

Greek Army on Alert For Communist Riots

Fears Raised Reds May Start Trouble

ATHENS (UPI) — The Greek government put the army services on an alert today in fear of new and Communist-inspired riots. Eight hours of rioting ended early today with at least one dead, scores injured and nearly 300 in jail.

Defense Minister Stavros Kistopoulou summoned various service commanders to an afternoon meeting and informed them he had received "information that the Communists may start new riots."

The same time Public Order Minister Adm. John Toumbas said the Communists, who polled 14 per cent of the votes in the last election, and ousted Premier George Papandreu were directly responsible for the new riots.

There have been disturbances throughout Greece since 25-year-old King Constantine fired 77-year-old Papandreu and replaced him with George Athanasiadis-Novas.

The worst case Wednesday night when 10,000 persons, mostly students, rampaged through the streets of Athens demanding Papandreu's return. Police quelled the rioting early today with batons, fire hoses, tear gas and armored cars.

Toumbas said "the trouble last night was due to a well-prepared Communist plot. The tactics are typically anarchist demonstrations. These are the results of incendiary statements by Papandreu during the past few days."

He said the man killed during Wednesday night's riots, 25-year-old Sotirios Petroulas, is a known Communist "with a file in the Athens security office."

He said Petroulas will be buried this evening if police receive assurances from his parents and from left-wing political parties that there will be no trouble. At the same time he denied reports two other persons were killed in the riots.

The situation remained tense throughout the country today but no further demonstrations were reported.

(Papandreu said in an interview published today in the newspaper Sueddeutsche Zeitung of Munich he does not want to overthrow King Constantine and that new elections are the only way to solve the country's crisis.)

(He said his group would win any new elections but that even then he did not plan to alter the Greek constitution to limit the King's powers. He said the weight of the vote would be sufficient.)

The power struggle—the first critical test for the 25-year-old monarch—broke into the open last Thursday when the king turned down Papandreu's demand to fire Defense Minister Peter Garafoulis and give the post to him.

The king, in effect, fired Papandreu and named George Athanasiadis-Novas as new premier.

Both Papandreu and Athanasiadis-Novas are members of H. C. Eubanks portable disc rolling, MO 5-3213 (Adv.)

Immediately there was speculation that Brezhnev and Toumbas were meeting in an effort to resolve the deep ideological dispute between their countries.

Police Fear Texas Co-Eds Have Been Kidnaped

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Police went over a 1964 model compact automobile inch-by-inch today for fingerprints, trying to find out what happened to two attractive co-eds who vanished on their way to the University of Texas.

Police feared they may have been abducted. Susan Rigbsy and Shirley Ann Stark, both 21, left their homes in Dallas Sunday to drive to Austin so Miss Rigbsy could enroll at the university.

A statewide alert was issued after a bundle was found on a remote road in North Austin Wednesday. The bundle contained 25 dresses, 17 blouses, three pillows and a bag of laundry owned by the missing women.

A few hours later, Carol McLellan, 20, a University of Texas student from Gatesville, Tex., telephoned police to report a 1964 yellow (Corvair) car parked behind her apartment house.

She said the car had been parked there since Tuesday. It was the missing girls' car. "This looks serious to say the least," said Lt. Joe Perry of the Austin police. "Two 21-year-old girls would not just go out and throw away their clothing."

Widow of Slain Man to Surrender After Indictment

MIAMI (UPI)—Mrs. Candace Mossler is expected to surrender by the end of the week under a grand jury indictment naming her as the second suspect in the slaying 13 months ago of her Texas millionaire husband, Jacques Mossler.

Her attorney, Clyde Woody of Houston, said Wednesday Mrs. Mossler would fly to Miami when she is released from the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn. where she had been undergoing treatment.

Her attorney in Rochester, E. J. O'Brien, said that her release could come "by the end of the week."

It was Woody who said from his Miami Beach hotel that it was "obvious" the blonde widow was the second person named in a sealed indictment returned Tuesday night by a Dade County Grand Jury after nearly a week of hearing testimony.

"Based on what I learned and could infer, I telephoned Mrs. Mossler (Tuesday) night in Rochester and told her that there was no doubt in my mind that she had been named," Woody said.

LBJ, Military Chiefs Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson conferred today with top military advisers on the "new and serious" decisions the soon must make about boosting America's combat effort in the bloody anti-Communist war in Viet Nam.

The Chief Executive scheduled a White House meeting with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

McNamara, who returned at dawn Wednesday from a five-day fact-finding trip to Viet Nam, brought back recommendations for a bigger U. S. troop commitment to the war. This undoubtedly will require the call-up of reserves and a larger draft of military manpower.

Johnson, McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador designate to Viet Nam, Central Intelligence Agency Director William F. Raborn Jr. and other top officials Wednesday conducted what was described as a "thorough and penetrating review" of all but the military aspects of the Viet Nam situation.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said the review centered on such aspects of the war as the operation of the U. S. intelligence apparatus, the role of the U. S. Information Agency (USIA), and economic problems linked with the pacification and reconstruction programs in South Viet Nam.

He indicated that any presidential decisions on the war may not be made known immediately. "I am sure he (Johnson) is going to spend a great deal of time in the next few days on this subject," Moyers said.

It was considered likely that Major Breakdown Hits News Press

The Pampa News wishes to apologize to its readers and subscribers for the delay in delivering Thursday evening's paper.

A major mechanical breakdown in the News pressroom made it impossible to run off the paper as usual.

Repairmen worked all night in order to make possible delivery of the paper this morning.

Down to The Grim Facts On Viet Nam

By BRUCE BLOSSAT Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — A mood of rueful cynicism prevails in this town over the steady build-up of U. S. armed forces in South Viet Nam.

Veteran observers have been saying for months it was bound to happen and smiling wryly at administration efforts to put any kind of good face on things.

They attend with interest to the new, darker notes President Johnson and his top men have been sounding over Viet Nam for about a fortnight. The belief, of course, is that the way is being prepared for further enlargement of the war and for considerably longer casualty lists.

Against the gloomier backdrop the President has been painting, his displeasure over Viet Nam criticisms from Republican House leader Gerald Ford is seen clearly.

Ford's stress on the fuller use of air and sea assault looks to some observers like an attempt to get the best of two worlds—to suggest a continued Republican posture of militancy against Vietnamese Reds while avoiding responsibility for the mounting burden of home-bound coffins.

Whatever step-up may follow in the sea lanes and in the air over North Viet Nam, the Johnson administration appears heavily committed to the idea that the war is to be stalemated if not won on the soil of South Viet Nam.

Given that commitment, a long and perhaps very bloody fight is the only visible course ahead. The outlook is not brightened by the newest threatening noises from Soviet Premier Kosygin, flung out over the head of visiting U. S. emissary Averell Harriman. Peking offers a loud counterpart.

It was predictable, too, that the McNamara-Lodge mission to Saigon would collect a fresh ration of bad news. The build-up of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regular forces in South Viet Nam goes on.

Supply-line bombings have not seriously stemmed the southward flow of men and material. Sweeping Viet Cong losses have not stopped recruitment of new men.

If the president, then, no longer deems it wise to sound notes of good cheer over Viet Nam, there will be many to hail this turn. From the 1954 Geneva treaty on, the historical record is awash with declarations of false optimism from responsible American sources here and on the scene at Saigon.

Some analysts would forgive them, in small part, on the ground they were simply responding to the American people's known distaste for steady bad news. Thomas E. Dewey once remarked:

"With the American people it is either everything is fine and off to the ball game, or everything is terrible and off to war."

Obviously, the President, in advancing his "new realism" over Viet Nam, has to be careful about overdoing the gloom. Americans—not to mention other free peoples—might buy too much of it.

Reds Claim U.S. Can be Made to Leave Viet Nam

BUCHAREST, Romania (UPI)—A top Albanian Communist world can "make it for the United States in the Viet Nam war. He said U.S. troops could be forced to withdraw."

Albanian Communist party secretary Ramiz Alia told the fourth session of a Romanian Communist party meeting that Communist nations could late the United States by clearing a political boycott.

He said this would "make aggressors take off from Viet Nam."

The Albanian, whose party faithfully follows the Peking line, accused the United States of acting like a "hangman" Viet Nam and of "trying to stifle by fire and iron the liberation movement."

In another development, he learned today Russian and Chinese officials have been conducting behind-the-scenes talk at the Communist conclave here.

The meeting is being attended by 3,000 Romanian delegates and Communists from 56 foreign countries.

Wednesday they heard the most bitter attack to date against U.S. policies in Viet Nam. The attack was delivered by an American.

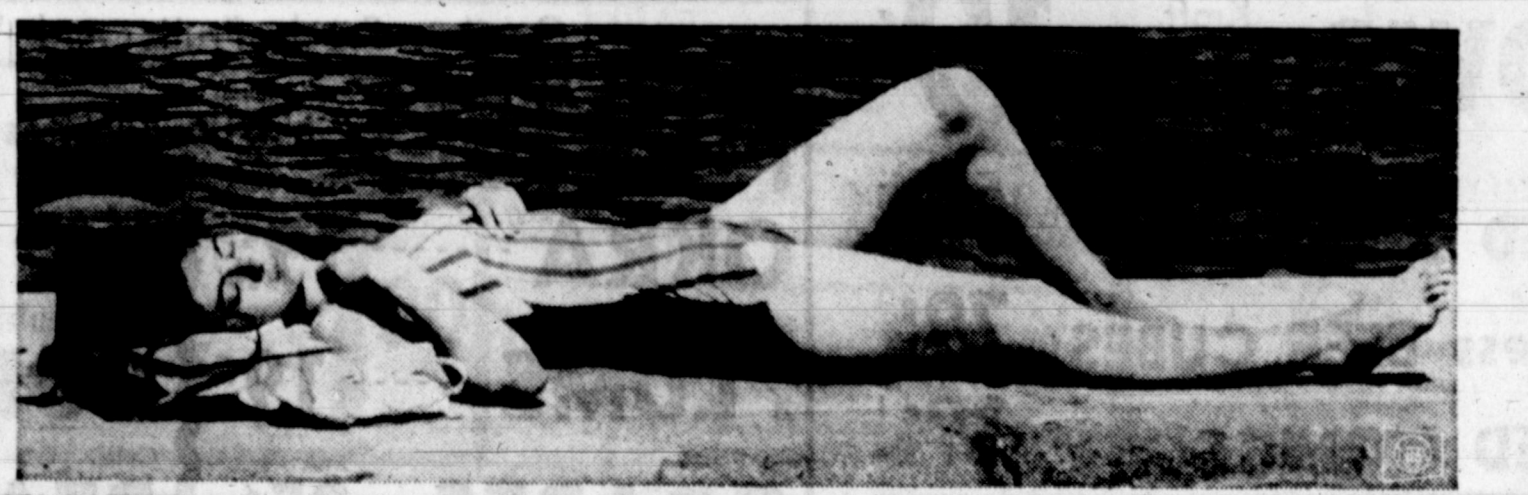

The American was identified as Carl Winter, a member of the Communist party national executive committee in the United States.

"U.S. imperialism endangers the peace and security of mankind," Winter charged. He accused the United States of "arrogantly expanding its aggression against the people of Viet Nam, wantonly spreading death and destruction."

But soon after Wednesday's session opened Leonid I. Brezhnev, chief of the Soviet Communist party, and Ten Hsiao-ping, secretary-general of the Chinese Communist party, got up and left the rostrum.

Immediately there was speculation that Brezhnev and Toumbas were meeting in an effort to resolve the deep ideological dispute between their countries.

SUN BATHER — Sun bathing is a popular pastime these hot summer days. This photo could have been snapped on the edge of a Pampa swimming pool. But, it wasn't. # Late President Kennedy Felt CIA Led Him Into Worst Mistake

NEW YORK (UPI) — The late President Kennedy, to the day of his death, felt the CIA and his military advisers led him into making the worst mistake of his career — the Bay of Pigs disaster, according to a close Kennedy aide.

While publicly and privately assuming full blame for the tragedy, Kennedy was agast at the enormity of his error and bitter at having been badly misled by his advisers.

Kennedy's aide, Theodore C. Sorensen, revealed the late President's personal reaction in an article published Wednesday in Look magazine. The article is the first installment of a series based on Sorensen's forthcoming book "Kennedy" to be published in October.

Sorensen said the key to Kennedy's error lay in the fact he approved an invasion plan "bearing little resemblance to what he thought he had approved."

"That so great a gap between concept and actuality should exist at so high a level on so dangerous a matter reflected a shocking number of errors in the whole decision making process," Sorensen said, "errors that permitted bureaucratic momentum to govern instead of policy leadership."

The former White House aide said Kennedy had "grave doubts" about the invasion's success from the moment he was briefed on the operation as president-elect in Palm Beach.

Sorensen said one of Kennedy's mistakes was "he should never have believed it would be arrogant and presumptuous of him, newly arrived on the scene, to call off the plans of renowned experts."

According to Sorensen, the "fundamental gaps" between "what Kennedy actually approved and what he thought he was approving" arose from at least three sources.

"Kennedy was new in office and he did not fully know the various strengths and weaknesses of his advisers."

"Supposed pressures of time and secrecy permitted too little consideration of the plan and its merits by anyone other than its authors and advocates."

The new administration had not yet fully organized itself for crisis planning, which enabled the CIA and the Joint Chiefs to exercise a dominant influence.

Blueberry Parfait Looks, Tastes Great

BLUEBERRY PARFAIT is a dashing dessert.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Looking for a fresh fruit desert that is as eye-catching as delicious? If so, first buy yourself some cultivated blueberries. Then follow this recipe.
BLUEBERRY PARFAIT

(Serves 6)
1/2 ounce package lady fingers
1/2 ounce can frozen pineapple juice, concentrate, thawundiluted
1/2 cups cultivated blueberries, sifted and drained
1/2 package instant vanilla pudding
1/2 cups milk

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 Vanilla ice cream or whipped cream

Break lady fingers into chunks. Moisten with concentrated pineapple juice and mix chunks with 2 cups of the blueberries. Crush remaining blueberries with fork and reserve for topping. Prepare pudding according to package directions, using 2 cups milk; stir in cinnamon after pudding has thickened. In parfait glasses, place alternate layers of the blueberry and cake mixture and the vanilla pudding. Top with small scoops of vanilla ice cream or whipped topping and drizzle crushed blueberries over all.

Fluff sweet potatoes with butter and canned apple sauce. Put back into the shells and brown in broiler.

Apples and Cheese Go Together

Ever since cheese was first served with apple pie, everyone has known that the two were made for each other. Today cheese and apples are paired in many new recipes. An especially delicious recipe sure to please the whole family is Cheesy Apple Pinwheels.

Biscuit dough forms the rectangular base for a topping of zesty grated cheddar cheese and spicy chopped apples. Starting with the long side of the dough, roll up jelly roll fashion.
Cut roll into individual slices and place in a large baking dish.
Before placing in the oven, pour a hot sweetened syrup spiced with cinnamon over the pin-wheels. Then bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes.

For the best flavor possible, be certain to use a sharp cheddar cheese such as the one bearing a trusted brand name. This assures you of extra aging which gives all semi-hard cheeses even better flavor. Cheddar cheese stores well in the refrigerator if wrapped in moisture-proof paper.

The next time you think of a cheese think of Cheesy Apple Pinwheels. Served with lots of whipped cream or ice cream and plenty of iced tea, Cheesy Apple Pinwheels are certain to rate second helpings.
CHEESY APPLE PINWHEELS
(Yield: 12 servings)
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
1 pound, 4 ounce can sliced apples
1-3 to 1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 1/2 cups water
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
2-3 to 1/4 cup milk
Drain apples well, reserving liquid. Chop apples and set aside. Measure juice from apples. Add enough vinegar to make 1/4 cup of liquid. Place in a saucepan. Stir in water, sugar, and cinnamon. Cook over medium heat for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile sift together flour, baking powder, and salt into a bowl. Cut shortening into flour with pastry blender or fork until mixture is the consistency of cornmeal. Make a hole in the flour mixture. Add milk and stir.
Turn onto lightly floured board and knead 6 times. Roll into a rectangle 15 by 12 inches.
Sprinkle biscuit dough with cheese. Spread chopped apples over cheese. Starting with 15 inch side of dough, roll up jelly roll fashion. Cut roll into 12 equal slices. Place slices, cut side up, in a 13 by 9 by 2 inch baking dish. Pour syrup over slices. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes.
Serve warm topped with whipping cream or ice cream.

Try Mariscada, Spanish Cuisine

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
New York's World's Fair is inspiring Americans to enjoy good food from other countries. The outstanding Spanish Pavilion, for example, draws attention to the relatively little known subtleties of Spanish culsine. "Mariscada," a seafood dish from the Atlantic coast of northwest Spain, is an impressive dish. It is made with a "green sauce" (parsley, white wine and ginger) and is served with yellow rice and a green salad.

MARISCADA
(Serves 6 to 8)
1/2 pound scallops (fresh or frozen)
6 small lobster tails, or 1 package (6 ounces) frozen
Alaska king crab
1 pound clams in shell, or 1 can (10 ounces) whole clams, drained
1 pound large shrimps, shelled
1/2 cup Spanish olive oil
2 or 3 garlic cloves each cut in half 4 to 6 scallions, chopped
2 cup minced Italian parsley
1/2 teaspoon powdered ginger
1 tablespoon monosodium glutamate
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup white wine
1 cup milk or cream
1/2 to 1 teaspoon salt, according to taste
Dash of pepper

Pour the olive oil in heavy skillet then add the garlic and ginger. Remove garlic when browned. Add all the shellfish to the oil, cover pan, cook 7 to 10 minutes or until clam shells open and lobster shell is bright red. Meantime, chop the browned garlic with the scallions and parsley. Blend together the cornstarch, milk or cream and wine. The garlic-parsley mixture and the remaining seasonings; beat until smooth. When shrimp are bright pink, stir sauce into the oil in the pan. Cook over low heat until thickened, shaking the pan now and then. Serve accompanied by hot steamed yellow rice.

To prepare lobster tails:
Place tails on wooden cutting board with undershell down.
Cut vertically, through hard outer shell with sharp knife.
Hold under hot running water a moment or two and flesh will come away from outer shell easily. Leave partially in shell; bright color adds to attractivness of dish.

Hostess Note: Shellfish can be cooked in the olive oil in advance, then the sauce, blended also in advance, may be stirred in shortly before the dish is to be served, the shellfish reheated in the sauce.

Enjoy Apricots Now

Q — Please tell me how long the season lasts for apricots.
A — The apricot season will continue only through July and August. The crop in California, our chief source of supply, is expected to be even bigger than last year.
If you like cherries, enjoy them now. The season is the same as for apricots—through June, July and August. California sweet cherries will be larg-

But cherries from Washington were damaged by freezes in December and March—so was the sour cherry crop. Therefore, these will not be plentiful this year.

Buildings, Grounds Geared for ToT Rodeo

Officials of the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association are busy putting buildings and grounds in shape for the annual Top O' Texas Rodeo, scheduled Aug. 11-14.

Beutler Bros. of Elk City, Okla. will produce the annual RCA approved rodeo that attracts some of the top cowboys and cowgirls of the nation.

Cy Tallon, rodeo announcer from Denver, will be on hand to describe all events.

Special attractions have been booked, including the Clark Brothers, nationally known rodeo clowns, and C. D. Ferguson with his sheep dogs and cowboy monkeys, Calamity Joe and Jane.

An added purse of $3,800, plus all entry fees will provide a total of more than $8,000 prize money. Contests in the regular RCA rodeo events will include calf roping, saddle broncs, bareback broncs, bull riding, steer wrestling and the popular cowgirl's barrel race.

The Pampa High School Stage Band will be on hand to cue all rodeo performances. The band played for the National Finals Rodeo in Los Angeles last year.

An American Quarter Horse Show will be held on Friday, Aug. 13 with both halter and performance classes scheduled. Entry deadline is 9:00 a.m. Aug. 13.

A miniature rodeo, known locally as the Kid's Pony Show, will be held Aug. 12 with performances at 2:30 and 8:00 p.m. The rodeo parade will begin at 3:00 p.m. Aug. 11, headed by the Amarillo Air Force Band.

Rodeo dances will be held nightly at the National Guard Armory building, featuring Lou Walker and His Western Playboys.

Miss Jean Hughes, David Hefner and Roger Simmons were enrolled in the Speech and Drama Classes from July 5-16. The most ambitious offering of the Dramatic Workshop was the presentation of William Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Prof. and Mrs. William A. Moore directed the presentation.

Wendell Cain, a former White Deer High School faculty member, was among the instructors in the workshop. Forty eight outstanding and talented high school youths were accepted for this specialized training.

George Washington, only president of the U.S. who never lived in the White House, laid the cornerstone for the building on October 13, 1792.

Tourist Rush On At Lake Meredith

Some 63,000 tourists have visited the Sanford Recreation Area and Lake Meredith so far this month, according to Mike Becker in a talk he made before the Pampa Rotary Club yesterday noon at the Coronado Inn.

Becker, supervisor of the recreation area, also said 15,000 vehicles came to the area and 2,518 boats were launched during the same period.

He added that the lake now contains 159,000 acre feet of water and is about nine miles long. When full, the lake should be approximately 20 miles long, he said.

Logical developments for the area include boating, fishing, swimming, camping, picnicking, and hunting. Future problems would include available parking and water.

The area will serve four and one-half million people within a radius of 250 miles, Becker said.

Deputy Sheriff Twist Gets Okay For Red 'Teeners'
MOSCOW (UPI) — A Russian magazine published for teenagers said there is nothing wrong with the twist so long as it is danced decently. "It is a light, merry and mischievous dance," according to an article in the magazine Yunos (youth). The twist was strongly attacked in the Soviet press some months ago when it first caught on here.

Russians Believed Getting Ready for New Space Shots

MOSCOW (UPI) — Another Russian space spectacular loomed in the not-too-distant future today. There was some speculation it might come off as early as next month.

In quick succession on Friday, the Russians orbited five satellites with a single rocket and then blasted space history's heaviest working payload — 12.2 tons — into orbit with a "new powerful booster rocket."

The weekend space activities were capped with the launching of another probe into a solar orbit about the same time America's Mariner was achieving a picture-taking triumph as it sped past Mars.

Western experts said the five-in-one space shot and the sun satellite did not appear to be directly related to the Soviet manned space program.

However, they noted the use of the 12.2 ton rocket indicated the Russians might have the capacity to orbit a larger space bus than ever — possibly carrying more than three persons. The giant booster could also figure in the launching of two space vehicles.

Soviet authorities never announce space shots in advance as is the custom in the United States.

But there have been repeated hints in the Soviet press that the Russians are thinking about an attempted rendezvous in space.

Mere Male Reporter Just Bit Befuddled

By DICK WEST
United Press International
PARIS (UPI) — As an American reporter temporarily on detached duty in Europe, I had the misfortune to arrive in France right after the so-called "spy flight" incident.

Officially, at least, the French appear to be reacting rather calmly to charges that a U.S. plane had photographed their secret atomic installations.

But my experience here convinced me that there is a retaliation movement underway.

Somehow, I believe, the Deuxieme Bureau, which is the French equivalent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, received word that I was headed for Paris and seized the opportunity to vent their animosity. "Okay, gang," they probably said to each other, "here's a visiting Yankee journalist. Let's get him."

My suspicions were first aroused when I landed at Orly Airport and found that my baggage had been mysteriously mislaid. Took about 30 minutes to track it down.

Then, when I went to the Air France counter to check a flight reservation, about 16 Frenchmen who may have been Deuxieme Bureau agents rushed up and formed a line in front of me. That killed another half-hour.

What is more, the reservation I had requested in Italy had apparently been sabotaged before it reached France. The Paris ticket agent reported that he had never heard of it and that the flight I wanted already was oversubscribed.

The same thing happened when I went to check in at the airport hotel. The desk clerk swore my reservation had never been received and that no rooms were available.

In trying to line up a room at another hotel, I had great difficulty with the Paris telephone system, leading me to conclude that the Deuxieme Bureau had infiltrated it, too.

A taxi driver that I engaged to take me to the hotel obviously was planted by Deuxieme. He reached it by way of Suez Canal.

The bill that I paid for that ride will keep the U.S. gold reserve in a precarious situation for the next 10 years.

At this point, the chain of coincidences turned truly sinister. Not two minutes after I had checked into my hotel the lights went out.

The bellman who answered screams said a fuse was "sover ry" when I hear one.

I write this, I am scheduled to fly home to Washington via Air France Friday. If you can't hear from me again you will know what happened.

Canadian Police Crack $1-Million Robbery of Bank

FORT ERIE, Ont. (UPI)—Police cracked a $1 million Royal Bank of Canada robbery case today with the arrest of four men suspected as members of the gang who used diamond drills to open 400 safe deposit boxes last April 11.

An alert track cashier at Buffalo Raceway in nearby Hamburg, N.Y., was credited by police with giving the tip-off that led to the arrest of one man in Hamburg and three others at the Fort Erie Hotel where all had checked in Monday. Police said the men had gone to the raceway Monday night to play the horses with some of their loot.

The suspects were identified as Eugene Radu and Bernard Roser of Montreal, Sam Kroter of Teaneck, N.J., formerly of Montreal, and Mohshe Nachstern of Winnipeg, Man. All were charged with possession of stolen goods with the exception of Nachstern who was booked by U.S. authorities on a second degree forgery charge.

Authorities said a fifth suspect was arrested recently in London, England, but no details were immediately available.

Nachstern was carrying $1,150 in stolen travelers checks when arrested and about $4,620 in checks were found in the men's hotel rooms. The burglary gang took travelers checks, cash, securities and other valuables from a Royal Bank of Canada branch in a cleverly planned Sabbath raid.

Dear Abby... Particulars Needed In Age-Old Problem

DEAR ABBY: A "Hearbroken Mother" is crying because her 19-year-old son hated school, did not attend half his classes, and finally flunked out. "Where have we failed?" she asks you. May-be she should ask herself, as a parent, "To whom is a college education important?" Just because it is important to the parents, does that mean it must be important to their son? It's time for parents to accept their youngsters for what they are. No wonder the boy didn't go to half his classes. He hated school. It was his life, and his parents shouldn't have tried to live it for him.

I once heard of a youngster, attending college, who wasn't as brilliant as his college-educated parents. One day they came home and found their good-looking son with a bullet hole in his head. Beside him was a suicide note which read, "I couldn't stand for you and Dad to see my grades."

BATON ROUGE READER: DEAR READER: Excessive pressure for "good grades" when applied to emotionally unstable youngsters is dangerous and uncalled for. Normal, healthy people learn to face and deal with failure from the time they are old enough to compete. This problem calls for particulars, not generalizations.

DEAR ABBY: Our son married a girl from a small town near here and they live in a house which is just adequate for their needs. When her parents come to town, they stay with her grandmother (her mother's mother), who has a widowed sister living with her. They visit frequently and stay about a week each time. My question: When my daughter-in-law's parents are visiting and I invite them for dinner, must I invite the grandmother and her widowed sister, too? Both "Grandma" and the sister are very hard-of-hearing and never wear their hearing aids, and it is anything but pleasant to be in their company when they are yelling at each other. I thank you.

WONDERING DEAR WONDERING: Out of courtesy, and for the sake of family harmony, invite "Grandma" and her sister at least once during the guests' stay. But it isn't necessary to include them every time. Especially since your daughter-in-law's parents visit frequently.

DEAR ABBY: I must take exception to your comments that "parents should worry less about their children's hair styles—as long as they're neat and clean—and worry more about what's under the scalp."

A 12-year-old girl with a grown-up hair-do looks 20. Cosmetics and this new trend of heavy eye make-up, plus a tight skirt and nylons complete the picture. A 12-year-old girl who looks 20 cannot cope with the situations she invites. The 12-year-old girl next door arises at 5 a. m. and arranges her hair until 7 o'clock. Oh, her hair is neat and clean all right, but she flunked in at last one subject. If she had spent those two hours every morning doing her homework, she'd have more under her scalp.

Sincerely,
FROM SEATTLE

Quivira Patrol Reaches Site Of GS Round-Up

By CHERYLE HENSLEY
Eight area girls, making up Quivira Patrol, boarded the Girl Scout Special at 8 a. m. July 12, enroute to the 1965 Girl Scout Senior Round-up at Farragut, Idaho. These girls were: Pam Purcell of Borger, Elmonette Branigan and Glenda Bruce of Memphis, Susan Davis and Margaret Brewer of Pampa, and Sharol Hawkins, Lynn Wright and Cheryl Hensley of Fritch.

The girls spent three days enroute to Idaho. Two days were spent traveling on the train and one touring Glacier National Park by bus. Breakfast and dinner were served at Glacier Lodge, and supper was served at Lake McDonald Lodge. After supper, the girls again boarded the buses awaiting them. Upon their arrival at Sandpoint, the patrol was greeted by a band and by people waving banners saying, "Welcome, Scouts". After eating breakfast, they boarded special buses which transported them to the Round-up site.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The day time is very adverse for forcing any issue whatever, so be as cool, calm, and collected as possible and sidestep the urge to lambaste anyone else or to be extravagant in attaining your goals. Then you find that your good common sense comes to the fore, giving you the opportunity to show others your talent.

Short Hemlines Are Here to Stay, At Least in Italian Fall, Winter Fashions

ROME (UPI) —How short is short seemed to be the key question today in the Italian fall-winter fashion shows.

The first dozen high fashion collections presented in Florence and Rome indicated that short hemlines are here to stay—at least for the coming season.

Most designers settled for skirts that ended somewhere on the knee. Maria Antonelli raised the short skirt banner higher than most of her fashion colleagues by hoisting hemlines up to completely bare the entire kneecap.

The day's Italian high fashion calendar included collections by Forquet, Biki, Tiziani, Veneziani and Lancetti. Rome tailors Litrico, Franzoni, Brioni and Datti were also scheduled to present high fashion for men today.

Smooth Legs: Summer Must

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The temptation is almost too strong during hot, humid days to slide over routine grooming needs. Yet most women are faced with embarrassing exposure of their laziness.

Summery fashions leave little to the imagination and the woman who neglects to keep her legs free of fuzz, for example, soon feels uncomfortable in the company of the clean shaven.

Such a delicate part of a woman's grooming routine once was quite hush-hush. Now a gal not only steals her father's or brother's shaving equipment but she may also take his advice. To help her and keep peace in the family experts in shaving (such as Gillette) offer a special kit for women, extremely packable for traveling, along with shaving tips. Included are a razor, pre-shave conditioner and after-shave moisturizer.

A patio survey of women shows that shaving dry tends to "flake" the skin and leads to nicking and other skin irritation. Many women claim good results come from whisking away excess hair while in their bath or taking a shower. This also can lead to bloody nicks.

Why not try the male approach to shaving with a safety razor? Precondition the skin before shaving. This may or may not come after a bath. Apply the conditioner to one leg at a time; shave and then do the other leg. Use a fresh blade and work with "sure," upward strokes. You will be wearing shorts and bathing suits during the summer, so shave above the knee, too.

Finish off your leg grooming with an after-shaving moisturizer. Pat the legs first with your fingertips to stir circulation and then smooth on the lotion. The whole operation should not take more than 15 minutes. Since hair grows more rapidly during hot months, you may need to repeat this every two or three days.

RESTORE BODY TO HAIR
Our hair needs special care to keep it from getting dry and brittle. A creamy lotion that is applied after a shampoo helps restore gloss and body to the hair.

SUMMER LEG BEAUTY — Keep legs smooth and soft to complement shorts or bathing suits. Prepare legs with pre-shave conditioner; shave and pat on after-shave moisturizer to complete quick grooming.

Living Room Can Double As Area For Your Hobby

Do you need a recreation room, but have neither the space nor finances for it?

You may be able to solve the problem by remodeling your living room. For instance, one wall or a corner might be converted into a hobby area. A desk and chair placed near a window can provide the necessary work space. Shelves or an adjoining wall will provide storage for record albums or for displaying the results of your hobby—whether it be model airplanes, needlework or hunting trophies.

One material that owners of small homes are finding increasingly desirable for their hobby walls and shelves is ceramic tile. This ancient material is now available in an almost endless variety of colors, shapes and patterns so that it can blend with any decor. It cannot be scratched or stained and it never needs to be painted or polished.

You can be sure of getting high quality tile for your project by insisting on tile that is "quality certified" by the Tile Council of America. This trade association of domestic manufacturers is now testing tile of participating companies to insure that it equals or exceeds the highest standards of the United States government.

Cosmetics: Tangible Items or State of Mind?

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When Sen. Maurine Neuberger co-sponsored a "truth-in-packaging" bill that might force cosmetics manufacturers, among others, to standardize their packaging and list ingredients on the label, she thought she was doing women a favor. She thought women would want to know when contemplated plunking down a five dollar bill for a tiny jar of beauty goo just what was in the jar.

But representatives of the beauty industry claim they know better what a woman wants when she goes on a cosmetic-buying binge.

One put it this way: "Please remember that when the consumer purchases a jar of cream, a bottle of make-up, or a flask of perfume, she is not buying anything tangible in the true sense of the word. She is buying a look, a feeling, a promise, an idea, a state of mind. Frankly, I call it . . . hope."

The defender of the beauty industry is right, of course. A woman whose beauty aids consist of nothing more than a box of face powder, and a tube of cleansing cream has the essentials for facing the world.

The woman whose dresser table is loaded with jars and tubes of creams and lotions, concealers, lipsticks, wrinkle removers, make-up bases and eye glosses every shade of the rainbow bought herself a promise, a state of mind. And she bought it over and over again.

Insurance City Open In Action

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Most of the nation's top professional golfers teed off today in the first round of the $70,000 Insurance City Open tournament at neighboring Wethersfield Country Club.

Although the "big three" of Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player did not enter, the field for the PGA sanctioned tourney included such stars as Gene Littler, Mason Rudolph, Billy Casper, Gardner Dickinson Jr., Doug Ford and Rex Baxter.

Only last week Littler won the Canadian Open by one stroke over Nicklaus and captured a $20,000 prize. The top award here is $11,000, highest in the 14-year history of the ICO.

Ken Venturi won the $7,500 first prize last year, but was unable to enter this year because of disability. He won the 1964 tourney with a 273 for the 72 holes spread over four days. The ICO record is 268, set by Jack Burke in 1958.

Big Names In Showdown

ROCKVILLE, Md. (UPI) — The big three of golf—Jack Nicklaus, Arnie Palmer and Gary Player—square off today in a four-day, 72-hole showdown that provides a payoff of $30,000 and a lot of personal prestige.

The game's biggest gate attractions will be fighting it out at the Lakewood Country Club in this Washington, D. C., suburb along with three amateurs, including home town favorite, Deane Beman.

The event—known as the National Challenge Golf Match—lacks PGA official sponsorship but will bring the trio together for a competition enriching the winner by $20,000. The runner up gets $17,000 and the third place finisher $13,000.

Brown Denies Sex Charge

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland Browns fullback Jim Brown was due back on the witness stand today in the trial charging him with assault and battery against a pretty 18-year-old girl.

Brown, in 20 minutes of testimony under the friendly guidance of his attorney Wednesday, told of Brenda Ayres visiting him in his motel "retreat" but calmly denied having had sexual relations with her.

The trial may go to a jury Friday.

Brown said Miss Ayres' testimony that she and Brown had been sexually intimate on about eight occasions during the brief time they had known each other was "completely false," that her assault charge was "also false," and that her claim that she and Brown had participated in sexual acts the night of June 19-20 in the motel room were "false."

Major Leagues Seek Commish

DETROIT (UPI) — Top executives of the American and National leagues met in Dearborn Wednesday and narrowed the candidates for baseball commissioner from 50 to about 20.

After preliminary conferring by Detroit Tigers owner John Fetzer and Pittsburgh Pirates owner John Galbreath, the list was presented for more trimming by the executive committee which is handling the search for a commissioner to replace retiring Ford Frick.

No names of possible candidates were made public at the meeting. The owners made no decision but will probably meet again in September.

Lift Ban On Randy, Asks AAU

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), hoping to break the logjam between itself and the NCAA, awaited an answer from the rival organization today regarding the status of shot-put record-holder Randy Matson in a track meet at Wichita, Kan., Friday night.

The Wichita meet will serve as a warm-up for the United States team, which will oppose Russia at Kiev July 31 Aug. 1.

Clifford H. Buck, president of the AAU, appealed to the National Collegiate Athletic Association Wednesday to lift its ban so that Matson, a student at Texas A&M, could compete without fear of reprisal.

A knee injury has curtailed Matson's activities lately. He missed the AAU's qualifying meet with the injury, but was permitted to join the U.S. team after AAU officials watched him work out on July 10.

The NCAA reportedly informed Texas A&M officials that Matson would not be permitted to appear in the Wichita meet under penalty of suspension to him and his school.

Buck wrote the letter to NCAA President Everett Barnes after Sen. Warren Magnuson D-Wash. announced the Senate Committee on Commerce planned to start public hearings on the NCAA-AAU feud.

"We are especially concerned that Randy Matson be permitted to freely compete in the July 23 meet at Wichita," Magnuson said in a wire to AAU Executive Director Col. Donald Hull. "Further, we suggest a moratorium on all action by either organization until the committee on commerce can fully investigate the dispute."

In his statement to the NCAA, Buck wrote: "The U.S. coaches, headed by Brutus Hamilton of the University of California, consider this meet necessary in the final training of those U.S. team members still in the U.S.A. Others are already in European competition as part of their training."

"Will you please take the necessary action to remove any NCAA restriction against this practice meet at Wichita?"

'Didn't Know Nothing About No-Hitter'

By United Press International

It could only happen to the Mets, one of their own reaches the threshold of a no-hitter and doesn't even realize it.

Or so Al Jackson claimed Wednesday night after coming within five outs of pitching a first no-hitter ever at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh and the maiden no-hitter in Mets history.

"I didn't know nothing about a no-hitter," the little left-hander told reporters. "Nobody said nothing even after (Willie) Stargell got the hit. I don't know how to feel, it's been so long since I won a game."

Jackson came closer than any other Met to pitching a hitless game and within one out of matching Carl Hubbell's record for the longest hitless pitching stretch in the Pirates' 56-year-old park. He eventually wound up with a two-hitter and had to get the final three outs with the potential tying run on second base as the Mets won 1-0.

Milwaukee extended its winning skein to nine and stopped the Dodgers' streak at six by clipping Los Angeles 6-4. San Francisco edged Cincinnati 5-4.

Houston blanked St. Louis 2-0, and Chicago tripped Philadelphia 8-7 in other National League games.

The American League pace-setting Minnesota Twins defeated the Boston Red Sox twice, 8-6 and 11-8, Baltimore swept a pair from Kansas City 1-0 and 9-2, Detroit grabbed a double header from Cleveland 10-5 and 2-1. Los Angeles blanked Washington 2-0 in 10 innings and New York also was extended 10 innings before nipping Chicago 7-6.

A two-out error by second baseman Bill Mazeroski on a ball hit by Jackson in the fifth allowed Chuck Hiller to score from second base with the only run of the game that saddled Don Cardwell with his fourth loss in 12 decisions.

The victory ended a 10-game losing streak for the Mets and gave Jackson his first triumph since July 1.

The Braves scored three times before loser Claude Osteen could get a single out in the first inning—two of the tallies coming on Henry Aaron's 20th homer. Felipe Alou collected four hits, drove in two runs and scored another for Milwaukee.

Bob Lillis blooped a two-run double in the fifth inning off loser Bob Gibson who allowed only four hits in seven innings.

Poor Man's Heaven

Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz recently said that he thinks everyone should have a one-year sabbatical - 365 days of vacation with full pay. We think this is a wonderful idea. It could be called the "war on work" program. And added to the on-going wars against poverty, illiteracy, disease and even against war itself, the Labor Secretary's idea could take us beyond the "Great Society" and right into "Poor Man's Heaven" - a care-free realm which was the subject of a song by that name. In poor man's heaven we won't have to work. There ain't nothin' there but good luck. There's strawberry pie that's twenty feet high. And whipped cream they bring in a truck.

Unfortunately, Mr. Wirtz isn't really pushing this anti-work war right now. He says there are some "bugs" in the idea which might make it a bit difficult to carry out. One of the problems, no doubt, is how to give sabbatical to someone who's been on the relief rolls for months on end. A year of work, perhaps?

That's a tough problem, we admit. Still we see no reason why the Labor Secretary should be discouraged just because there are a few bugs in his idea. It's no bugger than most of the President's "great society" projects, and they're going ahead full blast.

Certainly financing a year's sabbatical for everyone should pose no problem to the engineers of the "Great Society." For we are quite sure that some of them at least would go along with the way that matter was handled in the lyrical version of Poor Man's Heaven:

We won't have to yearn for money to burn,
'Cause we'll have our own money press.
We'll run her full speed, and make all we need;
And we'll light our cigars with the rest.

When retired General Maxwell Taylor replaced Henry Cabot Lodge a year ago as ambassador to Vietnam, the impression might have been gained from official press releases that we were sending a man especially well prepared, by virtue of his military background, to cope with that nasty "little" war. Now official sources would evidently like us to believe that the return of Ambassador Lodge to replace General Taylor is another mark of strength and firmness in our policy.

With no disparagement intended as to their personal characters, there is considerable reason to doubt that either Ambassador Lodge or General Taylor have any special qualifications in the kind of situation we are faced with in Vietnam. In marked contrast, the Soviet ambassador to North Vietnam, Lt. Gen. Shcherbakov, is a top-rated expert in guerilla warfare. And the diversified strategies and terrorist tactics of the Vietcong bear a marked resemblance to those which the Soviet general himself employed against both Nazi military forces and civilian populations in Eastern Europe during World War II.

Actually, from what we have seen, it really makes little difference who holds the title of U. S. Ambassador to Vietnam. For it has been repeated again and again by official spokesmen that both the political and military decisions - including such tactical matters as target selection for air strikes - are made exclusively in Washington, D. C. Thus not only the ambassador, but also military commanders, can be little more than forward observers and messenger boys; except, perhaps, when a scapegoat is needed for a particularly embarrassing setback.

It's a pretty sure bet that Soviet Ambassador Shcherbakov has more important functions than those. And before we can expect any real improvement in the Vietnam situation, we're going to need some on-the-spot generalship - to counter that which he is able to supply.

Ordinarily it is not the job of an ambassador to provide that particular kind of service. However, if that's the way the game is to be played these days, we could surely use some new talent. It's highly doubtful that the return of Ambassador Lodge will in any case frighten the enemy; though considering some of the things which happened during his previous tour, it may disturb some of our friends.

Old Virtues Fall Into Disuse

"Long Lines," an employee publication of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. reports an engineering newsletter containing the following held wanted ad came to its attention recently:

"Wanted: Man to work on nuclear fissionable isotope molecular reactive counters and three-phase cyclotron uranium photo-synthesizers. No experience necessary."

A thought for the day: American humorist Mark Twain once defined a classic as "a book read."

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel

NEW YORK (NEA)—As Hardy readers may recall, we set out here the other day to prove the inferiority of modern, cool, hipster slang by comparing it to the rich, full-bodied slang of our generation.

Having done so, we were dismayed to see that our lingo comes out looking more archaic and rusty than we care to admit. Even "23 skiddoo" and "oh you kid" have a fresher ring than our "knock it off" or "oomph."

There is only one reason for this sad condition, it seems to us. And that is, our generation has had no chronicler who could stand up to the propaganda put out by the Gay Nineties, the Turn of the Century, the Roaring Twenties and even the Beat Generation.

For some reason we do not understand, if you grew up between the Crash and V-J Day, you are sold at discount by the social historians - kissed off with a reference to the Depression, the Rhineland, Pearl Harbor and D-Day.

Well, it is a very sad thing to have your youth pre-empted by Booth Tarkington, Gene Stratton Porter and F. Scott Fitzgerald. Or lied about by Jack Kerouac and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

It makes you feel like a displaced person - or maybe a member of some secret society - if your youth is filled with:

Rumble seats, running boards, corduroy knickers, sailor suits, ice cream pants, calamine lotion, pork pie hats, berets, white ducks, white bucks, big-little books and Walter Damosch.

Or if you remember who used to say:

Wanna buy a duck? Monkeys is the craziest people. Go on, Frank. I have a lady in the balcony. No time for that now, Uncle Jim. The woman I love. Round and round she goes, and where she stops nobody knows.

Or if you used to say:

We do our part. A mile a minute. Knock-knock; who's there? The fifth column. Who killed vaudeville? Manchukuo. Super het. He made the trains run on time.

Or sing:

A Tisket, a Tasket. Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf? Happy Days Are Here Again. The Dipsy Doodle. The Music Goes 'Round and 'Round. Moon Over Miami. Hold Tight.

Or listened to:

Or can hear, as if it were yesterday:

Paul Whiteman play the "Rhapsody in Blue." Duke Ellington play "Stormy Weather." Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman, the Dorseys and Ray Noble play anything.

Or if you ever sent in two box tops or reasonable facsimile of same. Or stopped whatever you were doing to look up at a bi-plane, autogyro, zeppelin. Or if you can remember Johnny - stepping out of store windows and cigarette counters all over the country.

Question Box

QUESTION - "In the Constitution of the United States, Article I, Section 8, gives Congress the power to coin money and regulate the value thereof. On this section I can see where Congress could come out with stainless dimes, quarters and halves. My question is this:

"As Article I, Section 10 states no state shall make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts, if the Congress eliminates silver in coins, how are the states going to pay their debts?"

ANSWER: The same clause of Article I, Section 8, also empowered Congress to "fix the standard of weights and measures." Therefore, until comparatively recently it was believed that Congress' only power in regulating the value of coined money was "to create and preserve the uniformity and purity of such a standard of value," as set forth by the Supreme Court in 1850. President Grover Cleveland, in a message to Congress, said:

"The standard must necessarily be fixed and certain."

The limitation on the states was designed to have a uniform currency in all states. The states' power to determine "a tender in payment of debts," was considered only the power of a state to determine what the state would accept in payment. It was not considered the province of government to determine what individuals would accept in payment. However if an individual agreed to accept coin, the Constitution requires sought to set a standard just as they sought to set other standards of weights and measures.

No governmental agency can regulate any value. The only way a true value can be established is on the free market where all parties are allowed to help establish values by their willingness or unwillingness to accept the thing. But an agency of government can establish an arbitrary amount of gold or silver in a coin for the sake of uniformity in transactions. Then the law of supply and demand will determine the value either of gold or silver or of a commodity for which it might be exchanged.

Now, however, the politicians have decided they have the authority to debase the unit of value. It is as if Congress decided to reduce the number of yards in a mile in order to permit more Americans to break the world record for the mile race. The runners don't run any faster, but the times established seem to be faster. However, when it comes to reaching specific points of geography, they find they still take the same time, although they cover more of the abbreviated miles. In economics, that is what is known as inflation.

As to the states' authority to set a standard of payment, the Civil War determined that states no longer can take action contrary to the federal government. The states will continue to pay their debts with what Congress says is "legal tender," as long as individuals will accept the paper, stainless steel or other promises to pay. When the public fully realizes the depreciated purchasing power of the fiat money, the politicians and all who have their saving in credit will be in real trouble.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

No Place for Regulators In True Free Enterprise

By SAM CAMPBELL
Business Editor

A statement by Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon before the House Committee on Banking and Currency illustrates how well-meaning individuals trap themselves by their own philosophy.

In his appearance before the committee, Mr. Saxon made no bones about it that he is a free-enterpriser by sentiment. Here, in part, is what he said:

"We are a private enterprise economy, and we place primary reliance on individual initiative. Consistent with this philosophy, governmental limitations are imposed only where there is a clear public purpose to be served, and those limitations must be strictly interpreted so as to avoid needless interference with the free discretion of the individual."

Both Sides Cheer

Now the statement is of a type that could be cheered by the eager enterpriser and the devout socialist alike.

The enterprise type would applaud because Mr. Saxon makes emphatic use of the label "free enterprise". The socialist would stomp his feet and throw his hat in the air because, labels aside, the line of thought contained in that statement is the very line that allows him to come to power.

To see that this assertion is true, you need only to examine the inards of Mr. Saxon's words. He says, for example, that "governmental limitations are imposed only where there is a clear public purpose."

Right there, you see, the question arises as to who shall determine what the "clear public purpose" is. And once this line of thought is adopted, the only answer that you can arrive at is that some agency of government shall make that determination.

So the regulator defines the purpose. Being human, he defines the term in a way that tends to suit his convenience. Naturally, he doesn't want to put his own agency out of business. That would cost him his job.

Point Number One, therefore, is that the regulator is in the regulating business and he intends to stay there. Moreover, he looks forward to higher pay for himself and to having more persons on his staff. His decisions as to what is and is not "the public purpose" tend to correspond with what adds to his personal status.

Of course, you say society must be either regulated or unregulated, and that some degree of regulation is necessary; we can't let the thieves take over.

My friend, do you not suppose thieves are smart enough to get jobs as regulators? They shall never be rid of thieves. The most we can do is to avoid creating regulatory agencies that can fall into the hands of unscrupulous men. It is better that the crooks operate outside the law.

The role of government is to provide a condition of law and order; whatever goes beyond that function ceases to be government and instead becomes misgovernment.

DECLINE OF ANTI-COMMUNISM

While the general public thinks they are actively opposed to communism, there has been a sharp decline in the number of persons actively and openly combating communism's objectives.

The professional anti-communist is becoming very rare. Following World War II, when facts about Soviet subversion emerged from wartime secrecy and censorship, a large number of patriotic citizens made it their business to bring facts to the attention of their countrymen.

In those days, before sophistication replaced patriotism, Americans listened to the anti-communists. They weighed the facts and became quite disturbed about the security of America. When public indignation against communism reached its zenith, anti-communists became the victims of a massive campaign to defame them.

The great Senator Pat McCarran's investigations of subversion had broad support and a popular following in the U. S. Senate, including Senator John F. Kennedy. Attempts were made to defame and discredit McCarran, which he always overcame. Several arch foes of anti-communists were indicted, some convicted and officially exposed as a disgrace to their country.

In recent years anti-communists and patriots have been objects of derision. Those not in oblivion are spoken of as super-patriots, extremists, members of hate groups, and "rightists." This amazingly successful campaign follows the Kremlin's dictates.

Sources of information about communism are closing up like clams. At one time 80 per cent of former FBI agents could be depended upon as a good source of information regarding subversive activity.

It is appalling when one recalls how many anti-communists he once knew and how few he now knows. If confirmation is needed regarding a suspected subversive, one does not know where to turn. The need is great and Americans should encourage anti-communists to keep informed.
