GETTING THE POINT — A young Cuban girl screams from fright as Dr. George Lewis inoculates her while a relative helps hold the child in Key West, Fla. The child was one of the refugees who arrived from Cuba via Cuba's "Open Door" policy. The State Department said it planned to provide regular and safe transportation for refugees in the near future and has threatened to prosecute anyone bringing Cubans into the country without first going through official channels.

Rusk, Stewart Meet To Discuss NATO, SE Asia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart were meeting today to discuss Anglo-American differences over NATO nuclear strategy and to compare notes on Southeast Asia.

They were holding morning and afternoon sessions, and lunching together in an effort to cram as much business as possible into the single day Stewart is spending in Washington before going on to the West Coast and Japan.

The British have expressed serious doubts as to whether the creation of a NATO nuclear force, in which West Germany would be on participant, is worth the trouble it is causing with Russia.

Stewart has said that it is more important to get some sort of an agreement with the Soviet Union banning the spread of nuclear weapons and that this may be impossible if the proposed NATO force comes into being.

The United States, however, considers it vital to find some arrangement to give West Germany a "voice" in Western nuclear strategy. It is felt this would lessen the possibility that Germany will some day decide to build her own national nuclear force.

Stewart said Sunday on a television program that NATO should "reexamine" current efforts to devise a NATO nuclear force to make certain that such a project would not make it more difficult to reach political agreements with the Soviet Union.

The British view is that the proposed force would add little to NATO's over-all strength and that it is causing more trouble than it is worth.

West Germany has complicated the picture by intensifying her demands for some say in nuclear strategy, adding a new argument—that she needs this in order to strengthen her hand for bargaining with Moscow on unification of Germany.

On Viet Nam, Stewart is prepared to reassure Rusk of continued British support for American policy there. The British (See NATO, Page 3)

US Custom Men, FBI Seek Crew

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—A 30-foot cabin cruiser carrying refugees from Communist Cuba limped into port today to launch a freedom shuttle expected to bring thousands more to the United States.

"It's like being in a different world," declared one of the refugee men, a big smile on his sunburned face.

But waiting to greet the refugees were FBI and U.S. Customs agents, and a Coast Guard spokesman said charges could be brought against the crew of the craft—three exiles living in Miami—for illegally bringing aliens into the country.

The U.S. State Department has taken a dim view of the premature start of the freedom shuttle under Premier Fidel Castro's new open door policy which allows Cubans to leave his island regime. The United States has asked the eager and impatient exiles in Miami to delay the shuttle until formal negotiations with Cuba are worked out via the Swiss Embassy in Havana.

The federal government also has asked that Castro not let an onslaught of small boats leave the island for this country pending further negotiations through the Swiss Embassy for a "more orderly flow" of refugees.

The white-hulled craft called the "MMM," chugged into port with only one of its two engines running. It was escorted by a Coast Guard patrol boat which took the women refugees off the vessel before it docked.

The cruiser was reportedly piloted from Miami to the northern Cuba port of Camariaca - Castro's designated jumping-off point for exiles under his "open door" policy officially started Sunday. There it picked up its cargo of 17 refugees.

Negotiations between the United States and Cuba for an "orderly" exodus of refugees were complicated by Cuba's charges that a Cuban coastal guard was shot and killed Friday by an exile "mercenary."

The refugee boat sighted Sunday night was identified as a 30-foot cabin cruiser MMM. In addition to the 17 refugees it carried three exiles from Miami, the Coast Guard said. The boat broke down enroute to Key West Sunday night and was taken into tow.

The boat apparently was the same one mentioned by Havana Radio Sunday when it hoisted 12 relatives of one man aboard the MMM turned him down when he offered to take them to the United States.

Oklahoma Officers Seek Kidnaping Ex-Convict

WATONGA, Okla. (UPI)—Federal and state officers bottled up a wounded Texas ex-convict in the rice farmland of Northcentral Oklahoma Sunday night after he had held five members of a Watonga family hostage for six hours and escaped in the family's car.

Object of the search was Delbert Harmon Garmon, 28, of Wichita Falls, Tex. He was wanted on federal and state kidnaping charges, stemming from the kidnaping of five persons Wednesday in a desperate flight from Wichita Falls into Oklahoma.

The Blaine County sheriff's office said Garmon forced his way into the farm home of Leo Scott of Watonga Sunday afternoon. He left alone six hours later in the Scott's car after locking the family in the garage with a car he was last seen driving Wednesday.

None of the kidnaping or hostage victims were harmed.

Garmon, 28, began his flight Tuesday night. He took a couple of shots at his wife and a policeman in Wichita Falls, but both missed. The policeman opened up with a shotgun at Garmon's car and slightly wounded the fugitive in the face and shoulders which he had banded Sunday.

Garmon kidnaped a Wichita Falls couple and forced them to go with him to Altus, Okla., where on Wednesday he kidnaped another couple. He left both couples bound in the closet of an Oklahoma City residence later that day.

He then kidnaped Jayne Blanchard, 19, of Oklahoma City and forced her to drive him west out of Oklahoma City. She escaped while they were stopped at a service station in El Reno. It was her car that was found Sunday in the Scott's garage.

Federal and state officers threw up a tight cordon in the El Reno area, but by Wednesday night Garmon had given them the slip. Various reports later had him sighted in Oklahoma City and southwestern Oklahoma and once at Wichita Falls. All proved erroneous.

Pampa Delegation To Attend TML Meeting

Pampa will send a delegation of 10 or 12 city officials to the 53rd annual conference of the Texas Municipal League Oct. 31-Nov. 2 in San Antonio, City Manager Jim White said today.

Approximately 2,500 delegates including Texas mayors, councilmen, city managers and heads of city departments are expected to attend the three-day meeting.

Pampa officials planning to go to the conference include Mayor Jim Nation, City Manager Jim White, Public Works Director R. B. Cooke, City Atty. Bob Gordon, City Sec'y S. M. Chittenden, Fire Chief Ernest Winborne, Police Chief Jim Conner and at least two of the four city commissioners. Commissioners Clyde Carruth and Roy Kay plan to attend and Commissioners Hugh Burdette and M. McDaniel hope to arrange for their attendance, it was stated today.

Steve Matthews, former city manager of Pampa, now executive director of the TML, today sent out invitations to Texas newsmen to attend the conference.

In his letter, Matthews stated the 53rd annual conference promises among other things: "Solid subject matter which views cities as maturing physically, in approach to the problems provoked by growth, and in their relations with other units of government and with private segments of the economy unavoidably involved also in urbanization."

"The most concentrated, plain and practical survey of governmental interrelationships ever offered any group of public officials, and Technical, specialized inquiry into more than 50 current problems peculiar to the operational branches of municipal government: management, utilities, municipal law, finance, taxation, public works, personnel, planning, parks and recreation, police and fire protection."

Those, Matthews stated, are the broad areas of interest. Here are a few of the specific subjects: federal-city relations (in an address called connecting the terminals of democratic government), the Texas (See DELEGATION, Page 3)

SAME OLD PANHANDLE

Fall Readings Expected Again

It's the same old Texas Panhandle. is about the same as today, except that some rain is expected along the Gulf Coast Tuesday.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 54 at Dalhart—one of only three places in Texas with readings under 60—to 74 at Galveston.

The high Sunday was 102 in Presidio, while Lubbock had its hottest Oct. 10 ever, 93. The coolest maximum was Galveston with 82.

The mercury climbed to a hot 90 degrees in Pampa Sunday for one of the warmest Oct. 10s since 1920 and 1921 when the temperature was 93 degrees.

The cool and fall-like temperatures were due to stay around for the next few days, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau. The high for today and tomorrow was expected to reach about 70 degrees with the strong northeasterly winds due to continue.

Skies were generally partly cloudy over the northern portions of the state today, with considerable fog over the coast. The forecast through Tuesday

U.S. Aquanauts End 45 Day Tests in Ocean

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI)—America's final team of Sealab 2 aquanauts today end what scientists called a "classic" 45-day experiment in ocean technology.

The 10-man team, led by veteran Navy diver Robert Sheats, left its 57-foot steel capsule on the ocean floor Sunday to make the 205-foot ascent in special pressurized personnel transfer capsule. The trip up to the mother ship, Berkone, took about 10 minutes.

The aquanauts were placed in a decompression chamber from which they were to emerge about 6 p.m. CST.

The team was the third to spend 15 days in the 200-ton craft, studying man's capabilities under pressure six times that on the surface.

The first and second teams were headed by astronaut aquanauts M. Scott Carpenter, who remained below 30 days. Carpenter entered his cylinder—which rests on a ledge about 3,000 feet offshore — on Aug. 28.

The project's director, Capt. Lewis Melson, said the experiment had accomplished all its original objectives and some that were added during the operation.

"We have been able to prove conclusively that man can work at great depths underwater as members of a marine fraternity," he said. "The three teams in Sealab 2 will prove to be a classic in ocean technology."

Wilson Fails in Last-Ditch Talks With Rhodesian Chief on Declaring Freedom

LONDON (UPI)—British Prime Minister Harold Wilson failed today in a last-ditch attempt to talk Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith out of issuing a declaration of independence for his white-ruled African colony.

"There has been no change in anybody's attitude," Smith declared after a brief meeting with Wilson at No. 10 Downing Street.

It appeared Smith was determined to carry out his threat to secede. "I hope I am going home tonight and I am going to pack my bags now," the Rhodesian leader told newsmen.

The fruitless meeting seemed to end hopes something might be salvaged from Smith's trip to London for talks on independence.

Informed sources said the unilateral declaration of independence seemed a certainty. It would mark the first time since the American colonies seceded in 1776 that Britain was faced with such a crisis.

Opposition leader Heath, former Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home and opposition commonwealth spokesman Selwyn Lloyd called on Wilson late Sunday night after meeting earlier — at their request with Smith.

The three, who are backing the Labor government's stand in the crisis, reportedly warned the Rhodesian leader again not to break with Britain.

Smith has demanded independence and continued rule of Rhodesia by the white minority — about 220,000 settlers. Britain insists that before independence is granted, the colony's four million Africans be given start toward majority rule.

Pope Bars Talks On Celibacy of The Clergy

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI today vetoed any public discussion by the Ecumenical Council on the delicate question of celibacy of the clergy.

Intervening directly in the assembly controversy over moves to review the controversial issue, the pontiff informed the 2,200 bishops in St. Peter's Basilica that "it is not expedient to have public discussion of a matter of such delicacy."

He urged in a letter to the council fathers that priestly chastity and celibacy "should be kept and strengthened."

The Pope's intervention came as the council marked its third anniversary, then began tackling a heavy workload in anticipation of a brief recess at the end of the week. The agenda included a vote on the controversial statement of the Jews.

Final votes were planned today and Tuesday on two major documents. One, titled "For the Renewal of Religious Lives," is an historic attempt to modernize the lives of two million nuns, monks and friars. The other involves reforms of Catholic seminaries to give more scientific and practical training to future priests.

The key voting on the Jewish declaration is scheduled for Thursday and Friday.

On Saturday, delegates will begin a one-week recess, allowing council officials time to lay out the schedule for the session's concluding days before Christmas. Some sources say the recess may be stretched to two weeks.

Attempted Murder Charges Lodged Against Resident

Jessie Hollingsworth, 55, of 636 S. Somerville, was charged with assault with intent to commit murder and placed under a $1,500 bond today by Justice of the Peace G. L. (Nat) Lunsford.

Hollingsworth was charged in a police department complaint with the shooting of William Honeycutt, 33, of 1033 Barrett.

The shooting was the result of an argument between the two at 3 a.m. Sunday in the 400 block of Maple.

Honeycutt was shot in the right abdomen with a .38 pistol. He was listed in satisfactory condition this morning in Highland General Hospital.

President Is 'Restless and Uncomfortable'

BACK AT WORK — At the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital President Johnson was on the go again after bounding back from his gall bladder operation. Here Mr. Johnson is shown handing papers to an assistant, Jake Jacobsen. Mr. Johnson's doctors said they knew of no way he could be doing better.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson was "restless and uncomfortable" today after spending his most unpleasant night since his gall bladder surgery three days ago.

But Johnson, for the first time since his operation, took a few steps unassisted. His doctors said the President's discomfort was "not unexpected" and he was recovering on schedule.

Johnson met with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for about 55 minutes today to discuss foreign and domestic matters. He also asked Secretary of State Dean Rusk to see him at the Bethesda Naval Hospital this afternoon.

Takes Few Steps

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers, briefing newsmen at the hospital at 9:15 a.m. CST, said the President awoke at about 7 a.m. and "walked a few steps unassisted." This was the first time since the operation that he had walked without help.

Moyers said Johnson still was being fed in "avenously" but was taking "small amounts of soft food" and his diet gradually would be increased.

Moyers further reported: "A second tube in the President was removed this morning from the region where the gall bladder had been located. The doctors advised me that his blood pressure, activities of the heart, respiration all are normal.

"The doctors did advise him that they insist he must take every opportunity to rest, that he must maintain a minimum schedule for the next few weeks and hold his official callers to a minimum."

"I feel good. I'm a little weak. I'll be all right," Johnson told newsmen permitted to visit his third-floor suite at Bethesda Naval Hospital Sunday morning.

"Very frankly, this is a good time to get a little rest. I have been rather tired for some time, so we are going to use this the best we can," he added.

As for his hopes of leaving the hospital, Johnson said it didn't make much difference and he would go along with his doctors' recommendations.

They said before Friday's operation that the President should be hospitalized for 10 days to two weeks.

Foreign News Commentary

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International
From the Foreign News Cable:

ASIAN UPHEAVAL:

Expect serious and long-term repercussions of the Indonesian upheaval on the Asian scene. Diplomats in London say the unrest has set off internal tensions that are likely to smolder even if the current troubles are brought under control. They say Sukarno, 64, "will never be the same" and the attempted coup has made the issue of succession in leadership of Indonesia more precarious than ever before. Red China stands to lose from the political uncertainties and some diplomats even speak of the beginning of a change in the power balance in Asia.

NASSER-ISRAEL:

West German leaders in Bonn say they won't be surprised if U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser suddenly and without further warning exchanges ambassadors with Communist East Germany in a dramatic attempt to reassert leadership of the Arab world. Bonn is making it clear through diplomatic channels it will increase aid to Israel if he does. Bonn believes Nasser's prestige is so low, few or none of the other Arab states would follow him. They are more interested in maintaining economic relations with Bonn.

POWERLESS PARTY:

Another South Korean opposition party with a radical anti-Japanese and anti-government stance is in the making in Seoul. Informed sources say former President Psoun Yun will inaugurate the party within a month. But if it is formed it will have a serious handicap—no members in the national assembly. Party leaders resigned from parliament in protest against the Korea-Japan rapprochement treaty.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY:

This week is the first anniversary of the Oct. 15, 1964 ouster of Nikita S. Khrushchev as Soviet premier, and you can look for silence in Moscow to mark the occasion. New leaders Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei Kosygin will continue beating the drums in the press for their newly announced reforms aimed at getting the deadwood out of the Soviet economy and improving efficiency.

VOLCANIC RUMBLINGS:

In the heated and free-for-all atmosphere of Philippine politics one unlikely topic which may yet become a campaign issue in the November presidential election is the Taal volcano disaster. Already there have been charges between the two major political parties that each was utilizing the relief program for the thousands of victims for selfish political purposes.

NEW TWIST:

Look for a new twist to Soviet efforts to penetrate Africa. The Kremlin is basing its campaign on political party, not governmental contacts, hoping to forge ties with the powerful non-Communist parties now ruling most of African states. The tipoff: Mali President Modibo Keita visited Moscow recently, not as president but as leader of his Union Soudanaise party. He was greeted as "comrade" by the Soviets.

Celanese Corp. Acquires Stock Of British Firm

NEW-YORK (Spl) — Celanese Corporation today declared its offer to the stockholders of British Paints (Holdings) Limited is now unconditional, following acceptance of the acquisition offer by stockholders representing 95.61 per cent of the British company's total common shares. Celanese said it would continue to accept tenders until Nov. 5.

The acquisition includes 22 plants operated by British Paints in 17 countries.

Harold Blanche, chairman of Celanese, said the $47.6 million financing involved in the acquisition has been arranged outside the United States in order to comply with President Johnson's voluntary balance of payments program.

Blanche said that British Paints will continue to operate under its present management and staff as a Celanese subsidiary. The acquisition, he said, fits into the Celanese long-range program of international diversification, in which Celanese joins forces with local capital and technology to make and sell products in world-wide markets that complement the U.S. company's basic product line.

British Paints has headquarters in Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England. Its operating companies produce high-grade enamels, paints and varnish.

Rogers to Address Mining, Broadcasting Conventions

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Spl) — Congressman Walter Rogers is scheduled to address two national meetings this week in fields related to his work on committees of the House of Representatives. He is slated to speak before a forum of the American Mining Congress Wednesday in Las Vegas. The next day, in Washington, he'll participate in a conference sponsored by the Farm Bill and Sugar Act committee.

Meanwhile, the House will move closer to adjournment by considering measures postponed from last week's crowded agenda.

da. Among them is expected to be the conference committee agreement on the Omnibus Farm Bill and the Sugar Act.

The Commission was established by Congress to review U. S. laws and policies affecting development of the public lands and to make recommendations for changes.

Election Campaigns is "Promising Avenues of Recourse and Control" in dealing with abuses of electronic media in election campaigns. As a member of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Congressman Rogers is chairman of the Subcommittee on Communications and Power, which has jurisdiction over broadcasting industry matters.

At the conference, the major 1965 event of the bipartisan Fair Campaign Practices Committee which seeks to raise standards of U. S. election campaigning, Congressman Rogers will discuss his proposal for effective Federal laws to control libelous election campaign statements. "This law should deal not only with the problem of civil libel but should also provide strong penalties from a criminal standpoint," Congressman Rogers said.

Ramirez Wins News Staff Selections

Former Harvester and gold-gloves boxer Chico Ramirez led the Pampa Daily News staff football selection experts, missing only three games over the weekend.

Ramirez's 21-3 reading also showed him into first place for the season with a 50-22 record and two game lead over Bill Power and Roy Rodgers and three game lead over sports editor Ron Cross.

Power finished second in last week's selection with a 20-4 record and Rodgers tied with three others at 18-6.

Cross, Kay Donn Smith and Van Cook finished at 17-7.

Ramirez missed only Lubbock's upset to Ohio St. and Syracuse's loss to UCLA.

Power missed Pampa's loss to Caprock, the Lubbock game, Tascosa's loss to Monterey and Florida's upset over Mississippi.

One game listed on last week's schedule, Littlefield at Plainview, was not played and was listed due to a mistake on the schedule.

SERIES SQUARE AT 2-2

Koufax Tries To Put LA Ahead

BRAZIL WINS
COMPIEGE, France (UPI)—Brazil defeated France 62-49 in a woman's basketball game Sunday.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, their base running speed and bunting offense back in full bloom, and the faulty-fielding Minnesota Twins both came back with their ace lefthanded pitchers Monday in the fifth game of the World Series, all even at two games each.

Finding their home park a tonic after dropping the first two games on the road, the Dodgers called on Sandy Koufax, considered the best pitcher in the game, to put them in the driver's seat before the Series returns to Minneapolis Wednesday.

The odds-makers figured that Koufax, despite his second game defeat, would return to form and they made the Dodgers 9-5 favorites to win Monday's game and 21-choices to go on to take the Series.

Koufax faced Jim Kaat, the southpaw who beat him 5-1 in the second game and an 18-game winner for the Twins.

Koufax won 26 for the Dodgers during the regular season.

Manager Walter Alton of the Dodgers, who feels his team does better when its backs are against the wall, predicted, "we'll do all right from now on, just as we did the past two days."

"I told my players to forget those first two losses in Minnesota and just play like they did all season," Alton said. "We did just that and we've got a pretty good pitcher going for us. But they have, too, so it's foolish to make any predictions."

He admitted, though, he was happy the way the Dodgers played in winning Saturday's game, 4-0, and Sunday's contest, 7-2, to get back on even terms with the Twins.

Manager Sam Mele was not at all discouraged because the Twins had lost that two-game advantage.

"It now becomes a three game series," he said. "We'll do all right. I'm not at all discouraged and neither are my players."

But he added that he would have a meeting with his players before the game and "go over the mistakes we made out there."

Actually, the Twins were charged with two errors as big Don Drysdale pitched the Dodgers to victory over Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

But the Twins made many other errors of commission, failing to cover first base and neglecting to cut off outfield throws.

Ruby Husted Golf Champ

Medalist Ruby Husted soared to an 87 Sunday but made it be good enough to become the new City Women's golf champion in a two-day tournament that ended Sunday at Pampa Country club.

Mrs. Husted posted rounds of 81-87-168 to take the tournament by four shots over Mary Myatt who shot 83-89-172.

Mrs. Husted, besides being the tournament medalist, also won the driving contest and putting contest. A chipping contest was won by Mrs. W. E. (Dottie) Ellis.

Low net honors in the championship flight went to Dottie Freeman who posted a 150 score.

Low net scores are figured with handicaps.

In the first flight Ruthie Hall carded rounds of 93-85-178 to win by one shot over Margie Fritch who came in with 87-92-179.

Mrs. Fritch also won low net with a 141 total.

Opal White won the second flight by eight shots over Beth Ramsey.

Mrs. White finished with a 201 total to Mrs. Ramsey's 209. Ramsey won low net with a 149 total.

The third flight winner was Delores Dooley with a 232, seven shots in front of Ernestine Enterline, 239. Mrs. Enterline won low net with a 162.

Monterey Alone Atop 3-4A League

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor

Monterey has firmly established itself as the team to beat for the 3-4A championship but the Plainsmen still have a long way to go.

Saturday night Monterey cleared a big hurdle by edging Tascosa, 22-14. Monterey has a 2-0 conference record having downed Amarillo and the Rebels, the defending champs, the two teams expected to give the biggest battle for the title.

The Plainsmen still have six other league foes to play but only Caprock and Palo Duro seem to have a chance to upset the league leaders.

Caprock edged Pampa, 7-0 behind a rip-roaring defense and Palo Duro came back strong after losing to Pampa two weeks ago, to slaughter Lubbock, 31-0.

It's still anybody's race and it would appear anything could happen.

The Plainsmen play Pampa, and Palo Duro on the road and meet Caprock, Borger, Plainview and Lubbock at home.

The Sandies stayed in the money by ripping Borger, 34-6 and running their record to 2-1. Pampa hosts the Plainsmen Friday night and the Harvesters have played the spoilers roll before.

Pampa will welcome back fullback Ted Heiskell, out for three weeks with a leg injury.

Saturday night Caprock plays the Sandies and Plainview, idle last week, although a misprint on the schedule had them playing Littlefield, hosts Palo Duro.

Here is one way to move ahead with Mercury in the Lincoln Continental tradition

There are 16 others:

15-16. WAGONS—both Colony Park (shown) and Comsumer have Dual-Action Tailgate.

Now you know there are many ways to move ahead with Mercury. But number isn't all that counts. Notice that every single model shares the same long, sleek, crisp lines—lines that give Mercury a classic distinction shared by no other car in its field. What else is new and distinctive? Mercury's smooth, poised, hushed ride—the finest this side of the Lincoln Continental. Then there's Mercury performance, ranging up to a magnificently responsive Super Marauder 428 V-8. To add to your pleasure and convenience, Mercury offers a long list of luxury options. For example: music from a Stereo-Sonic Tape System that plays 70-minute plug-in cartridges. Power front disc brakes. Vinyl-covered Oxford Roof. Cornering lights. And more. Every one a reason to... Move ahead with

Subsidies Must Be Ended

If the economy of the world is to advance — and who can doubt now that the economy is one that is geared to world production and exchange we must make that advance without government participation. The disengagement of the government in economic fields must be total. There must be a complete cancellation of all "foreign aid" and all subsidy to any and all business, and industries, foreign and domestic.

The major invader of industry in this instance is not the government of Russia, which is, as we all know, nominally socialist — a practically communist; it is the government of the United States. Our own government has been the major factor in advancing this particular kind of socialism the world around. And it has done so in the face of its own vocal support for a private, free market system.

Let us examine the steel industry. To see what has happened in this single line of endeavor. In 1950, the United States had 46 per cent of the world's steel production. Now it has 25 per cent. In 1950, we had 17 per cent of the world's steel market. For the last three years we have had less than 6 per cent.

Today, U.S. steel mills are operating at 55 per cent of capacity. They cannot afford to produce more in the face of foreign imports which are subsidized in whole or in part by the taxpayers of the United States.

Since 1945, the United States government has financed the building, the modernization or the expansion of more than 180 steel plants in dozens of countries around the world. These entirely modern facilities, often far better than our own mills, have cost the American taxpayers something better than $2 billion. Among the taxpayers who have been forced to put up the money for these excesses have been the American steel companies themselves.

America got into the business of financing world industry through the taxpayer route following World War II. Possibly in an aftermath of guilt over the devastation we helped to bring to Europe, and Japan, we poured out billions of our own money to help to rehabilitate. However, according to John L. Young, vice president for engineering technology for the United States Steel Corp. "The truth is that within the last several years the world has regained what was dissipated during World War Two and its aftermath, and has more than made up for the growth that would normally be expected under peaceful conditions."

Thus, there were a reasonable excuse for the spending of our billions abroad in massive welfare payments to war victims, that reason no longer exists. Nonetheless it continues and further, it continues to expand.

Nor is our "aid" exclusively geared to creating competitors for our production. Taxpayers' money is behind almost every purchase of foreign steel that is dumped in this country. As an example, in 1961 alone, a French steel foundry, the Union Sid de Nord, received $6,556,000 in U.S. tax payers' credits so that its steel could be shipped to this country.

Probably the only reason the American steel firms keep going at all is because so many of them have government contracts and thus are fearful of saying or doing anything to upset or affront one of their own largest customers.

Another instance of imbalance created by our own governmental intervention in this area is found in the wages paid. The steel workers' union, backed by the government, has forced up wages in this country to the place where an American steel worker, on an average picks up $3.99 per hour and, new contracts recently signed will push it even higher. His counterpart in Japan, working in an American - bought plant, makes 63 cents an hour. In Luxembourg, Belgium, France, West Germany, Italy and the Netherlands, the average wage per steel worker, in American-purchased plants, comes to $1.25 per hour.

Thus, on two fronts, the foreign aid front and the subsidy front, the American government is advancing socialism and working positively and directly to undermine and destroy our own industry.

And when these facts are brought out, altogether too many American producers cry that the only answer is a high tariff barrier to prevent the importation of foreign-made products. A tariff will not solve the problem, but rather it will isolate us in a world where economic isolation is no longer practical. Somehow, the men in industry must learn that government has no place in business and industry. When this knowledge is general and fully reported, the nonsense will stop.

The "Dumbbell" Sanctuary

Massive, area - saturation bombing raids are conducted by U.S. planes on the territory of our ally, South Viet Nam. Air strikes against our enemy in the North are restricted to highly select, pin - point targets away from populated areas and are forbidden completely in the most concentrated region of Communist industry and supply build - up around and between the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. Six U.S. planes were lost in an attack on what now appear to have been dummy missile sites outside that Hanoi-Haiphong sanctuary, leaving the known, actual sites inside it still untouched.

U.S. troops are ordered to burn villages in the South which are suspected of harboring Communist guerrillas. Our own and South Viet ground forces are forbidden from even a foray into the enemy's home territory in the North. Thus, having been deliberately terrorized by the Communists into harboring them, South Viet villagers are now being terrorized further (no matter if it is unintentional) by the very forces, namely ours, which are supposedly there to rescue and protect them.

In view of all this, we think that the unqualified support some people are now giving to the Administration's present policy in Viet Nam is every bit as foolish and dangerous as the criticisms by those who would have us pull our forces. It simply doesn't make sense, if the aim really is to help the people of South Viet Nam, that we should ourselves add to their country's devastation and leave the enemy a sanctuary in his home territory.

That sanctuary we allow in the North contains Soviet - built missile sites and probably a sizeable number of Soviet personnel, including their guerrilla warfare expert, Ambassador General Scherbakov. It contains untold tons of war supplies, brought into Haiphong under the watchful eyes of our warships and planes which are forbidden, by Washington, to do anything about it.

Because of its shape on the map, that untouchable area in North Viet Nam is referred to by the boys in the Pentagon as the "dumbbell" sanctuary. We expect our men who must fight in Viet Nam have an even better reason for calling it that.

PANAMA CANAL SURRENDER

President Lyndon B. Johnson's decision to abolish the 1903 Panama Canal Treaty and to complete a new pact that will "effectively recognize Panama's sovereignty" over the Canal Zone is almost certain to do irreparable harm to U. S. strategic interests in this hemisphere. It can only lead to serious trouble for the people of the United States.

The presidential action should be compared with the willingness of the British government to allow Dictator Nasser of the United Arab Republic to take over the Suez Canal. In the case of the Panama Canal announcement, Fidel Castro of Cuba must be rejoicing. The presidential decision plays right into the hands of Castro's Cuba.

Anti-American riots in the Canal Zone in January 1964 underlined the role of communist elements in stirring trouble in Panama. It is not as though Panama were a stable country that could be counted on to act responsibly with its great hemispheric partner to the North. On the contrary, Panama is riddled with graft, corruption, Castroite communism, and a variety of social and political maladies. It is one of the most unstable countries in the Western hemisphere. To entrust the Canal Zone to Panama is to ask for a series of irresponsible governmental acts calculated to injure the United States.

Panama is one of the Latin countries where Castroite communism can work most easily, indeed it is not out of the question that in time Panama may become in effect a Cuban satellite in Central America. It is small and disordered in its political life, thus presenting ideal conditions for the machinations of the Castro regime in Havana.

The United States government knows full well that all the branches of communism — Castroite, Soviet and Chinese — are zeroing in on Latin America as a prime target area. Only a few weeks ago, the Chinese Communist defense minister cited Latin America as one of the areas where his government expects to provoke revolutionary disturbances.

Clearly, in the years ahead the United States may be called on to do considerable policing of its hemispheric backyard. It may be frequently required to move fleet units from the Pacific to the Atlantic, or the other way around. It will need the defense base represented by the Canal Zone. But Mr. Johnson's decision to hand over the Canal Zone to the Panamanians will rob the United States of its security position on the Panamanian Isthmus.

Consider the experience of Suez. Dictator Nasser closes the Suez Canal to nations that he dislikes. And the British, since losing Cyprus, have been enormously handicapped in policing the troubled Middle East region which — from the security standpoint — bears such a resemblance to Central America.

Mr. Johnson should know better than to turn the Canal Zone over to the Panamanians. It represents appeasement of the mob element in Panama, and appeasing mobs always is foolish. You cannot do it, for the mob always cries for more.

In surrendering the Panama Canal Zone, Mr. Johnson is surrendering a precious national asset — created at tremendous cost — in order to improve "opinion" in Latin America. It is a waste of time to court something so illusory as Latin opinion. What is needed is retention of the strategic advantages that we possess, chiefly the Panama Canal.

The public can only hope that the decision will be reversed through the pressure of an outraged Congress. Certainly, the abandonment of the Panama Canal is a very solid issue for Mr. Johnson's political opposition. If this issue of appeasement in the Caribbean is not brought before the voters in the 1966 congressional elections, a even more costly than was appeasement of Panama could be appeasement of Castro's Cuba. Whereas the United States still retains the Guantanamo Naval Base on Cuba and has other bases in the Caribbean, the Canal Zone is the only U.S. position in Central America.

The United States cannot hope to win the cold war if it continues to do the enemy's work for him. Giving up our most precious strategic zone in this hemisphere certainly comes under the heading of making things easy for the enemy. Mr. Johnson is ill-advised to take such a step in order to get a better "image."

Pope 'In Sympathy' with U.S. Efforts To Defend South Viet Nam, President Tells Plane Guests

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Pope Paul VI gave his private blessing to U.S. efforts to defend South Viet Nam from Communist aggression during his New York meeting with President Johnson.

He assured the President, "I am in sympathy with your efforts in Vietnam."

That's the confidential report that President Johnson made to his congressional guests aboard the presidential plane during the return flight to Washington following his historic conference with the Roman Catholic pontiff.

He revealed that the Pope made the remarks during their country - by - country discussion of the world's major trouble areas before the Holy Father addressed the United Nations.

"Is he sharp?" exclaimed the President in giving details of their more than an hour meeting. "The Pope is as well informed on what is going on in the world, especially Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, as I am. He told me that 'I am in sympathy with your efforts in Viet Nam.' He even knew all about the Great Society and what we are trying to accomplish."

President Johnson said he went to great lengths in explaining the position of the U.S. in Viet Nam, telling the Pope: "We are helping to defend South Viet Nam against Communist aggression because we gave that country our solemn commitment. If we fail to keep this pledge, the commitments we have with 50 other nations would be considered worthless."

During the President's private talks with the Pope in a thirty-five floor suite at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, two of the most prominent lay Catholics in Congress paced the floor in an adjoining room.

When the precedent - setting conference continued for 40 minutes with no sign of breaking up, Representative John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., turned to Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., asking:

"Who do you think is ahead?" "I wouldn't know," replied the speaker with a big grin. "But I can tell you who isn't far behind — the President."

MANAGING THE NEWS — The Soviet Embassy is using an old device — the planted story — to try to improve Russia's image and spread Communist propaganda in the U.S.

Exclusive articles and stories are being distributed to weekly magazines and newspapers and passed to U.S. reporters on large daily papers by members of the Soviet Secret Police who double as diplomats and information specialists.

In most instances, the articles are carefully prepared by a team of writers in the Kremlin and sent to Washington by diplomatic pouch for distribution by a special branch of the KGB, the Soviet Secret Police.

In charge of this "news management" operation here is V. Bogachev, a member of the KGB's Department D — for "disinformation." His cover title is "officer" in the Soviet Embassy's press department.

He recently sent a glowing article on life expectancy in the Soviet Union to a West Coast magazine publisher with a covering letter, stating:

"The Novosti Press Agency us to offer the enclosed material to offer the enclosed material for possible publication by you. We hope you will find it interesting."

"It may be published as a whole or may be used in part, as best fits your need. The article is exclusively for your publication. If you use the material, send us two copies of the issue in which it appears."

WORLD - WIDE OPERATION The West Coast publisher, in turning the letter and article over to U.S. authorities, reported that this was the second "exclusive" that Soviet authorities have tried to plant with his magazine within the past three months.

A correspondent, who covers the State Department for one of Washington's largest daily newspapers, is known by U.S. security authorities to receive regular stories on U.S.-Soviet foreign policy moves from a Soviet Embassy official. This Russian diplomat also is constantly trying to plant stories with TV and radio correspondents in the capital.

According to U.S. intelligence authorities, one of the current operations of the KGB's "Department D" is the circulation of the autobiography by the Russian Agent Gordon Lonsdale.

Lonsdale, alias Konon Trofimovich Molody, was sentenced to 25 years in prison in 1961 for running a spy ring in Britain. He was later exchanged for Greville Wynne, a British businessman who the Russians arrested on trumped up spy charges.

Although Lonsdale is living behind the Iron Curtain, he has arranged to have his memoirs published in Britain and other European countries. The Lonsdale spy book is described as a "deadly piece of psychological warfare" by U.S. intelligence experts.

It is the first book by a Soviet spy ever to be covertly pushed by the KGB outside of Russia. It portrays most American security officers as fools or drunks.

A thought for the day; Greek biographer Plutarch commented: "Cicero said loud orators were driven by their weakness to noise, as lame men like to take to the horse."

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Markey

There's no wonder Walt Disney's films make money. They are just good. Ample proof that everyone likes to get in on a good thing is the fact the songs from Disney's "Mary Poppins" have been recorded by over 200 different artists, ranging from Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops Orchestra to rock 'n' roll combos. . . . And although many radio stations have gone in for rock 'n' roll records exclusively there are still 500 in the nation that care enough about adults to air programs encouraging listeners to call up and ask questions or state views on timely subjects.

Today's smile: A patient told his doctor: "My wife tells me I talk in my sleep. What should I do?" The medic replied: "Nothing that you shouldn't."

This year litterbugs will dump enough trash on U.S. streets to fill a freight train stretching from Chicago to Houston, Texas, a distance of 1060 miles. And it will cost $500,000 to clean up what is actually the other fellow's carelessness. . . . The medical rejection rate for U.S. draftees is about the same now as in World War II, but the number turned down for mental reasons has gone up 12 per cent. Isn't that something in a nation that is spending billions on education and welfare? . . . A Pennsylvania college professor blames this past summer's unrest on human exposure to unseen radio, radar, and TV waves that surround us. He terms them electromagnetic insults to human nervous systems." Maybe he's right. . . . Twenty-five year ago the two big mail order firms were usually referred to by their full names — Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward. Today the former is known only as Sears and the latter as Ward's.

Thoughts while shaving: Quilted fabrics are becoming popular again. Although quilting is generally associated with Colonial America it actually dates back to the 11th Century when the Crusaders introduced it in Europe after they had discovered it in the Near East. . . . Among the oldest of glass products are great globes that are used for fishing floats. You can buy them now in New England antique shops where they are sold as curios. . . . Everyone knows Notre Dame had some great football teams through the years, but it came as a surprise to us to learn the Indiana University in 66 years, from 1889 to 1955, had only one losing season. That was in 1933, two years after Rockne's death. . . . Apparently oil wells never really run dry. One-third of the nation's oil supply comes from so-called obsolete wells that have been stimulated to second production by injections of water, heat or chemicals. . . . We think it was Elbert Hubbard who once defined an expert as "someone who decides quickly and is sometimes right."

STEPS TOWARD BONDAGE

Steps are being taken these days away from freedom and toward a government - directed economy. One of the foundation stones of this Republic was the right of the states to conduct their elections as they saw fit. In the new Voting Rights Bill, federal government has now established a precedent for depriving the states of that basically important function.

It will be said that this action was taken to cure a long-standing abuse. There is some truth in the statement, but Negroes were rapidly acquiring the right to vote before the so - called Voting Rights Bill was passed. With a little patience the goal could have been reached, without knocking out one of the pillars upon which our Republic rests.

In striking down the so-called Right to Work provision of the Taft - Hartley Law, Congress made it necessary for the individual workman to knuckle under to the unions in order to retain his job. This is a species of slavery and it tears a great hole in the fabric of freedom which has meant so much to us all, and has contributed so greatly to the prosperity and well-being that has been achieved in this nation.

The third great defeat of freedom in these last days was the passage of the Medicare Bill, which opens the way for unconscionable chiseling by those who do not need assistance with their medical problems, and by those who find ways of getting far more than they are entitled to under the provisions of the Law. Because it is free, many will abuse their privileges and the costs of the scheme will go higher and higher.

It took about thirty years for the Social Security tax to get within striking distance of ten per cent, but the second ten per cent will be added in much less time. The cost of Medicare will go up and up and up. We know this is true from the experience of other countries who have had similar schemes for many years. The plan is rather modest to begin with, but it will be expanded by almost every Congress from now on, just as Social Security benefits are increased before every election.

In some countries the social welfare tax amounts to a third or more of the payroll. There is nothing to prevent, and in fact, there is every reason to expect, that the same development will take place in our country.

But if the Social Security "take" climbs to anything like that figure, it will absorb most of the money which our people otherwise would save. It will, therefore, tend to dry up savings, and greatly to reduce capital accumulation. And if capital is not accumulated in large proportions, progress will cease and retrogression toward lower production and hard times will come upon us.

would stop everything to listen to those "Fireside Chats" of President Franklin Roosevelt? "Country Editor speaking: "Conservationists know this country can't be kept wild, but they wonder how much can be kept green."

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT
COLLEGE CAMPUS SPEAKERS

The notorious Moscow declaration of 1960 set out, among many other statements, "There are new opportunities to draw the younger generation into the struggle for peace and democracy, and for the great ideals of communism."

Leaving aside the opportunity to comment on the basic and irresolvable conflict between peace and democracy, on the one hand and Communism, Fascism and Socialism on the other, it may be said that these movements are taking full advantage of the opportunities their leaders saw to debase our young people.

The Communist Party of the USA has been remarkably successful in placing its top officials as speakers and lecturers on major college campuses across the nation. Leading communists have been appearing before well attended student group meetings at the rate of one or more every week during the school year.

From October, 1961, to May, 1962, communists made 48 speeches before college students; their own estimate is that they reached more than 75,000 students and townspeople. In 1963, they brought the Communist line before 45 student groups. In 1964, they made 44 appearances on the campuses. How many will there be this year?

Most Americans no doubt will agree with John W. Bricker, the great former Senator from Ohio and now a trustee of the University of Ohio. Said Senator Bricker: "Communists, nazis, fascists, and other subversives and their supporters have no right to speak at a tax-supported state university." The University of Ohio would not change the rule that its president could ban subversive speakers. But it is America's misfortune that other tax-supported educational institutions have not been so firm.

Wit and Whimsy

Debt-Collector — Shall I call tomorrow?
Young Lawyer — Twice. If convenient I have an idea that folks think you are a client.

Wife — Did you notice the chinchilla coat on the woman sitting in front of us at church this morning?
Husband — Er-no. Afraid I was dozing most of the time.

Wife — Um! A lot of good the service did you.

Here's to Man — He can afford anything he can get. Here is to woman — she can afford anything that she can get a man to get for her.

Big Boy — You like to go to Sunday school, don't you?
Little Boy — Yes.

Big Boy — What do you expect to learn?
Little Boy — The date of the picnic.

Pampa Druggists Join in Campaign To Salute CARE
American druggists are among those helping to salute CARE (Cooperative American Relief Everywhere, Inc.) this Fall in honor of its 20th anniversary. Joe Tooley, Pampa druggist, stated today.
"During October and continuing through November 30, local druggists will be honoring America's unique self-help program for people overseas by inviting everyone to 'Share with CARE'." Tooley stated.
To "Share with CARE"... anyone purchasing such well-known household products as Bayer Aspirin, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, Fletcher's Castoria, Midol and others, during this period, will have these products or medical supplies equivalent to the amount of his purchase donated to the American relief agency.
"Share with CARE" is a way to salute this organization on its 20th anniversary, in recognition and appreciation of its help in making friends for our country overseas," Tooley stated.
Details on "Share with CARE" will be displayed by all participating stores in the Pampa area.
