Reading And Writing

By John Selby

Here is another Mexican book, this is exactly what Max Miller's "Mexico Around Me" is not—this is the Mexican Indian and the problem of the so-called backward Mexican stated with warm sincerity and yet with dignity.

Today's book is called "El Indio," and its author is Gregorio Lopez y Fuentes, editor of a paper in Mexico City and a novelist of some reputation in Mexico. It has won the first national prize for literature, according to the jacket, which must indicate great breadth of vision on the part of the Mexican awarding committee. Presumably the prize is a governmental affair, and heaven knows, the book is none too kind to Mexico's government, present or past.

It is called a novel, but it is not a novel. No characters are identified by name, and there is really no central character or set of characters. There is a little Indian village high in the mountains, and there are a few Indians who emerge for a greater or shorter time, from the dusky background. And there is a picture of Indian life so affecting that it will make no difference to the reader whether it be exact or otherwise. It carries its own conviction, which is what a good book should do.

The village is first brought into conflict with the "white" outsiders when a group of men bearing maps and guns arrive at the hacienda looking for gold and determined to get it by stealth, torture or whatever method seems best. The invaders get no gold; one of them ravishes a girl, and the most handsome of the village youths is tortured, flung himself down the mountainside and is maimed for life.

It is this youth who, a cripple,

'Hatchet' Party Is Given By Mrs. Zack For Dinner-Bridgers

Hatchets suggesting the season of Washington's birthday anniversary were used by Mrs. Jim Zack in arranging a party theme when she entertained members of the Bridges Club at the Settler hotel Tuesday evening.

Diners found their places by the names on the blades of candy-stuffed hatchets. A potted azalea furnished the centerpiece. Tiny hatchets topped the cherry tarts of the dessert course to complete the theme.

Mrs. Harvey Williamson was the only guest and was also highest scorer in the bridge games.

Places were set for Mrs. Torr Donnelly, Mrs. W. J. Donnelly, Mrs. Glenn Golden, Mrs. D. M. McKinney, Mrs. Robert Whipkey, Mrs. P. Teague, Mrs. Herchel Summerlin, Mrs. Fred Read, Mrs. Emily Bradley, Mrs. Jeannette Barnett, Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Zack.

Miss Barnett will entertain on March 2.

CALENDAR OF TOMORROW'S MEETINGS

THURSDAY

PAST NOBLE GRAND Club of the Rebekah Lodge meeting 7:30 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall.

EAST WARD P.T.A. meeting 7:30 o'clock at the school for the Founder's Day program.

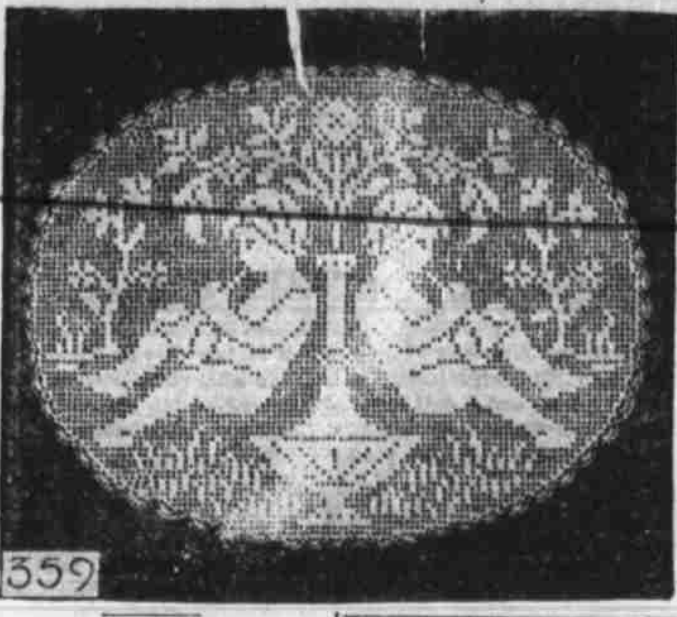

GRAND INTERNATIONAL Auxiliary meeting 3 o'clock in the W. O. W. hall.

runs through "El Indio" and gives it the only resemblance to conventional fiction it has. The real thread upon which the book is strung is the native life—the marvelous feats on the volador, the dark secrets of witchcraft, enforced labor—first for one set of masters and, after the revolution, for another. If the author wants to make a point, it must be that for the Indian there is only continued oppression—and eternal watchfulness.

But this reader cares very little about the moral. For "El Indio" is literature. Lastly, the book is helpful very little by the arrogantly rude illustrations of Diego Rivera.

"The Indio," by Gregorio Lopez y Fuentes (Bobbs-Merrill).

Centerpiece In Filet Crochet

By RUTH ORR
 Pattern No. 359

No matter whether "home" to you means one room or a dozen, there's probably at least one table in it that would be greatly improved by a new centerpiece. Here it is; just what you need for the dining room, living room, or bedroom. We especially recommend it for the dining room though, because there's a buffet set (421) and runner (426) made up to match it. This will help you to have the whole room decorated in the same design. This centerpiece, as well as the other numbers, has its edge attractively finished with a delicate edging.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with block and space diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 359 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Enclose 10 cents additional for each of matching patterns; 30 cents for all 3. Address Big Spring, Texas, Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y. Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (ADV.)

YOUR car that is going to do the pushing should be in LOW gear.

The car ahead that you are going to push should be in HIGH gear, with the clutch pedal DOWN.

If possible, get in position where one side of the car behind is about in line with center of the car ahead. This helps if bumpers lock. County Agent Planning To Harvest Sour Dock To Test Commercial Value

SOUR DOCK GROWING IN HOWARD COUNTY

Efforts to introduce new crops here generally meet with disappointment for a variety of reasons but a new crop proposed by County Agent O. P. Griffin is already upon the farmer in many areas. It is sour dock, bulky weed with strap leaves, red stems and long tapering roots. It grows wild in practically every part of the county, particularly upon loose land. Its chief value, according to "Duke" Thornton, Texas extension leather specialist, is that it contains 49 per cent tannic acid in its roots. Griffin is considering a move to harvest as much as a carload of the plant this spring to see if it can be marketed profitably. He believes he will have no trouble in finding that many sourdock roots in the county.

Tanning Test
He also hopes to interest some local farmer or rancher in tanning a hide this year by the chrome method, then acquiring the conventional tan through subjecting to a sour dock root solution. Such an experiment, he contends, would conclusively prove that the pro-

HELPFUL ADVICE TO ACNE SUFFERERS

For acne pimples affecting the outer or surface layer of the skin, here is advice that will help improve your complexion.

Every night at bedtime, wash your face thoroughly with Resinol Soap and hot water. Do not rub. Follow with a dash of cold water and dry thoroughly but gently. Then apply Resinol Ointment to the affected skin and leave it on all night. Do this every night, and watch the improvement.

Local treatment is advised as a helpful aid in acute cases, and for more than 40 years the ingredients of Resinol have been found effective.

Resinol benefits by treating the irritated oil ducts, where most surface pimples start. In this way it aids healing of such pimples and also tends to check their recurrence.

Buy Resinol Ointment and Soap in any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 18, Baltimore, Md.

cess produced the highest quality of leather.

Griffin is sold on sour dock for two reasons: It is native to the section and is hardy enough to withstand extinction, and it is said to contain a greater percentage of tannic acid than oak bark.

When roots of the plant are taken out of the ground, the crown of the plant may be thrown back into the hole with the assurance that the plant will be back bigger and better than ever the following year. Unless the crowns are thrown away, the plant invariably comes back. The plant is not subject to pests since its bitterness makes it anything but tasty to animals.

As a crop it would require very little cultivation and can withstand the drought.

This would make it better than soy beans which find difficulty in surviving in this section and which are also target for jackrabbits. Through some sixth sense, rabbits can spot a soybean patch half across the county.

Because it can withstand the drought, sour dock likely would be better than artichokes which do well only in wet years. Besides there is no great advantage in raising artichokes except for hog feed.

So the stage is ripe for some interesting experiments with sour dock, a weed none could get rid of, in the onion of Griffin. At least it will be the center of new crop discussions this year.

NATIVES PERISH IN FLOODS IN AFRICA

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Feb. 17 (AP)—More than 2,000 Mozambique natives of Portuguese East Africa were estimated today to have drowned when the Komati and Umfulosi rivers overflowed after five days of torrential rain.

The rivers were reported to be in flood for many miles. The city of Lourenco Marques, on the south coast of the province, was cut off from railway and telegraph communication.

News of the colony's plight and the reports of widespread havoc and loss of life came from brief radio reports and pilots of planes flying through thunderstorms.

Lomax Producers Discuss Arrangement To Grow Uniform Type

Lomax cotton producers Monday moved toward an arrangement whereby the community would concentrate upon one variety of cotton.

Interest was manifested by farmers attending the meeting. A. J. Stallings, Cleveland Newman and C. Kohler were named as a committee to investigate the matter and to report back to the group Feb. 22.

Stallings said that the move had not reached the stage yet permitting the name of a variety to be grown. In 1936 about half the farmers in the area planted the Von Roeder cotton, Texas Mammoth. The cotton is bred by the Von Roeders just northeast of Vincent in Borden county.

Several of the Lomax producers have been growing the particular breed since 1932 and declare it to be a drought resisting cotton and that it will cling to the bolls ten-

HIT BY TRUCK, MAN DIES OF INJURIES

WACO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Walter F. James of Waco died here today after being run over by a truck driven by H. L. Adair of Dallas.

The automobile in which James and H. H. McGregor had ridden to Waco to obtain medicine for a sick relative ran out of gasoline on the loop road near the Brazos river bridge. Adair offered to push the car to a filling station.

McGregor took the wheel and James remained on the pavement.

Interest centered upon plans for a better and larger piece of housing for the museum pieces that continue to gain in number and Dr. Malone was to appoint committee today to look into the matter.

Suggestions were made to keep the museum doors open to the public in the afternoons in addition to the Saturday opening. Plans were made to invite Dr. W. C. Holden of the Texas Technological history department to lecture here in the near future. Dr. Holden is well informed on museum work and his work in archeology has gained him much publicity. He recently did extensive research work in Mexico from which he gained much interesting knowledge for lectures.

SAFETY---OR THIS?

DEATH, in the guise of heavily loaded motor trucks, rides the highways of Texas every day and every night. The toll of human death and injury of these vehicles is appalling.

In the five-year period, 1932 to 1936, inclusive, trucks in Texas have participated in 8,416 highway accidents in which 2,195 persons were killed and 11,962 injured. In 1936 alone, their record stood 2,208 accidents with 3,323 persons injured and 576 killed. These actual records of people killed, as shown by Texas newspapers, compared with the number of deaths resulting from all motor vehicle accidents, as given by the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Austin, show that the average Texas truck participates in twice as many fatal accidents as the average passenger car.

Likewise, as might be reasonably expected from their greater weight and size, and as shown by the records of the Texas Railroad Commission, the Carrier-for-Hire truck accidents, during 1936, have resulted, vehicle for vehicle, in three times the number of fatalities as for the average passenger car.

Increased liability to highway accident forms an inseparable result of BIG truck operation. But even now, the threat of greater highway horrors hangs over the people of Texas. Newspapers report that operators of BIG trucks have organized for the purpose of securing an increase in weight and speed limits, already too large. These are the elements, weight and speed, which, in highway accidents, spell "D-E-A-T-H."

The right to grant, condition or deny the use of the highways for profit, belongs to you, the people of Texas, notwithstanding the attempts of the operators of BIG trucks to take it away and give it to the federal government instead. Your present laws, limiting the size, weight and speed of trucks, were enacted by reason of your insistence, and by your insistence they have remained on the statute books. Their amendment would serve the sole purpose of increasing the profits of operators of the BIG trucks, with the certain results of also increasing the mounting injuries, deaths and property losses now taking place on your highways.

Public welfare and public safety demand that existing highway regulations shall be retained and enforced.

Take The Word Of Indian Chief, Bob's A 'Million-Dollar Kid'

By LYNN HEINZLERING

CLEVELAND, Feb. 17—C. C. Slapnicka, assistant to the president of the Cleveland Indians, looked thoughtfully at a batch of mail on his desk and estimated cautiously that "there must be a million kids who want to see Bob Feller."

BOB FELLER'S signature is worth $10,000 (estimated) on a Cleveland contract—and more, says C. Slapnicka in the Indians' endorsement testimonials.

Slapnicka is in the midst of his final examinations, and he is still in school and expects to be busy all summer.

The contract with the cap firm, Slapnicka said, will amount to $5,000—"that's a small article." The Iowa high school boy's royalties "will far exceed his salary," he said.

Slapnicka is thoroughly sold on his young charge and doesn't think there is a chance he will crack under major league betting.

THE "MILLION DOLLAR KID" fanned 17 Philadelphia Athletics in one game last season to establish the American league strikeout record and the Dizzy Dean's major mark.

Big Moments

He has had better seasons than 1936 both at the plate and in the field. But he had his moments last season. There was that day in Philadelphia when he hit three home runs, two with the bases loaded, and batted in 11 runs. In the world series he poked out a homer with three men on the bags. All told, Tony finished the season with three new and one tied major league records. One broken American league standard and one new and one tied world series marks.

The Presidents vs. The Supreme Court

Lincoln Bests Taney In Three Rounds

HE STARTED IT...
Chief Justice Roger B. Taney brought the slavery issue to a head when, in his Dred Scott decision, he held a slave remained a slave even when taken into free territory.

HE CARRIED THE FIGHT TO THE COUNTY...
Lincoln, in his historic debates with Stephen A. Douglas as a candidate for the senate, expressed his reverence for the supreme court but challenged Taney's legal logic. "We think," he said bluntly, "the Dred Scott decision is erroneous." Taney held his ground and a few months after the Civil war started locked horns with Lincoln again.

AND HE WON
Public opinion in a majority of the states eventually supported Lincoln in his opposition to slavery, but it took a bloody war to impress that view upon the south.

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AF Feature Service Writer
(Third in a Series of 4 Articles)

WASHINGTON—Abraham Lincoln got all the breaks in his struggles with the supreme court, and he used them to score three complete victories.

The groundwork for Lincoln's belligerence, ironically enough, was laid by the supreme court itself in the ill-starred Dred Scott decision four years before the Civil war.

The ruling was written by the same Roger B. Taney that Jackson had elevated to the highest tribunal 29 years before. Taney was close to his 80th year and the possessor of sound mental and physical health when his decision was written that left Dred Scott in servitude and, in effect, validated slavery north of the "36-30" on the ground that the Missouri compromise was unconstitutional.

Senatorial Candidate Lincoln caught the issue early out in Illinois and used it to the hilt against Douglas in their famous " debates. The lanky Illinois lawyer announced boldly the nation should decline to abide by the decision.

Lincoln Speaks Out
"We think the court's decisions, when fully settled, should control not only the particular cases decided but the general policy of the country," he argued. "But we think the Dred Scott decision is erroneous."

The towering Taney, austere, now somewhat stopped, but firm, silently held his ground, and it is small wonder that the war was only a few months old before he ran into trouble with the equally determined Lincoln.

The first skirmish came when the military forces arrested John Merryman and imprisoned him in Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, on charges of raising rebel forces.

The prisoner asked for a writ of habeas corpus and got it from Taney, who was sitting as circuit court judge. By authority of Lincoln, the army declined to produce the prisoner. Promptly Taney held the Fort McHenry command in contempt. This decision likewise was ignored.

Taney Strikes Back
The chief justice then proceeded to write an opinion pointing out that the civil courts were still clothed with full authority. He sent a copy to the president.

Shortly after he took this decisive step, the 64-year-old justice remarked on leaving home for court one day:
"It is likely I will be imprisoned."

at Fort McHenry myself before nightfall, but I am going to court to do my duty."
Lincoln merely obtained an opinion from his attorney general that the president, as commander-in-chief of the army, was acting for the public safety. Taney's orders were ignored.

Meanwhile, the harassed president was absorbed in the war, and allowed three vacancies to accumulate in the high tribunal by 1862.

Lincoln Wins
Whatever the reason, Lincoln suddenly turned his attention to the empty seats, and sent the senate three nominations which were approved in rapid order.

Before the court were the famous "prize cases," involving the right of the union to blockade southern ports. When the decision came down, Lincoln's three new justices swung the tide, and the union won. The margin was 5 to 4.

The third and last encounter between the Lincoln administration and the tenacious Taney was a minor difference over the deduction by the treasury of three per cent of the justices' salaries—part of a government-wide war economy measure.

Taney protested in vain. "I see no hope," he wrote despairingly to a friend, "that the supreme court will ever again be restored to the authority and rank which the constitution intended to confer upon it."

Score Stands Even
The fact remained that Lincoln gained his immediate ends—and the supreme court was discredited temporarily in the public eye. Years were to elapse before the greatness of Taney as a chief justice would be recognized.

The score of the contests between the supreme court and the president then stood at two-all, and one draw. Washington and Jefferson had lost; Jackson and Lincoln had won.

Historians may argue at length about the draw, but the fact remains that both sides could claim a victory. The contenders were President Martin Van Buren, Jackson's political heir to the White House, and a much younger Roger B. Taney.

Van Buren charged the court was invading executive authority when it awarded damages to postal contractors whose contracts had been revoked by Jackson. But his pride was saved when the justices found occasion not long afterward to assert the president's authority was inviolate in his performance of executive duties.

Tomorrow: Latter-day battles between the executive and the judiciary.

Here's A Canary That Can Warble 'Yankee Doodle'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A two ounce canary named Pete startled the capital today with a full throated rendition of "Yankee Doodle."

To prove the bird can produce not only the dulcet tones of the tune but also the intricate tempo, Mrs. E. M. Jameson, Pete's owner, staged a command performance in her home.

With James Moran, Pete's discoverer, hovering near, the skeptics crowded into Mrs. Jameson's modest living room and called for a song.

Pete fluttered about as nervous as a high school soprano on amateur night.

Finally he came through. Lifting his tiny beak ceilingward, he launched into the snappy introduction and by the time he got down to the chorus the house was his. Three times he repeated the song.

Mrs. Jameson explained her husband, who works at the navy yard, taught Pete the tune by whistling it to him every night for three months.

Honest folks, you ought to hear him!

ST. PAUL'S "DIZZY DEAN"
BOSTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Boston Bees' 20-year-old recruit pitcher, Lou Fette, comes up from St Paul with a record for breaking into box scores. He was in 21 games in 1936, in 43 in 1935. Last season he pitched 28 complete games, won 25, led the American association in number of innings pitched (294) and number of batters faced (1,165).

'BLACK-DRAUGHT' IS PURELY VEGETABLE—What Does That Mean?

A great many things can cause constipation and there are many remedies to relieve it, but possibly none more popular than the "vegetable" laxative.

Among these, Black-Draught is outstanding. In its manufacture, leaves of a certain plant are used, and the roots of certain others. These are dried so they will keep without preservatives, no other chemical change from the way they grew in "Mother Nature's medicine garden." By their being finely ground, the digestive system extracts the active medicine right where it is needed. Constipation is relieved.

Black-Draught is so economical that a 25-cent package averages upward of 25 doses—adv.

No Law For Liquor Search

High Court Calls Attention Of Legislature To Situation

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today called attention of the legislature to the fact Texas has no law under which search for liquor statute violations can be made.

The statement was by Judge O. S. Latimore in the case of Peter Slack, fined $100 in Jones county for possession of intoxicating liquor for sale in dry territory. The case was reversed and retried. Officers with a search warrant discovered whiskey in Slack's possession, the opinion said.

The court noted it recently had sustained a contention there was no legal basis for a search warrant in liquor law violation cases and continued:

"We again call their (the legislature's) attention to such a fact. Citizens of a county in which the sale of intoxicating liquor has been prohibited by local option election and to detect its violations in view of the failure of the legislature to provide some means by which search warrants may be issued and searches made for such violations. This court can do no more than call the attention of the legislature to lack of such a law."

GIRL KILLED, MAN IS WOUNDED IN FT. WORTH SHOOTING

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17 (AP)—H. Grady Jordan, 42, insurance salesman and war veteran was critically wounded and his stepdaughter, Cristel Jordan, 20, killed in a shooting in their home today.

Mrs. Jordan and her daughter, Ariene, 8, told police and newspapermen the shooting occurred after the girl refused to assign a small insurance policy to him.

Mrs. Jordan said her husband was shot-shocked in the war.

Hospital attendants found in Jordan's pocket a policy taken out by Cristel C. Moore naming Eileen B. Moore as first beneficiary and Ariene Jordan as the second. Moore, 17, was the girl's name before her mother's marriage to Jordan some years ago.

The girl died in a hospital shortly after the shooting.

Here's aroma for you

... a picture of Chesterfield tobacco just as it comes out of the 1000-pound wooden hogsheads after ageing for three years.

If you could be there when these hundreds of hogsheads are opened up... if you could see this mild ripe tobacco, prime and ready to be made into Chesterfield Cigarettes... see the golden color of the leaf... and get a whiff of that delightful aroma... you'd say...

"Delicious... makes me think of fruit cake."

Mild, ripe home-grown and aromatic Turkish tobaccos... aged three years... make Chesterfield an outstanding cigarette... give them a more pleasing taste and aroma.

Compromise hoped for by many legislators. Vote on measure expected to wait public reaction.

Stalling: WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. Most of those congressmen who have been dodging a public stand on President Roosevelt's court re-organization...

Line-Up: The squarers are the ones who planting most of the compromise proposals. Their best effort so far has been the one that Mr. Roosevelt should take only two more justices on the supreme court...

Invitation: The basis for the rumors that the justices are likely to solve the situation by retiring is not easily traced. Chairman Sumners of the House Judiciary Committee has been publicly implying that he has some very secret information on the subject.

Self Insult: Many a southerner here stiffened when news leaked that Mr. Roosevelt's farm renascence report invited southern states to observe the constitution.

Economy: Anyone having a spare cigar should send it along to Senator Norris of Nebraska, before he asphyxiates himself.

Officer: Congress wrote a hot anti-lobbying provision into the maritime law, specifying that any official of any shipping company who consults with any government official on shipping affairs must be registered.

Ft. Worth Show Opens Mar. 12

Officials Plan Outstanding Exposition For Record Crowd

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17.—Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show, celebrating its forty-first birthday, is ready to open its doors on what officials say may be the largest crowd it has ever entertained. The show dates are March 12 to 21 with the grand opening set for Friday night, March 12.

Entries in livestock are expected to fill the new $200,000 livestock building, according to Manager John B. Davis. It will be the first time that the Exposition has used the building.

Arrangements have been completed for the Rainbeau Garden entertainment. This year the Garden will be located in new quarters immediately west of the Coliseum.

"This location is more convenient to the crowds as they leave the Coliseum," Davis said. "Immediately after each horse show and world championship rodeo performance, the Garden will be open. This is for the matinee performance at 4:30 and the night show at 10:30 o'clock."

Verne Elliott of Johnstown, Colo., joint owner of the bucking horse, that will be used in the saddle bronc riding and bareback riding contests has been in Fort Worth several days arranging for the opening of the rodeo.

"We can count on the leading contestants of the world being here," said Elliott. "Everything that possibly could be done has been done to bring in the best of rodeo livestock."

"Not including the numerous cow ponies, more than 400 head of rodeo livestock will be used. This includes the Mexican cattle which our rodeo livestock superintendent, Louis Kubitz, purchased in Mexico. The wild brahma steers for steer riding cannot be surpassed."

Considerable improvements have been made at the show this year. Mrs. Rev Lawrence is visiting her sister, Mrs. Rex Rauer, in Hobbs, N. M. She plans to spend a week there.
