MISS SEPTEMBER — Miss Marilyn Steele, a graduate of Pampa High School, is this month's Miss September. Miss Steele is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dudley Steele, 1901 Dogwood. She graduated from North Texas State University in Denton, and is now teaching Sophomore history at Woodrow Wilson High School in Dallas.

Troops Strike Across Cease Firing Line

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — A government spokesman today announced that Azad (free) Kashmir troops "backed by the Pakistani army" struck across the cease-fire line and drove six miles inside Indian-held Kashmir. A major military showdown between India and Pakistan appeared to be brewing.

He said the action was taken "in response to the situation created by India and to prohibit further aggressive moves on the part of India."

The announcement amounted to the first official admission that Pakistani regulars had clashed with Indian troops in the current four-and-a-half week long eruption of border violence.

Indian troops crossed the 1949 United Nations cease-fire line at three different sectors during the past week. The Indian government admitted the violation of the cease-fire line but said the action was necessary to frustrate further massive infiltrations.

President Mohammed Ayub Khan told the nation in a radio broadcast that India's violation of the cease-fire line raised the threat of war in Kashmir which is being forced on us by India.

Both Single, Married Men Will Be Drafted

400,000 To Be Called Up Soon

WASHINGTON (UP)—During the next year the nation's stepped up military effort in Viet Nam is going to become a very real thing for about 400,000 young Americans in both single and married draft categories.

That word came today from Selective Service officials who said that the nation military manpower needs can be met, as in the past, through a draft pool of single, generally unattached men between 19 and 26 was a mistaken one.

Few of those drafted are likely to see service in Viet Nam itself, where the troop commitment is mainly made up of voluntary enlistees. But draftees will be needed to fill gaps in the ranks caused by transfers to Viet Nam from U. S. commitments elsewhere.

There are a total of about 17 million men in the United States in the current draft-eligible age range of 18 to 26. Draft officials said, however, that the number of able-bodied single men in this total who would meet all the various requirements for the draft will be insufficient to meet demands.

The officials said that the first to go into uniform would be an estimated 160,000 young bachelors between 19 and 26. They said that starting in November, local draft boards would be ready to begin putting into effect in their callsup President Johnson's recent order that men married after Aug. 26 be treated the same as bachelors.

By early next year, some childless men married before Aug. 26 are likely to be called, the officials added. Under the orders issued by Johnson last month for a troop buildup, monthly draft calls have so far been doubled to about 35,000, and with the first increases coming this month.

Provisional Government Is Established

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Both sides in the Dominican conflict agreed Tuesday night to set up a provisional government, opening the way to settlement of the four month crisis in which 27 U.S. servicemen were killed.

Former Foreign Minister Hector Garcia Godoy, a 44-year-old businessman, will be installed as provisional president on Friday. It will be up to him to pacify the country in preparation for elections within nine months.

Two immediate problems will confront Garcia in his capacity as the nation's nominal commander-in-chief — choosing top commanders for the armed forces and arranging for the surrender of thousands of weapons held by the rebels.

Garcia also will have to arrange for the withdrawal of the inter-American peace force which has been policing Santo Domingo for the past three months.

The United States sent in 22,000 Army paratroopers and Marines during the first savage days of the revolt and 10,000 paratroopers are still here along with 1,700 Latin American troops who arrived later.

Most of this force is expected to withdraw to camps outside the city soon after the new government takes office, leaving minimal detachments to guard the international security zone in the embassy district and the corridor across the city until Garcia is satisfied that the rebels have given up their arms.

The provisional government will take up the question of final withdrawal of the troops with the foreign ministers of the hemisphere at their coming meeting in Washington.

Huge Rail Network Seen as 'Cure-All'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A mammoth railroad stretching from Maine to Nebraska and from Canada to the South was offered today in a "cure-all" plan to solve the staggering problems of railroading in the jet age.

The proposal for the nation's largest railroad—a vast system covering 20 states and two Canadian provinces — was forwarded by the Norfolk & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio railroads. Implicit in the merger plan was an invitation for government aid to pull four ailing commuter lines out of the red. Otherwise they would be excluded from the merged system.

In one of the best-kept financial secrets, the boards of directors of both railroads met secretly and simultaneously—Cleveland — to approve plans to merge. They did in the fruition of months of meticulous planning.

Then, top executives of the two lines—tired, hungry and bearded — gathered in New York's Waldorf Towers Tuesday night to announce the second phase of the plans.

Under the proposal, five other railroads, including the four beset by commuter woes, would eventually join the merged N&W-C&O system in direct competition with the Pennsylvania-New York Central system, whose merger is now before the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC).

The five other railroads are the Erie-Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson, Boston & Maine, Reading and New Jersey Central. The merged line would also include the Baltimore & Ohio, 90 per cent of which is currently owned by the C&O.

The eventual combination would result in the nation's largest—26,460 miles of track, gross annual revenues of $1.822 billion, and total assets of $5.9 billion.

The pending PRR-NYC system would operate 23,271 miles of road, have gross revenues of $1.806 billion a year, and total assets of $6.041 billion.

Approval of both proposals by the ICC would pit in fiercest competition two giants, and in the same stroke exclude minor lines in the northeastern quadrant of the United States: Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska. The system would also reach into two Canadian provinces, Ontario and Quebec.

An American military spokesman identified the airman as Capt. William Bollinger of Maquoketa, Iowa. The plane a F105 Thunderchief fighter-bomber, was one of four jets attacking a bridge on Highway 13 about 95 miles west of Hanoi.

Other pilots on the mission reported that Bollinger's plane was hit by conventional anti-aircraft fire and crashed in the target area. Bollinger ejected and was picked up a short time later by the crew of an Air Force III43 "Huskie" helicopter.

"The bridge was destroyed by nine tons of 750-pound bombs," the spokesman said.

Viet Nam Death Toll Totals 68

SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. military spokesman said today 68 Americans were killed in Viet Nam in the two-week period ending last Saturday, the heaviest losses of the war for American forces. The figure included 59 Marines previously reported killed in the Chu Lai victory.

The spokesman reported the Viet Cong lost 580 killed and 120 captured the week ending Aug. 28. A week before he had set Viet Cong losses at 1,010 dead, a record total of 1,590 for the two week period. The figure included 599 killed by the Marines at Chu Lai.

South Vietnamese losses were put at 180 killed and 500 wounded the previous week. This brought the two week toll to 300 dead.

Four Americans and a Vietnamese were killed today in a helicopter crash. A U.S. Air Force C123 carrying nine persons from South Viet Nam to Formosa was reported missing and presumed down at sea.

In addition to the 68 killed, the casualty report listed 326 Americans wounded and 11 missing in action.

The toll included U.S. Marine casualties suffered in "Operation Starlight," the big American victory over Viet Cong forces near Chu Lai two weeks ago. The Leathernecks knocked out a hard-core Viet Cong regiment, killing 600 guerrillas by actual body count.

Four American crewmen and a Vietnamese observer were killed today when a U.S. UH1B helicopter crashed one-half mile south of Ben Catm 25 miles south-southwest of Saigon.

North Vietnamese gunners shot down an American jet late Tuesday, but the pilot was rescued by a U.S. Air Force helicopter crew.

These are two more milestones in the building of the Panhandle and in the recognition of the Southwest's great contributions to our cherished American heritage.

It is estimated that as many as 1 1/2 million people will visit the quarries and pueblos each year.

The bill to establish the quarries as a national monument was first introduced in the House on Jan. 4 by Congressman Rogers.

At the same time, Sens. Ralph Yarborough and John Tower introduced a similar bill in the Senate. The bills were recently passed and sent to President Johnson for his signature.

Present at yesterday's signing ceremonies were Congressman Rogers, President Johnson and several presidential aides.

Negotiators Resume Bargaining Sessions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Steel union and industry negotiators resumed bargaining sessions next door to the White House today. An informed source reported no break in their deadlock was in sight.

The negotiators, under pressure from President Johnson to avert an economy-damaging strike, went back into conference at 7:30 a. m. CST in the Executive Offices Building. They refused to comment on the discussions.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Commerce Secretary John T. Connor were expected to be on hand to work with the negotiators and to give visible reminders of Johnson's interest in the critical negotiations.

The President won an eight-day breathing spell for the negotiators when both sides agreed to postpone any strike action until 10:01 a. m. CST.

After meeting with Johnson Tuesday, congressional leaders reported that he was appealing for a "fair, just and non-inflammatory" settlement. They said he had stressed his concern over the impact a steel strike would have on the nation's economy, now in its 10th month of expansion, and on the Viet Nam war effort.

White House Press Secretary J. D. Moyers said the bargaining talks were "amicable and intense." Both sides organized themselves into subcommittees to deal with wage and pension issues.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said after meeting with Johnson that a steel strike at this time would deal a damaging blow to our prosperity and to the defense of the dollar.

He estimated that close to 1 million men would be immediately called by a strike and thousands more would be laid off as the effect of the strike hit other steel-using industries.

Fall Weather Comes With First of Month

September arrived in Pampa and the Panhandle today, and brought with it a touch of fall.

Pampa recorded a trace of rain last night and early this morning. The Weather Bureau said all of Texas had a chance for more rain today, except the Northwest section.

Pampa recorded an overnight low of 57 after a high yesterday of 82.

Most parts of the state recorded overnight lows in the 60s to 70s, but it was 53 in Dalhart. The highest minimum was 81 in Galveston.

A narrow band of Texas just south of the Red River was under a severe thunderstorm forecast for six hours Tuesday.

Lightning struck a barn just east of Wichita Falls, burning it to the ground and a house at Waurika, Okla., just across the Red River from Nocona, Tex.

Lightning also struck a house in Wichita Falls. Firemen quickly put out the fire.

The worst damage was a roaring $2 million fire that raged out of control when lightning hit a huge oil storage tank of Magnolia Petroleum Co. a mile east of Midland. Flames billowed so high they could be seen 35 miles away.

Entered cuts from the flume and the Panhandle today, and brought with it a touch of fall.

It rained so hard at Address But motorists had to stop on U.S. Highway 385 because visibility was cut to a few feet.

Lightning killed Cecil Lee Thomas, 39, of Levelland Monday. His sons, Tommy, 13, and David, 11, suffered burns but were recovering.

A one-hour hail and rainstorm wiped out the town of Juniper Junction, a stage setting for an open-air pageant in Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo Monday.

It was expected to be rebuilt today.

Presidio recorded the statewide high temperature of 104 degrees Tuesday. It was 102 at Abilene and 101 at Wichita Falls and Laredo.

Lake Meredith Is Officially Named by Walter Roger's Bill

Congressman Walter Rogers was called to the White House by President Johnson yesterday to be present for the signing of two bills. One bill created the Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument and the other officially named the Canadian River Reservoir "Lake Meredith."

The Alibates bill created the first national monument ever established in Texas.

The lake was named for the late A. A. Meredith of Borger, one of the pioneers of the movement to dam the Canadian River.

Congressman Rogers said he told President Johnson the two measures "are of great significance to the Panhandle and the Southwest."

The Alibates Flint Quarries are located near the Canadian River Dam and represent the oldest industry ever developed in America. The quarries were first mined by the Clovis man 10,000 years before the birth of Christ. The flint was used for spear points for hunting ice age mammoths which roamed the

Enrollment Totals 5,902

Some 5,902 students enrolled in Pampa's 11 public schools yesterday and were due to report for the first day's classes this morning.

Last year, 5,854 students enrolled for school on the first day, according to School Superintendent Jack Edmondson.

Edmondson said they expected an additional 75 to 100 students to enroll today and a few more after Labor Day.

School buses and the cafeteria were to operate for the first time today.

Students will not attend classes Monday, Labor Day.

School Desegregation Plan Gets Approval

The plan submitted early in August for the desegregation of Pampa schools has been approved by Francis Keppel, U.S. Commissioner of Education, in Washington.

Keppel, in a letter to the Pampa school board and School Superintendent Jack Edmondson, stated that plans for the 1965-66 school year in Pampa, will enable the schools here to receive federal financial assistance.

Pampa schools, Edmondson said today, do not receive direct federal aid. However, the federal money is channeled through the State and distributed to local schools by the Texas Department of Education.

The financial assistance received here, in which federal funds are contributed, include surplus commodities in the school lunch program and school vocational classes in home-making, shop courses and vocational agriculture.

Superintendent Edmondson said tentative approval was given to the Pampa school plan for compliance with the Civil Rights Act at a hearing in Lubbock on Aug. 12. Edmondson appeared at the hearing and a Civil Rights Act Review Committee studied the Pampa plan.

The Pampa school board approved the plan for compliance with the Title VI of the Civil Rights Act last July 27. It was submitted to Commissioner Keppel early in August.

Bloodmobile Arrives Today

A bloodmobile from the Wadley Blood Clinic in Dallas arrived in Pampa and was to begin taking blood donations at 1 p. m. today.

The blood will be used to aid leukemia victims in Gray and Roberts Counties and to establish a local fund that can be drawn from in the future at the Dallas clinic.

Last night the Jaycees, sponsors of the project, and the Jaycee-Ettes conducted a house-to-house campaign seeking additional pledges.

So far, an estimated 450 pledges have been received.

The bloodmobile, with a corps of six nurses and technicians, will be on duty in the educational building of the First Methodist Church from 1 until 9 p. m. today and from 8 a. m. until 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Persons who have signed pledge cards will be notified by telephone approximately two hours in advance of the time they are to appear.

Borneo States Expected to Remain

By PATRICK J. KILLEN
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Notwithstanding some injured pride, the Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak are expected to remain in Malaysia.

The two former British colonies had some serious second thoughts this month when their federation partner, Singapore, reluctantly declared her independence.

The move jolted many politicians in Borneo who, after some initial doubts, had pumped hard for the formation of Malaysia. They gravely noted that before Malaysia, their ties had been closer to Singapore than to Malaya, the federation's senior partner.

What really annoyed the Borneans was Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman's decision not to consult them before he separated Singapore. Borneo cabinet ministers and members of parliament got the word only a few hours in advance of the public announcement.

Just the same, Sabah and Sarawak are too small to have talk and independent thoughts.

Sarawak is a 50,000-square-mile slab in northern Borneo stretching from a 450-mile coastline, southeasterly inland to sawtooth mountains bordering on Indonesia. Economically depressed, Sarawak's 780,000 people need all the help they can get from the outside.

The population includes 243,000 Chinese, at least some of whom are hard-core Communists.

Sabah, called British North Borneo until it joined Malaysia, is Sarawak's neighbor and forms the northeastern part of the big island shared with Indonesia.

It is a vast, underpopulated (475,000) land of potential wealth. American demand for Japanese timber has made Sabah timber a coveted commodity, but it is still undeveloped and suffers from a chronic labor shortage.

Hanging together or separate, Sabah and Sarawak would find the going tough. Suggestions that they form a federation with their wealthy but tiny northeast neighbor, the British-protected sultanate of Brunei, make geographical sense but do not change perceptibly the economic picture.

The developments in Malayasia, with the peril they pose to U.S. and British strategic policy, underline the instability of the anti-Communist position in the entire area.

Political instability in Saigon continues to be a major headache for Washington as the Johnson administration goes ahead with plans to carry out a major increase in its military participation in the war. And Thailand, the only other piece of pro-Western real estate in the immediate area, is always a question mark in the minds of officials deeply versed in far eastern affairs.

Northeastern Thailand is gravely menaced by unrest and subversion pro-Communist Laotian and other foreign elements, menaced in the north and west by trouble spilling over from Burma, and now bordered on the southeast by the Chinese-dominated local government of Singapore under Lee Kuan Yew.

U.S. and British officials appear to agree that the forced withdrawal of Singapore from the federation could have been prevented by Malaysian Prime Minister Tengku (Prince) Abdul Rahman if he had been willing to take a tough enough stand when Malay extremists who insisted that no concessions of any sort could be made to the Chinese-dominated local government of Singapore under Lee Kuan Yew.

Texas Is In the Lead

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. John Connally Saturday released a series of figures showing Texas is leading all other states in the nation in the number of programs and enrollees in the anti-poverty program "Project Head Start."

The Head Start program offers basic educational experiences and medical help to underprivileged children in pre-school centers. The first project started in Texas in July and ends this week.

The governor's table accompanying a statement showed there were 170 grants approved in Texas this summer affecting at total of 44,982 children.

Kentucky was second to Texas in the number of grants with 117, and New York was second in the number of enrollees with 38,108. Connally said the figures came from the Washington Office of Economic Opportunity.

Results "Tremendous" — "These figures show the tremendous results of the Project Head Start programs in Texas," the governor's statement said. "It is gratifying that nearly 45,000 underprivileged children in Texas were given the opportunity to gain basic educational experiences and medical as-istance through this program. "I am confident that this summer program will have the net effect of greatly reducing the number of school dropouts among these children who took advantage of this worthwhile program. For too many of these children this program represented their first experience in an environment conducive to full intellectual development. "I want to commend education commissioner J. W. Edgar and his staff whose coordination and promotion of this program was largely responsible for this outstanding success.

Theft of Cash Being Investigated

Pampa police were investigating the theft of $20 in cash and approximately $150 in potted plants from the home of Mrs. Hottie Tschirhart, 832 C. Craven. Mrs. Tschirhart told police that someone entered her home Monday night or early Tuesday morning while she was sleeping and took $20 from her purse. She said they then went to the garage and took $150 worth of potted plants. The house was entered, police said, by cutting the screen on the garage door and entering through the garage entrance.

Obituaries

Mrs. W. D. White
Funeral services for Mrs. W. D. White, 78, of Sapulpa, Okla., mother of Mrs. G. L. Craddock of 2000 Williston, will be held Saturday morning in Owen Funeral Home Chapel at Sapulpa. Mrs. White was born Feb. 26, 1887, in Hot Springs, Ark. She died Tuesday in Edmonds, Wash., where she had been visiting the past month with another daughter Mrs. Aleen Goodridge, and with a son, G. L. White and family.

Mrs. White was married in January of 1905. Her husband preceded her in death in 1957. The couple resided in the Craddock home during 1957.

Other than Mrs. Craddock, survivors include one other daughter and five sons. A grandson, Harold D. Craddock of Pampa, also survives.

Highlights and Sidelights From the State Capitol

AUSTIN, Tex. — More than a dozen new state boards, agencies and licensing organizations go into effect this week.

Heading the list of important new agencies are the Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and Universities to direct the state's higher education system (replacing the Commission on Higher Education) and the new State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. The latter supplants the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Tuberculosis control functions of the old hospital board go to the State Health Department assisted by a new Tuberculosis Advisory Committee to the State Board of Health.

Among other groups which began functioning September 1 under broad reorganization plans ordered by the 59th Legislature are the Texas Water Rights Commission and the Water Development Board.

Legislature also set up an Air Control Board (for air pollution regulation), an Indian Affairs Commission, a Fine Arts Commission, and special licensing organizations for pesticide applicators, sanitarians and polygraph examiners.

All have legislative-directed missions in the rapidly-changing scene of a growing state government. Broadest changes in state history are expected of new programs for the hospital and higher education systems under revamped administrative organizations.

APPOINTMENTS—Gov. John Connally has buckled down to work on the mass of appointments to the many generally unpaid, state boards and commissions which run these state agencies.

Many of his choices are reappointments, either of his own earlier appointees or those of former Gov. Price Daniel.

New State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will contain six from the old Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools. They are Ward Burke, Lufkin attorney; Dr. Norice Cromer, Austin physician; Mrs. H. E. Butt, Corpus Christi businesswoman; Dr. Raleigh White, Temple surgeon; Dr. George Constant, Victoria psychiatrist; and former State Rep. Jesse Osborn, Muleshoe businessman.

New members of this major state board are the Rev. Robert S. Tate Jr., Connally's pastor at the First Methodist Church of Austin; Elbert E. Hall, Abilene businessman; and Peter de Witter, El Paso truck line operator.

Named to the Tuberculosis Advisory Committee were Ben Johnson, Tyler attorney; Lewis Boggus, Harlingen businessman; Henry Guerra Jr., San Antonio newscaster; Mrs. Herman (Boss) Jones of Austin, publicist for the Texas Tuberculosis Association; Dr. Elliott Mendenhall, Dallas surgeon; Dr. Morris Malakoff, Laredo; Arthur H. Dilly, Corpus Christi (secretary of the study committee which recommended the reorganization); T. H. Morrison Jr., Harlingen hospital administrator; Claude Collins, San Angelo rancher; Dr. E. S. Crossett, El Paso chest surgeon; Dr. Efraim

A. Gonzalez Jr., San Antonio chest surgeon; and Dr. John A. Viggins Jr., Fort Worth chest physician and president of the Texas Tuberculosis Association.

Other appointments made by the Governor were:

Joe G. Moore Jr., formerly of Clarksville, as chief administrative officer of the new Texas Water Development Board and Howard B. Boswell as head of the board's bond program.

Felix McKnight of the Dallas Times Herald, Robert M. Jackson of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times and James Byron of WBAP, Fort Worth, to the committee to study news media reporting on legal proceedings; and Talbot Rain, Dallas, and Joe Frazier Brown, San Antonio, as the State Bar representatatives who will serve with three Senators and three Representatives on this study.

Lt. Col. James M. Rose of Austin as assistant Adjutant General for Air.

Clyde Ashworth of Arlington and Dr. R. H. W. Drechsel of Fort Worth to Texas Turnpike Authority.

Louis Hassell of Houston, Leonel Garza of Brownsville, Morris Atlas of McAllen, Ralph Alexander of Edinburg, Carl Conley of Raymondville, John Jones of La Feria, Mrs. Marialice Shary Shivers of Austin, Felix Martinez of Mission and Henry Morris of McAllen as regents of Pan American College, Edinburg.

Don McKinley of Pearsall, Joe David Kirkland of Hereford, Cecil F. Gill of El Paso, W. D. Jones of Dumas, Vern E. West of Athens and O. F. Jensen Jr. of Houston to new Water Well Drillers Board.

W. Kendall Baker of Houston to State Board of Public Welfare.

R. G. Hollingsworth of Coleman, W. T. Stewardson of Santa Anna and Clyde Thate of Burket to Central Colorado River Authority Board of Directors.

R. G. Muckleroy of Nacogoches to Municipal Retirement System Board of Trustees.

G. C. Hubbard of Odessa and Joe A. Myers of stockdale to State Board of Meriticians.

Mrs. Eunice M. King of Amarillo and Miss Lucy Harris of Fort Worth to State Board of Nurse Examiners.

Archie L. Warnick, Fort Worth, to the Board of Barber Examiners.

J. C. Wilson, Pecos, reappointed to the Pecos River Commission.

Eugene Fish, Palestine, reappointed to the Upper Neches River Municipal Water Authority.

O. B. Worley, Pampa, and Robert W. Mitchell, Longview, to the Credit Union Advisory Committee.

AIRPORT AID—Texas Aeronautics Commission has the difficult task of deciding which of the under-50,000-population towns who have applied for aid will get portions of the $200,000 authorized under the Texas Airport Aid Program.

Considering these six applicants in most "urgent" need,

Commission offered Comanche $12,000; Gatesville, $12,000; Halleftsville, $10,000; Lampasas, $8,000; Pineland, $15,000; and Caldwell, $10,000.

Soviets Congratulate America

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union officially congratulated America today on the Gemini-5 flight which captured the space endurance record from Russia.

A note from Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan to President Johnson asked him to "extend our congratulations to American astronauts" (Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad on the safe conclusion of their Gemini 5 space flight." The Soviet press and radio-telegraph earlier offered informal congratulations to the astronauts for their "courage" and for their smashing of Soviet-held endurance records. The fact that the United States now leads in total time in space was freely "admitted" by the press here.

There was speculation the So-

Russia Rejects U.S. Plans For Nuclear Check

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia, accusing the West of "duplicitous," today formally rejected U.S. plans for checking the spread of nuclear weapons.

Soviet negotiator Semyon Tsarapkin, in his formal reply to the proposal the United States introduced at the 17-nation disarmament conference here two weeks ago, reaffirmed the familiar Russian stand that the West must give up plans for an Allied nuclear force if it wants the Kremlin's help in limiting the size of the "nuclear club."

Tsarapkin charged that "the Western powers maintain a position of duplicity."

"They want an accord of non-dissemination (of nuclear weapons), and at the same time, they want to give West Germany access to nuclear weapons through a NATO nuclear force," he said.

Tsarapkin cited a Russian proverb roughly translatable into English as "the West wants to have its cake and eat it too."

Very Worried Man Said to be Castro

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International
From the foreign news cables:

WORRIED CASTRO:
Cuba's Fidel Castro is reported to be a very worried man lately. Political and economic troubles are said to have deprived the Cuban dictator of much of his former bounce. About half of Cuba's sugar harvest is believed unsold and the foreign currency reserves have dropped to below the danger point.

ANGRY EGGHEADS:
West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard has run into a fight with the intellectuals who ordinarily would support him in the forthcoming elections. He did so when he complained recently "There's a certain intellectualism that spills over into idiocy." The nation's writers have been howling for his hide ever since. Two of the most prominent are Rolf Hochhuth who wrote "The Deputy" and

Gardening News

By THELMA BRAY

The Boy Scout "Merit Badge Manuals" have much useful information. The manual on "Soil and Water Conservation" was written by Bernhard A. Roth. The following excerpts are taken from the chapter on "Managing Soil."

"Someone said, 'Soil is like a bank account. Keep borrowing from it, never re-paying, and pretty soon the land is flat broke.' Every crop removes a certain amount of wealth from the earth. Every harvest of grains, vegetables, grass and fruit takes something that affects the soil's ability to produce. If these elements are not restored, then, surely the soil (and its owners) are heading for bankruptcy."

"Long experience has shown that farmland soils have to possess (a) suitable amounts of organic matter or humus; (b) plenty of plant nutrients; (c) good structure; and (d) sufficient topsoil depth. A good soils manager will look after all of these qualities."

Probably the most commonly seen soil management work around the farm is the use of fertilizers. City folk are apt to think first of animal manures in connection with fertilizer. Droppings from livestock and poultry are vitally important in restoring land fertility. They are one excellent means of giving back to soil what animals and birds have devoured. There is not enough manure, unfortunately, to go around.

"Most farmers use commercial fertilizers, especially prepared for their needs. Materials come from processed organic matter—refuse from slaughterhouses, meat, fish and other foodpacking plants and from chemical compounds. Most fertilizers are composed mainly of three chemical elements—nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. These nutrients are used in the largest quantities by growing plants."

Chemists and fertilizer companies have symbols to indicate kinds and amounts of nutrients. If you are to dig a little deeper into the subject, you might as well learn what they are: N stands for nitrogen; P for phosphorus; K for potash. In the fertilizer business, they always occur in just that order—NPK.

Thus, the next time you see a combination of numbers on a sack of fertilizer, such as 3-12-12 you will know this means the fertilizer contains 3 pounds of nitrogen, 12 pounds of phosphorus and 12 pounds of potash per hundred pounds. The remainder of each hundred pounds is "filler" matter to preserve or "carry" the principal nutrients.

"Besides nitrogen, phosphorus and potash scientists have found that plants also feed on other elements in the earth. These are sulfur, calcium, magnesium, iron, manganese, boron, copper and zinc. They may be mixed with ordinary fertilizers where needed, or applied separately as sprays and solids. To round out the plant food story, we should mention that in addition to fertilizer and trace elements described above, there would be no production or crops without carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. Plants get these particular nutrients from water and air.

"When soil acidity causes trouble, farmers fight it with applications of lime, in several different forms—ground limestone from quarries, burned lime and slaked lime. Lime is not put on the soils each season as is fertilizer. The effects of a thorough job of liming farmland may last 3 to 10 years.

"In 'sweetening' soils, lime makes more soil minerals available to plants and actually creates favorable conditions for growing certain types of plants. Moreover, it reduces plant diseases and improves soil structure for cultivation."

Nitrogen is particularly necessary in the production of leaves and stems of plants. Phosphorus is an essential element in all functions of plant growth and especially the production of fruits, blooms and seeds. Potash helps in the development of a sturdy root formation.

Bagworms have done their share of damage to plants in Pampa this year. If left unchecked they can completely defoliate a tree and eventually cause its death. The female lays from 500 to 1,000 eggs in the pupal case in her bag and then dies. The eggs winter over in the bag and the larvae hatch out in the late spring. As it feels, each larva constructs its own case, weaving a band of silk about itself and attaching it to a leaf or petiole whenever it stops to eat.

For control, if the infestation is light, the bags may be picked off during the winter and burned. When the infestation is heavy spraying with arsenate of lead or with Malathion will give excellent control. The application should be made as soon as the caterpillars start to feed in the spring.

Astrological Forecast

FOR THURSDAY, SEPT. 1
GENERAL TENDENCY: Delays can bring out your impatience and make you feel that you are not up to the tasks that face you. But realize you are given the chance to complete unfinished business, and to look more closely into the preparations you need to make in order to have a more perfect course for the future, and you make this a fine day.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to April 19) — Although new outlets are very appealing, do not go ahead on them just yet until you have done more study on them. Know what others are thinking about. Then you establish firm conditions about you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — If you assist a higher-up with detailed work, you make big headway yourself now. Be cautious where financial matters are concerned. Personal affairs need careful attention.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — A certain amount of sacrifice may be necessary in order to maintain harmony with partners. Be sure to keep promises made earlier. Don't jeopardize a fine alliance later.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 23) — There is no point in getting nervous over the work ahead of you or you could otherwise generate much energy for it. Get right at it. You find that you can do even more than you thought.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) — Recreation must await your first completing important plans that have been made. In fact, await a better day for those expensive amusements. They can be enjoyed far more then.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — The situation at home may be full of tension, so be diplomatic and avoid serious argument. Buy thoughtful little gifts. Add comforts that please and delight.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Use much care while driving or there can be danger and inactivity for some time to come. Keep an eye on your wallet. Be careful you are not short-changed in dealing with others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Any personal anxiety could cause you to forget about any important plans you have already made. If you permit. Get advice from experts. Don't get into a feeling of martyrdom.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — If you try to be forceful with those from whom you want favors, you lose out. Be gentle. Taking health treatments you need and fixing wardrobe is wise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — Attending to every regulation that pertains to you is necessary, otherwise much trouble can ensue. Getting credit improved is the smart thing to do, too. Add to prestige.

58TH YEAR THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS 7
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1965

DEAR ABBY: I am a newspaper carrier. My problem is that one of my customers went away on vacation without telling me so I kept right on delivering the newspaper. When they came back home and saw all the papers piled up on their porch, they were angry with me. I told the man that since I had no orders, I thought the best thing to do was to keep on leaving the paper. He called me a "dummy" and threatened to quit the paper. My route is small because of summer anyway, and if this customer quits me I'll be in trouble with my district manager. What should I do?

WORRIED CARRIER
DEAR WORRIED: Tell your district manager what happened and ask him what the policy of the newspaper is when customers leave town and papers pile up. A collection of newspapers on a porch is an announcement that no one is home. This is more helpful to burglars than a key to the front door. If the customer quits (and I doubt that he will), you are blameless.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a couple who have been married for six years, have five children and have their marriage certificate FRAMED and hanging in their living room?

JUST ASKING
DEAR JUST: Framing a marriage certificate is pretty square. Maybe they want the world to know that they are not practicing without a license.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has just come home from a 22-day stay at a hospital, following extensive surgery. Since he has been home, friends come here at all hours to visit him. One couple arrived at 4 p.m. and stayed until 7:30. Since we were not prepared for dinner guests, we just sat through the dinner hour and nobody ate. This was especially hard on my husband. How can people be taught to be more considerate at a time like this?

EXHAUSTED
DEAR EXHAUSTED: I would be more concerned about my husband's health than teaching insensitive clods "consideration." Visitors who don't know when to go home should be politely told. Your timidity under the circumstances is as inexcusable as your friends' temerity.

DEAR ABBY: I am an amateur orchid grower and I enjoy sharing my flowers with friends, usually as corsages for gala occasions. Could you please instruct women in the proper wearing of an orchid, or any flower for that matter? Everywhere, I see orchids worn upside down!

ORCHIDIST
DEAR ORCHIDIST: Or to put it more simply — a flower should always look up at its wearer.

When one has worked over a plant and watched its development for anywhere from four to seven years, it is more than a shock to see the flower worn incorrectly. All flowers should be worn as they grow. Orchids grow with the large, frilled lip positioned at the bottom, and should be worn that way. Thank you.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a booklet, "How to write letters for all occasions."

Hat brims for fall range from the precise and compact to the oversized. Imaginative new dimensions include the tricorn, reminiscent of Colonial days. The rancher or cowboy-inspired upturned brim also figures to score high.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Braves, Phillies Win; Dodgers Felled by Rain

By United Press International
The Milwaukee Braves would have the National League pennant wrapped up if the name of the game were "surtball." The Braves and Cincinnati Reds might just as well have been surfing Tuesday night when they tried to play a two-night doubleheader in a steady downpour that had the players kicking up "waves" as they ran the bases.

The Braves had won the first game 5-3 after waiting two hours and eight minutes with a 3-1 lead and the Reds scheduled to bat in the bottom of the fifth. Had the game been called at that point, the Braves would have been denied their victory. It wasn't but the second game washed.

Lou Burdette of the Phillies out-died his former Milwaukee roommate Warren Spahn of San Francisco with a six-hit shoutout in the nightcap. The 44-year-old Spahn allowed only three hits but two were homers—by Alex Johnson in the seventh and Bobby Wine in the eighth.

In other NL games, Philadelphia beat San Francisco 2-0 after a 2-1 defeat, Houston whipped New York 4-3 and 3-2 and St. Louis defeated Chicago 3-0. Los Angeles at Pittsburgh was postponed because of rain.

Frank Thomas, who was notified after the Astros doubleheader that he had been traded to Milwaukee for a player to be named later, gave Houston second thought about the swap driving in five runs with two homers and a sacrifice fly.

Robin Roberts won his fourth straight since coming to Houston in the first game and Bob Bruce hurled a four-hitter in the second contest.

Bob Gibson nurlled a two-hit shutout and cracked his fourth home run en route to his 16th triumph against 10 losses for the Cardinals. Bill White hit his 20th homer off loser Dick Ellisworth (13-12). Lou Brock scored the other St. Louis run when he stole his 55th base and scored on Curt Flood's single in the eighth.

Brooks Robinson may not be able to bat the Baltimore Orioles into the American League "pennant race" but he appears to have batted the Chicago White Sox out of it.

Robinson dealt the White Sox' fading flag hopes a deadly blow Tuesday night, however, when he hit a homer and drove in two runs in each game as the Orioles swept a doubleheader from Chicago 4-0 and 7-2. The Orioles' victories prevented the White Sox from picking up a game and a half on the first-place Minnesota Twins who suffered a 7-6 loss to the Detroit Tigers.

The Twins carried a 6-5 lead into the ninth inning and were one strike from victory when Bill Freehan hit a two-run, game-winning homer for the Tigers. Norm Cash also homered for the Tigers and Bob Allison connected for the Twins.

The Red Sox beat the Senators 4-0 and 8-5 in 10 innings, the Cleveland Indians defeated the Kansas City Athletics 3-1 and then bowed 3-2 and the Los Angeles Angels blanked the New York Yankees 1-0 in other AL games.

Sam McDowell allowed only a fourth-inning clean single by Dick Green and struck out 11 to win his 14th game and raise his season strikeout total to 260 for the Indians. Leon Wagner led the Indians' attack with a homer, a double and 2 singles.

Depth Biggest Problem Facing Canadian Coach

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
CANADIAN (Sp.) — A thin Canadian Wildcat squad will not open the season at home as planned.

Instead Dwain Currie's Cats will journey to Stinnett Friday night to open the 1965 football season.

Construction of a new field-house at Canadian is not yet completed, making the change necessary.

When the Wildcats open Friday they will do so with nine returning lettermen. But after you get by these the ranks are thin.

Currie is, however, optimistic, and feels his Cats have a chance to finish as high as third or fourth in a conference that includes Panhandle, Clarendon, Wellington, Memphis, McLean, and the very tough White Deer Bucks.

"We are pretty in experienced," Currie says, adding, "our boys have potential. We have no depth, but as our youngsters gain a little experience we will come along."

Currie is no crying towel coach and feels his line will be fairly strong but years to have more experience in the backfield.

Seven of the nine returning lettermen are linemen with only Mike Cullender, a 160-pound fullback and halfback Butch Nicholson, 149-pound junior returning to the backfield.

Neither boy started last year. In his forward wall, Currie has Gary Harrell, a center at 156 pounds, tackle Sandy Fiel, 150 pounds, Rocky Lucas, a 200-pound guard and defensive man Charles Ortega, a 156-pound sophomore, as the only starters back.

The three lettermen who return for line duty are guard Gary Schoenhals, a 169-pound junior; Howard Sanders, a 176-pound tackle and also a junior and end Bob Hext, a 176-pound senior.

Currie lost all lettermen off a 1964 team that posted a 3-6 record.

Workouts Start Today For Southwest Conference Teams

By United Press International
The Southwest Conference football campaign makes its initial movement today with the start of workouts in the eight league camps.

From SMU, where the grid-ders hit the field at 7 a.m., to TCU and Texas A&M, where they waited until 9 a.m., some 65 to 75 gridgers at each school put on their equipment for the first time.

Weighing-in, physicals and issuing of equipment was handled Monday and Tuesday. Today the preparation for the loop's 51st campaign got underway.

All the teams planned two-day workouts the first 10 days to two weeks. The first games are Sept. 18, with the first conference action Sept. 25 when

Texas Tech and Texas tangle in Austin.

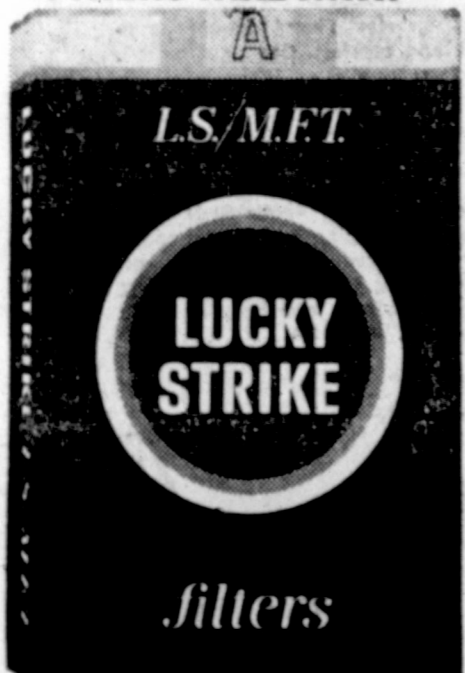

Although the workouts begin today, Southern Methodist coach Hayden Fry had his players running a mile yesterday to test their condition. He set a 5:35 limit for backs and 6:25 for linemen.

Fry indicated he would try eight Mustangs in different positions than they played last spring.

HONEST PEOPLE
LONDON (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis, en route to night-club appearances in northern England, said here Tuesday that boxing "needs some honest people."

He said American boxing was in a crisis and needed help from the federal government. The former champion praised the current titleholder, Cassius Clay and said he thought Clay's second bout with Liston was honest.

Practice Round Friday for All ToT Entrants

Practice rounds will be held Friday at Pampa Country club for all golfers entered in the annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament.

Hart Warren, club pro, said golfers entered in the tournament may practice anytime after daylight Friday.

Warren said to date 130 entries had been received for the tournament, leaving some 30 berths open, all of which are expected to be filled by Friday night.

There will be 10 flights plus the championship flight with approximately 50 golfers in the top flight.

Warren said all local players who plan to enter the tournament should do so as soon as possible. The course will be closed to everyone except contestants Friday through Monday and will be closed Tuesday for repairs.

Some of the top amateur golfers in the U. S. are entered in the tournament. Tee off time is 7 a. m. each day of the tournament.

One of the latest amateurs to enter the affair is George Boutell of Tucson, Ariz. who was third in the eastern portion of the Trans-Miss. tournament and won the western half of the same tournament.

1964 medalist Jim Chew of Kansas and 1963 medalist John Farquhar will also be among championship flight players.

For non-players, $5 will buy a badge entitling that person to all privileges at the country club.

Harvesters To Be Honored at Grid Rallies

Two football rallies, one Sept. 8 and the other, Sept. 17, are planned to honor the Pampa Harvesters, their coaches; cheer-leaders and the Pep Band.

The Pampa Jaycees are planning the rallies, starting at 8 p. m. and lasting until 10 p. m. each date.

The first rally will be held in Coronado Center and the second in downtown Pampa on Cuyler street.

Plans are also being made to charter a bus for the Harvesters opening game with Perryton Sept. 10.

Dr. Joe Donaldson will be master of ceremonies at both events and the Jaycees and Jayceettes will chaperon both rallies.

Home Rule in Washington Is Repugnant Legislation

Washington, D. C., is unique among U.S. cities because every American citizen "owns" a share of it and has a very vital stake in the events that take place here. Because it is the Nation's Capital, every citizen regards Washington as his city regardless of his place or residence.

Washington is the U.S. Federal City. The Federal Government is its reason for being, its major industry, and the major employer of the people who live here. The site of the city of Washington was an unpopulated woody marsh when George Washington, whose nearly home at Mount Vernon gave him a familiarity with lands along the Potomac River, selected the location for the Federal City. The founding fathers had determined that the seat of our National Government belonged in a Federal City in which no subordinate governmental authority could hold power.

Now, Washington is again caught up in the emotional cry of "home rule!" The objective, home rule advocates will tell you, is for the residents of the District of Columbia to be permitted to govern themselves.

They want Congress, which was given authority by the Constitution to direct District affairs, to hand its powers over to an elected city council. At the same time, they want Congress to continue to provide massive sums to support District of Columbia government in the style to which Washington residents have become accustomed — and a style of city government, I assure you, that many U.S. cities wish they could emulate.

"Home rule" sounds good. It is a catchy phrase. It is an emotional appeal to the normal American sense of fair play and belief in democracy. Yet, "home rule" as proposed in the bill which has passed the Senate and may come before the House is repugnant to the Constitution. In effect, it creates a new State, with this exception: The Federal Government will finance it.

I find these provisions of the "home rule" bill among the most objectionable:

It provides a built-in, automatic formula for computing the Federal dollar support of the district government. The formula is based upon amounts the Federal Government would pay in private taxes, personal property taxes, and business taxes, if it were a private industry. In addition, the Federal Government would continue to pay the District of Columbia water and sewer charges. To apply this formula, the D. C. assessor would be called upon to place an assessment on the U.S. Capitol. How would he do it? On what basis? Would he use current market value, the original cost, or the cost of replacement at today's prices? All three are well recognized methods of valuation. Imagine the D. C. assessor's problem in applying them to the Capitol, the White House, the Library of Congress, other Federal buildings in this city. The Federal Government would, under the terms of this bill, have to make a payment to the D. C. Government tantamount to an ad valorem property tax, even on post offices within the District of Columbia and on flags flying over the Capitol.

Completely opposed to the Constitution, in my view, is the provision of the bill that provides for a permanent annual appropriation of Federal funds based on the above formula. If is an unconstitutional delegation of the appropriation authority of Congress and of the House of Representatives, which is the only body of Congress which can originate general appropriations bills.

I object also to the provision which provides for an elected D. C. mayor, 14 councilmen from 14 wards with 5 more councilmen elected at large — with complete control of the Washington police department. I object to the fact that the bill makes the U.S. President a kind of supermayor, requiring him to oversee the acts of the city council and giving him, not the Congress, veto power over them.

Our government is based on a dual sovereignty philosophy. In other words, each of the 50 States are separate and distinct sovereignties. Joined together, they constitute the Federal Government — the Federal sovereignty. To believe in "home rule" for the official Federal district is to do violence to the basic doctrine of our dual sovereignty governmental form. D. C. "home rule" is extremely bad legislation.

Johnson's Hometown Church Becomes Known for Active Ecumenical Spirit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House:

President Johnson's hometown church is becoming known as an active demonstration of the ecumenical spirit. The First Christian Church of Johnson City, Tex., last Sunday had in its congregation, in addition to the President and his wife, such well-known Catholics as the younger daughter of the first family, Luci, 18, and Lawrence F. O'Brien, the new postmaster general to be.

Also on hand was Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg of the Jewish faith and a capacity crowd of Protestants.

Few churches, even those much larger, can boast such ecumenical attendance.

It should be said for Luci and her recently embraced Catholicism, however, that before she went to the Christian Church in Johnson City, she attended Mass at the Catholic Church in Fredericksburg.

Luci is growing into a most attractive and level-headed young woman. She seemed a bit put out last weekend when the newspapers of the nation printed one of her longer poems, this one dedicated to her father's 57th birthday. It was a rather intimate poetic work which Luci never expected to see published when she wrote it.

When reporters thronged the LBJ Ranch last Sunday for the President's news conference, during a post-conference social hour over coffee and cookies, the President was asked how his daughter came to produce an entire volume of poetry.

The President grandly turned the question over to Luci who was standing nearby. She did not want to discuss it, but her father had pushed her into the center of attention and she had to say something.

After debating with herself for a moment, she came up with a quite lucid explanation, saying that like many young people she had scribbled poems for her own interest since she was eight or nine years old.

She said her father was a most difficult person for whom to find gifts. Thus, on his 57th birthday, she decided to have her girlhood poems bound. She gave him the volume last Friday as he celebrated his birthday on the ranch.

Her story had no big punch-line; there was no laugh or point of drama. But what made it interesting was the sure-footed and no-nonsense manner in which she explained her poetry. Not once was she at a loss for words. And not many teen-age girls could conduct themselves so coolly in front of a group of highly professional reporters and photographers.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The People Make Federal Control of Public Schools an Easy Matter

The federal government gradually is nudging local school boards out of positions of influence and control of education in communities of the nation through the use of federal tax money funneled to local districts.

The move toward centralized control of schools is being fostered by the National Education Association and the federal government itself.

Local school boards find the lure of federal cash irresistible. The promise of "free" money in large chunks makes it easy for local boards to rationalize loss of local control of schools.

school administrators or have accepted large amounts of state and federal aid to the point that the control that accompanies such funds places them in a position of ineffectiveness.

At the White House Conference on Education, held in July 1965, one panel on urban schools discussed "Can Urban Schools Be Managed?" H. Thomas James, professor of education at Stanford University, presented this opinion: "that the position of the school board as a decision-maker in school policy matters has been eroded by actions at the state and national levels which determine school policies."

The blame for relinquishing control in education to the federal government can be dropped directly into the laps of the general public. It follows the trend of the people desiring to shift responsibility to someone other than themselves, and their misbelief that the federal government can do it better than they. They have been propagandized into thinking that government is a superior body that has all the answers and unlimited funds to meet every expense dissociated from them as individuals.

The centralization follows the socialistic desires of the present bureaucratic government to "equalize" all people regardless of their abilities to produce; to take from those who have for the benefit of those who can't. Again quoting from the report of the White House Conference, Vice President Hubert Humphrey emphasized the aims of the administration when he stated: "any nation that believes in justice must see that those at the bottom receive more than those on top."

And so it will go—with public education, which will become federal education. Your children will be attending "government schools."

Bigwigs Zero in on Shiny Pates

Beneath the sensitive, shining pate of every scantily haired man throbs the romantic brain of dashing, wavy-haired Walter Mitty.

Evidently deciding that this bald truth has, paradoxically, been concealed long enough, wig and toupee makers are launching stepped-up campaigns. Though sales volume has expanded more than 10 times over the past decade, reaching $500,000 in 1964; the surface has scarcely been scratched. Male hair-fitting salons are now appearing in such public places as department stores.

The aim, reports News Front magazine, is to capture a greater percentage of the estimated eight out of 10 men who lose all or part of their hair by the time they reach 35.

Why, the reasoning goes, should it be all right for bountifully tressed wifey to have one or more extra heads of hair at her disposal while balding hubby, whose emotional well-being, self-confidence and career advancement may depend upon his looks, has to go around looking years older than he is for want of a few strategically placed strands?

Ironically, the greatest obstacle to increased sales is bald men themselves. A motivational study of 200 thatless men revealed that fear of social ridicule—a lot of it coming from their own bald brethren—was the single biggest factor that kept them from buying a hairpiece.

Nevertheless, the trend of the future is plain to see for anyone aware of the new emphasis being placed on masculine beautification by the fashion and cosmetics industries, not to mention the impact of the Beatles and their like on a whole generation.

We can even visualize a typical advertising slogan of tomorrow: "Does he grow it or does he glue it? Only his barber knows for sure."

Here's News for You, Baby

Unless someone in your family happens to wear them, it is possible you may not know that there is a shortage of workers in the ever-changing field of diaper service.

Why this lack of interest in engaging in a diaper service career? As good an answer as any was perhaps given by an official of one diaper service who observed glumly, "Seems like nobody wants to start at the bottom any more."

Cannel At Bay By Ward Cannel

A Talent Was An Ancient Coin NEW YORK (NEA) — The letter of inquiry published below is actually none of our concern. It comes from a housewife in Windsor Locks, Conn., and was addressed to the television editor.

However, he is on vacation and will not be back until next Monday. And as the inquiry appears to be rather urgent, we have volunteered in the emergency to handle the matter.

Dear Sir, My family and friends say I have talent and if possible I would like to do TV commercials for cartoons.

I do "baby talk," cluck like a chicken, cackle like a hen, grunt like a pig, quack like a duck and talk somewhat like the Green Giant.

I have written to several companies in New York, but it seems I have to have a talent scout.

I would appreciate any information you can give me regarding this. Please let me hear from you soon.

Respectfully, (Mrs.) Evelyn Brown

Well, we are answering as soon as is humanly possible. But we must confess that it is difficult to understand what the rush is all about. Especially as the Green Giant effect still seems to bring considerable polishing to need it up to par with the pig and the chicken and the others.

But that, we have found, is usually the way with people who have God-given talents. The very minute they discover a natural endowment, they must leave for New York on the first thing smoking and try to dispose of it for cash.

Why that is so, we cannot say. But is indeed so. We have personally seen them delivered into the city in wholesale lots, carefully wrapped and crated by hopeful relatives back home, and plainly marked "This End Up."

It is doubtful that they would be dispatched to New York so willingly if they were the usual merchandise and had to be priced to include all the fixed and variable costs of labor, overhead, supply and demand.

But then, the unusual market rules do not apply to this commodity. As we understand it, the theory of the Talent Exchange seems to be that you got the item for nothing, so anything you can sell it for is 100 per cent profit.

We must admit that talented people withstand the negotiation extremely well, and somehow manage to stay in saleable condition for several years despite all the wear and tear and Danish pastry they must endure.

In that regard, they are far superior to the local product. A native New Yorker deals in talent at the retail level only. He will stand in line for hours to see a movie, wait months to see a play, and buy anything if it is labeled "Genius." But when it comes to selling talent, all he wants is 10 per cent.

New Yorkers may support the national culture, but they do not create it. Show us a housewife who quacks like a duck and we will show you a lady from out-of-town.

Now, we are all in favor of discovering natural talents. But we simply do not understand why they must also be packaged and exported.

There is certainly no national benefit in it. The country, it seems to us, is not much improved because Frank Sinatra left Hoboken, or because Elizabeth Taylor came across.

Moreover, we know from personal observation that the Talent Exchange is largely a windowless area, abounding in roaches, personal indignities and other inconveniences.

On the other hand, we have been to Windsor Locks, Conn., and know it to be a pleasant place where a person can cackle and grunt in comfort and fresh air. To our way of thinking, it is a very sad thing to receive a letter of inquiry like this. It casts a dark reflection on a civilization which forces you to leave home just because you can talk somewhat like the Green Giant. It is even sadder to answer such a letter. But we have volunteered to do so. And having looked into the matter, we must advise Mrs. Brown that she does in fact need an agent to sell her talent.

Treasury Head Fowler on Spot Meeting with Europe's Finance Ministers

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Treasury Secretary Fowler is a lot more on the spot than he would like to be in the series of conferences he is starting today with the principal finance ministers of Europe.

Unless he returns with concrete progress for the early convening of an international conference to extensively revise the world monetary system, Fowler is certain to find himself in deep hot water with a highpowered group of Democratic and Republican senators.

Before Fowler departed, both he and the White House were bluntly told that unless the Administration assumes forceful leadership in this matter, the lawmakers would make a public issue of it — which could be decidedly embarrassing.

It was this potent bipartisan prodding that impelled Fowler not only to fly to Europe but to come out for a monetary conference.

His conversion on that was recent and abrupt. Shortly after taking office in April, Fowler stated flatly he was against such a world meeting. This unequivocal pronouncement was squarely in line with the stand of Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin, who is opposed to a monetary conference on the ground there already is too much liquidity in free world currency.

The bipartisan bloc of senators, who have long been warring with Martin over this crucial question, hit the ceiling. They interpreted Fowler's declaration as evidence he was under Martin's thumb; that the veteran, firm-minded Reserve chairman was determining Treasury policy and not Fowler.

Publicly and privately they opened fire on both. HOW FOWLER WAS CONVERTED — Publicly, the senators intensified their demands for an international conference, maintaining it is urgently essential to halt the further heavy drain of the country's already seriously depleted gold reserves, and to avert the threatening stiffening of free world economy.

They vehemently contend that deflation and not inflation is the overriding menace. Privately, the Democratic senators took their case to President Johnson. They minced no words about Martin, making it clear that if he was taking over Treasury policy, they would openly fight that by going after Fowler.

The President earnestly assured them Martin was not the boss; that while his views were considered, they were not decisive. Also, that the President felt there was much merit in a world monetary conference.

The effect of this backstage pressuring was soon apparent. noises she claims and also the right connections, she could in a good year make upwards of $100,000 in New York.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

PAUL SCOTT

Three months after Fowler had flatly slammed the door on a conference, he completely reversed himself and came out for it. Patently, he had heard his "master's" voice.

That's why he is now in Europe, presumably laying the ground for a monetary conference. If he doesn't produce results, he will hear about it.

Leading the bipartisan drive for a conference are Senators Vance Hartke, D., Ind., Eugene McCarthy, D., Minn., Pau Douglas, D., Ill., Stuart Symington, D., Mo., Carl Curtis, R., Neb., Jacob Javits, R., N.Y.

IGNORE "LE GRAND CHARLIE" — Shortly before Fowler went abroad, he held a luncheon discussion in his office with a bipartisan group of influential members of the Senate and House finance committees.

While the atmosphere was cordial, the Treasury chief got some blunt advice about President De Gaulle and his typically haughty opposition to a monetary conference.

Senator Hartke, noted for plain talking, was particularly outspoken on that. Asserting that the French leader is interested only in aggrandizing himself and furthering the interests of France at the expense of other nations, especially the U.S., Hartke declared, "The Administration must take the lead in convening an international monetary conference whether De Gaulle likes it or not."

The Indianan emphatically held that if De Gaulle doesn't want to participate, it won't make any difference.

"U.S. leadership and the cooperation of other free countries achieved the nuclear test ban treaty," pointed out Hartke, "and it's now operating effectively without De Gaulle's participation. In the same way, the free world can take measures to ensure the stability and liquidity of its monetary system without De Gaulle."

The real facts are that France economy is not in good shape and cannot long afford to ignore financial stability. While France does have a slight surplus in its balance of payments due largely to the dollars it derives from our tourist and defense spending in France, it has a severe long-time trade deficit.

"De Gaulle has turned his nation into a silent, uncooperative partner within the NATO alliance. In Southeast Asia, he is an openly antagonistic foe. His latest affront was the gift of U.S. war planes to Cambodia. It's time we called De Gaulle on this high-handedness."

"There is no risk in doing that. With France's limited resources, it hasn't a chance of undermining U.S. economy and foreign policy if we firmly stand up to De Gaulle and take no guff from him. And it's high time we did. Because whether he cooperates or not makes little difference. "The U.S. is the free world leader. It should act that way, Society 'Greater' Than What?

By D. R. SEGAL Editor, Brownsville (Texas) Herald

My son's father—grown slightly dotty with the years — has bought his teen-ager a splendidly decrepit 1926 Model T Ford coupe. It is a fearsome machine, given to loud groans, heroic belches and sudden attacks of the ague. It always runs best as it approaches some new mechanical crisis. One minute it is skimming magnificently down the street and the next it is parked at the curb, lifeless and to all intents a hopeless cripple.

To its young owner, this Model T has no special virtues or patina. It strikes him as an incredibly unreliable, crude and impractical machine such as only an idiotic parent would save from the junk yard where it has earned its rest.

He has never broken a wrist cranking a T. He has never backed one up a hill to keep the gas flowing to the engine from the underset tank. He has never fiddled with spark, accelerator and mixture control in an unending battle to keep the little dingbat running smoothly. He has never changed a band or carried water from a farmer's well to cool the smoking beast.

He is, to use a word much in fashion these days, a "disadvantaged" youth.

One of the few rewards of old age is that it gives a fellow the bases of comparison. What's so wonderful about a Lincoln Continental if there is no Model T to compare it with? How could you tell the IBM computer was such a gee-whiz contraption if you'd never seen a 10-key adding machine in operation?

I once brought this to the attention of a fellow-Texan, a government employe named Lyndon something-or-other, who had got some sort of promotion and moved out East.

I explained to him, very carefully so there would be no misunderstanding, that the Great Society needs some sort of orientation. What is it more Orient than? The society of the Sun King, the Aztec Indians, the Zulu tribesmen? If Great is equated with Expensive or Big or Insatiable, then this is about as Great a society as you could hope to join.

I mentioned this to Lyndon whatsiname at a cocktail party down in Texas, and although he has very big ears he didn't seem to hear a word I was saying.

He listened gravely and then Communist Manifesto, drawn up by Karl Marx in 1848.

One of its important provisions is a steeply graded, progressive income tax. In our country the tax rises to 91 per cent, far greater than the most extravagant dream of Karl Marx. The Soviet citizen in the top bracket pays 7 per cent.

The Communist Manifesto also calls for a steeply graded inheritance tax. We have it running up to 75 per cent of one's estate. We have outdone the Communists in these two matters and Karl Marx would be amazed to see how thoroughly we have adopted his confiscatory doctrine.

The Manifesto calls for government control of money, banking, and loans. We have all this in a rather complete degree. Government control of our banks is accepted, and a great variety of Federal Agencies are directly engaged in the loaning of money. Interest rates are closely controlled by government.

Another plank in the Manifesto is government control of education. We have a considerable measure of it already, and the government is steadily and persistently reaching for more.

Another plank in the Marxian document is government control of communications. We accepted that plank of the Communist platform quite a while ago and government now controls our telephone and telegraph companies, the conditions under which newspapers, journals and printed matter of all kinds may be distributed and of course operates the post office.

Another Communist principle set forth in the Manifesto is government control of transportation. We have had that for some time. Government regulates wages, controls freight and passenger rates of trains, buses and planes and prescribes the conditions under which our transportation companies must operate. The railroads cannot even discontinue running a train without permission of government. Certainly Marx could have dreamed of little in the matter of transportation which we have not already accepted.

This is enough to indicate how far we have gone in the revolution from free enterprise to a government-controlled economy.

remarked: "Your lovely wife looks beautiful tonight." Of course, she did. That fellow will go far, mark my word, is he ever gets out of government service. Smart!

Hunt for Truth

BASIC ISSUES Many thoughtful Americans have long hoped to see a fine, enlightening, clear-cut debate on the issues between the two basic viewpoints on public issues here in America which are usually labeled "Right" and "Left." They have hoped for such a debate in order to clear up the meaning of these ambiguous words and make more sense out of our public discussions.

So far their hopes have not been realized. Far from growing clearer, debate on public issues in America seems to be becoming more and more muddy. Slogans are used as a substitute for thought. Hollow words such as "extremism", untouched by even a grain of solid, specific meaning, become more popular. Whatever meaning "Right" and "Left" may once have had, they should be substituted with Constructive and Liberal and people permitted to judge.

The basic issue in America in the world today is individualism against collectivism, man against the state. Only a handful of true fanatics actually want to see the state abolished, or a state that pays no attention whatever to individuals. But the current of our times has set in the direction of the ever-growing state, and this is the issue we must debate.

Believers in individualism have always been willing to debate this issue on its fundamentals. They urge Americans to study and make up their minds on the question of just how much power governments ought to have.

By contrast, the collectivists seek always to hide their own goals and to pretend that no basic issues exist to be debated, only a choice between this and that government program.

Wit and Whimsy

Lloyd George was addressing a meeting in South Wales when the chairman, thinking to be witty at the chancellor's expense, remarked to the audience that he was a little disappointed in Lloyd George's appearance.

"I had heard so much about Mr. Lloyd George," he said that I naturally expected to meet a man in every sense, but, as you can see for yourselves, he is very small in stature."

Many an orator would have been grievously upset by such an unfortunate beginning to the proceedings, but not so Lloyd George.

"I am grieved to find," he said, "that your chairman is disappointed in my size, but this is owing to the way you have here of measuring a man. In North Wales we measure a man from his chin up, but you evidently measure him from his chin down!"

The United States Coast Guard traces its origin to 1790 when it was known as the Revenue Marine Service guarding the nation's coast against smuggling and enforcing the customs laws. It officially became the Coast Guard in 1915 when it was combined with the Lifesaving Service. A revenue cutter, "Harriet Lane," is credited with firing the first shot in the Civil War before the bombardment of Fort Sumter. During World War I Coast Guard losses were highest of all the armed services, proportionately.

Department of Housing Approval Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Monday was expected to place the final stamp of congressional approval on President Johnson's proposal for a cabinet-level department of housing and urban development.

The action would send the measure to the White House for Johnson's signature. Its enactment would create the 11th cabinet department and the first new cabinet post since 1953.

The bill is similar to one inroduced four years ago by the late President John F. Kennedy. The House rejected that proposal the following year, partly because of southern opposition to Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA) chief Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, as Kennedy's announced choice for the new post.

Weaver still heads the HHFA, which operates most of the federal government's housing programs and mass transit activities. He would still be in the running for the job, but President Johnson has given no indication of whom he plans to appoint.

In addition to housing and transit matters under the HHFA, the new department would also be responsible for other urban programs now handled by other agencies.

Other congressional news:
Bases: Chairman L. Mendel Rivers D-S.C. of the House Armed Services Committee called a meeting of the group to ask approval of a compromise version of a plan to require the Pentagon to notify Congress about planned closings of military bases. President Johnson vetoed the bill which carried the original provision.

Immigration: The Senate Judiciary Committee met to consider a proposal to limit immigration from other Western Hemisphere countries to the United States. The proposal was adopted by a subcommittee as an amendment to President Johnson's bill to overhaul the nation's immigration system by ending away with national origins quotas.

Diplomats: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee

scheduled a hearing on three high-level diplomatic appointments by President Johnson. They were Mrs. Eugenie Anderson and James Roosevelt to be representatives to the United Nations and Raymond Hare to be assistant secretary of state.

Soviets Want Admission to Conference

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union made a powerful public plea for admission to the November Afro-Asian conference in Algiers today despite Communist Chinese opposition.

The plea was made by President Anastas I. Mikoyan in an address at a Kremlin friendship rally honoring visiting U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

"Our country belongs not only to Europe but to Asia, geographically and historically," Mikoyan said. Then he repeated the sentence, speaking slowly.

If Mikoyan hoped for immediate public support for the move from Nasser, he was disappointed. The U.A.R. president made no mention of any Soviet attendance at the conference during his speech.

During his 45-minute speech, Mikoyan also said Russia and Egypt agreed on all the "main topics of international policy."

He urged the United States to stop bombing North Viet Nam and pull its troops out of South Viet Nam "as a basis to settle the Viet Nam crisis." He repeated the Kremlin's support of the North Vietnamese peace demands, but omitted the usual statement that Russia will continue to render aid to Hanoi.

Mikoyan also issued a veiled plea to Peking to join a united Communist front toward Viet Nam. He urged that "anti-imperialist forces... should unite actions and should stick to a policy of unity and not disunity."

The Egyptian president ends his visit to the Soviet Union today and leaves for Yugoslavia Wednesday. A round of ceremonial visits and receptions were scheduled for the last day of the visit. A joint communique

IMPROVING CONDITION

LONDON (UPI) — Ronald Armstrong-Jones, father of Lord Snowdon, Princess Margaret's husband, is maintaining his improvement at a hospital where he has undergone treatment for the past few months, a spokesman said today.

FAIR OPENS

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The 23rd St. Erik's Trade Fair opened today, displaying commodities from 13 nations. The Soviet Union has an exhibition but the United States is not represented.

TOLL RISES

HONG KONG (UPI)—The toll in last week's U.S. Marine transport plane crash rose to 59 today with the death of one of 13 survivors.

His name was withheld pending notification of relatives in the United States.

The plane was flying vacationing Marines back to South Viet Nam when it crashed in Hong Kong harbor.
