Egyptians Attempt Break-Out Again

THE QUIET FRONT — While outbreaks of fighting are still occurring near the Suez Canal, these Jordanian troops peer across the Allenby Bridge into the Israeli-occupied West Bank. The situation is tense along the Israel-Jordan borders but the cease-fire has remained in effect there. So far, anyway.

By United Press International
Units of the trapped Egyptian 3rd Army tried Saturday to smash their way out of the Israeli stranglehold on the Sinai Desert, but the attacks—one of them lasting three hours—were repulsed by infantry, artillery and mortar batteries, Israel reported.

The battlefield moves came during intense diplomatic negotiations in Washington and Arab capitals aimed at resolving the four-week-old crisis. The 3rd Army, about 20,000 men strong, is encircled on the East Bank of the Suez Canal. It was trapped by Israel's spearhead across the canal's West Bank on mainland Egypt.

Col. Nachman Karni, the

Israeli military spokesman, said the Egyptians succeeded in throwing a small infantry bridge westward across the canal at mid-afternoon, but saw it knocked out by Israeli artillery.

Karni said Egyptian troops under the cover of artillery began building the bridge at 2 p.m. and the Israelis informed U.N. truce observers of the action before opening fire. The spokesman said the Egyptian thrust was "a break-out attempt on a small scale," but it took three hours of infantry, artillery and mortar attacks to repulse the Egyptians.

The bridging incident came after an attempt by 3rd Army troops facing west towards Israel to improve their position. The move was called a cease-fire violation by the Israelis who opened fire, also turning back this Egyptian effort, Karni said.

Karni said about 13 more truckloads of relief supplies reached the surrounded 3rd army across the canal as the latest fighting flared, bringing the total to 88 since the effort began a week ago under U.N. supervision.

After the fighting, Israel said it filed three complaints to the U.N. truce supervisory organization.

The latest flareup came as U.N. personnel in nearby Cyprus were alerted for a possible exchange of wounded Israeli and Egyptian prisoners. However, in Cairo, the Egyptian government spokesman announced there would be no POW transfers—wounded or otherwise—until the Israelis withdraw to the Oct. 22 cease-fire lines. Such a withdrawal would free the trapped 3rd Army and the city of Suez.

But diplomatic sources in Nicosia said Israel and Egypt would exchange wounded POWs, possibly Sunday, using Red Cross jet transports to carry out the exchange between Cairo and Tel Aviv. Egypt has demanded the Israelis withdraw from the West Bank and said that if it is not done voluntarily, Egyptian forces on the West Bank of the canal would push the Israeli off the Egyptian side, Sadat said, however, he will wait to see the fruits of the diplomatic efforts in Washington, Damascus, Beirut and other Arab capitals.

On the diplomatic front: —In Washington, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a series of meetings — for the first time — with the three main belligerents, Syria, Egypt and Israel.

Kissinger, who will fly to Arab capitals Monday, met Friday night with Syrian Deputy Foreign Minister Moham Z. Ismail.

Bike-A-Thon Slated Today

The Bike-A-Thon to benefit the American Cancer Society gets underway today at 12:30 p.m. at the Coronado Center parking lot.

Riders in the annual event have solicited pledges from local sponsors for a minimum of 20 cents a mile for each mile of the 30-mile course they complete.

Bike-A-Thon chairman Ted Everhart said entries in the ride should total more than the 75 who rode last year.

Cyanide Barrels Threaten Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI)—Coast Guard helicopters Saturday patrolled a 250-mile stretch of South Texas coast in search of more corroded barrels of potentially deadly cyanide that may be drifting northward from an August shipping accident off the Mexico coast.

Two of the barrels were found Friday along Padre Island about 30 miles south of Corpus Christi. One of the casks had broken and a fish kill was evident in the area, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

"We are warning everyone to stay away from any small strange barrels they might see floating in the Gulf, or caught in the drift areas along the coast or in the sand," the spokesman said.

Don't Break Them — The barrels aren't dangerous at all if they aren't messed with," he said. "But if broken open, then the cyanide could kill. It can be ingested through the skin. That's how dangerous it is."

The barrels found Friday were believed to be part of a 390-barrel cargo jettisoned Aug. 5 about 90 miles off the coast of Cabo Catoche, Yucatan, Mexico. Those barrels contained potassium cyanide and sodium cyanide.

"The writing on these (two barrels) has been completely corroded and we must rely entirely on identification of the contents," the spokesman said.

Two Ships Collide — The Coast Guard said two ships—the Persues and the Puebla — collided. One of them lightened its load to weather out Tropical Storm Delia, which was approaching from the east.

The storm apparently spread the casks over a large portion of the Gulf of Mexico, the spokesman said.

AS DEMANDS GROW

President Still Adamant Against Any Resignation

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—President Nixon, seemingly braced to "tough it out" against a deluge of demands for his resignation, conferred with close aides Saturday on ways to recover his steadily deteriorating support among the American public.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon was preoccupied Saturday with the Middle East and emergency measures he was expected to announce next week for meeting expected fuel shortages this winter.

But other White House officials said Nixon was "fully aware" of growing questions about his credibility with each successive revelation in the Watergate scandal. They insisted again, however, that the President is giving no thought to resigning.

Besides conferring with his chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig Jr., and his chief liaison with Congress, Bryce N. Harlow, the President received reports of rising protests and criticism from news summaries and personal briefings by Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

"We're going from bunker to bunker," said one White House aide, using the metaphor of a besieged President. Nixon spoke by telephone with White House special counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, his principal representative at U.S. District Court hearings before Chief Judge John J. Sirica over the nonexistence of two crucial Watergate tapes.

Stephen Bull, the White House aide who told Sirica Friday that Nixon knew as early as Sept. 29 that two tapes of conversations with Dean N. Mitchell and John W. Dean III could not be found, joined the President's Florida party Friday evening. Bull is to resume his testimony on Tuesday.

Referring to the latest furor over the nonexistent tapes, one official said: "Obviously, the President is concerned about the confusion over the matter, but feels that as this process goes along, the facts will be brought out."

"We're going to do all we can to do what needs to be done to clear the matter up," the official said, welcoming Sirica's inquiry. In recent days, columnist Joseph Alsop and ABC television commentator Howard K. Smith—both regarded in the past as Nixon supporters—urged the President to resign. Smith said his statement prompted Ziegler to summon him to the White House for a meeting. "I frankly felt sorry for him, but it didn't change anything," Smith said.

Others calling for Nixon's resignation included syndicated columnist Jack Anderson and The Detroit News, which said in an editorial for its Sunday morning editions that "the matter of the tapes is the final blow to public trust."

The News said "that final disillusionment makes three more years of a Nixon administration too bleak, too dangerous, a prospect." Both the paper and Alsop said Nixon should resign after Congress confirms House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford as vice president.

Conservative editor William F. Buckley predicted Nixon would resign, probably at the urging of such close friends as Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., in the belief history would vindicate him.

Chicago 7 gain a half victory

CHICAGO (UPI)—A federal judge Saturday freed the Chicago Seven of 19 of 38 contempt charges imposed by U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman during their tumultuous riot-conspiracy trial four years ago.

U.S. District Court Judge Edward T. Gignoux announced his ruling after four days of arguments on defense motions for a blanket dismissal of charges and for acquittal.

Gignoux denied the dismissal demand but acquitted the one-time unruly Chicago Seven defendants of 18 charges and dismissed another one. The ruling left Lee Weiner and John Froines free from further prosecution.

The judge said he would announce Monday his ruling on motions to dismiss 14 counts of contempt against the Chicago Seven lawyers, William Kunstler and Leonard I. Weinglass.

Five of the seven defendants were left to face contempt citations during a trial to begin next week.

The defendants and number of citations against them: David Dellinger, eight; Rennie Davis, two; Thomas Hayden, one; Abbie Hoffman, five; and Jerry Rubin, three.

Gignoux made one exception in Saturday's ruling. He acquitted Kunstler of one half of a two-count contempt citation on charge of badgering Mayor Richard J. Daley with 83 questions "which he knew to be improper."

The defendants were acquitted of contempt for failing to rise when Hoffman entered the courtroom during their 4½ month trial in 1969-70. "Such actions do not rise to the level of contempt unless they can be shown to have been a material obstruction and the government evidence was insufficient to show this," Gignoux ruled.

In refusing to dismiss all charges against the defendants, who argued they "deserved no more than a ritualistic verbal spanking," Gignoux said the defense failed to present evidence to support its charge of discriminatory or unconstitutional prosecution of the original trial.

The Pet Division will not be a part of the Parade on Thursday due to the long distance of the parade route which makes it inadvisable for the small youngsters to participate. Parents are urged to encourage their youngsters to participate in the Saturday contest.

Bands from the Middle School, Junior High School, and Pampa High School will participate in the parade. A special choir group will also be in the parade. Bands from area towns will be asked to participate.

New pole-type Christmas decorations will be used for the first time this year and will be in place in time for the parade.

Prizes will be presented at the Chamber of Commerce office at 4 p.m. Friday, Nov. 30. Prizes for the Pet Division will be presented at 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 3, also in the chamber office.

All school children are invited to participate. Santa Claus will be there in person with free candy for boys and girls in downtown Pampa before the parade and in the Coronado Center after the parade.

DEATHS INCREASE

AUSTIN (UPI)—Traffic accidents in Texas have killed 3,011 persons this year, a 3 per cent increase over deaths at this time a year ago, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

To this date last year, there had been 2,923 traffic deaths.

Cold Front Heads Into Panhandle

By United Press International
A polar front which dropped snow from the Canadian border to the New Mexico hills Saturday bowed toward Texas carrying little more than frigid temperatures.

The temperature in Pampa reached freezing for the first time this fall Saturday with a low of 32 recorded officially.

Temperatures were expected to drop even lower last night as the area felt the effects of the polar front from the north.

The low tonight is expected to hit 30 with the high tomorrow in the lower 50s.

The National Weather Service said a few showers would probably develop along the coast but skies would remain cloudy through the weekend.

The new frigid front followed by about a day a weaker front that dropped temperatures by almost 20 degrees. That front was located deep in South Texas Saturday, weak and stationary.

The new front was expected to move deep into the state Sunday, and temperatures already chilly, were expected to drop even further.

Forecasters said the mercury would probably hover in the upper 30s in the Panhandle Sunday and drop below freezing Saturday night.

The cold front Saturday divided Texas weather today into a cool and partly cloudy area in the south today.

Voters To Decide On Proposed Amendments Fate

By CLAY LIVERY

Area voters and others across the state will go to the polls Tuesday to vote in a called special election on nine proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

From all indications, amendment number one on the ballot is by far the most controversial of the nine.

If passed it would raise the annual salary for members of the House and the Senate from $4,800 to $15,000, raise the expense allowance granted each member during legislative sessions from $12 to $18 a day and set up annual sessions of the legislature calling for lawmakers to meet 180 days in odd-numbered years and 69 days in even-numbered years.

The annual sessions would also abandon the system of drafting state budgets for two years at a time.

Other proposed amendments raising legislative salaries have been rejected by voters in 1965, 1968, 1969, 1970 and 1972.

This year's amendment has been endorsed by close to 100 state and local organizations, according to wire service reports.

Opponents of the amendment contend taxes and the cost of government are already too high and legislative salaries should not be increased.

Amendments Nos. 2 and 3 would permit, respectively, single adults to claim homestead exemptions and give them the same protection from creditors as families have, and apply the $3,000 property tax exemption given families claiming homesteads.

Amendment No. 4 would require any new conservation and reclamation district being created to notify the counties or cities in which they are located.

Amendment No. 5 will provide that a simple majority of those voting on the issuance of bonds for the construction of sea walls and breakwaters will constitute passage of the issue. Currently, a two-thirds majority is required.

Amendment No. 6 is designed to broaden the importance of the district courts of the state. It will give the legislature the authority to increase, diminish or eliminate the jurisdiction of district and county courts in probate matters to provide for rules governing the filing, distribution and transfers of such and transfer probate matters to the court of civil appeals.

Amendment No. 7 will provide for an additional $100 million in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas for the Veterans' Land Fund.

The Veteran Land Program, unique in the U.S., is operated at no cost to the taxpayers of the state.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong has said the program will end next year if the bond issue is not approved.

Amendment No. 8 would remove the constitutional ceiling that limits cities of more than 5,000 population to property taxes of 2.5 per cent of the value of taxable property within the city.

The legislature would then have the responsibility of setting the cities' tax limits.

Amendment No. 9 would grant the legislature authority to give property tax exemptions to non-profit water supply corporations. A similar amendment was defeated in 1969.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at 11 polling places in the county.

Three precincts in Gray County were combined with the other precincts by the Commissioners' Court Sept. 13 pursuant to directions from the Secretary of State.

Following is the list of Gray County voting places.

Precinct One — Community Center, Lefors (including the former Precinct Six in Laketon).

Varied Activities Planned For Model II Legislature

Political campaign contributions and expenses, executive sessions for governmental bodies, labor unions, nursing homes and newsmen's privilege of keeping confidential their sources of information will be among the proposed legislation for Model Legislature II, according to Kiwanian John W. Warner, general chairman.

This project is sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis Club, Key Club, Jaycees, Jaycee - Ettes, Pampa High School Student Council and PHS Government Department. Nov. 17 at the high school is the day students will experience the legislative process. Members of the public are invited to attend as observers, Warner said.

Eleven committees will hear witnesses and will draft legislation in the morning session. That afternoon members of the student House of Representatives will meet in the high school auditorium for floor debates with the Senate meeting in the cafeteria.

The bills to be considered by the students are: Requiring all meetings of governmental bodies be open to the public; allowing newsmen the privilege of keeping confidential their sources of information; requiring retailers of milk, eggs and meat to place the date the item is first offered for retail sale on the outside of the container.

Providing appropriations for the Texas Constitution Committee, providing for a work free lunch period for teachers; making privileged all information transmitted by students to school counselors; allowing owners of cattle shipped into quarantined areas 30 days to have their cattle dipped for scabies; parliamentarians for each legislative committee. Jaycee Milton Saltzman will provide an orientation for student leaders. The Key Club will assist in registration and will provide sergeants - at - arms. Key Club chairmen are Bert Casey and Steve Qualls. Kiwanians David McDaniel and Jerry G. Wayne Bruce and Lynn Hoyer are heading an effort by the PHS Student Council to involve other area high schools in the project.

The other committee, the House Rules Committee, will determine the order in which these bills are debated in the afternoon session of the House of Representatives, Warner said.

Several proposed bills were submitted to students of some of the government classes at PHS last week, Warner said. They chose the bills which would appear to have the most interest to students.

Jaycee-ettes have been preparing stencils of the proposed bills so that participating students will be given copies of all proposed legislation when they attend the Model Legislature. Mrs. Paula Graves is chairman for the Jaycee - ettes, and Mrs. Kerrick Horton is vice - chairman.

Income Decline Not Significant, Experts Claim

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texans' estimated personal income declined 3 per cent and business activity dropped 8 per cent in September, the Bureau of Business Research reported Saturday.

During this same time the average value of the consumer price index climbed 3 per cent and the purchasing power of the dollar declined one penny nationwide.

Experts said the September business statistics indicated inflation is indeed a problem for Texans as well as residents of other states, but discounted the idea that the drop in personal income and the index of business activity signified bad prospects for prosperity in the state.

Dr. Francis B. May, professor of statistics at the University of Texas at Austin, noted that the September decline in personal income followed an all-time high in August. He said it is not unusual for business indexes of all kinds to drop in the period following a surge to a new peak value.

The personal income estimate for September totaled $4,302 billion compared to $4,441 billion for August and $3,899 billion for September, 1972.

Although the income estimate has averaged 10 per cent above 1972 figures for the first nine months of this year, the increase was partially offset by the continued erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar by inflation.

A 5.5 per cent rise in the index of consumer prices during the first nine months of 1973 in comparison with the same period in 1972 wiped out slightly more than half the estimated gain in consumer income from 1972 levels.

NASA Plans To Postmark 'Launch' Mail

The U.S. Postal Service has announced that the Titusville, Fla., post office will again accept mail from the public to be postmarked on Saturday, Nov. 10, when the Skylab IV mission is scheduled to be launched.

Titusville was the servicing location for Apollo 17 and Skylab I, II and III. The change in the servicing location was originally brought about because the Kennedy Space Center is closed to the public on the day of the launch for security reasons.

There will be an identified drop box in the lobby of the Titusville Post Office where mailings can be deposited to receive the cancellation.

The mail will be removed from the drop box, taken to the Kennedy Space Center, cancelled and placed in the mail stream. The drop box will be open for an 8-hour period beginning at 8 a.m. on Nov. 10.

NASA will accept mail orders, limited to five covers per person. Envelopes should be addressed to "Special Philatelic Cancellation, IS-DOC-M, NASA, Kennedy Space Center, Fla. 32899."

Mail orders will be accepted by the Postal Service in Houston. Envelopes should be addressed to "Space Cancellation, Main Post Office Window Service, Houston, Tex. 77013." The same limitation of five covers per person applies.

Mail orders addressed to Houston must be postmarked no later than Nov. 10.

Lake Meredith Launch Ramps Face Danger

Boat launching ramps at Bates Canyon and Plum Creek, Lake Meredith Recreation Area, are gradually becoming unusable for boats that exceed 14 to 16 feet in length.

The depth of the lake has been steadily dropping and silt deposit at these sites has created a very shallow water condition. Lake Meredith has declined from 100 feet on Aug. 1 to a little over 97 feet on Nov. 1.

With normal dry weather months coming on, it is anticipated the lake will continue to decline and make boat launching at Bates Canyon and Plum Creek even more difficult.

Visitors to the lake should be cautious when trying to use either of these two ramps, and it is recommended that the other launching ramps be used.

Only very shallow draft boats should try to use the two ramps until such time as the water level may rise. James Thompson, superintendent warned.

Pampan Gets Certificate From Health Department

The Texas State Health Department has awarded its official certificate of competency for the oldest ecology oriented profession in Texas to Ronald J. Wheeler of Rt. 1, Pampa.

Wheeler is employed by Kingsmill Community Water Supply. To practice water ecology in Texas, he has been taught effective ways for producing safe drinking water and treatments to make wastewater into clean streams for public use.

Because of this training, through the Texas Water Utilities Association, the largest water and wastewater training school in the U.S., there are cleaner streams and better operated facilities here than any other section of the country.

Youth Center Report

Swim Lessons - The Center teaches a program of year round swim lessons for all ages. During the summer months the lessons are taught during the morning hours, but now during the school year the lessons switch to the hours of 4-6 p.m.

Classes meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for 10 meeting dates. Occasionally we have some guest instructors to help us out.

Enrollment is open to the general public and you do not have to join the Youth Center to participate. There is a $4 charge to non-members however, while Center members are enrolled free of charge. Memberships are always available at the front receptionists office.

Women's Exercise Class - There is an exercise and swim class organized at the Youth Center just for the women. No men or children are allowed during the time.

On Monday, Wednesday and Fridays the women meet at the Center on a time period of 9:30-10 a.m. to swim. The exercises are through a series of recordings and they are led by Sally White. The swim time is an informal one with no instructions given.

To participate in this exercise class you must be a Center member or become one. Memberships are only $5 for six months. There is a baby sitting service for mothers at a very nominal fee. Just come to one of the sessions and we will fix you up.

Memberships - The Youth Center is a non-profit organization which derives its operational revenue from dues, donations and extra activities. The Center is a private corporation and does not cost the tax payers one cent. This is hard to say of any other organization of its kind.

To participate in the activities of the Youth Center we have a membership plan for individuals and family groups. There are two different divisions of the Center.

One membership is our limited membership. This is our regular everyday membership which we have been selling for 13 years. This entitles you to use of the gym, recreation hall, swimming pool and dressing rooms.

The cost of this limited membership for an individual is only $5 for six months or $8 a year. For a family the cost is $12 for six months or $20 a year.

The other membership is our unlimited one. This entitles you to all of the above plus the use of the new health facility. The health facility is located just off the swimming pool room and houses a large exercise room with all the latest exercise equipment, two handball and racquetball courts, dressing room, sauna and reception rooms.

Some of the equipment to be found in the exercise room are barbells, exerciser machine, rowing machine, multiple press machine, leg press machine, leg and thigh curl machine, barrel rollers, vibrator belts, motorized bicycles, manual bicycles, facial machine, abdominal boards, sunlamp and heat lamp and jungle pulley machine.

The unlimited membership for an individual is $65 for six months. This can be paid out in six installments of $15.50 down and $10.50 for each of the 5 remaining months.

For a husband-wife combination the cost is $90 for six months or $160 a year. Installment wise the cost would

People Need More Concern For The Human Environment

By C.R. BATTEN
Ever since the dawn of the environmental age of the '70s, it seems that nearly everybody talks about the environment, but few have attempted to define it. Most of us assume that the environment is simply the physical world around us. We are (or, at least, should be) most concerned about the human environment. Yet, I do not know of any attempt to describe just what the human environment is.

Congratulations to all those holding a multimedia First Aid card.

The Hospital Volunteer Orientation that was scheduled for Oct. 31 will be re-scheduled for this week. Our office will be in touch with the ladies that are planning to take this class and any other interested persons should call the office at 669-7121.

Our case work for Service to Military Families has been heavier this month than for some time. This month we served 22 Active Service cases and nine Veterans. Our office is open from 9 to 5 weekdays, and we are in the telephone book if any serviceman needs help.

animal — interacting with other men to provide for his own needs and satisfactions. Modern man has developed economic systems to provide food, clothing, shelter and amenities that every individual needs.

Some believe that schools, hospitals, museums, housing, transportation and many other items should be provided by and for the general society. So they have organized governments to provide those things.

The society and the political and economic systems that we have developed are all parts of the human environment — parts of man's natural habitat. Those are the systems that have created his physical surroundings: the cities, the farms, the homes, the schools, and the businesses.

The human environment, then is largely man-made. The most satisfactory living conditions have been created by working within the framework of nature's laws. Man cannot repeal or amend nature's laws, whether they be those governing our physical environment, or those governing our social, economic and political environments. He cannot change nature.

A mass flight by 44 army planes in 1919 from San Francisco to New York saw only 10 make the round trip.

Fortunately for mankind, not all individuals seek the same kind of habitat. But all do seek to improve their position as much as possible — to seek a more comfortable life, a greater abundance of necessities, and more amenities that make life more pleasant.

The Alaskan native, whose original habitat was the near-wilderness of the Arctic regions, seeks to improve himself through greater use of natural resources and modern technology. He seeks to improve his habitat so it will provide him with a better life. Man has always been a social

Texas Crude Oil Reserves Getting Short

By LT. GOV. BILL HOBBY

AUSTIN — Since the discovery of what first seemed to be limitless supplies of crude oil in Texas, our state has been an exporter of this basic energy source.

We now discover that far from being limitless, Texas oil reserves are becoming critically short.

In 1970, Texas exported 325,000 barrels of crude oil a day to other parts of the United States. By 1980 it is estimated that Texas will be importing 3.5 million barrels a day. That will increase to 5.5 million barrels a day by 1985.

Almost all of this oil will have to come from the Persian Gulf and other far-flung producing areas.

Conventional tankers cannot deliver such massive amounts of crude at an acceptable price. Thus we must rely on the supertankers to supply Texas refineries at a reasonable cost.

The problem is that no port in the United States is capable of handling these huge ships, which require water depths of between 55 to 110 feet.

The only practical solution appears to be the construction of deep-water offshore terminals, or so-called superports.

Those in state government have recognized the problems and promise of this approach to easing the energy crisis. Last fall, the Legislature established the Texas Offshore Terminal Commission, and charged it with developing an overall plan for construction of a deep-water port.

The commission is well underway with that plan which will be presented to the next session of the Legislature.

Legislation is presently pending before the U.S. Congress which would simplify the licensing procedures necessary for superports, whether they are to be built by state or local governments or by private industry.

This legislation is vitally needed to remove the many bureaucratic roadblocks to establishing superports.

Federal laws on this subject should reserve to the state the right to decide where a deep-water terminal is to be built off its coast. This provision is needed because of the vast environmental and economic impact a superport will have on the residents of these states.

It is obvious that offshore terminals are needed, and their construction should not be delayed unduly. This will require a great deal of coordination between state and federal agencies and the private business sectors involved.

I believe a superport for Texas is vital to our economy. It can and must be built with the utmost concern for the ecology of our Gulf and the environment of our coastal residents.

Nixon Called A Part-Time Performer

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If President Nixon survives the continuing perils of Watergate and other inquiries, the nation evidently is going to witness the spectacle of a chief executive who finds in every issue a challenge which is basically a contest with himself.

No one doubts that when problems reach the presidential level for decision, they are indeed challenges of a higher order. But Richard Nixon is peculiarly preoccupied with the way problems impact upon his own makeup, and with the public's impression of this interaction.

His most recent press conference was replete with references which went beyond the Middle East war and Watergate to the matter of how he was behaving as he responded to them.

It was as though he regarded each day's chores in the White House as some kind of aptitude test. Most typical were such comments as "the tougher it gets, the cooler I get" and "because I have been through so much, that may be one of the reasons I have what it takes."

Again and again, as so often before, the President pictured himself as a man pounded relentlessly by unfair critics, and yet as a man who could and would endure these allegedly brutal slings and "carry out to the best of my responsibility the duties I was elected to carry out last November."

But what comes through here is the portrait of a president who spends an inordinate amount of time, and hence of the American people's time, attending not specifically to those duties but to the way he is perceived as a performer.

Many public figures and political analysts have said recently that Watergate and related matters "cripple" the President. It is possible to argue that Mr. Nixon has always been crippled in his public life, in the sense that he has always been at least partly diverted from the problems at hand to a consideration of his own entanglements.

To quote once more, as I did in an earlier report, from James David Barber's broad study of presidential performance called "The Presidential Character":

"In psychological terms, Nixon substitutes technique for value. His energies are taken up with the struggle to resolve certain fairly continuous conflicts among his own character forces."

Viewing Nixon as self-monitor and self-manager highlights his search for signs that he is performing correctly. Nixon is seen as a man on the run, watching himself run, criticizing his form as he runs. He TENDS himself.

Barber's thesis may be contentious, but the President's public utterances — over the years and not just in the extraordinary heat of 1973 — make it at least partly supportable.

To the extent this is so, to the degree Mr. Nixon devotes himself to his personal entanglement with problems rather than simply the problems themselves, he can be judged a waster of precious White House hours and a part-time performer.

This leaves us with the ironic circumstances of living with a president who we are told works all the time and allows himself little or no fun, but who manages nevertheless to apportion too little of his day to the public's business.

Assuredly, the President deals in fact with the Middle East war, with Watergate, with China and the Soviet Union and nuclear arms control. But the evidence is strong that his prime business is Richard Nixon.

Two American presidents have been honored with the Nobel Peace Prize, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson each received this award for their efforts to better mankind. The World Almanac recalls Roosevelt was honored in 1906 for his services as mediator during the Russo-Japanese War in 1905. In 1919, Wilson received the prize for his efforts in establishing the League of Nations.

"Of Course, I was Just Trying It on for Size!"

Don Oakley

The prisoner of Pennsylvania Avenue

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration over the past six months has found itself in one Watergate - spawned crisis after another.

It has turned about, backed off, made a concession here, a concession there, each time thinking it had done all that was necessary to resolve the problem but actually leaving itself weaker and in a worse position to meet the next crisis.

It is as if a general, pressed by a relentless foe, were to let himself be nibbled to death in a series of useless tactical maneuvers dictated by the situation of the moment rather than by any grand, over-all strategy.

Such a process can continue only so long, and like a retreating army the administration may very well be reaching the point where it will have no more room in which to maneuver and no more power with which to command events.

President Nixon had an excellent opportunity, in the setting of his most recent press conference, to regain some of the ground he had lost.

His decision to release the Watergate tapes, while it had been forced upon him, had taken much of the steam out of the impeachment movement in Congress. In the background was the near-confrontation with the Soviet Union in the Middle East — a graphic lesson in the vital necessity of having a strong commander in chief guarding the international interests of the nation, and one which the President understandably took pains to point out.

If there was ever a time during the entire course of the Watergate affair that the President should have seized the initiative, it was at that moment. It was incumbent upon him to go the whole mile, and more, to convince the American people that he truly shared their desire to get to the bottom of Watergate. At the very least, what was required was a no-strings pledge of total co-operation with Congress and the courts in the continuing investigation.

Instead, the President defended his actions as he repeatedly has in the past, as if unaware of their tremendous cost to him: He impugned the motives of his supposed enemies. He attacked the straw man of a "vicious," "hysterical," lynch-minded press. He emphasized his coolness, his toughness, his ability to stick it out under fire.

Perhaps most fateful of all, he set the stage for a serious showdown with Congress by announcing that a new "independent" special Watergate prosecutor would be appointed within the Justice Department to whom he would continue to deny full and free access to White House documents in the name of presidential confidentiality.

It is obvious that the President has not even now gauged the full depth of feeling among Americans over this Watergate business. Either his advisers are tragically insensitive to the mood of the people or the President himself is. He has become the prisoner of Pennsylvania Avenue. His scathing attack on the news media, particularly television reporting, may have scored him some short-range advantage. The press is always a popular target, if only because no one likes bad news.

But the sad fact is that there has been no need for anyone to lie about or to distort the events of the past few weeks. Straightforward, factual reporting has been damaging enough.

Congress and the President are now on a collision course for a new crisis over the issue of a Watergate prosecutor. Who is to blame for that?

How many more battles wracking the highest level of its government can the country tolerate? How many more defeats can the President endure?

H. L. Hunt Writes

SMALL VICTORY FOR TAXPAYERS

In a time when tighter restraints on government spending are the only way to bring soaring prices under control and public confidence in all branches of government has reached a new low, the action of Iowa Congressman H.R. Gross and Alabama Senator James Allen in blocking a $10,000 per man Congressional pay increase is particularly commendable.

Both of these men, and especially Gross, are known as watchdogs of the public purse. There are not many of their kind left in Congress, but they can still be very effective.

The Senate had hurried through a cleverly disguised bill which, if passed, would have resulted in raising the salary of all Members of Congress by almost 25 per cent, without explanation, debate or a record vote. Gross, a brilliant parliamentarian, "caught" the bill as it was sailing through the House and blocked it by demanding a roll call vote.

Since few Congressmen wanted to be on record as voting for another large pay increase for themselves, the bill was defeated.

When the Senate tried to revive it, Senator Allen forced a four-hour debate and a series of record votes which had the same effect as Gross' action.

Congress should set an example to the nation, and above all to the executive branch, in avoiding huge, inflation-fueling salary increases at public expense, especially now that they have delegated so much of their authority that they sometimes seem to be a little more than rubber stamps. Only a truly independent and responsible Congress can make our Constitution work as it was intended.

The reason so many people never get anywhere in life is because, when opportunity knocks, they are out in the back yard looking for four-leaf clovers. — Walter P. Chrysler, American industrialist.

By TEX DEWEESE
Editor Of The News

THE PAMPA chamber of commerce is embarking on a new year with a new crew headed by Rex McAnelly, manager of Moody Farms and Feedlot, and a man who sees it like it is and tells it like it is.

There was much favorable comment about McAnelly's remarks as he accepted the president's gavel at last Tuesday night's annual chamber membership banquet. He put it in a nutshell when he said, "I think we need to think more about what we're going to do rather than what we have done."

In other words, he believes we need to concentrate more on telling the world about Pampa's potential as an industrial location to go along with the astounding growth of the area's agri-business which has jumped from less than $4-million to $40-million in the last 19 years.

McAnelly believes implicitly in Pampa and Gray County. With a new man added to the chamber staff as an industry-hunter, McAnelly has confidence the coming year will be a good one for Pampa and Gray County of which Pampa is the capital.

There is one thing of which Pampans can be certain — if hard work and dedication to the job count for anything — McAnelly will lead the Chamber of Commerce to one of its best years in history under the management of veteran chamber executive E.O. Wedgeworth, with the assistance of Harris Brinson in charge of industrial development, and a board of directors endowed with a spirit of cooperation to put Pampa in its rightful place on the economic map of the Texas Panhandle.

McAnelly said something else at the chamber banquet as he took over his new duties. He said it is his hope that ten years from now we can look back and say the year 1973-74 was the year "when we just got started."

To accomplish that hope, the new president, the chamber of commerce staff and its directors will need the individual help of every chamber member and every citizen of Pampa.

Building a better and more prosperous city is definitely not a one-man job. It takes all of us.

ALONG THE line of Pampa's industrial potential, one suspects the Pampa Industrial Foundation and the new man in charge of industrial development do not need to be reminded about the importance of keeping in very close touch with the Texas Industrial Commission down at Austin.

We have a communication from Pat Williams, the TIC's director of Prospect Development Division, in which he states the current year has far exceeded the commission's expectations in terms of activity and results in registering industry prospects seeking locations in Texas.

For the year ending Aug. 30, 1973, Williams says, 286 prospects registered as a result of TIC's campaign to win them over for Texas compared to 188 the previous year.

ODDS AND ends. The City Hall Cat says he's keeping both paws on the pulse at City Hall. Will it happen or won't it? The newly-formed Pampa Army Air Field Association is making big plans for its second annual reunion next year. It will probably be held in the M.K. Brown Civic Auditorium with a banquet, floor show and other entertainment. To keep association members up to date on developments a Reunion Newsletter is being put out by Mrs. Nina Spoonmore, with the September issue just off the press. Congratulations again to the Rotary Club for bringing that World of Travel Series to Pampa. The initial offering in the five-part series, "All About Argentina" with Clay Francisco, was excellent. Those who attended the first one are looking forward to the next four.

I would urge him (President Nixon) to co-operate to the fullest extent in getting the Watergate thing wound up so he as President can get on with the job of leading the country and not have to bow down to the Ervin committee every time he literally wants to go to the men's room. — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Taxing Patience Of Nation

On top of Watergate, the Agnew scandal and allegations of questionable financial arrangements in the purchase of his estates in Key Biscayne and San Clemente, the revelation that in two recent years President Nixon paid less income taxes than the average working stiff is likely to arouse little more than a resigned shrug from Americans, whose confidence in the integrity of their public servants has already about reached bottom.

Specifically, Mr. Nixon paid taxes of $792.81 in 1970 and $878.03 in 1971 on his salary of $200,000 — less taxes than a family of three earning $8,500. Apparently, this was a result of his donation to the National Archives of his personal papers, on which he placed a value of some half-million dollars.

All perfectly legal, and who is to insist that the nation's first citizen should strap himself to set some kind of example for the rest of us? Who, as any cynic will tell you, would be just as happy to beat out the IRS if he could?

It has been a long time since a man like Herbert Hoover turned back his presidential salary every year to the government. But Hoover, of course, was a millionaire long before he was elected. Our latter day presidents, and at least one very recent vice president, have been forced to try to become rich men DURING their terms of office, if they were not so before.

Even Dwight D. Eisenhower received favorable capital gains tax treatment for his story of World War II, something denied your ordinary plodding author. The nation did not begrudge this favor to its much-loved hero, though Ike was hardly in the financial straits of a General Grant, the publication of whose memoirs saved him from poverty.

Still and all, and even though it may be disgustingly old-fashioned these days, some people may not help feeling that things which are perfectly legal are not necessarily perfectly admirable — especially on the part of those who admonish us about hard work, sacrifice, patriotism and all those other — what was the word we used to use? — oh, yes, virtues.

Strikes Out Of Style?

The strike, traditionally labor's first line of offense, is becoming something to be used only if all avenues of negotiation and conciliation have been exhausted.

So maintains Peter J. Brennan, former head of the Building Trades Council of New York and now U.S. secretary of labor.

"Organized labor is coming to view the strike as a last-ditch resort," he writes in Labor Law Journal, a publication of Commerce Clearing House. "In fact, the first six months of this year showed a level of work time lost due to strikes lower than at any time in the past nine years."

It's only logical, he adds, that workers with home mortgages and tuition payments are going to think long and hard before they strike at a possible cost of thousands of dollars in lost wages.

At the same time, the emphasis of workers, as demonstrated by recent settlements, has shifted from more dollars in the pay envelope to greater present and future security.

"Today's working people are concerned about illness and old age. They tend to choose improved hospital benefits and larger pensions over cash on the line."

The growing affluence of the average worker is a factor in this change of attitude, says Brennan. Coupled with the narrowing disparity of life style between labor and management, it has created a situation where many workers find that they are "beginning to think like some of the people they used to shout at."

Dollars Vs. Gold

Four hundred and thirty persons paid $600 each to attend an International Monetary Seminar in Montreal. That totals about 250,000 geets for "met. set and et." Unlike other monetary conferences, the Montreal gathering was not a governmental operation. To the contrary, it was a meeting of individuals. About 200 of them were millionaires. Most were clients of private enterpriser Harry D. Schultz, former newspaper publisher, turned financial adviser.

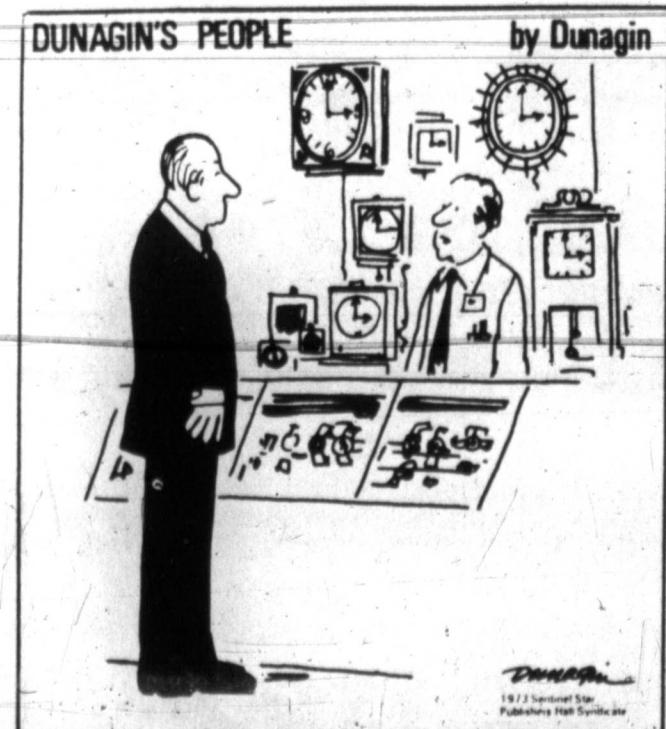

Schultz has a track record that has been reported on favorably by financial journals. The $600 fee was a measure of the confidence that those who attended had in the initiator of the conference. In general, they were told that prices will continue to rise and they should invest at least 10 per cent of their dollars in money. The money referred to was gold.

That type of advice will sound strange to some because we live in a time when people generally suppose that gold is just another commodity and that money is paper. But Schultz holds the reverse is true, that paper is a commodity and that gold is money far out, of course.

The significant thing about the Schultz pow-wow was its single purpose. The attendees weren't trying to figure out how to make the world a better place to live in. They weren't trying to make news pronouncements that would influence the behavior of nations. They were just trying to find a way to survive in the best way possible.

Maybe the Schultz people will turn out to be wrong. Maybe the majority is correct, that paper dollars have more staying power in a crisis than gold dollars.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Two American presidents have been honored with the Nobel Peace Prize, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson each received this award for their efforts to better mankind. The World Almanac recalls Roosevelt was honored in 1906 for his services as mediator during the Russo-Japanese War in 1905. In 1919, Wilson received the prize for his efforts in establishing the League of Nations.

Atlanta-Los Angeles Tops Pro Football Slate Today

United Press International
The Los Angeles Rams may be 6-1 but they haven't convinced Bob Lee.

Lee, who has led Atlanta to three straight victories since taking over as the Falcons' quarterback, will be largely responsible for keeping his club in the National Conference West race Sunday when they entertain the Rams.

A Los Angeles victory would put the Rams three games up and force Atlanta to make up four games in six weeks, thereby just about wiping out their title hopes.

"The way we're playing now," Lee said, "I have to believe we can beat the Los Angeles Rams. Last time we outplayed them for almost three quarters. Then we made one mistake, they got a break and turned the game around—I guarantee you it won't happen again."

Los Angeles won the first game 31-0 when Dick Shiner was unable to move the Falcons offensively. Shiner, who opened the season at quarterback for Atlanta, is now gone.

"They like to talk about their defense," Lee added, "but ours hasn't exactly been standing around the last month. We've won three in a row now and we're back in the race. But our backs are still to the wall unless we can beat Los Angeles."

In other NFL games Sunday, Cleveland is at Minnesota, Buffalo at New Orleans, Miami at the New York Jets, Cincinnati at Dallas, Kansas City at San Diego, the New York Giants at Oakland, Denver at St. Louis, New England at Philadelphia, New England at Philadelphia, San Francisco at Detroit, Chicago at Green Bay and Houston at Baltimore. Washington is at Pittsburgh Monday night.

Minnesota tries to keep its unbeaten record intact against a flu-ridden Cleveland club struggling to keep up with Pittsburgh in the AFC Central Division. The Browns were stunned by a tie with San Diego last week to fall a game and a half behind the Steelers.

O. J. Simpson, the first runner in NFL history to gain 1,000 yards in seven games, will be the main problem for the Saints, who last week pulled off one of the major upsets of the season by beating Washington.

The Cincinnati-Dallas game matches two clubs struggling to stay in division races. The Cowboys are a game behind Washington in the NFC East and Cincinnati two behind Pittsburgh in the AFC Central.

The winner of that game will be watching Monday night's game closely. Washington's offense disappeared against New Orleans and must rebound against one of the toughest defenses in the league at Pittsburgh.

Carlen Puts Education First

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — There have been growing cries in the past few years that the college football player has, at some institutions, been dehumanized.

Jim Carlen is certainly aware of that, and he considers it one of his major responsibilities at Texas Tech University to see that the members of his football team enjoy a fruitful college career which ends with a diploma.

"Football is important," Carlen said, "It helps make a man out of many who come here. But football is not everything. And, our main responsibility is to see that our young men get an education."

Carlen said when he talks to a high school graduate at recruiting time, he makes a commitment to do his best to help get the youngster a college degree.

"It's not how many outstanding players you get, but how many people you educate and get into the business world that shows what kind of recruiter you are," said Carlen.

"While on campus I plan to give my athletes as much backing as I expect them to give me," he said.

"We try to get students with college abilities when we start our recruiting. I'm not saying that every kid has great grades — many are average. But we look for a kid who will try and who cares about himself."

"We have an academic counselor who works with all athletes, and additionally in football we have each athlete assigned to a coach. We try and get our freshman schedule over early so we can get any player with special study problems into a second study hall soon after he begins his college career."

Sophomores who drop below a 2-point (or passing) grade average also attend study hall sessions. Class cuts are not allowed until the student becomes a senior.

"We figure that by the time he'll know how to handle himself in college," Carlen said. "But we continue to check with his teachers and see if any football player is having any kind of a problem in class."

Just as the football coaching staff meets daily during the season to map plans for the gridiron, it also meets weekly to cover player grades.

"I pretty well know the grade of all my players — within a tenth of a point," he said. "It's important that we know how the kids are doing in school, and that they know we are interested in them."

Carlen and his staff encourage each boy to graduate, even if it takes an extra semester or two.

"A high percentage of all students in the U.S. take at least one extra unit of work to graduate today," he said. "Therefore, we don't feel too bad if our players can make it in the same time that other students require."

"We give everyone who graduates a letterman's ring. We feel they appreciate the ring more than the old letterman's jacket, and will wear it continuously."

"As a coach I feel obligated to a young man more than just playing him in football. We must help him mature, and part of that is giving him an education."

"We have been up against Paul Brown teams before," said Landry.

It would appear that despite the Bengals owning the second and fifth best runners in the AFC — Essex Johnson and Bobbie Clark — quarterback Ken Anderson will likely test the Cowboy secondary.

Dallas has given up 10 touchdown passes in the last three games.

"It's just a matter of negative thinking," said Landry of his suddenly leaky pass defense. "We just must get better if we are going to win, and I think that is within our capability."

Crenshaw Gets 3rd-Round Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Rookie Ben Crenshaw, fired up by a large gallery and the thought of winning his first tournament as a PGA tour regular, Saturday broke open a four-way tie for first place and regained the undisputed lead in the $125,000 Texas Open golf tournament.

Crenshaw, battling veterans George Archer and Orville Moody during Saturday's third round, tied for the best round of the day — a five-under 66 — for a 54-hole total of 10-under 203.

Archer, of Amara, Iowa, shot four-under-par 67 Saturday to wind up at 204.

It Sims To Me...

Pampa's Hustling Harvesters were tabbed by coaches and sportswriters as the 3-AAAA favorite prior to the 1971-72 basketball season. Palo Duro won the title.

Borger was picked to win it prior to the 1972-73 season. Tascosa and Pampa finished on top.

It's a jinx — all six district coaches know it and all are praying their respective schools won't be favored as the 1973-74 season approaches.

Now grown men don't believe in jinxes, do they? "In my seven years of coaching at Caprock, there hasn't been a time when the team that was favored won it," said Caprock coach Bill Bolk, whose Longhorns were picked along with Tascosa as the teams to beat in 1970-71. Pampa won that season.

Enough about jinxes; there's no such thing. ★★ ★

Here is Pampa Daily News' predictions for the upcoming basketball season:

1. Caprock — The Longhorns finished 14-15 last season, matching their most wins for a season (14-14 in '67-68), and indications are the Longhorns will better that mark this time around. "I think we have a good shot at winning it; if we're ever going to make a run, this should be the year," said Bolk.

Caprock returns two starters off last year's team — 6-6 post Rodney Skelton and 6-2 guard Eddie Owens. The Longhorns' only shortcoming is inexperience, however, the junior varsity finished 21-1 last season.

2. Pampa — Robert McPherson's Harvesters tied for the 3-AAAA title, but were beaten by co-champ Tascosa, 52-49 for the outright championship. This season's version will be experienced and tall.

Billy Wilton, a 6-3 junior post who was last season's Sophomore of the Year in 3-AAAA, and 6-6 senior post Randy Warner are returning starters. Pampa was 20-10 for the season, winning the second half of district action.

3. Palo Duro — Tom Gilley's Dons, who slipped to 11-17 last season after winning district in 1972, have 3-AAAA's best overall player in 6-7 Fred Mitchell, the district's leading rebounder in 1972-73. Senior Jim Ratliff, 6-4, is Gilley's other returning starter.

Palo Duro has a tradition advantage as the Dons under Gilley won the state championship in 1955-56 and reached the state finals in 1961.

4. Tascosa — Another team with a winning tradition, David Camfield's Rebels won 20 and lost 13, and then were dined by Lubbock Monterey in bi-district, 40-39. Camfield says no outside shooting and lack of both experience and size might hurt the Rebels this season. "Our strong point? Maybe our cheering section," jokes the Tascosa coach.

No starters return, however, 6-0 guard Jeff Hamilton, 6-3 forward Frank Koenig and 6-6 post Tom Simms saw a good deal of action for Tascosa last season.

5. Borger — Borger was last season's top team, record-wise, with a 24-6 mark, and coach Duane Hunt lists inexperience as a problem prior to '73-74. Chuck Forrest, a 6-5 senior, is the Bulldogs' only returning regular. The Bulldogs also lost three of their top six junior varsity players off a team that finished 19-6.

Besides Forrest, 6-4 Joe Kerr and 6-0 Roger Reed will lead Borger's scoring and defensive attacks.

6. Amarillo — District paties the last three seasons (6-23, 6-21 and 4-24). Amarillo High has a new school and a new offense, giving the Sandies a team that could possibly end up on top when it's all over in February. Don Riggan has changed from a control offense to a pro-type offense.

Posts Jim Muncy, a 6-4 senior, and Nelson Naylor, also a 6-4 senior, guard David Cook, a 5-11 senior, and forward Everett Gardner, a 6-1 senior, are returning lettermen for Riggan's Sandies.

TCU Holds Off Baylor

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Christian got two touchdowns each from tailback Mike Luttrell and quarterback Kent Marshall Saturday, then stood a furious Baylor fourth-period rally for a 34-28 victory over the Bears.

Baylor, downed 27-7 after three periods, reeled off three touchdowns in the closing minutes on the strength of the passing of quarterback Neal Jeffrey, but a Jeffrey pass fell incomplete in the end zone with 22 seconds remaining to kill the Bears' hopes of victory.

Luttrell, coming off a leg injury that hobbled him most of the year, rushed for 133 yards and scored on a pair of one-yard plunges to spark the Frogs offense.

Marshall scored on runs of four and one yard and fullback Tim Pulliam, a converted defensive end, added a 10-yard touchdown in the Frog win which spoiled Baylor's homecoming.

Four of the five TCU touchdowns were set up by Baylor turnovers, and three of them came on drives of 98, 84, and 81 yards. The Bear offense coughed up fumbles inside the TCU 20 three times and Frog defensive halfback Allen Hooker picked off a Jeffrey pass in his own end zone to end another Bear threat.

Baylor, which managed only seven points in the first half, relied on the passing combination of Jeffrey and wide receiver Charles Dancer — both Southwest Conference statistical leaders — for the fourth period comeback.

Dancer pulled in a 54-yard aerial from Jeffrey to set up Gary Lacy's two-yard scoring plunge with 11:06 left, then grabbed a 17-yarder in the end zone two minutes later to pull Baylor to within 13 points.

With 5:19 remaining Jeffrey hit Lacy from five yards out to narrow the deficit to six points. Baylor drove from its own 41 to the TCU six in the final minute, but failed to get in the end zone. Jeffrey, who completed 19 of 33 for 339 yards, had connected on a 48-yarder to tight end Ken Thompson for Baylor's only score in the first half.

Dogs Trip Pampa

By PAUL SIMS
BORGER — Glenn Gray, the district's leading ground gainer, racked up 150 yards on 28 carries to pace the Borger Bulldogs to their first win over the Pampa Harvesters in five years, 20-8 Friday night in Bulldog Stadium.

Gray and sophomore Mike Glover, who added 112 yards on 21 carries, led Borger's rushing offense — the third straight ground-oriented attack Pampa has faced. In three games (Caprock, Tascosa and Borger), seven rushers have gained at least 100 yards against the Harvesters, who fell to 2-6 on the year and 0-3 in 3-AAAA.

Borger, a surprise this season, is now 5-2-1 and 3-0 and will travel to Amarillo Friday for a game with Caprock, which will probably decide the district championship.

Down 20-0, Pampa drove from Borger's 46 and scored in nine plays with 1:37 left in the game. Sophomore Frankie Lemons, playing in only his second varsity game, went two yards up the middle for the touchdown. Tim Thornburg, Pampa's leading rusher for the game with 43 yards on eight carries, ran over the conversion to finalize scoring for both teams.

The Harvesters' onside-kick attempt after the touchdown failed to go the required 10 yards and the Bulldogs used four plays to run out the clock.

The Bulldogs, on their first series of the game following the opening kickoff, threatened to score but a 32-yard field goal attempt by Tommy Wilkinson went off to the right.

Wilkinson missed a 25-yard field goal just before the half ended.

Glover opened Borger's scoring with a three-yard run off left tackle with 9:25 left in the second period. Wilkinson increased Borger's lead to 7-0 with the point after kick.

The Bulldogs' next score came following a Rick Leverich punt, which went out of bounds on the Borger seven in the third quarter. Gray went up the middle two yards at 3:18 to cap the 93-yard march, and Wilkinson tacked on the extra point.

Glover had runs of 21 and 12 yards in the drive. Gray ran 13 and 10 yards and quarterback Chuck Kelley had an 18-yard run, which shows Borger's ability to move the ball throughout the game.

Kelley scored on a one-yard sneak at 5:51 in the final quarter, topping an 11-play, 54-yard drive. Wilkinson's extra point try was missed.

Glover lost an apparent fumble on Pampa's 15, however, the officials ruled the wingback had been dined and the Bulldogs went on to put the game out of reach.

Pampa rushers besides Thornburg were Rick Leverich, six for 30; Steve Mathis, six for 17; Chuck Reeves, one for 16; Jack King, six for nine; Lemons, three for nine, and Quarles, one for no gain. Leverich played both quarterback and halfback.

Quarles was four of 10 passing for 62 yards. Howie Lewis caught two passes for 31 yards, and was followed by Mike Adair, one for 40, and Jack King, one for six.

Pampa hosts Amarillo Palo Duro in the Harvesters' Homecoming at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Roosevelt Ruins Southern Methodist

DALLAS (UPI) — An overpowering, Southwest Conference record setting 342-yard rushing performance by bullish fullback Roosevelt Leaks revived the frustrated 14th ranked Texas Longhorns to a runaway 42-14 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

Leaks came within eight yards of setting an NCAA one-day rushing record and finished his afternoon with a 53-yard touchdown bolt up the center of the SMU defense.

Texas had turned the ball over five times in enemy territory and was twice stopped at the Mustang one-yard line on fourth down, and thanks to two long distance SMU touchdowns in the second quarter found itself trailing at the half, 14-0.

But the startling relentless performance by Leaks in the second half, combined with an interception by the Longhorns Terry Melancon just as SMU was threatening to take a three-touchdown lead, and a 95-yard punt return by Jimmy Moore turned a potential upset into a Longhorn romp that kept them atop the Southwest Conference title race.

Besides Moore's punt return touchdown and Leaks' final score, the Longhorns tallied on a 10-yard run by Joey Aboussie and one-yard plunges by Leaks, first string quarterback Marty Akins and second string quarterback Mike Presley.

SMU's two touchdowns came on a 74-yard pass from freshman quarterback Ricky Wesson to tight end Oscar Roan and a 67-yard run by Alvin Maxson.

Texas won its fifth game against two losses and improved its league mark to 4-0. It was the third loss in seven games for the Mustangs who are now 1-2 in conference play.

Leaks went into the game as the nation's third leading ball carrier with a 134-yard per game average.

His performance Saturday broke the 23-year old single game rushing record of 297-yards set by Texas A&M's Bob Smith.

His effort against SMU fell just short of the NCAA record of 350 yards set two seasons ago by Eric Allen of Michigan State.

Leaks has now carried for 1,146 yards this season. In his last three games against Rice, Arkansas and SMU, the junior fullback has picked up 74 yards for an average of 248 yards per game. His last three Saturdays have been his best three in a Longhorn year.

The Cincinnati-Dallas game, while it will be the first meeting between the two teams, will be a renewal of an old coaching rivalry.

"We have been up against Paul Brown teams before," said Landry.

Quarterback Heads Buckeyes Past Illini In Big 10 Grid Warfare Saturday, 30-0

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Quarterback Cornelius Greene scored two fourth quarter touchdowns after Illinois errors to lead No. 1 ranked and unbeaten Ohio State to a 30-0 Big Ten victory Saturday.

The win left OSU tied for the Big Ten lead with fourth-rated Michigan. Both have 5-0 records. The Illini, tied for the conference lead going into the game, dropped to 4-1 in the Big Ten.

Illinois, this year's Cinderella team in the conference, was trailing OSU 10-0 when Illini halfback Jim Phillips fumbled at his own 16-yard line on the first play of the fourth quarter.

The Buckeyes recovered and two plays later Greene ran seven yards for a touchdown.

On Illinois' next play from scrimmage, quarterback Jeff Hollenbach's pass was intercepted by OSU linebacker Randy Gradisher at the Illini 31. Eight running plays later, Greene plunged in from the one.

Johnson crashed two yards for a touchdown to climax a 57-yard drive.

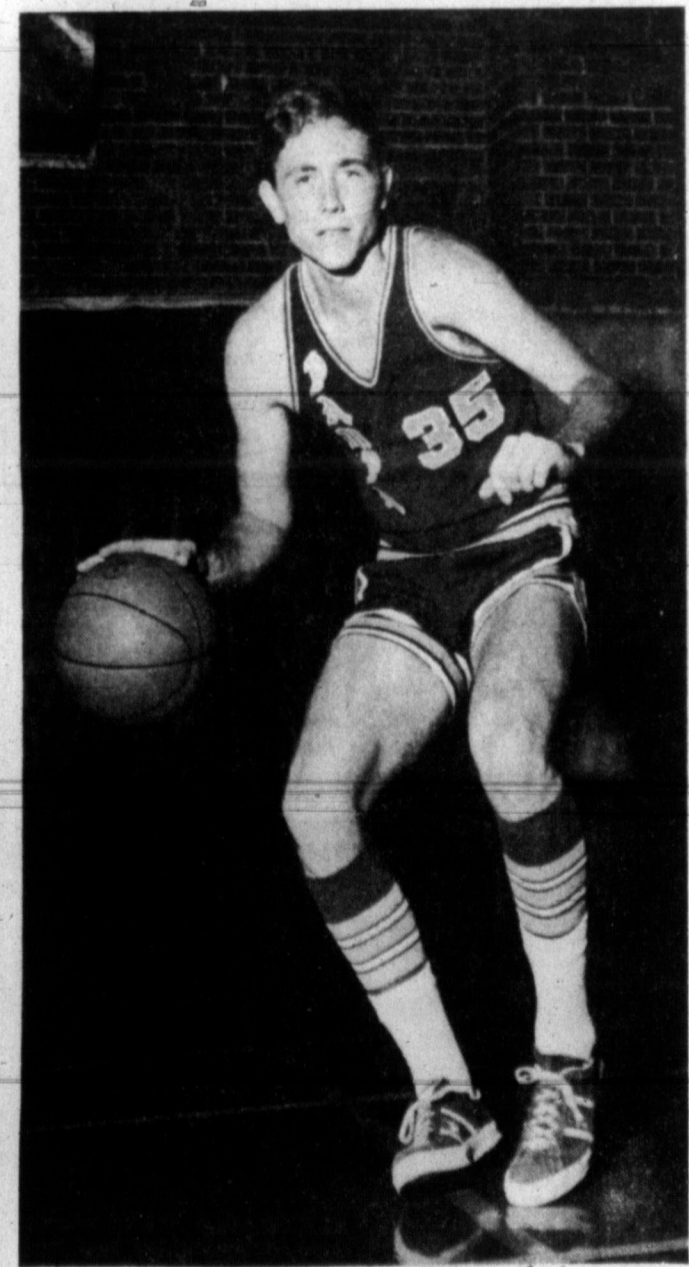

Ohio State scored its first touchdown in the third quarter on a one-yard plunge by halfback Archie Griffin with five minutes, 14 seconds left in the period.

OSU, which clobbered Northwestern, 60-0, last week, was on top by only three at the half. The Buckeyes scored on a 25-yard field goal by Blair Conway midway through the first quarter.

But it would have been worse for Illinois if two long OSU running plays had not been called back.

Halfback Morris Bradshaw took the opening kickoff 90 yards into Illinois' end zone, but the run was erased by a clipping call. OSU then drove 67 yards to the Illini seven and were forced to settle for Conway's three-point.

In the second quarter, Griffin charged through the middle for 24 yards and an apparent touchdown, but it was nullified by an illegal motion penalty.

MEET A HARVESTER — Pampa's best outside shooter is 6-3 forward Ricky Beesley, who will probably start for Hustling Harvesters this season, which begins Nov. 17 in Hereford. Beesley, playing in 22 games last season, made 89 per cent of his free throws and averaged four points a game. "Beesley's improving considerably defensively over last year," said head coach Robert McPherson.

BEHIND DICKEY MORTON Arkansas Stops Texas A&M, 13-10

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas, fueled by Dickey Morton's pistol quick rushes, drove 83 yards with the second half kickoff Saturday and held on to down Texas A&M 14-10 in Southwest Conference play.

The 17-play drive, which consumed exactly half of the third quarter, was capped by quarterback Mike Kirkland's one-yard sneak and gave the Razorbacks a 14-7 lead.

The Aggies struck back with a 74-yard drive to the Arkansas 17 where Randy Haddox booted a 33-yard field goal, his ninth of the year and a school record for the most in a season.

That was as close as A&M could come, although they threatened again in the closing moments. Freshman quarterback David Walker drove the Aggies from their own 19 to the Arkansas 19 as the clock wound down.

But defensive end Ivan Jordan sacked Walker for a 19-yard loss and Walker's long fourth-down pass to Richard Osborne in the end zone was batted away by Arkansas' Billy Burns with less than a minute left.

Arkansas ran out the remaining seconds.

The two teams had traded first half touchdowns for a 7-7 tie at intermission.

Aggie Mark Stanley's 10-yard punt off the side of his foot set Arkansas up at the A&M 38-yard line, and Freddie Douglas went in 7 plays later on a 16-yard reverse as the second quarter opened.

The Aggies took the kickoff and marched all the way back, 67 yards in 11 plays, for their touchdown. Walker raced the last 20 himself, untouched on an option play.

Morton, who had another big day rushing, kept Arkansas' winning drive going with an 18-yard burst after Kirkland had lost 10 trying to pass. He also got gains of 9, 4 and 3 yards on the march.

Morton, the Southwest Conference's second all-time leading rusher, carried 27 times for 147 yards. The big tailback now has 948 yards for the season and 2,967 in his career.

Arkansas is now 3-1 in league play while A&M fell to 2-2.

Sooners Dump Cyclones

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Halfback Joe Washington rushed for 136 yards and scored two touchdowns for third-ranked Oklahoma Saturday in a 34-17 come-from-behind victory over Iowa State in a Big Eight Conference game.

Oklahoma ground out 411 yards rushing compared with 107 for Iowa State, which had the second best rushing defense in the Big Eight going into the game.

Davis was the second highest ground gainer for the Sooners with 103 yards on 16 carries.

Eagles Fall To Perryton

PERRYTON — Jim Dear hit Robert Palmer with a 17-yard touchdown pass with 2:05 left in the game and the Rangers stopped a Canyon drive to Perryton's seven following the touchdown to nip the upset-minded Eagles, 20-17 in a crucial 1-AAA clash Friday night in Perryton.

Canyon's Scott Wilson booted a 25-yard field goal in the first quarter to put the Eagles in front. Perryton's Dear scored on a 20-yard run in the second period and Mike Osborne tackled on the Rangers' seventh play. Canyon came back to ahead at the half, 9-7 as quarterback Ed Lair ran in from two yards out. The extra point try failed.

Dear scored on a short run in the third quarter and the run for extras failed. Canyon went ahead in the quarter as Adrian Foil ran in from two yards out and Garry LaGrone caught the two-point conversion to make it 17-13.

Perryton, 5-3 and 2-0, visits Dumas Friday.

Bronchos Run Over McLean In 2-A Contest

CLARENDON — McLean held powerful Clarendon to a 7-0 lead going into the third quarter, however, the Bronchos erupted for 21 second-half points and shutout the Tigers, 28-0 Friday night here.

The 2-A win made Clarendon 6-2 overall and 4-1 in district play, while McLean fell to 3-5 and 2-3.

Disaster struck early for the Tigers as running back Gary Griffin injured a knee and ankle and will probably miss the last two games. Griffin, who gained 19 yards on six carries before being injured in the first period, has 1105 yards for the season.

With 3:39 left in the half, Clarendon's Jerry Holland scored on a four-yard run around right end to open scoring. Kenneth King booted the extra point.

Just before the half ended, McLean drove to the Broncho 12 and a 30-yard field goal attempt by Ricky Kennedy went wide.

Randy Croslin scored for the Bronchos on a three-yard run around left end with 9:49 left in the third period. With 6:16 left in the quarter, King went off left guard for a one-yard touchdown. King kicked both extra points.

Clarendon's final score came on a two-yard Tony Wallace run with three minutes left to play in the game.

King led all rushers with 121 yards on 16 carries, while Holland added 109 on 13 runs. McLean's rushing attack was paced by Bobby Crockett with 61 yards on 17 attempts and Joe Ray Riley with 60 yards on 12 carries.

Head coach Bill Nicholas lists Jim Seaney as having an outstanding defensive game for the Tigers.

McLean travels to Wheeler Friday.

Six Athletes To Be Inducted Into Hall

AUSTIN, (UPI) — Six former University of Texas athletes, including two Olympians, two football All-Americans and two early vintage greats, will be inducted into the school's Hall of Honor Nov. 16.

The six inductees include Jay Arnette, an All-Southwest Conference basketball and baseball player who played on the Olympic cage team in 1960; Eddie Southern, track star who won a silver medal in the 1956 Olympics in the quarter mile; James Saxton, All-America halfback in 1961; Bud McFadin, All-America guard in 1950; the late Walter Shreiner, a five-year letterman in football at the turn of the century; and Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, coach, professor and Southwest Conference official for more than half a century.

Arnette, now a dentist in Austin, lettered three years each in baseball and basketball, leading both teams to conference titles in 1960.

Southern is now a businessman in Dallas. As a Longhorn he set numerous track records in the hurdles and 440, including sharing in some world records.

McFadin, an All-American lineman in both 1949 and 1950, was voted most valuable performer in the 1951 College All-Star Game in Chicago.

Also Wrestling Champion He was also school boxing and wrestling champion, and played and coached in the pro ranks before retiring to his ranch and real estate business in Comroe.

Shreiner was named to the all-time University of Texas team selected by the Houston Post in 1912, and later served as a regent. He was a benefactor for the rest of the Red Raider scoring.

Texas Tech Runs Over Rice In SWC Play Saturday, 19-6

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Fullbacks James Mosley and John Garner scored one touchdown each to pace the 17th-ranked Texas Tech Red Raiders past the Rice Owls 19-6 Saturday in a Southwest Conference battle.

Mosley dashed around left end for 12 yards and Garner blasted up the middle for two yards for the scores. Don Grimes added a 29-yard field goal, quarterback Joe Barnes ran a two-point conversion and defensive tackle Ecomet Burley blocked a final period Rice punt out of the end zone for a safety for the rest of the Red Raider scoring.

Rice, stymied by the Tech defense until the final eight minutes of the game, scored its first touchdown against the Raiders in four years when quarterback Tommy Kramer kept around right end for the final five yards of a 68-yard drive.

The Owls threatened again in the final minutes, moving to the Texas Tech 12 as the final seconds ticked away.

Until then, Rice had crossed midfield only three times. In the first quarter, the Owls moved to the Raider 39 with the aid of a fourth down 15-yard penalty against Tech.

However, the Owls picked up only seven more yards in four plays before losing the ball on downs.

Another big penalty against Tech kept Rice on the move during its fourth quarter touchdown. On a second and 17 pass attempt, the Raiders were called for pass interference, moving Rice to the Texas Tech 37 and given them a first down.

Rice's final threat was kept alive by another pass interference call which moved the ball to the 12, where the Owls were still operating as time ran out.

Tailback Larry Isaacs was the game's leading rusher, netting 91 yards on 13 yards for Tech.

Claude Nudges Wheeler

CLAUDE — Claude Forbes passed to Tommy Stephenson for a 93-yard touchdown with 1:58 left in the third quarter and Johnson kicked the PAT to make the score 14-0.

Wheeler bounced back with a 68-yard run by Lewis Britt with 44 seconds left in the period. Verden added the extra point.

Forbes hit Billy Merrell with a 75-yard scoring pass with 6:10 left in the game.

Britt rushed 32 times for 164 yards for Wheeler and Ware added 41 yards on 10 carries. Eisenhour led Claude rushers with 61 yards on 12 tries.

Wheeler, 2-5-1 and 2-2-1 hosts McLean Friday.

Of all the National Football League teams, which one do you think has finished in first place the most different years? ... The answer may surprise you ... The answer is the New York Giants ... They've finished in first place 15 different seasons.

And, of all the NFL teams, today, which one has NEVER finished in first place in their divisions of the end of any season? ... There are only three teams that have never finished first — Atlanta, New Orleans and Denver.

The Heisman Trophy, given to the boy voted the best college football player each year, is almost always given to a senior — but four times in history a junior has won it ... Can you guess which juniors have won the Heisman? ... They were Doc Blewett of the Army in 1945, Dock Walker of SMU in 1948, Vic Janowicz of Ohio State in 1950 and Roger Staubach of Navy in 1963 ... and, incidentally, two sophomores have come close to winning the Heisman ... Angelo Bertelli of Notre Dame was second in 1941 and Glenn Davis of Army finished second in 1944.

I bet you didn't know that people have been asking about MICHELIN 'X' for 25 years. They say a friend sent them. Come in and find out why ... let us introduce you to MICHELIN 'X' ... the leader in steel belt radiators.

Groom Bombs Booker In District 1-B Tilt, 38-6

GROOM — Lynn Wilkinson scored touchdowns on runs of 24, 30 and 37 yards to lead Groom's Tigers past the Booker Kiowas Friday night here.

The win brought Groom's record to 5-3, 2-0 in 1-B play, and set up Friday's final with Lefors in what will decide the district title. Booker dropped to 3-5 and 0-2 with the loss.

Irish Whip Midshipmen

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Unbeaten Notre Dame split its touchdowns six ways Saturday to coast to a 44-7 triumph over Navy, protecting its No. 5 national ranking with its seventh win of the season.

Coach Ara Parseghian yanked his first offensive unit from the game with 8:21 to play in the third period after the Irish had earned a 28-0 lead. He pulled his defensive unit from the game with 12:06 left to play.

Thereafter, it was a series of repeated mistakes by both teams. For instance in the second half Notre Dame had possession 11 times, scored four times, punted once and lost the ball six times on seven fumbles.

To make up for this generosity by the Fighting Irish, Navy gave up the ball on its own 19 on a pass interception by Greg Collins, setting up a one yard touchdown run by Tom Clements. Another Notre Dame score came on a seven-yard run by Al Samuel after Navy's fumble was recovered by Reggie Barnett on the Navy 30.

Notre Dame's first touchdown came on a 21-yard run by Eric Penick, who carried seven times for 39 yards before he left the game. Al Hunter ran three yards for the second Irish score.

Other Notre Dame touchdowns went to Willie Townsend on a nine-yard pass from Cliff Brown and to Tom Parise on a three-yard run.

Canadian Dominates Sanford-Fritch

CANADIAN — The state-ranked Canadian Wildcats broke open a close game after a wild first half with three touchdowns on the first three Wildcat series in the second half as Canadian belted Sanford-Fritch, 60-33 Friday here in 1-A district action.

The first-half lead changed hands six times and held a 32-27 lead at the end of the half.

The Eagles took a 14-0 lead on a 29-yard run by quarterback Zane Ross and a three-yard run by Mike Wofford. Jim Witt kicked both extra points.

Canadian drove 65 yards in three plays to score as Kem Carr went around right end 58 yards. On the try for two, David Wilson scored around right end to make it 14-8. Gary Tubbs intercepted a pass to kill Fritch's next series, which set up Canadian's second TD — a 26-yard pass from Lonnie Hines to brother Bill. Bob Dickinson ran in the extras to give Canadian a 16-14 lead.

Ross passed to Terry Edmonson for a 10-yard score to put the Eagles in front 20-16.

Canadian drove 51 yards for a touchdown as Lonnie Hines ran around left end for a 24-yard score, and then passed to Ricky Wheeler for two more.

The 24-20 lead was short-lived, however, as Witt scored on a five-yard run and then kicked the extra point, making it 27-24 Sanford-Fritch.

Canadian took a 32-27 lead into the locker room at the half as Bill Hines caught a 37-yard option pass from Carr. Wilson ran seven yards around right

Pirates Win Ninth Game

LEFORS — Lefors won its ninth game of the season without a loss and set up next week's showdown with Groom which will decide 1-B's championship as the Pirates blanked the Texline Tornados, 34-0 Friday night in Lefors.

The Pirates, now 2-0 in 1-B, have given up only 32 points on the year.

Bobby Dunn intercepted a Jimmy Chapman pass and ran it back 52 yards for Lefors' first touchdown at 2:17 in the first quarter. Dwight Keith missed the extra-point try after a bad snap.

With 1:02 left in the first period, Mike Dunn scored on a 29-yard pass from Robert Gifford, who, in turn, scored the conversion.

Barney Sawyer found the end zone on a six-yard run, and the extra-point snap was fumbled as Lefors held a 20-0 advantage. With 5:13 remaining in the same period, Gifford scored on a 22-yard gallop around left end. Keith added the extra point to make it 27-0.

Sawyer took a 16-yard pass from Bobby Dunn for a TD with 8:56 left to play and Keith kicked the extra point.

Gifford was the Pirates' leading rusher and defensive tackler with 114 yards on 18 carries and was in on 18 tackles. Bobby Dunn finished with 30 yards on seven runs and Jim Hix carried four times for 23 yards.

White Deer Drops Gruver, 7-0

GRUVER — Buddy Cummins scored on a three-yard quarterback sneak on White Deer's first series of the game as the Bucks held on for three quarters and edged Gruver, 7-0 Friday in White Deer.

White Deer is now 2-6 for the year and 1-2 in 1-A play, while Gruver is 1-7 and 0-3.

Cummins' run capped a 65-yard drive.

Gruver threatened to tie the game in the fourth quarter, driving to White Deer's 25, however, Allen Cummins killed the threat with an interception on the 15.

White Deer blew a chance to score in the first quarter when the Bucks turned the ball over on Gruver's four. Just before the game ended, Denny Moss broke a run to Gruver's 10 and White Deer ran out the clock.

Kansas, Oklahoma State Deadlock, 10-10

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Freshman Mike Love, making his first appearance on the varsity, kicked a 47-yard field goal with 10:26 left Saturday and Kansas held on for a 10-10 tie with Oklahoma State.

which missed a chance to win it all in the last five seconds.

Oklahoma State, which endured its second straight tie, now stands 3-2-2, while Kansas is 5-2-1.

The Cowboys took the ball at their own 19 with 4:51 to go and used 13 plays to drive to the Kansas 13. Oklahoma State called time out with 12 seconds to play and inserted field goal kicker Addy Daigle. The center snap from Randy Flood to Ed Tisdell was mishandled and Daigle's kick, which might have been topped, dribbled into the line with five seconds to play.

Oklahoma State roared to a 10-0 lead in the second quarter before Kansas put together a 78-yard drive near the end of the half to narrow the advantage to 10-7.

The second half was a stalemate until linebacker Odell Weidner recovered a fumble by Oklahoma State's George Palmer at the 50 early in the fourth quarter. The Jayhawks moved to the 20 before quarterback David Jaynes was sacked on third down.

Love, who had a 40-yard attempt blocked in the first quarter, kicked the 47-yard field goal to tie the game.

Daigle, also a freshman, missed 59 and 58-yard field goal attempts in the second half and 55 and 29-yarders in the first half.

Kansas zipped 78 yards in seven plays to narrow the margin to 10-7 with 39 seconds to go in the first half. Jaynes hit four passes in the drive, including the 22-yard touchdown toss to Emmett Edwards. Jaynes missed much of the first half after suffering blurred vision on the second play of the game.

Glen Robinson set up Oklahoma State's touchdown when he recovered a fumble by Tom Krattli, Jaynes' replacement.

At the Kansas 20. The Cowboys needed six plays to go the distance. Brent Blackman sprinting across from the four with 12:27 left in the second quarter.

With 2:04 left in the half, Daigle kicked a 45-yard field goal, giving Oklahoma State a 10-0 lead.

Capelletti-Led Lions Walk By Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Quarterback Tom Shuman passed for two third quarter touchdowns and Chris Bahr followed with two field goals for a 20-point surge leading sixth-ranked Penn State to a 42-22 victory over Maryland Saturday.

Tailback John Capelletti set a Penn State record with 37 carries and gained a season-high 202 yards.

With the score 22-22 at the start of the third quarter Shuman hit Jimmy Scott on a 29-yard TD pass after Penn State intercepted on Maryland's first play. Terp fullback Monte Hinkle fumbled at his 17 on the first play of the next series and Shuman followed five plays later with a touchdown pass to Dan Natale, who also caught a TD pass from Shuman in the second quarter.

Maryland, after playing Penn State to a standoff in the first half, was held scoreless by the tough Nittany Lion defense in the second half. But Maryland's 22 points were the most scored this season against Penn State, now 8-0. Maryland is now 5-3.

The third largest crowd in Maryland history, 44,135, saw the Terps give Penn State a first half scare.

Gary Hayman took Maryland's opening kickoff 96 yards for a score and 1:14 later the Nittany Lions scored again on a three-yard run by Bob Nagle after the Terps' Rick Jennings fumbled the kickoff on his 18 and Penn State recovered.

The Terps struck back on two tailback option passes for touchdowns by freshman Ken Roy and junior Louis Carter, sandwiched around a 21-yard field goal by Steve Mike-Mayer for a 16-12 lead.

After an exchange of punts the Nittany Lions marched to the Maryland 17, sparked by Capelletti's slashing running.

Air Force was held to a 10-10 halftime tie as a three-yard touchdown by Haynie and a 48-yard field goal by Dave Lawson were matched by a one-yard scoring drive by Army quarterback Kingsley Fink and a 27-yard Jim Barclay field goal.

Ole Miss Tumbles To Louisiana State

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Quarterback Mike Miley passed for one touchdown and ran for another Saturday as unbeaten, seventh-ranked Louisiana State devastated Dixie rival Mississippi 51-14 in a nationally televised battle.

The Bengals kept the Ole Miss defense off balance all afternoon with a stable of powerful running backs, led by tailback Brad Davis, whose 13-yard touchdown run in the first quarter sent LSU winging into a lead it never lost.

LSU, aiming for a Thanksgiving showdown with Alabama, never let up against the fumbling Rebels. Joe Fakier passed 73 yards to Norm Hodgins and Miley threw 18 yards to Brad Boyd for a 21-7 halftime lead.

Steve Rogers scored from the 10 and Lora Hinton went over from the one in third quarter Bengal rallies. Then LSU blew Ole Miss right out of the stadium with two more touchdowns and a 48-yard field goal by Juan Roca in the fourth period. Miley ran five yards for one touchdown and Jimmy Clayton hit Ben Jones on a five-yard pass for the other.

Quarterback Norris Weese, making his first start since suffering an injury in the opening game, scored one on a one-foot plunge in the second quarter and then threw 21 yards to flanker Rick Kimbrough in the final quarter for all of the Rebels' points.

But Ole Miss lost five fumbles, killing chances of making it closer.

LSU opened the scoring

After a couple of punt exchanges, Miley lobbed a screen pass in the left flat to Fakier, who then found Hodgins all alone down the left sidelines on a touchdown play that covered 73 yards.

The Rebels, whose earlier drive died on the Tiger 34, came back early in the second quarter on a scoring drive that covered 80 yards in 10 plays, climaxed by Weese's quarterback sneak.

LSU added the final touchdown of the first half when Miley passed 18 yards to Boyd to cap a 72-yard drive in five plays.

The Tigers scored midway through the third quarter when Rogers completed a 53-yard, six-play drive with a 10-yard romp.

A fumble by Ole Miss tailback Larry Kramer was recovered by LSU defensive tackle Adam Dube in the same quarter and the Bengals marched 40 yards for another tally with Hinton scoring from the one-foot line.

Ole Miss, with Weese hitting the elusive Kimbrough frequently, came back in the fourth quarter in a drive that moved 72 yards in 13 plays, with Weese throwing the final 21 yards to Kimbrough.

LSU came right back after a short onside kick by the Rebels and moved 49 yards in three plays with Miley scoring on a five-yard run. Then, with fumbles setting both up, the Tigers ended the carnage with Clayton's TD toss, Jones and Roca's field goal.

Louisville Beaten

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Sophomore Jeb Blount came off the bench in the second half Saturday and threw two scoring passes in leading Tulsa to a 17-9 victory over Louisville and a share of the Missouri Valley conference lead.

Blount tossed touchdown strikes of 18 and three yards to tailback Freddy Carolina and tight end Murphy Mitchell. Arthur Bennett kicked a 41-yard field goal in the first half and added two extra points.

Wilbur Summers set a Louisville record of three field goals which accounted for all the Cardinals' scoring. He kicked Louisville into a 3-0 first quarter lead with a 29-yarder.

Davis Rushes Nebraska By Buffs

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Tony Davis rammed in for two touchdowns Saturday to power revived Nebraska to a 28-16 Big Eight victory over mistake-prone Colorado.

The Huskers jumped off to a 7-0 lead when Dave Humm connected to Brent Longwell in the end zone with only 2 1/2 minutes gone in the first quarter, capping a 75-yard scoring drive in seven plays.

Nebraska padded the lead to 14-0 with 6:39 left in the quarter when Davis scored from nine yards out.

A Fred Lima 31-yard field goal early in the second period cut Nebraska's lead to 14-3, but a few minutes later Willie Thornton blocked a punt deep in Colorado territory and Zaven Yarialian got on the ball for the Huskers on the Buffs' 19.

After John O'Leary lost two yards, Humm put his throwing arm into action again, this time connecting deep in the end zone to Frosty Anderson.

After working to a 28-3 halftime bulge, the Huskers bobbled the ball away on their nine early in the second half to set up Colorado's first touchdown. Bo Matthews scored from the five.

The Buffs clicked later when quarterback David Williams centered the ball to Bill Waddy, who in turn hurled a 73 yard scoring pass to Williams as he sped down the sidelines.

The fourth Nebraska touchdown came after Colorado's Charlie Davis fumbled on the Huskers 29 and Ron Pruitt was there to recover it.

Nebraska then put together a 15-play scoring march, capped when Davis vaulted over the line from less than a yard away.

The touchdown came after Rich Sanger, had booted an 18-yard field goal. The Buffs were called offside, and that moved the ball from the one to just one-half yard away from the end zone.

Trojans Rout California

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Anthony Davis, held to 55 yards a week ago in Southern California's only loss, ran for five touchdowns Saturday in leading the favored Trojans to a 50-14 rout of California.

Davis rushed for 106 yards in 26 carries and running mate Rod McNeill added 164 in 24 carries as the Trojans improved their Pacific-8 Conference record to 4-0 and remained in a tie for first with cross-town rival UCLA.

California now is 2-3 in Pac-8 play and 3-5 overall.

Davis' touchdowns came on runs of six, 16, 20 and one yards and he ran back a kickoff 80 yards for a TD on the final play of the game as Southern California chalked up its sixth victory against one loss and a tie.

Quarterback Pat Haden threw 16 yards to J.D. McKay and Allen Carter ran seven yards for two of the Trojans' other scores.

Chuck Muncie ran four and one yards for California's two touchdowns. Muncie's first score came with 2:19 left in the third quarter and left California only 14 points behind the Trojans. But USC exploded for three scores in the fourth quarter to make it a rout.

Muncie's second TD came on a dive with 1:36 remaining and was set up on a pass interference all in the end zone. Cal's first score was set up on an interception by linebacker Ivan Weiss. The two mistakes the only ones the 27-point favored Trojans made.

Two of Southern Cal's first three scores came as a result of Cal errors. The first was set up on an interference call and enabled the Trojans to go for a touchdown instead of a field goal.

Heroes and villains: fate draws a fine line

By Ira Berkow. NEW YORK — (NEA) — He had the makings of a coach's dream. He was strong and fast and dexterous and certainly quickwitted. If you look at some of the old pictures of him, pictures that show both his profile and his face front, you see he was a clean-cut-looking chap. He had neatly trimmed sideburns, was clean shaven, and he wouldn't be an embarrassment on a road trip because he would wear tie and suit.

A rare photo of him on the Martinsville, Ind., town team, in the spring of 1924, shows that he also looked spiffy in a pin-striped baseball uniform; his peaked cap had a jaunty cock to it, revealing a youthful zeal, a kind of run-through-the-wall-for-you quality that coaches usually like.

"He was a good all-around ballplayer. He was a good batter, good fielder and fast — he could steal anything, recalled his brother-in-law, Emmett Hancock.

He was 5-7 1/2, weighed a lithe 150 pounds and a biographer believes that he may have been fascinated by the careers of both Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth.

Cobb, whom he may have identified with closer than Ruth because of the resemblance in physical build, was a daring competitor, in a rough-and-ready era.

Possibly, though, he also identified with Ruth, for both had some troubles with the law. Both were sent to reformatories. Ruth was even termed "incorrigible," but of course we know he was not.

The fellow we are talking about now began to distinguish himself on the reformatory baseball team, as a second baseman. Strangely, Ruth did the same at St. Mary's and was finally allowed to pursue a professional baseball career.

The governor of Indiana, then a man named Harry

Leslie, had seen our fellow play ball in the reformatory's yard and remarked: "That kid ought to be playing major league baseball."

He overheard the comment and used it to get self transferred to another prison, in Michigan City. Supposedly, it was because that prison had a better ball club.

However, he was more concerned with being among men he could better learn his trade from, such as Three-Fingered Jack Hamilton (no relation to Three-Fingered Mordecai Brown of the Chicago Cubs). He was transferred to Michigan City but he never again played baseball.

The only reason for comparing a Ruth, say, with our fellow, is to observe the quirky workings of Fate, and how careers may run parallel for a while and then dramatically diverge.

Our fellow did not become, as the governor of Indiana had thought possible, a big-league baseball player.

He did, though, achieve national celebrity. In fact, in 1933 a poll in an Indianapolis high school determined that more students knew who he was than knew who Franklin Delano Roosevelt was.

He did use his athletic skills in his business, however. He ran fast. He was daring. He was strong. He was clever. And some were so in awe of his leaping abilities (perhaps perfected in practicing the double play) that he was called by some "The Vaultler" (which was also a pun). And he did leap and scale barriers five to 12 feet high.

Funny, too, his first partner in his business was a man who had been a local umpire, but he was not a player, and this helped make him a rather bitter fellow. He had webbed fingers and he felt he had been handed a raw deal.

A major motion picture based on our fellow's life is now in the nation's theaters.

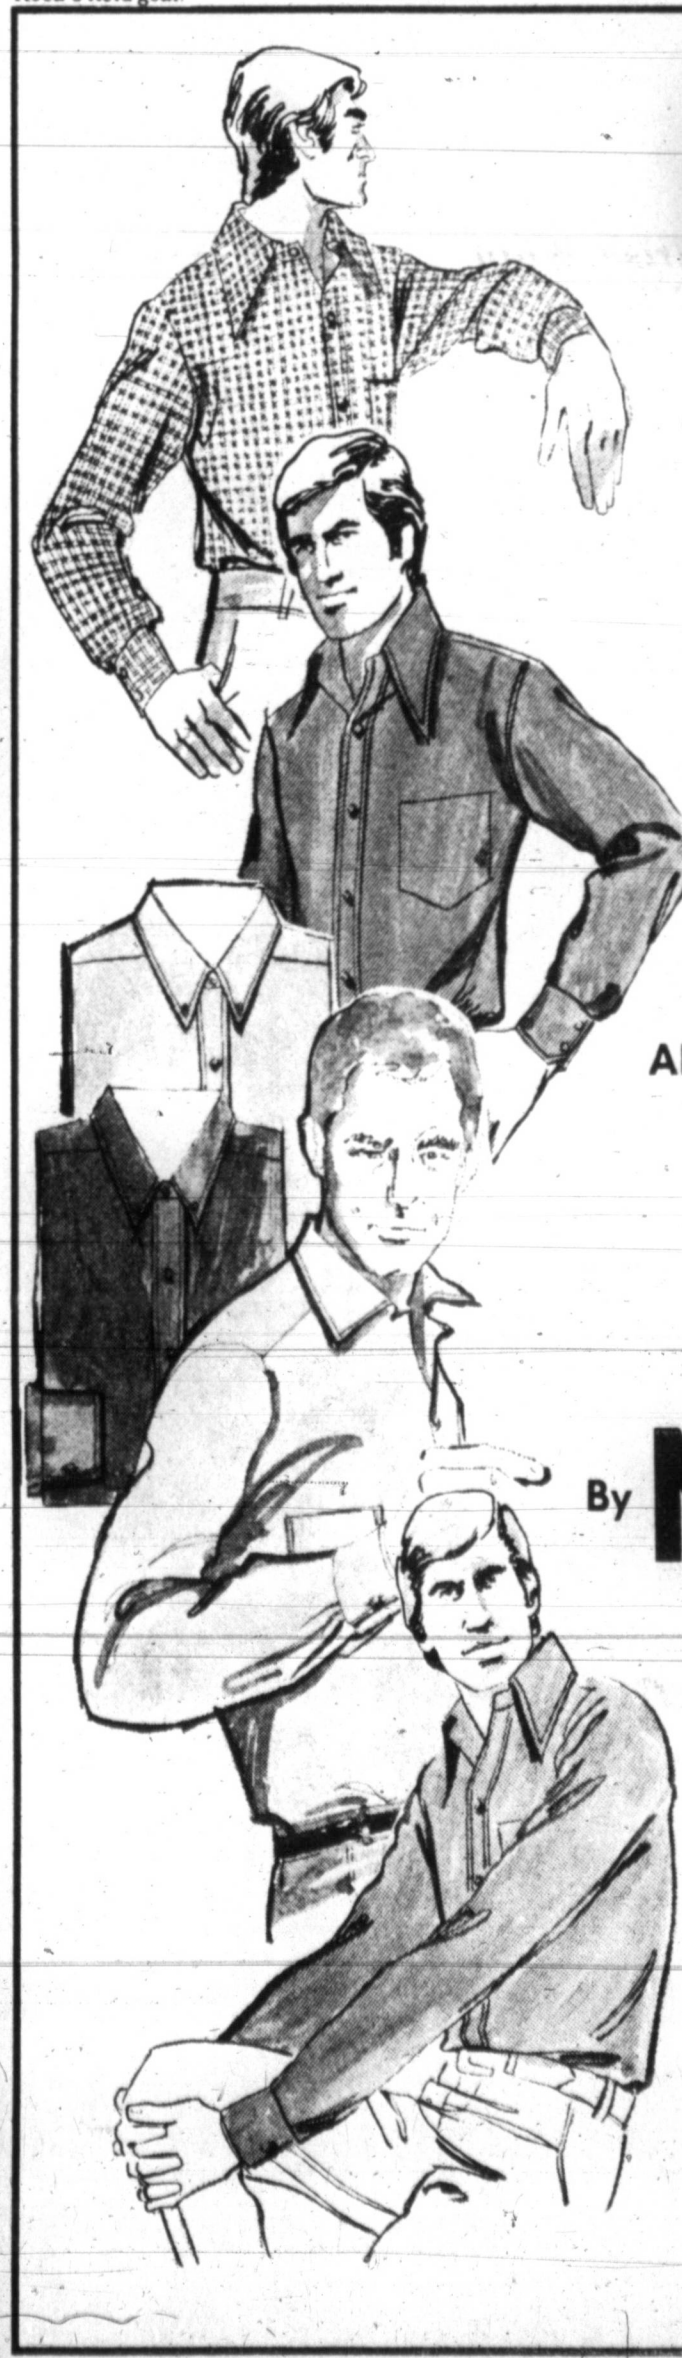

And there have been several biographies of his exploits. All this despite his rather foreshortened career. He was in the headlines for a total of only 15 months. His career was short but meteoric, like Pistol Pete Reiser's.

On July 22, 1934, at the young age of 32, our fellow, bankrobber John Dillinger, was gunned down by FBI men in Chicago.

Ironically, Babe Ruth also retired the next season.

(The writer wishes to acknowledge the cooperation of Joseph Pinkston, co-author of "Dillinger: A Short and Violent Life," published by McGraw-Hill, and Jay Robert Nash, author of the new book, "Bloodletters and Badmen," published by M. Evans, for much of the above information.) (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Westbrook-Barnhill Vows Exchanged In Lubbock

Christ the King Catholic Church of Lubbock, was the setting at 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 4 for the exchange of nuptial vows of Miss Denise Westbrook and Donald Earl Barnhill.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.R. Westbrook of Lubbock. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Barnhill of Borger.

THE CEREMONY
Officiating for the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Krisman, C.M., pastor. Bernard Gardel, organist, accompanied Jana Bullard as she sang, "One Love" and "For All We Know." Violinist was Mrs. James Kidwell.

THE BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of candlelight satin designed with peau de ange lace highlighting the front panel of the skirt. It was styled with a beaded bodice and long tapered sleeves. The circular A-line skirt fell from the modified waistline and the detachable train was held by a butterfly bow.

A profile headpiece, featuring lace and pearls, held her full silk veil of illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of sweetheart roses and gardenias.

ATTENDANTS
Maid of honor was Frances Westbrook of Lubbock and bridesmaids were Miss Joni Herrington of Lubbock, Miss Terry Boggess, San Antonio, and Miss Lera Nettles, Abilene. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Pete Kyle and Mrs. John Igo, both of Lubbock.

All attendants were dressed identically in light blue gowns. Ron Childress, Carlsbad, N.M., served the bridegroom as best man, and Larry Paul Barnhill, Borger, Redge Westbrook and Steve Sybert, both of Lubbock, Eddy Hopkins, Shidler, Okla., and Steve Coy Taylor, Amarillo, were groomsmen. Ushers were Johnny Weaver and Curt Smith.

RECEPTION
The Lubbock Country Club was the setting for the wedding reception. Willette Merrell played traditional wedding selection, and Miss Lauren Wall registered wedding guests. Miss Sally Bone and Mrs. Larry Parker assisted at the punch bowl and coffee service and cake was served by Mrs. Tina Hand, and Miss Vikki Reeves. Mrs. Helen Rebstock and Miss Nancy Mason served the bridegroom's cake.

The couple will reside in Des Moines, Iowa.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride was an August 1973 graduate of Texas Tech and a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She was also listed on the Dean's List and a student senator.

The bridegroom graduated from Pampa High School in 1969 and from Texas Tech in May of this year. He was a member of Kappa Alpha order fraternity and on the Dean's List. He is employed by Electronic Data Systems of Dallas.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS
Attending the wedding from Pampa were Mrs. Gussie Taylor and Mrs. Mattie Dixon.

 The most effective bluff in poker is when the bluffer has misread his hand and doesn't know that he is bluffing. The same principle applies at bridge. If a player doesn't know that he is false-carding, the false card is very likely to succeed.

South would have been better advised to let his partner play in six clubs, but South suffered from that form of bridge-player's astigmatism that completely blinds the victim to the possible advantage of being dummy.

Playing at six clubs, North would use the well-known safety play of playing his ace of trumps to see if an honor might drop. One would drop and there would be no further problems.

Playing at six notrump South needed to bring in that club suit. He won the diamond lead; led a club and finessed dummy's queen. If East had won with the king, South might have tried a second finesse or he might have played the ace next and dropped the jack.

We'll never know because East dropped the jack. It became obvious to South that West still held king and one club. He returned to his hand; took a second club finesse and watched the whole hand collapse.

Did East know what he was doing? He claimed that he did when everyone around congratulated him, and since East is an old friend we will join in the accolades.

The bidding has been:
 West North East South
 Pass 1♦ Pass 1♦
 Pass 3♥ Pass 3NT
 Pass 4♥ Pass ?

You, South, hold:
 ♠ A 2 ♥ 5 ♦ A Q J 8 7 ♣ A K J 6 5
 What do you do now?

A—Just bid four spades. Your partner may have a bad hand with lots of spades and hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION
 Instead of bidding four hearts your partner has bid four spades over your three notrump. What do you do now?

SUNDAY, NOV. 4
Your birthday today: Opens what will later be thought of as a year of change, in which trivial choices or whims of the moment are related to subtle reorientation in directions you hadn't planned. Much of what happens is a matter of destiny; most of your work is learning how to adapt to it. Relationships run rich and strong, supportive thru this whole complex developmental phase. Today's natives are self-reliant, independent of view, skilled technically.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Gather friends, neighbors, family and make an excursion into the lively, unfamiliar, or entertaining. Travel may be symbolic or physical, depending on the circumstances.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: In making your appearance in the community's observance of Sunday, be alert for a chance to exchange news and ideas for later negotiations. Unusual contacts arise. Keep notes.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Be around early, so you miss nothing of the many little dramatic incidents of this crowded, generally good-humored day. A pet project needs last minute revision.

Cancer [June 21-July 21]: With everything going smoothly, try letting well enough alone. Avoid bringing strangers or too many people into the current phases of your studies or creativity.

Leo [July 22-Aug. 22]: Friends and family come swarming, literally, by phone, or figuratively. People have no idea they are filling up so much of your time. Be pleasant, then pursue your own course.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Get as far away from old habits, steady routines as the conditions permit, but take an old friend or two along. Young people tend to be trying, hard on your patience and purse.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: This pleasant Sunday promises some wild story that makes an unusual puzzle for which no complete solution is to be found. Make the best of it, learning what to expect of friends.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Your zest for experience is sharp, the possibilities numerous. Pick the most unlikely, enter into it with any body disposed to try. Evolve an adventurous "happening" for yourself.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Home life is active and happy according to what you have done to set it up that way. If you have not established your own yet, look about you. Today may bring you well toward that goal.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: The unexpected pops up this Sunday, and will be better received if you are placidly doing the best you can toward the general good of your own community.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Keep things simple, with a few really special friends who know you well. Pursue romance if you are eligible and think you might be serious. Hobbies, pastimes are fun only if shared.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Social contacts are numerous, more than enough to keep you busy. Concentrate on the few that are important to you. Meanwhile, avoid general attention which limits your range.

WEDDING-ENGAGEMENT DEADLINE
 The following deadlines and procedure on wedding stories will be as follows: For a wedding story to appear in a Sunday edition, information and picture must be turned in to the women's editor by 5 p.m. on the Monday BEFORE the wedding. All wedding stories submitted after that time will appear during the week. Engagement announcements must be submitted by 12 noon Wednesday to appear in Sunday's edition.

MONDAY, NOV. 5
Your birthday today: If you will strive for spiritual clarity in the coming year, all other issues will be simpler, less troublesome. This is the time to cast away long-standing bad habits, attitudes arising from your reactions to situations now past. Relationships develop smoothly, perhaps taking a new lease on life where they've been waning. Today's natives usually have strong intuitive capability, are very persistent in pursuing personal projects.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Your work shows how well you prepared for it. Beware the wild tales and half-truths that fill the news. This evening is great for expressing romantic urges.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): If you don't really believe in a particular project, don't pursue it at all. Excess spending for social pretense sets a difficult precedent; just be yourself, quietly.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): The question is: Are you doing your living or do the circumstances of your life drag you along? The truth is somewhere between, you have a bit of wisdom to gain.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): From the cobwebs of half-remembered dreams come the start of a new idea which gains momentum as you work your way thru the day. Make notes, confirm in writing whatever seems pertinent.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Your earnest attention to financial details will be well repaid. Family discussions cover more subjects than expected, develop even better cooperation-coordination.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Teamwork is the key to success, with better going as the day progresses. Promote personal ideas, one step at a time. Evening deserves your finest enthusiasm.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Today has a suggestion of harvest; some of your words come back to you from long ago, far away. Soon you must make several firm decisions, express support for one side or another.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): The pursuit of happiness ranges from strange, distant places to unsuspected subtle niches nearby. Your tide of "luck" is at peak; make it work overtime.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): If you lack know-how, ask somebody with experience. Get the matter explained thoroughly before you go on. Your permanent home promises to be an improving, long-term investment.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The main emphasis is on opening a new path, trying something fresh. Use the resources near at hand, not so much for major ventures but for improving established situations.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Move promptly to close financial gaps. Collect your earnings on whatever project has been moving along well. Revise and simplify anything that is too slow or unproductive.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Be prepared to travel or get out of your usual rut. It's a good day for buying needed apparel, accessories, tools, supplies. Bring pending negotiations to a settlement wherever you can.

Scouting Scoops

By DIANE GROOTERS
These past few weeks have been filled with fun and learning for Brownie Troop 68. On Oct. 24 they had a Juliette Low Birthday Party in the Travis School cafeteria. It all began at 4 p.m. with the arrival of their sister troop, Brownie Troop 48.

The Brownies of Troop 68, as hostesses, had planned all the refreshments which included doughnuts, cookies, Halloween candy, and punch. A special game and song committee kept the group entertained.

Another activity in October was a trip to the library where each girl received her own card and checked out books. The girls also visited the fire station on Oct. 9.

As Christmas approaches, Troop 68 is working toward their Christmas project with the Head Start program at Baker. These Brownies are planning to make the decorations and put up a Christmas tree for this four-year-old class.

The leaders of this active group of scouts are Mrs. Gabe Crossman and Mrs. Tom Eteredge.

An Arts and Crafts Course for all levels will be given Nov. 10 and 17, from 9:30 a.m. - 2:30 p.m. at the Girl Scout Little House, Pampa. Mrs. Archie Maness will teach the course which will include Christmas ornaments, nature crafts and badge related arts and crafts for Juniors and Cadettes.

Deadline for registration at the Girl Scout Office is Nov. 8. There will be a nominal fee for the course, and everyone will bring a salad dish for lunch. Attendance will be limited to 25 students.

'Growthmania' worrier sings little boy blues

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Someone signed "FATHER OF SIX DAUGHTERS" wanted to know if there was a foolproof way for him to get a son, and you replied, "Yes. Adopt!" I can't resist sending you this. We received it following the birth of a son—after having had four girls:

Dear Helen and Bill:
SO YOU FINALLY HAD A BOY?
The only thing you can be congratulated on is your perseverance.

You can't be congratulated on your morality or unselfishness. Adding three "extra" children to a world already reeling under its population load can't be called either moral or unselfish.

You can't be congratulated on your fertility. After all, any clam, chicken, or small furry animal can beat you at that.

You can't be congratulated on your fine family. A fine family is one which sets an example, and your example may kill us all in a few generations.

You can't even be congratulated on being able to afford five children, because you're not paying for them. Oh, you provide their food and clothing and shelter, but the rest of the world pays for their roads, schools, hospitals, air, water

You can't be congratulated on being a patriotic citizen, for if anything destroys the United States it will be our "growthmania" spiral thru which this country even now gulps over 50 per cent of the world's resources.

You can't be congratulated for carrying on the family name. Family names mean little unless people mean much, and your kind of growth rate guarantees that people mean less and less.

Unless, of course, three of those children are adopted

In that case,
CONGRATULATIONS. Rick and Sue

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man I love with all my heart. He says he doesn't love me any more and wants a divorce. We have three children. At first he said he had it with married life and all he wanted was to be free, then after I begged and pleaded with him to reconsider, he admitted that there was another woman.

I would get down on my hands and knees if I thought it would do any good. I tried to tell him how much I loved him. I even kissed him, but he stood there like a statue with his hands in his pockets. Oh, Abby, I am desperate. How can a woman get a man to love her again? The divorce is coming up soon in court. No fault. No chance. Help me. I don't want to live without him.

ALONE AND CRYING

DEAR ALONE: You aren't alone. You have three children, which are three good reasons for living.

Since there is another woman in the picture, your chances for making him "love you" again are zilch. Furthermore, there is nothing less appealing to a man than a begging, prideless woman. So dry your tears, square your shoulders, and chin up. Concentrate on making a new life for yourself. Sometimes good luck comes disguised as disaster.

Scientific: Of Mice And Woman

MELBOURNE (UPI) — A Research company has revealed that mice can only feel really content in human female company.

It appears that male laboratory workers cannot establish this same rapport with the little pests.

Dr. Margaret Holmes, assistant manager at the Walter and Eliza Hall Institute which runs the laboratory, said the mice can tell the difference between male and female lab assistants.

"They become upset if their favorite female assistant is changed," Dr. Holmes said.

The center, partly backed by the Australian and Victorian governments is aimed at producing germ free mice and rats.

Until now, research has been hampered by these animals dying due to normal infections occurring during vital experiments to isolate cause of cancer and other killer diseases.

Strict hygienic conditions have been formulated at the institute to help produce super healthy mice.

Burlap Wall Coverings

COLLEGE STATION — Treat your recreation room walls to burlap, suggests Anna Marie Gottschalk.

The housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted that burlap hides cracks, patches and blotchy color.

It also helps sound absorption and provides flexible space for hanging and rearranging wall collections frequently.

When using colored burlap, buy enough for the entire job. Dye lot colors vary — colors frequently do not match from different dye lots, the specialist warned.

Necessary supplies include wall sizing and brush, fabric paste and large brush, drafting tape, steel measuring tape, sharp knife, short nap paint roller and a plasterer's trowel.

For best results, fill large cracks and holes with spackle or crack filler, Miss Gottschalk added.

Cut panels slightly larger than the correct length, she instructed.

Starting on an inconspicuous wall to "get the feel of burlap," hang the first panel.

Press burlap against wall with your hands, smoothing it straight across the top. Then press it against the wall at the center, working out to the sides.

Next, go over entire panel with a roller or trowel. By overlapping selvage edges of each panel, a sharp blade can be run down the seam, both selvages removed, while obtaining a perfect butted seam.

To fit fabric top and bottom, run a sharp knife through the crease at the ceiling and floor, remove excess.

Continue this procedure around the room until finished. To change wall color later, simply paint over the burlap.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Becky Cockrell, Neil Currie

MRS. NEIL CARSON CURRIE
...nee Miss Becky Leigh Cockrell

Miss Becky Leigh Cockrell became the bride of Neil Carson Currie, of Garland, Saturday, Nov. 3 at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Pampa.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cockrell, 1630 N. Sumner, Pampa, and parents of the bridegroom are Mary Ann Currie, 1010 S. Hobart, Pampa, and Golden Currie, Canyon.

THE CEREMONY
The Rev. Claude Cone, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Organist, Eloise Lane, played traditional wedding music and accompanied John Glover as he sang, "Twelfth of Never," "Seems I've Always Loved You," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with two spiral candelabra entwined with greenery flanked by floral arrangements of white gladioli and mums. Pews of honor were decorated with bows.

THE BRIDE
Presented in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I," avowal, the bride was attired in a formal floor-length gown of organza and chantilly lace designed with a fitted empire bodice. The gown was enhanced by a Victorian neckline and long sheer full sleeves caught at the wrists by deep cuffs of matching lace. Miniature satin ribbon bows traced the bodice front of the gown and lace organza appliques highlighted the skirt front forming side panels. Her a-line skirt swept to back fullness and she wore a cathedral length veil edged in matching Chantilly lace which fell from a Camelot bonnet. She carried a nosegay bouquet of red roses surrounded with pink and white carnations and matching streamers. The bride carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Charlie Snider, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a pink floor-length, long sleeve gown with a high rise neckline. The empire bodice was styled with a burgandy velvet ribbon, and she carried a bouquet of red roses surrounded by pink and burgandy carnations.

Mrs. Jimmie Clark served as bridesmatron and Miss Pam Howard was bridesmaid. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Patricia Snuggs. They wore identical attire to that of Mrs. Snider. Their gowns were accented with rose velvet ribbon around empire waistlines and they carried bouquets of pink and burgandy carnations with burgandy streamers. Rod Snider, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Serving his brother as best man was Bruce Currie.

Groomsmen and ushers were Eddie Jacobs, Canyon, and Gary Cockrell, brother of the bride, Pampa.

MOTHERS
The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown styled with a white rayon skirt and a black top. A white belt with a rhinestone buckle, accented the waist line and white collar and cuffs complemented the bodice of the gown. She wore white accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece floor-length gown. The long sleeved white blouse of cut lace was threaded with pink ribbon and she wore an A-line skirt of solid shell pink crepe. She wore pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

RECEPTION
The parlor of the church was the scene for the wedding reception. Mrs. W.H. Fuller played traditional wedding selections at the piano. The serving table was covered with a pink satin cloth and held a pink and burgandy floral arrangement. Pink mints, nuts and pink punch were served by Mrs. Gregg Parks. The four-tiered cake, decorated with pink rosebuds, was supported by Grecian columns. Each tier was decorated with tiny pale pink sweetheart roses and accented with deep pink roses and white lily of the valley. White bells adorned each tier. The cake was topped with three large white satin wedding bells. Mrs. Grant Gikas served the cake and Pam Mitchell registered wedding guests.

For the wedding trip to Dallas, the bride wore a pink street length dress of crepe with long sleeves and belted front. She lifted the pink and burgandy corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple plan to reside in Garland.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride and bridegroom are both 1973 graduates of Pampa High School.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS
The bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower held in First Baptist Church Parlor, hosted by Mmes. Billy Waggoner, Max Gibson, Rudy Taylor, Leon Taylor, Jimmie Clark, Gregg Parks and Miss Pam Howard.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Dyers Bar-B-Q, hosted by the bridegroom's mother.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS
Wedding guests from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Upton, Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Upton, and Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Kekel, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Currie and Mr. and Mrs. Golden Currie, both of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Blackshire, Tulsa, Okla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bailey, McLean.

Culture Members Study Life Of Edgar Allen Poe

Twentieth Century Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Albert Berry, 712 Buckler, Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Berry and Mrs. J.M. Stallings.

Mrs. Ross Buzzard, president, presided during the business session. Mrs. Stallings introduced the speaker for the day, Mrs. Paul Turner, who presented the program, "The Dark Poe," in which she narrated the life story of Edgar Allen Poe. More than a century after his death, the one American literary giant of the 19th century, still remains a controversial figure among biographers.

He was born in Boston Jan. 19, 1809 of poor actor parents. His father, David Poe, came from a good Baltimore family, but broke with his family when he married and tried to earn a living on the stage, for which he seemed to have no talent, she told. He was a heavy drinker and soon deserted his wife and family.

His mother, Elizabeth Arnold Poe, was a charming and talented actress, but she died of tuberculosis in December, 1811, at the age of 24, she continued. Edgar was taken in to the home of John and Frances Allen, who had no children of their own. John Allen was an ambitious and successful Richmond merchant, and Poe's boyhood seems to have been comparatively untroubled.

He reached the height of his fame in 1845 with his poem "The Raven." However, he remained desperately poor. His wife Virginia died in 1847 of tuberculosis, and Poe died in 1849 in Baltimore at the age of 40. Poe was elected to the Hall of Fame in New York University in 1910.

Mrs. Buzzard dismissed the meeting with an appropriate "Thought for the Day."

Members present besides

Mmes. Berry, Stallings, Buzzard, and Turner were Mmes. Fred Brook, Milo Carlson, J.L. Chase, R.L. Cooke, J.R. Donaldson, M.K. Griffith, Wyatt Lemons, Myron Marx, Jr., B.R. Nunn, Doyle Osborne, James A. Poole, E.E. Shelhamer, and L.J. Zachary.

Fall '73 Wools: Classic Plus

COLLEGE STATION — For fall '73, the wool look is classic — plus.
 "The 'plus' sets a fabric off from the traditional realm and gives it newness," Marilyn Brown, consumer education clothing and textiles specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, explained.

"The softness of heather, a twist of tweed, and new colorings for old patterns provide this season's pluses."
 Tweeds and tweed effects show up in many wool and wool-blend fabrics. They continue surface interest — with multi-colored nubs and slubs popping up in the most surprising places.

"Unlike tweeds of years past, this season's fabrics make no pretense of being traditional. They're bright, lively and unexpected within the confines of classic patterns."
 Nubs appear in coating, sportswear and dress-weight fabrics. When slubs aren't woven in the fabric, they're often printed on.

Plaid also remains important — offering a greater variety than the bright checkerboards of '71 and '72, the specialist continued.
 "One difference involves size. Slightly scaled down patterns combine with striped glen and checked coordinates."
 "Novelty weaves and novelty fibers woven in with wool appear less often this season."
 Heather effects provide "that something extra" for many plaids and solids, Miss Brown added.
 "Gray and camel soften grounds while adding traditional coloring to new-looking patterns. Worsteds, flannels, whipcords and gaberdines appear most often in these two colors — although some are treated to rust, bottle green and other dark, rich colors."
 "Color usage provides one of fall's biggest pluses," she emphasized.
 With gray and camel keeping classics steady, maroon, red, green, orange, blue and white "rock the boat."
 "These color combinations take many traditional men's wear fabrics and turn them into women's apparel. Powdery pastels have faded into the background."
 "Today's color statement is bold without being abrasive — with coloring bittersweet and classic," Miss Brown continued.
 Due to soaring wool prices and more temperature control, she predicted that lighter wools

FASHIONETTES

By United Press International
 The two-piece shirtdress may well be the best of both fashion worlds. It combines the freedom of separates with the uncontrived, fresh look of a dress.

There's a shirtdress for every home seamstress to tackle — from the young homemaker who's used to jeans as a way of life to the woman who never gave up wearing comfy shirtdresses in the first place.

Any way you sew it, the fall two-part dress is chic and very contemporary. Women love wearing it because it is a fresh, young variation on an ageless fashion theme. The two-part dress referred to is the shirtwaist silhouette.

Texas Nurse Week Will Be Observed Nov. 4-10

Highland General Nursing Supervisor

Monitors Coronary Equipment

Texas Nurse Week will be observed Nov. 4-10 across the state.

Nurses work closely with other health professionals in preventing illness and restoring health. By law a professional nurse must be licensed by the state of Texas to practice nursing and is called a registered nurse, an RN. Licensed vocational nurses (LVNs) are also important providers of nursing services.

Nurses practice in many situations: homes, hospitals, community agencies, clinics, schools and industry to name a few. Today, nurses are emerging into new roles in order to bring the delivery of good health care closer to the consumer. An example of one of the new roles is the nurse practitioner. A nurse practitioner works closely with patients to assess their health by physical examination, patient education and nursing care.

Currently, the nursing profession is encouraging the return of non-working nurses to practice through refresher courses and inservice training. Only one-half of the 52,000 registered nurses in Texas are practicing. The greatest need for nurses is in rural areas. Fortunately, the number of applicants and graduates of nursing schools has risen sharply in the last half decade. The number of men in nursing has also increased.

Nurses are acutely aware of their need for informal continued education beyond graduation in order to keep up with the modern changes in nursing. Schools of nursing, hospitals and health agencies across Texas are striving to offer continued education opportunities.

Just recently the Texas Nurses Association, the professional organization for RNs, initiated a modern recording system to document the continued education efforts of RNs.

By means of this system, called CERP (continuing education recognition program), participating RNs receive official recognition for their activities in maintaining their competency.

This week should remind us to examine the nursing care in our community. Nursing's purpose is its ability to deliver quality nursing care. Beyond license, the nurse has a commitment to high standards of nursing care for the well being of the consumer-patient.

This week, Texas Nurse Week, let our community salute all men and women dedicated to professional nursing.

TURK LA ONION

4-5 lb. turkey parts
1 pkg. dry onion soup mix
Skin turkey. Wash and pat dry. Place single layers of turkey in shallow casserole dish. Sprinkle onion soup mix over turkey parts. Cover casserole with foil. Bake in a 350 degree oven 1 hour and 15 minutes. Uncover and cook 15 minutes longer. Serve natural juices with turkey. For gravy combine juices with sour cream and heat gently. Especially good spooned over rice.

Brighter than a bazaar, more variety than a department store, a showcase where rustic barbed wire shares shelf space with the glassmakers' art. What is it? It's an antique show, attracting thousands of dealers and millions of collectors annually. Most of us approach a show in our community with pleasurable anticipation. Once in a while we come away disappointed, dissatisfied and perhaps disgruntled. "The manager makes the difference," said Vance Crowson, El Paso, Tex., manager of World Wide Shows, Inc. It is the manager who selects the dealers which make up each show and sets the ethical standards by which the dealers will abide. These decisions ultimately are responsible for the quality and quantity the public will find. Crowson "inherited" his position from his aunt, Mrs. Ora Slout, who before her death, was a pioneer in the business she established 28 years ago. "I like to think of myself as a professional," he said. "The very word 'antique' demands respect and dignity and I try to treat it this way. I expect my dealers to feel the same way. "There are many promoters (managers) today who are not doing the antiques business any good. The only people who can control and eliminate this type promoter are the exhibiting dealers," he said. World Wide has a reputation for "clean" shows. That is one which has few if any reproductions or imports and whose dealers abide by a high code of ethics. Crowson is an associate member of the National Association of Dealers in Antiques (NADA) and a majority of the dealers who exhibit with him are, too. An Amarillo, Tex., antiques dealer defines her idea of a good show manager: "A really good manager is the backbone of the thing and he is very careful of whom he selects for his dealers." Dealers become very loyal to a good manager who creates almost a family feeling. "Bad promoters create the impression that we are little more than traveling hucksters or gypsies," she said. According to Crowson, the collecting public should be more aware of the NADA symbol displayed by member dealers. Members are required to guarantee their merchandise to be what it is represented to be. There is a need for greater cooperation between show managers, dealers and the collecting public to upgrade the entire field of collecting.

Weekly Market Report

COLLEGE STATION — Frozen turkey prices are up considerably from a year ago. "However, they will likely decrease some before Thanksgiving," Mrs. Gwendolyn Ciyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, predicted. "Currently, fryer chickens offer a good choice price-wise — and quality is excellent. At home or away, fried chicken is hard to beat for economy and versatility."

Choose Grade A large-size eggs for the best combination of economy and quality, the specialist suggested.

"Beef prices have trended downward slightly. In general, look for best values on round steaks and roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, beef and calf liver and ground beef."

"With prices gradually decreasing from summer high, pork values include hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, and end-cut loin roasts and chops."

Don't neglect the dairy case, Mrs. Ciyatt advised. Cottage and mozzarella cheese supply protein when using less meat in lasagna — and tomatoes and cheese take up the slack in spaghetti sauce.

"It's pumpkin season again," the specialist continued. "So enjoy a good quality at moderate prices. This versatile item offers something for every meal — from pumpkin pancakes to pumpkin pie."

"Cabbage, celery, carrots, sweet potatoes, dry yellow onions, potatoes, head lettuce, hard shell squash, rutabagas, collards, mustard and turnips and greens furnish the best vegetable buys."

First-of-the-season prices prevail on cranberries, although prices should lower as supplies increase, she added.

"Grapes, bananas, oranges, pineapples, tangelos, apples, tangerines and pears provide other good fruit choices."

EGG POT PIE

Skylab Astros Readied For Launch

By THOMAS G. BELDEN UPI Science Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Three more pioneering astronauts are scheduled for launch Saturday on a final journey aboard the Skylab space station, where they may stretch man's endurance record in space to 85 days.

earlier this year paved the way for Marine Lt. Col. Gerald P. Carr, civilian scientist Edward G. Gibson and Air Force Lt. Col. William-R. Pogue to spend at least 60 days in the eightroom orbiting research lab.

PRPC Gives Information About Housing Programs

The Panhandle Regional Planning Commission through its Housing Data Resource Center is currently providing information on housing in the Panhandle region and on governmental programs designed to assist all elements of the housing market.

The flight of Carr, Gibson and Pogue, the last planned mission to the 86-ton space ship, was supposed to have been only 56 days. But the Skylab 2 crew, Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma, lasted 59 days—the current space endurance record—with no problems, and doctors now think man can stay almost indefinitely in the unique world of weightlessness.

The Skylab 3 spacemen will have more than enough scientific research work to keep them occupied for almost three months. As the first two crews did, they will be studying the sun with the most sophisticated array of solar telescopes and cameras ever assembled. They will also use a set of powerful instruments to collect data on the earth's natural resources and the ways in which man is using his environment.

'Hot' Materials Reportedly In Lake Duniven

AMARILLO — Two sealed sources containing small quantities of radioactive material were reportedly dropped into Lake Duniven in Amarillo by five juveniles who took the sources from an automobile owned by a Health Physicist at the Pantex Plant.

The material presents no public health hazard. State and local health officers have been advised of the incident.

FOSTER WHALEY

Agriculturally Speaking

INCOME TAX MEETING

Michael Spratt, economist - management - Texas A&M University, will be the main speaker at an Income Tax meeting that will be held at the Agricultural Building in Pampa, starting at 7:30 p.m. Monday evening, Nov. 5.

In the past, much of our income tax school has been directed toward the mechanics of making out a return. This meeting is designed especially for those farmers and ranchers who have others make out their return. However, tax accountants and farmers that make out their own return should benefit greatly.

The main purpose of this meeting will be to teach farmers and ranchers how to save income tax dollars through proper management. About four years ago, I heard one producer make this statement after attending one of these annual Income Tax schools, "What I learned here today has saved me $1,000 on one item."

An invitation is open to the public. There will be some cash door prizes, coffee and donuts.

Come on out for an evening of fellowship and education.

PANHANDLE ECONOMIC PROGRAM MEETING

Gov. Dolph Briscoe will head the list of distinguished speakers that will appear on the program of the annual meeting of PEP. The meeting will start at 9:30 a.m., Nov. 16 in the Activities Center Building on the West Texas State University Campus.

We are expecting a large delegation to attend from Gray County.

Other distinguished speakers include State Sen. Max Sherman, Dr. L.I. Watkins, president WTSU, and Dr. Ed Uvacek, Texas A&M University.

I have a supply of luncheon tickets and would be happy to get your name in the pot. Call our office at 669-7429 or my home 669-3251. This should be a fine one-day meeting.

GRAY COUNTY AGRICULTURAL INCOME

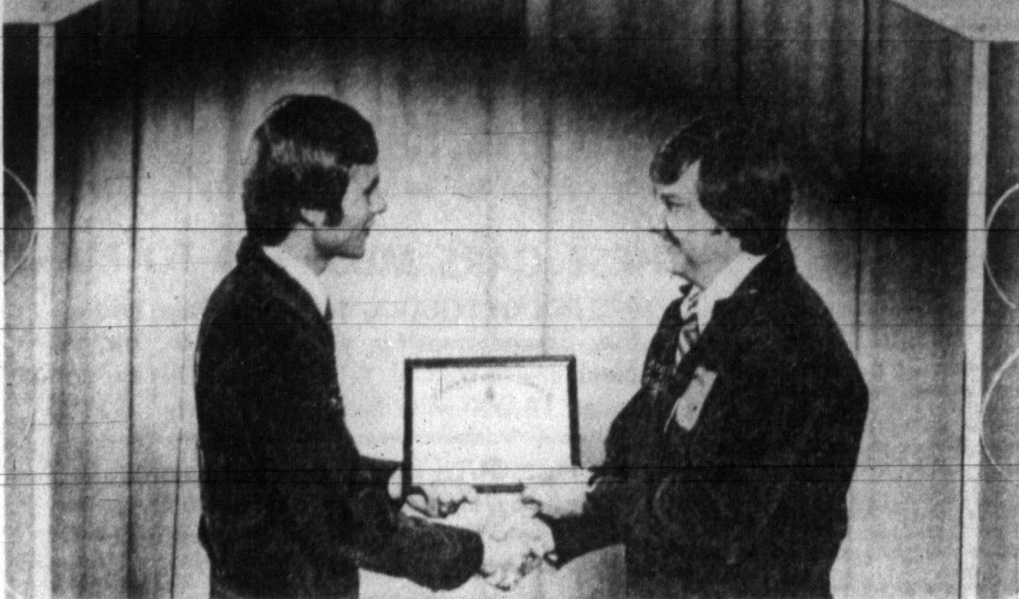

The gross Agricultural Income from Gray County will exceed forty million dollars in 1973. We would hasten to point out this is gross income and not net income. Considering the tough 1972-73 winter and high feed cost on cattle, I'd assume a large number of farmers and ranchers will wind up with less net income than in previous years.

But gross income does mean a great deal to the entire Gray County economy.

This year's gross income will set a record, almost doubling last year's twenty-one million dollar agricultural income. Less than 10 years back our agricultural income was ranging from five to eight million dollars. A round up on the Agricultural picture and that of the rest of the economic facets of Gray County are in the new Chamber of Commerce issue.

We think Tex DeWeese and his help did a great job on this one.

AMERICAN FARMER

AMERICAN FARMER — Dwight Seegmiller, left, National President of the Future Farmers of America presents the American Farmer Degree to Charles Bowers of Pampa. The American Farmer Degree is the highest degree of membership in the FFA. It was presented to 564 FFA members during the 46th National FFA Convention held in Kansas City, Missouri, October 16-19.

Reduce Greenbug Infestation; Place Cattle In Wheat Fields

BUSHLAND — The best way to reduce greenbug infestation in wheat crops is to put cattle in the field, says a research scientist here.

Norris E. Daniels, associate professor of entomology at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, is not advocating that Texas' finest animals eat the bugs.

"Cattle will graze or clip the foliage down to a point where the food supply and habitat of the greenbug are severely limited," he explains. "This keeps the population down and prevents a build-up while the wheat is short. The grazed wheat also is less attractive to these aphids."

This rather simple solution to the wheat farmer's gravest insect problem is backed by 20 years of data collected in Deaf Smith, Castro and Swisher counties during February, March and April. Daniels, who is based at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center 10 miles west of Amarillo, has had plenty of opportunity to test his data, since the grazing of wheat has become a normal practice on the Texas High Plains.

Greenbug populations averaged up to 1,000 per foot of row in non-grazed wheat in 1961, '67, '69 and '70. In other years, populations were not so great, but still were far more numerous than those found in grazed wheat.

Only in one year (1965) did the greenbug population reach above 100 per foot of row in grazed wheat, he asserts.

Greenbugs usually reach their population peak in the three-county area by March 20, the scientist explains. Farther north in the Texas Panhandle, the peak occurs in April.

During their population peak, these insect pests were found to be at least 20 times lower on the forage crops than on non-grazed wheat.

In observations of two adjacent dryland fields (one grazed and one non-grazed) during one year, he recalls, few greenbugs appeared on grazed wheat, while the non-grazed wheat was completely destroyed by April 1.

The researcher concludes that if grazing is continued into April, grain yields may be reduced in proportion to the lateness of grazing and the earliness of the wheat variety.

"According to the research," Daniels says, "where small grain fields over a wide area are heavily infested, or where a general outbreak occurs, greenbug populations may re-infest a nearby grazed field after livestock are removed."

In such cases, he has found that chemical control may become necessary a few days after the cattle are taken out. If the weather is warm, however, and good predator populations are present, insecticidal treatment may not be necessary.

According to Daniels, over the 20-year study, greenbug populations in both grazed and non-grazed fields were greatly lowered whenever lady beetles were present, indicating the value of these naturally occurring insects in such cases.

Handbook Available For Cattle Feeders

A comprehensive new reference book, "The Texas Cattle Feeders Handbook," has just been published by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with Extension Services of nine other Great Plains States, and provides timely information on all aspects of commercial cattle feeding, notes County Extension Agent Foster Whaley.

The new publication is composed of 50 bulletins or fact sheets, 25 of which are Texas publications and 25 from other states, announces L.A. Maddox, Extension beef cattle specialist.

"The whole endeavor is a part of the Great Plains Cattle Feeders Committee Project. We plan to make available a wide range of technical material of higher quality than ever before. New and revised information will be mailed to subscribers from now through September 1, 1975," Maddox added.

Co-authoring the handbook with Maddox are Dr. John Sweeten, Extension agricultural engineer in animal waste management; and Dr. Dennis B. Herd, Extension beef cattle specialist - nutrition.

The handbook includes broad segments of information on nutrition, feed preparation and storage, animal health, feedlot management, feedlot planning and equipment, figures for feeders, waste management, and a section of miscellaneous publications and information, explains the county Extension agent.

This publication, numbered B-1133, sells for $10, which includes a subscription to any new fact sheets developed between now and September, 1975. It can be ordered through the Department of Agricultural Communications, Texas A&M University.

"We believe that this handbook contains the largest amount of organized information on cattle feeding that is available in Texas," adds Whaley.

The first recorded performance of an opera in New Orleans was on May 22, 1796.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

Last week this column carried a portion of a booklet, "Famine In Your Future," written by Russell Bean and distributed by Water, Inc., the West Texas organization promoting importation of water. This week we are carrying a further portion.

"Why arid lands? Well, let's not delude ourselves with wishful thinking about there being vast areas of potentially great farmlands, irrigated by nature and ready for the plow, away off in some Amazonian Shangri-La. It's not there and let's forget it.

With rare exceptions, rain forest soils can't be farmed economically; and as far as that goes, any area with heavy rainfall can just about be counted out as far as farming is concerned. Other than being a source of water, rainfall in farming is a minor nuisance at best, a calamity at worst. The classic farm has a desert soil, a flat terrain, a hot climate with plenty of sunshine, no rainfall, and a water supply from elsewhere. The Garden of Eden must have fitted this description.

It isn't usually recognized that most great non-irrigated farmlands of the world have relatively little rainfall; the rain just happens to fall with reasonable consistency at the right time. Most of such land worldwide, is in cultivation now, and if a piece of land is not in cultivation now, it must necessarily have serious defects. Arid lands are by far the best bet to increase food production for the future.

It will be most unfortunate if we in the United States don't take the initiative in developing vast areas of our arid lands. Except for water, which is certainly available in other parts of the country, these lands have a nearly ideal combination of soil, terrain and climate for mass production of foodstuffs.

Siberia probably comes next, and planners in the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics know this and are doing something about it. But their best undeveloped lands are quite far north where the growing season is short, and their farming system is clumsy and inept. Even so, the Russians may well have figured out that the last country on earth to have a food surplus could rule the world, and they may figure that the odds are good that our planners will fumble the challenge in a welter of confusion over saving the environment and balancing the budget. Yet, if the budget really is all that important, how better to corner the world's money than to have food when the rest of the world gets hungry!

Some of the paid planners have had the gall to suggest that if we run out of food, plenty will be available on the world market. This is pure nonsense because already we see a drying-up of world food surpluses. Even with poor planning, the United States likely will be the last major nation to run out of food.

Soybean Production Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — World production of soybeans, a vital raw material for meat, poultry and eggs, is rising at the fastest rate in history this year, an Agriculture Department report said this week.

Preliminary estimates put total world soybean output in 1973 at 2.1 billion bushels, up 22 per cent from 1972. The United States, the world's leading soybean producer, is expecting a 24 per cent increase to a new record of nearly 1.6 billion bushels.

A report by the department's foreign agricultural service said the increase in production this year was due mainly to a major increase in U.S. soybean acreage and a smaller increase in plantings in Brazil. Harvests also increased in the Soviet Union and in China, which is the world's second-biggest

We must beware of non-workable suggestions such as this one, and other Indian snake-oil cures such as technology supplying us with synthetic foods, farming the seas, or relying on the Green Revolution to solve our problems.

The so-called synthetic foods aren't really synthetic because nobody yet has by-passed photosynthesis, the basic process which completes the life cycle of animals through plants back to animals. In an oversimplified sense, plants use water, carbon dioxide and sunlight to create basic foods while animals consume food and oxygen to return to carbon dioxide to the cycle. Obviously it would be a real breakthrough if photosynthesis were by-passed, but there is no faint indication that this goal is about to be reached.

What most people call "synthetic" foods are just products of photosynthesis modified to another form, soybean protein made to serve as a meat substitute, for instance. The farm still has to supply most of the material from which to start "synthesis."

As for farming the seas, this one isn't worth much. The seas produce just about a constant amount of food, enough for a few million people, and this source of food has been exploited quite thoroughly for centuries. The better scientists write off any hope of real expansion of food supply from the seas, and they remind us that despite all the romance and legend, seafood never was much more than a supplementary item of human diet, a luxury really.

Farmcast

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

New Records For Some ... Milk Production Continues to Drop ... Pecan Harvest Underway ... Wheat Pasture Prospects.

New per acre yield for cotton, an all-time high for orange production, a new record high for grain sorghum, and a 26-year high in grapefruit.

These are some of the highlights of Texas farm production this year. Production of corn, cotton, sorghum, soybeans, peanuts this year is expected to exceed levels reached in 1972. Citrus production, too, is setting new records.

A per acre yield of 415 pounds for upland cotton is a new high for Texas. The crop this year is expected to total 4,750,000 bales. This compared with 4,246,000 bales produced in 1972. Recent rains throughout the state have damaged grade of the crop and will result in less income for the producer.

Grain sorghum production in Texas this year is estimated by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service at a record 421,600,000 bushels. This is more than 100,000,000 bushels above the 1972 level.

Yield is also expected to average a record 62 bushels per acre compared with 59 bushels last year. Harvest is about two-thirds complete.

Peanut production this year is now estimated at a record 533,800,000 pounds, or more than 50,000,000 pounds above 1972. Yield is also expected to average a new record per acre high of 1,700 pounds.

Soybean production will be up twice the amount from last year. Per acre yield is expected to be 27 bushels. Total production is now estimated at 11,475,000 bushels. Corn production is also up sharply from last year. Production is now set at 60,800,000 bushels, about a third higher than last year.

CITRUS is also setting new records in Texas. The Texas citrus crop is forecast at 20,500,000 boxes, which is seven per cent more than the previous season and 37 per cent higher than the 1971-73 crop.

Grapefruit production is expected to total 12,500,000 boxes, which will be the largest since 1947. Production of all oranges at 8,000,000 boxes will be the largest since estimates first began in 1919.

Citrus in the Lower Rio Grande Valley continues to size well. This season's fruit appears to be above average size and quality.

MILK production is another story. As is the case throughout the nation, milk production in Texas continues to decline. It was four per cent below a year ago and for September, it was four per cent below the previous month.

Nationwide, milk production is expected to be four per cent less than a year earlier. Continued increases in production and less net income is the main reason for the decline.

PECAN harvest is underway in the state and compared to last year, it is a puny crop. Texas this year will account for only eight per cent of the nation's pecans. Production in the state is estimated at 23,000,000 pounds. This is 69 per cent less than the 1972 crop.

Harvest generally is behind last year's schedule. Nationwide, pecan production is expected to be 51 per cent larger than a year ago.

TEXAS wheat pasture as of Oct. 1 is in short supply. Heavy rains in large portions of the Plains during the last of September have left fields too wet to plant.

Those fields that have been sown were seeded too recently to show enough growth for grazing.

Seeding of wheat in Texas is behind the figures of a year ago.

4-H CLUB NEWS

By AUDETTE VAUGHN
Asst. County Extension Agent
The TV nutrition series "Mulligan Stew" was concluded this week.

The Extension Service has been trying to reinforce this learning by conducting cooking classes after school and approximately 86 4-H members, including almost 20 boys, are participating in the classes. New cooking classes will begin this week.

A countywide 4-H tour is being planned for November 9. 4-H'ers will meet at B & B Packing Plant at 1 p.m. for the purpose of observing a beef cut into the various sections.

The food and nutrition learning series will be concluded on December 1, with a countywide food show and fare. 4-H'ers will enter their favorite dishes that they have prepared for competition.

There will be a poster and theme contest for the age group which have been involved in the "Mulligan Stew" TV series. The students may enter one or both contests. Students should emphasize the nutrition knowledge that impresses them the most in the theme and poster. Judging will be based on subject matter, creativity, and neatness. The theme should be approximately 100 words long and it would be preferred that the posters are made on poster size paper. However, we realize that there could be difficulty in all school-age children being able to acquire poster paper, so even typing paper will be accepted.

Winners will be announced at the December 1 Food Show Fare. Prizes for the 1st, 2nd and 3rd winners will receive $5, $3 and $2 respectively.

If you have any questions or if we can ever help you, please contact 669-7429.
