Army Coup Topples Algerian Chief

Automobile Rates To Rise Tuesday

AUSTIN (UPI) — When the State Board of Insurance raises auto insurance rates next Tuesday, it will do so without knowing how much money is being made or lost on Texas car insurance.

The board chairman, Hunter McLean, already has warned that the average Texas car owner can expect to pay 12 to 15 per cent higher accident frequencies, hospital and doctor bills, and repair bills were to blame.

The uniform premium charges set each year by the board are based on reams of data submitted by the hundreds of companies that insure Texas cars. Included in these reports are national profit-or-loss figures, but none showing exactly how the companies are doing in Texas.

The auto insurance industry claims to have lost $200 million nationally last year on $4 billion worth of auto insurance claims.

However, insurance board figures compiled from company reports indicate only 49 per cent of the premium dollars paid in Texas last year were actually paid out to the people who suffered injuries or damage in accidents.

A 5 per cent allowance for "profit and contingencies" is built into the insurance board's rate-setting formula.

Board member Ned Price acknowledged the absence of Texas profit-or-loss figures but pointed out the board gets detailed reports on the frequency and cost of accident claims, broken down not only for the state but also for each of the 26 insurance rating territories in Texas and each of the eight risk classifications.

He also noted that the portion of the premium dollar set aside for company expenses — currently 37 per cent — is a trifle lower than the national average.

"That's what I'm interested in," he said. "I want to make sure there isn't any water in that formula."

Determination of the expense allowance is the first step in the board's rate-making process.

At present, the board allows 20 per cent for agents' commissions and other expenses incurred in writing a policy, 6 per cent for general expense such as operation of the home office, 1 per cent for inspection and auditing, 4.86 per cent for taxes and 5 per cent for "profit and contingencies."

After the board determines what portion of the premium dollar it wants to reserve for claims, the second step in rate-making begins.

Based on company claims reports for the period from June 30, 1963, to June 30, 1964, and the board's expectation of further trends in accident frequency and claims costs, the board decides what portion of the premiums earned will be required to pay the anticipated claims for the year beginning Aug. 1.

The difference between this figure and the 65 per cent ideal will determine the average statewide hike in premiums. Rates will be raised enough to maintain the 63-37 ratio of claims to expenses.

The third step involves modification of this statewide average increase to conform with the previous year's experience in each of the rating territories and risk classifications. An area that had higher claims than the statewide average will get a bigger-than-average premium increase and vice versa.

"People always howl when their car insurance goes up," Price said. "Some people say the board is in bed with the companies. But I wonder what these people would say if we didn't keep the rates in line and the companies started pulling out of Texas. Then you'd hear the biggest howl ever."

DESTROYED — The store owned by H. E. Ellis at Glencoe, N. M., in the Hondo Valley was destroyed during heavy flooding in the area. Raging floodwaters caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage, washing buildings, vehicles and equipment downstream.

Death Count Mounts In Colorado Flood

DENVER (UPI) — The mighty Arkansas River, trailing a 175-mile wake of death and destruction in southern Colorado, rolled at record levels Saturday through Kansas.

To the north, the South Platte River mauled small communities and twisted bridges in stricken Colorado, where 10,000 persons were homeless. The death toll rose to 19, and President Johnson declared a disaster area.

To the south, New Mexico's Canadian, Cimarron and Vermejo rivers were receding. But a flash flood blocked U.S. 66 and two traffic deaths were blamed on the storm.

"I lost everything I had," said Augustin Ricon, a beet picker at Lamar, Colo., which was inundated Friday by the Arkansas.

"My wife and five kids have just what we have on our backs. Everything is gone," Manuel Guarjardo, 36, also of Lamar, took his wife and four children, aged 6 to 14, for a ride Friday. Floods overturned their car and swept away the whole family except Guarjardo.

Mrs. Carol Oakes was stepping into a rescue helicopter with her 3-year-old son in her arms near Agate, Colo., when the boy slipped from her grasp and was drowned.

Newsmen in an airplane flying over the swollen Arkansas saw spectators going toward the flood crest to watch it pass in western Kansas, then fleeing on foot to higher ground while the rampaging waters inundated their abandoned cars.

Despite the fact the awesome 22-foot crisis which inundated whole towns in western Colorado Friday were falling as the Arkansas moved east through Kansas, it was expected to bring record floods to that state for nearly a solid week.

The weather bureau predicted levels up to eight feet above flood stage at Kinsley, Kan., Monday; Larned, Tuesday and Great Bend, Wednesday. Flooding was expected at Great Bend through Friday.

The Arkansas was in flood or receding after flooding along 250 miles of its length from Pueblo, Colo., to Dodge City, Kan., including 175 miles in Colorado which was ordered evacuated Friday.

Parts of La Junta, Colo., were under several feet of water. Lamar, Colo., was nearly completely inundated Friday and half its 8,000 population evacuated. Holly, Colo., east of Lamar near the Kansas border, was completely evacuated and flooded twice in three days.

President Johnson Saturday notified members of the Colorado congressional delegation that those areas of the state affected by a week of tornadoes, severe storms and flooding will be designated as national disaster areas eligible for federal help.

Gov. John A. Love estimated damage in 27 flood-stricken counties at $102 million and asked Johnson for $31 million in federal aid.

In Denver, more than 700 National Guardsmen remained on duty, flying rescue missions, guarding against looting and airlifting food, medicine and blankets to flood victims across the state.

Burglary Spree, Vandalism Still Baffle Police

Pampa police Saturday night still were without clues to the wholesale spree by burglars who hit soft drink dispensers at 19 Pampa service stations early Friday.

Pampa also stated they had no suspects in the wholesale deflation of tires on an estimated 200 automobiles in various Pampa residential areas Thursday night or Friday morning.

While police believed the burglaries and tire deflations were not committed by the same persons, they admitted both cases had them baffled.

Most of the service stations hit were on north Hobart or up and down Brown and Frederic. The soft drink machines were all on the outside of the stations and no report of any station being entered was received.

No estimate of the amount of money lost was made. However, soft drink company officials said that damage to machines would probably outweigh the amount of money taken.

While police were being deluged with reports of the service stations burglaries, reports of tires being deflated started coming in.

Police estimated that approximately 200 automobiles in the city had two or more tires deflated during the spree.

On Doucette street, every automobile parked outside had the tires deflated. Other reports were on Evergreen, Fir, Dogwood and Beech.

Police said none of the tires was damaged, other than the deflation.

Helicopter Crewmen Missing in Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist ground fire blew up a U. S. Army helicopter in flight Saturday and sent it crashing to earth 195 miles northeast of Saigon. All four crewmembers were reported missing.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, at least one American was reported killed and 19 others injured in battles, a terrorist bombing and crashes in a 24-hour period.

Over Communist North Viet Nam, American aircraft flew 26 sorties, bombing bridges, highways and river ferries.

While American casualties mounted, Saigon generals put the finishing touches to South Viet Nam's ninth government since the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem less than two years ago.

Air Force Commander Nguyen Cao Ky formally took over as premier of the new government. He expressed determination to press the war against the Communist Viet Cong and warned that the situation was "critical and our enemy is cunning."

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, former defense minister and chairman of a leading committee of 10 generals, was confirmed for all practical purposes, as new chief of state. Maj. Gen. Phan Xuan Chieu, a onetime exile, and the committee's secretary general, was charged with shaping policies of the nation.

Premier Ky's "war cabinet" included 14 civilians and two military officers. There were five holdovers from the defunct regime of Premier Phan Huy Quat.

The military rulers also proclaimed a new constitution and disclosed formation of a "Congress of the Armed Forces," including all South Vietnamese officers of general ranks and a five-man National Security Council.

A U. S. military spokesman disclosed the downing of the U. S. Army helicopter after it was struck by ground fire north-

A three-vehicle pile-up late Friday night one mile west of White Deer, on Highway 60, took the life of a 44-year-old registered nurse from Pampa and seriously injured her husband.

Killed instantly when the car in which she was riding crashed into a pick-up and grain truck was Dorothy Nell Driggers of 452 Pitts. Mrs. Driggers was employed as a registered nurse at Highland General Hospital on the 7 p.m. until 3 a.m. shift.

Her husband, Alvin Driggers, 47, was listed in serious condition late Saturday at Veterans Hospital in Amarillo.

He was transferred to the Amarillo hospital early Saturday morning after undergoing emergency treatment at Highland General.

Attendants said he was suffering from chest and back injuries. Investigating highway patrolmen said the accident happened about 9:30 p.m. They said the 1963 model automobile driven by Driggers rammed into the rear of a pick-up and grain truck parked along the roadway.

The patrolmen said the pick-up had pulled off the highway to fill the grain truck with gas.

The pick-up was driven by Marvin Urbanczyk of White Deer. His wife a 4-year-old child

Ben Bella Reportedly In Jail for Treason

ALGIERS (UPI) — Algerian strongman President Ahmed Ben Bella was toppled from power by tanks and steel helmeted troops Saturday in a swift army coup headed by his rival and former aide, Col. Houari Boumediene. He was accused of "high treason" and was reportedly placed in jail.

A communique said "Ben Bella has undergone the fate reserved by history for all despots and has learned that no one is entitled to humiliate the nation." It attacked his as a political charlatan who conducted a regime of "anything goes."

The pre-down rebolt apparently was bloodless. Boumediene promptly took over as head of a "revolutionary committee."

(Reports in Paris said Boumediene is regarded as Communist China's chief supporter in Algeria. Whether he will seek to swing Algeria into the Peking camp was too early to say, the Paris reports said, but his record of sympathy for Peking is well known.)

Ben Bella, strongman ruler of Algeria for nearly three years, flirted with Moscow, Havana and Cairo, but was not an avowed Communist.

Boumediene Saturday ousted Ben Bella with the same combat tanks and troops that helped the president into power. Before dawn, they rolled into the capital and seized key points, surrounding Ben Bella's residence.

Travelers reaching Paris reported hearing firing in some parts of the city but by early morning the city had returned to normal.

Boumediene, a lean and tough veteran of the long war against French colonial rule, replaced the Ben Bella regime with a "revolutionary council" with himself as its head.

At least one cabinet minister in addition to Boumediene, who was Ben Bella's defense minister, joined the rebels. He was Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Rofeflika, who announced that Algeria's policy of non-alignment would continue unchanged.

Boumediene's coup took place just 10 days before the start of the 30-nation Afro-Asian summit conference here—what was to have been a triumph for Ben Bella's neutralist foreign policy.

The fate of the meeting was uncertain, but Algeria's new rulers indicated they wanted it to go ahead.

Boumediene's revolutionary manifesto denounced Ben Bella for usurping personal power, creating anarchy, and misappropriating funds. It charged him with high treason.

The revolt, as swift as it was unexpected, erupted shortly after midnight. As Algerians slept behind their closed shutters, army assault tanks swept through the silent, empty streets followed by truckloads of troops in helmets and full battle dress.

Several of the tanks rolled up to the Villa Joly, Ben Bella's official residence. Others took (See COUP, Page 3)

All-Out Fight Due on Hospital Care For Aged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration supporters plan an all-out fight Tuesday to try and reverse a major upset which would base President Johnson's program of hospital care for the aged on ability to pay.

The surprise setback came in the Senate Finance Committee Thursday during consideration of the key part of Johnson's $6 billion health and welfare package. The committee approved an amendment by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., which would require persons in higher income brackets to pay a greater share of their own hospital bills.

The new sliding scale system was adopted to finance another long amendment which would wipe out any limit on the time an aged person could stay in the hospital under the program.

Committee staff members said the time limit amendment would add $300 million a year in hospital costs of persons covered under the program.

But rather than add this to the government's cost, the committee voted to shift a greater burden on those with incomes of $1,000 or more.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., co-sponsor of the administration bill, declared Long's amendments would revamp the basic purpose of the program.

"The amendments, if they are sustained, will make this a poverty program and it was not intended to be that," he said. "It was intended to be an insurance program, like Social Security, under which every one shares equally if they pay equally."

Long, who is also Senate Democratic whip and thus a member of Johnson's legislative leadership team, showed no inclination to capitulate.

2,800 in Gray County Collecting Social Security

Monthly old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits in Gray County now top $191,060, Hal Geldon, district manager of Social Security in Amarillo, said Saturday on releasing his annual county benefit data report.

The new monthly figure represents an increase of $15,585 per month over the corresponding period last year.

"This increase can be attributed to the changes in the law in recent years, as well as to the growth of our aged population," Geldon said. "This money stimulates county business; most of it is spent for food, clothing, and shelter."

Monthly benefits first became payable in January 1940, and they have continued without interruption for years, accompanied by a steady growth in the number of beneficiaries. Geldon noted that as of January 1 this year, some 2,800 Gray County residents were collecting about $2,292,720 annually from social security, an increase of $3187,020 a year over the same date last year.

As of January 1965, in the nation at large, more than 19 million beneficiaries were receiving payments at the rate of over 1.3 billion per month.

The average monthly old-age retirement benefit in January was $77.57 for all states, while in the State of Texas the average was $69.43, Geldon said.

The following table shows the number and amount of each type of monthly benefit paid in Gray County, as of December 31, 1964:

Beneficiary Group	No. Of Beneficiaries	Total Paid
Retired Worker	3,413	$111.52
Wife or Husband	497	$18.79
Widow or Widower	513	$20.59
Mothers, Children, and Parents	409	$27.21
Disabled workers and dependents	231	$12.39

The year 1965 marks several milestones in the history of social security. The January 1965 benefit payment marked the 300th month of payment since monthly benefits first became payable in January 1940. The number of monthly benefits currently being paid will reach the 20 million mark in 1965. In addition, August is the 30th anniversary of the signing of the Social Security Act by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Geldon said.

Coup

over the Dar-El-Beida Airport, the radio station, the chief post office and other key points.

There were reports of loud shouts and breaking of windows when the tanks and troops showed up at Ben Bella's residence. The tanks covered the villa with their guns. Soon the shouting stopped and the lights went out, including one in Ben Bella's bedroom.

Soldiers swiftly replaced the regular police guards at the villa and Boumediene took over control of this impoverished country of 11 million.

Communications with the outside world were cut, restored briefly to permit the news of Boumediene's seizure of power to get out, then cut again. Censorship was established.

Algiers Radio skipped its news items in the early hours but later began broadcasting the lengthy manifesto of the rebels.

It charged Ben Bella with a long series of crimes and mistakes, including "political experimentation," "love of luxury," "improvisation," "political charlatanism," and ruining the economy.

It urged a quick return to political stability and a restoration of the economy.

These factors appeared to be behind the revolt:

—The chaos created by Ben Bella's sweeping economic directives since independence.

—They were aimed at building "socialism," an aim Boumediene shares, but they were carried out in such a way that only France's annual $200 million plus aid from the United States and the Communist world, kept Algeria from bankruptcy.

—The old personal rivalry between Boumediene, the battle veteran of the seven and one-half year Algerian war, and Ben Bella who spent all but two years of the war in a French prison and seized power when he was released.

Tunnel Hideaways Saved Red Cong

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reports of underground tunnels and hideaways offered a possible solution Saturday of a conflict over whether this week's massive B52 bomber raid in South Viet Nam was a success or a fiasco.

Military experts suggested that the Communist troops against whom the Guam-based raid was aimed — possibly 2,000 men — may have been so well dug in that they are able to weather the massive bombardment.

If so, the shattered force presumably could have emerged from deep fox holes, caves and tunnels to escape before ground forces moved in to mop up. They also may have taken their dead and wounded with them.

This version did not explain why numerous buildings were still standing after a raid in which the B52s dropped nearly 1,500 bombs — 705 and 1000-pounders — at a rate of about three or city block.

The military experts also pointed out, however, that the raid occurred in a jungle area where trees and thickly-matted underbrush may have greatly of the bombs.

The conflict developed when defense officials claimed success for the raid despite reports from Saigon that no bodies of victims of aerial bombs were found and that Communist Viet Cong may have had advance warning of the raid.

Three Viet Cong were killed, three wounded and 16 captured by a force of 105 South Vietnamese troops who entered the area immediately after the bombing.

The B52s destroyed a communications center, 20 to 30 barracks, storage and assembly buildings and 2500 pounds of rice. Snipers were active, but the initial fighting was described as "light though fairly continuous."

"The objective of the B52s at attack was to break up the concentration of Viet Cong forces," a defense official said. "That objective was accomplished."

east of Saigon.

Another Army helicopter crashed off the runway at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airbase Saturday morning, injuring all four crew members. The aircraft was heavily damaged in the crash. The cause was not immediately known.

Three other Americans were wounded Saturday afternoon when a bomb exploded in a crowded milk bar at Bac Lieu, 125 miles southwest of Saigon. A Vietnamese woman was killed in the blast and 17 other persons injured.

Seven U.S. Army men were wounded in action in Binh Dinh Province, 285 miles northeast of Saigon, an American spokesman said. Five of the wounded were U.S. special forces personnel. The two others were Army helicopter crewmen hit by Viet Cong groundfire while flying a support mission for Vietnamese ground troops.

The battle against an estimated 150 Viet Cong guerrillas left 31 Communists killed, four wounded and two captured. The government force lost only two men killed and three wounded in addition to the Americans.

In another action, a U.S. Army helicopter pilot was wounded in the right wrist by a shell fragment while supporting a Vietnamese ground force attack 20 miles northwest of Saigon. Crewmen returned the Communist fire. They reported killing 35 guerrillas and destroying 20 Viet Cong "structures."

One American was killed and another wounded when an M26 grenade they were using in construction of a booby trap accidentally exploded at Phuoc Vinh, 40 miles north of Saigon.

City Commission Facing Weed Ordinances Again

Ordinances enforcing compulsory weed cutting in Pampa and traffic restrictions on the "S" curve on E. Francis St. will be the principal legislation before city commissioners when they meet Tuesday morning.

The weed cutting ordinance gives the city power to go out and cut weeds higher than 10 inches and assess the cost on property owners.

The E. Francis St. traffic restrictions include "no parking" zones and a 20-mile speed limit at the approaches to the "S" curve.

Also up for consideration will be a request by J. C. Womack that downtown merchants be permitted to hold a sidewalk sale Friday and Saturday.

The U.S. Liberty head half-dollar first was minted in 1892.

RETURNERS FROM VISIT

BONN, Germany (UPI)—West German Vice Chancellor Erich Mende returned Saturday from a five-day visit to Washington and New York. He told newsmen at the airport that his talks with Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were "very satisfactory indeed."

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

The summer Red Cross swimming program got off to a bang at the Center last Monday with some 120 swimmers. Parents should note too on these lessons that the Center has an indoor pool and lessons will be taught regardless of what the weather outside may be doing.

There are still some swim classes open for enrollment. Children that pass any course in one session may enroll for the next grade up immediately for the next session. Classes still available are:

June 28-July 9 9-10 a. m.—Adv. Beginner Intermediates 10-11 a. m.—Adv. Beginner Swimmer
July 12-23 9-10 a. m.—Adv. Beginner Intermediates 10-11 a. m.—Adv. Beginner Swimmer
August 9-20 9-11 a. m.—Jr. & Sr. Life Saving

The Centers summer schedule has been worked out with all the various activities given a special night of emphasis. On Monday night the Men's Summer Volleyball League participates; Tuesday and Thursdays the gym is left open for open activities such as the high schoolers working out for basketball to keep in condition; Wednesday and Friday nights is trampolining along with the other open activities and Saturday afternoon is trampolining.

A new activities class started last Tuesday night—Judo. This class is open to Center members and meets at 7:30 p. m. in the gym. A. E. Brewer and Curtis King are conducting the classes which will meet through the summer. This class is open to both boys and girls from age 6-60 who are interested in the fundamentals of judo. Enrollment is still open by coming by the Center and signing up. Memberships may be purchased at the door.

The Center has shown a steady increase in participation this year and an increase in memberships. The public is realizing it is better to buy a membership than pay individually. Family memberships that include all members of the immediate family are only $20 per year and $12 for six months. Individual memberships are $8 per year and $5 for six months. It takes only a matter of minutes to fill out the information data and to have your membership cards typed. Why not come by now and enjoy the summer at the Center.

The Centers new Patio or Sun Area is now fully open. Lawn chairs are available for free use a concessions building has been erected whereby you may purchase soft drinks and candy. Center members are encouraged to take advantage of this sun area for your pleasure.

The Center is scheduling another Battle of the Bands called No. 2 which will take place on July 31 from 7:30 until 11:00 p. m. This will be on the same line as the Battle last March. Each paid admission will receive a ballot to vote for their choice of bands. Only four bands will be invited to participate. Already two bands have entered the jam session they being the Tiaras from Amarillo and the Essex from Pampa. Two other bands have been invited; and their entries will be expected shortly.

The Men's Summer Volleyball League played in their second week last Monday and the results of the matches were Jeff over Mutt 15-3 and 15-4; Skelly Oilers over the Stompers 16-14 and 15-1; Stompers over Mutt 15-0 and 15-4 while Skelly Oilers trounced Jeff 15-3 and 15-12. League standings find Skelly Oilers 4-0; Stompers 3-1; Jeff 1-3 and Mutt 0-4.

Defense Bill To Top Agenda

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Spl) — Congressman Walter Rogers said today two appropriations bills, including the measure to provide defense funds in the coming fiscal year, are among bills scheduled to be considered this week by the U.S. House of Representatives. The other appropriations measure would provide funds for the Fiscal 1965 public works program.

Also on the agenda is H. R. 3014, the "Federal Cigarette Labeling and Advertising Act," introduced by Congressman Rogers and approved after lengthy hearings in the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of which Congressman Rogers is a ranking member. The bill's principal purpose is to provide adequate warning to the public of the potential hazards of cigarette smoking by requiring the labeling of cigarette packages with the statement: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health."

Congressman Rogers will preside Thursday and Friday as the Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs will convene to consider legislation authorizing the Lower Colorado River Basin Project; saline water conversion programs; and amendments to the Small Reclamation Projects Act.

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

By Joe Tooley and Tom Beard

One of the more calamitous stages teenagers must pass through is the period when young skins are subject to a number of disorders, notably acne. Over-productive skin oil glands can cause this condition, as can rapid body changes peculiar to this stage which makes skin more susceptible to bacteria.

Starches, fatty foods and sweets encourage acne, while a diet high in vitamins is probably beneficial. Important to helping to curb this condition is sufficient rest, proper elimination, reasonable skin care, proper food, outdoor exercise and use of external medication with a record of beneficial results.

MOVABLE CLASSROOMS
WAYNE, Pa. (UPI) — Classrooms that can be moved from one school to another within a school district as populations shift are in the works to help meet the problem of the nation's steadily increasing number of students.

A local firm, Madway Main Line Homes, Inc., which makes relocated homes, says it has concluded an agreement covering nine Eastern states to manufacture movable classrooms to be offered to schools and colleges under a lease purchase program established by C.I.T. Educational Buildings, Inc., a subsidiary of C.I.T. Financial Corp.

According to Ralph K. Madway, president of the firm, the relocatable classrooms are shipped fully equipped and can be supplied within 30 days. Erection on previously poured foundations usually takes about two days.

BURGLAR OVERSLEEPS
ROME (UPI) — Police said Saturday that Franco Monaldi had a habit, after breaking into deserted houses, of lying down on a bed to rest a bit and maybe even take a nap before absconding with the loot. He did it again the other night when he broke into a beach villa at Santa Severa, police said. But this time he overslept and was awakened by the villa's owner, a police inspector.

WIGS HERE TO STAY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Wigs are not a fad, according to Richard Hartwich, international wig maker and stylist famous for his revolutionary chameleon wig which changes color with a color rinse to fit mood or clothes.

"When the wig idea first became popular, synthetics were sold everywhere," Hartwich said. "That was a fad. But the quality human hair wig has become an integral part of a woman's wardrobe."

NEW YORK — (NEA)—Who the heck is Hubert Hilton? "He could be heavyweight boxing champ but he hates to fight," says Frank Festa. "Who the heck is Frank Festa? 'I'm Hubert's manager and I'm also a plumber on Long Island.' This improbable quiniela has recently been elevated to what passes for prominence in the wacky world of fisticuffs. Ring Magazine—a sort of prizefighter's Playboy with photos of scantily clad pug—has named Hubert the 10th-ranked heavyweight in the world. This puts him only one rung below Roger Rischer, whoever he is. The latest Ring rankings are in insufferable illustration of the pit of public apathy into which boxing has fallen. Time was when guys who couldn't remember their street address knew the top 10 heavyweights by heart. Now, many aren't even sure who the top heavyweight is. Like, who the heck is Muhammad Ali? And in the other divisions it's even worse. There's a chap named Gert (Hotty) Van Heerden who is ostensibly the ninth best light heavyweight fighter on the globe. And, quick now, who's the flyweight champion of the world? Salvatore Burrini, of course. Good old Sal. In the lighter weights the list reads like a rebel rollcall in a South American coup: Gabriel Terronez is the No. 7 welterweight; Nicolino Loche is No. 2 lightweight; Love Allotey is second ranked among junior light-weights but had to beat out something named Kany Suh II for the honor. Most of these guys are so unknown they have to carry I. D. cards to get into their own homes at night. Takeshi Nakamura, Jesus Pimental. Fortunata Mance—they sound like bit players in a foreign film festival. Reading the list makes your eye water.

They are so obscure fans call them, "Hey, you!" Many are attractions only in their own ballwicks. Most couldn't draw flies to an all-day sucker away from home. Except Hubert Hilton, 10th best heavyweight of the day. "Hubert," says manager-plumber Festa, "isn't well-known in the states but he's a big attraction in England. Last time there he drew 600."

Fiesta? "No, people. Big shots, too. It was one of those ballroom affairs where everyone dresses in tuxedos at ringside. They held it at the Hilton Hotel in London. Very high class. In a place like that it's impossible to draw them."

People? "No, flies." Hilton—no relation to the site of his last bout—is a Negro, 6 foot 1, 192 pounds. He has had 15 fights (one loss, one draw) and six children since coming out of Georgia a few years ago. "He's a likeable kid," says Festa, "but he's got two drawbacks in boxing. He's not very good at it and he doesn't like it—he'd rather play professional football. But he likes the money. And I figure if he ever learns to handle himself, he'll go places in the sport."

Ninth place maybe? "Perhaps. He's a scrapper. People in England are still talking about his last match. He knocked out Jack Bodell in six rounds. Think of it, Jack Bodell."

Who the heck is Jack Bodell? Bowling The closest thing to a trippate this week, was Dave Parker with a 168, 168, 178—Neither Allene Coker nor Ivo Denson were bragging about their last game last Tuesday. Aileen Boyd bowled one of her best games, and sister-in-law Eve Boyd had to come up and beat her by 5 pins.

We will have to mention Correne Nichols, and the fact that even if she didn't bowl too good, she did pick a pretty split 6, 7, 10—Lonnie Harmon and John Snuggs both posted a 756 series in a Best Ball Doubles, which is a pretty good start—Wonder who will beat it?

Tom Mersing, also proved that practice pays off—by having a 221 game. You wouldn't believe it, but the Juniors are right up at the top. Steve Walls set things afire with a 213, 221, 577, while Janet Morgan again bowled a nice 190, 463 series. Buddy Newton and Steve Walls came up with a 411 scratch team game, 198, 213—and next game a 178 221 for a 399 series—Not bad.

The Bantam and Aerie Juniors didn't fare quite so well. Bruche Murchison and Ann Corley had both hit game and hi series, and a little squirt Bryce Williams had a 34 first game, and 117 last game. At that rate of improvement, a 300 should come easy. Maybe they were all bowling so good because they saw the swell trophies that were won in leagues this year.

Rennie Havens, one of our top bowlers of a few years ago, is now working at the Midland Lanes. He just couldn't resist the bowling business. Fred Hart, playing baseball for the Pampa News, rushed in for the last couple of games Monday and bowled up a storm to help us win a couple games.

Mick Homers Yankees, 10-2

By United Press International
They say in the New York Yankee clubhouse that Mickey Mantle is leading the league in the most important thing of all this season: manhood.

Watching the three time American League most valuable player perform this year is almost as agonizing for his teammates as it is for Mantle to play. He's wrapped up in yards of bandages before every game, he can't pivot properly batting left-handed and he plays the outfield like he's walking on eggs.

Hits Grand Slam
Mantle demonstrated his ability to destroy an opponent with one swing Friday night when he crashed a grand slam homer in the first inning to run this season but five of them have come against the Dodgers. He connected for No. 5 Friday night and it was the blow that brought Chris Short and the Phillies a 4-2 victory.

Squares Phil's Record
The win squared the Phillies' season record at .50 and prevented the Dodgers from opening up a 4½-game lead over the Milwaukee Braves who suffered a 5-4 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cincinnati Reds downed the Chicago Cubs 3-1, the San Francisco Giants defeated the New York Mets 3-0 and the Houston Astros scored a 5-1 victory over Pittsburgh in their NL games.

In the American League, New York routed Minnesota 10-2, Chicago edged out Boston 4-3, Washington nipped Baltimore 2-0, Cleveland tripped Los Angeles 3-2 and Detroit topped Kansas City 3-1.

Stuart, who plays no favorites when it comes to Dodger pitchers— he's clipped Don Drysdale for two homers and Sandy Koufax for one—whacked his second of the season off Johnny Podres Friday night and drove in two other runs with a single.

Wins Fourth Straight
Short, a problem child since the start of the season, went the route with an eight hitter to win his fourth straight game against the Dodgers and raise his record to 7-6. The loss squared Podres' record at 3-3.

The Cardinals snapped a three-game losing streak when Bill White homered in the 10th-inning to snap a 4-4 tie. It was only the sixth win in 23 games for the Cardinals and the fifth loss in 17 games for the Braves.

Neely was booted off the Oklahoma football team the day before the Sooners met Florida State in the Gator Bowl game. School officials said the action was taken because Neely signed a pro contract with Houston before his college eligibility was finished.

Neely admitted signing the contract but said Oiler officials told him it was not legal until after he had finished his college career. He said the Oilers sent him a check, but that he mailed it back to the club Dec. 30, two days before the signing was disclosed.

Baltimore originally held the rights to Neely in the NFL, but according to Oiler owner K.S. (Bud) Adams, "apparently" turned Neely over to Dallas when they heard he already had signed in the AFL.

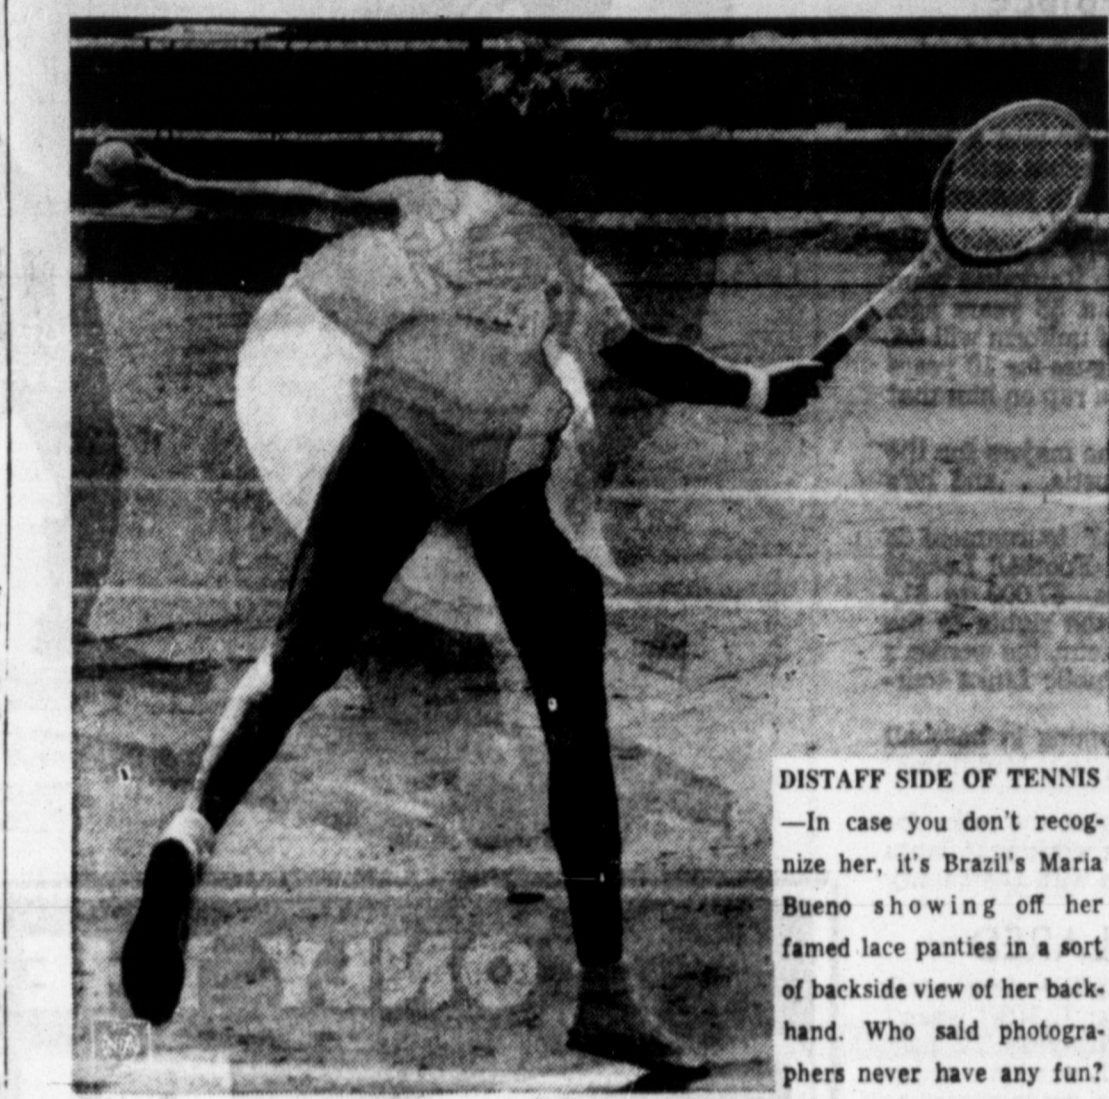

Bill Skowron hit his eighth homer of the season in the sixth inning to snap a 3-3 tie and pave the way for the White Sox' Eddie Fisher to win his seventh game against one loss. Fisher shut out the Red Sox with one hit over the last four innings after the White Sox battled back from an early 3-0 deficit to tie the score.

Frank Aguirre pitched a three-hitter to win his eighth game for the Tigers, who moved to within three games of the Twins with their sixth consecutive victory. Don Wert doubled in the sixth inning to give the Tigers a 2-1 lead and Aguirre doubled and eventually scored on Jerry Lumpe's sacrifice fly to produce an insurance run in the seventh.

The Indians also ran their winning streak to six games with the aid of a sixth-inning homer by Rocky Colavito that broke a 2-2 tie. Floyd Weaver shut out the Angels with four hits for the final five innings to win his second game while Rudy May suffered his sixth setback.

Pete Richert went eight innings and Ron Kline pitched a hitless ninth for the Senators, who sapped the Orioles' seven-game winning streak. Don Lock scored on a passed ball in the second-inning and on Ken McMullen's sacrifice fly in the ninth.

Dick Stuart acquired in an off-season deal with the Boston Red Sox, has hit only nine home

AFL, NFL Squabble Goes Into Courtroom

HOUSTON (UPI)—The latest squabble between the American and National football leagues reaches the courtroom Monday. The fight revolves around the rights of a player, Dick Stuart, who signed contracts with both leagues.

Neely has said he wants to play with Dallas and that the contract he signed with Houston was void. Oiler officials claim their contract is perfectly legal and filed a breach of contract suit against Neely in an Oklahoma City court. The suit will be heard by U.S. Dist. Judge A. B. Chandler.

The Detroit Tigers downed the Kansas City Athletics 3-1, the Cleveland Indians shaded the Los Angeles Angels 3-2 and the Washington Senators shut out the Baltimore Orioles 2-0 in other AL games.

THE BACKSHOP denizens of the Pampa News-Herald, not satisfied with their beating in basketball, have challenged the Pampa Newsboys to a softball game. Their circulation manager has also challenged for a preliminary baseball game between carrier boys. Kinda doubtful though, last time it turned out that Berger had Frank Phillips' cager Ronnie Cooper working in the mail room. . . . this time they'd probably come up with several members of the Berger Braves to play our Little Leaguers.

VERNON HILLIARD, Texas Tech track coach, and this scribe had a long conversation at the Lubbock track meet. Hilliard and TT have gone on an all-out campaign to build up track in Red Riverland, where it has been sadly neglected heretofore. Hilliard expressed great interest in Waston Bullard and Curtis Campbell of the PTC. He did ask me to point out to track hopefuls that the initial scholarships would be given out "blue-chip boys," but that he hoped that every area boy would come to tech and come out for track. All, whether on scholarship or not, would be treated the same, he promised, and if a non-scholarship boy showed real potential, he might get one following his freshman year.

Hilliard also showed a yen for a pair of PTC juniors, broad-jumper, Little Butch Crossland of Pampa, and 890 man Fred Cooper of Stinnett, both of whom he promised to keep a close eye on next year.

Rambling With Red

By RON CROSS

Rambling while wondering whatever happened to Sonny Liston and Cassius Muhammad Ali Clay . . . The talk of investigating pro boxing has died to a dull roar and neither the Champion? nor Sleepy Sonny are doing any talking.

Could it be a way has been found to keep the Muhammad silent?

LURE OF THE PINSTripES

You can get Casey Stengel's temper up by glossing over his record as a manager before he reached the Yankees in 1949.

"Everybody," he growls, "thinks I never won a game until I came to New-York." And he launches into a detailed review of his minor league days with pennants at such stops as Toledo, Milwaukee and Oakland.

Casey also passes the memory test by recalling the names of a half dozen teammates on the Kankakee team that marked his debut in baseball about 35 years ago. And isn't it amazing what a change of uniform will do. Ray Barker languished in the minor leagues for 10 years because, among other things, there was a rap on him that he might not run out a ground ball.

Suddenly he's a Yankee, playing in the majors for the first time, and you never see such hustle. . . and he's about the only one.

And get this. . . The U. S. Open Golf tournament is worth one twenty-fifth of the National Football League title game in television rights revenue—$7,000 to $1,800,000. And that golf figure includes the rights to the four other USGA events, the men's amateur, the women's open and Amateur and the National Public Links tournament.

A father-son combo could be forthcoming in baseball telecasting and broadcasting next year, only in different National League towns.

Harry Cary is the long-time man behind the mike for the St. Louis Cardinals. His boy Skip is working Atlanta games this year and might step right in with the varsity when the Braves move in next season.

WHY THE FEUD FLARED

Most insiders say two things broke up the merger talk between the major pro football leagues: 1. NBC wasn't willing to change the wording of its five-year TV pact with the American circuit; 2. The NFL wouldn't accept Oakland because it already represents a grave threat to the slumping San Francisco franchise and would be too much competition at the 49ers' back door.

Behind the surprising development that saw the Houston Oilers spurn the Astrodome and take Rice Stadium Judge Roy Hofheinz, who dictated the tough terms of Oiler owner Bud Adams, really wants an NFL franchise for himself.

Here's why the USGA will probably go high when the contract for television rights to its championship events comes up for renewal after this year.

If it encountered rainy weather in its two biggest tournaments its operating budget for the year would be shot.

A FEW FOR THE ROAD

Think the pros aren't attracted by college baseball. . . Fred Hatfield, the old major league infielder who now coaches the fine Florida State baseball team, has looked up in the stands and under the shade trees and counted 27 major league scouts in attendance for one game.

The reformation of Sammy Ellis, pitching great guns for Cincinnati, traces his success to self-control. "I had a childish temper," said the redhead, "mostly because I lacked confidence."

Two years ago Wayne Hardin was calling his Navy quarterback, Roger Staubach, the greatest of all time, pro or no, but now Otto Graham is not sure he wants Roger for his College All-Star squad. Because Otto's looking for quarterbacks who fade to pass, and Roger goes back to scramble, "he was taught this way."

Most amazing betting setup in the country is the Monticello, Fla., dog track out in the middle of nowhere in rattler country, with glassed-in dining terrace and all the plush accoutrements of high class living.

And if you plan on going to Raton today better check with the highway patrol and make sure you can get there. Heavy rains have caused flooding and many roads have washed out. There are plenty of detours.

Twelve days intervene before the U.S. government writes off the 1965 fiscal year with another disgraceful Treasury deficit. It will be a big one. The U.S. government has not operated within its income since 1960 when there was a surplus of about $1.2 billion.

Under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson there have been five consecutive deficit years, including the 1965 fiscal year which ends June 30. As of June 1, government had overspent its income since 1960 by about $130 billion. The Treasury reported that as of June 1 the public debt was $319.5 billion. The public debt will be much more than that before the Johnson administration brings government spending within income. There is no assurance this will happen at all.

The record of the Republican party on government economy is better than the Democratic record, but not much. Neither party will accept leaders with the courage to measure proposed spending projects against the standard of what the United States can afford.

Spending Standard
The standard by which politicians do measure spending projects are not necessarily in order: A. Is the project desirable? B. Will it lose the party any votes? C. Will it gain votes for the party? If the project is desirable and a vote get-ter, it is likely to be in, afford it or not.

These free wheeling spending habits have been politically profitable to the spenders. Gets them re-elected. Habits which return such good dividends are not likely to be broken. This raises a question which President Johnson or the secretary of treasury might be able to answer. The question:

"If the United States cannot pay its way during the greatest doom time ever, when is it likely to be able to do so?"

This question is accumulating muscle as the politicians spend and the public debt increases. This accumulating muscle is expressed in terms of what it costs in interest charges to service the public debt. In the current fiscal year the cost will be well above $11 billion. It will be greater the following year and still greater the year after that, as the debt increases.

Interest Runs Second
This interest charge is the second largest item in the Treasury spending program. National defense is No. 1 at nearly $50 billion. No. 3 is agriculture at $6.8 billion followed by Health Education and Welfare at $5.7 billion. HEW might be a good place to look for some government economies. The department was established during the Eisenhower administration. Its first year cost fiscal year 1953 was just under $2 billion. It topped $2 billion in fiscal 1956 and HEW was on its way.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovett Memorial Library this week are:

FICTION:
"The Garrick Year" — Margaret Drabble; the plot of this novel centers on a year in the married life of a young attractive Englishwoman and her husband, an egocentric actor.

"Half of Paradise" — James Lee Burke; the separate struggles of J. P. Winfield, a poor-white folk singer, Toussaint Boudreaux, a bayou county Negro, and Avery Broussard, an aristocratic drunkard, are linked together in this story.

"Fruit of the Poppy" — Robert Wilder; about the men of the United States Federal Bureau of Narcotics and their counterparts in Mexico who work to prevent the smuggling of narcotics into the United States.

"Late Call" — Angus Wilson; a social comedy that presents a devastating picture of Welfare England, where the crumbling class structure has given way to a curious new kind of snobbery and pretense as well as discontent.

MYSTERY:
"The Death-Bringers" — Dell Shannon; it was the fourth bank robbery in twenty-seven days—all, apparently, pulled by the same man. Then came the fifth—leaving death in its wake—the murder of one of Luis Mendoza's most trusted men.

"The Cave of the Chinese Skeletons" — Jack Seward; American investigator Curt Stone is trying to locate some valuable war loot for the U.S. Army Counter Intelligence Corps. In doing so, he and his beautiful Eurasian secretary Jeanne Auber, are put through a series of spine-tingling adventures in post-occupation Japan.

"Most Secret" — John Dickson Carr; sets forth the bold and lusty exploits of Roderick Kinsmere at the free-and-easy court of Charles the Second. It is a story of adventure, sword-play, rides by night, and an actress named Dolly Landis whose charms ensnare hero and villain alike.

"Alias His Wife" — Stephen Ransome; when Ross Quarent, the county prosecutor's assistant, begins a search for the potential blackmailer who had accused him of bigamy, it is interrupted by murder.

"Red Road" — Simon Harvester; features Dorian Silk. For the small army of Simon Harvester enthusiasts on both sides of the Atlantic, that is probably all that need be said.

Lawnmower, Bar-B-Q Pit Reported Stolen

C. N. Snow, 510 West St., told Pampa police Saturday that a lawnmower and homemade Bar-B-Q pit has been stolen from his residence.

The lawnmower was valued at $55 and the Bar-B-Q pit at $50.

RETURNS TO STATION
PACOIMA, Calif. (UPI)—Police today expressed doubt that Kenton Redelings would ever turn in a patrolman application.

Redeling stopped into the Foothill Division station Thursday and asked how to become a policeman, the would-be rookie's car was stopped on the Golden State Freeway and officers found a 45-caliber automatic, a loaded and cocked Derringer and a large gold coin collection on the seat.

He was booked on suspicion of robbery.

DEBATE NEW HAT

NORWICH, England (UPI)—The city council is debating whether to spend $56 on a new ceremonial hat for the sheriff.

Many of the councillors think the current hat, modeled after the fore and aft affair worn by Lord Nelson, is too small.

Councilor Frederick Self conceded that the hat makes the sheriff look "like Captain Pugwash"—a cartoon pirate on television.

JUMBO'S JOLT

BOSTON (UPI)—P. T. Barnum's gigantic elephant, Jumbo, was killed 80 years ago when struck by a freight locomotive in St. Thomas, Ont., while on tour with the circus.

The engineer of the locomotive, W. Burnip, also met violent death—but not in the same accident. Burnip was one of the 452 victims of the great San Francisco earthquake of 1906.

Soil and water conservation practices have really been paying off during the recent rains. Amos Harris who built a 500 ft parallel terraces several years ago reports that they are standing in water from one terrace to the other, and the lister furrows were standing full of water. This system has almost caught enough moisture to make a dryland maize crop. Earl Tarbet who farms northeast of McLean had installed a series of spreader diversion on his cropland. During the recent heavy rains these diversions caught a good spread water over most of the cropland. Ercey Cubine and O. R. Blankenship reported that their terraces caught and held most of the water that fell on their farms west of McLean.

also helps to prevent wind and water erosion. It is the best insurance against wind erosion. We had hundred of acres of wheat that was damaged by wind erosion this year. Some of the wheat blew completely out. The wheat that blew out could have made from 10 to 20 bu. per acre. This could have been prevented with stubble mulch farming. This was a big price to pay for not practicing stubble mulching. Each year in the Texas Panhandle, there deaths and injuries caused by blowing soil. Stubble mulch farming could prevent these car accidents.

Traffic Pattern of Cotton Probed

Counting and terracing, two of the oldest conservation practices known, have increased limit yields of cotton at the Spur Experiment Station. The following results were obtained over a 29 year period at the Spur Station: Where the rows ran down the slope the yield of cotton was 104 pounds per acre. Where the rows ran on the contour with the terraces the lint yield was 172 pounds per acre. The advantage of contour farming would amount to $16.63 per acre. It pays to keep the water where it falls.

Mills in the Cotton Belt's Southeastern region account for 10 percent of the U.S. domestic cotton consumption, but the region produces only 13 percent of the crop. Other regions supply the needed cotton, and says Fred E. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist at Texas A&M University, the Southwest region — Texas and Oklahoma — supply the smallest percentage. He says a U.S. Department of Agriculture study of destinations and types of transportation used to move raw cotton during the 1961-62 season showed that 47 percent went to ports for export or reconcentration, 13 percent moved in intrastate traffic, 4 percent was shipped to interior concentration points.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Gray County Agent
James Baggett, north of town has had 6.1 inches in last two weeks. Red Easton reports 9 inches on W. H. Taylor Ranch. Alanreed, Truitt Johnson, McLea over 11.00 inches. These reports are typical of others over the entire County.

In the selection of an irrigated variety at this date I would be a lot more concerned about the maturity date than selecting the hybrid from the table that was on the top of the high yield. Usually speaking the high yields on your Experiment Station report are the ones that are planted thirty to forty-five days earlier than the present date.

Many wheat farmers are becoming very concerned with all the moisture. Several people have called about spraying the weeds in their wheat. According to the latest information we have, this is permissible under Food and Drug Administration Regulations.

If you can get either your dryland or irrigated milo planted by June 30th, select one from your favorite brand that hits close to the maturity range of R.S. 610. If you are rained out or have been delayed from planting past this date, your keenness in the selection of the proper variety can mean many hundreds of pounds difference in yield on both dryland and irrigated. You will not find nearly as many fast maturing varieties for sale as you do medium and late maturing ones.

Many combines have been standing by in Pampa waiting for the wheat to dry up. We have heard of some yield reports up to as much as 26 bushel per acre of wheat on summer fallowed dryland. Most yields have run in the 10-12 bushel bracket on the small amount that has been cut.

Most of your seed dealers are well informed on the maturity date of their milos. We have charts also that gives this information.

Best way to keep a stump from sprouting out that you want to get rid of is cut it a little below ground level. Paint it with 2, 4, 5-T, place a piece of plastic or cellophane material over the stump and cover with soil. We have many calls on this one.

Identification Is Important Factor In Pest Control

Cecil Collum called for information on how to do budding and grafting of fruit trees. You would be surprised how many people seek information on this. We gave him a bulletin. We were exposed to this one in school but it didn't take.

The control of insects attacking vegetables is often made more difficult because of improper identification of the pest. Their control, points out County Agent Foster Whaley is very important since even minor damage may lower the crop's value or render it unfit for sale.

HYBRID MILO
We have copies of the latest experiment station yield reports on the Hybrid milos that have been placed in test. We do not recommend anyone of them over the other. The list is too long to publish. It is available to anyone that would like to drop by our office. The time is exactly right to plant dryland milo.

In order that vegetable growers may have a ready reference for identifying the more common insects attacking vegetables, research and extension entomologists of Texas A&M University have prepared a handbook on the subject. Mr. Whaley said the publication, B-1019, "Insects Attacking Vegetable Crops," is available without cost from his office.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS

A number of people have contacted the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District during the past seven years in regard to the water supply and the present and future source.

(1) Domestic and Municipal uses, including water for sustaining human life and the life of domestic animals.

Some of these people were local people who were just plain curious. Others were serious. One caller stated that he was planning to retire and was going to build him a new home. The future water supply of Pampa was a very real concern to him. He needed reassurance that the water needs, both present and future, were being taken care of. One represented a business concern that was contemplating locating in the Pampa area. Plenty of water for a long period of time was of primary importance to him. A farmer called in one day to ask if he needed by the city for water might mean the giving up of his water — which would change the course of his life and that of his family.

(2) Water to be used in processes designed to convert materials of a lower order of value into forms having greater usability and commercial value, and to include water necessary for the development of electric power by means other than hydro-electric.

(3) Irrigation, (4) Mining and recovery of minerals, (5) Hydro-electric power, (6) Navigation, (7) Recreation and pleasure.

QUESTION — In some areas it may have to be imported from other places.

QUESTION — Who has first priority where water use is concerned?

ANSWER — In most states the laws are very clear—the highest priority is for domestic use.

QUESTION — Is this priority granted by the states?

ANSWER — By the states. The water law in most states very clearly sets this forth — that agriculture takes a back seat where human consumption is concerned.

QUESTION — Will the time come when farmers have to give up irrigation water to cities?

ANSWER — It's certainly a possibility but not a very immediate probability. You can see if the choice comes between giving a child a glass of water and irrigating a cotton field, there wouldn't be much question as to who would get the water, assuming that's all the water there was.

Several more questions and answers given in this article will be carried in this column in future weeks. Next week a portion of the weekly column will be devoted to the City of Pampa's water supply.

Not until 1905 did scientists discover where and when eels, an important food fish, spawned.

The above quotation from the law should answer all pertinent questions regarding who comes first or where in the priority classification of water users.

Monday of the past week Russell McConnell, a local irrigation farmer, left the May-June copy of "The Furrow" an agricultural far paper — published by the John Deere Tractor Company and sent free to farmers.

The first article in "The Furrow" caught my attention. It was titled "Population Onslaught—Will There Be Water For Farms?" The article was in the form of an interview with B. B. Bellport, Chief Engineer, Bureau of Reclamation, Denver, Colorado. The interview consisted of questions by the Editor and answers by Mr. Bellport. Some of these questions and answers are listed as follows:

QUESTION — As more people move west, where is the needed extra water coming from?

ANSWER — The needed extra water coming from the public well being, but requires as a constructive public policy, a declaration of priorities in the allotment and appropriation thereof; and it is hereby declared to be the public policy of the State and essential to the public welfare and for the benefit of the people that in the allotment and appropriation of the waters defined in Article 7467, of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas of 1925, preference and priority be given to the following uses in the order named, to wit:

Activities With Children Make Father's Day Special

The Pampa Daily News

Sunday, June 20, 1965

Happiness Is:

*'I Love You Dad,
'Happy Father's Day'*

FATHER'S DAY, calendar-wise, is observed only once a year, but fathers the world over observe "Father's Day" each day by working and playing with their children. The accompanying pictures show Pampa fathers, taking time from busy work day schedules to engage in daily activities with sons and daughters.

DADS SOMETIMES think children are just instruments of worry that hold a great ability to soften the heart, turn men into mice and hit the family pocketbook where it hurts. Little girls with giggles become big girls with beaus and baby boys needing the care of fathers, grow up to become dad's partners in family projects. Even with all the pleasure derived from children, a father's road is often long and hard until he hears "I love you, Daddy, Happy Father's Day." That is the punch line that makes a dad glad he's a father and shows what youngsters really think of the most important man in their lives.

FATHER WILL reign as king today in more than 50 million American homes. Father's Day first was celebrated in 1910 in Spokane, Wash., at the urging of a Mrs. John Dodd, who wished to honor her father, William Smart, for the devotion with which he had reared six motherless children. From this modest beginning, American fathers are being treated as the important men they are today. A recent article gave some interesting facts concerning the "Wonderful World of Fatherhood." It may be a proud moment when an American father names his newborn son and heir after himself, but a Kuki or Zemi tribesman of Assam, India, feels equally proud when he takes his child's name. In these tribes, dad drops his own name immediately after the birth of a child and is known thereafter as "Father of So-and-So." Dad's titles have shown fascinating worldwide variation. New England Puritans, if they were especially strict, might make their children call them "honored sir." But in the South Pacific, a Trobriand Island son refers to his father by a name that means only "my mother's husband." The father role is downgraded in this tribe, which believes that spirits are the true fathers of mankind. In parts of the Near and Far East, father has almost complete authority over his children, but must still defer to grandfather. Several generations may live under one roof, and the old patriarch dominates them all. But on Dobu Island off the coast of New Guinea, the uncle is head of the household. Dad has authority not over his own children, but over his sister's offspring. Age is greatly respected by Orientals and traditionally a son shows respect for his elderly parent by presenting him with a silken robe embroidered with the Chinese characters for "long life." If possible, he has the "longevity robe" sewn by a young person who is likely to live a long time. Father may rate a robe from the Chinese or a toast and a feast in the U.S., but in the Kwakiutl of British Columbia, he is more likely to be on the giving end. When his daughter marries, he is paid handsomely in blankets and copper coins by the young man, but after the birth of the first child, he is expected to repay the gifts with interest at a huge tribal feast. At this time, he also has to part with any hereditary titles and privileges he possessed. The son-in-law holds them in trust for the child. Another exotic custom pertaining to fatherhood might be more to the taste of American men. In some African and South American tribes, fathers fear that they might endanger their newborn children by going about their daily chores. Therefore, although mother returns to her usual routine almost as soon as the baby is born, dad takes to his bed for days or even weeks, and does absolutely nothing. Regardless of customs, American dads are tops. "Happy Father's Day."

RECENT PAMPA visitors have been Mrs. J. D. (Margaret) Atchley and daughters, Kathy and Bonnie, of Midland, who visited Mrs. Atchley's parents, Herman and Thelma Jones. W. A. and Nell Rankin have been enjoying a visit from daughter Mrs. Jim (Carol) Lawley of Houston. Mrs. D. E. McVey of Magnolia, Ark., has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Phil Gates Sr. Judy Richardson of Snyder has been a guest of her uncle and aunt, the Fred Carys. The group journeyed to Elk City, Okla., last Sunday to visit other relatives. Ralph and Betty Dunbar have as their guest Mrs. Durrbar's great-great niece, Talley Killen of Phoenix, Ariz. They were seen dining at Coronado Inn last Sunday. Russell and Martha Kennedy's recent house guests from Dallas have been their daughter, Margaret, and Mrs. Kennedy's sister-in-law, Mrs. Pearl Sneed. Doyle and Marceline Rogers and daughters, Becky and Cassie, of St. Louis, Mo., spent last week in the home of the Rogers' parents, Nealy and Brownie Rogers and Mrs. Rogers' sister and husband, Dolores and Leo Moore. Mrs. Tom (Eva) Kitchens won the sixth flight in the West Texas Women's Golf Association Annual Tournament held two weeks ago at Tascosa Country Club in Amarillo. Mrs. Clayton (Ruby) Husted also entered the tournament and qualified for the third flight, winning the first round of her Tuesday match and losing the second round on Wednesday. New rules were made Thursday to govern the tournament because play was delayed 18 holes by severe weather. Play on Wednesday was stopped by a hail storm, and nearly all of Thursday's matches were rained out. All flights from the fourth down played in foursomes in the semifinal and final matches. Miss Kathy Hutson of Lubbock and Mrs. Tom (Juanita) Jones of Amarillo were in the Championship flight with the Lubbock golfer winning the match on the 36th hole.

LOCAL RESIDENTS are still on the go. Leah and Bunny Behrman left from Amarillo Air Terminal this morning for New York City where they will shop for fall merchandise before sailing next Saturday on the U.S.S. Independence for a three-week Mediterranean cruise. The ship will dock at Casa Blanca, Morocco; the Spanish ports of Gibraltar and Algeciras; Palma, Majorca, in the Balearic Islands, and Naples, Italy. The Behrmans will leave the ship at Naples and fly to Rome and Florence, Italy, for a one-day visit in each city. They will join the ship at Cannes, France, on the French Riviera. Before boarding the ship at Cannes for the return voyage home, the couple will fly to Monte Carlo, Monaco, and Gibraltar, Spain. How lucky can some Pampans be? Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hilburn have returned from a trip to Houston where they attended graduation exercises for a grand-daughter, Cynthia Hilburn, daughter of the Mahon Hilburns. While in Houston the Hilburns also got a first glimpse of a new great-grandson, Kay Kemp Jr., son of Kay and Cheryl Kemp. D. E. and Margaret Holt flew to Enid, Okla., to bring daughter Frances home. Frances had been visiting Judy Robinson, daughter of Charlie and Audrey Robinson, former Pampans, and attended high school graduation exercises for the Robinson twins, Johnny and Judy. Mrs. A. D. (Olive) Hills and Mrs. A. C. (Nina) Hauchin attended the General Federation of Women's Clubs convention recently in New Orleans, La. Perhaps at a later date they will model the blue and white check gingham colonial dresses and bonnets which were the official costumes for the Texas delegation. Mrs. Jack (Adrienne) Foster and Don and Susanne Lane attended a state meeting of the American Cancer Society recently at Six Flags Over Texas. Mrs. J. C. (Ruth) Morrison attended a tea and shower recently at the Methodist Texas Mission Home in San Antonio. Mrs. Morrison serves as Pampa District director for the home.

THE PURSUIT of knowledge is getting a number of Pampans out very, very early these days as they commute to West Texas State University, Canyon, for the first summer session. Pampans leaving town each morning at 5:45 are Austin and Ruben Ruddick, Mrs. J. R. (Kay) Schuneman, Pernal Scoggins, Mrs. Jane Chaney, who taught in El Paso last year and is here visiting her parents, the T. C. Carters, while attending school; Mrs. Rex (Wynema) Little, Mrs. J. E. (Ruby) Gunn, Mrs. Joe L. (Frances) Duncan, Mrs. W. L. (Peggy) Hallbauer and Dora and Virginia Meyer. Mrs. C. S. (Mary) Boston has purchased Mrs. Pearl Mitchell's home on Christine. It's a lovely time to move into a place like this with its beautiful garden. Rumor has it that Nina Spearman, daughter of Mrs. J. R. (Ruth) Spearman, who wed Jay Rodney Reese yesterday afternoon, will be taken on a "round-the-world honeymoon." A threesome seen dining together frequently is Miss Pearl Spough, Mrs. Gladys Harvey and Mrs. Lyda Gilchrist. They were joined last Sunday by Mrs. Charles (Moedell) Lanehart, who has been having fun partying while husband Charles and two sons were away on a trip.

Honeymoon Following Pledging of Vows

Mrs. Jay Rodney Reese
...nee Ninetta Ruth Spearman

An altar arrangement of white calla lilies and salal foliage appointed the wedding scene for Miss Ninetta Ruth Spearman and Jay Rodney Reese, both of Dallas, yesterday afternoon in First Methodist Church. Fifteen-branched spiral candelabra entwined with salal foliage and bearing white cathedral tapers flanked the altar, and nine-branched tree candelabra entwined with salal foliage and bearing white tapers stood in the background. Honor pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John R. Spearman of 1707 Mary Ellen and the late Mr. Spearman. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hammond Reese of Rydal, Penn.

Rev. Harry Vanderpool officiated the single ring rites at 3 o'clock. Traditional nuptial selections were provided by Mrs. Karl Stephenson of Amarillo on the organ.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, John R. Spearman Jr., the bride was lovely in a gown of imported re-embroidered ivory alencon lace over silk peau de soie. The moulded bodice was fashioned with a wide oval neckline edged with scallops of the lace and elbow-length sleeves complemented by short ivory kid gloves. The princess skirt, enhanced at the waistline with loops and streamers of peau de soie, was floor length. The bride's veil of ivory silk illusion extended in soft tiers to below her fingertips from a crown of re-embroidered ivory alencon lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. John R. Spearman Jr., attired in a floor-length gown of white peau de soie, attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor. She carried a cascade bouquet of miniature white calla lilies.

Mr. Reese attended as his son's best man. Ushers seating the wedding guests were Robert Reese of Dallas and Joseph Hammond Reese Jr., of Rydal, Penn., brothers of the bridegroom, Mark Sheppard of Dallas, William Flammer of Radnor, Penn., and Z. E. Pique of Palos Verdes Estates, Calif.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Spearman chose a street-length dress fashioned of graduating shades of gray with an A-line skirt of silk and fitted bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace. Matching accessories completed her ensemble. Mrs. Reese selected a street-length sheath dress designed of pastel blue silk cuponi topped by matching jacket accented by matching accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of cymbidium orchids.

Pampa Country Club was the scene of the reception held immediately following the pledging of vows. The bride's table, covered with a floor-length white satin cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white roses in a silver and crystal epergne flanked by silver and crystal candelabra bearing white tapers. Mrs. Stephenson provided background music throughout the receiving hours. Houseparty members were the Misses Jo Anna Butt, Hope Evans and Darlene White, all of Amarillo, and Jean Sims, and Mrs. Walter Kellogg of Amarillo.

The newlyweds departed for a wedding trip to Europe and the Far East following the reception. For traveling the bride donned a two-piece silk suit, white hat with matching pink rose and matching accessories. She lifted the corsage from the bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home at 7810 Royal Lane, Dallas.

The new Mrs. Reese is a graduate of Texas Technological University where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority, Alpha Chi, Mortar Board and was listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." She attended SMU Graduate School and the University of Hawaii and prior to her marriage was manager of Neiman-Marcus Travel Service in Dallas. Mr. Reese is a graduate of Princeton University where he was a member of AIEE-IRE, Elm Club, the Engineering Council and listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." He is presently employed as vice president of Texas Instruments, Inc., in charge of world marketing, Dallas.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when it is necessary that you think about your neighbors and fellow men and what you can do for him—or her—instead of being so subjective and thinking only about what you would like to have from those about you. A humanitarian point of view can make you extremely popular now.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — A day when the situation at home is hardly conducive to happiness and harmony, but if you must not lose your equilibrium, be objective. Understanding straightens everything out.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You would be wise to listen to higher-ups instead of trying to monopolize the conversation. You are not an authority on everything. Some unguarded word could also lose you their support.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Try not to be so bound to one with an extremely glib tongue that you get caught in his or her trap. Get to serious study, worthwhile literature, etc. Keep busy at duties.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Concentration and meditation, especially about your obligations will reveal how best to handle them. This applies to personal affairs, too. Don't take loved one for granted.
VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Many things head into the open today where allies are concerned, but this gives you a chance to know your true position. Show devotion, be understanding — all works out well.

Dear Abby...

If You Can't Persuade Husband, Report Him

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns my husband. He and his friend hunt bobcats with their dogs, and in order to train their dogs to follow the scent, they use house cats to practice on. Three months ago they went to the pound and brought back a cat. She was old and mangy, but I didn't like the idea of their letting the dogs kill her. I argued and fumed, but it didn't do me any good. Yesterday they went to the pound again and brought back two of the cutest kittens, only about a month old. They plan to keep them until they are full-grown, train the dogs with them, and then let the dogs have them as a reward. Right now these kittens are in our shed.

Abby, I can't believe my husband could feed them and watch them grow and then let the dogs kill them. He's naturally a very kind person—it's his friend who's bloodthirsty. I have a hunch my husband won't admit it, but he really doesn't want to kill domestic animals this way, but he's afraid his friend might say he's "chicken" if he doesn't go through with it. Have you any suggestions on what I might say or do to save those kittens?
Mrs. P.

DEAR MRS. P.: Don't ask your husband, tell him that if he uses those kittens, or any other animal in this manner, you will notify your local SPCA. There is nothing to prevent someone from going to a pound and adopting kittens without disclosing his plans, but animals are never given out for this inhumane purpose. If you can't persuade him, report him!

DEAR ABBY: I was glad you advised "One Hat Hattie" to wear a hat in church. But I was surprised that you said, "I'm quite sure that God couldn't care less as long as she's there." God does care as He tells us in the New Testament through His apostle, Paul. I quote I Corinthians, chapter 2, verse 5: "But every woman who prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered, dishonors her head." Respectfully,
R. B.

DEAR ABBY: There are several couples in our neighborhood who get together very often. We go places together or just visit. Our problem is one of the wives. She is undeniably attractive and always seems to dominate the conversation carried on by the men. They direct their remarks to her as though she were the only woman in the room. We other wives just sit there and provide an audience for this woman and all the men. Naturally the men enjoy talking to an attractive, vivacious woman so they don't find her obnoxious, but we women are getting fed up with her. Should we butt into the conversation and talk as much as she does? Or should we leave the room and carry on our own conversation? (We'd never be missed.) Don't suggest that we exclude this woman and her husband from our gatherings. Our husbands would never let us get away with it.

Pampan Wed in Des Moines, Iowa, Rites

Mrs. Charles James Cook
... nee Christine Alice White

Central Christian Church of Des Moines, Iowa, was the scene for pledging of vows of Miss Christine Alice White of Des Moines and Charles James Cook of Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hull White of Des Moines, Iowa, are parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buckler Cook of 1918 Dogwood Lane are the parents of the bridegroom.

Dr. Charles B. Tupper solemnized the double-ring vows at 7 p.m. June 12 before an altar centered with a white sunburst floral arrangement flanked by two large urns holding white daisies and roses. Candelabra bearing white cathedral tapers and entwined with smilax and salal appointed the background, and honor pews were marked with aisle candelabra decorated with white satin streamers and white roses. Appropriate nuptial selections were provided by Miss Lea Riedesel, organist, who also accompanied Kenneth Black as he sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a formal wedding gown fashioned of ivory peau de soie designed with an empire waistline. Scallop of alencon lace edged the oval neckline and elbow-length sleeves of the fitted bodice. A chapel train of peau de soie enhanced the slim skirt. Her shoulder-length veil of ivory silk illusion fell from a lace coil. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, daisies and stephanotis.

Attired in formal-length gowns of yellow peau de soie, designed with empire lines, bridal attendants were Mrs. Larry Lee Armstrong, matron of honor, and Miss Patricia Hughes and Miss Sandra Cole, bridesmaids. Each carried a coronal bouquet of daisies and white roses.

Serving as the bridegroom's best man was Clay Crossland

Jr., while groomsmen were, Richard Greve and William Cameron. Seating the wedding guests were John White and David White, ushers.

Mrs. White selected a beige linen sheath dress enhanced with insertions of drawn work and matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. A lavender orchid corsage completed her ensemble. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Cook, chose an empire styled dress fashioned of pink linen trimmed in lace and matching accessories. Completing her costume was a white orchid corsage.

A reception was held in the Church Parlor following the wedding rites.

The new Mrs. Cook* changed into a navy linen suit and a white orchid corsage for traveling on a wedding trip. The newlyweds will make their home at 434 Tauwanda Drive, Des Moines, Iowa, upon their return.

whom you resent is more than "attractive and vivacious." She has something worthwhile to say, and she says it well. A plain woman who has something of value to contribute to a conversation is a welcome addition to any company. But she who "butts" in for the sake of diverting attention to herself is woefully obnoxious. Sharpen your minds, girls, and pull in your claws.

DEAR ABBY: I like this boy a lot. We are supposed to be going steady but he hardly ever calls me. He tells me he "loves" me, but you know boys. I see him only on week-ends and it always winds up in a big necking session. I am seriously thinking about dropping him. Any advice?

DULUTH DEAR DULUTH: Yes. Quit "thinking" about it—and drop him.

County Ag Agents To Make Seventh Dow Study Tour

Seven Central states will host this month to groups of county agricultural agents traveling on the seventh annual Dow Study Tour. Fifty county agents from across the nation will be visiting farms, processing plants, and marketing organizations as they take part in four regional tours. The agents will spend 19 days on the road. The tours began on June 6 and will end on June 25. The Study Tour is organized as a professional training program of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents, and is sponsored by The Dow Chemical Company. The purpose of the program is to give outstanding agents from each state the opportunity to broaden their knowledge of our rapidly changing agriculture and to give them ideas that they may be able to apply in their home counties. The 50 agents participating this year will visit 26 states. In the Central states the agents will visit a number of important agricultural areas. They will visit the Iowa State University Dairy Farm, observe a community development program in Missouri and see weed control tests in Oklahoma.

Why Is June 20th Important To Father's?

Because Father may be a boss where he works, but often in the same home is the handyman who does odd jobs. But this June 20th is Father's Day. All Fathers become Kings and the entire family his subjects.

He can on that day loaf as much as he wishes without criticism, enjoy his gifts and the loving attention of his appreciative family. And, since Father's Day will be a Sunday, no bill collectors will annoy him.

Pampa Youth Wins Skelly College Grant

Randall Duane Holme, 17, 1916 Banks, has been awarded a $2,000 college scholarship by Skelly Oil Company of Tulsa Oklahoma. He is a recent graduate of Pampa High School, where he graduated with 3.4 grade average out of a possible 4.0.

Providing he maintains scholastic excellence, Randall Duane will receive a $500 renewal of his scholarship each year during his four-year college program for a total of $2,000.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Duane Cowan and is one of ten recent high school graduates to be awarded a scholarship by Skelly's Production department at Skellytown.

Randall Duane was appointed to the National Honor Society this year.

The Skelly program of awarding scholarships to deserving employee dependents was initiated this year due to the high cost of education. Selection is based on a five point criteria which includes academic excellence.

He was selected a winner out of 125 applicants by a blue-ribbon committee composed of two Skelly executives and four University heads: Dr. George Cross, University of Oklahoma president, Dr. Ben G. Henneke, University of Tulsa president, Dr. John Schwada, University of Missouri chancellor and Dr. W. Clarke Wescoe, University of Kansas chancellor.

Other recipients of Skelly scholarships are Feryl Jean Bergin, Jeffersonville, Indiana; Elizabeth Janice Conner, El Dorado, Kansas; Mickey Wayne Cowan, Velma, Oklahoma; gas — petrochemical — industry. It was announced this week by the Show's sponsoring Committee.

Milton Price, Chairman of the 1965 bi-annual event said that this figure would fall short of the total attendance since it is expected that viewers with a curiosity or educational motive will swell the estimated attendance figure considerably.

Additionally, Price pointed out that the Magic Plains Exposition will feature a wide array of the most modern technical equipment as well as "standardized" instruments, equipment and methods demonstrations.

Exhibit space for the event is still available and particulars may be obtained by writing the committee at Box 911, Borger, Texas. All exhibitors were cautioned that a firm 83 per cent of inside space has been filled and all but 60 front feet of outside space is contracted. Early contracts are the only assurance of space at this time.

The Magic Plains Oil Exposition is the only major industrial show in the southwestern United States scheduled for 1965.

Free labor, fulltime watchman service, "and our traditional personal service" program will prevail again in 1965, Price noted.

The Chairman said that increased interest in the event this year might be attributed to the vast amount of advanced technical know how now in operation throughout the industry along with a move on the part of the Oil and Gas operators, large and small, toward better public relations.

"We will offer ample opportunity to exploit both facets during our Show," he said.

Those working with the industry will find almost all of the latest instrumentation, equipment and method application on exhibit here.

The Oil Exposition in Borger, for the first time in the history of the Show, will include a closed session on the opening afternoon of the Show Thursday, September 9th. Past experience and the great amount of community wide interest expressed in the Show made this private showing necessary for those interested in the operation of, or purchase of, the highly technical equipment to be displayed.

"Because of the tremendous advances during the past few years in technological fields this year's show is more important than ever to both the exhibitor and the viewer," the Chairman concluded.

Drilling Pace Upped On Lake Maracaibo

PHILADELPHIA — Venezuelan Sun Oil Co., Venezuelan Atlantic Refining Co. and Texaco-Maracaibo have stepped up plans for drilling on their jointly owned Block 1 in the center of Lake Maracaibo during the remainder of 1965, it was announced here.

The accelerated drilling program was planned following the successful completion of several evaluation wells which have proven up some 3,000 hectares (7,500 acres) of possible oil production from the Santa Barbara Sand of Oligocene age.

Venezuelan Sun Oil Company as operator for the Block 1 owners, will use two mobile drilling rigs during the remainder of 1965 to drill some 28 wells ranging in depth from 9,500 to 11,000 feet.

In addition to the three flow stations presently operating on Block 1, two new flow stations — each with a capacity of producing 18,000 barrels of oil per day — will be constructed to handle the production of oil from the new 28 wells.

Several kilometers of 12-inch pipeline will be laid from two new flow stations to connect with Ven-Sun's 20-inch lake line which moves the Block 1 production into the Punta De Palmas storage terminal on the West shore of Lake Maracaibo.

In addition to the two mobile rigs which will be drilling the Santa Barbara development wells, Venezuelan Sun Oil Co. also plans to utilize a conventional rig drilling on a fixed concrete platform to drill an exploratory well to test the Cretaceous formations.

NGLP Wants To Increase Load By 104 Million

G. P. Garver, president of NGLP, said that plans for the project include construction of approximately 115 miles of 30-inch and 35 miles of 24-inch pipeline partially looping segments of the Company's existing facilities in Illinois, Arkansas, and Texas, and addition of 23,200 compressor horsepower at existing stations in Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, and Texas.

Total cost of the proposed expansion is estimated at 21.6 million dollars.

Tito To Make Significant Moves to Restore Close Ties with Kremlin During Coming Moscow Visit

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Marshal Tito to apparently be set to pull some surprises during his impending visit to Moscow.

On the basis of authoritative information from satellite capitals, intelligence is convinced the aging Yugoslav Communist ruler will go further in restoring close ties with the Kremlin than at any time since he broke with Stalin 17 years ago.

While proclaiming Yugoslavia's intention to remain an "independent" Communist country, Tito will: —Conclude arrangements for Yugoslavia to become a member of the Warsaw Pact...

Same Old Space Saga

NEW YORK (NEA) — It is a little embarrassing to report this. Especially with Gemini 4 such a smash hit, and Mariner 4 now hurtling out to Mars with television cameras.

Basically, we know how the story comes out in the end. As we said, it is rather embarrassing to mention this at so late a date. However, it did not really occur to us until the other day that the plot of the Space Age holds no surprises.

It began on the morning after Gemini 4 splashed down. We can recall vividly getting up especially early to see the film of Maj. Edward White's walk in space.

We can also recall being quite pleased that the picture fulfilled our every expectation — a man in a space suit moving about by jet power while the planet earth turned slowly below him.

It was, we could see, a thrilling and awful document of the first American to set foot into infinity.

But for all our understanding of the event, the most we could muster was only a nod of recognition.

Precisely why did not become clear for a long time, although we must admit to having had an inkling from the very first moment.

It was not until the other day, however, that we finally faced the truth, namely that we had seen Maj. White's feat performed dozens of times in the past.

We cannot recall for sure who was in the space suit on those other films. It might have been Buster Crabbe or Richard Egan, or perhaps William Lundigan.

Now, none of this is to say that we hold Maj. White's bravery and accomplishment in high esteem. On the contrary, Buck Rogers never did it any better. Or do we mean Buster Crabbe?

That is the whole trouble with the Space Age. It is one outrageous impossibility after another — the rockets, the space gun, television from Mars...

Information from the FBI led to more than 60 gambling arrests by the New Jersey state police, and 40 similar arrests in New York City.

Between the Bookends

It's Only The People's Money The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has recently released two additional volumes of the famous "Morgenthau Diaries".

These particular volumes cover activities in the Treasury Department regarding financial aid to China during the war. Entitled "Morgenthau Diary (China)", Volumes I and II, the books are available from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402; $2.50 per volume.

Prime reason for release of these volumes was to point up the work of the identified-Communist, Harry Dexter White, in influencing Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr. White managed to delay shipment to China of great quantities of gold and American dollars that had been promised to aid the war effort.

POWER OF BUREAUCRACY In a foreword to the volumes, Anthony Kubek, Chairman of the History Department at the University of Dallas, calls attention to the unofficial creation of the bureaucracy as the "fourth branch of government".

He points out that the professional bureaucrats exercise great powers never intended by the Constitution. They do not leave, as political appointees do, when the administration changes—and thus are not subject to any "democratic" control.

Since the bureaucrats are relatively irremovable, the claim that the people control the government by the election process is largely a sham.

Transcripts of departmental conferences reveal the arrogance of the bureaucrats in making these decisions to expend money they never earned. As government grows in size, the average taxpayer will be even further removed from the expenditure of what he has earned.

THE WALLS COME TUMBLIN' Blackstone (Va.) Courier For eleven years after the 1954 decision of the Supreme Court outlawing separate but equal facilities for Negro and white school children Nottoway County and many other counties in the south maintained segregated public schools.

But one must admit that under presidents Eisenhower and even the very liberal Mr. Kennedy little, very little progress was made forcing Negroes and white to mix. The law was there but most folks were happy to leave it be.

Never before has there been such a shrewd man in the White House and yet with all his political experience he is now using the oldest trick in the book to ram his programs down the throats of Americans.

Major McDivitt and Major White, have spoken of their thrill when the rays of the strangely brilliant sun in space first caught the colors of the American flag on Major White's space-suit, during his famous "walk in space."

These men, our astronauts, are among our modern heroes who correspond to the early Western pioneers. All that they do and say will catch the imagination of the American people just as the early cowboys and homesteaders did. Those of us who still take pride in our great country can hope that their patriotism may prove as inspiring as their heroism.

We can hope that, in the end, the American people will realize that those two qualities of patriotism and heroism are deeply, unbreakably linked. HLLH

Why McHale Got Upset

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent

YUMA, ARIZ. (NEA)—After a day's work, filming "The Flight of the Phoenix" in the desert near here, Ernest Borgnine relaxed at the pool of the motel where the cast was staying.

Ernie was in a talkative mood. And he told me his side of the McHale's Navy troubles.

"For six months," he said, "I didn't talk to anybody on that show. Nobody."

His big beef was with the producer, Ed Montagne. They simply did not get along. And then, at one point, Borgnine says, Montagne decided to get rid of director Sidney Lanfield.

"He wanted the whole cast to say they couldn't work for Lanfield," Ernie says. "Lanfield was a tough guy, but he knew his business. So I said I would have no part of the conspiracy. But the rest of the cast went along with Montagne."

Lanfield got the ax, and Borgnine says he retaliated by not talking to the cast—except in the line of duty—for six months. Finally, he says, he realized his gesture was futile and mended the conversational fences.

But he has kept up his feud with Montagne. When the producer decided to direct the feature film, "McHale's Navy Joins the Air Force," which was filmed this spring, Borgnine respectfully declined to appear in it.

Ernie says he'll stick with the television show for one more year and by then the series will begin syndication and he expects to be financially independent.

That happy state is one reason, of course, that he did the series. But there was another, more ego-satisfying reason.

"A kid came to the house," Ernie says, "selling chocolates for his school. He looked at me for kind of funny and then he said, 'Aren't you in show business?' I said I was. So he said, 'Who are you?' Just kidding, I said I was Jim Arness. He said I was not because he watched Gunsmoke every week. So then I said I was Richard Boone. And he said he knew Boone and that wasn't me. Finally I said I was Ernest Borgnine.

"And he said, 'Well, I've seen you on TV. I didn't know your name.' So I figured I'd do the series and then maybe that kid and millions of others—would they tell me it worked out pretty good, too."

Television in Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The Headliners: The farewell show of Jack Paar's weekly NBC-TV series next Friday will include past highlights with Richard Burton, Beatrice Lillie and Jonathan Winters. Peter Ustinov will be the voice of Michelangelo and Jose Ferrer the narrator in NBC-TV's two-part documentary about the Renaissance genius next season—Dec. 22 and Feb. 23.

Add Headliners: Danny Thomas and Sammy Davis will be the West and East Coast hosts respectively for NBC-TV's Emmy awards program Sept. 12. ABC-TV is reported interested in having Davis star in a drama series in the fall of 1966.

Second Add Headliners: Victor Borge stars as the well-known comedy character Mr. Belvedere, a suave and gentlemanly Mr. Fixit, on CBS-TV's "Summer Playhouse" July 12.

The Programs: Friday night's ABC-TV documentary about gambling, "Everybody's Got A System," which looked at the human attitudes of those taking a plunge, attempted to be both light-hearted and hard-headed, but was a time waster no matter how you looked at it.

Add Programs: CBS-TV's one-hour report on television ratings is now scheduled for July 12. A misleading ABC-TV publicity release suggested that the network's "Wide World of Sports" series today would carry a brief segment of the Le Mans auto race via Early Bird; but it turns out the segment scheduled will be only an audio transmission. Nevertheless, the network does have two one-hour broadcasts of the race live during the weekend via the satellite.

Pampano to Leave For Istanbul On AFS Program

Jane Hiatt, 17-year-old Pampa High School senior, is making plans to depart for Istanbul, Turkey Wednesday to participate in the summer American Field Service program.

Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hiatt, 2200 Dogwood, will return to Pampa about mid-September.

She will live with the Hazin Vumin family in Istanbul. Mr. Vumin is director of surgery at the Istanbul hospital.

It will not be known until Jane arrives in Istanbul whether she will attend school during her three month stay.

Notice of the appointment of Jane to participate in the summer program arrived here just ahead of her 17th birthday.

AFS officials said she is expected to leave Amarillo Wednesday for New York and sail the following day for Turkey.

KEY ROLE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—New York comedian Lionel Jeffries landed a key role in "Oh Dad, Poor Dad" filming on location in Jamaica, West Indies.

OTTO FOR 7

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Otto Preminger signed an agreement to film seven pictures for Paramount, the second of which will be "Hurry Sundown."

CURRICULUM

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Joseph Cotten will star in an educational film titled "Faulkner's Mississippi, Land Into Legend" to be used as part of the curriculum at the University of Mississippi.

HORSE LAUGH—Actually, it's more of a horse grin spreading across the mug of Tom Rolfe, one of the hottest nags of the year. What's so funny? Who knows. Maybe he just heard a hot tip about the fifth race.

She had given up hope of finding it but it turned up five months and three broken ribs later. Corrine dozed behind the wheel of his car and when he awoke he jammed on the brakes and went into ditch. The joint dislodged the ring from a spring in the front seat.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary

Your executive secretary met with the budget and admissions commission for the Pampa-Lefors United Fund this last week. The Red Cross needs $17,000 to carry on their national, international and local work for 1966. Most of this amount will be spent on our community. We only have one full time paid worker and one part time paid worker with many volunteers helping in our Red Cross office.

About 43.40 per cent of the money we receive goes to national and international Red Cross. This may seem like a large amount until one thinks of the service rendered by the national organization to our chapter.

There are two persons in Pampa who are receiving Gamma Globin a derivative from blood that keeps them alive. This blood is very expensive and the national organization on a local doctor request sends this blood to Pampa free of charge.

This almost all of our money given National Red Cross returns to Pampa for these two persons. Then there is the Red Cross salaries of the persons working for Red Cross at the bases all over the United States and overseas, that are paid by the national organization. When a call or wire goes out from Pampa there must be someone at the Military base to receive the message, or why send it? Then there are the textbooks, supplies and other materials our chapter uses that we get from the national organization. Yes, we receive much more from the national Red Cross than we send to them. If each person in Pampa would support the UF, all agencies could do a good job for our community.

Have you been watching the Red Cross nursing story shown by Channel 10? It has been an interesting experience and we believe everyone should see this film. How to better take care of our families when they are ill should be a mothers main objective in the home. You may say, "I do not expect to have illness in my home," but somehow one usually does before the month is out. The Home Nursing textbooks are in our chapter office and may be purchased for $1. If you did not get to see the TV course, and would like to take the regular course, call our office and register for it this summer and we will arrange to have one later. If you did see the TV film, call our office and we will arrange for the practice class to be held soon.

It has been real cool for swimming classes at the City Pool, however, the classes have been held with only one day omitted and how those children have learned to swim. Thanks to the warm water at the pool! 140 children and adults have registered this first two weeks. Our adult class has been held at night with Jack Chisum teaching the class. Those in it are: Mary Sutton, Shirley Cawthorn, Jan Carthorn, Dorothy Edwards, Joan Dixon, Jerry Ingram, Sammie Fields and Paul Helms. Mrs. Sharon Hall is instructing the adult class at the Youth Center and they have a large class in beginning swimming. Scott George is acting as aide to Sharon.

Disasters continue to plague our Panhandle of Texas. Let us keep our fingers crossed and continue to hope our good luck holds for our community. Dick Strayer, our field Representative has returned from Sanderson, Texas and is working in Hereford, this week. Homes for the migrant workers at Hereford were washed away during the recent rains.

Mrs. Harry Patten has completed making our fish for the poly-wog class, youngsters who are not 6 years old yet. They are made of red felt and will be given to the youngsters who are in the class. Thanks, Virginia for this volunteer service.

Pete Erwin, who is teaching a health class in high school this summer used a Red Cross First Aid film "Checking for Injuries" this past week. We have a large library of films at the Amarillo chapter that persons in Pampa may use by calling the Red Cross office in Pampa.

THD Has Eye Out for Disease Outbreak

By JAMES DAVIS
AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Health Department is keeping a sharp lookout for any signs of an encephalitis outbreak such as the one that hospitalized hundreds in Houston last year, laboratory supervisor Dr.

J. V. Irons said today. "Most cases don't begin to show up until late summer or fall, but sometimes—and the Houston outbreak was one example—we find them in June or July," Irons said. Encephalitis is commonly known as "sleeping sickness" because of the lethargy exhibited by victims. Irons said the disease is caused by a virus which grows in the living cells of the brain, often damaging or killing the cells. "There is much we just don't know about encephalitis," Irons said. "We know it is transmitted to humans by mosquitoes and possibly some other insects. We know that the mosquitoes get the virus from other animals act as carriers or how the virus over-winters or why it takes so long to show up even though mosquitoes are out in early spring." One of the methods by which the Health Department is looking for encephalitis evidence is through the capturing of live
