Cong, South Troops Swap Battle Victories

Joint Offensive Broken Off

SAIGON (UPI) — Government troops scored a major victory over the Viet Cong in a search 35 miles southwest of Saigon, a military spokesman reported today. But a Communist regiment trapped hundreds of Vietnamese troops 200 miles to the north.

A U.S. spokesman said the operation south of Saigon netted 255 Viet Cong dead by actual body count. The action cost the lives of two more Americans and two others were wounded. The spokesman reported 32 government troops wounded.

Thirty miles north of Saigon, American and Australian combat troops began breaking off their joint operation against notorious Zone D with no significant victory.

Make 67 Sorties
U.S. jets flew 67 sorties over Communist North Viet Nam today, hitting one target only 50 miles from Hanoi and bombing the airport at Vinh 160 miles south of Hanoi in twin raids—the third attack on the airport in recent months.

A U.S. plane was shot down in South Viet Nam with the probable death of two fliers although a spokesman said no planes were lost in the north. A U.S. B57 bomber crashed in flames at the Da Nang airbase today but the two men aboard parachuted safely.

The big Communist attack in the central highlands 200 miles northeast of Saigon overran the district town of Thuan Mon. Several hundred troops and their American military advisers — up to eight — were reported cut off. All contact with the three Vietnamese government units on an operation in the area reported heavy fighting with the Communists still attacking the government units.

One of the Vietnamese operation command posts also reported it was surrounded. Government forces were trying to fight through to the trapped units while American and Vietnamese fighter-bombers bombed and strafed the enemy. It was in this action that the two-man U.S. plane was shot down while on a reconnaissance mission.

Several Advisers Trapped
A spokesman said several American military advisers were known to be with the trapped unit along with a six-man American military survey team which flew into the Cheo Reo area from Kontum City Tuesday. The town overrun by the Reds is eight miles southwest of Cheo Reo.

The spokesman said the Viet Cong attacked in regimental force—up to two or three battalions and two Vietnamese airborne battalions were in the battle. The infantrymen were part of an American military survey team which flew into the Cheo Reo area from Kontum City Tuesday. The town overrun by the Reds is eight miles southwest of Cheo Reo.

Officials Brief Study Group on Dam Project

By DALLAS DEWEESE
Pampa's Water Study Committee got some history and figures on the Canadian River Dam project last night from Vern Grantham of the U.S. Reclamation Bureau and Fred Thompson, one of the city's two members of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

From Thompson they learned there has been a bit of confusion about the dam, the lake behind it and some of the commitments Pampa has in connection with the project.

Last night's meeting of the committee, headed by James B. Massa, was called principally to discuss Pampa's contract with the Water Authority and the Authority's contract with the U.S. government.

Thompson said while there had been mention of Pampa's first payment on the dam project coming due in 1967, actually the $153,700 first year's payment would not be due until Jan. 1, 1968.

It was pointed out by Thompson this annual payment will increase each year for 20 years until it reaches $263,900 annually in 1988 and then remains constant at that figure for the next 27 years. During the last three years of the 50-year payment period Pampa would pay $764,000 annually as its share of the construction cost.

These figures, Thompson explained were based on the original $92,960,000 total cost estimate for the dam. Because the project will be completed a year earlier than planned, the total cost has been cut to $77,975,000.

This will bring about adjustments in the annual payments which the 11 CRMWA cities will have to pay. This adjustment probably will be made when the entire project is completed.

In addition to the annual payment on the dam and aqueducts, each city will be assessed an annual charge for operation and maintenance. While this amount has not been fixed, it has been estimated at around $50,000 a year which would bring Pampa's first payment to a total of $203,700.

One of the decisions the Study Committee will have to reach is whether to recommend immediate construction of a water treatment plant so that it would be available when first water is turned into the aqueducts by Jan. 1, 1968.

Estimated cost of a treatment plant for Pampa has been placed at $750,000 to $1,000,000. Grantham straightened out some of the information about the lake's present status.

He said as of Monday the re- (See STUDY, Page 3) leaving the sole means of escape to the one which is left.

"An old fire escape on the outer wall was not even noticed by the architect and no provision has been made for entry into the same and hence it is useless. It has not been tested or examined in any event and hence is presumed to be of no benefit at all."

Hemphill County Judge Sanford Cole said the building was not a fire hazard.

"We have had a complete re-wiring, the building is brick and much more safe," the judge said. "We would be very happy for the State Fire Marshal to come up and investigate," he added.

Judge Cole said there is a window between the fire escape and building but that the window would only have to be broken out to reach the fire escape.

"The stairway, the old one, was wood and is now concrete and steel. We have only one stairway now and only had one 56 years ago when the court house was first constructed," the judge said.

Crow maintains that before the remodeling took place there were two stairways in the building, both made of wood.

He also maintains that the window between the fire escape and building would take some doing to be broken out.

New Astro-Scientists Adept at News Parley

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Six young astro-scientists, freshly indoctrinated as America's newest space celebrities, headed home today to pack up and get aboard the nation's $20 billion express to the moon.

They hope to be ready in three years to grab for a scientific golden ring—a chance to walk the dusty, crater-pitted plains of the moon to search for clues to the origin of earth itself.

One week ago, they were comparative unknowns, working at various universities and science laboratories around America.

Today, they are the nation's first "scientist-astronauts": Dr. Edward G. Gibson, Dr. Owen K. Garriott, Dr. F. Curtis Michel, Dr. Duane E. Graveline, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Dr. Harrison Schmitt.

And others, said Robert R. Gilruth, chief of the federal space agency's Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston, will follow them into the astronaut ranks for America's manned assault into space.

The astro-scientists proved themselves adept at handling what other astronauts consider the toughest part of the job—facing news conferences. They treated newsmen to a barrage of witty, erudite answers that impressively demonstrated their reputation as the most highly educated U.S. astronauts.

Their selection, raising the nation's astronaut colony to 34, was aimed in part at cooling off a long-simmering feud between the federal space agency and the nation's scientific community over the agency's preoccupation with choosing jet pilots for space chores.

Flying experience was not required for this, the nation's fourth group of astronauts—but they are going to have to learn. Following their first public appearance as astro-scientists Tuesday and briefing session that lasted into the evening, four — Garriott, Graveline, Gibson and Schmitt—returned home to prepare for flight school.

The quartet will report to Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., July 28 to begin 55 weeks of learning to become at least passable jet jockeys — experience that will stand them in good stead should they ever have to take the control of an Apollo moonship in an emergency.

Kerwin, a 34-year-old Jacksonville, Fla., Navy lieutenant commander who conceded that his 700 hours of jet flying "is perhaps one reason why I'm here," and Michel, a 31-year-old Rice University, Houston, assistant professor of space science who logged 500 hours of flying in the Air Force, will bypass the flying course and report directly to the Manned Spacecraft Center late next month.

Daley's Peace Plea Rejected By Rights Group

CHICAGO (UPI)—Civil rights leaders today rejected a peace plea from the mayor and vowed stiffer demonstrations to force school Supt. Benjamin C. Willis out of office.

"We have to intensify our direct action," Edward Raby, a school teacher who quit his job to lead the protest movement, said.

The Rev. John Porter, local head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said civil rights forces would march again today to demonstrate against Willis.

A total of 645 demonstrators has been arrested in street demonstrations and street sit-ins during the last three weeks. Fifteen were arrested Tuesday when they sat down in a downtown intersection during rush hour.

Mayor Richard C. Daley, who has tried to avoid the controversy by saying he has no jurisdiction over the school superintendent, attended his first board of education meeting in 10 years Tuesday to hear Raby and 12 other civil rights leaders present their complaints.

"I hope the tenor of this meeting will be understanding, not demanding; that the spirit will be cooperation, not conflict, and that we will resolve these problems around the table and not in the streets of our city," Daley said.

Raby urged the board to give Willis a leave of absence, appoint an assistant school superintendent in charge of integration and launch a search for a new superintendent committed to integrating every school in the city.

The board took no action but set another meeting July 7.

Heat, Garbage Making Things Sticky in Italy

ROME (UPI) — Italy today was in the grips of a prolonged heat wave and the start of a garbage collectors strike here threatened to make things even more unpleasant.

At least 49 deaths have been attributed to the two-week long hot spell, most of them by drowning as tens of thousands of sweltering Italians flocked to the beaches.

Dozens of persons have suffered mental breakdowns since the mercury began its climb and remained almost steadily near the 100-degree mark.

In the Alps, the heat melted ice and brought to light the skeleton of a man, believed to be a World War I soldier buried in the Adamello Glacier for nearly 50 years.

In Rome, the start of the three-day strike by street cleaners and garbage collectors posed a serious health threat.

Officials planned emergency collections and urged residents to leave bundles of garbage outside their homes for easier pickup.

Cigarette Prices To Go Up Another Nickel

By RAY RODGERS JR.
The Cigarette smoker's slogan will probably change tomorrow to the phrase, "I'd rather pay, than switch."

The nicotine habit will get even costlier when a five-cent per pack hike goes into effect. Cigarettes will jump from 30 to 35 cents per pack in some places and from 35 to 40 cents in others.

Cigarette machines will be altered to five cents more per pack and most stores will charge the additional five cents. It may pay to quit smoking. But, chances are not many persons will. A quick survey of several local nicotine users showed most of them were unaffected by the price jump.

One person said, "If news that cigarettes are harmful to my health didn't make me quit what makes you think the nickel price jump will?"

Manufacturers of pipes and pipe tobacco are probably the only ones glad to see cigarettes go up.

Some non-smoking school teachers are also glad to see the price jump since the revenue will be used for a teacher pay hike. Smoking school teachers won't be as well off at least some of their pay hike each month will go toward the price of cigarettes.

Actually the state only added the cigarette tax by three cents per pack from eight cents to 11 cents. But, it's not feasible to change every cigarette machine, so the price will go up one nickel.

Another smoker commented this morning, "to think, I used to gripe when I had to pay six cents a pack for cigarettes and they were selling them across town for five cents."

Remember one thing tomorrow smokers, your cigarettes won't taste different it's just the sour taste left in your mouth by news that the price of the beloved little while fags are costing a nickel more.

Highlights and Sidelights From the State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Two of the three redistricting plans passed by the last Legislature soon will come under courtroom attacks.

In a legislative redistricting case in Houston, motions will be filed asking that the new plan for dividing Texas into 150 districts for the House of Representatives be declared unconstitutional.

State Republican Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr. has announced that the Harris County plaintiffs in the Congressional redistricting case, headed by George Bush, will drop out of active roles in the case because that county was treated fairly in the redistricting plan.

But the Republicans plan to bring in new plaintiffs from Dallas, Bexar, Tarrant, Midland, Ector, Jefferson, Orange and Brazoria Counties to try to convince the three judge federal court in Houston that the new law violates several apportionment principles.

On legislative redistricting, state Reps. Jake Johnson of San Antonio and Robert C. Eckhardt of Houston, who joined in the suit which led to present reapportionment procedures being declared unconstitutional, will ask the court to say that the new plan violates the U.S. Constitution, too.

Main attack is expected to be purely on the question of whether countywide district with more than one legislator serve to discriminate against minority racial and political groups.

No attack is expected on the plan passed to divide the Texas Senate into 31 new districts.

AUTO RATES TO GO UP — A State Insurance Board public hearing confirmed the earlier warning that auto insurance rates will go up an average of some 13.4 per cent on August 1.

Actually, new rates for property damage, liability and collision lines carried by most motorists will be increased more than 20 per cent in most areas.

A rising toll from traffic accidents is blamed for the hike.

Insured drivers paid $404,000,000 in premiums last year against $198,000,000 settled by companies on claims. Another $16,000,000 in pay-outs is pending. Board decides premiums should go up when more than 63 cents of the premium dollar goes to pay claims and adjustment costs.

BUILDING, SALES DOWN — Texas building and retail sales dropped off in May, according to UT's Bureau of Business Research.

Sales fell off about one per cent from the April level, in contrast to a normal seasonal gain of about three per cent. The January-May total is four per cent above the same period for 1964 but has not kept pace with the nationwide increase. Trade is expected to improve with repeal of federal excise taxes.

Building authorizations decreased 13 per cent last month to the second lowest level in the past 12 months.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court affirmed Court of Appeals finding that the two-year old law which placed bonded liquor exporters along the Mexico border under state regulation is unconstitutional.

In two separate opinions—from Harris and Matagorda counties—court held that holders of hurricane insurance policies which specifically excluded water damage coverage could not collect for flood water damages to their homes from the Sept. 11, 1961, Hurricane Carla.

AG SPEAKS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has held that San Marcos Consolidated Independent School District cannot use Martindale District tax assessments for 1965, though the districts have consolidated. All property throughout the district must be assessed at an equal and uniform rate, Carr concluded.

In other opinions, the attorney general ruled:

Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner may not approve a credit union as a depository for other credit unions.

Dallas County Junior College may contract with the county tax assessor-collector to assess and collect its ad valorem taxes; and

In time of national emergency, the governor has authority to direct implementation of the emergency resources management plan, to order state agencies to assume their responsibilities and to create a "state executive reserve."

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. John Connally has named Dist. Atty. Edwin F. Berliner of El Paso to the new 171st District Court, which goes into operation on September 1. He appointed W. Barton Boling, El Paso lawyer, to succeed Berliner as district attorney.

Connally appointed Garrett Morris, Fort Worth attorney and insurance executive, to Texas Public Safety Commission to succeed Jake Jacobsen, Austin attorney who recently joined President Johnson's staff. Morris is a native of Nocona.

Commission establishes plans and policies for Department of Public Safety, state law enforcement agency.

UT LANDS LEASED — University of Texas leased 47,014 acres of land for $10,106,000 at the 50th public auction of oil and gas leases.

Active bids were drawn on 159 of 167 tracts offered. All leases were made for five-year terms and a one-sixth royalty on mineral production. Highest and second highest bids — $280,000 and $225,000 — were on 320 acre tracts in Ward County.

Receipts from auction will swell the Permanent University Fund to over $442,000. Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said.

JULY 4 TOLL WARNING ISSUED — Homer Garrison, Department of Public Safety Director, estimates that thirty-one persons will die in Texas traffic accidents during the three-day July 4 holiday.

DPS plans maximum enforcement with additional personnel from other uniformed services to augment the regular Highway Patrol.

"Operation Motorcade," a DPS-directed coordinated effort among state agencies to reduce traffic accidents, will focus public attention on added dangers of holiday travel.

GOVERNOR'S VETOES — Just before the veto deadline Governor Connally vetoed the bill which would have allowed banks, savings and loans associations and others to charter up to 17 1/2 percent interest on certain types of loans.

"No evidence was presented the Legislature to justify these specific rates, either on the basis of reasonableness or need," the Governor said in his veto message. He said he also was concerned about a provision of the bill which would have let lenders require borrowers to purchase or provide insurance as security for a loan. That provision, he noted, would not have limited in any way "the number of types of insurance coverages which (could have been) required."

Connally vetoed a total of 40 bills passed by the 59th Legislature. Among them were:

Insecticide bill which would have affected both commercial insecticide applicators and farmers and ranchers;

Bill which would have authorized the expansion of the Upper Colorado River Authority to include Coleman, Concho, Irion, McCulloch, Menard, Runnels and Sterling Counties; and Bills creating Northeast Texas State College at Texarkana and Permian State College at Odessa.

SHORT SNORTS — A proposed pulp and paper mill (Owens-Illinois Inc.) received a permit from Texas Water Pollution Control Board to discharge a maximum of 48,000,000 gallons of treated industrial waste daily into the Sabine River five miles north of Orange.

Governor Connally is recruiting membership for two vital new education groups — the 18-member Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and Universities and the 15-member governor's Committee on Public School Education.

Six more Neighborhood Youth Corps job projects have been approved in Paducah, Rusk, Mercedes, Port Isabel, Hebronville and Goliad.

1966 license plates for an estimated 6,000,000 vehicles already are in production at Huntsville state prison shops in 33 different types of plates plus new "prestige" tags.

Secretary of State Crawford Martin has granted a charter to Texas Oil Producers Marketing Association, Inc., a non-profit corporation to purchase and resell crude oil, believed to be first of its kind in industry.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has cancelled a seismograph permit issued to Geophysical Services and Pan American Petroleum after two of their explosive containers washed up on a Mustang Island beach.

Attorney General Carr has announced recovery of $3,800 judgment from a Dallas man who allegedly drilled and operated a slant oil well in Gregg County.

Trinity Valley Savings and Loan Association, Cleveland, has filed application for charter and Savings and Loan Department set a hearing for August 26.

AWARD WINNER — Sgt. Bill Blackburn has won the fourth U.S. Army Commander's Trophy for his outstanding enlistment performance during the last half of 1965. Sgt. Blackburn local Army Recruiter, was presented the award by Lt. Col. Enoch L. Martain, commanding officer of the U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station, Amarillo, Texas. The award was based on Sgt. Blackburn's overall enlistment rate, while in competition with recruiters throughout fourth Army, which includes Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana. Sgt. Blackburn was assigned to the Pampa Recruiting Station in July of 1962.

Walter Rogers Reports

Case of Communist Officer Of Labor Union Famous One

Archie Brown, an open and avowed Communist for more than a quarter of a century, served on the executive board of Local 10 of the ILWU in 1959, 1960, and 1961. In 1961 he was indicted for "knowingly and willfully serving as a member of an executive board of a labor organization... while a member of the Communist Party, in wilful violation of Title 29, United States Code, Section 504."

A jury found Archie guilty and he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. The Court of Appeals held that Section 504 of Title 29 USC violated the First and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution, and reversed the conviction. The case was presented to the Supreme Court. That Court, in an opinion written by Chief Justice Warren on June 7, 1965, held that the statute was a bill of attainder and therefore violated Article I, Section 9, of the Constitution, and affirmed the decision of the Court of Appeals setting aside the conviction.

This was a split decision, being five for setting aside the conviction and four dissenting. The following Justices: White, Clark, Harlan, and Stewart, disagreed with the conclusions of Chief Justice Warren and the other four members of the Court.

The Archie Brown decision will, in my opinion, go down in the history of this country as one of the most infamous decisions rendered by the Supreme Court. It will, I hope, create enough furor throughout the country to force remedial action.

Those of us in the Congress who have long challenged the advisability of the absolute power in the Supreme Court to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional look upon this decision as a perfect example of the tragedy against which we have long warned. The decision in this case, to set free a well-known and avowed Communist who had openly and flagrantly violated a Federal law, was based primarily on a misconstruction and a misinterpretation of the term "bill of attainder." I have long argued that, if this can be done, there is no limit to the power of the Supreme Court of the United States. Such decisions are final and not appealable.

It is interesting to note that the Court stated: "We do not hold today that Congress cannot weed dangerous persons out of the labor movement, any more than the Court held in Lovett that subversives must be permitted to hold sensitive government positions. Rather, we make again the point made in Lovett: that Congress must accomplish such results by rules of general applicability. It cannot specify the people upon whom the sanction it prescribes is to be levied. Under our Constitution, Congress possesses full legislative authority, but the task of adjudication must be left to other tribunals."

The difficulty lies in the fact that every time Congress exercises its legislative authority in this field, the Supreme Court declares it unconstitutional.

This problem can be solved by the people, through a Constitutional Amendment limiting the power of the Supreme Court with regard to declaring legislative acts unconstitutional. In the meantime, those of us who have long sought a solution short of amending the Constitution, will continue to search for means and methods through statutory provisions to stop the dangerous course represented by the decision in the case of the United States v. Archie Brown.

Davies Takes Over as New Rotary Prexy

Loyal Davies became the Pampa Rotary club's new president last night at the club's annual banquet in the Coronado Inn. Outgoing president was Gordon Lyons.

Other officers installed were Lyons, who succeeded Cameron Marsh as vice president, Paul Payne, secretary, and Albert Doucette, assistant secretary.

New directors are Bill Atkinson, John Brewer, Lee Fraser, Art Holland, David Tucker and Harry Vanderpool. Installing officer was Marsh.

Highlight of the program was the wit and humor of east Texas attorney Bob Murphy, of Nacogdoches. The colorful speaker was introduced by Jimmy Thompson.

Atkinson welcomed Rotarians' wives. Rotary Anns and introduced special guests. Recognition was given the Rotary Anns, whose husbands had perfect attendance during the past year, by Roy Sparkman.

Invocation was given by Dr. Douglas Carver and Miss Jo Clair Wilkerson provided the dinner music.

HERE COMES THE CAVALRY — Riding white horses, Harry Corlett and his wife lead the way near Maywood, Neb., as more than 800 riders follow in what looks like a cavalry charge from a cowboy movie. Instead, it's the annual 4-H club outing. Six years ago Corlett took 85 riders into the countryside and the event has grown and grown. This year's participants came from 14 Nebraska counties plus Colorado, Kansas and South Dakota.

Pampan, Mule Train Make Stamford Rodeo

A Pampan with a flare for the unusual arrived in Stamford today via mule-powered covered wagon.

Clifford T. Rasco, 2132 N. Dwight, eight of his kinfolk, two chickens and a goat road into Stamford early today in time for the 36th annual Cowboy reunion.

Riders from the Stamford Junior Sheriff's Posse met the Rasco wagon at Sagerton and escorted it into Stamford.

Rasco, his son Tony, 7, a nephew, Kenny Walters, 14 of Yucipa, Calif., a niece, Linda Rasco, Stamford, his brother, Royce of Pampa, Royce Jr., another brother, J. D. Rasco, Stamford and an unidentified cousin, left Aspermont, which is 30 miles from Stamford, early Monday morning.

Rasco, his son Tony, brother, nephew, Kenny Walters, 14 of Royce and the Walters youngest left Pampa Saturday with two horses in a trailer. Royce Rasco hauled the wagon and other items in a truck. Other members of the family joined the train at Aspermont.

Rasco, who works as a researcher at Cabot Company, will return home sometime Saturday.

Rasco's wife, Dovie and daughter, Priscilla, 16 and son Gerald did not make the trip. Priscilla, when asked by a News reporter why her father made the trip, replied, "I don't know he just likes to do things like this."

cent rains had boosted the water content at the lake to 156,000 acre feet with a 60-foot depth at the dam.

Grantham said the lake behind the Sanford Dam, when filled to its full capacity, could hold 793 billion gallons of water.

He said the work at the dam-site now is 99.9 per cent complete and should be finished within the next month or six weeks.

The 322-mile aqueduct system to the 11 CRMWA cities is all under contract, Grantham stated.

He added that by June of 1967 the entire system should be completed. It then will be checked and tested in all its aspects to be ready for transporting water to the cities by Jan. 1, 1968.

Grantham also gave some figures to compare Lake Meredith with Buffalo Lake, near Amarillo.

Buffalo Lake has a capacity of 18,150 acre feet; Lake Meredith, 1,408,000 acre feet. Buffalo Lake has a 2,075 square mile drainage area; Lake Meredith, 9,000 square miles.

It was pointed out that of the 11 CRMWA cities, only Pampa, Borger, Plainview, Amarillo and Lubbock will pay both for aqueduct and reservoir construction.

Six cities on the South Plains, also members of the Authority, will pay only for aqueduct construction. This agreement was made due to their distance from the lake and its inaccessibility to them for recreation purposes. The six cities are Levelland, Lamesa, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Slaton and Brownfield.

U.S. Adviser Killed
Heavy fighting raged through the day and a U.S. military adviser was killed by small arms fire during a Red counterattack. A U.S. enlisted man was wounded.

The Communists broke off the action this morning and the Vietnamese found 225 Viet Cong bodies.

Three Australian soldiers were also wounded, a report confirmed in Canberra by Dr. Alexander Forbes, minister of the Australian army.

The American forces are members of the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

An American military spokesman in Saigon said the operation was expected to end today or Thursday.

Two Freedom Papers Team Up To Help Locate Family

SANTA ANA, Calif. — Two Freedom newspapers teamed up last week to help police and fire department officials find a vacationing Santa Ana family whose house had burned down.

The Clarence White home here was almost destroyed by fire June 14 ten hours after the family left for a vacation in Pampa.

While the police made efforts to contact the White family in Pampa, The Register in Santa Ana phoned the story to its sister paper in Pampa, The Daily News.

Fire officials said here Monday that White had returned after seeing the story run in The Daily News.

Santa Ana Fire Marshall Ray Bachtelle said Monday that cooperation between the newspapers had "definitely saved us a lot of time and effort."

"We are grateful to The Register and to The Daily News for this service. We don't know how long it would have taken to find the family without this help."

The actual destination of the Whites was not known to the fire or police departments, other than that they were heading for Pampa.

would be hard to break out and almost impossible to crawl out of," Crow said.

Assistant State Fire Marshal Gene Sanders said today that he had received Crow's letter, would write out an answer and the letter would then go to the office attorney and then to the State Fire Marshal, J. N. Nutt.

Crow and factions in Hemphill County have been staging a running feud since August of 1963 when the county attorney was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated.

Crow entered an innocent plea and was acquitted by a jury.

Charges Filed In Stabbing Incident

Bill Warren, 28 of 731 Magnolia, was fined $50 and costs in Gray County Court yesterday after entering a plea of guilty to a charge of aggravated assault.

The charges against Warren were filed by Pampa police in connection with a stabbing incident Friday at Rhonda's Music Box, 824 S. Cuyler.

Warren was charged with inflicting several knife wounds in Steve Eason, owner of the club.

Eason told police he was attempting to expel Warren from the club for using profane language when he was stabbed.

Eason received knife wounds about the eye, side and arm and over 45 stitches were taken.

L. P. Sandford

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at Duenkel Funeral Home for L. P. Sandford, 70, of 714 E. Frederic, Mr. Sandford, a local businessman, was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital at 8 p. m. yesterday.

Mr. Sandford was born Sept. 8, 1894, in Rock, Kan. He married Miss Audria Sawyer on June 26, 1915, in Arnett, Okla. The couple made their home on a farm near Arnett until 1947, when they moved to Pampa.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Audria Sandford of the home; three daughters, Mrs. Eddie Duenkel of Pampa, Mrs. Q. O. Brown of Hereford and Mrs. Tom Watson of Skellytown; two sons, Berkley Sandford of Amarillo and Frank Sandford of Missoula, Mont., nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

At 9:05 p. m., firemen were called to a vacant domino parlor at 115 W. Foster, when a small blaze in the rest room was discovered. John Clepper, owner, said he had no idea how the fire started.

Late last night and early this morning, Pampa firemen were called to extinguish two small fires in trash containers, located at 111 N. Cuyler and 1420 N. Hobart.

Pampa Firemen Have Busy Day

Pampa firemen spent a busy afternoon and night as four separate calls were answered during the past 24-hours.

The first call came at 7:30 p. m. yesterday when a divan at the home of Dale Southard, 1120 Cinderella, caught fire.

The small blaze was quickly extinguished with no damage resulting.

At 9:05 p. m., firemen were called to a vacant domino parlor at 115 W. Foster, when a small blaze in the rest room was discovered. John Clepper, owner, said he had no idea how the fire started.

Late last night and early this morning, Pampa firemen were called to extinguish two small fires in trash containers, located at 111 N. Cuyler and 1420 N. Hobart.

Burglars Enter Home, Church

Loretta Brite reported to Pampa police today her home was entered and ransacked sometime between 2 p. m. Monday and 11:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Entrance to the house was gained through an unlocked back door. Nothing was reported missing.

In another incident reported to police today, William West, pastor of St. Matthews Episcopal Church, said someone entered the church and pried open the filing cabinet and soft drink machine. A small amount of change was all that was reported missing.

 United Press International
 Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. missed one notable look-alike when he spoke the other day similarities between business conditions now and during the period preceding the great depression of the 1930's.

The great depression exploded in the autumn of 1929 in a collapse of stock market values. The public was unprepared for economic calamity largely because the talkiest experts and politicians had been claiming for years that the boom was here to stay. President Cal Coolidge was a notable prophet of good times forever.

Martin did not by any means predict another great depression. Nor did he find any precise parallel between now and the events leading up to the depression of the 1930's. But he spotlighted some similarities.

He did not include the current optimism among the talkiest of the experts and confidence now being expressed by the President of the United States that all is well and likely to remain so or get better. Even today's tax cuts echo the past.

Used Low Preure
 That was Coolidge's way. Coolidge was a low pressure propagandist for boom times. His principal forum was his twice weekly press conference. For example, Coolidge in 1926 was vacationing at White Pine Camp, New York.

"The business conditions in the country are more than meeting expectations," Coolidge told his press conference on July 27, 1926. "The first six months of the current year showed good business conditions and since the first of July there has been something of an advance in general business conditions. I think that is attributable partly to the reduction of taxation. It takes some time to get the full effect of that, but it stimulates business by releasing money that otherwise would go into the public treasury which can go into enterprise."

Sounds familiar!
 The soft sell was Coolidge's method. Occasionally he would acknowledge unemployment or endorse Harvard professor William Z. Ripley's campaign against sale to the public of non-voting corporate stock. But Coolidge's optimism was consistent and contagious. It enticed millions of little fellows into the stock market, even as now. On Jan. 8, 1929, a few months away from calamity, Coolidge told his press conference:

Gives Optimistic Report
 "I haven't a great amount of information concerning the business situation, but I was advised this morning by the Department of Commerce that the last six months, according to their reports, was better than the first six months of 1928 and was up to the standard of 1927. So far as they can determine present conditions in business throughout the country are good and the prospect for the immediate future seems to be as good as usual."

President Johnson and his business advisers are equally enthusiastic in their estimates of present conditions, if not more so. As in Coolidge's time, there has been a small investor stampede to get in on the stock market goodies. But there is strict regulation of stock market operations now to prevent some of the piratical practices of the 1920's.

There is now a firm brake on margin account trading. Strong laws now prevent much of the banking firm flam and other financial vices of the bad old days.

Dangerously out of control, however, is both public and private debt.

SINGER RECOVERING
STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Doctors said Tuesday that American singer Josh White, who was rushed to a hospital, is out of danger. A hospital spokesman said a virus infection may have caused White's exhausted condition Monday night. The singer came here for an engagement at the Tivoli.

Ike Asks Improvement At Next GOP Convention

"A national convention is as fascinating as a revival or a hanging. It is vulgar, ugly, stupid, and tedious, to be sure, and yet there suddenly comes a show so gaudy and hilarious, so melodramatic and obscene, so unimaginably exhilarating and preposterous that one lives a gorgeous year in an hour."

H.L. Mencken

By RAYMOND M. LAHR
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wants the next Republican National Convention to look less like a Pier 6 brawl and more like a meeting of the board of trustees.

That was his proposal offered in a speech to the Republican National Committee Monday for improving the image of the GOP before the 1968 presidential election.

Eisenhower has confessed before that he has been confused by what goes on at political conventions, including the one which first nominated him for the White House in 1952.

The general reminded the assembled party notables Monday that television carries the conventions into American homes, and may soon carry the proceedings to the rest of the world via communications satellites.

"Now, what do we see?" he asked. "We see a picture of confusion of noise, of impossible deportment, of indifference toward the subjects that are being discussed from the platform... well, I think that most of the United States is horrified by what it sees about these conventions."

In a hitherto undisclosed incident, Eisenhower said that his own niece had been "molested" on the floor of the 1964 convention in San Francisco's Cow Palace.

"We have seen pictures of hoodlums, harassing the wife of a speaker on the platform," he said. "I saw my own niece run to me with tears in her eyes because she was molested on the floor where she had a minor job..."

The general did not elaborate. But one of his close associates told United Press International the niece was the daughter of M's G. Corson Moore of Washington, who is Mrs. Eisenhower's sister.

The girl, hired as a convention worker by then GOP National Chairman William E. Miller, was said to have been accosted by "a couple of drunks." According to the source, they chased her behind the platform and out of the convention hall to an office trailer where Eisenhower was waiting to make a speech before the delegates.

The girl's pursuers disappeared when she reached the trailer. She ran inside, "considerably upset," and told Eisenhower of the incident, the source said.

The former President's get-tough remedies: —"Get a strong permanent chairman and dictatorial powers, and give him sergeants-at-arms each of whom is about 6-feet-4 (applause) and had a great deal of experience either as non-commissioned officer in the Army or Marines or at least in the police department."

—"Permit only accredited delegates on the convention floor, consigning alternates to a special section of the gallery.

—"Install telephone booths for each state delegation, to eliminate a lot of pages and messengers scurrying around all the time."

—"Exclude the press, television and radio from the convention floor. They have places. We cooperate with them. We want them, but certainly we don't want them running around and having interviews when we are having someone make a serious statement before a delegation," he said.

—"Stop any demonstrations over five minutes in any speeches like a spurious burst of unwarranted enthusiasm." Eisenhower admitted that "some of this sounds a bit funny" but he said it would win public approval.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In the good old summertime, the networks call on Barry Shear because it is less risky to gamble with experimentation in the off-season.

This past Monday night, for CBS-TV, he produced and directed a 90-minute rock 'n' roll show, "It's What's Happening, Baby!", in which the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity had a hand with advice for dropouts and youngsters looking for jobs.

Several summer seasons back, for NBC-TV, he turned out a bright, tasteful, exciting series called "The Lively Ones," with topflight musical talent performing at unique locations.

Last summer, for ABC-TV, he guided a tryout for what was later to be the late-night Les Crane show (now "ABC's Nightlife"), and the one-week experiment was generally so successful that NBC-TV at the time was frankly worried about the potential competition for Johnny Carson.

However, ABC-TV almost immediately put the successful Shear ideas at a distance, hired a series of generally uninspired fellows to follow all the well-beaten paths, and of course the program has been on the verge of ragings—and quality—extinction ever since.

Shear is an interesting example of some of the bright young music- and live-entertainment specialists who, with a background of pretty tasteful work, now have to come to terms with today's dominant rock music.

For himself, he acquired a reputation with the Eddie Adams show, Emmy nominations. Furthermore, like others with mouths to feed, he has had his bread-and-butter chores that can be turned out almost blindfolded—in his case, for example, the Donna Reed and "Valentine's Day" series, for which he directed.

But what happens if you want to stay primarily with your music shows, and the trend in television is toward rock—and it's the same thing in movies except for the few class musicals that usually, and naturally, go to the older-line directors?

I know one conductor who formerly sold countless good albums and now can't get one recorded.

What is happening in some cases with movie-writers—it is reported on good authority—is that there is a sort of voluntary blacklisting by some pros who know where the money is, have to eat, but ask to have their real names kept off the credits of rock films.

The rock 'n' roll domination in television and elsewhere is awesome, and depressing in terms of taste. It is not a matter of immorality or snobbish thinking. The rock advocates give you the usual nonsense argument that when this adult

WITHDRAWS REQUEST
LONDON (UPI)—The peer who wanted the House of Lords to debate the recent honor bestowed on the Beatles withdrew his request Tuesday. Lord Colwyn said the question might be regarded as "an insult to the Queen."

The issue involved the Order of the British Empire conferred on the Beatles earlier this month.

Newsman Ends Job As Head of Church Group

By PRESTON MCGRAW
FORT WORTH (UPI)—Walter Humphrey, one of the nation's leading Christian laymen, has practiced for the last 36 years a profession not popularly associated with piety.

For Humphrey, 61, doubles as an outstanding Presbyterian and newspaperman. He is editor of the Fort Worth Press, a Scripps-Howard paper, and writes a daily column.

Today, he finished a one-year term as president of the Fort Worth Area Council of Churches, the biggest religious organization in Fort Worth and a job that usually goes to a minister.

Under Humphrey, the council became the first in Texas to bring in a Catholic Church as a member.

"I wanted also to make it the first council in the state to take in a Baptist minister," said the hefty, balding editor. "The Baptists worked with us but they did not join."

Becomes Presbyterian
Humphrey is a sort of walking ecumenical movement. Brought up a Baptist, he became a Presbyterian.

While president of the Council of Churches, with a membership of 110 Presbyterian, Methodist, Catholic, Christian, Congregationalist and Lutheran congregations, he was a member of two other religious bodies.

He is a member of the Advisory Board of the Southwest (Baptist) Theological Seminary and is a member of the Advisory Board of St. Joseph's (Catholic) Hospital.

He is finishing his ninth year as a member of the board that directs the publishing of the official Presbyterian magazine. He was a member of the Board of Christian Education in 1955-1956.

In 1955, Humphrey was president of the Assembly Men's Council of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.).

Two Branches
There are two branches of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. The Presbyterian Church (U.S.) is popularly known as the "Southern Presbyterian Church." The other branch is the United Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

Humphrey is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Fort Worth, which equally supports both branches.

Almost none of Humphrey's devotion to religion comes from childhood habit.

Born in Trenton, Mo., his mother died when he was 9. His father was a railroad man and could not take him to church because he usually worked on Sunday.

Humphrey became a newspaper man and his interest in religion quickened when in 1929 he went to Temple, Tex., as editor of the Daily Telegram. He has been editor of the Fort Worth Press since 1945.

"I have always been interested in religion," he said. "I always thought it was the place an editor should be active in before he was active in anything else."

Newspaperman First
"I am first of all a newspaperman. I believe in doing things for other people and serving people. You can do it through a newspaper better than any other way."

"These other things fit in with my conception of what a newspaperman should be." PM's x x should be."

Humphrey also is a ready-made answer to people who say their jobs keep them too busy for church work. After six days a week of running his newspaper, he frequently attends a meeting a night.

Longtime Columnist

He has written a daily newspaper column for 36 years. He is a past national president of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic society, and spends a lot of time telling college groups about newspaper work.

Despite the demands of newspapering, Humphrey says there always is time for religion. As council president he got a 30-minute religious service held every Wednesday at noon in downtown Fort Worth.

Along with everything else, Humphrey every year writes the Fort Worth graduation show, a spoof sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi. Mrs. Humphrey supports his outside activities except that.

"She would like for me to give up the gridiron show," Humphrey said.

NOMINATES HEINTGES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson Tuesday nominated Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges for promotion to lieutenant general to become commander of I Corps in Korea. Heintges will succeed Lt. Gen. Edgar C. Doleman, who has been named deputy commander in chief and chief of staff of the U.S. Army, Pacific.

Juvenile Control Program Gets OK For Three Years

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate voted Tuesday to continue the juvenile delinquency control program for three more years at a cost of $23,100,000.

The extension was rushed through the Senate by voice vote in only minutes so the authorization could be enacted before the start of the new fiscal year on Thursday.

Factional Bitterness Seems To Be Fading in GOP Party

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. George B. Kistiakowsky, White House science adviser in the Eisenhower administration, said Tuesday that "war is inevitable" if the world's population explosion continues.

The Harvard University chemist told a Senate government operations subcommittee that "two great problems face all of us: Prevention of war and prevention of a world population explosion." He said "they are not completely unrelated."

Unless the population crisis can be solved, he said, war is an unavoidable result.

The subcommittee is considering a bill by Chairman Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, that marks the first public legisla-

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

"Harry Shot Me!"
Watchers of TV westerns know the scene by heart. Old Ed, the victim of a shooting, lies near death. The sheriff bends over to catch his last words. Ed gasps:

"Harry shot me!"
On TV, that usually settles the identity of the killer. But in real life, if Harry were charged with murder, would a statement like Ed's be valid in court?

There are arguments both ways. The main problem is that Ed's accusation, when repeated later by the sheriff, is mere hearsay—that is, secondhand evidence. And the law has good reasons to be wary of hearsay.

For one thing, Ed's charge was not made under oath. For another, a man in his death throes might not be calm enough or rational enough to make a dependable declaration on any subject.

Yet there are also good reasons for accepting the evidence. As a practical matter, it may offer the best possible chance of bringing a killer to justice. Furthermore, the very nearness of death is likely to induce the victim to be truthful. In the words of a dying Shakespearean character:

"What in the world should make me now deceive, since I must lose the use of all deceit?"

Balancing these conflicting considerations, the law generally does accept a deathbed accusatory statement.

For example, it is necessary that the victim not only be near death but be aware of it. If he still has hope of surviving, he might not be sufficiently motivated to tell the truth.

But if all hope has fled, his words may be heard in court. In fact, if he is too far gone to speak, even gestures alone may serve. In one case, a dying woman's squeeze of the hand, in response to a question, helped to send her slayer to jail. In another case, a nod of the head was held enough.

Of course, the principle works both ways. A victim's dying words may be used in court not only to prove that the defendant is the killer but also to prove that he is not. As with all rules of law, what may convict the guilty may also free the innocent.

College Youth Fined $500 For Rioting

LACONIA, N.H. (UPI)—A New Jersey college student who police said refused to disperse from the motorcyclist riot at Weirs Beach June 19 was convicted Tuesday of participating in a mob action. He was fined $500.

Stanley Stierle, 21, of Caldwell, N.J., immediately filed notice of appeal of the conviction and was released in $1,000 cash bail.

Earlier, the case of Lawrence Galvin, 24 of Albany, N.Y. was continued for a week to 10 days so that he could obtain a lawyer.

Lt. Eugene Blake, a member of the Laconia Police Department's "flying squadron" testified that Stierle was one of five occupants of a car police approached in a parking lot at the height of the riot. The incident involved some 2,000 motorcycle enthusiasts at Laconia for a long weekend of competition at nearby Loudon.

Alvin Fortson, another member of the flying squadron which swept the resort clean of rioters, said Stierle resisted arrest, was taken out of the car and marched to the Belknap County jail.

Stierle denied the charge. During his testimony he said that he had finished two years at Rutgers University and was planning to enter Mount Clair State College in New Jersey this fall.

KILLED IN CRASH
FORT WORTH (UPI)—A car collided with a truck carrying asphalt killing the driver of the car, Robert Leables, 37, of Clovis, Tex. The truck overturned and burst into flames but driver John T. Burton, of Arlington, escaped without injury.

Seoul Being Restored To Its Government

By PHIL Newsom
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Sivers of glass fell from the dome of Seoul's shell-wracked capitol and powdered the shoulders of Gen. Douglas MacArthur standing bare-headed in the tundra below.

Rolling out over the assemblage of battle-stained soldiers, members of the South Korean government and other dignitaries came the words of the Lord's Prayer.

Sixty-five per cent of Seoul, which now was being restored to its rightful government, lay in ruins.

It was one of those moments of high drama which can come occasionally in a war when men whose emotions are at razor's edge from the strain of battle suddenly are snapped back to a fleeting glimpse of peace.

It was the fall of 1950 and the war against Communist aggression in Korea had been going on for a little more than three months.

Seoul would fall again before the shooting stopped and the capital would know much more of violence before a real start could be made on the painful process of reconstructing buildings and an economy wrecked by war.

The war began June 25, on a Sunday.

It led the United States to reassess its vital interests in Asia and to a defense line which today extends from Korea to South Viet Nam, Laos and Thailand.

Brought Many Changes
For Korea, the intervening years have brought changes and yet no change.

Seoul hums with traffic. New buildings rise on either side. The damaged Capitol long since has been repaired. And there are hopes that the Korean economy is nearing the take-off stage to become self-supporting.

Yet the war itself has not ended, remaining instead in a state of uneasy armistice.

At the truce line a powerful South Korean army of 600,000 backed by Americans stands guard. And at Panmunjom along the truce line Communist and American members of the military armistice commission exchange insults just as they have been doing since 1953. In 12 years, the two sides have met more than 200 times. The end of a divided Korea is nowhere near in sight.

Still, for South Korea things are better.

Gets Big Grant
From the United States, South Korea has received $2.8 billion in direct grants. The five-year plan launched in 1961 by President Park Chung Hee's military government is showing impressive results after a shaky start.

The economic growth rate for the last two years has been close to seven per cent.

Perhaps the greatest hope for new stability in that part of Asia rests with the just-signed agreements which restore diplomatic relations between Japan and Korea after a lapse of 55 years. Japan will help bolster the Korean economy with close to a billion dollars over the next 10 years.

There still are hurdles to overcome. Among the old freedom fighters in Korea there remains a bitter memory of the years of Japanese rule. In Japan strong leftist forces will try to prevent parliamentary ratification. But, balancing credits against debits, things seem a little closer to the hope expressed by MacArthur that day when he recited the Lord's Prayer.

Ben Gurion, Supporters Break With Israeli's Ruling Mapai Party Today

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—Former Premier David Ben-Gurion and his supporters today formally broke away from Israeli's ruling Mapai party. Ben-Gurion offered an independent slate of candidates for November's general election.

The decision reflected a long simmering dispute between Ben Gurion and Levi Eshkol, the man he hand-picked to succeed him two years ago. Ben-Gurion founded the Mapai party in 1930.

The split has its roots in the so-called "Lavon affair," a security case which is still cloaked in mystery. It is reported to have involved a sabotage and espionage ring operated in Egypt by Israel in 1954.

Why Car Stealing Has Become a Cinch in U.S.

By BILL McCORMICK
NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (NEA) — Any thief who can't steal an American automobile in 3½ minutes — without keys — ought to be arrested, according to a practicing professional.

"The auto manufacturers make theft easy," says private detective Ed Wallis. "There is one make on which you can unlock the door by merely slamming your fist against it.

"But on any car there is practically no defense against a pro or clever amateur," continued Wallis, who operates his own business in North Bergen and specializes in "stealing back" cars from all over the continent.

United States for delinquent finance payments.

"Nothing is being done about it except by one manufacturer, whose 1965 models have double-tumbler ignition locks. This makes them more difficult, but not impossible, to pick — and the ignition wiring can still be jumped."

In some European countries auto theft insurance is not valid unless wheels are locked by special devices on parked cars. Wallis believes this might be a good idea over here. He also advocates armor-plating a car's electrical wiring that can be jiggled to start a car. "The way they do cords on public telephones in neighborhoods where people steal receivers just for practice." Steering wheel locks and stamping identification numbers on car bodies instead of putting them on serial plates which can easily be removed also would help, he believes.

"Most thefts are by amateurs who just want a ride," Wallis said. "About 75 per cent of vehicles are found abandoned, usually not far from where they were stolen.

"Most professional thefts are not for resale, but for parts. A crooked garage man will pass the word that he wants fenders for a blue '65 Caddy. The pros will wait until they spot such a car, steal it and deliver it to the garage where not only the fenders, but everything else that isn't serialized is removed."

Wallis admits that manufacturers stamp hidden marks on certain parts of their cars for identification, but refuses to say what or where they are.

Greatest losses are in commercial trailers, which are hoisted not for the vehicle, but for the load.

"These are grabbed on order," said Wallis. "Advance arrangements have been made, especially when the load is perishable, such as eggs or shrimp."

Under federal law, the FBI can go after any stolen motor vehicle — whatever its value — that crosses a state line. But trailer and its contents must be worth $5,000 or more before the G-men can take hold.

Wallis, who operates with full legal authority, learned his trade from automotive engineers and policemen. The tools he uses were made by the widow of one of the slickest car thieves in the business.

Wallis is licensed to carry a gun, but has only once been forced to use it. He shot it out with a delinquent payee who thought Wallis an illegal thief and opened fire from a window.

In 1964 Wallis and his assistant recovered 2,323 units, including small craft and yachts, which are becoming big items. He belongs to two co-operative organizations — Allied Finance Adjusters Conference and National Finance Adjusters—which blanket the United States, Canada and Mexico.

While being interviewed, Wallis completed recovery of a car purchased in California, from where it had disappeared. Operatives had discovered the purchaser had a girl friend from New Jersey. Wallis was tipped off to be on the lookout. Somehow he learned the girl had an illness that required medication. He had operatives telephone every drug store in the New Jersey area where the girl lived, to ask if the prescription in her name was ready.

The prescription was finally located and picked up — and it gave the address at which the car recovery was made. The man from whom the car was "stolen back" still doesn't know how it happened.

MAYOR QUILTS POST
BOWIE, Tex. (UPI)— Mayor P. J. Scott, who often clashed with councilman on city administration policies, resigned Monday night after a three and one-half month tenure.

The retired pipeline employee won the mayoralty in April, defeating four opponents. Mayor pro tem Lee Wiley Tucker will serve as mayor until a special election is set to fill the office.

Business Highlights

By United Press Int'l national
NEW YORK: Brokers said that the new drop in the stock market this week resulted in some calls on customers for additional margin but that so far the volume of these margin calls is small. The drop Monday of 1.61 per cent in the Dow-Jones industrial average was the sharpest in 19 months.

Several moderately large offerings of new securities and secondary offerings of old securities were postponed because of the drop.

BUFFALO: Fanny Farmer candy shops of Buffalo and Russell Stover candies of Kansas City have called off their proposed merger following the filing of an anti-trust action here by the Justice Department to block the merger.

NEW YORK: International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. announced Tuesday it has dropped the plan to buy Universal Controls, Inc., for about $6 million. No reason was given for the decision.

NEW YORK: President Leonard Goldenson of American Broadcasting - Paramount Theatres, Inc., says some of the rates of Communications Satellite Corp. for use of the Early Bird satellite are "prohibitive." He called for immediate reductions.

NEW YORK: GCA Corp. announced Tuesday to purchase Precision Scientific Co. of Chicago for $10.2 million.

Preliminary agreement was reached by the two companies two months ago.

NEW YORK: Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. announced Tuesday it has tentatively agreed to purchase assets of Simplicity Mfg. Co. for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Details of the acquisition, which requires approval of Allis-Chalmers directors and Simplicity stockholders and directors, are still being worked out. Simplicity's stock is worth about $14.5 million at current market prices.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson Inc. says that during this period of indecision he adheres to a policy of buying South African gold stocks, tobaccos, aerospace issues and long term government bonds.

Clark, Dodge & Co. says no precise measurement of where the present decline will end is possible in this climate of fear. The firm says that under these conditions the trader has no choice but to step aside until the upswing is clearly established.

Standard & Poor's says investment sentiment has deteriorated as a result of the continuing market slump and that, although a technical rebound may well be ahead, it would continue to maintain reserves in investment accounts.

Rent Subsidies Ready to Pass Test in House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democratic leaders were reported today to make concessions in President Johnson's plan for rent subsidies in order to gain the necessary vote for passage.

The controversial plan, part of the administration's four-year $6 billion housing bill, was headed for a crucial vote on the House floor. The outlook for the provision was doubtful. Aside from the rent subsidy provision, the bill has general bipartisan support. Other provisions would provide for additional public housing units, continue low cost loans to stimulate college housing construction and extend government mortgage insurance programs.

Under the bill, the rent subsidies would be limited to families in substandard housing, the handicapped and elderly, and those displaced by slum clearance or highway projects. It has been heavily criticized in debate.

Other congressional news: Baker: The Senate Rules Committee went into closed session to give formal approval to its second and final report on its investigation of the business affairs of Bobby Baker, the former secretary to Senate Democrats. The report was said to be highly critical of Baker's activities while he held the post.

Tourists: Negotiators were expected to quickly resolve differences in House and Senate bills which would limit to $100 the amount of duty-free goods tourists are allowed to bring into the country. The bills are seen as a defeat for President Johnson, who asked that the limit be lowered to $50.

Succession: Congress was expected to place the final stamp of legislative approval on a proposed constitutional amendment to set presidential disability procedures and fill vacancies in the vice presidency. Three-fourths of the states must ratify the amendment for it to become effective.

Show Your Colors July 4

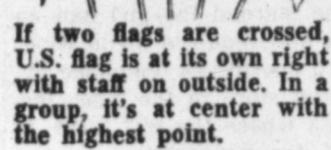

In 1831, William Driver expressed the sentiment of Americans past, present and future when he named the national colors Old Glory. All Americans should fly their flags proudly this Fourth of July—and every other nice day this summer. Here are 10 tips on the proper way to show your colors, as featured in the U.S. Steel News.

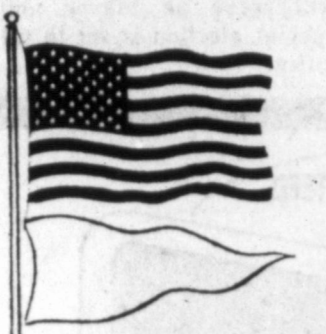

Extended from buildings, union should be away from building and flag should hang flat, not draped.

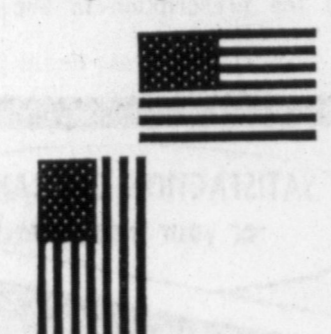

In processions, the flag should be on the marcher's right if there are two flags or in front of the center of a line of flags, shown above.

If two flags are crossed, U.S. flag is at its own right with staff on outside. In a group, it's at center with the highest point.

If flown on same staff with state or city flag or pennant, U.S. flag goes at the top of the standard.

Flag should never be used as decoration. Bunting should be used with the blue at the top.

Racial Tensions Reach Boiling Point in South

BOGALUSA, La. (UPI)—Racial tensions reached the boiling point in this troubled town Tuesday for the first time since early this month.

A white man and a negro teenager were arrested for fighting and a businessman vowed he would file charges against a Negro picket he said he scuffled with in front of his store.

Both incidents happened in the business district, where Negroes have been picketing stores protesting alleged job discrimination.

Bogalusa had been quiet since the June 2 night rider slaying of a negro deputy sheriff on a state highway north of here. Another deputy was wounded.

Federal, state, parish and city law enforcement officers are pushing an intensive search for the killers.

One man, Ernest McElveen, a paper mill laboratory technician, was arrested the night of the slaying and charged with murder. He was released on $25,000 bond. There have been no further arrests.

Ervin Blackburn, 32, a white man, and Laverne Bell, 17, a Negro picket were arrested Tuesday for rioting. Police did not say what caused the fight. Blackburn was released on $300 bond. Bell remained in jail.

L. D. Lane, a drug store operator, charged a Negro picket broke his spectacles and pushed him against a plate glass window, breaking it.

Lane said the picket, identified as John Singleton, jostled him as he left the store. He said he and Singleton wrestled and he was pushed against the window.

Lane said his brother came out of the store armed with a baseball bat and the Negro fled.

Michael Jones, a Congress of Racial Equality task force worker, said two men attacked Singleton and one of them struck the picket with a small bat.

Jones also reported six shots were fired outside the home of Fletcher Anderson, a Negro, early Tuesday. He said the shots came after a group of white men, allegedly posing as policemen, banged on Fletcher's door and demanded that he come outside.

Police chief Claxton Knight said investigators could not find any sign of a disturbance and the occupants of the house refused to be questioned.

Soviets Ready To Increase Aid in Viet Nam

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Alexei Kosygin declared the Soviet Union is prepared to increase its military aid to North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong. He predicted a Communist victory in the Viet Nam war.

Kosygin accused the Johnson administration of appropriating the policy of former Sen. Barry Goldwater. He said Washington is not sincere in its appeals for peace in Viet Nam "because it goes on with the bombing."

The Soviet premier, in a speech to graduates of Moscow's International Patrice Lumumba University, made an indirect plea to Communist China to forget the differences dividing Peking and Moscow and unite in a common front in Viet Nam.

He accused the Chinese of trying to split the Communist bloc by seeking "racial unity" instead. Many of the students are Africans and Asians.

There was little in Kosygin's speech to indicate a change in Kremlin caution over Viet Nam.

But Kosygin hinted at a possible new Soviet commitment when he said:

"The Soviet Union will render all-round assistance to the Vietnamese people... American military circles will have to take into account an increased aid and support to Viet Nam on behalf of the Soviet people and the entire Socialist community."

"This is the duty of all peoples who are proud of freedom and independence. Viet Nam is the front line of the struggle against colonialism."

Kosygin said Moscow "fully supports" the North Vietnamese demands that U.S. bombing of the north end, that the Geneva conference rules be applied, that American troops and weapons leave Viet Nam and the "people of Viet Nam have the chance to decide their fate for themselves."

The Johnson administration, he said, has "appropriated the policy of the right wing and of Goldwater."

FLOODS HIT IRAN
TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Flash floods caused by torrential rains and hail storms have killed six persons in the northwestern province of Azerbaijan and devastated about 25 villages, police said Tuesday.

In 1932, the governor of New York, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was nominated for the presidency by the Democrats meeting in Chicago.

U.S. Ends Fiscal 1965 Only $3.6 Billion in Red

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fiscal 1965 ended today with Uncle Sam expected to be about $3.6 billion in the red—the smallest budget deficit in five years. Officials estimated that federal spending for the budget year which began last July 1 would probably run about $96.6 billion with revenues of about $93 billion.

But they cautioned that officials figures would not be available until the third week in July. Last minute buying or tax collections could put the final reckoning up or down by as much as a few hundred million dollars.

No one was willing to say for sure when the budget would be balanced, although President Johnson has promised "steady progress" toward erasing the red ink.

Doing away with the deficit will depend on such things as the war in Viet Nam and the need for more tax cuts or more federal spending to stimulate the economy, administration officials said Tuesday.

A deficit of $3.6 billion would represent the best budget performance since fiscal 1960 when the government closed its books with a $1.2 billion surplus.

It would be a $1.3 billion improvement over what the President originally estimated in January, when he first sent his fiscal 1965 budget to Congress.

The better showing is due entirely to reduced spending by various government agencies, particularly the Defense Department. Johnson's original spending estimated was $97.9 billion, but this was cut steadily as the year progressed.

The $700 million that Johnson asked — and Congress granted — in May to step up the war in Viet Nam will show up mostly in fiscal 1966, which begins Thursday, Budget Bureau sources said.

U.S., Israel Sign Convention to Avoid Double Taxation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and Israel Tuesday signed a convention for avoidance of double taxation and for encouragement of international trade and development.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who signed for the United States, said U.S.-Israeli relations were "very intimate and very important to both of us."

He said the convention should help stimulate trade and investment.

Ambassador Avraham Harman signed for Israel at the State Department ceremony. He said the convention was a "further expression of growing relations between our two countries."

It eliminates taxation by both countries on the same income. The convention still must be ratified by the U.S. Senate.

Conference With Herman's Hermits Wasn't Dull

By BILL BYERS
 NEW YORK (NEA)—To newspapermen who have to suffer through them, press conferences can be pretty dull and particularly so if the subjects of the conferences couldn't care less.

One such conference was called the other day in the upper reaches of a midtown Manhattan Hotel. The piece de resistance: Herman's Hermits.

The Hermits are an agreeable quintet of youngsters from Birmingham, England, who've just completed a seven-week tour of the country and made nearly one million dollars.

So a combination farewell breakfast-press conference was called to celebrate the Hermits' fortune. It was a top-secret affair. At least it was until 100 young ladies somehow discovered the Hermits' hotel and began combing the building's 22 floors in search of the chaps.

Naturally, they were able to find the room where the fete was to be held, so the room was quickly changed, possibly to avoid a riot.

A barricade of tables was set up in the hall to thwart any youngster armed with autograph book and strong vocal chords.

"Gee, whiz," said one annoyed 16-year-old blonde, who was stopped. "I live here. You would think I was a criminal or something."

The "guards" (press agents hired by the Hermits) let her pass, but kept a surly eye on her to make sure she did go to her room and not their room.

Already inside the sanctum sanctorum were a host of other agents (lacquered-haired ladies and tweedy-suited Madison Avenue types), assorted hired photographers, and a buffet table overflowing with stacks of cups, a self-service coffee urn, and a platter of pastries.

But no reporters.

Sharply at 10 a.m., four Hermits slipped into the room. In immaculately pressed suits with their hair carefully combed, they were chipper but quiet as they wandered over to the urn and began lighting up cigarettes.

The silence was broken when their leader, Peter Blair Denis Bernard Noone, better known as Herman, bounced into the room. A cheerful 17-year-old, with a flashing set of teeth, he arrived with a glowing report on the Broadway musical, "The Roar of the Greasepaint. The Smell of the Crowd," which he had seen the evening before.

But at 10:30, when still none of the press had arrived, he began sorting through his mail, which had gone to the wrong hotel. He was terribly excited that some penpal, on Surf Brig New Jersey whom he had never met, had fallen in love with him.

Around 10:40, Harvey Lisberg, the Hermits' discoverer and manager, squirmed. "Where are they?" he asked, looking at his watch.

"I better check. Maybe the hotel didn't tell them about the room switch," said Connie de Nave, heard of the press agent pack. She had been squirming for some time and immediately enlisted her assistant to start making a round of telephone calls.

"Why don't we hold our own press conference?" asked the enterprising Peter. "The first question: What do you think of the Beatles?"

This brought a wave of snickers from the other Hermits.

"Can you imagine that five grown men can't find a hotel room," said an annoyed Miss de Nave.

Nobody could.

But shortly before 11, there was a sigh. Three reporters straggled in. They all confessed they had trouble in discovering the "new" secret room. None was scolded, and the reporters began their work as they sipped cold coffee.

The cliched questions began to flow.

Burglar Needs A Lesson on Trucks

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI)—Police today were seeking a burglar who apparently needs lessons in how to drive a truck.

Officers said the burglar broke into a nursery late Monday night and loaded one of its trucks with $200 worth of lawn furniture. Then he tried to back the truck from the nursery with the following results:

- Backed into the rear gate which he'd forgotten to open.
- Smashed the sides of two apartment buildings along a narrow alley, jolting tenants awake. One tenant leaped on the truck and tried to grab the ignition keys, but fell off, sustaining cuts and bruises.
- Sideswiped nine parked cars.
- Plowed through a cement block fence.
- Damaged equipment at a swimming pool, where the truck finally halted inches away from the pool.

The burglar fled on foot, leaving behind the $300 worth of lawn furniture and an estimated $15,000 in damaged property.

Pampa Reservists Arrive for Two Weeks Training

NORTH FORT HOOD—Army Reservists from the Pampa area have arrived here to begin two weeks of annual active duty military training with the 90th Infantry Division.

The Pampa unit—A Battery, 76th Artillery is under the command of Captain Billie C. Cooper, who is Asst. Principle at Pampa High School.

The citizen-soldiers are a part of the 90th Infantry Division's nearly 6500 men who leave civilian jobs for two weeks each year to increase their military skills and to maintain combat readiness in the nation's reserve forces.

The division returns to home stations in 39 Texas cities on July 10.

A Battery's training will be primarily at the platoon level, with both enlisted men and officers brushing up on their ability to operate as a team under simulated, but realistic combat conditions.

A highlight of the summer encampment will be the concentration of the division's entire artillery firepower in an overall tactical exercise, conducted in conjunction with routine range firing.

The 90th Infantry Division, commanded by Major General Robert H. Travis of San Antonio, wears the famous red and green "TO" shoulder patch. The insignia was adopted when the late Lieutenant General Raymond S. McLain called the division's troops "Tough 'Ombres" during World War II combat.

Negro Leader Urges Maids, Farmers Be Placed Under Federal Wage Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Negro leader urged Congress to place maids and farm hands under a federal minimum wage law to require pay of $2 an hour.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) testified before a House Labor subcommittee. He said the law's protection "must be extended to one of the most cruelly used groups in the land — who work long hard hours at back-breaking or menial jobs and who are nevertheless poor."

"We must end the immoral situation under which we define poverty as a family income of $3,000 a year or less and then legalize a minimum wage which pays a man $2.00 for 52 weeks of labor," Mitchell said. "We should raise the minimum wage to $2."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Not long ago, my mother-in-law confided to some friends that whenever she was visiting in my home she sometimes got the impression that I was stalking her.

I would, she reported, silently approach her from the rear and then suddenly circle around in front of her to ask a question or impart some information in which she might be interested.

She said she found this behavior both curious and not a little disconcerting. It made her wonder whether I might be getting a bit flakey with the onset of middle age.

If so, she felt my wife and children should be alerted.

When the report got back to me, I knew at once to what she was referring. Briefly stated, the situation is this:

Despite having been married some 15 years, I have never been able to devise a suitable means of addressing my mother-in-law.

Relies On Maneuvers
 As a result, I resort to certain maneuvers to get her attention so that I do not have to call her by name.

I had not previously mentioned this problem because I figured that it stemmed from a personality quirk that was uniquely my own and that nobody else could understand.

But the other evening at a dinner party the conversation somehow touched on his point and I was relieved to discover that a lot of other people apparently have the same mental block.

Four of the six guests present confessed that they, too, are at a loss as to what to call their parents-in-law and consequently do not call them any-

Some Too Formal

The consensus was that "Mr." and "Mrs." sound too formal for such a relationship. Given names are too informal. "Mom" and "Dad" are too intimate, and "Hey, you" lacks respect.

SMALL BOX, BIG APETITE — Small boys and baby elephants have many things in common, including constant hunger. Here Kenny Scavare, of Washington, D. C., finds that even a boxed pachyderm can put away the peanuts. The baby elephant, a 400-pounder, is a star performer in carnivals staged at shopping centers and had just arrived in town to do his act.

BABY DOLL BEAUTIES — When Moslem morals ruled out the use of swim suits for this year's Miss Malaysia contest, held in Kuala Lumpur, the local chamber of commerce acted quickly to save the day by ordering baby doll outfits for the contestants. The winner was Patricia will represent her country in the Miss Universe Alice Woon, left, was second with Clara De Run third. Patricia will represent her country in the Miss Universe contest. Nobody missed the swim suits.

SENIOR DIVISION WINNERS — Miss Phyllis Atwood, left, is pictured in the dress she made and modeled at the 4-H Gray County Dress Revue last Friday, for which she received first place in the senior division. On the right is Miss Cathy Wilkie who was named alternate to the first place winner. The girls will represent Gray County in the 4-H District Dress Revue to be held July 20 in Amarillo.

Gray County 4-H Dress Revue Winners Named

Forty-six 4-H girls entered the Gray County 4-H Dress Revue held Friday.

Miss Phyllis Atwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Atwood, 709 Magnolia, was top scoring individual in the senior division and will represent Gray County in the District Dress Revue on July 20 at Holiday Inn in Amarillo. Miss Cathy Wilkie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilkie, 609 Sloan, will be senior alternate to district.

Miss Judy Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Saunders of McLean was top scoring individual in the junior division and will model her garment at the District Dress Revue. Juniors are not contestants at district. Miss Lisa Friend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Friend of Pampa, will alternate in junior division.

The 4-H girls entered their garments in one of four groups. Those entering in Group I receiving blue ribbons were Misses Dianne Nicholl, Linda Couts, Vanessa Cisum, Linda Florence, Rena Mashburn, Jan Florence, Mary Breazeale, Marcella Brooks, Joan Barton, Vicky Moore, Shauna White, Debra Goss, Jonne Duncan, Jeanne Duncan, Janice Duncan, Kay Upshaw, Lu Nan and Sue Ann Wigington, Regina Lamb and Marilyn McMillen. Those receiving red ribbons were Misses Marilyn Couts, Stephanie Smith and Cara Thomas.

Those entering in Group II receiving blue ribbons were Misses Kathy Taylor, Jenny Lee, Marva Rowan, Susan Higginbotham and Lisa Friend. Those receiving red ribbons were Misses Terri Daniel, Suzan Hunt, Delia Holman, Cindy Ritcher and Brenda Richter.

Group III blue ribbon winners were Misses Sandra Cook, Judy Saunders, Judy Cox and Mignon Nickel. Miss Deanne Benefiel and Miss Toni Willoughby received red ribbons. The senior division was made up of 4-H members 14 years of age by January 1. Those receiving blue ribbons were Misses Phyllis Atwood and Cathy Wilkie. Red ribbon winners were Misses Cynthia Hogsett, Wilona Chisum, Joyce Saunders and Shirley Cook.

Guests from Canadian were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Studer, Frank Shaller and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shaller.

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Is the trend toward early marriage at last beginning to taper off?

Information released by the Bureau of the Census indicates it is. Last year the median marrying age for men was 23.1—higher than any time since the early 1950s.

Why are America's young men beginning to hold out a little longer against marriage? I would say there are at least three good reasons.

One: We have been getting a lot of information about school dropouts and what happens to them in the labor market. It's not good. Today any young fellow with a grain of sense can see for himself that dropping out of high school to marry Sweet Sue will make his future pretty bleak.

Two: A lot of young men who married before they were old enough to vote, just a few years ago, are serving as a frightening example right now of how too early marriage handicaps a young man. Too many of them are working hard at small jobs, burdened by debt, looking older than they should because at the time of life when they should be getting married they are all ready supporting a wife and several children.

Three: We are at last getting the idea across to young men while they are still in high school that they are going to need a lot more education than a man had to have even a generation ago to compete successfully in tomorrow's world. Those who give any thought at all to their own futures realize that the time to get all the education they can is before marriage—not after it.

Now if we can just keep on pointing out these three important points to young men who are still in high school and those just beginning their college careers, maybe the next five years will see the median marriage age upped still further.

One more thing would help a lot to bring this about. And that is for fathers to make it quite clear to their young sons that once they marry they are financially on their own. That takes a lot of the glamor out of the prospect of early marriage.

Area Girl Scouts Comprise Patrol Attending July Senior GS Roundup

The 1965 Girl Scout Senior Roundup will be held in Farragut, Idaho, July 15-28. It is the fourth major national-international encampment sponsored by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. The last one was in 1962, in Vermont; the one before, in 1959, in Colorado; and in 1956, in Michigan.

In a period of two days, 9,000 Senior Scouts and 2,000 adult staff members will set up their tent city on a 5,600-acre site—the former Farragut Naval Training Station. They will come from every state in the United States and from 40 countries in the free world to turn a wilderness clearing into the seventh largest community in Idaho.

Senior Scouts will arrive in patrols of eight girls. Each patrol pitches its tent next to three other patrols (each from a different part of the U.S.) to form a camp. In each camp there will be two troops containing international visitors. The living is primitive—no hot water, heat or electricity. The campers will sleep in sleeping bags and prepare their meals over charcoal stoves. The 9,000 Senior Girl Scouts will attend Roundup at a selected group of highly qualified Seniors. They are girls who have proven themselves in many areas including leadership, camping skill, resourcefulness, ability to get along well with others and to work successfully in a group.

In the heart of a 5,000-acre site, with the Bitterroot Mountains as a backdrop, the Girl Scout Roundup will be alive with color, music, pageantry, and the simple pleasures of living in the out-of-doors. From reveille at 7 a. m. to taps at 10:30 p. m., the girls' day will be filled with fascinating things to see and do.

Campers and visitors alike may take a daily stroll into the past as the history of the Northwest is brought to life with displays, exhibits and demonstrations in the rendezvous area. An authentic Indian village, a replica of a Lewis and Clark explorers' camp, displays of frontier life, including reproductions of Old Fort Sherman, a fur trader's cabin, a chuck wagon where cooks will bake sourdough bread, and a shepherd's camp will be among the hundreds of attractions.

TOPS Club Is Formed in Lefors

A TOPS Club was organized in Lefors on June 18 with nine interested ladies attending the organizational meeting.

Members of the Mobeetie TOPS Clubs, the Tops Square-shooters, were present to help the Lefors members organize the new club. Attending from Mobeetie were Mmes. Georgia Corse, Margaret Trout and Dorothy Nixon, charter members of the Mobeetie group.

Officers elected to serve the Lefors club were Mrs. Betty Read, leader; Mrs. Freddie Cody, vice leader; Mrs. Betty Lou Jackson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Vada Smith, weight recorder, and Mrs. Catherine Beck, recreation leader.

Those present voted to hold meetings at 7 p. m. the second and fourth Tuesday of each month in the homes of members.

Any lady in the Lefors area interested in losing weight is invited to visit or become a member of the newly organized TOPS, which means Take Off Pounds Sensibly.

VARIATION ON THEME:
This lunch main dish is a variation of the chipped beef in cream sauce recipe standard in many a household. Combine 2 cans (11 oz.) of condensed cheddar cheese soup and 2 cups of milk in a medium-sized saucepan. Cook over low heat to the boiling point, stirring frequently. Stir in two packages (3½ oz. each) of dried beef, shredded. Serve as topping for 12 buttered and toasted shredded wheat biscuits. Yield, 6 servings.

Tack down curling linoleum edges with a staple gun.

Pampa Women And Their Professions

OFFICE MANAGER — Miss Evelyn Mason, county office manager for Gray County Agriculture Stabilization Conservation Service, is today's subject of a Women's Page picture features series of Pampa women engaged in various professional categories. Miss Mason first became employed in the ASCS office, which is controlled by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, in 1942 and assumed her present managerial position in 1945. Purpose of the ASCS office is the administration of farm programs enacted by the U.S. Congress. Miss Mason, a member of the Altru Club of Pampa and of Mary Ellen and Harvester Street Church of Christ, is shown holding an aerial map of a Gray County farm, showing by field the acreage planted in various crops, and the acreage in the soil bank, what is pasture and what is cropland, are on file in the ASCS office.

Rotary Mower Will Handle Most Jobs

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Power mower designs get better looking each season. However, you will clip yourself if you purchase a mower primarily for its handsome chassis.

When buying a power mower, concentrate on safety and workability more than looks.

If your lawn is typical—you will want to shop for a rotary-type mower that is an all-around gardening tool. The reel-type mower (discussed in a previous article) is for fine lawns, trimmed for formal or semi-formal appearance.

A good source of information in your community is the nurseryman or lawn maintenance expert. He can fill you in on grass characteristics in your region and the problems the power mower you buy must overcome.

When buying a rotary power mower, Dr. James R. Watson, director of the agronomy division of a Minneapolis firm (Toro), suggests you check the mower for handling. Handles should be adjustable and changes in cutting height easy to make. For maximum safety, the rotary blade should be completely covered so feet and fingers can't touch the blade when the engine is running. If there is an ejection chute, it should deflect downward.

The Mature Parent Self-Centered Adults Insist on Baby's Kiss

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My husband's mother had complained to him about our little boy's refusal to kiss her. He is 2½ years old. She thinks I have put him against her because he tries to pull away from her when she hugs him and asks for a kiss. I do not think he remembers who she is and is frightened when she grabs him. But I can't tell her this as it would offend her more. How can I explain why he pulls away from here without offending her?

Answer: I don't think you can. Growups who insist that babies and small children express affection by kissing them are just too self-centered to take in any explanation of the children's recoil. Because they express affection by kissing, they think that everybody else in the world has to express it this way, too. But everybody doesn't. As there exist many different ways of expressing affection from rubbing noses and shaking hands to exchanging ceremonial sticks, babies also express it differently from the way your mother-in-law does. They show it by climbing up on you, delivering into your pocketbook and bringing you broken toys.

Perhaps you can assuage your mother-in-law's wounded feelings by suggesting that she let your baby explore her pocketbook and making the point of his delightful interest in her possessions. We parents allow babies and small children to be coerced into exchanging kisses with people because we feel kissed ourselves. That is why campaigning politicians travel around kissing babies. They can't go about kissing the mothers of the babies in order to convince them that they are the man for the job. So they kiss the babies as substitutes for the mothers and the mothers feel so gratified by this indirect osculation that they vote for the campaigning politicians.

But what the babies feel about their obligation to smooch with the politicians in order to confer this indirect gratification on their mothers is something nobody ever thinks about.

We do not really enjoy kissing until we are some years older than your baby — and then it's not grandma we enjoy kissing. On this subject the noted child psychoanalyst Dr. Bruno Bettelheim writes, "Kissing gives the baby an image of pleasure which is far ahead of his age." Babies and small children recoil from kissing adults because they sense that we are concerned, not with their gratification, but with our own.

That alligator bag, long a status symbol worn with daytime clothes, now goes into the cocktail and evening field. One manufacturer shows it in an approximate five-by-seven-inch size in black. The same firm says the smaller handbag, instead of the outside totes, is gaining in popularity with women for daytime. (Coblentz, New York.)

The Mimosa trees (Albizia Julibrissin) are nearing their most beautiful stage now with their masses of pink and red powder-puff like blooms. The Mimosa tree near the swimming pool at the Coronado Inn is very attractive.

Keep the vine branches of the Wisteria tree cut back as they develop in order to keep a well-shaped tree. Some of the Wisteria trees are producing their second succession of blooms already.

The Phillips Service Station operator on N. Hobart is to be commended for adding a touch of fresh flowers to his business establishment. Petunias have been planted in two planter boxes in the front of the station. Some of the better varieties of Phlox are in bloom now. Phlox is a beautiful, colorful and hardy plant for gardens. Its showy blooms are in tones of red, pink, violet, blue, buff and white. Mrs. Francis King, noted gardener and garden writer says "Phlox bloom by the calendar. Each variety comes into bloom on very nearly the same day every year. Having kept records on a large collection for several years, I can vouch for the accuracy of this statement."

The small brown dots which appear on the under side of leaves of Snapdragons is rust. The book "10,000 Garden Questions Answered" says "Snapdragon rust cannot be killed but dusting with sulfur or ferbam will help prevent new infections. Remove and burn diseased plants and try to replant in a new location. By far the easiest way to control this disease is to purchase rust-resistant varieties."

Because plants grow and change from day to day, they can hold a child's interest longer than the most elaborate toy. So why not share nature with your child? Many indoor plants are simple enough for small children to grow with little guidance. A real satisfaction can result by planting vegetables bought for your own table. Among the most popular "vegetable vines" is the sweet potato. Place a fresh sweet potato, narrow end down, in a water-filled jar or glass whose top is small enough to hold the potato half in and half out of the water. Set this in a warm dark place, adding more water as needed, until roots sprout. Then place in the sunlight, and a lovely plant should result.

A carrot will yield another type of plant. Cut two or three inches from the thick, leafy end. Put a layer of pebbles in a shallow bowl and set the piece of carrot on them, cut end down. Hold it steady with more pebbles, then add water until the pebbles are almost covered. In a few days feathery delicate leaves will begin to grow.

The leafy top of a pineapple fruit will form roots if set in soil and kept moist. Leave a small amount of the fruit on the base to insert into the soil.

The three inches of rain kept the garden club women from working in the park last Friday, but they will be out working this Friday at 8:30 a. m. in Yeager and Starkweather Park. Since only three or four garden club women ever come out to work, "outsiders" are invited to come and help in a worthwhile effort. It is hoped that some day our city can hire enough men to do all these little jobs but until that day, do come and join us. You may be glad you did.

WSCS Circle Has Meeting in Canadian

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. John Chambers was hostess to the Mary Martha Circle of First Methodist Church when they met recently in Fellowship Hall of the church. The group is studying the Book of Proverbs. Mrs. Chambers served homemade cookies and cakes. Those present were Mrs. John Whitsitt, Danny Urschel, Myrl Powers, Arden Ranson and the hostess.

Glass fibers do not absorb water and therefore dry rapidly. They do not wrinkle and rarely need pressing.

Dear Abby... Daughter Needs Mother's Love and Understanding

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can tell us what to do. Three years ago our daughter ran away and got married. We didn't try to stop her although we wanted so much for her to get married in a church, but he didn't believe in church weddings. He promised her that if they had any children they would be baptized in her religion. Three months ago they had a baby and so far nothing has been said about baptizing it. Our friends tell us we should disown our daughter, but how can people disown their own flesh and blood? We know the husband has no intention of keeping his promise and we are just sick over it. All I do is cry, Abby. I can't disown my daughter. It isn't her fault. What should I do?

HEARTBROKEN
DEAR HEARTBROKEN: The problem is clearly your daughter's. If she cannot persuade her husband to have the baby baptized, why make her even more miserable by making an issue of it? Of course you shouldn't disown her. Wall off that episode in your daughter's young marriage and help her make the most of what is left.

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary who has been working in the same office for many years. The messenger boy has been here almost as long as I. (He's not really a "boy"—he's a man.) He has frequently done small favors for me in addition to doing his routine office errands. He would never accept money, so I have given his children little gifts on various occasions. Now this messenger boy has invited me to spend Sunday at his home with his family. Don't get me wrong, I am not snobbish, but I hate the idea of spending one of my precious Sundays with the messenger boy and his family. I have nothing in common with his wife, and I have a hundred things I'd rather do on Sundays. On the other hand, I hate to hurt his feelings. Any suggestions on how to refuse?

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: Don't say that you have a previous engagement, or he will only ask you for your next "Free" Sunday. Tell him in a gentle way that your Sundays belong to your family and close friends whom you aren't able to see during the week. Be kind, but final.

DEAR ABBY: A question came up recently at a gathering of women, and I would like your opinion.

A friend of ours has a niece who has a baby. Whenever anyone sends the thank-you note as though it were written by the baby. ("I just love the darling little blue sweater you gave me. It just matches my eyes," etc.) The friend thinks this is just too coy and therefore not in very good taste. What do you think?

FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: I think the spirit and promptness of the thank-you note covers all essentials of good taste.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for the "lift" your column always gives me. I have been a widow for 40 years. My only child suffered a nervous breakdown 18 years ago, and she is in an institution, but she is allowed to come home for a visit every once in a while. She is a beautiful, bright young woman, but too mentally disturbed to live at home. When I hear people say they have trouble, I say to myself, "They don't know what trouble is." You may print this if you wish. I know you don't print names. Sign me...
"FAITH AND HOPE"
DEAR FAITH AND HOPE: Thank you for your letter. It's letters like yours that remind us how lucky most of us are. God bless you and your daughter.

Mrs. Jim Bayless Is Shower Honoree

CANADIAN (Spl) — A pink and blue shower was held recently in the home of Mrs. Frank Cook honoring Mrs. Jim Bayless. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Harry Haines, Mrs. Warren Harrington, Mrs. Hollene Lard and Mrs. Nadine Morris. Refreshments were served from a table decorated in the stork motif. The honoree was presented with a corsage fashioned from a miniature baby doll surrounded with net, ribbons and bows with tiny baby bottles attached.

Reliever Sammy Ellis Goes 14 Frames in Vain

By United Press International
Ever since Sammy Ellis won a game last week by pitching to only one batter, he's had nothing but trouble.

Ellis won his "cheapie" against the Chicago Cubs June 20 in a ninth-inning relief stint and the 24-year-old Cincinnati righthander has been toiling overtime steadily since then.

The jinx was trouble enough when Ellis was forced to go 11 innings before beating Milwaukee 3-1 last Friday.

But it reached ridiculous proportions Tuesday night when he hurled 14 innings against Pittsburgh, allowing only four hits, striking out 10 and scoring the Reds' only run. And he didn't receive a decision for his efforts.

Split Doubleheader
The Pirates won the marathon in the 16th inning when Roberto Clemente singled home Bob Bailey with the deciding tally for a 2-1 verdict. The Reds bounced back to win the nightcap of the two-night doubleheader 7-5.

The National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers snapped their three-game losing streak by hammering the San Francisco Giants 9-3, Milwaukee outslugged New York 8-6, Philadelphia drubbed St. Louis 7-1, and Houston at Chicago was postponed by rain.

McCool Takes Loss
Billy McCool (5-5), who hurled the final 1-2-3 innings in relief of Ellis, was the victim of Clemente's decisive blow and Don Schwall, who worked three frames, was the winner.

Ellis pitched magnificently, holding the Pirates hitless until Bill Mazeroski doubled off the left centerfield wall with one out in the seventh inning. Gene Alley walked but Ellis fanned pinchhitter Jerry Lynch and induced Bob Friend to rap into a force play.

Friend blanked the Reds for 10 innings on a yield of six hits before being replaced by Al McBean in the 11th.

Pete Rose drove in three runs with a triple and a single and winning pitcher Joe Nuxhall plated two more with a single in a five-run fifth inning which decided the nightcap and sent Joe Gibbon down to his sixth loss in eight decisions. Gene Alley and Donn Clendenon each drove across two runs for the Pirates.

Koufax Wins 13th
Ellis was striving to match Sandy Koufax as the winningest pitcher in the major leagues. Koufax earlier in the day registered his 13th triumph, fanning 10 or more batters for the 70th time in his career.

Johnny Roseboro and Jim Gilliam drove in eight runs between them in support of Koufax, who gave up eight hits. Roseboro had a three-run homer and a bases-loaded single and Gilliam contributed a two-run roundtripper and a run-scoring single as the Dodgers routed Giants' starter Bob Shaw.

Bo Belinsky pitched a six-hitter. Dick Stuart belted a three-run homer and Johnny Callison and Tony Gonzalez also connected against loser Bob Purkey (5-6) and reliever Ray Saadecki of the Cards. Cookie Rojas added three hits and scored twice for the Phillies.

Frank Bolling, Eddie Matthews, Gene Oliver and Hank Aaron powered home runs for the Braves, who sent former teammate Warren Spahn down to his seventh consecutive loss and 11th in 15 decisions. Bob Sadowki (5-3), the second of five Milwaukee pitchers was the winner. Billy Cowan and Jim Hickman homered for the Mets.

Senate Wants Boxing Czar

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate judiciary subcommittee which investigated the two Lipton-Clay heavyweight championship fights has drafted legislation to set up a federal boxing czar on a five-year trial basis.

The panel Tuesday sent the measure to the full committee without recommendation. It approved a companion measure that would exempt from anti-trust laws player drafts in pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

The bill also would write into law a flat ban on the televising of any pro football which would conflict with local high school games. This would virtually eliminate any televised professional games on Friday nights and Saturdays between the second week in September until the second week of December.

A subcommittee source said he saw two possible conflicts should the law become effective this year.

No Yanks In Star Lineup

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brooks Robinson of Baltimore was the only repeater on the American League's starting All-Star team named today by a vote of players.

For the first time in two decades, no member of the New York Yankees will be in the opening lineup.

Robinson, the league's Most Valuable Player in 1964, collected 170 votes as starting third baseman. Catcher Earl Battey of Minnesota received the most applause from fellow players with 202 votes, and he will be making his third appearance against the National League when the 36th All-Star game is played at Minneapolis-St. Paul on July 13.

First baseman Bill Skowron of Chicago also drew his sixth assignment when he polled 126 votes, while Rocky Colavito of Cleveland was named to the Stars for the fifth time on the basis of his 166 votes.

There are four newcomers to All-Star competition — second baseman Felix Mantilla of Boston, who had 180 votes for his position; shortstop Dick McAuliffe of Detroit, (133) left fielder Willie Horton (198) of Detroit and center fielder Vic Davalillo (185) of Cleveland.

The alternates and their votes as selected by 280 players who were eligible to cast ballots in this year's voting:

C. Elston Howard, New York (38); 1B, Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota (108); 2B, Bobby Richardson, New York (56); 3B, Max Alvis, Cleveland (79); SS, Zoilo Versalles, Minnesota (68); LF, Carl Yastrzemski, Boston (44); CF, Jimmie Hall, Minnesota (72); RF, Al Kaline, Detroit (99).

Detroit and Cleveland each placed two players in the starting lineup, while Baltimore, Minnesota, Chicago and Boston had one apiece. In the alternates, Minnesota had three, New York two, Cleveland, Boston and Detroit one each.

Washington, Kansas City and Los Angeles failed to place a member on the "players" team.

Alvis Hits Tribe Into AL 1st Place

By United Press International
One year ago today Max Alvis was battling for his life in a Boston hospital against spinal meningitis.

Today he learned that he had been voted to the American League All-Star second team for 1965.

The gritty Cleveland Indians' third baseman has achieved a remarkable comeback from a disease which threatened his career. Yet he almost has been forgotten among the list of Cleveland batting stars like Rocky Colavito, Leon Wagner and Vic Davalillo.

The Indians climbed into sole possession of first place Tuesday night with an 8-5 triumph over the Red Sox in Boston and Alvis was the slugging hero. He homered, doubled and singled, stole a base, scored two runs and drove in two.

Minnesota took over second, a half game behind the Indians, by beating Chicago 7-6, while Washington edged New York 2-1 and Baltimore tripped Detroit 3-2 in the only other AL games scheduled.

Alvis is a "battler," according to his Manager Bridie Tebbets, who characterizes the husky 27-year-old Texan as "the one guy I never want to face in any fight."

And Alvis probably won't be satisfied with being the "second best" third baseman in the league even though he is taking a back seat to MVP Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles, the only repeater from last year's All-Star starting team.

14th Homer
Alvis' home run was his 14th, moving him into a tie for fourth spot among the AL's top clouters and he is second only

Wilt Becomes Prizefighter?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain, the great scoring star in National Basketball Association history, reportedly is ready to end his pro basketball career and become a professional boxer.

The Columbia Broadcasting System reported Tuesday night that the seven-foot, one-inch center for the Philadelphia 76ers will sign a seven-year contract with fight manager-promoter Cus D'Amato within the next two weeks. D'Amato guided former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson to the world title and is an advisor of light-heavyweight titleholder Jose Torres.

Crucial Contest Comes Up

WIMBLEDON (UPI)—Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., the lone United States survivor in the men's competition, today sought his first major tournament victory over Australian Roy Emerson in the climactic semifinal showdown match of the Wimbledon lawn tennis championships.

Ralston, the top-ranked player in the U.S., never has beaten the world's premier amateur in high-level competition and lost to him in both the 1964 Davis Cup challenge round and Pacific Southwest final.

"I'm hoping today will be the turning point," observed Ralston before the match. "And if I get by 'Emmo' I can take the title."

Fred Stolle of Australia, a finalist here for the last two years and seeded second behind Emerson this year, opposed unseeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa in the other semifinal match.

Only one U.S. girl—Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif.—was still alive in the women's division after Tuesday's quarterfinal matches.

Miss Moffitt, runnerup to Margaret Smith in 1963, crushed Lesley Turner of Australia, 6-2, 6-1, to gain a semifinal berth opposite defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil, who breezed past Jane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., 2, 0-2.

The other two U.S. girls to reach the quarter-finals also bowed out. Top-ranked Nancy Richey of Dallas was cut down by Britain's Christine Truman 6-4, 1-6, 7-5, and Miss Smith overwhelmed Justina Bricksa of St. Louis, 6-3, 6-0.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Government

There is a great deal of confusion, and the confusion will probably continue to exist to some degree, in the meaning of the word, "government."

To some "government" means any kind of management.

To others, the same word means a formal body established for the purpose of enacting legislation and of providing a set of rules respecting common behavior.

Still others say that "government" is to provide for the needs and desires of the people. Yet others declare that "government" is only a tool of protection and must not be construed to mean anything else.

The inescapable meaning of the word has to do with control. A "governor" is a controller. Governors are put into corporations to regulate the flow of goods.

Governors are put at the head of states as political figures. Thus, control is specified wherever there are governors or governments.

Straightaway we can see that some kinds of governors or governments are not harmful. Those whose function is managerial only, and whose authority is limited by the property boundaries over which they exercise control rightfully, are no problem.

A governor on a specific engine is helpful. It is helpful because its function relates only to a specific engine. If the installation of a governor over one engine meant automatic curtailment in the operation of all engines, it would be harmful.

The governor of a family is a necessity. Though there may be a perpetual argument as to whether the father or the mother is the real governor, the fact is that the control exercised in either case is limited to the properties and the responsibilities of that one family. Control by the father or mother in a given case, does not transcend the family boundaries, either of property or person.

The governor of a business or separate governors within a business are no problem. Management is an essential. And management is limited to the property involved and to the policies and procedures which are implicit in the single firm. If the management of one firm were imposed over a second firm, the situation would be harmful. The governing body of a fraternity, club or social group is similarly no problem. Once more, the control is limited to the property and the membership of the order. It does not go too far.

Another characteristic of the governors or governing bodies itemized here thus far is that, in each case, voluntary submission to the control of the governor is implicit. A man puts a governor on his own engine. The engine has nothing to say about the matter and the owner acts rightfully.

The head of the family presides over an organization which is voluntary in its fundamental structure. The head of a firm or corporation, or such minor officials who function within it, occupy places of authority deriving rightfully from the ownership of property. And in a club of social order of any sort, admission is obtained on a voluntary basis with the consent of each member.

Beyond these portals, government exists in a political state. And here, the unvoluntary characteristic deals with violation of property rights and involuntary procedures. When we speak of the "government" and refer to a formal or an informal ruling body, which assumes a general power beyond property of its own, or in opposition to the wills of those who find themselves at its mercy, then we are dealing with government in its harmful capacities.

By this recitation we hope that a small amount of the confusion over this word can be dispelled. Orderly procedure is a necessity. Management is a proper function deriving correctly from the authority that is vested in each property owner to control that which he owns. We would like to suggest that in these cases the word "government" be abandoned. Let us simply refer to the process as management, and to those involved in the process as managers, executives, owners or representatives of owners.

But when we find an agency which presumes to act on its own cognizance, not with its voluntary members only, but with property not its own, and with persons who are out of harmony with its procedures, then we have government in fact. This is the kind of imposed government which injures all. The less we have of it, the better.

Your New Dependents

The Administration has the votes to pass its new Housing Bill, which means that we taxpayers over the nation may soon have up to four million more families as dependents. These are the ones who will be eligible for a fantastic new housing subsidy for middle-income families.

Those who will be eligible for the proposed federal payments of part of their rent are not poor. They are earning up to $5,000 a year — or more than $1,000 a week. They will be eligible for the subsidy if they pay a larger percentage of their income for rent or home payments than someone the government thinks is ideal.

We all know that the high wages paid to construction workers under their union contracts have made fine housing at low prices hard to find. But how can we justify using tax money to pay rent for all but the upper-income families? It is the vast number of middle-income families who pay most of the taxes from which such subsidies will have to be paid.

What is to be gained by taxing such families, and then through an elaborate accounting process giving part of the tax money back to them for rent?

Perhaps the secret lies in a conviction in government housing circles that people ought to spend more for homes than they do. If they are denied the right to use this part of their incomes unless it goes for housing, the proportion spent on housing can be raised forcibly.

One thing is sure. Never has a subsidy been devised which so clearly demonstrates the principle that government can only give you what it takes away from you.

Meanings Dictated By Usage

Look out, Mr. Webster! (Or whoever is compiling dictionaries in your name these days.) You may have to change another word meaning. C. A. Bachman of Lancaster County (Penn.) Research Farms pointed out a church Social Reform Committee which may be reading new meaning into the word "marriage."

According to Webster's Third International Dictionary, marriage is "the state of being united to a person of the opposite sex as husband or wife."

After discussion of the subject, the committee reportedly dropped the phrase "male and female" from their statement on marriage and permitted to stand that "people in love may have the right to marry."

Bible-Science Newsletter published in Caldwell, Idaho, asks understandably, "Is this leading to a new social order under 'Christian' sponsorship permitting 'homosexual union' between members of one sex?"

G.O.P. Split Gets Wider And Wider

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — No happy assurances from any quarter can now hide the deep, factional chasm which Barry Goldwater's new conservative group, the Free Society Association, has freshly revealed in the Republican party.

There was worry enough over the earlier forming of other subgroups with either conservative or moderate-to-progressive coloration. This concern was somewhat eased, however, by awareness that many were mere paper outfits unlikely to make a dent.

But Goldwater's group is the breaking straw. Puffed with his prestige, led by a key Goldwater strategist, capable of attracting millions of followers and their dollars, it is seen by veteran party professionals as seriously divisive.

To some political observers, the undertaking seems to promise a not-too-subtle conservative blackmail over party decisions — a reasserting of the dominance the Goldwater forces gained in 1964 and yielded only reluctantly in early 1965 with the ouster of Dean Burch as national chairman.

For Ray Bliss, new national chairman and champion of a united party front, there is painful irony in the newest developments.

Bliss at this moment is earnestly bent, and fairly well-advanced toward giving the national committee the kind of expert technician's renovation it has needed for years.

"Things are worse than I thought," says he.

But he undertook this enterprise only because he was able to persuade himself last January that all factions meant it when they said he was the one man to put them back on a common track after the infighting over Burch.

A few years earlier, Bliss had flatly turned down the chairmanship when he questioned the warmth of support he would get from a certain key moderate leader.

His ironic position today is that of a respected professional busy engaged in modernizing the Republican party's established structure while contending factions are narrowing and cracking wide its foundations.

Bliss clearly is unimpressed by argument that Goldwater's Free Society Association will have no damaging effect on fund-raising or other basic activities of the regular organization. Nor is it accepted that the new group is broadly Republican in character and intent. Its sponsorship alone marks it strictly conservative.

Goldwater says one big aim of the FSA will be to try to persuade many conservatives now threatening to bolt the GOP to stay within the fold. It is felt that some who already have strayed may be lured back from such organizations as the John Birch Society.

But again, the question posed by veteran party professionals is:

"How do you entice these wavering conservatives without, in one way or another, promising them that their viewpoint will be not simply heard but will be decisive in party councils?"

These people openly declare their total disinterest in compromise or accommodation. They enter a party — or stay in it — to rule it.

This is the really big reason why broad range GOP professionals believe that any Goldwater-led group which could capture the allegiance of "true conservatives" could not possibly be representative of the whole party.

It is the reason, too, why the formation of Goldwater's FSA has sent plunging into the chasm the flimsy footbridge erected across it at the January Chicago meeting wherein the warring factions named the now beleaguered Ray Bliss to close the gulf and set them on a winning course.

'Che' Guevara Given Ultimatum by Kremlin, Intelligence Reports — To 'Deliver' Guatemala

WASHINGTON — Ernest "Che" Guevara, top Communist lieutenant of Cuban dictator Fidel Castro, is at another turning point in his revolutionary career.

He must either produce a successful Communist take-over in Guatemala or face the same fate as that of ousted Algerian Premier Ben Bella, who intelligence now believes lost his job for fouling up the Kremlin's attempt to depose Congo's Premier Tshombe.

Guevara's "final chance" was decreed by Soviet leaders when the guerrilla warfare expert failed to pull off Communist take-overs in the Dominican Republic and Brazil.

According to latest intelligence estimates, Guevara is back in Havana after a covert trip to the mountain region of Guatemala, where he met with local Communist guerrilla leaders to map plans for a step-up in their attacks.

The one-time Argentine physician and close henchman of Castro was given the Guatemalan mission by Sergei Mikoyan, son of Anastas I. Mikoyan, Soviet chief of state, who brought the orders from Moscow when he visited Havana earlier this month.

Mikoyan met with Guevara, Castro and a six-man delegation of the Italian Communist Party, which now has a major role in subverting Latin America.

The Italian group was led by Mario Alicata, member of his party's secretariat and national directorate, and editor-in-chief of the Italian Communist Party organ L'Unita of Rome.

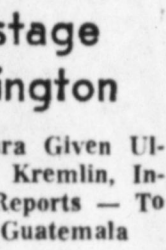

Information obtained by U. S. Intelligence in Rome indicated that Mikoyan warned Guevara the Guatemalan operation would be his last if he failed. He instructed Guevara to give up his post as Cuba's industry minister and devote full time to his new assignment.

OLD STAMPING GROUNDS—Guatemala is not a new battleground for Guevara. He served in President Jacobo Arbenz' pro-Communist regime in 1953 until Guatemalan Colonel Carlos Castillo Armas launched a successful counter-revolution.

Although Guevara dashed around Guatemala City trying to organize a resistance force, Arbenz capitulated without a fight. Guevara then fled to the Argentine embassy, vowing to return some day.

Since Guevara was one of 81 men who accompanied Castro on his 1956 invasion of Cuba, U. S. intelligence wouldn't be surprised if the Argentine-born Communist has set up a permanent headquarters inside Guatemala.

At present, he is directing shipments of arms and trained guerrilla fighters from Cuba to the Caribbean tropic spot, as he did to the Dominican Republic.

When the End Arrives Before the Beginning

NEW YORK (NEA) — Now, here is an item to conjure with. A team of physicists at Brookhaven National Laboratory has used the atom smasher to produce some stuff called anti-matter.

As we understand it, science has long held that every piece of an atom has a twin somewhere in the universe that is identical in every respect but one—the twin, called an anti-particle carries an opposite electric charge.

What the experiment at the Brookhaven atom smasher seems to indicate is that these anti-particles can exist in groups called matter—just the way ordinary particles exist in groups called matter.

If that is so, then it is quite possible that somewhere in the universe there are anti-worlds peopled by anti-people.

As we said, this is an item to conjure with. And we had every intention of doing so, with a full discussion of eastern movies, high school drop-outs, unnatural athletes and all the possibilities—or is it impossibilities—of life in an anti-world.

However, we cannot go through with it. On further thought, it is has occurred to us that growing up—or down—in an anti-world would be absolutely awful for the kiddies.

The story of Footsel and Gretel is bad enough. And so is Snow Black. But when you get involved—or is it involved—with the Minus Seven Dwarf, well, it can leave an anti-child cultural-ly privied.

We can plan this best with the unfamiliar witch tale of Sleepless Beauty—no, in anti-story it would have to be:

Sleepless Ugly and Prince Rotten

Once beneath a time there a very ugly girl named anti-Mame who lived in a very tiny castle in Protroit, anti-Michigan.

Inasmuch as her mother was a sufferable bore and her father a speakable idiot, the ugly girl saved most of her time alone. She would either read the classics such as "The Turn of the Native" by Thomas Fragile. Or else she would take long stands in the country.

On one such occasion, when she was standing across a narrow field, she heard a voice in the grass calling:

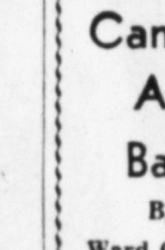

"Goodby, goodby."

Looking up into the grass, she saw a very sheveled fellow retreating toward her.

"-O," she screeched calmly, somewhat plussed by his absence, and wondering how to pulse his advances if the need should descend.

"Worry," he said. "I won't turb you. I am Prince Rotten, a man of finite wit and great over-standing. But this plorable spell has been cast under me by my wicked witch god-mother."

"Bad grief," the ugly girl said, hitting great disinterest. "What can I do to help you into this haunting mess?"

WHY THE FUSS ABOUT GOLD?

The United States has become the greatest debtor in all history, if one measures such greatness by the total amount of a debtor's demand IOUs in relation to his cash resources. Never before has any debtor (individual, corporate, or governmental) obligated himself for so much, payable virtually on demand, that he could not pay if called upon to do so.

"We refer not to the debt of the U. S. Government owed to its citizens, domestic banks, and other institutions or businesses, but to the foreign short-term claims on U. S. gold, claims that almost overnight could become payable on demand. The shorter debts of the Government to domestic creditors can be paid by stuffing more Government bonds into the commercial banks thereby monetizing the debt as was done on such a large scale during World War II. Consequently, Uncle Sam cannot be forced into bankruptcy or its equivalent by his domestic creditors.

"The situation with reference to foreign creditors is quite different. Unless the Treasury pays the gold claims of foreign creditors on demand, the United States will stand discredited before the world, a virtual bankrupt as incapable of managing its financial affairs as the most improvident countries. Instead of an economic bulwark off the free world, the dollars would be just another price of paper in a world where paper-money cancer has become a chronic and seemingly ineradicable disease. This is the disease that Lenin advocated as a means of destroying the nations of Western civilization."

The foregoing summary of the sad state of affairs today is from "Why Gold," a staff study from the American Institute For Economic Research, Great Barrington, Mass., ($1). In this 96-page review of the gold problem, the reader will get a useful history of the evolution of gold as the prime economic security, an understanding of commercial banking, and a summary of where the U. S. has gone wrong on gold.

The U. S. gold stock is $9 billion short of covering the foreign debts, repayable in gold on demand. This doesn't even take you must take me home and put me under her bed."

"Yes!" she snarled dignantly, being a girl of peccable manners, and therefore quite mayed by his posal. But on further thought she eluded. "What the heaven. He does not seem to be ruth or coith. On the contrary, he's really quite feck and probably independently poor."

So, the ugly girl took Prince Rotten by the foot and brought him home where she let him climb under her bed.

When she awoke at dawn the next night, she hastily closed her eyes to see what had happened to Prince Rotten. But he was no longer there.

In his place was the most revolting anti-frog you ever saw, smiling pishly down at her.

"-O," the girl laughed miserably. "What an ordinary thing."

And they lived unhappily ever after.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Tools of Success in 1965: A Knowledge of Economics

By SAM CAMPBELL
Business Editor

This is a story of two farmers. Both of them bought new tractors. Both tractors went on the blink.

Farmer A was all-fired mad. He cranked and cussed, but still the dern thing wouldn't start. He fiddle faddled with the thingamajigs, hoping by lucky chance to hit on whatever was wrong. The tractor just sat there in the field like a frog full of bucksnot. It wouldn't budge.

Back To Horses
At last Farmer A wrote the factory and told them to take their carsnared contraption back. He harnessed his horses again and proceeded to go out of business. The industrial revolution had caught up with him, and passed him by.

Farmer B was plenty upset, too, when his machine conked. He fumed and fussed, but couldn't get it started either. "I wonder what's wrong," he said. "I guess I don't know enough about tractors. Reckon I ought to be finding out."

So he went to the dealer and got some advice. Furthermore, he got a book and read it. He watched closely when the factory rep came out to the field and repaired the balky tractor. Soon his machine was pulling the plow again. Next time the tractor quit, Farmer B was able to get it going without outside help.

No question about it, Farmer B acted more intelligently than Farmer A. But what was the essential difference between them?

The difference was this: Farmer A thought the trouble was in the tractor whereas Farmer B understood, at least vaguely, that the problem was in himself; namely, that he didn't know enough about tractors.

Now businesses are like tractors. Sometimes they go and sometimes they quit. Some businesses fail because of laziness but it is probable that the greater number fail for the same reason that Farmer A failed; that is, for lack of knowledge either on the part of the proprietor or on the part of key employees.

And often that lack of knowledge is not so much unfamiliarity with his own operation as the fact that he doesn't understand the Great Economic Engine of which his business is one part.

Especially in the months ahead such knowledge can spell the difference between greater success and possible failure.

Between the Bookends

into consideration the fact that there is no gold to back up our own currency in the United States.

Historical Basis
No country has survived such an experience in the past, and it is doubtful that outright repudiation of our own currency can be avoided within the next few years.

"Thus the U. S. gold stock can be likened to a $14,500 house that is subject to a $24,000 mortgage that becomes due and payable whenever the mortgage holder decides to demand payment."

Will this have unhappy consequences for us? The Institute answers that question, thusly: "If Russia had been able to plant its agents, unnumbered Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter Whites, in key positions in the United States Government with instructions to carry out Lenin's plan for destruction of a 'capitalist' economy by means of inflating, they hardly could have accomplished a more thorough job of 'gutting' the economy by extracting its basic gold reserves."

CONSTRUCTIVE CHANGE

The 1964 election results sounded the death knell of conservatism as a title.

Actually, the great debate between conservatism and liberalism never really occurred. Though many advocates for both philosophies wanted direct confrontation, it did not come about.

Such confrontation between the two prevalent political philosophies in our country, clearly delineated, would have provided the public an opportunity to make a critical analysis of both.

False images for both presidential candidates were successfully created in 1964. One was actually presented to voters as the conservative choice, the one who represented no change. The other was portrayed as a "radical" who would upset the status quo in a great upheaval.

"Unchanging" or "steadfast" are fairly accurate capsule descriptions of conservatism. Conservatism's resistance to change brought charges of "anti-progressive" from the leftist camp. Now the leftists have a vested interest in the status quo.

Someone recently remarked that "status quo" is Latin for "the mess we're in."

Progress is accomplished only through sound, constructive action. The American Republic must move ahead, out of precarious quicksands which threaten to pull it down. But this cannot be accomplished either by inertia, by ivory-tower day-dreaming, or endangering the Republic.

There is a need today for a political philosophy unresistant to progress but building on the solid foundation of the Constitution rather than ranging out into the swamps of political quackery, trickiness or demagoguery. It must be a constructive philosophy. HLH

Cotton Growers Protest New Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Spokesmen for 15 cotton grower organizations charged today a new administration cotton bill could ruin their industry.

They urged the Senate Agriculture Committee to adopt instead a revised subsidy plan to make American cotton fully competitive on world markets.

The administration plan would permit government price support loans on cotton to drop from the present 29 cents a pound to about 22 cents. U.S. cotton would then sell to foreign and domestic buyers at about that rate.

Texas Testifies

C. B. Ray, El Paso, Tex., chairman of a cotton producers legislative committee, testified that if the administration plan is adopted the United States will continue to lose export sales.

"It would not solve anything. Foreign producers would reduce their price to just under our fixed price and continue to undersell us," Ray said. "The net cost would be the ruin of the cotton industry."

The cotton producers committee, including groups in states from North Carolina to California, proposed an alternative plan which would revise the cotton subsidy law in effect this year.

Explains Plan

Ray said the plan would keep price support loans to farmers at 29 cents a pound. But it would make "equalization payments" on a flexible, variable basis to enable cotton traders to "meet the world price on a continuing basis."

Under this plan, traders would get whatever amount of subsidy was needed to cover gap between U.S. farm supports and the actual world price at any given time.

Senate Committee Okays Bill McKee to Head FHA

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Commerce Committee Tuesday approved President Johnson's nomination of retired Air Force Gen. William F. McKee to head the Federal Aviation Agency.

Congress already has approved a bill to permit McKee's nomination to the post, notwithstanding a law barring military men from the top civil aeronautics post. Action was taken routinely without a record vote.

The nomination of the former Air Force deputy chief of staff said the plan would reduce cotton production next year about 3 million bales to 12 million bales. He said the government should announce that total domestic and export sales would include the 12 million bale crop plus 3 million bales drawn from federal surplus stocks.

McKee is to be deputy administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency under McKee.

Business Looks Good With Stock Market Only Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary John T. Connor says business is fine and it looks good for the future with the wildly gyrating stock market and only cloud on the economic horizon.

But Connor told a news conference Tuesday that the market, which has declined sharply in recent weeks, "may or may not be an indicator of business activity."

He said his job was to report "on the economic facts of life, the business facts of life, as they really are, even when they're favorable... (and) the business facts of life continue to remain strong."

Asked why he thought the market has declined, Connor said that certain "comments" had decided some investors to sell their stock and take a profit.
