

Monsoon Season to Change Battle Plans in Viet

By MARTIN STUART-FOX
SAIGON (UPI) — For months American and Vietnamese military leaders have been waiting — and preparing — for the summer monsoon with certain misgivings.

When the slate-gray curtain of the monsoon rain descends over Viet Nam sometime in the next week or two, flying will become all but impossible — and the government forces will lose one of their major tactical advantages, air cover.

It brings life to the rich Mekong delta and the rice growing areas of South Viet Nam; and it also brings death as quick-moving Communist guerrillas step up their operations against bogged-down government forces.

The rainy season changes the face of Viet Nam. Dry, dusty rice paddies with their dead growth of wispy yellow rice stubble from last year's harvest now become mud and baths calf-deep in water. The first bright green shoots of rice and weeds become visible. The seed rice is planted and the wide-horned water buffalo plod slowly across the paddies dragging the simple wooden plows that Vietnamese peasant farmers have used for centuries.

The monsoons do not hit the whole of Viet Nam at the same time. They advance step by step from the south towards the north.

The rains start about the middle of June in the delta of the Mekong River and towards the end of the month Saigon is receiving day after day the same drumming downpour. The rains do not reach the highland areas of central Viet Nam until some two months later, but during the monsoon proper the mountains are shrouded in misty clouds, making flying hazardous and often impossible. The use of the air is the fulcrum on which turns victory and defeat in the Vietnamese war. In the past it has only been (See MONSOON, Page 3)

FBI Enters Search For Bank Bandit

BIG SPRINGS, Neb. (UPI) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation took command Saturday of the four-state search for the bank bandit who pumped eight slugs in the backs of four persons, killing three of them.

The tall, soft-spoken killer was believed to be hiding somewhere in the rolling cactus-studded rangeland of this high plains approach to the Rockies. He was being stalked by peace officers from Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming and Colorado along roads winding about the South Platte River.

Otto Mauser, 74, a wheat farmer who met the gunman as he stepped from the scene of carnage Friday, described the fugitive as about 35 years old, weighing about 170 pounds, and 8 feet 2 inches tall. Mauser said the man wore a blue suit and carried a brief case when he stepped from the bank, offering Mauser a polite, "How do you do?"

His only surviving victim, Franklin Kjeldgaard, 25, was in fair condition at a Denver, Colo., hospital. Autopsies were performed at nearby Julesburg, Colo., on the other victims. They included Kjeldgaard's uncle, Andreas, 77, president of the Farmers State Bank, and cashiers Glen Henrickson, 59, and Mrs. Lois Ann Hothan, 35, widowed mother of two young boys.

FBI agents from Denver, Colo., Scottsbluff, Neb., and Omaha, Neb., set up headquarters in the little brick bank in this cattle town and declined to discuss progress with newsmen. Steady rain and poor visibility through much of the day grounded six search planes. Water up to 8 inches deep on the roads hampered the ground search.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Julesburg for the three dead. The only other surviving bank employe besides Franklin Kjeldgaard was Mrs. Mel Clark, wife of an Ogallala, Neb., electronics firm employe, who alternated with Mrs. Hethan between morning and afternoon shifts at the bank. Mrs. Clark had been scheduled to begin work an hour after the robbery Friday.

Franklin Kjeldgaard, told police the gunman "didn't even act tough" before he squeezed off eight carefully aimed shots into the backs of his spread-eagled victims.

Culberson Chevrolet To Build $500,000 Complex

Announcement was made late yesterday by Frank M. Culberson, president of Culberson Chevrolet, Inc., that the company has purchased land and will construct new buildings on a 7-acre plot at Gwendolen and Hobart Sts.

The real estate and buildings involve a half-million dollar investment. Purchase of the land was made from the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. The new home of Chevrolet in Pampa will be in modern concrete, glass and steel structures covering some 40,000 square feet of space under roof.

Culberson said work on the new complex is expected to start within the next ten days and the company plans to move to its new location around September 15. The site is in the 800-block on the west side of N. Hobart, opposite the intersection of Hobart, Cook and West streets. The entire 7.04 acres will be used in the operation of various departments of the Chevrolet business.

The service building will face east on Hobart St. The showroom will be modern glass and concrete 70 by 36 feet with special lighting arrangements. Special planting areas will help to set off the buildings and add to the beauty of Culberson's new home.

Office space will be 70 by 40 feet and will provide six private conference rooms where customers may discuss the car or truck of their choice. The offices and showroom will be air-conditioned. Culberson said the parts department area of 8,000 square feet (See CULBERSON, Page 4)

RODEO BUMPER STICKERS — Caroline Marak, Miss Pampa, 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. Tracy Marak, 1040 Varnon Dr., helps W. D. Price Jr., president of the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association, place a rodeo bumper sticker advertising Pampa's rodeo, slated here August 11-14. Price estimated about 95 contestants will participate in this year's rodeo. The professional rodeo attracts some of the nation's top rodeo hands.

Pampa Girl 'Miss Lake Meredith'

Ruth Ann Guthrie of Pampa was crowned "Miss Lake Meredith" last night and will be Borger's representative in the Miss Texas Pageant.

Named as first runner-up in the beauty pageant was Paula Sealy, also of Pampa. Miss Guthrie and the second runner-up, Chellye Joy of Plainview, tied for the title of Miss Congeniality.

Miss Guthrie and Miss Sealy were first and second runners-up, respectively, in the Miss Pampa contest. Carolyn Marak, Miss Pampa, became ineligible for the Lake Meredith contest, when bylaws of the Miss Texas event stated that a contestant could not enter another beauty pageant prior to the statewide event.

Cabot, Harnischfeger Officials Announce Contract

A manufacturing arrangement between the Cabot Corp. Machinery Division of Pampa and the Harnischfeger Corp. of Milwaukee, Wis., will result in a sizeable increase in employment of skilled workers at the local plant by the first of next year.

The announcement was made late Friday afternoon at a meeting of Cabot and Harnischfeger officials in the Chamber of Commerce offices. Robert D. Teece, Harnischfeger executive vice president, said the deal was finalized Friday with the purchase by his company of Cabot's project for manufacturing a line of hydraulic construction equipment including backhoes and cranes.

R. A. Baker, manager of the Cabot Machinery Division, stated that the manufacturing of the product started in the local plant last September and Cabot had been making equipment for Harnischfeger since that time. The new arrangement now will give the Wisconsin firm exclusive rights to the construction equipment manufactured in the Pampa plant.

One Day Extension Of Flight Possible

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Gemini-4 pilot James McDivitt Saturday night reported spotting a second satellite in orbit. Ground controllers considered letting McDivitt and co-pilot Edward White extend their four-day flight an extra day because they were doing so well.

As Gemini-4 swept across the north Pacific on its 38th orbit, a tracking ship relayed a report that the astronaut "reported spotting another satellite, quite a bit further away than the first one" sighted Friday afternoon.

Once again the spacemen managed to get a picture of the object, "although he doesn't know how good it will be," said the message from the Pacific tracking ship Coastal Sentry Quebec.

McDivitt said he saw the object at 8:38 p.m. CST. at that time, Gemini-4 was over the western Pacific Ocean. There was no immediate identification.

The satellite McDivitt spotted Friday was believed to have been the Pegasus-2 "space duster," a 23,100-pound moonlet with 96-foot wings that the United States launched two weeks ago to sweep space for meteoroids.

Gemini officials said they were considering extending the spectacular flight another day — to Tuesday — in an obvious attempt to beat the Soviet record of 119 hours in space.

Dr. Charles Berry, the chief flight surgeon, said that the idea will be "seriously discussed, probably tonight." Flight Director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. said there is enough fuel and oxygen aboard Gemini-4 to carry it on for another 15 or 16 orbits and 24 hours.

This would bring White and McDivitt down in the Atlantic on Tuesday, rather than Monday as now planned. The present world space record is held by Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky, who spent 119 hours and six minutes in space aboard Vostok 5 on June 14, 1963.

Another day in space would give White and McDivitt at least 120 hours. The announcement about the (See SATELLITE, Page 3)

Dominican Rebel Supporters Stage Anti-U.S. Rebellion

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—An estimated 10,000 supporters of the Dominican rebels Saturday crowded a downtown park, shouting "Hit the Yankees good and hard" and booing President Johnson's name.

When Caamano was introduced, the chanting group shouted: "Caamano, stick to it — hit the Yankees good and hard." The crowd in general cheered all mention of the constitution and exiled President Juan Bosch.

It boomed whenever junta leader Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras or President Johnson was mentioned.

Other speakers attacked U.S. intervention here, while a group of shabbily-dressed youths near the speakers' stand chanted in unison: "Yankees get out of the Dominican Republic" and "We shall fight with arms and beat the Yankees."

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary

Beginning at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday KFDD Television, Channel 10, in Amarillo, will televise the "Home Nursing Story," a film course in care of the sick and injured at home and in emergency shelters. This course is filmed by the United States Army Signal Corps and prepared in cooperation with the United States Office of Civil Defense and the United States Public Health Service, and presented by the American Red Cross.

The series will consist of 10 filmed lessons, 30 minutes each, and five "live" demonstration periods spaced periodically throughout the course. Persons who view the series and participate in the three practice sessions to be set up by their local Red Cross chapter will receive the Red Cross certificate.

The purpose of the practice sessions is to give an opportunity to perfect the skills taught on the show. Home nursing textbooks may be purchased from the Red Cross office for $1. Handbooks also are available from the Red Cross office at no cost.

The water safety learn to swim program begins June 14 at the city pool and the Youth Center pool.

Instructors for the city pool will be Mrs. Charles Potter, Mrs. Clyde O. Estes, Mrs. R. A. Fugate, Mrs. Wayne Jackson, Mrs. Lois Dittmeyer, and Mrs. Wayne Jones. There are a few places for advanced swimmers but most of the beginners are taken. There is still a need for aides to work with the instructors. Persons interested should call the Red Cross office.

Disaster has struck on the plains of Texas. Our neighbors at Cotton Center and Hale Center are badly hurt. If anyone wants to send a contribution to aid in restoring these people back to normal living send the money to the Red Cross, Box 1036, Pampa.

The Red Cross is the agency authorized to care for families in case of disaster. The Red Cross will use the money to assist families in need. John Gikas, is Disaster Chairman of the Gray County Red Cross board.

The Florida settlement stamp will mark the first time that the United States is printing a stamp that requires three passes through the Giori press. Spain prints stamps both by intaglio and rotogravure. Either method could be used for the Florida stamp.

The danger of "bleed" will require three passes through the press for the three-color stamp. Red and yellow are adjacent and if these colors were printed in one operation there would be color contamination. The third color, black, will be applied in the third pass. There will be three plate numbers on each pane.

Officials Protest Use of Personality Test to Employees

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Everyone knows that George Washington was the father of his country and that Abraham Lincoln was the great emancipator. But a group of House members says that the government and some psychiatrists have missed the point.

What's more, they contend, their use of the Freudian implications of this bit of American folklore on a personality test given to prospective government employees can be both discriminatory and an invasion of privacy.

The question "do you think Washington was greater than Lincoln?" is one that is sometimes asked job applicants for government posts. It was discussed Friday at a House subcommittee hearing looking into government invasions of privacy.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., a member of the special House government operations panel, cited the question as one objectionable example. Other questions go into such subjects as "I have been in trouble one or more times for my sex behavior," "I have gone to storefront churches or large churches," and "my home life was less peaceful and quiet than other homes."

The Red Cross Board will meet at 7 a.m. Tuesday morning at the Coronado Inn. Rev. J. W. Duke, vice chairman, will preside at the first meeting of the year. Members on the Red Cross board are: Directors, John Schoolfield, Mrs. Elmer Fite, Forrest Hills, A. J. Dickens, Bill Robertson, Herman Whitley, Dave Redus, Dr. Harold Cox and Jay Channel from McLean. Others on the board are Adell Meyers, treasurer; Mrs. V. J. Drew, chairman of volunteers; Mrs. Louise Sewell, Gray Lady chairman; Mrs. Jack Foster, chairman of Serv. to Military families; Mrs. Don George Water Safety chairman; Joe Page, Youth Red Cross chairman; Margaret Dial, Home Nursing chairman; Roscoe Mounce, First Aid; Dr. Julian Key, Blood chairman, and Miss Glenna Brown, High School Red Cross president. Public information and Fund chairman will be filled at the board meeting.

A new class of Volunteers are ready to work at the Highland General Hospital on Saturdays and Sundays. There will be two girls working the hospitals on Tuesdays also. Volunteers who have been orientated in his work are Jan Nichols, Gail Smith, Cheryl McCarthy, and Patricia Ray. There are still places for teenagers in this work.

David Cory and Robert Doley, boy scouts from Troop 4 came by the Red Cross office Thursday afternoon to learn more about the work of the American Red Cross. These boys are working on their God and Country Badge. We are always glad to help youth in their work as scouts.

Volunteers working in the Red Cross office during the week are: Jan Cook, Pauline Beard, Joan Sorenson, and Kenneth Gowen. Thanks all of you for helping with our time.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovett Memorial Library this week are:

FICTION

"Hotel" — Arthur Hailey; the behind-the-scenes workings of a luxury hotel are portrayed in this story about one week in the life of a great Southern hotel whose proud owner attempts to secure refinancing so that he can keep it from being gobbled up by a large chain.

"Winds of the Day" — Howard Spring; although reheaded Alice Openshaw had been shoved about for years in various domestic jobs, her life really started when she went out on her own and was never again the passive creature of other people's wills.

"I and My True Love" — Helen MacInnes; the same qualities of dramatic tension and insight into the human spirit that characterizes the author's earlier books are evident in this novel. She knows how to make a place come alive; the Washington here is residential, not governmental — as much a city of romance and social activity as Paris or London.

"Read With Me" — Thomas Costain; 31 stories by leading authors of our times. Included are the works of such notables as Paul Gallico, William Barrett, Mary McCarthy, Katherine Ann Porter, Dorothy Parker, and others.

"War In The Golden Weather" — Stephen Longstreet; amidst horror and pain, a young itinerant painter stays at the side of a young officer, Major George Washington, as they fight against the French and Indian forces. Under the command of General Braddock their forces are being slaughtered by his insistence on fighting in strict military formation.

"The Door In The Wall" — Oliver LaFarge; a collection of twelve stories whose underlying themes are anthropological. They reveal the author's acuity of his perception and the perfect grace of his prose.

SCIENCE FICTION
"Spectrum II" — edited by Kingsley Amis and Robert Conquest; another feast for admirers of science fiction — and another opportunity for astonishment and delight on the part of the uninitiated.

"The Best From Fantasy and Science Fiction" — Avram Davidson; thirteen compelling stories, sad and humorous, by some of the world's most brilliant science fiction and fantasy authors.

"Polaris of the Snows" — Charles B. Stilson; a gripping novel of adventure and wonder about Polaris, a boy of the North.

"Beyond the Great Oblivion" — George Allen England; a gripping sequel to "Darkness and Dawn."
"Somewhere Out There" — Bron Fane; a sophisticated novel of complex human problems set against a compellingly authentic science fiction background. The trouble is; it might really happen!

Clarendon Cow Caller the Best

Leather-lunged Don Tornberry of Clarendon bellowed his way to the nation's cow-calling title yesterday as he was named winner of the 17th annual Cow Calling Picnic at Miami.

Pretty Linda Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holland of Miami was named winner of the Miss Cow Caller beauty contest.

Willis Clark of Miami came in second and Guy Folley of Canadian was third in cow calling.

Winner in women's cow calling was Mrs. Willis Clark, Miami; Mrs. Guy Folley of Canadian was second and Mrs. Doris Wilks of Panhandle, third.

Winner of the junior division in cow calling was Kathy Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Gill of Miami.

In the great-grandmothers cow calling contest, Mrs. J. O. Dunniven of Miami was named winner. Mrs. John Talley of Miami came in second and Duna Contrell of Miami, placed third.

Judges for the cow calling were Glen Dodson, Earl Smith, and Bailey Dodson, all of Miami. Runner-up in the beauty pageant was Nancy Paris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Paris and Mary Ellen Kivelehen, also of Miami.

Judges for the beauty contest were E. O. Wedgeworth and Mack Hiatt of Pampa and Mrs. John P. Pennington of Amarillo.

The real stepup in production," Baker said, "will come about next January.

He stated no estimate could be made at this time of the approximate number of new employees to be hired.

He said welders and layout men and possibly some additional machinists will be needed.

Tece, who was accompanied to Pampa by David A. Drewery, director of manufacturing and engineering services for Harnischfeger, said he was pleased with the deal entered into with Cabot.

"We are very happy about the prospects," Tece said, "and feel that the arrangement will be mutually profitable."

Also attending the conference Friday were E. I. Green Jr., Cabot general manager in the Southwest and chamber of commerce president and John G. L. Cabot, assistant to the manager of the Machinery Division.

Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth congratulated Harnischfeger officials and promised full cooperation of the chamber to assist in making their industrial relationship with Cabot and the Pampa community profitable.

Key Club Activities Discussed at Kiwanis

Activities of the Pampa High School Key Club—past, present and future—were outlined at Friday's Kiwanis luncheon by David McDaniel, club member, and 1965 PHS graduate.

The Key Club is Kiwanis-sponsored. Warren Hasse, club counselor, introduced the program.

Registration for the day-long affair began at 9 a. m. yesterday. Some 2,000 persons, the largest registration in the event's history, signed up.

The cow calling day activities ended with a barn dance last night in the Roberts County Barn.

Butane Tank Explodes, Pampan In Fair Condition

A Pampa truck driver narrowly escaped death Saturday morning when the butane gasoline tank on the truck exploded and caught fire.

J. C. Branscum, 1607 Duncan, was listed in fair condition late Saturday night at Highland General Hospital suffering from first and second degree burns over his face and hands.

According to witnesses, Branscum was hurled through the air approximately 20 feet by the initial blast of the butane. Firemen said this probably saved his life since the truck and cab were completely consumed and destroyed by the fire.

The explosion and fire occurred 3 1/2 miles west of Pampa near the Shamrock Refinery.

Firemen said the explosion occurred when Branscum drove through a cattle guard and the edge of the butane tank caught on a steel post and ripped open.

"Sparks apparently set off the butane," firemen said.

The truck was totally demolished.

The accident happened about 10:20 a.m.

intensive U.S. air support from armed helicopters and jet fighter-bombers that has saved the day for government forces.

The monsoons drastically cut the air support that can be given to government forces. For days on end planes cannot even take off, let alone find their targets. The pressure on the Viet Cong will be greatly relaxed and the raids over North Viet Nam will be curtailed.

On the ground, the picture is no more heartening. Rough farm roads that provide access to Communist-controlled areas become rivers of mud and slush in which vehicles bog down and foot soldiers slip and slide. Equipment and supplies are soaked and the misery of war is compounded.

But the monsoons affect both sides. Viet Cong mountain supply trails across the Laotian border become virtually impassable and the Communists have to fall back upon their laborious built-up and often scanty reserves.

There is no doubt, however, that the rainy season favors the Viet Cong. This year the betting is that the Viet Cong will launch something considerably more ambitious than small scale strikes.

If the last week's fighting in central Viet Nam is any indication of what is in store, the odds are that the Communists are pushing for a show-down this summer.

BUSY WEEK FOR CONGRESSMAN

Young Texans Going to Washington; Rogers Notes Full Agenda in House

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Sp)—Congressman Walter Rogers will greet the Panhandle's champion speller, 13-year-old Wanda Carol Blurton of Perryton, at 9:30 a.m. Monday in his office as a busy legislative week opens in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Miss Blurton daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Blurton of Perryton, will be in Washington to compete with other boys and girls in the annual National Spelling Bee June 9 and 10.

Early Tuesday morning, Congressman Rogers will meet for breakfast with some 65 young Texans who are participating in the "Government in Action Youth Tour" sponsored by the Texas Electric Cooperatives. Several Panhandle young people are expected to be in Washington, including Maura McAndrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McAndrews of Hereford; and Tommy Sherley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Sherley of Friona.

The House of Representatives will take up a slate of legislative matters Congressman Rogers said would probably mean late session Monday through Friday.

In addition, the Mines and Mining Subcommittee of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs will conduct hearings Monday and Tuesday concerning the availability of silver and the Nation's capacity to produce silver for the foreseeable future. As a member of the subcommittee, Congressman Rogers will take part in the questioning of government and industry witnesses.

For four days last week, Congressman Rogers presided as the Subcommittee on Communications and Power conducted hearings on legislation relating to community antenna television (CATV) systems. This week, Congressman Rogers said, he would review testimony received and determine future steps in the inquiry.

U. S. officials count an orbit, or a revolution, each time the capsule passes a specific point on earth. The Russians compute from low - point to low-point, not taking into consideration the fact that the earth moves. Thus each Russian orbit takes about 89 minutes, while an American revolution takes 94 minutes.

Kraft said he thought that hours, not orbits, was a more realistic method of computing records.

Bykovsky's journey was 82 orbits, but some confusion could arise if the Gemini-4 trip were extended because Russian and American methods for computing orbits are different.

GRADUATE—Clovis Shipp, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Shipp, 1057 Prairie, was graduated last weekend from Lubbock Christian College with an Associate in Applied Arts degree. LCC graduated a class of 93, an increase of 23 over the 70 members of the 1964 graduating class.

Pampa's Annual Crazy Day Is Slated July 17

Pampa's annual Crazy Day celebration will be held Saturday, July 17, when Pampa's business people will go literally crazy for the day.

Plans were set in motion at a meeting of the retail trade committee of the Chamber of Commerce Friday morning, with Mack Hiatt and Jerald Sims, Co-Chairman.

Lou Troja, president of the Coronado Center Merchants Association, issued a challenge to downtown merchants by placing a bet of $25 that the Center would have the craziest store. The challenge could not be accepted immediately since the president of the Downtown Merchants Association was not present, however several members of the association assured the Coronado boys that their challenge would be readily accepted.

Tentative plans call for a breakfast to be served in Pampa's Central Park at 8 o'clock on the morning of the 17th prior to the opening of stores, and all participating concerns and merchants are urged to be on hand where individual costumes will be judged. Prizes will be offered to both the crazy male and female employees.

A giant banner proclaiming Pampa's craziest store will be presented to the firm judged craziest by a set of impartial out-of-town judges. The decision will be reached at noon, and the banner will be placed over the doorway of the winning business.

Special advertising materials are being ordered for the promotion and will be distributed to all participating concerns prior to the promotion.

It is rumored that plans are underway for a boxing match between Lou Troja and J. C. Roberts, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, to be held at the breakfast at 8 a.m. on the morning of the Crazy Day promotion, with Sheriff Rufe Jordan serving as referee.

Plans will be announced as soon as complete details are worked out.

Council Slates Routine Business

A recommendation for improved traffic control in the 900-block of E. Francis St. will be considered by the city commission at its regular Tuesday morning meeting in City Hall.

The recommendation was made at the last meeting of the City Traffic Commission.

Also up for consideration will be a request to allow a sidewalk to be topped with terrazzo tile in front of the Heard & Jones drug store in the 100-block of N. Cuyler St.

Commissioners will hear second reading of an ordinance to pave the 300 and 400 blocks of N. Zimmers St. and award a contract for the purchase of water meters.

Hubcaps Missing

Jim Cook, Canyon, reported the theft of $51 worth of hubcaps from his car Friday while it was parked at the Coronado Inn.

Cook said the four hubcaps were taken sometime between 10 p.m. Thursday and 11:30 a.m. Friday, while he was in his room.

The Muslim armies occupied Spain for 750 years.

GETS DEGREE—Linda Gail Culpepper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Culpepper, 712 N. Gray, has graduated from N.T.S.U. with a B.S. degree in elementary Education. She will teach second grade in Hurst Bell district in Ft. Worth starting the fall term.

Standard time in the U. S. ranges from Eastern, five hours behind Greenwich, to Alaskan Western, eleven hours behind.

Culberson

The service department area will be 70 by 220 feet with the latest equipment for servicing, repairing and testing cars and trucks. Each technician will have an individual hydraulic car-lift and 29 cars can be worked on at the same time. Shop space will consist of quick service area, front end, wheel balancing and frame areas, along with a special truck repair area and used car reconditioning area.

The body shop will be housed in a separate steel building with an area of 4,800 square feet and will handle eight cars at a time. It will be equipped with modern equipment including a paint booth, hydraulic hoist, and metal straighteners. This area also will have an office for accommodation of customers and adjusters.

Black topping will cover an area of more than 100,000 square feet around the buildings, providing space for outdoor new and used car displays. Outside lighting will be unique for the display of cars and buildings.

The firm's used car office will be on the north side of the service building and will be elevated so that the entire used car display can be seen from the office.

Culberson is a veteran of the automobile business in Pampa. He first entered the business here on March 18, 1927, in a partnership with the late Tom Smalling. Their first garage was in W. Kingsmill St. in the building now occupied by Thompson Paris and Supply.

The company moved to its present location, 212 N. Ballard, on Feb. 1, 1930. Culberson purchased Smalling's interests in 1941 and became sole owner.

Dick Stowers came into the business in 1951 and in 1957 became a dual dealer with Culberson. Stowers is vice president and general manager. Atty. Don Cain, another stockholder, is secretary of the company.

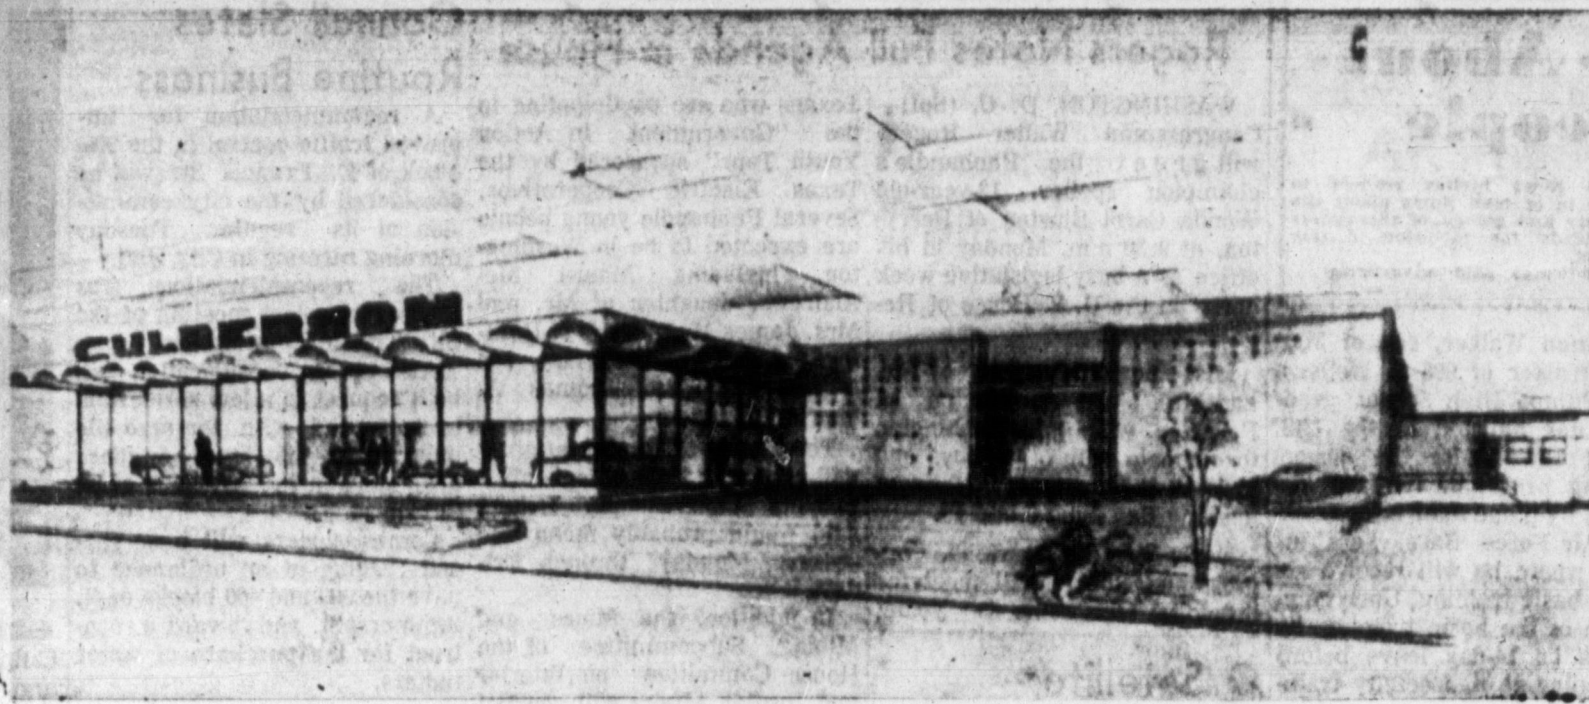

Department heads of Culberson Chevrolet, Inc. are:

Guy Clement, new and used car sales; E. A. McLennan, parts; Perry Franklin, service; Jim Seeding, body shop; Earl Dalsing, truck service; T. M. Kivlehen, office manager, and Dick Kennedy, insurance and credit.

Gemini Flight In Competition

By ROBERT J. REGAN NEW YORK (UPI)—The Gemini flight had some strong competition on the business front this week.

The speech by William McC. Martin, Federal Reserve board chairman, drew prompt assurances that it foretold no early move toward tightening monetary policy. But many an eyebrow was raised as the Bank of England matched a drop in its bank rate to 6 from 7 percent with a five-point hike in the down payments required on "the never-never" to keep credit tight.

Eyebrows were raised further with the simultaneous announcement by Martin's Federal Reserve that consumer installment debt shot up a record $744 million during April and easily topped the $670 million record increase set in January, 1965. Some $336 million of the jump was in automobile credit. Personal loans, probably spurred by the need to meet income tax bills, jumped $251 million.

Martin's cautions pulled stocks lower in heavy trading. The Dow Jones industrials dropped 9.11 on Tuesday, another 4.47 on Wednesday, and 4.84 on Thursday after a rally failed.

All but ignored by traders was the ease with which the excise tax cut bill cleared the House this week and predictions by some congressional observers that the measure might be signed into law even before the July 1 target date. Auto makers and other industries are counting on cuts—$4.8 billion worth—to spur business even further.

First National City Bank of New York predicted the excise cuts "will most certainly be reflected in numerous price markdowns."

Senator John Tower has introduced in the Senate a bill that would roll back foreign oil imports by 375,000 barrels daily.

Foreign oil imports are now running at the rate of 2.2 million barrels a day.

Senator Tower's bill would also limit Defense Department purchases of light petroleum products from foreign sources to 15 percent of its total requirement for these products.

Defense purchases from foreign sources for light petroleum products now exceed 200,000 barrels per day some 35 percent of Defense requirements. This percentage has increased from 15 to 35 in the last 10 years.

The bill would also direct the administrators of the Oil Import Program to take all possible steps to encourage shipments of oil into the far western states which now produce less than they use, from the eastern portion of the nation.

Tower said passage of his bill would not only aid the domestic oil industry, but would have a marked effect on the nation's balance of payments deficit.

Reduction of oil imports by 375,000 barrels daily, said Tower, would reduce the outflow of U. S. dollars by $375,000,000 annually.

By placing a limit of 15 percent on the amount of light petroleum products the Defense Department could buy overseas, this nation could reduce the outflow of dollars by an additional $125,000,000 annually.

President Eisenhower established the Mandatory Oil Import Program on March 10, 1959. The program came into being following a determination by the office of Civil and Defense Mobilization under the provisions of the so-called National Security Amendment contained in the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1959. The Director of OICDM on February 27, 1959, "advised the President that imports of crude oil and its products and derivatives were threatening to impair the national security."

Postal receipts show a $90,000 increase over 1960. The current available figure, according to the chamber report, is $335,024. City tax values total $45,231,400, some $6,000,000 above the 1960 figure. County tax values total $54,767,000 as compared to $51,664,000 in 1960.

School tax valuations show the highest figure. The 1965 valuation is $98,175,000 against $71,816,000.

Least gain shown in any category is in scholastic population. The 1965 school census shows 6,674, just 87 more than the 1960 figure of 6,587.

Pampa's latest population figure is approaching the 27,000 mark, according to figures just released by the chamber of commerce.

The 1965 population is placed at 26,664 as compared with the U. S. Census Bureau figure of 24,303 in 1960.

Deposits in Pampa banks and savings and loan associations for 1965 are $86,587,000 compared to $48,271,000 in 1960, the report shows.

There are now 14,367 telephones in use in the city compared to 12,097 in 1960. Water meters have increased from 8,100 to 8,550, electric meters are up from 9,138 in 1960 to 9,696 in 1965 and there are 8,550 gas meters compared to 8,000 five years ago.

Postal receipts show a $90,000 increase over 1960. The current available figure, according to the chamber report, is $335,024. City tax values total $45,231,400, some $6,000,000 above the 1960 figure. County tax values total $54,767,000 as compared to $51,664,000 in 1960.

Astronaut White Seemed To Be in Love With Space

By ROBERT BUCKHORN United Press International Astronaut Edward H. White seemed almost to be in love with space.

For the moment, it was all his. Like a child, he didn't want to leave.

"Get back in," came the stern command from his fellow astronaut James A. McDivitt.

The reply? Laughter could be heard as White dangled 103 miles in space silently coasting through the great void at 17,500 miles an hour.

This was an exhilaration known to only one other man. This was excitement, and beauty. This was the reason for being an astronaut.

The schedule called for only a 9 or 10 minute stay. But things like that are hard to give up. White seemed to dawdle.

McDivitt cautioned him again: "You still have three and a half more days to go, buddy."

But McDivitt was strapped in a capsule. That was one thing, but White was floating in space, tied to the capsule only by a 25-foot-long goldplated lifeline.

The planned 10-minute stay was stretching out. White, toyed with his space gun in a Buck Rogers-like exercise.

Firing a blast of compressed oxygen, he moved himself around the space capsule. Inside, McDivitt took pictures.

At one point McDivitt had trouble keeping White in sight. "Move closer," he urged White.

When he did, McDivitt told him, "smile."

Then the free-wheeling White apparently got too close to McDivitt's windshield with his jet-propulsion gun.

"You're smearing up my windshield, you dirty dog," quipped McDivitt.

It didn't sound dramatic. But it was. It was dangerous, too. White and McDivitt knew it.

While they joked, death in its most fantastic form was there. A meteorite could puncture White's $26,000 space suit. Or an oxygen leak could dim his senses, leaving him confused and disoriented.

But now, White was nearing the 20-minute mark in his stroll. He still could not get over the joy of it.

"This is fun," he told McDivitt when the astronaut again urged him to re-enter the capsule.

The "fun" White described could be converted into statistics that boggle the mind of the man in the street.

White had left the capsule as it soared toward the California coast. He did not re-enter until the space ship was east of the Dominican Republic, having crossed the entire United States.

He had claimed space for his own for a total of 20 minutes—10 more minutes than his Soviet counterpart, Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov, who turned his feat last March 18.

BE GOOD TO YOUR DOG THIS SUMMER
Hot, sultry, Summer "Dog Days" are as tough on dogs as people. Especially if your dog is getting old. During a heat wave, don't take your dog on the street except early in the morning or late at night. The hot pavement may burn his paws.

KEEP COOLED DRINKING WATER SHADED
Spray his kennel's roof with water several times during a hot summer day. The evaporation reduces the inside heat. Better have his hair clipped by a professional. Too short hair can cause a painful blistered sunburn.

TEACH CHILDREN NOT TO TEASE DOGS
Most child dog bites are the dog's fault. As a rule, children under six consider a dog to be a toy rather than an animal which will bite if annoyed too much. Few that age should have a dog. A playful puppy has a tendency to nip or bite more. Usually dogs (more than ten years old) may become short tempered and bite if irritated.

BATHE YOUR DOG REGULARLY
Especially after a swim in salt water be careful to clean your dog's face around the eyes of matter which can injure them. We can help you select, from our complete stock of dog remedies, a special soap which will help relieve skin irritations and chase away fleas.

A DOG IS AN UNSELFISH FRIEND
He so gratefully appreciates the least attention and will always forgive a thoughtless harmful act. Be especially kind to your dog, or any dog, during the coming hot days. His wagging tail and the love you see in his eyes will be ample reward.

Private War of 'Manny and Mike' May Erupt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The private war of "Manny and Mike" may erupt on the House floor again next week. If so, it could be the bitterest personal clash of the congressional session.

Principals in the prospective battle Tuesday are Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee, and Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D-Ohio, who is next in line for the chairmanship. The feud between these two veteran legislators has been the most acrimonious in recent House history. It already has gone well beyond the ordinary level of petty bickering.

Celler has accused Feighan of "unwarranted fulminations" against his colleagues. Feighan has responded with charges of "unwarranted fulminations" against Celler.

The vendetta was first exposed to the House last year when the Ohioan tried, and barely failed, to add funds to the legislative appropriations bill to operate the long-dormant House-Senate Committee on Immigration and Nationality Policy.

Intensions Not Known

This time, the option to fight is in Celler's hands. But the 77-year-old Brooklyn congressman has made no statement of his intentions. Celler, who won the 1964 battle on a tie vote, is at a disadvantage now because the House appropriations committee has earmarked $120,000 for Feighan's joint committee.

Celler had the support last year of the appropriations chairman, the late Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., who used his influence to block Feighan's request. Under new leadership, the committee decided to put the funds into the bill and let the full membership of the House decide the issue.

After that, Feighan asked Celler to put Philip J. Corso on the subcommittee staff. He charged that Celler first agreed and then reneged, using as his reason "a compilation of raw, unvaluated information" about Corso. Feighan called that "the most vicious act of ruthless character assassination I have seen in all my years of public life."

Watson Quits Post As State Demo Chairman

WICHITA FALLS (UPI) — The state Democratic Executive Committee Saturday accepted the resignation of Marvin Watson as state party chairman, but delayed naming a successor — probably for at least months.

The committee had been expected to appoint a new chairman at this, its first quarterly meeting held outside Austin. But committee sources said Gov. John Connally had not yet decided fully on who would succeed Watson to the top party post.

Skellytown Man Dies of Derrick Accident Injuries

James T. Foster, 41, of Skellytown died about 1:20 p.m. Friday in a Shamrock hospital after he was trapped between a falling derrick and a truck.

Foster was an employee of the Spradling Drilling Co., of Pampa.

Witnesses said the floor of the huge steel derrick caved in and the structure fell on Foster, crushing his chest.

APPROVES AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee approved an amendment to health and welfare legislation which would add $375 million annually to the cost of the nation's Social Security system.

The amendment would increase the amount a retired person could earn without losing his Social Security benefits. The amendment was among a host approved by the committee as it moved closer to clearing House-passed legislation for medical care for the elderly and Social Security increases.

House Speaker Ben Barnes had been scheduled to address Saturday's business session, but had to cancel because of a virus illness. His replacement, state Rep. Mutscher of Brenham, was unable to make it because of severe weather between Austin and Wichita Falls.

Blodgett Talks

Instead, members heard a talk by Terrell Blodgett, who is director of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity — the Johnson administration's war on poverty program.

Blodgett told the gathering that the federal poverty program will mean as much as $45 million for Texas over the coming 12 months. He said the state could expect $52 million from the program the following year and a continuing increase in coming years.

He outlined the progress of the poverty program in Texas to date and went over plans for the coming months.

Blodgett said Texas should add another eight or nine job corps similar to the present one located at San Marcos.

Among other activities the SDEC voted to urge all Democrats to work for passage of a constitutional amendment to do away with the state poll tax. It will be submitted to voters in November of 1966.

The accident happened about 10:30 a.m. Friday, six miles northeast of Shamrock.

Funeral services are pending at the Minto Mortuary in Borger.

Foster, born in Nocona, was a Methodist and a member of the Skellytown Masonic Lodge.

He was married to Miss Ruby Lee West October 26, 1946, in Jacksboro.

Survivors include his wife; a son, James Wesley of Skellytown; his mother, Mrs. Nannie Foster of Nocona; brothers, Wilton H. and Franklin of Fort Worth and Kenneth L. of Dallas; sisters, Mrs. Anna Williams, Dazz Waldrop and Mrs. Ruby Hillard, all of Nocona.

healthy financial condition." He said state Democrats came out better than expected on a victory dinner held in Austin in January.

Two new state committee-women were named to fill two vacancies. Mrs. Mary S. Cook of Clarendon replaces Mrs. Wylie Bullock of Muleshoe and Mrs. William F. Neal Jr. of Dallas succeeds Mrs. Troy Post of Dallas. Both resigned.

US to Speed Up Moon Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Clinton P. Anderson of the Senate Space Committee said Saturday that the Gemini-4 flight and astronaut Edward White's space walk should speed up the timetable for the nation's Apollo man-to-the-moon program.

The New Mexico Democrat told UPI that he believes it will be possible to "compress" some of the plans mapped for the future of the Apollo project. He mentioned the likelihood of a bolder space effort.

"I think it will speed up the timetable," he said. "The late President Kennedy set the lunar landing for sometime in the sixties, but they have been talking about it slipping back a couple of years. Now I think it will move back in the other direction again, and we'll begin to make some real plans for space activity after Apollo." He added:

"I think we can compress some of these things we have been saying we are going to have to do."

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

The Center has organized a summer volleyball league for men and will play on Monday nights beginning June 7. The league will consist of four teams, the Stompers, Skelly Oilers, and two teams called Mutt and Jeff from Montgomery Wards. Each team will play twice each night and a trophy for the winner will be given. Three new rules will be used for this league as a prelude to the fall leagues next Sept. These rules are (1) A ball only above your head may be tipped or set-up with the finger tips (2) All balls below the head must be set up with a closed fist and (3) All spiked balls must be spiked by using a closed fist.

The Center's new Sun Deck located south of the swimming pool will officially open this week. Hours will be from 1-5 p.m. There will be lawn chairs, chaise lounges and concessions for all swimmers to enjoy. Swimmers are asked to purchase their cokes from the Sun Area so as to keep the water off the floor in the recreation hall. Entrance to the Sun Area is through the southeast swimming pool door. This is a fenced area with concrete walk all around.

Judo classes are being offered for the summer months starting June 15 at 7:30. This course is open to male and female participants from age 6-60. This is an instructional course for those interested in the fundamentals of judo. A. E. Brewer and Curtis King will conduct the classes. A Center membership is required of all enrollees and enrollment is now going on. You may purchase your memberships at the Center anytime from 9-12 a.m. and 1-5 and 7-10 p.m. Memberships are very economical and cost only $20 per year or $12 per 6 months for families while individual memberships cost $8 and $5 respectively.

The Center twirling classes will start on Monday, June 7 at 1:30 p.m. The course is open to any Center member any age. You do not have to be a member of the band or have had any twirling experience or lessons to take this course. Barbara Zimmerman, noted twirler for the High School Band, will conduct the course. Classes will meet Monday, Wednesday and Fridays from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. until July 2. Enrollment will be taken until June 7. The Center in co-operation with the City Summer Recreation program will conduct a basketball clinic starting June 14 from 9-12 a.m. in the Center gym. Boys from grades 7-9th are invited to attend the Clinic. Center members may participate free of charge while there is a special summer gym rate of three dollars for this clinic. This $3 will only allow participation in the gym and no other part of the building and only from 9-12 a.m. It would be more reasonable to purchase a 6 months membership.

The Center has scheduled its trampoline time for the summer and reads as follows: All-Ages Trampoline Wednesday nights from 7-9 p.m. and on Friday also. Saturday afternoons from 2-4 p.m. All participants must have a signed permit on the Center's stationery from their parents or if an adult they must sign this permit. No actual instruction will be given but trampoline will be on the incentive of the pupil.

There are still some swim lessons available for the Red Cross swim for fun program. There are only three places however in the polywog classes which meet from 11-12 a.m. on July 12-23. The rest of the classes listed below have several places available.

June 14-25: 9-10 a.m. — Adv. Beg. Inter.; 10-11 a.m. — Adv. Beg. Swimmer; 6-7 p.m. — Adult Beginner.

June 26-July 9: 9-10 a.m. — Adv. Beg. Inter.; 10-11 a.m. — Adv. Beg. Swimmer.

July 12-23: 9-10 a.m. — Inter. Adv. Beg.; 10-11 a.m. — Adv. Beg. Swimmer; 11-12 a.m. — Polywog.

Aug. 9-20: Jr. & Sr. Life Saving 9-11 a.m.

For you Center members new swim lessons will begin July 26.

The Mission, The Men; A Glance at Gemini-4 in Orbit

By United Press International
The men — Maj. James A. McDivitt, command pilot; Maj. Edward H. White II, copilot.

The mission — Orbit the earth 62 times in approximately four days; attempt rendezvous with booster; first space walk by U. S. astronaut; conduct experiments on effects of weightlessness; measure radiation and electrolytic charge; take pictures from space.

Progress — By 1:14 a.m. EDT today Gemini-4 completed 24 orbits with capsule and crew was in excellent shape.

Outlook — The space agency has given the astronauts a tentative go-ahead for the full Monday afternoon with a splashdown in the Atlantic off Bermuda.

Successor — Perfect launch into a pre-determined orbit; the world's first self-propelled space walk by Maj. White; numerous experimental activities by both astronauts untroubled by weightlessness problems.

Failures — Planned attempt to rendezvous Gemini-4 with its rocket booster called off because of excessive fuel consumption; planned orbital changes cancelled to conserve fuel.

Records — Surpassed U. S. 22.9 orbit record set by I. Gordon Cooper; logged more time in space than all eight previous U. S. astronauts; best multi-manned spaceflight duration record set by Russians; first self-propelled space walk in history; set a new manned spaceflight altitude record.

The missile — Titan-2 booster, two-stage modified intercontinental ballistic missile.

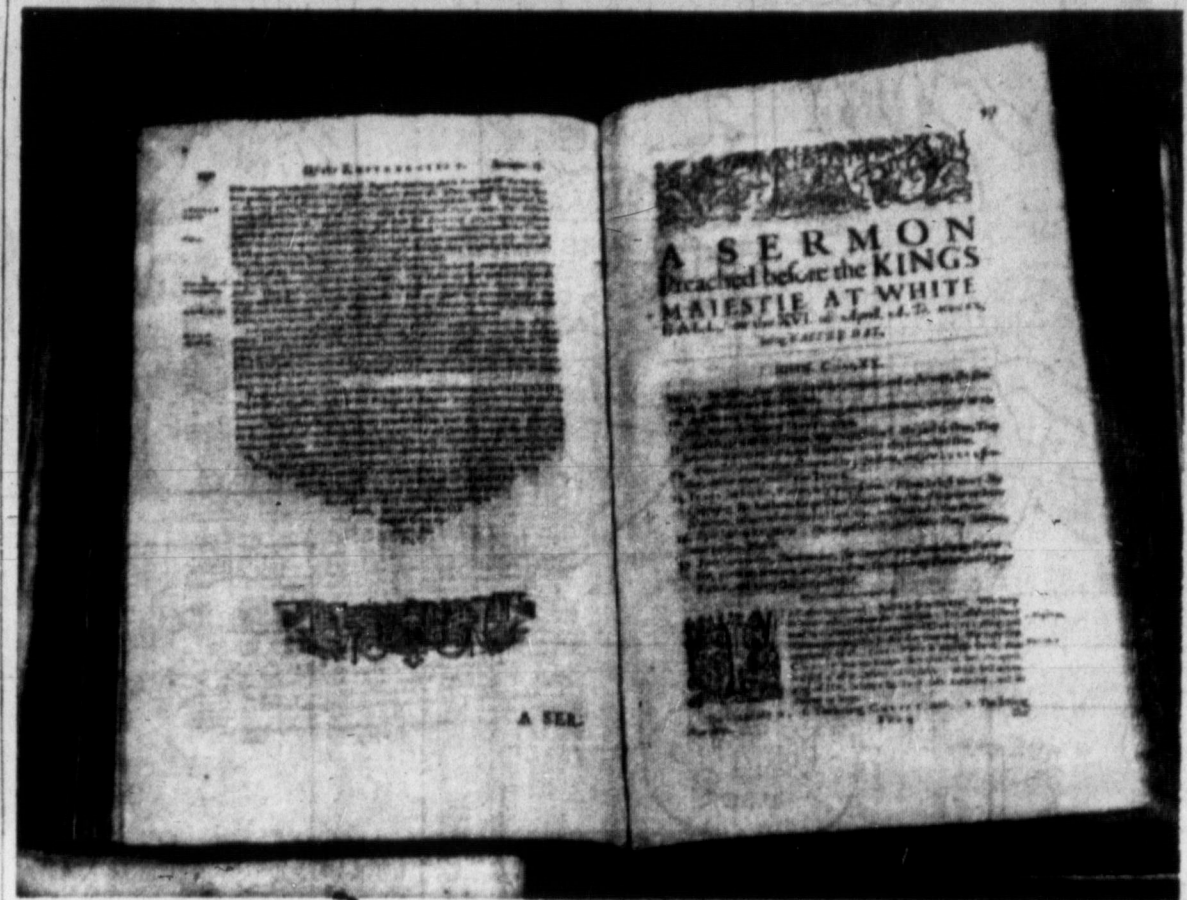

The vehicle — Gemini spacecraft, weight about 7,000 pounds.

What it means — A giant step toward the Apollo lunar program to land an American on the moon in this decade; self-propelled space walk is a step ahead of the Russians; puts United States and Soviet Union virtually neck in neck in lunar conquest race.

336-YEAR-OLD-BOOK

Pampan Owns Original Printed By Command of King Charles I

(Daily News Staff Photo)

By DALLAS DEWEESE
A 336-year-old book of any kind should be quite a collector's item in the realm of treasured literary works.

It came to light recently that a Pampa man is the owner of a 1,400-page book printed in 1629 by special command of King Charles I, son of James I, king of Great Britain and Ireland. Charles succeeded to the throne upon the death of his father in 1625.

The book, now owned by Cleve Brantley, 411 N. Ward, contains 96 sermons by Lancelot Andrewes (1555-1626), Chaplain in Ordinary to Queen Elizabeth, and a great favorite with King James.

Lancelot Andrewes was Bishop of Winchester and chairman of the commission appointed by King James to translate the Bible from the original tongues to the English language. The translation, known as the King James or authorized version; still is the most widely accepted version.

Andrewes is listed in England's "Who's Who" as one of the ten most learned men that England ever produced, a place he still holds after all these years.

Most of the sermons contained in the book, which has a 14 by 8-inch cover and is three inches thick, were preached before the year 1600. The time and place of each sermon is given in the various page headings throughout the fairly well-preserved book.

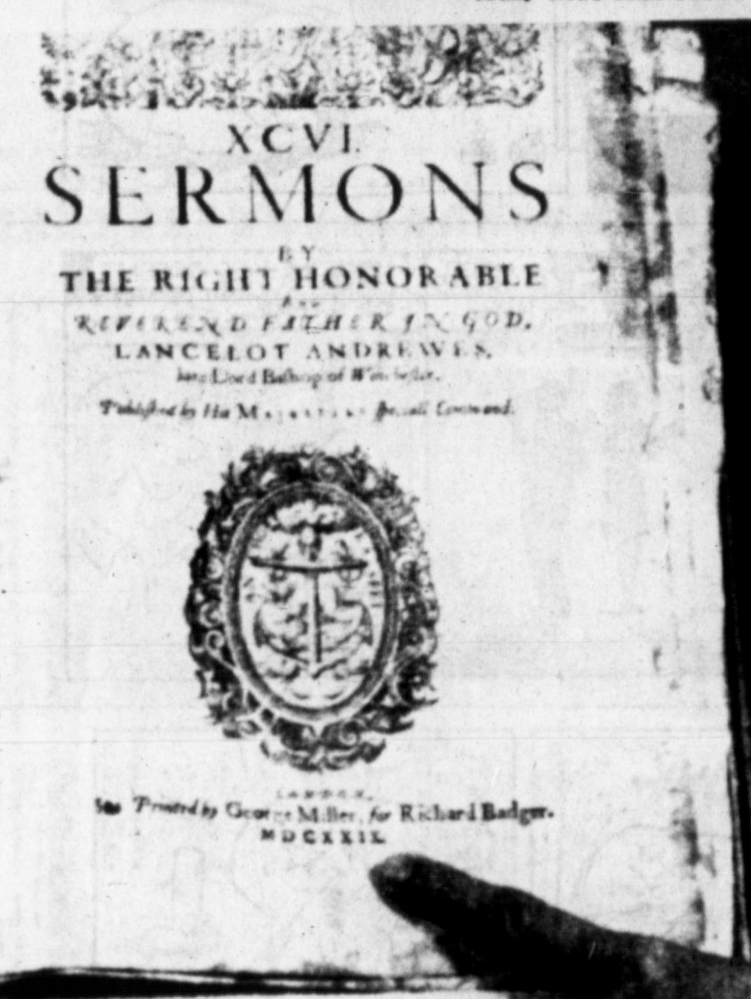

The sermons by Bishop Andrewes deal with the Nativity of Christ, The Passion of Christ, Repentance, Fasting, Alms giving, The Resurrection, Civil Government, etc.

The book is of great historical value because it also deals with historical events of the period including the famous "Gun Powder Plot" to assassinate the king and rulers and overthrow the government. It considers the great theological questions and controversies of the late 16th Century, the religious strife

NOT DE GAULLE

PARIS (UPI) — The official Communist daily newspaper L'Humanite told its readers Saturday that American astronaut James McDivitt saw "an object with long arms" in space.

"Having made inquiries," it added, "we find that Gen. de Gaulle is not traveling in that part of the world. It must have been a satellite with aerials."

and political intrigue, and the great plague that killed off so much of the population of England.

Brantley said he has been told that the book, published and printed by George Miller in London for Richard Badger in 1629, is a first edition and probably the only copy of that edition in existence.

"However," Brantley said, "I do not know positively that this is true." The book's approximately 1,400 pages are printed in handset type with the original Old English script and spellings. The book is intact and contains all of its pages.

Brantley said the book was among those in a collection he purchased from a London book dealer following a contact made during World War II.

He said he has no idea about the value of the book and that

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's proposal to change the metal content of dimes quarters and dollars came close to providing newspapers with the ideal story.

There is an old axiom in the newspaper business that the three subjects most likely to interest the greatest number of readers are money, food and sex (not necessarily in that order).

Any story that included all three of those elements would, of course, be a newspaperman's dream.

The President's message to Congress requesting legislation to alter the coin of the realm provided two-thirds of the classic journalistic trilogy — money and food.

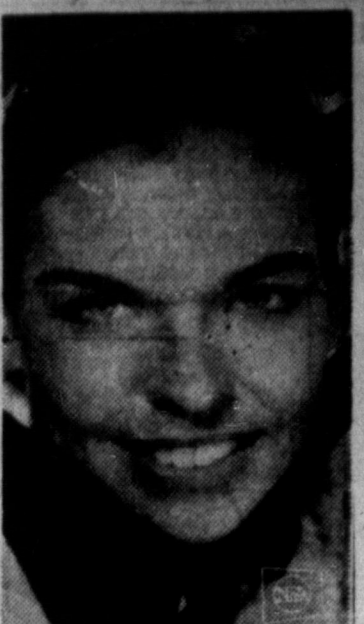

He recommended that silver be eliminated from dimes and quarters and that the silver content of half-dollars be reduced by more than 50 percent. That took care of the money angle.

The food angle was provided by his proposal that the new dimes and quarters be minted of copper and nickel in the form of a "sandwich." They would contain a slice of copper between two pieces of cupro-nickel alloy.

Translating his message in terms of a short-order cafe, the President in effect told Congress:

"Give me a copper on cupro-nickel alloy to go. And hold the silver."

I don't suppose such a thing would be very practical, but I can't help wishing that the President had recommended that the coins be minted in the form of a three-decker, or club type sandwich.

Hi Neighbor! What you got there?

How are you Joe? That's my new air conditioner... cools the entire house.

How does it work?

It works great! We've never had it so comfortable... sure can notice the difference when you go in the house. We sleep better at night, too.

Doesn't take up much space does it?

That's one of the things I like about it... not any bigger than a living room chair, see you can sit on it, just about the right height.

Where's the water connection?

That's another thing I like... doesn't use any water, just low cost, dependable electricity and free air. See, just one connection like your refrigerator.

I'll have to admit you're right there. We've had our electric refrigerator for over 15 years and she's still perking right along.

Well, you've got the same dependability in an electric air conditioning unit. There's just no question about it working right.

Be cool with an electric air conditioner. For more information, call your Southwestern Public Service Company manager.

Champagne Man In Buick Lead

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Tony Lema iced up the champagne for the successful defense of his $100,000 Buick Open title Saturday by blasting out of a four-way deadlock to take a one stroke lead with a six-under-par total of 210 for 54 holes.

The never-grim, usually smiling 31-year-old defending champ from San Leandro, Calif., forged a three-under-par 34-35-69 that left him a stroke in front of Jack Nicklaus, Julius (Moose) Boros, and Johnny Pott, all at 211.

Lema, aiming to be the first golfer ever to win this tournament twice, shot seven birdies to offset his four bogies during a bizarre third round which included a hole-in-one by a relative unknown and the unusual spectacle of Arnold Palmer's taking four putts from only five feet out.

Archie Dadian, 31-year-old Milwaukee pro, earned a snazzy new sports sedan with his three-wood hole-in-one on the par-three, 204-yard third hole while Palmer chased a gallery of 20,251 to stare in utter disbelief when he four-putted on the 18th from five feet away.

During one point on the back nine of Warwick Hills' 7,280-yard layout where the par is 72, Lema was wrapped in a tie with Nicklaus, Boros and Bert Weaver. But the champagne-drinking Californian took the lead by sinking a tricky eight-footer for his final birdie on the par-four, 453-yard 18th.

Boros, who started the third round with a one-stroke lead, slipped into second place with a 72, along with Nicklaus and Pott who carded 70s. The 33-year-old Weaver took a 71 for a 212 total which put him two strokes up on Doug Ford, George Archer and Bob Zimmerman.

Next in line came tight-swinging Doug Sanders, black-clad Gary Player, Howie Johnson and Don Fairfield with one-under-par totals of 215 and at even par 216 were Jay Hebert, Joe Campbell, Jacky Cupit, Wright Garrett and Jack Montgomery.

Fairfield had the finest round, a 65 that equaled the course record set by Cary Middlecoff in 1959 and included only 21 putts, a record for the tour this season.

Lema's putter helped him considerably. He sank a 12-footer for his first birdie on the second hole, ran down another 15-footer for his second on the sixth and made a three-footer for the third bird on the seventh.

A 25-foot putt netted him another birdie on the 10th, he holed out a 20 footer on the 13th, and after birdying the 16th, he knocked in the eight-footer on the last green.

"I looked at the scoreboard a couple of times on the back nine," Lema said, "but it was more out of curiosity than anything else. I wasn't pressing. I save that for Sunday."

Price Blanks Legion, 3-0

Bobby Price and the Pampa Colts taught their juniors a lesson last night as the big OU lefthander fired a two-hit 3-0 shutout over the Pampa Rebels.

The American Legion team failed to even give the semi-pro Colts the semblance of an argument as they never got a man past first base as Big Bobby gave up only two scattered singles and one walk while striking out 10.

Roy Harper started for the Rebels, relieved in the fifth by Ducky Daniels. Singles by Ricky Goodwin and Ronnie Oler and a pair of Legion errors gave the Colts two tallies in the second, and back-to-back singles by Oler and Price accounted for the other tally in the fourth.

The Colts play at Friona today at 2:30 p.m., the Rebels at Amarillo Carver.

Hail To All Outruns Tom Rolfe In Belmont Stretch

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hail To All, outrun in both the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, survived one of the bitterest stretch duels in the history of the Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct Saturday to win the third of the Triple Crown classics by a neck.

With Johnny Seillers in the saddle, Hail To All fought his way to the front in the last 10 yards to outgame Tom Rolfe in one of the most dramatic finishes in the history of the race. First Family was third in the 1 1/2 mile classic, one length farther back and three quarters of a length ahead of Dapper Dan.

In the Kentucky Derby, Hail To All, owned by Mrs. Ben Cohen of Baltimore, finished fifth behind Lucky Debonair, who was injured in the Preakness Stakes.

Tom Rolfe, owned by the Powhatan Stable of Raymond Guest, won the Preakness as Hail To All finished third. This was a different story as Hail To All, far back in the early running in the longest of the classics, mustered the speed and strength needed to win this grueling test.

With only an eighth of a mile to go, four horses were stretched across the track, with First Family in the lead. Tom Rolfe, Hail To All and Dapper Dan were right alongside of him driving for a winner's purse of $104,150.

First Family, with jockey Larry Adams whipping with all his strength, was the first to falter. Tom Rolfe momentarily stuck his head in front, but Hail To All kept charging right along until he won his way to the front almost right at the finish line.

Dapper Dan's late surge once again was not good enough and he, too, gave way at the crucial moment and First Family was able to beat him out of third place.

The furious drive carried Hail To All across the finish line in 2:28 2/5, far from the Stakes record of 2:26 3/5 set by Gallant Man at Belmont Park in 1957.

Miss Whitworth, who carded four birdies... three on the front nine where she shot a three-under-par 33... had six one-putt greens. She had an even par 36 on the back nine.

"I hit the ball close to the hole on most of the greens and should really have had several more birdies," Miss Whitworth said.

Clifford Ann Creed checked in with 70 for a 36-hole total of 142 and second place, and Mickey Wright and Sandra McCClinton each had 147.

MIDLAND (UPI)—Reeves McBee, a Garland school teacher who plays out of Brookhaven Country Club in Dallas, shot a sizzling two-under par 70 Saturday to take the lead after 54-holes of the Texas Men's Amateur Golf Tournament.

McBee's 218 total is one stroke ahead of three players tied for second. At 219 were John Farquhar of Amarillo, Ron Petri of Houston and Rpbert Lockett of San Angelo. Farquhar and Petri shot 75s Saturday and Lockett had a 74.

M. W. Braum of Midland, one of the co-leaders after 36-holes, shot a 77 for a three round total of 222. At 223 were Don Lackey of Amarillo and Randy Gieselman of Austin.

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Ken Boyer's triple and Tim McCarver's single in the 12th inning Saturday gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over the Houston Astros and snapped a four-game losing streak to the Texans.

Kathy In Bluegrass Margin

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Kathy Whitworth, who hit 15 of 18 greens with pin-splitting accuracy, shot a three-under-par 69 to take a three-stroke lead with a 36-hole total of 139 in the $8,500 Bluegrass Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday.

Miss Whitworth, who carded four birdies... three on the front nine where she shot a three-under-par 33... had six one-putt greens. She had an even par 36 on the back nine.

"I hit the ball close to the hole on most of the greens and should really have had several more birdies," Miss Whitworth said.

Clifford Ann Creed checked in with 70 for a 36-hole total of 142 and second place, and Mickey Wright and Sandra McCClinton each had 147.

Giants 1, Reds 0
CINCINNATI (UPI)—Juan Marichal pitched a five-hitter to out-duel the Cincinnati Reds' Jim Maloney Saturday night and give the San Francisco Giants a 1-0 victory.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Dick Radatz pitched and batted the Boston Red Sox to a 5-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Saturday night.

McBee Leads Texas Golf
MIDLAND (UPI)—Reeves McBee, a Garland school teacher who plays out of Brookhaven Country Club in Dallas, shot a sizzling two-under par 70 Saturday to take the lead after 54-holes of the Texas Men's Amateur Golf Tournament.

McBee's 218 total is one stroke ahead of three players tied for second. At 219 were John Farquhar of Amarillo, Ron Petri of Houston and Rpbert Lockett of San Angelo. Farquhar and Petri shot 75s Saturday and Lockett had a 74.

M. W. Braum of Midland, one of the co-leaders after 36-holes, shot a 77 for a three round total of 222. At 223 were Don Lackey of Amarillo and Randy Gieselman of Austin.

Houston Oilers Pull Out Of Domed Stadium Tieup

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Oilers don't want all-weather football—not if it means being "over a barrel" to Houston Sports Association president Roy Hofheinz.

That was the decision Friday of Oilers owner K. S. (Bud) Adams, who announced the American Football League team will play exhibition and season games in Rice Stadium at least five years.

The American Football League team had announced months ago it had an agreement for use of the Harris County Domed Stadium, home of the Houston Astros baseball team. Adams made it clear Friday, however, that when the verbal negotiations reached a peak, they were not satisfactory to the Oilers.

Hofheinz said late Friday that the loss of the Oilers as a tenant of the Domed Stadium "can only open the door for other prospective tenants." He said the Oilers announcement was a "surprise and a disappointment."

"Only last Friday I spent four hours with Bud Adams and Carol Martin (Oilers business manager) trying to conclude the remaining details of the lease," Hofheinz said. "As far as we were concerned the agreement was all but signed."

The HSA has a 40-year lease on the $31.6 million air-conditioned structure which was opened in April. Hofheinz considers the stadium ideal for several types of events, including football.

Kaat Wins Fifth
Jim Kaat won his fifth game for the Twins with the help of homers by Bob Allison and Jimmie Hall. It was Kaat's fifth victory against five losses while Danny Koplitz suffered the loss.

Joe Azcue's two-run single in the eighth-inning drove in the winning runs for the Indians as Sonny Siebert raised his record to 6-2. Al Kaline homered for the Tigers.

But Adams said Rice Stadium is fine—even better in some ways.

Rice is also "the finest football stadium in the United States — one built specifically for football," Adams said.

Rice Stadium holds 70,000 persons for football, nearly 20,000 more than the Domed Stadium and about twice what old Jeppesen Stadium held when the Oilers played their scheduled there.

In the past, Rice University had barred professional-commercial groups from use of the stadium. Rice trustees said Friday they changed that policy because of the money Rice will get from Oilers' rent.

The Oilers have an option to renew the Rice contract an additional five years.

Homers Killing Yankees

By United Press International
The story of the 1965 American League pennant race may well have been told Friday night when two bombs burst in Yankee Stadium.

Roll back the clock and call the roll of the greats and you'd say that the bombs were fired by Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio or Mickey Mantle. But on this night you'd be wrong for they were fired by guys named Danny Cater and Floyd Robinson.

For it may be that the Yankees who long lived by the long ball may now be dying by it. It was "operation get well" for the Yankees because they were facing the White Sox. So often in the past, the Yankees pulled out victories and turned the tide of the pennant race. But this time it was different.

Things Have Changed
This time it was the White Sox who came up with the long ball—the big bomb that terrorized the league in years past.

Danny Cater broke the 15-inning scoreless spell with a homer and one out later Floyd Robinson also homered to give relief pitcher Eddie Fisher an easy fifth victory against one loss. Fisher stopped the Yankees on one hit over the last six innings to win over Pete Mikkelsen, who suffered his second loss.

The Minnesota Twins made it 12 victories in their last 15 games with a 9-5 win over the Washington Senators, the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers 7-6 and the Los Angeles Angels downed the Baltimore Orioles 4-3, in other AL games.

'Men to Play El Paso Austin

El Paso Austin edged Odessa 2-1 Friday to complete the regional bracket of Class AAAA schoolboy baseball.

Austin was taking the rubber game of the series which was tied at 1-1.

Austin thus became the foe of Lubbock Monterey in the regional playoffs next week when classes AAA and AAA will decide four teams each to go to the state tournament at Austin June 15-16.

Dallas Samuel meets Marshall. Houston Westbury plays Galena Park and Brownsville takes on San Antonio Lee in other regional playoff games in Class AAAA.

Waxahachie beat Kilgore 2-1 Friday to win its bi-district series and complete the regional field in Class AAAA.

Waxahachie will meet Arlington Sam Houston in the regional round.

Other AAA pairings send Kermit against Snyder, Brenham against Alvin and LaVega against South San Antonio.

South San Antonio is defending state champion. There is no defending titlist in Class AAAA. Brazosport having been eliminated in the district race.

use of the Domed Stadium encouraged a contract between the Oilers and the association.

County Judge Bill Elliott, when told of the Oilers' announcement, said, "Good grief! I think an investigation should be made by commissioners court to see what the situation is in order to protect the county's rights."

"From the beginning," he said, "we expected to see as many major sports in the dome as possible, such as the Oilers and the HSA."

The Oilers had sold 14,000 season tickets for the dome stadium.

Bowling
By GIL BURGUND
Constant bowling always deserves mention. Charles Snuggs, with a 225, followed by a 126, doesn't quite rate that honor. I'm also sure that James Hembree will feel better if I don't mention his good series.

The Sleepwalkers had a most unusual game. Agnes Cox, 146, Joy Parks, 146, Frances Grove 132, Penny Pinley 132, and in another game just preceding this Agnes Cox had a 125 and Joy Parks had a 125.

The Zale's Classic in Amarillo found a youngster, Allen Hawley, just 19, at the top of a ten game singles event, averaging 205 for the ten games. He just graduated from Tascosa High School, and works for the Amarillo Bowl, which is owned by his father. Allen rolled a 2046 scratch. Eddie Knowles also won along with Allen in class "B" with a 1883. He is manager of the Canyon Bowl. They both receive the $500 Diamond Medals, plus cash awards.

Second in class "A" was Jim Jensen, 2024 and Tony Handley 2011. In Class "B" second was Mark Charles, Stratford 1860 and Bill Abernathy, Pampa, 1844. Walker Homes No. 2 captured the Team Championship, 2977. They will each receive a wrist watch. Second team was Sunset Lanes, Hereford-2952, and Grand Bowl 2945. Singles was won by Pete Meeks 2110 — Second Merlin Thompson 2087 — O. C. Folmar - Vernon 2034.

Last Saturday, on the TV Best Ball Doubles, a team of the old Pro's rolled a 300 game and an 837 series.

This is fun too, just as I am writing this I rolled a 278 in a Best Ball Doubles Sweeper, and Betty and Bill Jack had just rolled a 267. Maybe I could bowl better in the dark.

It was a real gratifying feeling to see the kids enjoying their new mixed doubles league which started this week. The "old pro" Roger Flowers had to take his series, and Judy Butler bowled the best series for the girls. Ronetta Moore jumped from a 56 to a 128 which is excellent for the first time in league.

The Bantam kids also got off to a good start. Bruce Murchison leading the boys and Carol Robbins and Ann Corley leading the girls.

The closest to a triplicate was May Humphrey with a 116, 116, 117 and Jimmy Bye with a 95, 94, 95.

Dennis Huntley came up with a hi game of 235 and a series of 581. Yes, he is still laying bricks to keep in shape.

It's good to see Minnie Cable bowling again after quite a seige in the hospital. Ann Rader isn't quite up to swinging yet, but says she is sure anxious to get back at it. It won't be too long, though and we are glad to have her in circulation again.

Ron Clarke Sets Two World Track Records

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Australia's Ron Clarke was less surprised today than were observers of his double world record run Friday night at the Compton Invitational track meet when he clipped better than seven seconds from the three-mile and 5,000-meter marks.

And New Zealand's Peter Snell was satisfied that he edged out Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., in 3:56.4 in the mile, although pressed to his limit at the finish. Both were clocked in the same time.

Prep sensation Jim Ryan was third in 3:58.1.

The 3,000 meter event and the mile run were the final two events on the program and the crowd of 12,160 was still gasping over Clarke's twin record show when Snell encountered stiffer competition than he had bargained for in his race.

In running the 5,000 meters in 13:25.6, Clarke shattered his own mark of 13:33.6 set Feb. 1 at Auckland, New Zealand. He was officially timed at the three-mile point of the race in 13:00.4 to break the mark of 13:07.6 he set Dec. 3, 1964, at Melbourne, Australia.

Bill Crothers of Canada won the 800 Friday night in a race closer than Snell's mile. The Canadian won by so narrow a margin over Bob Hose of San Diego and Ted Nelson of Los Angeles that all three were given the same time of 1:48.7.

Other highlight performances included George Young's 8:41.0 victory in the 3,000 meter steeplechase; Jay Silverstein's 203 feet, 5 1/2 inch winning toss in the discus over Ludwig Danek, the world record holder second at 200 5/8; Hal Connolly's hammer throw of 225-4 and Wyoming Tyus' American record equalling mark of 10:5 in the women's 100.

'Old' Ed Mathews In Big Comeback

By United Press International
Eddie Mathews is showing the Milwaukee Braves the truth of that old baseball axiom that sometimes the best trades are the ones which aren't made.

Mathews was a forlorn old man of 33 toting a .233 batting average when the 1964 season ended and General Manager Johnny McHale of the Braves tried to peddle him to just about anybody who'd listen.

No one would listen then but they're listenin' now because Mathews is making one of the really surprising comebacks of the 1965 campaign with 12 homers, a .272 batting average and a deluge of game-winning hits that are keeping the Braves in the National League pennant race.

Mathews delivered the most important hit of the Braves' season so far Friday night when his 12th homer of the season with two on and one out in the ninth inning gave Milwaukee a 5-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. The victory moved the Braves to within four games of the front-running Dodgers whereas a loss would have dropped them six games behind.

Starts Rally
Wade Blasingame singled to start the Braves' winning rally with one out in the ninth and Felipe Alou also singled before Mathews hammered the 457th homer of his career deep into the right field seats at Milwaukee.

The drive gave Blasingame his fourth straight win and sixth of the season. Blasingame, a $100,000 bonus pitcher who didn't get into the Braves' starting rotation until they sent Warren Spahn to the New York Mets, went the route with an eight-hitter embellished with seven strikeouts.

The Cincinnati Reds downed the San Francisco Giants 4-2, the New York Mets edged out the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1, the Houston Astros defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2, and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs 6-0 in other NL games.

Johnny Edwards smashed a three-run homer in the second inning to pave the way for Cincinnati's Joey Jay to win his fourth game of the season. Jay, tired in the fifth inning and Joe Nuxhall and Bill McCool worked the final four frames for the Reds. Willie McCovey hit his 13th homer and Jay Alou had two hits for the Giants.

Fisher Wins Fifth
Jack Fisher scattered eight hits to score his fifth win and extend the Mets' winning streak to four games. Bill Mazeroski singled after a double by Donn Clendenon to give the Pirates a 1-0 lead in the second inning but the Mets tied the score on Joe Christopher's single and Charley Smith's triple in the sixth. Chris Cannizzaro tallied the winning run for the Mets in the seventh when second baseman Mazeroski dropped the ball on a force play.

World Series hero Bob Gibson pitched a five-hitter for the Cardinals but two of the hits were homers — one a two-run blow by Walt Bond in the sixth and the other a three-run blast by .191-hitting Ron Brand in the ninth. Bob Bruce went eight innings to score his fourth win for the Astros.

Jim Bunning pitched a five-hitter and struck out seven in gaining his third shutout of the year for the Phillies. Wes Covington hit a two-run homer and Johnny Callison had a double and a triple for the Phillies.

Artifact Being Popularized As Outdoor Sport in Texas

By VERN SANFORD
One of the fastest-growing and most unusual outdoor pastimes in Texas today is Indian artifact hunting. It's better known simply as arrowhead hunting.

Since Indian tribes roamed all over Texas at one time or another, there are many likely places to search for relics.

Most of the choice places near populous areas have been picked over by meticulous searchers. But each eroding rain or a farmer's plough turns up new tidbits.

Best-known artifact is the articulate flint arrowhead. But a search may turn up other historic relics like spear points, tomahawk heads or flint knives.

There are two distinct types of Indian relic seekers — the surface hunter and the digger. The former is the most basic. His is a pastime anyone can indulge in, whether he's a dyed-in-the-wool archeological bug or not. The latter is more painstaking and requires advance knowledge and knowhow.

Surface hunting won't turn up as many artifacts as digging. However, its great appeal is that no equipment is needed. Just patience and tenacity. Too, it's

Fish Biting At Top Rate in ET

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens are predicting 1965 as the year that will smillingly go down in the history of fishing. Few recall when so many fish were caught by so many anglers.

Lake Palestine continued to produce large bream or sunfish in tremendous numbers. Lakes Narvaul, Texarkana, Tyler and Lake O' Pines have yielded bass up to 10 pounds in quantity, and catching in Lake Tawakoni near Greenville has been exceptional. Carlton Clinard and Charles Mask of Royse City boated a 36 pound flathead catfish, and Frank Chumley of Tom Ball loaded his stringer with channel catfish and one flathead — that weighed 15 pounds.

Asthma which afflicts some three million people in the country is not a new disease. The Greeks mentioned asthma as early as the fifth century B.C., using this term to describe all types of shortness of breath.

In fact, the word asthma is strictly Greek in origin and comes from the word meaning "gasp for breath." Still earlier mention of this allergy is noted as far back as 1550 B.C., at which time relief was sought in inhaling vapors from burning plant drugs.

Whatever your problem, it's a cinch you aren't allergic to friendly service.

a recreational pastime for the entire family.

Only requisite for surface hunting is knowing where to look. Most logical places are where the ground has been broken or eroded. That brings the relics to the surface. A ploughed field, for example, would be more apt to have artifacts scattered about than would a sodded turf.

Cultivated fields probably are the most accessible spots common to all parts of Texas. Other possibilities are stream beds, bulldozed road right-of-ways, eroded hillsides, broken places in the land, gullies and washes.

A surface hunter can ascertain whether or not a spot is likely having ground almost immediately. There will be some evidence of Indian life, even if it is only tiny broken chips of flint, a telltale clue that it has been worked.

Surface hunting is the sport in its most basic form. When a hunter begins exploring beneath the earth it gets somewhat more complicated.

Dr. E. Mott Davis, an archeologist at the University of Texas, does most of his exploring underground salvaging the artifacts by excavating a particular site. Many of the hobby archeologists also have started to dig and search, and this causes Dr. Davis and other professionals much dismay.

"Many times a person just digs aimlessly, looking for the more choice artifacts," Dr. Davis explained. "In the process he destroys much valuable property which is vitally needed in our work information that can not be obtained in any other way." But Dr. Davis doesn't try to discourage the hobbyist who digs in his quest for coveted relics. Rather, he stresses that the person should know what he is doing and understand what he is looking for. Serious hobbyists, he points out, contribute a valuable role in cataloging the archeological history of any specific area.

He encourages the amateur artifact hunter to keep a written record of his discoveries. In this way he actually is conducting an archeological survey, one that the professionals can put to good use when seeking additional information.

There has been such a phenomenal upsurge in Indian relic hunting during the past few

It would be nice, but the fact remains you do not become an expert bass angler overnight. There are some tips, however, that will speed your progress and increase your luck.

First, you should get out and fish as often as you can. Work hard at it, long hours at a stretch. The second rule is interrelated: Use your head when fishing!

Fish early and late in the season. Early spring has fast bass fishing — and it's generally easy, in shallow water. But stay away (for everyone's sake) from the spawning beds. Actually, very late in the season is by far the best for really large fish — not only bass, but pike, walleyes, muskies and others.

Vary your fishing depth greatly. It's amazing how many ignore this highly important rule of bass fishing and always fish at approximately the same depth. On very rare occasions indeed, a bass will come up 15 feet or more to take a surface or shallow-running lure; ordinarily he won't go over six feet or so for one, and it's much the best to try to get it within three feet of him.

A good but not invariable general rule is that you'll find bass in rather shallow water only early and late in the day and early and late in the season.

Vary your retrieve. The general rule is that more reluctant a bass, especially a big one, is to strike, the slower the retrieve should be. Keep the lure teasingly near him. Exactly the same great variation of speed in retrieve works underwater, years that organizations of persons interested in the pastime have been formed. There are many in different towns across Texas, as well as a statewide group.

Hunting Indian artifacts can be a family pastime both educational and entertaining. By systematically working a site, taking specimens in logical order and keeping accurate records, the hobby collector can build a visual picture of how the Indians lived and something about their habits and personality.

And as Dr. Davis explained, he also can contribute a vital part of the state's archeological study.

State Wants Game Warden Applicant

Applications are now being accepted for the position of Texas game warden, according to J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Applicants must be in good physical condition; a high school graduate; citizen of the United States and a resident of Texas for at least one year prior to the date of appointment.

Applicants must be between 21 and 40 years of age inclusive (as of March 1, 1966), at least 5 feet 8 inches tall, without shoes, and must weigh at least two pounds and not more than three pounds for each inch of height. Applications should be sent to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701, before 5 p.m. on June 18, 1965. All applicants qualifying will be advised when and where to report for a written, competitive examination, said Watson.

Those applicants passing the written, competitive examination will be notified to appear for oral examination. Extensive background investigation of each successful candidate will be made by supervisory personnel of the Department.

Twenty men, selected from those ranking highest in the competitive examination procedure, will be appointed to fill vacancies. These men will receive extensive training, including a four-month formal school at Texas A&M University.

Upon successful completion of all phases of the training program, the new men will be commissioned as Game Warden I's and assigned to a district for duty.

SOUTHPAW — A solitary fisherman tries his luck in a quiet stream. Even if the fish weren't biting, what man can pass up the chance to get out on the water on a warm spring day? Happily, fish are more active in the spring than at any other time.

Antelope Status Is Explored

Texas is not alone in encountering varied problems incidental to managing antelope herds, reported Jack Parsons, wildlife restoration supervisor from San Angelo, after attending a regional workshop at Santa Fe, New Mexico.

He said wildlife biologists from five other states indicated similar conditions in what has been described as "the poor man's version of the sport of kings." States represented were Arizona, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico, Colorado and Texas.

Parsons said harvest methods, reproduction findings, census techniques and law enforcement routine dominated the discussions.

"From information observed," he said, "it was noted that most of the states have the same problems that are encountered in Texas."

These were key items on the agenda: "Low doe-fawn ratios: Fawn production was cited as being as low as 15 per cent in New Mexico and as high as 125 per cent in Wyoming. The causes of these low fawn production figures have not been determined, but weather conditions, predation, disease and parasites were felt to have varying detrimental effects. Intensive disease studies are being carried out in Wyoming.

Seabrook Farms near Vineland, N. J., is one of the largest agricultural enterprises in the world.

Cape Canaveral was named by Spanish explorers for the cane-like reeds growing there.

at the present time.

"Land Use Needs: The type of grazing programs, such as sheep and goat ranching where direct competition to antelope results, was one of the main problems.

"Fencing of Open Range: Fencing by landowners, Federal land agencies, and highway right-of-ways are having a detrimental effect on antelope populations. Possible solutions to this problem would be by the use of fences being at least 16 inches off the ground and not over 32 inches high and the use of cattle-guards where antelope could cross from one pasture to another.

"Predation on Antelope: Little is known on this subject but it was felt that a certain percentage of a herd is lost to predators."

Fishin' Facts

By TERRY BUSKE
News Outdoor Writer

Words alone cannot describe the beauty that is encountered at Burson Lake. This lake is owned and managed by Dusty Taylor, as fine a gentleman you will ever run across. He is extremely cordial, humorous and genuine. Dusty has his own concession place, bait house, rents row boats, motor boats, allows swimming and has a vast assortment of fishing supplies. If you forget to bring your cooking utensils — don't worry — a cafe is open at all times for your convenience.

Burson Lake is well known throughout the Panhandle as an excellent producer of bragging size bass. Outdoors editor Ray Rodgers Jr. has plenty of pictures taken last month, to attest to this fact. To date the biggest bass taken was an eleven pound largemouth and it was caught with a cane pole using a common earth worm.

Anyone who is sensitive to the beauties of nature, thrills to the joy of good fishing and loves any part of the great outdoors, will find complete refreshment of body and soul at Bursons. Most people, upon completing a day at this lake, find their emotions so aroused by their senses of sight and sound, that they hesitate to go home. If you find yourself in that boat, stay overnight, wake up to another enjoyable day; as cabins can be rented at a reasonable rate. Burson Lake is located between Clarendon and Silverton on Highway 256.

AGRICULTURE A MIGHTY INDUSTRY — Almost 40 percent of the nation's labor force works directly or indirectly in the agricultural industry. About 8 percent of the nation's population does the world's finest producing job; another six million people work at supplying the goods and services needed by farmers and their families and 10 million other transport, store, process, service and sell farm products.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
County Agent suggested it but burning the straw on one crop would help get rid of the problem. We do not recommend this. We prefer the wheat, milo, fallow rotation.

THIS AND THAT
Jim Philpott called to ask about how to get rid of red ants. Aldrin, dieldrin, chlordane as a dust, or in liquid formulation will do a bang-up job on ridding your premises of any kind of ants. Follow the directions on container. Treat area directly where ants go in ground. Jim also wanted to know what to treat his seed wheat bins with. Use Malathion. Follow directions. Jim was full of questions. He wanted to know what to do for pricklypear. Use one gallon 2,4,5, T mixed in 50 gallon diesel. Spray plants to point of slight run-off.

He confirmed the fact that practically all our trouble in dryland wheat was from freeze damage. This shows up as an occasional white head that does not have any grain or will be extremely shriveled. The tip ends of many heads are white and not developed.

On our irrigated wheat Dr. Berry found some fields severely infested with a disease called Root Rot. Other common names are foot or crown rot. In Kansas the common names are Take All, Strawblight or White heads.

The first symptom is the fact the plants die. The leaves and upper part of the plant turn white. The plants are very easily pulled up because the roots have rotted. In several fields we visited plants showed up in round spots that covered no more than a few steps in diameter. In other fields it was widely scattered affecting only individual plants and very small spots. The disease is favored by cool, moist weather and continuous cropping to susceptible crop. However, it is not caused by weather but by a parasitic soil borne fungus. There are four different strains of this fungi.

One reason it is more prevalent on irrigated land is thought to be caused by the fact land leveling and frequent tillage operation tend to scatter the disease worse than on dryland farming. The added moisture from irrigation increases the danger.

This disease is very pronounced in the Heb Graham farm just east of Pampa. It is widely scattered on this place. If I remember correctly, they did extensive land leveling operations of this place a little over a year ago. This would tend to scatter the disease problem over the entire field. Eddie Kalka from White Deer called about the same problem. Troy Hopkins in Roberts County, Gene Snell, Hoover Oil Company and I viewed the Graham place together. Hopkins says he has the same trouble even more severe. The Morley Doss farm has a light infestation confined to small patches mainly.

There is nothing that can be done about the problem on this years crop. Many things can and should be done for future crops. The disease can be expected to get worse on infested land that is continuously cropped to wheat or other small grains, but not always. Occasionally it will disappear under such conditions. Losses can run up as high as 95 per cent under continuous cropping to wheat. Following a wheat, milo, fallow rotation is the most practical method of eradicating the disease for this area. Farm the land in such a way as to completely decay all straw and organic matter as quickly as possible. Don't tell any one the Jess Hatcher has a blueweed problem. Spray with 2 pounds of ester type 2,4-D per acre. Use at least 10 gallons of water as a carrier. Squirt in some type of detergent to soften the water and improve penetration of the gummy leaves. Spray about 4 days after a good ground soaking rain.

Elmer Balch is spraying 85 acres of milo with propazine for season long weed control. He will follow his planter with a sprayer that is putting out one and one-half pounds of propazine per acre dissolved in 23 gallons of water per acre. His field is located southeast of Pampa on the Lefors Highway. We hope to place a sign over it for your inspection.

Lawton Hoffer has completed several acres of land leveling on the place he operates north of Laketon. A. C. Wilkerson is doing some land leveling on his farm east of Pampa. A dam site was located for Shelton Nash on the place he operates west of McLean.

Elmer Balch leveled 5 acres of land on the place he operates southeast of Pampa. Elmer has sprigged this 5 acres to bermudagrass. Elmer sprigged 8 acres to bermudagrass in 1964.

Leroy Williams has completed a fence to protect a young grass planting. He has seeded 16 acres to switchgrass and 49 acres to weeping lovegrass. He fertilized this grass with 20 pounds of nitrogen and 20 pounds of phosphate per acre.

Brush spraying is in full swing. Mrs. James Noel, Harvey Hudgins, John B. Rice, Clifford Allison, Erce Cubine, Dick Pugh, Cecil Seaney and several others.

Harry W. Youngblood has seeded 12 acres of sideoats grama on his irrigated place just north of Lefors.

The following amount of conservation practices was completed in the United States during the 1964 fiscal year. Terracing 36,000 miles; Diversion terraces 3,108 miles; 66,242 ranch ponds; Range and Pasture planting 3,000,000 acres; 3719 Great Plains Conservation Plans were approved on 5,453,644 acres. 248,000 acres of this land is being converted from cropland to grass.

CROP DAMAGE—Herb Graham, who farms three miles east of Pampa, is shown with some wheat damaged by root rot. Several farmers have reported finding the disease in the fields. Foster Whaley, Gray county agricultural agent, discusses root rot in his weekly article on today's farm page.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS
Since 1957 the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District has sponsored an annual contest using the phrase "Why the Importance of Water Conservation." This year 56 high school seniors from Panhandle, White Deer, and Pampa entered the contest. They did a great amount of research and have written some very fine papers on this subject. The first, second and third place winners receive cash award scholarships. The first place winner was Polly Loving of Panhandle. Her award was $150. The following paragraphs are quoted from her essay: "Ever since man emerged from the Stone Age he has been able to make tools which would change the character of his environment. When he learned to harness power and make it do enormous amounts of work, he produced astounding changes in the earth. He leveled forests, plowed prairies, and poured waste into the waters. He then looked at what he had created, and it was bad. Large areas of uncultivated, denuded land were laid waste: each rain did untold damage. Streams and lakes were reeking sewers in which no form of life could live. Being an ingenious creature, man attempted to remedy this situation by building dams. These would hold back the floods, and all would be well; but it isn't. During a year fifteen hundred cubic miles of water fall on the United States. Almost a fourth of this flows off the surface, carrying with it precious minerals and soil. From this and the supply in the ground about two hundred billion gallons per day are used for industry, sanitation, drinking, irrigation, and power. In addition the green plants which keep us alive use water in prodigious amounts: a ten-acre wheat field may draw six tons of water per minute from the earth on a bright summer day, most of which is evaporated into the air. In many areas water is used eighteen times as fast as it is replaced. This problem is not one created by the present generation; it is one of long standing. Twenty-three hundred years ago Plato wrote of Attica's richly forested mountains and fertile plains and how they became flat, eroded hills and lifeless wastes because of the removal of covering vegetation. Today nearly forty million Americans have water that is "too little, too much, or too bad." To many people water is a spigot which is turned on as one desires, which is quite often. They do not connect it with a well which must laboriously pump the water from the ground or a plant which goes to considerable expense to purify the water which they drink. Half of our water does come from Artesian wells, and a good deal of it is unthinkingly wasted. If the well flows for twenty-four hours a day at ten gallons per minute.

Beef Improvement Conference Set July 19-20 at Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION (Spl)—More than 400 persons from 25 states will attend the Coordinated Beef Improvement Conference here July 19-20. The session, to be held at Texas A&M University and the nearby Ramada Inn, is a combination of A&M's annual Livestock and Meat Marketing Institute and the Beef Cattle Short-course. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist in the A&M Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department, said the general theme is "Economic Opportunities in a Changing Market for Cattle and Beef." The conference is sponsored by the American National Cattlemen's Association, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, and Texas A&M. Uvacek said a special feature is a series of five workshops dealing with coordination of marketing, education of a and meeting consumer needs, coordination of market information, and alternative systems for marketing cattle and beef. Three noted economists will head a speaking lineup of more than 21 beef industry leaders. The economists are George L. Mehren, assistant secretary of agriculture; Raymond J. Doll, vice president and senior economist of the Federal Reserve Bank in Kansas City; and Paul L. Farris, project leader in meats and poultry for the National Commission on Food Marketing. Another special attraction, Uvacek said, is a cattle futures forum. "Here is your chance to find out just what futures trading means and how it can be used," the specialist said. "A panel of experts who are actually hedging and speculating in the market will try to answer questions from the audience." Early registration is from 4-7 p.m. July 18. The conference opens at 9 a.m. July 19 with addresses of welcome by Dr. R. E. Patterson, A&M dean of agriculture, and Fred Wulff of Brady, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. Next is an address by Brooks J. Keogh of Keene, N.D., president of the American National Cattlemen's Association. C. G. Scruggs of Dallas, editor of the "Progressive Farmer" magazine, will preside. The workshops are next. Chairmen are prominent journalists and include James Rutter of Minneapolis, Minn., editor of "Feedlot"; John T. Jenkins of Macon, Ga., editor, "Livestock Breeder Journal"; Nelson Crow of Los Angeles, Calif., publisher, "Doane's Agricultural Report"; and John A. Rohlf of Philadelphia, Penn., editor, "Farm Journal." Farris is luncheon speaker July 19. His subject is "What's Around the Corner in Marketing." Mehren will talk on "Marketing at Home and Abroad" that evening at 6:30. The morning of July 20 is scheduled for reports from the workshop chairmen, followed by Doll's talk on "Marketing of the Re: Who Runs The Paper?

(This is one of a series of memos from Bob Segal, editor of the Valley Freedom Newspapers in Texas to members of the news staff. Mr. Segal writes a column for the American Way Syndicate which is distributed to more than 100 newspapers. Because his comments deal with matters of concern to our readers, we are reprinting them. We believe they apply equally in all areas. Your comments are invited.)

Dear Staff Members:

Everybody knows that the advertiser controls the newspaper.

Everybody, that is, except the advertiser and the editor and you.

They're the ones who know that he doesn't.

This editor has been in the business for more years than he cares to recall. But only twice in that long span has he been threatened by an advertiser who vowed he would quit the paper if this or that were not done.

In both cases, we shook hands with the advertiser (neither one was much of an advertiser to start with) offering the suggestion that he, like us, was in business for profit; and that if he found it profitable to advertise in our paper, he would do so; and if he did not, no amount of accommodation by our paper would keep him throwing money after bad for long.

Both of them came back.

Really, the big advertiser never threatens. He sometimes makes requests, suggestions. He gets sore. He mutters. He does, to be sure, remind us of the vast sums he spends in the paper; but we correct him on that score, pointing out that he doesn't spend money in our paper, he invests it—and at a fat rate of return.

That usually ends the matter.

Realistically, it is impossible to do a favor for an advertiser, even if we wanted to. (And, by favor, we mean to extend an advantage we would not give everyone else.) The very first thing this advertiser would do would be to tell all his competitors how he chiseled some special advantage out of the paper. Instead of making one advertiser happy, you've made 50 of them mad. It's self-defeating.

And if you leave out his brother-in-law's drunk driving rap, he only loses his respect for the paper. He will always wonder which other drunk drivings are being left out. There will be, in his mind, that small suggestion that the newspaper is, after all, just a little bit corrupt.

No, there is very little "pressure" by our advertisers. They're a pretty good bunch. They, like everyone else, want to get equal treatment. They, like everyone else, want an honest newspaper. We do not have to agree to respect each other's honesty, integrity and good intentions.

We try to keep our relationship with our advertisers on that level. And rather successfully, we should say.

Maybe it's because we're a little hard-nosed. Or maybe it's because our advertisers are a nice bunch of people. Or maybe it's a little of both.

Cordially,
The Editor

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORMON

BIRTHDAYS ARE always fun, especially for the younger set, but spring and summer weather make for gayer outdoor parties to mark birthdays. Larry Middleton celebrated his fourteenth birthday with a backyard party recently hosted by his parents, George B. and Joyce Murphy with Miss Linda Grimsley and Darwin Phillips assisting with hosts duties. Guests enjoyed a scavenger hunt, party games and dancing. Helping Larry mark his birthday were Nita Marlar, Cathy Chase, Glenda McNutt, Connie Parish, Sandra Werley, Mary Ratliff, Janice Baine, Alana Hammons, Delpha Everson, Velma Horton, Susan Maynard, Patty Anderson, Cheri Beckham, Janice Butcher, Gail Blumer, Darrel Werley, Don Willis, Kurt Kelly, Roy Hallcoma, Vernon Johnston, J. D. Parks, Milton Brown, Billy Blaylock, Gary Whiteley, Montey Middleton, Larry Middleton, Don Cauthorn and Gary Carpenter. Another birthday marked recently with an out-door party was that of Jeanie Cox, daughter of Joyce and O. C. Cox Jr., who celebrated her eleventh birthday by entertaining a group of friends at a 'Country Fair' backyard party. Jeannie's guests were seated on the ground on gunny sacks for a country-style meal. The yard was decorated with farm animal murals. 'Hillbillies' at the 'Country Fair' party were Debra Brumfield, Elaine and Phyllis Clark, Vickie Cobb, Lou Ann Fulcher, Cynthia Hatfield, Cindy Hicks, Karen and Sherry Kilough, Kathy Ledbetter, Jeannine Maness, Darla Robertson, Carol Rose, Virginia Schaeffer and Juanita Smith.

MRS. RONALD (Jean Holman) Gray, daughter of Chester and Irene Holman, has been accepted into membership of Mu Phi Epsilon, international professional music fraternity for women. Mrs. Gray is a junior at West Texas State University, Canyon, majoring in music education. She received the Best Actress Award in the Branding Iron Theater's recent production of "Kismet," in which she played a leading role. She also received the award for the outstanding voice recital performance in the music department at WTSU last semester. While judges were interviewing Miss Pampa contestants, Dianne Ammons, Paula Sealey, Virginia Budd, Jane Howard, Glennette Dawkins, Caroline Marak and Ruth Ann Guthrie, they learned that some of the girls were planning to take their freshman English and biology this summer at Frank Phillips Junior College, Borger, before entering college next fall. After learning that two or more of the girls were planning to take the courses before entering college, the judges wondered whether or not the girls considered these courses especially hard and were amused by the fact that they were taking the same two courses in summer school. By the way, serving as a judge in the Miss Pampa contest was quite a refreshing experience for this columnist. The contestants were not only pretty and talented, but were so completely lady-like and seemed so young and enthusiastic that it made one realize just how much water has gone under the bridge since being that happy age.

HEARD THAT STATE Jaycee president A. J. Carubbi Jr.'s yard became so overgrown and unsightly, due to his being occupied with the presidential campaign and other Jaycee duties, that a local Jaycee member presented a community development and health safety project, "Carubbi Yard Clean-Up," to Jaycee directors. It was approved by the board and club. Members seen hard at work in the Carubbi yard carrying out the project one recent Sunday afternoon were Jim Pitcock, John Warner, Eddie Polnac, Jimmy Killian, Jim Morris and Larry Wingert. Eddie Chatten of Amarillo, former Pampa Jaycee, stopped by the Carubbi home while the work was being done and was persuaded, reluctantly, to assist in the project. Wonder if some other "needy yard help" Pampans could persuade the Jaycees to approve a like project for their lawns? If so, just telephone the News office and the name and address of such a lawn-owner will be promptly supplied. Amarillo City Panhellenic members are sponsoring a Panhellenic forum for area girls and their mothers, who wish to obtain information about National Greek Letter Sororities on college and university campuses in Texas and neighboring states. The forum is set for 2 o'clock the afternoon of June 13. The program will include an informative panel concerning all phases of sorority life, campus customs, rush rules and financial obligations. High school girls and their mothers will have an opportunity to meet members and alumnae of the 19 groups in the Amarillo City Panhellenic. Girls attending the forum are asked to prepare an outline of previous high school or college activities. They are also asked to bring numerical grade point averages from their high school or college, rank in their class and a small picture. A second Panhellenic event is scheduled for June 27 in the Tascosa High School Commons at which both activities and alumnae of the 19 Amarillo social sororities will have individual tables arranged concerning their sororities. This event will be invitational, with the list taken from girls registered at the forum on June 13. Pampa college-bound girls will be interested in these meetings and should mark their calendars now.

PAMPANS ARE either on the go or are planning trips now that vacation time is here. Mrs. Ann Heskew will depart this week for Salt Lake City, Utah, for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Helen Masters. Don Pope enjoyed the Memorial Day holidays in Old Mexico, accompanied by Johnny Cox of Amarillo. The two young men have been friends since elementary school days and Cox is a frequent Pampa visitor. Mrs. Fern Dawson is spending the weekend in Lubbock for the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Carol Lynn Dawson and Michael Dan Lillis. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Dawson of Lubbock, former Pampans. Brownie and Nealy Rogers spent the holiday weekend in Ardmore, Okla., visiting relatives. Charlotte and Ray Rodgers Jr., and daughter, Mary Ellen, 3, have returned from a week's vacation in Baytown where they went deep-sea fishing, toured the Astro dome and the Manned Space Craft Center, from which the Gemini-4 Space Flight was controlled. Ann and Joe Steed spent the holidays in Denver, Colo., while sons, Kevin and Craig, visited their grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Hutchinson in Guyton, Okla.

A LOVELY SUMMER seated brunch was given yesterday morning in the Pampa Club by Mrs. Cloud (Nelle) Drew, Mrs. Ivy (Mattie) Duncan, Mrs. Bernard (Ruth) Johnson and Mrs. Rankin (Ruth) Wright. Some 150 friends of the hostesses attended the affair and enjoyed a morning of visiting. A large arrangement of white majestic daisies stood in the hallway and set a gay mood for the guests as they entered. The brunch was served on individual tables centered with white marguerite daisies. Mrs. Barrett (Alberta) Hamlett and daughter Patty, of Denton, former Pampans, will visit in Pampa this week with Mrs. Hamlett's sister and husband, Jo Ann and Kenneth Florence. Twenty-two-year old Patty, National Queen of the American Association of Sheriffs' Poses and Riding Clubs, appeared in Amarillo over the weekend when the association met for its National Round-Up. She is the granddaughter of G. A. Lotus, Pampa pioneer. Mrs. Paul (Audry) Taber and Mrs. Victor (Ruby) Glen of Amarillo were Thursday guests of Mrs. Ann Heskew and spent the day visiting with members of Pampa Pot and Piddlers when the group met in the Heskew home to work on copper enameling, ceramics, hand-made jewelry and other hand crafts.

Lubbock Ceremony Unites Daughter of Former Residents

Wedding vows uniting Miss Carol Lynn Dawson and Michael Dan Lillis, both residents of Lubbock, were solemnized last evening at 7 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Lubbock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Dawson of Lubbock, former Pampans, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Fern Dawson of Pampa. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Dan F. Lillis of Midland and the late Mrs. Bonnie Lillis.

Gowned in a chapel-length gown of shiffl embroidered organza in a mimeo pattern with an empire sheath silhouette, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The gown's arched high-rise waistline was accented by a fold of taffeta and the bateau neckline lowered to a V-shape in the back. Designed with brief sleeves, the gown was highlighted by a removable chapel-length train. The bride wore a crown of matching embroidered organza which held her tiered veil of silk imported illusion and carried a bouquet of orchids and roses.

Bridal attendants, attired in white gowns and carrying bouquets of red roses, were Miss Candy Howard, maid of honor, and Miss Tracey McVey and Miss Kelly McVey, flower girls.

Serving as the bridegroom's best man was David Clemens while Mike Dawson, bride's brother, and Ken Weaver, ushers, seated the wedding guests. The bridegroom and male attendants wore white dinner jackets with tuxedo pants, cummerbund and black bow ties.

Following the wedding reception held in the Parish Hall of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the newlyweds departed for the Bahama Islands on their wedding trip. For traveling the bride was attired in a pink linen two-piece suit accented by a white silk blouse. Pink accessories and a white orchid corsage completed

Gray County HD Council Meets in Regular Session

Gray County Home Demonstration Council met in regular session with Mrs. J. Lloyd Laramore, vice chairman, presiding. The meeting opened with the club prayer.

Mrs. V. Smith, acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. O. G. Smith. Roll call showed four out of seven clubs represented. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Club presidents gave their reports of what members had accomplished and the attendance for the previous month. A letter of thanks from the Altrusa Club was read, commending the clubs on helping serve Senior Citizens' Center.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, home demonstration agent, announced that the 4-H Dress Revue will be held June 24. Everyone is invited to attend the affair at 3:30 p. m. in Pam Cel Hall. Delegates to the state meeting were elected with Mrs. Nolan Cole, Mrs. B. M. Rogers and Mrs. E. P. Templin as delegates and Mrs. Bert Smith as alternate.

Attending were Mmes. O. E. Wylie, J. Lloyd Laramore, Walter E. Elliott, B. M. Rogers, Nolan Cole, Boyd Smith, Lester Reynolds, V. Smith and Miss Lou Ella Patterson.

Leland Bledsoe's Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Bledsoe of 410 Naida celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Tuesday by entertaining their children in the Bledsoe home.

Helping their parents mark the occasion were two daughters and their families from Baytown, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris and Jimmy, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kirby and Tina, and another daughter, Miss Sharon Bledsoe of the home.

The couple's son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bledsoe and Charles and Michael of Hooker, Okla., were unable to attend.

Jovileers Club Plans Annual Vacation Trip GROOM (Spl)—Jovileers Club met in the home of Mrs. Bill Pavlovsky recently with Mrs. Arnold Kuehler serving as co-hostess.

Plans were discussed for the club's annual vacation trip. Attending were Mmes. Sammy Scott of Amarillo, Jim Britten, Eddie Homen, Art Britten, Tom Britten, Bob Babcock, C. J. Kuehler, Gene Carter, Jack Barnett, Bob Ledwig, Bill Pavlovsky and Arnold Kuehler.

Dear Abby....

Abby Refuses Offer Of 'Doubting Thomas'

DEAR ABBY: I sure get a kick out of your column. I don't suppose you really write all of it yourself. You probably have a staff of writers. And that picture of you is a lulu! How old is it? I'll bet you're really a fat old maid taking out her frustrations by telling other people how to run their lives. You get a letter with just one side of the story and you hand out advice like you knew all the answers. I'm a 31-year-old bachelor. And if that's your picture, and it's not 20 years old, I might even ask you to marry me. (How would you like to live in Salt Lake City?)

ried, so I won't hold you to your offer.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 years old and just had the most bewildering proposal of marriage. He's a young man I've known a long time, but I never dreamed he was thinking of me as "wife material." He said he would marry me if I got my nose fixed. Now, I do have a big nose, but I accepted it as part of me, and it goes with my face, so I never considered getting it fixed. Frankly, I don't think it would make that much difference. It's not as though my nose stands between me and my being a perfect beauty. This young man would make a good husband, but I wonder if I should take his proposal under consideration.

MISS S. DEAR MISS S.: If your nose has never bothered you and you've never considered getting it "fixed," tell the young man that your nose goes where you go. And if he doesn't want you, nose and all, heaven knows he's not for you.

DEAR ABBY: Can you answer a few very simple questions for me? I am the mother of four children and this is very important to me. What is the correct definition of "common-law marriage"? Where is it recognized? What does "community property" mean? Is that the same all over? Exactly what is the legal definition of "bigamy"? And finally, what does "extradite" mean? I thank you.

GETTING NERVOUS DEAR GETTING: You don't need a dictionary — you need a lawyer. I suggest you get one immediately. It's his business to keep a confidence, so don't be afraid to tell him the truth.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Poor Dad," whose college freshman son borrows his neckties, to count his blessings. When sonny gets to his second year, he'll probably do his best to sever those "family ties" you advised him to strengthen. My son, now a sophomore, wears a beard, seldom gets a haircut, dresses in jeans, sweaters and boots. And as a point of honor — never wears a tie. The day he borrows his Dad's ties will be the day we'll all sigh, "Thank heavens he's back to normal!"

Brush on a Prettier Face

PRETTY FACE HINTS — A deft hand plays major role in making the most of one's facial features. Brush-on powder and liquid toners highlight cheek bones, hide dark circles under the eyes. The model (left) uses a brush-on shadow toner in a deep beige. It casts a shadow on areas to be played down. Here the model reduces the width of her cheeks by sucking in her cheeks and brushing the toner in the hollow formed. A tapered brush helps the model (center) apply a dry eyebrow make-up for a soft, natural look. A pointed brush can be used wet with the colored eyebrow cake for a fine line. Eye artistry continues (right) with the use of a white translucent pressed powder brushed under the eye.

Panhandle OES Installation Slated For Monday Night

PAMHANDLE (Spl) — Mrs. Neal Edwards of White Deer will be installing worthy matron of Panhandle OES Chapter 760, when her daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. L. Edwards of Panhandle is installed as worthy matron at 8 p. m. Monday in open ceremonies. Installing patron will be W. E. Dart.

Mrs. Elnora Connell, Amarillo, district deputy grand matron of District 2, Section 2, will be installing marshal.

Mrs. I. E. Padgett will be the installing chaplain and Mrs. Carl Dale, organist.

SUCKER IN NEWARK: Better allow yourself something for "courting." Most girls want to marry a man who saves money, but very few care to go out with him.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

KEEP FRESH GLOVES With the advent of warm weather, it's wise to keep a fresh pair of white gloves in your desk drawer. You'll find that the ones you wear to work in the morning are bearing evidence of the newspaper you carried to the office.

Put moderately soiled, lightly soiled and heavily soiled laundry into separate loads.

Travis Lively Is Speaker for Joint Meeting of Clubs

Members of Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club met recently in a joint meeting with other Gray County Home Demonstration Clubs in the Court House Annex, east of town.

Guest speaker for the joint meeting was Travis Lively who spoke on "The American Heritage."

"What is our American Heritage?" Mr. Lively began. "It is the ideals and principles that our forefathers had and used in forming our Constitution of these United States. A declaration was made at the beginning that all men were created free and equal.

"None of our forefathers were perfect, but all had some high ideals and fought for what they believed was right.

"The Constitution was formed by compromise, discussion, reason and prayer. Patrick Henry's statement, 'Give me liberty or give me death,' became the principal of others. All presidents take the oath to support this Constitution and no other country does this," the speaker concluded.

Worthwhile HD Club members attending were Mmes. N. B. Cude, O. A. Wagner, Lester Reynolds, J. C. Payne, N. L. Welton, Roy Tinsley, W. G. Kinzer and Miss Yvonne Reynolds.

Members attending from other Home Demonstration Clubs were Mrs. A. M. Nash and Mrs. J. Lloyd Laramore, Merten HD Club; Mrs. Joe Masengale and Mrs. E. M. Rogers, Hi Plains HD Club, and Mrs. A. P. Coombes, Goodwill HD Club.

Worthwhile HD Club will meet next at 9:30 a. m., June 15, in Southwestern Public Service Building to hear a program presented by Mrs. Mildred Prince.

Five Performances To Be Given During Dallas Opera Season

The Metropolitan Opera Company has advised the Dallas Grand Opera Association that the 1966 Dallas season will consist of five performances May 12 through 15 at the Music Hall.

Listed by the Met as the repertoire available for its next year's tour engagements are new productions of Gounod's "Faust," Tchaikovsky's "Pique Dame," and the new production of Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor," designed by Attilio Colonnello, which opened the current Metropolitan season in New York. Other operas in the tour list are "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini, Puccini's "La Boheme," "Don Giovanni" by Mozart, Verdi's "Il Trovatore," "La Perichole" by Jacques Offenbach and a double bill of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" with "I Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo.

Of the tour repertoire offered by the Metropolitan, one opera, Tchaikovsky's "Pique Dame" has never been seen in Dallas. Dates of the last local performances by the Metropolitan of other touring operas are "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci," 1963; "Lucia di Lammermoor," 1962; "Il Trovatore" and "Faust," 1960; "La Perichole" and "La Boheme," 1957; "The Barber of Seville," 1955; and "Don Giovanni," 1953.

AN EFFECTIVE SUMMER "IN" LOOK

Want to be as "in" as New York - Rome - Paris-etc., socialites? Then wear a long strand of hair over one shoulder. Accompany this with artificial eyelashes which are pre-trimmed and feathered. These are attached with special adhesives and are very effective for evenings out after a day in the sun.

Dance Is Enjoyed By Hep Cat Club

Hep Cat Club's annual end of school dance was held recently at Pamcel Hall. Eighth grade members dedicated the dance to the ninth grade members going out of club.

James Schaffer and Mrs. Vernon Cawthon. Attending as chaperones were: Vernon Cawthon, James Schaffer, Mrs. W. C. Wallace, Mrs. Wayne St. Clair, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geiser, John Stafford, Leon Schaffer, Cameron Marsh and Ray Dudley.

Ninth grade girls present, presented a gift of a "Pampa High" gold charm, were: Sharon Frasier, Marilyn Keyes and Sheila Blakemore.

Music was furnished by the "Essex". About 80 junior high students were present.

Sponsors for 1965-1966 are Mrs. Miss Nina Snyder furnished traditional wedding music at the piano.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Edna Cooper, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nabors and family of Plainview; Mrs. Richard Crump and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Bacon of Dimmitt, mother and sister of the bridegroom.

Following a short wedding trip the newlyweds returned to Groom where they plan to make their home.

Edna Sackett Is Bride of Don Bryant

Miss Edna Agnes Sackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sackett, east of town, became the bride of Don Eugene Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Bryant of Miami, at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in Harrah Methodist Church.

Rev. R. T. Dyess solemnized the double-ring vows amid a wedding scene appointed with four seven-branched candelabra bearing white tapers and entwined with greenery, two basket arrangements of white gladioli and a white satin covered kneeling bench.

Traditional nuptial selections were provided by Mrs. G. O. Hall, organist, who also accompanied Paul Sackett, bride's brother, as he sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

With the "her mother and I avowal" the bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a ballerina-length gown fashioned of white lace over white satin featuring a fitted bodice with a portrait neckline and three-quarter length tapered sleeves, and a bouffant skirt. A seed pearl tiara secured her shoulder-length veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible topped by white split gardenias centered with white gardenias.

Dressed in street-length gowns of embroidered orchid taffeta, designed with sheath lines and rounded necklines, bridal attendants were Miss Sheila Moore, maid of honor, and Miss Jerry Hodges, bridesmaid. The Misses Moore and Hodges carried bouquets of orchid and white chrysanthemums.

Raymond Bryant served his brother as best man while Richard Bryant served as his brother's groomsman. Ushers were Floyd Sackett and Charlie Sackett, bride's brothers.

Mrs. Sackett selected a dress fashioned of beige and brown dacron for her daughter's wedding. Beige and brown accessories and a yellow carnation corsage completed her costume. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Byant, chose a two-piece suit in navy blue accented by black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Fellowship Hall of Harrah Methodist Church was the scene of the reception following the ceremony. Covered with a white lace cloth over orchid, the bride's table was centered with four-branched silver candelabra bearing orchid tapers with an arrangement of orchid and white chrysanthemums placed in the center of the candelabra. Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Sam Barber and Mrs. Bob Black served the wedding cake. Assisting with the house-party were Mrs. Bob Chase and Mrs. Peggy Patrick.

The new Mrs. Bryant chose a two-piece suit of yellow linen and white accessories for traveling to Colorado Springs, Colo., on a wedding trip. She lifted the gardenia corsage from the bridal bouquet. Upon their return the couple will make their home at 722 W. Browning.

The bride, a 1958 graduate of Pampa High School, attended (See BRYANT, Page 19)

Lingerie Puts on a New Face for Summer

NEW LOOK — For day and night, lingerie has a new look for summer. The "blouse slip" (left) of Antron has a versatile print halter top that extends to the neckline of its solid color skirt. For cool sleeping, a flash of color outlines the knee-topping shift of nylon tricot (right) with slashed hemline. It boasts its own matching bikini. These are Van Roolte designs.

186 Girls From High School and Junior High School Take Summer Homemaking

June is practice month for girls enrolled in homemaking in Pampa High School and junior high schools. The girls apply at home what they have learned in classes. The homemaking teachers report an enrollment of 186 this summer in the home experience program.

The girls must be in the ninth to twelfth grade and must have completed two semesters of homemaking. The senior high school and both junior high schools are participating in the program. The junior high schools are coordinated with the high school where the ninth grade girls will attend next fall.

Each girl in the program plans a project which she carries out with the help of her mother and her homemaking teacher. The girl fills out a temporary plan and keeps an accomplishment record. The teacher visits the girl's home periodically to help with the project. At intervals the student meets with her group at school to outline the progress of her project. At the end of the month the student evaluates what she has accomplished and plans then are completed for open house. During the school year the girls carry out home experiences directly related to their school projects. The June program is an outgrowth of the learning experiences during the school year. They follow several project programs. They plan, prepare and serve family meals, work with children, plan and construct clothing for school or vacation, remodel wardrobes and plan garden and yards. Some take home improvement projects in which they undertake to redecorate their own rooms, and other rooms in their homes. Some girls take over the management of their homes while their mothers are working. Also since over 100 girls completed a unit in home nursing during the long term, some are further learning how to take care of the sick and injured. All projects emphasize time and money management.

The high school also has two adult classes in elementary clothing construction. They meet each morning from 8 to 12 for the first two weeks in June. The primary concern is to teach young adults the elementary principles of clothing construction.

Church Rites Unite Sally Paden, James R. Brewton

Floor baskets of calla lilies, jade palms and candelabra bearing white tapers appointed the wedding scene last evening for Miss Sally Paden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd B. Paden of 2017 Mary Ellen, and James Robert Brewton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brewton of Mineral Wells.

Rev. T. O. Upshaw solemnized the double-ring vows at 6:30 p.m. in Central Baptist Church.

Traditional wedding selections were provided by Mrs. Hugh Sanders, organist, who also accompanied Hugh Sanders as he sang "Always" and "Calm Is the Night." Mr. and Mrs. Sanders presented "The Wedding Prayer" in duet at the close of the ceremony.

With the "her mother and I avowal" the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white re-embroidered chantilly lace over taffeta with a bouffant skirt forming four back tiers. The fitted bodice was designed with a scalloped neckline trimmed with iridescent sequins and long tapering sleeves terminating in petal points. Re-embroidered lace scallops embellished the gown. The bride's shoulder-length lace edged veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and lace. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid which cascaded across the front of her bridal gown.

Bridal attendants were Miss Suzanne Paden, maid of honor, and Miss Nita Paden, bridesmaid, both sisters of the bride. The misses Paden were attired in floor-length gowns fashioned of yellow peau de soie. Matching pill box coifs with face veils and white elbow-length gloves completed their ensembles. They carried arm bouquets of calla lilies. Miss Paulette Kuhlmann, attending as flower girl, was dressed identically to the bridal attendants and wore a wristlet of carnations.

Mr. Brewton served his son as best man and Woody Brewton, bridegroom's brother, served as groomsman. Ushers seating the wedding guests were Billy Brewton, brother of the bridegroom and Freddie Upshaw. Bryan Kuhlmann served as ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Paden selected a suit of champagne chantilly lace accented by matching accessories.

Some things considered are fabric and pattern selection, use of the machine, basic construction and fitting techniques. Those enrolled in this unit are the drop-outs and young, recently married high school graduates learning to be on their own. Class instruction and individual help is given at the high school.

Homemaking teachers participating in the summer program are Mrs. Esther Colville, Miss Edith Kral, Miss Geraldine Rampy and Mrs. Nita Williams.

Mrs. Brewton chose a dress of blue nylon jersey with matching jacket complemented by matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow carnations.

Palms and floor baskets of calla lilies decorated Fellowship Hall of Central Baptist Church for the reception held immediately following the exchange of vows. The bride's table, covered with an imported Swiss embroidered white linen cloth, was appointed with three-branched candelabra entwined with huckleberry and calla lilies, bearing white tapers, and the bridal attendants bouquets. Single calla lily blossoms encircled the three-tiered wedding cake.

Background organ music was provided by Miss Mickie Mabry throughout the receiving hours. Mrs. Max Patton presided at the punch bowl while Miss Ann Qualls and Miss Joretta Baird served the wedding cake. The guest registrar was attended by Mrs. Woody Brewton, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Other members of the house party included Mmes. James Baird, Clarence Qualls and Frank Conner and Misses Lodema Cole, Linda Bevel and Sherri Cobb. Points of interest in New Mexico were visited by the newlyweds on a wedding trip. For traveling the new Mrs. Brewton donned a blue knit suit and matching accessories. She lifted the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return the couple will make their home in Pampa through the summer months.

The bride, a graduate of Pampa High School, attended the University of Texas for two years, majoring in elementary education. She will resume her education in the fall at Texas Technological University, Lubbock. The bridegroom, a graduate of Mineral Wells High School, was a May graduate of the University of Texas where he received a BS Degree in chemistry and mathematics. He will be employed as a teacher in the Lubbock school system this fall.

PRE-NUPITAL EVENTS — Pre-nuptial courtesies extended the bride included a kitchen shower given in Austin by university dormitory friends; a miscellaneous shower given in Mineral Wells, and a miscellaneous shower given by Central Baptist Church friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewton, bridegroom's parents, honored the wedding party at a brunch in Jackson's Cafeteria following the Saturday morning rehearsal and Mr. and Mrs. Paden, parents of the bride, honored the wedding party at a buffet supper given in their home preceding the wedding rites.

HOLLAND-BAILEY — The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Barbara Holland to Wiley Bailey is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Holland of Miami, parents of the bride-elect. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Bailey of Miami. Vows will be exchanged in August.

COOK - HELTON — Miss Wanda Cook will become the bride of Bobby Helton on July 9. The couple's engagement is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cook of 1128 Sirroco, parents of the bride-elect. Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Maxey of Amarillo are the parents of the prospective bridegroom.

STACKHOUSE-WATERS — Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Stackhouse of M o r s e announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Charri, to Kenneth Waters of Las Cruces, N.M., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Waters of 1307 Duncan. The wedding will be solemnized July 10 in Central Baptist Church.

Pampan's Grandson Weds in Sweetwater

SWEETWATER (Spl) — The marriage of Miss Dianne Bledsoe and Robert Gene Patterson, both of Sweetwater, took place the evening of May 24 at First Presbyterian Church in Sweetwater. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Royce Alfred Bledsoe of Sweetwater and the late Mr. Bledsoe. Mr. Patterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Patterson of Sweetwater, former residents of Pampa, and is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Tinnin of 618 North Frost. Officiating for the double-ring wedding vows was the Rev. William F. Henning, pastor. Miss Verna Jo Benson was organist. Ushers were Marty Stewart, Troy Bradbury, Richard Boyd and James Nash, who also served as candle-lighters. Messrs. Bradbury and Boyd were also groomsmen.

Best man to the bridegroom was Trice Boswell. Bridal attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Guest of Lubbock, matron of honor, and Misses Cheryl Brown and Sue Smith, bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of blue crystal satin, made with scoop necklines, three-quarter length sleeves, fitted bodices and bell layered skirts. They carried white cascade bouquets. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Richard Guest of Lubbock. She wore her sister's wedding gown, made of white peau de soie and fashioned with fitted bodice, long sleeves tapering to points over the hands, and a floor-length skirt made bouffant with gathers and pleats. Lace roses were applied on the front of the bodice and around the deep oval neckline. A chapel-length train swept back from deep back-folds on either side of the waistline. A cluster of pearlized silk flowers held the tiered veil of illusion. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of stephanotis which surrounded a white orchid.

The wedding reception was held at Sweetwater Country Club, and afterward the couple left for Premont, where Mr. Patterson will be employed this summer by Sun Oil Company. For travel the bride changed into a two-piece white linen suit. Mr. Patterson was a 1963 graduate of Sweetwater High School and attended North Texas University, Denton. He plans to continue his college studies in the fall. His bride was graduated from Sweetwater High School in May. Rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and out-of-town relatives was given Wednesday evening at the Ranch House Motel's Purple Sage Room by the bridegroom's parents. Out-of-town relatives attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Tinnin of Pampa and the bridegroom's maternal aunt, Mrs. W. M. Peoples of Andrews.

TIME GROWS SHORT — If you haven't as yet taken last-summer's wardrobe out of its wrappers, you had better get busy. Many of your clothes may still be useable, but most will have to be shortened a bit before you can wear them.

MASSAGE FACE DAILY — All women over 30 need some form of daily facial massage. The least expensive and easiest to do is when washing your face or applying a moisturizing cream. Massage upward in a circular motion.

Panhandle Girl Weds in Amarillo

PANHANDLE (Spl) — The chapel of First Christian Church, Amarillo, was the setting for the Tuesday wedding of Miss Donna Kalene Whiteside, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Allison Whiteside, Panhandle, to Firman Allen Goforth, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Goforth of Amarillo.

The candlelight double-ring service was read at 7:30 p.m. by Dr. Newton J. Robinson, minister of the church, assisted by the Rev. Ivan J. Adams, minister of the First Christian Church of Panhandle.

Miss Shirley Walker served as maid of honor, and best man was Kent Whiteside, brother of the bride. Ushers were Milton Walker and Kenneth Branum.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a frolic blue street-length dress of silk organza, with bouffant overskirt of blue chantilly lace that dipped to a point in the back. Her pillbox hat of self-material with white lace appliques held a blue tulle veil. She carried a cascade of white butterfly roses and stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Following the wedding a reception was given in the parlor of the church. The three-tiered cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, was served by Miss Maxine Stephenson, Perryton, cousin of the bride. Miss Glenda Pratt served the punch and Miss Carolyn May registered the guests.

The couple is at home at Green Acres Apartment A, Amarillo.

Mrs. Briden Gives HD Club Program

Mrs. G. B. Hogan was hostess to Merten Home Demonstration Club in her home at 914 N. Somerville Tuesday morning.

The club's president, Mrs. J. Lloyd Laramore, presided over the business session and opened the meeting with the Club Prayer. Members voted to eliminate the first meeting in July and planned a picnic to be held at 11 a.m., July 20 in Central Park. Announcements were made concerning the food demonstration to be presented for all Gray County HD Club members by Mrs. Milderd Prince at 9:30 a.m. June 15 in Southwestern Public Service Building; the first club meeting in August will be held in the home of Mrs. J. M. Hahn at 116 Neel Road on Aug. 3, and Mrs. E. P. Templin was elected by Gray County HD Council to attend the state THDA meeting as a delegate.

Mrs. N. A. Briden presented the program, "First Aid to Furniture," by demonstrating the refinishing of a chest.

Following the demonstration, the speaker told the group "Scratches, mars, burns and other damages to furniture can be touched with nut meats or crayon pencil, then varnished and waxed."

"Zip strip is good to remove a finish. After removing the finish, clean well with naphtha zip sander to smooth the surface and seal the wood. Then varnish or paint and wax. Strain the varnish or paint being used often through a nylon hose to remove hair and grit.

"Lemon oil is a good polish for all furniture, especially furniture made of maple," Mrs. Briden concluded.

Refreshments of strip sandwiches, cookies, punch and coffee were served to Mmes. A. M. Nash, N. A. Briden, Irene Humberson, J. M. Hahn, W. F. Mulanax, J. Lloyd Laramore, V. Smith, T. G. Groves and G. B. Hogan.

Mrs. Stuckey To Be Delegate For VFW Auxiliary

Mrs. Tony Smith, president of the Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 1657, presided over the meeting when the group met at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in VFW Hall.

Following the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the Chaplains Prayer, which opened the meeting, Mrs. Lillian Snow was given the obligation of membership and Mrs. Vernon Stuckey, president-elect, was named to represent the Auxiliary as a delegate to the Department of Texas Convention to be held in Plaza Motor Hotel, El Paso, June 24-28.

Plans were completed for Friday's official visit of Mrs. H. A. Parker, Department of Texas Auxiliary president, and a rummage sale to be held July 16-17. The financial report was given by Mrs. J. Lloyd Laramore, treasurer.

Mrs. Smith was presented an Auxiliary president's pin by members of the group in appreciation for service rendered during her term as president. Meeting was closed by ritual. Members present for the meeting included Mmes. Verda Adair, Jim Clifton, Bessie Dezern, Frank Dittmeyer, Emmett Gee, Jess Hatcher, L. M. Henderson, J. Lloyd Laramore, Tony Smith, Vernon Stuckey, Chester Williams, Velta Williams and Carl M. Wright.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Simple Paper Stapler Is Easily Constructed

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — I have discovered a good way to staple papers together when a regular stapler is not available. Students will find this very helpful. Place the papers together, punch two holes through them at the place they are to be fastened. Tightly roll a small strip of paper and stick the ends through the holes so there will be about three-quarters of an inch to fold back flat on each side, on the back. If you want to be fancy, colored paper can be used to make these "staples".

—JIM
GIRLS — We really have to go some to top our ingenious teen-age readers.
DEAR POLLY — My mother-in-law made the cutest gifts for my kids. She bought a pair of children's fluffy little animal house shoes, stuffed the insides, sewed them up and had a darling stuffed toy for each child. They love them. (Polly's note — A good use for old nylon hose.)
 When buying material to make little girls' dresses, always remember to buy enough fabric to make matching panties and headbands. They love these matched ensembles.

—MARIE
DEAR POLLY — Quite by accident I found liquid shampoo works better and goes further by pouring a portion of shampoo into an empty bottle, adding hot water, shaking and then using.

Trim Nails Are Beauty Asset

PRETTY HANDS ADD BEAUTY — Chewed nails and grubby hands stand out like a waltz in a watusi contest. Keep nails trimmed to a pleasing length (left) and filed with an emery. Avoid clawlike nails and chipped nail polish. Try to break the nail-biting habit (inset) as part of your search for more attractive hands. A special cuticle remover by Pacquin helps keep nails looking professionally manicured. Apply from tube around cuticle. Loosen cuticle with orange stick (right). Wait 3 to 5 minutes then wash off under warm, running water. Scrub fingers with nail brush for good measure.

Ceremony Officiated by Bride's Father

Rev. A. G. Purvis officiated the double-ring ceremony uniting his daughter, Miss Glenda Purvis, and Kenneth Bateman of Gruver at 8 o'clock Friday evening in Hobart Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Purvis of 1044 S. Sumner, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Bateman of Gruver.

The wedding was solemnized beneath a white wrought-iron arch entwined with greenery and flanked by candelabra bearing white tapers. Honor pews were marked with tapers.

Traditional nuptial selections were provided on the organ by Miss Ginger Murrah who also accompanied Randall Purvis, of Dumas, bride's brother, as he sang "Because" and "I Love Thee," and Miss Wynella Phillips as she presented "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Randall Purvis, the bride was gowned in a chapel-length gown of bridal satin and chantilly lace. The fitted bodice of the gown featured a sweetheart neckline and long tapering sleeves of chantilly lace which ended in petal points over the hands. The bouffant satin skirt swept into a chapel-length train. The bride wore a waist-length veil of French illusion, secured by a pearl embroidered crown, and carried a white Bible topped by white carnations and roses.

Attending her sister-in-law as matron of honor was Mrs. Randall Purvis. Miss Freda Womble of Gruver attended as maid of honor and Miss Judy Holt was bridesmaid. The bridal attendants were dressed identically in cock-tail length gowns of pink crepe trimmed with satin and carried lighted tapers adorned with carnations.

Best man to the bridegroom was Wayne Leathermen of Gruver while groomsmen were Harley Boyd of Gruver and Randall Purvis. Ushers seating the wedding guests were Nicky Hannah and Randy Kilpatrick, bridegroom's cousin.

Lighting the cathedral tapers were Terry Don Cornwell of Skellytown and Brent Womble of Gruver.

Miss Valeria Butler attended as flower-girl and ring bearer was Randy Purvis, nephew of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Purvis was attired in a sheath dress fashioned of blue crepe accented by white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Bateman, bridegroom's mother, chose a beige sheath dress complimented by pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Scene of the reception, held following the exchange of vows, was Fellowship Hall of Hobart Baptist Church. The bride's table, covered with a white net cloth over white satin was appointed with white tapers trimmed with Lilly of the Valley.

Presiding at the punch service was Miss LaNetta Blankenship. Miss Kay Boyd served the wedding cake while Miss Blankenship attended the guest registrar.

Prior to departing on a wedding trip to points of interest in New Mexico, the new Mrs. Bateman changed into a pink knit suit. She wore white accessories and a white rose corsage.

The newlyweds will make their home at 1609 Avenue H, Brownwood, where both plan to resume their studies at Howard Payne College. Both are graduates of Gruver High School.

The Mature Parent

No Need to Fear Age If You Remain Happy

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Last fall right after my 71st birthday I suffered a slight stroke I am now almost fully recovered and would be quite happy with my little three-room apartment if I could sleep better. I can't help worrying about what will happen to me if another more serious stroke made me a burden on my children. They both have their own families. I do not want to be a burden to my children.

ANSWER: Why not? As babies and children they certainly imposed burdens on you. But you didn't mind it, did you? And the why of that is a very important matter for you to think about.

We don't mind the burdensomeness of babies and little children because they don't hate their helplessness. Instead, they chuckle, crow and toddle about happy as larks at their burdensomeness to us.

But then, babies and little children do not suffer from pride in power and independence. So they do not live in terror of helplessness as you are doing. If they grow tired, they reach up their arms to us to be carried. But when we aging parents grow tired, we dare not reach for our children's strength with the children's

Rebekah Lodge Holds Skellytown Memorial Service

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — Skellytown Rebekah Lodge met recently in IOOF Hall with 13 visitors reported made to ill members and seven cards sent.

A report was heard from four members who attended the Panhandle Circle Meeting at Claude.

A memorial service was held by Mmes. R. E. Heaton, Jack Houston and John Simmons, using the theme "Eternal Life." Scriptures were read from the Bible and five tapers were lighted in memory of five deceased members, Mrs. Clara Feginspan, May Allen, Ruth Herd, Juanita Marloe and Olan Daugherty.

Mrs. May Braden of Borger, district deputy of District Three, was introduced and given the honors of the lodge. Mrs. Braden was presented a gift from the lodge members.

Mrs. Miles Pearson was appointed team captain for the remainder of this year, installed by Mrs. Braden and Mrs. Bessie Gillman of Borger.

Announcement was made that the Panhandle Circle will be held at Panhandle Rebekah Lodge June 29 and July 26 and that the Skellytown Lodge will be the hostess.

After the closing of the meeting a salad supper was served from a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with red roses in a white bowl flanked by tall red tapers.

Attending were Mmes. R. E. Heaton, E. E. Crawford, Floyd McCoy, John Simmons, Clifford Coleman, Jack Houston, Muriel Nichols, Miles Pearson, Tom Hill, W. S. Berry, Kenneth Fanning and Lela Mathews, members, and three visitors Mmes. May Braden, Bessie Gillman and R. Pearson, all of Borger.

Easy-Care Trousseau Lingerie Is Offered Modern-Day Brides

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise Editor
Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — Shopping for trousseau lingerie can be an enjoyable prospect for the prospective bride. These days, in making her selections, she can be romantic and practical at the same time.

Despite their fragile appearance, modern gowns and peignoirs are remarkably durable and will take to the automatic washer with the greatest of ease.

According to experts, a bride should have at least six pieces of nightwear — two gown and peignoir ensembles (one long and one short), plus four other gowns, pajamas or baby dolls.

The same experts say that women spend one third of their lives in nightwear and advise brides to apply the philosophy that they are buying not only for their trousseau but for later on as well.

Regardless of whether one considers sleepwear a long-term investment, it should be purchased as carefully as the rest of the trousseau. Take plenty of time to choose each item and to try it on to test its becomingness and fit. Few girls would ever think of buying a dress without trying it on. Yet many make the mistake of judging a gown by its counter appeal alone.

Know which fabrics will do the most for you. For example, those which are knit or woven of man-made fibers such as nylon and Dacron can be laundered in a jiffy, dry quickly and require little if any ironing before wearing.

Trousseau loungewear, once pretty much limited to "bedroom" negligees, has broken from its old stereotype to include a whole range of at-home clothes.

Part and parcel of the trends of the times, modern brides do not want frothy negligees that are first cousins to their gown and peignoir sets. They prefer hostess separates, culottes and jumpsuits that will lead a busy fashion life when the wedding trip is over.

VARIETY FOUND IN LINGERIE FASHIONS — When the bride-to-be selects her lingerie trousseau this year, she will find lots of variety in fashions. The short shift by Saramee (left) is a big favorite. Dacron and cotton blend to make the wispy botiste for warm weather comfort. Tiny bows mark the shoulders and front trimming is in ribbon beading and tulip embroidery. Designed with a bride in mind is the romantic gown (center), with its own peignoir. It is by Lucie Ann in lace-trimmed crepe of Dacron. Antron nylon trico, vibrantly printed makes a dramatic departure from fluffy negligees in Perfect's culotte (right). It is in shocking pink and black on white.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES — One of those storage and unusual days in which it is very important that you do not rely upon your intuitions but carry through with the clear judgment you can obtain only by the use of the services and studies of your choice. Be sure to schedule the completion of your work with intelligence and caution.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Apr. 19) — If you are of sufficient stature to others in the right direction you are able to progress more quickly. Close ties help you much. Be very careful of your health — exercise and be sure to drink.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — If you are a cheerful and sunny soul, you will do much to alleviate the worried or gloomy. Get into simple pleasures that also help you feel better. Be sure to take time for yourself.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — It is important to assist those close to you before you take on outsiders' troubles. As you take on the duties of a peignoir, you must be careful not to get too involved. Be generous as you go.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22) — Important to understand with the regular tasks of your particular church and in some cases, state or town. Others are feeling quite nervous. Be calm and assure those who are.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) — You may have many financial problems, but if you deal on both matters, they soon disappear. Be sure you don't get further into debt. Analyze well before you invest in anything.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — You can expect experts in your field of endeavor to give you a lot of good data that is important to you. Any disputes you have with others should be settled peacefully. Be happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — If your main aim is to get on in your life, be understanding instead of critical today. Make this a quiet, peaceful day. Avoid social parties where people are apt to exaggerate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — You have a fine opportunity to drive into your house and do a complete check of a very helpful nature today. Get tomorrow's activities noted and scheduled later. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — There are any varied tasks that either get in your direction. Don't be there when you are not needed. Be sure that all about you is orderly, very clean.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 19) — It is best to be with inspiring persons or at church so that you may regain fine principles and the which you were trained in. Be confident and working for you. GIVE.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19) — Plan to have a new system by which to get regular duties attended more efficiently. Be sure you get about your business. They are apt to be quite strenuous today.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — A new attitude toward your ambitious behavior can bring about much greater success in all departments of your life. Show that you are determined.

Memorial Service Is Conducted by Rebekah Lodge

Twenty-eight members of Pampa Rebekah Lodge 355 met recently in IOOF Hall and conducted a memorial service in honor of Mrs. Maude Buzzard and Betsy Ross with Mrs. Nelda Monday leading the service.

Mrs. Eunice Maddox, noble grand, presided over the business meeting with Mrs. Alice Whitwood serving as vice grand. A report was made of six visits made to ill members and Mrs. Ona Gray's name was drawn from the Friendship Fund.

A Certificate of Perfection was presented to Mrs. Bobbie Brummett by Mrs. Nelda Monday, lodge deputy, and Mrs. Ona Gray was installed as inside guardian.

Members attending and participating in the memorial service were Mmes. Hazel Franklin, Eula Thornhill, Alta May McElrath, Eunice Maddox, Bobbie Brummett, Ona Gray, Eula Killian, Mary Dell McNeil, Bea York, Ola McAfee, Ellen Kretzmeier and Nelda Monday.

White Ribbon Is Won by Pampan At 4-H Roundup

Cynthia Hogsett won a white ribbon for individual score in the 4-H plant identification contest at Roundup held at College Station. Others on this team are Phyllis Atwood, Winona Chisum, and Jackie Nickel. They competed with 72 individuals.

Mrs. Gage Robertson Jr. is their coach. They were accompanied to contest by the assistant home demonstration agent of Gray County, Mrs. Jay Chanell.

Gordon Taylor represented district I in the quarter horse judging contest, but did not place. This group of 4-H members will take a side trip to Six Flags Over Texas before returning home.

Complexion Tips for Bridal Beauty

TIPS FOR BRIDE-TO-BE — The young bride-to-be starts complexion care weeks before the wedding ceremony. On her wedding day, she starts with a special facial to cleanse the skin (left) and follows this with an astringent to close the pores. Choosing foundations, powder and lipstick in the pink tones, she applies make-up before her mother sets the traditional veil in place (center). A final touch (right) and she is ready for this most special day in her life.

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Marriage at any age is exciting. It is the younger bride, however, who brings the most exuberance and sense of mystique to the altar. Her very youthfulness creates problems.

The whirl of preparations and emotional upheaval can play havoc with the bride-to-be's complexion. Take steps at least a week if not two or three weeks before the ceremony to assure a smooth, radiant skin.

The bride-to-be who has permanent facial blemishes needs to shop around for make-up that covers these. In most cases daily care erases many complexion problems.

Start by cleansing your face with a medicated lotion cleanser. Work the rich lather over neck and face in upward massaging motions. Rinse with warm, then cool water. This helps soften and protect your complexion against oiliness, dryness or blackheads.

Follow this with a medicated astringent. Such an astringent acts to tighten pores and firms the skin.

However, cosmetologists (at DuBarry) point out your skin may need an extra cleansing with cleansing grains if you are prone to very oily skin and blackheads. Such a cleanser removes surface oil and impurities loosens clogged pores and flakes off dry skin. Healthier new skin should appear in its place.

For full tonic effect use the cleansing grains several times during the first week and twice a week after.

Once your skin is in tip-top condition you are ready to select make-up for your W-Day. You will want a soft appearance. Avoid dark lipstick, heavy dark eye make-up and dark foundation. Lean heavily upon the pinkish tones in lipstick, powder and foundation. If you feel you need eye make-up, select pale greens or blues for your eyelids and light brown eyebrow pencil if you are blond or brown-haired. Avoid heavy mascara or elaborate eyelashes.

On your wedding day, start with a wake-up facial and smooth on a greasless and quick drying foundation that conceals blemishes but looks natural. Brush on one of the new color foundations and top this with a loose powder. Let set and brush away excess. For your lips apply a pomade or base coating of one of the new neutral shades. Top this with a delicate pink or apricot, perhaps with a pearlescent cast. Blot, powder the lips and reapply lipstick. Blot again. Now you are ready to face the music.

TASTIER DIET FOOD
Weight watchers will find their diet foods tastier. One manufacturer recently introduced milkshake flavors — Chocolate marshmallow, cherry, banana and tutti-frutti — to its prepared diet liquids.

Rub grass stains with glycerin and leave to soften for 30 minutes before washing.

Bridegroom's Father Performs Ceremony For Patricia Rhode, Jerry W. Farmer

At 8 o'clock Friday evening Miss Patricia Ann Rhode became the bride of Jerry Wayne Farmer in a double-ring ceremony officiated by the father of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rhode of 912 S. Sumner are the parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Farmer of Muleshoe.

A white wrought-iron archway entwined with greenery, floor baskets of yellow mums, baskets of greenery, two seven-branched candelabra bearing yellow tapers and a white satin covered kneeling bench appointed the scene for the wedding which was solemnized in First Assembly of God Church.

Miss Melvina Waggoner of Levelland, organist, presented traditional wedding selections and accompanied Miss Lucracia Hartsock of Norman, Okla. as she sang "Because of You," "True Love" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Wearing a chapel-length gown of silk organza over taffeta, the bride was given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal." The fitted bodice of the gown featured a sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves which came to petal points over the hands. The front of the bodice and bell-shaped sheath skirt were embellished with alencon lace motifs. A chapel-length train was attached to the back of the gown below the neckline. The bride's three-tiered elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a coil of illusion petals adorned with seed pearls topped by a seed pearl tiara. She carried a cascade crescent-shaped bouquet of white roses centered with white yellow-throated phalaenopsis orchids.

Bridal attendants were Miss Lacreia Sharp of Seminole, Okla., maid of honor; Miss Linda McCoy and Miss Dianne Ammons, bridesmaids; Mrs. Art Rhode Jr., bride's sister-in-law, bridesmatron, and Cheryl Robbins, bride's cousin, junior bridesmaid.

Dressed identically in floor-length gowns of yellow peau de soie, featuring scooped necklines and bell-shaped skirts and white gloves, they carried crescent-shaped bouquets of yellow pom mums and salal leaves.

Serving as the bridegroom's best man was Art Rhode Jr., bride's brother, and Phil Hastie of Fort Smith, Ark., Jimmy Seely of Lamesa and Ronnie Farmer of Muleshoe, bridegroom's brother, served as groomsmen and ushers. Lonny Robbins, bride's cousin, was junior groomsmen.

John Oxley and Dennis Walker, cousins of the bride, served as candlelighters.

An azalea pink silk suit, complemented by white accessories, was worn by Mrs. Rhode for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Farmer was attired in a pale blue lace suit accented by blue accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of yellow cybidium orchids.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church annex. An ecru crocheted cloth, made by the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. John Rhode, placed over yellow linen, covered the bride's table which was centered with silver candelabra entwined with greenery bearing yellow tapers surrounded by the bridal attendants bouquets. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Deryl Robbins, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Gerald Walker of Denver, Colo., also an aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Eddie Polnac, bride's cousin, attended the guest registrar. Included in the house party were Mrs. Alfred Oxley and Mrs. Ollie Miller, bride's aunts, Mrs. James McCoy, Mrs. W. D. Smith, Mrs. R. P. Hill, Mrs. B. B. Altman and Mrs. Minnie Erwin.

After changing into a yellow silk suit with white accessories and lifting the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet the new Mrs. Farmer and her husband departed for Dallas on a wedding trip.

The bride, a 1963 graduate of Pampa High School attended

Southwestern Assembly of God College, Waxahachie, for two years. The bridegroom, a 1963 graduate of Muleshoe High School, attended South Plains Junior College one year and Southern Assembly of God College one year. The couple will make their home in Lubbock where they both will enter Texas Technological University in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, bridegroom's parents, entertained members of the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner in Jim's

Ruth Millett What We Say and What We Mean

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Remarks we frequently make but rarely mean: "I couldn't care less." (This usually means just the opposite—that we do care, but aren't willing to admit it.) "You can be perfectly frank with me; you won't hurt my feelings." (And if the other person takes us at our word—we resent the frankness.)

"It was no trouble at all." (A polite and gracious phrase—but rarely a truthful one.)

"I'm sure you don't remember me." (But it will be a blow if he doesn't.)

"I wouldn't worry if I were you." (We probably would.)

"Don't worry about me." (If the other person should be worried about us and isn't, we would think him mighty unfeeling.)

"Correct me if I'm wrong." (But if you do we'll certainly argue the point.)

"I really don't deserve any of the credit." (That's a remark we certainly don't want anyone to believe.)

"Well, at least in the hospital, you'll get a good rest." (Who ever got as good a night's rest in a hospital bed as in his own?)

"It's not the money, it's the principle of the thing." (It's usually the money, too, if there's money as well as principle involved.)

"Drop in any time; you're always welcome." (Nobody is welcome any time.)

Methodist Church Groups Have Meet

GROOM (Spl) — Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church met with the Priscilla Circle in the Church Parlor recently.

The president, Mrs. Manuel Ruthardt, was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Walter Garmon gave the devotional. A special pledge service was given by Mrs. C. A. Morrow.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Blanche Harris and Mrs. Benton Moreman, assisted by Mrs. Van Earl Steed, and Mrs. Manuel Ruthardt, C. A. Morrow, E. R. SUNDAY MORNING GRIST From the Editorial Mill

THAT FESTIVAL just concluded under the ballyhoo of "Lake Meredith Festival" was in no sense of the phrase, a public opening of the lake behind Sanford Dam or the area around it. The three-day "celebration" took place for the most part in downtown Borger or at the Borger Dome, with the main attractions used as lures for special days and extended hours in Borger stores. So far as we could determine, the only event actually staged at Lake Meredith was a fishing derby Friday afternoon (plus some guided tours). Somehow or other, the impression got out that the "Lake Meredith Festival," so-called, was a big three-day affair at the lake for all the people from everywhere. Of course, the lake is not open to the general public. The official opening probably will be held in mid-summer, but until the National Parks Service gives the "go" signal, 90 per cent of the area is "off limits." The Borger promoters did a good job for Borger and are to be commended for it. Since Pampa is one of the 11 CRMWA cities, maybe local civic clubs and merchants could fire up a Lake Meredith celebration of some kind, like inviting everybody to come to Pampa and shop, and fish in Lake Meredith on the way home.

IT GIVES one a chill to read advance blurbs of the National Education Association (the organization that continually beats the drum for federal take-over of school control) stating that more than 10,000 educators will attend the NEA's national convention in New York City next June 27-29. The most recent notice says 7,000 official delegates, comprising the NEA Representative Assembly, will develop policies to guide NEA for the coming year on such issues as desegregation of schools and its own affiliated groups, how to resolve conflicts between teachers and school boards, teacher strikes, professional negotiations and sanctions, political activity of teachers, federal support of education, and others—including "extremist attacks on the schools." This paragraph, one suspects, would be considered by NEA as an "extremist attack on the schools." We have no quarrel with education. Our quarrel is with NEA and its socialistic aims for federal control under the cloak of federal aid. AMONG SEVERAL invitations last week, we turned down one to attend the sixth annual conference of United Press-International Editors and Publishers slated for Washington, D. C., next October 5 and 6. The principal speakers will be President Johnson and Vice President Hubert Humphrey. With a double-barreled firing squad like that on the speakers' rostrum, the UPI editors should be in for a good old-fashioned whing-ding of a political rally. Ladies attending the conference will be guests of Mrs. H. H. H. at a tea in the Humphreys' Chevy Chase home. They also will be luncheon guests of Mrs. Pearl Mesta, Washington's hostess with the mostest. Those two affairs should be fun.

SOME THINGS you may have missed. A Department of Labor estimate says the nation's labor force will rise to 85 million by 1970 and 101 million by 1980. It was 77 million in 1964 and 73 million in 1960. Come July 1, the National Debt will be $1,627 for every man, woman and child in the U. S. And all the time you thought your bills were pretty well paid up. Stray in the wind? LBJ is reported to have said recently to a gathering of senators: "I let King (Martin Luther) go too far." Could be.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for the Culberson Chevrolet announcement today on the new building and expansion program planned by the long-time Pampa business concern out on N. Hobart St. It is more evidence of confidence in Pampa's future as well as another step forward by a progressive company. It will be an attractive addition to the city's commercial image.

THE GUEST PEN:

Write 'Em a Hot Letter

By D. R. SEGAL, Editor, Brownsville Herald

I have always been very free with advice, although I am honored to admit that rather an astonishing amount of it has gone unheeded.

I once wrote a United States Senator—a fellow from Texas name of Johnson or Johnston, I forget which. Anyway, it was the substance of my advice that he should seek a new line of work peddling Indian Swamp Oil Tonic & Universal Placebo from a traveling tent show. This Johnson—or Johnston—never answered, but I did get a very cordial letter from a man who claimed to be his executive assistant (I believe he's in jail on a morals rap at the moment), assuring me that Mr. Johnson (or Johnston) was purely delighted that I had taken the time and trouble to dash off a little note to him, and that the Johnson or Johnston would give the matter serious consideration. He also said (the fellow who's now in jail, that is—not Johnson or Johnston) that I would hear directly from Johnson (or Johnston) immediately upon his return from wherever he was at the time on business of unspeakable importance.

He (Johnson or Johnston) never kept the promise made by his executive assistant, which only proves that little lies lead to great deceits and now this man is in jail. (The executive—not Johnson or Johnston.) Another time I wrote a little note (I can't even recall the why), to the president of a large corporation, offering him, gratis, a piece of invaluable wisdom. Through what I assume was a colossal gaffe in the secretarial pool, I received by return air mail a note reading:

"Dear Son: It was good to hear from you. Take care of your athlete's foot. That stuff can be dangerous if it gets away from you. Lovingly, Dad."

It was an unsettling experience, but on reflection it gave me the satisfaction of knowing that even industrial giants have troubles with secretaries, mailing rooms, dictaphones and athlete's foot.

Now that I have turned to advice-offering as a means of livelihood, I rarely offer my views on any subject unless a commercial transaction has been consummated. Never was Sam Johnson (don't confuse him with the fellow from Texas mentioned earlier) more astute than when he offered the opinion that anyone who writes things for reasons other than financial reward is an utter damn fool. Only once in the past few years, have I fallen from this resolve. My wife, whose husband works, purchased an expensive automobile with what was known in the trade as "premiun" tires. The car had one irritating characteristic. At 65 miles per hour it shimmied like Little Egypt at the county carnival. I undertook to solve this dilemma by interminable conferences with the local automobile dealer and the agent for the

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE

One of the oldest platitudes uttered by the welfare-staters is "Labor is not a commodity." The implication being that the same laws of supply and demand that govern the prices of products can not apply to labor. And yet, when you think it out, the only price you ever pay is the price of labor.

Did you ever give money to a piece of steel? Or to a building? Or to a plot of land? Of course not.

In every case, you are paying individuals for a service that has been rendered.

When you purchase a product in a store, the price you pay is the sum total of the prices on all the human services that went into the production and distribution of that product. The retailer receives part of the price as his reward for getting the product to you. The same applies to the wholesaler.

And what about the manufacturer? He receives his share of the price—which he promptly redistributes to the various individuals whose services produced the product.

He also pays part of the price to suppliers who provide him with "parts" and "materials." But the suppliers who provide him with parts merely redistribute their shares, just as the manufacturer did.

"Cost" of Materials

Finally, you get down to the cost of "materials"—the metals or other natural resources from which the product was made. But does part of the price of the product then go to a piece of iron? Of course not. That part of the price goes to the individuals who brought the iron from the ground to the manufacturer.

Even "rent" is a price upon labor. It is the price paid to an individual for the privilege of using his land.

And what about "profits"? Are they any different? No. Profit to the investor means the price paid to him for being willing to forego his purchases and allow someone else to use his money. And the entrepreneur—the businessman who initiates and runs the enterprise—is simply being paid for his service in bringing together all of the other human services for the purpose of providing a specific product.

Every time you write a check—or pay cash—for anything, the money you pay will ultimately be split up among human beings. You cannot conceive of a situation where any price is anything but the cost of a service performed by a human being.

Supply and Demand

All of these human beings are governed by the same natural economic truths. If any one of these people—the worker, the investor, the landlord, the entrepreneur—tries to charge more for his service than others are willing to pay, someone else will come along and replace him. Supply and demand will rule despite any platitudes to the contrary.

If the government attempts to raise the price, or lower the price, of any of these services, it will cause unemployment. For to raise the price will mean that others will no longer buy the service. And to lower the price means the individual being priced will no longer consider it profitable and will choose to do something else instead.

Ever price ultimately is a price upon labor. Prices are set by individuals weighing their own desires and resources. Government cannot set prices by decree: all it can do is create surpluses or shortages by trying to set prices.

Eventually, I wrote a personal letter to the presidents of both the tire and the automobile companies. Both wrote me letters of such warmth and concern that I am convinced they are Number 23B sent to thousands like myself who have the gall to find fault with their faultless product.

Both presidents caused "special representatives" to show up at my doorstep. Both conducted exhaustive tests, confirming what I already knew: that the car shimmied something awful. Each added that the other was at fault and advised me to settle for nothing less than complete satisfaction from the other. This went on until it became time to trade off the car, which I did. Now, someone else has a car that invariably shimmies at 65 miles per hour.

I don't know whom he may have written about it, if he is the literary sort, but I would advise him to save the stamps. This business of "write 'em a hot letter" is greatly overrated. Miltowns are better.

Desegregation of Teachers Next Aim of P'W: Office of Education Distributes Unofficial Guidelines

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Office of Education is preparing to force the desegregation of teachers and professional staffs, as well as students, in schools now being integrated.

While no final decision has been reached on how to accomplish this, education authorities in the Department of Health, Education & Welfare are studying court decisions and the 1964 civil rights law to determine the best methods of enforcement.

Once these procedural questions are ironed out, according to members of the House Labor & Education Committee, swift government action can be expected.

The legislators, headed by Representative Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., are gathering information in this field of desegregation. They are concerned about the fate of Negro teachers, due to the elimination of the dual school system in areas in the South.

The committee's staff is under instructions from Powell to check on reports that some Negro teachers are losing their jobs as desegregation literally takes away their classes.

The Office of Education has taken no official public position on the desegregation of teachers and professional staffs as yet. However, its authorities are widely disseminating what is described as an unofficial document, spelling out guidelines for Southern schools.

Titled "Teacher and Staff Desegregation" and prepared by G. W. Foster Jr., law professor at the University of Wisconsin and a consultant at the Office of Education, the guidelines hold that "desegregation of teachers and professional staffs is ultimately in the picture."

CLEARING THE DECKS — In laying the legal argument for future government action, the document points out the trend of recent court decisions, as follows:

"It was characteristic of the legally separated schools that Negro teachers were assigned to Negro schools, white teachers to white schools.

"In general, the courts have permitted desegregation of pupils to take precedence over desegregation of teachers and staff personnel in the schools. More recently, however, courts have been ordering districts to undertake teacher integration as part of the total job of desegregating."

ed faculties and teaching staffs are evident vestiges of the dual schools and that a district cannot be said to have a unitary character until patterns of teaching and staff desegregation are broken up."

The guidelines contend: "The problem is one which every school district must face and start working on."

They hold that "every desegregation plan (submitted to the Office of Education) should reveal awareness of the problem and provide assurance that steps will be taken to remove racial discrimination in assignment of teaching personnel."

Under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, school districts receiving federal aid may not practice discrimination in their operations and activities.

Until this month no major effort was made by the Office of Education to use the vast powers of the act to require the desegregation of teachers and professional staffs.

As one of the agencies with responsibility to enforce Title VI, the Education Office can bar federal funds from school districts that fail to comply with the Civil Rights Act.

MORE GUIDELINES — Other general guidelines the Office of Education suggests "may be helpful to school authorities in compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act" are:

Under the regulations of the Office of Education, the commissioner must accept court-ordered plans of desegregation, and it would appear unlikely that he will accept less than required by judicial standards in passing on voluntary plans.

"Each district must carry the burden of justifying any delay beyond fall 1963 in completing its desegregation plan. This is true of districts which have already experienced some desegregation. It is also true for districts which have yet to take the first step.

"Districts which provide busing must make special provision in their plans to make clear that discriminatory practices are removed."

The guidelines also stress that financial help can be made available to assist school districts "in designing and carrying out plans of desegregation." The Office of Education retains a group of legal consultants who can be employed by school districts that request their assistance.

"As the court cases are dealing with the problem, pupils have been permitted to challenge faculty desegregation on several grounds. First, pupils cannot be discriminated against on the basis of their race: hence pupils have a right to insist that a teacher not be assigned them on the basis that the teacher's race corresponds on their own."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone)

QUESTION: "We hear so much lately of court decisions that are 'revolutionary' to say the least. As stare decisis, they now become the legal precedents for settling future questions of law."

"Aren't these courts acting illegally by pre-empting the powers of Congress and of the states, which are the sole law makers? Hasn't this authority been usurped, for so many of these decisions' how are contrary to the long standing legal precedents of case history on law? I specifically hold in mind the ban on prayers?"

ANSWER: The J. S. question is one that has been raised throughout the history of the United States. In 1819, Thomas Jefferson in a letter to Spencer Roane, pointed out that the people were deprived of the authority to remove the members of the judiciary, and "we find the judiciary on every occasion still driving us into consolidation."

Under the theory that the courts have exclusive right to prescribe "rules for the government of the others" (branches of government) Jefferson said the Constitution "is a mere thing of wax in the hands of the judiciary, which they may twist and shape into any form they please. My construction of the Constitution is very different from that you (Spencer Roane) quote. It is that each department is truly independent of the others, and has an equal right to decide for itself what is the meaning of the Constitution in the cases submitted to its action."

Actually, the Supreme Court justices seem to have abandoned the practice of abiding by previous court decisions (stare decisis), and seem to believe the "law" is what the majority decides it is at any specific time.

As to the reference to the "ban on prayers," as we understood the ruling, the court decided that it has not prohibited any voluntary prayers.

The Nation's Press

From Editor and Publisher Magazine

It has become a common practice that whenever a craft union or several unions cause the suspension of a newspaper or group of newspapers through a strike the unions involved cooperate in publishing a so-called "strike paper" for the duration. Ostensibly they are published as a public service to keep the people informed. Aside from that, it seems to us there is a fine legal point here that has never been tested in the courts.

The point is: Can any group of people start a business in competition with and to take the place of a similar business which the group has already forced to suspend operations?

The newspaper business is unusual because of the public service aspect. But assume that the Bakers' Union struck all the bake shops in town and then was able to supply all the customers from a union-operated plant. Or suppose union butchers closed all the butcher shops in town by

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

What Remedy Has Buyer Of Shoddy Goods? Plenty!

By SAM CAMPBELL, Business Editor

Is your toaster not toasting? Is your iron not heating? Is your electric can opener not opening? Is your washing machine not holding its oil? Do your lightbulbs not light? Does your hosiery not run, or vice versa? Etc., etc., etc. If not, what can you do about it?

Hire A Bureaucrat? The first thing that pops into most minds these days is go out and complain to a politician so that he will levy a tax on you to hire a bureaucrat to pester the manufacturers.

Two things are wrong with that approach. First, like so many other Twentieth Century ornaments, the bureaucrat has a 50-50 chance of being the type that doesn't work either. Second, the type that does work often is more dangerous than the simply worthless.

The victim of shoddy merchandise, moreover, is far from helpless.

First of all, he can sit down and write a good sensible letter to the manufacturer telling exactly — if he knows — how the merchandise failed.

Second, he can take the item back to the store where he got it and tell his story to the retail merchant.

Third, if he doesn't get satisfaction by that means, he can refuse to purchase that brand at any future date.

Companies Spend Millions

Fourth, he can tell his neighbors, kindreds and work associates of his dire experience with the merchandise — if worst comes to worst. In my opinion, a little conversation in the marketplace would do more to clean up any given situation than a whole herd of consumer counsels.

Let's look at it his way. Giant companies spend millions of dollars to establish their name. On evidence of insincerity, that whole expenditure turns against them. Nothing is so potent in evidence as the testimony of an eyewitness — that is, in this case an actual user of a product.

However, just to keep the problem in perspective, let's consider types of merchandise that are maintaining a reputation for durability. Such things as sewing machines, automobiles, auto tires, disposers, radios, plastic garden hose, razor blades, ballpoint pens, auto seat covers, wet-cell batteries, carpeting, tableware, plywood, water-base paints etc.

So you see that there's a bright side to the product picture. My understanding is that the marketing people for manufacturers are usually very grateful when they receive intelligible criticism of their products. Why shouldn't they be? This is the best knowledge they can get of the marketplace that they are trying to serve.

A sensible letter of criticism to the product manufacturer is the first remedy when you have reason to be dissatisfied. It is very likely that will be all that is necessary. The word among product marketers is that the customer is king. With some companies, you have influence you never dreamed of.

Between the Bookends

The Great Boom and Panic

The stock market crash of 1929 remains a favorite subject of economists, historians and others interested in the future of the nation's economy.

Reading Robert T. Patterson's new book, "The Great Boom and Panic," one is struck by the parallel conditions of the "roaring twenties" and the "sizzling sixties." The idea that the U.S. was "depression-proof" reigned supreme during the twenties, just as it does today. (The book will be published on June 15 by Regency Co., 114 W. Illinois St., Chicago 10, Ill. — $6.50.)

Perpetual "Boom"

Patterson quotes Calvin Coolidge's statement just prior to leaving the presidency in 1929 that the nation's economic condition was "absolutely sound" and he cites Herbert Hoover's remark shortly thereafter that the time was in sight when "poverty will be banished from the nation." Such comments are made by political leaders today, and stock prices are just as far removed from their earnings values as they were in 1929.

Was the panic of 1929 the result of "unregulated free enterprise"? No; and Patterson calls attention to the policies of the Federal Reserve System to demonstrate the governmental influence on the economy. Although no federal deficits were incurred during the twenties, causing printed money to enter circulation, bank deposits — under FRS control — were inflated tremendously.

Federal Responsibility

So not only were the political authorities in a position to "do something" about the speculative boom, they were the main cause Patterson points out that "much of the responsibility for the credit excesses of the boom, hence for the severity of the panic and the depression must be placed on the members of the Federal Reserve Board and other high officers in the Federal Reserve System who encouraged the unwarranted credit expansion.

"Perhaps those who determined the Federal Reserve's policies did not comprehend how dangerous they were; but if they — the nations top-monetary authorities — did not how could those caught up in the great speculative frenzy have been expected to foresee and understand the dangers?"

"The Great Boom and Panic" is not only an interesting day-by-day account of the history of the period; it is also a well-written human-interest look at the individuals involved. It is both informative and entertaining.

H. L. Hunt Writes

WHAT YOU CAN DO

If you sincerely believe in freedom and in patriotism, you can do something about it as the best are doing.

Only a very few people can afford to give their full time to this cause. Many mistakenly believe that there is no place for the part-time advocate of American principles.

Every time you speak up for our personal liberties, for our Constitution, for our national independence, you are doing something important for the cause you believe in. It is well if what you say can be heard by many. But it is better to reach one with a message he will remember and act upon, than a hundred who will listen casually and then forget.

Every time you help to guide a young person along the road to an understanding of our heritage and of the meaning of liberty, you are doing something important for the cause you believe in. Our young people are the future of this country. If they do not forget freedom they will learn how to keep it.

Try to make patriotism a pleasant diversion or outright fun. Be happy in your conviction that your cause is right. Do not go about with a long face. We all feel gloomy and disheartened at times, but we must never give others an impression that a belief in liberty brings gloom and despair. In stead it brings joy and happiness.

Don't criticize the press, for anyone can complain; instead commend the writers you find who love our country and pass on to them "good news" for freedom.

Wit and Whimsy

The two hunters were sitting in a duck blind when a flock came by and Dan blasted away but none fell.

He turned to Charlie and said: "Dan — You have just witnessed a miracle! Somewhere in that flight of ducks flies a dead one."

When Gladstone had finished a long speech in which he attacked the policies of crime Minister Disraeli, the latter rose and said: "The man needs no reply. He is inebriated by the exuberance of his own verbosity."

the talking-to-trees side—and the realistic. This aspect of her personality is inherited.

"My mother always reminds me," she says, "that I come from good Scotch-Irish people, and we watch our pennies."

This perhaps accounts for the fact that she says there are only two things she really needs to make her happy—a bicycle and an adding machine.

An adding machine? "I've always loved figures. In school, I was very good at math and algebra."

With this natural bent, she might have gone on to economics or something, except for her teeth. When she was 13, she won a contest for the best teeth in Los Angeles. So she became a model. At 14, she read for the part of "Lolita" and eventually got it.

So she became an actress. And, after she decided that this was the career for her, she poured

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Notes to watch television by:

The Programs: "ABC Scope" this Wednesday will present a half-hour report on the attitude of today's southern college students toward integration and segregation. The program is expected to focus largely on the University of Alabama, where ABC-TV President Tom Moore, a native of Mississippi, recently delivered a commencement address. The telecast is also expected to include segments of a University of Alabama seminar on the subject of integration. On the Wednesday following, June 16, "ABC Scope" will present a report on the problems faced by American colleges and universities with enrollments booming.

This program will focus on Ohio State University. CBS-TV previously announced a one-hour broadcast for June 14 about the recent furor at the University of California, "The Berkeley Rebels."

ADD programs: NBC-TV's "College Bowl" question-and-answer series returns next season. Same network's new Dean Martin variety series, which starts in the fall, will have John Wayne as a guest on its second show. Andy Griffith, Amazon River adds an average of eight million cubic feet of water per second to the Atlantic Ocean.

The Nag Gag That Failed

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) FOOT-LOOSE AND FANCY FREE-WAY.

Charlton Heston rode up to Carroll Baker's house, for the end-of-"Harlow" party, on a horse. And he posed there, sitting magnificently, waiting for the photographers. Only problem was the photographers were all inside already.

Gallantly, Chuck dismounted and went inside and had a ball. He shrugged it off as one of those things. The horse didn't shrug, just kept his equine-impity.

Dany Sava, playing the French stewardess in "Boeing Boeing" was just standing there, after the day's shooting was over. They asked her why she didn't go home.

"I am waiting for my husband," she said. "He is bringing me some hot clothes."

Hot clothes?

"Yes. It is cold here at night. I need to wear some hot clothes."

Stephen Boyd, of "Fantastic Voyage," is studying what he calls "esoteric teaching." He explained, but all I got out of it was that it is some kind of rarified philosophy. I did like the sentence he says is the cornerstone of it:

"Now that I can make a living, it is time I learned to make a life."

I visited the set of "Billie," the Patty Duke comedy which was "Time Out for Ginger" years ago on Broadway. And it

Five Area Counties Get $67,000 From Company

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — Five northern Texas counties have good reason to call Cities Service Gas Company a helpful neighbor. The company paid property taxes in Roberts, Hemphill, Wheeler, Gray and Carson counties totaling more than $67,000 for 1964.

Residents of the five counties will probably be surprised at the size of the tax bill, for much of the gas transmission company's facilities — its gas pipelines — are buried underground and out of sight.

The company's ad valorem tax bill in the five states in which it operates totaled nearly $4,000,000 last year. These tax revenues are important to the individual counties since they help to provide essential services. They are the source of funds for operating the county government, with a share also going to school districts and towns within the county.

The ad valorem tax is only one of several taxes that Cities Service Gas Company pays in Texas. The others are capital stock and franchise taxes, plus a use tax, unemployment tax and gross receipts tax.

The ad valorem taxes account for only a fourth of the company's total tax bill. When federal levies on income, social security and unemployment are added, the total reaches more than $16,000,000 for 1964.

Cities Service Gas Company delivers natural gas from producing fields to distributing companies serving nearly 450 towns in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Texas and Nebraska.

Federal Power Bar Hears Sun Oil Lawyer

WASHINGTON D.C. — Area pricing of natural gas producers by the Federal Power Commission will hurt the public because it will result in a shortage of gas, Sun Oil Attorney John A. Ward III told the Federal Power Bar Association at its twentieth annual meeting.

The Commission must have the foresight to protect the public and the wisdom to give independent producers enough incentive to replenish our dwindling supply, he declared.

The facts now demonstrate clearly that the arbitrary imposition of area ceiling prices will not provide the incentive necessary to explore for and produce the tremendous new reserves of natural gas that will be necessary to provide fuel for the warmth and convenience of thousands of American homes and millions of American consumers in the next decade, he asserted.

The attorney pointed out that the FPC staff itself has admitted in the Permian Basin Area Rate Proceeding that over half of the producers used in its sample as the basis for recommending area ceiling prices will not earn even the low rate of return on investment which it recommends.

In the South Louisiana Area proceeding, he continued, the facts of record show that 58 of the 81 companies in the sample selected by the FPC staff will earn less than the staff's recommended rate of return, and 30 of them will earn no return "in other words," he said, "three out of every four companies in the FPC staff's sample will not earn even a rate of return at the low level recommended by the FPC staff."

"How on earth can an independent producer be expected to lay his money on the line in an already risky drilling venture,"

Kreutzer Named Executive VP Of LP Gas

he asked, "if he must go in with the knowledge that FPC area ceiling prices will deprive three out of every four independent producers of a chance to earn a fair rate of return?"

Ronnie B. Havens, formerly of Russell, Kansas, has joined the company's Odessa, Texas, division office to cover the Northeast quadrant of the Permian Basin.

Both men prior to joining Cardinal, were experienced in sales-and-service work with production chemicals.

Owens attended East Texas State College from 1957 through 1960. Previously, he had been employed by Amerada Petroleum Corporation in geophysical work and had served two years in the army.

Havens studied chemistry and geology at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, Texas. He is a native of Pampa.
