ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT HERE APRIL 19

ALBUQUERQUE JUNIOR SYMPHONY WILL PERFORM Music lovers of Pampa and the surrounding territory will have an opportunity to hear one of the best musical units that has visited Pampa in the past several years April 19, when the Albuquerque Junior Symphony orchestra is brought here under the sponsorship of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The orchestra, which was organized in 1933 by Miss Sarah Yott, has made an outstanding record under her continuous direction. The orchestra will stop in Pampa enroute to Indianapolis where the 30 members and director will attend the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Both the orchestra and the contest director won the right to represent the state of New Mexico in elimination contests in the state. Both classical and popular numbers will be presented by the orchestra and individual members of the troupe.

Arrangements for the appearance of the orchestra were made by officials of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Mary Graves of Albuquerque, business manager of the orchestra who stops here to make hotel reservations and other advance arrangements for the trip to Indianapolis. The orchestra will play a concert in Chicago and other points enroute, Mrs. Graves announced.

TEXAS COMPANY GIVES GENERAL SALARY RAISE

HOUSTON, April 9 (AP)—The Texas company joined the Humble Oil & Refinery company today in announcing a general salary raise. The Texas company announced an average raise of 10 per cent affecting all pipe line, production and refinery workers. The company has 28,000 workers.

The company said it would make "certain equalizations" in the salaries of its office, or white collar, workers. The Humble company raise announced last night amounts to $1,454,880 and affects all of the 13,000 workers. The Texas company raise exceeded the total pay boost announced by the Humble because of the larger number of employees. The Texas company raise, as did the Humble was made effective as of March 16.

School Pupils Endangered As Cornice Falls

SAN ANTONIO, April 9 (AP)—Death hovered near a group of 100 school children attending the Bonham school here this morning, but missed them by a matter of minutes as a huge cornice, weighing between 300 and 400 pounds, crashed upon the steps of one of the cafeteria entrances, commonly used by the children entering and leaving the school.

The 100 children were inside the cafeteria building when the tile and concrete cornice, above the steps, gave way and crashed with a deafening roar. Several teachers quieted the alarmed students and marched them out of the building in orderly fashion, fearing that the very walls of the building might crash upon them.

REBELS LOSE POSITIONS IN MADRID AREA

MADRID, April 9 (AP)—Government troops wrestled long-lost ground from the five-months besiegers of Madrid today in a desperately fought offensive. Garabitas Hill in the Casa de Campo district of western Madrid—from which insurgents have been shelling the city for weeks—was reported surrounded by government troops.

The bridge over the Rio Manzanares, the insurgents' only means of communication between Casa de Campo and their University City forces in northwestern Madrid, was under fire. The insurgent military hospital in Carabanchel, just south of Madrid, was wrecked by more than a dozen government bombs. Unconfirmed reports said the government troops gained a foothold in the building itself.

Long-besieged Spanish government troops swept from their trenches on the western Madrid front today and pushed insurgents back along the Coruna highway. The maneuver, netting immediate gains for the capital's defenders, paralleled insurgent successes in the drive toward Bilbao, Basque headquarters. The forces of General Emilio Mola were reported in the suburbs of Durango, key to the last line defenses of Bilbao.

On the Cordoba front south of Madrid, government troops believed they were close to bottling up 15,000 insurgents, confronting them with mass slaughter or disorganized flight into the mountains. The Madrid front battle, raging for more than 14 hours, was one of the fiercest of the five-months' siege. With the insurgents retreating.

Teach Through Emotions, Says Famed Professor

SPOKANE Wash., April 9 (AP)—Says College English Professor Dr. Walter Barnes, it is certainly permissible to frequently split an infinitive and to often use a preposition to end a sentence with.

The New York university educator, who is a textbook author, advised cutting cherished grammatical corners to "cultivate a more comfortable language." "I think it might do some people good to split infinitives for a half hour before breakfast every morning," he told the Inland Empire Education association.

Other traditional heresies advocated by the eastern educator for the "comfortable language" were: "The hope teachers would be so bold as to say 'it is me' instead of the faultless 'it is I'—and to use hanging prepositions whenever they want to." Dr. Barnes proposed emphasizing program E. Q. (emotion quotient) as much as the long-respected I. Q., because the approach to teaching should be through the emotions before the intellect.

Stamp Exhibit at June Celebration Planned

Seth Sayles was elected president of the Stamp Collectors club and Otto Rice was chosen secretary at the initial meeting last night in the civil service rooms in the post office. Plans were made to enter a stamp exhibit in the June celebration.

Others present were W. A. Potts, Mrs. Ora A. Wagner, O. K. Gaylor, B. L. Pilcher Jr., Thomas A. Cox, Jack Hessey, Aubrey Dick, E. C. Rupp, J. H. Buchanan, J. M. Harris, J. W. Garman, Johnnie Garman, James Wanner, David Stennis, Harry Hoare. The next meeting will be the last Thursday in April at the same place.

BILLS VETOED. AUSTIN, April 9 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today vetoed bills by Rep. J. J. Oliver of Center permitting Mrs. Mary Esther Ramsey and R. L. Gillespie to sue the state and the highway department. The chief executive said the bills went farther than the usual resolutions "in that they absolutely recognize and finally fix the liability against the state." He added that Oliver had prepared substitute resolutions eliminating his objection.

Secret Debate On Court Bill Is Next Step

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Leading members of the Senate Judiciary committee, apparently weary of the long hearings on the Roosevelt court bill, began preparing today for the next step—secret debate on whether to recommend its enactment. It will be at least another week, however, before the committee can get to work on the numerous proposals for modification and for constitutional amendments designed either to fortify or supplant the administration program.

CHAS. RHOADES DIES OF CRASH INJURIES HERE

CHARLIE E. RHOADES, 40, LeFors trucking contractor, died in a local hospital at 5:20 yesterday of complications from injuries received in an automobile accident a mile north of LeFors Tuesday. The injuries were at first not believed serious, and Mr. Rhoades was taken to his home and then brought to a hospital here by a member of his family, where a skull fracture was discovered.

Survivors are the widow; four brothers, Jack, Olin, and Ralph Rhoades of LeFors and Clifford Rhoades of Borger; four sisters, Mmes. Jewel Adams and Dorothy Noel of Borger, Mmes. Irene Dillard and Eula Webb of Mangum, Okla.; and his step-mother, Mrs. Icy Rhoades of Borger. The body will lie at the Duendel-Carmichael funeral home until tomorrow afternoon, when the funeral will be conducted from LeFors Church of Christ at 2 p. m. Elder Vermillion will be in charge of the service.

'AGGIE SPIRIT' VIA PADDLING IS DEMANDED

COLLEGE STATION, April 9 (AP)—The "old Aggie spirit" and student interpretation of how it should properly be installed remained the issue today in a threatened strike of Texas A. & M. cadets. Negotiations, campus reports were, may reach a decisive stage when seniors place their grievance before the board of directors Saturday. The seniors originally asked Col. Frank C. Anderson, commandant, to permit paddling of underclassmen as a means of enforcing student discipline. The commandant refused, students asked his resignation and threatened to strike unless he did.

Junior class leaders conferred with President T. O. Walton yesterday but the impasse remained. It was understood the seniors were taking no part in the strike proposal. Joe Turner, junior class president, explained: "Unless A. & M. can be made to be what rather than here. We are not in favor of striking but unless some means of a suitable agreement can be reached, what else can we do?"

LATE NEWS

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—James R. Angell, president of Yale, denounced the Roosevelt court bill spread by the Supreme Court of political bad faith. "In a letter made public by senatorial opponents of the Roosevelt proposal, Angell warned that 'once our confidence in the good faith of the chief magistrate and the impartiality of the Supreme Court is shaken, the end of our form of government is in sight.'"

LONGVIEW, April 9 (AP)—A block of the business area in downtown Longview was threatened today by a fire which swept through four streets established in the city. Damage unofficially estimated at $50,000. Three persons were injured slightly. Their names were not learned. Gas used in cleaning was believed to have ignited in the Voke cleaners and the blaze quickly spread to the Home Motor Co., the S. A. Reynolds Plumbing Co. and the A. and B. spring service company.

NEW ORLEANS, April 9 (AP)—Gladstone James and Ralph Eisenhardt, convicted slayers of Vincent Bologna, grocery collector, in a hold-up and $25 robbery at McDonoughville two years ago, were hanged today in the Jefferson parish jail at Gretna.

PAMPANS ATTEND BOY SCOUT CONFERENCE A delegation of Pampans, headed by C. H. Walker, president of the Adobe Walls boy scout area, and Fred Roberts, scout executive, was in Oklahoma City today, to attend a regional meeting which will be addressed by national leaders from the East. H. F. Pole, of New York, personal secretary of Dr. Rex W. Yand, also of New York, educational director for the National Boy Scout council, are to be the principal speakers.

Held in Shooting TYLER, April 9 (AP)—Ben Lewis, oil field worker, was dead and a bartender was held at Henderson today after a shooting at Sexton City, four miles from Overton, last night. The shooting took place at a tavern.

HOUSE HALTS ACT TO PUNISH SIT-DOWNERS

AUSTIN, April 9 (AP)—The House sent back to committee a Senate bill imposing severe penalties against sit-down strikers. Representatives of organized labor had objected to the proposal on grounds it would interfere with laborers' rights in addition to strengthening the law against "sit-downs."

The proposal was sent to the labor committee, regarded as very friendly to organized labor. It previously had been given a favorable report by the criminal jurisdiction committee. The original motion called for the bill returning to the criminal jurisdiction group but Rep. Henry Hull of Fort Worth succeeded, 87 to 52, in amending it to provide it should go to the labor committee.

Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene contended the bill was recommended without sufficient notice of hearing. He said it was introduced in the Senate Monday, passed in that body Tuesday with out a committee hearing and heard by a House committee Wednesday. Bradbury made no effort to recommit a bill by Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill which also was for the purpose of preventing "sit-downs." The Hardin proposal was introduced several days earlier than the Senate bill and heard by the criminal jurisdiction committee Wednesday.

2 KILLED. LOS ANGELES, April 9 (AP)—Two men were killed today when their small plane crashed near Gorman, Calif., the state highway patrol reported. The victims were E. B. Christopher, president of the Swallow Aircraft Manufacturing Corporation of Wichita, Kas., and E. A. Crum, vice president of G. Bra-shers & Company.

'What's Ahead For Pampa' To Be C-C Lunch Subject

"What's ahead for Pampa" in legislative matters affecting the surrounding oil and gas field, in highway development, in industrial development, in recreation, in public utility, in building construction and in other chambers of commerce projects will be discussed by committee chairmen at the monthly luncheon of the chamber of commerce next Tuesday, at noon at the Methodist church. A dozen committee chairmen were present at a meeting this morning at the chamber of commerce office when President J. M. Collins and Program Chairman Guy E. McTaggart asked for suggestions on the type of program that will do most to inform Pampa citizens on the 1937 program plans, and a program that will revive and stimulate interest in an active and constructive program.

WOULD RAISE ARMY TO BAR U S AGITATORS

AMERICA ALMOST IN ANARCHY STATE, SAYS HE TORONTO, April 9 (Canadian Press)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn declared today General Motors of Canada "will get all the protection from this government that they require" in shipping automobile parts from their strike-bound Oshawa plant.

"Repair parts will have to be moved tomorrow or the next day," said the premier. "That is when the showdown will come." Hepburn, supporting the company in the strike of 3,700 workers at the Oshawa plant, said an aide advised him that union leaders had threatened they would prevent moving of parts from the factory.

TORONTO, April 9 (Canadian Press)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police were ordered on strike duty today as authorities heard reports the General Motors "walk-out" order at Oshawa was being disobeyed. Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario province, who charged the C. I. O. had "brought the United States almost into a state of anarchy," declared "if necessary we'll raise an army" to prevent the John L. Lewis organization from dominating Ontario industries.

Some 300 constables from the Ontario provincial police were massed with the "Mounties" in the Toronto area under the command of Staff Inspector E. T. Doyle. A detachment of 60 mounted police was ordered in from Ottawa, and Superintendent Fred Fletcher, their immediate commander, said he expected his forces to be swelled by an additional 100 men.

Reserves Protested Officials of the International Union, United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, protested the calling in of police reserves and declared that perfect order was being maintained by the 3,700 workers who struck suddenly at the Oshawa plants of General Motors of Canada, Ltd., yesterday after negotiations looking to union recognition had collapsed.

The officials telegraphed members of Parliament. "We are maintaining perfect discipline here," they urged parliamentary action be taken. Hepburn's threats of police action, in which he declared "the government completely concurs in the attitude of the company that it is going to maintain its profits as of the C. I. O.," was roundly scored by Hugh Thompson, union organizer of Detroit.

"Send 50,000 Militia" "Hepburn is trying to crush you for making to sell your labor at the best possible price," Thompson said at a mass meeting of more than 2,500 cheering strikers last night. "That is not democracy." "I say to the premier, 'Send 50,000 militia in here, but General Motors will sign an agreement before it builds another car in Canada.'" "And I say to General Motors, 'You can't win if you bring 10,000 red coats (mounted police) in here.'" The mayor of Oshawa, Alex Hall, told the strikers he would not permit either the Canadian or Ontario government to send militia or police to interfere in the strike.

The Ontario premier declared every effort would be made to stop invasion by "agitators" from the United States into Ontario industries. "We know what these agitators are up to," Hepburn exclaimed. "They were advised only a few hours ago that they are working their way into the lumber camps, the pulp mills and our mines." "Well, that has got to stop—and we are going to stop it. If necessary we'll raise an army to do so."

Peace reigns over the American strike front today for the first time in five months. While Union leaders cheered agreements with four Michigan automobile producers, their fury into the Canadian motor industry brought determined opposition from the Ontario government.

RADIO-MOVIE INFLUENCE IS P-TA SUBJECT

New Officers Take Posts Yesterday At Meeting

Movies and radios as modern educational factors were discussed at the meeting of Sam Houston Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon, when new officers for next term were installed and reports from the recent district convention were heard.

Mrs. Odus Mitchell spoke of the influence of motion pictures on children's attitudes and emotions, the dangers of promiscuous movie-going by young children, and explained a national bill to regulate book buying of motion pictures.

Mrs. Walter Wanner was the speaker on radios as an educational agency. She emphasized that the choice of radio programs is a privilege of the listener, and that fan letters, most often written by the persons preferring "hill-billy" entertainment, influence the scheduling of programs in the stations. A recent survey showed that children like dramatization of adventure, travel, and biography, she added.

The talks followed a devotional by Mrs. W. Purviance. Convention reports from Perryton were given by Mrs. F. M. Culbertson, Supt. R. B. Fisher, and Miss Myrdred Bishop.

Mrs. L. L. McColm conducted the installation of officers: Mrs. Carl Boston, president; Mrs. Marvin Lewis, secretary; Mrs. W. S. Dixon, secretary; Mrs. Lee Harrah, treasurer; Mrs. J. M. McDonald, historian.

Mothers of girls in the Girl Scout age group were asked to meet at the school Wednesday at 4 p. m. to plan organization of a new troop.

Parents of children who will enter the first grade next fall will be especially invited to the next meeting, it was announced. The monthly attendance award went to Miss Wilma Chapman's room.

The association's publicity record book which placed first in the district when judged at Perryton last week, was on display.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON.
One time in school I thoughtlessly said to a boy, "James, I want you to sharpen the pencils after school." Maybe I said "Please," and maybe I didn't. I forget, but being busy and taking it for granted that James would be delighted to stay and help, as all the children were, I did not couch my words very softly.

James went in with the rest and got his wraps, then into line, his head towering over the others, for he was a tall 11-year-old, and went home.

"Huzzled, I said nothing at the time, but at the first opportunity I brought it up.

"What was wrong about the pencils that day?" I asked.

He colored and replied seriously, "I just got a cranky streak, because you told me to do it, and didn't ask me."

I guess I said something like, "Dear, oh dear," and we both laughed.

He is a newspaper man today and for many years we have been fast friends. He is one of the finest men I know as he was one of the most splendid of boys.

What a lesson it taught me. There are times to give orders and times to make requests.

Orders Fail.

Not long ago, another fine little fellow who, like Egbert, can be driven just so far and not a bit more, took on a mulish look and stood balkily, when his mother said, "Go out, Dickie, and pick up the papers in the yard. The wind will scatter them all over the street."

This little fellow never moved at all. Usually he was quite tractable and his mother had no trouble, but these unaccountable stubborn spells did happen.

To tell all the different ways she tried to wheedle him into going after those papers would fill this column. Then she threatened and then she spanked. She didn't want to spank him, but she couldn't lose the battle, she said. And he cried and went to his room and never did pick up the papers at all.

What was in his mind he was too little to tell, because the young child has no gift of words to explain his grievances. All children are inarticulate. But something in his small bosom evidently was whispering, "Unfair," or "Too much," or "I'm very tired and I've been bossed around all day."

Different Approach.

In spite of that, had his mother suspected some grievance and said, "I put all those papers in the wrong place and now just see what happens. Dickie, will you please help me gather them up?"—maybe the clouds would have melted.

Mood at the moment causes much stubbornness. We oldsters live by moods. We are tired or out of sorts by spells, and during off moments we aren't going to do one thing we don't have to, and we are not nice about it, either. And we demand soft words to soothe us.

Children are expected to be amiable ALL the time; obedient and serviceable ALL the time. But they have their little spells and grievances and we should sense these times.

The command put in the form of a question is always less irritating, mood or no mood. Children must get weary hearing, "Do this, do that," all day long, without any opinion on their part whatsoever.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usages by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it good usage to say, "A party called and left a message for you?"

2. In signing an individual's name after a firm's name, is it preferable to use "per" or "by"?

3. Is it preferable to say, "The rent is $40 a month" or "$40 per month"?

4. Is it good form to use "beg to remain" or "beg to inform" in a business letter?

5. Should one write, "your letter of the 18th inst." or "the 18th ult"?

What would you do if—
You wished to write a letter to a firm and wanted it read by a particular man? Address is—

(a) Mr. R. M. Baxter, Standard Gate Company, Joplin, Missouri.

(b) Standard Gate Company, Joplin, Missouri.

(c) Standard Gate Company, Joplin, Missouri.

Attention: Mr. R. M. Baxter.

Answers.

1. No, use someone or man. A party is more than one person.

2. Johnson and Johnson, by M. E. Green (better than—per M. E. Green).

3. The English "a" is preferred to the foreign "per."

4. No.

5. No, write "your letter of March 15" or "February 28."

Best "What Would You Do" solution—Any one of the three forms is correct.

Judging Teams From McLean Go To Contest Meet

By Mrs. Jim Back.
McLEAN, April 9 — Members of the agriculture classes in the local high school will spend the week-end in Lubbock attending the 12th annual vocational agricultural judging contest.

The dairy team, winners in the Tri-State Fair and at Pampa, is composed of E. M. Gossett, Albert Overton, and James Lee Rice.

The poultry team, which too has an outstanding record in competition with neighboring schools, is composed of Wilson Shaw, Jo Billy Bogan and Perry Masterson.

The livestock judging team, made up of Morse Ivey, Ferris Hess, and J. L. Shelton, is expected to make a good showing in its contest.

Winners of the various events will be awarded a free trip to A. and M.

SELBY SPEAKS FOR P-TA AT HORACE MANN

Echoes of Program At Conference Are Heard

Repeating a talk which was outstanding on the district conference program last week, Principal R. A. Selby of Junior High school addressed Horace Mann Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon on the subject, What Children Think of Their Parents.

His talk was based on a questionnaire recently given Junior High students, and he brought out the fact that a peaceful home with sympathetic parents was the ideal of most children.

Other conference echoes were given by Mrs. George Alden, president of the association, Miss Josephine Thomas, principal, and others who attended the two-day meeting at Perryton last week.

Program guests who presented entertainment were the girls' tumbling team from Junior High, directed by Miss Lois Amlin, and Charles Thomas, who read a James Whitcomb Riley poem and a short selection from Shakespeare.

Pupils on program were Vada Lee Alden who played a clarinet solo, and Hal Boynton, a cornet solo. Mrs. K. W. Bunch presented the devotional talk, Miss Jimma Searcy led opening songs.

The association's publicity record book, which won second place at the district conference, was displayed to members.

PILL SLAVE FREED FROM CONSTIPATION

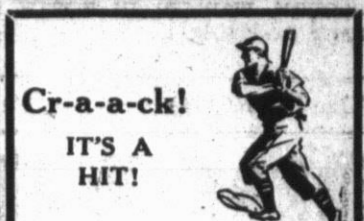

A convincing tribute is paid to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in this letter from Mr. F. C. Aminsen of Seattle.

"I suffered with constipation for many years and was compelled to use pills every night. Since I got your ALL-BRAN, it works fine. I was so deathly sick of taking pills. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally, and is pleasant to eat."

Inside the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft mass that gently sponges out the intestines. It also supplies vitamin B to help tone the intestines, and iron for the blood.

You'll enjoy eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. As a cereal with milk or fruits, or in appetizing recipes. Two tablespoons every day are usually enough—three times daily if needed. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

We consume foods not only because they contain vitamins, proteins, and minerals, but also because of their energy content. White flour is a recognized standard food. It contains proteins, some minerals, and a little of vitamins B and G. So, our new loaf with its vitamin D content, offers a cheap form of energy as well as the vitamin content.

PAMPANS TO PRESENT PROGRAM IN AMARILLO

Pampa Kiwanians will send a delegation to San Jacinto, Amarillo suburb, next Thursday to stage a program as part of a district inter-club relations campaign.

Arrangements were made at the regular noonday session of the club today to take a special entertainment program and a delegation of about 20 Pampa Kiwanians on the trip to San Jacinto. Plans for the trip are in charge of Bill Jarratt.

F. E. Hoffman, B. M. Behrman, and Ernie Voss were named as a committee to make arrangements for an inter-club golf match on that day.

Shelby Gantz was named by President Chris Martin to fill a vacancy on the club program committee. Mr. Gantz replaces Kenneth Blackledge who left Pampa several weeks ago.

J. B. Masse, chairman of the club safety committee made a report on the progress of the city's safety campaign which will be climaxed with Safety Week, May 9-15. Also on display at today's meeting was the plaque which will be presented by the Kiwanis club to the school winner in the annual safety play contests set for May 1.

GULF DRILLING PROBE URGED IN LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Another proposal for an investigation of plans to seek oil in submerged lands of the Gulf of Mexico has been made in the legislature.

Senators Joe Hill of Henderson and Franklin Spears of San Antonio introduced a resolution authorizing study of the problem by a senate committee of five, but no action was taken immediately.

Representatives of several coastal cities recently protested a well which the Humble Oil company planned to drill near High Island and subsequent development elsewhere might seriously affect aquatic life and short interests.

An investigation by the State Affairs committee of the house and senate previously had been proposed.

A hearing on a bill by Rep. Baglin Jones of Eddy, which would regulate oil companies to build concrete walls about such wells, has been set for Monday night. Jones may amend it to substitute piling or other material for concrete.

Another bill on the subject is by Rep. H. L. McKee of Fort Arthur. It would take submerged lands not already leased off the market and authorize holders to surrender leases previously made and get their money back.

CANADIAN OLD TIMERS DANCE TO BE TONIGHT

A number of Pampanians will go to Canadian tonight to attend an Old Timers Dance.

Music will be furnished by Homer Ratliff and his orchestra. Committees in charge of the affair have issued a special invitation to Pampanians to attend.

HENRY SIGNED
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 9. (AP)—Prof. W. W. Davis, chairman of the University of Kansas athletic committee, announced today Gwyn Henry of the University of New Mexico had signed a contract to become athletic director at the Jayhawk school effective next fall.

OIL DRILLING OPPOSED
GALVESTON, April 9. (AP)—Representatives of Texas Coast cities gathered at the city hall here today to discuss ways and means of preventing the drilling of oil wells along the gulf coast. The conference was called by the Galveston Commercial Association in line with the association's campaign to prevent the development of submerged oil lands on the coast. Damage to recreational facilities, fishing and navigation is feared.

Sport Sparks

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
DALLAS, Texas, April 9. (AP)—No stranger sight within the vast memorial gymnasium at Texas A. and M. college will ever be seen than the event billed for Saturday night.

Perhaps for the first time in collegiate history, the muscled gentlemen of the wrestling brotherhood, Leo Daniel Boone (Whiskers) Savage and Jim (The Goon) Henry, go through their act before a cultured college clientele.

These two gentlemen of the mat can prepare themselves for the choicest bit of boozing in their careers.

Aggie rooting sections are quite famous the nation over.

Proceeds go toward sending the Cadet band on football trips.

Rumors from San Antonio indicate that city will entertain two, and maybe three, major league clubs in spring training next year.

The St. Louis Browns are cinches to return and light gossip has it the Philadelphia Athletics and a National league club are inquiring about facilities.

Two masters of the pool table, aging Willie Hoppe and Jacke Schaefer, are due for a Texas tour, starting Monday at Wichita Falls.

Hoppe, billiards expert, and Schaefer, balk-line king, are likely to be booked at other spots.

Three Texas Christian football and baseball greats, Sammy Baugh, Ki Aldrich and L. D. Meyer, will don the Temple Surgeon uniform in semi-pro play on week-ends.

2ND PERSON IN 2 DAYS DROWNS IN COLORADO

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—The body of Clyde B. Smith, telephone company lineman, was recovered from the Colorado river near Austin today.

Smith's was the second life to be claimed by the Colorado in two days. John C. Spencer of Fort Worth, University of Texas student, drowned Wednesday.

A boat in which Smith and Duard L. Chapman were riding overturned about 75 yards from shore because it could not support both men. Smith endeavored to swim for help. Chapman later was rescued.

Spencer drowned when a canoe overturned in high wind. A companion was rescued.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Earl O'Keefe, ill of pneumonia in Worley hospital, is reported slightly improved today.

A daughter was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Johnson at Worley hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wylie E. Reynolds of Miami are the parents of a daughter, born in Worley hospital, Wednesday evening. She has been named Patricia Noel.

Mrs. W. W. Harnah, patient at Worley hospital, is somewhat improved today, attendants report.

Mrs. Lucille Odum entered Pampa-Jarratt hospital for treatment today.

Mrs. James N. Gast was dismissed from Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday.

Condition of W. M. Fraser, seriously ill at Pampa-Jarratt hospital, is reported slightly improved today.

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

GREENVILLE, April 9. (AP)—Miss Margaret Epperson, 19, of Port Arthur, was injured fatally last night in an automobile accident. The car in which she and L. E. Price of Greenville were riding crashed into a bridge near Fate, Rockwall county. Her skull was fractured. Price suffered a broken leg and severe gashes on the face and body.

Miss Epperson had been visiting relatives here and was enroute to Dallas to take a bus to Port Arthur. The crash occurred, according to reports here, when Price attempted to light a cigaret with Miss Epperson holding the wheel temporarily.

Survivors are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Epperson, Port Arthur; two sisters, Mrs. Ona Mae Fussell, Greenville, and Miss Lois Epperson, Port Arthur, and a brother, Hoyt Epperson, Port Arthur.

CRASH BODIES FINALLY REACH OPEN HIGHWAY

MARY, Ark., April 9. (AP)—An exhausted posse of officers and lumbermen broke through the last barriers of a mountain trail today to reach an open highway with the bodies of eight persons killed last Saturday when a Douglas airliner dashed itself against a mountain-side during a snowstorm.

The grim, weary procession proceeded at once to this remote lumber camp. Hundreds of curious lined the 11-mile stretch of highway as the rescuers emerged from the forest. The bodies, wrapped in canvas, suspended from crude ladders of aspen poles.

Before the bodies are removed to a Winslow mortuary they will be viewed by a second coroner's jury. Impaired tonight at the request of Earl Platt, Apache county attorney, who questioned the legality of the first, presided by a Navajo county superior court judge, John P. Clark.

Platt said he wanted to determine how many bodies were in the plane, early reports having varied.

REBEL PLANES FLY OVER FRENCH LANDS

PERPIGNAN, France, April 9. (AP)—Two insurgent Spanish airplanes bombed Portbou, on the Franco-Spanish frontier, shortly after dawn today, cutting a section of the trunk railroad linking France and Spain.

Eight bombs were plunged on the Mediterranean port town during the rain, wounding at least one person.

Government reports declared that a church and one other building in the town had been struck by the explosives.

TIME MARCHES OUT.

DENVER—George E. Cramer, manager of parks and improvements, says the lamp post high sidewalk clocks are "holdovers from horse and buggy days," and ordered them removed. Twenty-two Denver stores and firms are affected.

Water Supply Is H. D. Club Topic

Water supply for the farm home was discussed when Kingsmill Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. G. H. Kuepfer Tuesday. Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county agent, demonstrated an economical method of installing a water supply, showing blueprints.

She also spoke of home garbage disposal to prevent the breeding of flies and other harmful insects, reminding members that a fly does not range more than 300 yards from its breeding place.

Refreshments were served to 14 members and two new members, Mrs. Jess W. Reno and Mrs. Chester Williams.

A $7 BULLS EYE.

PITTSBURG, Kas. (AP)—It cost Wilbur H. Jones about $7 to show he was a crack shot with an air rifle.

Watching a neighbor lad with the gun, Jones took it, drew a bead on a crack in a garage wall and let fire. "Bull's eye," he shouted—then he found the shot had broken the windshield of a car in the garage.

All Baseball Name Entries Must Be In Mail This Week

To be eligible for one of the prizes in the contest to name Pampa's baseball club, entries must be in the mail or on the sports desk at the Pampa Daily News by midnight Saturday.

The huge stack of suggestions will be turned over to the committee of judges on Monday. Their decision as to the name selected will not be known until the new uniforms arrive and are worn for the first time in a game. Then the $20 first prize and the second prize of a box seat for the season will be given winners who will be selected by drawing names from a hat if more than one person suggested the selected name.

Two suggestions were in this morning's mail from way down at Childress where La Vella Lindsey would like to see the team called the "Pampa Peppers." Mrs. B. Evans of Childress suggested "Kangaroo Knights."

"Pampa Crude Oilers" was the name suggested by F. E. Forgy of LeFors who enclosed a letter in which he declared that Pampa and West Texas uses much of its prosperity to crude oil.

Mrs. Otto Goss of McLean sent her request to have the team called the "Grayco Pampans" because the whole county is interested in Pampa's baseball team. Mr. Goss disagreed with his wife and suggested "Gray Leaders."

"Pampa Naturals" by J. E. Foster; "Petroleum Play Boys" by Mrs. Stella Foster; "Pampa Pampans" by E. E. Holly of Twitty; "Pampa Cardinals" by J. C. Sizemore; "Pampa Reapers" by Alton Marrielle; "Pampa Grays" by Mrs. W. R. Hallmark; "Pampa Oilers" by A. B. Olin; "Pampa Peppers" by C. B. Hickey; "Pampa Pelicans" by Mrs. C. B. Hickey; "Pampa Trojans" by Jamie Spiller of Canadian; "Pampa Lions" by Floyd Hunter of Briscoe; "Pampa Dusters" by Black Rocker; "Gracoli" by Dr. R. A. Webb; "Pampa Peppers" by Philip Pond; "Pampa Gassers" by L. B. Autry; "Pampa Tornados" by Onda Williams; "Pampa High Toppers" by Billy Redden.

Names received later in the day: "Rock-Oilers, Rock Oil Harvesters, Dolomites, Black Rocks, Diamonds, all by S. O. Skinner; Rough Necks, H. Bedenbender; Texas Stars, Gerald Bedenbender; Toppers, Mrs. Henry Bedenbender; Birds, T. F. Shirley; Hustlers, Bill Evans; Red Birds, Hobart Moore; McLean; Worms, W. A. Standish; White Sox, R. A. for railroads, M. for machinery and S. for strut your stuff; Delbert Blackerly, Kellerville; Toppers, Mrs. O. E. Palmer; Peppers, W. A. Bratton, Jr., Texas Tech, Lubbock; Links, Mrs. B. H. Franks; Gray Bucks, W. B. Harris; Champs, Wm. Abernathy, route 2, Pampa; Pampa Stayers, Mrs. Polk Valliant; Whittenburg, formerly Roberta Montgomery of Pampa, who wrote, "I wish to suggest as name for the new ball club and name which holds to the Pampa people and I hope it will be suited to the ball club. Through dust and wind thick and thin, they will be right there and will they win? Through winter hard and summer sun, they have always stayed and always won." Wind Dusters, Nevin Johnston; Grayco, Mrs. A. F. Johnston; Marathons, W. E. Davis; Chaparrals, "retain Road Runner emblem with Road Runner prestige"; H. H. Keyser; White Caps, M. H. Nancy Thompson; Yellow Jackets, Mr. H. F. Cassaway, Skellytown, who wrote "if they play a stinging game why not call them Yellow Jackets"; Splitfires, Ved Mae Gasaway, Skellytown; Gully Jumpers, Homer Gassaway.

SUSPENSION OF TRAINER STIRS RACING WORLD

MIAMI, Fla., April 9 (AP)—Turk circles awaited today the answer of Bert S. Mitchell, one of America's leading trainers, to his suspension by the Florida Racing Commission after the official chemist reported finding a forbidden stimulant in the saliva of a badly beaten horse.

Mitchell, who saddled the winning Reigh Count in the Kentucky Derby of 1928, was deprived nationally of racing rights pending hearing because of one of the turf's oldest laws—that on a trainer's shoulders falls responsibility for the condition of every horse under his general supervision.

Mitchell was expected to request an immediate hearing before the commission.

Trainer Mitchell had entered All Round, three-year-old maiden from the outstanding Chicago stable of Mrs. Emil Denmark, in a race April 2 at Tropical Park. All Round ran wild in the paddock and delayed the start, then finished eighth in a field of 12. Inspectors sent saliva specimens to the Central Testing Laboratory in New York which the commission announced, reported a "positive reaction to a drug."

"I'm absolutely in ignorance about it," Mitchell said. "I can't say anything about it until I have been better informed."

CAGE FINALS

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., April 9 (AP)—Wilmerding, Pa., defending champion, meets Kokomo, Ind., tonight in a quarter-final game of the national Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament, Kokomo, Williamsport and Harrisburg, Pa., and Jersey City, N. J., remained in the tournament after victories last night.

Lawton Boxer Is Signed For 10-Round Bout

Del O'Neal, who will bring boxing back to Pampa on Tuesday night, has signed Kid Brunet, 142 of Lawton, Okla., to meet a good boy at that weight, probably Lou Avery, 142, of Tulsa, Okla., in the 10-round main event.

The opening fight will be staged at the Southern club at 8 o'clock with popular admission prices prevailing.

Should the Brunet-Avery battle materialize, it should be a natural. The last time the two met, Brunet was given a disputed decision over Avery. The fight was marked by the clever boxing of Avery and the terrific punching of Brunet.

Brunet has promised to bring a crack lightweight here to battle Ray Young of Borger in the semi-final event. Young is the boy who made a name for himself as Pug Grubbe's stable-mate.

Another well known boxer who has signed for a six-round battle is Tommy "Knot Head" Mounts, 155, of Pampa. Although the match has not been definitely arranged, efforts are being made to sign Healey Stewart, 158, as Mount's opponent.

Several local boys who are working out daily under the watchful eye of O'Neal are Joe Maness, Chubby Stewart, Haskell Hyatt, Homer Wilson, Stanley Sandy and others. Some of them will appear on the card.

O'Neal, who comes from New York where he fought under Gus Wilson after winning the Golden Gloves tournament at Georgia Tech, has retired from the ring and will spend his time promoting and training young boxers. He has installed a ring at the Derrick club in the basement of the Brunow building.

If plans materialize, O'Neal will hold elimination tournaments in each class and award a championship belt.

ALLISON AND GRANT FAVORED TO PLAY IN TENNIS FINALS

HOUSTON, April 9 (AP)—Wilmer Allison and "Betsy" Grant, finalists in the River Oaks tennis tourney the last two years, were getting a majority of the nods today as favorites to face each other across the net again.

Allison, veteran Davis Cup player, needed only one victory to go into the finals. He teams with Johnny Van Ryn, for a doubles contest with Wayne Sabin of Hollywood as his partner, with Joe Lucia and Frank Gurnsey.

Allison likewise had a double assignment, facing Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., in the day's other semi-final singles match.

Allison will play Walter Senior of San Francisco, the upset sensation of the tourney, in the semi-finals tomorrow. Senior, twelfth ranking player in the nation, ousted Bobby Riggs, of Los Angeles, the nation's fourth ranking star and a favorite to reach the finals, in their quarter-final match.

Grant and Sabin took line out yesterday to win the doubles championship of the Atlanta, Ga., tournament in a stirring duel with Riggs and Joe Hunt of Los Angeles. The match was rained out at Atlanta last Sunday.

In the women's singles Eunice Dean of San Antonio, defending champion, was paired against Marjorie Van Ryn of Austin, and Gracy Wheeler of Los Angeles had Marjorie Murray of Galveston as an opponent.

DISTRICT BOY TENNIS EVENTS WILL BE PLAYED TOMORROW

Boys tennis events in the district interscholastic league meet will be played here tomorrow, beginning at 8 o'clock. Efforts will be made to play the tournament in one day. Girls tennis will be played the following Saturday.

Ten visiting teams are scheduled to compete with the Pampa entry making the eleventh group. Play will be on the two courts at Central park, the court at the Magnolia Petroleum company on East Kingsmill avenue and the court at the C. P. Buckler home on North Somerville street.

Pampa high school will be represented in the singles by Bobby Childers and in doubles by Howard Buckingham and Joe Isbell.

HENRY PICARD HOLDS THREE-STROKE LEAD

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 9 (AP)—On the Wappoo course where he took up the game of golf 10 years ago as a caddy master, Henry G. Picard of Hershey, Pa., had a three-stroke lead to protect today in the third round of the Tournament of Gardens.

Named to the Ryder Cup team for the second year and second among the money winners of golf's winter trail of gold, Picard had staged a fine comeback from his miserable showing a week ago in the Augusta National where he wound up in tie for thirty-second place.

Around the locker room, the early arrivals saw little chance of Picard missing the top money of $1,250 and 25 per cent of the added $20 entry fee.

Of the four recently named Ryder Cup players, only Picard and Johnny Revolta, the big fluted fellow from Chicago, scored well the first two rounds. Revolta was two blows back of Snead with 141.

Gene Sarazen was in a seven-way tie for tenth place with 146, and Horton Smith stood in a three-way deadlock for twentieth position at 148.

OUTSIDERS IN DERBY SHOULD BE CONSIDERED

(This is the last of a series dealing with the outstanding Kentucky Derby eligibles.)

BY ORLO ROBERTSON. NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Fully a dozen so-called outsiders must be considered when weighing the chances of the outstanding eligibles for the May 8 renewal of the $50,000 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

They include William DuPont Jr.'s Fairy Hill, victor in the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, and Townsend B. Martin's Court Scandal, first in the $20,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park.

Along with Maxwell Howard's Scene Shifter and C. V. Whitney's Black Look, Fairy Hill and Court Scandal rate high in the future books. They are quoted at 20 to 1 each.

Here's why the twelve rate consideration: Scene Shifter (Maxwell Howard) —Trained and well liked by Earl Sande, trainer of three Derby winners. Has shown great improvement since being purchased along with Fencing, another Derby candidate, from J. E. Widener early in the winter.

Court Scandal (Townsend Martin) —Purchased from John Hay Whitney a few hours before he won Flamingo Stakes, won two of his ten starts last year, including Youthful Stakes at Jamaica.

Fairy Hill (William DuPont, Jr.) —Ran first or second in five two-year-old races, winning the great American at Aqueduct, Won Santa Anita Derby by length. May not start in Derby as owner has indicated he is not a hardy campaigner.

Black Look, Flying Cross, and Ploewy (C. V. Whitney) —Trainer Thomas J. Healey confident Whitney colts will make good showing, especially Black Look and Flying Cross.

Maedic (DeWitt Page) —Won five stake races at Saratoga last August but never started in two-year-old races. Phillips, trainer, believes poor showing in Hialeah race due to bad tooth, since extracted. Recently breezed a mile in 1:45 and three furlongs in 34 seconds at Hialeah.

No Sir (Mary Hirsch) —Trained and owned by M. Hirsch, 24-year-old daughter of Max Hirsch, who conditioned Bold Venture to win 1936 Derby. One of the two horses to beat Pompon last year, and finished close second to Court Scandal in Flamingo Stakes.

Mosavette (Mrs. G. W. Loft) —Trained by Max Hirsch. Showed promise last year and has been training well at Columbia, S. C., and Belmont Park. Full brother to crack handicap performer, Sortie.

Monton (H. W. Maxwell) —Best of three-year-olds from the barns of James Fitzsimmons, who has won two Derbies, with Gallant Fox and Omaha.

Tedious (Alfred G. Vanderbilt) —Although Trainer J. H. (Bud) Storer says he has "hardly given the Derby a thought," he likes Tedious the best of the four named by young Vanderbilt. Raced well in California last winter although unplaced in Santa Anita Derby.

Home bred son of Royal Ford from the Waggoner broodmare Texas ranch. In the money in seven of his eight starts last year, the majority at Arlington Downs, where he won the Juvenile Handicap. Was an easy winner of his three-year-old debut this week.

TEXAS AGGIES AND RICE WIN COUPLA GAMES

(By The Associated Press.)

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian, still after their first Southwest conference baseball victory, have another chance today at the teams they couldn't beat yesterday.

The Mustangs' two defeats on their record, will play the Texas Aggies at College Station and the Horned Frogs again engage Rice at Houston.

The farmers yesterday found the range against the S. M. U. club for 14 hits, shelling Doc O'Neill for 13 of them. The Mustang hitters got their five runs in the last two innings, after Doc Pitner weakened. Until then he allowed only a single hit. The score was 10 to 5.

The thrice-beaten Frogs yielded to Rice only after a stiff fight. T. C. U. almost evened a 7-1 Rice lead the Owls had piled up by the third inning. There were 10 hits to 7 for Rice.

Training Camp News

(By The Associated Press.)

TULSA, Okla., April 9 (AP)—The No. 3 batting spot in the New York Yankees order continues to be the hot one. Roy Johnson tore the cover off the ball when he hit there and won Alvin Powell, the regular left fielder, has shaken himself out of a batting slump hitting there.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Joe Stripp, Brooklyn Dodger third sacker, is now No. 1 casualty on the Dodger list. Stripp, on the bench for the last few days, probably will not start the season as a sore shoulder has been traced to bad teeth and he will return home to have them removed.

SAVANNAH, Ga.—The Cincinnati Reds invaded Georgia today with Gene Schott, slender right hander, slated to hurl against Savannah in the Reds' only appearance in the state.

SAN ANTONIO—Oral Hildrebrand was the star on the mound for the St. Louis Browns today in their second game of their 8-game series begun here yesterday.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—The St. Louis Cardinals completed their spring training in Florida today with a light practice. Tonight the Gas House team for Albany, Ga., where they will engage the Albany club tomorrow.

SAN ANTONIO—Manager Charlie Grimm expressed concern about Catcher Gabby Hartnett's sore shoulder today as the Chicago Cubs met the St. Louis Browns, who whipped the Bruins 4-3 yesterday.

LONGVIEW—The Chicago White Sox played first of seven exhibitions in Pittsburgh today with Monty Stratton and Bill Dietrich on the hill for the Chicagoans. The poor hitting of Rip Radcliff, Zeke Bonura, Fred Walker and Larry Rosenthal disturbs Manager Dykes.

ORLANDO, Fla.—The Washington Senators left the Grapefruit league today after 12 victories in 19 starts. Johnny Mihalic set the batting pace for the training season, with a .487 average for 16 games.

LONGVIEW—Manager Pie Traynor sent Pitcher Red Lucas against the Chicago White Sox today. Traynor said Lucas, who is scheduled to pitch the opening game of the season against the Cubs, would hurl the full game.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Manager Mickey Cochrane was happy today over the form of his big right hand pitcher, Elden Auker, the first Tiger pitcher to work nine innings, who let the Montreal Royals down with five hits.

RICHMOND, Va.—The Phillies close their southern exhibition campaign today in a game with the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont league. They will leave after the game for Philadelphia, where they will start a five-game city championship series with the Athletics Saturday.

PHILADELPHIA—The Athletics, shut out and held to one run as they lost their final southern exhibition game to the Memphis club of the Southern Association, 8 to 0, are traveling home today.

Horton and Seitz Working Out With Pensacola Team

Two former Pampa baseball stars, Tank Horton and Grover Seitz, are absorbing Florida sunshine as they work out with the Pensacola team. Horton is doing the major portion of the receiving while Seitz is patrolling the outfield.

Seitz left here about a month ago to join the Birmingham team but was sent to Pensacola on 24 hour recall to Birmingham. Horton left a week ago for Pensacola. A former teammate of the two is manager of the Pensacola club.

BRADDOCK HIKES

STONE LAKE, Wis., April 9 (AP)—James J. Braddock, world's heavy-weight boxing champion, hopes to develop his "fighting legs" by hiking along the roads and wooded trails around his camp at Little Sisibagama lake. Braddock revealed his leg developing plan was the principal object of his invasion of the northern Wisconsin woods.

WOMEN TAKE SUGGESTIONS

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Missouri farm women adopted from women's extension clubs in 1936 more than a quarter of a million suggestions on how to do a better job of home-making, according to an estimate by Amy Kelly, home economics professor at the Missouri College of Agriculture.

WRESTLING TOURNEY

BALTIMORE, April 9 (AP)—Eighty-four outstanding amateur grapplers were ready today for the national A. U. wrestling championship tournament. Two rings and seating accommodations for 1,000 persons were set up in the Y. C. C. A. gymnasium for the matches beginning at 3 p. m. (E. S. T.). There will be two more rounds before the 18 finalists meet for the weight titles Saturday night. Texas has two entries, Jack Harris and Harry Broadbent, both of the University of Texas.

Pampa Team to Open Season Against Ponca City Tuesday

Pampa's new baseball team will open the season Tuesday afternoon against the Ponca City team in the Western Association. The local nine will not be at full strength for the affair but enough players will be on hand to show where additional strength is needed.

Ponca City will remain over for another game on Wednesday afternoon. Games will be called at 3 o'clock at Road Runner park.

Manager Fred Brickell arrived yesterday from Wichita, Kan., and put his charges through a stiff workout despite a cool wind which floated across the field. The veteran appeared to be in perfect condition. He banged the ball against the fence in batting practice and chased flies like a youngster.

The local nine will not be at full strength for the opening game but enough boys will be on hand to give the visitors a battle if the hurling holds up. One or two newcomers may be here in time for the opening games.

Red Wings Trounce New York Rangers In Second Game

DETROIT, April 9 (AP)—The Stanley Cup defenders, Detroit's Red Wings, and their challengers, the New York Rangers, groomed themselves today for the third game of hockey's premier series, which is tied at one-all.

The Wings ended the sensational winning streak of the Rangers last night, 4 to 2.

Two New York players, Ott Heller and Alex Shibicky, suffered brain concussions.

Previously the blue shirted New Yorkers had won five straight playoff games.

WHEELER THINGLADS FAIL TO ARRIVE HERE

The bus carrying Wheeler's track and field squad which was scheduled to compete against the Harvester thinclads in a dual meet here yesterday afternoon broke down and the team was unable to make the trip.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejan planned to hold an intrasquad meet this afternoon to select boys who will participate in the district meet here next Saturday.

The Harvesters have had about eight days of practice.

SUBSIDIZING OF ATHLETES IS 'MORE PREVALENT THAN EVER'

CHICAGO, April 9 (AP)—The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools studied today a report from its committee on athletics that while the integrity of college athletic contests "remains unshaken," subsidizing of athletes "is more prevalent than ever."

The association comprised of 300 colleges and universities and 2,000 high schools in 20 states, heard the report at its forty-second annual meeting. Submitted by Dr. B. L. Stradley, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of Ohio State university, it was based on a questionnaire sent to representatives of 14 inter-collegiate athletic conferences.

"Professional practices" employed by colleges and universities in obtaining athletes were defined by the report as those that "involve the granting of concessions or compensations to athletes which are not available to other students."

The report drew comment from two Big Ten conference figures. Major John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Western conference, said the conference would "appreciate if the North Central association would turn over to us any specific information regarding violation of Big Ten rules concerning recruiting and subsidizing."

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Northwestern athletic director, said that while there still may be some proselyting, the conference "has done much constructive work regulating these evils."

GLENN MORRIS TO BE TARZAN IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 9 (AP)—World Decathlon Champion Glenn Morris, embarking on a motion picture career as "Tarzan," sat back and awaited developments today on the question of his amateur status.

The 24-year-old all-round athlete, winner of the 1936 Sullivan award as the nation's outstanding amateur performer, said he "hoped" his present standing would not be disturbed by his forthcoming appearances before Hollywood cameras.

Dan Gerris, national secretary of the A. A. U., wired Morris his position at the moment was not endangered, but left room for belief that the organization might declare him a professional when his screen work actually begins.

Johnny Weismuller and Buster Crabbe, former Olympic swimming champions, lost their amateur ranking when they signed for the same role Morris will enact.

Morris indicated, however, that he intends to go through with his new screen contract (with principal productions) regardless of possible action by the A. A. U.

AFL ASKS AID OF CONGRESS IN CIO FIGHT

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor asked the aid of Congress today in its fight against John L. Lewis after the House rejected a proposal to investigate sit-down strikes.

The Federation wants the labor relations board to poll workers by craft rather than by factory in elections to show who should represent the employees in mass production industries.

Rep. Dies (D-Tex.), author of the sit-down inquiry resolution which the House turned down by a voice vote yesterday, joined with Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) in offering a bill to require the election procedure sought by the federation.

If the bill should be enacted and the board should hold an election in an automobile plant, for instance, the machinists would vote whether they wanted to be represented by the machinists union or the united automobile workers.

Under the present Wagner labor relations act, the labor board could decide whether the balloting would be by craft or by plant.

Because Lewis is trying to organize all workers in each mass production industry into one big union, his forces are expected to oppose the Walsh-Dies bill.

The federation's metal trades department, organized on craft lines, asked the A. F. of L. last night to urge the measure's adoption.

The federation this week supported a proposed amendment to the new Guffey bill that would have condemned sit-down strikes—the technique employed by Lewis' United Automobile Workers in both the Chrysler and General Motors strikes.

The Senate turned down the amendment but a day later adopted a resolution assailing both sit-down strikes and unfair labor practices by employers.

This resolution is now before the House, and democratic leader Rayburn said members probably would have a chance to vote on it. Speaker Bankhead called in Rayburn and chairman O'Connor (D-NY) of the powerful rules committee to discuss it this morning.

Defeat of the Dies resolution for a sit-down investigation, Rayburn said, should not be taken as meaning the House condoned the strikes.

American Jailed on Way to Spain

Vachel L. Blair, above, senior student in Western Reserve University and son of a Cleveland manufacturing engineer, was one of 13 American "workers" imprisoned in France as suspected volunteers to the Spanish government army. The 13 were said to have been recruited in Cleveland by the "American Society for Technical Aid to Spanish Democracy."

FRANCE ATTEMPTING TO ATTRACT TOURISTS

PARIS, April 9 (AP)—France allowed the franc to sag today to attract tourists this summer.

The treasury has decided upon a cheaper franc, financial circles reported, with the possibility the rate may go to the low of 22.96 francs to the dollar agreed upon in the tripartite monetary agreement.

At noon, the rate was 4.484 cents per franc, a decline of almost 2 1/2 per cent from a 4.593 rate before the drop started yesterday. During early trading today, the rate was allowed to sag from 4.539 cents to the 4.484 figure, equivalent respectively to 22.08 and 22.96 to the dollar.

A rate of 22.96 to the United States dollar is the equivalent of 4.277 cents to the franc.

"The biggest tourist season since the 'golden twenties' is expected," financial sources predicted.

With this expectation, the commission charged with guarding the franc's rate has decided to offer the cheapest franc in four years, it was said. This three-man body, backed by unrestricted authority to regulate the currency under the new monetary laws, may not choose to let the franc hit the 4.277 cent low, but experts predicted it might remain near that figure.

CIO OFFICIALS SET UP THEIR HEADQUARTERS

HOUSTON, April 9 (AP)—The CIO drive for collective bargaining and an ultimate minimum wage scale on an annual basis spread out over the nation's oil belts today as oil union executives began setting up district headquarters.

The offices will be located at Houston, Long Beach, Calif.; Arp, Texas; Oklahoma City; Hammond, Ind.; and Parco, Wyo., under the direction of the union executive council.

H. C. Fremming, union president, was en route to Parco to help with organization there. Leaving the Texas coast work in the hands of Adolph Germer, veteran member of the United Miners of America and representative of the CIO head, John L. Lewis.

A quiet organization drive, given impetus at a mass meeting of around 1,200 workmen last night, was the plan, and union officials said further conferences with oil companies would be arranged. The first was a "very satisfactory" meeting yesterday with Humble executives.

On the same day the Humble, after a month of voluntary discussions with its 13,000 employees, announced a general raise in wages of nearly 10 per cent, an addition of close to $1,500,000 to the annual payroll.

Still in the picture was the American Federation of Labor, a CIO rival which had announced a competitive drive would start in the oil business April 15.

John Frey, A. F. of L. official, who reported he had been threatened with violence if he "didn't stay out of Texas," said he would come here to start the Federation's campaign.

AFRICA FEARS AMERICA WILL CUT GOLD PRICE. JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, April 9 (AP)—Panic crowds thronged the Johannesburg stock exchange today as gold shares tumbled in some cases as much as 45 points as a result of fears the United States would lower the price of gold.

(A break in the French franc in Paris was partially attributed to the same rumors, which have been denied.)

The slump in some shares was due chiefly to an over bought position in the market which led brokers to sell out weak clients.

PALO DURO CANYON VISITORS TO BE ADMITTED FREE SUNDAY

Palo Duro state park will be open to the public without charge Sunday in observance of the fourth anniversary of the CCC.

The State Parks Board is host for the occasion. Everybody is invited to visit the canyon park and inspect the work done there by the Civilian Conservation Corps, which is closing its fourth year.

Palo Duro park, 22 miles south and east of Amarillo, is being developed by CCC workers under supervision of the state board and the National Park Service.

All projects have been carried out by CCC labor.

Recently the entrance and control station facilities and two new double-unit stone cabins were completed. The roads, the lodge building, and the CCC camp all have been groomed for the birthday celebration.

Edmonds is commanding officer in charge of the camp where approximately 200 young men are enrolled.

Besides visiting the 15,000-acre playground park, those who go to Palo Duro may attend the birthday program beginning at 2:30 o'clock in the recreation hall and see a softball game between the CCC Camp team and the Amarillo Texaco Refinery club.

C. E. Heaton, camp educational director, is in charge of the program.

Park Superintendent William Anderson and the concession manager, W. T. Taylor, are speeding development of the park services, the facilities which will attract visitors for sight-seeing, camping, or for vacations.

COURT CHANGE IS ISSUE IN TEXAS BALLOT

AUSTIN, April 9 (AP)—Voters of this 10-county district will choose a congressman tomorrow in a special election attracting national attention because President Roosevelt's Supreme Court proposal is one of the major issues.

Eight men, all Democrats, are seeking to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James P. Buchanan of Brenham, chairman of the House appropriations committee and member of congress for 20 years.

Six candidates favor the Supreme Court change while the other two oppose it.

Those against Mr. Roosevelt's recommendations are Polk Shelton, Austin attorney and World War veteran, and State Senator Houghton Brownlee of Austin.

The other aspirants are Merton Harris of Smithville, who received considerable support in a race against Buchanan five years ago; Lyndon Johnson of Johnson City; youthful former secretary to Congressman Richard Kleberg of Corpus Christi; C. N. Avery of Austin, several times campaign manager for Buchanan; Sam V. Stone of Georgetown, county judge of Williamson county; Ayres K. Ross of Austin, Townsend old age pension advocate, and Edwin Waller of San Marcos.

Observers predicted a vote of around 20,000, considerably smaller than is usually cast in the regular Democratic primaries.

Counties in the district are Hays, Caldwell, Bastrop, Williamson, Burnet, Lee, Burnison, Blanco, Travis and Washington.

Watch out for this pickpocket! The choke is guilty, say automotive scientists, of stealing your mileage and your money.

In laboratory and road tests, they have actually measured your loss and proved that every time you pull out the choke, the gasoline consumption of your motor is increased five to fifteen times.

This explains why Phillips 66 Poly Gas gives such amazing economy. Being higher test, it requires the least possible choke. And it is higher test without higher price, because Phillips is the world's largest producer of natural high test gasoline.

Artist Captures Jamboree Spirit

WASHINGTON D.C. JUNE 30 - JULY 9

THIS happy Scout portrayed on Norman Rockwell's painting for the official poster of the National Scout Jamboree typifies the spirit of friendship and adventure which will be the lot of 25,000 American boys who will camp with Scouts of other lands on 350 acres at Washington, D. C., loaned them by Congress for their Jamboree from June 30 to July 9. In the shadow of the Washington Monument a tented city will be the scene of the greatest demonstration of Scouting ever held in the new world. The national grand review and President Roosevelt's welcome will attract large throngs to the nation's capital. Other principal events include a Convocation at the Washington Monument on the evening of July 4 and a world brotherhood pageant to be held in connection with a closing campfire.

PRINCIPAL FEATURES OF NEW WIND EROSION CONTROL FOR DUST BOWL AREA ANNOUNCED

Principal features of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's recently announced wind erosion control program for 90 counties, including Gray, in the so-called dust bowl area of Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, and New Mexico were outlined today by Howard R. Tolley, national AAA administrator.

The dust bowl program has been developed as part of the 1937 agricultural conservation operation, with payments offered to farmers to encourage them to adopt practices especially effective against wind erosion. The special program as is the case with the general program, is conditioned upon funds authorized but not yet approved by the Congress.

The principal features of the proposed program include:
1. Special provision applicable to all cropland in the area subject to serious wind erosion (except AAA diversified acreage).
2. Payments ranging from 20 to 50 cents an acre for employing mechanical and seeding practices especially planned to control wind erosion.

3. An allowance for each farm for this program equivalent to 75 cents an acre for each acre to which the program is applicable. (This allowance is a maximum amount which can be earned by practices.)

4. On practices completed before June 1, 1937, payment of 85 percent of the amount earned to be made as soon as possible after completion of such practices. (Other 1937 AAA payments will be made at the end of the crop season.)

5. Local administration by AAA county committees, with local administrative expenses to be deducted from payments.

"The program being inaugurated is emergency in nature, and at most can only help the situation for this season and next," Mr. Tolley said. "However, it offers to farmers of this region an opportunity to check soil-blowing until a more permanent solution can be worked out. The practices offered are in line with recommendations in a special report on this area by the President's Great Plains committee, and are practices which have proved effective in reducing wind erosion in the area. The plan is not offered as one which will end dust storms, but only as an emergency measure to lessen the present losses from dust storms."

The outstanding feature of the program is that it extends the area on which wind erosion control practices may be carried out for payment since the program is applicable to all the cropland in the area which is subject to active wind erosion. The AAA has already set provisions for the dryland areas to combat wind erosion on acreage diverted from the general soil-depleting bases of farmers.

The program has been developed within the framework of the AAA administrative divisions. The provisions for Kansas, Colorado, and New Mexico will be administered by the Western Division, of which George E. Farrell is director, and those for Texas and Oklahoma by Gully A. Cobb, director of the Southern Division.

The program will be effective for 18 counties in Kansas, 8 in Colorado, 10 in New Mexico, 6 in Oklahoma, and 48 in Texas. Additional counties may be designated if that is found necessary.

of practices. Payments will not be made unless farmers actually perform the practices which are approved.

In order for farmers to receive the early payments, practices must be performed before June 1, 1937. No deductions will be made from the payments earned by special wind-erosion practices where the soil-depleting acreage is larger than the respective soil-depleting base as it is considered desirable to encourage adoption of the wind-erosion control practices on all farms.

The allowances and area upon which practices are to be performed are in addition to the acreage to be diverted under the AAA soil conservation program. For instance, under the conservation program, a farmer may divert 15 per cent of his general soil-depleting base acreage for payment. If he lives in a dust bowl county, any additional acreage of cropland on his farm which is subject to active wind erosion, will be eligible for the 75 cents an acre allowance.

Example of Operation of Plan
The following is an example how the plan would operate on a 320-acre farm, on which the total amount of cropland is 300 acres. In determining the wind erosion acreage for this farm, the committee would first deduct 15 per cent, which is the amount of the cropland which could be diverted for payment under the general AAA program. This would leave 255 acres of cropland. Of this the committee might find that 160 acres was subject to active wind erosion. The allowance for the wind erosion control program would then be 160 times 75 cents or $120. This $120 would be the total amount which the farmer could earn for wind erosion control practices. If he should contour list his land, he could earn 25 cents an acre. Contour listing of 160 acres would entitle him to a payment of $40. However, if the farmer should plant a cover crop of sorghum on this land, he could earn an additional payment of 50 cents an acre, or $80, and thus with the $40 for listing, would earn the entire $120 allowance set up for that farm.

The following are the counties to which the program is applicable:
Kansas: Clark, Finney, Ford, Grant, Gray, Greeley, Hamilton, Haskell, Hodgeman, Kearney, Lane, Meade, Morton, Scott, Seward, Stanton, Stevens, and Wichita.
Colorado: Baca, Bent, Cheyenne, Crowley, Kiowa, Las Animas, Otero, and Prowers.
New Mexico: DeBaca, Colfax, Curry, Guadalupe, Harding, Mora, Quay, Roosevelt, San Miguel, and Union.

Texas: Andrews, Armstrong, Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Donley, Ector, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Gray, Hale, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hockley, Howard, Hutchinson, Kent, Lamb, Lipscomb, Loving, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Millard, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher, Terry, Wheeler, Winkler, and Yorkum.

Oklahoma: Beaver, Cimarron, Ellis, Harper, Texas, and Woodward.

Background of the Program
The program announced today is another in the series of steps which have been taken to control erosion in the dust bowl area. The 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program included special dry land practices which farmers in that area could substitute for the planting of soil-conserving crops. Also, a special appropriation of $2,000,000 was provided in 1936, and practically all of this amount was spent for the putting into effect of various erosion control practices.

The practices offered to farmers followed in general those which have been recommended for this area as the results of various studies and the experience of farmers during the last few years. Such practices were recommended in the report of the Southern Great Plains Wind Erosion Area. In general, however, it is recognized that measures such as the present program are essentially of an emergency nature and that the permanent solution of the program will require a more comprehensive, long-time program.

TIP FOR UNCLE SAM

In the current issue of a magazine, an able economist makes a few sage observations.

He maintains that the coming boom already is on the way. To those who don't care to be taken for a ride by it, he offers this advice:

"Buy tangible, useful, needed things. And lend as little money as you can, unless money-lending is your business."

This seems a bit of common sense that can be heeded profitably not only by John Public, but also by Uncle Sam. In the latter's case, however, the last sentence is probably needless, as a brutal experience has taught him to ignore the outstretched palms of overseas neighbors.

He could, though, confine his purchases to "tangible, useful, needed things." This phrase, for instance, might apply to armaments, but only to such as are needed to defend his domain. Beyond that point, they may still be tangible, but since America intends to enter no more foreign wars, they are hardly useful and necessary.

CONSERVATION AID

A newspaper item reveals that most Americans are now within a day's motor drive of one of the camping grounds and resorts in the national forests, beautiful natural locations in which they can swim, camp, and picnic. As fast as the demand grows, the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture is developing other scenic spots and recreational areas.

The great value of any such program is obvious at a glance. To the vast majority of the people in our cities, whose horizon is bounded by constructions of man, conservation of natural resources can be hardly more than a phrase. It is only by visiting and luxuriating in a national forest that they can realize it is a sublime heritage, meant not only for them but for posterity.

The course of the Forest Service seems a splendid way to amass public opinion behind the drive for conservation.

VERMONT'S ANNIVERSARY

In 1941, the state of Vermont will celebrate the 150th anniversary of her admission to the Union. Preparing for her eventful year, the state is about to launch a four-year program of beautification and modernization.

This is interesting news, especially in view of the fact that, since last November, the Green Mountain state has been the target of many good-humored jests, to the general effect that she and Maine had seceded from the Union.

It is fitting now that Vermont can have the last laugh. In celebrating her admission to the Union, Vermont emphasized the fact that, after the original 13, she was the first state to be admitted, that she was the "bell-wether" for the others, and that her seniority entitles her to their respect.

Other states have been repeating with relish the phrase, "As Maine goes, so goes Vermont." They may be reminded now that as Vermont went, in joining the Union long ago, so went they.

KEEPING MUNITIONS HOME

Senator Gerald P. Nye and Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., seem to have the idea that, if the scheme of embargoing munitions shipments to warring nations is sound in small doses, it ought to be equally sound in big doses.

They have introduced a bill in Congress, accordingly, which would ban all munitions shipments—not only in time of war, but in time of peace as well. The only exceptions would be shipments to nations on the American continent "engaged in war against a non-American state of states."

There is a great deal of logic in this idea. We are now selling munitions abroad in so many quarters that, if we get into another war in the near future, some American boys will certainly be killed by munitions of American manufacture. There is much to be said for a proposal to take us out of the munitions-exporting business permanently, in peace and war alike.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Gold braid still gets attention, even in ultra-democratic Washington.

Take Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada, while on his "good neighbor" visit to Washington. His high office and many ceremonial functions required him to gold braid about the city, gold braid at receptions, and gold braid in Arlington cemetery. He didn't like that much, but it was part of his job.

The net result was an appearance of stupendous importance to his visit. Actually there likely was far less weight attached to his official conferences than to those of many less gold-braided officials coming directly from London.

As far as actual international importance goes, if they shot off 21 guns for Lord Tweedsmuir, by comparison they might well have shot off the capitol dome for Walter Runciman, president of the British board of trade, who visited here recently with far less ostentation.

But underneath all the gold braid there un-

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Governor Dan Moody, in a telegram to Mayor F. P. Reid, denied that he had ordered Rangers sent to Pampa. However, 10 Rangers were in Borger and others were to be sent to assist citizens of that booming town in a clean-up after a crime outbreak there.

doubtedly is real meat in the governor general's visit. Most important were intimations which, when studied closely, pointed to talk of concerted action between the United States and Canada in event of a foreign war which both might feel was of no especial American concern.

On the day after Lord Tweedsmuir's arrival here, J. L. Ilesley, minister of national revenue, introduced in the Canadian parliament a bill to give the government rigid control over manufacture, importation and exportation of arms and other munitions of war.

Under its terms, as outlined in news dispatches, it could bring Canada into alignment with the United States arms embargo.

On the same day Senator William Duff laid before the parliament in Ottawa a proposal to strengthen Canada's naval defense, commenting at the same time that Canada should look to the United States, not Great Britain, for help in the event of trouble.

Without knowing Senator Duff's relationship to Canadian administrative forces, it is evident that neither the United States nor Canada can take any important international position without concern of the other.

Certainly Lord Tweedsmuir did not overlook the opportunity for an informal "fireside chat" with President Roosevelt that might help to clarify this relationship.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Hal Kemp, his eyes a-beam and his countenance halved by a yard-wide grin, ambles into the galley where this slaver is chained and relates an episode just witnessed in a hotel lobby.

A flirtatious femme, anxious to acquire the attentions of an idling and unattached young man, tossed him a coy look and when this failed of its desired results, she bent on him her most infectious smile.

This, too, was barren of results. Sensing that he was likely to prove stubborn, she rearranged her frock so that the merest flash of a well-turned knee winked out at him. He showed no interest.

Finally she pulled old K-79 on him—she dropped her handkerchief, a dainty lace, fluffy one it was, under his nose, and coughed.

Adonis took one look at Circe: "It's no use, lady; my weakness is horses."

Down at El Chico's, where the senoritas do the flamenco, there is a parrot, and a very wise old fowl he is. Accustomed to the banter of Broadway hordes which, seemingly, drift endlessly through this Spanish supper-club, he has become something of a snob, idling on one foot in a dignified, bored sort of way.

One night at a gay supper party sat Lily Pons. This actress-singer has a sudden and startling laugh. Sometimes it becomes shrill and when this happens, it makes an impression that she is not alone.

Quite without warning, Miss Pons laughed. The parrot laughed right back at her. This so amused her that she laughed again, and the parrot, as badly behaved a bird as I have ever seen, promptly chortled himself into a case of hysterics.

It became necessary for several gauchos to carry him away and cover his cage with a heavy brocade mantle.

Later a chastened and much subdued fowl was brought back into the atmosphere of castanets and soft Spanish vowels, idling on one foot.

"Catching Miss Pons' eye, strike me if he didn't clear his throat (that's one for you—a parrot clearing his throat), like some weighty orator, and cut loose with something like this:

"Believe me, lady, if my conduct this evening has been on the uncouth side, it is because of the bad influence of the company I keep—so many actors come in here. However, I want to assure you that it won't happen again."

Naturally, everybody was flabbergasted, and it would be a better story if it stopped right there. But, unfortunately, the truth must be told. At a nearby table sat a familiar looking fellow whose name was Walter Waters. Among other things, he is a first-class ventriloquist.

COCKLEBURS SPROUT AFTER 21 YEARS. DURANT, Okla. (P)—Reasoned John Leonard, florist: "If wheat grains from Egyptian ruins will sprout, why won't cockleburrs imbedded in concrete pavement 21 years?" Leonard picked up a cluster of cockleburrs found in 21-year-old pavement being torn up by workmen, planted them. They sprouted, produced more cockleburrs.

Ten days ago Pampa high school had a good chance to go to town in the one-act play contest, but today with a week away, Director Kenneth Carman was staggering to his feet after being flattened by the ineligibility of two members of his cast. Now he's trying to smooth the performances of the two new members and it's likely that they will be almost as good as the others by next week-end.

Dickie Kennedy and Colleen McMahon have the leading roles in this play. Dickie played the role of the small boy in 'Dust' which went to the state finals last year. Colleen was another favored pupil of Ben Guill.

Last year, Dickie's portrayal of the dust-bowl boy who died of "dust pneumonia" so pleased Mr. Boviard that that supply company owner sent him a check for $10. Naturally, Dickie is working to get the play out of district anyway. (Dickie's father is district manager for the Boviard company.) Dickie is a natural for the German accent in "Cabbages," the play this year. All his young life he has found amusement in affecting a German accent. Colleen who has spent a lot of time hanging around the radio station and reading lines in radio plays, spoke a Mexican senorita's lines in one of Mel Marshall's serials and sometimes lapses back in the so amusing that she and Dickie alone are guaranteed to evoke at least two belly-laughs every one of 32 minutes the play lasts.

CANCER TESTS

Quite naturally much of our cancer research work is concentrated on the effort to discover its cause, for when the cause of disease is discovered, the methods for its control presumably (and usually) are indicated.

In its early stages, cancer is frequently symptomless. Hence, many efforts have been made and are being made to discover means for its early detection. When cancer is discovered early and when it can be reached, it may be eradicated by surgical or other means.

Numerous attempts have been made, therefore, to develop some form of cancer test, that is, some diagnostic means which will reveal the cancerous process at its beginning. In this the X-ray and what is termed biopsy examinations have proved useful. The X-ray frequently reveals tissue changes, which are characteristic of malignant growth. In biopsy examinations small portions of tissue are cut out and examined under the microscope.

Useful as these procedures are, they do not serve all our diagnostic needs. Attempts, therefore, have been made to develop "blood tests" that might show, in the altered character of the blood, whether a body is affected by a malignant growth.

During the past years a variety of such tests have been reported. Most of them, however, have proved either to be non-specific or too complicated and too uncertain for practical application.

Recently, however, there have been some encouraging reports on a blood test developed by H. J. Fuchs. This test involves a complicated procedure in which the serum (the liquid portion of the blood) of the examined patient is mixed with proteins derived from normal human blood. The changes effected by the test serum upon these proteins serve to establish the diagnosis.

Serum from individuals not suffering from cancer does not change or only slightly breaks down proteins derived from normal human blood. Serum from a cancer patient greatly alters the proteins from normal blood. Again, serum derived from a normal person but mixed with blood proteins taken from a known cancer sufferer, effects a marked change on the latter.

This test recently applied to 53 known cancer cases gave the correct diagnosis in 50 of them. The test applied to 42 non-malignant cases gave a correct result in 38.

Q. What is the color of the German swastika? J. W. A. It is black on a white circle on a red background.

Do Your Feet Give You Trouble? An overwhelming majority of the American people have foot trouble of one kind or another. This was revealed strikingly when the conscripts were given their physical examinations at the time an army was being mobilized and trained for the World War.

Physicians and podiatrists say that there is no excuse for this since practically all foot ills are due to ignorance, carelessness, or neglect. Your general health is dependent in no small degree upon the condition of your feet. Don't neglect them.

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

Among the thousands of islands that dot the many waters of the earth, no other has so much weird-romance associated with it as has the principal island of the Juan Fernandez group. This little island has been made famous by the experiences of Alexander Selkirk, Scottish sailor, who spent four long years there in solitary exile. These experiences of Selkirk became the inspiration and supplied much of the material for Daniel Defoe's immortal "Robinson Crusoe."

The island on which Selkirk spent those four years alone is called Mas-a-Tierra, which means in Spanish nearer land. It is about 450 miles west of Valparaiso. The island is very beautiful, and would perhaps be as ideal as any for the modern "Robinson Crusoe." Mas-a-Tierra is about 13 miles long and 4 miles wide. It is rich in vegetation and has a beautiful chain of volcano peaks. The highest of these is about 3,225 feet, and due to the fact that it resembles an anvil, is called El Yunque. Mas-a-Tierra is noted for its beautiful ferns. Domestic animals have been placed there. About 300 people now live on this little land. The greatest disadvantage to visiting this romantic island is the poor and even dangerous anchorage places. On the north side of the land is a bay called Cumberland. This is the best anchorage found on the island.

CARDS TUNE UP FOR PENNANT RACE

Notes to you, say the Gas House boys of the St. Louis Cardinals as they commit a bit of music in the leisure hours at their Daytona, Fla., training camp. Bill McGee is plunking on a guitar, Frenchy Bordagaray is summing on a fiddle, and Al Custer is pinch-hitting for Pepper Martin on the mouth organ while the irrepressible Mr. Martin gets out in a clog dance, or sumpin'.

Enjoying Visit to Senate

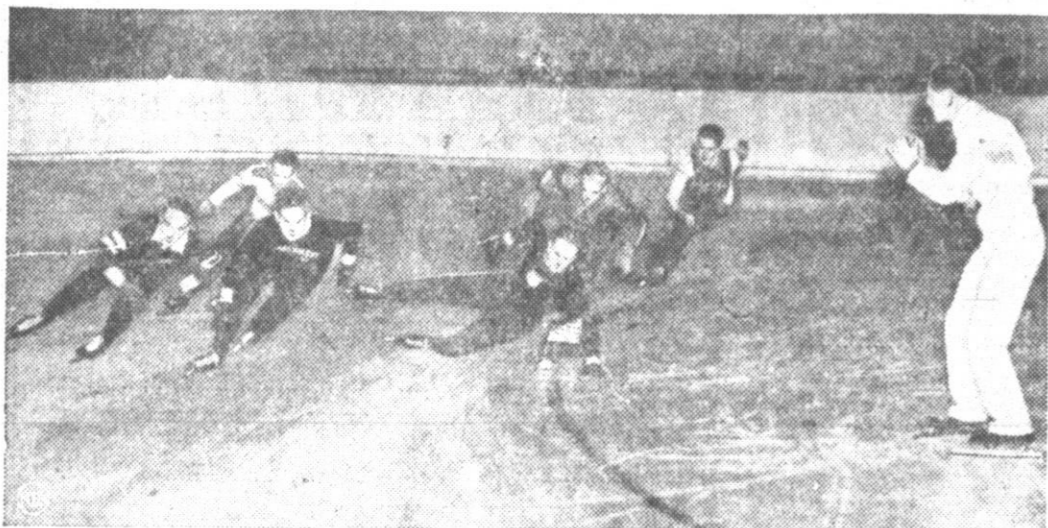

The usual intently serious expression of Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada, gave way to unbridled merriment when he was entertained by Vice President John N. Garner during a visit to the United States Senate in Washington, D. C. Lord Tweedsmuir (right) laughs heartily at the tale Garner relates in his inimitable manner.

FLAGG WAS STILL THERE—WHEN RACE ENDED

When a 220-yard dash turns into a steeplechase, that's news, and spectators have reason to gasp. Jack Flagg of Washington University furnished the thrill by spilling a few yards from the finish line in the indoor track meet between Washington and the University of California at Seattle. Flagg was deprived of an apparently sure second place behind Bruce Humber (right) of Washington, winner. Pollock of California, in center, finished second.

SPEED SKATING OFFERS THRILLS

Saving Capital's Cherry Blossoms

Nancy and Polly Pierce, above, discover that a smudge pot can be used to warm frosted hands as well as budding Washington cherry trees when the temperature drops. The smudge pots were placed out when warm weather started the famous trees budding and a following cold snap threatened to nip them in the bud, literally.

Netting Smelt Through 'Claim' Holes Cut in Ice

The smelt run was at its height when these fishermen chopped holes through the ice on the Ford river, near Escanaba, Mich., and hauled out the smelt in nets. Usually the ice is out before the finny midgets start their annual run, but this year the fishermen had to stake claims and cut through the ice to harvest the annual "crop."

Capitalists Enthuse Over Soviet

"Russia has been a fascinating and stimulating experience," Ambassador Joseph E. Davies, pictured on return to New York from Moscow, agreed, so much so that they disliked any speculation over the possibility Mr. Davies might be transferred to another post. They expressed delight because they had not been ostracized as capitalists by leaders of the Soviet. Both Mr. and Mrs. Davies are very wealthy.

$120,000,000 Heiress a Bride

Getting the soup on for dinner will hold no terror for this beaming bride—Mrs. George Strawbridge, the former Margaret Winifred Dorrance, heiress to the $120,000,000 canned soup fortune of the late Dr. John Thompson Dorrance. She's seen driving away from the church at Radnor, Pa., with the happy bridegroom, son of a Philadelphia banker and noted as a gentleman jockey.

As Nan Resolved to Keep Her Man

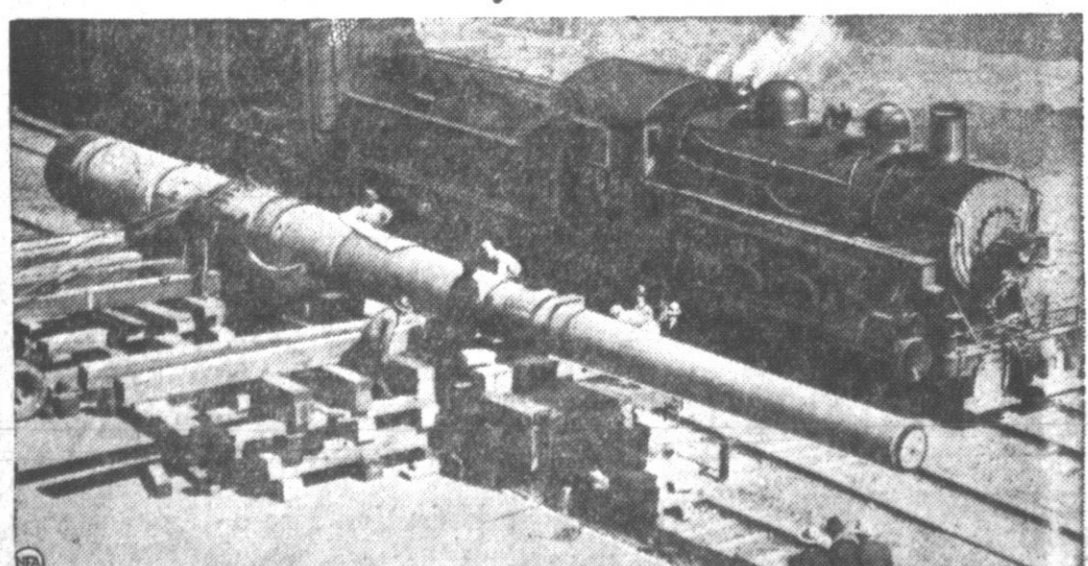

Tearful determination to keep her husband was written on the face of Mrs. Nan Pierson Brooks Macy Brill, steel heiress, when this picture of her was made in San Francisco. She had just resolved to return to Los Angeles and fight the annulment suit of her new husband, William H. Brill, Jr., who left her after a 24-hour honeymoon in Yuma, Ariz.

Never Says Neigh to a Good Joke

The joke may not be so funny, but it's always best to laugh when the boss tells it, especially when he's been riding you of late, decided five-gaited Night Call, breaking into a loud guffaw. The yarn spinner is Mounted Officer George Specht, at Pittsburgh, who proves there's something to this contention of horse sense—of humor.

Stern New Sentry For the Golden Gate

This 16-inch coast defense gun, which makes the railroad locomotive look a little skimpy by comparison, weighs 151 tons, is 70 feet long, and the largest in the west. Moving it seven miles from the rail line to the San Francisco harbor, where it will be mounted beside another of the same size, gave engineers quite a transportation problem.

Flying the World on One Ticket

You can fly around the world now on commercial planes—21,000 miles on a single ticket costing $2255.66—United Airlines points out, presenting its route, above, and affiliated lines flying the course. The first trip was scheduled to start from San Francisco April 27 at 3 p. m., reach Hong Kong on May 5, continue with frequent stops to Frankfurt, leaving there May 23 for arrival at the Lakehurst mooring mast on May 25.

Fighting to Put Hockey Title on Ice

Every player putting everything he has into every minute of play. That's the kind of hockey the "world series" on ice, the Stanley Cup playoffs, produces. So vigorously has Lynn Patrick (left) of the New York Rangers hit the puck that he's about to fall down; but Bill Beveridge, goalie for the Montreal Maroons, has dropped to his knees to block the play while a teammate rushes to his assistance. Nevertheless, the Rangers won, 1-0, in the second-round match at New York.

"Yes, that report came in. But Speddon drove through here several days ago and there wasn't any woman with him."

Gassy, Belching Attacks Kept Her in Misery

"For 7 years I had been a victim of a gassy, upset stomach, with attacks of belching that were simply horrible," wrote Mrs. Andersen. "These spells of belching got so bad at night that I would wake up and the rest of the family I couldn't sleep, and felt terrible from lack of rest due to this gassy belching. I began to read in the papers about Van-Tage I investigated your medicine and went and inquired of different parties who were taking it and they all praised it highly so I started taking it myself. Will say that now I am relieved of that awful belching and gassy stomach condition. I can sleep all night without being disturbed. So I give you my statement and hope what I write here will help somebody else."

TRAILER ADVENTURE

By Nard Jones NEA Service, Inc.

Chapter XV
The burly attendant took one look at Martha's pretty, troubled face, and needed no further encouragement. In a swift movement he reached beneath the cash register and brought out a revolver. Three long strides and he was at the side of the coupe, swinging open the door.

"Come on," he said, nudging Neal's shoulder. "Get out of there."

Neal stirred drowsily, then opened his eyes, found himself staring into the ominous barrel of the station attendant's revolver.

"What's the idea?" He sat up straight, looking first at his assailant, then beyond at Martha Brittain. "What is this a joke?"

"No," the husky attendant mentioned. "I said get out of there and it isn't any joke." He spoke over his shoulder to Martha. "You'd better call the police station. I can't leave here or I'd take him down for you."

Neal's eyes widened unbelievably. "Police station; Look here—"

"No back talk, buddy. Hold quiet a minute." A huge hand tapped the bulge in Neal's coat pocket, drew out the revolver he had taken from Martha's coupe. "Now just sit down on the running board there while the lady phones for a nice big taxi."

His expression ludicrous with astonishment, Gerry Neal dropped indignantly to the running board of the coupe. He saw Martha taking down the receiver of the telephone inside the glass enclosure beyond the gasoline pumps. "See here, you fool, that girl has misled you. You've no right to—"

"Button your lip," the attendant interrupted. No doubt about it, he was enjoying himself as he had never enjoyed himself before. In his excited brain danced sweet visions of newspaper headlines, maybe a reward for capturing a dangerous criminal.

Neal fell silent. Though he was inwardly raging he knew that he was helpless. This giant idiot wouldn't listen to reason—and Martha had already telephoned the police. Casually he asked his captor's permission to reach into his pocket for a cigarette. Instead, the younger man inserted one of his own between Neal's lips and lighted it. "No not," he explained, "taking any chances."

It seemed to Martha that she had hardly turned from the telephone when a siren-screaming police car rolled into the station lot. She was grateful for the dispatch of the Eureka police because to her annoyance, she felt she could not face Neal's ironically amused gaze. "How he must despise me!" she thought—and then added quickly: "Suppose he does, I'll never see him again."

She was taken aback, however, when one of the officers reminded her that she must come to the station with them and prefer charges against Neal. In her excitement this contingency had not occurred to her. She was grateful when two officers took Neal—thoroughly handcuffed—into the back seat between them, allowing her to sit with the driver.

The desk sergeant, under the impression that he was facing speeders or roisterers, yawned prodigiously as they entered the room. But a word from the officer made him sit up straighter. He looked hard at Martha.

"What's your story?"

Quickly she told him, avoiding Gerry Neal's eyes. She began with the day she and Betty got the job with the Allspeed Trailer company, and showed her letter from Arnold Sloan. She told of Betty's disappearance with Speddon, and how Neal had insisted upon accompanying her.

When she had finished the desk sergeant turned to Neal. "What have you got to say about this?" he shot out.

"Nothing," Neal said quietly. "I think Miss Brittain has told you the whole story."

The sergeant returned his keen glance to Martha. "I'm a little confused as to how you connect up this man with the disappearance of your friend, but—"

"I'm sure he's connected with it in some way!" cried Martha desperately.

The officer shrugged. "We can send out a description of Miss Haynes and this Speddon and the car in which they were last seen. As for this man here, I'll be glad to see that he doesn't annoy you further. There's also the matter of a permit to carry a revolver."

"Then I may go?" asked Martha, trembling.

"Yes," Breen, take the young lady back to her car, will you?"

She still avoided Neal's eyes, and as she left the room with Officer Breen she half expected to be called back by the prisoner. But Gerry Neal remained silent.

When she returned to the gasoline station to reclaim the trailer and coupe she found the burly attendant waiting expectantly. "What happened, lady? What are they going to do to him?"

"I don't know," Martha said. "At any rate, they're going to hold him—and I can go on in peace. How can I thank you enough for helping me?"

"Gosh, that's all right." He grinned engagingly. "Just part of the company's service, like washing the windshield or putting air in your tires."

Martha had answered the burly attendant's smile, but as she drove out of Eureka and on up the smooth, wide highway, she felt little enough like smiling. She had imagined that she would be relieved beyond words to get rid of Gerry Neal with his seemingly misleading advice and his egotistical palaver as to what she felt for him. But somehow it was very lonely driving the little coupe with the trailer swinging behind.

It was a loneliness growing from more than Neal's absence from her side. She realized that now she had no advice in the world, good or bad. There was no one now to whom she could turn.

True, she had the assurance of the Eureka police that an effort would be made to watch for Speddon and Betty. But the desk sergeant had been as dubious of her interpretation of the disappearance as had that exasperating detective Sloan. What brand of stupidity was it that made them regard her beliefs as coming from a suspicious and hysterical girl?

She pressed on toward the border between California and Oregon. She knew that at the California border would be a traffic station, and she could determine whether the Eureka police had really reported to the state patrol. If they had not, then she herself would. The California state patrol was, she knew, an efficient and soldierly body which had brought many a fleeing renegade to the end of his trail. Yet she knew that she was hoping against hope that if Betty and Speddon were still traveling, they were yet in California.

When, after long hours of driving, she rounded a bend of mountain road and glimpsed the little traffic station her heart beat wildly. Draw-

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

EXPECTED
Dopesters and tipsters say inflation is confirmed by the decline in government bond prices and President Roosevelt's blast against rising steel and copper prices. That's why the so-called commodity issues are being urged as a money hedge purchase.

According to banking interests the reasoning is bad. President Roosevelt's statement on the high copper and steel prices has been expected for months. He was all set to say something a month or so ago, but because of the Supreme Court fight the statement was withheld pending his return from Warm Springs.

As for the government bond price declines, bank selling in order to get into shape to meet the new Federal Reserve requirements and to have funds free for commercial loans accounts for the dip. Not because of inflationary fears. Prices are expected to improve after May 1. This is because the Treasury department wants the selling to run its normal course.

ARTIFICIAL

Banking executives say that the money managers in Washington have been trying for some time to "talk down" a boom brought about by New Deal financing. But their efforts aren't expected to be successful.

Financial people say that only when these money bosses fit actions to words will the boom stop. And how is that to be done? By putting a stop to defter financing, by discontinuing the artificial low money rates and by moves to reduce the national debt.

REVISION

Consolidated Coppermines' smelting agreement with Kennecott Copper is to be revised. The 3,000 daily ton rate is to be doubled. Insiders say that this will come to public knowledge in the not distant future. Officials of both organizations will soon meet for this purpose.

On a basis of only fifteen cents for the increased contract would allow Consolidated Coppermines to net $2 a share this year. Recent strength of the company's shares is attributed to the buying of those who had knowledge of the pending agreement revision.

Opposition

After four and one-half years of bankruptcy, a reorganization plan of the United Cigar Stores has been completed. A hearing has been set for April 19. It is supposed to have the approval of the reorganization committees representing the landlord, debenture bondholders, preferred and common stockholders and a large investment trust.

So certain of success are those who prepared the filed plan that tentatively a certain man has already been assured the presidency of the new company. Yet your correspondent is reliably informed that it isn't unlikely that some landlord opposition will be heard when the Federal Court is called to order April 19.

SUPERIOR

No one knows why or how it started but reports from London say that Soviet gold recently shipped to England is of a low quality. Quite to the contrary it is what international money brokers say. The Soviet bars receive a nearly perfect rating. In point of fineness Soviet gold is reported to be far superior to any other received from abroad.

PROFIT

New speculative buying of the Kansas City Southern shares is predicated on indications that the road will do better in 1937 than it did last year. March operations ran some twenty per cent above the like month of 1936. Outlook for the first six months is favorable.

Larger winter wheat shipments, heavier cotton loadings and increased movement of oil are the reasons. Development of the Louisiana-Texas Rodessa oil field increased freight movements for this carrier.

Insiders are of the opinion that for 1937 Kansas City Southern will show a profit of about $2 a common share. Last year the road reported a net of $2.76 a share on its $4 non-cumulative preferred.

GROWING

Aided by the new $300,000 airplane order received from the Republic of Argentina, Glenn Martin is rapidly growing as a leader in its industry. With the booking of the last order the company's unfilled business reaches $12,500,000. Longpull stock buying interests believe that this year's earnings will easily surpass those of last year.

REPORTS ARE THAT:

Despite rising price levels April's industrial operations will run twenty-

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MAYES.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquirers must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. Did Jean Lafitte ever claim to be governor of Texas?
A. In October, 1819, Lafitte assumed the office of governor of Texas under the pending revolutionary government of Mexico and required all persons on the island of Galveston and all owners and captains of vessels then in the Galveston harbor to swear allegiance to the Republic of Mexico. The formation of this so-called government took place on the schooner Carmelita Gray, at anchor in the harbor.

Q. What became of the women and children of the Dolores' colony who were captured by Indians in the Galveston harbor to swear allegiance to the Republic of Mexico?
A. The fate of the two children was never known. The two women, Mrs. Horn and Mrs. Harris, were taken to their lands on the Upper Arkansas where they were finally ransomed through the influence of William Donoho, then a Santa Fe merchant, and sent to Missouri, where they soon died. Mr. Donoho, who afterward became a prominent citizen of Clarksville, Texas, was an instrumental in ransoming Mrs. Paschal Plummer captured by Indians at Fort Parker, May 19, 1836.

Q. What was the Greer County dispute and how did it originate?
A. In the 1819 treaty between the United States and Spain, Red River was given as the boundary line. On existing maps the upper river stream was shown as a wavy line in a northerly course, but when explored was found to have two forks, Texas claimed to the north fork, and in 1860 organized Greer county from the strip between the forks. The United States claimed the southern, or "Prairie-Dog Town" fork as the line, this resulting in doubts as to titles and retarding development of the 2,227,200 acres in the disputed territory.

CRAYON PROJECTS IN TEXAS HISTORY

It is easy to teach children history with colored pictures of historical subjects and colored crayons. History taught in this way is never forgotten and a taste is created for more information. "Centennial Projects, Texas Under Six Flags" contains 36 pages of outlines on many phases of Texas history and events, with cover showing the Texas Capitol under six flags, each in its correct color. Mailed postpaid for 25 cents. Send order to Will H. Mayes, 2310 Salado Street, Austin, Texas.

FORMER RESIDENT IS KILLED IN CAR CRASH

A former Pampa resident, Troy Fields, died in a hospital in Stroud, Okla., from injuries received in a head-on automobile crash Wednesday, friends here have been informed. Funeral services were to be conducted this afternoon in Henrietta.

Charles Arnell, with the Midcontinent Supply company of Tulsa, was instantly killed in the same crash. Details of the accident were not learned here.

Fields was with the Claude Drilling company here until six months ago when he was transferred to Tulsa. He is survived by his wife and daughter, Bernice. A brother, Virgil Fields is with the Claude Drilling company here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fields left for Stroud upon learning of the accident. They were accompanied by Roy McMurray, longtime friend.

Shamrock News

By MRS. PEYTON WOFFORD. SHAMROCK, April 9.—Band members here are rehearsing music and marches for the annual Panhandle Band and Orchestra Association contests in Pampa April 22-24. Solo contests will be entered by 18 students. Grady Box, director of the ward school band, will enter his group in the junior division. Glen Truax is director of the senior band. New uniforms will be worn to Pampa and also for the annual spring concert here April 16. Contest numbers will be played then.

J. M. Tindall, E. H. Kromer, A. Ryan, Art Fleming, and J. W. Henderson are attending the Texas Cotton Ginners association meeting in Dallas. Tindall is a director.

Many types of game birds continue laying eggs during the breeding season until one nestful has been successfully hatched.

International Sunday School Lesson

THE SIN OF ADAM AND EVE Text: Genesis 3:1-15. BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance.

What is the nature of sin? And how did it come into the world? Is the story upon which our lesson is based, that of the serpent tempting Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, an adequate explanation?

These are questions that a generation ago would have occasioned bitter controversy. Fortunately, we have progressed to a stage where we can at least discuss them today without rancor, or without being accused of being disloyal to Christ and the New Testament if we fail to see in the Genesis story a literal account of the origin of sin.

THE OBVIOUS INTERPRETATION, if the approach to the Bible had not been so seriously affected by the controversy about literalism, would be to regard the story as a sort of allegory. In real life serpents do not talk; and that in itself should remind us that we are in the realm of poetry or imagination when reading this page that comes from the early records and traditions of human experience.

But if the story is not literally real, that does not mean that it has no truth to impart. One must remember that the finest of moral and spiritual teachings have been given to the world in the form of parables and stories, both in the Bible and apart from its sacred writings. The imaginative tales of Aesop and other writers have been a highly specialized medium of moral instruction.
