SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Russia Saturday scornfully dismissed as an "odd sermon" President Johnson's appeal for assistance from the United Nations in solving the Viet Nam conflict.

Nikolai T. Fedorenko, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, told the 20th anniversary session of the world body that the war in Viet Nam was "unleashed by the United States."

He said the U.S. government was "responsible for the barbarous annihilation inflicted on the peace-loving hamlets of Viet Nam."

Referring to Johnson's address before the United Nations Friday, Fedorenko declared, "You heard in this hall an odd sermon containing an appeal that the members of the United Nations use their offices individually and collectively to solve the conflict in Viet Nam."

"This body was asked that its influence be used to oblige those who are allegedly resolved to continue the war to sit down at the conference table."

But he continued, "bombs are being dropped not on the people of America but on the people of Viet Nam. The meaning of this appeal (from Johnson) is that the responsibility for the crimes committed be placed not on the aggressor but on the victim of aggression."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, speaking after the Russian delegate, told the session, "I must say that the Soviet Union might do more for the peaceful purposes of the United Nations by encouraging peaceful settlements than by attacking my country, which is defending a small country from aggression."

Stevenson also remarked, "This is a commemorative occasion, although for a moment this morning I was not sure whether we were commemorating the birth of the United Nations or the birth of the cold war."

His comments were interpolated at the beginning of his prepared speech during which he reviewed past accomplishments of the United Nations.

In the first angry note sounded during the two-day anniversary session at the War Memorial Opera House, Fedorenko also lashed out at U.S. involvement in the Dominican Republic.

The Soviet delegate blamed the United States for "the tragic blood-letting" in the Caribbean republic and declared,

"All this points to a flagrant violation of the U. N. Charter."

The Russian diplomat also accused the United States of "artificially creating a financial crisis in the United Nations" and he said the U.S. government was violating the principle of universality of membership embodied in the charter.

Fedorenko explained that he (See AMBASSADOR, Page 3)

Afro-Asian Summit Meeting Delayed

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Afro-Asian Summit Conference was postponed Saturday night until next Nov. 5 in Algiers.

The decision was made by the conference standing committee which agreed that the foreign ministers would meet here on Oct. 2 to make final preparations for the first Afro-Asian summit in 10 years.

The summit originally was scheduled for next Tuesday.

The development came less than 24 hours after a bomb blast ripped the building where the conference was to have been held.

Conference sources said the postponement decision was reached at a meeting of a 15-nation preparatory committee. Ethiopia made the proposal for postponement at the meeting, which was held at ambasadorial level, according to sources who were present.

The committee was hurriedly summoned into a behind-the-scenes meeting to replace a meeting of Afro-Asian foreign ministers.

The decision came at the end of an extraordinary eight days which began last Saturday with the swift pre-dawn overthrow of Algeria's former president Ahmed Ben Bella.

Later, the official announcement of the postponement of the 50-nation conference by the Algerian member of the preparatory committee, Ahmed Laidi, Ethiopian Foreign Minister Ketema Yifru co-sponsored the resolution for postponement with Pakistan. The decision was announced at the end of a meeting which lasted three hours.

ON TOUR OF PAMPA — Thirty-five American Field Service students from 10 nations began a three-day tour of Pampa and the Pampa area Saturday. Two of the students, Yavuz Deniz, of Turkey, left, and Brenda Hawker, right, of Australia show chaperon Janet Wilson of California where their home country is. The group will leave Pampa Monday.

American Field Service Students Begin Three-Day Tour in Pampa Area

By RAY RODGERS JR. Thirty-five American Field Service students representing 10 nations arrived in Pampa Saturday afternoon and were met by their host families for a three-day visit in the city.

The visiting high school students from various parts of the world arrived at 3:45 p.m. Saturday by chartered bus. Last night the students went home with their host families and rested after their tiring bus trip.

This morning the youths had breakfast in local homes and were to start a series of activities.

The list of activities included a swimming party this afternoon and a tour of the city.

A scheduled tour of ranches around the Pampa area was postponed because of the recent rains.

At 6 p.m. the students are to meet on the "Southwest 40" of the Coronado Inn for a barbecue and program presented by the cow callers of Miami.

Following the barbecue the students will go to the homes of their families where they will spend the night and depart at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

The bus-load of students is due to arrive in New York July 4 where they will return to their respective countries.

In New York, the students will be received by President Johnson and a final meeting of all this year's American Field Service students will be held to evaluate their year in the United States.

The final U.S. bus tours are set up for 2,882 students from 59 countries who concluded a year of study in the U.S. to introduce them to communities and regions of the country other than where they attended school. The trips also give an estimate of the heavy ground fighting.

2,000 Guerrillas Hit Near Saigon, Bien Ho

SAIGON (UPI) — More than 2,000 Communist guerrillas swept down on government strongholds to the sound of bugles Saturday in two "human wave" attacks reminiscent of Chinese charges in the Korean War.

The attacks—one of them only 15 miles from Saigon—signaled resumption of the Viet Cong's monsoon offensive.

The new Communist drive came as the casualty toll from Friday's Saigon floating restaurant bombing rose to 122, including 42 dead. The American toll was 12 dead and 15 wounded.

A new mystery blast at Bien Ho airbase and a string of other incidents raised the figure of American dead to at least 20 in 24 hours.

The Communist attacks were believed timed as a prelude to next week's scheduled Afro-Asian conference in Algiers. However, the summit conference was postponed until next November and observers here said the development robbed the Viet Cong of a propaganda forum.

Australians Killed
An American and two Australians were killed in a security shrouded explosion—apparently of a grenade—at Bien Ho, 15 miles north of Saigon. A spokesman said two other Americans and 10 Australians were wounded.

Five American Marines were drowned when their M48 tanks sank in a river they were fording and trapped them in 12 feet of water. A U.S. Army officer adviser was killed by sniper fire 115 miles southwest of Saigon and another Army officer was killed when his jeep overturned.

In the air, U.S. jets returned to the attack, making wide-ranging attacks on a munition dump, bridges, highways, rail lines and ferry slips in Communist North Viet Nam.

Pilot May Have Hit Mountain to Avoid Large City

EL TORO MARINE AIR STATION, Calif. (UPI) — The pilot of a giant military jet transport which slammed into a mountain killing 84 persons may have deliberately failed to make a scheduled turn to avoid crashing in a city.

All aboard the plane—72 Marines and the 12 crewmen—died in the flaming wreckage Friday.

What transpired in the cockpit was hoped to be learned by the tape of the pilot's last words with the control tower.

Had the plane banked as scheduled, it would have been directly over the city of Orange and its population of 44,000. A crash there would have been a far more massive tragedy.

Veteran Pilot
The pilot, Capt. William F. Cordell Jr., was a veteran flier with 3,000 hours in the air.

"It's possible the pilot knew he was losing power and decided to try to clear the mountain instead of banking," a Marine officer said. "If he had made the turn and then crashed, it would have wiped out part of the city of Orange."

The possibility of the loss of power was strong. The plane, a C-135, crashed into the 1,500-foot high Loma Ridge four-and-a-half miles after taking off from here on a flight to Hawaii.

The plane, a military version of the Boeing 707, should have a normal climbing rate of 1,400 feet a minute.

Investigation Underway
Three separate investigations into the crash were being conducted by the Federal Aviation Agency, the Marine Corps and the Air Force, operators of the military air transport service plant.

The flight plan called for Cordell to take off towards the north, then bank to the left two miles later and head west towards Hawaii.

The plane and crew were based at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J. The Marines were being transported from Camp Pendleton, Calif., to Okinawa with a stop at Hawaii.

The crash, one of the worst in peacetime military history, scattered wreckage and bodies over a half-mile area.

June Days Wet For Pampans

By RON CROSS The first 20 days of June (which ended at midnight last night) have been wet ones for Pampa with over 10 inches of rain recorded in the city.

Pampa has received 10.25 inches of moisture in the 26-day period, not a record amount for the month, but rain enough that threatened Gray County's wheat crop for a time, filled lakes in the area and caused general havoc in Pampa itself.

Rain and non-rain days for the first 26 days of this month were almost equal with Pampa having 12 days of no rain and 14 days of moisture.

The heaviest showers came on June 11 when 2.03 inches were recorded. Three days during the month only a trace of moisture was recorded.

Only three days during the 26 day period did Pampa receive an inch or better. Those being on June 11, June 16 when one inch fell and June 25 when 1.81 inches were recorded.

The driest spell so far this month came from June 18-21 when the city had four straight days of no moisture.

Three straight days of rain fell from June 3-5 when 2.1, .71 and .40 inches were recorded. No estimate of damage from rain in the city has been made but police were plagued by calls from stranded motorists whose cars flooded out.

There was one report during the month of a youth drowning, but an investigation failed to turn up the youth.

Thursday, a young Pampa motorist found himself swept off a road just inside the city limits when a wall of water hit the pick-up he was driving. Also Thursday an apartment building was threatened by high water when a city drainage system became clogged.

Following are listed days of the month and amount of moisture that fell on that day, if any:

June 1, none; June 2, none; June 3, .21 of an inch; June 4, .71 of an inch; June 5, .40 of an inch; June 6, none; June 7, none; June 8, trace; June 9, none; June 10, .19 of an inch; June 11, 2.03 inches; June 12, none; June 13, .51 of an inch; June 14, trace; June 15, .81 of an inch; June 16, one inch; June 17, trace; June 18-21, none; June 22, .16 of an inch; June 23, none; June 24, none; June 25, 1.81 inches; June 26, none.

Teamsters Union Escapes Fines

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Striking members of giant Local 107 of the Teamsters Union escaped contempt of court fines of $60,500 a day when they voted in a 12-minute meeting Saturday to end their wildcat walk-out of the past week.

Only a shattering of negative voices was raised when more than 4,000 truckers and handlers at a membership meeting heeded immediate return to work orders of union officials.

It brought to a close the violence-marked strike which hobbled the trucking industry, particularly in foodstuffs, since last Monday and cost produce dealers in the city's huge terminals an estimated $21-million in spoilage and sales losses.

The walkout triggered by the discharge of four platform men at a trucking company, resulted in the temporary lay-off of 10,000 persons in various other industries in the city and the arrest of 128 unionists for strike incidents.

The solid front of the walkout began to crumble Friday when about 2,000 members of Local 107 went back to their jobs with grocery chains under threat of dismissal. Empty bins at supermarkets were replenished in time for weekend shopping.

Judge Leo Weinrott ordered the $60,500 a day fine against the 2,000 member local 16 of its officers and one member when he held all in contempt of court Friday.

Saigon Bomb Blast Toll Raised to 122

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor visited the scene of the terrorist bombing of the My Canh floating restaurant here Saturday and called the Viet Cong blast "the act of criminally-minded men."

"Last night's outrage, like the wanton murder of an American prisoner announced yesterday by Radio Hanoi, can only strengthen the resolve of Vietnamese and Americans alike to resist and defeat this Communist terrorist movement," Taylor declared.

A U. S. spokesman said the latest figures for the Friday night bombing were 122 dead, including 15 Americans. Eighty persons were injured in the blast, including 15 Americans. Many were women and children who also visited many of the wounded survivors at the U.S. Navy Hospital.

Only a few shocking reminders of the bombing could be seen outside the floating restaurant Saturday. It was cordoned off by police who strung rolls of concertina wire around the restaurant to keep the curious away.

A patch of dried blood marred a white pillar. The sign proclaiming "you're welcome" was riddled with holes. Potted trees lining the walkway were overturned.

A three-legged stool lay on its side, partially covering a stack of English-language newspapers that an enterprising Vietnamese newsboy planned to sell to the Americans aboard the My Canh. The boy, and some of his potential customers, were dead Saturday.

Rogers to Take Part in Opening Ceremony of Early Bird Satellite

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Spl) — Congressman Walter Rogers will participate Monday in trans-oceanic ceremonies marking the start of commercial service over Early Bird satellite. The event is being arranged by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Communications Satellite Corp.

High officials of U.S. and West European governments will exchange greetings.

Congressman Rogers, who is chairman of the Subcommittee of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, will talk by Early Bird satellite relay with a member of the British Parliament who holds similar responsibilities for his government in the field of communications.

The Congressman was a member of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee when, in 1962, it conducted hearings and approved legislation to authorize establishment of the Communications Satellite Corp.

A full slate of legislative activity faces the House of Representatives through the week. Among major bills on which decisions are to be made are the Housing and Urban Development Act; amendments to the Economic Opportunity Act; and the Coinage Act.

Congressman Rogers will take part in meetings of subcommittees of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs to discuss matters involving the nation's mineral interests and territorial relations with Puerto Rico.

Rains Plague Flooded Kansas

NICKERSON, Kan. (UPI)—Heavy rains sent creeks rising again Saturday in parts of western Kansas but residents along the Arkansas River, already braced for their worst flood in history, took the new threat in stride.

Early morning rains of up to 2.75 inches at Nickerson at first caused fears the Arkansas would gain enough momentum for a last destructive punch on its dying rampage that chased more than 20,000 people from their homes.

But the rain subsided and it later appeared the runoff would have little effect on the Arkansas as it pushed downstream toward Hutchinson.

There was new flooding in other parts of the state, however. Up to 3 inches of rain brought forecasts of flooding between Lindsay and Abilene and a two-day total of 5.95 inches of rain near Elmo, Kan. sent the Gypsum Creek out of its banks at Gypsum, closing a state highway. Both areas are north of the Arkansas watershed.

Bull Creek near Nickerson and Stealing lapped out of its banks briefly but dropped to bankful and Nickerson police said no further trouble was expected.

About half of the 1,100 residents in Nickerson and outlying areas remained away from their homes. Farm lands along the rivers were swamped and roads to the south and west of town were partly under water, but the town itself appeared safe.

The Arkansas which rushed out of its headwaters in Colorado more than a week ago, ripped across western Kansas at record levels.

Sracuse, Garden City, and Dodge City, felt the fury of the normally placid stream but vigorous preparation at Great Bend paid off Wednesday as reinforced dikes kept flood water out of the city.

The river lost its overwhelming force and flattened out into a wider, less destructive stream.

The river still was expected to crest above floodstage at Hutchinson by early Sunday, but a flood control project protected the city. The project includes levees near the river and a large relief canal.

Fireworks Show To Highlight Annual July 4 Celebration

The annual Fourth of July celebration and fireworks display will kick off at 8:45 p. m. Sunday at Recreation Park.

Red Wedgworth, Chamber of Commerce manager, sponsors of the event, said the program is scheduled to begin with a concert by the Pampa High School band, followed by a brief patriotic ceremony.

The fireworks display will begin at 9:15 p. m. and last for approximately 30 minutes.

Concession stands will be provided on both sides of the arena for the convenience of several thousand people who always jam the park for the program.

Wedgworth stressed that the program is free. He also said anyone wishing to donate to the Chamber to help defray the cost of the fireworks display to mail their checks to Box 1942.

was referring especially to Communist China which he said "is still outside and its lawful seat is occupied by the Chiang Kai-Shek clique."

Fedorenko made his speech following an address by U.N. Secretary General Thant who warned that the relaxation of East-West tensions could be destroyed by conflicts in Viet Nam and other parts of the world.

Thant sounded the warning to the 114 U.N. members to observe the 20th anniversary of the signing of the U.N. Charter in San Francisco.

Thant said there is a danger that the United Nations may become so preoccupied with the immediate crises in Southeast Asia, in the Caribbean, in the Middle East and elsewhere "that we are apt to ignore the larger crisis that looms behind them."

"The most serious casualty of the present conflict will be the precarious detente between East and West that has been built and nurtured so laboriously and patiently in the last 10 years or so," he said.

"The United Nations has contributed significantly towards that detente by serving as a catalyst, a forum and an agency for the peaceful settlement of disputes and the relaxation of East-West tensions."

Comsat Phone Calls To Begin on Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Communications Satellite Corp.—Comsat for short — starts making money Monday.

Its first commercial phone calls are due to be made between Washington and European capitals via the company's Early Bird satellite beginning at 9:30 a. m. CST.

News stories and photos also will be transmitted by way of the 85-pound satellite, now hovering 2,230 miles over the Atlantic Ocean between Brazil and Africa.

Comsat has asked President Johnson to help inaugurate its money-making venture. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is standing by in case Johnson can't make it.

On the other side of the Atlantic, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson—both in London—and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in Bonn will exchange greetings with Johnson or Rusk. Other cities listening in include Paris, Rome, Bern and Neurenberg.

No television programs will be carried. Comsat has yet to present the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) with a set of proposed television tariffs. It will sell television time directly

Fogging Machines To Get Lot of Work During July

Due to the heavy rains in Pampa during June, Public Works Director R. B. Cooke said the city's fogging machines will be used extensively during the next few weeks in an attempt to eradicate the millions of mosquitoes which have swarmed over the city.

Cooke said the machine will be in operation 16 hours per day traveling through alleys and areas of possible mosquito breeding spots.

The machine uses deadly DDT which is sprayed from the truck in a fine mist.

Cooke reminded residents not to let their children follow the truck as the chemicals can be harmful.

Hiring of Engineer To Be Topic at Council Meeting

City Commissioners will get a request Tuesday to employ an engineer to bring Pampa's street and highway improvement plans up to date on project needs and cost estimates.

The request was voted last Tuesday by the Highway Development Committee named recently to study city street and drainage problems.

The committee's request will be relayed to city commissioners by City Manager Jim White.

Other business scheduled for Tuesday morning's council session includes approval of contract payment of $77,794.39 to the Atlas Tank Co. for installation of the city's new 3-million gallon water storage tank on S. Barnes St. The tank originally was given to the city by the Phillips Petroleum Co.

Commissioners will be asked to approve replacing on time deposit $43,330 from the 1948 Water & Sewer Improvement bond interest and sinking fund.

Also scheduled is approval of a $10,000 bond for the city secretary.

Up for third and final reading will be an ordinance setting parking and speed restrictions at the "S" curve on E. Francis St.

Pampam Accidentally Shoots Self in Leg
Don L. Brown, 57, of Pampa was listed in good condition late Saturday night at Worley Hospital from a gunshot wound in his left leg.

Brown, who resides at 953 Barnard, was attempting to load a .22 pistol when it accidentally discharged striking him in the lower part of his left leg.

He was rushed by Duengel Ambulance Service to Worley Hospital.

The accident occurred about 3 p. m. Friday on the driveway at Brown's home.

Picture No Help to Houston Police in Search for Slayer

HOUSTON (UPI)—Police had little going for them Saturday in their investigation of the slayings and mutilations of two elderly people—even a photograph of the victims' missing son was little help.

Police said a snapshot of Charles Fred Rogers, 43-year-old son of Fred Christopher Rogers, 81, and his wife, Edwina, 79, was taken too long ago to be a reliable help in tracking the son down.

The elder Rogers were found slain and mutilated and stuffed into a refrigerator at their home Wednesday night. Parts of their bodies were re-

PHS Coach Talks To Kiwanians on 'Physical Fitness'

Dave Kelley, assistant high school football coach, addressed Kiwanians at their noon luncheon Friday on the subject of "Physical Fitness."

Kelley said 100 years ago 90 per cent of work was done with muscles.

"Today," he said, "ninety per cent of the work is done by machines and the muscles are idle. Kelley suggested that everyone needs some sort of physical exercise to fill the gap if Americans of today are to keep physically fit.

Workers Strike
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (UPI)—Striking copy machine operators kept pickets up outside the gates of the nation's spaceport Saturday, although construction work which the wildcat walkout has curtailed was shut down for the weekend.

covered Friday from a sewer near the home.

Police reported no new lead in the search for their son, who was missing when the bodies were found.

Neighbors, acquaintances, the maid, and a relative all said the son lived alone, talking little to his parents, doing some of his cooking in his upstairs bedroom, with an occasional job about which nobody knew much and moving in and out of the house at irregular hours.

When police put out a nationwide pickup order on Rogers Thursday, they also checked airports from which Rogers, a pilot, might have rented an airplane. The pickup order, homicide officers said Saturday, carried to border points as well so that officers there would be alerted to keep Rogers from leaving the country if he appears.

But with nothing but a picture several years old to go by, police looking for Rogers had little image of what he looks like now.

Police found the name "W.F. Rogers" in records of a bank the couple used, but believed the initials might have been used by the older Rogers on some accounts rather than his real initials "F. C."

Highlights and Sidelights From the State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — A total of 33 interim study committees were created during the recent legislative session.
Meetings of these committees will bring most of the legislators back to Austin during the next 18 months.
Studies will cover a wide area, ranging from state and local tax policy to such subjects as livestock auctions and restorations of Santa Anna's battle flag.
All but three of the legislators who are appointed to the interim panels will be eligible to draw travel expenses to and from meetings. In addition, some study panels are furnished staff funds.
Some committees will delve into: election laws, juvenile crime, rights of news media in reporting on persons charged with crime, liquor laws, the nursing profession, problems of farmers and ranchers, feasibility of a Pleasure Island State Park, public education, facilities for the criminally insane, and need for modernizing state fair facilities.

GOVERNOR VETOES SPENDING — Gov. John Connally red pencilled $2,600,000 of what he termed non-essential items in the $3,600,000 state budget for 1966-67.
Connally said he felt the Legislature in general appropriated wisely, but he line-item vetoed: $1,100,000 for one of three new buildings at Angelo State College, San Angelo; $300,000 from a total of $800,000 for a museum at Washington State Park; $200,000 for state aid to airport construction; $200,000 for further improvements at Dam B State Park near Jasper; $275,000 for boll weevil eradication; $126,000 for salaries in the new Department of Mental Health and Retardation; $138,000 for water system improvements at Rusk State Hospital; $12,000 a year for a new special services director in the Parks and Wildlife Department; $5,000 for stream flow measurement in Upper Red River Flood Control and Irrigation District; $30,000 for John E. Connor Museum at Texas College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville; $39,200 for doctoral-level instruction at East Texas State University, Commerce; and $110,000 for forestry research at Stephen F. Austin State College, Nacogdoches.
Connally also vetoed a bill which would have made the lieutenant governor a member of the powerful State Building Commission in place of the State Board of Control chairman.

COURTS SPEAK — Third Court of Civil Appeals now has ruled that the Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority is entitled to 50,000 acre feet of water a year from Canyon Dam Reservoir near New Braunfels.
In a new opinion, court remained convinced that the City of San Antonio should get no water from the reservoir. Decision upheld 1957 order of Texas Water Commission and 1964 ruling of 98th district court. Principal change in Third Courts finding was that G-BRA has authority to distribute water for use for cities downstream.
Court of Criminal Appeals, overruling a Kleberg County district court, held Paul Eric Krueger, 17-year-old Californian, is entitled to $15,000 bail on each of three charges of triple slayings.
REDISTRICTING URGED — Governor Connally has reluctantly signed new district court bills for Lubbock, Dallas, El Paso, Harris and Tarrant Counties. He said the next Legislature should address itself to the matter of judicial redistricting.

"While there is merit for new courts in these specific counties," Connally concluded, "when the state is taken as a whole, there are sufficient judges to carry the existing workload."
RETARDATION STUDY SET — Task forces soon will begin evaluations of recommendations by 515 mayors' commission on the new Texas Plan to Combat Mental Retardation.
Groups will study education, finances, legislation, health services, manpower, organization, coordination, public awareness and action, research and training, residential day care, vocational rehabilitation and employment, and welfare services.
Nucleus of task forces will come from members of the Governor's Advisory Committee, according to District Judge

Herman Jones of Austin, committee chairman.
INTEGRATION QUICKENS — School systems are integrating faster under threat of lost federal aid, Texas Education Agency reports.
To be eligible for shares of $80,000,000 in federal aid under the 1965 civil rights act, districts must give assurances of having plans for integration. Total integration isn't required until September, 1967.
ATEA official says 1,150 districts have signed promises to comply with civil rights act. 125 more have filed plans for future racial desegregation.
SUMMER PROGRAMS APPROVED — Governor Connally announced approval of seven Neighborhood Youth Corps projects for summer employment at $1 per hour.
Projects will employ 1,866 youngsters in schools, parks, offices and hospitals, in El Paso Independent School District, Rio Grande City Independent School District, City of Childress, Comanche County Board of Education, Taylor County Schools, Stonewall County and San Patricio County.

Connally also approved five additional Project Head Start grants from Office of Economic Opportunity for summer programs for underprivileged preschool children. Authorized grants now total 159.
Latest projects approved are in Amarillo, Hale Center, Paint Rock, Pleasanton and Van Alstyne. Panhandle and South Plains Venture for Aiding Needy Children's Education, Inc. is in charge of Amarillo program. Schools will operate the other four.
SEISMOGRAPH CRISIS — Lan Commissioner Jerry Sadler has cancelled all outstanding seismograph permits in coastal waters and called in oil and seismograph representatives to review the rules.
He also issued further revisions of the rules, knocking out the delay to June 21 for all explosives to be permanently marked, and announced that new permits would be issued only to companies which are marking their explosives.

Sadler's action came after another rash of seismograph explosives washed in on Gulf beaches, mainly in the Sabine Pass area. Earlier washing ashore had been in the Corpus Christi region, where about 50 were found along beaches.
LIONS AND CATTLE — A possible outbreak of Q fever has been averted by an alert Dallas veterinarian, U. S. Department of Agriculture animal diseases eradication officials say. A Nubian lion imported to the Dallas zoo was found by Dr. Jack M. Brundrett to be carrying a Heamaphysalis leachi leish tick which carries the dread disease, as well as typhus fever. Dr. S. K. Harris, acting veterinarian in charge of the Animal Inspection and Quarantine

Division, also reports real progress being made in the back-tagging program for locating cattle with brucellosis.
During May, back tags were applied to 86,294 animals, providing information by which brucellosis can be traced back to the farm where the cattle originated.
Testing at auction markets reached 25,217 head of cattle of which 686 were reactors. Slaughter establishments found 730 reactors among 24,060 back-tagged animals which reached the federal, municipal and state inspected establishments.
SHORT SNORTS — A county can participate in cost of operating a zoo on property jointly owned by City and county, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held in an official opinion requested by District Atty. Don Hall of Waco. . . . Houston Research Institute, Inc. has been named to conduct study on feasibility of locating synthetic fiber plants in Texas. Texas Industrial Commission announces. . . . Texas Employment Commission is booming Youth Opportunity Month, with a state goal of 25,000 summer jobs for youngsters in the state. . . . Republicans are studying possibilities of testing new redistricting bills in court, according to State GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr. . . . State draft quota of 908 for July, highest in nearly four years, will be filled mainly by men who are volunteers under 26 and non-volunteers 19-25. . . . Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert announced that the nine new members of Supreme Court of Texas Advisory Committee are Clark Anderson, Luikin; Joe Bruce Cunningham, Fort Worth; Frank L. Jennings, Graham; W. James Kronzer, Houston; George W. McCleskey, Lubbock; Tom Sealy, Midland; Jack Skaggs, Harlingen; Russell Talbot, Houston; and James C. Watson, Corpus Christi.

In 1952, 8.5 million elderly persons were without health care protection either from health insurance, health care protection as veterans, or federal-state grant-in-aid programs. In 1962, 1.9 million were without this protection. Most of the increase in coverage was attributable to the expansion of insurance coverage.

Recently I received a 1965 Tri-State Fair Catalogue from Rex Barber, manager, Amarillo. The dates of the fair will be September 20-25. This reminds one that fall is just around the corner.

Many farmers will be glad to learn there is a new chemical that is highly effective against Bur Roy weed (sometimes called lake weed).

According to Dr. Allen Wiess, Weed Research Specialist, Bushland, one and one-half pounds of Picloram (Tordon 22 K) gave 100 percent eradication. This is only half the recommended rate for bindweed eradication. Cost is about 20 cents per pound retail. This would mean for eradication the cost would run about $30 per acre. This is considerably cheaper than earlier recommended chemicals. This would still be rather expensive.

In cooperation with Miss Lou Ella Patterson, County Home Demonstration Agent, arrangements have been made to have Dr. Robert Berry, Extension Plant Pathologist, in the County on July 8. Details have not been worked out at this time. However, we are planning to have Dr. Berry set up at some convenient location and identify diseases of any plants that might be brought in. Call Miss Patterson and visit with her about this.

It is possible some home visits might be made. Some consideration is being given to having an Entomologist accompany Dr. Berry.

Recently we received a new publication MP 750, "Labor Requirements and Costs for Sprinkler Irrigation - Texas High Plains." This publication has some excellent information that you should have if you are considering a sprinkler system. Drop by the office and pick it up. Other publications you might want - B-1019, "Insects Attacking Vegetable Crops"; B-1024 - and a leaflet entitled "Bindweed Control in Lawns" by Dr. Allen Wiess, Bushland Experiment Station.

W. S. Tolbert called to ask about his tomatoes shedding their blooms. This is caused by the female part of the plant outgrowing the pollen producing (male) part of the plant. A tomato is a self-pollinating fruit. One of the conditions that will cause this is high temperature and low humidity. A partial shade made from burlap sacks will help alleviate this condition. Spray the tomatoes with a fine mist occasionally. There are certain commercial sprays that are of some benefit.

MCCLELLAN SPILLWAY — Recent rains have filled Lake McClellan to the top of the recently constructed spillway. Saturday water poured over the spillway for the first time this year.

County Soil Conservation News

By ARNEAL SCOTT

George Philpot recently seeded 35 acres of forage sorghum on an area that he plans to seed to native grass next year. He has an excellent stand. This cover will protect the grass seedlings from wind erosion and will help conserve moisture.

John Haynes got a good stand of grass on his ranch north of McLean. He seeded an old field that was turned out to pasture several years ago. A seeded was prepared with 48 inch sweeps prior to seeding. The grass seedlings are one to three inches tall and can be mowed. This type of seeding has proven to be an excellent method of establishing grasses in the Gray County Soil Conservation District.

Recreation is rapidly becoming a business for farmers and ranchers in many parts of the country. More and more people go to the country every weekend to participate in some recreational activity.

We receive reports occasionally about what other Cities and States are doing about their recreational problem. One report told about a Texas Farmer that has a 29 acre watershed lake on his property. This farmer developed an eight acre recreational area along the shoreline of the lake. He constructed facilities for picnicking, camping, volley ball, soft ball and croquet. A fishing pier and diving platform was also constructed. He provides a Club House and Concession Stand to groups for a small rental fee. These facilities are available through annual family membership. About 12 to 15 hundred people enjoy these facilities each year.

Local recreational facilities are limited. Bill Bralley has fishing ponds available on his ranch east of Groom. His ranch is located between Highway 70 and Lake McClellan. Lake McClellan also provides facilities for picnicking, camping, fishing, boating and skiing. Some landowners lease hunting and fishing rights to residents of this County. We are fortunate to have these recreational opportunities in the Gray County Soil Conservation District. Due to the changing population, the need for recreational facilities are increasing.

Recreation can become a business for many landowners if properly developed. The Panhandle of Texas is limited in outdoor recreational facilities. Every City or Community should make plans to provide facilities for their citizens or they will go to other places for their recreational enjoyment. Texas loses many dollars to Oklahoma every year because Texas people go there for fishing, boating, skiing and hunting.

The Social Security program is the fastest growing and second largest program in the federal government. It ranks only behind National Defense from the standpoint of total expenditures.

Exporting wool from England was prohibited by law from 1690 to 1825.

The ancient silver and lead mines near Athens, Greece, were first worked 2000 B.C.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS

The Texas Panhandle and West Texas High Plains Area offers the best year-round weather conditions in the entire United States. The northern and eastern industries have started moving to this area because of the high cost of building and the severe winters which causes a high absenteeism of employees because of the difficulties of getting to and from work.

As more industries come to our area our cities will continue to grow in population. There must be plenty of water for both. With the growth of the cities has also come the growth of irrigated agriculture. City governing officials and water conservation officials are faced with the task of seeing that enough fresh water is available to meet not only the current needs but the needs of the future also.

The city of Pampa has been busy for a number of years carrying out plans that would insure the future growth of the city. Water has been and will continue to be a big item of concern.

The city now obtains its water from wells producing from an underground strata known as the Ogallala formation. The city of Pampa wells vary in capacity because of details of construction and differences in the formation of the saturated materials at each well location. The static level of these wells have been dropping an average of one foot per year.

The quality of water produced, according to city water officials, is variable—all of the water produced from city water wells is high in bicarbonates. Some of the wells produce water that is high in sulphates, chlorides and total hardness. In general the water improves from north to south. The quality of water from the south Pampa field is superior in quality to water developed prior to 1949.

The Pampa Pump Station No. 3 has three wells. Well No. 1, drilled in 1907 produces 700 gal. per min. Well No. 2, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min. Well No. 3, drilled in 1942 produces 440 gal. per min. Pumping Station No. 2 has ten wells. Well No. 1, drilled in 1908 produces 700 gal. per min. Well No. 2, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min. Well No. 3, drilled in 1907 produces 770 gal. per min. Well No. 4, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min. Well No. 5, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min. Well No. 6, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min. Well No. 7, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min. Well No. 8, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min. Well No. 9, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min. Well No. 10, drilled in 1908 produces 440 gal. per min.

The Santa Fe well acquired from the Santa Fe Railway Co. produces 300 gallon per minute. These production figures represent the free flow at the well head. The estimated flow to ground storage is less.

R. B. Cooke, public works director for the city of Pampa, estimates that the average daily production capacity is 11,872,800 gallons, with the average daily consumption during the summer months from 5 to 7 million gallons. The peak daily consumption so far this summer has been 8,279,950 gallons.

The 1965 "Beef Breeder News" carries a story of a ranch that was for sale in 1773. The ranch for sale ad listed on 7800 acre cattle and grain ranch with 1700 cattle and 300 horses. The sale price was $9,060.00. A complete inventory of everything on the ranch was given. The inventory stated that "The working ground bears 18 bushels of wheat per acre—40 acres planted to wheat; and 69 acres are planted to barley which yields 25 bushels to the acre. There are also sown in said fields—corn which produces 24 bushels to the acre."

Irrigation was also being practiced in California in 1773 on this ranch. "Two wells of stone and clay, large and good with stone lined irrigation ditches producing water to land beside the ranch house 900 varas long and 280 varas wide (vara was just under 3 feet) everything well plowed for the sowing of corn and wheat."

"Along the irrigation ditch mentioned above is planted 103 fig trees, already successful; 203 pomegranate trees, also successful; 820 cotton plants. On land less moist and nearly useless for sowing have been planted and grown 204 grape stocks, most of them having borne grapes — and there are plenty at present."

California was settled and occupied by the Spanish. The land described above was for sale 3 years before the Declaration of independence was written in 1776.

GETS FEDERAL JOB
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Vivian Malone, the first Negro to graduate from the University of Alabama, has taken a job with the Justice Department in Washington, the Birmingham Post-Herald reported Friday night.

The newspaper said Miss Malone's mother, Mrs. Willie Malone of Mobile, said she did not know what division of the Justice Department her daughter worked for. Mrs. Malone was quoted as saying her daughter started working on June 15 after she passed her civil service examination.

Farming Among Hazardous Jobs

Farming ranks third behind mining and construction work as the "most hazardous occupation" in the nation. And, points out County Agent Foster Whaley, farming lags behind other industries in safety training work.

Today's farmer wears many hats in order to operate his complex business. Within a single week he may be a machinery operator, a carpenter, a ditch digger, a stone mason, an electrician, a cowboy, a plumber, a veterinarian, a truck driver, a chemist, a fuel handler, a personnel director and any other kind of worker you might name.

In most other industries, explains the county agent, workers are studied as they perform their assigned tasks. Their mistakes are corrected. But in farming, an unsafe act may be unseen and unrecognized. It can become a habit.

To make farm work safer, the county agent suggests that farmers look for accident hazards and remove them. Also, learn to work safely with the hazards which cannot be eliminated. And finally, that a close examination or study of work habits be made so that better and safer ways can be found for doing the farm jobs often named as the cause of farm and home accidents.

REMOVE FARM SUPPORTS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Chamber of Commerce urges Congress to wipe out all government farm price supports and production controls.

Chamber spokesmen told the Senate Agriculture Committee Friday that farmers should be helped to adjust to a free-market system by a transitional, temporary series of direct federal payments.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovett Memorial Library this week are:

Non-fiction:
 "The Population Dilemma" — Philip M. Hauser; very few of us have the information necessary to understand the situation of the population growth. In this book eleven authorities present a well-balanced picture of population trends and prospects in the world as a whole.
 Countryman — Hal Borland; the author of "When the Legends Die" has combined some of his best nature writing with the statement of his personal beliefs about human purpose and destiny.
 Cow People — J. Frank Dobie; records the fading memories of a bygone Texas, the reminiscences of the cow people themselves. Their stories are often tenuous, but just as often quiet as hot plains under a pale Texas sky.
 Wild Heritage — Sally Cartright; observations on animals in the wild and their behavior toward each other by the author of "One Day at Teton Marsh" and "Icebound Summer."
 Too Many Americans, Tomorrow's Issue — Lincoln and Alice Day; the authors describe how the population growth has come about, carefully examine the arguments in favor of rapid growth and expose the fallacies of conservatism and of our religious attitudes on the question of birth control.
 Honorable Hibachi — Kathryn Popper; the first book of recipes for the Japanese indoor-outdoor charcoal grill — comprising a whole new repertory of delectable dishes that can be prepared, as well, in the kitchen broiler or backyard barbecue.
 Sigmund Freud — Giovanni Costigan; this short, concise and highly readable biography is an attempt to dispel many of the misconceptions about Freud and to present simply the man and his work.
 Fiction:
 The Second Mrs. Wu — Agnes Sanford; when the Chinese who was ordained a Christian minister by John MacLean, an American missionary in China during the early 20th-century, baptizes a Mr. Wu and his two wives, MacLean's colleagues are outraged.
 A Pillar Of Iron — Taylor Caldwell; a fictional biography of Cicero, the idealist who was determined to preserve Republicanism in ancient Rome, despite the friendship and opposition of Caesar and Pompey. A novel by the author of "Dear and Glorious Physician."
 P. S. Wilkinson & C. D. B. Bryan; a young man is forced to come to terms with his world as he finds it. The idealized world he had pictured while on duty in Korea is not in existence when he returns.

 The Prime Minister's Daughter — Maurice Edelman; Melville, the Prime Minister, faces the most serious crisis of his career when a personal scandal arises involving his daughter. A motion is made to censure him and his Government in the House of Commons, and the ensuing debate provides a picture of the working English government.
 Lady Wu — Lin Yutang; a novel based on the life of Lady Wu, the cruel and pleasure-loving queen who maintained a harem of paramours and created an empire of unparalleled despotism in 7th century China.
 The Quiller Memorandum — Adam Hall; a taut and masterly tale of espionage, in the tradition of such classics as "The Spy Who Came In From the Cold."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 1,000 persons from 39 states came to the capital this week to attend a national convention of handbell ringers. I have a number of cultural blind spots, and this was one of them. The fact that a lot of people like to get together and ring handbells had heretofore eluded me.
 Figuring that there must be more to handbell ringing than meets the ear, I stopped by the convention and had a chat with Mrs. Nancy Poore Tufts, a local authority on the subject.
 Missing Something Inoed Mrs. Tufts informed me that I had indeed been missing something.
 "Handbell ringing has been sweeping the country in the past 10 years," she reported.
 "In 1954, when the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers was organized, we had only 75 members. Now we have more than 500 groups, representing several thousand ringers."
 Members of one of the groups attending the convention call themselves "The Fink Family Ringers."
 Mrs. Tufts said that handbell ringing particularly appeals to teenagers.
 "It keeps them moving every minute and wears them out," she explained.
 Europe makes about 80 per cent of the world's wine.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
 As West Germany has prospered and taken its place as a full partner of the Western powers, its Communist counterpart in the East has suffered from a massive inferiority complex.

This inferiority complex springs from the fact that with one doubtful exception the Communist East German regime has been unable to obtain recognition from any nation outside the Communist bloc.

The one doubtful exception was Zanzibar which before its union with Tanganyika to form Tanzania, accepted an East German embassy.

For a time, during the period of strain between West Germany and the United Arab Republic over the issue of German arms to Israel, it appeared that President Nasser might help the East Germans toward their goal.

Nothing To Offer

That possibility fell through before the obvious fact that the East Germans had nothing to offer that could in any way compare to help already being received from West Germany.

Despite official recognition from within the Communist bloc, even there the East Germans still have yet to attain a full measure of respectability. Among the Poles and the Czechs especially there still exists the hatred that extends to all Germans as result of the Nazi excesses.

Despite East German opposition, the governments of Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania entered into trade agreements with West Germany recognizing West Berlin as a part of West Germany.

It is the East German contention that in reality there are three Germanys, the third being West Berlin.

Apply New Pressures

It is within this framework that the East German government of Communist leader Walter Ulbricht again is seeking a greater measure of recognition by applying new pressures on West Berlin.

The immediate issue is whether a new agreement is to be negotiated permitting West Berliners to visit relatives on the Communist side of the Berlin wall.

Playing upon human emotions, the Communists are demanding government-to-government negotiations which would recognize both East Germany and West Berlin as sovereign states.

Other East German moves have been to send helicopters over West Berlin in violation of the four-power agreement governing West Berlin air space and to denounce agreements covering movement of rail and barge traffic between West Germany and West Berlin.

Extortion Attempt

In all of these, West German and Allied officials see another Communist attempt to extort international recognition of East Germany.

Since the Soviet-U. S. confrontation over Cuban missiles in 1962, the Communists generally have been content to let the Berlin issue simmer. An East German-Soviet treaty of friendship signed a year ago suggested that the Soviets were for the moment satisfied with the status quo.

Refusal of the non-Communist world to recognize East Germany does serious damage to East German efforts to expand trade contacts abroad.

Other issues also may help to account for the new East German truculence. One is the approach of West German elections. The other is the war in South Viet Nam.

BAZOOKA INCIDENT

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Authorities reported that one person was killed and three were wounded when unidentified terrorists fired three Russian-made bazooka shells into a market place here Wednesday night. Authorities said the shells were fired from a Buddhist temple.

SOUNDS WARNING

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI) — The Syrian government charged that a Syrian policeman was killed Wednesday when Turkish border guards fired across the frontier. The announcement said the Turks were trying to protect smugglers and warned that Syria will take "all necessary measures" to end future such "aggressions."

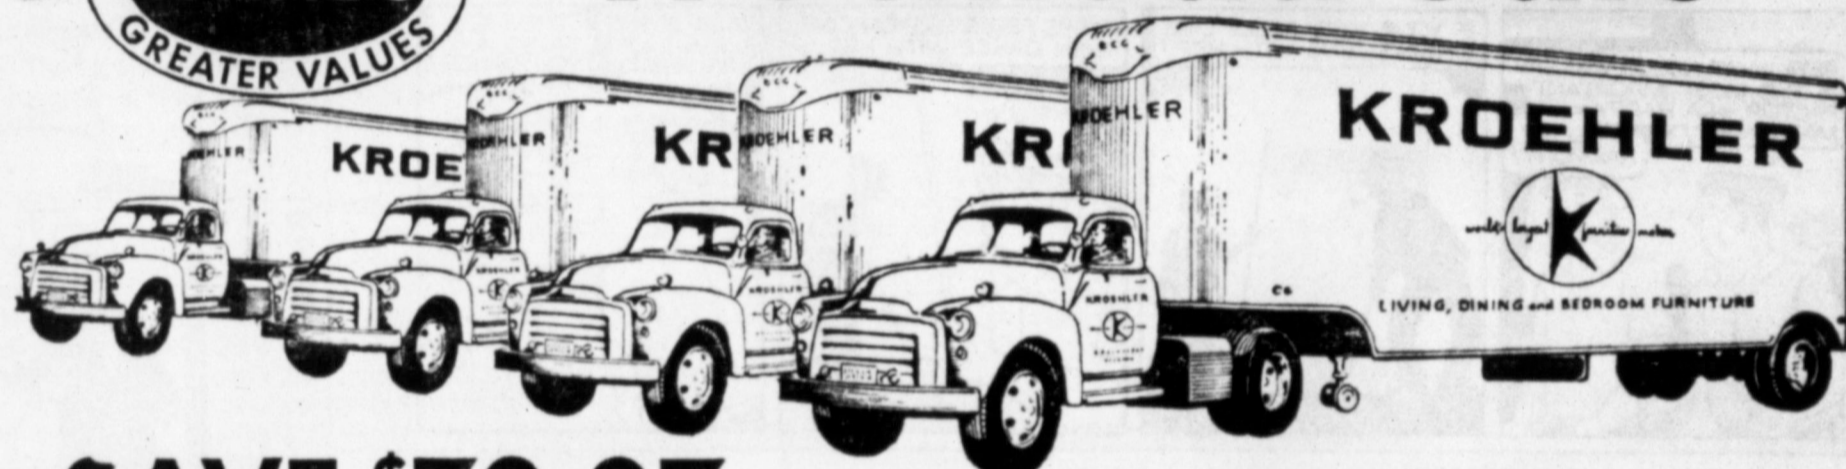

LEAVES FOR NEBRASKA — Duane Pope, indicted in Kansas City in the bloodiest bank holdup of modern times, is ushered into a car by federal marshals to start a trip to Nebraska where he will be tried. Pope was indicted for killing three bank officials in Big Springs, Neb., during a $1,500 robbery.

BUS STRIKE ENDS

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI)—Dublin was recovering from a week-long bus strike but faced the threat of a newspaper blackout. About 1,600 printers on the city's three newspapers and 46 printing firms threatened to walkout next week to back demands for a 33-1-3 per cent wage increase.

Insects Have Unique Way of Getting About

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the toughest of nature's riddles is how night-flying insects avoid collisions and find both mates and food and the answer may be that they broadcast and receive in the infrared.

If so it is a unique way of getting about safely and profitably in the dark. Bats do it with mechanical sound waves, by giving off with high frequency sounds human ears can't hear and paying attention to echoes.

Infrared waves are not mechanical. They're radiant, like light waves but longer and so invisible to us and, it had been thought, to all other seeing creatures.

Entomologist P. S. Callahan of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's research laboratories at Tifton, Ga., proposes that some insects not only see infrared waves but generate them to make themselves visible to their fellows.

He has proved it as regards several species of night-flying moths. By attaching instruments to them and suspending them in front of other instruments, he demonstrated they were "hot bodies" in the cool of the night and thus emitters of the infrared.

The distinction of night-flying insects is to "home" on some infrared emitters such as food from a certified flow of water gurgling out of a rock.

Last year, Boehm said, 256,439 visited the park and 31,965 stayed to camp overnight along the quiet, trickling stream or in the open shelters, all entertained nocturnally by the low call of the coyote or the mournful hoot owl and all in close proximity to very civilized conveniences including modern hot showers.

plant and prospective mates while avoiding waters, Canahan proposed. The moths do it by having eyes which when fully adapted to the black night measure infrared waves and send the meaningful facts to their brains, this being the essential process of seeing.

This he proved, too. He painted the walls and ceiling of a room black and shielded the windows and door. In the center he put an infrared-emitting tube completely covered with black tape and surrounded it with sticky paper. Into this total blackness he sent 100 night-flying moths of the corn earworm kind. He knew they flew at once to the infrared emitter because 52 of them got trapped in the goo on the paper.

But to eliminate any doubt, he put a long black box in his black room. One end contained an infrared emitter. Both ends were covered by black paper which caught the scales and excretions insects deposit wherever they land.

Midget Cave Stealing Show at Palo Duro

People have fifteen thousand acres including an enormous gorge to tour in mighty Palo Duro Canyon State Park but the smallest natural feature is one of the biggest attractions. That, according to Park Ranger C. J. Boehm, would be Timber Creek Cave which is little more than a good-sized hole in the rock, with the deepest available penetration only thirty feet back under a slanting ledge.

absolute safety regardless of the water depth. Only one impatient person in the last five years decided not to defer forcing during the usually comparatively short time for the water to subside. He splashed into the swift stream and lost both his car and trailer. Ranger Boehm likes to tell about the principal interest of the visiting crowds such as the tremendous canyon scenery, the bird life including swirling eagles, the big game including rare aoudad sheep occasionally seen on the distant rim and the cultural standpoint—the nightly summer performances, except Tuesdays in the outdoor amphitheater by the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation.

Ralston Breezes To Quarterfinals

WIMBLEDON (UPI) — Dennis Ralston breezed past Brazilian Thomas Koch, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1, Saturday to reach the quarterfinals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships along with two fellow Yanks.

The Bakersfield, Calif., player, the best American hope to unseat Australian Roy Emerson in the men's single division, was joined by Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Allen Fox of Los Angeles in the round of eight. That gave the U.S. one more survivor than the Aussies, who have dominated this tournament in recent years.

Riessen blasted Aussie Bob Howe, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, and Allen powered his way to his third consecutive upset with a 5-7, 7-5, 6-2, 6-4 triumph over Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy.

Eighth-seeded Rafael Osuna of Mexico knocked Arthur Ashe Jr. of Los Angeles out of the tourney, 8-6, 6-4, 6-4, and Keith Diepraam of South Africa ousted James McManus of Berkeley Calif., 5-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

American women also did well. Nancy Richey, top-ranked in the United States and seeded fourth here, pasted Rosemary Deloford of Britain, 6-1, 6-0, to enter the last 16. Justina Bricka of St. Louis had a tougher time reaching that plateau, outlasting Monique Salfati of France, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.

Julie Heldman of New York had little trouble beating Jill Lloyd of Britain 6-2, 6-2, while Jane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., advanced with a 6-4, 6-3, sweep of Helga Schultze of Germany.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., the fifth-seeded player, reached the last 16 with a 7-5, 12-10 victory over Jill Blackman of Australia.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, the defending singles champion and top seed, brushed off England's Ann Haydon Jones, 6-4, 7-5 to enter the quarterfinals. All other women's matches were in the third round.

Emerson seeded first, and favored to retain his title, won a grudge match from his former Aussie doubles partner Ken Fletcher, 10-8, 6-4, 3-6, 11-9. Fletcher resents Emerson's return to the auspices of the Australian Lawn Tennis Association after the doubles partner had agreed to defy the Association with an overseas tour.

Fred Stolle, the only other Aussie in the quarterfinals and the second seed, disposed of countryman Bob Hewitt, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Unseeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa upset sixth-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, 9-7, 6-4, 11-13, 11-9.

The quarterfinal pairings pit Emerson against Diperaam, Ralston against Riessen, Drysdale against Fox, and Osuna against Stolle. Emerson and Ralston will meet in the semifinal if they win their next matches.

Young Unknown Has Third-Round Margin

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Young Raymond Floyd overcame gale winds and intermittent heavy showers Saturday to fire a five under par 65 and take the 54-hole lead in the $100,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament with a 12 under par 201.

Tommy Aaron, second round leader, came in with a 69 to trail Floyd by one stroke.

Floyd had four birdies and a bogey on the front side for a 33 and had an eagle and a birdie on the back for a 32.

Gene Littler and Bruce Devlin were three strokes back at 204 and Arnold Palmer was at 206.

Floyd, 22, started off the round with three birdies, including one on a 45-foot putt on the first hole. His chip shots were extremely accurate and a good share of his putts were fairly short ones.

He eagled the 510-yard par five-12th when he hit the green with a three-iron shot and holed a 15-foot putt. The ball leapt an inch into the air as it hit a spike mark but sailed into the cup.

Floyd shot a 66 in the opening round Thursday and came back with a 70 Friday to trail Aaron by three shots.

Aaron toured the front nine in one over par 37. He parred every hole except seven where he took his only bogey of the round.

His bogey came on the 550-yard par five seventh hole when he underclubbed some 40 yards out. His chip shot rolled five yards past the cup and it took him two strokes to hole it.

Like Floyd, he eagled the 12th hole, sinking a 70-foot wedge shot.

Palmer, who trailed Aaron by two shots going into the round, had a one-under 70. He had identical nines of 35.

Billy Casper, Dick Sikes, Jim Ferrier, Jacky Cupit, Dick Mayer and Joe Cambell were bunched at 206. Lionel Hebert and Bob Goalby were at 207 and Jack Nicklaus, Doug Sanders and four others were at 208.

Carol Mann Takes Lead In Carling

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (UPI) — Carol Mann shot a one under par 69 Saturday, one off the course record, for a 140 and a three-stroke lead in the $10,000 Lady Carling Open.

Miss Mann added a 34-35 to her opening round 71 to wrest the lead from Kathy Whitworth going into Sunday's final round of the 54-hole tournament.

Miss Whitworth of San Antonio, Tex., led by a stroke after the first round with a 70 but she ran into a rash of bogeys and slipped to a 73 on the Turf Valley Country Club course.

Mariene Bauer Hagg of Pensacola, Fla., shot a 71 to tie Miss Whitworth for second place at 143.

Tied at 146 are Clifford Ann Creed, the defending champion from Alexandria, La., and Mary Mills of Gulfport, Miss. Miss Mills also shot a 69 missing by one stroke the course record set by Mrs. Hagg when she won here in 1963.

Amarillo Honors EP's Bob Arnold

AMARILLO (UPI) — Bob Arnold, who compiled a 16-2 record with 249 strikeouts in 130-1-3 innings for El Paso Austin High, Saturday was named winner of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce's award for the state's outstanding high school baseball player.

Arnold, known as the "Iron southpaw," hurled seven shutouts, six one-hitters and one no hitter and had an earned run average of 0.78. He follows David Brevell of Lufkin and Ken Perrin of Sherman as winners of the award.

The chamber actually honors the athletes in various school sports. Other 1964-65 winners were Bill Bradley Palestine, football; Ronnie Peret, Plainview, basketball; Emilio Reene, Abilen, track; Emilie Burren, San Antonio Jefferson, tennis; and Sam Adelman, San Antonio Alamo Heights, golf.

Stretch Winner

DUBLIN (UPI) — Meadow Court, cutting through a jammed field on the rail to gain contention, unloosed a tremendous stretch run at Curragh Saturday and pulled away to a convincing two length victory in the 100th running of the $221,786 Irish Sweepstakes Derby.

Czech Has New AAU Disc Mark

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Czechoslovakia's Ludwig Danke tossed the discus 205 feet seven inches Saturday night to set a meet record and capture the first final event in the two-day 77th annual amateur Athletic Union (AAU) national track and field championships.

The old mark of 202 feet two inches was set by Al Oerter in 1962.

Jay Silvester finished second to Danek, and also beat Oerter's mark with a toss of 202 feet seven inches. Danek set his world record of 211 feet 9 1/2 inches in August, 1964, at a meet at Turnov in his homeland.

Tom Farrell of St. John's College became the first undergraduate to defy a National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) ban against this meet by competing in the 880-yard qualifying. He finished second in his heat with a 1:49.1 to win a place in the finals Sunday.

Farrell's heat was won by Bob Huse of San Diego who had his best time ever—1:48.3.

Two other highly regarded half-milers, Ohio's Darnell Mitchell and Oregon's Morgan Groth qualified for Sunday's finals.

First casualty of the meet was James Jenkins of the Air Force who did a flip and landed on his abdomen in a long-jump effort. He was carried from the field on a stretcher.

Top performer in the qualifying heats was Theron Lewis of Philadelphia's Pioneer Athletic Club who set a Balboa Stadium record of 46.4 seconds in the 440-yard dash.

Huarte Leads East to 34-14 All-Star Win

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte of Notre Dame turned the All-America football game into a personal challenge in leading the East to a 34-14 victory over the favored West Saturday night before a record 25,500 crowd.

Huarte passed for two touchdowns, scored a third masterminded a fourth and kicked four extra points to give the East its second straight triumph and third in the five-game series.

Huarte directed the East from a 14-7 halftime deficit to a pair of touchdowns in the third period and an insurance TD in the final quarter.

The only man close to Huarte, the $200,000 catch of the American Football League New York Jets, was North Carolina's 230-pound halfback Ken Willard. Willard gained a game record 133 yards in 18 carries for the East.

Willard won the most valuable player award for the game with 25 votes compared with seven for Huarte. The award is given by sportswriters and broadcasters covering the game.

Huarte opened the scoring with a 13-yard pass to Syracuse fullback Jim Nance in the first sequence after kickoff, slid three yards for a third-period touchdown that put the East on top for good and connected with Notre Dame battery-mate Jack Snow on a nine-yard scoring effort in the fourth period.

Indiana fullback Tom Nowatzke scored on a one-yard burst late in the third period after Willard ran for 35 of the 68 yards in the game-tying drive.

Army quarterback Rollie Stichweh, operating at halfback, took a handoff from Navy Quarterback Roger Staubach and went one yard for the final East touchdown 21 seconds before the end.

Nowatzke missed the conversion but the East had the most lopsided win in the history of the series.

LCC Offers Marolyn Young Track Grant

LUBBOCK — Marolyn Young of White Deer has been offered a track scholarship by coach Hugh Rhodes of Lubbock Christian College.

Rhodes, coach of one of the few Texas colleges that offer girls track scholarships, contacted Pampa Track Club coach Jeff Coane by telephone Saturday and said that he wanted the petite brunette for his relay team.

Rhodes explained that he had been interested in both the young twins (sister Carolyn is a standout in field events) but that he already had a field events and shotput girl and needed a fourth for his relay team, as well as needing Marolyn's running and hurdling ability.

Marolyn and her coach will go to Lubbock tomorrow or Tuesday to let Rhodes watch her run and discuss details of the scholarship.

Rhodes also expressed a definite interest in several PTC youngsters, especially 15-year-old 220 star Connie Parish, and said that he would keep a close eye on them in the future.

Marolyn, who graduated from White Deer High this spring was a standout basketball player in high school. In her first year with the Pampa Track Club, she finished first in the 100-yard, 220 and 440-yard dashes in the Pampa Junior Champ meet, as well as winning the broad jump and placing second to sister Carolyn in the baseball throw.

At the Lubbock Junior Champ meet, Marolyn placed third in the low hurdles, third in the broadjump, fifth in the 100 and the high jump and anchored the second-place sprint relay team.

Marolyn is scheduled to run next in the state Jaycee meet at Bryan July 9-10, then in the Perryton AAU meet July 17, followed by the TAAF regional meet at Lubbock July 24, and, if she qualifies, to the TAAF state meet at Denton July 31.

Marolyn is the second PTC runner to be offered a scholarship this summer, hurdler Randy Johnston of Pampa having been offered one at Brigham Young University. She is the first girl in the Top O' Texas area to ever receive an athletic scholarship in anything but basketball.

Orioles Nip Chisox in 14, Twins Hang On to First

Minnesota Gives Gift

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Minnesota's sloppy defense handed the Detroit Tigers a 5-2 victory Saturday, but the Twins still held on to their half game lead in the American League.

The Twins were able to stay on top when contenders Chicago and Cleveland lost their games, too.

Orioles Win 2-0 Battle

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bob Johnson doubled home two runs in the top half of the 14th inning Saturday to give the Orioles a 2-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox, and ended a 28-inning scoring famine for Baltimore.

KC Cools Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Fred Talbot's seven innings of steady hurling and the shutout relief pitching of Don Mossi Saturday enabled the Kansas City Athletics to cool off the Cleveland Indians, 4-2.

It was only the second loss in the Indians' last 14 games.

Giants Nip Phils, 6-5

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jim Rav Hart walked with the bases full and one out in the ninth inning Saturday to force in Jim Davenport and give the San Francisco Giants a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

San Francisco Area Turns Out Nation's Top Swimmers

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — They are turning out top swimmers in this affluent San Francisco suburban area faster than the nation can use them, and Bob Gaughran, one of the young coaches smack in the middle of the production line, says there is no end in sight.

High income, an abundance of pools, close proximity to San Francisco Bay and the Pacific Ocean, countless lakes and favorable year-round weather conditions, Gaughran claims, are responsible for the endless flow of swimmers being culled out at three area high schools and the world famed Santa Clara Swim Club.

He could throw in excellent coaching and the picture would be complete, but the modest 30-year-old Gaughran (who pronounces his name as if it were spelled Goren) doesn't have to. The facts speak for themselves.

Between Gaughran, whose Menlo - Atherton dual meet team recently claimed the national high school championship, Paul Bataille of Palo Alto High and George Haines, who coaches both the Santa Clara High school and Santa Clara Swim Club teams, the United States on practically a moment's notice could present a team of teen-age swimmers comparable to the best in the world of any age.

That's not as far fetched as it sounds. Only nine months ago at Tokyo, many of their products started Olympic officials, sports writers and visitors alike by setting six world records, including a sweep of the relays, while winning 24 of a possible 39 medals (eight gold, eight silver and eight bronze).

Don Schollander, named "man of the games" for winning four gold medals, is one of the 38-year-old Haines' all-time great products. But he AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Ten pros were picked by the Golf Writers Association of America Saturday to play in the $100,000 American Golf Classic at Firestone Country Club Aug. 23-29.

Homero Blancas, young Texan who made the most lucrative start in tour history since turning pro in April, was named on the ballots of 38 of the 44 golf writers. The former University of Houston star led by a wide margin over Canadian Stan Leonard and one-time Purdue standout Joe Campbell, each with 24 votes.

Also picked were Bert Yanney, Philadelphia; Gardner Dickinson Jr., Lost Tree Village, Fla.; Billy Martindale, Jacksonville, Tex.; E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, San Francisco; Kermit Zarley, Yakima, Wash.; Gordon Jones, Orlando, Fla.; and Ramon Sota, Santander, Spain.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Vernon Law won his eighth straight game Saturday and scored the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning to start a three-run rally for a 6-1 Pittsburgh Pirates victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Pirates Sign Three Draftees

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday announced the signing of three more draft choices—an infielder and two pitchers—who will be assigned to their Salem, Va., farm club in the rookie Appalachian League.

Fred Patek, 20, infielder, Seagun, Tex.; Louis Marone, 20, San Diego, Calif.; and Larry Killingsworth, 18, North Long Beach, Calif., bring to 19 the number of Pirate draft choices under contract.

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (UPI) — A pair of oil millionaires from Midland, Tex., nailed down the two top grid positions Saturday for Sunday's fifth leg of the 10-race U. S. Road Racing Championships.

Jim Hall, who broke his own track record for a fastest lap with a 108.24 mile an hour trip around the 2.3 mile course, teamed with Hap Sharp for the leadoff spots in the 18th annual Grand Prix sports car race. Both men were driving Chaparral II's in the qualifier.

Sunday's Grand Prix will be an 87-lap, 200.1-mile race for 30 competing drivers who will go after a total purse of $16,150 and a possible $3,600 first prize.

Texas All-Stars Out-Weigh Foes

ORANGE (UPI) — Weight will be riding with the Texas all-stars this year in the annual Big 33 Football Game with Pennsylvania in the second annual meeting between the two forces when they collide Saturday, August 14, in Hershey, Pa. Stadium.

The Texas squad, consisting of perhaps the best 33 high school seniors across the state, was completed recently and will weigh-in at an average of 219 pounds per man. That is 15 pounds per man heavier than the 204 pounds at which the Pennsy team is expected to tip the scales.

Texans Light At Ends
Even though the Texans figure lighter at ends, all other positions give the Texas team the advantage. The Texans will average 212 pounds across the line and 193½ pounds through the backfield.

Pennsy, meanwhile averages 210 pounds on the line and 192½ in the backfield.

The big weight advantage for the Texans is at center where the three Pennsy players average only 199 pounds and the Texans, with Kenneth Gidney (215) of McKinney, Terry Don Phillips (200) of Longview and Skippy Spruill (255) of Odessa average out at 223 pounds per man.

In other line positions, the Texans average 225 at tackle and 212 at guard. Pennsy, meanwhile, carries a 221 tackle average and a 204 guard average.

At quarterback the Texans average 190 per man, with Houston Westbury's Rusty Clark (210) the only member of the trio who weighs over 200. Both other field generals, Bill Bradley of Palestine and Glenn Smith of Houston Waltrip, trip the scales at 180.

Pennsy averages 181 at quarterback, with the heaviest man weighing only 167.

Fullbacks Average 210
Texas' halfbacks average 180, while the fullbacks average 210. Pennsy's backfield breakdown is not known at this time.

Last year the Penn 33 knocked off Texas, 12-6, to hold intact a record of which it's very proud. No team, including Texan and three National High School All-America arrays, ever crossed Pennsy's goal line.

Texas' six points last year came on two field goals off the foot of James Russell, and end from Hurst Bei.

Texas has loaded its team this year with as much talent as possible in hopes of handing the host team its first defeat. Included on the Texas roster are four All-America picks, including Spruill, guard Gene Mayes of Garland, and half-backs Norman Bulaich of LaMarque and Chris Gilbert of Spring Branch.

From the Texas team, 23 made all-state by the Texas Sports Writers Assn.

The complete Texas squad: ENDS — Gilbert Ash, Galea Park; Greg Beesley, Lancaster; Larry Henson, Pasadena; Chris Key, Lubbock Monterey; Corby Robertson, Houston Lamar; Ken Spain Houston Austin.

TACKLES — Tom Buckman, Fort Worth Carter; Bill Cloud, Galena Park; Craig Jolley Sweetwater; Rolf Krueger, Bryan; Earl Maxfield, Tyler High; Leland Winston, Spring Branch Memorial.

GUARDS — Danny Abbott, Amarillo Tascosa; Ronnie Bell, Nederland; Harold Chenault, Rockwall; Don King, Wichita Falls Hirschi; Gene Mayes Garland; Pat O'Connell, San Antonio Jefferson.

CENTERS — Kenneth Gidney, McKinney; Terry Don Phillips, Longview; Skippy Spruill, Odessa.

QUARTERBACKS — Bill Bradley, Palestine; Rusty Clark, Houston Westbury; Glenn Smith, Houston Waltrip.

HALFBACKS — Jackie Allen, Dallas South Oak Cliff; Norman Bulaich, LaMarque; Chris Gilbert, Spring Branch; James Harris, Brownwood; Jerry Levas, Beaumont Hebert; Ronnie Scoggins, Garland.

FULLBACKS — George Danford, Waco Moore; Wendell Montgomery, Midland.

Sudden Sam Seeking Strikeout Records

By United Press International
Sam McDowell stands six feet, five inches tall and sets his goals as high as he sets his baseball cap.

Ever since he began pitching high school ball back in Pittsburgh, the gangly Cleveland southpaw has had only one idol and one set of goals. The idol is Bob Feller, who first met Sam when he was 14, and the goals are "to break Bob Feller's records—all of em."

And at least in one respect, Sam is right on target.

Feller, the legendary Hall of Famer of the Indians, gained his greatest fame with record strikeout feats and Sudden Sam is quickly establishing a reputation as the American League's biggest strikeout king since the days of Herb Score, another Cleveland star, in the early 1950s.

The 22-year-old McDowell who received approximately $75,000 to sign with the Tribe in 1960, has struck out 137 batters in only 105 innings this year after a 13 K effort against the Kansas City Athletics Friday night. The Cleveland southpaw, with ninth-inning relief help from Gary Bell, blanked the A's 2-0 for his sixth straight victory and ninth of the year.

Fastest in League
McDowell, who Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer tabs "the fastest pitcher in our league and maybe in both," has struck out 13 batters per inning for an amazing percentage of 11.7 per nine-inning game, an average better than that of Sandy Koufax. He now has fanned 10 or more men in one game seven times this season, one less than the Dodger dandy.

Minnesota edged Detroit 4-3 on a ninth-inning infield hit to retain its one-half game lead over Cleveland and Chicago, who blanked the Baltimore Orioles 6-0. The New York Yankees defeated Los Angeles 5-1 and Boston battered the Washington Senators 8-6 in other American League games.

McDowell's accomplishments have done more than frighten the opposition, however, they also have played a major part in Cleveland's climb to the top of the A.L. ladder. He hasn't allowed a run in his last two starts and the four hits he surrendered Friday raised the total to six during that period.

Rocky Colavito long a favorite in Cleveland, continued to respond with his 17th homer of the season and Fred Whitfield also connected for a solo circuit to account for both Tribe runs.

The Red Sox rang up seven runs in the fifth stanza, their biggest one-inning outburst of the season, and survived a Washington home run barrage for their victory. Carl Yastrzemski rapped out three hits, including his 11th homer to spark an 11-hit Boston attack and Dick Radatz saved Dennis Bennett's second victory.

BRVES CALL RELIEFER
ATLANTA (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves called up relief pitcher Dave Eilers from the Atlanta Crackers of the International League Friday.

Eilers, a righthander, has a 8-1 record with 14 saves and a .80 era.

SANTIAGO, Chile. (UPI) — The newly-cleared giant slalom slope that will be used in the 1966 world ski championships at Portillo, will be tested this weekend for the first time in the inauguration and Panagra Cups competitions.

CARDS SIGN HURLER

Fleckman In Pressure Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Improbable Matry Fleckman of the University of Houston tapped in a 12-foot birdie putt on the final hole to win the 68th NCAA golf championship Friday in a pressure-packed finish.

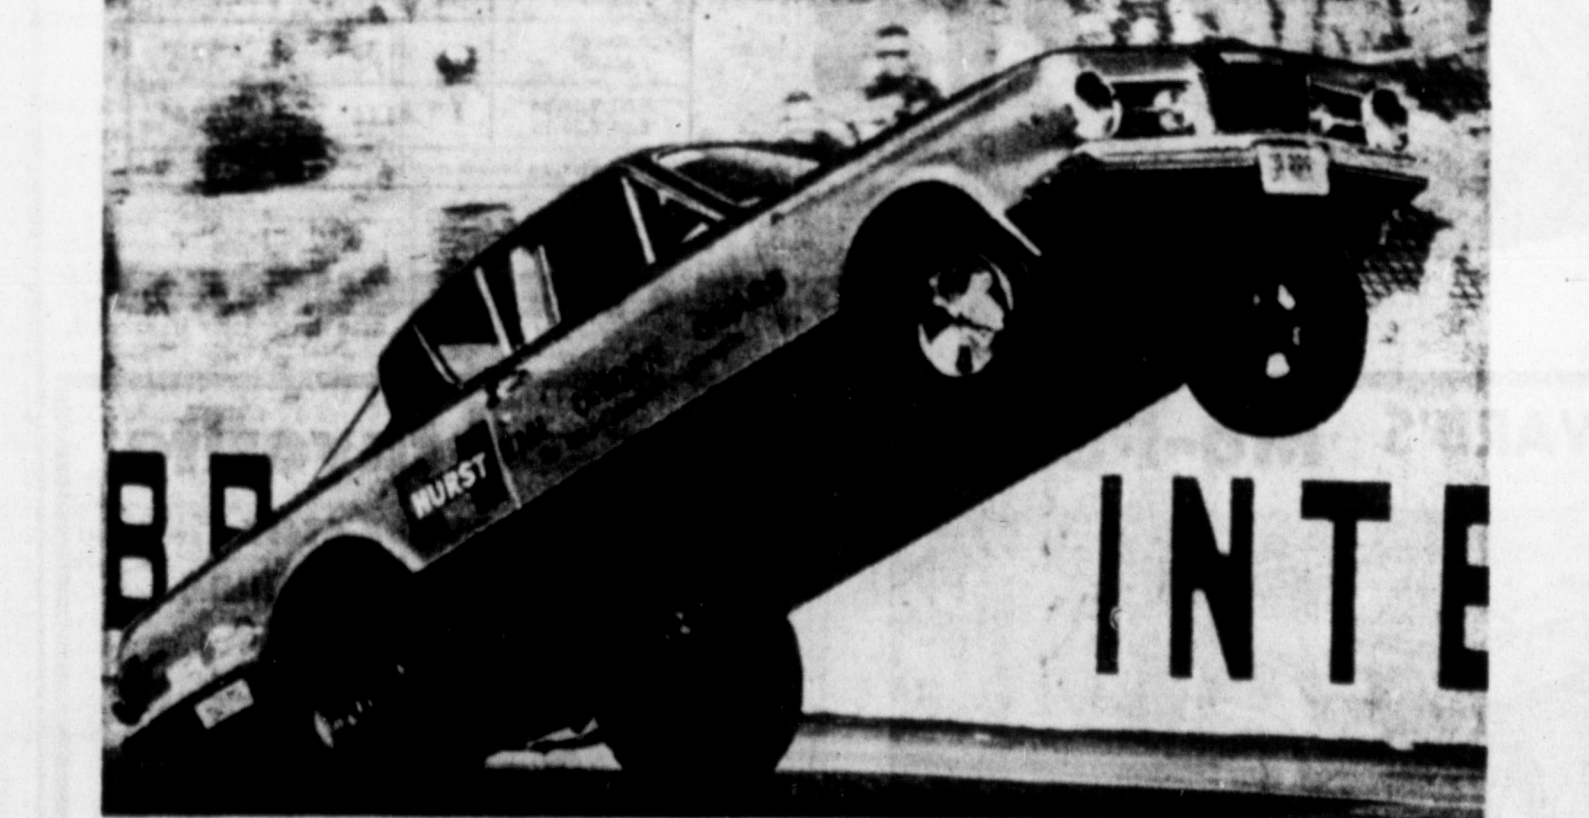

The 21-year-old junior, who set a tournament record for the first two rounds, withstood a surge by Santa Clara's Jim Wiechers to finish with a seven-under par 281 for the 72 holes.

Wiechers came in with a one-under par 71 for 282 while Fleckman was on the 15th tee.

The Texan was three over at the time and faced the possibility of a tie if he were unable to break par on one of the four final holes.

After pars on 15, 16, and 17, Fleckman got off a fine drive at 18 but hooked his second shot into the left rough in front of a bunker.

His wedge shot from 75 yards out sat down 12 feet from the pin, and with his next shot it was all over.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Dean Chance drives a mighty hard bargain.

He doesn't believe in extracting the last ounce of blood from the man on the other side of the negotiating table but he feels he knows exactly what he's worth and he doesn't like settling for a penny less.

Thus it came to pass last winter that Chance, publicly acknowledged the outstanding pitcher in the majors for 1964, wouldn't budge from a salary demand of $50,000 while general manager Fred Haney, representing the Los Angeles Angels, was talking more in terms of $45,000.

Reach Agreement
The usual yackity-yack between employee and employer followed and it finally was resolved when Chance signed for $47,000 — plus the privilege of rooming alone instead of having to double up whenever the club was on the road.

Now, that in itself doesn't particularly qualify as a big piece of news.

What does is that fact that the unusually honest, 24-year-old Chance comes right out and says now he isn't pulling his oar for the money they're paying him.

He quickly adds he has every intention of doing so, however.

"Fair is fair, and they kept their part of the bargain," explained the Los Angeles righthander, who owns a luke-warm 4-4 record.

Keep Bargain
"They gave me what I wanted and they're paying me good money. I want to keep my part of the bargain, and I know I haven't been. It wasn't my fault because I had an abscessed tooth that filled my whole body with poison, but I know the only thing that counts in this game is the result.

"Well, the final one isn't in yet. Before this season is over I'll win 17 or 18 games. That's right, I said 17 or 18. I'm trying harder now than I ever did in my life. And for the first time I'm starting to throw good again. I want to do my share — and I will before it's all over."

Winner of the Cy Young Award last year after he racked up 20 triumphs against only nine losses, Chance has no idea how long his upper molar was abscessed before it finally was extracted a little over two weeks ago.

"I didn't even have a toothache," he said, "but they discovered the abscess when I went to the doctor for a complete physical."

Chance is convinced he's gradually getting back on the beam because he pitched shut-out ball against Cleveland before he tired and had to come out in the 95-degree heat last Sunday and also looked good in his latest start against the Yankees.

Feels Good
"I feel good now because I know I can pitch again," said Chance. "I'm not worried about my record. I was the same thing a year ago this time. That's right, four-and-four. I was only five-and-five at the All-Star break."

"The way I was going earlier this year, I'm glad to have four victories. It could've been none. It really should have been 14. This ball club has played great ball behind me. They've been getting me runs and giving me tremendous support in the field. Just remember what I say: I'm still going to wind up with 17 or 18 victories before the year is out."

SETS LAP RECORD
CLERMONT Ferrand, France (UPI) — Denis Hulme of New Zealand, driving a Brabham Climax, at an average speed of 89.1 miles per hour, Friday set a lap record in a practice run for Sunday's formula one Grand Prix of France. 4-4 record.

Bowling

By GIL BURGUND
Has anyone noticed the heat this week? I just can't make up my mind if it's the weather or if it's some of this hot bowling going on this week.

Wylene Patrick certainly tops the list this week. Nothing seemed to bother her except the 10th frame. She blew the tenth - to wind up with a 243 game-and-joined the Honor "600" Club, with her first 600, a nice rousing 626. Congratulations!

Dwight Mackie had to warm up a bit his first game a 131, next one a 231, his first was 200 to sum up to a 562.

And say, didn't the Juniors keep up the pace. Skipper Barnett with a 215, Lanny Lewis a 204, 562, Janet Morgan 191, 476 Charles Clifton 520, Roger Flowers 523 Roy Milliron, 213. We also had Darlene Thomas, Ronetta Moore, Judy Butler, and Karen Hepler, who aren't talking. Bantamwise, we had Frankie LaRue with a hi of 154, almost keeping pace with Larry Akers, 162 and also Ann Corley right behind him with a 382 to a 296.

I'll bet that B. V. Hinkle just can't remember when he bowled a 412 series, or when Ruth Abbott beat hubby Dick by more than 20 pins on series. Carroll Pettit put three nice games together for a 500 series, while Ron Havens was under 500 for the first time in ages. James Hembree had a pretty even series too, 130, 140, 140.

This time Eve Boyd really deserved praise, not just for beating her sis-in-law, but for a 202, 535 series. Perny Pinley was almost back to her old form with a 511. Virginia Mitten just told me that by next week, she will have been a Girl Scout one day, and she would tell me all about her new job.

Bett Mounce insisted that she couldn't hit the red head pin, but she fooled herself.

Sharon Vaughn, who really bowled a beautiful series last week, (setting an average) did not do so good this week, I'm afraid to mention the score.

Young Sammy Ellis Shows McHale Curves

By United Press International
"Curves like that make me drool."

That was Milwaukee Brave General Manager Johnny McHale's verdict the first time he saw Sammy Ellis in 1962 and today just about everybody in the National League agrees with it.

Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Juan Marichal are the acknowledged "big name pitchers" of the circuit — and justly so — but the 24-year old Ellis from Youngstown, Ohio, is carving out a record that may catapult him into the big money.

A slender right-hander who had a 10-3 record and a 2.58 earned run average as a reliever last season, Ellis won the opportunity to start this year and has made the most of it.

Texas Tech Loses Starting Fullback

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Leo Lowery, starting fullback on the Texas Tech football squad, will not be able to play his final season of eligibility coach J.T. King said Friday.

King said Lowery, of Lovington, N.M., had failed to pass enough cumulative hours during the past two semesters.

The Tech senior was a fifth year man and therefore cannot play again for Tech.

"We can least afford the loss of a man of his abilities," said King. "I doubt that there are any more powerful runners in the conference but his chief value to us was his blocking."

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD
A college football coach may have the biggest, fastest, smartest boys in the country. He may have the cleverest formation anywhere . . . "I", "A", "T", or what have you. But if his team can't block and tackle he might as well play Podunk High. That's why he's constantly teaching fundamentals. Fishing is the same way! You may have the best bait-casting rig on the market. You may be able to put a practice plug in the bucket at 30, 40 and 50 feet . . . nine times out of nine.

But if you don't know more than that about the fundamentals of fishing, you'll never catch a black bass except by accident. You've got to know THE FISH! As often stated the black bass is an ornery critter. He doesn't move around much except to forage for food. And he doesn't do that often because he homesteads in a place where he can hide and lie in wait for something edible to be washed to him by the current.

So look for him under an overhanging willow tree, close to the bank, and where the water is deep. All kinds of goodies come falling out of the tree: caterpillars, baby birds, and mice. If there are lily pads there, so much the better. It will be a home for frogs. If the bank is muddy, that's fine. Crawfish will live there. If there is a weed bed, that's wonderful. In that hideaway will be small bream and minnows that the largemouth can catch. Point is if you want to catch fish, you have to put the lure where they are. You have to think like a fish. You have to figure out where he is at what time of day or season, and fish accordingly. Let's take a lesson from the experts. They contend that most of the bass, and the biggest bass, are deep. Yep, you can look at the color photographs in the outdoor magazines, and you can see the big blacks jumping after the topwater lures. It's spectacular! In fact, there's nothing else quite like it. But if you want to catch bass — big bass and lots of them — don't concentrate on topwater lures. Fish deep.

The Panhandle Sportsman

By STARKEY WHITEHORN
Last week Bob Fink, Federal Engineer at Lake Meredith, and I went the lower route to the Fritch Fortress area. On the way along the shore line the waters were slowly covering weeds and grasses. In the open waters several feet from the bank, the water was a muddy red but as it covered the plants the sediment settled and it was clear. In fact, it was clear enough that hundreds of minnows were seen in the weeds and plants. Some of the minnows were an inch or more in length, and many appeared to be about half an inch in length. Then there were what looked like swarms of very small fry that moved out as we approached. Lonnie Peters, of the Parks and Wildlife Department, stocked about twenty gallons of red-finned shiners in the lake months ago. His plan was that since this particular specie was adapted to a large reservoir they would reproduce and fill the lake with food for game fish. They have, and the lake is loaded with food. These inchers will soon be two or more inches in length and the smaller ones will grow rapidly. The waters will be a paradise for the walleyes, bass and crappie that have been stocked. Of course, the fisherman will want to know how long it will be before these small game fish will be keepers. In fact, I was asked that question recently while addressing a group at the Stephen F. Austin Jr. High in Borger. Without being serious

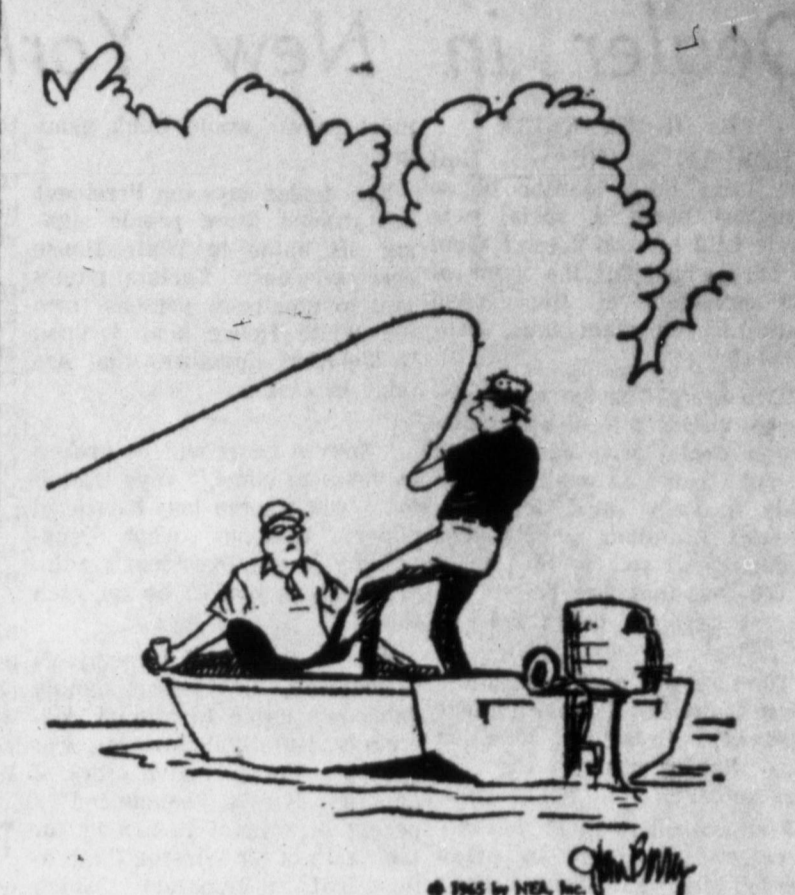

I said, "Some time this summer, probably in July or August." "That soon?" was the reply. "Yes," I remarked "Panhandle fishermen aren't choosy about the size of keepers." If the lake continues to rise during the summer I will wager there will be hundreds of bass caught in August of 1966 that will measure eleven inches, and some even longer. The fishing should be excellent late next fall. I don't expect Lake Meredith to produce but very few fish this year that would be keepers. Naturally, there will be a few come down the river with each rise. Then there will be some that come down when private lakes on the watershed overflow. Last week Johnny Bergner mentioned that his lake, which drains into the lake, was running five feet deep through the spillway. Many fish washed down into Lake Meredith. In fact, Mr. Bergner mentioned that he noticed several large bass and sunfish lodged in weeds in the stream to the lake. If Conchas overflows there will be hundreds of fish come down. However, Lake Meredith is one whole of a lake at this time. Jack Burrus, Game Warden from Childress, and I launched his boat this morning and toured the waters from the dam to the upper end. It took a half tank of gasoline for the trip. Until next year Panhandle fishermen will have to be content with other waters. A report from Tony Wheeler recently was that there have been some large bass caught at Lake Marvin. In fact, Mr. Wheeler mentioned that more fish were being caught there this year than in a long time. One reason for this might be that the lake was heavily fertilized last spring and summer. Another reason could be that many fishermen from these parts have been going to Oklahoma the last few years instead of stopping off at Marvin. According to Lonnie Peters, Lake McClellan contains as much water at this time as it has ever stored in history. Peters said that the water level will be maintained six feet higher, due to the construction on the dam a year or so ago, than it was in the past. The water level was within six feet of going over the top a few days ago and probably at this time is flowing through the spillway. Even though the lake was very low for months after the lake was treated and stocked by the Parks and Wildlife Department, the fish seemed to grow almost as rapidly as they would have if the lake had been full. With the lake full the fish should really put on weight in a hurry. Bobwhite Quail Conditions have been near perfect so far this summer for nesting bobwhites. If it continues to rain through the summer the eastern part of the Texas Panhandle should have the largest quail crop since 1951. This is my prediction. The field trial boys should be able to conduct one of the most successful trials ever this fall in Hemphill County. Even with just a few more rains in the eastern part of the Panhandle during July and August there will be a large crop of quail.

PRIZE — Luke C. McClelland of Pampa caught this prize 17-inch, 1 1/4 pound rainbow trout while fishing at Red River, New Mexico recently.

Boating News

By LEROI OGDEN
Although a concrete block or pail filled with cement or a means of holding a boat, they are awkward and inefficient substitutes for a good anchor. If properly selected and used, an anchor can be both a convenience and a vital piece of safety equipment. You can use it to secure your boat overnight or to ride out heavy seas during a storm. You can also drop the anchor while fishing or swimming in open water. The size and type of anchor you choose depends on how large your boat is and sort of bottom you will generally anchor in — rocky, muddy or sandy. The Evinrude News Service suggests that you ask your local marine dealer for assistance when you purchase an anchor. The "mushroom" anchor, so called because it looks like an inverted mushroom, is popular with many small craft owners.

"I've been waitin' eight months for this fishin' trip, an' all you wanna do is FISH!"

Fishin' Facts

Who ever heard of fishin' for frogs? A lot of folks, that's who. In fact, in many areas across the nation where golden brown frog legs are prime table fare, the fishing approach is more popular than giffin' or grabbin'. This unusual brand of fishing, note the authorities at Mercury outboards, offers both sport and vittles. The knowing angler who's concerned about catching his supper, is apt to forsake his favorite fish for the tastier frogs. Contrasted with conventional means of taking bullfrogs at night with a flashlight, the fishing method occurs during daylight hours. Armed with a flyrod or long cane pole, to which is rigged a hook baited with a piece of bright red cloth, the frogger cruises into a quiet cove. COMPLETE AUTOMOTIVE MACHINE SHOP MOTOR INN AUTO SUPPLY MACHINE SHOP 409 W. ## Fish Derby Revamp Offers More $

Fishermen from over the state converged upon Lake Belton near Temple last Sunday for opening day ceremonies in the Summer Fish Derby. Sixty fish were released by Derby officials worth $15,000. Ten Black Bass were tagged and worth $1,000 each. Fifty Sand Bass and Crappie were tagged and released worth $100 each if caught. The summer-long program calls for 400 additional fish of mixed variety to be released as fast as Derby officials can get them. This represents another $20,000 that Morgan's Point Resort City will pay out if the fish are caught prior to the deadline of 6:00 p. m. Labor Day, which brings the grand total to $35,000. The original plan called for special privileges to be given to property owners at this resort city which would net them Ford Mustangs and additional cash prizes of $500 which represented a cash outlay by Morgan's Point of $20,000. After the press release had gone out, another look was taken at the program; a quick skull session was called and it was decided that if there was going to be a Fish Derby, it should be equal to everybody and it was decided that the extra $20,000 would go to the public catching the prize fish. By this time, the press had already announced that Morgan's Point was having a $35,000 Fish Derby, so it was a simple matter to add 400 additional fish to the pond at $50 per.

guidance of Club President Buddy Parker were fighting the lake right up to the moment the fish were turned loose. The biggest problem was keeping the critters alive, well over half died on the way to the fish cage used to house the catches until they could be tagged. The plan was to tag the prize fish and let the Derby officials release them as a climax to the opening festivities, at which time the Derby would be officially underway and all hooks would hit the water. As it turned out, most of the fish had to be tagged and released prior to the ceremony and some released during the festivities on the Point, for fear they would not last until the grand moment arrived. The sturdy ones were retained, placed in the floating cage, and towed out into the lake. Fish releasing officials were: Mr. Henry Taylor, Jr., Mayor Pro Tem of Temple; Mr. Gene Merrifield, Director of Belton Chamber of Commerce; and Miss Gayle Greenwood, the Derby Queen from Temple. Each in turn scooped up a tagged fish from the floating container and released it into the lake. It has been estimated that the entire $50 variety should be in the lake by the first of July. Temple Bass Club President Buddy Parker said this last assignment of 400 fish was more than his gang bargained for, but with all hands working on it, they should be able to make the deadline.

BIG BASS — Buddy Parker, president of the Temple Bass Club, is shown tagging one of the prize Bass which will be released into Lake Belton, near Temple, June 13th, off Morgan's Point. Ten Black Bass will be worth $1,000 each, Fifty White Bass and Crappie will be worth $100 each.

Re: Medical 'Ethics'

(This is one of a series of memos from Bob Segal, editor of the Valley Freedom Newspapers in Texas to members of the news staff. Mr. Segal writes a column for the American Way Syndicate which is distributed to more than 100 newspapers. Because his comments deal with matters of concern to our readers, we are reprinting them. We believe they apply equally in all areas. Your comments are invited).

Dear Staff Members:

Pity the "professional" man. (You might also feel morally obligated to feel sorry for the "professional woman," but that is another, although very spritely story.) The professional I have in mind is the doctor and, more recently, the lawyer, the architect and the certified public accountant.

The doctors started the whole thing. They imposed upon themselves an Olympian system of what they are pleased to call "ethics," although the term is rather badly mutilated in that connotation. One of the cardinal terms of this self-imposed ethical system forbids a physician from advertising except under such exacting circumstances as the removal of his offices, his return from military service, the opening of his practice, the employment of a new associate. A special committee of his peers minutely examines the size, content and frequency of these advertisements to determine, by some quaint criteria, whether they fall under the determination of "ethical advertising."

A doctor is constrained from advertising himself to be of any special talent, training or general worthiness. But, being closely related to the human race (a group to which he refers, with invariable condescension, as "laymen"), the doctor with his Olympian ethics is a mortal creature with all of the vices, virtues, hopes, desires, vanities and larcenies which God has built into his human invention, and the doctor longs, like the rest of us, for recognition, acclaim, appreciation and distinction.

Mostly, though, he is afraid of what his peers will say if he gets what is referred to as "publicity." Really, nothing much will happen to him, but his training is in orthodoxy and only a rare one takes the "fig for the vicar" attitude.

The turmoil—a natural desire for recognition and a trade-dictated prohibition against overt competition with a fellow practitioner—become traumatic. Doctors hesitate to tell us whether their patient is suffering a hangnail or a ruptured spleen. They beg us not to identify them with any medical story—especially one in which the patient died.

And, all the while, the Dr. Dudley Whites, the Dr. Alton Oschners, the Doctors Mayo, Salk and Sabin (not to mention the ineffable Potty-chair of Physicians, Doctor Spock) regularly are quoted, pictured, awarded, benedicated and even worshipped, and where is there the county medical society which has called them before the Ethics Committee for a dressing down?

I suggest to you members of the news staff, then, that you exercise charity, forbearance and tolerance in dealing with our medical people. The temptation to abuse them is great, but the impossible system of "ethics" which they have tried to impose upon themselves is unnatural.

Give them your sympathy and your charity. They need help.

The Editor

Social Note Costs Autograph Dealer in New York $1,000

By JERRY KLEIN
NEW YORK (NEA) — How can Lady Bird Johnson be so sensitive about a social note while LBJ himself doesn't seem to care who signs the name of the president of the United States to important state documents?

Two Secret Service agents recently visited a New York autograph dealer who had offered a note from Jacqueline Kennedy to Lady Bird for sale. Charles Hamilton, the dealer, expected to sell it for about $1,000—but that was before the Secret Service descended on him.

The note was sent back to the First Lady. But like any patient husband, President Johnson may wonder what all the fuss was about.

For, according to Hamilton, a recognized expert in handwriting—the President doesn't sign his own name to many letters and other documents that most people would think genuine.

The dealer says the President has at least three people signing his name to White House correspondence. Certain letters sent to important persons from the White House bear Lyndon B. Johnson signatures that are fake, he claims.

"Many a heart will be broken in years to come," says Hamilton, "when some long-treasured paper bearing what supposedly is the President's autograph turns out to be no such thing!"

One of the Chief Executive's secretaries is even signing Johnson's name to official documents, Hamilton declares. For example, the executive order of January 24 that announced a period of official mourning for the death of Sir Winston Churchill had a signature which "is certainly not the President's," the expert claims.

Besides the human hands imitating President Johnson's penmanship, Hamilton says the mechanical hands of a robot machine which turns out quantities of autographs that are spurious. Nevertheless, he claims, "in many instances, such items, are accompanied by an 'authenticating' letter from White House aide stating that the President personally signed them!"

Although Hamilton admits that Johnson is not the first chief executive to use a "ghost" to sign his name for him, LBJ is the first president in history to let someone else handle for him "the highly important duty of signing an executive order."

Hardly a week passes that Hamilton isn't shown a John F. Kennedy autograph that isn't fake, for example. The late President's name was signed for him by no fewer than seven different robots—and 14 secretaries. But, Hamilton declares, "Kennedy never entrusted to an underling the responsibility of signing important state documents."

So few authentic LBJ signatures have ever been discovered during Johnson's 18-month tenure as president that his handwriting may well become more valuable to collectors than Washington's or Lincoln's.

The Week in Review

By LEROY POPE
NEW YORK (UPI)—This has been a week Wall Street would love to forget but for everybody else things were pretty good.

The stock market drifted lower and dawdled in light trading the first three days of the week then sold off sharply Thursday and opened lower on Friday. The selling spread into the over-the-counter market. However, so far, the declining prices and volume have not caused talk of lay-offs in Wall Street.

For retailers, it was a good week, sparked by the final removal of some $4.7 billion in federal excise taxes on a wide range of products from perfume to automobiles. Dun & Bradstreet said sales for the week ending Wednesday were up 2 to 6 per cent from a year ago across the country. Purchases of Father's Day graduation and wedding gifts helped spark the increase.

Auto manufacturers said output for the year would reach 5,640,000 by the end of the week, assuring the first "five million car half" in the industry's history.

The New York Stock Exchange published its triennial census of U.S. shareholders, reporting that 20.12 million individual Americans now own stocks in 6,724 public companies. The census showed that rate of increase in shareholders has been a steady one million a year since the census was started in 1952.

The Commerce Department disclosed that U.S. corporations paid out $487 million in cash dividends in May compared with $454 million a year earlier.

Opti-Mrs. Girls' Softball League Is in Full Swing

The Tampa Daily News

SUNDAY, JUNE 27, 1965

FOUR GIRLS' softball teams are in the midst of league play. The league, sponsored by the Evening Opti-Mrs. Club, keeps some 70 girls busy practicing each week day morning and playing games Tuesday and Friday afternoons at 3:30 in Optimist Little League Park.

ROUND ROBIN play will be completed by the end of July. An All-Star game between two teams selected from the league teams will complete the year's activities for the feminine softball players.

THE TEAMS, comprised of girls 10 through 14 years of age, are Dolls, coached by Mrs. Lloyd Summers; Babes, coached by Mrs. Jack Robinson; Debs, coached by Mrs. Newt Secrest, and Stars, coached by Mrs. W. A. Gipson. Mrs. V. G. Frasier is president of the Evening Opti-Mrs. Club and Mrs. Buddy Thornton is serving as the Girls' Softball League coordinator.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORMON

A LETTER received from Eudora Hawkins of Abilene, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs traffic and transportation chairman, is timely and worth repeating. The letter stated, "I have no sympathy for Texans in their dilemma about higher automobile insurance rates. When the people of Texas get tired enough of the traffic death and destruction, and higher automobile insurance rates, they will give their legislators a mandate to enact the traffic safety legislation we need. There is no way to bring automobile insurance rates down except by reducing the number of wrecks, and many of the remedies for this problem lie in legislature. For instance, we need a stronger driver license law, one which will enable us to get the repeater violators off the road before they kill somebody. In the legislative session just closed, the House of Representatives made 20 changes in the proposed new law, each one protecting the traffic violators, including drunk drivers. The proponents of the bill allowed it to die in committee in the Senate because law-abiding drivers are better protected from the violators with the provisions we now have. Apparently most Texans either do not know how their legislators are voting or do not care. There were several other important pieces of traffic safety legislation proposed, but the Legislature closed without the enactment of a single one of them. As in previous sessions, a Chemical Trust law, state aid to make a statewide driver education program possible, provision for certain traffic courts of record, the addition of inspection items to the Motor Vehicle Inspection law, a clarification of the Right-of-Way law, and other badly needed measures were stopped in either the Senate or the House. Maybe the people of Texas will rouse out of their apathy and talk to their legislators, especially the lawyers, if automobile insurance rates get high enough, even if they are not disturbed by the increasing death and injury toll."

NUMEROUS COMMENTS have been heard about the beautiful simplicity of the Nina Ruth Spearman-Jay Robert Reese wedding a week ago yesterday afternoon. Adding to the beauty of the ceremony was Jim Terrell's reading of the love story from the Thirteenth Chapter of First Corinthians and Miss Suzy Benton's singing of "The Lord's Prayer." Several friends of Mrs. J. R. (Ruth) Spearman, the bride's mother, assisted by greeting two private plane loads of wedding guests from Dallas at Perry LeFors Field and driving them to the church. Friends have been complimenting Mrs. Charles (Jean) Cook on her charming new daughter-in-law pictured in last Sunday's News. Mrs. Cook assured everyone that she is just as sweet as she looked. Pampons will be sorry to see R. E. and Gladys Batson move away, but congratulate Mr. Batson on his new job and venture. The Batsons will be making their home in London, England, sometime after July 1. Robert E. Lee Junior High School will miss Mrs. Batson. She served as school registrar several years before assuming her present position as ninth grade English teacher. Boyd and Kitty Taylor have purchased the Batson's Cape Cod styled home on Mary Ellen.

FRIENDS BID farewell to Mrs. Joel S. (Oudi) Middleton at a luncheon last Tuesday when Mrs. Felix (Doris) Vendrell entertained in her home. The Middletons are leaving Pampa soon to make their home in Boston, Mass. Among those at the luncheon and saying goodbye to Mrs. Middleton were Mrs. Curt (Will) Beck, Mrs. Charles (Jean) Cook, Mrs. Frank (Mary Ann) Kelley, Mrs. George (Jean) Casey, Mrs. John (Lydia) Horn, Mrs. Bill (Nancy) Davis, Mrs. Joe (Peggy) Daniel, Mrs. John R. (Kathryn) Reeve Jr., Mrs. Bob (Johnnie) Spert, Mrs. Louise (Thelma) Clark and Mrs. Charles (Dora) Meach. Visiting last week in the home of Joe and Mae Auwen were Mrs. Auwen's nephew and family of Dillard, Ore., Ted V. and Inez Vie and children, Sharon and Curtis Miss Suzanne Paden, daughter of L. B. and Juanita Paden, left today for a six-week stay in Saltillo, Coahuila, Mexico. Miss Paden, a senior at the University of Texas majoring in linguistics, will live with a Spanish family and study at the International Academy of Spanish while there. In August she will be joined by her parents and a sister, Nita, and the family will tour Mexico before returning home.

OFTEN THE BEST laid plans have to be altered. At the last minute Mrs. A. C. (Nina) Houchin had to miss the trip to New Orleans, La., as reported in last week's column. Mrs. Ophelia Morris made the trip to the General Federation convention with Mrs. A. D. (Olive) Hills instead. The Jimmy Thompson family visited the nation's capital during the first week of this month. Nothing can give one that patriotic impetus like a visit to Washington, D.C., regardless of all that is read and heard concerning crime in the city streets there.

PAMPANS ARE still traveling all over the world. Kathryn and Dudley Steele have just returned from an overseas trip that combined business and pleasure. The Steeles visited the countries of England, Holland, Italy, Monaco and San Marino, the world's smallest country. While in England they saw former Pampons Blanche and Dr. Brian Thorley and Bert and Nancy Maddocks, who live in the interesting town of Chester that still is surrounded by the Roman wall. Art and Ruth Smalley, also former Pampons now living in Hague, Holland, joined the Steeles in Rotterdam one evening for dinner. Understand the Smalleys will be back in the States for a visit soon. The Steeles also saw Marge and Ed Eaton, more former Pampons, now living in Boston, Mass., in Ravenna, Italy. Wonder if John and Jean, the "Traveling Tatums" are home or off again? Heard the Tatums returned from a trip to Italy and stayed in town long enough to pack and take off again for Houston. Then they made a trip to Louisiana and understand they are now going to fly to Hawaii. While in Hawaii the Tatums will join their daughter Betty, and Marilyn Steele, who are on the Enchanted Isle having fun with a number of other Pampons vacationing there. C. B. and Katie Haney visited the Sam Rayburn Library while in Bonham recently. The Haney's saw the books, papers and historical mementos collected by the Honorable Sam Rayburn during his more than 50 years of service to this country. A group seen dining at Jackson's Cafeteria Tuesday turned out to be Pampa Amateur Radio Club members making plans for their big field day being held this weekend at Lake McClellan. The field day is a nation wide event set up for all Amateur Radio Clubs to check their equipment. Among the group seen making plans were Fred and Jo Stockdale, J. R. and Zelma Poston, Jimmy and Kay Schuneman, David White, Wayne Lemons, Rutsy Reeve, Mike Ruff, Herman Whatley, Bill and Dorothy Hawkins, John and Betty King and Don and Melba Riddle. A gala buffet dinner and dance was held at Pampa Country Club last night in conjunction with the club's Guest-Member Golf Tournament. Heard an interesting orchestra was brought in to provide the music and hope to have more about the affair and the many out-of-town guests attending in next week's column.

Military Traditions Are Carried Out In Wedding of Miss Bendure and Lt. Teed

Mrs. Dan Graham Teed
... nee Miss Lorene Joan Bendure

Two large pedestal arrangements of white column stock and beauty asters, backed by a chancel appointed with six round nine-branch candelabra, entwined with Oregon lemon foliage and bearing white cathedral tapers, appointed the nuptial scene for the wedding ceremony, uniting Miss Lorene Joan Bendure and First Lt. Dan Graham Teed, both of Lawton, Okla. Dr. Winfred T. McBride solemnized the double-ring wedding rites at 8 o'clock last evening in Lawton Centenary Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd K. Bendure of Lawton are the parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Teed of 1822 Charles are the parents of the bridegroom. Mrs. Cletus Hill, organist, presented "Trauerlied" by Schumann, "Dedication" by Franz, "Blessed Be This Day" by Caron, "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes" by Schriner, "Romance" by Rubenstein, "On Wings of Songs" by Mendelssohn, "Jesus Christ With Us Abide" by Bach and "O Perfect Love" arranged by Diggle. Mrs. Hill also accompanied Mrs. Nels Haveland as she sang "Ave Maria" by Bach, "At Dawning" by Cadman and "Because."

The choir loft was banked with a screen of Oregon lemon foliage and an arch of tall white cathedral tapers. Pews were marked with single candelabra holding white tapers with a large white satin bow at the top of each pew. Completing the decorations was a white aisle cloth covering the bridal aisle and a white satin covered prie dieu placed at the head of the aisle.

Mr. Bendure gave his daughter in marriage. The bride was lovely in a gown of white silk organza over taffeta and chantilly lace. The fitted bodice, styled of chantilly lace, featured a scoop neckline and brief sleeves. The formal-length sheath skirt of white silk organza over taffeta was embellished with lace appliques across the front and swept into a full chapel train. The bride's floor-length veil of tulle was adorned with lace applique and fell from a ring coil of artificial orange blossoms.

She carried a cascading arrangement of white gladiolus and stephanotis centered with a white cattleya orchid.

Attending the bride as honor attendants were Miss Janice Salyer of Oklahoma City, Okla., maid of honor; Miss Melinda knit two-piece suit with roll collar and brass buttons. The bride, a 1960 graduate of Lawton High School, attended the University of Colorado. She is a 1964 graduate of Oklahoma City University with a BA degree, where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority, Cardinal Key National Honor Fraternity, Student Senate Secretary, Methodist Student Movement and University Singers. She is presently employed as a teacher at Eisenhower Junior-Senior High School in Lawton.

Lt. Teed, a 1956 graduate of Pampa High School, attended the University of Oklahoma where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta social fraternity. He received a BS degree in 1962 from the United States Military Academy, and is presently Chief of the G-3 Artillery Range Branch at Fort Sill, Okla.

The couple will make their home at 4635 Gore Blvd., Apt. 123, Lawton.

Military traditions were carried out in the wedding ceremony with the bridegroom wearing U.S. Army dress whites and the groomsmen wearing dress blues. Following the exchange of vows, the traditional arch of sabers was held on the church steps, which symbolized the entrance into the military way of life for the couple.

Holiday Inn Ballroom in Lawton was the scene of the reception held following the wedding rites. Presiding at the bride's table was Mrs. Cliff Montgomery and Mrs. Neal Baumwart, who poured punch, and Mrs. Elbregre Sullivan and Mrs. M. P. Lehman, serving the wedding cake. Attending the bridegroom's table was Mrs. Jerry Dees, Mrs. William Hines, Mrs. W. W. Easley, Mrs. T. P. Branner, Mrs. Alma Redeker and Mrs. James Black. Guests were registered by Miss Diane Sullivan of Lawton.

Other members of the houseparty included Mrs. Wendel Sullivan, Mrs. Ernest Winters, Mrs. John Ricketson, Mrs. Duane Potter, Mrs. Dale Washburn Jr., Mrs. William Burum, Mrs. Emma Gould, Mrs. Ira Baumwart, Mrs. Dale Washburn Sr., Miss Jeni Jackson, Miss Candice Randolph, Mrs. Morgan Roberts and Mrs. Douglas Wilson.

Following Army tradition, the bride and bridegroom cut the wedding cake with a military sabre.

Departing on a wedding trip to Red River, N.M., the new Mrs. Teed was attired in a white

Former Member of Peace Corps Now Helping Neighbors

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK
NORWALK, Conn. (UPI)—Rene F. Cardenas, veteran of the Korean War and the Peace Corps, is typical of a new breed of super men of good will.

He enlisted in the Community Development Foundation's (CDF) Counselor Corps when he got out of the Peace Corps. "It is the only thing to do," he said, "if you really believe you want to do something for your neighbors in need."

Cardenas and four of his colleagues who are working for CDF in Latin America recently attended an in-service training program at CDF headquarters in Norway.

In poverty-ridden villages they are helping the people to help themselves through simple projects that snap the chain reaction of poverty breeding poverty.

In Matzalan, Guerrero, a Mexican village, the people wanted a town laundromat. They got what they asked for: Concrete public washing facilities.

In another town, they wanted a cemetery. With equipment the CDF helped to obtain, the villagers made their cemetery—carving the places for coffins out of solid rock.

The only water for one small village came drip by drip from a crack in a wall of stone. People lined up 24 hours a day with their buckets. Filling time: 15 minutes to a bucket.

"Thirty years ago," Cardenas said, "an engineer told them where to build a dam that would solve the problem. With the help of the Mexican government and the CDF, the villagers are building that dam."

"They will irrigate 1,600 acres. They look forward to more than one crop a year. You can see how this will transform their lives. They haven't had a harvest in two years."

The Mature Parent Retarded Child Needs Tender Understanding

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: A neurologist has told me that our 3-year-old girl is so severely retarded that she is uneducatable and will be dependent on me for the rest of her life. I have suspected something as she has poor muscle tone, babbles and crawls instead of talking and walking. But she is beautiful and has none of the facial features of a severely retarded child. Shouldn't we get another diagnosis before accepting this brutal one?

ANSWER: Maybe it's not brutal. Maybe it is protective of you. Certainly, if other diagnoses confirm it, you will have to credit this doctor with kindness to you.

Parents, given the truth about a retarded child sometimes refuse to accept it. Unable to ever come to any decision on what to do about it, they spend their lives in crushed, unsupported attendance on the child.

However, it's my view that no single medical person, however well qualified, is entitled to define the future of a retarded child. There are so many kinds of retardation that neurologists require the skills of many other specialists to determine the degree of the child's limitations. Until this determination is made, we can't know if he is educatable within these limitations or how "dependent" he is going to be.

So, though you owe gratitude to your neurologist for his effort to protect you against false hopes, you still have the right to seek another diagnosis. You should also seek the freshest information available from the National Association for Retarded Children, 420 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. False hope is bad, but this does not mean you are consigned to hopelessness, either.

Now I want to say something to you that is better than sympathy.

Please be prepared for resentment at this burden.

The baby is going to be a burden no matter how our new skills can ease it. Because her growth will be limited, your natural development as a parent of the retarded child to be denied his own natural parental evolution as the child fails to move through normal childhood, adolescence to adulthood.

So his growth has to be different as the child is different. It requires a special honesty with himself, a special love for himself, a special and tender understanding of himself and of those most human feelings toward his situation which must inevitably include resentment.

Eula Faye Allen and Ronald Kraig Rice Pledge Vows in Candlelight Ceremony

Mrs. Ronald Kraig Rice
... nee Miss Eula Faye Allen

At 7:30 o'clock the evening of June 18, Miss Eula Faye Allen and Ronald Kraig Rice, both of Enid, Okla., exchanged double-ring wedding vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Allen of Enid, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ruthe Rice of 1225 E. Kingsmill and William L. Rice of Bakersfield, Calif.

Prof. Glen Rockwell solemnized the ceremony in Enid University Place Christian Church before an altar banked with majestic daisies and a greenery background. Candelabra bearing white cathedral tapers flanked the wedding scene.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a catheedral length gown of imported silk satin with empire styling. The bodice featured a jewel neckline and brief sleeves bordered with lace and seed pearls. The softly gathered skirt fell from an empire waistline and was embellished with lace and seed pearls and the chapel-length attached train was bordered with lace and seed pearls. Her shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion fell gracefully from a cabbage rose coil. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses surrounded by stephanotis.

Dressed in yellow gowns with empire styling and carrying bouquets of marguerita daisies, bridal attendants were Miss Patricia Buckley, maid of honor, and Miss Marsha Sunderland and Miss Carol Kesner, bridesmaids.

Thomas Max Rice served as his brother's bestman while another brother, William L. Rice III, and James Allen, bride's brother, attended to ushers duties.

Lighting the tapers were the Misses Sharon Cannon and Linda Walker, dressed identically to the bridal attendants and wearing wristlets of yellow tinted shasta daisies.

Appropriate nuptial selections were provided by Mrs. Carol Browning at the organ, who also accompanied Miss Nancy Murphy as she sang "God Gave Me You," "In This Sweet Hour" and "The Wedding Prayer." For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Allen was attired in a dress fashioned of floral jersey, white accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Rice, mother of the bridegroom, selected a sheath styled dress of taffy, beige accessories and a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

Fellowship Hall of University Place Christian Church was the scene of the reception held following the pledging of vows. Presiding at the punch service was Miss Alice Bickerstaff and Mrs. Verna Hempkin. Serving the wedding cake was Miss Janice Edley and Miss Judy Shirts, while Miss Donna Hickman attended the guest registrar.

School And You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LIGHT: My daughter will be a freshman in college this fall. Her girl friends have been discussing sororities and which ones they would like to join. She is sold on the idea of being a sorority girl.

I attended a nonsorority college and know little about the ins and outs of getting into one. I realize, of course, that membership is not open to every girl who wants to pledge and there are many disappointments. Most of the mothers of my daughter's friends belong to sororities themselves, and those girls will be "legacies."

Can I do anything to help my daughter make a sorority?

BEWILDERED MOTHER
ANSWER: Yes, to a certain extent. Quite a bit goes on behind scenes before that first rush party, and this is where you come in. Afterwards you daughter will be on her own.

Caution her against having her heart set on a definite sorority, especially before she goes to college. As far as the type of girls is concerned the same national sorority may vary from campus to campus and from time to time on the same campus. She'll be happier in—and more likely to "make"—a congenial group with backgrounds, tastes and values similar to her own. The so-called "best" sorority is not always best for a particular girl.

Most national sororities will not pledge a girl unless she has been recommended by an alum. Recommendation blanks generally request information on the alma maters and fraternal affiliations; girl's scholastic standing, extra-curricular activities, hobbies and talents, honors and the like. Once these hurdles are cleared appearance and personality count most.

Don't hesitate to ask sorority mothers you know if they would be willing to recommend your daughter. This may seem a bit forward, but alumnae are usually happy to do it. If she has recommendations for half a dozen sororities on her campus she will be in a better position to choose and be chosen.

She may be glad that she isn't a "legacy." Some active chapters, unfortunately, turn thumbs down on "legacies"—more or less as a show of independence. If by any chance, your daughter fails to receive a bid, don't be too upset. There are plenty of independent groups that offer companionship, fun and satisfying social activities.

Sororities are attractive for some girls—but not absolutely essential to a happy college life.

Kill Garlic Odor

If you like onions or garlic in your food, think of those whom you encounter later. A mint, lemon with salt or chewing on a sprig of parsley will help kill some of the aftertaste and odor. Gargle with a strong mouthwash for best results.

Brushing Is Basic

Many women consider daily hair brushing old hat, yet it helps keep the scalp clean and stimulates circulation and spreads natural oils from the hair root to tip. Clean brushes and combs each time you shampoo your hair.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
When you have superficial abscess that must be opened, your doctor is likely to spray the area with an aerosol that freezes the tissues and stops the pain while he operates. This is but one example of the use of aerosols—now available for many household duties as well—in medicine.

Medical aerosols find their greatest use in the treatment of lung diseases, especially asthma. For example dexamethasone is now put up in this form. A mouthpiece is attached to the container and the open end is placed in the mouth. You can then press the button and inhale a measured amount of the drug. Since medicated aerosols were introduced in 1953 their packaging has been greatly improved. Whereas the aerosol propellants formerly used were highly inflammable, those now in use not only will not burn—they may even be used to put out a small fire.

Many new uses for aerosols are being tested. Persons with migraine headaches have been relieved within a few seconds after inhaling ergotamine tartrate. The action is fully as prompt as an injection into the vein but has the advantage that the application is simpler, the pain of an injection is avoided and the danger of infection with the needle is eliminated.

It also has the advantage over medication by mouth in that it does not irritate the stomach and none of the drug is destroyed by the action of the digestive juices, therefore a smaller dose is required. Furthermore, the solution in the container is not subject to contamination and with no exposure to air and light it does not deteriorate.

of the poison and eliminate the danger associated with the application of a tourniquet. These are but a few of the uses to which medicated aerosols will be put in the near future.

Skellytown Candlelight Ceremony Unites Dianne Joy Thomas, Jimmy Ray Dalton

Mrs. Jimmy Ray Dalton
... nee Miss Dianne Joy Thomas

Miss Dianne Joy Thomas and Jimmy Ray Dalton were married June 11 in First Baptist Church of Skellytown with Rev. Bill Penland reading the double-ring vows in a candlelight ceremony.

Miss Thomas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Thomas of Skellytown. Mr. Dalton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Dalton of 720 N. Zimmers.

Vows were repeated beneath an archway entwined with lemon leaves flanked by two large baskets of white gladioli and a candelabra holding white tapers. The kneeling bench was white wrought iron.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Grace Williams of Canyon, who also accompanied the vocalist, Miss Nancy Davis of Canyon, as she sang "Savior Like A Shepherd Lead Us," "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

With the "her mother and I avowal" the bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she chose a formal length gown of white bridal lace over white satin. The decollete neckline was edged with scallops of lace and the long fitted sleeves extended to petal points over the hands. Tiny self-covered buttons fastened the back of the gown. The bell-shaped skirt ended in a cathedral train with rows of bridal lace. A lace tiara adorned with seed pearls and rhinestones, held her three-tiered finger-tip veil of French illusion. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white orchids and stephanotis atop a white Bible, tied with ribbon streamers embellished with seed pearls. The Bible was a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Carroll D. Russell, attired in a white locked lace over blue street-length dress with bell skirt, served the bride as matron of honor. Her cascade bouquet was of white miniature mums with yellow streamers. She wore a matching satin pill box hat with brief veil and matching gloves. Bridesmaids were Miss Benita Nunn of Dumas, cousin of the bride; Miss Carolyn Ruth Nunn of Odessa, cousin of the bride; and Miss Andrea Jewell and Miss Teresa Mack, both of Pampa. The cake, made in the shape of a baby dress, was decorated in yellow. Favors made from a gold safety pin tied with pink and blue ribbon, were given each guest. Pink punch in a crystal punch bowl completed the table arrangement.

Serving as co-hostesses were Mrs. Pauline Mullins, Mrs. Eileen Taylor of Perryton and Mrs. Janet Powell.

BLUING IN STARCH
Try adding a good amount of bluing to the starch in which you dip your dark cottons. The tint will prevent the starch from showing on the dark fabric.

Serving as ushers were Ray Edward Simmons of Fort Hood, Buddy Simmons of Lubbock, both cousins of the bride, Joe Bur of McLean, cousin of the bridegroom, and Jim Pickett of Canyon.

Mrs. Thomas, mother of the bride, chose a blue two piece suit with white accessories. Mrs. Dalton, bridegroom's mother, selected a light green dress with black accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of white split mums.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Miss Jon Berch, cousin of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register. Miss Grace Williams played traditional wedding music. Miss Ileta Nunn of Dumas, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake and Miss Francine Green of Pampa presided at the punch bowl. The bride's table, covered with a beige crocheted cloth over green, was centered with a bouquet of pink roses in a crystal bowl.

Could Your Child Pass Behavior Test?

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Are you bringing your children up to be unfailingly courteous and respectful to adults — all adults?

The reason I ask is that yesterday I happened to be in a small shopping center adjacent to a fine neighborhood just after the nearby elementary school let out. And I was shocked and sickened by the rudeness to clerks of a group of children, not over 10 years of age, whose pockets were filled with spending money. These brash, young smart alecks yelled at, sassied and ordered about women clerks old enough to be their mothers.

When they finally left the store one soft voiced clerk shook her head and said, "It scares me to think of what our world is coming to when children from so-called good homes behave like that."

Do their mothers know they talk to adults like that I wondered. Do YOU know how YOUR children behave toward grown-ups when they are out of your sight?

You ought to have a pretty good idea—if you will honestly answer a few questions:

Does my child get by with sassing me—or treating me as though I were half-witted whenever he doesn't get his own way?

Do I let my child get by with referring to his teacher as "Old lady so-and-so" or telling me what a dope she is?

If my child gets in trouble with a neighbor, do I agree with him that the neighbor is just an old fussbudget for objecting to having her flowers trampled?

Do I let my child stay sprawled in a chair, instead of requiring him to stand up, when a guest comes into the living room?

Am I afraid to correct my child in front of an outsider for fear of what he will do or say?

Do I think my child is cute when he makes smart remarks to strangers?

If you have to answer "Yes" to even one of those questions, you should be wondering how your child behaves away from home.

Alan Tidwell reported that the Horse Club is learning to square dance on horses. Lunny Hogsett reported that the Rifle Clubs would not meet again until fall. Bob McCann, rifle coach, is working with the team that will go to state roundup.

A going away party was held for Mr. and Mrs. McCann and son Keith, and a plack in appreciation for outstanding work as a 4-H Club leader given to Mr. McCann. Leo Scott will be the rifle coach with Danny Hogsett serving as junior leader.

Rickey Baxter, of Borger, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Terry Aldridge, of Tulsa, the bride's brother; and Ronnie Whittington, Greg Owens was ring bearer.

Miss Linda Bright presided at the guest book at the reception in the Rose Room of the church. Mrs. Darrell Loyd and Miss Peggy Loyd, of Tulsa, and Miss Laurie Haven, of Ponca City, Okla., assisted. A blue color scheme was used in table decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter will be at home in Tulsa, after a short wedding trip.

The bride is a graduate of Central High School in Tulsa, where she was a member of the National Honor Society and active in several organizations. She has studied for two years at the University of Oklahoma on a competitive scholarship. She is majoring in elementary education and is listed on the President's Honor Roll.

Mr. Baxter graduated from Borger High School where he was a member of Key Club and of the tennis team. He is now a student of advertising design at the University of Oklahoma.

In as much as physical fitness is a sound basis of charm, we are reminded of the claims of a noted health consultant (female, by the way) who maintained that scrubbing the kitchen floor isn't necessarily all drudgery.

"Some of the best exercises for women are done on the hands and knees and utilize floor scrubbing motions", the expert advised.

We recall too, the favorite exercise of six-day bicycle riders which might be of benefit to women who run out of gas while doing housework. At intervals, 12 times daily, the riders would take a deep breath and hold it for one minute.

Don't hold your breath, however, waiting for something magical to give your hair outstanding beauty and charm. Only sensible care on your part and an expert assist on our part can do this. Dear Abby....

Unchaste Woman Falls, Man Merely Slips

DEAR ABBY: Our pastor said in a sermon recently that the white wedding gown and veil should be denied the unchaste bride. I know he felt compelled to preach a sermon on this topic because he has been put in the embarrassing position lately of having to baptize the babies of "brides" whom he had married in white bridal costumes only five and six months earlier. He said that our young people should know that there are penalties for unchastity and rewards for purity. I would like to ask if this applies only to women. How about the men? Should we not expect them to be chaste as well? And what should the penalty be for a man if he is not? We hear so much about the "fallen woman." How about the fallen man?

SMITTEN DEAR SMITTEN: Learn hers. DEAR ABBY: My husband doesn't believe in having any friends except "business friends." He's a Junior executive with an ad agency, and almost every night of the week we have to entertain people who might be able to do him some good. Don't young married people ever socialize with people just because they like them? I suggested inviting a very attractive couple across the hall in for dinner, and my husband said, "Don't start up with them. He's only an insurance salesman and he can't do me any good!" Is it a wife's obligation to confine her social life to her husband's business friends?

HELPMATE DEAR HELPMATE: If a woman is married to a man who must entertain for business reasons, she should cooperate, and do it graciously. But for a man to limit his social life to only those who can "do him some good" is both selfish and calculating. And one who goes through life with a "what-can-he-do-for-me" attitude misses one of man's greatest pleasures—friends for friendship's sake. You can help your husband by building his self-confidence. And by telling him that no one succeeds in business without really trying. But some people try too hard.

CURIOUS DEAR CURIOUS: I know it's unfair, but somehow the men seem to escape the stigma. The unchaste woman has "fallen." The unchaste man has merely "slipped."

DEAR ABBY: A very attractive young woman has come to town from a foreign country. The trouble is — she doesn't speak a word of English. I am very much attracted to her, and

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST By CARROLL RIGHTER FOR SUNDAY, JUNE 27

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is a good time for any sort of expansion of the mind or the spirit as well as planning out new ways to gain material success. In the afternoon and the evening bring delays, obstacles and potential limitations, so after attending services and studies of importance, get a good rest. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Being with someone who can help to elevate your consciousness is wise during a night. Afternoon not good for making an impression on others. Be silent. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Morning is best time to think out how you can have greater abundance but do not make any investments later in the day. Simply make your plans. BEAR TONIGHT. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Being alone during the morning brings fine results but later you have to take it very easy. Maintain peace. Say what you plan to do, then carry on with work with a nice, easy pace. CANCER (June 22 to July 22) — Use orthodox methods in whatever you do today, but be sure you assist those in need. Get future planned intelligently. Sleep away from state to the best of your ability. LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) — Getting together with congenial, as some hobby or project that is mutually satisfying makes this a fine day, but tonight retire early. Be social. Get on affairs in order in p.m. VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — A.M. is best for handling outside affairs and gaining prestige, but later do something to improve credit. Get ideas from experts. Do nothing that jeopardizes reputation. LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Look into new and interesting outlets and find some unusual method of operation. Make written notes. Get your nose into some technical book tonight. Grow. SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Getting together with persons who appreciate your ideas brings fine results in a.m. Avoid toxic partner tonight. Get professional affairs nicely adjusted. Be happy with spouse in p.m. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — Nice old associates and come to real meaning of words in a.m. Be sure you carry through with promises. Make sure you do not let others later in the day. CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — Being of service to others in the morning, you get their valued support. Don't be foolish, but accomplish a great deal. It is your privilege in fine shape. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Meet with good friends for fun is right thing to do, but don't be offended or hurt as later. All starts off brightly but later gloom descends. Be prepared. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — You can do much to improve home and conditions in morning a.m., but then family he comes, makes a warm pose. Study whatever needs your own personal attention.

Double-Ring Wedding Vows Pledged By Donna Lynn Rath, Robert C. Bybee

Mrs. Robert Clifton Bybee ... nee Miss Donna Lynn Rath

Wedding vows were pledged at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening by Miss Donna Lynn Rath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rath of 1141 S. Christy, and Robert Clifton Bybee, son of Mrs. Mavis Bybee of 2306 Charles. Rev. Vernon Willard of Happy, read the double-ring vows in First Methodist Church before a basket of white stock flanked by five-branched candelabra bearing white tapers and jade palms. Miss Molly Cornutt, organist, presented appropriate nuptial selections and accompanied Kenneth Baxter as he sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Wedding Prayer." Repeating the "her mother and I avowal," the bride's father gave her in marriage. She was gowned in a formal-length gown of chantilly lace and bridal satin designed with a fitted bodice of chantilly lace featuring a scalloped neckline and long tapping sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. The softly pleated skirt of bridal satin extended in soft folds into a chapel train. Miniature pearl buttons fastened the bodice back and sleeves. An illusion cabbage rose, embellished with seed pearls, secured the bride's elbow-length veil of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses atop a White Bible tied with white ribbon streamers tied in lover's knots, and wore a single strand of pearls. A wedding band belonging to her maternal grandmother was worn by the bride to carry out the "something old" tradition. Maid of honor was Miss Donna Ann Cole, who was attired in a waltz-length gown of pale yellow embossed peau de soie featuring sheath lines and full gathered chiffon sleeves. Miss Cole carried a single long-stem yellow rose and wore a matching peau de soie pillbox coif with brief veil. Best man to the bridegroom was Richard Rath, brother of the bride, and ushers were Reese Ewing and Jim Brown. Miss Teresa Lynn Randall of Amarillo, bride's niece, attended as flower girl. She wore a dress of pale yellow chiffon over satin with bouffant skirt and satin cummerbund, and matching headband. Miss Randall carried a white colonial basket filled with yellow carnations. Master Scott Dunn, ringbearer, carried the rings on a white satin pillow. Candelights, Tanga Paronita and Suzanne Brown, were attired in pale yellow polished cotton satin dresses with bouffant skirts and wore matching headbands. Mrs. Rath chose a bonded lace dress of sky blue with sheath lines, blue flowered hat and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Bybee, bridegroom's mother, selected a two-piece dress fashioned of pale pink matelasse textured crepe trimmed with chiffon and bone accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of white gardenias. First Methodist Church Parlor was the scene of the reception held following the exchange of vows. The bride's table, covered with a gathered, floor-length yellow net cloth over yellow linen, was centered with a crystal bowl holding an arrangement of yellow and white daisies, flanked by crystal candelabra bearing white tapers. A crystal punch service and a three-tiered cake, divided by swan colonades, decorated with yellow roses and topped by a miniature bridal couple, appointed the table. Presiding at the punch service was Miss Donna Conner. Miss Pat Lambright served the wedding cake and Miss Beth Dunn attended the guest register. Other members of the house party included Mrs. C. L. Cross and Mrs. Margaret Taylor.

The new Mrs. Bybee donned a yellow shantung suit complemented by white accessories and lifted the yellow rose corsage from her bridal bouquet before departing on a wedding trip to Lubbock. The bride is a 1965 graduate of Pampa High School where she served as a twirler for the PHS Band. Mr. Bybee, a 1963 graduate of Pampa High School, attended North Texas University, Denton. He is presently employed as an agent for Globe Life Insurance Co. The newlyweds will make their home at 508 1/2 N. Frost. PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS A miscellaneous shower was given in honor of the bride on June 17 in First Methodist Church Parlor. Serving as hostesses were Mmes. C. L. Cross, Margaret Taylor, J. B. Jones, Floyd Barrett, Minor Langford, Y. E. Turnbo, Tom Dunn, Glenn Newman, Jim Brown and O. G. Smith. Mrs. Bybee, bridegroom's mother, honored the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner given in her home the evening preceding the wedding ceremony. Read the News Classified Ads

Baskets of pink gladioli flanked by candelabra bearing cathedral tapers and backed by jade palms appointed the scene for the exchange of vows.

Traditional nuptial selections were provided by Wayne Pitner, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Betty Cox, vocalist, as she presented "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was attired in a street-length dress fashioned of white satin brocade featuring a scoop neckline, long tapering sleeves terminating in petal points and a back bow bustle. An inset of illusion trimmed the neckline and the gown was embellished with seed pearls and sequins. She wore a seed pearl tiara with illusion leaves to which was attached a veil of illusion and carried a white Bible topped by a white orchid. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Carla Matson, dressed in a street-length dress of white lace over pink featuring an A-line skirt, attended the bride as maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Serving the bridegroom as bestman was his brother, Wayne Hamilton. Ushers seating the wedding guests and lighting the tapers were Evan C. Sparks and Kenneth Campbell.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Miller chose a navy blue suit with white accessories. Mrs. Hamilton selected a pink dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Immediately following the wedding rites a reception was held in the home of the bride's topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, appointed the table. Mrs. Freda Hagerman presided at the punch service and Mrs. Betty Bogue, bride's sister served the wedding cake, while Miss Glenda Raines attended the guest registrar. Assisting with the houseparty were Mrs. Betty Cox and Mrs. Louise Stephens.

The bride changed into a yellow crepe dress with sheath lines before departing on a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M. and other points of interest in New Mexico. She lifted the bouquet from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return the newlyweds will make their home at 1610 Jackson, Amarillo.

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

Aside from being something to tan in the summer, your skin is highly important to your health. It is for example, your first line of defense against germs. It keeps your body from losing its blood, lymph and other necessary fluids, and it is the skin that houses millions of nerve endings providing too, it is the skin's responsibility to control body temperature by giving off excess heat. Small amounts of wastes are also eliminated by the skin.

This is another matter, but when it comes to prescriptions we hope you will think of our pharmacy. We have a complete prescription department and you will find per-

SUNDAY MORNING GRIST

From the Editorial Mill

THESE COMMITTEES named to help solve some of Pampa's crossword puzzles appear to be getting off to a flying start, full of vim and vigor and all like that. City Manager Jim White is pleased as punch with the way things are shaping up, even if he does have to get up early and attend 7 a.m. breakfast sessions with some of them. So far the study groups are planning to meet right and left morning, noon and night in order to get to the bottom of whatever needs to be got to the bottom of. Never end a sentence with a preposition. This is the first time anything like this has been tried in Pampa. With 110 men on 11 committees digging and searching in all the municipal nooks and crannies, certainly the law of averages should root out a lot of stuff. Of course, the final recommendations will tell the story. What the committees come up with all will be turned over to the city commission for the last say-so. One of the most important of the 11 study groups is the Finance Committee. Members of that committee will be asked to figure out what all the recommendations will cost. And how to pay for them. In other words, how much is the tab the taxpayers will have to pick up?

JUST IN CASE you are under the impression there was a tax cut when excise taxes went out of style the other day, perhaps a little checking should be done. It was a little like the income tax cut you thought you got. Remember what happened when time came to pay off in April? Actually, Weekly Labor Forecast and Review points out, President Johnson's tax change was not an excise tax reduction, but merely a shifting of taxes from one segment of the population to another. LBJ is a pretty fox politician, as most Texans know. So he emphasized the excise tax reduction on consumer goods and services that affected the general public and had the greatest voter appeal. However, when it is examined, one finds that to offset the loss of revenue to the federal government of his excise tax reduction, the President had in mind all the time raising taxes on fuels used by airlines, barge lines, bus lines, truck lines and drivers of automobiles. That part of the tax change has received little or no publicity. PAMPA JAYCEE president Eddie Poinac is such an active prexy he is becoming one of the most photographed persons in town. The local Jaycees did it again last week when they received two second place and one third place awards at the national convention in Buffalo, N.Y. Belated congratulations are listed here for John G. Powell of Lefors who celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary on Wednesday. To become a centenarian these days is no small accomplishment. The fireworks stands are blooming again as the Fourth of July approaches. They are not legal in the city, but apparently there is no restriction out in the county. Police warn it's against the law to discharge firecrackers of any kind inside the city. About the only thing you can get away with is a sparkler and maybe a Roman candle or two. The crackers and the torpedoes are out.

IF YOU WANT to enjoy a real old-fashioned type July Fourth celebration, there will be one right here on the home grounds. Pampa is one of the few places where the nostalgic July Fourth program still is kept alive. It's all set for the night of the Fourth out at Recreation Park with a brief patriotic program, band concert and then the aerial pyrotechnics with their star-bombs and colorful sky show as well as the old standby ground pieces. The program starts at 8:45 p.m. The fireworks show is slated for 9:15 p.m. There will be plenty of parking space and concession stands available. If it's a safe and sane observance you are looking for, Pampa will have it. —D.F.D.

Packaged Freedom

By D. R. SEGAL

Editor, Brownsville Herald
The Freedom Academy proposal is back again. It is the stated faith of the proposers of Freedom Academy that the government of the United States can invent a contraption to manufacture freedom and package it for export.

Every time the Freedom Academy is mentioned, the State Department and the U.S. Information Agency get sore, testifying that they're already doing a hell of a job and who knows what would happen if this kind of thing gets into the hands of a bunch of cuckoos, Birchers maybe. Whew! The principle of nominating the Government to teach freedom has a certain element of hysterical genius — which is to say not just everybody would think of a thing like that. We should suggest, however, that if the idea ever comes into reality, the first board of directors should consist of past and present vice presidents of the United States — Gabby Humphrey, Henry Wallace and Harry Truman. Oh, yes, there's Nixon but he'd just get into a beef with Mao-Tse Tung or somebody like that and make a lot of trouble for everybody.

We aren't entirely clear about the curriculum of the Freedom Academy, but it might include, for example, a symposium on The Failure of J. Edgar Hoover To Measure Up (guest lecturer, Alger Hiss, State Department, Class of '48) and a graduate course in How To Succeed Without Really Trying In Africa,

Asia and Europe by G. Mennen Williams
For the Mahatma Gandhi chair of Peaceful Violence we'd nominate Martin L. King who could double as coach of the heel-and-toe walking team. And book Cy Eaton's lecture on How To Be Happy Although Loaded. Oh, you could go on indefinitely piling up a faculty that would stun the world and bring new dimensions to Freedom.

The Senate Judiciary Committee — isn't that Jake Javits? — says the Freedom Academy bill "is one of the most important ever introduced in the Congress" because the Freedom Academy would be "a practical fundamental approach to our national survival." Which suggests that Freedom Academy might replace not only the State Department, U.S. Information Service and Alliance of American States, but the entire Defense Establishment as well. None of these aforementioned has turned out to be any great shakes as "a practical, fundamental approach to our national survival" and it might be worth giving Freedom Academy a try. If we could clear out the UN and rent that big glass barn to some progressive outfit like the AT&T, we might build the Freedom Academy and have money left.

An unkind friend of ours — why over for a dam or a subsidy of some kind, are some people so negative about everything? — suggests that getting the government to preach freedom is like hiring a fox to baby-sit a flock of chickens. (This fellow is in the habit

Going abroad? Don't help hitch-hikers is the title of a unique warning card currently issued at all U. S. Passport offices. It's put out by the Dept. being issued at all U.S. Passport offices. It's put out by the Dept. of Agriculture to remind you not to bring plant pests and animal diseases to this country when you return. These pests and diseases, often invisible, travel inside and on fruit, plants, seeds, vegetables, meats and meat products. Just one pest, the Mediterranean fruit fly, sneaked into Florida recently and cost Americans $10 million to get rid of her. New pests and diseases of all kinds are constantly knocking on our doors. The Dutch Elm disease, which has ravished some of this nation's most beautiful native trees, started through the importation of foreign lumber that contained the elm bark beetle. So, be careful and abide by the rules.

Today's smile: A doctor had just finished giving a playboy an examination and said: "The best thing you can do is to quit smoking and drinking, get some exercise and at least eight hours' sleep at night, and stay away from women." The playboy said: "I don't want to be selfish, Doc. What's the next best thing?"

You never hear of any Irish tenors any more. The only one we ever knew who really came from Ireland was the late John McCormack. Two of the most popular were Americans, Chauncy Olcott, who composed and popularized "My Wild Irish Rose" was a native of Buffalo, N. Y., and Morton Downey hailed from Wallingford, Conn.

Thoughts while shaving. There's been a lot of publicity already about the New York City mayoralty election next fall, but the one thing you have not read about it is that it costs the taxpayers of the Big Town $4 million every election day just to open the polling places and count the ballots. An insurance survey revealed that more than half of the automobiles been left unlocked by their owners, and most thefts are committed by teen-agers. More people are investing in stocks and reaping greater income. Last year individual investors received dividends totaling almost $20 billion. A Louisiana reader writes to ask if any golfer ever won the U.S. Open three years in succession. It took a little research, but we discovered that Willie Anderson did it in 1903-1904-1905. He also won it in 1901. We never heard of him until we looked it up, and we'll bet you never did, either. This will be a photo-finished summer if two camera manufacturers have anything to say about it. Both are rushing production on $20 cameras that will turn out black and white pictures in 60 seconds. We don't suppose you ever counted them, but you can take it from us there are only 1500 armored cars in the U. S. which transport cash and securities. It's estimated they carry upwards of $1.5 billion every day, which is a lot of moola. The Hartford (Conn.) COURANT reported in a story: "Fiends may call at the funeral chapel." That's the darndest invitation we've ever seen any where.

When a girl threatens to go back to her mother, the man can also threaten to go back — to his wife.

Country Editor speaking: "Rumors that haven't a leg to stand on get around faster than any others."

Further, that Representative Frank Thompson, D-N.J. ranking labor committee member, with AET-CIO help, was organizing a "revolt" against Powell. "If that happens," said Meany, "it will amount to a revolt against you gentlemen, too. We mean business. This is our best chance to repeal this anti-labor law, and we don't intend to sit idly by and see it lost. If you don't act, we will."

'Stick and Carrot' Treatment Frees Bill To Repeal 14(b) from Rep. Powell's 'Pocket Veto'

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Representative Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the Labor Committee, is without peer as a free-wheeling member of Congress, but he can be brought to terms — if they suit him! A gently-administered dose of the "stick and carrot" treatment turned the trick in persuading the flamboyant, Harlemite to abruptly abandon his proclaimed "civil rights pocket veto" of the bill to repeal Section 14(b) — empowering states to enact right-to-work laws.

On one hand, House Democratic leaders solemnly warned Powell that, with full White House backing they were moving to have the controversial measure forcibly taken away from him. At the same time, he was given consoling assurance there would be no investigation of his wife's drawing $18,000 a year as a member of his staff in violation of House rules.

Under the rules, employees of congressmen must either live in Washington or their home districts. Mrs. Powell does neither. She resides in Puerto Rico. Other House members have demanded a probe of this bald regard of the rules.

Playing a key role in this backstage maneuvering was AFL-CIO president George Meany.

Powell's committee had approved the Section 14(b) bill under vigorous White House prodding. Whereupon he automatically announced he was pocketing it until the House passed legislation strengthening the Fair Employment Practices Commission. As there was no likelihood of that being done this session Powell's action meant fins for the controversial labor measure.

Question Box

ANSWER: "The Carpenter magazine says in questions and answers on repeal of Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley act, 'Unions, unlike church organizations or service clubs, are in the special position of being required by law to provide service to all persons in a bargaining unit. Such services cost money and the costs should be shared fairly by all those benefited by them. A church, for instance, does not have to provide its facilities to a person who does not join. An arbitration cafe can cost a local union $1,000 or more to restore a fired worker to his job. It is simply not fair for one worker to get benefit of such help without paying his share of the cost.' Is this true?"

ANSWER: The union statement is true as far as the law goes. The labor relations act which requires employers to negotiate with unions also provides that the "benefits" go to all in the bargaining unit regardless of whether they are members of the union.

This union legislation was pushed through by the union lobbyists, who use it to defend their attempts to compel others to join their organizations.

The unions have great power in pushing over their ideas in the legislative halls. If they do not want to represent those who are not members of their organizations, they should get that section of the law repealed.

Certainly, they should not be required to represent others than their own members. However, truthfully, it is doubtful if a union would spend $1,000 or more to restore a fired worker who is not a union member to a job. In fact, we have had many complaints from members who claim they could not get their union officials to defend even them.

A great many workers would prefer to negotiate for themselves with their employer. They should not be required to be held down to the union scale if they are worth more. Nor should they be paid the union scale if they are not capable of earning it.

The so-called "right-to-work" laws of the various states are not the real solution to the problem. What is needed is to wipe out all special-privilege laws, whether they are for the benefit of business, industry, employers or workers. There would be no need for another law such as "right-to-work" if the union people had not already gained the special privilege of government coercion.

U.S. Arms Don't Do the Job In Fighting Guerrilla War

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The United States is learning in South Viet Nam that it doesn't have the weapons and equipment needed to fight guerrilla wars most effectively. —The hottest aircraft used in Viet Nam were designed for carrying nuclear weapons. They can't carry the large-sized conventional iron bombs needed for a fistful of the tasks they're being assigned.

Conventional bombs of the sizes carried have been bouncing off one of the bridges in North Viet Nam and exploding harmlessly in the water. They are not doing the damage necessary when dropped on Viet Cong headquarters hidden in heavily wooded areas.

What's needed are experiments to develop conventional bombs that carry more bang for their size and weight. A great deal of work has been done to cut the size of nuclear weapons. Research with the conventionals has lagged.

As of now, 48 or so bombers and a large escort of fighters are sent to take out a bridge meant to be handled with four to five bombers and a handful of escorts.

U.S. aircraft are overly vulnerable to ground fire in the low-level attacks that are vitally important in guerrilla fighting. Accuracy of delivery on these low-level runs leaves something to be desired.

The bombing systems used in these U.S. planes were designed for laying the bomb within 60 feet of target on low-level runs. That's excellent for conventional weapons. It's not good enough when using conventional iron bombs.

Military men say it's essential to get a bombing system for U.S. fighter-bombers that will lay the iron bomb within 15 or 20 feet of what they aim at. What's needed is some sort of heat-seeking or pilot-guided missile. The planes need automatic pilots for their runs and highly efficient radar.

In fast-moving guerrilla battles, mobile ground units find they can't determine where they are quickly with very small errors. This frequently makes rapid effective air support impossible. Supply is slowed in critical battle. Fighter-bombers run into fire ground forces could otherwise warn against. —Pilots must be given much better ways to locate Viet Cong guerrilla troops and supplies hidden under trees, in caves or camouflaged boats. The problem is especially critical in bad weather and at night.

Solution: Better-co-ordinated ground-air operations in which the man on the ground sneaks in and pinpoints hidden guerrilla targets then, while on the spot, guides the planes in. This again requires infantryman and pilot to know precisely where the other is. (Ground-air television may be part of the answer.)

Tanks, armored personnel carriers and artillery are largely roadbound in guerrilla base areas. If the United States is determined to use this type of weapon in this kind of war, a new breed of equipment will have to be developed able to better perform tank-armored personnel carrier-artillery functions through swamps, jungles and rivers.

Some air and ground equipment which does exceeding well in laboratory and U.S. field testing isn't holding up under Viet Nam-type fighting. Word is now being passed from the Pentagon to U.S. industry: "Solve these problems."

If a parent deliberately let his child pick up a red-hot poker by the wrong end, just to teach the child that the hot iron would burn his hand, the parent should be classified as either a sadist or a very poor teacher.

The same sort of "pragmatic" learning is being suggested for young Americans of college age today, however, and its proponents are supposed to be knowledgeable.

On college sites across the country, others are joining with the most radical leftist elements in urging exposure of the nation's college students to indoctrination by communist propagandists.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Blessings on thee, little man, barefoot boy, with cheek of tan!

With thy turned up pantaloons, And thy merry whistled tunes; With thy red lip, redder still Kissed by strawberries on the hill . . .

So begins John Greenleaf Whittier's ode to summer — probably the most familiar American poem on the subject. At least the first verse.

For some reason, that barefoot boy with cheek of tan and turned-up pantaloons has come to typify summer in these 80-odd years since Whittier pressed him into rhyme.

Consequently, it was our intention to reprint the poem in honor of the first days of summer, and let it go at that. After all, you cannot be both against cliches and in favor of recurring seasons and the familiar days they bring.

Al Hirt Hurting for His Own Television Series

By JOAN CROSBY
NEW YORK (NEA) — Al Hirt wouldn't mind becoming another Andy Williams.

Not that he wants to put down his horn and warm up his pipes. It's just that Hirt hopes his summer replacement show makes the splash Andy's did when Williams replaced Garry Moore several years ago and made such a favorable impression that he eventually got his own series.

Hirt, the "Honey in the Horn" grandfather from New Orleans, is the summer replacement for Jackie Gleason on CBS-TV which began Saturday, June 19. His show will be produced by Ed Sullivan's production company; and Al's dreams for the future include a smash hit, which will lead to his starring in a winter show, to be telecast from New Orleans.

"Of course, if the show bombs, we'll forget all this," he said.

One of the most popular club and recording artists in the country, Hirt has passed up a lot of lucrative dates in order to do this summer series. HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — FOOTLOOSE AND FANCY FREEWAY

The impossible has happened. I found someone on the Carroll Baker "Harlow" set who has something good to say about the Carol Lynley "Harlow."

Joseph Ruttenberg, Joe Levine's cinematographer, is the unique one.

"I think," he told me, "that the Electronovision process should be encouraged. It's the only new technical thing we've had in Hollywood for years. At most studios, the technical equipment—cameras and sound and lights—is old and dilapidated."

"In the hands of professional photographers, Electronovision could be a significant step forward."

A short lesson in movie economics from Eddie Albert— "I can't keep any money when I make a feature film. Suppose I got a part in a picture being shot in France. It might last three months. I'd want my family to be with me for that length of time and it would cost, say, $8,000 to have them there.

"To do picture and make back that $8,000, I'd have to make around $80,000, and very few pictures pay that. Even if I got one, I wouldn't be able to save anything. It just doesn't pay."

And you thought you had troubles.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — When he reviewed "Ship of Fools," one Hollywood trade paper critic called Christiane Schmidtner the most exciting German import since Marlene Dietrich. The years may prove him right, but it is unfair to both females to compare them.

It is like comparing a crepes suzette with a T-bone steak. Miss Dietrich is gossamer and gauze. Miss Schmidtner is orange denim. Miss Dietrich is a dream; Miss Schmidtner is reality.

I met Christiane on the "Ship of Fools" set and, like any lone wanderer, I was impressed by her physical qualifications. She's a big, generously constructed gal. And I leaped to the wrong conclusion—that she was just another gorgeous creature who probably couldn't act her way out of a paper script.

When I saw the picture, I was surprised. She's an accomplished actress, with a deft touch for comedy. She more than holds her own with Jose Ferrer in their scenes together.

So I went back to talk to her again, and this time I did more than just admire the scenery. I learned that she has a solid background on the German stage and in German films. She is no Jenny-come-lately as an actress.

Acting has been her life since she was 14. But it wasn't easy. Her parents, of the old school, had no use for such frivolous things as acting. Their daughter was going to be something more serious — a language student.

She begged and pleaded to be allowed to go to drama school. But no luck. Off she went to study languages. Eventually, they packed her off to London, where she studied English (a talent which has since proved very valuable).

She thought of running away from home and from school, but her father threatened her — if he ran away she could never come back — So she didn't.

"But when I was 18," she says, "I had had enough. So I flew right to Munich without telling them and started in drama school."

Confronted with a fait accompli, her mother signed the necessary papers. But Christiane says to this day her parents are not pleased with her career.heim, everything is cordial—but him, everything is cordial—but the subject of acting isn't discussed.

This minor problem is more than compensated for by her international success. She's now in "Boeing Boeing," with Jerry Lewis and Tony Curtis. This is a wild comedy—at least that's the plan—and it should solidify Christiane's position as a leading comedienne.

Presently she's living in a Hollywood hotel. That will soon change. She's going to keep her Munich apartment, but add a California home to her holdings. This, in anticipation of much work hereabouts.

She finds Hollywood's gossip columnist's bit irritating, but she says she's used to it — it's the same thing in Munich.

"You go out with someone twice," she says, "and right away they have you married."

She gets around their nosiness by heading out of town weekends—Santa Barbara, San Diego, Santa Barbara. During the week, she's generally too tired to do much socializing. If they want to follow her to San Francisco, etc., they might find out a few things. So far, they have not bothered.

Homebuilders

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — When Deborah Kerr completes her role in "Marriage on the Rocks" she and husband Peter Viertel will build a new home on Spain's Costa Del Sol coast near Gibraltar.

THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS SUNDAY, JUNE 27, 1965 25

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
Second Add Coming Attractions: Jack Benny's wife, Mary Livingstone, who retired some time ago as one of his regular broadcasting partners, is reported expected to be on one of his two NBC-TV specials next season.

Current Business: As of now, the network prime-time lineup of regular series to be broadcast in color in the coming season stacks up like this in terms of percentage: NBC-TV, more than 95 per cent ... ABC-TV, more than 33 per cent ... it is possible the figures will continue to go up before the season starts ... by the fall of 1966, it is virtually a foregone conclusion that it will hit 100 per cent — or near it — on all the networks.
