Rains Pelt Pampa; Cars, Harvest Stalled

Forecast Calls for Still More

BULLETIN
Pampa firemen, policemen and rescue authorities were searching muddy waters running beneath the Tignor bridge this afternoon, looking for a small black-haired boy reportedly drowned shortly before noon.

By RON CROSS
Pampa's version of the "monsoon" season was on again today as the city received a sudden downpour of rainfall ranging from .96-inch to 1.18 inches.

Gray County's wheat farmers looked at the cloudy skies with dismay as the harvest stalled again as heavy rains pelted the county.

Wheeler caught just over an inch in 45 minutes, Miami recorded 70-inch and Canadian reported 1.01 inches. All three towns had cloudy skies at noon.

McLean, Lefors, Skellytown and White Deer all reported over an inch of moisture.

Pampans were awakened with a start early this morning by an electrical display and roaring thunder. Lightning knocked Radio Station KPDM off the air for 17 minutes.

Downtown Pampa caught a .65 inch downpour in approximately 30 minutes. The 1.18 inches was reported in the north part of the city and residents in the south part of Pampa claimed they received nearly three inches. Official rain gauges reported only 1.18 inches.

Pampa's underpasses on Hobart and Cuyler Sts. were running knee deep in water from 6:45 to 7:15 a.m. and creeks in Central and Alameda parks were bank full.

Pampa police department reported many autos stalled in the north part of the city and other areas.

Cars trying to drive through the underpasses were backing up and taking a long run. Many stalled out.

No accidents were reported during the deluge.

The weatherman offered no relief from the rains that have hampered the wheat harvest nine of the last 14 days.

Thundershowers with temperatures in the low 90s are forecast through Wednesday. Tonight's low is expected to be in the mid-60s.

Pampa's high Monday was 79 and the overnight low was 58. Telephone lines to Lake McClellan were repaired late Monday and reports from the lake were glowing.

Creeks in the area ran all day Sunday and Monday and were on the rise again today. At noon today the lake had close to a 10 foot rise and lacked only seven feet going over the spillway.

One official at the lake said the lake lacked only a couple of feet being at its normal depth of 30 feet. Nearly 3.20 inches of rain has fallen at the lake within the last week. Officials said .65 of an inch was recorded today.

Rainfall during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. included .62 inch at Longview, .60 at Texarkana, .18 at Lufkin, .16 at Dalhart and .04 at Amarillo.

Early morning temperatures ranged into the upper 50s in the rain area of the Panhandle, but were in the 70s elsewhere except at Galveston where an 80-degree minimum was recorded.

Most of Monday's rains were light, but a storm struck Henderson.

The East Texas city received two inches of moisture. Lightning accompanying the storm struck the A. E. McGee home, leveling a door and burning out the electrical outlets. No one was injured.

HASC Okays $1 Billion Pay Hike for Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee ignored President Johnson's wishes today and voted a $1 billion a year military pay raise that far exceeded his recommendation.

The pay boost for military personnel would average about 10.7 per cent.

The committee followed the lead of its new chairman, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C. It disregarded the advice of Johnson, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and a presidential advisory panel.

The committee's bill would provide raises and other benefits totalling more than twice as much as the administration asked.

The Rivers measure was approved by a 33-1 vote. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., was the lone dissenter.

Rivers told reporters following the closed session that the measure would go "a long way" toward bringing military pay up to the level of comparable civil service salaries.

The committee adopted two changes in the bill introduced in March by Rivers and 23 other committeemen. They included two modified administration provisions:

— A plan providing reenlistment bonuses for men with critically needed skills, such as electronic and missile technicians. The bonuses in some cases could be four times higher than the normal sum. For an individual serviceman, this might go as high as $8,000. The cost for the first year would be $22 million.

— An annual review of military pay by the President to determine how it compared to wages in private industry. The President could then recommend adjustments to Congress as a regular legislation. Johnson had suggested such a system for both military and civilian employees of the federal government. He would have put the yearly raises into effect automatically unless either the House or Senate vetoed the idea within 60 days.

In other congressional action: Two of President Johnson's priority legislative proposals were up for consideration today in the House and Senate. One was considered a shoo-in for passage, but leaders were taking no chances with the second.

Speedy approval was expected in the Senate on a $4.7 billion version of Johnson's excise tax cut proposal to reduce or do away with some 40 levies on sales of items ranging from musical instruments and luggage to fur coats and new cars.

The Senate version is $100 million smaller than one already passed by the House, but $700 million bigger than the total cut originally asked by President Johnson. Both House and Senate bills would make a bigger cut than requested in the 10 per cent tax on new cars.

BULLETIN
COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Two giant helicopters ferrying infantry troops collided in mid-air at nearby Ft. Benning today, killing at least 18 men, a base spokesman said.

Weed Mowing Ordinance Stymied for One Week

Pampa's compulsory weed mowing ordinance suffered at least a one-week delay today when the city commission was unable to pass it as emergency legislation.

The plan last weekend was to put the legislation into effect immediately upon passage, but emergency legislation can be adopted only if all members of the city commission are present to vote.

Ward 2 Commissioner Hugh Burdette was out of the city today.

The legislation was given first reading and approved for second reading next Tuesday. City Atty. Bob Gordon said it could be passed as an emergency bill next week if all commissioners are present.

The ordinance provides that a property owner who allows weeds to grow taller than 10 inches on a vacant lot is subject to the ordinance. After a 10-day notice from the city if weeds are not cut down, the city can mow them and assess the charge to the property owner.

The legislation provides a fine of from $1 to $50 upon conviction of failure to pay the assessed cost.

An ordinance to pave the 300 and 400 blocks of N. Zimmers St. was passed on final reading and the paving contract was awarded to low bidder Ray Boswell for $11,647.

First reading was given to an ordinance providing for traffic restrictions on the "S" curve of E. Francis St. The legislation calls for no parking zones on both the north and south sides of the street and for a 20-mile speed limit in the area.

Lovett Memorial Library bills totaling $425 were approved for payment.

Permission was granted for the laying of a terrazzo tile sidewalk in front of the new Heard & Jones drugstore in the 100-block of N. Cuyler St.

Fighting Breaks Out Again in Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Gunfire broke out in Santo Domingo early today between rebel troops and members of the inter-American peacekeeping force. At least 10 civilians were wounded.

The firing broke out at 8 a.m. and was continuing more than 22 hours later. It appeared to originate at the northeast corner of the mile-square zone in Santo Domingo controlled by the forces of Col. Francisco Caamano Dengo.

The zone involved, which adjoins the OAS-held Duarte Bridge, is under protection of Brazilian and American troops in the peacekeeping force.

Preliminary Plans Ready for Lake Recreation Areas

Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa reported from Washington today that the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and the National Park Service had filed with him a preliminary report on plans for recreational facilities at Lake Meredith.

Rogers said the report details the proposed expenditure of $1.1 million, authorized last year by Congress.

"First class facilities will be constructed under the plan outlined in the report presented to me today," Congressman Rogers said. "I am hoping that the necessary review by congressional committees will be completed quickly so that work may begin on the roads, picnic and parking areas, boat launching ramps, sanitation facilities and other facilities outlined in the plan."

Rebels alerted their garrison and their radio station broadcast a plea for blood donors. The Padre Billini Hospital is the only one in the rebel-held zone.

It was the first heavy outbreak of firing in downtown Santo Domingo in nearly two weeks. Monday night, however, rebel snipers who have been shooting at American sentries nearly every night turned their guns on Brazilian soldiers holding the national palace.

U.S. and OAS sources had no immediate information as to the nature of the outbreak.

Rebels alerted their garrison and their radio station broadcast a plea for blood donors. The Padre Billini Hospital is the only one in the rebel-held zone.

Rogers pointed out that the report covers only federal expenditures for the recreation development. Late in the summer, he said, the National Park Service will invite bids for concessions at the lake including marinas, lodging, food and other service facilities.

Meeting with Rogers in his office today were Chester Brown and William Orr of the National Park Service Division of National Park System Studies, William George, assistant chief of the Division of Concession Management for the NPS, and Roland Snow, of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation Lands and Recreation branch.

The Pampa congressman told the group he hopes for early action on the senate and house passed bill he introduced to establish the albrite flint quarries and Texas Panhandle Pueblo Indian culture national monument, near the south shore of the Sanford reservoir.

Space Heroes Arrive For Romney Welcome

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White returned in triumph to a proud state of Michigan today and heard Gov. George Romney laud them as "young men who have written a new page in history with their wings in one hand and a university degree in the other."

The space heroes were still in a whirl from a wild, all-American welcome tendered by more than a million Chicagoans when they landed aboard a white and blue Air Force plane 8:25 CST. Their arrival began a festive day of honors from the state and the University of Michigan, their alma mater.

McDivitt told a welcoming crowd of about 400 at the airport that "I was born in Chicago but it is sure good to be back to my real home." McDivitt was raised at nearby Jackson.

White told the crowd, "I'm no stranger to Michigan. We used to come north in the summer and I've spent many and many a happy time in Michigan."

The two astronauts were greeted as they stepped off the plane by Romney, U-M Vice President Marvis Neihaus, Rep. Weston Vivian, D-Mich., and members of the Michigan Legislature.

They marched to a red and white festooned speaker's platform where Romney introduced them. Romney said, "I'm sure you are all thrilled to have the twin astronauts in Michigan because these are our astronauts. I'm sure it's safe to say that no two graduates of the University of Michigan have achieved so much at such a height."

The nation's newest space heroes left Chicago still in a spin from a full-throated, joyous welcome that started on a sunlit apron at O'Hare International Airport and ended with a Fourth of July style fireworks display that left the night sky over Lake Michigan festooned with color.

"It's almost like a dream," McDivitt said. "It certainly is something to remember forever."

"Nothing can ever top this," White beamed at the end of the day. Of the million flag-waving Chicagoans who jammed the city's streets to cheer the space twins, White could only say:

"I almost feel like cheering myself. I don't know why. I was so proud of them standing out there."

FLOODED STREETS — Many motorists found it difficult to travel Pampa streets early this morning as an official 1.18 inches of rain flooded man thoroughfares. This photo, taken about 8 a.m., shows a car splashing water from curb to curb as it travels down W. 23rd Street.

DRAINAGE — It was a wet Tuesday morning in Pampa and the drainage systems showed it. As 1.18 inches fell in Pampa, Red Deer Creek filled with water drained off from the downtown area. The creek is the collecting system for drainage from the downtown district. This morning was one of the few times in recent years that the creek has flowed from bank to bank.

THE TOUR AND WHAT IT MEANT

Newsmen Saw Wallace 'Stunts'

By JOHN LOFTON

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette
Written For UPI

PITTSBURGH — The four-day tour of Alabama conducted by Gov. George C. Wallace from some 50 out-of-state newsmen was obviously a political stunt, designed largely for domestic political appreciation.

While the visitors were royally treated and could hardly have failed to absorb some information of value in interpreting Alabama, the governor's performance was clearly not calculated to provide serious answers to the questions of serious observers. Instead, he used scheduled press conferences to clown before audiences liberally sprinkled with uncritical claque and to appeal to the prejudices and the interests of his varied constituency.

For the benefit of the irrational segregationist vote, he publicly paraded the visiting press for distorting the news from Alabama but he failed to offer any supporting evidence other than trivial errors of the kind that occur in any fast-breaking news story. With an obvious eye on the boos in the backwoods, he refused to categorically condemn the Klan. He lived up to his own smiling characterization of himself as a demagogue by referring to Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black as the only lifetime member of the Klan he knew.

a gibe cleverly tailored to appease the rednecks and obscure the fact that Black, despite a youthful indiscretion, has spent his career challenging everything the Klan stands for.

For the benefit of the relatively enlightened urban and business vote, the governor could say he had offered the nation's newspapers a chance to get "the true Alabama story" and to see whether "fear stalks its streets" and "ill-will abounds." But the tour was not arranged to give the visitors insights into such matters as fear and ill-will. Their ubiquitous hosts were Chamber of Commerce greeters. The editors were carefully shielded from experiencing the common touch. At Selma, the site of the year's most dramatic racial battleground, a group of Negro demonstrators were prevented from mingling with the visitors. The newsmen could only get a fleeting glimpse of their signs: "Jobs," "Free Elections," "Keep Free Press Free." For any inquiry into the feeling behind the signs, the editors were left to their own devices on the unplanned fourth day.

White House Festival Of Arts Ends Successfully

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The day began with John Hersey incanting in his soft cultivated voice the hell of Hiroshima and how wars have a way of getting out of hand. And it ended 13 hours later with Duke Ellington's big band barreling along beneath President Johnson's bedroom window.

White House for nearly 24 years, I had never seen anything like this festival of the arts staged by the President's wife, Lady Bird.

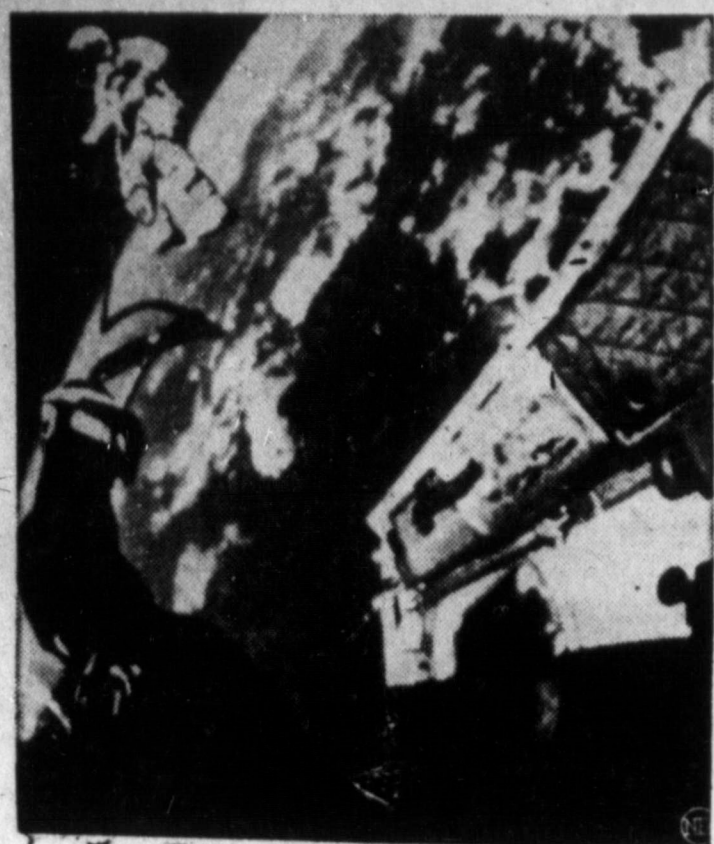

Impresarios and producers such as Sol Hurok, Roger Stevens and Robert W. Dowling had a good time and thought the affair was an immense success. Gene Kelly of Hollywood and Broadway, Charlton Heston and Helen Hayes were quite positive in their approval. I thought the day was entertaining and inspiring.

But a couple of critics whose names were unfamiliar let me know rather firmly that I could write news stories and books until my typewriter collapsed and I still would not be of the arts, but simply a reporter. Properly humbled, this left me free to enjoy myself without having to know what artist Louise Nevelson was trying to say in "Royal Game L."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson Inc. says that the short term market trend is now decidedly downward and traders should take advantage of temporary rallies to do further selling. Thurlow says the market may need a breakthrough in the 880 support level in the Dow-Jones industrial average or a threat to attack the 850 support level to give the market a selling climax of sufficient force to lead to a worthwhile rally.

Business Highlights

By United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government economists appear undisturbed by the recent sharp decline in the stock market. Their only real concern is that should it continue, business leaders might interpret it as a harbinger of a general turn-down and reduce capital outlays. Wednesday's sharp decline was caused in part by a false rumor that President Johnson was ill.

Bache & Co. says the fact that nothing has happened to disturb the upward bent of the economy is favorable and sooner or later this should have its impact on the stock market.

Indicator Digest Inc. says it would be most unwise to sell all stocks since in the last four bear markets there were always a number of issues which have either disregarded the decline or bucked it.

WASHINGTON — A Senate finance subcommittee is seeking to make a $750 million slash in the automobile excise tax conditional on the acceptance by the manufacturers of higher safety standards in building cars. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., queried Detroit's big three on their attitudes toward higher safety standards for tires for heavy station wagons.

P. W. Brooks & Co. Inc. says present evidence fails to support the belief that a major decline is under way. This was much smaller than the $910 million rise in March and indicated a leveling off of inventory accumulation.

WASHINGTON — The Federal Trade Commission has ordered Fruehauf Corp. maker of highway trailers, to divest itself of two competitors acquired in 1955 and 1956. They are Hobbs Manufacturing Co. of Fort Worth and Strick Co. of Philadelphia.

NEW YORK — The huge $250 million capital note offering of Chase Manhattan Bank met a favorable reception in Wall Street. Some brokers estimated almost half the issue was sold out the first day.

NEW YORK: President Keith Funston of the New York Stock Exchange has called for repeal of the federal interest equalization tax on foreign investment income insofar as it affects foreign securities already being traded in this country.

WASHINGTON — Business inventories rose by a seasonally adjusted $680 million in April, the Commerce Department re-

Construction Of New Aqueduct Line Underway

Construction of what will eventually be the municipal water supply for the city of Pampa has started just west of Pampa at Kentucky and Price Rd.

Initial stages of the construction call for the digging of tunnels under roadways, highways and railroads from Pampa to the damsite, some 35 miles away.

According to Jim Ryan, project manager for Allison-Haney, contractors for the aqueduct system, the tunneling work will take approximately 30-45 days. The actual laying of the aqueduct system will begin as soon as the tunnels are dug.

Ryan estimated the aqueduct will be completed by June of 1966. Pampa is just one of 13 cities to be supplied municipal water from Lake Meredith on the Canadian River. Aqueducts from each of the cities will be laid to the damsite with the farthest being Lamesa, some 250 miles from the lake.

Horizontal Boring and Tunneling Co., of Phoenix is the subcontractor for the tunneling work. Ryan said as many local persons will be hired as possible for the pipeline work.

He said local people hired will begin work June 20, date the ditching and aqueduct pipe laying gets started.

He said, however, that teenagers, out of the school for the summer will not be hired. He said that the company cannot afford to train them to do the work and then have them leave to go back to school in September.

Hoiles Presented Freedom Award by California Club

R. C. Hoiles, co-publisher of Freedom Newspapers, Inc., of which The Pampa Daily News is a member, has been presented the annual James Madison Award of the Freedom Club of Los Angeles, Calif.

Hoiles' nomination was made on the basis of editorials that explained the nature and practicality of freedom. The editorials appeared originally in The Santa Ana (Calif.) Register and other members of the Freedom Newspaper chain. Many have been reprinted by other publications throughout the country.

Hoiles is noted for his insistence that freedom not only is the theoretically correct relationship between men, but is also a workable relationship. The ceremonies were conducted in Los Angeles' First Congregational Church. Dan Smoot, publisher of the Dan Smoot Report, gave the principal address.

James Larson, past president of the Freedom Club, made the presentation to Hoiles before a capacity audience of 1,700 persons.

Previous winners of the James Madison award include Morrie Ryskind, columnist; Harold Fishman, news analyst; William Parker, Los Angeles police chief, and Walter Knott, owner of Knott's Berry Farm in California.

Gerald Sheppard, chairman of the executive committee of The Los Angeles Freedom Club, said the awards are made each year to the Southern California man who has done the most to advance freedom.

Independence Day Program Contract Signed

A contract was signed last week with the Burnett Fireworks company of Enid, Okla., for the annual July 4 fireworks display to be held here on the night of the 4th at Recreation Park.

Activities will get underway at 8:45 p. m. with a band concert by the Pampa High School Band to be followed by the presentation of colors and a brief patriotic program. The fireworks display will be fired at approximately 9:15 p. m.

The Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Independence Day Program for the past several years, anticipates another huge crowd, which has been estimated all the way from 12,000 to 20,000 in recent years. Concession stands will be provided by the Jaycees.

Mack Hiatt and Jerald Sims, co-chairmen of the Retail Trade Committee of the Chamber, are in charge of program details. Anyone wishing to make a contribution to the fireworks display fund may do so by sending checks to the Chamber of Commerce office Box 1942.

Top O' Texas Club Slates First Meeting

Pampa's newly-organized Top O' Texans Club, a public relations group of the Chamber of Commerce, will hold its first meeting in full uniform Monday at 7 p. m. in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Floyd Watson, president of the club said that orientation of members will be held and group pictures made. The primary function of the Top O' Texans Club will be to represent Pampa on various occasions and to create the proper image of the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Pampa.

The group is composed of 32 members, all of whom have purchased their own uniforms and will pay their own expenses on activities representing the city. The uniform consists of a dull gold blazer with a black and gold monogram on the blazer pocket, individual name plates in black and gold, black trousers, white shirts, black ties, and a sailor straw hat with black and red band. The uniforms are a fine quality and should lend an air of distinction to the group.

Organizations within the City of Pampa that might like to use the services of the Top O' Texans on special occasions should contact President Floyd Watson.

Hunt Underway for California Family Headed for Pampa After Home Burns

SANTA ANA, Calif. — Members of a vacationing Santa Ana family will have their holiday cut short if fire officials can find them.

Their home burned to the ground Monday night. An explosion rocked the neighborhood about 10 hours after the Clarence White family left for Pampa on a vacation.

Fire Chief John Garthe said he suspects arson in the 10:45 p. m. explosion and fire that destroyed the home of the Whites. A police officer six blocks away heard the explosion and called firemen.

Garthe said the blaze was quickly controlled and that firemen, upon entry into the smoldering ruins, found furniture soaked with gasoline. Damage was estimated at $9,000 to the home and $2,000 to the contents.

Garthe said fire officials are investigating the cause of the fire and that "arson or some skulduggery" is definitely suspected.

BABY NAMED
MADRID (UPI) — Spanish Prince Juan Carlos said Monday that the 8.4 pound girl born to his wife, Princess Sophia, Sunday will be named Christina Frederika Victoria Antonia Sanismia Trinidad. He said baptism would be sometime next week.

WEATHER DATA

SUTLAND, Md. (UPI) — The U. S. Weather Bureau today begins transmitting weather data to France via the Early Bird communications satellite.

The transmissions, originating at the National Weather Satellite Center in Suitland, outside Washington, will include weather facsimile charts from the Tires IX weather satellite. The charts will show weather and clouds over the entire northern hemisphere for a 24-hour period.

Their destination will be the Paris weather center and the French Meteorological Service.

DANUBE FLOODING

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Residents of low-lying areas moved to higher ground today when the flooding Danube River reached its highest level in recent years.

An army of 15,000 workers reinforced river dikes. Several highways in the Budapest area have inundated.

HELICOPTERS COLLIDE—Rescue workers reach into the wreckage of one of two helicopters which collided in the air over the Bien Hoa, South Viet Nam, airbase Sunday. A U.S. military spokesman said eight of Americans aboard the two helicopters were killed when the craft plunged into the ground. A ninth soldier died while undergoing emergency surgery.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To the many other plaudits that the Gemini-4 space twins have been receiving, I would like to add a word of commendation of my own.

As home movie makers, those guys are terrific.

The films they took during their recent four-day mission were shown at the Capitol this week to members of Congress, staff workers and newsmen. I don't see how they did it.

Not once during the 20-minute camera pointed in his direction did he put a finger over the camera lens or forget to remove the camera cover.

The pictures were in focus, had a minimum amount of jerkiness and more important, were free of extraneous subject matter. This may have been because their wives weren't there to give directions.

While White was floating around outside the capsule, his buddy James McDivitt kept the camera pointed in his direction.

In other words, McDivitt was not making pictures of pretty cloud formations, as he might have been doing had his wife been present. Or as he surely would have been doing had my wife been present.

I have several reels home that I took during a visit to Yellowstone National Park a few years ago. They consist entirely of pretty cloud formations that my wife pointed out while I was trying to get movies of a geyser erupting.

McDivitt and White also are to be congratulated for resisting what must have been a strong temptation to ham it up a bit while making the movies.

breakfast meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today invited Democratic congressional leaders to breakfast.

It was a switch for the Chief Executive who usually sees the House and Senate hierarchy about 10:10 a.m. EDT each Tuesday. But today he made it a breakfast gathering — starting at 8:30 a.m. EDT.

Although the President used to mix breakfast and legislative matters with congressional chiefs each week, he has skipped the meal with them for the past several months.

OUT OF CONTROL

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — An anti-American demonstration flared out of control Monday night in Stockholm's Haymarket Square. Four persons were arrested and a police officer was bitten on the leg.

The demonstrators were protesting U. S. policies in Viet Nam.

WARNING ISSUED

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China charged Monday that a U.S. military aircraft violated its airspace over Yungshing and Tung islands of Kwangtung province this evening. The Peking regime issued its 386th "serious warning" against such alleged intrusions, according to the New China News Agency.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Brazilians have never liked economic discipline. In fact, under a succession of presidents beginning in 1956 with Juscelino Kubitschek the idea seemed to be to spend as rapidly as possible despite the fact that the cruzeiro rapidly was becoming worthless and inflation was leading ahead at a rate close to 100 per cent per year.

In three years of boom and bust a favorite saying was, "God must have been a Brazilian because he loves us so." A year ago, as the country teetered on the edge of bankruptcy and civil war, came the bloodless military revolution which installed in the presidency Gen. Humberto Castelo Branco, a nonpolitical career soldier.

Castelo Branco announced as his goal economic development and reform without inflation.

Cracking down
Brazilians still don't like economic discipline but the tough Castelo Branco and his equally tough economics minister, Roberto Campos, have been doing a job.

Since the beginning of the year Brazil's inflation rate has been dropping steadily until in May it totalled only 2.9 per cent as compared with 7.8 per cent in March.

As Campos and Castelo Branco applied their bitter medicine without regard for political consequences, grumbling became inevitable.

Farmers complained that prices were so low, it was not worthwhile harvesting the crops.

In Sao Paulo, industrial heart of Brazil, unemployment mounted.

Manufacturers complained that goods gathered dust on store shelves while consumers waited for prices to drop still farther.

In Rio De Janeiro, Gov. Carlos Lacerda, an original supporter of the revolution and an avowed candidate for presidential elections scheduled for 1966, demanded the ouster of Campos. "Instability, insecurity and disorder have been succeeded by depression, perplexity, gloom and unemployment," declared Lacerda.

"The present economic policy... will make inevitable the restoration of those who were defeated..."

Certainly Brazil is at the crossroads. A too-drastring slow-down in the economy could turn economic stabilization into a recession.

But the government has warned that Brazilians will have to live at least another year with austerity.

At the same time it is loosening the screws a bit.

Get Tax Break
Automakers have received a tax reduction and the government has stepped up its road building program.

Foreign investment has been a disappointment but is on the increase and industrial announcements of plans to increase outlays reflect confidence that the Campos program will succeed.

Other projects basic to the country's economy are moving ahead.

A dam just being started on the Rio Grande River 350 miles south of Brazil, the inland capital, ultimately will generate 90,000 kw. of power. Nearby, the just completed Furnas Dam is generating 90,000 kw.

In the parched and perennially poverty-stricken northeast, irrigation projects are underway, new highways being built, and water systems and electric lines being brought to scores of cities.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Fifteen tables of games were enjoyed by Senior Citizen at Thursday's Center meeting, even though the inclement weather kept many away.

Mrs. Bruce Henson and sons, Lee and Donald of Midland, were visitors at the Center this week. The group accompanied Mrs. Henson's mother, Mrs. Edith Mills, whom they had been visiting for two weeks.

Mrs. Nettie Cornelison attended funeral services for a grandson, Danny Cornelison, in Shiprock, N.M., Tuesday.

Another Center guest was Mrs. D. E. McVey of Magnolia, Ark., sister of Mrs. P. H. Gates.

Mrs. Jessie Van Huss was moving this week and was unable to be present at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Adams spent last weekend in Helotes where they attended graduation exercises of a granddaughter, Cynthia Fay DeBoard at John Marshall High School. Miss DeBoard was salutatorian of the graduating class of 380 students and plans to attend Abilene Christian College in the fall.

Mrs. Mollie Hethcock was visited this week by a cousin, Mrs. Myrtle Ball of Alanreed.

Kappa Kappa Iota Delta Kappa Gamma Chapter members served as hostesses this week. Serving refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and coffee were Mmes. P. H. Sanford, chairman, Lola D. Wilkerson, Exa Faye Hutton, L. K. Stout, W. L. Parker and Miss Geraldine Rampy.

Door prizes were received by Mmes. Bruce Hanson and Lewis Henderson and Messrs. Ennis Jones and Ripple.

Altruists present were Mmes. Marie Fitzgerald, chairman, Jay Flannigan, Lola D. Wilkerson, Lena Pearl Hobbs, Louise Sewell and Lillian Snow.

Gray Ladies providing transportation were Mmes. George Benham, Jess Hatcher and Clarence Lutes.

NO WASHING MACHINE! — Small loads of clothes can be washed in a household pail with the aid of a plunger. Saves wear and ache on your hands and back... and it does a good job too. That's just one of the pointers Polly Cramer demonstrated for Mike Douglas and his co-hostess, Dagmar, on Polly's recent visit to "The Mike Douglas Show." For more of Polly's pointers read her column in the Pampa Daily News and write for your copy of her 32 page booklet. Just send your name, address and 50 cents to: Polly's Pointers, c-o Pampa Daily News, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Miss Pat Ludeman Speaks to ABWA

American Business Women's Association met recently for a regular monthly meeting in Jackson's Cafeteria.

Speaker for the evening was Miss Pat Ludeman who spoke on her experience at Girls' State in Austin, a school for training young ladies in city and state government. Last year Miss Ludeman was a delegate for the American Legion Auxiliary and this year is going to assist with the newspaper publication. Only 400 girls over the state are chosen to attend this meeting.

A nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Clemon Herd, Mrs. James Quay and Miss Maxine Nabors, was elected.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Billy Wright, president. Eighteen members attended.

The election of the new officers will be held at the next meeting on July 12.

Powder Before Swimming
Take a tip from a Bergdorf-Goodman (New York) model. Use a medicated powder after bathing to get the skin in shape for two-piece or one-piece bathing suits. Powder helps camouflage the clothing rubs and rashes. Some powders, such as Johnson's, contains hexachlorophene to cut down on infections.

Groom Couple Feted At Wedding Shower

GROOM (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Wayne James were honored with a miscellaneous shower recently in the home of Mrs. Mary Chism. Other hostesses were Mmes. Jack Bivens, Bud Brown, Bill Burgin, Bobby Wood, Marvin Morrow, Jim Littlefield, Fred Brown and Jack West.

The serving table, covered with a white lace cloth over blue, was centered with a bouquet of white roses flanked by blue tapers in milkglass holders. Serving appointments were milk-glass.

In the receiving line were the honoree, Mrs. Eldred Wayne James, her mother, Mrs. D. A. Watson, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Eldred James.

Miss Jocelyn Watson registered the guests and Miss Peggy Sue Chism had charge of the gift display.

Check Sizes and Labels

All manufacturers don't size clothes the same way. A size 12 may fit you when it's made by one house and yet be too small when it comes from a different manufacturer. When you find one manufacturer's line fits perfectly, be sure to remember the label. It can save you shopping time in the future.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know the Bible says we should honor our father and mother—but how can you honor a father who is so chintzy that he refuses to buy his wife a set of wedding rings, even a cheap set, when he knows that is what she's wanted more than anything else since they married? They've been married 38 years and have seven children. I am the oldest and I can remember when mom had to pump the water for the endless washings. She'd iron for two days, hoe the garden, can the vegetables and cook three big meals a day. The house was always spic and span and so were the children. Mom took us all to church while dad slept. Oh, he had a job, but when his eight hours were through, so was he. Raising the children was mom's job, and she did it alone.

When I suggested to dad that he buy mom a nice set of rings for last Mother's Day, he laughed and said it was a waste of money. Then he went out and bought himself a boat for $400. Dad has five brothers and all their wives have beautiful rings, as do his four sisters. Yet he brags that he married mom with a borrowed ring. I was so upset over this I spoke to our minister about it and he said a man gives his wife rings because he wants to, not because he feels obligated to. What can we do?

THE OLDEST
DEAR OLDEST: If you could succeed in pressuring your father into buying your mother a set of rings, and she knew about it, they wouldn't mean much. Under the circumstances, I see nothing wrong in your children getting together and buying your mother a lovely set of rings. If your father objects, tell him that's what she wanted most.

DEAR ABBY: A new neighbor called my 16-year-old daughter and asked if she would baby sit that evening. Marjorie accepted and went to their home. Shortly after midnight she came home very annoyed. She said when she got there she found the seven-year-old in bed with a temperature. The lady told Marjorie he had a little "headache"—but to keep the other kids away from him as he may have "something catching." She instructed Marjorie to put the other children to bed first, then to read to the sick one and keep him entertained until he fell asleep. The parents went bowling. Marjorie said the child was violently ill all evening. To top it off, Marjorie is now down with the flu. What do you think of a mother who would expose a sitter to the flu and go bowling?

BURNED UP
DEAR BURNED: The mother was either very inconsiderate or very stupid—or possibly both. But when your daughter was told that the child might have "something catching," she should have caught the implication, declined the sitting job and gone home.

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with you, but in the case of the father's refusal to sign a statement swearing he did not help his son write a speech—although he did not help him—I don't think he did his son an injustice. Even though the boy was disqualified, and lost an opportunity to go to the state contest, he gained much more by observing the principle his father upheld. Since the speech was to have been an original composition, the school authorities should have accepted it as such.

By asking the parents to sign a sworn statement, they are doubting the boy's integrity and are placing the parents in the awkward position of swearing their son did not cheat. This is insulting and unnecessary. Parents who would cheat by helping their son write an "original" composition would also cheat by signing a sworn statement saying they did not.

Mrs. M. L.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LEN: When you are told you can buy something "for a song"—you had better check the accompaniment.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Between commercials, plugs for soap operas and comment on Sybil Burton's new marriage, NBC-TV's "Today" show Monday presented a live discussion between Vice President Humphrey in Washington and foreign students in London. A promotion for a game show, the latest baseball scores and other numerous interruptions completed the occasion.

This rather impertinent handling of a vice president of the United States, not to mention the six student guests abroad, created an atmosphere of travesty for the Early Bird satellite broadcast until near the end, when a reasonably lengthy amount of discussion was allowed to proceed undisturbed. However, if future broadcasts along the same line as this one are being planned, it would be far better not to do them at all rather than make them such a mockery.

Furthermore, NBC-TV's advance publicity for the Early Bird transmission was, to put it politely, not exactly accurate, and, to put it not so politely, misleading. A press release promised a "full-hour" live transatlantic discussion from 7-8 a.m. EDT. As noted above, however, the 7-8 period was concerned with other significant matters in addition to the discussion, and they took up considerable time.

If one's thoughts had not been continuously broken by the interruptions — which included totally extraneous and sometimes condescending remarks about the students by the regular "Today" crew in New York — it could have been a fine hour.

Monday night's one hour CBS-TV program, "The Berkeley Rebels," which set out to examine "The new breed of college students whose attitudes on politics, morality and society have created a new American controversy," was one of the rare documentaries that could have benefited from a hard-headed, clarifying discussion by experts — in this case, of the current higher education system. — As it was, the hour turned out to be a showy, emotional but essentially shallow examination that resembled a picture magazine layout of "the younger generation." Furthermore, tackling the education problem, the sexual revolution and the concern with causes — while they are certainly inter-related — too much of a project for one hour.

This Week In Business

By LEROY POPE
NEW YORK (UPI) — The worst plunge in the stock market since the assassination of President Kennedy put a shadow on the business horizon this week.

Just what caused the big break on Tuesday and Wednesday wasn't clear but it came in the wake of some warnings by chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board about uneasy looking clouds in the economic skies.

Then on Wednesday a wild rumor spread through Wall Street that President Johnson had suffered a serious illness and the break became a disastrous plunge. Even though the unfounded rumor was quickly dispelled, the market fell again Thursday and didn't rally until the President held a conference of advisers and issued a statement declaring there is nothing about the business outlook to justify "doom or gloom."

But Federal Reserve chairman Martin stood by his guns, saying the reserve bank leaders were not necessarily in agreement with every shade of the President's view about the economic outlook.

Another doubting thomas about economic prospects, Nathaniel Goldfinger, chief of the AFL-CIO, said he felt edgy about the immediate future of business and feared a rise in unemployment. On the other hand, President Truman's old economic adviser, Leon Keyserling, said he thinks things are going excellently and criticized Reserve Board chairman Martin for sounding storm warnings.

Members of High Court Wonder if They're Right

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
It is not necessary to be a rightist or to hate the Chief Justice to be among those who are wondering whether the U.S. Supreme Court is on the right path or has barged into a headstrong detour.

Members of the court themselves raise the question. Justices Hugo Black and Potter Stewart discussed it most recently on June 7 in sharp dissent from the court majority's interpretation of the Constitution. What the majority had done was to scrap an 1879 act of the Connecticut Legislature which forbade the use of contraceptives by anyone, including married couples.

All the justices agreed on one thing: The Connecticut law was unwise, undesirable, probably unenforceable and otherwise unsuitable. The majority held, further, that the law was unconstitutional being in violation of the right of privacy. But Black and Stewart denied the constitution guaranteed any such right and challenged the majority to cite the language on which they based their action in striking down the Connecticut law.

What Stewart and Black argued in effect was that the court was striking down law on grounds of it being unwise, undesirable or unsuitable whereas the court's rightful authority is limited to the question of constitutionality.

Legislative Matter
The wisdom and desirability of law is a legislative matter to be dealt with by the congress of a state legislature, argued Black and Stewart. If so, Chief Justice Earl Warren and his majority was poaching.

It would not be the first time. For some background, see the February 23, 1965, issue of the magazine National Review in which Prof. Paul C. Bartholomew of the University of Notre Dame faculty puts together some comments about the court by the justices.

National Review splashed the Bartholomew of the University headline: "13 bitter attacks on the Supreme Court by justices Black, Clark, Frankfurter, Harlan, Stewart, White and Whitaker." This headline did not overstate the case.

Paul Bartholomew chose his examples from dissents delivered formally from the bench from 1961 to 1964. In dissenting from the one-man-one-vote reapportionment ruling, Justice Felix Frankfurter accused the court of a massive repudiation of the experience of the nation's whole past. Frankfurter said the court had indulged in an assertion of destructively novel judicial power.

Salvo Of Protest
Justice Black fired off a salvo of protest against a 1964 action in which a New York law relating to trial procedure was held invalid. Wrote Black: "I think that the New York law here held invalid is in full accord with all of the guarantees of the federal Constitution and that it should not be held invalid by this court because of a belief that the court-can improve on the Constitution."

The Supreme Court improve on the Constitution? Hmmm! Note that Justice Black said it. The rightists didn't say it. Associate Justice John M. Harlan dissented from the reapportionment opinion with a warning that the court, equally with the other branches of government, is bound by the Constitution. He wrote:

"The stability of this institution (Supreme Court) ultimately depends not only in its being alert to keep other branches of government within constitutional bounds, but equally upon recognition of the limits of the court's own functions in the constitutional system."

In Bartholomew's article there is more, much more of the same. Only the court, of course, can discipline the court.

PRICE REDUCTION
NEW YORK (UPI) — Philip Morris Inc. reduced its price for cigarettes by 35 cents per thousand, effective Monday.
The move, which cancels a 35 cents per thousand increase put into effect April 26, follows a similar retreat by most other competitors after one major cigarette maker failed to go along.

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

A RUMOR passed to this department to the effect that a number of people intend to "get me fired" because they feel that my stand on certain aspects of the sports and political situation might "hurt the football team."

NO ARGUMENT as to whether or not my criticisms have any truth to them, just that I should be ousted because my opinions make certain people feel rather uncomfortable. Kinda like Russia, where they send you to Siberia if you criticize the regime.

SINCE THERE is little doubt in my mind that this department has made a large number of enemies by daring to criticize certain long-established institutions, I can figure a relatively large number of people in on such a deal, beginning with a number of school officials and working on down. However, and this is my consolation, I doubt very much whether my personal Ku Klux Klan includes any athletes or parents of athletes, as my snipes have always been for the benefit of the youngsters themselves and the improvement of their chances in sport, not for the continuation or preservation of any clique, faction or organization.

POSSIBLY my stand on the firing of several of our best coaches because they were guilty of the sin of only wanting to improve athletes and gain winning teams, thereby neglecting to feather their political nests, has caused me to hurt the teams . . . I sincerely doubt it as the youngsters themselves would have told me so instead of thanking me for trying to help. Again it might have been my criticism anent heads of organizations that seemed more interested in glorifying themselves instead of the youngsters. (On the other hand, I have been accused of that same fault myself by trying to promote full-time summer programs in athletics so maybe I should shut up about that.)

HOWEVER I refuse to hide my head in the sand and make believe that certain abuses that go on do not happen, or that certain people are sincere when they act so hypocritical that they make Judas Iscariot look like an also-ran. If they can get me for speaking my mind, I am in the wrong country.

SOME OF THESE, no doubt, are the same ones that welcomed me back last year because "no one ever supported the teams like I did." . . . I guess the welcome should have included a warning . . . "that is, as long as you just print what we tell you to."

I refuse to be dictated to by anyone who does not pay my salary, and I also refuse to knuckle under to threats. Fortunately for them, it is very doubtful that I will be here next football season, as my health forces a probable departure from the Panhandle. Otherwise, I think I would stay on just for the joy of spitting in their collective eye.

Sleeping Nicklaus Open Choice

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—George Washington never slept here but Jack Nicklaus did — and that was enough to make him a prohibitive favorite among the majority of golfers who will tee off for the U.S. Open championship Thursday.

Nicklaus not only slept here, he "practically lived on the long, rugged 7,191-yard Bellevere course during the past 10 days. Following the same formula which proved so successful in the Masters and sticking strictly to his plan of shooting for the big ones, he took a week off the regular tour to get in early practice licks here. He spent hours charting every hole in his little brown notebook making notes on the good spots and the bad ones, and was so satisfied with his progress that he took the week-end off to go to visit his family in Columbus, Ohio.

Today, he will be back at the 8 to 1 betting favorite to win his second Open title at the age of 25.

"If ever a course was built for Nicklaus, this is it," said former U.S. Open champion Billy Casper. "And if we get a couple of days of rain—it will put Nicklaus in a class by himself."

Casper pointed out that Nicklaus was the only golfer in the 150-man field "with an even chance to get on the par five holes in two."

"Besides," Casper added, "he will be using four and five iron shots on the long par fours here while the rest of us will be using woods."

There are only two par five holes, the 580-yard eighth and the 606-yard 17th.

"I can't see anyone in the field except Jack getting on in two on those holes," added Casper, who won the Open in 1959.

Next Long Hitters
Next to Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Terry Dill and Chris Blocker are rated as the longest ball hitters but Casper does not think any of those three Maloney Has No-Hitter, Strikes Out 18...Loses!

By United Press International
The Jim Maloney story could be called "How To Succeed Through Failure."
Maloney, Cincinnati's fireballing righthander, pitched a no-hitter for 10 innings and equalled a National League strikeout record with 18 "K's" Monday night, but lost his bid for a niche in the Hall of Fame when Johnny Lewis belted an 11th inning homer that gave New York a 1-0 victory.

The 25-year-old Maloney, whose arm "was tired only from tipping my hat to the many ovations," succeeded, however, in enshrining his name in the record books alongside Ken Johnson, then with Houston, who lost a nine-inning no-hitter to Cincinnati last year, and Harvey Haddix, who pitched a perfect game for 12 innings with Pittsburgh and lost in the 13th to Milwaukee in 1959 on Joe Adcock's hit.

Maloney's strikeout feat has been accomplished in modern times by only two other National League pitchers — Sandy Koufax twice and Warren Spahn in a 15-inning game. Tom Cheney holds the record of 21 strikeouts while pitching for Washington in a 16-inning game against Baltimore on Sept. 12, 1962.

"I wasn't trying to give Lewis anything good to hit at," Maloney explained of his one bad pitch. "It was a low fast ball that failed to jam him the way I wanted it to. I knew what Lewis could do. He homered off me on May 2."
Pitchers have a habit of remembering previous errors and try not to duplicate those mistakes.
"I never saw a guy throw harder than Maloney," Lewis said after belting his eighth homer of the year and snapping the Mets' 10-game losing streak. "He was great, but I wouldn't give back that hit for any money in the world."
Cincinnati catcher John Edwards echoed Lewis' observation on Maloney's fast ball.
"I had to wear a golf glove and a sponge inside my catcher's mitt to protect my hand," Edwards explained.
And Cincinnati pitching coach Jim Turner, who has "seen seven or eight" no-hitters during his lifetime, summed it up when he said: "Maloney had the best stuff for fooling hitters and he should have had the no-hitter."
Maloney's 18 strikeouts bettered his previous output by two and is a club record.

Larry Jackson also had good stuff as he paced Chicago to a 2-0 win over Houston, while St. Louis downed Pittsburgh 5-2, in the only other National League action.
In the only American League game played, Cleveland edged New York 5-4. The Baltimore at Boston game was postponed.
Maloney's fast ball, thrown as hard in the 11th inning as in the first, limited New York to a pair of baserunners in the first 10 innings. Ed Kranepool reached first on a walk to lead off the second inning and Charlie Smith gained first base on a swinging third strike that eluded Edwards in the fourth inning.
During his strikeout binge, Maloney struck out the side in the third and eighth innings and fanned two of three batters in each of the ninth and 10th innings.
Cincinnati had an opportunity to wrap up the game in the 10th when Edwards led off with a single and moved to second on Leo Cardenas' sacrifice. Chico Ruiz ran for Edwards and advanced to third on Maloney's grounder to Roy McMillan.
Then came the key play of the game as Tommy Harper slashed the ball down to third, where Smith picked it up and threw low in the dirt to first. But Kranepool came up with the poor throw to kill the Reds.

threat and Maloney's no-hit bid. Gordie Coleman fielded the only difficult chance for the Reds in the seventh when he dug out Chuck Hiller's hot liner near first base and won the race to the bag.
Maloney had a one-hitter this year against Milwaukee on April 19, with Denis Menke breaking it up in the eighth inning. Joe Christopher spoiled a no-hit bid for the righthander on Sept. 25 last year and Ellis Burton of Chicago ruined another attempt by Maloney on July 23, 1963.
Frank Lary pitched the first eight innings for the Mets and allowed five hits. Larry Bearnath cleaned up for New York with a two-hitter over the last three innings for his second win of the year.

Mauch Named All-Star Boss

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Gene Mauch has a consolation prize today as manager of the 1965 National League All-Star team.
Mauch, 39, whose Philadelphia Phillies blew the 1964 pennant with 10 straight losses at the tailend of the season, was given the honor by NL President Warren Giles because Johnny Keane defected to the American League.
The manager of an All Star team is usually the skipper of the pennant winner. Keane brought the St. Louis Cardinals into the World Series last October, won the championship against the New York Yankees and then signed to manage the team he had beaten.

High School State Play Opens Today

AUSTIN (UPI)—Alvin and Snyder meet at 1 p.m. today in the opening game of the 1965 state high school baseball playoffs to determine the champions of Class AAAA and AAA.

South San Antonio, defending Class AAA champion and perennial winner in that division, meets Waxahachie in the other AAAA game at 3 p.m. today to determine the other half of the finals.
Class AAAA play opens at 7 p.m. today with favored Brownsville (29-7) taking on Galena Park (28-7) followed at 9 p.m. with Dallas Samuel vs. El Paso Austin.
South San Antonio will be looking for its sixth Class AAA title in the past eight years. The Bobcats have an impressive 37-2 season record, due mainly to senior hurler Johnny Guzman, who is 1-0 going into the finals.
Brownsville's Eagles feature two southpaw pitchers, Charley Vaughn and Tony Barbosa, who together can claim five no-hitters during regular season play.
El Paso Austin (24-5) is expected to give the Eagles their toughest competition. Hurler Bob Arnold fanned 233 batters in 17 games for the far West Texans.

The Class AAA championship game will be played at 7 p.m. Wednesday, followed by the Class AAA finals at 9 p.m. Losers in Class AAA meet at 1 p.m. Wednesday for the consolation slot, with the AAAA third place game set for 3 p.m. Wednesday.
