33,000 More Soldiers Going to Viet

US Jets Rip Red Fighters

SAIGON (UPI) — Two U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom jets using air-to-air missiles Saturday shot down two Communist MIG17 fighters 70 miles from the border of Communist China during the deepest U.S. aerial penetration of North Viet Nam to date.

It was the first "kill" for U.S. Air Force planes since the Korean War. Three MIGs, downed previously over North Viet Nam, were bagged by Navy pilots from U.S. 7th Fleet carriers.

The dogfight took place 75 miles northwest of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, during one of 11 missions in the area by American planes. The F4Cs and six Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets also attacked the Yen Sen ammunition depot and several bridges with rockets and bombs.

During a morning bombing attack on Yen Sen pilots saw three unidentified MIGs but the Communist planes fled.

A U.S. military spokesman said the 1,200-mile-an-hour F4Cs were flying cover at 25,000 feet for the F105s Saturday afternoon when they detected the enemy MIGs on radar.

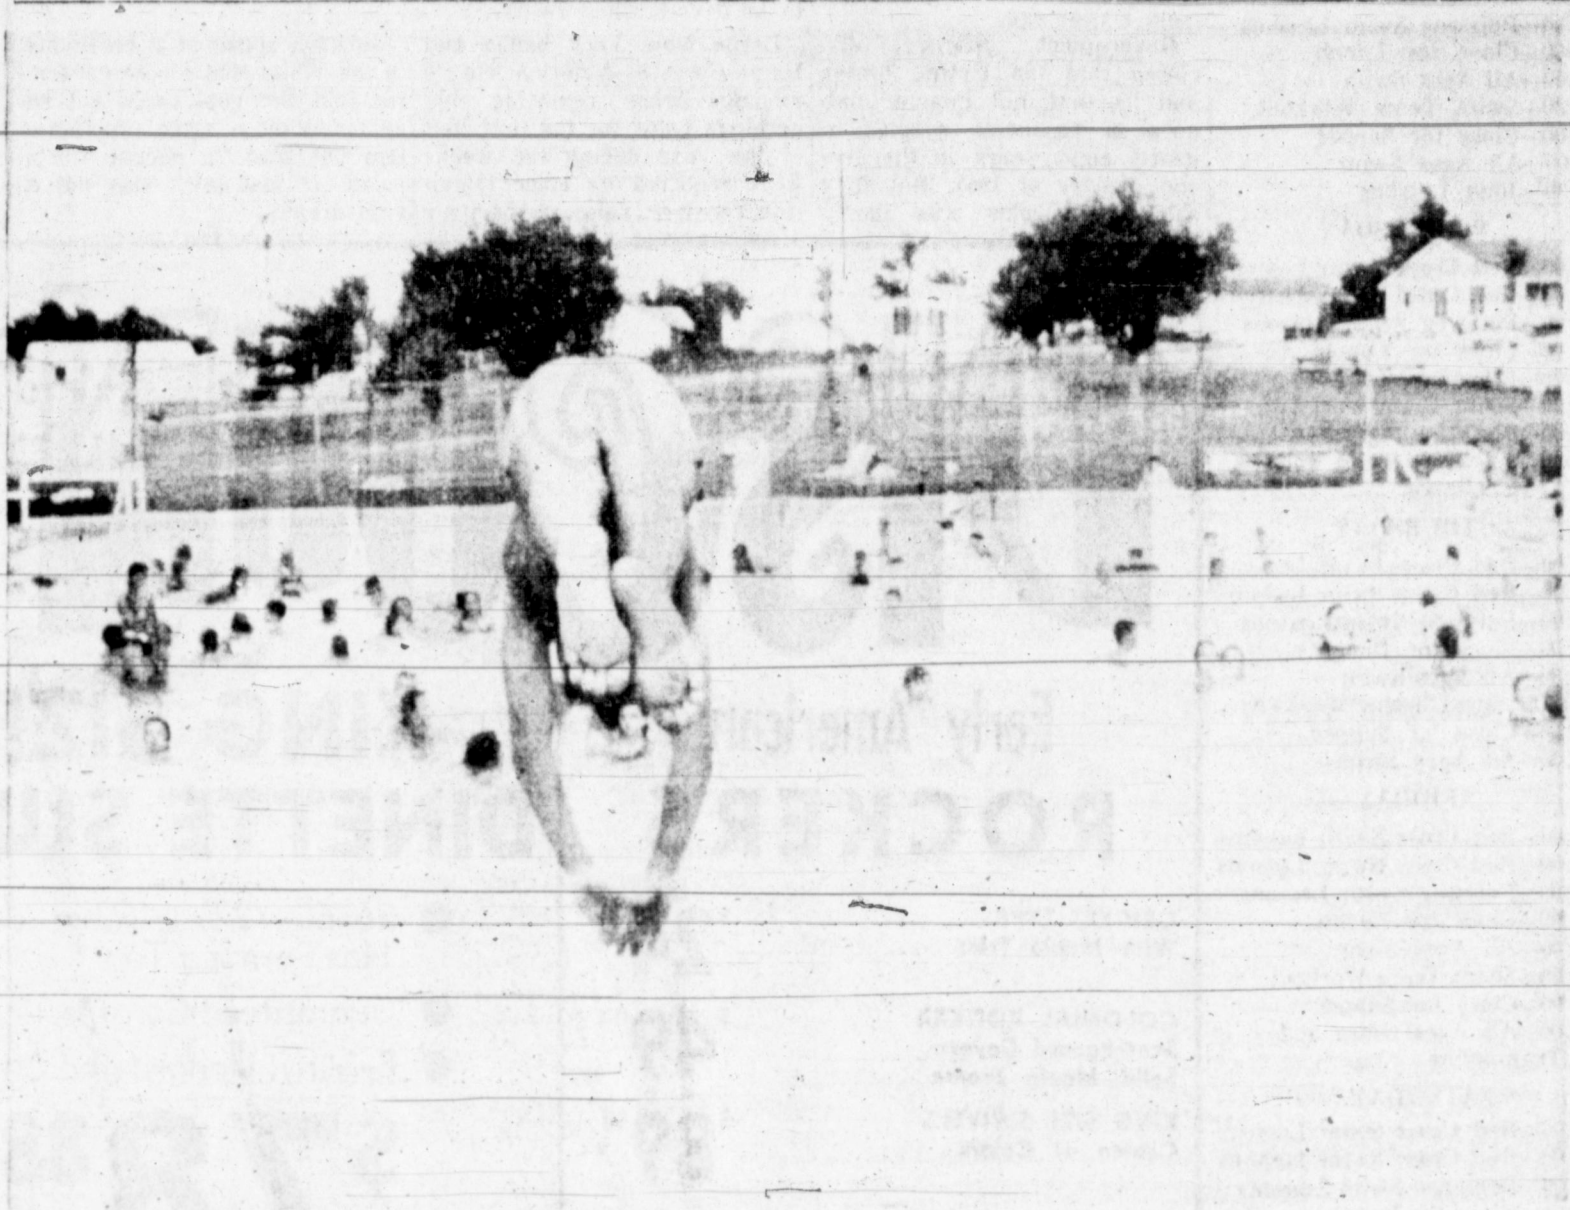

The MIGs attacked with cannon fire and the Air Force planes turned loose their air-to-air rockets. One MIG went "straight down" and the other exploded through a cloud bank, the spokesman said.

America's newest jet heroes, later were identified as Capt. Kenneth Holcombe of Detroit, Mich., and Capt. Donald C. Anderson of Fairbanks, Alaska—aboard one plane—and Capt. Thomas S. Roberts of La Grange, Ga., and Capt. Arthur C. Clark of McAllen, Tex., flying the other.

Two Air Force jets were shot down early this year when MIGs swooped down out of a cloud bank cover and surprised the bomb-laden American planes.

The MIG17 is one of the older models of the Soviet-built jet fighter. The series began with the MIG15 and has progressed

U.S. Strength Due To Reach 100,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States plans to expand its troop strength in the South Viet Nam war to 100,000 or more by late summer or early fall, it was learned Saturday.

This calls for an increase of at least 33,000 men, including thousands in Army combat units.

American authorities disclosed in Saigon Saturday that current strength reached 67,000 this week with the landing of more U.S. Marines.

The expansion will remain "open ended," President Johnson pledged himself Friday to commit whatever manpower is needed to halt Communist aggression from the north.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Ambassador-designate Henry Cabot Lodge will begin next week one of the most significant reviews of Viet Nam strategy and military requirements since American aid to embattled South Viet Nam started.

With Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other officials, they will fly to Saigon next Wednesday night and spend a week conferring with retiring Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and surveying the military situation.

While they are certain to return with recommendations the continuing buildup has already been largely plotted. It has been running at a rate of about 14,000 to 15,000 men a month.

President Johnson prepared the public for the impending increase at a news conference Friday. He said the war "would get worse before it gets better."

Ordinarily, additional troops have been sent into Viet Nam with little fanfare. On other occasions the Pentagon has made announcements. But this time it was the President who laid the groundwork for the expansion. He told newsmen:

"The Communist Viet Cong forces have increased and they are 'swinging wildly...'"

"Beyond the previously announced American buildup goal of 75,000, there will be others that will be required. Whatever is required, I am sure will be supplied."

The President's remarks and other information available to UPI indicated that no minor increase in troop strength was in the offing. It appeared to observers that major units of two or three Army divisions likely were to join the Marine division now deployed in Viet Nam.

Two U.S. Army divisions already have been tapped to supply combat units, according to authoritative information. They are the 101st Airborne at Fort Campbell, Ky., and the First Infantry at Fort Riley, Kan.

Though the United States will increase its forces in Viet Nam by at least 50 per cent—and probably more—the Pentagon apparently believes it is a long way from having to step up draft calls or summon Reservists.

Amarillo Police Find Man Sought By Secret Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An FBI spokesman said Saturday that a man arrested in Amarillo Friday night on a car theft charge has been sought by the Secret Service on charges of threatening the life of President Johnson.

The man was identified by the FBI as Walter Daniel Hendrickson. He also has gone by the names John Gunnison, John F. Rourke and Alan David Savage, the FBI spokesman said.

He was held in Potter County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond. He was the subject of a special alert when the President visited New York City last Friday.

According to the FBI, Hendrickson, believed born in Ozone Park, N.Y., on July 1, 1929, was taken in custody by agents at an Amarillo motel. He was traveling under the name of Hollingswood, the FBI spokesman reported.

He was held on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle. The FBI said the Secret Service had been notified of Hendrickson's arrest.

In the New York alarm, Hendrickson — identified as Gunnison in the police radio broadcast — was described as being "armed and considered dangerous." The broadcast listed him as 36 years of age, 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds. He was described by the New York police broadcast as "rummy looking."

Fighting Erupts Again in Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (UPI) — Fighting broke out in racially-tense Bogalusa Saturday following the arrival of national Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) director, James Farmer.

The first incident happened on Columbia Street, the town's main artery, when about 20 Negroes arrived at the height of the Saturday afternoon shopping period.

White counter pickets appeared waving Confederate flags and a brawl broke out.

Arrested and charged with disturbing the peace were Dalton Graves, 29, a white Bogalusa man and a 14-year-old unidentified Negro.

Shortly afterward another fight broke out on First Avenue, the next street parallel to Columbia. Two white men and a Negro were arrested.

Something New In Auto Tags

By RAY RODGERS JR.

Gray County residents as well as other Texans will now have the opportunity to obtain personalized license plates upon payment of a fee of $10 in addition to the regular registration fee.

The application for the personalized license plates must be filled out and mailed, along with the $10 to the Texas Highway Department, Motor Vehicle Division, 40th and Jackson, Austin, Texas.

Gray County motorists are requested to submit at least three choices for embossing on their plates.

A wide choice of letters, numbering or any combinations of the two, are available. The state provides, however, that any combination of numbering should not conflict with the current numbers.

Plates bearing obscene or objectionable words or initials will not be authorized. The plates will be limited to six characters, either letters, numbers or a combination of both.

Gray County tax officials said they expect the greatest demand will be for monogram-type plates, or those bearing the owners name, nickname or initials. Business interest also has indicated they view the personalized plates as a golden opportunity for special advertising promotion with such plates as "NEWS", "CARPET", "INSURE", etc.

Initial applications (not renewals) may be submitted to the Texas Highway Department at any time during the registration year. Renewal applications should be submitted to the Department not later than January 1, each year, if the owner wishes to receive priority to his special number.

The special plates will be issued on a first-come first-serve basis and no personalized numbers will be duplicated. Once a personalized license plate has been issued to an applicant he (See TAGS, Page 3)

BEAT THE HEAT — These Pampans found a way to beat the heat Saturday as the mercury soared to the 100-degree mark for the first time this year. The weatherman promised no let up in the heat wave for at least the next few days and it appears the pools will remain crowded for awhile.

President Johnson Announces Major Changes in Top Government Personnel

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson Saturday announced a series of major changes in top government personnel, including a new Air Force secretary and resignation of Carl T. Rowan as director of the United States Information Agency.

Personnel changes included:

—Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert who has held the post since January, 1961, is resigning and his place will be taken by Dr. Harold Brown, now director of defense research and engineering. Brown's nomination goes to Congress shortly.

—Rowan, first major Johnson appointee to leave office, asked to be relieved of his USIA post as soon as possible. Johnson accepted his resignation, but named no successor immediately. A major overhaul of the USIA becomes necessary for Rowan's departure leaves the three top jobs vacant.

—Johnson approved retirement of Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton from the Army and assigned to the President's military aide to the President. Clifton's successor will be Johnson's Jetstar plane pilot, Maj. James U. Cross (USAF) who will become a lieutenant colonel July 15.

—Cross was pilot of the aircraft assigned to Johnson when he was vice president. He will be the lowest ranking military aide to a President since before World War II.

—William True Davis Jr., now ambassador to Switzerland, was selected as the new assistant secretary of Treasury.

—Customs and Coast Guard replacing James A. Reed who resigned. Reed, a Maine Republican, was appointed to the post by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Pools Crowded As Pampans Swelter

Pampans have been flocking to the City's swimming pools during July as temperatures soared into the high 90s almost every day and reached 100 degrees Saturday.

After a wet rain-soaked June, Pampa has been in the midst of something of a heat wave.

Every day during the first 10 days of this month, temperatures have been over 90 degrees.

The weatherman has predicted showers almost every day this month, calling for late evening and nighttime thundershowers in his forecast.

But, this has been to almost no avail as not even a trace of moisture has been recorded in the city after over eight inches fell here during the month of June.

Amarillo, Borger and other Panhandle towns have received cooling moisture this month but Pampans have had to swelter.

Swimming pool attendants in the city said their establishments have been crowded almost to the hilt every day this month, morning and afternoon.

But, the attendants pointed out it hasn't become hot enough for any of the city's young ladies to try the new topless bathing suits as yet.

The weatherman could promise no relief for today, calling for hot, sunny weather with the possibility of late evening thundershowers. (See SWELTERS, Page 3)

Construction on a modern $150,000 funeral home in Pampa will begin tomorrow, according to Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Duenkel and their sons, Charles A. and Eddie, owners of the Duenkel Funeral Home.

The Duenkels said that the building, which will be located at 300 West Browning, would be of all brick construction and contain more than 12,000 square feet under one roof.

Plans include chapel, family room, offices, preparation room and garages as well as two three-bedroom living units. Ample parking will also be provided. Cost of building and furnishings will exceed $150,000.

Completion date is expected to be in early fall. General contractor is Bill Duncan Real Estate associated with Bob Ferrin Construction Co., of Amarillo.

Charles O. Duenkel, who has been a Pampa resident since 1924, said that the new funeral home will be one of the most modern in the Southwest. Faith in the continued growth of

FIVE DAYS OF TERROR ENDED QUIETLY

Saga of Violence Spread Across Three States

By THOMAS M. BROWN

United Press International

Lane County Deputy Sheriff Carlton E. Smith—a rookie on his first night patrol—stopped a red sports car for speeding on a lonely side road near Eugene, Ore., at 11:10 p.m. last Tuesday.

Moments later, the 33-year-old father of six moaned "My God, I've been shot," into his radio, staggered and sprawled backward onto the pavement.

When fellow officers found him at 11:20, he was dead—shot once in the back with a shotgun and six times with a pistol.

Patrol cars chased the fleeing sports car until it spun out into a field near Springfield.

The two men inside it disappeared into brush and a manhunt that soon spanned three states was on.

Events surrounding Smith's murder, a rape, a bank robbery and the kidnaping of nine in one of the most ferocious criminal rampages in the West since notorious badman Harry Tracy terrorized Oregon and Washington in 1902 had begun just eight days before on June 28.

The day dawned clear and warm and before the sun reached its zenith, Carl Clotis Bowles walked out of the Oregon state prison at Salem, a free man.

The slender 24-year-old burglar, started his career at the age of 15, spent the next three days waiting to keep a sinister appointment.

On July 1, another inmate, Wilfred M. Gray, 30, was released. He had served terms in New York State and Oregon and was described by prison officials as a consistent trouble-maker of "very superior intelligence."

They joined forces and, in the early hours of last Monday, July 5, a reign of terror began that was to profoundly influence the lives of a score of people. It included such paradoxes as that of two desperadoes wanted for the brutal slaying of a deputy sheriff expressing concern that an infant held hostage had enough milk.

Early Monday morning Isabelle Goodnight, 58, was at her motel, the Oregon Trail, in the Portland suburb of Tigard, when two men walked in.

She thought she recognized one of them—Gray.

She had good reason.

Four years before, Gray had robbed them of $35. This was the crime for which Gray had just finished serving a prison term.

Mrs. Goodnight told police that Gray and Bowles beat her, stole $28 and tied her up. Then Gray raped her in a bedroom, she said.

The next day, two men walked into the 42nd and Going branch of the National Bank of Oregon in Portland at 1:30 p.m., threatened employees with an automatic pistol and a sawed off shotgun and made off with $13,400.

Enrollment for all these lessons will be on July 15 at 1 p.m. on a first come first serve basis. There will be a limit of 25 in each class with the exception of the Jr. and Sr. Life Saving.

Many people have called to pre-enroll their children and we cannot do this for the lessons above until July 15. This is done on this basis to give everyone equal opportunity to enroll. Parents should note this enrollment date and please not ask me to break our rules and persuade me to enroll the early. If you cannot be here on July 15, send a friend to enroll for you. Lesson enrollment for Center members will be free of charge while non-members must pay a fee of $3 per child per course.

The final session of the Red Cross Learn to Swim program will begin on July 12 and last through July 23. Lessons still available at $1 per course are Intermediates and Advanced Beginners at 9 a.m. and Advanced Beginner and Swimmer at 10 a.m. Enrollment for these classes is going on at present and you may come by the Center to enroll.

The new Sun Area or Patio is in full use now and Pampanos should take advantage of this particular area for their sun bathing needs. There are lawn chairs and chaise lounges for your use on the Patio along with soft drinks and candy. The patio is located at the Southwest corner of the swimming pool building—a fenced grassed area with a concrete walk all around. Come by and see our new and improved Center.

Here is still time to purchase that Center membership for use during these hot summer months or the year round activity, that go on here. Memberships are so economical that everybody in Pampa should have one. Family memberships are only $12 for six months or $29 per year while an individual membership is $5 for six months and $8 per year. You need only come by and fill out a membership blank and it takes only minutes to type your membership cards.

The Dolphin swim team just recently competed in the Perryman Invitational Swim Meet and took top honors. In case you do not know who the Dolphins are they are the Centers Competitive Swim Team. This team works out Monday through Friday from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and on Saturday morning from 9-11 a.m. Any boy or girl who is interested in competitive swimming may try out for the team by coming by or calling, the Dolphin Swim Coach, Donald Kopper.

The Center has eliminated plans for the big Battle of the Bands Contest No. 2. This event will take place on July 31 from 7:30 until 11 p.m. Four big bands will compete for $250 in prize money. The Tiaras and the Cords from Amarillo and the Exxex and Mojos from Pampa will vie for prize money. The Tiaras are widely known in the Panhandle area for their Tex-Mex sound and have an elaborate sound system while the Cords have a very popular band. The Exxex won the first Battle of the Bands Contest over five other bands but their work will be cut out for them on July 31. All teen-agers are invited to attend this well arranged event.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was only a brief item of the type known in the newspaper trade as a "filler." It said:

"Tom Mix films are the most recent American films available in Communist Albania." I read that and all of a sudden I was back in a front row seat in the old Queen Theater on a Saturday afternoon absorbing my weekly infusion of eyestrain.

The Queen was the fine arts center in the small Texas town where I received my cultural indoctrination. It showed films on Friday night and Saturday in a regular rotation.

One week it showed Tom Mix. The next week Hoot Gibson, followed by Buck Jones and Ken Maynard. Then Tom Mix again.

Change Of Pace
Once in a while, for a change of pace, the management would throw in a Bob Steele film, but Steele had curly hair so nobody took him very seriously.

Saturday afternoon was double feature time. That is, everybody saw the same picture twice.

Only the brave occupied the front row. There was a tendency among the Saturday afternoon clientele to take cover when the going got rough. But on the front row there was no place to hide.

This was what separated the boys from the boys. At least for the duration of the show.

After it was over, the Tom Mix fans got together and had fights with the Hoot Gibson fans, the Buck Jones fans and the Ken Maynard fans.

Then one day Gene Autry came along and nobody cared any more.

Potential Use
My purpose in recalling the fierce loyalties that silent western stars installed in their fans is not to incite your nostalgia, but to point up their potential as an arm of U.S. foreign policy.

The Communist world already is torn by an ideological split. Right? Well, this could be the means of driving the wedge that will shatter it entirely. All we have to do is wait until the Albanians get thoroughly hooked on Tom Mix films. Then we have the CIA plant in Red China several dozen reels of Hoot Gibson films.

Retail Trade Spurs Over Fourth

By LEROY POPE
NEW YORK (UPI)—The euphoria of the Independence Day holiday carried over into this short business week. Retail trade spurred, the stock market behaved with decorum and economic news in general was good.

Hot weather caused the improved trade, with enthusiastic buying of sportswear, sporting goods and air conditioners sparking the boomlet, Dun & Bradstreet said. Total retail trade for week ended Wednesday was up 9 to 13 per cent from a year ago.

Government officials disclosed that the United States had its first full quarter balance of payments surplus in nearly eight years in the second quarter of 1965. But they said the surplus was partly caused by recalling of American funds overseas and other non-recurring factors and warned against complacency about the balance of payments situation for the rest of the year, they said a deficit for the whole year is inevitable.

Labor Department officials said they were gratified and somewhat amazed by industry's enthusiastic response to President Johnson's appeal to businessmen to give summer jobs to teen-agers. They said the President's appeal for 750,000 such jobs probably was going to be over-filled swiftly.

Large New York banks and Radio Corp. of America were among firms reporting big earnings gains for the first half of the year during the week; RCA reported its color television receiver sales up 54 per cent from a year ago. June went into the record books as the most fantastic sales month in the automobile industry's history—well over 800,000 cars. First half sales also were a record although exact figures aren't yet in.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson Thursday designated Sept. 13 World Law Day, saying that Americans are committed to seek "a world where all men may live in peace with the hope of justice under the rule of law."

Johnson spoke at a ceremony in the White House rose garden. He said the goal could not be achieved by a mere proclamation but that "a decent world ruled by just law" was not a vain dream.

BACK AT DESK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., a chief sponsor of the Senate health care bill, returned to work after a brief stay at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center. Anderson, 69, entered the hospital Tuesday for tests after suffering numbness in one leg.

SHOCKED TO DEATH

FRIONA, Tex. (UPI)—David Austin, 28, of Amarillo was fatally shocked when he jumped out of his truck while a live wire was touching it. Another worker, David Shuler, 22, also of Amarillo, stayed in the truck until the power was shut off and escaped injury.

U.S. Peace-Feelers To Commies Ignored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has on "more than one occasion" sent written peace-feelers to Communist North Vietnamese leaders in Hanoi, officials disclosed Saturday.

One was sent last May as the United States paused for five days in its bombing of North Viet Nam.

Text of the message was delivered to authorities in Hanoi by the British consul-general. It notified the North Vietnamese of the bombing pause and sought a response from them toward reducing hostilities.

Hanoi quickly returned the message to the British, along with Britain's covering note, with no comment or explanation. Meanwhile, over the public Hanoi Radio, the government denounced the pause as a "trick of deceit."

This is the only occasion where it can be demonstrated by public record that the United States has tried to communicate in writing with Hanoi. But well qualified U.S. sources say other such messages were sent at about the time of the bombing pause which took place

They told salesman Jack Skaggs they wanted to buy a sports car. The pair laid down $295 for the car and $12 for the license and title fees. As Gray counted out the cash—mostly 5s, 10s and 20s, Bower said—Skaggs innocently asked, "Where did you rob the bank?"

"Gray didn't think that was very funny," Skaggs said, "but he didn't get upset either."

"We didn't know anything was wrong until the police called us about 3 a. m."

By that time Deputy Smith was dead and six persons had been kidnaped and were being driven to California in a camper truck.

Shirley Corbin, an attractive, red-haired 35-year-old housewife, was fixing a late snack in her home near Springfield a little before midnight Tuesday when her son, Clinton, 12, answered a knock at the door.

"Carl (Bowles) asked if he could use the phone," Clinton said later. "They both came in. They had guns and said they wanted us to take them out of town."

The desperadoes and their two hostages drove for about an hour in Mrs. Corbin's Thunderbird. Then they saw a camper truck parked beside U.S. highway 20. Asleep inside were Udis Riekstins, his wife, Leontine, and their son, Janis, 14, of Renton, Wash., and a family friend, ZZanis Baue, 50, of Ontario, Canada.

"About 1 o'clock there was a knock on the window," Mrs. Riekstins said.

"I had just had a nightmare that a man was shooting at me and I thought I was having another nightmare. The man said they were lost, and then he said, 'Let us in or I'll break the window.'"

"They both started to tear off the screen and I opened the door."

Bowles drove the commandeered camper and Gray followed in Mrs. Corbin's Thunderbird. They wandered through the Cascade foothills until 5:40 a. m. Wednesday morning, when the fugitives abandoned the car, packed everyone into the camper and headed south for California.

"I wasn't sure if we would make it out alive," young Clinton said. "I was scared. Bill Gray said if anyone came for us he would kill my mom."

With Riekstin driving, Bowles guarding him and Gray riding herd on the other hostages in the back of the camper, they arrived in Sacramento at 8:30 Wednesday night. About that time, Oregon police were reaching Mrs. Corbin's abandoned car. They knew nothing of the camper.

At an intersection near the state capitol, Bowles and Gray simply jumped out, leaving the six stunned hostages in the truck.

"We were scared and tired," Mrs. Riekstins said. "We turned around and drove back to Woodland (about 12 miles to get away as fast as we could. Then we called the police."

Meanwhile, the two desperadoes worked their way along a spur railroad track. About two miles from where they left the truck and a short distance from the tracks stood the modest brick and stucco home of Hale Champion, 42, California's state finance director and Gov. Edmund G. Brown's closest political adviser.

The fugitives tiptoed in through an unlocked door. "They had pistols aimed at us when they came in the bedroom," Champion's 39-year-old wife, Marie, said. "They turned on the lights and told us to get out of bed."

Air Force to Launch Pair Of New Watchdog Satellites

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Air Force plans to rocket a new pair of watchdog satellites into distant orbits Thursday to reinforce America's space patrol for sneak nuclear tests.

Informed sources said the twin satellites, part of the Defense Department's "Vela" program to detect violations of the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty, will be re-equipped with unique gas-electric jets to maneuver into proper position.

The sources said the nuclear detection satellites, each weighing 524 pounds, are scheduled to be orbited along with a 12-pound hitch-hiking moonlet by a single Atlas-Agena rocket during a 30-minute period early Thursday.

They will join four other Vela satellites orbited in pairs last

RECEIVE DEGREES

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI) — Two Americans received honorary degrees Thursday at Edinburgh University.

American author and city planning expert Lewis Mumford, 69, of Amenia, N.Y., got an honorary doctorate of law. The Rev. Prof. James Mullenberg of California, a leading Old Testament scholar, was made an honorary doctor of divinity.

The United States signed a treaty with the Soviet Union in August, 1963, limiting nuclear tests to underground explosions. The Vela satellites are part of an elaborate U.S. system to guard against clandestine tests in and above the atmosphere.

The two new radiation detectors are more sophisticated than their highly successful predecessors. Besides the new manufacturing unit, the spacecraft are equipped with more sensitive instruments designed to distinguish between natural radiation and that from a nuclear burst.

The Communist planes shot down Saturday presumably were flown by North Vietnamese pilots. It was not known whether they came from the direction of Hanoi or the Chinese border.

While the dogfight was taking place, six F105 Thunderchiefs dropped a full bomb load on the ammunition dump, destroying five buildings and damaging four others.

Then they regrouped with the F4C fighters and destroyed two bridges 80 and 85 miles north-west of Hanoi. This was farther north than any U.S. planes have flown since the air strikes against North Viet Nam began.

Saturday the temperature rose to an even 100 degrees in Pampa, despite partly cloudy skies. Over the rest of the state Saturday a blistering sun beamed down on the state from the Red River to the Gulf of Mexico.

Only an occasional shower sprinkled north and west Texas. The mercury rose to 110 degrees in Presidio Friday and many other spots around the state reported 100 degree weather.

Temperatures at noon Saturday ranged from 93 at Mineral Wells to an 84 at Amarillo.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hornblower & Weeks - Hemphill, Noyes says some relatively wide fluctuations may be expected this month as the stock market attempts to form a new base under the numerous conflicting external forces.

Thomson & McKinnon says the continued uncertainties which surround the Viet Nam and international monetary situations should remain deterrent stock market factors.

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. says he doubts the stock market is about to give any convincing hint about its direction in the second half of 1965.

Bache & Co. says some further lateral movement may be necessary for the market to build a base from which the traditional summer rally can be launched.

E. F. Hutton & Co. Inc. says further declines following the steadiness displayed last week would be discouraging.

Leslie M. Pollack of Reynolds & Co. says investor policy in this new market atmosphere should be more conservative than that which prevailed during the uninterrupted uptrend of the three previous years.

SUBMARINE INVADERS

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Three North Korean Communist agents tried to infiltrate South Korea apparently by using a midjet Japanese submarine of World War II vintage, it was learned.

South Korean patrols killed one of the agents Monday, captured another Thursday and are still looking for a third.

The 14-foot-long, Japanese-built submarine, stocked with food, ammunition and hand grenades, was found stranded Monday on a tidal river mud flat northwest of here.

We have had numerous calls on how to control bagworms. I don't believe I've ever seen as many of them before. There are several insecticides that will control this pest if applied early while worms are small. Use any of the following: Malathion, Sevin, Toxaphene, or Lead Arsenate. Follow direction on label. You might want to call our office for a free copy of Leaflet 199 "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants."

Russell Fowler, Amarillo, Texas, has announced the opening of a Pork Factory located 3 miles southwest of Canyon, Texas. The Pork factory is composed of 600 disease free, producing sows. One thousand porkies will be produced each month. All the animals will be enclosed in houses where their environment will be completely controlled, and all their needs conveniently provided. Temperature, humidity, ventilation, waste removal and feed supply are well provided for with push button ease and electronic accuracy. The animals nutritional requirement is met through scientific feed, which is given the animals in liquid form. This operation will be one of the largest of its kind in the nation.

Now you can see why it is called a Pork Factory instead of a hog farm.

Anyone interested in viewing this plant may do so on July 10 from 2:00 - 6:02 p. m. or July 11th from 10:20 - 6:00 p. m. An admission charge of $1.00 will be made that will go to the Christian Men's Fellowship Fund of the Amarillo Christian Church.

A new chemical for bindweed control will soon be on the market in a granular form that will be 25 percent cheaper than some of the well recognized chemicals now being used. It isn't as cheap as some of the newer liquids, but does have many attractive features such as being easy to apply. A small inexpensive whirlwind seeder makes for fast and accurate application. Watch for news releases on this.

Clyde Magee, President, Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Association, announces the annual banquet will be held at 7:00 p. m. Tuesday, August 24 in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn. Mr. Bob Murphy, internationally famous humorist will bring the main address. I have heard Mr. Murphy speak and will vouch for the fact that he is a top-rate humorist.

Recently Leslie Darsey, Alameda, sent off a few worm specimens he had collected from an animal that he thought might have been infected with screw-worms. According to the report from the Mission, Texas Headquarters this was a non-screw-worm case.

Let's keep sending in specimens and hope all them turn out the same as Leslie turned in. Should we send in one that has screw-worms they can hot spot the area and the herd with emergency measures. They treat affected herds and make aerial drops with sterile screw-worm flies.

On June 7, three judges of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit unanimously affirmed the U. S. District Court's judgement allowing a tax deduction for the depletion of ground water in the case of United States v. Marvin Shurbet et ux. This was a historic and highly significant Court decision to all High and South Plains Irrigation farmers. It is assumed this case will not be appealed further. In effect this means you can charge off as a depletion allowance each year as expenses in amounts equivalent to the value of the water depleted from your irrigation farm. By income tax reporting time I'm sure there will be a set of guide lines published by the Internal Revenue Service.

A rodent control demonstration will be held Monday, July 12, at 2:30 p. m. on the Fred Waters' farm at Wheeler. House Loans Okayed for Elderly Elderly people, if they live in rural areas, need not give up the idea of buying, building or repairing their homes on credit. Borrowers have up to 40 years to repay.

This word comes from Claude Moore, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, serving Armstrong, Gray and Donley Counties.

Moore said citizens who are 62-years and over, living in a rural community of 2,500 or less, may be eligible for a 33-year loan bearing 4 percent interest to buy an older home or build a new one.

The FHA supervisor said elderly residents may also be eligible for smaller loans for home repairs.

He pointed out the increasing demand in small towns for rental units designed to meet the housing needs of older folks.

The Farmers Home Administration can loan direct funds to non-profit organizations for construction of senior citizen rental housing units designed for independent living.

Funds for construction of senior citizen rental housing units may also be provided by private investors with FHA guaranteeing repayment.

This fiscal year through April 30 Farmers Home Administration has advanced $5,586,876 to senior citizens for construction, buying and repairing of individual home. The total loaned is up 17 percent over a similar period last fiscal year.

Over 1,200 elderly people in the 30 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands were able to get loans for new or improved housing through the senior citizen rural housing program of Farmers Home Administration.

Another $1,248,510 was advanced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture agency for the construction of rental housing units for senior citizens during the same period July 1, 1964 through April 30, 1965.

Farmers Home Administration's senior citizen housing loan program offers citizens, 62-years and older, an opportunity to have housing suited to their needs in the community in which they have spent their working years," Moore said.

This program also stimulates the local economy by providing jobs for workers engaged in the construction industry and customers for local trades and services.

In 1962 Congress authorized Farmers Home Administration to make direct loans and insured loans to individuals and corporations to finance rental housing for the elderly.

FHA direct loans for senior citizen rental housing in rural communities bear 2.75 percent interest, with up to 50 years for repayment.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS

For many years it was generally conceded that oil and gas undergirded the economy of the Texas High Plains and Texas Panhandle.

In 1964 Cotton John produced a film on the seven lean years that waxed fat. That was the year that irrigation got underway in a big way in Carson County. Picking up a steam-irrigation moved on into Gray County. The move to irrigation was on also north of the Canadian River. By early 1965 irrigation agriculture and agribusiness had become one of the major factors in stepping up the economy of the Panhandle.

The oil and gas industry does not envy a competitor in aiding the economy. On the contrary oil and gas encourages irrigation farmers with cheaper fuel—thus finding new markets for their products. It costs approximately $14,500.00 to drill an irrigation well. The engine that operates the well will use approximately 3 million cubic feet of gas per year. One irrigation farmer in Gray County spent $1,800.00 for fuel last year.

Irrigated agriculture and agribusiness is also given credit for increasing the population of Panhandle Cities. Pampa for instance has grown some 2,500 in population since 1960. This in turn has brought on business expansion. All in all the development of underground water resources has practically ended the ever recurring droughts that have plagued the Panhandle area since it was opened by the settlers.

The continued growth of the Texas Panhandle area has brought on the search for more water—not only for agriculture, but for the cities and industries also. One of the new sources of water could be our numerous playa lakes. The record June rains have begun to once again fill them. Rainfall records show that our average rainfall per year is approximately 20 inches. Investigations carried on at Bushland and Halfway indicate that not much more than one tenth of an inch of moisture from 20 inches of rainfall will get down to the underground water formation. Because of our high rate of evaporation—70 to 80 inches per year—we must find some way to conserve and use the water that collects in our playa lakes from rainfall.

One of the problems of putting water from playa-lakes into the underground water formation is the silt and trash in the water.

The experiment station at Bushland has done extensive work on portable filters and flocculants that may eventually solve the problem.

Another source of water could be on the watershed of the North Fork of the Red River. There here that are virtually unexplored and untapped. The North

Oil Import Allotments For '65 Disappointing

Interior Secretary Udall's announcement of oil import allocations for the first half of 1965 was disappointing in that no reduction was provided for in Districts I-IV. Instead, non-residual imports into this area were increased by 21,000 barrels daily.

In view of continued serious oversupply and unhealthy industry conditions in Districts I-IV, changes leading to import reductions should and must be incorporated in revisions in the import program which Secretary Udall expects to announce in a few weeks. Such changes are imperative if the import program is to effectively serve its national security objective.

The apparent 53,000-barrel net reduction in District V (West Coast) imports was encouraging, and should serve to further encourage domestic exploration and development in that District. The Independent Petroleum Association of America has suggested 11 specific changes with respect to the District V import program. These suggestions would, among other things, stimulate the use in that area of more oil from Districts I-IV. It remains our hope that revisions in the program soon to be made, will incorporate these changes to the end of reducing the dangerously high dependence of District V on foreign oil.

Lehecka Given Venezuelan Managership Post

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Charles E. Lehecka, formerly assistant to the general manager of Venezuelan Sun Oil Company, has been named vice-president and general manager of North Sea Sun Oil Company Ltd.

North Sea Sun is in the process of establishing its offices at 192 Sloan Street, London SW1, with Lehecka in charge, announces J. Duwayne Taylor, who is director of Foreign Operations for the parent Sun Oil Company and president of North Sea Sun.

North Sea Sun will represent British Sun Oil Company, Ltd., which has a 23.1-3 per cent interest in the "Arpet" group. This group was awarded 30 blocks of about 62,000 acres each when the United Kingdom granted licenses to search for oil and natural gas in the North Sea last year. Others in the group are Atlantic Oil Producing Co. Ltd., which is the operator; North Sea Exploration & Research Co. Ltd.; Superior Oil (U. K.) Ltd.; and Canadian Superior Oil (U. K.) Ltd.

Taylor also announced that the North Sea Sun staff in London will include Eugene A. Durden as office manager, George P. Williamson as regional geologist, and Harold G. Essig as geophysicist.

Durden has been assistant office manager for Venezuelan Sun Oil Company in Maracaibo. He formerly was with Sun Oil Company's Southwest Production Division at Dallas, Texas. Williamson moves to London from Karachi, where he was with Pakistan Sun Oil Company for a year after prior-geological service with Sun Oil's Canadian Production Division at Calgary, Alberta.

Essig was in Sun Oil's Economics Department at Philadelphia, but earlier served as a geophysicist for Sun at Beaumont, Texas, and in Guatemala.

At one time during the 16th century there were 10,000 gondolas in Venice. It is a flat-bottomed, very long and narrow boat terminating at each end in a point or peak. It is about 32 feet long and about five feet wide, weighing about 1,000 pounds without cabin or other fittings. The gondola is used for other purposes than carrying passengers since Venetians still depend to a great extent on boat traffic for supplies.

Entire Globe Contaminated By Form of DDT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The entire globe—including, mysteriously enough, remote Antarctica—appears to be contaminated to some extent by DDT.

Discovery of trace amounts of the pesticide in Antarctic seals, penguins, and fish was reported Saturday by Dr. John L. George of the Pennsylvania State University.

George's investigations, supported by the National Science Foundation, left unanswered the puzzle of how DDT found its way to the frozen continent.

There is no record that the poison ever was used in Antarctica. Hundreds of miles of water separate the continent from the nearest other land regions where DDT might conceivably have been employed.

George's findings were reported in a paper presented at a symposium on pesticides and the environment at the Monks Woods experimental station in England. He previously had found pesticides in the waters of the northern Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Pampa Merchants Preparing For Crazy Day Slated July 17

Pampa retail merchants are preparing for crazy day, scheduled for July 17. The activities of crazy day will get underway at 8 a.m. with a breakfast in central park. All participating stores and their employees will gather for coffee and rolls and be judged for the craziest male and female employees present. Out-of-town judges are being imported to judge the day's activities, including the craziest store, which will be announced at noon and be awarded the craziest store banner.

The highlight of the breakfast meeting will be a boxing bout between J. C. Roberts, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, and Lou Troja, president of the Coronado Center Merchants Association. They will put on the gloves for a six-round bout.

The Essex Combo, just back from the Stage Band Contest in Dallas, will provide appropriate rock 'n roll music for the breakfast hour, and employees will have an opportunity to get rid of any excess energy they might have at that hour.

Booster trips advertising the Top O' Texas Community Fair and crazy day will begin after breakfast at 7:30 a.m. July 13, at Jackson's Cafeteria.

Walter Brice, chairman of awards, is cooking up some attractive prizes for the winning crazy employees, as well as the craziest store. Individual prizes will be awarded at the breakfast.

Elmo Wright, in charge of breakfast arrangements, has secured the services of Sheriff Rufe Jordan to referee the boxing match; and he is expected to see that the rules are carried out in keeping with the occasion. Unregulated boxing gloves will be used for the match.

All retail stores in Pampa are invited and urged to participate in this year's crazy day promotion. Special advertising streamers are now available at the Chamber office in limited numbers, and all stores that plan to participate are urged to let the Chamber office know as soon as possible how many they will need.

READY FOR A TRIP — Margaret Ann Brewer, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Brewer, 127 E. 26, and Susan Davis, daughter of Mrs. Carolyn Davis, 1100 Cinderella, will leave Monday for the 1965 Girl Scout Senior Roundup in Farragut, Idaho, July 15-28. The girls are members of the "Bar-O" Patrol and will be with approximately 9,000 other girls.

Moose Says; 'Me a Yankee? I'd Quit First'

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEW YORK (NEA) — The familiar "Moose, Moose!" sailed Bill Skowron's ears the first time he trotted out to his position. From the first base boxes at Yankee Stadium, one foghorn yelled, "Hey, Moose! How'd you like to move back here?"
Skowron tapped his grey Chicago road uniform, tapped the "SOX" on his hat with his first baseman's glove and yelled back over his shoulder, "Hell, no!"

It was the start of the third year that Skowron has been away from New York. When the Yankees traded a guy who's 32 years old, you can figure he's washed up — especially after wearing these "NY" pin stripes for nine seasons.
In the visitors' clubhouse, Skowron tried to touch the floor with his fingertips and reflected, "They did me a favor when they traded me (to Los Angeles after the '62 season). I was having problems and didn't want to play here anyhow."
What, a red-blooded American who didn't want to be a Yankee?

"That's right," Moose nodded, "and if they ever sent me to the Yankees again, I'd quit before I came back here."
The "problems" Skowron referred to resulted in a divorce and a relocation to Chicago, his home town, where he has bought a house for his mother, on the edge of the city near O'Hare Field — 20 minutes from the ball park by expressway.
It's Bridie Murphy time in the career of the veteran slugger. "He's helped us," said third baseman Pete Ward, "by just being who he is — an established, famous player."
"If we'd had him all of last year," said manager Al Lopez, "there's no doubt in my mind we'd have won the American League pennant."
"I tried to get him when the Yankees sent him to the Dodgers," said general manager Ed Short, "and when the Dodgers sent him to the Senators."
What they finally got after the All-Star break last summer was suspect goods, because in his first season away from Yankee Stadium, Moose batted a puny .203 on a championship Dodger team in 1963.

"Hell," he scoffed, "I never got to play. Two hundred times at bat besides, I didn't know anybody over there. It was a new league. I don't know the parks or the players. It was lonely."
With the Senators last spring he revived, and with the Sox he was a revelation in the late summer.
"My thought was to rest him occasionally," admitted Lopez, "because I'd heard he had a bad back (from lifting an air conditioner years ago). But he went to Tony Cuccinello (white Sox coach) and said, 'Tell the skipper I'm ready to play double-headers if he wants me.'"
He batted .293 and has maintained the same pace this year while leading the Sox in runs-batted-in. Still, the Moose is a born worrier and even the new life with Chicago palls occasionally.
"It's the traveling," he said, "I've had 15 years of it. I'm thinking of quitting baseball after this year."
Must be those trips to Yankee Stadium.

BALLET OR BASEBALL? — The camera catches Ed Brinkman, center, and second baseman Don Blasingame of the Washington Senators in a high-stepping moment as Boston's Dave Morehead safely struts second. The throw from home went over Brinkman and Blasingame with a flying leap just managed to snag it in the webbing of his glove. The Senators won, 5-3.

Randy Qualifies for U.S. Team Going to Russia

HOUSTON (UPI) — Randy Matson tossed the shot put over 66 feet on all seven tries in a workout Saturday and officials of the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) promptly placed him on the U.S. team against Russia July 31-Aug. 1.

Some 200 spectators watched as the mammoth Texas A&M junior performed before Jesse Pardue of Houston, second vice president of the AAU. Pardue telephoned J. B. (Cap) Haralson at his Bakersfield, Calif. home and the chairman of the AAU track and field committee said Matson had shown he was physically fit to compete.

Matson's longest throw Saturday went 67 feet 3 1/2 inches. His pending world record throw two months ago was 70-7. The AAU officials said Matson would not be required to compete in any of the warmup meets before the team leaves for the Kiev, Russia, meet.

Bolt Putters To Concord Win Gomer Puts His Own Stamp on OU Football

KIAMESHA LAKE, N. Y. (UPI) — Tommy Bolt used his trusty old "Green Demon" putter and excellent irons to win the $5,000 Concord Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday with a 36-hole total of 145.

The 47-year-old former U. S. Open champion, who now plays out of Sarasota, Fla., fired a two-over-par 74 in his second round over the new, 7,300-yard course to edge Dick Crawford of El Dorado, Ark., by a stroke.

Crawford, who shared second place with Bolt at the end of the first round with a 71, bogged the last two holes to wind up with a 75 for a 146.

Frank Wharton, the University of Houston golfer from Perdid Bay, Fla., who seized the first-round lead with a 68, skied to an 80 Saturday. Wharton bogged the 17th hole and looked a double bogey on the final hole that dropped him into a third-place tie with Jackie Burke and Dick Mayer at 148.

Pampa Third In JCTrack Carnival

COLLEGE STATION (SpI) — Hurst with a veteran representation, including a number of girls freshly returned from the National AAU finals.

Hurst rolled up 218 points. Lubbock was second with 115 points while Pampa, due, chiefly to the determined showing of their girls was third with 58 1/2 points.

All three girls relay teams placed in the meet to top San Angelo's 53 points. Thirty-eight cities competed in the meet.

Pampa was unable to gain a single first place, although they had six second places.

Age broad jumper Butch Crossland lost the broad jump by a quarter of an inch, as he leaped 22 feet, two and three-quarter inches.

Jimmy Wells of Stinnett lost the 440-yard dash by inches and only placed third in the 220, despite running a 22.2. Half-miler Fred Cooper lost the rubber match to chief rival Milton McCrum of Lubbock as he ran a 2:06.6 behind McCrum's 2:00.3.

Pampa was badly hurt as both boys relay teams were disqualified by bad handoffs and also by the last minute withdrawal of six of their eight Canadian, cent les Vernon Malar, of Skellytown had the best preliminary throw in the intermediate shotput out his 48 feet, four and one-half inches was good for only second in the finals.

Pampa, Skellytown and White Deer girls shone in both the field events and relays. All three girls relay teams ran the finest times they had ever recorded but Hurst's national competitors set new records to beat them.

Best showing in field events were second places in the high jump by Debbie Smith and Nancy Mathews and a second in the broad jump by Lynda Stephenson.

In golf Pampa's representative Larry Kaplin blew to a final round 87 after leading the opening round with a blazing 73 to finish in a third place tie in the novice division.

Pampan Richard Ellis tied for sixth in the senior division with 150 total strokes for 36 holes.

Instead of returning Saturday night as planned the Pampa team elected to stay over for Saturday night's award banquet.

Randy Matson had been scheduled to give out the awards but was unable to appear due to a conflict in his schedule.

State Jaycee president A. J. Carby of Pampa gave out the awards in Matson's place.

Willie Horton's Life Changed in 1 Night

By SANDY PADWE
NEW YORK (NEA) — There are no fresh-water lakes, blue skies or green trees among Willie Horton's childhood memories.

Only memories of the Detroit slums where his father used to search desperately for odd jobs and where his mother brought in ironing to help support a family of 14.

Willie was the youngest and he can remember the pain of going to school and having the kids laugh at him because his clothes weren't as new or up-to-date as theirs.

Willie can also remember quitting school in the 10th grade so he could help his parents and he can remember Sam Bisher, the high school baseball coach, telling him he was making a big mistake.

"Old Sam," Horton said softly, "he's one of the best friends I've had. He wanted me to stay in school, so he went out and bought me some shoes and some clothes so I wouldn't feel so left out.

"Those were rough times all right, but my father kept trying. It used to hurt him so when he wasn't working. He had been a coal miner in Virginia but when we moved to Detroit he couldn't get jobs because he was too old."

There are other memories... of empty tales at mealtime... of his mother having a breakdown under the work load... and the tears of frustration in his father's face.

All this time, Willie's only salvation was baseball. He played at school, he played on the sandlots and when he wasn't doing that he was hanging a ball against the wall of his house hour after hour.

He was a small, but compact kid who could hit a long ball and, finally, the Detroit Tigers heard about him.

Lou D'Annunzio was the scout who signed him and the bonus was announced at $50,000.

about what Willie planned to do with the money.

The house he bought is pretty. It's spacious, comfortable and well-furnished and his father and mother enjoyed it immensely while they lived there.

It wasn't for long, because last Jan. 1st Willie — playing winter ball in Puerto Rico — received a call from Jose Pagan, the Pittsburgh shortstop telling him his father and mother had been killed in an auto crash back in Detroit.

Literally overnight, Willie Horton's life changed completely.

"I was lost without them," Willie said. "The best thing in my life was seeing them in that house and knowing they were happy."

"Down in spring training this year I remember there were times I cried because I missed them so much. But I got straightened out and I owe a lot of thanks to Don Deeter and Dave Wickersham — the two are members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes."

The way Wickersham and Deeter helped made a vivid impression on Willie, so vivid, in fact, that the 22-year-old outfielder has been trying to emulate them since.

He carries a pocket Bible — a gift from Pagan — and he talks quietly and without hesitation about what his parents mean to him.

And when he tells you that everything he does this year is for his parents, you begin to understand how a kid can come up from the minors and lead the American League in both hitting and home runs.

Nationals Clip Americans in Babe Ruth Game

The Babe Ruth National League All-Stars scored five times in the second inning without benefit of a hit and went on to defeat the American All-Stars, 6-2 Friday night.

The Nationals, in their big second made the most of two walks and three errors for the five runs.

Mike Pursley led off with a walk. Eddie Hopkins struck out, Phil Long was safe on an error by the shortstop and Pursley went to third. George Bailey reached first on a walk and Pursley scored on a wild pitch with Bailey taking second.

Steve Walls was safe on an error by the first baseman and Long and Bailey both scored with Walls going all the way to second. A wild pitch sent him to third and when Larry Haster went all the way to second on another error by the first baseman Walls scored.

Haster scored the fifth run on two wild pitches.

The Nationals scored their sixth and final run in the third when Cornett reached first on an error, went to second on a ground out and scored on a single by Hopkins.

Pursley was the winning pitcher striking out 10 and walking four. He gave up two runs on seven hits.

Summers was the loser allowing five runs on just two hits. He walked two and struckout five.

Irvin Named AD at A&M
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Barlow (Bones) Irvin today took over duties as acting athletic director at Texas A&M University, filling the shoes of Hank Foldberg who resigned Friday.

The 42-year-old Foldberg had been football coach and athletic director of the school for three years, but became a full-time athletic director after last season when Gene Stallings was hired to take over the football team.

"For quite some time I have been considering other plans," said Foldberg, "but I am not in a position at this time to disclose the nature of my immediate plans."

BEST IN PRELIMS — Skellytown's Vernon Marlar had the best throw in the preliminaries of the Jaycee State track meet but in the finals finished second with a heave of 48-4 1/2.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — If you've ever seen a rainbow in your life-time, then you get a faint idea of this tremendous slice of the first tee.

It traveled due left to right and looked like the grand-daddy of all slices.

"They all slice," smiled the golf pro understandingly as he watched the flight of the ball. "That's usually their biggest fault. Nine out of every 10 who play on public links, slice."

Sun-tanned, weather-beaten August (Gus) Norwich, 53-year-old head pro at the Moshulu Public Links Golf Course in the Bronx, spends practically all his working hours among the hackers but he has extraordinary tolerance of their faults.

"Public links golfers are mighty nice people, by and large," he said. "They may not all shoot in the 70's, or even the 80's, but they sure are dedicated. Where else will you find people waiting around three or four hours, as they do sometimes, just to get in a few holes of golf?"

A Few Problems

Norwich concedes the average Public Links golfer presents a few problems although he doesn't allow that to influence his general opinion of them.

"They're so enthusiastic and so eager to play," he said, "that they do become a little discourteous now and then.

"For example," he laughed, "nobody lets anyone else play through anymore. And they get careless about replacing divots."

Golfers who play public courses, however, do not have any monopoly on that first fault. Few foursomes allow faster players to go through even at country clubs and there was a bit of squawking at the British Open this week when Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus refused to let Scottlan, Eric Brown and his partners play on ahead.

"I guess everyone wants to be first," said Norwich. "But playing golf on a public course like this one is much different than playing on a private layout.

"No matter how bad a player is, he is entitled to play here as long as he pays his greens fee ($1.75 on weekdays and $2.25 on weekends and holidays). Some people feel they shouldn't allow beginners to use a public course but I disagree. How else can they possibly learn? You can learn only so much at a driving range.

"We don't have too many extraneous rules here. All anyone needs to play are seven clubs and a golf bag. Occasionally, then even go out with less than seven clubs.

"The first thing you have to remember is that the average public course golfer is a very poor player. Few come up to learn. They just come to play. What makes it even tougher is that there is no practice area here."

Norwich, who smiles easily and has spent more than 30 years in golf, tried playing the pro circuit briefly during the winter of 1946 but didn't make anyone forget Bobby Jones on Ben Hogan.

"I was on the tour three months and didn't make a dime," he says. "You might say I was in a little over my head, although I do remember leading the field once during a 36-hole qualifying round in Tucson."

Although the average Public Links golfer seldom takes more than six lessons, if that much, a number of fine players emerge each year. Some even go on to become professionals.

Nicklaus Vows Return to British Open

SOUTHPORT, England (UPI) — Burly Jack Nicklaus vowed to return for another attempt at the elusive British Open title today and champion Peter Thomson was anxious to visit the United States for a crack at the $50,000 World Series of Golf jackpot.

"I'm determined to win the British Open at all costs," Nicklaus said after his disastrous 294 gave him a share of 12th place behind Thomson, who captured his fifth open with a 285. The Ohioan has won every major title with the exception of this elusive Open.

Tony Lema, the 1964 titlist, winner, and Terry Dill all expressed a desire to play in next year's Open at Muirfield, Scotland. Lema shot a 289 for a fifth place tie with Kel Nagle of Australia, and Palmer had a 295 that included a final round 79. Dill carded a 305 to finish way down in the pack.

Thomson gained entrance to the World Series of Golf at Akron, Ohio, in September by winning the British Open. The exciting 50 grand overhandthe $4,900 the Australian won Friday.

The Aussie par-buster was burdened with a case of chronic hay fever until 10 days ago. He miraculously recovered from the ailment in time to win the Open and become the third man to win this title five times.

James G. Braid and John Henry Taylor both accomplished the task near the turn of the century. Harry Vardon, however, owns the record of six Open triumphs.

Thomson's four day card read 74-68-72-71—285. Two strokes better than Ireland's Christie O'Connor and Welshman Brian Hugget at the finish. The Aussie plans to compete in the French Open next week and then go home for a month. He returns for the British PGA prior to the high-paying World Series of Golf tourney.

Maloney Grabs 10th Cincy Win

By United Press International
Jim Maloney set three goals for himself this spring and he's well on the way to fulfilling them.

First, he wanted to make the All-Star team. He's already accomplished that and don't be surprised if he's the starting pitcher.

Second, he wanted to win 20 games. He reached the half way mark Friday night when he hiked his record to 10-4 with a 6-2 win over Milwaukee.

And finally, he wanted to play in the World Series. That remains to be seen but he did pitch the Reds back into first place Friday as the Los Angeles Dodgers slipped to second when Bob Veale conquered them, 4-1.

In other National League contests, Philadelphia walloped San Francisco 10-2; Houston bested New York 6-2; and St. Louis beat Chicago 7-4.

Cincinnati pilot Dick Sisler has virtually given Maloney a clear road to an All-Star starting assignment.

"I told him not to pick up a ball until Tuesday," Sisler said. "He'll have three days rest."

And don't think the crew-cut Californian doesn't appreciate it. The All-Star game is more than just an exhibition to him.

Back in 1963 when he won 23 games and was 11-2 at the mid-season break he was informed he had made the squad and began posing for pictures. Soon afterwards he was told that the report was erroneous and he had been bypassed. It was a slight he hasn't forgotten.

Maloney Got Two

While going the route for the eighth time this season Maloney clubbed two of the Reds' 12 hits and drove in a run.

Vada Pinson carried the big bat with a triple and single goal for three runs-batted-in.

Veale upped his record to 9-6 with a five-hit performance in which Roberto Clemente extended his hitting streak to 19 with a fifth-inning two-run homer off loser Nick Willhite. The Buc closed out their scoring with two in the seventh on a single, a triple by Donn Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski's sacrifice fly.

Jim Bunning won his sixth in a row on a five-hitter as the Phillies swept past the Giants into third place. Johnny Callison led a three-run Philadelphia outburst in the fourth with a homer and the Phils exploded for six more in the seventh with Cookie Rojas bases-loaded triple doing the greatest damage.

A three-run homer by Tito Francona highlighted a four-run rally as the St. Louis Cardinals beat Chicago behind Tracy Stallard. The homer came at the expense of reliever Lindy McDaniel and followed base hits by Curt Flood and Dick Groat which were dealt up by loser Bob Buhl. Ron Santo clouted his 17th homer in the seventh for the Cubs first run.

Larry Dierker, an 18-year-old righthander, stopped the Mets on seven hits to gain his third victory in seven decisions. Dierker was staked to an early 6-0 lead as his teammates assaulted loser Jack Fisher and reliever Gordon Richardson in the first two innings. Joe Morgan, the Astros slugging second sacker, drove in three runs with a second-inning triple and Rusty Staub knocked in two more for Houston.

Pappas, Brooks, Called Lucky by Senor Lopez

By United Press International
Milt Pappas is off to the best start of his career and he told Al Lopez so Friday night.

The good senior wasn't amused, especially since the Baltimore Orioles, pitching prodigy had just beaten Lopez' White Sox 1-0 on four hits for his 16th victory in 20 decisions against Chicago.

"So Pappas made Lopez, the American League All-Star skipper, an offer:

"I would love to start the All-Star game Tuesday," Pappas declared. "When you consider that there are 110 pitchers in this league and you're one of eight chosen, it's got to be a heck of an honor."

Lopez, informed of Pappas' statement, snapped:

"I know seven other guys who would like to start too."

Says Pappas Lucky

"We should have beaten Pappas," Lopez continued. "He was lucky to stab that ball (Ken Berry hit with two on in the second.)"

"Tell Lopez to look in Saturday's paper," reported Pappas. While Pappas and Lopez were feuding, the Minnesota Twins beat the New York Yankees 8-3 to lengthen their first-place lead over Cleveland to 3½ games, the Indians lost a doubleheader 4-3 and 2-0 to Los Angeles Detroit clipped Kansas City 7-5 in 10 innings, and Washington trot clipper Kansas City 7-5 in edged Boston 2-1 in the first game before losing 10-1 to the Red Sox.

Brooks Robinson, who doubled in the second inning and later scored the Oriole's only run on Boog Powell's single, also became involved in the dispute after Lopez described his hit, which bounced over the third baseman's head, as "lucky."

Like The Same

"Is that so," Robby asked. "Lopez better hope that I get three or four of those next Tuesday or we're in trouble."

Bruce Howard was the loser, allowing only three hits in the seven innings he worked.

Pappas fanned seven en route to his ninth victory against three losses. The 26-year-old hurler who has the highest winning percentage of all active major league righthanders with 100 or more victories, is in the best position of his eight-year career to crack the 20-victory barrier.

Don Mincher pounded two home runs and Harmon Killebrew also connected for the Twins, who demolished the Yankees and dropped them 13½ games off the pace. Minnesota's Dave Boswell yielded only six hits and struck out eight in though he gave up home runs route to his sixth victory at six hits and struck out eight on to Elston Howard and Roger Reppe. Jim Bouton lost his ninth.

Rookie Ray Oyler singled home two runs in the 10th inning for the Tigers to send Kansas City's John O'Donoghue down to his 12th loss. Willie Horton, who smashed a 475-foot homer earlier, began the winning rally with a double. Fred Gladding was the winner in relief.

Blanks Indians

Leity Marcelino Lopez blanked the Indians on two hits in the nightcap for the Angels after Vic Power's bases-loaded single scored Joe Adcock with the winning run in the ninth inning of the opener. Willie Smith cracked his ninth and 10th home runs for the Angels off starter Ralph Terry in the first game. Max Alvis and Leon Wagner each hit his 15th homer for the Indians.

By the way its getting time to think of those winter leagues again so lets see every body bowling in a league this fall.

BOWLING

By GIL BURGUND

This would be a heck of a time to try and get out of writing a column for this week because there were a lot of unusual happenings this week and a few people would be pretty mad.

First, Joe Burgund is in the hospital and believe me, trying to get to the hospital to see her, along with doing all the things she normally does and trying to keep up with my work has made me lose a few pounds too.

Air conditioning troubles, also have the darndest habit of arriving with the hot weather. We aren't alone Paul Root and I visited the Palo-Duro Lanes in Amarillo and their units had given up too and no one around to fix them.

One of the outstanding bowling events of the week was the spectacular bowling of Janet Morgan in the Hi-school doubles, merely a 235 game and a 542 series. I was at the hospital at the time and no one announced her beautiful game so I am in the dog house.

Ralph Chisum also found the pocket on the same lanes in an earlier league for a 247. P. S. It was announced.

Speaking of announcers, Earl Davis of K. P. D. N. just returned from a vacation at San Antonio where he had a visit with Jerry Moon.

Jerry Moon was the promoter of the TV Bowling show that ran for over a year as the Panhandle All Stars.

Since leaving here, Jerry has had a sanctioned 300 game and a 780 scratch series. Needless to say his average is holding above 200.

Locally Dennis Huntley again rounded out a cool 500 series to boost his average over the 186 bracket.

As a beginner, at the tender age of 6, Mark Epperson rolled a 71-69-72 series to set an average of almost 71 in a bantam league. Start looking to your laurels fellows, he is already dusting off a spot for his trophies.

And oh yes, a couple of Uncle Sams sailors, Jimmy Weatherly and Ralph Lewis are home on leave. If you will remember Ralph as the little squirt who used to live at the bowling lanes, you certainly wouldn't recognize him now. He must have grown a foot taller.

In the Bantams, Connie Young, got her games a little mixed up, a 79-61-81 or she could have had a nice starrstep. Bruce Murchison, the Pro of the Bantam League fired a 193 game and a 476 series. Pretty good huh?

Mary Ray, Minnie Cable, Vesta Packer, Nancy Skinner, and likely Earp all had nice series and games this week but in the

Sunday Passing Show

'LOVE FACTS and Fancies': Love it's what makes the world go 'round — and sometimes seems to make it stop. Poets have sung about it, wars have been fought over it and no one wants to do without it. It's the game more people have played by more rules in more times than any other — even more than dice or poker. To boost the odds in their favor lovers have tried everything from "giving her emeralds or Emeraude" to giving him an advance glimpse of the girl's dowry, twined in her hair. The love game always starts with the chase. This is the attention-getting phase, when "faint heart usually wins fair nothing." In the South Sea Islands, they use a flower code, so well-known to all concerned that it does a better job of announcing availability than an electric spectacular sign on Broadway. A white hibiscus worn over a young bachelor's right ear is his signal to the sweet young things of the neighborhood that he's in the market. He switches to a red blossom over the left ear when he finds what he was advertising for. Indian braves used to carve pictures on trees to let it be known they sought a squaw. Equally picturesque, the practical pretty young things of Algeria still twine their dowries of silver coins into their hair to dazzle impressionable young men. Long before a modern perfume maker created fragrance "for the woman who dares to be different," guys and girls faced the problem of how to stand out from the crowd of eager young eligibles. In Puritan times, American swains didn't worry much about perfume or precious stones; they were more concerned with glass. It was customary for a young man to bring a mirror to the home of his beloved, and place it glass side up on the parlor table. If she left it in that position he knew he had been accepted. Almost everywhere in the world the trip to the altar has many milestones of legend and superstition scattered along the path. Rural French brides sometime court luck by weeping on the way to church and German girls have an old tradition that they can dominate the marriage if they step on hubby's toes at the altar. American girls might step lively if they knew that old shoes hanging on the newlywed's car bumper are an ancient symbol of the bridegroom's authority and ownership. The rice thrown at weddings was intended by our ancestors not only to guarantee the new couple a large family but to placate any hungry evil spirits that might be hanging around. The bridal veil also originated in superstition. It was intended to hide the bride from evil eye. But superstitions and myths and such aren't really what count today. Modern lads and lasses know the important thing is that "true love wins all."

'Open Doors to Service' Is Theme For Installation of Altrusa Club Officers

Featuring the Altrusa International theme for the coming biennium, "Open Doors to Service," 1965-66 officers of Altrusa Club of Pampa were installed as the climax to the annual meeting held Monday evening in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn. Installed were Mrs. Libby Shotwell, president; Mrs. Irene Smith, vice president; Miss Evelyn Mason, recording secretary; Mrs. Lora Dunn, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Leah Behrman, treasurer; and Mrs. Mabel Hukill, director.

Out-going president, Mrs. Emily Coston, opened the meeting with the Altrusa blessing and called for the annual reports of officers and standing committees. Miss Evelyn Mason reported eight members had perfect attendance for the year. Each was presented with a certificate of merit by the president. In giving the president's report, Mrs. Coston thanked the officers and members for their support and cooperation. She gave a resume of her activities and accomplishments for the year. Recognizing past-presidents, Meses, Flossie Anderson, Lena Pearl Hobbs, Floy Heath and Lorene Locke, she said that she happily joined this group of women honored by the club with its highest office.

In her capacity as immediate past president, Mrs. Lorene Locke commended the officers for their faithful service and said, "In the life of every organization it falls to the lot of some to lead and others to follow. Elevated for a brief time from the ranks to leadership we plan, we work, we serve, then we step back while others lead. At the close of a year filled with inspiration and accomplishment, the Altrusa Club of Pampa now enters upon a new leadership. As we do so, we realize that in the life of our club splendid traditions and accomplishments are not the work of one year, but of many, not one board but of all who serve. The work we do in Altrusa is a continuing work, progressive and far-reaching in its influence. Our plans are long range plans. Each year it is as though we added another stone, matched with great precision and beauty, to the structure rising with strength and sureness above the foundation laid by the first Altrusa Club. Each year, therefore, should be our best year."

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, Altrusa president led the benediction. Twenty-seven members and one guest, Mrs. Shotwell's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Shotwell from Richmond, Va., were present.

Coleman-Hope Vows Repeated in Candlelight Ceremony

Baskets bearing white gladioli and spiral candelabra entwined with smilax appointed the wedding scene for the candlelight ceremony uniting Miss Susan Virginia Coleman and Thomas Harlan Hope of Dallas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John William Chisholm of 2200 Beech and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hope of Irving.

Rev. William West officiated the double-ring rites at 8 o'clock last evening in St. Matthews Episcopal Church.

Mrs. J. S. Skelly provided traditional nuptial selections on the organ for the pledging of vows.

Lovely in a formal gown fashioned of white pique and English net overlay with dimensional Swiss embroidered lace, the bride was given in marriage by her step-father. The empire-style bodice was designed with modified bell sleeves and a wide oval neckline traced in Swiss lace. Garland appliques of the lace banded the controlled skirt and court train. The bride wore a tiered veil of English illusion secured by a coil of pique and Swiss lace and carried a cascading bouquet of stephanotis, gardenias and trailing English ivy.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Michael Webber of Colorado Springs, Colo., matron of honor, Miss Kay Kendrick of Amarillo, maid of honor, Mrs. John Klein of Baton Rouge, La., Mrs. Kent Caldwell of Dallas and Mrs. Phillip Hull of San Gabriel, Calif., bridesmaids, Miss Tracy Lewis of Amarillo, bridesmaid, and Misses Leigh Ann and Kathleen McCarrt of Amarillo, junior bridesmaids. The female attendants were dressed identically in formal-length gowns fashioned of pink linen designed with empire bodices and A-line skirts which flared softly into trains. They wore pink picture hats tied with velvet streamers and carried bouquets of pink rosebuds and trailing English ivy.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Lt. Cleaning Tip
If you're planning an extensive cleaning program, here's a tip from the Tile Council of America: Leave your ceramic tile until last.
Warm water, regular detergent and dry cloth are all it needs to stay sparkling since it can't absorb dirt.
A stiff fiber brush will do the trick to clean the cement material between the tiles.

STAUS - EDMONDSON
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Staus of 400 N. Perry announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy June, to James Anthony Edmondson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Edmondson of 1224 Garland. Wedding vows will be pronounced by Rev. Donald Hauck in First Presbyterian Church on Sept. 3.

featured a scooped neckline and softly gathered skirt caught at the waist with a white satin belt fastened with a front neau de soie bow. A brief jacket of chantilly lace, featuring a bateau neckline and elbow-length sleeves, topped the gown. The bride's three-tiered waist-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a pearl-tiara with orange blossom designs. She carried a white Bible topped by a cascade arrangement of gardenias and feathered mums. Carrying out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue, the bride wore an old penny placed in her shoe by her father, carried a borrowed white Bible, wore a blue bride's garter and her new wedding ensemble.

Miss Sheila Kay Blakemore, attired in a waltz-length gown of yellow silk organza over matching taffeta, attended her sister as maid of honor. A headpiece fashioned of yellow velvet and tulle, and matching shoes and gloves, completed her costume. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow gladioli.

Serving his brother as best man was Stephen Don Cloud and seating the wedding guests was John Paul Bowers.

Mrs. Blakemore chose a two-piece dress fashioned of beige lace accented by powder blue accessories. Mrs. Cloud selected a sheath-styled dress of pink lace, topped by a pink linen jacket, complemented by white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white feathered carnations.

Following the pledging of vows, a reception was held in First Methodist Church Parlor. The bride's table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with the bridesmaid's bouquet flanked by milk glass candelabra bearing yellow tapers. A three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses and topped by a miniature bride and groom, and milk glass serving dishes, appointed the table.

Traveling to Carlsbad, N. M. on a wedding trip the bride was attired in a two-piece suit fashioned of beige lace designed with a boat neckline, and white accessories. She lifted the gardenia corsage from the bridal bouquet. Upon their return the couple will make their home at 409 1/2 N. Gray.

Linda Gail Culpepper, Gary Max Shultz Wedding Solemnized Yesterday Evening

Dear Abby....

Two Wrongs Have Never Made a Right

DEAR ABBY: Our family has lived in this town for three generations, and no one of our religion has even been invited to join a certain club here. Suddenly, a man of our faith was invited to become a member. Perhaps I should add that he is an outstanding civic leader, has done much for the community and is very wealthy besides. Much to the disappointment of his many friends, he considered this an "honor" and accepted. We feel that since the club has pointedly excluded people of his faith in the past, he should have declined membership in their club to show his contempt for their policy of discrimination. What is your opinion?

LEAVE NAME OF CITY OUT
DEAR LEAVE: I disagree with you. Why snub a club that once "discriminated," but has now changed its policy? He deserves congratulations, not criticism for breaking the bigotry barrier.

DEAR ABBY: My husband stayed out of work for a week as he was ill. On the third day, he received a note from one of the girls at the office. It read: "Marty, Dear. Please get well soon as we all miss you. Take good care of yourself. Honey - boy, 'cuz things are not the same around here without you. If there's anything I can do for you, please let me know. Love, Judy."

I became very upset over this because if it was really from all the girls at the office, why didn't they all sign it? Only Judy's name appeared on the note, and she had her home address on the envelope. And what kind of crack was that, "take good care of yourself"? She knows he does not have to take care of himself as he is a married man and has a wife to take care of him. And what is this "Honey-boy" business? He is almost 60 years old. Also what does she think she can do for him that I can't? I cried all day. My husband says I am being silly. Am I?

MARTY'S MISSUS
DEAR MISSUS: Yes. You are being slightly silly and hypersensitive. She was probably only trying to cheer your husband up. Forget it. I'd say her message was in poor taste, but her motives were pure.

DEAR ABBY: Just read the letter in your column written by "Big Brother" in behalf of his sister, who became involved in a premarital experience to his regret. He said he knew that boys fed girls the "we're going to get married anyway" line because he had done it himself—but not with "nice" girls. He is really down on the "bum" who did this to his sister. What does he think he is? Doesn't he know that every girl is some mother's daughter? Doesn't he realize that if a girl is "weak," all the more reason for a good man to protect her instead of debasing her further—unless he's a "bum," too?

My observation is that if a man claims to know the difference between right and wrong and good and evil, and still practices "wrong," he is not only a bum, but a vicious one, and stands self-condemned. Sign me any way you want. My name is: ORVAL AWERKAMP, PASTOR TRINITY EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH LONG BEACH, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I am an ordinary 17-year-old girl except for one thing. I hate my father. He (See ABBY, Page 19)

Mrs. Gary Max Shultz nee Miss Linda Gail Culpepper

At 7:30 o'clock yesterday evening in First Baptist Church, Miss Linda Gail Culpepper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Culpepper of 712 N. Gray, became the bride of Gary Max Shultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Shultz of 1000 E. Fisher. The single-ring vows were solemnized by Rev. J. W. Doke, pastor of First Christian Church, amid a setting of lighted tapers and greenery. Seven-branch candelabra, entwined with salal foliage filled the background, while the choir rail was decorated with clustered arrangements of white gladioli and salal foliage, which cascaded down the front wall. The bridal path and honor pews were marked with individual candelabra.

Miss Eloise Lane, organist, presented traditional nuptial selections and accompanied Mrs. Mack Hiatt as she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowning in a formal-length gown of peau de soie featuring a mock bolero of imported alencon lace designed with a jewel neckline and three-quarter length scalloped sleeves. The modified bell-shaped skirt was chapel-length. A detachable watteau court train fell to chapel-length and was accented by a center split marked by a peau de soie bow. Her tiered chapel-length veil of illusion fell gracefully from a seed pearl and orange blossom tiara. She carried a bouquet of white roses and miniature English ivy which cascaded across the front of her gown.

Mrs. Richard Hankins attended the bride as matron of honor and Miss Dinah Ahrens of Grand Prairie attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Joy Jones of Farmersville, Miss Joy

Shultz, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Marjorie Munger of Amarillo. The bridal attendants were dressed identically in floor length gowns of yellow bridal satin designed with fitted bodices, scooped necklines and elbow-length sleeves. Lace encircled the waists, falling into two soft loops at the back waist and hanging the full length of the bell-shaped skirts. They wore matching halo coils with blush veils and carried cascade bouquets of miniature English ivy.

Serving as best man to the bridegroom was Glen Watts, walle groomsmen and ushers were Jerry Cobb, Billy Walker, David Triplehorn and Jerry Ford.

Miss Terri Culpepper attended as flower girl and Master Cory Lee Culpepper served as ring bearer. Miss and Master Culpepper of Floursville, are the bride's niece and nephew.

Mrs. Culpepper chose a dress with blouson styling fashioned of turquoise silk brocade, accented by matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Shultz selected a blue silk sheath dress designed with cut work yolk, topped by a matching jacket and matching accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of pink cymbidium orchids.

First Baptist Church Parlor was the scene for the reception immediately following the wedding ceremony. The bride's table, covered with a white cutwork damask cloth, was centered with a silver wine cooler holding an arrangement of yellow roses, flanked by silver candelabra bearing yellow tapers. The bridegroom's table, covered with a white damask cloth, was centered with the bridesmaids' bouquets flanked by silver candelabra entwined with miniature English ivy. Pouring the punch was Miss Judy Munger of Amarillo and Miss Martha Pattillo, while Miss Janice Vaughan of Amarillo and Miss Marilyn Salkovsky of Dallas served the wedding cake. Attending the guest registrar was Mrs. Bill Culpepper, bride's sister-in-law. Mrs. Calvin Whately provided background piano music throughout the receiving hours. Other members of the houseparty included Mmes. Lloyd Summers, Lester Mason, Shirley Nickols and Raymond Shannon.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., the couple will be at home at 4040 Denton Hwy., Haltom City. The new Mrs. Shultz changed into a two-piece suit of rose linen with empire styling for traveling. She wore the white rose corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Pampa High School, received a BS Degree in Education last month from North Texas State University. She will be employed this fall as an elementary teacher in the Hurst-Euleless-Bedford school system. Mr. Shultz, a graduate of Pampa High School, received a BA Degree from North Texas State University, where he was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, Beta Gamma Mankind's movement into an era of automation brings to mind that the most fully automatic mechanism of all... the human body... has been around since long before the first automatic transmission or electronic garage door. The body is a constant beehive of activity over much of which the individual has no control. The internal organs operate automatically, blood circulates through the veins, and food is digested and pushed along the alimentary canal. Even some of the skeletal muscles function without conscious effort, the diaphragm and rib muscles used in breathing.

As is true of any mechanism the human body breaks down from time to time. SUNDAY MORNING GRIST From the Editorial Mill

SO FAR THERE apparently has been little public reaction to the city commission's call for a charter election on Aug. 24. Seven changes are proposed in the old charter. They will be voted on as seven separate amendments—not as a package deal.

HERE'S SOMETHING that needs mentioning just to keep the record straight. The school board continues to hold so-called "executive sessions."

THE GUEST PEN Plush Government Schools

By ROSALIE M. GORDON Editor, America's Future The government's so-called "anti-poverty" program, which is also called in some quarters a "politicians' paradise" or a "giant boondoggle," is coming in for criticism.

EDUCATION? Another such "school" is in St. Petersburg, Fla. It's spending 2 1/2 million dollars to train a maximum of about 260 girls for 18 months.

Wif and Whimsy

If a man can't break 85, he has no business on the golf course; if he can break 85, he probably has no business. Mabel — What's worrying you, David? David — I was just wondering if Dad would see to the milking while we're on our honeymoon, supposin' you said 'yes' if I asked you.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

Is the war in Vietnam for real or are we trying to establish a position of strength from which to surrender to the "neutralists" (communists) as we did in Laos?

"None Dare Call It Treason" author John Stormer quotes the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (in May "American Opinion") for April 20, 1964, as headlining on page one: "Anti-Reds Seize Power in Laos."

In the next edition of the same day's paper the head was changed from "Anti-Reds Seize Power in Laos" to read: "Rightist Coup Collapses in Laos, U.S. Pressure on Military Hinted."

The anti-Communists restored the "neutralist" - communist government and apologized. Again Rusk wins, and America and the cause of freedom loses.

Severed then asked: You mean they are political bombings? and Lippmann replied: "They're political bombings, and they don't kill many people. I don't think they kill anybody. There's no evidence that they do because what we bomb is wooden sheds."

Severed then asked: You mean they are political bombings? and Lippmann replied: "They're political bombings, and they don't kill many people. I don't think they kill anybody. There's no evidence that they do because what we bomb is wooden sheds."

What gives? Is the President of the United States giving the blood of American boys in a phony war we have no intention of winning?

How would you like it if your son were killed in southeast Asia in a war which American leaders have no intention of winning? Recent polls on college campuses across this country indicate that a high percentage of the students would not fight for their country.

THE REVEALING DETAILS — In a scathing report to the Senate, Senator Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, chairman of the Foreign Aid watchdog subcommittee, has spelled out clearly and fully this extraordinary record.

It's a jarring account of high-priced contradictions, inconsistencies and incongruities. Gruening charged flatly that Egypt's flagrant and persistent violation of Public Law 480 has adversely affected the U.S. balance-of-payments, freed foreign exchange for Egyptian aggression in the Middle East and Africa, and has imperially bene-

Surplus U.S. Wheat Shipped to Nasser Helping Him to Supply Rice to Cuba and Injure U.S. Economically

WASHINGTON — President Gamal Nasser is again shipping large quantities of rice to Cuba in direct defiance of U.S. Public Law 480 and the economic embargo of the Communist-ruled Caribbean island.

Equally ironic is that this open flouting is being made possible by the surplus wheat the U.S. is continuing to give the rancorous Egyptian ruler.

Late last month President Johnson authorized another $37 million of grain for Egypt — despite vehement bipartisan congressional protests. The State Department, which had strongly recommended this move and blocked an outright congressional ban of more aid to Nasser, claimed the $37 million grant was necessary "in the national interest."

At that very time, both the State Department and the White House were fully aware that Nasser was preparing to ship more rice to his Cuban dictator friend, Fidel Castro.

In the past week several Egyptian freighters arrived in Havana with cargoes of rice and Russian arms. The weapons are destined for Guatemala, Venezuela and other Latin American countries where Castro and his long-time lieutenant, "Che" Guevara, are fomenting Red upheavals.

Nasser also is striking even more directly at other vital U.S. interests by — Depriving the U.S. of important agricultural export markets running into hundreds of millions of dollars. — Adversely affecting the crucial balance-of-payments problem.

—Using the considerable foreign exchange netted from the grain-deals to meddle aggressively in Yemen and other Middle Eastern and African countries.

The Johnson administration has detailed information on each of these situations. It has known about them for a long time. Yet the White House and State Department have given no hint of this publicly and have unyieldingly fought indignant congressional critics. And they have made it possible for Nasser to continue these inhuman operations by providing him with more than $130 million of surplus commodities.

Russia 131,000 metric tons; Cuba 62,000; Czechoslovakia 24,000; Red China 20,000; Poland 16,000; Rumania 17,000; Yugoslavia 16,000; East Germany 13,000; Hungary 6,000; Bulgaria 4,900; Indonesia 52,000; India 20,000; Syria 20,000; Lebanon 13,000; Finland 9,000; Senegal 15,000; Iraq 4,000.

"Egypt exported more than 455,000 metric tons of rice in 1964," declared Gruening. "The wheat that we ship to Egypt has been substituted for rice. The Food for Peace program which is paid for by American taxpayers is being used by Nasser to help the economies of Communist nations. Thus it is obvious that foreign aid to the U.S. is bolstering Communist economies throughout the World and their aggressions and machinations. Not only is it contributing to the economic well-being of the Communist empire, but our foreign aid program enables Castro to devote more of his resources to armaments and upheavals instead of food.

In a detailed chart, Senator Gruening shows that in the three years prior to the 1955 enactment of P.L. 480, the U.S. sold 887,000 metric tons of wheat to Egypt for dollars, but in the nine years since then, during which Nasser has been able to obtain immense quantities of this wheat for his own currency, U.S. commercial sales to Egypt have totaled only 339,000 tons.

"This represents a grant to Egypt at the rate of more than $15 million a year, or approximately $135 million since 1955," pointed out Gruening. "It also represents a decrease in the U.S. favorable trade balance at the rate of more than $15 million a year or approximately $135 million since 1955. Similarly, it represents an increase in Egypt's foreign exchange expendable in countries other than the U.S. at the rate of more than $15 million a year, or some $135 million since 1955."

Egyptian rice exports to Communist and other countries in 1964, uncovered by Gruening from official sources, were as follows:

He that has money is bothered about it. And he that has none is bothered without it. A woman is never thoroughly interested in a newspaper article until she reaches the place where the balance is torn off.

Between the Bookends

MACARTHUR'S POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY REVEALED General Douglas MacArthur's "Reminiscences", released last year, continues to sell well. In addition to the thrilling tales of battle, it contains a much-needed insight into the character of one of the twentieth century's most remarkable men.

For MacArthur was more than a military general who happened to be present during an action-packed era (as could be said for many other renowned contemporary military men). Douglas MacArthur was truly a genius. The flyleaf of the book reveals that he graduated from West Point with the highest averages ever achieved by a cadet.

PHILOSOPHY In the last few pages of "Reminiscences", MacArthur took the time to develop the reasoning upon which his political conclusions were based. He pointed out that our great American wealth "is the result and fruition of the capitalist system—a system embracing every segment of American society—the owners of industry, the workers in industry, the public served by industry. This free enterprise... has created an economic freedom which is the basis of all other freedoms."

"There are many who have lost faith in this early American ideal and believe in a form of socialistic, totalitarian rule, a sort of big brother deity to run our lives for us. They no longer believe that free men can successfully manage their own affairs. Their thesis is that a handful of men, centered in government, largely bureaucratic not elected, can utilize the proceeds of our toil and labor to greater advantage than those who create it... It is the oldest, most reactionary of all forms of social organization."

CONTRADICTION "Wherever and whenever it has been attempted, it has failed utterly to provide economic security, and has generally ended in national disaster. It embraces an essential idiosyncrasy, that individuals who, as private citizens, are not able to manage the disposition of their own earnings, become in public office supermen who can manage the affairs of the world.

"The fundamental and ultimate issue at stake is liberty, itself — liberty versus the creeping socialization in every domestic field. Freedom to live under the minimum of restraint! A least common denominator of mediocrity against the proven progress of pioneering individualism! The free enterprise system or the cult of conformity! The result will determine the future of civilization. It will be felt on every human life. It will be etched in blazing rainbow colors on the every arch of the sky."

Thoughts while shaving: New Yorkers and Californians consumed about one-third of the wine sold in this country last year. And, while on the subject of alcoholic beverages, moonshine, the thirst quencher of the Prohibition era, is still being peddled. It's conservatively estimated by Uncle Sam's tax boys that more than 200,000 bootleggers are actively engaged in selling illegal liquor.

Here's a hint for your vacation travel plans. Read what others have to say about the places you're considering. You'll be surprised at the helpful information you'll find at your local library, bookstore or newsstand.

The cowboy is symbolic of the Western plains, but the first cowboy in this country was a Bostonian who held the title of "keeper of the cows" on Boston Common back in 1646. He was paid 2 shillings per cow for his labor. The venerable DC-3 is still the most popular commercial airplane. There are more DC-3's in operation today than all jet aircraft combined.

There's a new switch on Rent-A-Tandford that gives his tenants the furniture if they live in the apartment a year. Shopping on New York's Madison Avenue we saw a plastic dog collar that slowly releases insecticide to keep your pooch free of fleas. One filling lasts three months and it's odorless. Made us think a dog's life is becoming better all the time. A recent survey shows U.S. hospitals care for about 24 million patients each year. The Baltimore (Md.) EVENING STAR reported in a story: "The Stock Market, irregular most of the time, retreated slightly." Beaten back, no doubt.

Country Editor speaking: "Work is that which you are doing when you'd rather be doing something else."

THE SILENT AMERICANS A mood of drift and despair is at large in the land. Many of the victims of its gloomy infection were once-proud American patriots. They have contended long and hard for what they are convinced is right principle. They believe in personal freedom and national independence as the twin cornerstones of the American heritage. Now they are discouraged because their words of wisdom and warning so often go unheeded. Some are silent because they have concluded that all is lost.

Had our first patriots followed this unhappy example, we would have no country to love, no heritage to honor and no history of which to be proud. Even if the worst were true, even if there was no hope for freedom's survival, this would not relieve men who know the truth and right from their duty to speak out. In fact, so long as free speech is still permitted, hope remains in spite of all doom-cases.

Any trend of history can be reversed if enough men will it. Any man's words may become the spark lighting the fire of determination to save freedom in the souls of others. In the darkest hour, each man needs his brightest torch. It is too late not to try.

Let us hear again from the newly silent Americans. Let them not measure their mark on history by size of audiences and numbers of votes. Truth is more powerful than an army with banners. The silence of men who know truth and right is an invitation to their destroyers to proceed.

Ah, the Hectic Life of a Movie Extra

By JOAN CROSY
NEW YORK (NEA) — Acting is a lot of fun, along with hard work, unless you are on the lowest rung of the performing ladder. Then you are an extra, and the only word for the job is tedious.

In an effort to learn first hand what it's like to be a non-performer, I became an extra for one day's filming of "The Group," the film version of Mary McCarthy's novel.

The call was for Sunday morning at 7:30 in the New York Fox Movietone studio, where I was fitted into a dress from 1933 (not a costume, but an authentic dress from the era found by the costumer in a friend's attic) in approximately 10 minutes. While other extras were fitted into similar clothes from a period which can best be described as Early Drag, I stood and waited. It was good preparation for the rest of the day, during which I mostly stood and waited or sat and waited.

About an hour later a bus took extras and stand-ins to the location, Astor Place in lower Manhattan, in front of Cooper Union, which hasn't changed from the days when Abraham Lincoln made his famous speech there. We sat in the bus for a long time. Then we were asked to get out, and we stood in a group for a while (Extras are always grouped together, to make it easier for the assistant director to find them.)

Then the assistant director started pointing his finger at you and you, go to that corner in front of the barber shop and walk in this direction when you see the actors start to cross the street" — and the extras were deployed.

The scene was a complicated one, which involved cutting off pedestrian and vehicular traffic from four streets which lead into the area. (One man who was not allowed to pass for a moment said, "They have a hell of a nerve invading the privacy of the public.") At a signal, several vintage automobiles drove into view, the eight actresses playing the leads, accompanied by three of the actors, ran laughing and yelling across the street and the "background people" walked. The scene was done over and finally director Sidney Lumet was satisfied.

That was the cue for the extras to get back in the bus and sit some more. Shortly after noon, the crew packed up, the leads piled into their limousines, and the entourage took off for the day's second location.

It was an automaton at 38th Street and Broadway. Arrival time was 12:30. Lunch break lasted until 1:30. Then the crew began to set up the next scene, one which Lumet called "a tour de force of lighting and camera movement." At 3 p.m. the extras, who now numbered 47, since there had been a second group which arrived at 10 a.m., were placed at tables. There we sat until 5:30, when the first shot was made.

In the scene, the cameras moved in a circle around a table featuring five of the leads, who were gossiping about a 14th girl. Every corner of the restaurant appeared in the scene at one time or other. The scene was filmed several times. By this time, those of us

Luck Still Sticks For Dick Van Dyke

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—They will have to call him One-Take Van Dyke after this.

Dick dried himself off and dropped into a chair at the side of the jungle pool (just off the Ventura Freeway in the Walt Disney studio).

"You know," he said, "I've got everything on the first take so far today."

Dick and Nancy Kwan and Akim Tamiroff are shooting "Lt. Robin Crusoe, U. S. N.," for Disney. It's the story of a downed Navy pilot on a supposedly deserted island. Obviously, "deserted" is a relative term, for there were Nancy and Akim and a detachment of native girls in sarongs and flower leis.

The scene had Dick dashing off to elude the pursuing girls, but they trapped him on a ledge over the pool. Girls to the right of him, girls to the left of him, a sheer rock cliff behind him, but in front of him a possible avenue of escape. A long vine hung from a tree. You could see the wheels turning in his head—if he could grab the vine and swing across the pool, he'd be safe.

So he jumped and grabbed the vine—which, on cue, broke and down he plunged into the pool.

It was a funny scene, done in one take, and the crew applauded as Dick splashed ashore.

Later, dry again, he was commenting on his good life. It was a pleasantly warm day; the pool was heated, filtered and chlorinated.

"I can't wait until I go in again," he said.

Since "Mary Poppins," Dick has become one of the hottest of Hollywood hotshots. He says he is offered a script a day, "but most of them are either dirty or
