.

The new method of marking ransom money uses similar invisible dyes. A bill can be dipped entire, or painted with any design. It afterwards has no odor, no crinkling, no sign of any sort.

But under the ultra-violet light, the marked part of the bill shines like a glow worm.
