'And God So Loved the World'.....

Pampans, along with Christians the world over, go into their churches today to celebrate the resurrection and mark the end of the commemorative mourning period that followed the crucifixion of Christ.

Special Easter music, sermons and masses were scheduled and most of the churches expected to attract the largest congregations of the year.

In some houses of worship there were sunrise services and other Pampans traveled to Palo Duro State Park for the annual Easter sunrise services there.

The Feast of the Passover which began at sundown Friday will continue to be observed in Jewish homes of the community throughout the week.

The Passover is the ancient Jewish festival commemorating the exodus of the Israelites from Egyptian slavery.

Following the religious joy of the Easter morning services, there were to be many family reunions with young men and women students who have returned from colleges and universities for the Easter holidays.

The weatherman promised fair and sunny skies for the day making it propitious for the display of Easter finery that has become part of Easter Sunday.

For the sandbox set there was the traditional visit of the Easter bunny and the Easter egg hunt.

Weekend traffic was heavy throughout the Panhandle, but Pampa police and state highway patrolmen reported there had been no major accidents up until a late hour last night.

A late Easter and consequent warmer weather promised large crowds for services from the Warwick Neck Lighthouse, R.I., to the Hollywood Bowl and Catalina Island in California. Crowds were expected to clog Fifth Avenue in New York City for the traditional Easter parade.

In tornado-ravaged counties of Indiana, Notre Dame students, Boy Scouts and 40 reformatory inmates were to spend the holiday helping residents clean up and rebuild their shattered communities.

President Johnson was on a long Easter weekend at his Johnson City, Tex., ranch with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Mrs. McNamara as his guests.

More than 200 students planned a nearby "peace vigil" during the weekend, saying they would try to get as close to Johnson's LBJ Ranch as they could to protest U.S. action in Viet Nam.

Other students planned to march on the White House Sunday to hear speeches and demonstrate quietly for the same cause.

EASTER SUNDAY — Millions of Americans will be in church this Easter Sunday in observance of the resurrection of Christ. Here Vicki Autry, 1901 Banks, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Autry, and a sophomore at Pampa high school, exemplifies the day of worship in a local church.

LBJ Offers Peace Talks

All Hanoi Regime Has To Do Is Ask for Aid

By ALVIN SPIVAK
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson Saturday strongly renewed his offer of starting even Saturday night to bring peace in Viet Nam. But he said that until South Vietnamese independence is assured "no human power is capable of forcing us out."

"We will remain as long as necessary... whatever the risk and whatever the cost," Johnson declared in an Easter statement he read to newsmen at his LBJ ranch.

He did so as about 200 "peace" demonstrators were preparing to march near his ranch and while thousands were picketing the White House demanding U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam.

The President said the outrage of Americans and of all the world should be directed not at this country's presence in Southeast Asia but at the Communist refusal of his offer to join in unconditional peace talks.

"They want no talk at all," Johnson said, "but our offer stands. We mean every word of it."

"Open To Discussions"

"The window to peace is still open. We are still open to unconditional discussions. We impose no condition of any kind on any government willing to talk. We are ready to begin discussions next week, tomorrow or tonight."

"Come to the meeting room. We will be there."

The Chief Executive said "This has been a week of tragedy, disappointment and progress."

He said the progress had come in "improved news from the battlefield" and in favorable response to his proposal for a massive economic development program for Southeast Asia.

But Johnson said there also was tragedy and disappointment in the Communist slaying of U.S. aid official Joseph Grainger and the killing of hundreds of South Vietnamese as well as other Americans.

Johnson emphasized that Communist infiltration was continuing.

"We are told by some that there is no hope for peace unless we surrender Viet Nam," the President said. "This we will not do."

Johnson said he regretted that American planes had to continue their bombing raids on Communist North Viet Nam.

But he stressed that these attacks were directed at bridges, highways, supply routes and other targets of "concrete and steel, not human life."

In contrast, he said the Communist Viet Cong, directed from the north were killing people every day in South Viet Nam.

Johnson said he understood the concern of people who want

MOSCOW, Sunday (UPI) — The Soviet Union announced today it would allow Russian "volunteers" to help North Viet Nam repel U.S. aggression if the Hanoi regime asks such volunteer aid.

The announcement came in a joint Soviet-Vietnamese communique published by the official Tass news agency. The statement was issued in connection with the visit to Moscow April 10-17 of Le Duan, first secretary of the North Vietnamese Communist party.

The Soviet Union reaffirmed the readiness to continue rendering all necessary assistance to (North Viet Nam) in repelling aggression by the United States," the communique said.

"If the United States aggression against the democratic republic of (North Viet Nam) is intensified, in case of necessity, and in the case of an appeal by the government of (North Viet Nam), (the Soviet Union) will consent to the departure for Viet Nam of Soviet citizens who have expressed a desire to fight for the just cause of the Vietnamese people," the communique continued.

Cong Highways, Railway Strafed

SAIGON (UPI) — Sixty-three U.S. Air Force and Navy jet fighter-bombers Saturday unleashed rockets and 750-pound bombs along stretches of two vital highways in North Viet Nam and blasted a string of railroad cars on the country's only north-south railway.

One of the Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs crashed and burned while dive-bombing a military truck. Its pilot was killed. None of the Navy planes was downed.

The raids were carried out by 40 of the F105s and 23 Navy Skyhawks, the lightest jet warplane in the U.S. arsenal.

Drop Leaflets

South Vietnamese Skyraider planes earlier dropped 320,000 leaflets, many of them containing excerpts of President Johnson's call for unconditional talks on Viet Nam over heavily populated Dong Hoi. U.S. jets flew cover for the mission 60 miles north of the 17th Parallel.

It was the second consecutive day of raids on Highways 8 and 12 in the southern section of the Communist north. The highways run along the Laotian border and are used to infiltrate supplies for the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

A U.S. military spokesman said the pilot of the F105 was killed when the plane failed to pull out of a diving pass against the truck on Highway 12 through the Mugia Pass along the border.

He said the Air Force planes blasted "targets of opportunity" with 36 tons of bombs and intensive rocket fire. They destroyed a military truck, buildings at Mugia Pass and detonated a secondary explosion there indicating an ammunition dump was blown up.

Strike Boxcars

The Navy planes, protected by Crusader and Phantom jets, struck the boxcars with five-inch Zuni rockets. The planes streaked along the railroad and national Highway One, which run parallel near the North Vietnamese coast between the cities of Vinh and Thanh Hoa.

The railroad strike was only 80 miles south of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, and well within striking distance of Communist MIG aircraft that have challenged U.S. planes in the past. None were sighted Saturday.

The Skyhawks took off from the U.S. Seventh Fleet carrier Midway off the coast of South Viet Nam in the South China Sea.

Highways 8 and 12 converge on the key coastal city of Vinh, about 110 miles north of the 17th Parallel.

The U.S. planes reported encountering only "light" anti-aircraft fire.

Flooding Mississippi Crests In Minnesota's Twin Cities

By United Press International
The flooding Mississippi River crested in Minnesota's Twin Cities Saturday. Downstream, along a 600-mile stretch in five states, thousands were out of their homes and damage ran into the millions.

The Red Cross said it has helped 50,000 persons this week in the flood and tornado ravaged Midwest. It said 10,000 Red Cross volunteers were on the job in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri.

Flood Situation

The situation: —The Mississippi crested in Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., three days ahead of time in what was the Twin Cities' worst flood ever.

—More than 14,000 persons in Wisconsin were alerted about leaving their homes. The highest waters in history closed off Lacrosse's two main streets.

—A barge rammed the draw span of the Municipal Bridge over the Mississippi at Keokuk, Iowa. High school students and National Guardsmen sandbagged levees at Dubuque, Clinton and Davenport, Iowa.

—Water flowed down the main street of Hannibal, Mo.

—President Johnson said he would "make youths" from the war on poverty programs available for flood control and reclamation work.

Hasten Crest

The weather bureau said four cold nights in a row hastened the Mississippi crest in the Twin Cities. But light rain and snow fell in parts of Minnesota, adding to the misery of workers.

Flood waters poured over two concrete dikes at Stillwater and St. Croix, Minn. A moored barge broke loose and lodged under St. Paul's high bridge.

Minnesota counted 10 dead. Gov. Karl Rolvaag said "very preliminary estimates" show

Pampa Jaycees Leave for El Paso Convention

'ALL THE WAY WITH A. J.' — Three members of the Pampa Jaycees hoist a big banner on a truck to be driven to El Paso today for the Jaycee State convention. Pampa's A. J. Carubbi is a candidate for the state presidency and the local club's campaign slogan is quite appropriate. Pictured here is Eddie Polnac, Pampa Jaycee president, Ross Pool, second vice president and Don Tinney, sign chairman.

By RAY RODGERS JR.
The final week of campaigning for the post of Texas Jaycee president kicks off today for Pampa's A. J. Carubbi.

The state Jaycee convention opens Tuesday in El Paso and ends Saturday night following balloting for the statewide officers.

Carubbi and several local delegates left for El Paso yesterday and the remainder plan to leave either today or tomorrow.

Carubbi faces one opponent for the state presidency post. He is John Parter, past president of the Austin Jaycees.

The convention agenda includes registration Tuesday and Wednesday with business sessions scheduled Thursday and Friday.

The election of officers will highlight the entire day Saturday with the election convention scheduled to begin shortly after noon.

Election day in El Paso will closely resemble a national convention.

Notes are cast from the floor by member clubs. Each club represented will have a certain number of votes based on the membership.

Caucuses, hospitality booths, campaign speeches, buttons, demonstrations and a host of behind the scene campaigning will take place at the convention.

Outside observers predicted Carubbi would win the state presidency post, possibly on the first ballot.

Carubbi launched his bid for the state presidency Jan. 23 at the Amarillo area convention. Since then he has traveled over 22,000 miles over Texas attending area conventions and speaking to local club meetings.

Larry Winegart, publicity chairman for the campaign, said 40 Jaycee clubs in the Panhandle are committed to work

But Western diplomats in Moscow said the Soviet-Vietnamese communique was the Kremlin's first open statement on the possibility of sending "volunteers" to Southeast Asia. Moscow has repeatedly pledged material aid. But this was the first promise — however conditional — of manpower.

Saturday's joint communique said President Johnson's speech — in which he offered peace talks with no strings attached to attempt to bring peace to Southeast Asia — showed the United States planned to extend its attacks on North Viet Nam.

The United States, it said, "does not seek to explore avenues leading to a peaceful solution of the Vietnamese problem."

"The U. S. aggressive actions in Viet Nam create a threat to peace not only in Southeast Asia but also aggravate tension throughout the world and increase the danger of a military conflict with grievous consequences for all the peoples of the world," the communique said.

Flood of Applications

Late last month, Soviet authorities announced they had been receiving a flood of applications from persons wanting to volunteer for duty in Viet Nam.

But Western diplomats in Moscow said the Soviet-Vietnamese communique was the Kremlin's first open statement on the possibility of sending "volunteers" to Southeast Asia. Moscow has repeatedly pledged material aid. But this was the first promise — however conditional — of manpower.

Washington (UPI)—Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler cautioned Congress Saturday against going hog wild in cutting excise taxes at President Johnson's request this session.

He told the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) that any cut too much in excess of the $1.7 billion to be recommended by Johnson would increase the federal deficit and possibly bring on inflation.

"The reduction must be prudent," he added.

75 Different Levies

The President is expected to submit his tax cut proposals in mid-May. There are about 75 different levies on items ranging from automobiles to cigarettes—many of them imposed during the Korean War.

They net the government about $15 billion a year.

The administration has kept its proposed cuts a carefully guarded secret until the President sends up his recommendations.

But heavy lobbying pressures are building up by various industry groups which want the imposts lifted from their products. In addition, senators and House members are expected to try to expand the list for sectional reasons.

Sustain Economic Momentum

Most observers believe the administration will be hard put to hold the line. Fowler said in his speech:

"The prudent amount of reduction we have scheduled for the last half of this year, while improving our tax structure, will also help sustain our economic momentum by expanding private purchasing power. At the same time, it will offer new incentives for price reductions."

"But the reduction must be a prudent amount—not an excessive one that will interrupt the movement of the last two years from large budget deficit towards balance as the economy moves forward to the objective of full employment with balanced budgets or surpluses."

More Women Taking Test To Guard Against Cancer

This year some 14,000 American women will die of cancer of the uterus, or womb, but if every adult woman would have the "Pap" test as part of the annual check-up, uterine cancer might almost be wiped out as a cause of death.

The Pap smear test is so simple it can be done in the doctor's office in a few minutes, and without pain. A study of the cast-off cells in the uterine sampling can detect cancer before symptoms appear, when the disease is most curable.

A recent study for the American Cancer Society by the Gallup Organization shows an impressive increase in the number of women who have had Pap tests for uterine cancer. Early in 1961 only 30 per cent of women queried had had the Pap test; in 1963, the percentage rose to 48 per cent, or nearly one out of every two women.

President for Research and Medical Affairs of the American Cancer Society, said, "The new poll shows an important increase in the use of the valuable Pap test. But we cannot be satisfied with this. If people would understand that cancer is among the most curable of the major diseases—that there are, in fact, more than 1,300,000 living Americans who once had cancer and were cured—and that we are not curing so many cases as are potentially curable, then, I believe, all of us would want to have life-saving detection procedures annually. When that happens, we know we can cure at least one in two cases of cancer with present knowledge and techniques."

The Society's latest drive to "Conquer Uterine Cancer," combining research, professional and public education and service to patients was launched in 1961.

Foreign News Commentary

Ever since the overthrow of South Korea's dictatorial old President Syngman Rhee in April, 1960, springtime almost by tradition has become a time of crisis in Korea. Frequently such ties are bloody.

The anniversary of the riots which led to Rhee's downfall comes on Monday, April 19, and once more events are following once more events are following an established pattern. The issue is a new agreement between Korea and Japan.

The student-led riots of 1960 cost 183 lives and left more than 6,000 persons injured, 200 of them maimed permanently.

Led to Military Coup
In March, 1961, student-led crowds again were on the streets this time in demonstrations with anti-U.S. and Pro-Communist overtones. These led to the military coup which overthrew the ineffective government of President Posun Yun and his Premier Dr. John M. Chag. Posun Yu, however, remained as president.

The springs of 1962 and 1963 were relatively quiet except for the resignation of Posun Yun as president and the rise of Gen. Chung Hee Park as provisional president in 1963, and mass arrests in 1963 following announcement of a plot to assassinate Chung Hee Park.

But the violence which had overthrown Syngman Rhee and had been influential in the fall of Premier John M. Chang had sewn its seed.

Now Watch Government
The students now regarded themselves as watchdogs of the government.

There also was a heritage left over from the Syngman Rhee regime and some 50 years of Japanese rule.

Rhee shared his countrymen's hatred of the Japanese. In January, 1963, Rhee established the "Rhee Line" which extended Korean territorial waters to within 60 miles of Japan and banned Japanese vessels from their richest fishing grounds.

Even after Rhee's downfall, Korean insistence upon retaining the "Rhee Line" stood as the chief barrier against attempts to establish normalcy in Korean-Japanese relations.

In 1961, President Lincoln sent Congress a message recognizing a state of civil war and called for 75,000 volunteer soldiers.

20,000 Students Stage Protest March at Capitol

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 20,000 student radicals swarmed into Washington Saturday, picketed the White House and staged a protest march against President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam.

The rally came to a climax when the demonstrators paraded to the edge of the Capitol grounds to dramatize their opposition to U.S. tactics in the Viet Nam war.

Hundreds of police were on duty to handle any violence.

FBI agents were on hand as observers. Thousands of tourists were in town for the Easter holiday. President Johnson was spending the weekend in Texas.

The huge demonstration was orderly even though counter-pickets turned out to heckle the participants. As the rally proceeded from White House picketing to a series of speeches in the shadow of the Washington Monument and then a march toward the Capitol, only two arrests were reported by police.

The demonstration was organized by "Students for a Democratic Society" which describes itself as a radical but non-Communist national union of students. The turn out was far in excess of the number predicted by the protest leaders who billed the turn-out as a "march on Washington to end the war in Viet Nam."

At the speech rally near the Washington Monument Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and others urged U.S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam.

Folk singers Judy Collins and Joan Baez entertained the audience. Robert Parris, active in the civil rights movement, raised the possibility of a student sit-in at the White House in the future but spelled out no details.

The march to the domed Capitol at the end of the afternoon came to a halt at the edge of the grounds. Picketing and other political demonstrations are prohibited by law at the Capitol premises. Most of the senators and House members were at their home districts for the Easter weekend.

The demonstration was organized by "Students for a Democratic Society" which describes itself as a radical but non-Communist national union of students. The turn out was far in excess of the number predicted by the protest leaders who billed the turn-out as a "march on Washington to end the war in Viet Nam."

Tax Commission Members To Be Appointed Tuesday

Three members who will comprise the city's tax board of equalization for the coming tax year will be appointed at Tuesday's meeting of the Pampa city commission.

The new commission, elected April 6, will hold its first actual business session after having been sworn in last week.

Leasing of farm land on the old air base property owned by the city and leasing of excess land at the site of the new sewage plant will be up for discussion.

Commissioners will be asked to adopt a resolution changing the date for opening bids on the new sewage plant from April 27 to May 4.

One item listed on the Tuesday agenda calls for the discussion of the police dog now used by the Pampa police department.

The commission will take action on the letting of bids for the city's summer project for seal coating streets.

First reading will be given to an ordinance for the semi-commercial zoning of lots 8 through 12 of the North Addition on N. Hobart St. between Texas and a Montagu Sts.

Plans will be presented to the commission for the investment of $500,000 in U. S. Treasury bills returned from funds previously invested in sewage plant bonds.

Nichols, Yancey Share Houston Lead With 203

HOUSTON (UPI) — PGA champion Bobby Nichols fired a four-under par, 67 Saturday for a share of the third-round lead in the Houston Golf Classic with Philadelphia Bert Yancey after missing two chances to go ahead.

Yancey and Nichols, at 203, were 10 under par going into Sunday's final round on the Sharpstown Country Club course.

Nichols' attempts at birdies on holes 16 and 17 missed by inches, but he had birdies on holes 10, 12 and 14 for rounds of 34-33. He bogeyed only No. 9.

Yancey was alone at the head of the pack for much of the back nine, but the 26-year-old pro bogeyed the 17th and had to settle for a tie with the hot-shooting Nichols. Yancey fired 36-32 Saturday for his 203 total through 54 holes.

Billy Martindale, who started the day deadlocked with Yancey in first place, had trouble on the back nine and slipped to an even par 34-37-71 that dropped him to 206.

Don January of Dallas took over third place ahead of Martindale with a three under par 34-34-68, and 205 overall.

Bruce Devlin of Hilton Head Island, S.C., who started the day tied with January for fourth place, got a two under par 34-35-69 and finished with a 206, tying him with Martindale through three rounds.

Two men were at 207—rookie Homero Blancas of Houston, whose 66 first round was the best in years for a pro debut, and Claude King of Virginia Beach, Va. Blancas had a 69 and King a 68 Saturday.

At 209 was Lou Graham of Nashville Tenn., who had 68. Defending champion Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., was at 209 with Miller Barber of San Antonio, Tex., and Chris Blocker of Jal. N.M. Souchak was even-par today with 71. Barber had 70 and Blocker had one of only two 67's shot Saturday. The other was by Nichols.

Marichal Deals Mets Shutout

Phillies Hand LA First Loop Loss, 3-2

By United Press International
Juan Marichal pitched one-hit ball over the final seven innings and drove in two runs to lead the San Francisco Giants to a 4-0 victory over the New York Mets Saturday.

Marichal, who never has lost to the Mets, beat them for the 10th straight time with a four-hitter.

Charley Alau whacked a pinch homer off eventual winner Dick Radatz in his first official batting appearance of the season to tie the game at 2-2 in the top of the eighth.

The Red Sox then came back with their four-run rally as Hank Bauer cleared his bullpen staff in an unsuccessful attempt to choke off the walks that backboned the uprising.

The Lau homer was one of five hits in the game by the Orioles. Curt Blefary hit two and Paul Blair one, their initial circuits in the major leagues, and Brooks Robinson slammed a two-run belt.

In Saturday night games the Philadelphia Phillies handed the Los Angeles Dodgers their first defeat of the year, 3-2; the Chicago Cubs moved into a tie for first place with the Pittsburgh Pirates with a 9-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Rookie Ken Berry drove in both Chicago runs with a sacrifice fly and a 10th inning single to lift the White Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators. Berry's single in the 10th scored Danny Cater from third and gave Eddie Fisher the victory. Fisher pitched the 10th in relief of rookie Bruce Howard, who struck out 10 over the first nine innings.

Southpaw Jim Kaat survived a rocky start, during which he was bailed out by two double plays, and set down the Cleveland Indians on seven hits as the Minnesota Twins posted a 3-0 victory. For Kaat, it was the first shutout since July 24, 1963, and the second time this season he has gone nine innings. Bob Allison homered for Minnesota.

The New York Yankees met the Athletics in a twilight game at Kansas City and Detroit and the Angels played under the lights in Los Angeles.

The Astros had tied the score at 2-2 in the eighth when Joe Morgan singled home Al Spangler.

Both teams found the going a little rough as Ron Curlee and David Brandon took command from the start. In the first inning Brandon struck out one and got the other two Harvesters to hit to the infield.

The Orioles employed eight hurlers and Boston used four to barely miss League records in total pitchers used by one club and most used in a game.

The Borger batters found that Curlee had come to play as he faced only four men. Curlee walked the first man to face him, then settled down to strike out two of the next three men.

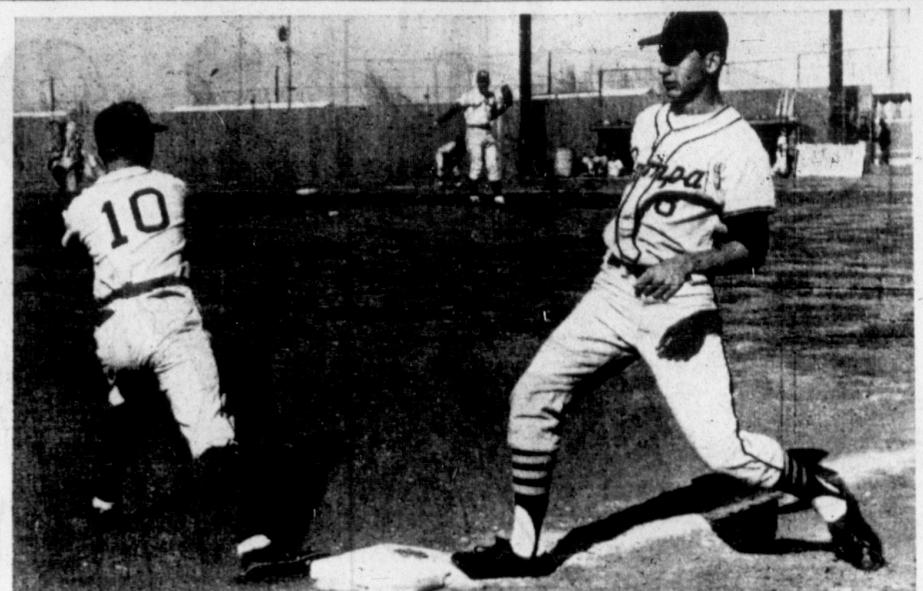

Reserve Baltimore catcher

For the next two innings the Harvesters went down in order as Brandon struck out three and walked none.

PLANS NEW ARENA
LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Purdue University announced plans to build a circular, 300-foot diameter basketball arena seating 14,416, about 50 per cent greater capacity than the present fieldhouse.

In the fourth inning Jerry Garrison got the first Pampa hit, a single and moved to second on a balk by Brandon. He was doubled off when Kyle Vann hit a low looping drive to center and Borger's Terry Brewer made a running catch to double the two-sport man is Ron Luciano, who played for the National Football League's Detroit Lions and the American Football League's Buffalo Bills after being graduated from Syracuse University. Luciano, who worked in the Florida State League last year, is the only newcomer to the staff.

BACK SAFELY — The Harvesters Steve Molberg scoots back to third safely in the fourth inning of Friday's 1-0 Pampa victory over Palo Duro. Waiting with outstretched glove to catch the ball is Palo Duro's Randy Banks.

BORGER — The Pampa Harvesters exploded for six runs in the last two innings for a 6-0 win over the Borger Bulldogs yesterday. The win gave the Harvesters a 2-2 reading in district play.

In the fourth inning the Bulldogs got their first hit as Mick Glascock lined one up the middle. Curlee then struck out Willie Jackson and got Preston Wilson to hit into a double play to end the inning.

Both teams found the going a little rough as Ron Curlee and David Brandon took command from the start. In the first inning Brandon struck out one and got the other two Harvesters to hit to the infield.

In the fifth the Harvesters started off with a hit as Ray Jernigan hit a high pop fly that caught in the wind and fell in for a double. Jern then went to third as Daniels flew out to the center field. Jernigan was never able to score as Gary Molberg and Jerry Simpson grounded out to end the inning.

The Curlee batters found that Curlee had come to play as he faced only four men. Curlee walked the first man to face him, then settled down to strike out two of the next three men.

The fifth was the most productive for the Borger crew as they collected two hits. Tom Sanders led off with a hit, but was thrown out as he tried to get to third on a single by Jerry Billington.

For the next two innings the Harvesters went down in order as Brandon struck out three and walked none.

Curlee got the Harvesters rolling in the sixth as he slammed a home run over the right center field fence. Vann and Maynard got on by errors to put men on first and second. Steve Molberg rocked a double to right to send Vann home for the second Pampa score. Maynard then scored

Wildlife Census Being Conducted

The annual head count of the Animal Kingdom has biologists and game wardens of the Texas Park and Wildlife Department reaching for pencil, paper and walking shoes this month.

Counties boasting turkey populations will see census data jotted down during April, followed by tabulations on first in May, June and July.

Squirrel lines will see the first action as the tallies will be conducted during the first week in April.

From such data the biologists will be in position to recommend seasons and bag limits for the fall hunting period.

Jones Hits Three Home Runs, Shockers Split Doubleheader

By JEFF COHANE
News Sports Editor

SHATTUCK, Okla.—Lawrence Jones found a home yesterday . . . the friendly right field fence at Shattuck, Okla., as he slammed three home runs over it to give the Pampa Shockers the second game of a doubleheader and a split of their final season series as they dropped the opener to the Capron Tornados, 7-5, and then came back to rack the Shattuck Indians 7-1.

Roy Harper, who failed in relief in the opening game as Pampa blew a 5-0 lead came back to stifle the Indians on four hits in the second contest, allowing no earned runs. The tired ace of the Shocker staff wore out in the final frames, and had to make way for Lefty Jim Lang, who shut the Indians out in the final frame.

The Shockers looked as if they were home free against powerful Capron, which had defeated Shattuck the night before, as Jones opened the second inning with his first homer, followed by a line double by The Harp. The Tornados quickly yanked starter Randy Feezell and put in ace Danny Thompson, but a walk, and then a two-run single by pitcher Jerry Largin made it 3-0.

A walk and singles by Harper, Bud Abbott and Largin made it 5-0 in the fourth, but

Randy Sets New Relays Shot Mark

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Heralded Randy Matson, Texas A&M giant shot-putter, missed his world record of 67-11 1/2 Saturday at the 40th annual Kansas Relays, but set a new meet-standard with a thrust of 65-10 1/2.

Matson's appearance attracted a crowd of 14,000 which saw three individual and four team records fall in the university and college divisions in addition to a national high school mark.

New Mexico leaper Clarence Robinson set a record in the triple jump by spanning 50-6 1/2, following his record broad jump Friday of 25-2 1/2.

Kansas State's Bill Florie set the only other individual record with a toss of 266-3 1/2 in the javelin. The old mark was 258-1 1/2 by Ed Redd of Rice in 1963.

Team relay records were improved by Missouri's sizzling distance medley squad, Oklahoma State's 2-mile quartet Nebraska's 440-yard contingent and Texas Western's 880yard foursome.

Wichita East spurred by Olympian Jim Ryun's incredible 1:47.7 anchor established a national prep 2-mile relay standard 7:42.9. The old record was 7:43.8 by Archbishop Mulloy High School of New York City last year.

Ryun's 4:04.3 in yesterday's High School mile bettered any collegiate time in the 2day meet.

The Panhandle Sportsman

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

The annual Lake Meredith Festival is scheduled for June 3, 4, and 5. There will be many attractions, such as frog gigging contests, beauty contests and square dancing, to name some, as well as a fish rodeo. The fish rodeo, or derby, will not be in the lake proper, but in the large stilling basins just below the spillways and water outlet works.

There wasn't a fish in either of these impoundments until a few days ago. Last week a group headed by Bill Zollars, Berger, was offered a truckload of prize-sized sunfish by Bill McQuiddy of Canadian. McQuiddy was draining a ranch fish pond and seemed happy to oblige the group. As a result more than 600 large sunfish, blue-gill, long-eared and red-eared sunfish, were transported to the stilling basins and placed in the water after a few hundred were stockpiled at a secret pond. These will be tagged later on and placed in the stilling basin ponds a day or so ahead of the fish derby.

FARRINGTON LEADS

NEW YORK (UPI)—World champion Bob Farrington led the 1965 national harness driving standings with 75 victories and $127,344 in prize money through races of last Saturday, according to U. S. Trotting Association statistics released Tuesday. Billy Haughton (49) was second in triumph and Del Insko ($108,479) was runner-up in earnings.

Merchants in the top part of Texas will contribute thousands of dollars in prizes to those catching the tagged fish. There will be not only large sunfish for the anglers, but also, some whopping-size black bass, channel catfish and other species supporting valuable tags. Just where these shoppers will come from is anybody's guess at this time. In fact, the committees selected to get the fish to be tagged are very much concerned at this time as to where they can get them. Between now and the early June date of the rodeo, the pond will be stocked with hundreds of large ones.

Lake Meredith Pike
Last week it was mentioned that it would be a good guess that walleyed pike might be stocked in Lake Meredith. Since then official word has been received from the Parks and Wildlife Department in Austin to substantiate the idea. Word from the capitol indicates that there is a very good chance for this state to receive from the state of Iowa two million young walleyed pike in exchange for a certain number of wild turkeys.

If the swap goes through, it seems that one million walleyes will be placed in Lake Canyon near New Braunfels and 500,000 each in Possum Kingdom and Lake Meredith. If the transaction takes place, chances are that it will be within the next few weeks. It is still a good wager to calculate that by late, or even mid-summer, there will be a half million young pike

Turkey Trot Is Catching

Eastern wild turkey released on the wildlife management areas in southeast Texas have prospered with only a few exceptions, says Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists.

Most of the birds released on the Lower Neches and Alabama Creek areas stayed within an average eight mile range, but a few were spotted as much as twenty-five miles away.

Another exception was a hen with sixteen poulets trailing along behind, an unusually large brood and if all the offspring belong to her, the biological punster observed, she is a very overbearing hen.

Highs and Lows in Game Trends

For a number of years there has been a very calculated testing of the trends of upland game birds in the Panhandle. This scientific gauge was a product of someone interested in trends in wildlife and their imagination. Numbers of quail heard in a certain area during the breeding season have been tabulated and recorded.

Soon the spring call count will begin with game wardens and other field personnel of the Parks and Wildlife Department in the top part of the Panhandle. In checking the trends, field technicians are prescribed a twenty-mile route through typical bob-white country where they tabulate the findings of the survey.

On the average, since the census began, the figures have fluctuated from about 10 to 40 birds along the course. For example, the normal for the central part of the top part of the Panhandle might be 20 as compared to 175 along a comparative twenty-mile route southward a hundred miles.

Peak years for upland game birds during the last score of years were in the early fifties. Since then, except a year or so, the population of upland game birds in the top part of Texas has been on the decline. In fact, there are fewer quail in the central parts of the Panhandle now than there were in the drought in the early fifties.

Then, there was a top-heavy population of wild turkeys. Not so now. The overall population of wild turkeys, from my standpoint, is the lowest in the last fifteen years. Other upland game birds such as both bob-white and blue quail, together with wild, ring-necked pheasants, are also at an all-time low.

There is a nucleus of broodstock intact, however. Frank Roach mentioned that on the last day of last quail season he and Buddy Cochran found a half dozen coveys in the sand hills a few miles south of the river and a few miles to the west. With plenty of thunderstorms during July and August, and some in early September, you can count on a bountiful crop of quail this fall.

Coyotes Intrigue State Park Visitors

The "coyote trade," thank you, is thriving this year.

This is one way of saying visitations are running above average at the Western outposts of the state parks system, at Monahans Sandhills State Park. Jay Jaynes, park manager, reports many of his "repeaters," especially those from big city "civilization," like to stop over for a night or two to hear the coyotes howl.

The shaggy beasts, which live a furtive existence in the barren areas, also provide some exciting if not uneasy moments for the neophyte trade.

Now and then some stranger will ask next morning: "What was that we heard last night—that mournful call?" Jaynes politely informs them they were privileged to hear the genuine yowl of a brave wide open space creature, so generously imitated in the west.

"That explanation always reassures them," said Jaynes. The park manager said learning the origin of the weird noise has so intrigued some visitors that they decided to stay an extra night in the area.

Monahans Sandhills State Park actually does not cater to overnight trailer guests or campers because of lack of electric hookups and other facilities. And the park is short of parking space.

Prospects for even greater patronage are good, said Jaynes, because of the routing of the new Interstate 20 through that area. He said plans have been confirmed for a cross over leading into the primitive park.

The rolling sand dunes, which peak up to 70 feet and with never-failing water holes, were favored by the Comanche Indians and later by the wagon trains rolling along amidst countless buffalo herds.

OPPOSITE VIEW — Man and boy fish from opposite sides of small boat in Vermont lake in "A Fisherman's Notebook" scene. Two-sided practice view for possible danger from oncoming speedboats, balances boat, and reduces chances of line entanglements.

Fishin' Facts

The confusion that exists over various members of the pike family is a bit more than just academic. This is especially true when a man proudly lifts a respectable northern out of the boat for all to see, then has it scornfully called a "grass snake."

To straighten the records, the fishing experts at Mercury outboards offer some helpful information on these important game fish and how to identify them.

In the pike family there are three major branches: the muskies, the pickerels and the pike—though half a hundred other labels will be bandied about.

Pike or "northern"—if you wish—are frequently confused in print with walleyed pike; the latter is actually a perch. Pickerels come in three distinctive varieties: the banded, the little or trout, and the chain of eastern. Their size, being smallest of the tribe, coupled with the infallible distinction of having cheeks and gill covers fully covered with scales separates them from their larger cousins.

Pike, on the other hand, have cheeks completely scaled but only scales on the top half of the gill cover.

Don't rely on markings or coloration as a means of separating the species, warn the Mercury folks. Water conditions, hybridizing regional variations and other factors produce fish that don't look like the book says they should.

Check the scales, and you'll be right.

Big Fish Hit Coastal Baits

Spanish mackerel ling and jackfish have moved into inshore waters of the Texas coast automatically bringing tidings to fishermen that summer is not far behind.

Port Aransas operators are notifying State-wide "clients" about fine catches of these "summer" fish off the piers and shore.

Large redfish are still being caught off the piers and large schools of huge black drum are reported in Baffin Bay.

Although wind has been strong and gulf waters a little rough for some, the hardy souls who love the open water are bouncing "over the bar" at Port Aransas and reporting substantial catches.

The bouncing around they endure is justified by dining on succulent ling steaks or fresh caught mackerel broiled in butter.

Hatchery Fish Are Ready to Spawn

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fish hatchery workers report water temperature in ponds is rapidly approaching the 60-degree mark which triggers the spawning season for bass and other sunfish.

They say crappie wait until water reaches 65 degrees before spawning and catfish begin courtship at 70 degrees.

Each species preforms interesting rituals when spawning time arrives, the biologists stated. Catfish, for instance, are "lovebugs" until the female lays her eggs, then the male catfish chases the female away from the nest to prevent her from devouring her own eggs.

Black bass males choose a female and route her over a gravel nest where eggs are deposited. The female bass then leaves the shore of protecting the eggs and young to the male.

Despite a continuing water shortage in San Angelo, the hatchery staff expects one million bass and one-half million catfish and sunfish to be produced this year.

Florentine painter Leonardo Da Vinci was born on this day in 1452.

Boating News

By LEROI OGDEN

Traffic regulations have been adopted to make automobile travel as safe and enjoyable as possible. The same is true of boating. Rules of the road have been established to insure maximum safety afloat, and when correctly followed, they even add to the fun of boating.

Both newcomers and veterans should occasionally review these rules. The smart skipper also checks additional regulations on the lake where he plans to do his boating.

Meeting — When two boats approach head on, each skipper steers to the right or starboard and the boats pass port side to port side.

Overtaking — When one boat is overtaking another, he must keep clear of the slower boat.

Crossing — Similar to automobile regulations, the person to the operator's right has the right of way, and you must give way to him. If necessary, the operator is required to slow down, stop or reverse his craft to accomplish this.

Getting Underway — Boats leaving slips, wharves and piers, have no rights until they are in open water. Therefore, you must proceed with caution.

Sailboats — With only one exception, the sailboat has the right of way over power craft. The only exception is the unlikely situation of a sailboat passing a power craft.

Fishing Boats — Take it easy when you are passing near fishermen. Fishing boats whether anchored or underway, have the right of way.

Accidents — In any emergency, it is the duty of the boatman to stand by and render all possible assistance.

Courtesy — Many day-to-day boating situations do not come under written regulations. The answer then is simple common sense and boating courtesy. Just remember one thing: Would you like it if the other boatmen were doing the same thing?

Lake Meredith To Be Stocked With Walleye

Barring the unexpected, another major step to expand Texas' fresh-water fishing opportunities will be taken soon when two million walleyed pike are released in three key state reservoirs, according to Marion Toole, inland fisheries chief for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The sporty game fish, known for its fighting qualities as well as its cuisine attraction, will be planted in two new impoundments at Canyon Lake near New Braunfels and Lake Meredith in the Panhandle, and in Possum Kingdom Lake, west of Fort Worth.

Toole said the walleye introduction is a part of a long-range plan, dating back to 1932 when the first white bass were released in Texas, to establish natural biological control of shad in the big reservoirs rather than by use of chemicals.

Both white bass and walleyes are known for their predatory qualities, primarily as an enemy of shad which have become so numerous that they have upset the fish population balance in many areas, said Toole.

Toole said one million of the walleyes, all obtained in an exchange of wild turkeys with the Iowa Department of Conservation, would be consigned to Canyon Lake, and the other million equally divided between Lake Meredith and Possum Kingdom, where walleye introduction experiments have been in progress since 1963.

The fisheries chief said Lake Meredith, which is in Potter, Moore and Hutchinson counties, is linked by the Canadian River with Conchos Reservoir in New Mexico, about 150 miles upstream, where walleyes have been successfully introduced as has been done in the Tennessee white bass, now present in Kentucky reservoirs, Oklahoma and elsewhere in the south. The latest effort follows the tremendous exploitation of the prolific white bass, no w present in many Texas lakes and stream, and the futile effort to install California striped bass, a close resemblance to the white bass, as another predatory curb.

White bass, currently the seasonal toast of countless Texas anglers, skyrocketed to astronomical number as early as 1935, three years after they were first released in Lake Dallas. Then came their introduction in Lake Buchanan of the Highland Lakes chain, in Medina Lake near San Antonio, Eagle Mountain Lake near Fort Worth and in Lake Waco.

Toole said that, with all their prolific expansion, the white bass have not been able to keep pace with the unwanted and that he is counting on the voracious walleyes to help nature overcome the disturbing deficiency and give Texas fishermen an even better break than presently enjoyed.

Clarendon Firm Charged With Labor Violation

AMARILLO (Spl) — Anderson, Clayton and Co. and Eusebio Chavera are named as defendants in a suit filed in the U. S. District Court here, alleging violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Anderson, Clayton and Company maintains a cotton gin and office under the name of "Paymaster Gin" at Clarendon which is engaged in the harvesting of cotton, ginning, production, shipment and delivery of cotton bales and cottonseed. Such products are moved in interstate commerce.

U. S. Secretary of Labor W. W. Wirtz filed the complaint in which he alleges that the Company and an individual, Eusebio Chavera, allegedly violated the Act by employing several minors under 16 years of age, in October of 1963 and in October of 1964, to pick cotton during hours when school in their home area was in session. This is prohibited by the Act.

The work performed by the minor children on farms in Donkey and Hall Counties was the pulling, harvesting, handling and production of cotton and other agricultural products.

The U. S. Department of Labor has asked the Court for a judgment enjoining and restraining the defendants from further violations of the law.

Investigations in the case were made by the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions Albuquerque field office.

WORD HAS COME that comments made here last Sunday about Big Brother "watching" in the Pampa Post Office have been forwarded to Big Brother in Washington.

D.C. News Managers

Washington is seething with more complaints about administration news management and suppression of news than were rampant even under the late President Kennedy.

Presenting themselves in the best possible light, of course, is an old habit of politicians and bureaucrats. But the kind of news management complained about under the Kennedy and Johnson regimes is something different.

Mr. Sylvester still holds his Defense Department post. And reporters covering the war in Vietnam are chafing under increased news management. One

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Militant civil rights leaders are busily laying the groundwork for "internationalizing" the turbulent movement.

First target in their ambitious plan is South Africa. Preparations already are underway on two stormy moves against that country.

Staging a giant demonstration in New York when the World Court, at The Hague, rules on South Africa's old League of Nations mandate over South Africa.

Sanctions advocated by the civil rights leaders include: "Discontinue guarantees of American exports to South Africa through the Export-Import Bank."

"Discontinue loans to South Africa through the U.S.-controlled International Monetary Fund and World Bank, and provide incentives for the withdrawal of American investments from South Africa."

"Enforce the sanctions provided in federal fair employment legislation against American companies whose subsidiaries abroad discriminate on the basis of race or color."

These far-reaching objectives were formally launched at a three-day meeting in Washington organized by the American Committee of Africa.

Episcopal Bishop James Pike, San Francisco, presided. Some 35 religious, labor and student organizations were listed as sponsors of this National Conference on South African Crisis and American Action.

Significant observations — Prominent throughout the three-day deliberations were two members of the Soviet delegation at the United Nations.

They are Guerodt Gavrilovich Tchernouchchenko, representing Byelorussia, and Sergei Timofeevich Shevchenko, the Ukraine. Neither made any speeches, but they huddled constantly with conference leaders and African diplomats, particularly from Algeria and Ghana.

Other notables active at the meeting were: James Farmer, national director of CORE, who recently returned from an African tour during which he conferred with Congolese rebels.

Victor Reuther, director of international affairs of the United Auto Workers and brother of Walter Reuther, head of that union.

Clarence Mitchell, legislative representative of the NAACP. Robert Spike, executive director of the Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches.

Benjamin Segal, the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Senator Frank Moss, D-Utah, and Representative Donald Fraser, D-Minn., who addressed a luncheon meeting.

Farmer sounded the militant keynote of the conference with the declaration that the "civil rights revolution must be internationalized."

"The fight in Selma and South Africa are the same struggle," he asserted. "Freedom now and 'Uhuru' must be shouted with one voice. In the U.S., we have leverage. The President is proclaiming our slogans. In South Africa they are fighting with little leverage and must rely upon external pressures against that government."

"U.S. companies with investments in South Africa must know that we will look upon them with the same eyes as we look upon segregation in this country. Our friends in the U.S. must realize that the struggle in South Africa is the same struggle with the same demands."

At the close of the conference, a five-member delegation, headed by Bishop Pike, called on Secretary Dean Rusk and McGeorge Bundy, influential special assistant to President Johnson on foreign affairs. They were given copies of the unanimously adopted resolution advocating sweeping economic sanctions against South Africa.

MORE TO COME — Top Negro leaders have agreed to meet in New York later this month to discuss establishing a permanent organization for the purpose of "influencing" U.S. policy toward Africa.

Prominent in this move are Dr. Martin Luther King; Roy Wilkins, executive director of NAACP; James Farmer, head of CORE; A. Philip Randolph, vice president of the Negro-American Labor Council; Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League; Dorothy Height, president of the National Council of Negro Women.

The same group was active in convening the American Negro Leadership Conference on Africa at Harriman, N. Y. in 1962 to discuss U.S. policy toward that continent. The conference criticized the U.S. for an "ineffective policy of aid to Africa."

WASHINGTON:

How Should We React to Red Didoes?

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some U.S. officials are pressing that this month's Red harassment of West Berlin be followed by U.S. Allied-West German pressure on the East Germans.

They're discussing: —Stepped-up Allied military patrols on the autobahn between West Germany and Berlin.

—Increased Allied military patrols in East Berlin.

—Added restrictions on travel by East German citizens in North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries.

—Tightened controls on Allied and West German commerce with East Germany, trade on which the East Germans have become highly dependent.

Another group of officials wants to step in with one of these restrictions within weeks after the end of the Red harassment.

These let's-do-something officials contend that unless there's Western action, there'll be continued harassments. They hold that the only way the Communists can be discouraged is to hit back every time they act up over Berlin.

But already there are signs from Paris and London that the French and British will wash their hands of any after-the-harassment action. The way the cards read now, they won't even still for a post-harassment hint of later retaliatory action.

Instead, the British, French and some American officials will push for another tack: 1. Let well enough alone vis-a-vis the Reds and Berlin and be glad they pushed no further.

2. Discourage the West Germans from having any more national meetings in West Berlin (because these agitate the Reds).

No decision on what path to follow has yet been made except to hold on to U.S.-Allied rights in Berlin and its access routes. The don't-rock-the-boat group is gaining, however.

There's a strong feeling in the government as of now that the United States has enough on its hands with Viet Nam and that it wouldn't be smart to do anything at this time that could give the Reds an excuse for stirring up more trouble in Europe.

These officials are ignoring new government-sponsored studies which indicate that unless Red treaty infractions are followed quickly and determinedly with some effective action, the Communists normally go on to further treaty-breaking.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS Prevention of New Jobs Is Part of Taxation Cost

By SAM CAMPBELL Register Business Editor A man decided to open a business. He went to the big city and got a license from the state. He went to the local city hall and paid a fee for a municipal license. Next he drove to the county civic center to file for a business name.

When he arrived at the court house, he discovered a sign on the parking lot that said "For County Employees Only." The entrepreneur drove around the block and found a spot by the curb. There an automated device, called a parking meter, collected a nickel's rent from him for one-hour's use of the space.

A father went to a bicycle shop to have his child's bike repaired. The shopowner did not have the part in stock. He said he would send for it, but it might take a week.

"Why don't you stock the part?" the customer asked. "Well," the shopowner said, "we have a lot of different makes in bicycles today. To stock all the parts that are necessary to give complete service would tie up a lot of money. Then we have to pay tax on inventory. If a part happens not to move in one year, we have to pay the inventory tax on it twice. There goes our profit. So we don't carry all the parts that we need."

A current fad among economists is to say that taxation has only a minor influence in the location of new industries. That many utterances along this line issue from professors who draw their salaries from tax funds and from researchers who serve institutions that deal heavily in bonded debt is sufficient to raise a doubt as to objectivity.

But even if the statement be given credence at face value, the fact remains that tax does squelch new enterprises. A going concern passes on to the customer the cost of taxation in the same manner that it passes on other expenses as components of the final price. But taxes on a starting enterprise fall due before the door is open and before a single buyer has entered. The number of businesses that were prevented from opening, the number of jobs that never were created, the products that never reached the market as a result of pre-taxation is a measure of how much taxation chops off the standard of living. The figure by now must reach into infinitude.

Then if you envision those products on the market that meet sales resistance because of parts-supply difficulties you see the complication that taxes bring to the orderly operation of the marketplace.

If all this difficulty were necessary, we could abide it cheerfully. But taxation is not the sole means of raising governmental revenue, nor is it the best or most productive means.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Sunday, April 18, the 108th day of 1965 with 257 to follow. It is Easter Sunday.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Saturn and Mars.

The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

American journalist and author, Richard Harding Davis, was born on this day in 1864.

On this day in history: In 1775, American patriot Paul Revere began his famed ride to warn the people of the Massachusetts countryside, crying as he rode that "the British are coming."

In 1906, the San Francisco earthquake started. When it ended three days later, 500 people had been killed.

In 1942, Lt. Col. James Doolittle and a squadron of 16 B25s bombed Japan for the first time.

In 1945, U.S. war correspondent Ernie Pyle was killed on an island in the Pacific.

A thought for the day: Playwright Oscar Wilde said "experience is the name everyone gives to their mistakes."

A guest at a house party was asked if he was really having a good time.

First Guest — Oh, sure. Fine food! I have a swell room, the host and hostess are marvelous, weather is perfect, and the entertainment is all anyone could ask for. Actually, there's only one thing—

Follow Guest — One thing you don't like? And what could that be?

First Guest — Well, probably I shouldn't even mention it, but to be perfectly frank with you — they're not giving me any spending money!

The Nation's Press

JAILS OR FORTRESSES? (Dallas Morning News) A University of Chicago professor predicts that prisons as we now know them will disappear during this century.

By prisons, he means "a walled institution, where adult criminals in large numbers are held for protracted periods. . . . the purpose being to lead the prisoners to eschew crime in the future" and to deter others from a life of crime.

He is probably right. Thanks to our present progressive treatment of felons, our crime rate is mushrooming and in a few years the criminals may very well outnumber the law-abiding. When that happens, instead of a law-abiding majority walling the hoodlums in, we will probably see the law-abiding minority banding together to wall them out. Some of the cities of the east, whose streets are no longer safe by night may reach this point any day now.

Money Rolling In for James Bond Enterprises

By TOM A CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
LONDON (NEA) — James Bond may not chew bubble gum, but his pajamas have secret pockets, and he sleeps between sheets embroidered with his 007 monogram.

Furthermore, he uses 007 shaving lotion guaranteed to "make any man dangerous" and he buys his girl friends "Secret Agent Baby Doll Nighties."

These are just a few of the products now being marketed under the James Bond label of 007 (the digits mean that Bond is authorized to kill) in one of the biggest merchandising drives of its kind ever launched.

From Paris to New York, stores are flooded with Bonded items as promoters cash in on the world-wide popularity of the Bond books and films ("Dr. No," "Goldfinger," "From Russia with Love").

The 007 line ranges from trench coats to toy sniper rifles, but does not include bubble gum. An application for a license to manufacture 007 bubble gum was turned down by Gidrose Productions, holders of the James Bond copyright, on the grounds that it might harm the Bond image.

"James Bond was no gum chewer," explains Miss Beryl

Griffie-Williams, who probably knows more about this fictional hero than any other woman living. "Even if he was secretly addicted to the gum habit, he would never have chosen bubble gum," she firmly adds.

"Only the Rolls-Royce of chewing gums would have been good enough for James Bond."

Tall, white-haired and with green-rimmed glasses, Miss Griffie-Williams was secretary for four years to the late Ian Fleming, creator of James Bond. "Griffie," as she is known, is now employed in the merchandising end of the vast industry which has grown up around the tough guy secret agent.

Griffie also keeps a motherly eye on the James Bond fan clubs that have sprung up as far afield as Australia. Of the British clubs one is composed of Oxford University students who dine out occasionally in James Bond's honor. Another was founded in Whiteley Bay, Northumberland, by a diamond merchant and is limited to 15 007 members.

Of the countries that are marketing James Bond products the United States was fastest off the mark with a line of 007 toilettries that was an instant success when test-marketed last Christmas. Since then James Bond sport shirts, pajamas, swim suits and children's games have appeared on the American market.

Popular with Americans, too, is an 007 cocktail — gin or vodka with lemon juice, sugar, soda and two dashes of bitters.

Britain is about to tee off with James Bond shoes, ties and golf equipment. The London Hilton has a merchant and is limited to 15 007 members.

It is in France, however, that James Bond has scored his highest bulls-eye. A special Bond Boutique featuring gold-colored mannequins was recently opened by the Galleries Lafayette, a leading Paris department store, and since then 3,500 stores throughout France have been pushing Bond-inspired goods.

CLAUDE CARDINALE, making her first Hollywood picture, turns out to be different from what you expect. You thought she was a big, sexy Italian girl, right? Well, she isn't big and she isn't Italian.

She's a medium-sized Tunisian. She is, of course, Italian in ancestry, but her family has been living in Africa for several generations and she grew up speaking French — the language of Tunis — rather than Italian.

And when she thinks about food, she thinks about couscous, not fettuccine. Couscous is a Tunisian specialty, obviously. "Blindfold," in which she's costarring with Rock Hudson, is Claudia's 27th picture in her seven-year career. Since she arrived in Rome, she's been grinding out movies like couscous.

It adds up to lots of money, but Claudia isn't money-mad. "Oh, I like jewels and furs and clothes," she says, "but a person doesn't need a million jewels and 20 furs."

THE ISRAELI girl, Peter O'Toole's love in "Lord Jim," went to Sweden as a girl to study ballet. She returned to Israel when she was 14. She'd forgotten how to speak Hebrew, so her parents sent her to a boarding school to learn the language again. While she was away, her father became ill and went to a hospital for an operation.

Daliah rushed home and every day she went to the hospital to see him. One day, though, she skipped her visit "to have some fun." On that day, her father died. Naturally, Daliah was riddled with guilt about not seeing him on his last day.

For three days, this guilt preyed on her mind. And then, that night, she says she saw her father. He told her not to worry and then said, "Remember, my dear, never forget who you are and always be nice to people."

She says that has become her life's credo.

Now we know—Claudia Cardinale isn't a big, sexy, Italian girl because she isn't big and she isn't Italian, but Tunisian. That leaves but one adjective, and sexy she is in her role opposite Rock Hudson in "Blindfold."

'Our Man Flint' On Order of James Bond

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—James Bond, meet Derek Flint. Jim Coburn, who is going to play "Our Man Flint," realizes a comparison between the two spies is inevitable. And unfortunately, Jim feels that Flint is a man of more substance than Bond; he has a point of view beyond being a great lady killer and bad-man killer.

But the film won't be all message. There are a couple of gimmicks worthy of a note.

1. Flint spurs weapons — except his cigarette lighter. This device does 14 things.

2. Flint's bed is one of a kind. You see, Flint lives with four girls. Each one serves a purpose. At night, they all retire to a bed that is really five beds in one — a round, central part and five separate beds which radiate from it.

And you won't find that in

Television in Review

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The American institution, Bob Hope, presented one of his comedy specials Friday night and doubtless ran away with all the ratings.

Hope has become such a fixture in American entertainment that even when he is bad, he is better than any other stand-up comedian extant.

Hope, despite his English accent, is the ultimate American winner: Wealthy, admired and beloved. On screen he is the all-American patois; loser, bungler and straight man.

Hardly an American breathes who can't identify with one or both Bob Hopes. And when at the end of the orchestra fades out with "Thanks For The Memories" it stirs you just enough to make you glad Bob stopped by for another of his well-timed visits.

gling his eyes, wiggling his ears and mugging until the audience is convulsed. It's hokey but Bob gives it a shot of pizzazz in style.

The last elects are more a tribute to the man's endearing qualities than response to great material. Hope has become a sort of all-American uncle who drops in by television just often enough to be a welcome guest.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

FICTION
"The Joyous Season" — Patrick Dennis; marriage on the rocks is the main concern of this latest novel by the author of "Auntie Mame." The children observe the explosion of their parents' marriage and are instrumental in working out matters happily for everyone in the end.

"Uncle Pork's Jug" — Corey Ford; the mythical sportsman's organization, the Lower Forty Shooting, Angling and Inside Straight Club, is back again. Here is a collection of tall tales about those improbable and irresponsible inhabitants of Hardacreville.

"It Can't Always Be Caviar" — Johannes Simmel; the daring adventures of mild-mannered Thomas Lieven, who involuntarily finds himself employed by all of the major secret service organizations of the world.

"Bill, The Galactic Hero" — Harry Harrison; a flip-roaring man of the future disrupts the Space Corps in this novel by one of the brightest science fiction writers of today.

"The Uncle" — Margaret Adams; a memorable novel told in the fresh, unspoiled terms of a child's frank appraisal of life. The story of Gus in his private revolt and growing understanding is the purest of comments on family love.

"The Year of The Rat" — Mladin Zarubica; a veteran of World War II, the author writes of a hunting guide named Carlo in the Bavarian Alps whom he met. He purported to be a key figure in espionage in the Normandy invasion — a wild tale by any standard, but additional discoveries later confirmed certain facts.

"A Present From Peking" — David Lampard; Alan Marriott, a young British flyer, takes a job flying from England to China for a mysterious American-owned airline and finds himself in the battle between the Nationalist and Communist Chinese.

"Ravenscroft" — Dorothy Eden; a spine-tingling Gothic romance set both in the squalor of Charles Dickens' London and at one of England's most opulent estates. Here the heroine of this novel and her sister are forced to seek their fortune in the notorious London slums, they fall into the hands of a female Fagin.

"Herzog" — Saul Bellow; is the story of Moses Herzog, great sufferer, joker and moaner, cuckold, charmer, a man of our time. Seeing himself as a survivor of his private disasters but also those of the age Herzog cannot keep from asking what he calls the "piercing" questions. The answers he finds will matter not only to him but to readers of this novel.

"Best Sports Stories" 8 outstanding short stories give a remarkable picture of the major sports events of 1963 and of the star and little-known players between the athletic masks.

"A Man In The Wheatfield" — Robert Laxalt; a little town in an immensity of desert. A benevolent aging despot of a mayor who has created the town to his own liking. And a priest who was different from most men for he knew for a positive fact that there was a devil.

And when she thinks about food, she thinks about couscous, not fettuccine. Couscous is a Tunisian specialty, obviously. "Blindfold," in which she's costarring with Rock Hudson, is Claudia's 27th picture in her seven-year career. Since she arrived in Rome, she's been grinding out movies like couscous.

It adds up to lots of money, but Claudia isn't money-mad. "Oh, I like jewels and furs and clothes," she says, "but a person doesn't need a million jewels and 20 furs."

THE PSYCHIC STARS:
Daliah Lavi
The Israeli girl, Peter O'Toole's love in "Lord Jim," went to Sweden as a girl to study ballet. She returned to Israel when she was 14. She'd forgotten how to speak Hebrew, so her parents sent her to a boarding school to learn the language again. While she was away, her father became ill and went to a hospital for an operation.

Daliah rushed home and every day she went to the hospital to see him. One day, though, she skipped her visit "to have some fun." On that day, her father died. Naturally, Daliah was riddled with guilt about not seeing him on his last day.

For three days, this guilt preyed on her mind. And then, that night, she says she saw her father. He told her not to worry and then said, "Remember, my dear, never forget who you are and always be nice to people."

She says that has become her life's credo.

Executive Secretary

Mrs. Euna Lee Moores sends greetings and best wishes to all of her friends in Pampa. Mrs. Moores lives in Houston and she was the first to call while we were in Houston. She came to the hotel and visited with us and then took us all over the city. We really miss her in our Red Cross work in Pampa.

Pampa Swingers Start New Golfing Season

 The arrival of warm, spring-like weather has put the golfing season in full swing for the Pampa Women's Golf Association's 65 members who meet every Thursday to encourage and advance their golfing skills.

The golfing season for the local women usually starts about the middle of March and ends the first of November when the association elects new officers. During the golfing season the women hold a special meeting on the third Thursday of each month. The special meeting consists of a luncheon and business session that follows the afternoon's play.

The Pampa association is affiliated with Texas Women's Golf Association, West Texas Women's Golf Association and Panhandle Women's Golf Association. Special functions among the Panhandle clubs are arranged so that players from all seven clubs compete and get to know the various golf courses.

Marge Gipson was named the club's "Most Improved Player" of last year by Hart Warren, Pampa Country Club golf pro. Several Pampans are credited with holes-in-one, among these are Betty Garren, Ava Warren, Ruby Husted and Mary Fain.

SHOP TALK — Women golfers who decide they don't have time to play a round of golf can be found looking over equipment in the club's Pro Shop or playing bridge. Looking over an unusual club, lower right photo, from left, is Mrs. Henry Frazer, Panhandle delegate; Mrs. Dean Scarbrough, local vice president and Mrs. John Fritsch.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORMSON

HOW PRETTY AND gay Pampa looks right now with all its flowering shrubs and trees. There's hardly a yard without a profusely blooming forsythia bush. Take time to notice the salmon-colored flowering quince at the home of Mrs. S. C. (Mora) Evans, the huge forsythia towering over the back fence at the Roy Bourlands, the extremely large redbud in the front yard of the Aaron Sturgeons, the perfect blooming peach in a specimen planting at the Dick Walker home and the purple creeping flock in mass outlining the foundation of the John Chisum home on Beech. A drive around Pampa on this Easter Sunday will bring to mind that the table of the redbud tree is associated with Christ and His crucifixion. Another interesting sight is the circle of yellow tulips around a large blooming forsythia in the yard of the Harry Vanderpools. . . . Another scene of interest at this time is the Easter window display at 109 N. Cuyler. Mrs. W. H. (Rosemon) Winborn and Mrs. William C. (Marge) Bass arranged the display for the Lutheran Church Women.

BILL AND JO Esley are especially happy at this happy time of the year due to the arrival of William Reeves, their newly adopted son. . . . Four year-old Leslie Ann Harrah of Dallas visited Wednesday through Saturday with proud grandparents, Icie and Raymond Harrah. Leslie was accompanied to Pampa by mom and dad, Marie and Raymond Jr. . . . Representing the local Red Cross Chapter at the State Red Cross meeting last week in Houston were Mrs. Frank (Libby) Shotwell, Mrs. V. J. (Oma) Drew and Miss Donna Seawright. . . . Jess and Ethel Clay are spending the Easter holiday with son Randall and family in San Antonio. Randall will be remembered by many Pampans for his outstanding sports history at Pampa High School, University of Texas and in professional football. He is now business manager and sports telecaster for a San Antonio television station. . . . Seen busy engaged in making arrangements for the Lawyer's Wives luncheon next Saturday in Pampa Country Club was Mrs. J. B. (Mamie) Maguire. Friends of Clyde Fatheree are happy to have him home once again from Temple.

MRS. OTIS (Evelyn) Nace, one of our town's most talented writers, has again been recognized outside of her home town. Mrs. Nace recently sold her short story, "I Was Jealous of God," to a national interdenominational religious magazine. Many Pampans have heard Mrs. Nace present the story at various Sunday School classes and women's church groups.

Mrs. Agnes Howe of Panhandle is on a five-week tour of Europe. Mrs. Howe, aunt of Mrs. W. G. Puckett, is visiting points of interest in Rome, Egypt, Jordan, Tel-Aviv, Greece, Switzerland, France and England. . . . Members of Delta Kappa Gamma Society were notified of the death of Dr. Cara M. Martin in Waco. Dr. Martin was one of the remaining six national founders of DKG, which is an International Honor Society for women teachers. She was professor of education at the University of Texas for 30 years prior to her retirement. . . . Pampa City Panhellenic members are making plans to attend the Texas City Panhellenic State Convention in Amarillo April 28 and 29. Every sorority woman in Texas is invited to attend the convention at which recent pressures against the fraternity system will be discussed. Any sorority woman interested in the convention may obtain additional information by contacting Mrs. J. N. Riggs at 5301 Brinkman in Amarillo. . . . Noticed a couple of SMU coeds around town this past week for spring vacation. They were Mary Ellen Williams, daughter of Sandy and Dr. Ed Williams, and Betty Lou McWilliams, daughter of J. C. and Thelma McWilliams.

ILA FRANCES FILLMAN, daughter of Ray and Gladys Fillman and sophomore at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., will appear with Broadway star Lola Fisher in the Stephens College presentation of "My Fair Lady" April 30 and May 1. Miss Fillman will be a member of the dancing ensemble in the production. She joins a cast of 50 singers, dancers and actors in the fully costumed production which will be directed by Dan Eckley, stage director for the St. Louis Municipal Opera. . . . Seen at church last Sunday in a beautiful red suit and straw sailor was Mrs. C. W. (Faye) Stowell. Mrs. Jim (Ann) Campbell was wearing a black suit and Spanish motor sailor. Mrs. B. (Roberta) Baldrige and Mrs. J. W. (Lisle) Baldrige entertained a large group of friends recently for a luncheon-bridge in the Pampa Club. Mrs. Roy (Jimmie) Bourland, Mrs. Art (Ruth Ann) Holland, Mrs. Howard (Claudia) Greenlee, Mrs. Tom (Allison) Snow, Mrs. Gene (Nancy) Imel, Mrs. Jim (Betty) Brown, Mrs. Lee (Gaye Nell) Froser, Mrs. Don (Susanne) Lane, Mrs. Malcolm (Beverly) Douglas, Mrs. Harbord (Jeannette) Cox, Mrs. James (Carol) Gallimore, Mrs. Billy (Nancy) Davis and Mrs. M. B. (Vera) Davis were among those who enjoyed the afternoon.

HIGHLAND GENERAL Hospital Auxiliary member Mrs. Frank (Nancy) Stalla was seen last week in a local grocery store busily collecting television programs which the Auxiliary provides for HGH patients having TV sets in their rooms. This is just one of the many duties provided by the pleasant Auxiliary members, who always look pretty and gay in their bright yellow aprons, to make life more pleasant for hospital patients. . . . Mrs. Jay (Liz) Leath, Mrs. Bill (Weona) Martin, Mrs. Don (Virginia) Taylor and Mrs. Richard (Betty) Cooke were a few of the members of Beta Sigma Phi Upsilon Chapter who were dragged out of bed early one morning last week and taken, attired in pajamas and housecoats, to a "Come-As-You-Are Breakfast" held in the home of Mrs. Warren (Betty) Jackson. Mrs. Lee (Mary) Harris is one resident of Pampa to be greatly admired. Mrs. Harris, who is 88 years young, not only participates in the local Music Teachers Assn. and Senior Citizens' Center, but is the capable piano teacher of 14 pupils. Sometime in the near future hope to do a feature story on Mrs. Harris and let News readers know what keeps her so active and happy. . . . C. B. and Katie Haney, Bob and Alma McCoy and Mrs. Frank (Augusta) Yealey have returned from a Shriners' Tour of the Hawaiian Islands with some 250 Shriners and their wives from all over the world. While visiting the Enchanted Isles the group took a 12-hour plane tour of the islands and saw many interesting and beautiful sights and found the Hawaiian people to be exceptionally friendly. Among the things viewed by the group was a pineapple field, some volcanos, one of which smoke was emerging from, and visited an orchid garden. They had breakfast at a beautiful new hotel in Kona on the island of Hawaii. One of the interesting facts learned by the group was that many of the places on the islands have a native nickname other than its real name. For instance Oahu on the island of Honolulu is called the "Gathering Place" due to the fact that most tourists make their headquarters there while visiting in Hawaii. . . . "It's a Women's World," a salute to club women of Pampa, will appear in next Sunday's edition of the News. Though this writer has been "bothering" local club women for information concerning their organizations, pictures, and taking up their time in general, know the edition will be much enjoyed by Pampans since it will describe the projects and objectives of the many, many women's clubs which contribute so much to make Pampa a great place in which to live and establish homes.

Impressive Candlelight Ceremony Unites Carolyn Sue Boland, Donald R. Curry

Two antique tree candelabra with crystal prisms bearing lighted amber votive cups and arrangements of yellow roses, greenery and smilax appointed the wedding scene for the pledging of vows by Miss Carolyn Sue Boland of Lovington, N.M., and Donald Robert Curry, Groups of seven-branch candelabra bearing white cathedral tapers were placed in the choir loft backing the wedding scene and the altar was swagged with smilax caught at intervals with nosegays of pale yellow roses and daisies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Boland of Lovington, N. M., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ward Curry of 1128 Charles.

The double-ring service was officiated at 7:30 o'clock last evening in Lovington First Methodist Church by Rev. Harold Cates.

Each window of the church, which is Gothic in design, was appointed with an arrangement of yellow roses and candy tuft holding a lighted amber votive cup.

Wedding guests entering the church foyer were registered at a table covered with a floor-length white linen cloth centered with yellow roses and candy tuft arranged in a cherub candelabra draped at the base with smilax.

Mrs. Johnny Blockwood presented traditional nuptial selections at the organ and accompanied Lisle White, vocalist, as he sang "A Wedding Prayer" and "Twelfth of Never."

The bride, lovely in a chapel-length gown of silk organza over taffeta, was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. The bridal gown was designed with a fitted bodice featuring a scalloped sabrina neckline and wrist-length tapered sleeves ending in petal points. The bouffant bell-shaped skirt swept to back fullness which terminated in a chapel-length train. Appliques of peau d'ange lace, re-embroidered with mother of pearl, sequins and seed pearls, embellished the gown's neckline, the petal points of the sleeves, the front and side skirt panels and the hemline of the skirt. The bodice back was fastened to the waist with miniature self-covered buttons and two self-fabric roses centered the back waist line above the train of the gown.

The bride's bouffant butterfly veil of imported bridal illusion fell from a coil fashioned of a single silk organza rose embellished with dew drop pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of pale yellow roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid and tied with white satin streamers adorned with seed pearls and lovers knots. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, and wedding bands belonging to the bride's mother and maternal grandmother were nestled in the bridal bouquet.

Miss Mary Demmon attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Betty Sue Gann and Miss Cecilia Holeman. The bridal attendants were identically gowned in floor-length gowns of pale yellow crepe featuring attached trains of imported yellow lace edged with matching crepe. Picture hats with My Fair Lady design trimmed with matching maline and dew drop seed pearls, completed their ensembles. Miss Demmon carried a bouquet of pale yellow roses centered with a lighted votive cup and the Misses Gann and Holeman carried bouquets of pale yellow roses and daisies centered with a lighted votive cup.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was William Neelage while groomsmen were Rodney Paul Brauchle and John Stewart Curry, brother of the bridegroom. Wedding guests were seated by William Smith, Franklin Bowie and Thomas Melton Ford Jr., ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Boland was attired in a beige silk suit complemented by matching accessories and a cocoa brown hat. A cymbidium orchid corsage completed her costume. Mrs. Curry, mother of the bridegroom, selected a sheath dress fashioned of pale pink imported silk topped by a waist-length jacket. The dress bodice was fashioned of pale pink chiffon. A hat of matching chiffon and matching accessories completed her ensemble and she wore a white orchid corsage.

The church parlor was the scene of a wedding reception held following the exchange of vows. The bride's table, covered with a floor-length cloth of white satin, was centered with a white cherub candelabra

Dear Abby... This Male's Viewpoint Is Not Worth Much

DEAR ABBY: You women are all alike, aren't you? "All Through" whined that she had been hurt so bad by her husband she will never get over it. All he said after she had just been through the most excruciating pain ever inflicted on a human, while giving birth to their second girl, was, "You're never going to have a boy, are you?" And you Dear Abby, gave her typically womanish advice: "Tell him he can have the next baby."

This husband was probably just kidding. And if he chose a poor time for a joke he should have been excused. After all, while his wife was having the baby, he spent hours praying and worrying, and his judgment was not the best. Women today are so doped up during childbirth that they do not experience anywhere near the pain their ancestors felt. Furthermore, the woman who does suffer a little pain three or four times in her life, and wears her martyrdom like a badge, gives me a pain. No man can know the exact degree of pain a woman feels in childbirth, but I seriously doubt that it is any more painful to her than a kick in the groin is to a man. And we feel that pain a heck of a lot more than three or four times in our lifetimes. Sincerely,

ALL THROUGH WITH "ALL THROUGH"

DEAR ALL THROUGH: Aw, come on. I've had two children, and I'd rather have a kick in the groin any time.

DEAR ABBY: Why are parents considered selfish and inconsiderate when they refuse to burden themselves with debts in order to give an elaborate wedding reception for their daughter? We have always lived within our means and are willing to give her a reception that will not necessitate floating a loan, but she is not satisfied with the kind of reception we can afford. Her father makes less than $7,000 a year and there are younger children to educate. I would appreciate your views on this.

CONFUSED DEAR CONFUSED: Sensible people do not spend more than they can afford on anything. And that includes wedding receptions. You need not apologize to anyone for refusing to go into debt.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married twice. My first husband showered me with love, but he seldom worked, and we lived on what I earned, plus borrowed money, for six years. All I got from him were three kids, a stack of bills and more loving than I wanted. My second husband is up there in years. He works hard and doesn't bother me with any loving at all. I am only 26, but I think I am in a position to tell other women that all that love stuff is way overrated, and if I never get any more than a goodnight kiss on the cheek, I will be satisfied. You hear and read so much about "love" that I wish you would print this for girls who think they have to have a man.

SATISFIED

DEAR SATISFIED: You are confusing "love" with sexual fulfillment. Many people live contentedly without the latter, but life is empty and meaningless without "love."

DEAR ABBY: Sometime ago you answered a question as to when to wear hats. This interested me

PE Wives Enjoy Luncheon Meeting

Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society met for a luncheon Tuesday at the Sand's Restaurant in Borger.

Mrs. Tom H. Sappington presented the book review, "Not a Cloud in the Sky." The story, by Josephine Lawrence, was a light satire, depicting the life of an elderly couple, of the future, retiring in a home for the aged. They proved their independence by showing they were still worthwhile when troubles developed.

Following the program, Mrs. R. R. Jordan, president, conducted a brief business meeting. New officers for the coming year were elected by acclamation. Mrs. Paul Davis was named president, Mrs. Billy Gillman, first vice president; Mrs. Russell Talley, second vice president; Mrs. Harry Allen, secretary, and Mrs. Paul McLaughlin, treasurer. Mrs. James Morning was elected nominating chairman and Mrs. R. R. Jordan, yearbook chairman.

May's meeting will be a salad luncheon and bridge in the home of Mrs. Jack Dennis. New officers will be installed at that time.

as I have never felt completely dressed without a hat. I can't understand the women in my church (Baptist) who have nice clothes, but they don't wear hats to church. (Especially our pastor's wife.) I think, when a woman gets all dressed up for church, she should wear a hat. It sort of shows respect. Are you with me?

ONE HAT HATTIE

DEAR HATTIE: Personality, I like to see women under hats in church, but I am quite sure that God couldn't care less — as long as they're there.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. William T. Rice of 2704 Rosewood Lane announce the marriage of their daughter, Clara Mae, to James Luther Chase of 415 W. Browning, son of Mrs. S. M. Smart of Fort Worth and the late Robert Lee Chase. The couple exchanged double-ring vows at 11 a. m. April 11 in Juarez, Mexico.

Mrs Butler Gives Varietas Program

Mrs. Henry Butler presented a program on "Texas Authors and Artists" at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of Varietas Study Club, which met in the home of Mrs. J. R. Spearman.

The club president, Mrs. R. W. Lane, presided over the business session at which Mrs. Spearman read a letter from the Texas Heritage Foundation concerning a color and sound film being shown at the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon. The film, "Thundering Sounds of the West," will be shown every day except Tuesday June 17 through Sept. 6.

Roll call was answered by each member giving a brief account of a Texas author.

Mrs. Butler stated "Almost all of Texas' authors were born and reared on farms and ranches in Texas or visited the summer months with their grandparents in the country and were inspired in later years to write about the land they loved as youths from an inside view of the wide spaces and cattle country."

The speaker then gave biographies of Texas authors Lewis Nordsyke, Frank Jones Doble, Tom Lea, Loula Grace Edrman and Grace Noel Crowell.

Keen-McCracken Vows Exchanged

Miss Carolyn Sue Keen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Keen of McLean, became the bride of Ronald Franklin McCracken, son of Mrs. George McCracken of Alanreed and the late Mr. McCracken.

Double-ring vows were officiated by Rev. Steve Greenwood at 7:30 p.m. March 26 in the Keen home.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a street-length two-piece dress fashioned of white lace. The sheath skirt was topped with a hip-length fitted bodice designed with a high neckline and long fitted sleeves. Her brief veil of illusion fell from a pearl tiara. The bride wore a single strand of pearls and carried a white Bible, belonging to the mother of the bridegroom, topped with a white orchid.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Sharon Barker. Larry Evans served the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. Keen chose a dress of hand screened silk with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. McCracken was attired in a black wool suit accented by a blue blouse and white accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate family and close friends. The newlyweds will make their home in San Pedro, Calif., where the bridegroom is employed.

TASTING BEE — Mrs. Buddy Thornton, left, and Mrs. Bill McDonald are shown preparing a dish to be entered in the Tasting Bee sponsored by the Evening Opti-Mrs. Club. Proceeds from the event, which will be held from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Friday in Stephen F. Austin School Cafeteria, will go toward the club's scholarship fund and the Optimist youth program. Each Opti-Mrs. member will prepare a favorite dish to be tasted by those attending and recipes will be available for each dish entered. Some 70 different dishes will be available for tasting. Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. McDonald are serving as co-chairmen for the Tasting Bee.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," the bride was attired in a street-length dress of white chiffon over taffeta. The gown's fitted bodice and full gathered skirt was topped by a waist-length jacket designed with a rounded neckline and bouffant chiffon sleeves which fastened at the wrists with satin bows. The bride's finger-tip veil of net was secured by a rhinestone tiara. She carried a white Boule topped with white carnations.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Nancy Bryant, who wore a street-length gown of blue net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Bill McMinn of Childress served his cousin as best man. A reception was held following the exchange of vows in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McMinn. The serving table, covered with a white lace cloth over pink, was centered with a large wedding bell flanked by tapers in milk glass holders. The wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple, and milk glass appointments completed the table setting. Mrs. Bill McMinn of Childress and Miss Linda Adcock presided at the punch and cake services while Miss

ARE YOUR NOSE DROPS CONTAMINATED?

Nose drops are helpful in the treatment of adults and children. Most physicians prescribe them. When you get them from your pharmacy they are pure and potent. But as soon as you take out and use the dropper, it is exposed to virulent germs which may enter the bottle, multiply and cause a severe infection. Removal of the protective cap of the spray bottles permits these germs to collect at the top to infect you.

To avoid this, cleanse the dropper and top of the bottle with alcohol before replacing it. Examine partly used nose drops and if the contents become cloudy, or a sediment develops, don't use them. It may be dangerous.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PROVE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby so we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Mrs. Raymond Harrah was hostess to Twentieth Century Club Tuesday afternoon in her home at 2201 Charles, when 18 members were present.

The president, Mrs. Bill Roots, presided. Mrs. W. R. Campbell led the club in the pledge to both the United States and Texas flags. The club collected in unison.

Mrs. Jack Stroup, president-elect, and Mrs. Bob Andis, vice president-elect, delegates to the recent Top of Texas District Conference, held in Dumas, gave their reports. Mrs. Stroup reported that the club won five awards in the class of cities of 20,000 or over. These were first in yearbook; second in Texas Heritage overall report; and third for written summary, Federation program, and Texas program. The club was also presented a certificate for 100 per cent subscriptions to the "Texas Club Woman."

Mrs. V. J. Jamieson announced the plans for April 22, when the club will be hostess at the Senior Center.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, leader of the program on Easter, read a quotation from Romans 6:4. "Like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life." She then introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. W. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of First Methodist Church.

"Unremarkable Beginnings — Unimaginable Endings! What a way to summarize the Easter story," said the speaker in introducing the subject of the program. "There are many ways to tell the story of Easter. But this subject could also be used to summarize the whole history of the Christian Church."

"I'm here today to tell a story, not a funny one, not a popular one but a tragic one. Here is the story of God, born into the world of parents who were common people, born in a city of no importance except that it was His birthplace. Born in a stable of all places! His crib a manger! Put to death, after a three and one-half year ministry, only because He was a good man who taught the importance of the common man and claimed Himself to be the Son of God. The most unimaginable beginning!"

The speaker continued "Charles Gilbert tells the story, an imaginative one, of what could have happened had Jesus chosen to evade the cross. He had the power, we know that. But in his conclusion of this fine story, this writer said that if Jesus had not given His life to the world, He would have been remembered only as a good man who lived and taught and died, as do other men. But, to us who believe, He would have been remembered as 'Mister', not 'Master'."

"Evil does have the best of it — in the beginning. The false promise of the easy way. But, a lovely beginning is all here is to evil — worldly things — as we shall live tomorrow in terms of what we have lived today. Christ never chose the easy way. He set His face steadfastly toward the cross, even from the beginning. 'For this, was I come into the world, that ye might have life,' our Savior said. But, His story has the most unimaginable ending that ever happened in the world. He rose from the dead! The beginning of His kingdom was very unremarkable. A small group of followers, who were left unsure, disillusioned, when He died. After He was risen, He left this same group inspired to conquer the world. So dedicated to His gospel that they

FOR SUNDAY, APRIL 18

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Some pretty important changes face you this Sunday that can be lasting in their effect upon you and their importance in your practical assets, so make a point to think out very carefully just how you do want to handle current conditions and then get together with close attachment to solve pending problems with him—her.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—Practical affairs are undergoing changes now and should be studied well so that you know what the trends are for the future. Be diplomatic in money affair with loved one. Don't lose your temper.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—If you do not consider the viewpoints of others, there can be a serious severance of connections now. Being as determined as your associate would lead to blows. Show tractability.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—By using some newer method, those old duties can be made to appear very fascinating again. Be devoted to associates. Don't simply take them for granted—be more expressive.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Do not permit loved one to come in contact with an outsider or there is serious trouble. Change your attitude somewhat and find ways to please those you like. Be generous.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Much diplomacy is necessary in handling problems at home, which are pretty ticklish right now. Don't be so determined you get serious rebuttals. Show more kindness, understanding.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Thinking out how to make your daily routines more easy is the intelligent thing to do on this free day. Confer with advisors.

This can be in the spiritual realm as well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Compromise is necessary between what you desire and what others expect of you. See that you do not fall into any pitfalls. Use intellect as well as intuitive faculties.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—You can get ahead much faster if you avoid that partner who wants to jeopardize your time. Plan new ways to advance. Perfect what has already been put in motion.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Resolve that you will be more co-operative in the future instead of being upset with present set-up. Plan certain needed changes. See that they are practical.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Bigwigs can be very helpful in those rather troubling situations you find yourself in right now. Then you advance quickly. Take advantage of good social contacts in p.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A day to get more harmony established at home and with those who pull the biggest strings for you. Be concerned with as many contacts as possible. Don't concentrate on one alone.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Much study will reveal how to increase good will others have toward you. A change of attitude may be necessary. Do so intelligently and without wasting any time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will not easily be swerved from any course once decided upon, so be sure you treat him or her in the same way for best results in the future, otherwise there is much argumentation and confusion here. Any profession dealing mainly

Altrusa Club of Pampa Hears Program On First National President of Altrusa

The Altrusa Club of Pampa met in the Coronado Inn at noon, Monday. The president, Emily Coston, led the club in the Altrusa blessing. Six guests were present. Pat Ludeman, Altrusa girl for March introduced Janie Leverich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Leverich, Altrusa girl for April. Lora Dunn presented her guests, Mrs. Janet Dunn and sons, Fred, Bill and Al Dunn, all from Bloomington, Ind.

Lora Dunn announced that two new Altrusa Clubs had been organized, one in Aniston, Ala., and one in St. Louis, Calif. Fidelity Yoder read correspondence from the Altrusa Club of Bermuda in answer to her letter to them. This is one phase of international relations committees' country-to-country project.

Libby Shotwell, president-elect, and Irene Smith, vice president-elect, were elected as delegates to the Altrusa International Convention to be held in Dallas in July. Evelyn Mason and Fidelity Yoder were named as alternates.

The program was under the direction of the Altrusa information committee with Flossie Anderson in charge who stated that since we are celebrating the 48th anniversary of the founding of Altrusa this month, it is fitting that we do honor to Mamie L. Bass, its first national president.

"Not only was Mamie Bass the first national president," said Mrs. Anderson, "but she was the originator of its principles, and for nearly half a century penned inspirational messages, speeches and letters to motivate Altrusa growth and achievement."

The leader then quoted from some of the Bass writings. "You and I have seen many people in all walks of life, from the humblest to the highest, fail, not because of lack of knowledge of their job. They failed because they could not make the right personal adjustments. They knew their jobs but they could not get along. Does this not hold a very vital message for each of us? How many lives are wrecked because somebody insists on winning the little battles. Let others win them. They do not matter. Tolstoi was once asked what his rule of life was. 'Disregard trifles,' he said. 'But go to the death for a principle.' 'We begin to be of world service when we are of individual service, when we are taking care of the task around us. It would seem not too much to ask that a community in which a real Altrusa Club is active will have better roads, better schools, a cleaner city, a fine standard of honest government. What shall be the ultimate force of Altrusa, in local communities and in the nation, and even the world, no one can say. We know that Altrusa is the sum total of my best self, of yours and yours, and it is something more. It is for us to put into each day's work our conception of the things for which Altrusa stands."

Thelma Bray gave a resume of four years before and ten-years-after FFVA awardee stories. This is the Founders Fund

Cotton Diseases Costly

Cotton seeding disease causes more losses each year in Texas than any other single disease of cotton. And research shows it can be controlled by the use of in-furrow fungicides and good management practices, say plant pathologists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The control program should start with the planting of only high quality seed. The pathologists suggest that cotton producers check with their local county agent for detailed information on the use of chemicals and management practices.

BETTER LATE THAN

While some fumed over last minute tax returns, Carl Neiderer got a tax refund. It was 15 years late.

The $2 refund was for taxes he had paid in 1950 and came with a form letter saying a clerical error had been made and the money was due him. Postmaster Donald S. Burke could offer no firm explanation for the delay. He said it turned up Thursday morning, apparently mailed by someone who had found the letter.

TOP LEVEL BRIEFING KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—Former British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker met with Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman Friday to sound out his feelings on a peaceful settlement of the war in Viet Nam.

how does YOUR 4-H garden grow?

The National 4-H Garden program is sponsored by Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co.

Garden Planting Is Perennial 4-H Task

With spring well along and summer just ahead, the 1965 national 4-H Garden program is off to a good start. Some gardens will be beautiful, and some will flourish. But whatever the garden—large or small—the main goal is to produce a fine harvest of boys and girls with new skills and scientific know-how.

Planning and planting a garden is a perennial task of 4-H Club members. Last year nearly 212,000 gardens flourished under the green thumb of 4-H boys and girls.

Controlling weeds and insects, keeping records, creating exhibits and giving demonstrations are a few of the jobs. The most successful projects will be judged for awards. Recognition will be provided for the 20th year by Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. Farm Equipment Division, sponsor of the 4-H Garden program.

During the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago next fall, company officials will personally present eight $500 educational scholarships to the highest ranking 4-H gardeners in the nation. The Congress trip will go to the boy or girl having the best project in the entire state. Medals will be given to a blue award group in each county.

All winners will be selected by the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H. Gardening fits in with other projects such as food preservation and home improvement. For many, a garden has become a business venture. Roadside stands dot the countryside.

One lad, a 1964 scholarship recipient, said that his garden had grown from "a few rows of sweet peas my parents let me plant" to a small greenhouse business. He said he plans to specialize in horticulture as a career.

Any boy or girl between 9 and 19 years of age can become a 4-H member. Those interested in starting a garden can obtain information from a local 4-H leader or from the county extension office.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY Gray County Agent

Ralph Byrum, Miami, was by the office this week asking about the status of unvaccinated heifers under the bang's program.

Vaccination of heifers is optional with the rancher. However, it should be pointed out that if heifers are officially vaccinated they can go to most states until they are 30 months of age without too many regulations. As far as federal regulations are concerned they do not even have to be vaccinated if they originate from a modified certified brucellosis free county.

Agiculture Business Jack Villines, employe of Hoover Grain, brought some literature by our office last week concerning a new course of study now being made available at Northeastern Junior College, Sterling, Colo.

The objectives of this course is to offer training in the field of Agriculture business. It would cover such things as book-keeping, public relations, credit management, and advertising. If I understand it correctly, on the job training would also be a feature. We have the material here in our office if any graduating high school seniors might be interested. We believe there is a need for such a school.

Raymond Maddox, chairman, screwworm fund drive in the county reports that $1,006 has been raised on the Gray County goal of $2,000. This is a high compliment to ranchers for making these voluntary contributions. So far the committee has only sent out a letter to each producer. Some telephoning has been done. If you are a livestock owner, you are being asked to contribute an amount equivalent to 10 cents per animal unit to the state fund drive. Make your check payable to the Gray County Animal Health Committee and hand it to one of the ranchers listed on the bottom of the letter you received, or you may leave it at any local bank. If you prefer, you can mail the check to W. W. Boyd, secretary treasurer, Gray County Animal Health Committee, McLean.

Procedures of Eye Bank Explained to Noon Lions

Betty Bullock, executive secretary of the Hi-Plains Eye Bank, Inc., Amarillo, spoke Thursday before the Pampa Noon Lions club on the operation of the eye bank.

Mrs. Bullock explained the procedure in pledging eyes. Eyes, she said, can be pledged anywhere, anytime, any place. A pledge card can be secured from the Lions Club, eye bank director, or from the Hi-Plains Eye Bank office. She stressed that the persons signing the donor cards should tell their next-of-kin and or family physician about their desire to donate eyes.

A donor is asked and encouraged to carry one of the small portions of the pledge card with him at all times. If the pledge card is not found in the victim's billfold, it is left up to the next of kin to advise the doctor that the eyes have been donated. The Hi-Plains Eye Bank has a 24-hour - a-day answering service at DR 3-4004, Amarillo. The answering service immediately notifies the Eye Bank. The eyes are taken to Amarillo in one of the styrofoam containers placed in each hospital of the district. The Highway Patrol also will check for donor cards at the scene of an accident.

When one pair of eyes is received, actually eight persons can be helped. Mrs. Bullock stated. Two corneas can be used for transplants. The white part of an eye can be used for repairs, and eye fluid can replace fluid lost in a patient's eyes. Mrs. Bullock said that all eyes can be used and quality of vision is immaterial. As long as the cornea is healthy the eye can be used for transplant. "No one is too young or too old to give this precious gift," Mrs. Bullock said. "Color of the eyes, sex, age or race does not matter."

The Hi Plains Eye Bank has received 18 eyes to date. Only one of the donors had previously signed a donor card. Eyes can be donated by next-of-kin whether or not the deceased has signed a donor card, the speaker explained.

The Lions Clubs of District 2 TL operate the Hi-Plains Eye Bank, Inc. It is not run by doctors, nurses or hospitals. Dr. Coleman Taylor of Amarillo, gives medical advice only and performs most of the enucleations on patients in Amarillo.

Eyes are neither bought nor sold, according to Mrs. Bullock. The patient pays the doctor and hospital bills which normally run about $1,000. However, all eyes are from donations. Mrs. Bullock praised Joe Tooley of Pampa for the work he has contributed to the eye bank program. Tooley has traveled 2,500 miles in the last few months and met with 50 Lions Club presidents and secretaries promoting the work of the eye bank.
