U. S. Agencies Working On Plan To Fight VEE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, caught off guard two weeks ago by a Pentagon public relations maneuver, has finally brought up the rear and is lending support to a coordinated government battle plan against horse sleeping sickness.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird announced March 10 that military outposts will cooperate this year in a "surveillance and alert system" to help give warning on another outbreak this year of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE). A reporter asked the Agriculture Department about the program and a spokesman said "nobody knows anything" about it. The Pentagon news release said USDA would analyze samples from horses this year to diagnose if they were suffering from VEE.

But this week the Agriculture Department, after picking up the loose ends left by the Defense Department, announced officially that a surveillance program was going to be conducted this year. The project will be operated in Texas.

State Fire Insurance May Go Up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Insurance Board Chairman Larry Teaver said today he was outvoted in a board decision that Teaver claims will boost building insurance costs by $27 million in a one-year period.

Teaver called a news conference to assail the board decision.

As the decision stands, many Texans actually will receive reductions in rates for homeowners policies but fire insurance and extended coverage rates will rise throughout the state.

The increases will not be as great as they might have been because of limitations imposed by the U.S. Price Commission. Except for those limitations, Texas homeowner rates would have gone up.

Ned Price and Durwood Manford, the other two board members, outvoted Teaver 2-1 in a decision last week to continue using an inflation trend factor in setting building insurance rates for the year starting July 1.

The factor is based on the rate of inflation for the past five years in both building costs and general consumer prices.

"He wants to make himself look good," Price, whom Teaver succeeded as board chairman, said of Teaver's news conference.

Price said no final decision was made on actual rates.

"I don't know what the final rates will be. We told the staff to work the rates up for future conferences ... with the inflation trend formula ... We haven't signed any (rate) order yet. The board can still make changes and instruct the staff in the next few days."

The formula approved by the board would raise fire insurance rates an average of 3 per cent statewide on homes and 2.1 per cent on buildings other than dwellings.

Homeowners policy rates would dip 2.1 per cent in the Central Inland rating territory—which includes Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Austin, Waco and El Paso—and 5.9 per cent in the North-Northwest Territory. But they would jump 24 per cent in the "Seacoast" territory, which includes Houston.

Statewide, homeowners rates would climb an average of 5.3 per cent.

Extended coverage rates would climb an average of 35.4 per cent in the Seacoast Territory; 5.5 per cent in the Central Inland Territory and one-tenth of 1 per cent in the North-Northwest Territory.

Teaver's proposed one-year suspension on the inflation trend factor would cut most of these rates, according to a board staff member.

Gus Mutscher Stepping Down As House Speaker

Succession To Post May Trigger Turmoil

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gus Mutscher, the highest Texas official ever convicted of a felony, says he is stepping aside as House speaker.

Mutscher, however, avoided the word "resign."

He went before his staff and other House employees Tuesday afternoon and later talked individually with newsmen who sought clarification of his statement.

"I am stepping aside and will not preside over a special session of the legislature," Mutscher told a newsman.

Since only special sessions remain before Mutscher's two-year term as speaker would end in January 1973, that means he will not preside over the Texas House again.

Asked if he was saying that he was resigning, Mutscher said: "I'm not saying I'm not and I'm not saying I will. ... A number of alternatives are here, but I will speak to those later on."

Mutscher, 39, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and speaker's aide Rush McGinty were convicted at Abilene last Wednesday on charges they conspired to accept a bribe from Houston promoter Frank Sharp.

All three received five-year probation prison sentences.

McGinty said possibilities include Mutscher's designating someone to fill the presiding officer's chair in his place.

Most House members believe Mutscher would be removed by a vote of the House if he did not step aside. There likely will be a fight for the interim speakership between forces of Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine, an active candidate for 1973 House speaker, and those who want Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi as temporary speaker.

Mutscher's resignation has been expected since he was convicted.

"You all understand, I'm sure, how sad and disappointed I am at the outcome of the trial. There is no justice when innocent people are convicted. I am innocent, and God knows I am innocent," Mutscher told his staff and House employees.

He was informally attired, wearing slacks and a yellow monogrammed windbreaker, when he made the statement.

He told the staff that "regardless of what happens in regard to a new speaker, whether he be temporary, permanent, or whatever, I intend to do everything in my power to see that the present House staff does not suffer for my problems."

After Mutscher read the statement, a member of his staff distributed it in the Capitol pressroom.

"As to my political future, I have never intended to serve as speaker while facing personal adverse encounters. My case is not over. It is on appeal, and I am certain that I will be vindicated," Mutscher said.

"I cannot now, however, effectively discharge the duties of speaker. I will not impose my problems on the (House) membership."

The last speaker to quit was A. M. Kennedy in 1909. He resigned following an investigation that showed he had paid the salary of a woman employee with state funds although she had not even been in Austin.

Since 1969 and has served in the House as state representative from Brenham since 1961. He has filed as a candidate for reelection, and will retain the voting rights of a representative in any special session this year.

Nixon Antibusing Plan Facing Floor Debates

WASHINGTON (AP) — A closer look at President Nixon's antibusing proposals by House and Senate members has dimmed chances for prompt congressional action.

Opponents and supporters of busing are finding fault with the President's program. The prospect now is for full-scale hearings and long floor fights on the legislation.

The administration had hoped that at least the first part of the program—a moratorium on new busing until July 1, 1973—would be agreed to by House and Senate conferees who are trying to work out a compromise on a huge education bill.

But strong opposition from civil-rights groups and a lack of enthusiasm for the proposal by several members of Congress are slowing the administration's push.

AFL-CIO President George Meany issued a statement Tuesday calling Nixon's moratorium proposal "a cynical attempt to reward those who said 'never,' and to undermine the moral leadership of those citizens who endeavored to comply with the Constitution and the Supreme Court's 1954 decision."

Meany noted that Nixon in 1970 vetoed two bills increasing federal school aid.

"Now the President is back on national television trying to convince the American people that he has changed his opinion on improving the educational opportunities of disadvantaged children," Meany said. "This is political chicanery."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the NAACP, vowed an all-out fight against the Nixon program in a telegram Tuesday to Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate conferees.

Mitchell withdrew the NAACP's support for the administration's $1.5-billion desegregation bill, which is part of the Nixon proposal and is included in the legislative package before the conference committee.

"The President's speech and proposals have done so much damage it would be far better to have no legislation in this field at this time," said Mitchell.

Southerners who have been leading the fight against busing for years see nothing to help them in Nixon's plan to halt only new busing.

Malone To Take Applications For Principal

Dr. James Malone, supt. of schools, has been given the go-ahead to take applications for the post of senior high school principal.

The move was not un-expected following re-alignment of personnel following a joint regular-executive session of the board Monday night.

Changes were announced at the regular meeting of school administrators at Carver Center Tuesday. They included re-assignment of both Principal Cameron Marsh and Asst. Principal Marvin Bowman.

Marsh will be principal of Travis elementary school. Bowman has not yet been assigned a specific post.

Houston Bank Officer Killed In Robbery

HOUSTON (AP) — A bank officer was killed and a policeman and another man wounded today in gunfire that followed a robbery of the South Park National Bank in Houston's southeast area.

Police Chief Herman Short said from his office there was indication the gunmen used a machine gun during the robbery.

The bank officer killed at the scene was identified as James Garbis, who was shot in the head.

Patrolman Tommy Morris was reported in good condition at City-County Hospital. He possibly escaped more serious injury when the bullet struck his police badge before entering his left chest.

One of the gunmen, a 27-year-old black man, also was wounded, apparently in an exchange of gunfire with Morris.

Labor Members Quit Pay Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three AFL-CIO members of President Nixon's Pay Board resigned today, saying they could no longer cooperate in a control program they viewed as slanted against the nation's workers.

The source, a member of the AFL-CIO executive council said the council voted in favor of the withdrawal of AFL-CIO President George Meany, United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel and Machinists President Floyd Smith from the Pay Board.

Meany reportedly was seeking to persuade the two other labor members of 15-man Pay Board to join the AFL-CIO in quitting. The other two Pay Board members from labor are Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons and Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, whose unions are not affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

Fitzsimmons and Woodcock, who have been described as reluctant to quit the board, did not attend today's AFL-CIO meeting although they had been invited.

Muskie Wins Illinois Primary

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, claiming in victory that he'll keep winning now, held a big lead over Sen. George McGovern today as the ballots were counted in their contest for Illinois delegate votes for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Muskie easily outdistanced Eugene J. McCarthy to win an expected Tuesday in an Illinois presidential preference primary, polling 63 per cent of the vote.

A slow count of the long ballots in the delegate selection contests, where Muskie also was favored, left in doubt the final lineup in the Illinois delegation. But it was clear the Maine senator would emerge with a substantial margin over McGovern.

The delegate contest was really 24 contests, with the 160 convention seats apportioned among Illinois congressional districts.

With 75 per cent of the 10,858 precincts counted, delegates committed to vote for Muskie's nomination led for 60 convention seats. McGovern entries for 14.

But there were more uncommitted delegates, 86, leading than the two campaigners could claim between them.

And that was about the only thing that went right Tuesday for Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who will lead the uncommitted bloc when the Democrats convene July 10 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Daley's Chicago Democratic organization was jolted when two insurgents beat his chosen candidates to win nominations for governor and state's attorney.

"The people have spoken," said Daley. "It's always a good thing when the people speak."

In the presidential preference vote, with 95 per cent of the precincts counted, these were the totals:

Muskie 722,930 votes, or 63 per cent.

McCarthy 420,222 votes, 37 per cent.

"We're going to keep on winning, through all the primaries, through the Democratic National Convention and across the entire nation next November," said Muskie. "This is the message that the people of Illinois have just sent across the nation."

The Maine senator got off to a faltering campaign start, with a 46.4 per cent victory showing in the New

County Cancer Society Announces Crusade Plan

In 1972, 339,000 people in this country will die of cancer," Larry Fuller of Borger informed board members of the Gray County unit of the American Cancer Society at a breakfast meeting today.

Fuller is chairman of the Texas Division's campaign committee and a director of District 15, which includes the 20 counties in the Panhandle.

This year, cancer will kill more school-aged children than any other disease, he told the group, challenging them to see people are educated on the dangers and symptoms of cancer.

"In a society where we send people to the moon, we still have a disease around that will kill one of my children," he stated.

Greg Westerfield of Amarillo, ACS field representative, explained the focus of this year's ACS campaigns will be on getting women to have regular checkups and regular PAP tests.

"There are 45 million women in the United States who have never had a Pap test, which could mean there are 130,000 women walking around who don't know they have cancer," he pointed out, urging the board members to involve more people in ACS work and to educate people on the need for periodic physicals.

The breakfast was a kick-off event for the unit's Cancer Crusade, which will begin in April.

Campaign chairman is Miss Harriet Henderson, who will be assisted by Dr. William F. Walsh. Dick Stowers will assist with the business and industry solicitation, while the house-to-house campaign will be under the direction of Mrs. Bill Duncan, assisted by Mrs. Glen Larson and Paul Keim. Mrs. H.B. Taylor is in charge of the drives in rural areas.

Mrs. Maynard Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Rufe Jordan, is in charge of memorials, and publicity is under the direction of Mrs. Georgia Mack. Mrs. Kermit Lawson and Al Bassett.

In charge of Crusade packets is Mr. Joe M. Daniels, and education chairman is Mrs. J.E. Gibson, assisted by Mrs. M.K. Griffith.

During the business session, led by Dr. Victor Trammell, unit president, Mrs. Gibson announced a film for women will be shown at a local theater at 10 a.m. April 13, and at Carver Center at 7:30 p.m. the same day.

Mrs. O.C. Penn announced the Key Club will put up Crusade posters and Mrs. Daniels' eighth-grade students have prepared workers' packets.

Texas School Fund Ruling Seen To Affect 48 States

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — At least 20 states will support Texas with friend-of-the-court briefs in its appeal of a ruling that declared the state's school financing system unconstitutional, it was disclosed here.

Executive Asst. Texas Atty. Gen. Alfred Walker revealed the development in a speech Tuesday before the Southern Attorneys' General Conference.

Walker noted the Texas case will be the first involving school financing to go to the U.S. Supreme Court and is expected to affect 48 of the 50 states.

A three-judge federal panel rendered the decision here last December in a San Antonio case, ruling that the Texas public school financing system discriminates on the basis of wealth of individual school districts.

Governor Lauds Move By Mutscher

By Associated Press

Gov. Preston Smith, campaigning in Fort Worth called Mutscher's move a "resignation" and termed it a "wise decision."

At the same time the governor said that the speaker's resignation "will remove the clamor of ambitious politicians for an immediate special session of the legislature."

Another candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Rep. Frances Farenthold, repeated that she had asked Mutscher to resign last September.

Mutscher's announcement was the most important development in Texas politics Tuesday.

In Wichita Falls, Lieut. Gov. Ben Barnes told students at Midwestern University he is against "mass busing from one sorry school to another sorry school."

Barnes said if elected governor, he will appoint "black, brown and young people" to some 1,100 vacant posts.

He drew some laughter when, in an obvious reference to his opponent, Mrs. Farenthold, he said: "I might even like to see a woman governor... some day."

Tom Cartridge, a 29-year-old Vietnam veteran running in the Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate, announced he will take off Monday on a 500-mile walk from Denison to San Antonio that will take six weeks.

Cartridge said he will walk 15 miles a day, spending the nights in a camp trailer or nearby motels.

In Austin Sen. Joe Christie, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, revealed his plans for a canoe caravan down Harris County's Armand Bayou on April 8.

Christie said the purpose of the trip is to get the scenic area declared a state park.

Christie also launched an attack on one of his opponents, Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville, whom he accused of being opposed to education.

City Beautification Projects Finalized By C-C Committee

Several programs designed to beautify Pampa were finalized yesterday at a meeting of the City Beautification Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Guidelines for a yard contest were outlined, with competition to be conducted in six sections of the city in the following areas:

- Area I, all homes west of Hobart and north of Rham.
- Area II, all homes between Hobart and Mary Ellen and north of Foster.
- Area III, homes east of Mary Ellen and north of Harvester.
- Area IV, homes between Harvester and Mary Ellen and north of Foster.
- Area V, homes between Cuyler, Barnes, McCullough, and Tignor St.
- Area VI, homes between Foster, Rham, McCullough, Barnes, and Cuyler St.

No restrictions will be placed on the contest; however, the use of cushion mums was recommended if they fit into the overall landscape plan. The committee decided in order to make judging easier, nominations by friends and neighbors will be helpful. A coupon for this purpose will be run in the newspaper prior to judging. However, all yards in the city will be considered in the contest even though they have not been officially nominated.

Judging will be done during the latter part of September or early October, depending on the seasons and a time when yards will be at their peak.

Appropriate plaques in recognition of first, second, and third place winners in each area will be presented at the October membership luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce. Judging will be done by local members of Pampa's garden clubs.

Arrangements have been made with local flower and plant shops to stock cushion mums, and plants will be available around the first of April.

A new contest being inaugurated this year is for the beautification of service stations within the city. All service stations will compete in one division, with no restrictions on what would be used in the contest; however, the use of cushion mums is again recommended to be included in the plan. Appropriate awards will also be presented to the first, second, and third place winners at the Chamber's October membership meeting of the Chamber. Judging of this contest will again take place in the fall at a time to be decided later.

All service stations are invited and urged to participate in the contest. No entry blanks are necessary, as all stations in the city will be judged and rated.

All business establishments in the city will be recognized for excellence in landscaping of their respective property.

according to Mrs. Thelma Bray, committee chairman. So much interest was shown in the use of mums last year that the committee is now considering the possibility of holding a mum festival during the fall, at which time a flower show and art exhibit might possibly be held, along with some type of outstanding entertainment feature that could be held in the new civic auditorium. Details of this proposal will be announced at the next meeting of the committee.

Every effort will be made by the committee to enlist the participation and interest of management of public institutions in setting the pattern for others to follow in city beautification. It was pointed out in the meeting that now is the time to start making preparations for any type of beautification program that would be undertaken for this year.

City officials attending the meeting reported considerable progress was being made in disposing of dilapidated buildings and cleaning up of debris on vacant lots.

The annual cleanup campaign, which will be city-wide in scope and sponsored by the Fire Prevention & Safety Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will take place the first two weeks in May. Joe Fischer, chairman of the Fire Prevention and Safety Committee, expects to call a meeting of his group within the next few days to finalize plans for the cleanup.

ONLY THE TWO--Becky Taylor, left, 17, 325 N. Christy, and Janie Price, 17, 1130 Williston, were the only two girls who showed up to watch the Harvester inter-squad game yesterday afternoon at Optimist Park. The girls took the time to enjoy the warm spring weather and to relax and watch others work.

TCTA Asked To Withdraw Sanctions Against Schools

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — In what a lawyer called a landmark decision, a judge has ordered the Texas Classroom Teachers Association to withdraw its sanctions against this town's Mexican-American controlled school district. Judge Howard Green of Cuero ordered the TCTA to notify all its chapters of withdrawal of the sanctions. The judgment was entered after a hearing here Tuesday.

Green also ordered the teachers group to pay $500 in damages to the school district, which claimed the sanctions had hampered efforts to recruit and keep teachers.

The TCTA invoked the sanctions last May in the wake of turmoil that developed after the Mexican-American Raza Unida Party gained majority control of the school board. Urging teachers not to accept jobs here, the TCTA said it found "deplorable teaching conditions" after a team conducted an investigation at the request of the local TCTA chapter.

Jesse Gamez of San Antonio, one of the lawyers handling the case for the school district, said the judge's decision is a landmark ruling that will have broad implications if the TCTA appeals and loses.

"If the TCTA loses its power to invoke sanctions, it would be the end of the TCTA," Gamez declared.

Crystal City has been split by controversy for months with the Raza Unida takeover of school and city politics.

Changes under the Mexican-American party's leadership have led some residents to establish a private community school and others to leave Crystal City so their children would not have to attend school here.

AT PADRE ISLAND Easter Rock Festival Appears To Be Possible

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — An on-again, off-again Easter rock festival at South Padre Island apparently is on again as promoters make plans to use an isolated section of beach in Willacy County.

Wendy Maloy of Harlingen, one of the promoters of what he calls the "Easter Rock Fiesta," said Tuesday it will be held Saturday, April 1—the day before Easter.

South Padre Island Chamber of Commerce president Robert McCausland said a day earlier there would be no rock festival on the resort island Easter weekend.

South Padre Island is a popular gathering place for college students during the holiday weekend even without a rock festival or fiesta. Last year an estimated 65,000 persons gathered there during Easter weekend for a surfing contest and other events.

Cameron County Judge Ray Ramon rejected a proposal by Cecil McDonald of Pharr to stage a rock festival at the island last year. Under Texas law, such a festival can be halted by a county judge if it comes under the mass gathering statute.

Maloy told Willacy County Judge Bill Rapp and newsmen Tuesday he has studied the law with a Harlingen lawyer and thinks he can conduct the fiesta without violating it.

Rapp said Maloy told him 5,000 tickets are being sold at $6 each. He said the fiesta would last only four hours, making it fall within the statute which governs gatherings of 12 hours or more.

Rapp said he foresaw many difficulties involved in such an undertaking. Maloy was able to give newsmen at least verbal solutions to some of the problems.

"There are no health or sanitation facilities at the site and it is difficult to reach, even by boat," Rapp said. Maloy said promoters plan to transport spectators up the beach through Cameron County on trailers pulled by four-wheel drive vehicles.

USDA: Beef Not Plentiful Food Since '67

WASHINGTON (AP) — According to a consumer-oriented promotion campaign operated by the Agriculture Department, beef has not been a "plentiful food" since June 1967.

A spokesman said that was the last time beef was featured on the department's monthly "plentiful foods list," which is aimed at promoting items considered in superabundance and in price trouble at the farm level. Cattle prices have risen since then and recently have averaged the highest on record. Supermarket beef prices, too, have been at record peaks.

Memorial Fund For Mrs. Davis Set Up By Family And Friends

The family and friends of the late Mrs. Mel Davis are paying tribute to her memory by establishing a memorial and tribute fund at the White Deer Land Museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, both deceased, came from pioneer families that were among the very early settlers in this area. Before her death, Mrs. Davis was a tireless worker at the museum, giving much of her time and talents in helping prepare and display many of the exhibits now seen at the museum.

Since the museum was of such special interest to her, her family selected and established the fund as a tribute to her in the hope others will use it in the future to remember their loved ones or to mark special occasions such as birthdays and anniversaries.

Local Church Will Hold Open House

The Pampa ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon), 731 Sloan, will hold an open house for the public this Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Various displays, exhibits and a film will be presented from 7:30 to 9 p.m. each night. The short film, "The Three Witnesses," depicts the testimonies of three early-day church members concerning the authenticity of the Book of Mormon.

Each auxiliary of the church will have displays concerning the activities and work of the church members.

Two sets of missionaries and different auxiliary members will be on hand to show guests the various displays and exhibits. Refreshments will also be served.

Mailing address for donations to the fund is: White Deer Land Museum, P.O. Box 1556, Pampa, Texas, 79065. Special mailing envelopes are available at the museum for anyone wishing to pick them up for future use. Proper acknowledgement forms will be mailed by the museum to the donor.

The museum, located at 116 S. Cuyler, was established by the late M.K. Brown in order to preserve the history and heritage of the Panhandle area.

At his direction, the M.K. Brown Foundation continued development of the museum under the direction of Mrs. Fred Thompson, curator, and with the help of many volunteer workers. The museum was deeded to Gray County in 1971.

When the memorial fund was established, the County Judge appointed a committee of Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Leora Rose and Adell Myers to administer the fund.

The fund will be used for future development and expansion of the museum, a need already felt as the entire first floor and carriage house are completely filled.

From September through May the museum is open from 2-5 p.m. on Sunday. During the summer months of June, July and August, it is open from 2-5 p.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Special tours may be booked for other times by calling the museum office at (806) 665-5521 for a reservation.

In the short time since the museum opened last year, more than 5,000 visitors have registered in the guest book. These have included local and out-of-state visitors, foreign visitors and various school, club and scout organizations.

Texas Voting Requirements Affected By Court Decision

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court apparently threw out Texas' residence requirements for voters when it nullified similar rules for Tennessee Tuesday.

Tennessee requires voters to live in the state a year and in their counties three months before an election.

In Texas, voters must live in the state 12 months and in their counties six months.

"It would appear that the

Austin Police Nab Naked Man

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A bearded naked man wielding a six-foot-long wooden staff bolted away from seven police officers but was arrested later, clad in a white sheet, at a woman's apartment.

The woman told police the man claimed he was her husband. He was not, she said.

It started Monday evening when police received a telephone call that a nude man was strolling in Pease Park, near the popular Hike and Bike Trail. Park ranger Ormer Greely said he tried to arrest the man, who whacked the ranger on the side of the head, opening up a three-inch cut that required 15 stitches to close.

Greely said he threw his night stick at the fleeing man, and it hit him on the leg. "You hit me. Help me. Help me," Greely quoted the man as saying before charging Greely with the staff.

Greely said he sprayed a chemical into the man's face and radioed for help. A patrolman arrived and also used the chemical spray, but the man raced across Shoal Creek, busy Lamar Boulevard and past a tennis center.

The woman called about midnight to report the man in her apartment, and officers arrested him there. Homicide Lt. Colon Jordan said the man would be examined by doctors.

court's opinion will definitely affect the Texas law; however, we will have to await the full opinion before drawing any specific conclusion concerning what action will be necessary for Texas to comply with the ruling," said Secretary of State Bob Bullock, Texas' chief election officer.

The Supreme Court indicated 30 days was a sufficient residence requirement. This would fit with Texas' law shutting down voter registration 30 days before each election.

Nixon's Proposal On School Busing Comes Under Fire

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — President Nixon's proposed busing moratorium came under fire Tuesday from the attorney general of a state already shaken by a controversial court ruling on school consolidation.

Atty. Gen. Andrew Miller of Virginia declared that the President's proposal "confirms a dual standard that exists between the North and South."

Miller discussed the Nixon Administration plan in a speech outlining a recent federal court ruling that consolidated the school districts of Richmond, and two adjoining counties.

The Nixon moratorium would apply to court orders entered after enactment of the legislation.

Chicken Believed Introduced Into Americas By Orientals

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Dr. George F. Carter isn't too concerned whether the chicken came before the egg. The Texas A&M University geographer, however, is concerned about when the chicken came to the New World.

He is convinced the chicken was introduced into the Americas by orientals.

Since the chicken is generally regarded to have been a fellow traveler of the Spanish, Dr. Carter's theory ruffles the feathers of persons holding to the popular concept that Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492. Somebody may end up eating the chicken's poor relation—crow.

Dr. Carter bases his case on North American discoveries of chicken bones eating back to about 1000 A.D., as well as the races, names and uses of chicken in Central and South America.

The professor notes four sites have been found in Arizona with chicken bones dating back to 1000 A.D. Another find in New Mexico has been determined to date back to the 1350-1400 A.D. era.

If chickens were in Arizona and New Mexico during either of those periods, they had to have been in other parts of the Americas even earlier, Dr. Carter surmises.

The home of the chicken is India, relates the Texas A&M professor who is perhaps the world's foremost authority on the fowl and delights in chiding poultry growers for not caring anything about chickens "except what they weigh and lay."

From India, the chicken spread to China and the Mediterranean, with distinct characteristics for each variety, Dr. Carter adds.

Chickens in Central and South America are definitely of the Asiatic variety, with even the name used by one South American Indian group being almost identical to that used in India, the professor contends.

The evidence is compounded, he maintains, by the way chickens have traditionally been used in Central and South America.

Rather than being grown for food, chickens were kept by the New World Indians for magical purposes—the same custom prevalent in Asia.

"Chickens were first used for magic, later for cockfighting and the last thing anyone did with them was eat them and their eggs."

MARTHA

Two bright and lovely sisters were Mary and Martha, living on the outskirts of Jerusalem with their brother Lazarus. Martha gains fame for being the eldest and running the day-to-day affairs of the household. They may have been wealthy, for they had their own home and the means to entertain Jesus and his friends frequently. Martha is remembered for her remark to Jesus that he encourage sister Mary to excuse herself from living room conversations and help out in the preparation of dinner. Instead, Jesus suggests that Martha is racing around to gather a Thanksgiving dinner when only a sandwich is needed. He needles her by saying that Mary has a better set of priorities—the pursuit of truth and the search for salvation. Christ's reminder to Martha is meant for everyone who gets lost in detail, lesser goals and minor ambitions.

by DAVID POLING

THE GOOD THIEF

In Palestine, crucifixion was the punishment for theft, sedition and tumult. Two criminals joined the third execution of Good Friday. Jesus would have companionship, even in dying. And, as in His life, one would be a critic, the other a believer. St. Luke reports that one victim derides Jesus for not acting like the Messiah and saving them all from such a savage death.

But the Good Thief rebukes his companion in crime and asserts that Christ is an innocent man, undeserving of death. Then turning to Jesus, he asks to be remembered when he comes into glory.

Recognizing true humility and repentance, Jesus says, "Today, thou shalt be with me in paradise." Eternal life belongs to those who have put their trust in the Son of God.

Council Recommends Repeal Of Jail Terms For Private 'Grass' Smoking

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse Tuesday recommended repeal of all jail terms and fines for private pot smoking, but not for its cultivation or sale.

After a year's study, chartered by Congress, the conservative panel unanimously proposed a national policy of using "persuasion rather than prosecution" to discourage smoking of marijuana.

But it stopped short of recommending outright legalization, expressing the hope that marijuana is a fad that will lose favor if de-emphasized.

It said marijuana is far less dangerous than the American public thinks. It found little or no evidence that marijuana can kill, cause addiction, brain damage or birth defects, or lead to crime, violence or necessarily to more powerful drugs.

But it did find that long-term, daily use of marijuana by adolescents sometimes contributes to a general lack of motivation, concluded that anyone driving under the influence of marijuana is a serious threat to public safety and said that heavy, daily use over a number of years may cause some damage to heart and lungs.

"In general, we recommend only a decriminalization of possession of marijuana for personal use on both the state and federal levels," the commission said.

Specifically, it recommended:

—Elimination of fines and jail terms for smoking marijuana in private or possessing one ounce or less.

—Retention of felony penalties for growing marijuana, selling it for profit or possessing it with intent to sell.

—Fines of up to $100 for smoking in public, public possession of more than one ounce, or not-for-profit distribution of small amounts in public.

—Jail terms of up to 60 days and a $100 fine for disorderly conduct linked to public marijuana use or intoxication.

—Penalties of up to a year in jail, a $1,000 fine and suspension of operator's permit for driving a vehicle or operating any dangerous instrument while under the influence of marijuana.

—Classification of marijuana as contraband that could be confiscated by police wherever found outside the home, even if the possessor were not liable for criminal penalties.

The 13 commissioners were not unanimous in all their recommendations. Reps. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., and Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., recommended noncriminal fines for possession of any amount of marijuana in public or in private. Former Illinois chief investigator Mitchell Ware recommended noncriminal penalties such as mandatory drug-education classes or civil fines. Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, opposed making marijuana contraband and urged some other points in the direction of greater civil liberty.

There was little advance indication how the report would be received by President Nixon, who appointed most of the commission's members. He said he would ignore any recommendation to completely legalize marijuana but said Monday he thinks some penalties for possession are too harsh.

The commission's chairman, former Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, appeared to anticipate a not-entirely warm welcome in his letter forwarding the 184-page document to Nixon and the Congress.

Shafer, a Republican, said the report attempts "to place in proper perspective one of the most emotional and explosive issues of our time."

"Whatever the facts are, we have reported them," he said. "Wherever the facts have logically led us, we have followed and used them in reaching our recommendations."

During its study the commission chartered more than 50 research projects, recorded thousands of pages of transcripts from formal and informal hearings in cities across the nation, including confidential sessions with marijuana users, and studied effects on long-term users in Jamaica, Greece, India and Afghanistan.

The commission sponsored a nationwide survey of beliefs and attitudes concerning marijuana. It found that an estimated 24 million Americans have tried the stuff, 8.3 million still use it and 500,000 use it at least daily.

In recommending decriminalization of marijuana use, the commission urged a scheme similar to that which existed for alcohol during Prohibition.

Dear Abby

Husband's scheme may go up in smoke

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a farmer, and he is planning to plant some marijuana along with corn and other crops.

He says if he gets busted and goes to jail, he won't mind serving a year because he could make so much money off the marijuana, it will be worth it.

We have five kids, and things have been rough for us financially. I've told him I think he's foolish to take a chance, but he says he loves me, that's the reason he wants to get rich quick. Then he can give me and the kids a better life.

Abby, I don't like his idea at all, but he says if I loved him I'd go along with it. I do love him, but I still can't. Any suggestions?

FARMER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband's get-rich-quick scheme could go up in smoke faster than he thinks. And he stands to serve a lot more than a year if he's caught. Tell him that if he loves YOU, he'll stick to corn and other crops, and forget the marijuana.

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed "Quietly Burning" complained because her husband always called her "Hey," or "Say, there."

I'll bet anything her husband was of Scandinavian descent. My husband never called me "Honey," or any other endearing name, and we have had over 40 years of the most successful marriage possible. He's a Swede, and Swedes are naturally very cold, undemonstrative and nonverbal. But once you thaw out a Swede, watch out!

MARRIED ONE

DEAR MARRIED: Okay. So exactly how does one go about "thawing out" a Swede?

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to correct the thinking of "George," who had qualms about his daughter's marrying a conscientious objector because in his view, a conscientious objector would not fight to protect his family.

A conscientious objector is one who, because of a deeply held moral or ethical code, or because of religious beliefs, cannot engage in any war without betraying the principles most influential in his life. There is no requirement that he be completely nonviolent or unwilling to defend his family.

There is an enormous difference between defending oneself from personal attack, and participating in the indiscriminate mass killing and destruction of modern warfare, which finds most of its victims among innocent civilians, and drops bombs from six miles in the air with a killing range of a square mile, defoliating, and destroying food supplies.

I would be very happy if my daughter were to marry a conscientious objector, for it shows concern for humanity and conscience which can only help in human relationships, marital and every other. Yours,

LEONARD M. LAKE, HARRISON, N. Y.

DEAR MR. L.: Yours was only one of many, many responses echoing the same sentiments.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROBERT P. IN N. Y. C.: Your cats are NOT homosexual. A true homosexual will, when given a choice, choose a partner of his own sex, but in the absence of his preference, he will "make do" with whatever is handy. [As some humans do.] Dr. Herman Salt is not in error. There are no four-legged gay cats!

Austin-Phillips Vows Repeated In Arlington

Miss Pamela Sue Austin of Arlington and Teddy Phil Phillips of Allison exchanged nuptial vows Feb. 26, in the First Christian Church of Arlington.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Austin of Arlington, and the bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Mitchell Phillips of Allison.

THE CEREMONY
The Rev. M.P. Bishop of Mansfield officiated for the double-ring ceremony. The couple was married before an altar decorated with an arrangement of white gladioli, flanked by a delabra entwined with greenery.

Mrs. Charles Crowl played traditional wedding selections, including the theme from "Love Story," "A Time For Us," and "We've Only Just Begun."

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of polyester satin, embroidered with Venice lace. The bodice was styled with a Victorian neckline and long sleeves gathered into wide cuffs at the wrist. The bodice, neckline, sleeves and empire waistline were highlighted with appliques of Venice lace. The floor-length skirt was designed with a watteau chapel train. Her only jewelry was a gold necklace, worn by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. W.A. Shewmake of Grayford, when she was married.

Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a jewel-encrusted Dior bow, and she carried a cascade bouquet of carnations, baby's breath and English ivy.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Carolyn Austin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Patty Austin, Miss Paula Long and Mrs. Howard McDaniel, all of Arlington.

All were attired in princess-style gowns of wedgewood blue velvet. Their headpieces were Dior bows with short illusion veils, and they carried Colonial bouquets.

Flower girls were Kelly and Shelly Howl.

Mike Honeycutt of Arlington served as best man, and groomsmen were Terry Phillips of Pampa, Joe Conner of Arlington and Joe Caraway of Fort Worth. Ushers were Denney Rhodes of Arlington and Phillip Shewmake of Grayford.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

THURSDAY, MARCH 23

Your birthday today: This is a year of sudden breaks, many of them toward greater freedom of action, simplification of daily living. Clear off surplus material belongings that no longer serve a real function. For many, this is a time of relocation. Home, family and emotional relations progress as well, are even helped by change. Today's natives have both good humor and the knack of getting right to the point.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Tend to your home and its public appearance today. Your friends and family are helpful if you let them share. Pursue romance where you're eligible.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: There's a lucky break for you, some extra result from a past good turn—if you took the trouble then. Reconsider financial arrangements.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Whatever you have been hiding comes into public view, particularly if you do too much about it now. Romantic ventures are tempting. Share a joke.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: It is time for discreet changes, shifting of accounts, development of added connections. Set aside time for advice on health care.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: That urge for escape, diversion in far places may be the most healthy reaction after all, indulge it if you can. Make sure of where you are, before taking off.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: An overlong wait can become a sudden move as unexpected temptations arise, strangers appear. Plan thoroughly for trips or changes.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: You can farm out portions of the general round of activities and get back added results, benefits of extra contacts, fresh outlets.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: It's a day of decision. Leave the past behind; go on with future plans, sharing with those you care about.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Give a presentation and go directly to the point. You can have almost anything within reason now. Bring home a welcome surprise to your loved ones.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Bridge gaps, forgive and forget past differences. New plans are in order, have no hesitation in scrapping outdated ideas.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Seek medical, legal or other technical advice today—with a firm resolve to apply it fully. One thing at a time is enough.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Tension relaxes and you have a more level eye for financial moves. Call in all those concerned, sell your program so there's no confusion later.

Geneva Fay Miller Weds Carroll Wayne Woodard

Miss Geneva Fay Miller and Carroll Wayne Woodard, both of Groom, were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 19, in the United Methodist Church of Groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.J. Miller of Groom and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bill Lowe of Hedley, and the late Jack Woodard.

THE CEREMONY

Rev. C.R. Copeland of Loraine, Tex., officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Miss Joyce Anne Batten of Richardson, cousin of the bride, was pianist and played "Ave Maria," "Always," "The Lord's Prayer," and the traditional wedding marches.

The couple was married before a setting of two 14-branched candelabra, entwined with greenery, and two large arrangements of white gladioli. Pews were marked with aisle candles, and white bows, accented with greenery.

THE BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace over bridal taffeta. The fitted bodice was styled with a Victorian neckline, long tapered sleeves and a natural waistline that formed a "v" at the center front. The bouffant, floor-length skirt, designed with tiers of lace, ruffles, extended into a chapel train. A small ribbon bow, embroidered with seed pearls, accented the neckline.

Her waist-length, four-tiered veil of imported illusion fell from a coil embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

She followed the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue and she placed a penny in her shoe.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Juanita Kay Miller of Groom, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Gay Miller of Groom, sister of the bride; and Miss Lee Ann Woodard of Hedley, sister of the bridegroom.

All wore identical gowns of royal blue satin, styled with empire waistlines, round necklines and short puffed sleeves. The floor-length, A-line skirts were accented in the back with large bows and long streamers. Their headpieces were of royal blue illusion fastened to a royal blue satin ring. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

Kelly Woodard of Hedley, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her gown was identical to those of the bridal attendants. Dane Eakin of White Deer was ringbearer.

Terry Drum of Lubbock served as best man, and groomsmen were Johnny Woodard of Amarillo, uncle of the bridegroom, and Jerry Britten of Groom. Henry Jacobs of Houston was an usher.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church's Fellowship Hall, the serving table was covered with a white lace cloth over royal blue satin. The centerpiece was a bouquet of gladioli, carnations and roses, flanked by candles.

The four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with white roses, bells and blue hearts, was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Johnny Woodard of Amarillo, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Curtis Whatley of Groom, aunt of the bride, served the cake. Guests

Hungry to Read

Do you know how many people go to bed hungry each night? One million? Two million? Colorado State University's "Pesticide Pipeline" reports two billion people—that's two-thirds of the world's population—have an insufficient food supply. This hunger leads to 10,000 deaths from starvation every day. Undernourished children and adults become victims of diseases the average person probably has never seen or has 1 of, or die from illnesses which our well-nourished bodies fight off with ease.

MR. AND MRS. CARROLL WOODARD

were registered by Miss Pat Miller of Pampa, aunt of the bride. Others in the houseparty were Misses Debra, Sharlene and Sheila Whatley, and Miss Margie Baggerman, all of Groom and all cousins of the bride.

For the wedding trip to Amarillo, the bride wore a baby-blue knit dress. Her corsage was of the white roses from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside on a farm near Groom.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride, a 1971 graduate of Groom High School, is employed by the Homen Meat Company of Groom. The bridegroom, a 1970 graduate of Hedley High School, is employed by Melvin Asberry of Groom.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS
Pre-nuptial events included a shower in Groom, hosted by Mmes. John L. Witt, Bob Newton, Lee Kirk, E.H. Weinheimer, Henry Merrick, Troy Treadwell, Ted Major, Don Smith, Bill McKee, Jack Barnett, Ernest Weller and M.B. Bolden.

The rehearsal dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O.J.

Cotillion Club Slates Antique Show, Sale

The Twentieth Century Cotillion Club of Pampa will sponsor its 10th Annual Antique Show and Sale in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn, March 24, 25, and 26. This year's show will feature everything antique from primitive and cut glass to dolls and furniture, and will be open Friday and Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

All of the proceeds from the show have annually gone to the Opportunity Plan, Incorporated, at West Texas State University, Canyon. This is a student loan plan that assists worthy and financially-troubled students through college.

The Opportunity Plan, Inc., is comprised of 42 divisions, of which the Cotillion Club's fund is one division. This fund grows through contributions only, as there is no interest involved. Because of the rotating nature of the funds, Cotillion Club's account, which totals $11,155.50 from the past nine antique shows, has enabled 31 students to use this money for their education. As these funds are repaid to the account, other students are then able to borrow from it.

According to Milton (Buff) Morris, director of the Opportunity Plan, more than 2,700 students from virtually every town in the Texas Panhandle have been recipients of the loan aid. Cotillion Club's fund now has 15 students using this money to complete their education.

Tickets to the show are $1. and are available from any 20th Century Cotillion member or at the door. Mrs. Don Morrison is show chairman, with Mrs. Dean Copeland as co-chairman and Mrs. Ed McLaughlin as publicity chairman. President of the women's organization is Mrs. Ben Sturgeon.

GARDEN POPULAR

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (AP)—In 1971 more than 70,000 persons visited the city's Nikka Yuko Japanese gardens, 10,000 more than in 1970. Paid admissions totalled 58,600 with about 12,000 elementary school children visiting free on school tours.

Contrasts Of Texas Explained

"Our Environment—Texas, Land of Contrast," was the program presented by Mrs. Carl Smith at the recent meeting of the Civic Culture Club in the home of Mrs. Emmett Osborne.

Mrs. Smith told the women that Texas is composed of plains, mountains, swamps, deserts, coastal plains, river and lakes, and has all kinds of climate and weather, including snow storms and desert heat to tropic conditions along the coast.

Texas' industry has developed from the first killing of buffalo for hides and bone, to the long-horned cattle and wild horses, to agriculture, started by the "nesters," to oil and gas, to tourism on its lakes and play grounds, she said.

"Texas' industry has come a long way from the Indians and buffalo to NASA and the Moon," she concluded.

During the business session, plans were made to attend the district convention, to be held in Dumas Friday and Saturday.

Members present were Mmes. E.L. Anderson, Irvin Cole, A.B. Cross, F.R. Grantham, A.D. Hills, John McKerney, Emmett Osborne, J. J. Rance, Carl Smith, H.W. Waters and Chester Williams.

Federated Clubs Slate Convention

"Diamond Jubilee of Enrichment" is the theme of the Top of Texas Federated Clubs' district convention, to be held Thursday and Friday in Dumas.

Among the guests will be Mrs. R.L. Whatley of Fairfield, second vice president of the state organization.

Mrs. Byron Wright is general chairman of the convention, with Mrs. Harold Shoulders, district first vice president, as co-chairman.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, with a board luncheon slated for noon. The first general session will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Highlight of the Thursday night banquet will be performances by the Dumas High School choir, "The Chamber Singers," and the "Tumbleweed Players," a local little theater group. An "afterglow" will be held in the suite of Mrs. Lawson following the banquet.

The pioneer club women will be honored at a coffee Friday morning, with "Fashion For Fun" to be the theme of the noon luncheon.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M.D.

Clark cites an interesting sex difference between women vs. men. It also verifies the strategy used in Germany to quell a strike, after an explosion of ammonia tanks in World War I. Are men or women more likely to be "office grasshoppers" or "thermostats"?

CASE T-534: Clark K., age 35 is a heating engineer. "Dr. Crane," he began, "in my profession we have noticed an interesting sex difference between women vs. men. For we find that women workers in an office seem to have much more frequent fluctuations of their skin temperature."

"If we set the thermostat at 72 degrees in an office, the men never think about changing the temperature."

"But every hour or so a woman secretary or stenographer will run over to the thermostat to set it higher or lower."

"So it is now a standard practice in our field to install two thermostats."

"One is the real McCoy and it is not out in plain sight of all the women employees."

"The other is a 'phony' which we place where all the women can see it."

"Then, when they want to make their hourly variation in the thermostat, they can run over to it and move it higher or lower, as they see fit."

"Actually, it isn't even connected with the furnace at all."

"But they don't know this fact, so they apparently feel content to have done their own tampering with the source of heat."

"Why should women do so much more complaining about room temperature than men do?"

FICKLE FEMALES
Our psychology labs have shown that we human beings can make very fine distinctions in temperature by our skin.

In fact, by dipping our fingers into pans of water, we can notice whether the temperature is the "same" or "different," down to one-eighth of a degree.

So women office workers, with much more bare skin exposed to the air, thus become very much aware of slight changes in room temperature.

The men generally wear coats and shirts with collars, plus long sleeves, so their skin is insulated far more, against the surrounding air.

And if the men grow a little warm, they will shed their coat or loosen their tie and unbutton their shirt collar.

Women, however, have very little to "loosen," so they act like grasshoppers, jumping up and down to complain about the variation in the room temperature.

Men, too, use more logic and dress according to the weatherman's report.

Miss Rogers said, "Howard was one of the best dancers I ever knew, and fascinating to be with. Terribly bright and intelligent. But he was immersed in his work."

Miss De Carlo recalled, "He even went with me while I shopped for a new suit, but he didn't like anything I tried on. So he designed a dress for me on a piece of scratch paper."

Miss Russell wore a special brassiere in "The Outlaw," the film that made her famous. But contrary to one recent report, she said Hughes "never designed the metal bra I wore in that picture."

Casper Returns To Golf Circuit

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Billy Casper, rested and ready after a month of fishing, makes his return to the tour this week as one of the top attractions in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

"I've only played five or six times since I've been off," Casper said before a practice round Wednesday on the 7,080-yard, par 72 Lakewood Country Club course.

"I spent most of the time just fishing, a minimum of three times a week."

"I just got away and forgot about it. I think it's the best thing I could possibly have done."

Casper, who has collected more than 40 tour titles and is one of the game's three $1 million prize winners, skipped the entire Florida swing and has been off the tour for four weeks.

He's won only once in the last 18 months. In six starts this season, Casper has missed the cut twice and has won only $9,393, most of it off a seventh place finish in the Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Plagued by playing problems, he'd become uncharacteristically grim, tight-lipped and short-tempered before breaking away for a rest.

"I feel much, much better now, rested and relaxed—and a little fat," Casper said.

As usual, he ranks high on the list of favorites for the $25,000 first prize in this 72-hole event that begins Thursday.

The top choices, however, are Jack Nicklaus, South African Gary Player and defending champion Frank Beard. Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino are not competing.

Abdul-Jabbar Named MVP

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was named today the Most Valuable Player in the National Basketball Association for the second straight season.

The poll of all the players in the NBA was conducted by Newspaper Enterprise Association (NEA), in conjunction with the league office. Players were not permitted to vote for themselves or teammates.

The 7-2 Milwaukee Buck center will receive the Podoloff Cup, symbolic of the league's regular season MVP.

Since the inception of the MVP award in 1956, only two other players have won back-to-back awards: Bill Russell won three straight (1960-61 through '62-'63 seasons) and Wilt Chamberlain won three straight ('65-'66 through '67-'68).

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (known last season as Lew Alcindor) has been a dominant factor in the league since he entered it from UCLA in 1969. He has won the award twice in his three years in the league and last season led the Bucks to a world championship, as his team beat the Baltimore Bullets four straight games in the play-off finals.

Abdul-Jabbar led the league in scoring last season with a 31.7 average, and has led the NBA most of this season with a slightly higher average. He is also one of the leaders in rebounds.

One frustrating phenomenon is that Jerry West, Los Angeles Laker guard, has finished second in the balloting for the third straight season. Chamberlain was third.

Abdul-Jabbar polled a total of 581 points (five points for a first place, three for second, one for third) with 81 first-place votes, 52 for second and 20 for third. West had a total of 393 points (44-42-47) and Chamberlain 294 (36-25-39).

The most first-place votes received by another player was two, by Bob Lanier of Detroit, Nate Archibald of Cincinnati, Dave Cowens of Boston and Spencer Haywood of Seattle.

Razorbacks Open

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks opened spring football practice today for the 15th year under Coach Frank Broyles.

All but three players were expected to be ready. Center Stuart Freeland and fullback Jim Fryer were hampered by knee problems and defensive tackle Archie Bennett was still recovering from a gunshot wound suffered about two weeks ago.

Bennett was dismissed from the hospital Sunday.

Redmen Scalp Titans

NEW YORK (AP) — St. John's played the first half for the Rev. Henry Honsberger and the second half for Mel Davis.

The double dedication was disastrous for Oral Roberts' basketball team Tuesday night.

"I know it sounds corny, but we played the game for those guys," said St. John's Coach Frank Mulzoff after his New York favorites slammed the high-scoring Titans 94-78 in the quarter-finals of the 35th National Invitation Tournament.

The Redmen made it into Thursday night's semifinals at Madison Square Garden on an emotional high after Niagara upset Princeton 65-60.

Mulzoff said the contest was at first dedicated to Rev. Honsberger, who was very sick in a New York hospital.

Davis, the team's top player, started strongly but suffered a pulled tendon in his right knee deep in the first half and had to be carried from the game on a stretcher.

It was then that the team decided to dedicate the second half to their fallen star.

"It was one of Mel's best games until that point," said Mulzoff. "I've never seen him jump higher in a game."

The powerhouse forward scored 12 points and had 12 rebounds in just about 14 minutes. His last bucket was a crashing lay-in that gave St. John's a commanding 37-23 advantage.

Davis spilled to the floor, his face snarled in pain. He was taken to a hospital, where it was revealed that he would be a "doubtful" starter for the semifinal match against Niagara.

NFL Pulls Triple Play

HONOLULU (AP) — National Football League owners have pulled off an unprecedented triple play that establishes Los Angeles and Houston as the host cities for the next two Super Bowls and re-routes the Pro Bowl game from Los Angeles to alternating American and National Conference sites.

The unprecedented action—setting up successive Super Bowl sites—came Tuesday on a compromise proposed by Bud Adams, the owner of the Houston Oilers, after the 26 club owners appeared deadlocked over whether to award the 1973 Super Bowl game to Los Angeles or Houston.

The compromise covered both. It returned the Super Bowl to the Los Angeles Coliseum at the end of the 1972 season for the first time since Super Bowl I and gave the 1974 Super Bowl to Houston's Rice Stadium for the city's first opportunity at hosting pro football's premier spectacle.

It made Houston only the fourth city ever to be awarded a Super Bowl game—Los Angeles having hosted the first and Miami and New Orleans the last five post-season extravaganzas. Miami and New Orleans both made presentations at the meeting.

In order to accommodate Los Angeles as the Super Bowl site, the owners shifted the site of the Pro Bowl game, which has been a fixture in that city since 1951, to Dallas, Tex., stadium for 1973 and an AFC city in 1974. The AFC site was not picked.

That makes the Super Bowl-Pro Bowl schedule for the next two years look like this at a glance:

Jan. 14, 1973—Super Bowl at Los Angeles (Coliseum)

Jan. 20-21-23, 1973—Pro Bowl at Dallas (Texas Stadium)

Jan. 13, 1974—Super Bowl at Houston (Rice Stadium)

Jan. 19-20-21, 1974—Pro Bowl at AFC site to be selected.

The three dates for the pro bowls cover the game being played either Saturday or Sunday, or possibly Monday as an extension of the popular Monday night series of national telecasts.

In announcing the shift of the Pro Bowl out of Los Angeles, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the owners had reached agreement with the Los Angeles newspapers that have sponsored the Pro Bowl to have a share of the gate receipts from the Dallas game to go to the publishers' charities.

In making their presentation before the NFL owners, the Los Angeles delegation avoided reference to the first Super Bowl game, which was a distinct disappointment to the NFL ownership when some 30,000 seats turned up empty.

Owens Signs Letter

Bobby Owen was the fifth gridster from the 1971 Harvester district champions to find a college home.

Bob signed his letter of intent at North Texas State University at Denton.

Coach Bobby Way came from Denton to receive Bob's letter.

Harvester coach Bob Sanders made several of the contacts for Bobby and commented "the teaching staff and I saw Bob has talent and needs a scholarship."

He went on to add, "I had more influence at North Texas because that is where I went to school."

"Bob was one of the most overlooked offensive backs this year, as he was lined up behind two 9.8 hundred runners," said Sanders.

"Of course, they didn't accept him because of a recommendation from me. They saw several films, talked to him and observed him in track," added Sanders.

Bob helped himself with a 4.7 40-yard dash and a 49-second quarter.

Bob started offensively and defensively for the Harvesters this year and helped them on to district.

Bob plans to major in physical therapy at school.

"This is the best thing that has happened around our house in a long time," commented Charles Owen, Bob's father.

The four Harvester gridsters who preceded Owen in signing letters of intent were Tibby Rogers at West Texas University, Dale Ammons at Texas A&M, Garvin McCarroll at University of Texas at Arlington, and Al Ferguson at University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

UCLA Out For Victory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA Coach John Wooden would prefer not playing a team coached by one of his ex-players or one of his ex-assistants, but even though you combine the two, the Bruins be out to win.

They meet Louisville Thursday night with the winner playing for the NCAA title which UCLA has captured the past five campaigns.

Denny Crum, three years an assistant to Wooden and a Bruin player for two, assumed the coaching job at Louisville this season.

"I'd prefer not to play teams coached by my very close friends or ex-players. It's just like playing against a relative," Wooden mused. "I coached against my brother when we both were with high schools."

Winners of the UCLA-Louisville and North Carolina-Florida State games meet for the national collegiate title at the Los Angeles Sports Arena Saturday afternoon.

Crum, 34, acknowledges that he uses much of the Wooden method in his debut as a head coach. He also admits the two had differences of opinion.

"We did have differences in some respects," he told the Southern California Basketball Writers in a telephone interview Tuesday. "But the things he does in the majority of cases are right."

Wooden, Crum, Dean Smith of North Carolina and Hugh Durham of Florida State were in agreement on one aspect of this tournament—they will stick with the offenses and defenses which have brought them this far.

Guard Jim Price has been the star for Louisville and Wooden was asked what he planned to counteract him.

"I'm not just certain," he replied. "We'll have Henry Bibby guard him on the outside. If he takes the low post, we'll make changes and he does go to the low post a lot."

Louisville's Crum naturally was asked how he expected to stop UCLA's 6-foot 11 sophomore All-American Bill Walton. All he could say was, "Nothing is impossible. If you do stop him, you've done a great job."

Baseball Roundup

By Associated Press

There comes a time in most ballplayers' careers when, after a particularly rough day, they wonder if they shouldn't be doing some other job.

That time came to Bobby Darwin in 1970, not after a tough game, but after a tough season. Darwin had been bouncing around various minor league whistestops for eight years, disguised as a pitcher. When he had an 0-6 record and 6.49 earned run average for Spokane in 1970, he decided it was time to try something else. Something like the outfield.

Now Darwin is a slugger instead of a slinger. A rookie at 29, he is making a strong bid for a job with the Minnesota Twins. The converted hurler belted two home runs Tuesday—his fifth and sixth of the spring—giving the Twins a 4-2 decision over Boston.

In other exhibition games Tuesday, Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 2-1, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis 5-3, the Chicago Cubs dropped Milwaukee 5-3. San Diego nipped Cleveland 4-3, Oakland shut out California 6-0, the New York Yankees trimmed the Chicago White Sox 7-1, Kansas City outlasted Texas 9-7, the New York Mets defeated Baltimore 4-2 and Atlanta defeated Montreal 4-2. In other games, Houston and Los Angeles battled to a 2-2 tie and San Francisco and the Tokyo Lotte Orions tied 1-1.

Darwin, who hit 27 homers for the Hermosillo club to lead the Mexican Pacific Coast League during the winter, now has 18 runs batted in for 42 spring swings.

He tagged a leadoff homer against Lew Krausse in the second inning and then drilled a two-run shot, giving the Twins the lead in the seventh.

Rookie pitcher Mike Ruddell, trimmed from the Cincinnati squad earlier, allowed three straight walks in the eighth inning, forcing home Philadelphia's winning run against the Reds. Greg Luzinski and Oscar Gamble cracked two hits apiece for the Phillies while the Reds' spring scoring slump continued. Cincinnati has managed just three earned runs in 59 innings.

Rookie Richie Zisk, fighting to win a job on the world champion Pittsburgh roster, slugged a three-run pinch homer that carried the Pirates to a 5-3 victory over St. Louis. It was his third homer of the spring.

Gene Clines also homered for the Pirates, who were blanked over the first five innings by Bob Gibson. Dock Ellis worked seven innings for the Pirates and was touched for a homer by batting champ Joe Torre.

The Cubs jolted ex-teammate Earl Stephenson for four eighth-inning runs to beat Milwaukee. Rick Monday's sacrifice fly drove in the winning run as the Brewers absorbed their ninth loss in 12 spring starts.

San Diego won its fourth straight game as utilityman Rafael Robles drove in the winning run against Cleveland with an eighth inning sacrifice fly. Robles and Jerry Morales each had two singles for the Padres who pinned the loss on Gaylord Perry. Buddy Bell had four hits for the Indians.

Pampa Beats Pampa

The Harvester baseball teams played themselves yesterday and won, said head coach Deck Woldt.

A game originally scheduled with Liberal was cancelled, but the Harvesters wanted to keep in shape for the upcoming district competition, starting on April 4 with Caprock High School of Amarillo.

The Green team, composed mostly of sophomores, beat the regular Harvesters—the Gold team—in a close score of 3-2.

"All the pitchers really pitched well," beamed Coach Woldt. "If there hadn't been any errors, the game would probably have been scoreless."

Pitching for the Green team sophomore Mark Maxwell "looked real good," Woldt said. Mark pitched the first five innings, then Jody Johnson finished it up.

Jeff Hogan started pitching for the Gold team, then turned it over to Larry Knutson. The Greens scored all of their runs in the bottom of the fourth inning. They had eight hits and three errors. The Golds had three hits and two errors.

Coach Woldt singled out Terry Moore, first baseman for the Greens, for his hitting. Terry had two hits in three times at base.

"It was a good ball game," the coach added. "I think we got a lot out of it."

With no games scheduled next week, since Liberal also cancelled the game slated for Thursday, the Harvesters are trying to find somebody some other team or teams to play two games next week, either at home or away.

SPIKING IT—Mary Ana Green spikes the volleyball to her teammates as the Harvester girls volleyball team maintained their first place lead in district by defeating Caprock High School of Amarillo with two 16-14 scores. The B-squad won two out of three with 15-5 and 15-13 scores, with Caprock B scoring 15-5 in the second match.

Japan, USA Set Baseball Series

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. and Japanese baseball organizations signed an agreement today to inaugurate a collegiate world series between their two nations next year.

The agreement was signed by William P. Fehring, president of the U.S. Baseball Federation, and Tsutomu Takeda, president of the Japan Students Baseball Association.

Fehring said an all-star U.S. team will play seven games in four Japanese cities beginning July 8, 1972. The 1973 series will be held in the United States and future series will alternate between the two nations, he said.

Fehring said the U.S. team will be selected from the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and junior college squads.

The Japanese will select their players from 210 universities and colleges.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Fenway Park's chummy left field wall, long a target of right-handed sluggers, may hurt the Boston Red Sox more than it will help in the 1972 American League season.

After trading George Scott and Billy Conigliaro, the Red Sox lack the right-handed punch of yesteryear. In a complete reversal, they're gambling on new pitching strength, speed and defense.

With the left field wall just 315 feet away, the pitching may not be enough to keep the Red Sox alive. It usually takes runs, plenty of them, to win in Boston.

The Red Sox decided to take another tack after finishing in third place 18 games behind the Baltimore Orioles in the East last year. They went after pitching in a 10-player trade with the Milwaukee Brewers.

Boston received veteran right-handers Marty Pattin and Lew Krausse, speedy outfielder Tommy Harper and a minor league player who has quit the game. The Red Sox gave up Scott, Conigliaro, slugger Joe Lahoud, pitchers Jim Lonborg and Ken Brett and catcher-first baseman Don Pavletich.

Pattin will move into the regular starting rotation with Ray Culp, Sonny Siebert and young Rogelio Moret, who had a 14-1 record in winter ball in Puerto Rico. Krausse, acquired for long relief, and veteran southpaw Gary Peters also are trying to break into the starting lineup.

The Red Sox have an experienced bullpen with southpaws Sparky Lyle and Bill Lee and Ken Tatum, who hopes to bounce back from a disappointing 1971 season.

The outfield appears set with Carl Yastrzemski in left, Harper in center and switch-hitting slugger Reggie Smith in right. However, it could change if rookie Cecil Cooper or Mike Fiore fails to fill the first base job vacated by Scott.

If Cooper and Fiore flop, the Red Sox will have to try to deal for a first baseman, preferably a right-handed hitter, or move Yastrzemski from left.

The second base combination of veteran Luis Aparicio and Doug Griffin, healthy after being plagued by a back ailment as a rookie in 1971, could become one of the best in baseball. Slugger Rico Petrocelli, moved from short to make room for Aparicio, is set at third base.

The catching job is up for grabs, with returnees Duane Josephson and Bob Montgomery battling with rookie Carlton Fisk.

The Red Sox have two fine utility infielders in John Kennedy and Phil Gagliano. Rookie Ben Oglivie, another left-handed hitter, is the early choice to nail down a berth as the fourth outfielder.

The Red Sox think they've helped themselves during the offseason, but that is open to argument. At this stage, it looks like another third or fourth place finish.

Cigars And Cigarettes

R.D. Passey was a professor of experimental pathology in Leeds, England. After retiring, he had the leisure to conduct lung-cancer research at Chester Beatty Institute in that country which is afflicted with the highest lung-cancer death rate in the world. One of the things that Professor Passey wanted to know is whether rats that smoked cigarettes and rats that smoked cigars were equally affected.

The laboratory's experimental smoking machines could not take a cigar, so Dr. Passey persuaded the Tobacco Research Council in England to make specially for him cigarettes from cigar tobacco. In the experiments, rats were exposed for varying periods to the smoke of English cigarettes and other rats were exposed to cigar-tobacco-cigarettes. None of the rats caught lung cancer. However, out of a total of 48 animals exposed to English cigarettes, 34 had died, showing evidence in varying degrees of infective respiratory disease. On the other hand 48 other rats exposed to the smoke of cigar tobacco, only three had died in the same interval of time. In these tests, conditions were the same in all ways except for the difference in tobacco. The critical question is: What is the difference in the two types of tobacco? In Britain, one of Dr. Passey's colleagues explained later, cigarette tobacco is flue-cured and has a high content of plant sugars, 15 to 20 per cent. When burned, it gives off an acid smoke. But cigar tobacco is air-cured, is low in sugar content, and gives an alkaline smoke.

Unfortunately, Professor Passey died before his completed work was fully evaluated. A colleague, Dr. L.A. Elson, also a cancer researcher and a fellow of the Royal Institute of Chemistry, examined the results. He suggested two possibilities. One is that cigar-type alkaline nicotine is more readily absorbed and therefore a person need smoke less to get the same kick. That follows from statistics that fewer cigar smokers suffer lung cancer. The other possibility is that "there is some factor toxic to rats which is present in the smoke of flue-cured tobacco, but is much less evident in the smoke of air-cured tobacco."

The experiments were reported in the British Medical Journal of Oct. 23, 1971.

The Problem Solver

The chewing gum makers had a problem. What with inflation and all, they no longer could profit at a price of five cents a pack. On the other hand, if they charged ten cents, the customers would get along without gum. On the third hand, if they charged an odd amount, the making of change was such a nuisance as to incline the potential customers to forget the whole thing. But private enterprise to the rescue! The profit-seeking chicle industry started putting out a seven-stick pack at a price of ten cents. It looks like a bargain and still only one convenient coin. Nothing like incentive to solve a problem.

It's No Secret

President Nixon decided to soft-pedal the "Top Secret" practice. It was getting so we had "Top Secrets" NOBODY knew about and "Top Secrets" EVERYBODY knew about.

The "Top Secret" craze started when Moscow bought into the atom bomb. From then on, most anything could be blown up to "Top Secret."

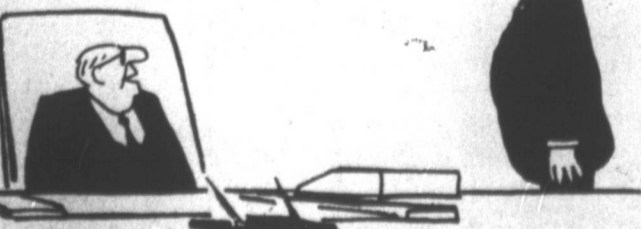

cryptic "Honey, I have to attend an important meeting tonight." The government has tens of thousands of "Top Secrets." Spira may not know, but the file clerks do.

If you know a "Top Secret" and can't tell anyone, what good is it? You're in the same position as the priest who made a hole-in-one on Christmas.

Black Power At Polls

By PAUL HARVEY
The National Black Political Convention in mid-March sought to mobilize power where the power is—in political office.

The prospects for black power at the polls: There's been too much preoccupation with "racial differences" in the United States.

It's a too easy cop-out for the self-righteous red-white-and-blues to blame the blacks for all our problems—or the Reds—or the Catholics.

Differences we have; racial they're not. And religious they're not. No, they're not!

When the first National Black Political Convention convened in Gary, Ind., its avowed purpose was to get blacks to close ranks politically.

Before the convention was three days under way, two-thirds of the 3,000 delegates had walked out. Various disagreements.

As a candidate for President they agreed on nobody. Before the convention ended they applauded and approved two resolutions on school busing in diametrical opposition to one another.

They adopted one resolution opposing segregation, put the convention on record in favor of school busing.

H.L. Hunt Writes

END OF AN ERA

The end of a special relationship between the U.S. and Great Britain stirs memories of an era that is past and perhaps gone forever. It also causes those of Anglo heritage to pause and ponder the future. Great Britain, traditionally the mistress of the seas for many decades, had protected our Atlantic flank for a half century. With the exception of some differences that arose over the sea blockade of Germany in the early years of World War I, Washington and London had engaged in a unique partnership that freed the bulk of our fleet for duty in the Pacific. The cruisers of the Royal Navy stood guard on the approaches to the Atlantic from the North Sea and Mediterranean.

And so the Anglo-American giants could isolate the continental powers of Europe, not only through sea strength but also economically. But the dawn of the nuclear age changed the outlook of alliances as the communist powers stole the secrets of the atom bomb and rocket science. The "North Atlantic Community" held its own for several of the post-World War II years. Changes in world patterns of commerce and military dispositions broke it up. The United Kingdom turned to Europe and the Common Market. We are working out our own monetary and trade arrangements.

Perhaps it was inevitable that the formal and informal alliances of the past that linked the English-speaking peoples would fall apart. It stood fast during two great wars. The friendship of the people on both sides of the Atlantic will probably endure indefinitely.

And they adopted another resolution saying busing is bad, saying, "We condemn racial integration in schools as a bankrupt, suicidal method based on the false notion that black children are unable to learn unless they are in school with white children...."

Yet, despite the walkouts and the obvious disagreements, the Rev. Jesse Jackson calls the convention "a lightweight miracle."

He says just to get that many blacks of diverse interests to convene for political purpose was a major accomplishment.

He sees a hundred blacks elected to political office in Alabama with the support of the so-called "national Democratic Party" of Alabama and he hopes this national caucus can multiply that influence—but he has no illusions about blacks closing ranks.

James Meredith, the first black to enroll at Ole Miss, sought to interest blacks in economic self-help—failed.

Huey Newton of the Black Panthers reverts to working "within the system" while former Panther Eldridge Cleaver urges guerrilla warfare.

And the black police chief of Gary, Ind., says courts are too lenient with blacks and thus he's powerless to protect blacks from blacks.

And everywhere there is substantive evidence that the heterogeneity of American society involves much more than racial difference.

And the white who says "You blacks are thus...." Is as myopic as the black who says "You whites owe us...."

The black political convention was altogether in accord with the American political tradition. It reminded us that issues such as busing are not simply divisible along racial lines.

And as this conspicuous individuality should sober those whites who casually categorize everybody, so it should serve as a slap across the mouth to any self-appointed black leader who professes to speak for "the black community." Nobody does!

Editor:

The current inquest into the ITT—Republican Party Political funds is peculiarly reminiscent of the Teapot Dome situation in the twenties, just about a half a century apart and involving rather odd methods of financing political parties. The Republicans can't seem to figure a way to get that dough without someone blabbing about it and blowing up the whole game. This is not to say that they should be judged venal, since the Democrats do the same thing, but they are very dumb about the mechanics of making it work.

In the current matter, ITT is supposed to have pledged or given $400 thousand or less, to get the government to drop an anti-trust suit. In 1922, Will Hays, then Chairman of the Republican National Committee while Harding was President, took $260 thousand from Harry Sinclair to help make up the campaign deficit and this was connected to the teapot dome leases of the navy oil reserves, and Albert Fall, the Secretary of the Interior picked up a personal $400 thousand for doing the paper work. Thus, allowing for inflation, the take in 1922 was about the same as in 1971, leaving aside the knocking down that any of the participants did personally for their own account.

The point of it all is, that when it comes out that the management of the Pennsylv. Central Railroad ripped off millions and wrecked a billion-dollar vitally needed transportation system and all that is done about THAT is a $250-million-dollar loan is made to it, and, the management of Lockheed Aircraft conned billions out of the government for a worthless monstrosity that will never apparently operate successfully and in the process wrecked that great company employing thousands of people and utilizing thousands of contractors, yet the only thing done there was to again guarantee a loan, the question arises what is all the flap about?

It is well-known that knocking down, influencing, educating and otherwise effecting certain things to happen in consideration of certain things being paid or done is the order of the day in politics and always has been—probably always will be. It is like arthritis, you have to take it as it is and learn to live with it. So, the relatively small stake of $400 thousand is, like the name Germanically defined) the candidate for Attorney General Mr. Kleindienst, a small matter. This is American Love it or Leave it.

Yours very truly, BOOKER E. ZELL

Vets Survivors Bill Sure of Senate OK -- If It Gets There

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — A new effort is underway to pry the military retirees survivors benefits bill out of the Senate Armed Services Committee where it has been gathering dust since passed unanimously by the House last October.

The legislation, directly affecting nearly a million veterans and their families throughout the country, is certain of equally overwhelming Senate approval—if and when it ever gets there.

The latest attempt to bring the long-stalled measure to the Senate is being made by an unusual source—the two bipartisan authors of the bill. They are Reps. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., chairman, and Charles Gubser, Calif., ranking Republican member of the House Armed Services subcommittee that drafted the legislation.

Concerned about the Senate Armed Services Committee's mysterious protracted stalling in doing anything about the bill, the two House members have taken the unusual step of making their apprehensions known directly to Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate panel.

Pike and Gubser did this in a personal letter to Stennis—which, while most polite and circumspect, nevertheless makes it very evident they are extremely uneasy about the fate of their measure.

Between the tactical lines, it is patent the two legislators fear the bill "may be left to die on the vine" in the Senate committee. That sort of backstage scuttling is not unusual in Congress. Already three months of this session have elapsed, and if this long-sought and widely-supported measure is not brought to the full Senate by May, it may well never get there. It could be lost in the usual wind-up turmoil and confusion.

Discreet Prod

Reps. Pike and Gubser, obviously fully aware of that possibility, were prompted to go to the exceptional length of discreetly but pointedly prodding Sen. Stennis.

They had been informed of the seemingly curious indifference toward the legislation by members of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Republican committeemen, righteously disclaiming responsibility for the lack of action, were telling inquirers the blame lay with the Democrats, who control the committee and determine what is done. In turn, Democratic committeemen, stressing they were talking confidentially, put the responsibility on Chairman Stennis.

To that charge, Stennis claimed the legislation was in the hands of the staff of the committee, which has been studying and analyzing it, with typical bureaucratic plodding and deliberation, for five months. When that tortuous and laborious process will conclude is anyone's guess.

No mention of this dawdling backstage situation is made by Pike and Gubser in their letter to Stennis.

They stress that their only purpose in writing is "to express the hope that your committee will be able to act this year on the survivor benefits program passed by the House unanimously last year." At the same time, they pointedly note that the measure was very carefully formulated after prolonged deliberation, and imply there is no need for further extended work on it.

"We would like to point out," they told Stennis, "that the hearings on this subject matter were uniquely complex and intricate. The job involved was very similar to writing a new social security law for the military. Because of the size and nature of the task which was before us, we were particularly proud of the results achieved for the benefit of so many of our deserving military people and would hate to see so much effort wasted."

The letter reached Sen. Stennis several weeks ago, but he still has not responded.

It's possible, of course, that his staff hasn't shown it to him yet.

That's not unusual on Capitol Hill, either.

Meanwhile, there is private talk among members of the new Senate Veterans Affairs Committee of grabbing the ball and offering the House-passed bill as an amendment to some other legislation being considered by the full Senate.

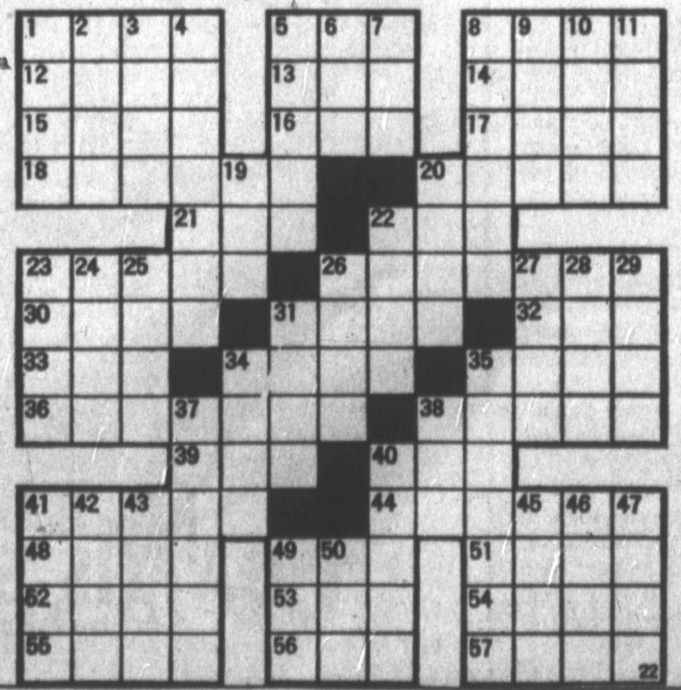

Only Half As Honest

We're only about half as honest as we used to be. Recently, the editors of "Liberty" magazine conducted a test similar to one run nearly a half century ago. The results were quite illuminating—and embarrassing for the current generation. Back in 1924, "Liberty" sent out 100 letters to people selected at random across the country, explaining that a dollar bill enclosed was "in adjustment of the error you complained of in your account," which of course, did not exist. Of the 100 people contacted, 27 returned the dollar, announcing that a mistake had been made; which was in marked contrast to the results in 1971. In this year's test, only 13 of 100 people returned the money. —Terry Hautek Indiana Spectator

Today In History

By Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, March 22, the 82nd day of 1972. There are 284 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1765, the English Parliament passed the Stamp Act to raise revenue in the American colonies.

On this date: In 1622, some 350 Virginians were killed in the first Indian massacre of European colonists in North America.

In 1794, the U.S. Congress passed a law prohibiting American ships from supplying slaves to other countries.

In 1820, an American naval hero, Stephen Decatur, was mortally wounded in a duel with Commodore James Barron near Washington.

In 1917 the United States became the first nation to recognize a new provisional government in Russia.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a bill legalizing beer and wine with 3.2 per cent alcohol content.

In 1941, the Grand Coulee Dam on the Columbia River began producing electrical power.

Ten years ago: Right-wing French terrorists attacked government security forces in Algiers.

Five years ago: A high-ranking North Korean press official jumped into a U.S. car at the Panmunjon truce village and defected under a hail of Communist bullets.

One year ago: U.S. jets hit targets in North Vietnam for the second day in a row.

Today's birthdays: Former Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans is 64. Gen. James Gavin is 65.

Thought for today: Debt and misery live on the same road—Russian proverb.

Automakers Unable To Meet Exhaust Emission Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's automakers are approaching July with the uneasy sensation that they won't make their deadline for meeting the government's 1975 exhaust emission standards.

The pressure from government and industry critics already is getting heavier.

"It is extremely difficult for me to understand this sudden and coincidental inability to achieve the Clean Air Act standards," said Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield after the manufacturers announced they would ask for an extra year to meet standards set by the 1970 act.

Ralph Nader has said it's already too late because the auto industry decided long ago to rework the present engines instead of designing new engines powered by steam, electricity or a clean power source.

Government and industry officials concede that as yet, a little over three months before manufacturers say they must start the ordering and tooling for 1975 cars, no one has developed a mass production car which will meet all the standards.

But researchers have developed some cars which come tantalizingly close, and government officials are not convinced the industry needs the year's reprieve it has requested. Engelhard Minerals and Chemicals Corp., an independent catalytic filter researcher, says it recently ran a car for 25,000 miles with its converter, and the car still put out no more than legal levels.

Ford has run a stratified-charge engine in its laboratories which meets the 1975 standards.

But even the most promising experiments have what the auto industry considers to be some important qualifiers:

In addition to meeting legal limits of emissions for 1975, the cars must also sustain that level for 50,000 miles. No test car has done this yet.

In an October survey, the National Academy of Sciences survey of five domestic and 13 foreign cars found that the stratified-charge engine run at Ford and five foreign cars met the 1975 standards.

TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—When NBC's "World Premiere" feature, called "Banacek," began Monday night, it seemed that the pilot film might be a forerunner to the return of the sleek, brainy sleuth missing since Ellery Queen and the Thin Man disappeared. Before the station break at the end of the first hour, however, it appeared that the network might be flirting with the idea of X-rated whodunits.

The portion involved an explicit and temporary relationship between the sleuth and a lady insurance investigator who flounced around their motel suite in a peignoir cut down to there. It was part of an intriguing introduction to an interesting character, but just window-dressing.

George Peppard's "T. Banacek" is a distinctive investigator. He calls his business "restorations" because he solves cases for insurance companies when they come to a dead end, and he collects 10 per cent of what he recovers. He lives in opulence in Boston, smokes long, skinny cigars, and never loses his cool or a fight. The character has great possibilities.

The plot was a bit of a let-down—finding an armored car with more than a ton of gold aboard which had disappeared in the desert after its two armed guards were shot dead.

With two hours to work out a story that could have been neatly encompassed in 60 minutes, there were endless red herrings.

ABC launched a new game show in the early afternoon, "Split-Second." It is another half hour in which members of the studio audience answer question for prizes. This one is not particularly different from the assorted quiz shows that fill the morning and early afternoon hour except that it moves at such a furious pace that even the audience at home has difficulty following the game.

With six such network programs between 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. it is hard to see the necessity for a seventh.
