Senate Blasts South Viet Regime

Ky Declares State of War

SAIGON (UPI) — Saigon's military junta closed all of Saigon's 36 daily newspapers and several more in the provinces. The ruling junta said it would publish two papers of its own for a one month trial period — one for the military and one for civilians.

The drastic measures almost overshadowed the war in which 46 U.S. jet fighter-bombers attacked military targets north of Hanoi for the third consecutive day and pounded Viet Cong positions in the south with deadly results.

U.S. Army paratroopers stationed 15 miles from the Bien Hoa air base near Saigon were flown into action against the Communist Viet Cong today on a day-long search and destroy operation.

Church Urges U.N. Take Part in Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate renewed its debate on President Johnson's Viet Nam policy today with the newly installed regime in Saigon coming in for a flurry of criticism.

The new round of discussion began as Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, urged that the United Nations take a role in peace negotiations. He called for direct dealings with the Communist Viet Cong if its representatives were part of a North Viet Nam delegation. He also advocated free elections in South Viet Nam.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., recommended that Congress pass a new resolution of support for Johnson, similar to that of last Aug. 10 which approved all necessary measures to repel any armed attack on U.S. forces.

Clark Expresses Concern
Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., then expressed concern over the new regime which took over in South Viet Nam this month.

Clark protested what he called the regime's policy of public executions and asked the Senate:

"With what sincerity can we support a government that seems to deny every principle of government we stand for?"

The Pennsylvania Democrat said South Viet Nam's policies make the military leaders in the Dominican situation "look like Democrats."

He agreed with Church who said in his speech:

"We must honor our constitutional responsibility to advise and consent on the foreign policy of this country, which is placed right here in the bosom of the Senate."

Church also urged that the United States not become "so single purposed in its attitude toward Communists" that it gives its support to "every rotten tyrant in what we euphorically call the free world."

The Senate debate followed a warning by Secretary of State Dean Rusk that the Communists are gambling on a military victory in South Viet Nam and that U. S. casualties there may increase.

In a speech Wednesday Rusk said that since April 1 the Viet Cong offensive had resulted in the deaths of 3,000 Communists, almost 3,000 South Vietnamese and almost 100 Americans.

"We must expect these losses to continue, and our own losses may increase," Rusk said. He reiterated U. S. determination to defend South Viet Nam and make the war too costly for any aggressor.

Full Senate Debate
Javits and Church both insisted there should be full Senate debate on future U. S. involvement in Viet Nam. Church said:

"To remain silent, when the prospect of widening war confronts us, would be to shirk our duty; worse still, it would be to behave like a mock parliament of a totalitarian state."

Javits argued that the Viet Nam resolution approved by Congress last year was outdated. In his prepared speech, the New York senator said:

"The President should not risk leading the nation, step-by-step, into a major conflict from which there is no honorable re-

Medical Society Elects Internist As New President

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Charles L. Hudson, 61-year-old internist from Shaker Heights, Ohio, was elected today to head the American Medical Association (AMA) next year and promptly pledged himself to an administration "primarily interested in science."

Hudson, a soft-spoken 30-year specialist in internal medicine and a member of the AMA board of trustees, was named president elect on the third ballot, succeeding Dr. Durward G. Hall of Springfield, Mo., a Republican representative in Congress.

Hall immediately pledged all assistance to Hudson's administration and moved to be elected by acclamation. The 234-member AMA House of Delegates voted.

Hudson takes over, by AMA custom, as president of the AMA convention next June, which will be held in Chicago.

In a brief address before the house, Hudson reminded AMA members that "we are a scientific society." He added, "as we develop almost a preoccupation with other issues, we tend to forget—and forget to remind the American people—that we are primarily interested in science."

"We are a service profession, a profession in existence for providing medical care for people," he said. "I hope we may pursue this course with emphasis."

Hudson said he wanted to emphasize activities that would tend to unify the association, which this year has had some emotional disturbances over such questions as advocacy of boycott of the pending medicare program.

Hudson resigned as trustee. The president elect is an associate professor at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, a diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine, past president of the Ohio Medical Society, and Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) Medical Society. He is married and has three children.

As a World War II lieutenant colonel, he had three years of (See PRESIDENT, Page 3)

Bliss Aide Dismissed After 'Gestapo' Raid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—What was William Cody Kelly after? Who took Gen. Lucius Clay's wastepaper basket? — How did the golden "G" pins get in Dorothy Hess' desk? These are just a few of the loose ends of a story which began when Kelly, long-trusted aide of Republican National Chairman Raymond C. Bliss, conducted a "gestapo" raid last Friday night on the GOP finance headquarters.

It ended Wednesday when Bliss fired Kelly as his administrative aide.

"I regret that in his enthusiasm to serve, he has taken action which is contrary to standards which I have established for my staff," Bliss said.

Bliss acted after Frank Kovacs, executive director of the Republican National Finance Committee, and three of Kovacs' staff told this story:

About 7:30 p. m. CST Friday Kelly launched a laughing, shouting ransacking of the finance committee's offices. He was accompanied by James H. Baker, an aide; Robert McAllister, of the GOP political edu-

Study Group Asks for Engineering Help on Street Improvement Plans

By DALLAS DeWEENE

Pampa's city commission will be asked Tuesday to provide a Highway Development Study Committee with information on cost estimates and the best method to tackle the city's street and highway improvement program.

The action was taken late yesterday at the first meeting of the highway study group, one of 11 such committees recently appointed by Mayor Jim Nation and approved by the council to aid in reaching solutions to some of Pampa's major problems.

Chairman Fred Thompson and members of his committee agreed that principal concern will be with the improvement of U.S. 60 and State Highways 278 and 152 within the city.

It was indicated at yesterday's meeting that the study committee will strive for solutions and recommendations for improvement and drainage problems connected with these three highways.

The problems to be tackled are almost identical with those connected to municipal street and highway improvement programs rejected by Pampa voters in 1962.

A $1.5 million bond issue for improvements to State Highways 273 and 152 and U.S. 60 inside Pampa was defeated by 43 votes on Oct. 30, 1962.

The program was rejuvenated and submitted six weeks later on Dec. 11, 1962, with the added project of U.S. 70 in the vicinity of W. 23rd St. and the Robert E. Lee Junior High School area. This time, Chamber of Commerce directors came out the day before the election in opposition to the $1.75 million project. It was defeated by 703 votes. The chamber opposed the bond

Arkansas Police Hunt Space-Age Bank Robbers

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark. (UPI)—With one down and two to go, police resumed their search today for the rest of a trio of space-age bank robbers who utilized walkie-talkies to rob the local bank Wednesday.

Heavy thunderstorms during the night hampered the search for the two fugitives still at large in the Ozark Mountain area after they escaped on foot from a gun-battle with a state trooper and a sheriff.

Larry Dale Peckham, 23, of Wichita, Kan., was arrested a short time after the robbery at a Silver Hill, Ark., cafe, about 50 miles west of Mountain View.

Two of the gunmen forced their way into the home of H. S. Mabry Jr., manager of the Bank of Mountain View, Tuesday night. They held Mabry and his wife hostage for several hours while communicating with a comrade by walkie-talkie. He finally came to the Mabry home and the trio then forced the Mabrys' to accompany them to the bank.

Mabry said the suspects looked like "clean-cut young businessmen." They tied up the manager and his wife in the bank and fled with $2,400 in silver after deciding not to wait for the time lock on the vault. Mabry freed himself in about an hour and called police.

Later the trio was stopped by state trooper Kenneth Hendrix just outside Marshall, Ark., about 40 miles west of Mountain View. Hendrix held a shotgun on the three men in the car and obtained their identities as Peckham, George Alvin Burson, 25, of Powersite, Mo., and Chester L. Durbin, 24, no address. The gun battle ensued.

BIRTHDAY PARTY — John G. Powell of Lefors was honored with a party yesterday in observance of his 100th birthday. Friends and relatives from six states and as far away as California attended the birthday celebration held in the Lefors Civic Center. Mr. Powell for many years was a pentecostal preacher in Lefors. Shown standing beside Mr. Powell is Carl Kersey of Amarillo.

LEFORS—Relatives and acquaintances from six states and as far away as California were on hand in Lefors yesterday for a two day celebration honoring John G. Powell, former Lefors Pentecostal preacher, on his 100th birthday.

The birthday celebration, which attracted an estimated 100 persons, was held in the Lefors Civic Center.

Several tents were set up on the lawn of Mrs. W. K. Bigham, who helped organize the celebration.

Mr. Powell, who can no longer see nor hear, was born in 1861 in Johnson County, Ill. He moved to Lefors in his early days.

The elder citizen served as pastor of the Lefors Pentecostal Church until the church was moved to Stinnett in 1948.

Mr. Powell and his wife then moved to Oklahoma and later to Arkansas and returned to Lefors in 1952.

During the birthday celebration yesterday, Mr. Powell was honored with a huge birthday cake and a telegram from Congressman Walter Rogers.

Perhaps one of the finest gifts was a letter from President Lyndon Johnson congratulating him on his 100th birthday.

Mr. Powell is the subject of a poem to be published later this year by Mrs. Audrey Bush, of California entitled "A Long Life."

Some Progress Reported In Acceptance of Peace Plan

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Rebel Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno, "constitutional president" of a square mile of Santo Domingo, accepted the OAS plan subject to modifications which may prove troublesome in detailed negotiations.

Maj. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, whose junta governs most of the Dominican Republic, flatly rejected the idea of a provisional government. He said his regime is all the government the country needs for the time being.

Imbert agreed in general to the other provisions of the OAS plan, although he argued that the constitutional convention should be held before the election rather than after, as proposed by the OAS.

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — There's big teen-age market, and it is growing, advertising and marketing men agree.
 Every year that it expands, there is another market which grows right with it.
 It is the urban government market, that representing cities, major urban townships, metropolitan counties and large urban special districts.
 The research department of the American City magazine in a recent survey put 7,600 governmental units into these four categories; their spending last year, and should reach $32 billion this year, the surveyors estimate.
Spending Will Increase
 As the population grows, and continues to congregate into communities that more often than not extend beyond the established boundaries of cities, said the American City survey, the spending will increase. If growth trends shown over the five-year period 1957-62 are uninterrupted the spending by the urban government market could reach $71 billion 10 years from now. In the total expenditures as described in the survey were included equipment, materials, construction, wages and interest paid on obligations of the governmental unit.
 The survey noted that at one time municipalities were almost the only urban governments, but in the past two decades the operations of many previously rural counties, townships, special districts and authorities have become more like those of city governments.
Factors Responsible
 "Two factors are primarily responsible for the emergence and rapid growth of the new types of urban governments," the survey said.
 "The heavy and rapid movement of population to the suburbs, and the less widely recognized difficulties encountered by existing cities in expanding their boundaries to keep up with the population surge toward their peripheries."
 The population movement away from central areas of the big cities, it continued, is not a new phenomenon, but has been going on through the nation's history. However, the general pattern of past expansion—either the extension of city boundaries outward to encompass growing fringe areas, or the formation of other cities on the

SEEKS ANOTHER TERM
LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — President Amerigo Thomaz, 70, will run for another seven-year term. The government announced Wednesday. Thomaz who was elected in 1958 with 75 per cent of the popular vote, defeated the late opposition leader, Gen. Humberto Delgado.
 fringes of the old, has been modified at many points.
Annexation Resistance
 Larger cities have met increasing resistance to annexation of expanding suburban areas; many suburban communities have delayed switching existing rural government forms to that of the urban type.
At the same time, the newcomers are so numerous and so used to city ways that they — and state sanitary codes and other laws — put the suburban governments under pressure to provide urban services," the survey said. "The previously rural governments in such areas — townships and counties, and even rural irrigation districts — have increasingly found themselves called upon to supply unmistakably urban services and facilities."
 "These governments, in complying with the new demands, have thereby become urban townships, urban counties, and urban district governments."

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
 Salisbury, the gleaming, modern capital of Rhodesia, is the headquarters of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian D. Smith. Gonaakuzingwa is a restriction camp of shining metal huts on ground cleared of thorn trees. It is close to the border with Mozambique, 200 miles from the nearest Rhodesian town. It is the current abode of Joshua Nkomo.
 More than mere distance and a way of living separate the prime minister and Joshua Nkomo.
 Ian D. Smith is the elected leader of the self-governing colony of Rhodesia and, more importantly, the leader of a white minority of 217,000 which is determined to maintain its rule over Rhodesia's black majority of nearly four million.
 Nkomo is a nationalist leader, one of nearly 2,000 Africans in jail or under detention on charges of political crimes or violence. They demand a conference which would rewrite the constitution to turn Rhodesian rule over to the black majority.
 In London, as commonwealth prime ministers worked on the final communique of the largest commonwealth meeting ever held, the subject of Rhodesian independence occupied an important place.
 Rhodesia is Britain's last colony in Africa. Ten former black African nations and they want Britain to act swiftly to turn Rhodesia over to African rule. "Don't lack courage," Kenya Foreign Minister Joseph Murumbi advised Prime Minister Harold Wilson. "It is better to lose your majority in Parliament than your principles."
 Britain is committed to eventual Rhodesian independence, but the trouble was that all sides were at a judicial impasse.
 Rhodesia's constitution provides that Rhodesian independence can be gained only on approval of the British Parliament.
 Also under the rules, Britain handles Rhodesia's foreign policy but cannot intervene internally.
 The lanky and tough Ian Smith cannot declare independence unilaterally without being guilty of an illegal act certain to bring down upon him an economic boycott in which all commonwealth members would participate and the United States would join.
 On the other hand, if he should declare independence, the British would be banned from sending in troops to change his mind. In any event, such British action would be extremely doubtful.
White Supremist Platform
 Smith won office on a platform of white supremacy and intends to stay with it.
 "The white man is the master of Rhodesia," he once said. "He has built it and intends to keep it."
 But the white residents of Salisbury long since have stopped talking about independence under white man rule.

Party Munching Chips and Dips

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
For relaxed party munching and quick and easy entertaining, serve new and lively dips.

Have a bowl of corn chips, the triple ripple kind, to serve as crunchy scooper-uppers. They add zip and dash to the special dips you are serving.

TACCOS DIP

1 15-ounce can chili con carne
1/2 cup diced pimento
1/2 cup packaged toasted pine nuts or chopped pistachio nuts
2-3 cup grated cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon instant minced onion or 1 tablespoon finely diced onion
1/2 cup chili sauce
In a medium bowl blend together all ingredients. Chill until needed. Makes 2 cups of dip to dip up with sturdy triple ripple corn chips.

SALMON PINK DIP

(Makes 3 cups)
1 1-pound can salmon
1 cup diced tomato (cut in 1/4 inch cubes)
1-3 cup pickle relish or finely chopped dill pickle
2-3 cup commercial sour cream
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon bottled Italian-style dressing
1 tablespoon chopped parsley or 2 teaspoons dried parsley flakes
Empty salmon into a medium bowl. Remove bits of skin

Do You Know Corn?

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — I'm going to marry a man from South Carolina in June. He's crazy about anything made with corn. But I'm not sure about the difference between corn meal, corn grits and hominy. Can you tell me?

A — Corn meal is made by grinding cleaned white or yellow corn to a fineness specified by federal standards. Corn meal contains small amounts of fat and crude fiber and not more than 15 per cent moisture.

Corn grits are names for the food prepared by grinding and sifting white or yellow corn from which the bran and the germ have been removed. It is more coarsely ground than corn meal.

Hominy is corn with the hull and green removed, left whole, or broken into particles. Pearl hominy is whole grain hominy with the hulls removed by machinery. Lye hominy is whole grain hominy with the hulls removed by soaking in lye water. Granulated hominy is a ground form of hominy. Hominy grits are broken grains.

and bones. Flake it with a fork. Add diced tomato and relish. Blend together sour cream and remaining ingredients. Stir into salmon mixture, blending lightly.

Barbecued Chicken Makes Master Chef of Kitchen Dub

Charcoal-broiled chicken is an outdoor feast.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is a summertime rumor instigated by wives that many a husband who can't so much as boil water in the kitchen broils chicken over the outdoor grill like a master chef.

It's a wise wife who flatters her man into doing the weekend cooking under the trees. Even more lucky when her lord and master (so she lets him think) prepares such meals as charcoal broiled chicken, foil-roasted corn-on-cob, or corn and green pepper kabobs and cold watermelon.

Broiler fryers are one of the most economical buys for the charcoal grill. Allow half a broiler-fryer per person. Chicken comes packaged whole, halved, quartered. Some markets carry "butterflied" broilers, leg and breast combinations, drumsticks only, breaded thighs, wings—anyway, the list of possible combinations totals 31. This includes, oddly enough, three-legged fryers and four-legged fryers. These are not curiosities of nature, simply chicken packaged with "extra" legs.

To prepare fire for grill, place charcoal briquets in a mound in the center of the grill. Apply charcoal lighter fluid according to directions on container. When all briquets have formed a white ash, the proper cooking temperature has been reached. Distribute briquets evenly with tongs in an area slightly larger than the area of the chicken. Spread briquets so that there is a space about the size of a briquet between them. Figure on using about 30 briquets for each three chickens.

Chicken Barbecue For a Crowd
12 broiler-fryer chickens, halved
Salt
Sprinkle chicken halves on both sides with salt. Place broiler-fryer chicken halves, skin side up, on grate set about 3 to 6 inches from heat. Brush with Chow Hound Barbecue Sauce. Cook until tender, turning and brushing occasionally. Allow 45 minutes to 1 1/4 hours total cooking time, depending on weight of chicken and distance from heat. To test for doneness, leg should twist easily out of thigh joint and pieces should feel tender when probed by fork.

YIELD: 24 servings.
Chow Hound Barbecue Sauce
1/2 cup salad oil
2 cans (8 ounces each) seasoned tomato sauce
2-3 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 garlic clove, minced

Combine all ingredients in large bowl or saucepan. Thoroughly blend all ingredients. Brush chicken halves generously on both sides while barbecuing.

Raisin Chocolate Dutch Cake Makes An Interesting and Substantial Dessert

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Several readers have asked for a really interesting, substantial cake to use over the weekend when lots of friends drop in — they want a cake that keeps fresh for several days.

Try this: the raisins, nuts, chocolate and coffee and sour cream give it distinction.

RAISIN CHOCOLATE
DUTCH CAKE
(Makes 8 to 12 servings)
1 1/2 cups dark seedless raisins
1/2 cup walnuts
2 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate
1 teaspoon instant coffee
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup soft butter
1 1/4 cups brown sugar (packed)
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon soda

1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
Chop raisins and nuts. Chop chocolate; stir with instant coffee and boiling water until melted. Beat butter with half the sugar until light. Beat in remaining sugar and vanilla until fluffy. Thoroughly mix in well-beaten eggs. Stir in the raisins, walnuts and chocolate paste. Resift flour with salt, soda and cinnamon. Add to raisin mixture alternately with sour cream; stir only until batter is blended. Turn into greased and floured 2-quart pan. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees) 50 minute or until cake tests done. Turn out on wire rack. Cool thoroughly. Sift powdered sugar over top if desired.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the week-end was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Week-end food shoppers will generally find good supplies of certain seasonal fruits and vegetables along with plenty of poultry and some meats.

Plentiful fresh vegetables include cabbage, corn, cucumbers, greens, lettuce, onions, radishes, and tomatoes. Plentiful fresh fruit include bananas, cantaloups, lemons, peaches, plums, and watermelons. Watermelons are especially plentiful.

Certain cuts of beef will be in good supply such as ground beef, roasts, and steak. Broiler-fryers are again the top poultry buy. Eggs are plentiful. Other good choices are canned pink salmon, frozen fish sticks, and fish portions.

Dear Abby... Good Horse Sense Comes From Stable Mind

DEAR ABBY: As a new widow, I think I can help that widow who wrote that she has actually picked up her telephone to be sure it was still working. She complained that after three months all her friends had gone back to their own families and had forgotten her.

Widowhood is a "do-it-yourself" job. Don't expect married women to share their husbands with you during the evenings. Make plans to be with your women friends in the afternoons. Go to church and find people in the same boat—loneliness. Get a hobby, or enroll in an adult education class and learn something new.

I've been a widow for five months. My friends are still very thoughtful, but I don't expect to be included and entertained just because I'm alone. I have learned that, grieving is selfish. What do we say when we grieve? "Why did this have to happen to me?" Not, "It was God's will." Perhaps my words can help someone else. I know that just writing this letter has helped me. It comes from—

THE HORSE'S MOUTH:
DEAR "HORSE'S MOUTH":
Thank you for your fine letter. Your brand of horse sense comes from a stable mind.

DEAR ABBY: I have this boy friend whom I still like a little, but he has an older brother whom I like better. My boy friend is 14 years old and so am I. His brother is 22. Do you think I should stick with my boy friend or drop him and try to get his brother? I would like an answer soon because my boy friend is paying me a lot of attention, and his older brother is kind of shying away. Please don't tell me the brother is too old for me because my aunt and uncle have ten years between them, and I've never seen a happier couple.

DECIDING: DEAR DECIDING: Sorry, but the older brother is too old for you right now. A 14-year-old bird in the hand is worth two 22-year-olds in the bush. Stick with the minor league until you're no longer a minor.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know how you operate, but several days ago I wrote to ask your advice about a problem. I signed my real name and enclosed a

"CAN'T SLEEP"
IN LYNCHBURG, VA.
DEAR "CAN'T": Have no fear. I never use a writer's "real" name or initials without his consent. Nor do I ever disclose the name of the city from which it comes. Pleasant dreams!

DEAR ABBY: Let me add my support to the "lazy" daughter-in-law who refuses to take her 13 month-old child off the bottle. True, the child should be drinking from a cup at meals, but she should be allowed to keep her bottle for oral gratification at other times, until she voluntarily gives it up. I put up with bottles and pacifiers for this purpose until my children finally abandoned them at around age three. They never "graduated to the thumb," as some children do, and were thus spared possible dental problems. And perhaps by having relied on this early "crutch" to satisfy their oral needs, they will be able to resist more damaging crutches in later life—cigarettes and excessive drink. My physician husband agrees.

Manners Make Friends

Return items borrowed from sis or brother, keep peace in the family.

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The father who tries hard to be a buddy to his boy and the mother who thinks nothing could be finer than to be just like a sister to her daughter are making a big mistake.

So says a psychiatrist who warns parents that "A child wants parents to be parents—not buddies." According to this psychiatrist, there are two things wrong with the buddy system.

"First, a child needs to look to parents for love and protection. He doesn't get protection from a buddy.

"Second, a child needs discipline. And if the parent is too much of a friend, he cannot command the obedience to mold a child's character."

This point of view is so old-fashioned that it sounds brand new. For a long time now parents have been making a supreme effort to bridge the natural gap between generations.

In order to be pals to their children they have let the children argue, act sassy and even correct them. And they have steeled themselves not to show shock at anything their children tell them—so that they can boast that Jane or Jimmy "tells me everything, just as though we were the same age."

The thought that all this pals-y-walks stuff is a mistake may be hard for many parents to accept because they have worked so hard trying to achieve it.

But if they will just remember back to their own childhood they will realize that the psychiatrist is right. Children can find pals of their own age. But they can find parents only in the two persons who brought them into the world and whose duty it is to guide, discipline and teach them.

School And You

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR MRS. LIGHT: My husband and I were asked to come to school for a three-way conference with the principal, the school counselor and our son's kindergarten teacher. They strongly recommend that he be held back in kindergarten for another year; they claim he is "immature" and needs more "readiness" for first grade.

As we understand it, their recommendation is not mandatory. If we want to force the issue, the teacher will pass him, even though it's against her better judgment. We don't want him to feel like a failure at five. He often talks about being a first-grader next year and not being called "kindergarten baby" any more. Also, we're afraid he will miss his friends if they go on and he doesn't. Can you give us any guidance? — Perplexed Parents

Answer: Let's face it, you've already been given the guidance you need. If you decide to push your son ahead despite the warnings of the school, I am afraid you'll live to regret it.

If he isn't physically, mentally or emotionally ready to do first-grade work, he would start school with a handicap that could destroy his future self-confidence and initiative. It would be unfair, both to him and the teacher, to turn him loose on something he isn't ready to handle successfully.

Children don't all develop at the same rate, and chronological age alone should never determine a child's readiness for a particular grade. Some researchers maintain that half of our children are overplaced in school, with all sorts of dire consequences.

Your son won't feel like a failure unless YOU make him feel that way. His present classmates will soon forget about his being left behind, and he will make new friends next year—with a slight edge on leadership because of his age and experience. Since kindergarten retentions are more common today than in the past, you may find that he has plenty of company.

I realize this may be a blow to your pride, but, believe me, immaturity in a five-year-old boy is not uncommon. If you give him a chance to grow up without forcing nature, he may still set the world on fire!

Keep Jewelry Bright
There's lots of colorful summer jewelry around, but remember that perspiration will dull the appearance of any necklace. Dunk your summer jewelry in soapsuds, rinse and let dry on a terrycloth towel.

Go Gay in Rain
Choose a couple of inexpensive pastel or white umbrellas to use during those unexpected summer showers. Nothing can steal the glamor from a bright summer ensemble as quickly as a drab, dark winter umbrella.

Night-Driving Tip

Never wear sunglasses at night when driving. The colored lenses cut down on the little light available and can be dangerous. Also select glasses with properly ground lenses to protect eyes from glare.

Take-It-Off Time

The woman who plans to wear a bikini this summer or any two-piece bathing suit had better start tummy-trimming exercises now. Unless you work off that spare tire, stick with a one-piece bathing suit that hides the fact you are not as trim as you want to appear.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR FRIDAY JUNE 25

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Look into every type of material responsibility that is yours and get all such organized on an improved basis in which you are able to increase your cash on hand and enhance the value of any property. Getting out statements and reports lightens work and makes it possible for you to have an easier weekend just ahead.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You now are recipient of what others expect of you and how you can best handle the work. Be precise and make the right impression on higher-ups. Don't take shortcuts.

TARUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — You are at your best today in physical attractiveness and this will do much to convince others, as well as logic. Be astute. Get problems solved with sure-fire rapidly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — If you consider every angle connected with certain matters, you impress others with your right solutions. Don't be subjective. Exert will power and you are ahead in the race.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 23) — Being able to understand better conditions about you does not mean you need to take offense where none is intended. Be clever. Use positive attitude and you make much progress.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) — Be loyal to those who have given you a great deal of support in the past and show signs of real gratitude. Don't be so self-opinionated or you lose out. Co-operation is the trick.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Many things break into the open so that you are aware of what must be done in the days ahead to increase success. Get your work completed. Then off to the fun life you so enjoy.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Re-evaluate in fine new but be sure you stick to methods that do not make you feel sorry later. Take time for study of new ideas. They are very fine, workable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Instead of going off on some tangent, be sure you keep steady or you lose hold of the security you now enjoy. Gain respect — keep busy. Chance to make real money now, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — Contact those who can help you to make present methods more workable. Get old bills paid up instead of trying to make new ones. Work hard while you are enthused.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 23) — Clearing the air via a little argument is OK, but be sure you are not too forceful, as is your habit. Do a little angling and know what the score is. This is more of, festive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 24 to Feb. 19) — You are inspired about how to get your talents before the right people and should not hesitate at the last moment. Forget timidity and much good happens for you. Be positive in attitude.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You have the right perspective now, so put busy working efficiently instead of carrying on and fuming. Be specific to stating your aims. Others give you the backing you need.

Don't try to oil the lock of a door or car. Oil the key and insert it. Turn key back and forth a few times.

88TH YEAR THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1965 11

Mays Closes In On Homer Mark

By United Press International
Only Babe Ruth's majestic 714 will stand ahead of Willie Mays' lifetime home run total when the San Francisco Giant great calls it a career.

What seemed a few years ago to be a mass assault by modern sluggers on the old home run marks has become a one-man attack. Willie's 1965 spurge has sent him far in front of contemporaries like Mickey Mantle, Ed Mathews and Ernie Banks and by the end of this season he will be closing in on all but the great Bambino himself.

Mays hit his 22nd home run of this season and the 475th of his career in the Giants' 6-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday. That homered him with Stan Musial for second place in National League history and leaves only five sluggers in all baseball history with more homers — Lou Gehrig with 493, Mel Ott with 511, Ted Williams with 521, Jimmy Fox with 534 and Ruth with his all — but — unattainable 714.

Could Pass Fox
Mays will pass Gehrig by hitting another 22 homers this season — the Giants have played 66 games and have 96 left — and at 497 would then stand within range of passing Fox's 534 for second place on the all-time list in 1966.

Rebels Lose 6-0, Protest

The Pampa Rebels were blanked last night by a former teammate, as Ronnie Curlee fired a three-hit, 6-0 shutout for the Borger Bulldogs, making the Rebs 3-3 in district 18 play.

Pampa played under protest, as American Legion rules clearly point out that a graduated senior under 19 can play only with the Legion team that he played for when he was in high school.

Notwithstanding the protest, Curlee racked up his old teammates as he struck out 17 batters in the nine-inning game, with a double by Ricky Maynard the only serious blow.

Roy Harper lost a tough one, as he allowed only five hits including Terry Brewer's double. The Harp was supported by two twin killings behind him, Puncy Kolberg starting a fine one to Kydo Vann and Lawrence Jones in the third, and Ray Jernigan to Vann to Jones clearing the bags in the sixth.

Pampa plays Caprock in Amarillo tonight, then returns home for games Saturday and Sunday.

le, Mathews and Banks all seemed to have a chance to wind up with between 550 and 600 homers. But only Mays is maintaining the pace. Mantle, injured and his career in doubt from day to day, has hit only 11 to raise his lifetime total to 465. Mathews and Banks each has hit 13 this year — Mathews increasing his total to 458 and Banks building his total to 389.

Mays hit No. 22 of 1965 leading off the second inning against Bob Veale Wednesday and also contributed a single to the 11-hit San Francisco attack that brought Ron Herbel his fifth win. Cap Peterson had three hits and Jim Davenport and Dick Bertell two each for the Giants.

Austin Shuts Out Sonics, 1-0

By United Press International
The linescores looked almost identical for Austin and Amarillo in their Texas League contest Wednesday night.

For four innings it was a scoreless standoff, and the only noise who were making any noise were the hot dog vendors. The bats were silent.

But Austin's Braves squeezed out a run in the bottom of the fifth and made it stand up for a 1-0 victory over the Sonics and another mark in the win column for pitcher Kenneth Nixon.

Nixon allowed but four hits and Amarillo hurler Ray Cordeiro yielded but five as both went the route.

Tulsa used two big innings to notch a 3-4 triumph over El Paso in the only other circuit contest. Dallas - Fort Worth's Spurs and Albuquerque's Dodgers were rained out.

Austin's win shoved its season record to within two games of 500 and just 3 1/2 games back of Eastern division leader Dallas - Fort Worth.

Tulsa's Oilers narrowed the Spurs' lead to a single game with their win over El Paso. The Oilers overcame a 2-1 deficit with three runs in the fifth and then tacked on three more in the sixth to take a 7-2 lead. El Paso couldn't knock down Harry Fanok took credit for the victory, despite going to the showers in the eighth. Chris Manoff was the loser.

The same teams play again tonight, with Tulsa at El Paso, Dallas - Fort Worth at Albuquerque and Amarillo at Austin.

SET TO GO — David Kihneman and Mike Osborne pose with Jaycee president Eddie Polnac and the trophies they won in the novice division of the Pampa Jaycee golf tournament. The pair were back in action this morning in the regional Jaycee tournament, also at the Pampa Country Club.

Fleckman Leads In 1st Round

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Marty Fleckman of defending team champion University of Houston held a one-stroke lead going into today's second round of the 68th annual NCAA golf championships at Holton Hills Country Club.

Fleckman, long-hitting junior from Port Arthur, Tex., rode a pair of eagles and two birdies to a five-under-par 67 Wednesday and spearheaded his team's drive for its eighth NCAA crown in 10 years.

Houston put together a team total of 285 to finish two strokes in front of second-place Southern California after 18 holes in the 72-hole event.

Today's round was to wind up team competition and decide which of the more than 200 young collegians entered would have a chance to bid for individual honors over 36 holes Friday.

Coming in second in Wednesday's opening round was California State's Arne Dokka, who missed only three greens and had an eagle and three birdies en route to his 68.

Bunched together in third place at 69 were Lauren Hammer of Florida, Jerry Preuss of Southern California and Bert Grene of Tennessee.

MIGHTY MITE

HOUSTON (UPI) — The small man's idol on the Houston Oilers' professional football team is a fellow by the name of Charley Tolar.

Tolar is the Oilers' fullback, a veteran of six pro campaigns, and a hard runner who can grab the yardage. He stands all of 5-6 tall. But he packs 200 pounds on that short frame.

TRIPLE CROWNERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — William Woodward and Warren Wright each owned two thoroughbred triple-crown winners, Gallant Fox and Omaha won for Woodward in 1930 and 1935 respectively; Whirlaway and Citation won for Wright in 1941 and 1948.

Palmer, Nick St. Paul Pick

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus were the early favorites today as the $100,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament got under way.

Only Gary Player was missing among the top ten pro golfers. Player left for his South Africa home after winning the U.S. Open Monday.

The prediction was for par 71 to be shattered over the Keller course's 6,072 yards. Chuck Courtney won the tourney a year ago with a 12 under 272 total. He was the first rookie to win a tour tournament last year. No rookie has won this year.

Palmer and Nicklaus played in the pro-amateur tourney Wednesday, their first encounter with the course this week.

Other top pros teeing off were Sammy Snead, Bobby Nichols, Chi Chi Rodriguez.

Ralston, Richey In Action

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI) — Cliff Richey, the brash teenager from Dallas, Tex., had the honor of opening play on the famed center court today when he opposed sixth-seeded John Newcombe of Australia in a third-round match of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis championships.

While the 18-year-old Richey battled his temperament and the odds against the rugged Australian, Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y., sought to apply the finishing touches to Russia's Toomas Lejus in the opening contest on court one.

Scott, ranked fifth in the United States, held a 6-2, 9-7, 6-6 lead over Lejus when their second-round match was halted because of darkness Wednesday evening.

Richey had a tough uphill struggle in his second-round match Wednesday, finally overcoming Jean Claude Barclay of France, 4-6, 3-6, 6-1, 6-0, 7-5.

Dennis Ralston, the top-seeded player in the U.S., and Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., also won second-round matches Wednesday. Ralston routed Michel Leclercq of France, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, and McManus beat Ian Crookenden of New Zealand, 6-2, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

Ralston, who is seeded fourth here, took on veteran Indian Davis Cupper Ramanathan Krishnan today while McManus faced a rough hurdle in Martin Mulligan of Australia, who eliminated seventh-seeded compatriot Tony Roche, 6-4, 6-2, 6-8, 7-5, Wednesday.

AHEAD OF PACE
NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Farrington, a full week ahead of his record pace of last year, has collected 132 wins so far this year in defense of his American harness race driving championship.

Bill Haughton leads the money winners this season with $329,979.

TELEVISION AGREEMENT
NEW YORK (UPI) — William C. MacPhail, vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting System television sports, announced Tuesday that CBS has signed a five-year contract for exclusive television rights to the annual Blue-Gray football game.

Aguirre Fraud, Becomes Hitter

By United Press International
Hank Aguirre has pulled an elaborate hoax.

For 10 years the Detroit Tigers' lefthander has masqueraded as the "worst hitter in the major leagues" and has flashed an .077 lifetime batting average around to prove it.

The Minnesota Twins began to suspect something was fishy last week when Aguirre drove in the winning run against them with a bases-loaded single. Friday, Aguirre doubled and scored against Kansas City.

Now, the word was out that Aguirre, a switch hitter, was a fraud in the batting box, but the Los Angeles Angels could do nothing about it Wednesday night. Aguirre singled again to drive in the winning run and he shut out the Angels on four hits for a 2-0 victory.

The league leading Minnesota Twins upended Cleveland 6-3. Washington beat Chicago 5-1 then lost 5-0 in the second game of a double-header, Baltimore tripped Boston 6-4, and New York battered Kansas City 8-3, in other AL games.

Aguirre has five hits this season and four runs batted in for a .161 batting average — a personal high — and he boasts a three-game hitting streak.

More important, however, is Aguirre's improvement on the mound which could earn him "comeback of the year" honors in the American League. His triumph over the Angels was his ninth in 11 decisions this season and his fifth in a row.

During his current streak he has hurled two, three and four hitters, pitched two shutouts and four complete games. Quite a contrast to his 5-10 record of last season, when he was beset with leg injuries.

A three-run pinch hit home run by Bob Allison and the five-hit pitching of Jim (Mudcat) Grant for 8-1-3 innings enabled the Minnesota Twins to snap Cleveland's 10-game victory skid. Jimmy Hall and Sandy Valdespino also connected for the Twins and Rocky Colavito belted a roundtripper for the Indians before 5,553 in Cleveland. Jack Spring, the second of six Indians' hurlers, was the loser.

Meanwhile, the White Sox reclaimed second place on the seven-hit pitching of Johnny Buzhardt, who had relief help from Gary Peters and Eddie Fisher in the nightcap. Ron Hansen drove in three runs with a bases loaded double and a single and scored another in support of Buzhardt.

Pete Richert (5-5) scattered six hits in the opener and drove in a run with a single. He allowed only one Chicago base-runner after the fourth inning. Doug Camilli singled in two tallies and Ed Brinkman plated two more with a triple for the Senators.

Whitey Ford worked the first six innings to pick up his fifth consecutive triumph and seventh straight in Yankee Stadium. The Yankees decked starter Diego Segui for five runs in the first inning, including a two-run homer by Ray Barker, and three more in the second. Bobby Richardson collected three hits and singled in two runs for the Yanks. Steve Hamilton blanked the A's over the final three innings on two hits.

The Orioles scored three unearned runs in a five-run fourth Steve Barber held the Red Sox to one hit until the seventh when Carl Yastrzemski, Tony Conigliaro and Bob Tiltman hit home runs. Stu Miller saved the victory for Barber (5-5).

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

'Don't Look Now' Poor Advice

Though many another moneyman had said it before, the Columbia University speech of Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin, Jr. - warning of fiscal clouds on the horizon that are at least as large as a man's hand and more than somewhat reminiscent of 1929- has stirred up the first real concern in Wall Street, in Washington and around the nation for the sad predicament of a dollar that is only paper and small change that may soon contain no silver.

In addition to concern for the fate of the dollar and the continued deficit in our international payments, borrowings of business and consumers have risen in a decade from 100 to 130 percent of our gross national product, as compared with 154 percent in 1929. As for the great American family, it can be divided into two types, the savers who have more money in the bank than ever - and the optimists who are responsible for the extension of new automobile payments by some lenders from 36 to 42 months. While the average family income has risen about 40 percent in the past ten years, the amount required to Outlaw Silver Coins?

Will the next step be to outlaw possession of silver coins? It would appear that way from the trend in Washington. As business houses are running out of coins with which to make change, and as Congress considers proposals to reduce the amount of silver—or eliminate it entirely—in coins, there are further restrictions on the individual's rights proposed. Coin World, the weekly newspaper of coin dealers, reports that Sen. Alan Bible, Nebraska Democrat, has introduced a bill which would prohibit the buying and selling of U. S. coins unless the coins are approved by the secretary of the treasury. The bill would also prohibit the accumulation of coins of the U. S. in excess of the reasonable demands of business.

So all of the persons who have been setting aside a few pieces of silver as a protective measure against the federal government's fiscal follies will then be declared criminals. However, we suspect not many will be fooled as they were in 1933 when they were asked "as a patriotic duty" to surrender gold coins, only to fix the price of the precious metal, outlaw ownership of it, and step up its inflationary practices. We think the silver shortage would be up to the secretary of the treasury to decide what the amount of collector value and publish the list "from time to time" in the Federal Register, which carries all the bureaucratic edicts. According to the report, the

People Are Not Property

Since the President and the labor unions are trying to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft Hartley Law that would make it illegal for any state to have a right-to-work law, the question arises as to whether labor unions are treating men as property. The big argument of the labor unions is that men are not property. Of course they are not, but what men produce is property. The employer doesn't buy the man, own the man, or control the man, he only owns and controls what the man produces.

The unions have succeeded in making many believe that men are property, or that labor is property. But do the labor unions treat men as property? Do they treat their members as property? Do they treat those who are not members as property? They do because they deprive the individual of part of his life. The most important part of a man's life is his right to make his own decisions as to what will be beneficial to him and to all mankind. Labor unions deprive man of this right to make decisions, of the right to sell for more or less than they specify. They have been successful in fooling a lot of people who haven't studied the employer-employee relationship. That is, what relationship will be beneficial to both the employer and the employee, his customers and his suppliers. The labor unions' aim as they exist today is to create a monopoly. To get an artificial reward which would be more than the free market would grant them. They want special privileges and they have been successful in getting laws passed which makes it a crime to tell a union man that you won't hire him because he is union but not a crime to tell a non-union man that you won't hire him because he is not union. The labor unions couldn't do much harm if they weren't aligned with the government and have the politicians scared of their power.

BERRY'S WORLD

"What makes Red China think we're not ready or a long, drawn-out struggle?"

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel

The Peyton Place Pony NEW YORK (NEA) — We were delighted to learn that the continuing story of Peyton Place will not only be keeping ahead throughout the summer, but as of June 25 will be on the air three nights per week instead of two.

As regular readers know, we have an especial fondness for the program. To our way of thinking, Peyton Place answers once and for all the charge that television has not lived up to its promise as cultural medium. We have no intention of belaboring that point. Except to point out that most people who scoff at what the program offers have never seen it more than once.

But with a schedule of three episodes weekly and no reruns, Peyton Place will doubtless have a soaring rating this summer as new viewers tune in along with the habitual viewers. Under the circumstances, we feel it only right to bring these newcomers up to date by recounting what has happened in the story so far.

As the story opened last September, wealthy young Rod Harrington was in love with pretty young Allison Mackenzie, daughter of Constance Mackenzie who runs the book store in Peyton Place.

(Unbeknownst to Allison Mackenzie, she is the illegitimate daughter of Elliott Carson who is serving the 18th year of a prison sentence for having murdered his wife.)

(Unbeknownst to Elliott Carson, it was really Rod Harrington's mother, the former Catherine Peyton, who committed that murder in rage of jealousy at finding out that her husband, Leslie Harrington, was having an affair with Carson's wife.)

(Unbeknownst to Leslie Harrington, his wife is dying of a broken stomach and has written a will cutting him out of control of the Peyton mill and family fortune because he has been having an affair with his secretary, Julie Anderson.)

(Unbeknownst to the dying Catherine Peyton, her husband is really not having an affair with Julie Anderson.)

(Unbeknownst to Julie Anderson, her husband, George, is on the verge of a nervous breakdown over his long career of business failures.)

(Unbeknownst to George Anderson, his teen-age daughter, Betty has had a miscarriage young Rod Harrington who is in love with Allison Mackenzie.)

(Unbeknownst to Rod, however, Betty has had a miscarriage following an automobile accident and is therefore marrying him under the falsest of pretenses.)

We have left out nine other minor characters (ten if you count Dr. Rossi's nurse). But in general, that is how the story opened last September. And that is pretty much how it continued throughout the autumn, winter and spring.

Because of the Dominican unpleasantness and complete coverage of the Gemini 4 project, we were unable to keep up with the folks in Peyton Place during April, May and much of June.

But when we turned in again the other week, things were progressing satisfactorily.

Almost all of the people mentioned above had resolved their problems and disappeared, leaving wealthy young Rod Harrington in love with pretty young Allison Mackenzie.

If that's not living up to the cultural promise, we don't know what more can you ask. Unless it's Peyton Place seven nights a week next season. And 24 hours a day the season after.

Question Box

Question No. 780: "A union publication discussing the proposed repeal of Section 14(b) of Taft-Hartley which would outlaw state right-to-work laws, says: 'The Moral Issue—Top re-ligions leaders of this country from all major faiths oppose work' laws on a moral basis. Declared the executive board of Christian Life and Work of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America: '... union membership as a basis of continued employment should be neither required nor forbidden by law; the decision should be left to agreement by management and labor through the process of collective bargaining.'"

"This is what repeal of Section 14 (b) would accomplish." "Does not this seem to be a contradiction?"

Answer: Yes, this is a con-

Hunt for Truth BY H. L. HUNT

Cuba, left in Communist hands only 90 miles from our shore, may seem to Cubans and Communists alike a slow form of surrender by the United States. The best informed anti-Communists think men high in our diplomatic service installed Communist Castro to become an ugly dictator of this garden spot. The Cuban situation necessarily creates a foreboding influence on all other Latin American countries.

The United States' conduct of the Bay of Pigs fiasco indicated that we preferred that Cuba not become free.

Likewise, the United States' attitude toward heads of all governments friendly to our country, of which few remain, may indicate to nations abroad that we prefer them to become Communist nations or, if not, at least countries steeped in vigorous socialism.

Our present attitude in Santo Domingo is in the nature of a revolution on our part. Those in the best position to know state if a neutral government is formed Communists in the cabinet will take control in a short time. The Dominican affair is said to fit neatly into a blueprint for Communist subversion prepared in Castro's Cuba in November 1964 at a highly secret meeting of Communist Party representatives from 22 Latin American countries.

Our present courageous stand in South Vietnam, considered in the light of what happened in Korea and Laos, is also a revolution which we must hope will be for the better and continued in the cause of sanity. It is very important that our government not depend on those in our diplomatic service who participated in handing over China, Laos and Cuba to the Communists. Possible saboteurs should not be risked to shape the policy ostensibly designed to ward off Communism in other countries friendly to us. H.L.H.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON In his absorbing book, "The Italians" (Atheneum) Luigi Barzini writes: "After the war everybody (in Italy) tried hard to find a suitable answer to the puzzling problem: Why was the United States showering billions of dollars on their country? Communists were certain it was part of a masterplan to impoverish, starve, enslave and destroy the Italian proletariat. Non Communists could not make up their minds. Were the Americans mad? Many possible explanations were debated and discarded. At the end, most people said, "Why should they, who won the war, enrich us, who lost it? They must have their own reasons. Whatever they are, there is no doubt the Americans are serving their own interests, therefore there is no need to be grateful to them."

Frederic Nelson has reported: "Back in 1948 (Marshall Plan era) I heard people in England express similar bewilderment. "But surely you have to dispose of your surplus production somewhere, don't you?"

Okay. Let's confess. We have not been able to rid ourselves of all our selfish motives. Most of the Big Businessmen and Power Elite who endorsed Lyndon before the election have made fabulous profits from foreign aid. Another reason we continue these programs is because they give employment to hundreds of thousands of our bureaucrats, just as our own farm program keeps 110,000 employees in our Department of Agriculture whose jobs depend on land give-away programs from having to go out into the cold, cruel world and make an honest living.

Details . . . Forty cents out of every Foreign Aid dollar, according to former Ambassador Spruille Bradie, goes to "a pack of bureaucrats who feed off the rest of us."

We now have 71,416 government employees, 22 federal agencies, and 19,000 overseas paymasters dispensing some type of foreign aid to 99 so-called countries and nine territories, at an annual cost of $7 billion. More money and more people than we spend on our entire farm program. (American collectivists now outvote American farmers). Then, of course, there are the needs of our foreign aid staffs living it up abroad. For the 271 members of our staff in Pakistan, for instance, we provided 229 cars, 529 refrigerators, 660 air conditioners, 650 stoves, and hired 1,021 Pakistan natives as gardeners. We have provided millions of dollars for the Sheik of Kuwait for his palace, pool and harem. But he provides his own girls. We sent 2200 dress suits to undertakers in Greece. They'll be the last ones to let us down, no doubt.

And Defects Foreign aid is like a rattlesnake. It bites its feeder, grows a new rattle each year and can be accurately measured only when killed. Foreign aid was ori-gated by us as a four-year program during the Truman-Potsdam administration. The Communists then had only seven percent of the world's peoples and 25 percent of the land mass. Roosevelt, Hiss, Lattimore, Rusk, Hopkins, Marshall, Eisenhower, Truman and others of our great leaders realized that only by helping our communist allies become "haves" instead of "have-nots" could we bring about lasting peace and brotherhood. So, our government officials gave them various little helps like our money plates, our atomic bomb secrets, ships, textile mills, East Berlin, China, Laos, Cuba. And now our communist friends HAVE — they HAVE almost half the world's people and 40 percent of the land mass — in chains.

And we are bankrupt. We're fresh out of gold and are now removing silver from our coins. Will there be foreign aid for us?

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Where Does Money Begin? In Will of Men to Work

By SAM CAMPBELL Business Editor

Addressing the Financial Analysts Federation recently, Walter E. Hoadley, treasurer of Armstrong Cork Co., undertook to appraise the outlook for business. His analysis was regarded of such significance that Barron's, a national business and financial weekly, reprinted his speech verbatim on its front page.

"In appraising general business prospects," Mr. Hoadley said, "it's always essential to ask the question: where's the money coming from to underwrite the level of expenditure indicated by the forecast?"

Try At Answer Then the speaker went ahead to venture his own partial answer to that inquiry.

"Considerable research," he said, has now been completed to trace the flow of funds through the American economy, which suggests that unless individuals, corporations, and government add to the flow of funds, the level of general business cannot advance."

That response is a splendid example of how otherwise sound thinking by competent businessmen goes astray. The question that Hoadley submitted was: where does money come from? But the answer that he offered was addressed to the question: where does money go?

Off The Track Since the main speaker got off the track, let's go back to the main line and see if we can arrive at the destination first indicated: namely, where does money come from?

To start an understandable answer to that question, we have to ask ourselves another, namely, what is money?

Looking back through the years, we discover that several kinds of materials have been used for money in varying climates. Among these items are gold, silver, diamonds, tobacco, cattle, even nails. To sum it up, we can say that money is a commodity that people are willing to accept as a medium of exchange. The word "commodity" is important.

Coined Not Producing In as much as money is a commodity it does not originate with the Washington authority. For office holders neither mine nor farm. True, the Treasury does coin silver and gold, but the coining is simply a change in shape; the commodity must be produced before it can be changed.

True, also, that the Treasury prints notes that are used as a medium of exchange and that these therefore take the place of money. But the notes are not a commodity; more precisely they are a promise to pay money (that is, a commodity) at some future date.

Hence it is safe to say that money does not come from the government. Where then should we look for the source?

Well, then, let us look at commodities and see how and why they come into being. We quickly discover that commodities generated by us as a four-year program during the Truman-Potsdam administration. The Communists then had only seven percent of the world's peoples and 25 percent of the land mass. Roosevelt, Hiss, Lattimore, Rusk, Hopkins, Marshall, Eisenhower, Truman and others of our great leaders realized that only by helping our communist allies become "haves" instead of "have-nots" could we bring about lasting peace and brotherhood. So, our government officials gave them various little helps like our money plates, our atomic bomb secrets, ships, textile mills, East Berlin, China, Laos, Cuba. And now our communist friends HAVE — they HAVE almost half the world's people and 40 percent of the land mass — in chains.

And we are bankrupt. We're fresh out of gold and are now removing silver from our coins. Will there be foreign aid for us?

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAW MAKERS You may wish to write your senator and representatives in Washington and Austin. Here are their addresses:

are produced through the efforts of men. So now we look at the men. What is in them that enables them to produce commodities? We find different elements. Some men have tools. Some men have skills. Some men have muscle. Fourth Element . . . But all this equipment is in vain without the addition of a fourth element. A tool produces nothing unless the owner is willing to invest it. Skills do nothing unless the possessor is willing to use them. Muscles are excess weight except for the willingness of a human being to apply them.

Briefly, then, the power to create a commodity originates in the willingness to work. Since money is a commodity, it also originates in the willingness to work. When you read of widespread strikes, you can depend on it that existing money supply will be depleted. Conversely, money-substitutes likely will increase, but each unit will represent less buying power. Willingness to work is the source of money. When willingness ends, money stops.

Chances are you never heard of Hiram Powers, but he was the first American to achieve notice as a sculptor. A native of Woodstock, Vermont, a town also famed for the Morgan horse, Powers moved to Ohio at an early age, where he tried his hand at making wax models for a Cincinnati museum. In 1835 he blossomed as a sculptor, modeling busts of many leaders, such as Andrew Jackson. However, the arts were not fully appreciated in this nation at that period and he headed for Florence, Italy, where he flourished to the end of his days. In 1843 he turned out "The Greek Slave," which became the most popular statue of the period. You can see two of his works at the U.S. Capitol in Washington in the statues of Franklin and Jefferson. He gained some wealth from his portrait busts, but his fame diminished and you seldom hear his name today.

Today's smile: The championship of a local golf club was at stake and the member who was leading in the finals started for the first tee. Suddenly he noticed his mother-in-law standing in the gallery watching him and said to his opponent: "I'd love to make a terrific drive on this first shot. My mother-in-law is watching me." Opponent said: "Good luck, but I don't see how you can hit her at 200 yards."

Thoughts while shaving: A sound engineer told us recently that two identical whistles sounded together don't make a noise twice as loud as one, but a combined sound only a few decibels louder than one whistle. Thus, if each whistle makes a 50-decibel sound, the two together will not make a 10-decibel sound. Interesting . . . It's easy to pile up riches when you don't have to pay any taxes. The ruler of the tiny state of Kuwait in the Middle East has a daily income from oil deposits of $1,250,000. If he was an American, Uncle Sam would open a special Internal Revenue Bureau just to relieve him of his duty. Then Uncle would give it to some tiny underprivileged state like Kuwait . . . Arkansas Meeting Farm Labor Shortage by Beating Bushes (Editors: For the first time in many years, Arkansas, as well as the remainder of the states, does not have any Mexican immigrant laborers available to work in the fields. Here is how the problem is being handled in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Arkansas, which formerly used almost 40,000 Mexican immigrant laborers in a single year, will not use any this year and the work will be done about as well as it ever was, officials of the Employment Security Division said today.

They said the reason was that ESD employees were "beating the bushes" for domestic labor and the increased use of chemicals was cutting down on the number of field workers, especially cotton choppers. Lloyd Curtis, supervisor of the Farm Placement Service of the ESD, said 23 extra men were hired as seasonal farm recruiters to work through the delta area, the peach and the strawberry growing sections and the eastern half of the Hill Country trying to find people interested in working.

Their salaries and expenses are paid by the federal government. Curtis said they will cost about $20,000, working from early in April until the end of this month. He said he hoped more money would be allocated at Monticello, Pine Bluff, Forrest City, West Memphis, Blytheville - Osceola. Jonesboro, Paragould, Walnut Ridge, Newport and Searcy.

Their duty is to supply the large cotton plantations with enough workers to make up for the loss of the migrant labor program, which terminated last Dec. 31.

He said the peak year was 1959 when almost 40,000 came up from Mexico on buses, trucks and old cars and slept in sheds, shacks and on the ground to make meager wages for 10 to 16-hour days.

Curtis said the number of domestic laborers used for cotton chopping also had dropped. The major factor in the decline has been the use of chemicals, either premerge weed killers used when the seed is planted or the postmerge process, a weed killer sprayed on after the cotton comes up.

But he said there still was a problem of making up for the almost 4,000 braceros and keeping the 5,000 in the fields when higher wages and more steady employment might lure them to factories.

Curtis said one of the things recruiters have been able to do is to keep those interested in the fields working daily instead of being without work for two
