McNamara Says Red Infiltration Increasing

War Effort Will Be Enlarged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reported to President Johnson today on Viet Nam war strategy and then announced a sharp increase in U.S. military aid to South Viet Nam.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reported today that Communist infiltration into South Viet Nam had "increased at a high rate" in recent months.

He said that the war effort against the Reds would be stepped up to counteract the "high-level" of infiltration of men and equipment. McNamara talked with newsmen at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., after an overnight flight from Honolulu where he presided over a high-level conference of U.S. officials and military leaders.

The defense chief was to report to President Johnson at the White House at 10:15 a.m. CST. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and McGeorge Bundy, Johnson's national security adviser, also were to attend.

Declines Comment

McNamara declined to comment on the outlook for the future in South Viet Nam or on what he would tell Johnson.

He said that the air strikes against North Viet Nam had tended to overshadow the importance of the war in the south and the necessity to defeat Red insurgents whose aim was to subvert and overthrow the Saigon government.

The Honolulu meeting directed its attention, he said, to steps for bolstering the South Vietnamese forces. McNamara said that those forces "suffer from a strength disadvantage" relative to the guerrillas. They outnumber the guerrillas about five to one whereas experience indicates a ratio of about ten to one is needed to defeat insurgents.

No New Decisions

The defense secretary said he did not expect "new policy decisions" to come from his meeting with top Pacific commanders and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He said the United States, implementing earlier broad decisions to help South Viet Nam expand its forces, now would supply "additional logistics, training and advisory assistance."

Asked whether he thought the Communist Chinese would intervene in the war, McNamara said, "I don't want to forecast the actions of a foreign power, especially of Red China."

Nor would he say what evidence the United States had about the construction of anti-

Rusk Sees 'Trouble Ahead' For Peace Talks in Viet

By DONALD H. May

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk sees "trouble ahead" in Viet Nam on the basis of Communist replies so far to proposed peace talks. Rusk made the comment Tuesday after a White House cabinet meeting which reviewed policy statements coming from Hanoi, Moscow and Peking over the past several weeks. Summing up these replies, Rusk said, "I do not yet see any basis to indicate that the other side is seriously interested in a peaceful settlement on terms which would be agreeable to the independent countries of Southeast Asia or to the free world."

The "key point," Rusk said, is that all three Communist capitals have called for an end to U.S. military operations but have not yet said a word about North Viet Nam ending its infiltration, supply and direction of the war in the South.

Both Must Stop

"If we stop what we are doing then others must stop what they are doing," Rusk said. "If they are prepared to do that we may move promptly toward a peaceful solution. There is no indication that that is in their minds."

Rusk told newsmen that as long as Hanoi pursues the war "we are going to have a serious condition: there is going to be trouble ahead."

This somber analysis came 18 days after President Johnson, in a speech at Baltimore, offered "unconditional discussions" toward ending the Viet Nam war.

At the same time, Johnson listed U.S. requirements for a settlement — an independent South Viet Nam; an end to North Vietnamese "aggression," and guarantees that aggression would not resume.

Residents Flee as Swollen River Hits Record Crest

LA CROSSE, Wis. (UPI)—The mighty Mississippi River rushed past embattled La Crosse at a record crest today. Officials pleaded with residents of flood-threatened cities downstream to flee while there is still time.

The swollen river crested at 17.7 feet—its highest point ever at this river city—late Tuesday. The five miles of makeshift dikes thrown up around La Crosse appeared to be holding. But they will have to take the full force of the flood crest for at least two days before the river begins to fall.

A civil defense spokesman said "We're in pretty good shape. Things look fine." And La Crosse's newly-elected mayor said "Let the rest of the state and the Midwest be advised that La Crosse is not down. La Crosse is not out."

With the crisis at La Crosse apparently over, worries centered on such downstream cities as Prairie Du Chien, Wis., East Dubuque, Ill., and Iowa cities of Clinton and Muscatine.

The Mississippi's devastating flood has already driven nearly 35,000 persons from their homes in the upper Midwest, claimed 13 lives, and caused damage nearing $100 million. More havoc was in store.

One of the major fears was that river valley residents would insist on staying in their homes until the full force of the flood hit. Plans were considered to force them from their homes if they refused to evacuate.

Civil defense and local authorities agreed there was no immediate danger from a giant bulk gasoline tank pushed back at an angle by the angry river

Dam Visitors Cautioned

Visitors to the Sanford Dam, located on the Canadian River, have been asked to use the south vista point road.

Phil Larsen, safety engineer for the H. B. Zachry Co., contractors for the dam, said workmen are nearing the end of construction and are working in extremely tight quarters.

He stated the persons not using the south vista point interfere with construction and create a safety hazard.

The south vista is accessible from Berger or Fritch by turning off Highway 136 at the designated arrows.

The Sanford Dam is expected to be completed by June 1. Larsen also added that visitors are welcome to view the Dam site any day of the week.

World's Fair Opens Second Six-Month Run in New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York World's Fair opened its gates today for the 1965 version of Robert Moses' $1 billion extravaganza.

Opening day ceremonies included a parade around the Flushing Meadow fairgrounds, the usual flag-raising and ribbon-cutting, marching bands and speech-making by Vice President Hubert Humphrey and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt among others.

The prospect of mild temperatures and fair skies could help attract up to 300,000 to the opening of the Fair's second six-month season.

The only sour note foreseen to the day of opening events was a vague threat by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) to stage a civil rights demonstration. CORE, however, would not say when or where the demonstrators would strike.

At 7:30 a.m. CST, 500 brightly colored balloons were released over the fair, each bearing a free ticket, signaling the opening of the 180-day spectacle.

The first fair-goers were to pass through the turnstiles at the same time, headed by 17-year-old Gary Schuster of Orangeburg, N. Y., who has been camping out at the gate since Monday morning.

Federal Agent, Two Miami Lawmen Charged in Bribe

MIAMI (UPI)—A top federal narcotics agent and two Miami detectives were to be charged formally today with accepting bribes from a narcotics pusher who turned informer.

The pusher reported he had set up a deal to pay the men $2,000 a month to "keep off the heat."

Federal narcotics agents from Washington and Atlanta and city police swooped down on the three men and the informer in a trap set at his apartment Tuesday.

Eugene Marshall, 39, chief of the federal Narcotics Bureau for south Florida since 1958, and Detective Sgt. Frank Fountain, 39, head of the city police vice squad had just accepted $130 in marked bills from the pusher, according to Police Chief Walter Healy. Detective Roosevelt Tremble, 34, also a member of the vice squad, was in the apartment and was arrested.

The three men, all nattily dressed in suits, were taken to Dade County jail and booked on state charges of "accepting a bribe," a felony in Florida. No federal charges were filed.

The three were released immediately by three different Miami Criminal Court of Record judges — Jack Falk, Jack Turner and Gene Williams — in the custody of their attorneys without bond.

An attorney for the three said they had "no comment" on the charges. "I'm absolutely shocked and astounded," said Healy. He said the arrests followed an investigation which started five days ago when the narcotics pusher, who Healy would not identify, walked into the Miami police station.

The pusher, who reportedly dealt mostly in cocaine and marijuana and a little bit of heroin, wanted "to get out of the deal but the men taking bribes wouldn't let him," said Healy.

The informer told federal narcotics agents that he had made arrangements with the three to pay them about $2,000 a month but that the payments had never gone that high and that he had paid off only about $5,000 when the arrests were made.

Pampa Youths Sworn In for Job Corps Post

By RAY RODGERS JR.

John Garza, 16 and Otis Shaw, 17, became the first Pampans to be accepted into President Johnson's Job Corps today as they were officially sworn in during ceremonies in the Pampa Post Office.

Garza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eppie Fonio, 924 E. Murphy and Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hoertsch, 1052 Neel Rd., will depart from Pampa tomorrow enroute to the Tongue Point Job Corps Conservation Camp near Center, Ore. They will be flown from Amarillo to Denver aboard a turbo-prop jet and from Denver to Oregon aboard a 707 jetliner.

Shaw and Garza both enlisted in auto mechanics and will stay at the camp for an indefinite period of time, not to exceed two years maximum or three months minimum.

During their stay, they will be taught job skills, speaking and writing, how to get and keep a job, in addition to their chosen skill.

The Job Corps was established this year by President Johnson for youth who are out of school and cannot find a job. In Tongue Point, Shaw and Garza will receive a basic education, job training, and the experience to develop good work habits. They will get room and board, clothing and spending money of $30 per month.

Also, when they leave the center they will get $50 for each month of satisfactory service in the corps.

Bill Ragsdale, manager of the Pampa office of the Texas Employment Commission, said anyone between 16 and 21-years-of-age can apply for the job corps. An application blank may be secured from the employment commission. It is sent to Washington, where the applicant's name is placed on a waiting list.

When an opening occurs, the applicant is notified to take an aptitude and physical test. If both are passed, the youth is then accepted into the job corps.

Applicants may enlist in any one of a long list of professions. Ragsdale said there have been five applicants from Pampa, but Garza and Shaw are the only ones accepted so far.

U.S. Continues Day, Night Raids

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Navy fighter planes prowled the skies over North Viet Nam before dawn today, raking two Communist truck convoys with a barrage of rocket and cannon fire.

It was the seventh consecutive day of around-the-clock raids on North Vietnamese territory. A Navy spokesman said two missions were flown along Highway 101 in the southern part of North Viet Nam between 2 a.m. and 4:40 a.m.

Pilots were unable to assess the damage. In South Viet Nam, two battalions of fresh Vietnamese soldiers were thrown into a major battle with 3,000 Communist guerrillas less than 30 miles from the U.S. airbase at Da Nang.

The reinforcements were ordered after Viet Cong troops outflanked a battalion of Vietnamese rangers and almost trapped the unit's American officer-adviser.

The Vietnamese fled but the American stood his ground until he realized that his position was hopeless and escaped just as the Viet Cong closed the net. The battle started three days ago. Losses on both sides have been heavy.

Five Americans were wounded in the first day of fighting. Seventeen Vietnamese soldiers have been killed and 45 others wounded. Thirty-two Vietnamese are listed as missing and presumed captured.

Guerrilla losses were officially placed at four dead, but nearly 200 more were believed to have been killed Tuesday in a massive air strike by almost 60 U.S. Air Force and Marine planes. The jets dumped tons of bombs along the five-mile guerrilla front, and returning pilots reported seeing "numerous bodies in trenches."

In the air war against North Viet Nam, another U.S. Navy plane crashed Tuesday night during a mission against a Communist truck convoy on Highway 15. The fate of the pilot was not reported.

Voters to Have Last Say on 4-Year Terms

AUSTIN (UPI)—The House gave Gov. John Connally a green light Tuesday on his plan to make the governorship a four-year job. The lower chamber was ready today to collect its part of the deal, four-year terms for state representatives.

Reps. Gene Hendryx of Alpine and Terry Townsend of Brady, key Connally men, promised to sponsor such an amendment in the House debate on a Senate-passed measure increasing the upper chamber's size to 39 members.

The state's voters would have the final say on all these matters, come November. After fiery debate Tuesday, the House passed Hendryx' amendment on four-year terms for the governor and other state officials by a vote of 117-26.

The Senate today faced another go-round with Sen. Bill Patman's "Little Hoover Commission" bill. The Ganado senator faced stubborn stall tactics in getting the bill to debate last week.

Hendryx had appeared for the debate wearing a white jacket with a bright red "A" like the scarlet letter of adultery which Hester Prynne was forced to wear in Nathaniel Hawthorne's novel.

"I feel like Lady Hester in 'The Scarlet Letter,' who was branded with every kind of evil," Hendryx said, poo-pooing opponents who claimed that if Connally gets a four-year term in 1966, he would come out openly for horse racing and liquor legislation.

Senate President pro-tempore Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells could enjoy the traditional honor of being governor for a day.

After the House beat down four attempts to limit the governor to two four-year terms, Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline took the floor to say that Connally "has 'broken faith' with the people of Texas."

He pointed out that in 1962, Connally campaigned on a plank of limiting the governor to two two-year terms.

Make Own Statement
Hendryx countered that Hollowell would like to live in the governor's mansion some day, but Hollowell replied, "I haven't decided to run for any office, but when I do, I'll make my own announcement."

He added, "and if I ever do run for office, I'll keep my word to the people of Texas." Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston said, "this battle is not greatly different from the historical battles between the people and the sovereign."

Hendryx had appeared for the debate wearing a white jacket with a bright red "A" like the scarlet letter of adultery which Hester Prynne was forced to wear in Nathaniel Hawthorne's novel.

'ABSOLUTELY NOTHING WRONG'

Mother Kills Four Children, Tries Suicide

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Where was Marcia Hambey, 6, and her brother Mark, 7, and where were the 2-year-old Hambey twins, Kelly and Kraig?

The Maggio children next door wondered. Mrs. Frank P. Maggio also wondered where the mother, Mrs. Deanna Hambey, was. No one had seen them all day.

In the nearby town of Mishawaka, Ind., Mrs. Louise Boyer also worried. She had a dinner date with Mrs. Hambey Tuesday night but couldn't get an answer at the Hambey home by telephone. Finally Mrs. Hambey answered the phone. "I killed my children," she said.

Mother In Hospital

Today, the 28-year-old housewife was under heavy guard at Memorial Hospital. She had tried suicide after strangling Marcia, Mark, Kelly and Kraig, according to police.

Mrs. Boyer and a companion rushed to the Hambey home, broke in and found the four bodies on a bedroom floor.

Nearby lay the mother, her wrists and ankles slashed and a necktie around her throat. Smoke rose from two of the mattresses where fires had been set.

"Let me die," the housewife told attendants at the hospital. "Let me die."

Husband Flies Home

Edward Hambey, 30, the husband and father of the children, learned of the tragedy while on a business trip for Associates Investment Co. He flew home in a company plane.

Dr. F. Dale Nelson, deputy coroner, said the children had been dead about six hours before they were discovered. Three had been garroted with nylon stockings; the fourth was strangled with a necktie.

Today detectives sought to answer the simple question: Why?

"There was absolutely no indication of anything wrong," said one police officer. "There was no sign that anything was bothering her," said Mrs. Maggio.

NINE AMERICANS KILLED — John Favaron, a radar intercept officer of a Marine fighter squadron based at the Da Nang, South Viet Nam, air base, rides a bicycle from the flight line after landing his F-4B Phantom jet following an air strike over North Viet Nam. Nine American crewmen were killed Sunday when Communist guerrillas shot up three U.S. helicopters in a battle 280 miles northeast of Saigon.

Credit Rating On Fire Insurance Hiked for Pampa

Pampa has regained the five per cent lost last year on its key rating for fire insurance. Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said today.

Chief Winborne said Pampa, which has had a minus 5 per cent rating for the past year, has been given a 5 per cent credit which brings the city back to an even zero rating.

The fire chief added that Pampa's new rating was disclosed in the most recent rating book of the State Insurance Board. A copy of the book was received by Chief Winborne yesterday.

The state insurance board figures are used as an index for establishing insurance rates.

Fire losses, fire fighting equipment, number of firemen and various other factors enter into the minus or plus credit ratings set by the state board, officials stated.

First postoffice in Mineola, Texas, was housed in a boxcar on the railroad tracks.

aircraft missile sites in North Viet Nam. But he said it was logical to expect such missiles to be installed "at some point."

Red-Supplied Arms

Discussing infiltration, McNamara said that in a recent action in which two "Viet Cong or Communist" battalions were encountered, 90 per cent of the small arms and 100 per cent of the large weapons were "of Chinese or Communist bloc manufacture."

He said that "we sometimes fail to understand the importance" of actions to defeat the Reds in the south. He said the Vietnamese force are going to be expanded and there will be increased use of both U.S. and South Vietnamese air power to support them.

McNamara's jet plans landed at Andrews Air Force Base at 6:10 a.m. CST.

Shortly before leaving for Washington Tuesday night, McNamara told newsmen in Honolulu that the United States must assume that at some point Russian missiles will be introduced into the war in South Viet Nam.

Sites Being Built

U. S. officials reported last week that a site for Soviet missiles, presumably of the high-altitude SAM (surface-to-air) variety, was under construction near the Hanoi area in Communist North Viet Nam. McNamara said Tuesday he could not say whether the missiles are now "operational."

He said, however, that the Russian missiles were not a topic of discussion at his Honolulu meeting Tuesday with Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor; Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U. S. military chief in South Viet Nam; Adm. Ullyses S. Grant Sharp, commander of U. S. Pacific forces, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Termining the day-long session a "very profitable conference," McNamara indicated that there would be a major step-up in efforts to block the long South Vietnamese coastline.

Increase Manpower

He said that North Viet Nam had increased the flow of men and materials into the South along overland routes, through Laos and along "sea routes over the beaches of South Viet Nam."

Banks Observing San Jacinto Day

Soviets Jam Radar In Berlin Air Ways

BERLIN (UPI)—The Russians jammed Allied radar in the Berlin air corridors Tuesday in a new interference with travel to and from the Red-encircled city, it was announced today.

An Allied spokesman said the Russians dropped "chaff"—strips of tin foil cut to the wave length of the Allied radars—in areas where it would confuse the radar picture.

U.S., British and French officials protested the action, saying it endangered Allied air traffic.

The new interference with travel to and from isolated West Berlin came barely two weeks after the massive harassment that accompanied the recent meeting of West Germany's parliament in the former capital.

ASKS TWO

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson Tuesday designated Charles Wallace Adair Jr. as ambassador to Panama to replace Jack Hood Vaughan, who recently became assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs.

Adair, a career diplomat, is now deputy chief of mission in Buenos Aires. He has served in Mexico, India, Brazil and Belgium since joining the foreign service in 1940.

Johnson also selected John N. Irwin, former assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs as special U. S. representative to interoceanic canal negotiations. Irwin, a lawyer, will have the rank of ambassador.

Foreign News Commentary

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International
Notes from the foreign news cables

New Anglo-American Alliance:
British military sources are suggesting that if a Viet Nam peace settlement proves impossible it might become necessary to form an Anglo-American military alliance for the whole of Southeast Asia. While the United States is pre-occupied with Viet Nam, British forces are tied down in Malaysia to guard against threatening Indonesian aggression. Coordination of the effort—beyond the mere political alignment—is considered necessary if the conflict continues with no end in sight.

Russian Mind Changing:
Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko apparently is willing after all to discuss the Viet Nam conflict when he comes to Paris April 25 for talks with French leaders. Originally the Russians made it known they wanted this left out. Now they say Gromyko is willing to discuss "all important world problems." He expects to spend four days and will meet with President Charles de Gaulle and Premier Georges Pompidou as well as Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Unwanted Malaysia:
Indonesian hosts to the tenth anniversary celebrations of the first Afro-Asian conference at Bandung will be doing a lot of lobbying this week to exclude Malaysia from the forthcoming second Afro-Asia parley in Algiers next June. The Indonesians have the support of Peking, Hanoi and Pyongyang and probably will focus on Middle East and African delegates to spread the view their Southeast Asian neighbor is still under the British lion's paw. One invidious Indonesian comparison: Use of British Gurkha troops in Borneo vs. employment of white mercenaries in the Congo.

ANTI-EROSION
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jute, a natural fiber used by man for centuries, is proving highly effective in the modern battle to halt soil erosion.

An open-mesh jute matting has been used to combat soil erosion at the Dodger stadium here. The matting, developed by Ludlow Corp., was placed over a 70-degree, 200-ft. slope. Grass grows freely through the openings of the mat which protects seed and soil from washout.

NO KIDS ALLOWED
RENO, Nev. (UPI)—A request for permission to re-install an electronic blackjack machine in the lobby of Reno Municipal Airport was turned down after a test run showed it was attracting children. In the future, only slot machines will be allowed at the airport.

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

The low edging plant which is now blooming so profusely and is sometimes mistakenly identified as Creeping Phlox, is actually Thrift. Its scientific name is Armeria and it belongs to the family Plumbaginaceae. It is a hardy perennial and is very successful as an edging plant in this area. The Grey-stone Encyclopedia states "The Thrifts are happiest in well-drained, rather light or sandy soil where they soon spread into large tufts and bear a profusion of small rounded heads of bloom." Colors available are purple, white, red and pink.

When visiting a local nursery recently we find that the Flowering Peach is available with white and pink blossoms as well as the red. Also the Flowering Almond can be obtained in double white blossoms as well as the common pink.

While driving around Pampa to see some of its beauty, we notice the Lilacs are about at their peak of bloom. It isn't every year we can enjoy the beauty of the Lilac since a freeze sometimes sets it back.

There are several varieties of trees and shrubs with white blossoms to be seen in Pampa now; a combination of these plants such as the Forsythia and Lilac makes a very striking picture as can be viewed at several homes on Duncan St.

The Wisteria trees and vines are getting ready for a dramatic showing soon. It won't be long until the Snowball and Spirea bushes will be in full bloom also.

Speaking of beauty, the African Violet Show was beautiful as can always be expected. In fact, the Pampa African Violet Society has become well known for its outstanding shows. The 1965 show was staged in the home of Mrs. R. F. Dirksen, 1607 Mary Ellen. Many people attended, with some coming from Amarillo, Borger, Groom and other Panhandle cities.

Besides the exhibitions of Violets by each member on beautifully decorated tables, arrangements were made by Mrs. V. N. Osborn and placed throughout the home. Some of these arrangements were made, using the cut blossoms of the Violet, and others using the full plant which is quite an accomplishment to use a pot plant in the design of a flower arrangement.

Since the show was during the Easter season two of the arrangements were designed with an Easter theme, one using a cross with a white African Violet plant at its base and a white dove in the design. The other arrangement depicted the figure of Christ standing in the doorway of the tomb with a white Violet to the side and an Angel nearby. Growing such beautiful plants as were exhibited is to be admired, but creating such flower arrangements with the pot plant in the design as Mrs. Osborn exhibited is a great accomplishment.

An article in the May issue of "The Miracle of the Seed" is worth repeating here. "Where the chill of winter lingers, the seed dwells in darkness, waiting self-sufficient, packed tight with an immemorial legacy, it sleeps the un stirring sleep of the dead—yet is not dead.

"When the time has come, the seed will know. Then, and only then, the clock of life will tick again, synchronized to the tilting earth's seasonal rhythm. In most cases, warm rains and lengthening days are required to set the amazing chemistry of a seed in motion. But such environmental factors do not explain the latent energy that causes the seed to respond, to break through its coffin-like shell with life within, to which other life could not exist. In winter, our seed appeared lifeless; now its primary root answers the call of gravity and thrusts down hungrily into the soil. Above, the green shoot shoulders aside a clod of earth to seek the sun.

"To look at a field of corn is to wonder how such complex perfection came to be. True, the farmer laid straight furrows, fertilized, planted, cultivated. But a greater Power an infinite and providential wisdom and order, is behind each shooting tassel, every golden grain of pollen, each tightly folded husk swelling with kernels.

"The greater miracle is in the seed, not in the fruit it yields. Even more miraculous than the giant sequoia's size and age was its beginning—green shoot peeping out of the forest floor hundreds of years ago. Whether tomato, violet, or ragweed, the wonder is the same.

"Irresistibly, seeds find their way around the world, unfurling green banners that tell of greatness arising from the very small, attesting the age-old promise from Genesis: "While the earth remains seedtime and harvest... shall not cease."

ing a cross with a white African Violet plant at its base and a white dove in the design. The other arrangement depicted the figure of Christ standing in the doorway of the tomb with a white Violet to the side and an Angel nearby. Growing such beautiful plants as were exhibited is to be admired, but creating such flower arrangements with the pot plant in the design as Mrs. Osborn exhibited is a great accomplishment.

An article in the May issue of "The Miracle of the Seed" is worth repeating here. "Where the chill of winter lingers, the seed dwells in darkness, waiting self-sufficient, packed tight with an immemorial legacy, it sleeps the un stirring sleep of the dead—yet is not dead.

"When the time has come, the seed will know. Then, and only then, the clock of life will tick again, synchronized to the tilting earth's seasonal rhythm. In most cases, warm rains and lengthening days are required to set the amazing chemistry of a seed in motion. But such environmental factors do not explain the latent energy that causes the seed to respond, to break through its coffin-like shell with life within, to which other life could not exist. In winter, our seed appeared lifeless; now its primary root answers the call of gravity and thrusts down hungrily into the soil. Above, the green shoot shoulders aside a clod of earth to seek the sun.

"To look at a field of corn is to wonder how such complex perfection came to be. True, the farmer laid straight furrows, fertilized, planted, cultivated. But a greater Power an infinite and providential wisdom and order, is behind each shooting tassel, every golden grain of pollen, each tightly folded husk swelling with kernels.

"The greater miracle is in the seed, not in the fruit it yields. Even more miraculous than the giant sequoia's size and age was its beginning—green shoot peeping out of the forest floor hundreds of years ago. Whether tomato, violet, or ragweed, the wonder is the same.

"Irresistibly, seeds find their way around the world, unfurling green banners that tell of greatness arising from the very small, attesting the age-old promise from Genesis: "While the earth remains seedtime and harvest... shall not cease."

Top Honors Go to Fashions From Texas

RECEIVE TOP HONORS — From the designers of Texas come these crisp, handsome fashions for spring and summer. The new skimp look (left) by Jeanne Durell of Dallas is in textured Arnel-and-cotton. Interests rockets to top via dolman sleeves and soft pointed collar with harlequin bow. Harlequin pattern is repeated in crown of Asbury's straw hat. The wiles of Irish linen, hemmed in and underpleated in contrasting color (center) was designed by Charles Dickey of Dallas. It is done in 12 hues combined to order. From sleeveless suit to carefree dress is one easy step with the Judy Junior of Dallas design (right). Blouse may be added or subtracted from the two-tone corded striped jacket and skirt.

DALLAS (NEA) — Fashion is big in Texas. But that should not surprise anyone. So is everything else and there isn't a Texan who won't admit it.

Here in Dallas, the Texas designers are showing their fashion collections for spring and summer. And from formal gowns to play togs everything is pert and pretty.

The mobile look for '65 is represented in a bevy of knife-pleated white skirts teamed with a variety of colored tops.

Ruffles add a flirty, feminine touch to the hem of a quilted sundress or running down the sissy-shirt front of a checked play suit.

For summer wear, Texas designers have proved that it is possible to make a silk purse

WWI Auxiliary Will Send Gifts

Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of World War I, Barracks 1952, met Friday evening in the American Legion Hall with Mrs. George Benham, president, presiding. Mrs. W. B. Nellis, acting chaplain, read the opening prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by the patriotic instructress, Mrs. Cora Yates.

The auxiliary voted to send monetary love gifts to the District and the Department President in appreciation of their devotion and service to the organization this year. Announcement was made of the annual District Convention to be held April 25 in Hereford. Officers for District 18 for the ensuing year will be elected. Plans were made for a rummage sale to raise funds to aid the veterans, especially the patients in the VA Hospital.

Refreshments were served to the members of the Barracks and Auxiliary by Mrs. Bessie Devern, Mrs. Frank Dittmeyer and Mrs. W. W. Windsor.

Next meeting will be May 14 in the American Legion Hall

Horoscope Forecast

FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 22

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have very good chances now to organize and to systematize your material affairs in such a manner that you have considerable success in the future, in expanding and extending your abundance to include some extra property or income that can please you greatly. Show your appreciation for big-wigs' assistance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—Contacting the most powerful person you know and stating your aims can insure fine backing now. Delve into any civic work that is important, too. Make big strides forward.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)—If you go after new data early, others will be happy to go along with your ideas for mutual benefit. Some out-of-town missive can be very helpful with those about you. Be alert.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—By following your inner hunches, the future can be organized very intelligently now. Find new methods that are more efficient. Evening can be very happy with loved one if you are kind.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 12)—Long talks with associates show what you must do to better co-ordinate efforts, with them in the days ahead. Improve agreements. Strive for perfect understanding with everyone.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21)—Being enthusiastic about the duties ahead of you sees them properly handled at the ideal time. Impress co-workers with your willingness to assume responsibilities. Help them, also.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—A busy day is before you with many invitations for the evening as well. Get an early start and go into activities you like. Get those particular talents before the proper people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Ask what kin desire instead of doing what you think is best for them. They will be better pleased. Your special capabilities can be well supported now by big-wigs if you are clever.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Don't neglect those appointments of importance before you take off for fun and frolic with good friends. Show gratitude for good personal advisors. Buy gifts, etc.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—If you raise your level of consciousness where property is concerned, you can increase holdings a good deal. Contact that good advisor. He, or she, can be very enlightening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Ideal day for going after what you most desire and adding to prestige with friends socially. Take the treatments that make you more attractive. Do not be niggardly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Personal affairs are pressing right now, so get at them quickly. Once these are behind you, give a helping hand to the needy. Give solace where sorely needed.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—If you contact a more mature person who has power over those from whom you want assistance, this can be accomplished easily now. Get out socially. Make new contacts that are really good.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those interesting persons who always wears a somber expression, even when having a very wonderful time, so be sure to teach early how to smile more, or here could be a most unpopular person instead of a dearly beloved one. Much success is denoted in this chart, since the thinking is very practical. Send to college.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU.

PLAN FLOOR CARE
Plan for a thorough floor cleaning only when you expect several hours of no kitchen traffic. Floors need thorough cleaning, thorough drying, then waxing, and again through drying. And this takes time even in the best drying weather.

ADD EFFECT
Always wear your hair short or in an upsweep when you wear drop earrings for evening. This adds a more dramatic effect.

Dear Abby....

When Stork Is Coming
Waiting Is for the Birds

DEAR ABBY: Talk about a mess. This is the worst. My boy friend and I eloped during the semester break and were married by a Justice of the Peace. We told our parents about it and they said we shouldn't tell anybody. They want us to announce our "engagement" as soon as school is out in June and then they'll give us a big church wedding in September. Well, as luck would have it, I think I am pregnant. I can't wait until September for a big fancy wedding for obvious reasons. I hate to disappoint my mother, but I think I ought to tell her. But how?

JUMPED THE GUN
DEAR ABBY: Tell your mother that you have a date with the stork — and waiting until September is for the birds.

DEAR ABBY: Can you find me a good, true woman? I am a retired Merchant Marine officer who has been everywhere and seen everything. I am tired of knocking around. I am pushing 60, but nobody takes me for any older than 45, or 50, tops. I have a nice little savings account and a pension for life. Never having been an angel myself, I wouldn't expect one, but I would like a healthy, good-looking woman who wants to settle down with one man from now on. I am partial to plump girls. I speak both Italian and Spanish. If you will send me an address, I'll go anywhere.

DEAR ABBY: Don't start packing until you've taken a good look in your own back yard. Just let a few friends know that you are interested in meeting a good woman who wants to settle down, and you'll need police protection.

DEAR ABBY: I am the proud father of a big, handsome college freshman. When this kid comes home for weekend vacations, he helps himself to my neckties. Now I wouldn't mind so much if he returned my ties in the same condition that he finds them. But he knots them peculiarly and the tie is a lifeless rag by the time he's worn it once. He has more ties than I have, but he wears mine because he says he likes my "taste." I suppose I should be flattered and, in a way, I am. But how would you solve this problem, Abby?

POOR DAD
DEAR DAD: What you need is stronger family ties. And buy enough for both of you!

BACK TO BACK
Few take the time to give much care to the back. But, with fashion designers baring backs and exposing more shoulders, it is essential that these areas get a fair share of beauty treatment. When bathing, use a back brush or a stimulating loofah sponge. Smooth a cream or lotion over your shoulders to rid them of any rough spots.

GET THE Shortest Clothesline IN THE WORLD... AN ELECTRIC Clothes Dryer

Just about 2½ feet wide—that's all the space you need for an electric clothes dryer (some models as little as 27 inches) and that's a pretty short clothes line, you'll agree. Too, the cost is low—the total cost—just 5¢ a load and if you dried a load every day that's $1.50 a month. And remember, this includes power for the tumbler and blower as well as gentle electric heat for drying.

Christian Crusade Rally Scheduled Here Thursday

Communist infiltration will be the keynote of the message to be delivered in Pampa at 7:30 p.m. Thursday when Christian Crusade, anti-communist organization of evangelist Billy James Hargis, Tulsa, Okla., presents a one-night anti-communist rally at the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium.

Speaker at the rally will be Major Pedro Diaz Lanz, one-time commander in chief of the Cuban Air Force under Fidel Castro, and who was the first high-ranking officer to denounce the Cuban dictator as a communist. He has since escaped with his life in 1959, shortly after he publicly split with Castro. Later in the year, flying an unarmed aircraft from a Florida base, he "bombed" Havana with leaflets warning Cubans of their fate under communism and Castro, and was arrested and jailed by the United States State Department when he returned to the United States mainland. He was fined $2,000 because of the incident.

Lanz will level several accusations at the U.S. State Department and will reveal the names of Cuban refugees now in this country whom he believes to be little better than communist "plants," now being infiltrated into refugee Cuban groups for a take-over of the Cuban government after Castro is deposed.

The daily network broadcast, Christian Crusade, is carried by radio stations in over 40 states and Canada and Mexico. Dr. Hargis publishes two national publications, Christian Crusade and the Weekly Crusader. One of the most sought after speakers among anti-communist organizations in the United States, he makes over 250 personal appearances each year throughout the nation.

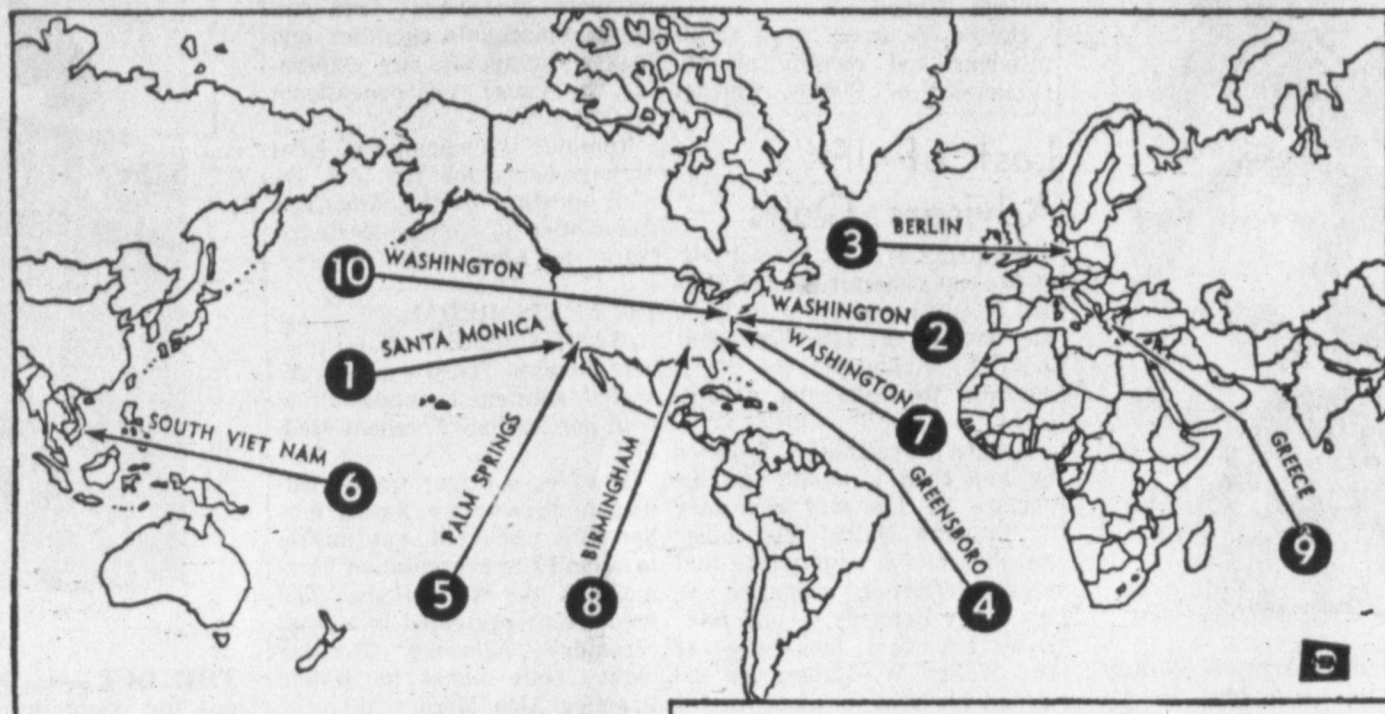

Feature articles on his anti-communist activities have appeared in Newsweek, Life, Time, Look, Saturday Evening Post and on nationally televised programs such as "Chet Huntley Presents" and "CBS Reports" and most recently on "Issues and Answers," ABC-TV and Radio Network program.

Members of Christian Crusade's National Advisory Committee include more than 50 prominent American military figures, teachers, clergymen, statesmen, attorneys and professional men.

Admission to Thursday night's Christian Crusade meeting is free and the public is invited.

France to Boycott Next SEATO Meet

PARIS (UPI) — France announced Tuesday a boycott of the forthcoming Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) conference to underline President Charles de Gaulle's disapproval of United States policy in Viet Nam.

The government said Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will not attend the May 3-5 meeting in London.

Instead, it will send only an observer — Achilles Claret, French ambassador to Thailand and France's representative on the SEATO permanent council.

The British Foreign Office deplored the French decision.

and expressed hope it resulted "only from their present differences of opinion concerning Indochina and does not imply any weakening of French support for SEATO in the longer term."

Other member nations are sending their foreign ministers to the conference.

ASK DEATH PENALTY
CAIRO (UPI) — The prosecution plans to demand death sentences for three West Germans accused of spying against the United Arab Republic, the newspaper Al Ahran said today.

The newspaper said the case against the three alleged spies — Wolfgang Lotz, his wife and Frank Kiesow — has been completed.

It said they will be charged with spying for Israel, possessing explosives, and attempting to kill Egyptians and German scientists working for the U.A.R. government.

QUAKE HITS JAPAN
TOKYO (UPI) — A strong earthquake sent tremors through central Japan today, killing one person and injuring three others.

The quake registered four on the Japanese scale of seven at its epicenter in the mouth of the river Oi about 125 miles southeast of Tokyo.

A woman was crushed to death when a concrete block fell on her at a construction site in Aichi prefecture, southwest of Tokyo.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

By ALVIN SPIVAK
United Press International
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Backstairs at the Texas White House:

President Johnson's Sunday jaunts through the Texas countryside—at the head of 30 or 40-car caravans of aides, newsmen and tourists—are opening new natural vistas to city slickers who follow his dusty trail.

Visiting lawmakers, newsmen, Secret Service Agents and other motorcaders, who never used to get closer to cattle than the neighborhood butcher shop, are watching the excited response of livestock when Johnson drives through a pasture tooting a motorized bull horn.

They are observing Texas bluebonnets and other wild flowers alongside the road (one hardbitten newsreel camera man actually picked a bouquet) and are coming to know a live oak tree from a cedar.

An easy aid to this learning is a handsomely designed, 80 page volume titled "A President's Country" and subtitled "A Guide to the Hill Country of Texas." The brief book was edited by Jack McGuire, executive secretary of the Ex-Students Association of the University of Texas.

Johnson liked the book—so much when it first came out late last year that he gave copies to scores of visitors to his ranch, and happily autographed a good many of those editions.

Bee stings are less annoying to seasoned beekeepers than to a mosquito bites as most beekeeper build up immunity to their effects.

Walter Rogers Reports: Presidential Line Of Succession Sound

The Constitution, article II, section 1, clause 5, reads as follows:
"In Case of the Removal of the President from Office, or at his Death, Resignation, or Inability to discharge the Powers and Duties of the said Office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by Law provide for the Case of Removal, Death, Resignation, or Inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what Officer shall then act as President, and such Officer shall act accordingly, until the Disability be removed, or a President shall be elected."

This is the language of the Constitution as it was adopted by the Constitutional Convention. It will be noted that the proviso provides no replacement procedure when a vacancy occurs in the office of the Vice President. For many years there has been a continuing debate with regard to the line of succession to the Presidency as to whether or not provision should be made for a Vice President when the elected Vice President becomes President, and on the touchy issue of the meaning of the term "disability", and who is to make the determination. The Congress has undertaken to settle this debate.

The Senate has passed a Resolution calling for a Constitutional amendment, and the House passed another one. The vote in the Senate was 72 to nothing. The vote in the House was 368 to 29. I cast my vote with the 29. Needless to say, I was queried endlessly as to my reasons. Here they are:

In the first instance, I have hesitancy in tampering with the Constitution I have said many times and I repeat that this document, although struck by the hand of man, was undoubtedly the work of God. Unless there is clear justification beyond any reasonable doubt for tampering with this document, it should not be amended. In the present case, the Congress of the United States is playing with political dynamite. The proof of the bedrock stability of the provisions as they now stand is unchallenged. On only two occasions in the history of the United States has there been a serious need for the answer to the question of disability.

The first of these cases arose in 1881 when President Garfield fell victim of an assassin's bullet and lingered for some 80 days. The other was when President Woodrow Wilson suffered a severe stroke in 1919. On both of these occasions there was much talk and serious questions of action. However, in both cases no action was taken although it could have been. And it might be well to point out that the Country survived and grew stronger. During the Eisenhower Administrations, an informal agreement was made between the President and the Vice President concerning the Vice President assuming the duties of the President and standing in a position of Acting President. This, in my opinion, is a rather dangerous proceeding. A President of the United States is elected by the people, as is a Vice President. Neither has the right or the power to traffic in the duties or responsibilities of those offices.

In all three cases above men-

Picture Bleak for Prospective Student

CHICAGO (UPI) — A college admissions officer said Tuesday that at no time in history has the picture been "as bleak as it is today" for the prospective college student.

Harold Temmer, dean of admissions and records for the University of Illinois, Chicago branch, said more than 100,000 qualified high school graduates will be turned away from colleges this September.

Temmer said accelerating numbers of college age students, inadequate facilities and lack of instructors are combining to cause an educational bind.

Temmer is chairman of local arrangements for the 51st annual meeting of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers.

Last of JFK's Advisers Quits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Budget Bureau Director Kermit Gordon is quitting his post in June, the last of the late President John F. Kennedy's top fiscal advisers to leave the government.

Gordon's resignation followed by less than a month the departure of Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon. The other member of the triumvirate that greatly influenced economic policy under Kennedy — and later under President Johnson — was Dr. Walter W. Heller. He resigned his post as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers late last year.

TIME OUT — Catholic U.S. Marines on Hill 327 near Da Nang, South Viet Nam, took time out for confession and Holy Communion during Easter services. The priest is Navy Capt. Paul Toldan, of Boston. After the brief break the Marines were back on duty guarding the base against Communist attack.

Three Pampa Trackmen Rate Regional Chance

By RONNIE OLER
According to comparative times and distances, three of Pampa's four entries in the regional track meet at Odessa stand a good chance of going on to the state meet, with one of them seemingly a "sure thing," if there is such an item in the uncertain world of track.

Pampa's Mark Westbrook, who ran the second fastest time recorded by a 4-A runner in the state last week, a 4:20.1 at Andrews, finds no one near him in regional competition. The region, which composes districts 1-4A through 3-4A, comprising the El Paso, Abilene, Odessa, Midland, Lubbock and Amarillo area schools, shows no times even close to the fleet-footed Westy, with the nearest regional competitor running a 4:25.6, John Graves of Midland. Closest other recorded time in the region, not counting several more of Westbrook's jaunts, is a 4:26.7 by David Caffey of Abilene Cooper. The state's top schoolboy track performances show only two other runners with faster times than Westbrook. Robert Gonzales of Class AAA Falluris in South Texas, has run for records all year, his latest being a 4:13.2.

Although Gonzales is in a different class, Steve Montoya of San Antonio Jefferson (AAAA) ran second to him with a 4:14.1, and has also posted a 4:18.6. Westbrook's coach, Norman Phillips, feels that Westbrook could match those times if he had had the competition that Gonzales and his teammate and cousin, Homer Martinez, (4:22.5) have provided Montoya. "If he gets past regional, we will go to a meet in Hobbs, N. Mex.," said Phillips. "Hobbs has two boys who have run 4:20s... then we'll see what Mark can do."

Two other school record-holders rate good chances for state honors for the Big Green. Randy Johnston, who's 14.4 high hurdles set a school and district record, breaking the old PHS mark of 14.5 held jointly by Derral Davis and Ed Dudley, is tied for the fifth fastest time in the state. Only one runner in regional has an equal time however, Larry Smith of Abilene.

A threat to the pair, warned Phillips, could be David Baker of Big Spring, who edged Johnston at Andrews last weekend with a 14.7 to Randy's 14.8. "I would say that on comparative times through, Randy has at least a 50-50 chance of winning," admitted the old pipe-puffer.

Newest of the school record-holders is Gary "Little Butch" Crossland, who broad jumped 22' 5 1/2" at Andrews to set a meet and school mark, beating the old PHS record of 22' 3 1/2" by John Darby.

District rival David May of Palo Duro holds the top mark in the region, a 23' 5 1/2" jump, but no one else shows a better mark than Crossland. Their chief regional threat will come from Duane Gray of Odessa Permian, who finished second to Crossland at Andrews with 21' 11 1/2", opined Phillips and assistant Don Myers.

"All Gray's jumps were a round the 22-foot mark, he scratched on one over 22, and he could be tough. However, Crossland has looked very promising. When he jumped 22-13.4 at district, that was the first time he had broken the 22-foot barrier, and four of his six jumps last Saturday bettered 22 feet. I don't know if he can out-jump May yet, but he could come close."

Only one of Pampa's regional contenders appears to be a long shot, high jumper Sam Williams. Williams qualified this year with a 5' 8" leap for second place and his best last year was a 5-10 at Perryton. "Sam has done a tremendous job and given everything he has, and we're very proud that he got this far," said Phillips.

"However, he'll be competing against Tim Haines of Odessa Permian (6' 5") and Tommy Cook of Palo Duro (6' 2 1/2") and he isn't quite capable yet of matching those marks, though he will try."

Briton Wins
LONDON (UPI) — Harry Scott of Britain recovered from a first-round knockdown and went on to score a disputed decision Tuesday night over Ruben (Hurricane) Carter of Paterson, N.J., in a 10-round bout.

Carter dropped Scott in the first round with a vicious right to the head for the only knockdown of the bout. Scott held on and came back in the later rounds to score heavily at close range against Carter, the third-ranked middleweight contender.

Pampa Batsmen Slug 11-3 Win

By JEFF COHANE
News Sports Editor
AMARILLO — The Pampa Harvesters, aroused by some mental errors on their part and several more on the part of the base umpire, rallied their booming bats behind the clutch pitching of reliever Ron Curlee for an 11-3 victory over the Caprock Longhorns here yesterday.

The Harvesters won their fourth straight district 3-4A victory after two opening setbacks, but for the first time in loop play, showed the power hitting they had displayed all early season, smashing out 13 hits, including three inside-the-park home runs, a triple and double. The weird calls started in the fourth inning when centerfielder Ducky Daniels slid wide into second base to break up a double play. The ump called the twin killing good because of interference, and then ejected Daniels from the game on a charge of "unsportsmanlike conduct."

In the Caprock fourth, with runners on first and second, a batter hit a line drive into centerfield, apparently a sure hit, and both runners took off. Phil Smith made a shoestring catch and immediately threw the ball in, with Harvesters fielders tagging all bases in an attempt for a double play. The base umpire ruled that the runner on second had not left the base until after the ball was caught, and was safe on third, and that the runner from first had gotten back ahead of the throw. The mental error came from Curlee on the next play as he took a full windup with the runners on, allowing them both to move up, the front man scoring the lead run.

Curlee shook that off and proceeded to pitch three and two-thirds innings of perfect ball, retiring 11 straight batters and striking out six of them, while his mates exploded for five runs in the next inning to blow the game wide open.

Gary McSwain and Carl Harnsberger started the game, and both were well-tagged by the Big Green sent Curlee in to put out the Longhorn fire, while Caprock left McSwain in until it was all over but the totalling.

The Harvesters grabbed two runs in the second as Jerry Simpson's two-out triple plated Ray Jernigan and Puncy Molberg, who had singled ahead of him. Gary Day's single and a pair of Pampa errors gave Caprock a run in their half, and the Horns tied it up in the third as Jim Wheeler homered over the left-centerfield fence. A single to Ricky Rustin and walk to Andy Bigham in the fourth brought in Curlee, who allowed the lead run on the stolen bases.

The Horns were helpless before Curlee's capework after that, while the rest of the corridor spiked the bull hard and often. With two out in the top of the fifth, Chinky Garrison beat out an infield single, and stole second and Kydo Vann followed with a run-scoring hit. The Longhorns walked the powerful Ricky Maynard, and cleanup hitter Steve Molberg, aroused at the slurr, promptly singled home Vann. Jernigan then slammed a line drive over the centerfielder's head and ran all the way home before he retrieved it for a 7-3 Pampa lead.

An error and another inside-the-park smack, to left-center by Garrison, brought in two more tallies in the sixth, and then the Big Green finished it up with a single by Maynard and a four-bagger to the centerfield fence by the still-angry Molberg.

Pampa plays a non-district game Friday at Dumas, and then comes back for more loop action Saturday when they host Plainview at 2 p.m.

44-Year-Old Spahn Outpitches LA Dodgers

By United Press International
And so, after all, Warren Spahn and the New York Mets may have the last laugh on the rest of the baseball world. Tabbed as washed up when he had a 6-13 record for the Milwaukee Braves in 1964, Spahn was acquired by the Mets as a pitcher-coach and then promptly announced he still regarded himself as primarily a pitcher.

The idea of a pitcher who will be 44 on next Friday winning for the ragamuffin Mets seemed incredible — even when that pitcher is the most successful left-hander in major league history.

But Spahn demonstrated Tuesday night that there's still something left in the arm that won 356 games from 1946 through 1964 by pitching the Mets to a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers — and acquiring another National League record in the bargain.

By striking out five batters Spahn raised his career total to 2,501 and thereby surpassed the previous league mark of 2,499 set by Hall of Famer Christy Mathewson.

Had Something Extra
What's more Spahn showed that he still can reach for something extra in the clutch by pitching his way out of a ninth-inning jam when the Dodgers scored both their runs. Wes Parker's single, an error and singles by Tommy Davis and John Roseboro produced two runs and it looked like Spahn just didn't have enough left to make it.

But he struck out Jim Lefebvre for the 2,500th strikeout of his career. T. Davis was caught in a rundown and Warren polished off the night's work by fanning John Kennedy for the final out of the game. In all, Spahn allowed eight hits, walked one and struck out five.

Johnny Lewis, who scored the Mets' first run as a pinch runner, delivered a two-run single off Ron Perranoski in the top of the ninth to give Spahn a 3-0 lead. In his first outing of the season, Spahn allowed seven hits and three runs in eight innings against the Houston Astros.

The Philadelphia Phillies shaded the Astros, 2-1, in 13 innings and the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the San Francisco Giants, 3-1, in other National League games while the Boston Red Sox defeated the Washington Senators, 5-2, in the only American League game.

Makes NL Debut
Ray Herbert, making his NL debut after 12 years in the AL pitched five-hit shutout for eight innings but removed himself from the game at the start of the ninth because he felt he had lost his stuff and the Astros tied the score at 1-1 against Ed Roebuck. The Phillies won the game in the 13th when Ruben Amaro singled home Cookie Rojas from second base with two out.

Roberto Clemente singled home runs in the first and fifth innings as the Pirates spoiled the Giants' home opener. Bob Friend, went 6 1-3 innings and then Al McBean came on to shut out the Giants for the final 2-3. Willie Mays hit his third homer of the season for the Giants' run.

Felix Mantilla drove in all five Red Sox' runs with a single and the first grand slam homer of his AL career. Mantilla's homer sent the Red Sox off to a 4-1 lead in the first inning. Dave Morehead lasted 7 1-3 innings before giving way to relief ace Dick Radatz who held the Senators to one hit in the last 1-2-3 innings.

Sonics Take Second Win
By United Press International
Albuquerque and Tulsa won extra decisions in the Texas League Tuesday night to take over the lead in their divisions.

The Dodgers edged the Austin Braves 3-2 in 10 innings to capture the top spot in the Western Division and the Oilers took a 10-inning decision from Dallas-Fort Worth, 7-6, to take over the Eastern Division lead.

Amarillo whipped El Paso 6-4 in the other Texas League encounter.

Both the Oilers and Dodgers had to come from behind to get their wins. Tulsa trailed by as much as 6-2 after seven innings, but they hit Dallas starter John Haydel hard in the eighth and ninth to get back in the game.

Albuquerque scored two runs in the top of the ninth to go one run ahead, but Austin forced the contest into extra innings with a bottom of the ninth home run by catcher Butler Powell. Albuquerque, however, tallied again in the top of the tenth to take the victory.

Amarillo rode the eight-hit pitching performance of Raymond Cordeiro to victory. Cordeiro went the route for the Sonics, who won their second game of the year.

Kansas Fires Track Coach
LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — The University of Kansas was in the market today for a head track coach to replace the highly successful but fired Bill Easton.

Easton's dismissal Tuesday, for "unwillingness to follow the administrative and business procedures" outlined by the university, left observers close to the Kansas athletic program in a state of shock.

Athletic Director Wade Stinson said Easton's release would become effective June 30.

The Newspapers' Case of Free Press And Free Trial Stirring Controversy

By H. D. QUIGG
NEW YORK (UPI)—An upsurge of restrictive measures against press coverage of criminal proceedings has brought about a sometimes heated debate between representatives of the law and the press.

At issue is the fundamental right of a free press, serving the people's right to know, versus the equally fundamental right of fair trial by an impartial jury.

In some states efforts already have begun to limit crime news reporting and pretrial publicity and in others such action has been proposed or is under discussion.

One of the more eloquent press spokesmen in answering these actions is Vincent S. Nett, Newspapers, who told a law school alumni gathering:

"Press Is Responsible"
"We have a responsible press in America today. Yellow journalism is very dead indeed. There is much loose talk about editors reaching for sensational stories to sell newspapers. That isn't the way most newspapers are sold today. They are sold on their total content, of which crime news is a small part."

"In 1962 two million crimes were reported in the United States and there were four million arrests. Only 8 per cent of criminal cases go before juries and most of these trials get scant coverage. In a two-year period there were 51 appeals on grounds of prejudicial pretrial coverage, but only three reversals."

"I wonder if you have considered this unpalatable proposition: Newsmen, by training and daily practice, may be more objective than you lawyers, who are so passionately devoted to presenting just one side."

"Fairness in World"
"We do have a responsible press. With all its faults it is the best press in the world, and the fairest. I submit that you ought to be making better and more constructive use of newspapers and broadcasting instead of trying to slam the doors of the court house in our faces."

A dramatic case of the press in action in pretrial publicity is that of George Whitmore Jr., a slow-witted Negro youth arrested in the sadistic knife murders of two Manhattan career girls. Police detailed his alleged confession. The press trumpeted it.

Then reporters began digging. They found witnesses who could place Whitmore far from the crime scene. Their inquiries led to the prosecutor's admission that a photograph found on Whitmore was not that of one of the victims nor traceable to her apartment. The publicity stirred especially thorough investigations by both press and police.

A new suspect was arrested and the charges against Whitmore dropped. An assistant district attorney said: "If this case hadn't got the tremendous publicity... Whitmore might well have been slipped into the electric chair and been killed for something he didn't do."

Publicity Helped
Publicity also helped get experienced defense counsel, Stanley J. Reiben, chief defense counsel, said he originally declined to accept the case when urged by two young lawyers to do so—but changed his mind when a reporter from the New York World-Telegram came to him with the information discrediting the photograph.

In assessing the case, the Wall Street Journal said: "...Whoever concocted the fictitious confession, it was not the newspapers. They only related an account given on authority both high and, in claim-in-gar-tight cases, usually reliable."

The American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) is compiling a series of case histories on how the press serves and forwards the cause of justice and fair trial.

From Washington comes the story of the six-month ordeal in 1950 of Robert Snead Williams, an estimator for a lumber firm who happened to be driving by when two girls were informing a policeman they had been subjected to indecent exposure. They pointed out Williams as the offender.

Reporters insisted Williams' lawyers tried to arrange a secret trial to save him from embarrassment. The judge cleared the courtroom but when reporters protested he told them they could return "as a matter of right." The trial was a page-one story. Williams, a man with a spotless record, insisted it was a case of mistaken identity. The girls stuck to their story that he was the one.

Williams was found guilty. The judge delayed sentence pending receipt of a probation report. The trial publicity then paid off. A man in Chevy Chase had been suffering conscience torment reading of the trial. He wrote two letters to the prosecutor and then visited him to confess he was the offender.

The charge against Williams was thrown out. Williams was now eager to talk to reporters. He acknowledged the publicity had caused the letter writer to clear him.

Began Digging
In New York, Gregory Cruz, 22, a clerk, was shot three times by a detective as a murder suspect. He was charged with felonious assault on a detective and resisting an officer—but never with murder. He was in a hospital for 70 days, and investigating reporters began probing behind police reports.

They found four witnesses who confirmed Cruz' story that he was stopped, searched, and beaten by the plainclothes detective, who showed no identification. Cruz said he ran because he thought the man was a robber.

The reporters turned over the facts. A grand jury dropped charges. Departmental hearings in the case of the detective cleared him.

In Chicago, the Sun-Times reported that vigorous investigative work over 20 years had produced, among other results:

—Freeing of a man convicted showed conviction was based on false testimony.

—Conviction of a state's attorney's policeman, whose family had political connections, for a wanton killing of two youths. The case was reopened after the original grand jury failed to indict.

—Closing of eight "untouchable" B-girl clip joints that fed profits to criminals but couldn't be shut down because police raid evidence was consistently quashed in court.

In Philadelphia, Rudolph Sheeler spent 11 years in prison before repudiating his murder confession, saying police beat him until he made it. A year later he got a new trial and freedom, mainly through the efforts of Louis B. Schwartz, a law professor, working with a Philadelphia Bulletin reporter.

The reporter's role, Schwartz said, "basically was that of keeping public attention focused on a bad thing—we would like to say that the judicial process functions without that, but we can't say it."

The Hartford Courant, vigorously alive at age 200, spoke out when the state's attorney told police chiefs in Hartford County to set limits on crime news: "Every censorship is exercised on the ground that its purpose is noble. Alas, the evil that follows in the end always outweighs the good that was sought."

"How are the people of Hartford County to know and to judge their police, and even their courts, if they may read only what the police and prosecutor want to tell them? This is the perfect way to cover up mistakes. And history testifies that in the end such concealment ends in corruption."

"Despite the current drive to withhold news that the public has every right to know, responsible newspapermen are in a mood to stop the shouting match in which they cry free press while the lawyers cry back fair trial."

"It is a time instead to reach a reasonable balance... Connecticut is a civilized state in which there has been such a reasonable balance. That balance must be restored by an end to this police censorship, as Police Chief Grace in Bristol has had the good sense to decide.

"The alternative is darkness"

Students' Views Differ on Sex

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sociologists differ on the deterioration of morals on American college campuses. So do the students. This report explores the subject.

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International
Coeds seeking birth control information or a pregnancy test find both available at the student health centers of an increasing number of colleges.

They are among a growing group of collegians experiencing something "not officially condoned but nevertheless happening when sex and the student mix.

At Harvard and Radcliffe, visits between the sexes in student residence are permitted.

At spring vacation time and on weekends, collegiate couples can go to a motel or a stretch of beach. Or it may be a car at a drive-in movie. Students find themselves involved — by design or accident.

Want Own Code
"Students want to work out their own moral code and want to get away from restrictions and rules established by an earlier generation," says Werner Bundschuh, editor of the Boston University News.

At B. U., students are seeking more freedom in visiting hours between the sexes in dormitories and fraternity and sorority houses. The pressure for such change is felt in many other colleges.

Walter Whittaker, student journalist on the West Virginia University paper, in a survey, found that sex at that school is a fact of life.

"Basically, students agree that there are about three main reasons why students have premarital intercourse," he reported.

The reasons: Physical desire; to show adults you are going to do exactly what you want to do, regardless of what they think; to release tensions.

"They tell us (Kinsey and other reports) that sex is more frequent and that everybody does it," one student commented. "So we say—why not us, too?"

Views Have Two Sides
But as sociologists differ on the subject, Whittaker, too, found two sides to the student views.

"Sex drives are no higher today than they have ever been," a student noted. Another put it this way—"Let's be realistic—there are just too many things in college to have your mind preoccupied with sex."

Official opinions differ on the state of morals on the campus, and there's been no decline in student morality," maintains Dr. Nevitt Sanford, professor of education and psychology at Stanford (Calif.) University.

The Rev. Arthur Kinsolving, rector of St. James' church, New York City, disagrees.

"As a Christian minister, standing in the Protestant tradition... it seems to me that there can be no doubt that there has been a setback in sex morality on American campuses," Kinsolving says.

Sanford and Kinsolving stated their views in the Journal of the National Education Association.

Sanford made these additional points:

Lists View Points
—It appears that there has been no revolutionary change in the rates of premarital relations since the 1920s. It is the girls involved in serious relationships who comprise the bulk of those appearing at birth control clinics.

—During the past 12 years, he and his colleagues have studied students at one eastern women's college, at a western state university, and at a western private university. They found between 20 to 30 per cent of the women in the samples had sexual experiences prior to graduation.

The Rev. Kinsolving supports his view of a breakdown in morals on campus by noting:

—Growing evidence shows college authorities, chaplains, parents and thoughtful students are concerned about the rapid breakdown of moral standards. Though authorities are tempted to sweep the evidence under the rug, candid revelations of concern by administrative officials have come from Harvard, Vassar, the University of Virginia and many other quarters.

The collegians who fill the Florida and California beaches at vacation time are not the only defiant ones. Students of standing flout authority, as in the case were male and female students of one university signed up at a university hotel for rooms together, daring the administration to take action.

"Indeed, should the trend be stepped up for another decade," Kinsolving said, "it could spell the degeneration of our stock and destroy our capacity to meet the unprecedented challenges of leadership in our critical world.

"yet, have we not all together an enormous stake in recovering in American culture a sense of sanity about sex, and an awareness of its sacredness?"

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
Before sounding off huzzahs for the Great Society's just enacted aid - to - education bill, the frugal citizen should inquire into the dark mystery of who pays for what when Washington sets up for the voters a so-called free lunch.

The voter of course pays although he seems sometimes too muddle-headed to comprehend this fact. It requires more than merely a clear head, however, to comprehend who pays how much. For example, the Legislative Reference Service of the Library of Congress has totted up how much individual states would receive from Washington and also the sum of the tax burden imposed on each state to make the educational free lunch possible. Rep. Bob Dole (R-Kan.) tells his Jayhawkers that:

"Those who look only at the $12,422,000.60 Kansas is to receive under this bill must be reminded that Kansas' estimated share of the tax burden of this bill is $12,300,000.80."

The Legislative Reference Service can provide comparable figures for your state. If you are interested, write your congressman for the information. Some states will enjoy a better deal than Kansas which appears to net $121,999.80.

There remains, however, an aroma of Alice in Wonderland in the education bill. The bill is to aid deprived children. It so states. But it provides that federal funds shall be allotted to the states on the basis of 50 per cent of what the state spends on education for all children. This is a misty formula, at best.

Dole has invited his Jayhawkers to consider the end result of this mathematical formula. It is that it will benefit last the poorest states which spend the least for education and may be assumed to have the most deprived children.

TWO IS COMPANY — The styling and engineering features of vertically-mounted head lamps have long been associated with Pontiac Motor Division and they now have become a hallmark for many other cars in the automobile industry. For 1965 all Tempest, Tempest Custom and LeMans models will join the Catalina, Star Chief, Bonneville and Grand Prix models in offering the "twin" head lamps. Joining them are pretty six year old twins Martha and Sarah Hassard.

Pontiacs, Tempests Show New Concept in Design

The 1965 Pontiacs and Tempests which will be on display at the Automobile Show reflect a new concept in automotive design and styling.

All new models present an appealing silhouette — they are longer, lower and wider on the exterior and contain more room and luxurious furnishings in the interior.

The combination of styling excellence and outstanding performance which has vaulted Pontiac into third place in automobile sales prevails again in 1965. Pontiac's high-selling Catalina series is available on seven models — two and four-door sedans, two and four-door hardtops, six and nine-passenger station wagons and a convertible. A four-door hardtop and a four-door sedan are offered in the Star Chief series. The luxurious Bonneville is available in a sports coupe, a four-door hardtop, a six-passenger station wagon and a convertible. Pontiac's award winning sports coupe, the Grand Prix, is again entered in the prestige car field.

Car Rental System May Soon Prove Most Economical

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Some day national banks may be able to lower these payments, primarily by using depreciation allowances and the new 7 per cent investment credit tax law, to the point where they can fit the pocketbooks of most Americans. Already they have found that leasing operations, mainly on big items such as planes, railroad rolling stock and heavy construction equipment, fit the pocketbooks of many large corporations. Although bankers now stress they enter leasing agreements mostly "to provide another service for major customers," most of them agree it's only a matter of time until they find small-scale (items under $5,000) leasing to individuals profitable. "Our leasing customers are large corporations right now," we've only begun to scratch the surface." "As far as banking's future in the leasing business is concerned, the sky's the limit," adds a Washington banker. This situation was spotlighted recently when United Air Lines announced it was renting six DC-8 jets worth $42 million from a group of 6 commercial banks. Had United borrowed the money to purchase the planes outright, they would have paid 4.5 per cent interest. By leasing, however, they pay the equivalent of only 2.2 per cent. At the same time, the banks make over 5 per cent—thanks to the annual depreciation benefits and the investment credit. Key to the transaction is the investment credit, which can be employed fully only by firms with hefty tax liabilities. The way the law works is simple: a company can deduct 7 per cent of new capital outlays for equipment from their income tax. But this deduction cannot exceed $25,000 plus 26 per cent of its total tax liability over the amount. For example, a firm with tax liability of $65,000 might spend $1 million for new machinery. It could claim an investment credit of only $35,000 rather than the "full" 7 per cent deduction of $70,000. Pioneers in this field are Bank of America (San Francisco), First National City Bank (New York), Continental Illinois National Bank (Chicago), First National Bank of Chicago, Mellon National Bank (Pittsburgh) and Security First National Bank (Los Angeles). Mellon has completed several diesels and freight cars. "We're sold on this idea for one simple reason," a C&O spokesman says. "It's less expensive than any other form of financing in the world today." Implicit in this situation is the prospect that in the future, leasing companies may find themselves with more competition than they can handle. Most leasing companies today finance purchases by borrowing from bank. Their leasing rates are geared to leave a margin of profit over their interest payments. - Elephant Butte Reservoir, largest in New Mexico, is on the Rio Grande 120 miles above El Paso.

AUSTIN (UPI) — Acting Gov. Tom Creighton proclaimed Mineral Wells, his hometown, as "Clay Products Capital of Texas."

Creighton was "governor for a day" today, an honor traditionally extended to the president pro tempore of the Senate. "Mineral Wells is a center of clay and ceramic products manufacturers," Creighton said. "The community action and community attitude of Mineral Wells make it an attractive location for industry."

Creighton also designated Weatherford as "The Tourist

Center of the Southwest," Gorman as "The Peanut Capital of the Southwest," and Denton as "The Education and Research Center of North Texas."

INVITES NASSER

BERLIN (UPI) — President Walter Ulbricht has extended a formal invitation to President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic to visit Communist East Germany.

Hurricane Winds of 132 m.p.h. has been recorded in Miami Fla.

Several advantages are claimed in addition to greater stability. Basic design and internal ventilation fins reduce heat and virtually eliminate "fading" from repeated panic stops. While running, the discs are exposed to air movement and are constantly wiped helping to keep them clean and dry. The system is self-adjusting. Pressure is equal at all wheels. Braking force is directly proportionate to pressure on the brake pedal.

Activation of the disc brake system is the same as in conventional design. Hydraulic pistons are located at each wheel. Pressure in the hydraulic line clamps the pads against an 11 1/4 inch cast iron disc in the manner of calipers. Although the brakes have been under experiment for years, the Corvette Sting Ray is the first domestic make to offer discs as standard at all four wheels. Other companies have installed the device only at the front.

1965 CORVETTE STING RAY CONVERTIBLE — The Corvette Sting Ray registers another first with four-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment for 1965. The new caliper-type disc brakes are virtually fade-free and are self-adjusting. The aerodynamic design of the Corvette's steel-reinforced fiber glass body is enhanced by 1965 styling refinements. Adding to the sportiness, a telescoping steering column among optional equipment for the Corvette in 1965. Offered along with the convertible is the Corvette Sting Ray sport coupe.

1965 Cadillac Features Comfort, Convenience

Cadillac's long established reputation of providing its customers with comfort and convenience is even further enhanced in the 1965 models.

Inside the 1965 Cadillac are features that are new to the auto industry and many engineering refinements to options already enjoyed by owners.

Heading the list of new, exclusive optional equipment in the 1965 Cadillac is a Tilt and Telescope steering wheel which allows each driver to select his own personalized steering wheel position. The steering column telescopes in and out three inches while the wheel tilts in the same wide range as last year.

The wheel can even be moved while the car is in motion to provide a change of position on a long trip. Combined with an optional six-way power seat, the T&T steering wheel offers an almost infinite range of positions for maximum driver comfort.

Optional power door locks make locking or unlocking doors easier than ever before. When the knob on either front door is depressed, all doors lock. To unlock all doors, merely lift the knob or open one of the front doors. And for utmost convenience all doors unlock when a key is used from outside.

A new automatic level control is standard on the Fleetwood series, except Seventy-Five models, and optional at extra cost on Calais and DeVille models. It uses special rear shock absorbers to keep the car at its designed road clearance regardless of variation in load.

Comfort Control, Cadillac's automatic heating and air conditioning system introduced last year has been refined and continues as an option in 1965. Three out of four Cadillac owners in 1964 chose this option which maintains a pre-selected temperature inside the car regardless of weather condition.

Another highlight in Cadillac's comfort and convenience story is Twilight Sentinel which turns the headlights on and off automatically at dusk and sunrise or other varying light conditions. The driver never needs to touch the switch at all. Additionally headlights may be left on up to 90 seconds by setting a delayed action switch which provides illumination while leaving the car at night.

Rounding out the comfort-convenience package in the 1965 Cadillac are a redesigned instrument panel that is recessed on the passenger side for additional knee room, contoured high seat backs and new body-to-frame rubber mounting pads to reduce road noise.

Business Highlights

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Calgon Corp. reported record first quarter earnings and sales. Net income was $609,353 or 25 cents a share on sales of $10,583,000 compared with $529,212 or 22 cents a share a year ago when sales were $9,192,450. President W. W. Hopwood announced the company recently had reached an agreement with Blaw-Knox Co.'s Hall Laboratories division to work together on packaged industrial water softening projects.

NEW YORK—Trans World Airlines published a new family style jet coach rate schedule that could cut $307 off the round-trip fare of a family of six for a transcontinental vacation. TWA also said it was proposing to the International Air Transport Association a west-bound roundtrip excursion fare over the Atlantic to bring many European tourists to North America.

LONDON (UPI)—Gossip about a possible cut in bank rate—the country's key interest rate—from its crisis level of 7 per cent in the not-too-distant future handed gains to government bonds on the stock market Tuesday.

The upward movement in the "gilt-edged" was also helped by the renewed strength of the pound sterling which worked higher. In quiet post-holiday dealing it was 2.79 3/4 in terms of the U.S. dollar, a gain of 1-1/16th of a cent since the closing quotation before the Easter break. The pound was at its best level since June 1st 1964.

CADILLAC QUALITY—Cadillac's readily identifiable rear view, first established by the introduction of the tail fin in 1948, is just as strong as ever in 1965. Consolidation of tail, stop, directional and back-up lights into the familiar vertical bumper outers makes nighttime identity of a 1965 Cadillac an easy matter. This coupe de Ville shows Cadillac's distinctive roof structure that features curved side windows.

Daughters of the American Revolution Oppose LBJ Administration's Proposed Immigration Law Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) began work Tuesday on tentative resolutions. They included opposition to the administration's proposed immigration law changes, a call for more government anti-Communist activity, and support for a war against crime.

The 13 proposed resolutions were submitted to the 74th annual convention of the patriotic society for debate and discussion. The approximately 4,000 delegates vote on them Wednesday.

They were drawn up by a special resolutions committee during the past year.

Before the resolutions were read formally, the society received an optimistic report on the DAR's present financial condition.

Mrs. Lois B. Clark, DAR treasurer general, told the delegates the society now has $2,059,083.39 in assets. Of this, she said, $1,633,699.41 is invested in a combined portfolio of government securities and corporate stocks and bonds.

The remainder is held in cash, she said.

Most of this year's resolutions reflected the society's conservative outlook, and several flatly opposed portions of President Johnson's legislative program.

Chevy Presents 5 Lines of Cars

Sporty luxury and fine car features in a wider than ever variety are embodied in Chevrolet's five lines of 1965 cars represented at the Auto Show. In the full array of 46 models, 20 are "sport jobs" — convertibles and hardtops — for the most diversified choice in this category in Chevrolet's 53-year history.

Added to this broad selection is the new Caprice Custom Sedan, an ultra-prestige option on the top-of-the-line Chevrolet Impala sport sedan, representing the last word in luxury in that field.

For further variations, a list of approximately 400 accessories and optional features includes completely new items such as the first FM stereo system ever offered by an auto maker and a telescoping steering column for Corvairs and Corvettes.

With this broader fine car appeal, Chevrolet hopes to sell more than 2 million cars in 1965 for the fourth consecutive year, Semon E. Knudsen, general manager, says.

"Our 1965 models demonstrate how Chevrolet is keeping pace with the public's growing preference for prestige transportation," he said.

Outstanding 1965 Chevrolet developments are the all-new design of the regular Chevrolet and the Corvair. The regular Chevrolet, long the industry sales leader, is new in style and make-up from road to roof as it moves up to a new level of prestige, comfort and luxury.

The Corvair makes a dramatic stride with the first major styling change in five years and a number of significant mechanical advances. Customer-approved design is continued and styling refinements are added to the Chevelle, the Chevy II and the Corvette. And the Corvette becomes the first American car with four-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment.

The emphasis on meeting specialized needs of customers with assembly line customizing is underscored in Chevrolet's expanded 1965 truck line. Here, Chevrolet has upped the total number of models to 27, for an increase of 151 over the 1964 offerings.

This expansion, giving Chevrolet the largest number of haulers in any one year of its history, is evident most in the steadily growing diesel field. The new 1965 diesel lineup includes 148 models, or 176 more than the previous year. Availability of diesel power now extends down into the 1½-ton class for the first time.

In the 1965 car lines, the regular Chevrolet presents a most striking change. With a sporty new "swept back" styling, the car is more than three inches longer, one inch lower and 1½ inches wider, in addition to being roomier inside. The new chassis features a wider tread and a new perimeter frame along with other improvements that contribute to greater ride and handling characteristics. With the new "wide stance," the regular Chevrolet has a tread wider by 2.2 inches in front and 3.1 inches in the rear.

The 1965 Corvair, which is longer, wider and lower, features a new shape with an international flavor and important mechanical changes. New faces in the Corvair family are the Corsa models which take the place of the former Spydors at the top of the line. The 700 series is discontinued. Along with the new styling, the 1965 Corvair offers rear-engine power all the way up to an optional 180-hp. engine on Corsa models; an improved sports car type suspension; and bigger brakes on all four wheels. Pillar sedans and the coupe have been dropped in favor of two- and four-door hardtops.

The Chevelle line has been expanded to 12 models with the addition of a new economy series and the re-designation of one line to Chevelle 500 DeLuxe. Throughout the Chevelle line, body and chassis refinements contribute to an even high quality ride.

Featured in the 1965 Chevy II are fresh styling and a wider new range of power that gives the buyer a choice of from 90 to 300 horsepower.

Corvette comes up with another pace-setting development in 1965 — disc brakes all around as standard equipment. The caliper-type brakes are virtually fade-free and completely self-adjusting. A new 350-hp. engine has been added, bringing the total of choices to five V8s that range up to a 425-hp. unit.

Another significant step for 1965 is the addition of two new Turbo-Jet 366 V8 engines. They are offered in a 325-hp. version for all regular Chevrolets and a 425-hp. unit for Chevrolets and Corvettes.

Also new are an advanced Turbo Hydra-matic automatic transmission offered in conjunction with the 325-hp. Turbo-Jet V8 and a new three-speed fully synchronized manual transmission for all Chevrolet, Chevelle, and Chevy II models equipped with 327 or 396 V8 engines.

A further development is the introduction of three new forward control Chevrolet Sportvan models in the passenger car line,

1965 CORVAIR CORSA CONVERTIBLE — Newest name in Chevrolet's lineup of seven different convertibles for 1965 is this Corsa, replacing the former Spyder model at the top of the Corvair line. Presenting a new international styling flavor, the Corsa, like other 1965 Corvairs, is longer, wider and roomier than in 1964. Luxury is keynoted in Corsa interiors with bucket seats as a standard item. Chassis improvements include an improved sports car type four-wheel independent suspension, wider tread and bigger brakes. A new 140-hp rear-mounted engine is standard on Corsa models with a 180-hp turbo-supercharged version being optional.

Hardtops in Evidence In Chevy Showrooms

Sport coupes and sedans, otherwise known as "hardtops," are much in evidence at the Auto Show. Chevrolet dealers, for instance, exhibit a liberal sampling of 13 different models. The body type occupies an important position among 46 new passenger cars Chevrolet introduces in handsome 1965 styles.

In offering hardtops in regular Chevrolet, Chevelle, Chevy II, Corvair and Corvette models, the exhibitor is meeting a pronounced trend in the retail market. Unknown until 1949, when the Automobile Manufacturers Association listed only 10,432 hardtops, industry volume burst across the million mark five years later and last year (1963) reached two and one-half million units. The figure represents one-third of all passenger cars sold.

Popularity of the body type is partially ascribed by Chevrolet to a demand by customers for added luxury and distinction in their automobiles. The design combines advantages of both the coupe and the convertible, and is fitted with the highest quality of materials. This is particularly true with Chevrolet, which dresses interiors with colorful vinyls and fabrics to achieve a rare interior beauty.

Two-door hardtops are available in Impala SS, Impala, Malibu, Malibu SS, Nova SS, Nova, Corvair 500, Monza, Corsa and Corvette series. Four-door hardtops are offered in the Impala, Corvair 500 and Monza models.

Industry Couldn't Out Last Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Industry can ride out a steel strike "for at least a month" before any severe pinch of steel supplies occurs, Iron Age said Thursday.

The national metal working weekly also said a May 1 settlement will trigger a spate of steel inventory liquidation, "but not to the extent that would launch a downward business cycle."

As for the third alternative, extending the present steel wage contract, an extension of 60 days or less will see no loosening of the steel supply and relatively stable demand at current levels, the magazine said.

Summing up, Iron Age said the steel labor impasse will not have an immediate dislocating effect on the economy and that the continuing strong demand for steel will forestall a secondary impact on general business.

Chevrolet Adds New Faces
Visitors at the Auto Show will spot a number of new faces in the Chevrolet lineup of 46 models for 1965.

In keeping pace with the public's preference, sporty luxury, the company has added 12 models in two of the lines while dropping 11 others.

Most noteworthy of the changes has been the elimination of pillar coupes and sedans in the Corvair lines in favor of new hardtop models and the addition of three front-engine Sportvan models to supplant the Corvair Greenbriers.

How Our Youths Are Learning About Sex

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
 United Press International

In this scientific era, our 22 million American teen-agers have been taught to experiment, to seek answers based on experience, to accept no pat answers.

In sex, experts say, millions of them not content to learn vicariously, accept the scientific way—experimentation.

Once these flings are ended, many of them pay a price they never anticipated.

Veneral disease and out-of-wedlock pregnancies are on the increase. For others, the added price is emotional wreckage—wrestling with a conscience that has betrayed what has been accepted from the church or synagogue.

The extra price is reflected in statistical evidence of greater sex activity among teen-agers. Samples:

- The rate of infectious veneral disease among teen-agers— 15 to 19 — is twice that of all the rest of the population put together. It is rising. The number of teen-agers infected in '64 was three times the number infected in 1957.
- In over one half of first marriages today, brides are in their teens. Many of these marriages produce "seven month" babies. Roughly, one in three of these matches end in divorce.
- Studies indicate that approximately one-fourth of all high school girls have had sexual relations. The estimate for college women: Up to 50 per cent. Some statisticians figure the range on boys, including college-age, from 60 to 90 per cent.
- Forty-one per cent illegitimate children are born to teenage mothers.

In its southern portion Mexico twists across the map to the east so that the Gulf of Mexico lies due north of the Pacific Ocean.

President's Peace Talk Ford Mustang Proving Popular Offers Go Unheeded

By DONALD H. MAY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's offer of "unconditional" Viet Nam peace talks remained open today but it appeared — at least on the surface — that there were no takers.

The State Department, admittedly "disappointed" at the Communist world's negative response, had under study a new North Vietnamese radio statement on the matter. But at first glance it appeared to be even more negative.

The statement, by the official North Vietnamese news agency, appeared to be a strong rebuff to the recent call by 17 neutral nations for countries involved in the Viet Nam conflict to agree to talks without preconditions.

It was issued about the same time Monday that a high State Department official, speaking in Detroit, was urging Communist capitals to reply soon "and in responsible terms" to the neutralist appeal.

Offer Remains Open
In his speech, which had been prepared before the Hanoi statement, Leonard Unger, deputy assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, said Johnson's unconditional discussions offer remained open despite the negative Communist response.

The new North Vietnamese statement appeared to boil down to this: Hanoi would "consider" a peace conference only when the United States and South Viet Nam "recognized" the Communist terms for a settlement.

These included U.S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam, an end to bombing of the North, and apparently a neutral coalition South Vietnamese regime pending reunification of North and South.

This was in contrast to Johnson's stated terms of an independent South Viet Nam, an end to Communist aggression, and some system to guarantee that aggression would not resume.

Weekend Communique
The State Department's expression of disappointment referred to a weekend communique by Moscow and Hanoi.

Issued Saturday, the Soviet-North Vietnamese communique reiterated demands from Hanoi that the United States stop bombing North Viet Nam and withdraw its forces from South Viet Nam.

It also said that if the United States intensified its raids in the North, Russian volunteers might be allowed by the Kremlin to go to fight in Viet Nam.

Hanoi, Moscow andeking, IPN coordinated statements, responded with a far-point peace plan: (1) U. S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam and an end to bombings in the North; (2) Adherence to 1954 agreement among the South Vietnamese; (3) An internal settlement "in accordance with the program" of the Viet Cong; (4) "Eventual reunification of North and South without foreign interference."

Ike, Mamie Leave For Gettysburg Home
PALM DESERT, Calif. (UPI)—Former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower plan to leave the Eldorado Country Club next Tuesday to return to their Gettysburg, Pa. home.

The Eisenhowers arrived here last Dec. 18 for their annual winter vacation. This is the seventh year the couple has stayed here.

DOUBLE TROUBLE
LONDON (UPI)—Bus driver Keith Kyte parked his car in a lot when it broke down recently but before he could get it repaired thieves stole the wheels, headlamps, hood, windows and part of the engine.

Now Kyte, 25, has received a one pound ($2.80) bill from local police who towed away what was left of the vehicle as scrap.

BARRY SIGHTSEEING
STUTTGART, Germany (UPI)—Barry Goldwater, and his wife, on a European vacation, will continue sightseeing in the Stuttgart area an extra day, American sources said Tuesday.

HOLIDAY WORK
MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Cuban refugees here charged Tuesday that Fidel Castro deliberately forced Cubans to work in the sugar cane fields over the Easter holidays "as part of a plan to eradicate Catholicism in Cuba."

Basically what has happened in the past two weeks is that both sides have laid out publicly their widely divergent requirements for a settlement — or, to put it another way, for their war aims.

U. S. diplomats were not surprised that in this first round of statements there was no instant agreement. Most had thought it would take a considerable period of U. S. bombings in the North to bring any basic change in Communist policy.

It remained for further such exchanges to show whether any settlement could be reached. Rusk said he was "not discouraged."

But the present diplomatic impasse raised the possibility of a further step-up in U. S. military actions which have gradually increased since February. Rusk declined to speculate on this.

On its way to establishing a record as the most successful new car ever introduced in the United States, the Ford Mustang outsold all but three other car lines in the first year following its public introduction on April 17, 1964.

Overcoming such obstacles as lack of availability and a half-month strike which halted Mustang production, the sports new car chalked up more first-year sales than any other car in automotive history.

"The only problem we've had with the Mustang all year is making them fast enough," Donald N. Frey, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, reported.

More than 22,000 Mustangs were ordered by Ford dealer showroom visitors on April 17-18 — the first weekend the new car was publicly introduced — and a record four-million persons visited the showrooms during introduction weekend.

Original production schedules called for approximately 1,300 Mustangs to be built daily at the Company's Dearborn (Mich.) assembly plant. But even before the car was introduced to the public, reaction from selected groups which previewed the Mustang induced the Company to plan the conversion of its San Jose (Calif.) assembly plant to Mustang production.

Even with San Jose's added capacity boosting total Mustang output to 10,000 a week production of the new car still proved inadequate. As Mustang sales climbed to the 100,000 mark in early August — only 92 selling days after the car's appearance on the market — Ford dealers clamored for "more Mustangs."

By late October, when the 200,000th Mustang was produced, the new car had surpassed 18 domestic car lines in calendar-year sales despite the fact it had spotted them a 3½-month lead.

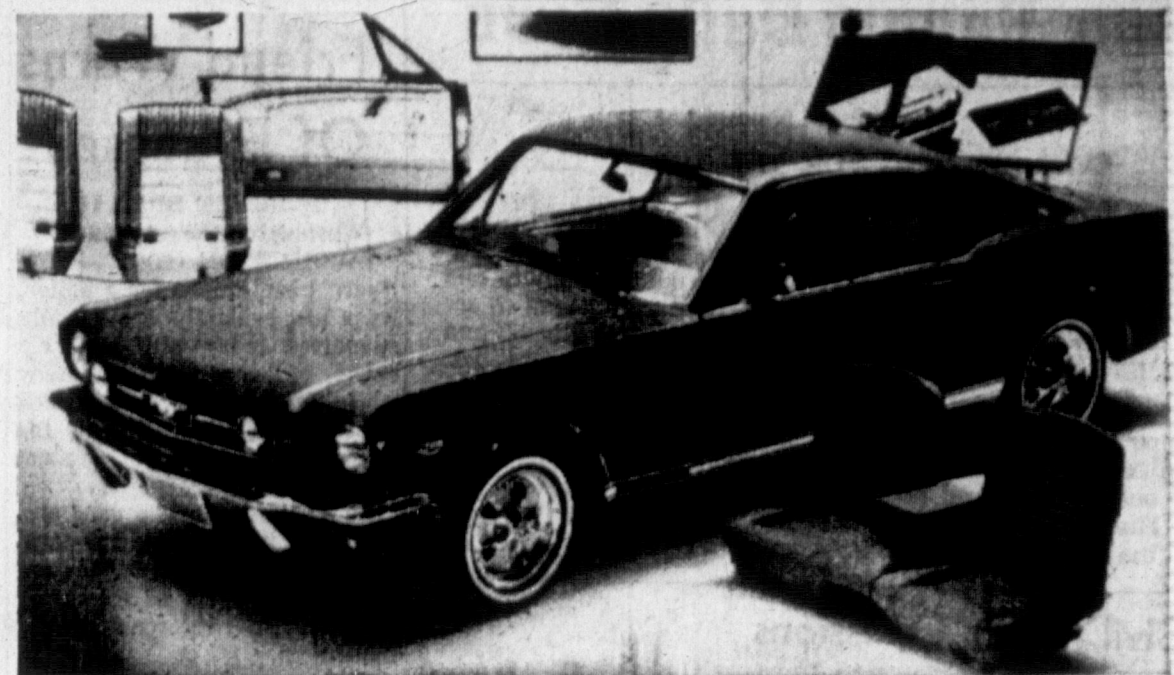

A "2 plus 2" fastback model joined the original hardtop and convertible models in late September, but a two-week strike in November idled most Ford plants across the country and seriously limited supplies of the already-scarce Mustang. It was not until mid-December that 250,000th Mustang was available for sale.

However, an ever-growing backlog of orders strained Mustang's two-plant production capacity to the point that, on December 18, the Company announced plans to convert still another plant — in Metuchen, N. J. — to Mustang assembly. By this time, the Mustang was outselling all but three other car lines in its short time on the market.

EXPECTS COOPERATION
LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (UPI)—Village Mayor Robert Caldwell says he expects full cooperation from local police in tracking down the culprits who stole the front and rear plates from his automobile.

Caldwell is also village chief of police.

FORD MUSTANG — A design studio provides a setting for three new options to increase the versatility of Ford's record-setting Mustang. They include a bench seat with folding armrest for the practical-minded buyer (lower right), a custom interior decor group for added luxury (upper left) and a new "Mustang GT" equipment group aimed at the sport-oriented. Distinguished by the racing stripes above the rocker panel made famous by the Ford GT sports racing car, the GT package will be offered in all three Mustang models—hardtop, convertible, and fastback 2 plus 2. The three new versions of the Mustang are available at Ford dealerships now.

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Civil Rights Omissions

Sen Strom Thurmond of South Carolina has done an exceptional job of discussing "The Art of Omission" in a recent report to the people of South Carolina. Sen. Thurmond, the former Democrat who changed to Republican last year, analyzes the President's address on "civil rights" point by point. The report follows:

The President's address to Congress and the nation on the evening of March 15, 1965, deserves the thoughtful examination and evaluation of every American. The course he set for the Government may well determine the fate of the nation.

The President told the nation that the denial of voting rights to Negro citizens in Selma, Alabama, had demonstrated the need for a new law.

The President did not tell the nation that on Feb. 4, 1965, a federal court, acting under the Civil Rights Acts of 1960 and 1964, had made it possible for all Negroes who could read and write in Dallas County, in which Selma is located, to register and vote in the next election, and that the court order provided that the federal voting referee, already appointed by the court, would register all who wanted to register and were not registered by July, 1964.

The President told the nation that present law could not secure the ballot for Negro citizens.

The President did not tell the nation that in Selma, Alabama, itself, the right to vote in the next election had already been insured under existing law for all Negroes who could read and write. He did not tell the nation that there are already 16 federal laws, 6 criminal and 10 civil, on the books to protect voting rights, including laws to protect voting rights of minorities enacted in 1957, in 1960, and in 1964. He did not tell the nation that the Civil Rights Act of 1960 already provides for the appointment of Federal voting referees.

The President told the nation that the only way for a person to qualify to register to vote in Alabama was to present a "white" face.

The President did not tell the nation that the Fifteenth Amendment is self-executing—that is, that it can be enforced by the Courts without any legislation being passed by the Congress. He did not tell the nation that Article I, Section 2 of the Constitution provides that those who may vote to elect members of the U.S. House of Representatives are those who "shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature," or that this exact language is used again in the Seventeenth Amendment, which provides who shall be eligible to vote in elections of Senators.

The President told the nation that Congress had the right to pass legislation enforcing the Fifteenth Amendment.

The President did not tell the nation that the Fifteenth Amendment did not repeal the constitutional right of the people of each state to establish qualifications for voting, and that any law passed by Congress purporting to supersede those qualifications, as does the law proposed by the President, is patently unconstitutional.

The President told the nation that people have a right to demonstrate and that he would use the full power of the National Government to protect that right.

The President did not tell the nation that although all Negroes in Selma, Ala., who could read and write were already insured of the right to vote, that thousands of people from all over the country, led by an outsider, had conducted mass public demonstrations for over eight weeks, completely disrupting the affairs of peaceful and law-abiding citizens. He did not tell the nation that the agitation was designed by its leader primarily to induce violence, which would in turn provide headlines and money-raising potential across the country, and not to secure the right to vote.

The President told the nation that his legislation would override state eligibility requirements wherever 50 per cent of eligible voters are not registered to vote or did not vote.

The President did not tell the nation that his voting law formula is so drawn that it would apply to the entirety of 6 States, 5 of which just happen to have cast their electoral votes against him in the election last fall, and in some of which, such as South Carolina, there have been no restrictions and no complaints whatever against registration and voting of any qualified person.

I oppose the denial of the right to vote to any qualified citizen, but I oppose just as adamantly any attempted power grab by the President and Congress, which defies the Constitution, and I oppose most of all any submission by the Government to lawless mob rule and invitations by the government to anarchy.

Negro's True Friend Warns Of Excesses

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Negro's aspirations for a better, freer life evidently are warmly supported today with a deep spirit of good will by many white Americans whose consciences have been stirred by the dramatic protests of recent years.

At the same time, a good proportion of these people are earnestly troubled at what they believe to be signs of excess in the Negro's vigorous protest movement.

These are the chief conclusions to be drawn from the substantial mail response this reporter received in the wake of recent columns which stressed these points:

1. In the Negro stirrings, as in all major upheavals, there is indeed danger of excess.
2. The devices of protest, highly useful up to a point, are no substitute for the slow, complex, unremitting labors essential to accomplish the vast "make-over" required in society to assure Negroes the better schooling, housing and jobs they need.

To many who wrote in, though far from all, this kind of comment had a very fair ring. Often it was described as "common sense," "sane," or "down to earth." Typical in this category was this letter from an Alabama:

"I am trusting that since you aren't a southerner or a segregationist, this article (of yours) will carry weight and help bring some sanity into this very explosive situation."

The blend of warm support for Negro aims and concern over extremes of protest shows in many letters.

Writes a woman from Pensacola, Fla.: "I have known for many years that the colored people needed a better chance. They needed someone to help them. Their cause had to be PUSHED. Otherwise it would die."

"But — and I said it over and over — if pushed too hard and too fast, look out! You're in for it. And it's happened, worse than I anticipated."

Another woman, from Alabama, writes: "You can do us all a great service by just printing the truth for all of us to live by, not just one class or color."

"Thank you for speaking out and listing some problems for both sides to consider to get along in this world."

A doctor in New York City speaks in much the same vein: "You have served not only the Negro but those who feel, too, that there must be moderation in all progress, if such progress is to prove viable and permanent."

The themes running through these and other letters, then, are the need for balance, for some sense of order and regard for law even in times of stress and change, for recognition that a nation whose patterns — good and bad — have been decades or longer in the making will not be made over while the echoes of "freedom now" are still reverberating.

Some Negroes who wrote in were understandably impatient of these themes. In their minds, to raise the specter of excess, or to suggest that in important fields society may move like a stubborn glacier rather than a gushing stream, is to define oneself as the enemy.

But the letter writers who bespoke these themes are clearly not the Negroes' enemies. They — and the countless others who most certainly share their views but remain silent — represent a reservoir of great good will that the Negroes need to call upon at every stage of their hard struggle for betterment.

"They wouldn't take me back," replied Sylvester.

ALL-POWERFUL — Sylvester was just as contemptuous of the subcommittee in defending his plan to consolidate the public affairs offices of the three services under his supervision.

Pentagon 'News Czar' Sylvester Praises One-Sided News Coverage to House Committee

WASHINGTON — Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur ("news management") Sylvester has again stuck his foot in his mouth — much to the embarrassment of some of his superiors.

The "news czar" of the Pentagon, who claims the government has the right to lie, shocked members of a House Armed Services Subcommittee with his "one voice" concept when he testified on plans to merge the military services' public affairs offices under his control.

Under questioning by Representative F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman, Sylvester frankly stated he was "delighted" that only Secretary McNamara's proposal for combining all Army reserve units with the National Guard was appearing in the Washington newspapers, which are read religiously by members of Congress.

He also vigorously contended Secretary McNamara does not need congressional approval to put into effect his controversial plan to centralize the public affairs offices of the services in one unit.

Representative Hebert, one of Congress' severest critics of the two Defense officials, interjected the seething "news management" issue into his inquiry with some sardonic praise for Sylvester.

"I never have seen an instance where a department has tried its case so effectively in the newspapers — and this is a compliment to you," said Hebert without cracking a smile.

"I am afraid I don't deserve it," replied Sylvester.

"I haven't seen anything about these hearings in the local papers," stated Hebert.

"You wouldn't know there has been any criticism of the plan."

"I am delighted," said Sylvester.

"You may have to go back to a newspaper some day, the same as I might," reprimanded Hebert, a former crusading city editor. "I thought you might be interested in seeing both sides presented so that members of Congress and the public will have all the facts to make their judgment."

"They wouldn't take me back," replied Sylvester.

SALESMANSHIP

Americans rightfully regard themselves as unsurpassed in the realm of salesmanship. We sell more material goods than any other nation in the world. However, when it comes to selling our belief in the capitalist, personal enterprise system which produces these goods, our sales fall embarrassingly short.

More than a century ago, Karl Marx theorized that the ownership of industry and business should be in the hands of "the people." It is ironic that in the countries where Marx was best received, the people now own essentially nothing, while in the United States under the capitalist system Marx reviled, the people own virtually all the land, the tools of production, and the profits! Nevertheless, Communism is gaining widespread acceptance.

We enjoy today, in this country, the most successful economic system the world has ever seen. We can produce the necessities to supply millions of people abroad but fail to prove our profit motive system works best. Is our inability to make a convincing sale of the merits of our system due to the fact that we don't believe in it? Or is our trouble simply that we are so accustomed to it that we don't appreciate it? When asked to stand up for the side of economic freedom many Americans intend to respond but appear to be too busy to ever get started.

Let's take time now to count the blessings freedom brings. And if we can't tell a neighbor in another country, let's at least tell a neighbor next door that needs cops, not a committee.

SUBWAY SOS
(New York Daily News)
In 1964, serious crimes committed on the city subways increased by 52.5 per cent over the 1963 figure. The underground crime rate still is rising and Transit Authority Commissioner John J. Gilhooley demands city action, now.

Electronic gadgets may be of some future help, says Gilhooley. But what terrified subway riders need right now is more transit officers to guarantee a patrolman on each and every train at night. Any subway customer who drops his or her 15-cent token in the slot, the fighting commissioners vow, certainly is entitled to protection against thugs, pickpockets, murderers or rapists.

We couldn't agree more.

of retaliation. He was concerned this could easily have rumbled into May and climaxed into a Communist demonstration during the Queen's visit that same week. Britain, which with France and the U.S., is responsible for West Berlin, made it clear to Bonn that she would veto the meeting. The U.S. joined in the request.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

How do you write a hit song? One night, 25 years ago, Thomas "Fats" Waller, perhaps the greatest of the jazz pianists, visited a night club in New York's Harlem with some musician friends. All were thirsty and all were broke. Walter spotted a song publisher and jotted down a few notes of a tune that had haunted him for a few days. He offered it to the publisher, together with the lyrics, and received something like $20 to allay his thirst and that of his friends. The song made a fortune for the publisher. You hear it frequently on records and radio. The title: "Honeysuckle Rose."

Today's smile: After a jury had been out for several hours they returned to the courtroom and the judge asked: "Have you reached a verdict?" The foreman said they had and when the judge asked him for it the foreman said: "We agreed not to become involved in this dispute at all."

Few remember it nowadays because Hawaii is the 50th State, but the Hawaiian Islands were once called the Sandwich Islands by their discoverer, Capt. James Cook, the British explorer. He named them after John Montagu, fourth Earl of Sandwich, who died in 1792. He also gave his name to that delightful edible, made by putting a slice of meat or anything else between two pieces of bread. And that led to the wonder of wonders, the American drug store, once known as a pharmacy.

Thoughts while shaving: The New York World's Fair was a $17.5 million failure last year and hopes to recoup this summer. However, it was not a financial bust to Manhattan since conservative financial experts estimate the Fair brought close to $5 billion to the city's economy. . . . Just in case you didn't know, the world's tallest living thing is a California redwood tree, which stands 368 feet high with a girth of 44 feet. It was discovered in Humboldt County, California. . . . The easternmost point in the U.S. is near Eastport, Maine, and the westernmost point is at Cape Wrangell, Alaska. . . . Although the railroads are constantly complaining about losing money on passenger service, the fact remains they publish 80 million timetables annually to satisfy public demand. Somebody must travel by train. . . . No matter what you read, or hear, you're not going to save any money on a Federal tax reduction. A recent survey shows 35 State legislatures are considering $3 billion in increased taxes. If only half of those contemplated revenues are enacted they will wipe out all of the consumer tax savings on promised Federal estate tax cuts.

Man Of God?

Would it be bigoted to wonder whether a true man of God would surround himself with sex perverts, criminals and Communists? I do not know nor do I particularly care whether Martin Luther King is a Communist. But I believe he is as apt to be a Communist as a Christian. And no one can be both. Does a real Christian belong to and support pro-Communist groups? King has and does. I believe in guilt by association. If he looks like a duck, waddles like a duck, quacks like a duck, swims like a duck, and lays duck eggs, I don't believe him when he claims to be a rooster. Not by the cards they carry in their pocket, but "by their fruits ye shall know them."

Selma was not the "Main Feature" friends, Selma was merely a dress rehearsal for the coming racial revolution which will tear asunder not just the South but the nation.

"Civil Rights" means perhaps the beginning of the end of state government and individual freedom in America.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

Selma, Alabama — What has the invasion and occupation of Alabama and Mississippi accomplished? The Civil Rieters still chant "NOW" and the Sheriff in Selma still wears a big button saying "NEVER!" Who has gained? The criminal conspiracy called Communism. Not merely "some" but most of these Civil Rights carpetbaggers have long records of Communist and pro-Communist affiliations. The Communists have taken over the "Civil Rights" movement.

The first thing Ralph Bunche said on TV, after the completion of the march, was: "By God, we are here!" It is not surprising that our representative to the godless United Nations should thus use God's name in vain, publicly.

At the International Organizations' Employees Loyalty Board hearings (a committee established by President Eisenhower) in May, 1954, both Manning Johnson and Leonard Patterson testified under oath that they knew Ralph Bunche as a Communist.

Other personalities and institutions reportedly represented in Selma recently were: Students of USC, SMU, and the University of Colorado, and other schools across the country, who got school credits for the trip; Mario Savio, one of the prime instigators of recent University of California riots at Berkeley, wherein students demanded the right to post obscene four-letter words on campus bulletin boards and opposed any restrictions on political and sexual activity; Unitarians of Washington, D.C.; James Baldwin, writer of obscene books featured by certain church organizations; John Davis, a white male wanted in Florida for rape and for parole violation and passing worthless checks in Georgia; Joseph Rauh, Jr., head of A.D.A. and disciple of H.H.H.; Carl Braden, member of many pro-Communist groups; Rev. C. T. Vivian, who was a speaker at the 14th anniversary dinner of "The National Guardian," a Communist paper in New York, which has been identified by HUAC as a "virtual office propaganda arm of Soviet Russia"; John Love, negro from New York and Project Director for S.N.I.C.K. who wore lipstick, earrings and high heel shoes while appearing as a government witness in federal court in Selma in December, 1964 (this "man" received an invitation to President Johnson's inaugural ball, so he must be accepted in social circles); Bayard Rustin, convicted homosexual and Martin Luther King's longtime Lieutenant. The wags call Rustin Martin Luther Queen.

1965 OLDSMOBILE CUSTOM VISTA-CRUISER — 1965 Oldsmobile Vista-Cruiser station wagons are extensively re-styled featuring new interiors and new front end design with a new die cast grille. One of four body styles, the three-set Custom Vista-Cruiser (above) also features new distinctive side moldings and exterior trim. The Vista-Cruiser is powered by Oldsmobile's Jetfire Rocket V-8 engine. Cargo capacity is a vast 102 cubic feet (106 in 2-seat models).

Oldsmobile Offering Exciting New Full-Size Series for '65

LANSING, Mich. — Oldsmobile offers an exciting new full-size series for 1965 — the Delta 88, a glamorous companion to the popular Dynamic 88. These 88's, along with the Jetstar I, Starfires and 98's, are powered by Oldsmobile's brand new performance combination for '65, the 425 cubic inch Super Rocket engine teamed with the Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission, providing the most instantaneously responsive performance in the division's history.

In addition, completely new and roomier bodies for all full-size Oldsmobiles, including the Jetstar 88, have been dramatically restyled with curved side window glass and new roof lines in all models.

Series identification for the entire line of '65 Oldsmobiles, from F-85's to 98's, and in each of the 32 body styles, is more pronounced than ever before.

The new Super Rocket is of a more powerful, lightweight design. Engine displacement has been increased by 8 percent while engine weight has been substantially reduced. Teamed with the new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission, the performance of the 425 cubic inch Super Rocket is sensational. With horsepower ratings from 310 to 370, the new engine will greatly enhance the outstanding reputation Oldsmobile has already earned in the performance field. Let, effortless response to even a slight increase in throttle opening is immediately apparent to the driver.

The new transmission is equipped with a variable vane feature for smoother, more alert performance at every driving speed and to eliminate part-throttle downshift. It retains the Hydra-Matic's dual range feature for added safety in downhill braking.

In addition to the availability of the Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission, Oldsmobile offers for the first time in all 88, Jetstar I and Starfire models, a floor-mounted four-speed manual transmission, fully synchronized in all gears.

Chassis design changes include a new frame for increased rigidity and improved stability, and both front and rear suspensions have been redesigned for better ride and handling.

The new chassis also features wider front brake for longer life on the Dynamic and Delta 88's, Jetstar I and Starfire. On the 98's, both front and rear brake widths have been increased.

Fuel tank capacity has been increased to 25 gallons, allowing for longer intervals between refueling stops during modern turnpike travel.

An especially important change for increased passenger comfort is the extra roominess built into all full-size Oldsmobiles for '65. Most interior dimensions have been increased, with shoulder room for example, nearly four inches greater.

The design of these new bodies has also permitted an increase in luggage capacity by up to 3.9 cubic feet.

A styling and comfort innovation for 1965 is the new split-back front seat with a large center arm rest — designed for those who like the sporty look of bucket seats. When the arm rear is raised, it provides the extra utility of a bench seat.
