Morse Asks End To U.S. Outlawry in Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., wants Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk to resign to help bring an end to "this nation's outlawry in Southeast Asia."

In a Senate speech Monday, Morse bitterly attacked U.S. policy in South Viet Nam and said if a change is not made, "a couple of months from now there will be hundreds of thousands fighting and dying in Asia."

The senator singled out the two cabinet members for the brunt of his criticism. He said he was shocked by Rusk's speech Saturday night in which he said the secretary of state called administration critics modern-day appeasers.

"What I am criticizing is this nation's outlawry in Southeast Asia," he said. "I do not question the sincerity of the administration officials who have adopted that policy but I question their judgment."

Morse attacked McNamara largely for indicating that he did not believe Red China or Russia would enter the war in South Viet Nam.

"McNamara is so irresponsibly wrong, you can't count on his predictions," Morse said. "He should have been removed from office months ago—and Rusk along with him."

Morse said he did not believe this country's policies in Viet Nam left Russia and Red China any choice but to enter the fray.

"When we get into this war hysteria, we will associate killing with the will of God," he said. "I say we are following an immoral and godless policy in Viet Nam."

Texas House, Senate Members Extend Remapping Tug-of-War

AUSTIN (UPI) — House and Senate members extended their stubborn redistricting tug-of-war today, haunted by a federal court-set deadline which could take the mapping chore out of their hands.

"Let's get together and solve the argument," Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba pleaded Monday in an impassioned late afternoon speech to his senate brothers.

But earlier, at a conference committee meeting on Crump's constitutional amendment to increase the size of the Senate, he and his comrades stood adamant in their refusal to grant House members four-year terms.

"It's their move now," Senator insist that the constitutional amendment to hike membership from 31 to 39 in the upper chamber is strictly Senate business, their answer to reapportionment. House members, however, contend that if the Senate gets more members, the representatives should get four-year terms.

In limbo in the debate is a Senate proposal for six-year Senate terms. Introduced by Sen. Jack Strong of Longview and whisked through, the proposal now has little support in either chamber.

Crump said the 39-member plan would make redrawing the districts much easier on rural solons but said he could live with the present system. To pass four-year terms for House members now would be "doing it with a dagger at our back," he said.

"As far as the House is concerned, this is a question of (See REMAPPING, Page 3)

Illinois, Iowa Cities Shore Up Dikes to Hold Mississippi

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (UPI) — Illinois and Iowa cities along the swollen Mississippi River today bore the brunt of the worst flooding in their history. Volunteers worked through the night to shore up the dikes holding back the surging current.

The mighty river, choked with debris ripped from towns and countryside upstream, was nearing a crest from isolated Fulton, Ill., south to the industrialized quad cities area.

More than half of Fulton's 3,600 residents had abandoned their town to the rising river and the refugee count in the quad cities swelled to nearly 2,500. In three weeks of flooding, the Mississippi has left at least 400,000 persons homeless in five states and claimed at least 14 lives.

Removal of U.S. Citizens Readied in Santo Domingo

Citizen Advisory Groups To Be Formed for Pampa

Pampa's City Commission today agreed to a plan of citizen participation in seeking solution to some of the city's major problems.

The commission gave its approval to a plan of City Manager Jim White and Mayor Jim Nation Jr. to form 11 committees which will be asked to assist the city council in advisory capacities.

The council authorized the mayor and city manager to name chairmen for the 11 committees and proceed with their formation.

City Manager White today discussed his proposal, endorsed by Mayor Nation, with commission members.

The city manager's statement to the commissioners and his recommended study committees follow:

"It has been said by our greatest political philosophers that in order for any government to succeed it must first have the support and the respect of the citizens that it represents. It is generally agreed by the political philosophers that in order for a democratic society to succeed as a satisfactory form of government, it must generate the respect and the support of its citizens through the participation of the citizens themselves.

"If we are to agree with these philosophers, we cannot expect local government to satisfactorily deal with the many problems growing out of the complex society in which we live today unless we generate respect for the problems and participation in the solution from the citizens we serve.

"I know of no better way to create an atmosphere conducive to democratic rule than to appoint citizens to various committees to study specific problems and offer recommendations to the City Commission to solve these problems. Such a program will require of the citizen his responsibility in democratic government, allowing at the same time the right of his voice in a government that belongs to him.

"It is my recommendation that advisory committees be appointed to study the following problems:

Tear Gas Used on Marchers

By United Press International
Police moved in and pushed back 350 civil rights marchers Monday when tear gas failed to disperse the demonstrators from a street in Demopolis, Ala.

Negro leaders charged that police clubbed "some of our people when they panicked." Police Chief Albert Cooper denied the accusation and said his officers held their clubs across their chests with both hands and pushed with them.

"I didn't see one single officer swinging a club," Cooper said.

A spokesman at a Demopolis hospital said 25 persons were treated for bruises but no one was seriously hurt.

The demonstrators staged their march without a parade permit, and laid in the street when police ordered them to turn back. A number of permitted marches has been held peacefully at Demopolis within the past two weeks, but it was the second time tear gas was used to meet unauthorized marches.

At Camden, also in West Alabama, nearly 1,000 Negroes marched without incident to the Wilcox County Courthouse to protest against voter registration procedures. They had a parade permit.

Police arrested 24 civil rights demonstrators at Cleveland, Ohio, Monday when they refused to move away from a gate to a construction site. The demonstration was in protest against alleged discrimination against Negroes by building trades unions at the construction site of a new federal building. The demonstrators were charged with disturbing the peace.

Naval Carrier Boxer To Help Evacuation

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — A U.S. naval squadron led by the carrier Boxer stood off the coast of the Dominican Republic today, ready to remove U.S. citizens endangered by the Dominican military revolt.

In Washington officials said evacuation of Americans was being ordered "momentarily." The evacuation order will apply only to U.S. employees and their dependents, but it was expected that nearly all of the 2,300 Americans in the revolt-torn country would be removed.

(The removal of the Americans presumably would be carried out by helicopters from the Boxer.)

(Officials in Washington said a cease-fire appeared to be in effect in Santo Domingo but that the country was still in turmoil.)

At least 20 persons were killed and more than 60 wounded Monday in fighting which included an air attack on the Dominican "white house" and at least one troop-tank battle in the streets.

So far, however, there has been no indication of a serious threat to Americans living in the country.

The Boxer is carrying its normally-assigned Marine detachment, but U.S. officials said there is no plan to land Marines to restore order in Santo Domingo.

Marine-manned helicopters might be used, however, to bring out American residents if it is deemed necessary to rescue them.

The revolt appeared early today to be deadlocked.

Some gunfire was heard during the night, but there were no reports of heavy fighting.

The official radio, captured by army rebels early in the revolt, alternated predictions of victory with exhortations to the people to "rush into the street and fight for the revolutionary movement."

The radio also appealed to forces which have not yet taken sides to ignore the orders of loyalist Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin.

(In Miami, Dominican consul Alberto Arvelo received a telephone report saying the Dominican "white house" was held partly by rebels and partly by loyalists. Arvelo's sources said President Donald Reid Cabral, earlier reported in asylum in a foreign embassy, is in loyalist hands.)

(Other reports reaching Miami said mobs roaming the streets stoned the embassies of the United States, Panama and Guatemala. Police frustrated a

Steel Strike Averted For Another Four Months

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The nation's economy today was free of the threat of a crippling steel strike for at least four months.

Top negotiators for the United Steelworkers (USW) union and the country's 11 major producers initiated an interim agreement at 10 p.m. CST Monday night, averting a strike threatened for midnight Friday.

The union's Wage Policy Committee, which has the final say on all major contract decisions, was expected to approve the pact at a meeting scheduled for 2 p.m. Wednesday.

While negotiations on an overall agreement continue, the interim pact provides an 11.5 cent hourly increase. The 11.5 cents would be paid into a union "escrow fund" by steel producers and the USW will apply the fund toward wages, pensions or whatever it decides is best.

Meet Again Today
The union chairmen who bargain with the 11 companies were scheduled to meet today to outline procedures for bargaining on an over-all agreement. A union spokesman said he doubted that a joint meeting would be held today as announced previously.

The meeting was scheduled for 10 a.m. CST.

The interim pact provides that either side may give a 30-day termination notice Aug. 1. The earliest strike deadline would be Sept. 1.

USW President David J. McDonald confirmed details of the interim agreement in a statement Monday evening. The terms had been reported earlier by United Press International.

McDonald said that the 11.5 cent interim increase was not the final figure the union would accept in any long range agreement.

"The union's position was and remains that the minimum terms of a final settlement must include the 3.2 per cent improvement recommended by the presidential guidelines, plus an adjustment for increase in cost-of-living," he said.

One Marine Shot In Cong Ambush Near Da Nang

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong snipers ambushed a patrol of American Marines near Da Nang today, wounding one slightly in a 30-minute battle.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, American and South Vietnamese planes again attacked Communist transportation targets.

Eight U.S. Air Force F100 Super Sabres, escorted by 25 other jet fighter planes, bombed the Bai Duc Thon bridge in North Viet Nam for the second straight day.

Four South Vietnamese air force Skyraiders, escorted by the same American jet fighters, blasted approaches to the ferry piers and a big warehouse on the Kien Giang River near Dong Hoi about 30 miles inside North Vietnamese territory.

The platoon-sized marine patrol was attacked by four to six guerrillas in Xuan Duong, a small village about eight miles west of the U.S. air base at Da Nang.

One of the snipers was picked off by Marine Cpl. Philip Pippins of Paragould, Ark. Cpl. Robert L. Crawford of Springfield, Mo., was wounded slightly when a Communist bullet penetrated his helmet. The wound was treated during the battle and Crawford returned to duty.

PFC William J. Gobert of St. Ignace, Mont., treated Crawford's wound.

The Viet Cong opened fire on the patrol when it stopped to rest and to treat a Marine suffering from heat exhaustion.

The patrol was just beyond radio range at the time and was unable to contact its control headquarters. Marines speculated that the Viet Cong were aware of the lack of radio contact and decided to take advantage of it.

The Marines completed the patrol when the Viet Cong withdrew.

Normally, when a patrol is beyond the main Marine defense perimeter ringing the Da Nang base, a larger force, called a "rapid reaction force," is on standby alert, ready to rush to assist in the event the patrol is attacked.

Helicopters also are placed on standby status to airlift the reserve force into action.

Pakistani, Indian Forces Engage in Fight Near Border

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — Pakistani and Indian forces forged a "major engagement" Monday night in the disputed Rann of Kutch border area, a Pakistani military spokesman said today. He claimed "heavy casualties" among the Indian troops.

(In New Delhi, an Indian Defense Ministry spokesman blamed Pakistani troops for the fighting, which he said ended early today. He said Indian forces destroyed at least six Pakistani tanks and inflicted "very heavy casualties... on the attacking forces.")

The spokesman refused to disclose full details but said the battle developed when Pakistani forces counter-attacked the Indian army's 50th Paratrooper Brigade while it attempted to push north through the swamp-riden area.

The Pakistani forces inflicted "heavy casualties and considerable loss of equipment on the Indian side," the spokesman said. He did not mention possible Pakistani losses.

(In New Delhi today, Indian Defense Minister Y.B. Chavan told Parliament Chinese Communist forces were concentrated on India's northern borders in greater force than during the invasion of October, 1962.)

(Chavan said from 13 to 16 Chinese Communist divisions plus supporting units were massed on India's northern frontiers.)

HE WAS A TOUGH ONE

Former Hoodlum's Services Held

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI) — Owen Victor Madden escaped death a hundred times or more in the back alleys and seamy westside railroad yards of gangland's prohibition New York.

He was a tough one who climbed to the top in the beer, champagne and nightclub rackets of the 1920s. He had been shot, jailed, served time in prison and laughed at the law with the likes of Jack "Legs Diamond" and Dutch Schultz.

He was a hoodlum's hoodlum, but today he was to be buried a gentleman.

There would be many to mourn and a few even to weep, because Madden had not finished as he had begun. He had died Saturday, at 73, a mellowed and respected citizen of this tourist town where he came 30 years ago.

But at 17 he was "Owney the Killer," fast with a gun and fast with a buck. He had been shot so many times officers tabbed him "The Clay Pigeon." But Madden was not just another punk, he was smart. There was money to be made in illegal booze traffic. And he made it.

When prohibition came the waterfront waif with the long police record saw his chance. He had come to America from his native Leeds, England in 1902, and he aimed to get somewhere.

He did. At one time he was reputed to have had a hand in every big night club in New York. He was a champagne czar and a beer baron in a very real sense. He ran the laundry rackets and even when he was in jail his brewery turned out every day 300,000 barrels of what passed for beer.

His 57 arrests included one conviction that hurt. He was implicated in the shooting of "Little Patsy" Doyle, one of a dozen in which he had been suspect and spent eight years in Sing Sing for it.

Madden was riddled by 12 slugs while waiting one night for his first wife, Dorothy, at a

Pearl Collapses, Returns to Stage

NEW YORK (UPI) — Singer Pearl Bailey collapsed in the wings after her first show Monday night, then returned against her doctor's advice and belted out two dozen songs to a crowd of 300 persons.

Following a strenuous, one-hour opening show at a hotel club, the 47-year-old songstress-comedienne said she felt faint and was carried in a chair to her dressing room.

"I just feel woozy," she said after her second performance early today. "Just a little confused."

Miss Bailey suffered a mild heart attack last Thursday and was released Sunday night from Doctors Hospital here. Before she opened at the Hotel Americana's "Royal Box" supperclub last week, she had been hospitalized in Los Angeles for treatment of a heart seizure.

She made her appearance Wednesday night against the advice of her physician, Dr. William Hitzig of New York, who was in the audience.

She was administered oxygen between shows and there was some question whether she should make the second appearance.

extortion," Strong declared in a Senate floor speech Monday. He said the Senate should go ahead and prepare for a reapportionment plan based on 31 members rather than yield to the courts. "If they want to meddle in the Senate's business, then the Senate may meddle in theirs," threatened Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas. He hinted that the Senate might quash House redistricting efforts and block House members' local legislation.

Crump said that while apportioning 31 districts is not impossible, "working up a plan that can pass this House would be difficult." He said the court which set an Aug. 2 deadline "will not pay any attention to the whims of one house."

Lubbock Sen. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard criticized the three-judge federal panel that called for reapportionment and said he was "tired of the idea of swapping and trading with the House." "We've hurt ourselves more with this one issue than with anything," Blanchard said, quoting critical newspaper articles and editorials. "Either we're going to go on 39 or we'll go with 31 — that's all we've got. I don't think they're going to get their four-year terms either way," he added.

Obituaries

Clarence B. Holt Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday for Clarence B. Holt, 53, former Pampa resident, who died yesterday of a heart attack in North Plains Hospital at Borger.

Mr. Holt, an independent oil producer, was associated with his brother, Demaris Holt of Pampa, in the Holt Bros. Specialty Co., Holt Drilling Co., and the Holt Oil & Gas Co., all with offices in both Borger and Pampa. Mr. Holt was born and reared in Wheeler and entered the oil business in 1931 as an independent operator in the Lefors area. He was joined by his brother Demaris in 1936 when the parent company was organized and later became instrumental in introducing new and modern tools to the oil industry. He was a member of the Board of Regents of Frank Phillips Junior College, Masonic bodies, First Methodist Church at Borger and the Hutchinson County Airport Board.

Mr. Holt is survived by his wife, Jewel; another brother, Robert J. of Wheeler; two sons, Dennis and Joe Dan, and a sister, Clarice Holt of Fort Worth. The Rev. Weldon Butler, pastor of the Borger Methodist Church, will officiate at the services tomorrow, assisted by the Rev. Loyd Hamilton. Burial will be in Wheeler cemetery. Members of the family asked that any memorials be in the form of cash donations to the Scottish Rite Hospital in Dallas or to a favorite charity.

Pampa Chamber Hears Report On Irrigation

Irrigation and what it means to the economy of Pampa and its trade territory were outlined yesterday during the regular monthly luncheon of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. Felix Ryals, manager of the Panhandle Water Conservation District, told the members that over $3,000,000 is invested in irrigation wells alone in Gray, parts of Donley, and Carson Counties, which are usually considered as Pampa's trade territory.

Martin Gossett, irrigation farmer in Moore County, outlined the economic impact irrigation has on a community. He pointed out that a farmer with one section of land would average $5,446 expenses per year. A farmer on the same land with irrigation could expect $38,640 expenses per year. Gross income the dry land farmer could expect would average $10,240 annually, while the irrigation farmer could expect some $52,000.

"Therefore," he said, "you can easily see that the irrigation farmer derives a higher annual profit from his land, even though his initial expenses are much greater."

Poster Whaley, Gray County agricultural agent, was master of ceremonies at the meeting. About 100 farmers, ranchers and members of the chamber attended the meeting.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You are a hypocrite! In one column you tell teen-agers to grow up before they get married. And then you turn around and write a column congratulating women on being the youngest grandmothers you can find.

Tell me, what kind of "honor" is it to have a baby at 13 or 14? I wonder how the average mother would feel if her 14-year-old daughter came home and said, "Mom, I'm pregnant." Would Mom say, "It's okay, dear, now I can enter Dear Abby's Youngest Granny contest!"?

MOTHER AT 29
(and that was soon enough)

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a woman has to get all dressed up just to go marketing? My husband and I always do our week's shopping together on Saturday afternoon. I am a rather large woman and when I dress up I wear a foundation garment, but I never bother to put one on just to spend an hour or two in my own neighborhood shopping center. I just throw on any old housedress that's handy.

Last Saturday my husband blew his top and said he wasn't going to be seen with me if I went like that. We had a few words and I gave him my shopping list and he went alone. Do you see anything wrong with a woman dressed the way I was just to go marketing in her own neighborhood? If someone I knew saw me that way I'm sure they'd think nothing of it.

"COMFORTABLE"
DEAR COMFORTABLE: The opinion of your husband is far more important than the opinion of chance acquaintances. Furthermore, a sturdy foundation is essential in all marriages, and a wise wife won't mind struggling into one to please her husband.

DEAR ABBY: A woman asked me over morning coffee if the Swede I was married to was "cold." I was taken aback and replied only, "No." Abby, my Swede is anything but "cold." He is over fifty now and there were times when I had wished he were older. Where do people get the mistaken idea that Swedes are "cold"?

A SWEDE'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It is probably a rumor started by a Norwegian.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LENA IN JERSEY: I also believe in letting sleeping dogs lie... but next time, wake up your husband and ask him to tell you the truth.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE
 UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—For the stockholder with a diversified portfolio, this can be one of the busiest seasons of the year.

He would be well advised to have an ample suitcase along with the portfolio, too. And a good supply of timetables, if he wished to make some of the blue chip meetings; he would have to do some rapid shuttling along the Eastern Seaboard and the Midwest.

This is the time of year when the corporation annual meetings build to their biggest volume and in keeping with a trend which has grown slightly more marked in recent years, major companies have moved around the sites of their gatherings.

For example, the holder of the two principal telephone stocks, American Telephone and Telegraph and General Telephone and electronics would have had to make a choice on Wednesday: to Philadelphia with AT&T or to Boston with G.T.E. He would have had good news at either meeting; both reported rosy prospects ahead and sound present conditions.

On Thursday, his selection would have been obvious. He'd have had to check airline accommodations from Philadelphia, Boston or New York, to Houston, Texas, to sit in on proceedings of Texas Gulf Sulphur, where preparations were heated up by a suit filed by the securities and exchange commission in New York, charging some stockholders and officials profited in undue fashion for themselves or associates by using "inside" knowledge of the company's big ore strike in Ontario.

Once free of that responsibility, he could have journeyed to the Chicago area to attend the Abbott Laboratories annual gathering.

And since he would be in attendance with the idea of protecting his own interests by getting first-hand information on the state of his investments, he presumably would not mind working a six-day week. He

Astros Love New Dome, Win 5th Straight Game!

By United Press International
The Houston Astros are fast becoming the best indoor baseball team in the United States. Strange things have been happening to Houston ball players ever since the team moved into its glittering $31.6 million Astro-dome this season and the strangest thing of all is that the Astros now have won five National League games in a row.

While it is a little early to classify the Astros as pennant contenders, the once forlorn Houston club, which never has finished higher than eighth in its three previous seasons, is solidly entrenched in fourth place and boasts two individual major league statistical leaders.

The latest player to be inspired by the magnificence of the Texas palace is a young righthander named Dave Giusti (just-ee), who in two previous seasons with the NL club won exactly two games.

All the 25-year-old Syracuse University alumnus has done this year is compile a 3-0 record in four appearances to the him with Sammy Ellis of Cincinnati for the best record among big league hurlers.

Astros Swept Bucs
Giusti's latest effort, a superb 2-0 shutout of the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday night, provided the Astros with a sweep of their four-game weekend series with the Bucs and boosted their record to a highly creditable 7-6, including four wins in five decisions under the dome.

Pittsburgh managed only four scattered singles off Giusti, who earned his first starting assignment since 1962 with some flashy relief work last week, and threatened only once in the game when a single and two Houston errors loaded the bases in the third. Giusti promptly fanned Willie Stargell for one of his nine strike outs to ease out of the jam.

In his four appearances this year, Giusti has allowed a total of five hits and a single run in 14 1-3 innings, walked one and struck out 13. His first victory occurred on April 21 against Philadelphia and started the Astros on their current win streak, and his three victories have come within the space of six days.

John Bateman, who is tied in the major league home run derby with four round-trippers, knocked in one run to raise his RBI total to nine, third best in the senior circuit, and Bob Aspromonte drove home the other with one of his two safeties off Bob Friend, who allowed only six hits in absorbing his first loss after two wins.

Phils Nip Dodgers
The Philadelphia Phillies edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 and handed Sandy Koufax his first defeat in the only other National League game. All 10 American League teams were idle.

Johnny Callison greeted Koufax, making his third start of the season after only three days rest, with a 400-foot homer in the first inning in which the Phils piled up three runs on four hits, including a double by Dick Stuart and a triple by Cookie Rojas.

Koufax struck out six and allowed seven hits before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning. Bob Miller breezed through the next two innings but Ron Perranoski, pitching the ninth, was touched for a run when Rojas walked, stole second and scored what proved to be the clincher on Clay Dalrumple's single to right. The Dodgers, trailing 4-2, rallied for one run off Philly relief ace Jack Baldschun in the ninth. Chris Short, who worked 6 1-3 innings, gained his third victory against one defeat.

Big Green Takes On Tascosa

TODAY'S SCHEDULED BASEBALL GAME WITH TASCOSA HAS BEEN POSTPONED DUE TO WET GROUNDS. REPORTED ATHLETIC DIRECTOR WELDON TRICE. THE GAME WILL BE PLAYED TOMORROW INSTEAD.

Tascosa's Rebels and the Pampa Harvesters battle to stay in the thick of the District 3-AAAA baseball race at 4 p.m. today.

The Rebels, tied for the lead with Monterey, are at Pampa as the first of two round-robin games come to a close in today's action.

Tascosa and Monterey are 6-1 each with Pampa still in strong title contention at 5-2. Next comes Lubbock at 5-3 followed by Plainview 3-5, Amarillo 2-5, Palo Duro 2-5, Borger 2-5 and Caprock 1-6.

While Tascosa (12-5) visits Pampa (14-3), Monterey (15-5) goes to Plainview (10-10-1).

In other action today, Amarillo (7-6-1) is host to Caprock (4-13) and Borger (6-7) is at Palo Duro (8-1). Lubbock (13-9-1) has finished play in the first round-robin and is idle today.

Tascosa and Pampa are both working on win streaks. The Rebels have won six straight games since losing to Amarillo, 4-8, in the district season opener.

Pampa hasn't lost since starting the loop campaign with two losses at Lubbock — 0-3 to Lubbock and 3-8 to Monterey.

58TH YEAR TUESDAY, APRIL 27, 1965

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Sandy-haired Danny Cater is one of those unique Texans who doesn't have a single oil well, anywhere near a million dollars or any earthly idea how he happens to be leading both major leagues in hitting.

Yet, as Casey Stengel says, you can look it up and there it is as plain as Joe Cronin's signature on all official American League baseballs: Cater, Chicago White Sox. . . .464.

Neither Cater nor the Philadelphia Phillies, who traded him away last November, are overly excited about that stratospheric figure because no one, not even Ty Cobb or Willie Kccler, could ever keep it up and also because the White Sox new left fielder always has been an exceptionally fine spring hitter.

Still Not Sure
He batted a rousing .435 through the White Sox first 16 exhibition games this spring and was at .364 with the Phillies a year ago exactly at this time. But he still kicked around the idea last winter that he might wind up playing ball in the minors this season.

Cater, a quiet, reflective 25-year-old Austin, Tex., native, is the kind who can figure things out for himself.

He knew he had no set position with the Phillies, who used him at first base and third base as well as in the outfield last year before he broke his left hand when Milwaukee's tank-like Joe Torre crashed into him in a base-line accident on July 22.

You could hear the bones cracking when the 220-pound Torre barreled into the 165-pound Cater and they were all Cater's.

Solves Problem
"Until then," says the right-handed hitting young Texan,

Harvesters Brave Storm For Opening Workouts

By JEFF COHANE
"It wasn't bad, it was real nice after we got out there," coach Eural Ramsey insisted after the "Edmonton Eskimos," alias the Pampa football team, had opened spring workouts on a cold, rainy, soggy Monday afternoon which had driven this reporter indoors after some 15 minutes of braving the sub-zero cold.

Ramsey, anxious not to waste a day of the allotted three weeks, had his chargers out on a muddy practice field at 4 p.m. after the day-long drizzle had stopped. "It turned out real good, the kids got a good workout after they started moving around. I think the coaches were worst affected, we don't get to move around as much." Ramsey bragged that both the gridders and their coaches were a hardy crew, that no cases of pneumonia had been reported to him as yet.

"There were 57 varsity candidates out. Due to the weather and the fact that we moved up the starting time, we were real pleased with the way they set up and started working. Even though it was a 'little' cold, the continuation of work made up for that."

"The entire day was spent on individual drills, with a very short dummy scrimmage at the end. We'll have a similar-type workout today, with a little more emphasis on defense. Since the weather appears to be nice, we'll start at 5 p.m. today."

Fight Results
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Thad Spencer, 195, Pasadena, Calif., outpointed Roger Rischer, 199, Berkeley, Calif. (12); Ricardo Moreno, 127, Mexico, knocked out Danny Kid, 126 1/2,

AAU Feud May Hurt Matson

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Six U. S. Olympic track and field champions today awaited an answer to their telegram asking President Johnson to take steps to permit college athletes to compete for places on the American team which meets Russian teams this year.

The Olympians sent the wire to the President Monday complaining that such leading collegiate stars as world record shot putter Randy Matson of Texas A. & M. would lose further college eligibility if they competed.

The qualifying meet is sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) which is feuding over sanctioning meets with the college governing body, the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

The telegram said the U. S. team which will meet Russia at Moscow in July would be "markedly weakened" because the collegiate competitors "will be denied the opportunity to participate in the United States championship meet which is the qualifying competition for this year's match against the Soviet Union as well as Poland and Germany."

Pedalers' Paradise Ahead?

The bicycle has been around since 1877, so why all the fuss over bikes all of a sudden? Because the bicycle was all but extinct a dozen years ago and because there are now — all of a sudden — 57 million cyclists in America! What happened? The nation was stunned when Ike, our war-hero President was stricken by a heart attack and the elderly Boston specialist who flew to his side "catapulted into the national consciousness. Dr. Paul Dudley White taught us such words as thrombosis, cholesterol, arterio-sclerosis. And when he had cured the President, he told the rest of us to exercise for our very lives, saying such things as: "Cycling for all ages is one of the best ways to accomplish and maintain physical fitness. I'd like to put everyone on a bike, not just once in a while, but regularly as a routine. It's a good way to prevent heart disease. . . . For our nation I know of no better activity than the two-wheeler for all around health, pleasure and economy." And so there are 57 million bike-riders of all ages in America; May is designated as "Bike Month," and Dr. White is Chairman of this event for the third consecutive year. And this year, Chairman

White has turned on the heat, not for more riders, but for more and better places to ride. He has secured the backing of a blue-ribbon panel of 600 heart experts, meeting for the Second National Conference on Cardio-vascular Diseases, who have declared that the establishment of bicycle paths throughout the U.S. "should be implemented as a major public service endeavor." He has won Presidential endorsement of such paths and trails across the nation for these "forgotten outdoorsmen" and the commitment of Interior Secretary Udall to bike paths in the vast national parks. Bike paths have been built recently in Chicago, Ill.; Boston and Holyoke, Mass.; Austin, Tex.; Baltimore, Md.; Miami, Fla.; Milwaukee, Wis., and are being planned for Dayton, O.; Denver, Colo.; for Los Angeles and Marin Counties in Calif.; and in such national parks as the Cape Cod, Fire Island, Indiana Dunes, Sleeping Bear Dunes National Seashores and the Tock's Island National Recreation Area. With such a prospect ahead, it should be comforting (if you haven't gone back to the bike yet) to know that if you ever rode once you haven't forgotten how!

The Right-to-Work

In the weeks to come, Congress is to be a battleground over what have come to be known as the "Right-to-Work" laws on the books in nineteen of our fifty states. At issue is Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act. It reads: "Nothing in this act shall be construed as authorizing the execution or application of agreement requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment in any State or Territory in which such execution or application is prohibited by state or territorial law." It may be useful to put this whole issue in historical perspective. What this language says is a simple reaffirmation of a human right which is established as part of Western Civilization. Right-to-Work was proclaimed by law in France as early as 1791, and virtually every country in Europe actually used the term as a legal phrase in subsequent years. After the Civil War in our own country, the Supreme Court handed down Right-to-Work decisions invalidating laws which denied those who had supported the Confederacy the right to engage in their chosen professions.

Fifty years ago, in 1915, Justice Hughes declared in Truax v. Raich: "It requires no argument to show that the right to work for a living in the common occupations of the community is of the very essence of the personal freedom and opportunity that it was the purpose of the Amendment (Fourteenth) to secure." At the end of World War II, Right-to-Work was invoked against a California state law which denied fishermen of Japanese ancestry their Right-to-Work at their occupation of fishing in coastal waters. In modern times, Right-to-Work simply means that a man is free to become an active, dues-paying union member if he wishes, but that he cannot be forced to pay union dues to an unwanted union bargaining agent in order to make a living. Both historical precedent and the Constitution affirm a free man's Right-to-Work. It will be a sad day if labor unions brought to bear by labor union bosses can take away this right. Clearly the Congress needs to hear from all kinds of voters on this issue.

What's in the Budget Box?

There is need for truth-telling, the Committee on Export Expansion, and the President's Advisory Council on the Arts. It is an offense against every citizen for the Congress, often at the request of the Chief Executive, to put some of his tax dollars into an appropriations bill, labelled for one purpose but actually to be used for something entirely different. An outstanding example of this governmental untruth-telling is to be found by close examination of military and defense appropriations. Recent defense budgets have included money for such purposes as the President's Commission on Equal Opportunity in Housing.

Economics in Orbit

Those who have been sweating over tax returns (as who hasn't?) may be fascinated by the discovery that while the "regular" or administrative Federal budget for fiscal 1966 calls for $99.7 billion in spending, actual cash spending (including that from trust funds) will add up to $127 billion! This startling revelation by the Tax Foundation, Inc., includes some intriguing incidental information as well. The "regular" budget represents a deficit of $6.3 billion, while with the considerably larger "cash" budget it is only $3.9 billion. But that is still not all, says the Foundation. It reports that "gross spending" — from the administrative budget, from trust funds, from "public enterprise" funds, "revolving" funds and miscellaneous items — is expected to add up to $155 billion. This is said to be $8 billion more than spending for fiscal '65, and $10 billion more than '64. Put in slightly more comprehensible terms, the Foundation figures it at $2,547 per American family. Perhaps the "Great Society" is higher than you thought.

PROFITS FROM POVERTY

Newspapers in Illinois, New Jersey and elsewhere in the nation are beginning to expose the profits that are turning up in the Johnson administration's anti-poverty program.

From city after city come reports of the high salaries being paid those who direct the LBJ war on poverty. Never in the history of relief measures, it seems, have the crusaders against alleged social evils been so handsomely rewarded by taxpayers. The conflict against poverty is turning out to be a very good thing for the professional relief bureaucracy and the new employees who are finding their way onto Uncle Sam's payroll.

In one New Jersey city, the anti-poverty director is receiving a bigger salary than the mayor. In New York City, a judge's wife got a job as a consultant in the anti-poverty campaign for $65 a day. Batches of anti-poverty officials are receiving salaries upwards of $20,000 a year. While these officeholders may not be doing much to eliminate poverty in general, they are doing a splendid job of improving their own status in life. But the public may properly ask whether the payment of high salaries and consultant fees is in the public interest.

Americans should not be surprised at the way things are turning out. Decades of experience with welfare state programs should make them realize that every one of these programs helps fill the wallets of a large contingent of bureaucrats. The classic case from the 1930s is the old WPA organization. It never really aided the economy of the United States. But it created a big hierarchy of WPA officials who supervised the people who rested on the shovels and the rakes.

The pay-off in the WPA was very small potatoes by today's standards in the anti-poverty war. Today there has been a very profitable inflation in federal salaries and fees. One who wishes to avoid helping the increasing inflation will attempt, if possible, to negotiate a loan privately from an individual who wants to invest his own money and is not using the inflationary commercial banking loans. In many cases this is impossible, and the individual may feel it is necessary for him to obtain a bank loan in order to survive. Each individual will have to make his own value judgment as to whether it is more important to him to obtain the immediate benefit he needs or to attempt in his own small way to reduce the inflation to the extent of the loan.

These poor people in the nation need genuine assistance, but not the kind that President Johnson has arranged to be offered them in a federal anti-poverty program. It was a wrong, of course, for Congress to approve grandiose schemes. It was wrong to treat help for poor people in terms of tinsel-covered political rhetoric, as in the references to a "war" on poverty. The kind of help poor people need can never be satisfactorily given by Washington officials. It must deal with discipline in people's lives. The federal bureaucrats speak of poverty as though it were a public disease. It is no such thing. It is an individual problem with individual causes.

The government, for example, will not admit — at least publicly — that some people are poor because they are lazy, or because they prefer a handout to a job. Government will not acknowledge that other people are poor because of irresponsibility. You can find so-called "poor people" in this country who live in shacks, and the liberals shed copious tears over their lot. But this particular class of poor people may be spending most of their income on a color television set, a big car or on whiskey. Now you can't end poverty for these people by passing a law or providing new federal handouts. These people need a strong lecture. They need to be reminded from within their own communities that hard work is essential and that personal responsibility is a "Must."

Obviously there should be some tough talk on the subject of work and poverty. But the federal government and the relief bureaucrats aren't going to do the talking.

Monster In The River

Question Box

Question: Federal Reserve System banking laws permit debt to be used as collateral for printing money, how can an individual seeking a commercial loan from a bank be acting for 'free enterprise' when such a loan increases inflation?

Answer: The question is pertinent. However, there seems to be no way to avoid use of some facilities, even when one realizes that what he is doing may be increasing the inflationary trend and damaging free enterprise. People have to live in the world as it is, and one veteran economist has said that the sooner the nation's fiscal practices wreck the dollar, the sooner will the people realize the necessity of turning toward socialism.

One who wishes to avoid helping the increasing inflation will attempt, if possible, to negotiate a loan privately from an individual who wants to invest his own money and is not using the inflationary commercial banking loans. In many cases this is impossible, and the individual may feel it is necessary for him to obtain a bank loan in order to survive. Each individual will have to make his own value judgment as to whether it is more important to him to obtain the immediate benefit he needs or to attempt in his own small way to reduce the inflation to the extent of the loan.

There is equality of opportunity, and equal justice under law, with judicial powers reserved to the judiciary and legislative powers reserved to the Congress. There are definite limitations of the power of the executive department. It stands for representative government by an informed, responsible electorate, and maximum freedom for the individual. It stands for a system of ethical values which holds that it is unfair, dishonest, immoral for a government to remove the Constitutionally guaranteed rights of the American people.

These are inspiring ideals. We must not permit ourselves to stray from them. The fact is inescapable, however, that many of the freedoms we have considered our heritage are being lost. In business, in agriculture, in our individual lives, we are wandering and being led farther and farther away from the idea of freedom established for us at great pain, suffering and hardship by our forefathers.

The Nation's Press

How much will the new social security-medicare bill cost a 21-year-old worker just entering the labor force? The Wall Street Journal computes that such a worker could pay as much as $15,470 during his productive years before becoming eligible for increased medical and pension benefits at age 65. If the money were banked instead at a 3 1/2 per cent interest rate, his tax payments would produce a $34,974 nest egg for his retirement.

The new social security tax schedule also would raise the payroll deductions far above the federal income tax bills for low income taxpayers. A couple with two children and an income of $3,600 a year would pay $201.60 in social security taxes in 1967, compared with an income tax of $88 at present rates.

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE

The businessman is continually berated for concerning himself with profits, and ignoring any "obligations" of "public service". For example, a recent editorial in this vein (similar to many on the subject) castigated local businessmen for not expressing proper gratitude for "the great quantities of wealth flowing into their coffers." Proper gratitude, it was implied, would be to sponsor civic and charitable organizations in town, and "return a little of that wealth to the community."

Source of Wealth To put this in its proper light, let's start at the beginning. . . . What does the businessman go into business for? Obviously, to satisfy his own profit motive — whatever they may be. He may want to make as much money as possible — maybe he just wants to be his own boss — maybe he's in love with the particular line of work involved.

Whatever the nature of his profit motive, there's only one way he can satisfy it and stay in business: by getting people to buy his products or services. And how does he do that? Again, there's only one way. He must offer people something they want more than the money they're being asked to pay. No one has to buy. The individual only buys if he wants to.

If an individual buys a product from a businessman, it's because he wants the product more than the money involved. To make the sale, the businessman must satisfy a need or desire of the customer. The more needs and desires he satisfies, the more sales he will make — and the more profit he will derive. Every sale is the result of service to the public. Every sale — because it was made voluntarily — satisfies any obligation the businessman may have to his customers.

All Profit

The customers have received as much satisfaction from the exchange as has the businessman. In terms of their own desires, they have profited as much as the businessman. Is the customer obligated to return some of his profit to the businessman? Of course not. The businessman's public service is inherent in his function. He makes available to people who want them, products and services from all over the world. He has made it possible for an individual to obtain something he wanted at a price he was willing to pay — as evidenced by the customer's voluntary purchase.

Most of the nation's toy retailers have already selected what's going to wind up next December under your Christmas tree. Selections are made every year at the American Toy Show in New York just before Spring officially arrives. Literally hundreds of new and unique toys are displayed in addition to the good old conventional items. The big hit of this year's show for the boys was the fully articulated and flexible G. I. Joes in authentic soldier, sailor, airman and marine uniforms with full battle gear. Millions were sold to wholesalers and retailers for reselling next Christmas. The little girls were not forgotten, for a whole new generation of dolls was shown. We liked the series of six movable dolls with many costumes, each of which came in a model's miniature see-through hat box.

Today's smile: A fellow placing a long-distance person-to-person call, gave the telephone number to the operator and told her he wanted to speak to a Mr. Dill. The operator asked: "Is it 'B' as Bill?" "No," said the exasperated caller, "it's 'D' as in pickle."

We don't know how many automobiles the average physician uses to make house calls and hospital visits during an average career in medical practice, but a 101-year-old West Virginia medic, who died recently, boasted that he had outlived 14 horses that used to haul his buggy through the rural areas. . . . Some budding geniuses flower while young. Sir Isaac Newton, best known for his law of gravitation, produced that theory, developed calculus and worked out the composition of light by the time he was 24 years of age. Whew!

Blue laws, enacted in colonial days to regulate social and business life on Sunday, were first established in Connecticut in 1650 and got their name from the paper covers that the fact that Yale's color is deep blue. . . . There are only 2.5 tons of diamonds mined each year, which doesn't seem like very much. But their value for use in jewelry and industry is enormous. . . . American women have the best-looking legs in the world. They spend $600 million a year for hosiery just to keep them looking that way. . . . Lyndon Johnson got a lot of mileage out of turning off the lights in the White House, but it would take him a full four-year term to shut them off in the Pentagon. There are 85,000 light fixtures there. . . . If you like cheese, you'll be interested to learn that France produces 350 kinds of it, but this country is the world's largest producer of cheddar, everybody's favorite.

Those Instant Anti Jokes NEW YORK (NEA) — The friend of ours, whose name is Legion, came up with a very funny joke at lunch the other day.

It concerns these three South-erners. Or maybe they were Italians. (Actually, now that we think about it, they may have been three Democrats. Or was it Negroes? It is hard to recall exactly as we hear so many stories at lunch.)

But whatever the specific designation, there were three of them. And the joke goes like this:

Q. Why does it require three — to replace a light bulb?

A. One to put the bulb in the socket, and the other two to turn the ladder.

Well, you can see for yourself that it does not really matter what group they belong to. The important thing to remember is why it takes three of them to change a bulb.

Once you master that, the joke can be used for all kinds of people — just so long as they are somewhat ethnic.

There are many of these jokes. And to our way of thinking, they mark a vast improvement over the old-fashioned dialect jokes which were so limited in their use.

With the All-Purpose-Anti-Every-body joke, you need only fill in the blank to open the doors of good fellowship everywhere — regardless of the place or how they feel about anybody.

Consequently, we have listed a few of them below in a form suitable for wallet or purse.

Q. How can you tell which one is the bridegroom at a — wedding?

A. He's the only one not wearing a bowing shirt.

Q. Who won the — beauty contest?

Q. What is gross ignorance?

U.S. Economy Would Suffer in Steel Strike

EDITOR'S NOTE — What will happen to the U.S. economy if there is a steel strike this year similar to the 116-day strike of 1959? In this dispatch, UPI Correspondent John Pierson examines the impact of the 1959 strike on the nation.

By JOHN PIERSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A long steel strike could do great harm to the U.S. economy. It could even put an end to what is soon to become the longest expansion in the nation's peacetime history.

That is how government economists view the prospect of a steel strike like the one in 1959, which lasted 116 days and idled half a million steel workers as well as a quarter of a million workers in related industries. Treasury Secretary Henry H.

Fowler said Sunday in a television interview (NBC—Meet the Press) that a prolonged steel strike would be "a very serious danger to the rather good outlook ahead" for the economy.

Busy On Prevention
But the possible effects of a long shutdown are not being discussed by administration officials now. Most of them are too busy trying to prevent a strike to spend time thinking about how to offset what it would do to the economy.

"That's not our immediate concern," said one of President Johnson's top economic advisers. "That's quite a ways down the road still."

to take up the slack caused by troubles elsewhere.

Certainly these measures and others would come in for close study if a steel strike lasted for any length of time.

The 1959 strike proved it. A long steel strike is murder to the economy. At first only the steel industry itself felt it.

Related Industries Affected
But before long the iron and soft coal mines began shutting down, steel fabricators started laying off men and freight cars stood idle on sidings.

Later when automakers ran out of steel, car production was cut way back and more men were out of work. Payrolls fell and with them store sales.

A few statistics tell the tale. These are from June, 1959, the month before the strike began, and September, deep in the heart of the strike, which finally ended Nov. 4:

Steel employment down from 543,000 to 123,000; ingot production down from 10.9 million tons to 1.5 million tons; employment in the iron mines down from 98,000 to 47,000; in the soft coal mines down from 178,000 to 136,000.

Jobless Rate Jumps
Railroad jobs down from 968,000 to 906,000 (the railroads estimate the strike cost them 2.7 million carloads of freight) employment in fabricated metals down from 866,000 to 841,000. The national jobless rate up from 5 per cent to 5.5 per cent; personal income down from an annual rate of $383.8 billion to $380.9 billion; retail sales down from $18.2 billion to $17.8 billion.

The auto industry ran out of steel in mid-October; in November only 268,000 cars were produced compared to 537,000 the month before.

Economists believe that the 1959 steel strike helped bring on the recession that began in May, 1960, and lasted through January, 1961. They explain it this way:

Steel-users built up their inventories in advance of the strike just as they have been building them up for the past several months. This is done in order to be able to go on producing once a strike begins. But the strike lasted so long that they ran down their stockpiles and in some instances used them up.

Reduce Orders
Once the strike was over the steel began flowing again, steel users were anxious to make up for lost sales. They ordered more steel than they normally would. But they were unable to sustain this pace and so reduced their steel orders in the spring of 1960.

This up-and-down movement can be seen in the Commerce Department's quarterly inventory figures. Inventories rose by $6.4 billion in the first quarter of 1959 and $11.5 billion in the second, just before the strike.

In the third quarter they in-

SCHOOL GROUP MEETS

Speakers scheduled for the three-day meeting included Education Commissioner Francis Keppel, U.S. Information Director Carl T. Rowan, former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford, columnist Harry Golden, cartoonist Bill Mauldin and Rep. Patsy T. Mink, D-Hawaii.

created only $1.1 billion as steel users consumed what they had saved. In the fourth quarter, after the strike ended, the inventory boom was on again to the tune of $7.1 billion. In the first three months of 1960, inventories increased $9.3 billion.

Then came the reversal. Inventories rose only $4.2 billion in the second quarter, and only $2.7 billion in the third. In the fourth quarter, as the country headed into recession, they actually declined by $2.3 billion.

It's "bumps" like this that economists say can throw the national economy off the road. "Imbalance — not old age — is the threat to sustained advance," Johnson said in his economic report.

SIMONIZ SOLD
CHICAGO (UPI)—Morton Salt Co. announced the purchase Monday of a majority interest in Simoniz Co. for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Morton said it purchased a 56 per cent interest in the car wax and polish manufacturer from Elmer Rich of Chicago, who founded Simoniz in 1910.

RAISE PRICES
NEW YORK (UPI)—Copper tubing fabricators have raised prices on some of their products by 1 1/2 cents a pound effective Monday.
