PAKISTAN CLAIMS VICTORY

India Defenses Split in Punjab

United Press International
Pakistan broke through Indian lines today at the Punjab city of Ferozapore and said it had turned the tide of war on that front. Indian defense minister Y.B. Chavan admitted Indian troops had been thrown back in that sector.

A Pakistani military spokesman in the capital of Rawalpindi said the army was pressing a "relentless drive" against Indian troops who had invaded West Pakistan in three areas.

Heavy fighting was reported in Kashmir, in the Sialkot area north of Lahore, in India's Punjab state east of Lahore and in the Sind Desert 500 miles to the south. Pakistan claimed victories here too.

Maj. Gen. Mohammad Musa, Pakistani commander-in-chief, ordered a second call up of all forces below the rank of major to strengthen the army in its undeclared war. A similar call up had been issued Monday.

The air war raged over Pakistan and India, with each side claiming it inflicted heavy damage on the other. Karachi was bombed during the night for the seventh time in three days. Indian bombers struck the port area of Pakistan's largest city. Damage was not reported.

The Indian defense minister went before Parliament in New Delhi to report on the war. He said Indian troops had withdrawn from their advanced positions in the Kasur section in Punjab—an admission of a Pakistani victory there.

Chavan said Indian patrols crossed the Ravi River midway between the Lahore and Sialkot fronts during the night but he admitted heavy Pakistani attacks in the Lahore area toward the threatened city of Amritsar.

The government-owned All India Radio claimed the Pakistani government had been forced to make several dramatic changes in its higher ranks. It said Pakistani Air Force Chief Marshal Noor Khan had been relieved of his duties and replaced by his predecessor, Air Marshal Ashgar Khan, who retired last month. It claimed there had been many shakeups in the army command.

Schedules New Talks
United Nations Secretary General Thant, in Rawalpindi on a peace mission to India and Pakistan, scheduled new talks today with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. But informed sources said Pakistan's demands for a plebiscite were hampering his action.

Communist China attacked Thant's mediation efforts and accused the United Nations of siding with India. Radio Peking said the U.N. "Did not appear on the scene until Pakistan counterattacked India in self defense."

Senate Sets Vote
On Cotton Section
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate planned a crucial vote today on the cotton section of the 1965 farm bill. It appeared as though the Johnson administration would emerge victorious over Chairman Allen J. Ellender of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The vote was on an amendment offered by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., to keep a one-price cotton system.

Betsy the Killer Hits Louisiana

New Orleans Left Filled with Water, Rubble

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Hurricane Betsy crashed through New Orleans, Baton Rouge and the lush sugar cane country today, devastating wide areas with winds up to 125 miles an hour, rains and floods before it began to die on a punishing course inland.

Emerging from a nightmare night of power blackouts, waist-deep floods and blocked streets, officials reported one woman died of a heart attack in a New Orleans shelter and injuries were too numerous to be counted.

The 250-mile-wide storm killed seven persons in a sweep across Southern Florida before curving across the Gulf of Mexico to spin up "hurricane slot" through Louisiana and send wild winds and water shooting far east up the low-lying Gulf Coast toward Florida.

Thousands Flee
A quarter of a million people fled before it to shelter.
At 7 a.m. CST, Betsy was lost.

Newsman Drives Through Storm

EDITOR'S NOTE: A United Press International reporter in New Orleans rescued his family and made a terrifying drive through debris-filled streets. This is the way Hurricane Betsy looked to him.

By TOM HARVEY
United Press International
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The wind lifted my car up on two wheels and spun it around. That was when I had enough of Hurricane Betsy.

I got out of the car at the height of the storm just before midnight and it was like stepping into hell.
Sharp pieces of glass from broken neon signs whipped through the air like bullets. Large squares of metal roofing cartwheeled up the street, slicing into anything in their path. Huge tree limbs covered with the famed hanging moss of old New Orleans cracked off and dropped to the streets.

"Unforgettable"
The noise, the driving rain, the sheer terror of trying to get to shelter was an unforgettable experience. Then I saw the lights of the Hotel Jung up ahead and, somehow, I made it.

It was a shock to enter the hotel and find life going on as usual for the hurricane veteran, one who had taken shelter there earlier. The lights were on. The cocktail lounge was open and customers were crowded three deep around the bar.

Clara Belle, the pianist and singer at the Fiesta Lounge, was playing "When the Saints Go Marching In"—an old New Orleans jazz favorite—and it was almost as if there had been no storm.

Long a Refuge
This 18-story hotel has withstood many a storm in its day, and I soon learned that most of the persons standing and sitting in the lobby had been there in previous times of crisis. When news of the impending storm spread, many of them packed a few belongings and headed back to the Jung. Some of them went straight to the bar and settled down to wait for Betsy to pass.

But outside, it was no picnic. Earlier in the evening, I had gone out to the area around Lake Pontchartrain to make sure my wife and three children had been evacuated with the rest of the residents of the area.

I was shocked to find them still in our home with the hurricane almost here. I got them into my car and drove them to my wife's parents' home in a safer part of the city.

Exodus From Lake
People were streaming out of the lake area by the thousands. The streets were choked with automobiles and trucks. Later, the streets became almost impassable with fallen trees and debris as the wind velocity increased.

I saw a child's little red wagon go trundling down the street by itself.

New Orleans is famous for the thousands of mammoth oak trees covered with moss which form dark, green tunnels over many streets. It will never be the same after Betsy.

These trees have fallen in many areas. Some of the trees which are still standing have had large limbs—often larger than a normal tree—broken like matches.

2-Hour Struggle
I tried to drive back downtown. It was a distance of three or four miles and normally would take about 15 minutes. Last night, it was a two-hour struggle through a darkened crippled city.

The rain was coming down so hard my windshield wipers had no effect. Twice I drove in to downtown trees and had to back away and try another route.

There were some electric lights still on in the main business district where power lines are underground. I used these (See NEWSMAN, Page 3)

Move of NATO Planned by U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is working on plans to remove NATO headquarters and bases from France if that country persists in its determination to pull out of the alliance, administration officials said today.

The tentative arrangements are being discussed with Britain, West Germany and some other members of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization, founded in 1949 as the shield against communism in Europe.

The most likely location for any new NATO headquarters would be West Germany, officials said.

But they emphasized their belief that differences between France and the United States might well be narrowed considerably or even eliminated before the 20-year NATO pact comes up for revision three years hence. This could come about, they said, whether or not French President Charles de Gaulle remains in power.

There still is considerable doubt in official circles here that France would pull out of the NATO structure. To do so would be to give up the automatic defense protection of Article 5 of the treaty which binds all members to consider an armed attack on one of them as an attack on all of them.

The United States is understood to have informed De Gaulle, in delicate terms, that it views the defense of Europe as something which must be accomplished on an integrated basis, and that it would not sign separate bilateral defense treaties with individual nations outside the NATO umbrella.

Some diplomatic observers believed that disclosure of U.S. contingency plans for NATO marked the beginning of a Johnson administration counter-attack on De Gaulle's longheld contention that France cannot "subordinate" her policies to group decisions.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Father Divine, the pudgy Negro cult leader who was "God on land, sea and in the air" to thousands throughout the world, died of a heart attack today at his plush estate in suburban Gladwyn.

The son of a slave, whose age was estimated at between 85 and 100 years, was attended by his white "spotless virgin bride" and 18 "secretaries" when he died at 2:20 a.m. There were no records of his birth.

The five-foot, two-inch, "Messiah," who had running battles with authorities in three states during his career, extended his "heavens" to Sydney, Australia and Zurich, Switzerland.

After ruling with complete authority over his "angels" for many years, Divine's health began to decline about two years ago. He made no personal appearances and granted no interviews during that period.

Supervising the far-flung "heavens" was "mother," the former Edna Rose Ritchings, a blonde Canadian-born woman he married in 1946.

A spokesman said "mother" would continue to operate the cult.

Miss Darling, Divine's personal secretary for more than 25 years, said she was not grieved by the "death of the body."

"We know he is the same with or without a body," she said.

Another "angel" asked: "How can the father be dead? Who ever heard of God Almighty passing away. He's God Almighty."

received $200 million worth of U.S. military equipment.

Pakistan, on the other hand, reportedly has been given up to $1.2 billion in U.S. military equipment since 1954 on the theory it was a willing partner in the anti-Communist ring of nations along Russia's southern border.

If the war on the subcontinent continues for some time, both countries will run into the problem of replacing destroyed aircraft and other equipment, and replenishing ammunition. This is where the cut-off of U.S. shipments could hurt.

A halt in economic aid also could be damaging, since assistance has propped up the economies of both countries.

Guatemala Girl Will Study in Pampa School

Miss Evelyn Arellano Anaus, 13, of Guatemala, arrived in Pampa this morning to become a student in one of Pampa's public schools studying the English language.

Miss Anaus, sponsored by the Altrusa Club of Pampa, will live in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hills, north of the city, during her nine-month stay here.

Arrangements on the international project were started last year by the Altrusa Club for the Guatemala student to come to Pampa.

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, president of Altrusa Club, Mrs. Emily Coston, immediate past president, and Mrs. Hills were on hand at Amarillo Airport this morning to welcome Miss Anaus.

Multiple Murders Charged to Couple

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI)—A bespectacled ex-convict and a 16-year-old preacher's daughter, both from Ohio, were held today as suspects in a four-killing, multi-state crime spree that began when they went to buy ice cream.

Arrested Thursday by Coconino County sheriff's deputies were Donald Melvin Boggs, 23, Londonderry, and his sweetheart, Dixie Lee Radcliff, Amesville.

They were charged with the slaying of a woman and a man in Ohio, and the slaying of a man in Pennsylvania.

The secretary's plea was that the administration's hands not be tied on the question of further aid to the battling nations.

The United States has been concerned that India and Pakistan are using U.S.-supplied military equipment against each other.

Since the Communist Chinese attack on her northern borders in 1962, once neutral India has Look Who's Complaining About Freedom of Speech!

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Communist party today attacked the government newspaper Izvestia for trying to curb freedom of expression.

The party defended the right of an author to show the "seamy" side of Soviet life and to make negative characters heroes in books.

The editor of the party newspaper Pravda—Alexei Rumyantsev—said Soviet artists and intellectuals should have freedom to use a variety of form and style and should not be dictated to by bureaucratic government.

retary General Thant, he said. Mansfield also said that aid programs of the United States and other U.N. members "must be made to serve the ends of a restoration of peace."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said today the stakes were too high to permit continuation or escalation of the fighting. He said it could lead to destruction of one or both of the adversaries and "virtually invite Communist China to interfere in a major way."

Controversy Boils Over Use of Fund

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Anti-poverty officials and Senate investigators were embroiled today in a controversy over whether federal funds were used for high-priced "rentals" of such items as toilets and garbage cans at two Mississippi Project Head Start centers.

The charges were aired Thursday in a report by staff members of the Senate Appropriations Committee on an inquiry suggested by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

Senate Leader Warns of 'Go It Alone' Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield urged yesterday that the United States avoid any go-it-alone action in the India-Pakistan conflict and rely instead on a "common course" worked out by the United Nations.

The Montana Democrat said in a prepared Senate speech that U.S. involvement in Vietnam "should underscore for us the gap between the great desirability of peace and the slim possibilities of its prompt restoration once it has given way."

Warning that a "Himalayan catastrophe" is certain unless the war over Kashmir is checked promptly, Mansfield said:

"It would be my hope that we would exercise a measure of restraint in so far as platitudes on peace are concerned and, further, that we would avoid a unilateral course in this situation."

"No single outside nation, this nation included, is likely by statements or even unilaterally determined policies to contribute very much to a restoration of peace. A good deal more is needed if, indeed, any outside effort is to be helpful in this situation."

The Senate leader said "the great necessity is for a common course at this critical time." Such a course can be best achieved through the U.N. Security Council, aided by Secretary General Thant, he said. Mansfield also said that aid programs of the United States and other U.N. members "must be made to serve the ends of a restoration of peace."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said today the stakes were too high to permit continuation or escalation of the fighting. He said it could lead to destruction of one or both of the adversaries and "virtually invite Communist China to interfere in a major way."

In another prepared Senate speech, Javits said: "I do not feel that this is the time for Congress to tie the hands of the President in dispensing of non-military aid to India and Pakistan. The President already has the authority to cut off this aid, if he believes it to be in the interest of the United States to take such action."

The Senate speeches came as the United States halted all military aid shipments to the two warring nations.

In addition, Secretary of State Dean Rusk indicated Wednesday that no new economic aid commitments would be undertaken in either country without consultation with key congressmen.

Rusk's statement came as the State Department announced "preparations are afoot" for possible evacuation at the discretion of the U.S. ambassador on the scene—of American citizens from the combat zones of Lahore and East Pakistan.

Pakistan informed the United States, as well as other countries, that it had advised foreign nationals visiting the country to leave because of the emergency and in the "interest of the security of the state," the State Department said.

There are an estimated 6,000 Americans in Pakistan.

U.S. diplomatic personnel were asked to stay within the municipal limits of the Pakistani cities in which they are stationed.

President Johnson remained in close touch with developments. He was said to be "very much disturbed and worried" about the situation and "placing a great deal of hope and trust" in the United Nations' effort for a cease-fire.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
The Press International-LYWOOD (UPI) — Since television's five fiction specials about the United Nations — the third of which was shown Thursday night on ABC — are frankly intended to promote the organization, perhaps the most important questions about them are: How successfully are they doing their assigned jobs? And are they approaching it with the proper techniques to achieve maximum effect?

For the moment, I am not at all considering the programs from a creative, artistic aspect, but simply as what they are mainly intended to be — a tremendous and undisguised public relations effort. This is not a matter of opinion, but an admitted fact, since the producer of the specials is Telsun Foundation Inc. — with Telsun standing for "Television Series for the United Nations."

From this point of view — and disregarding the theatrical achievements, such as they are — I don't think Telsun is getting its money's worth in terms of maximum effect in promoting the United Nations. The reason is that, after the first special, "Carol for Another Christmas," Telsun apparently got scared and upset by critics whom it considered friendly to the United Nations, but who were shocked by the straight black-and-white polemical approach of the show at the expense of more artistic subtleties. Here Telsun made its fatal promotional error. It backed off its selling job. Like many intellectuals, it tried to have purity and public relations too. You can't do that.

The second special, "Who Has

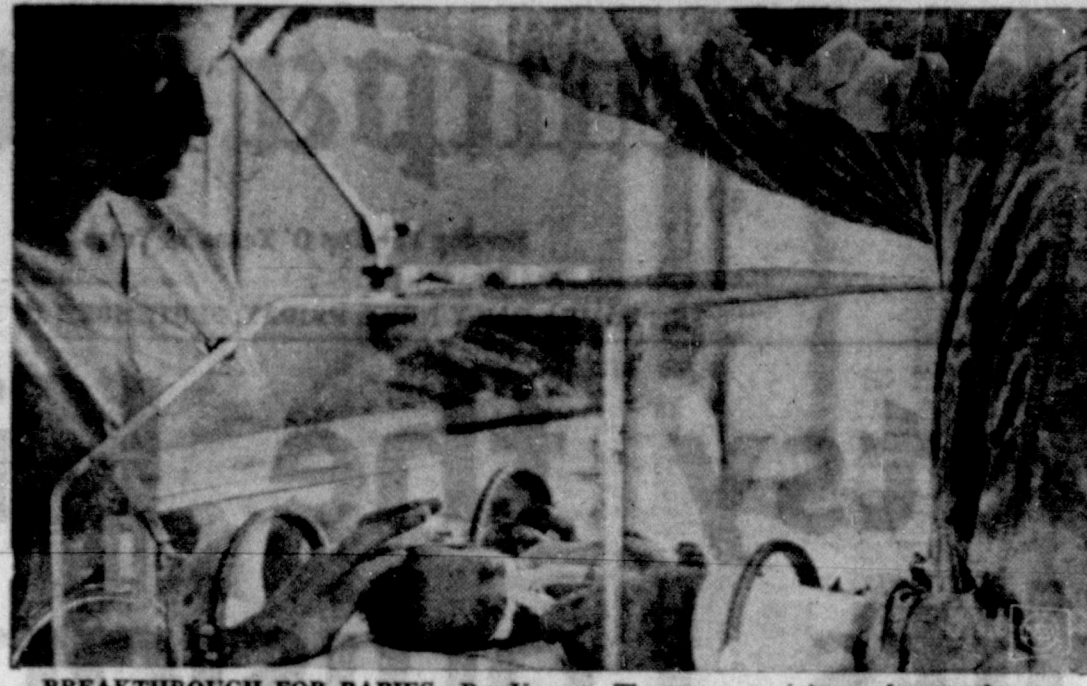

Negro Leader Airs Views on Viet Nam

NEW YORK (UPI) — Negro leader Martin Luther King put aside civil rights problems today to discuss his Viet Nam peace ideas with Arthur J. Goldberg, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Goldberg invited King to meet with him in New York after the Nobel Prize winner became an outspoken advocate for peace in Viet Nam. King promised to plead his case directly to President Johnson and also with leaders in North Viet Nam, Communist China, the Soviet Union and Saigon.

The Goldberg-King meeting was scheduled at 10 a.m. EDT at U. S. Mission headquarters, directly across the street from the United Nations complex.

U. S. delegation sources said the meeting was in keeping with Goldberg's desire to discuss world problems with religious, civic and political leaders.

BREAKTHROUGH FOR BABIES—Dr. Vernon Thomas, associate professor of anesthesia at Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif., has just finished placing a plastic breathing tube in baby's windpipe to make sure air from respirator will reach the infant's lungs. The artificial respiration offers new hope in the treatment of hyaline membrane disease, the most common killer of newborn babies. More than 25,000 babies a year are affected by this disease.

Teamster's Hoffa Dealt Big Setback

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A national mediation board ruling has dealt a setback to Teamsters' President James R. Hoffa and may end in the loss of 3,500 members for their big truck union.

The board directed an election to see if an estimated 35,000 employees of REA Express, Inc., want to be represented by the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks (AFL-CIO) or the unaffiliated Teamsters.

Since about 30,000 of the total already belong to the clerks' union the outcome of balloting almost certainly would end Teamsters' bargaining rights in eight cities.

Hoffa fought the clerks' demand for an election, partly on grounds that a 1937 "no-raiding" agreement between the two unions should not be disturbed by either side.

Arctic Front Sweeps Into Panhandle

By United Press International
An Arctic cold front swept into the Texas Panhandle today, promising temperatures 8 to 10 degrees cooler over the weekend.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the air mass was dry and would not set off showers.

Despite Hurricane Betsy, which cut a devastating path through Louisiana, no rain was forecast for any portion of Texas.

Skies were cloudy in extreme East Texas early today, but generally fair elsewhere.

Temperatures were in the 60s in the Panhandle as the front moved in and in the 70s over the rest of Texas. Cooler air will move southward from the Panhandle, the weather bureau said.

Gun Club Has Annual Meet

The Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club held its annual meeting last night and elected President Jerry Lunseford.

Joe Rutledge was made secretary.

Chief order of business was consideration of the federal directive that all gun clubs must comply with the Civil Rights Act or return all weapons and ammunition furnished by the government to such clubs.

The local club voted to reject the rights measure and to return all guns and ammunition to the government.

Senate Will Push For (14-b) Death

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today the Senate would push ahead with President Johnson's bill to nullify state "right to work" laws despite the threat of a paralyzing filibuster.

Asked whether the measure's supporters could muster the strength needed to muzzle the "extended debate," the Montana lawmaker said only, "we'll cross our bridges as we come to them."

300 Teachers Borgan Charged Are Expected For Reception

The annual teachers' reception has been set for 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in Pampa's Central Park. The program will take the form of a watermelon feast to be served by members of the Top O' Texans Club.

Approximately 300 teachers are expected to be in attendance including 40 new teachers, officers of the various PTA councils, and a number of local business people.

A truckload of fresh melons from the McLean area will be delivered in Pampa this weekend and made ready for the watermelon slicing, which will feature band music by the Pampa High School Band, a watermelon-eating contest, and drawing for prizes which will be donated by local business people.

Any local business concerns desiring to contribute gifts for the teachers should call the Chamber of Commerce office.

Floyd Watson, chairman of the membership relations committee of the Chamber of Commerce; Judy Neslege, president of the Association; and Mrs. Kenneth Royse, president of the P-TA Council, are leaders of the respective sponsoring organizations.

A 31-year-old Borgan man is being held in Gray County jail in lieu of a $3,500 bond after being charged with felony theft late yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff D. L. Day said Wharton gave a signed statement admitting the act.

Injured Youth Is Improved

Tommy McDonald, Pampa athlete, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McDonald, is still hospitalized in St. Anthony's, Oklahoma City from injuries suffered in a one-car accident near Wheeler Aug. 15.

Young McDonald sustained a broken neck and was paralyzed from the elbows down. He has regained some use of his arms and is still in traction although he is scheduled to be placed in a cast if progress continues.

According to his mother who returned home for a few brief hours this week, the injured youth will have several weeks of therapy to undergo later before thoughts of his return can be entertained.

He is in Room 2055, St. Anthony's Hospital, Oklahoma City.

Teenagers Fined For Vulgarity

Four Pampa teenagers were charged with disturbing the peace and fined $100 each today in Corporation Court following their arrest last night in connection with the use of vulgar language.

According to police, the four and another youth who is a juvenile and could not be charged in an adult court, drove through the section of Pampa known as the "flats" yelling vulgar and obscene words from their car.

Charged were Joseph A. Dull, 17, of Pampa; Rickey Lee Reynolds, 17, of 420 N. Dwight; Richard Lee Dismuke, 17, of 818 Reid and Jimmy D. McLaughlin, 17, of Pampa.

Three of the four appeared before Judge John Warner this morning. The fourth youth failed to appear, which constituted an automatic plea of guilty.

Warner fined the four $100, but stated that if the youths stay out of trouble between now and Nov. 26 the fine would be reduced to $25.

Guilty Plea Made In Check Charge

Dianne R. Smith, 220 Tignor, entered a plea of guilty to charges of swindling with worthless check and was fined $5 and costs yesterday in Gray County Court.

Also in county court yesterday, Raymond V. Barnes, Pampa, charged from a not guilty plea to guilty on a charge of aggravated assault and was fined $25 and costs.

James F. Bichsel, 1107 Francis, was placed under a $500 bond after pleading not guilty to a charge of aggravated assault.

Bill to Admit Agricultural Aliens Posed

A bill to admit non-immigrant aliens to the United States for agricultural employment was introduced in the House of Representatives in Washington yesterday by Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa.

Rogers' proposal is a follow-up to the problem of a labor shortage due to the ending of the bracero program, it was stated.

The congressman's bill would give the U. S. attorney general authority to admit the non-immigrant aliens to take farm jobs.

The proposed legislation provides that various state agricultural departments would decide when and where the labor is needed before the attorney general admitted the workers.

Under the Rogers bill, workers would be permitted to cross the border on six-month visas and then allow for a six-month extension of the visa if a worker is needed for additional time.

Eventually, I blundered into Canal boulevard, a residential street which is an extension of the famed Canal Street downtown.

Car Lifted

When I got to Claiborne avenue, a gust of wind lifted my car off the ground and I decided I would be safer outside. I struggled to the hotel and found lights and gaiety and a feeling of safety after hours of terror in the streets outside.

I wanted to get out again later, but I could not because the doors had been lashed shut with heavy rope to keep Betsy from getting inside with us.

So, I went into the fiesta lounge and made the best of it.

Death of Boxing Poses Question In Short Realm

By DICK WEST

United Press International—WASHINGTON (UPI)—The question "What killed boxing?" pops up fairly frequently nowadays the way "What killed vaudeville?" once did.

In another few years, I predict, the question will be "What killed professional football?" I THINK I already know the answer. And here it is:

"Hi there, sports fans! Here we are in our television booth ready to bring you the start of another exciting season of professional football.

"I'm Benny Earbanger, your play-by-play announcer, and I'll be doing my usual relentless job of telling you what you are watching on the screen in case you can't believe your own eyes.

"I have here in the booth with me our usual 12-member panel of experts who will analyze the game for you with a lot of technical jargon that doesn't mean anything to any one except themselves.

"This year the panel has been enlarged to cover two segments not previously given specialized attention. 'Scooter' Flairpass, former quarterback for the Philadelphia Eagles, will be here to analyze the offensive huddles and 'Slug' Bombfinger, former quarterback for the Chicago Bears, will comment on the defensive huddles.

"In addition, we will have with us Miss Sara Lee Cupcake, a trained dietician, who will analyze what the players had for lunch and otherwise discuss the game from a woman's angle.

"Another new feature this season is the 'reverse camera.' It will be used to augment the familiar 'isolation camera.'

"After each play, the 'isolation camera' will bring you an 'instant replay' complete with stop action and slow motion. Then the 'reverse camera' will run the entire play backwards.

"But the innovation that we are most proud of is the installation of a 'uniquack' 974-B digital computer right here in our broadcast booth.

Dear Abby...

Bride Writes Thank You Notes on Honeymoon

DEAR ABBY: Boy, do I need help! I am writing this from Honolulu, Hawaii, where my bride and I are spending our honeymoon. The reason I have time to write to you is because my bride of four days is busy right now writing thank you notes for our wedding gifts! Don't you think if our friends receive thank you notes written by my wife on her honeymoon trip, they will wonder if she is normal?

They say, "Daddy is always late." How can I cure my husband of this irritating habit without staying home and punishing myself as well?

DOCTOR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If you haven't been able to "cure him" in 26 years, pronounce him incurable and learn to live with it. A successful doctor's wife needs patience.

NEWLY WED
DEAR NEWLY: No. They'll probably wonder if you are.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you've seen those cartoons of the impatient husband waiting for his wife to finish dressing. Well, it's just the opposite at our house. No matter what time my husband says we shall leave, we are always late. We have not once, since our marriage 26 years ago, been on time anywhere. This includes starting off for a plane or train. When he calls from the office to say he'll be home in "a few minutes," it can be anywhere from 15 minutes to 2 hours. Believe it or not, he is a successful doctor! He never offers a definite excuse. He was always "tied up." When our married children invite us for dinner, they start without us and we eat reheated leftovers.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my continued friendship with my ex-mother-in-law. My husband's three sisters cannot understand how I can be so friendly with the mother of the man I divorced. She was more like a mother to me, Abby, as I was only 15 when I married her son. She is the only grandmother my children have ever known, and they adore her. She is a fine, religious person, and I can't quit loving her because I am no longer her son's wife. I am even friendly with my ex-husband because of the children. My sisters-in-law tell me if I had any love or respect for their brother I would break off the friendship with my ex-mother-in-law. It would be hard for me to do, but if you think I should, I'll try.

TORN
DEAR TORN: Your husband's sisters are troublemakers. Maintain your friendship with your Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — A few years ago the hula hoop became a national phenomenon. And the skateboard was next on the agenda to achieve that distinction, until a few wise communities outlawed it as dangerous.

Still from kindergarten to college, skateboarding is claiming a growing horde of fans for fun and fracture.

This sport originated in California where surfers keep in trim by using these boards, but it has now taken many campuses across the country by storm. College men and coeds wind down sidewalk slalom courses laid out with metal cans and demonstrate their skill at such tricks as the "coffin," where the rider travels on his back, and the "free jump" over a hurdle to land, hopefully, on the moving board on the other side.

All this would seem to have little to do with fashion. Yet when any sport catches on, enthusiasts soon devise the proper garb for the activity. And skateboarders have done just that.

Since this new craze is certainly no gentle sport the clothes worn must be both comfortable and durable.

(center) by Strilato fastens up the front. It is distinguished by leather lacing. Bell bottom slacks are laced up the sides with the same leather cord. New shortie skirt by Teddo Togs (right) shows up in wide wale. It is paired with another new look—striped turtleneck shirt and leotard in cotton knit. You're never too young to step out in style.

Corduroy, because it is tough, smart and versatile, is a big favorite. And designers have used it in a wide variety of ideas tailored for all active sports.

All types of slacks, from hip huggers to levis, are deemed practical for this sport because you might "wipe out" (skateboard vernacular for upending yourself).

Culottes and pants suits are the choices of the college crowd. And knickers, which have made a comeback on the ski trails, are now gaining in popularity on the macadam slopes.

Newest looking of all is the shortie hipster skirt worn with tights and tops for an all-in-one look from neck to toe. Argyle knits, stripes and prints are the popular patterns for these tights and pullovers that move so smoothly with the action. These togs, adopted by the skateboarders, are also ideal for skating and other active sports. And since there are ways to have outdoor fun with less risk of broken bones, it is suggested that they would also be great for a hike through the woods to see the changing leaves this fall.

Four-Year-Old Charmers Are Born, Not Made
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I see by the papers that a charm school is offering a special course for the very young girl, which proposes to teach her charm, modeling, confidence, poise, good posture, proper walking and table manners.

Guess how old a very young girl, presumed in need of charm school training, is? Fourteen? Nope, four. The course is for the very young girl between the ages of 4 to 10.

No little four-year-old girl needs to be taught charm. She comes equipped with it — the natural, unspoiled charm of eager, wondering childhood.

As for modeling, any little girl, proud of a new dress, knows how to model it — with a twirl on her toes for her admiring daddy and grandparents. And who else should she be modeling for?

Confidence? A child's confidence comes from love and security, and that she has to get at home.

Poise? Who wants a little girl to be perfectly poised? A little girl should be able to bounce around and giggle and go from tomboy to mothering her dolls without a moment's self-consciousness. That's her charm.

Good posture? It comes naturally to children. It's not until adolescence that some girls start slumping. Proper walking? What's that for a little girl? Often it's a hop, skip and a jump if she is feeling in a sunny, happy mood — or it may be a slow, reluctant, dragging of steps if her mother is trying to hurry her when she doesn't want to be hurried. A little girl's walk isn't and should not be self-conscious but should reflect her mood as openly as her face.

On the road? Include in luggage minor medical equipment for use in emergencies.

WHY NOT WHAT-NOT?

The homemaker with an ideal kitchen and large utility area can often find herself in a bind for "what-not" space. This is an area where she can leave the ironing board up, for example, without her home looking like a professional laundry to unexpected guests. A "what-not" room, perhaps in the basement or garage, should be surfaced in bright colors that are easy to maintain, as can be achieved with ceramic tile. Impervious to spilled bleach or a hot iron, ceramic tile is the ideal surfacing material.

Plastic Lemon Has Fishing Line Use
By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — The best bobber I ever used on my fishing line is one of those empty plastic lemon juice containers that looks like a lemon.

I remove the cap and make a one-eighth inch slit. Place the line in the slit and screw the cap back on. You see this yellow bobber for a long distance even late at night and it does not loosen, slip or slide on the line.

—M.V. D.

DEAR POLLY — My earrings were always scattered around until I made a wonderful discovery. I bought a kitchen caddy rack, the kind that attaches to a cabinet door to hold kitchen cleanser and so on and measures 11½ inches long, 3½ inch wide and 4 inches high. I placed it upside down in a drawer (or it could be hung on the inside of a closet door) and I hang my earrings on it. My children enjoyed sorting the earrings and it was easy to fasten them on this vinyl-coated rack. I can now see 36 pairs of earrings at a glance and quickly choose the ones I want to wear.

—EUNICE
DEAR POLLY — The following suggestions have helped me enjoy my six children. We have two "cleaning up" games. One is like musical chairs and the children enjoy straightening up the room if they can keep from getting caught when the music stops. The radio, record player or "yours truly" provides the music.

The second "game" simply involves placing slips of paper in a bowl. Written on them are the jobs I want done. Each child seems to enjoy drawing a slip and starting the job listed on the one he has chosen. Sometimes I add a little spice by putting a "free" or "prize" slip in with the others. These games take a bit of patience on my part but the result is usually worth it.

For our camping trips I save old nylon snowsuits (shell type) to use as warm night wear for the little ones.

My sister-in-law thought up a wonderful, inexpensive sleeping bag for my toddler. We use a child's inflatable swimming pool which is easily squeezed into any available car space and becomes a moisture-proof bed when blown up and lined with soft blankets. The rim keeps my little daughter from gallivanting around the tent when time comes for lights to be out.

My husband and I appreciate every moment with our children which is probably why the good Lord gave us six.

Miss Nevada Wins Round in Swimsuit

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Nevada's Kathryn Balkie, the tall, shapely granddaughter of a minister, slipped into a fiery red outfit Thursday night to win second round swimsuit competition in the 1966 Miss America Pageant.

Miss South Carolina, 18-year-old Nancy Moore, won Thursday night's second round talent event with a quick-tempo piano arrangement of the "Miss America" theme song. She said she had practiced the number for 14 months on a rented piano.

Preliminary competition in the 39th pageant ends tonight. Semi-finals, finals and the crowning of the 1966 Miss America are slated Saturday.

Staturesque Miss Nevada, Kathryn Balkie, whose 5-10 1/2 frame supports 36-24-36 statistics, is the tallest in the 50 girl competition. She said she "eats and eats and eats" without damaging her charmingly curvaceous silhouette.

"I felt great out there. Not bad at all. I'm used to being in a bathing suit," said the deeply tanned Nevada from Carson City. "I do a lot of swimming at nearby Lake Tahoe." She said she acquired her striking red suit two years ago when she became first runner up in the Miss Lake Tahoe contest. The brown-haired, brown-eyed Miss Balkie's grandfather was a Presbyterian minister. Her father is a school administrator. A University of Nevada freshman, she hopes to go into high fashion designing and modeling.

Curvey, blonde Miss Mississippi, Patsy Puckett, won the opening night swim suit competition.

Miss Moore, a blue-eyed ash blonde, is a Duke University sophomore who has been a pianist for 10 years. She said at her rehearsal Thursday: "I know I'm not going to win tonight, but I hope I can pick up enough points to make the 10 semi-finalists."

Miss Texas Worries About Yankee Accent

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — The only thing that bothers Mary Lou Butler, Miss Texas, at the 1966 Miss America pageant is the fear "I'm picking up a northern accent." The 5-8, 37-24-37 brunette from Irving, Tex., drew prettily that when she first arrived in Atlantic City, everyone was bemused when her replies were all "yessir" or "yessam."

"Now," she added with a touch of a frown, "I'm starting to say just 'heah'."

The ebullient Miss Texas, a singer and a student at Stephen F. Austin College in Nacogdoches, hopes to become a professional entertainer or teacher. She also wants to bring the Miss America crown back to Texas, where it hasn't reposed since 1942, when the pageant was won by Jo-Carroll Dennison of Tyler.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — It was early in the summer that I first noticed something was wrong.

My wife and I were having a party on our patio. I was being my usual scintillating self, spilling drinks with gay abandon and playing "Bonaparte's Retreat" on my bugle. But for some reason the party was an awful flop.

The guests were ill at ease. Stand-offish. Nobody had a good time.

The next time we entertained it was even worse. Most of the people we invited sent regrets. Others accepted but didn't come. The few who did show up made excuses and left before dinner.

My wife and I were terribly upset. I began losing weight and she developed a rash. The worst thing was not knowing what had damaged our reputation as host and hostess.

Found Out Why
We might have gone on like that indefinitely, brooding over some unidentified faux pas or contretemps, had I not received a press release from a chemical company in California.

With one blunt, challenging question, it put the finger right on our problem.

"Is your garbage can socially acceptable?" it asked. Instantly I knew that this was where we had made our mistake. My wife and I had always selected our garbage cans for utility, rather than for charm and grace.

The press release went on to say, "there's something about a garbage can that makes it the unwanted guest — the social flop — at any backyard, porch or patio get-together."

Not Too Pleasant
"Generally, garbage cans are just not very pleasant items to be around," it added with excruciating frankness.

Being told that your garbage can is a party-pooper gives you a bit of a shock, but I am grateful to the company for dropping the hint.

"I also was delighted to learn that a way has been found to make your garbage can a lot more socially acceptable."

According to the press release, the secret is to make sure you use a new aerosol garbage can spray deodorant before your next outdoor soiree.

When we have a patio party, I usually have a few garbage cans around for use as extra chairs. They are quite comfortable if you turn the lids upside down.

But believe me I'll take no more chances with "G.O." Amount of heat received from the sun by the earth annually exactly balances the quantity lost by reflection and radiation during the same period.

RUBY'S ATTORNEYS

Want Judge Barred

DALLAS (UPI) — Lawyers for condemned killer Jack Ruby today will try again to prove that Judge Joe B. Brown should be disqualified from any further legal action in the celebrated case.

Brown was to testify again today in the latest legal twist to the case of the man who shot and killed Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of President Kennedy, and was sentenced to death for it.

The Dallas judge told a hearing Thursday that his highly publicized book on the Ruby case was just a "spur of the moment idea."

Brown voluntarily withdrew from the case earlier this year. But lawyers for Ruby are trying to get him legally removed from the Ruby case.

Brown's book on the trial was the center of Thursday's testimony. Brown told the hearing he decided to write the book after hearing so many derogatory things said about Dallas and the trial.

He "wanted to set the record straight," Brown said.

Dist. Judge Louis T. Holland of Montague, Tex., who took over the case when Brown withdrew, said he expected the hearing to end today.

However, Sol Dann, an attorney for Oswald's slayer, said the case may go on for a few more days.

POPE TO RETURN

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI will return to the Vatican Saturday from his summer villa at Castelgandolfo. He has been vacationing there since July 25.

Brown's collaborator on the book, Dallas Morning News columnist Paul Crume, testified that Brown "may have been angry and a little hurt about some things and he wanted to tell his own story."

Ruby's attorneys called Crume as their second witness.

Church Plans 'Colonizing' Movement In Northeastern Part of United States

MIDLAND, Tex. (UPI)—The Church of Christ, which has a few members in the Northeast, today announced plans to move many families to Somerset County, N.J.

Fourteen families, including 40 persons committed themselves to move to New Jersey to form the nucleus of a new Church of Christ congregation. The operation to move families to New Jersey will be known as "Exodus—New Jersey" and church members from throughout the nation have volunteered.

Three ministers, C. Larry Roberts of Midland, Dave M. Hearn Jr. of Buffalo, N. Y., and Winston Bell of Glendale, Calif. were named to the missionary program.

Property for a church has already been bought in Bridgewater township, N. J. for a new church.

It will be the second such project in the East. Three years ago, 83 families from 11 states moved to Bayshore, L. I., N. Y., to start a Church of Christ congregation.

Baptists Plan Graded Choir Enrollment

The Graded Choirs of Central Baptist Church will begin enrollment for the new church year Wednesday night, September 15.

This program provides a choir for all children of the church, ages 4 through 18. The church choir is composed of the youth and adults of the church. Directors for the choirs are: Beginners—Ages 4 and 5, Mrs. Pete Etheredge and Paula Skidmore; Primary—ages 6-8 Mrs. Barbara Crosthwait; Juniors—ages 9-10, Mrs. Hugh Sanders; Juniors—ages 11-12, Mrs. Dan Johnson; and Chapel—ages 13-18, Mr. Hugh Sanders.

The choirs meet each Wednesday evening at 7:00. The pastor, T. O. Upshaw, will preach at both worship services Sunday.

At the 11:00 hour of worship he will continue the messages on Genesis. His subject will be "Sarah at Home." His message at the 7:00 o'clock evening service will be "The Judgment."

The U. S. Senate's Rule 22 which permits filibusters to find absolute justification this month in debate of big labor demand that the Taft-Hartley Act be amended. This filibuster should be usefully educational.

The amendment sought would strike out the Act's section 14-B. This section of the Taft-Hartley Act merely permits states to forbid compulsory unionism. Section 14-B does not require the states to do anything. It is strictly permissive. It permits states so minded to forbid compulsory unionism within their borders.

President Johnson promised the labor leaders to obtain repeal of 14-B in exchange for labor support in his 1964 election campaign. Repeal of 14-B fits well into the pattern of L.B.J.'s Great Society. That is a pattern of concentration of power in Washington and federal law and aggressive reduction of the powers of local authorities, state and/or municipal.

Senate Republicans and conservative Democrats will challenge the Great Society on the right-to-work issue of compulsory unionism. Senate Minority Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen promises prolonged educational debate, which is fancy talk for a filibuster. A filibuster can be educational, however, and perhaps Dirksen's will be.

Needs Education
The Senate and all Americans, with special emphasis on the Americans who are Democrats and hold high political office, need education in the area of compulsory unionism. This need offers Dirksen and his associates a great opportunity. Dirksen and his friends should explore the evidence that something has gone very sour in the labor movement. The source of the sour is well hidden so that only the most delicate nostril can detect the odor. But it is there. The odor is strongest in the states of Georgia and North Carolina and around the U.S. Supreme Court where has taken place some preliminary exploration of what goes on under cover of compulsory unionism.

Finding the Way

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
There is a plaintive little whine which has written about many marriages which threaten to fall apart:

"As soon as they take us for better or worse, they also take us for granted."

That's true of much of life. We miss the wonder of the psalmist who saw the earth leaping with joy. Take it for granted and you waste resources, pollute the air, despoil the streams and ravish in a moment what centuries have labored to produce.

So freedom is turned into license, community into exploitation of individuals and economic or social advantage becomes prideful selfishness. As soon as we have these gifts, for better or for worse, we take them for granted.

A recent hospital experience riveted the whole matter. Suddenly the health that we take for granted is jeopardized and independence becomes dependence. Now nurses, aides, orderlies, technicians as well as doctors and surgeons are marshaled into a team-bent on meeting one person's need. Take this for granted and you drain compassion from the whole process of restoring health and well-being.

Or there are those little fluted cups which the nurse delivers. They brim with a variety of capsules containing antibiotics and vitamins. It's really been only a few decades since these have become a part of medical procedure. We take these things for granted. Think for a moment of what the procedures were before the researchers and the scientists devoted their talents to producing these life-restoring drugs. Suddenly you hold the little cup as though it were a chalice.

Most of all, none of us can be taken for granted. Write the late and saintly Martin Buber, "Existence cannot be possessed, but only shared in." That is never more understood than at the hour of greatest need. To make of any person an "it" instead of a "you" is to take for granted the gift of personhood.

Nor can one take the prayers of others for granted. There is a new sense of the trust of faith in times when the mind is too foggy to pray literally just to know that many others in an ecumenical fellowship are praying for God's healing. It is in this merging of needs and in the understanding of them as within the possible redeeming love beyond ourselves that we are at the threshold of a faith that is vital.

Catastrophe always compels community. In the face of disaster we express concern for one another. We ought to be compelled by the urgencies of our faith.

No man and no nation can walk through this life insulated against trouble. Personally—and nationally—we have to keep faith, for better or for worse. But never for granted!

Christian Science churches will explore the subject of "Substance" this Sunday.

Passages to be considered from the Christian Science textbook will include these lines: "Mortals must look beyond fading, finite forms, if they would gain the true sense of things. . . . When we realize that Life is Spirit, never in nor of matter, this understanding will expand into self-completeness, finding all in God, good, and needing no other consciousness" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 264).

Bible passages will include verses from 1 Corinthians: "As it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God."

Lutherans Set
Film Showing
"A Letter To Nancy," the award-winning film produced by the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod, will be shown to the public at Zion Lutheran Church Friday night at 7:30 p. m.

The full color, full-length movie, produced in Hollywood, has all the suspense, excitement, and dramatic impact of a regular theatrical film.

The story revolves around a suburban family, a small Chinese girl and a young minister of an inner-city mission. The movie probes the complacency of suburban Christianity with the two-edged sword of inner-city needs and status-symbol church membership.

Lola Montez, famous "Spanish" dancer of the mid-nineteenth century, was born in Limerick, Ireland, the daughter of a British Army officer. She was noted more for her beauty than her dancing ability and after several notorious debauches and some notorious intrigues in European courts she fled to America, where she danced and acted between 1851 and 1853. She died in New York in 1861.

HOW TO PRAY

"After this manner pray ye." (Matthew 6:9)
There is a longing in the heart of every christian to know more about the great art of prayer. The early disciples of our Lord said: "Lord, teach us to pray." (Luke 11:1) Therefore, if they experienced this great need, how much more do we today.
When Jesus gave the model prayer in the sixth chapter of Matthew he told us how to pray

- I. PRAY WITH SINCERITY.
"And when thou prayest thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are." (Matt. 6:5).
Sincerity like Hannah who wept for a son. Sincerity like Hezekiah who prayed with tears. Sincerity like Jesus who sweat drops of blood in the garden of Gethsemane.
- II. PRAY IN SECRET.
"But thou when thou prayest enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut the door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." Matthew 6:6.
Joseph prayed in secret and became the governor of Egypt. Daniel prayed in secret and God locked the lions jaws. Elijah prayed in secret and later called down fire from heaven rain after three years drouth.
- III. PRAY IN SIMPLICITY.
"But when ye pray use not vain repetitions." (Matthew 6:7). To try to give God a high pressured sales talk is folly. We are simply to "let or request be made known unto God."
- IV. PRAY IN FAITH.
". . . for you Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask him." (Matthew 6:8).
"Without faith it is impossible to please God." (Hebrews 11:6).
"Have faith in God." (Mark 11:22).
"Let him ask in faith." (James 1:6).
- V. PRAY WITH HUMILITY.
"Our Father which art in heaven hallowed be thy name." (Matt. 6:9).
- VI. PRAY OPTIMISTICALLY.
"Thy Kingdom come." (Matthew 6:10).
- VII. PRAY SUBMISSIVELY.
"Thy will be done." (Matthew 6:10).
- IX. PRAY DAILY.
"Give us this day our daily bread." (Matt. 6:11).
- X. PRAY FORGIVINGLY.
"And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors." (Matthew 6:12).

Harvesters Open Season Against Perryton Tonight

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Koufax Goose Eggs Cubs

By United Press International
Sandy Koufax has reached the supreme standard of excellence in baseball.

Sandy Almost Didn't Make It

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sandy Koufax, the toast of the baseball world with the ninth perfect game in history and a record-setting fourth no-hitter, spent five lonely years on the Dodger bench after signing a $14,000 bonus contract with the Brooklyn organization in 1955.

has earned the title "king of pitchers." Even the fabulous records of those immortal greats, even their legends cannot match the pitching achievements of 29-year-old Sandy Koufax, who became the first lefthander ever to win a perfect game and the first major league pitcher in history to hurl four no-hit, no-run games when the Los Angeles Dodgers' perfectionist beat the Chicago Cubs 1-0, Thursday night.

The miracle of the flawless gem over the Cubs looms even greater because Koufax' career has been in jeopardy for the last six months since he incurred traumatic arthritis in his left elbow.

Koufax struck out 14 men including the last six batters in a row to boost his season's total to 332 — just 16 short of the major league record set by Bob Feller in 1946. With perfect control and a blazing fast ball, Koufax was hit hard only once, when Byron Brown of the Cubs spanked a line drive which Dodger centerfielder Willie Davis caught waist high.

"I knew I had the no-hitter all along," Koufax said. "But it never entered my mind it might be a perfect game."

Bob Hendley, the losing pitcher for the Cubs, also had a no-hitter until the seventh inning when Lou Johnson doubled for the only hit off Hendley, just recently recalled from the minor leagues. The only run came in the fifth when Johnson walked, moved to second on Ron Fairly's sacrifice bunt, stole third and scored when catcher Chris Krug's wild throw went into left field.

The victory enabled the Dodgers to remain a half game behind the National League-leading San Francisco Giants, who blanked Houston 4-0. Cincinnati whipped New York 3-2 in the only other NL game played. Philadelphia at Milwaukee was postponed because of rain.

Koufax' no-hitter was the third pitched this season in the major leagues. Jim Maloney of Cincinnati hurled the other two, losing a 10-inning decision 1-0 to the New York Mets on June 14, and beating the Cubs 1-0 also in 10 innings on Aug. 19.

In addition to equalling the major league strikeout record for a single (18) game twice (on Aug. 31, 1959 against the Giants and on April 24, 1962 against the Cubs), Koufax tossed no-hitters against the Mets on June 30, 1962; against the Giants on May 11, 1963 and on June 4, 1964 against the Phillies.

Among his other major records is a World Series record of 15 whiffs in one game against the Yankees on Oct. 2, 1963. The triumph was his 22nd this season against seven losses.

Juan Marichal captured his 21st victory with a four-hit effort for the Giants against Houston. The Giants pounded loser Bob Bruce (9-18) for all their runs and five hits, including Tom Haller's 12th home run. It was the Giants' sixth straight victory and Marichal's 10th shut-out.

Tony Perez belted a ninth-inning home run to beat the Mets and keep Cincinnati a half game off the Giants' pace. Sammy Ellis hurled the last inning in relief and picked up his 19th victory against eight losses. Deron Johnson slugged a two-run homer for the Reds, his 28th this season.

The Minnesota Twins left the Chicago White Sox "for dead" today and started the final countdown toward lucky number 13.

With a seven-game lead and 19 games remaining, only a total collapse can deprive the Twins of their first American League pennant. The National League's Philadelphia Phillies demonstrated only a year ago that anything can happen, but the Twins' position is almost impregnable.

Following a 10-4 rout of the White Sox Thursday, the Twins have reduced their magic pennant-clinching number to 13. That means any combination of Twin victories and White Sox defeats totaling 13 will clinch the flag for Minnesota. The White Sox could win 15 of their final 19 games and still lose the flag by one game if the Twins won only nine of their 19.

Making the Twins' position even more secure is the fact that the schedule offers them a "cakewalk" to the flag. No fewer than 14 of their last 19 games are with second-division teams and 10 of their final 19 games are at home.

What was to have been a climactic meeting between the Twins and White Sox turned out Thursday to be a breeze for pennant-bound Minnesota. The Twins hammered out 15 hits, including Jimmie Hall's 20th homer of the season and led by at least four runs from the second inning to the end.

Even White Sox fans seemed to sense the futility of it all because only 5,796 gathered in Chicago's Comiskey Park.

HARVESTERS COACHES — The guiding hands of the Pampa Harvesters, who open their 1965 football campaign tonight are, moving clockwise from the top, Don Myers, Jeep Webb, head coach Eural Ramsey and Roy Dunn.

Pampa Defense To Test Ranger Runners

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
PERRYTON (Sp.) — Pampa hopes Perryton plays the good host tonight as both teams open the 1965 football campaign, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Harvesters, under a new coach for the new season, hope for a repeat performance of last year's 19-8 victory. Harvesters coach Eural Ramsey hopes it comes a bit easier across the goal line last year against Pampa.

Winters is back in the same spot and ready to give a repeat performance. Ramsey, like Perryton can't find too much experience among his players, with only three starters back from last year's team.

Ted Heiskell, the 196-pound Harvesters fullback and L. D. Rowden, the 172-pound right halfback are the only two juniors aboard.

Perryton is small, but has a lot of speed in both the line and backfield.

Some of the Harvesters will remember the Rangers 168-pound halfback Gary Winters who returned a kickoff 76-yards across the goal line last year against Pampa.

Larry Daniels, a 165-pound senior, Roy Harper, the 165-pound Pampa quarterback and James Matney, the 170-pound junior defensive backer are the only Harvesters returning who started in 1964.

Ranger coach Ray Hopkins can find four starters back from last year's club in Jim Gobin the starting 159-pound left end; D'Allen Miller, Perryton's strong 171-pound guard; fullback Kenneth Deike, a 183-pounder and Winter.

The Harvesters enter the contest with a slight weight advantage in both the line and backfield. Pampa averages out to 185 pounds per man in the line while Rangers will weigh only 168-pounds per man.

In the backfield Perryton averages 170 pounds per boy and Pampa 174. But the Rangers are quick and have a strong running game.

Ramsey will start with Teddy Bird and Billy Stokes at ends; Woodie Leonard and Billy Quarles at tackles; Dan Patterson and Larry Eckroat at guards; Jerry Wright at center; Larry Mears and L. D. Rowden at halfbacks; Ted Heiskell at fullback and Roy Harper at quarterback.

In their 3-4A action Amarillo hosts Odessa Bronchos; Tascosa plays at Odessa Permian; Plainview hosts Hereford; Lubbock's Westerners host Midland Lee; Saturday Caprock plays at Burges; Borger hosts Littlefield and Palo Puro hosts Dumas.

Area Teams See Action Tonight

Almost all area football teams see action tonight with only Miami and Lefors being the exceptions.

The Warriors of new coach Red Hart wait until Saturday when they host the Canadian B team and Lefors doesn't play until next week.

But players at White Deer, Canadian, McLean, Groom, and Wheeler will don the football gear.

In District 3-A, champion White Deer shoots for victory No. 2 when the Bucks travel to Gruver. White Deer opened the season last week on a winning note with a victory over Boys Ranch.

Canadian, a big loser to ever dangerous Stinnett last week, shoots for the victory column tonight against Sanford-Fritch at Fritch.

McLean, another opening Friday loser to Shamrock, tries to regain the winning form when they travel to Panhandle.

District 5-B finds Groom testing weeks of practice when the Tigers host Vega in a non-conference affair.

The Wheeler Mustangs, who won every class B title in the state last year, hopes to get off on the right foot across the Red River.

The Mustangs journey to Oklahoma to test an always dangerous Mangum Tiger crew.

Miami waits until Saturday afternoon to strut its stuff. Coach Red Hart's Warriors host the Canadian B team in an afternoon affair.

Lefors gets a late start, not opening until Sept. 17 and hopes to present new coach Jack York with a victory.

Actually most of the Pampa area teams rank as favorites.

White Deer is a strong two-touchdown favorite over Gruver; Canadian ranks a scant six-point nod over Sanford-Fritch; Panhandle is a seven-point favorite over McLean.

Groom gets the nod over Vega by one-point; Wheeler is a 12-point favorite over Mangum; Miami is a three touchdown favorite of Canadian B.

ANYBODY'S RACE

Quarterbacks Make Boston C. a Threat

NEW YORK (UPI) — When certain easterners moan about the drought, they're talking about college quarterbacks and not the water shortage.

Only one of the major contenders for eastern honors this fall has an experienced quarterback. That's the big, rugged Boston College. The Eagles have two.

But Syracuse and Penn State, which have just about everything else, desperately are seeking a good one to make the difference in the annual balloting for the Lambert Trophy that elects the eastern champion.

So are Army, Navy and Pittsburgh, which normally figure to outrank Boston College but may not this year.

Syracuse, usually less dependent on passing than its major rivals, rates a shade over Lambert defender Penn State and just might make a splash among the nation's top teams if Coach Ben Schwartzwalder does hit upon a youngster who can add a throwing threat to the brutal running attack led by junior halfback Floyd Little.

Ivy League Tossup
In the Ivy League, Harvard has the runners and Dartmouth the passing to make it tough on Princeton's title defenders in a three-way race. Massachusetts rates as a favorite in the Yankee Conference with Gettysburg hopeful of a successful defense in the Middle Atlantic conference.

The quarterback situation hereabouts is accentuated by a review of the departed — Gary Wydman of Penn State, Wally Mahle of Syracuse, Roger Staubach of Navy, Carl Stachweh of Army and Fred Mazurek of Pittsburgh. They were real dar-

Lee Seventh Downs Phillips

The Lee Junior High Seventh Grade opened their season on a successful note Thursday with a 8-6 victory over Phillips.

Phillips jumped out to a quick 6-0 lead in the first period, scoring on their first possession.

A 60-yard pass did the trick going from quarterback Richard Ellis to left end James Reeder.

Pampa scored in the second period when quarterback Kenneth Wallace carried three straight times from the 25 to pay dirt, the final tally being eight-yards for the score. Douglas Thompson passed to halfback Mike Poole for the points after.

Nicklaus Is Series Pick

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, who shot the worst golf of his fabulous young career here two weeks ago, will be shooting for pride and big money Saturday in the opening round of the World Series of Golf.

The tricky Firestone Country Club course however has been good to the Buckeye better, who twice has won the World Series prize and has averaged 71.4 in the 24 times he has played the course. The first place purse this year is $50,000.

Nicklaus will match strokes in the two-day 36-hole tourney with Gary Player of South Africa who got into the event by winning the U.S. Open and two lesser known golfers.

They are Dave Marr who won the PGA title at Ligonier, Pa., last month and Peter Thomson of Australia, the British Open champion. The series is for winners of the top four golfing events in the country with Nicklaus gaining admittance through his record-shattering victory in the Masters at Augusta, Ga., last April.

While Nicklaus has twice picked up the first prize check in the series he had a miserable time on the course two weeks ago in the American Golf Classic.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Control of City Hall

We agree with Thurman Sensing of the Southern States Industrial Council that with the creation of a new federal Department of Housing and Urban Development the Johnson administration now has the political tool it long has sought to apply maximum pressure on the cities of America.

One suspects that the Urban Development program and the War on Poverty Program will be among the brain-washing topics of Vice President Hubert Humphrey who is listed as one of the principal speakers at the upcoming convention of the International City Managers' Association to be held next week in Montreal, Canada.

Hubert has been doing a lot of brain-washing lately on various federal programs the administration thinks ought to be getting more push from mayors, city managers and city councils. Unquestionably, the Urban Affairs Department will give the White House political managers a controlling voice in city government around the country. The amazing thing is that some mayors actually welcome the new department. In so doing, they ignore the needs and freedom of their constituents and close their eyes to the danger to local government.

City governments are the creation of state legislatures. It is from the legislatures that municipalities derive their charters and their powers to levy taxes and carry out local government operations. Ideally, in this day and age cities should be working very closely with state government in order to meet the needs of growing urban areas. Many opportunities exist for intelligent city-state cooperation. The real problems of urban dwellers — water pollution, transportation, and slum clearance — are problems that are best handled at the city and state level, using free enterprise methods. It is at this level that there is the most accurate understanding of local needs and how specific plans affect community and state development. But the states are virtually cut out of the picture by the creation of the Urban Affairs Department. All the various federal programs scattered through many agencies are to be concentrated in a single federal department of government.

The states, for their part, cannot hope to have an influence over policy and plans that in any way compares with the influence exerted by an all-powerful single urban agency in Washington. The states will have to accept what is decreed by Washington officials, even if they know a program is unwise.

There is the financial waste aspect, as well as the political situation. U.S. Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia has warned that the new department will lead to further "backdoor spending" by means of "contract authorizations" and "revolving funds." There will be, in other words, fiscal shortcuts set up by the White House in league with cooperative city officials. As Sen. Byrd stated, "Every major program proposed to be consolidated into the new Housing and Urban Development Department spends through the back door."

If city halls in Pampa and across the nation are not to become mere outposts of the White House executive office, it is essential that concerned citizens work for repeal of the law that sets up a super-agency designed to usurp the authority of local government.

Second Paragraph Thoughts

A couple of recent news reports relating to Viet Nam, which perhaps should have given us feelings of relief and hope about that situation, serve instead to disturb us all the more. Headlines on one of them seemed to be telling us that our pilots flying missions over North Viet Nam were now going to be allowed to attack any missile sites they happened to see. So, our hopes were lifted for a bit that last the grey-flannel field marshals in the Pentagon had decided to allow military decisions, such as target selection, to be made by men who are really qualified to make them. But then, reading on beneath the headline, we learned that our pilots will be allowed to attack only those missile sites which are outside the sanctuary we are so kindly allowing the Communists around and between the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong.

This goes to show, we suppose, that for peace of mind one may be better off just reading the headlines of official news releases, since these more often than not appear to be designed to give reassurance that all is well, or at least not very bad. Yet, the second item which disturbed us had, within itself, very little except reassuring and heartening news. That was the report — really several reports — about the sweeping victory of some of our ground forces in South Viet Nam, which managed to catch up with a sizeable force of Communist guerrillas and virtually destroy them. There seems to be little question that this was, in fact, a successful campaign, as military actions go, with comparatively small losses to our own forces and extensive damage to the enemy.

But, successful or not, on the basis of our own losses as compared with those of the enemy, there were American lives lost. So, thinking beyond just this one battle, we can't help wondering still if those men will, in the long run, have given their lives in vain. With blood, sweat and tears, our fighting men in Viet Nam have won a battle. But, there is yet no indication from civilian officials in Washington that they will be allowed to win a war.

Sensing The News

By THURMAN SENSING

TALKING UP FREEDOM

The Johnson administration juggernaut which has overridden all opposition in Congress this year may blow a tire on the issue of repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits state right to work laws. The latest reports from Washington suggest that the Senate at long last may show some spunk in dealing with the big man in the White House. Tired of its role of being the recipient of fountain pens used for LBJ-decreed legislation, the Senate may refuse to hurry through the repeal measure ordered by Mr. Johnson.

The possibility is that Senators, deeply alarmed about the danger that repeal poses to a citizen's freedom of choice, are determined to talk at length about the issue. In one word, this means "filibuster."

In some quarters, a filibuster has gained a bad name. But the right of a Senator to speak at great length on an issue about which he feels strongly is embedded in the parliamentary traditions of the English-speaking peoples. It is especially deeply rooted in the U. S. Senate, and the White House might find it very difficult indeed to gag those Senators who wanted to talk at length in an effort to persuade their fellow Senators and the nation at large that repeal is an attack on the freedom of the American working man.

The importance of 14(b) is very great, and the public is entitled to a great debate on this issue. If repeal goes through and the right to work laws of 19 states are invalidated, then many thousands of Americans, who have conscientious objections to union membership, will be forced into accepting union membership or will lose their jobs.

These citizens, if they are pushed into unions, will have to pay dues to organizations that engage in politics — that are, in effect, political parties. In short, they will be compelled to support political activity that is abhorrent to them. Certainly, such conditions are incompatible with the American way of life and with freedom as we have known it in this country. No citizen should be compelled to either join an organization or be deprived of his livelihood.

It is a strange irony that the very people who want to get rid of poll taxes, on the ground that no one should have to pay to vote, are urging that people pay union dues in order to hold down a job.

In the case of poll taxes, the payments is to the state and is for the support of state government in general — not for a private organization or for any special political group. A poll tax is just another tax, as just as a sales tax.

But the matter of union dues is very different. One concerned citizen recently pointed out that even voting becomes academic if one is denied the chance to earn one's living for one's family. And if 14(b) is repealed people will be denied their right to work if they do not join a union shop. Now the matter of voting comes up at most once or twice a year, but a man and his family have to eat daily.

Those who are pushing for repeal of 14(b) are only giving lip service to liberty in these United States. Repeal would be a backward step for freedom in this country, for it would drag down thousands of supposedly free Americans into the service of unions, many of which have hoodlum leadership or that serve political interests antagonistic to their membership.

State right to work laws came into existence to restore liberty to citizens who wanted to work without making a payment to union bosses, who thought they had a right to earn a livelihood without asking leave of any middleman. The American people — the U. S. Senate — should be jealous of the freedom of choice inherent in section 14(b). They should keep it as part of the law of this land and hope that the freedom will spread to other states. It is only proper to filibuster in the defense of American freedom.

Are You Sure The Bomb Is Defused?

The American Way

By HARRY BROWNE

As terror and violence temporarily recede into the background in Los Angeles, massive publicized comments and inquiries will probe the "underlying causes" of the riots.

"How could this happen here?" "Don't they realize this isn't the way to get what they want?" "What resentment led to this outbreak?" Undoubtedly, the root cause of the problem will be totally ignored. The rioters will not bear the responsibility for their acts; rather "conditions" will be blamed — the police, unemployment, poverty, etc. And the effect of the real cause will be to aggravate the situation.

What caused the riots? The concept of "something for nothing."

It was the idea that a man can have what has not been earned. And if one man can have what he has not produced, it can only be taken from some other man — by force.

The people in the riot area have been told for years that every man is entitled to a job, a minimum standard of living, etc. "Entitled?" By what standard? And who is "entitled" to go without in order to provide it for him?

These people have relied for years upon the government to force others to provide that standard of living. Did you know that 60 percent of them are on relief already?

We live in a society where "from each according to his ability; to each according to his need" is the most-used standard of moral judgment. The people in the riot area have decided that their "needs" are greater than what they have received. How do they rectify the injustice? By force, of course. If the government won't do it for them, they'll do it themselves. And they did.

It is possible for isolated clashes to take place between police and criminals. It is possible for a few people out of any group to enjoy arson for the sake of enjoyment only. And, of course, there will always be the antisocial who make stealing an avowed profession.

But over 10,000 people took part in the recent riots! They destroyed property; they stole whatever they could get their hands on; they assaulted those whom they felt were not giving them respect and benefits which had never been earned. They took what they wanted.

The "civil rights" leaders disassociated themselves from the "gangsters" and said their "methods" were wrong. Why? One group says we should use the government to steal and destroy property; the other group says we should do it ourselves. The latter group would appear to be more directly efficient.

The "civil rights" leaders pointed out that white businessmen had "exploited" Negroes and this induced the burning of so many stores. "Exploited?" What does that mean? If there was any grievance against the businessman, the answer was simple and effective: don't do business with him. And if there was no one else to do business with, why weren't the "civil rights" leaders setting up Negro owned businesses — instead of spending their time calling for the government to use force.

The Los Angeles riots are merely a symptom of the times. The real cause is the "something for nothing" attitude, enforced by government coercion, that leads 60 percent of the people in the area to think they can live at others' expense, that they are "entitled" to minimum standards, that another man's wealth is a crime as long as they don't have it.

The real crime involved in force, it has been fostered by the government itself, the "civil rights" leaders, and every other social reformer who has publicly declared what he will do with someone else's money.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

A SCREEN FOR TRAITORS In 1962 Congress passed a statute directing the Customs Bureau to list publications from Communist countries as Communist propaganda.

The same law prohibited the Post Office Department from delivering mail so labeled by the Customs Bureau, except on request of addressee. It was intended to stop blanket mailings of Red propaganda to this country, and its delivery free of charge by our Post Office Department.

Post offices began sending form postcards to addressees of Red propaganda mail. If one happened to be a legitimate researcher, or even a communist agent who really wanted the Red publication, he could get delivery simply by returning the postcard.

Recently, the Supreme Court, in a unanimous decision by eight justices, ruled the anti-propaganda statute unconstitutional "because it requires an official act, as a limitation on the addressee's First Amendment rights."

Justice William O. Douglas wrote the decision, which was hailed in the Communist Party newspaper THE WORKER, as "an important victory."

The lawyer for a communist front official gloated, "This is the first time a federal statute has been declared unconstitutional on the basis of the First Amendment."

The Government argued that the requirement to return a postcard for delivery of the mail was not an abridgement of constitutional right. But Justice William J. Brennan, in a separate concurring opinion, declared that "inhibition as well as prohibition" of the First Amendment rights of freedom of speech and the press "is a power denied to Government." We will no longer have a constitution if it is used to destroy us.

The justices ignored a longstanding declaration of an earlier Court: "The Constitution was adopted to preserve our government, not to serve as a protecting screen for those who, by claiming its privileges, seek to destroy it."

Around the World

Saying It Another Way

The military successes of the magnificent U.S. Marines are demonstrating that the pessimism over Viet Nam that exuded from a powerful sector of our mass communications was not well founded. As someone quipped, official Washington is confused because the situation in South Viet Nam is not deteriorating as precipitously as had been expected.

The fact of the matter is that we have many more assets and advantages than most people have been led to believe. The Marines dramatically symbolize the conventional military power of the United States. The State Department's headlong adoption of a policy of conciliation and retreat before Soviet power has made the Marines an unfashionable military institution. There have been efforts made even to dissolve that corps. Fortunately, we are beginning to see a reversal of this futile trend.

It has been precisely because we have phased out of our national image our Marine facade that terrorists and international gangsters have had the effrontery to carry on their depredations of innocent men and women. This is an old lesson of history, but one that still apparently has not been accepted. The U.S. Marines, with all their blood and guts, have always been harbingers of tranquility and peace in the true sense of that word.

Richard M. Nixon, on tour in the Far East, said something of our assets that we have been saying in these columns. An Associated Press dispatch out of Free China reads:

"Mr. Nixon said at a news conference here today that the great power in Nationalist China had been a major factor in keeping the Chinese Communists from intervening in Vietnam."

"Mr. Nixon who arrived here from Japan for a three-day visit, said the Communists knew that Taiwan would attack the Chinese mainland if Peking intervened in Vietnam. The Chinese Nationalists 'have built one of the best armies in free Asia and are one of the great deterrents to the design for communist' he said."

There you have it again. The excellent army of Chiang Kai-shek is another great asset of the United States. We have been contending that it and the armies of the Philippines, of Thailand and of South Korea should provide the bulk of the military force that is necessary to preserve freedom in Asia. This could be a better solution than sending an army of American boys nine thousand miles to a bloody stalemate as we did a decade ago in Korea.

But, as was the case with the Marines, there are powerful forces here that have worked long and assiduously to liquidate the forces of Chiang Kai-shek. It is most helpful that Richard Nixon says what he does from Taipei. Our assets are so precious that they demand that we have heralds to trumpet their existence. These heralds

Question Box

QUESTION: "You love your neighbor. He continually disturbs your tranquility by (a) making excessive noise at all hours, and (b) showing pornographic pictures and stories to his kids, which creates a yen for same in your kids. In a truly free society, how do you deal with this situation?" —J.T.

ANSWER: Perhaps the most effective weapon against wrongdoers is ostracism or isolation. In a truly free society common agreement among all neighbors would set forth rules by which they mutually concede they will abide. Then if a neighbor breaks the rule of maintaining normal tranquility, and if your premise that "you love your neighbor" is true, nothing more should be necessary than reminding him of the agreement and that he is violating your peace. He will probably quiet down, since your love is doubtless reciprocated. If he persists then he will lose the friendly company of all his neighbors who want peace. Or you are free to move away.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

PERMANENT LIE-INS

Representative Arnold Olsen (D-Mont.) has introduced a bill in the Congress to provide a national cemetery in every state. This is logical and long overdue if we are to achieve "The Grave Society." We have already nationalized by means of federal conquest, usurpation, occupation, bribery, bulldozer, legal theft and federal aid every human activity from womb to tomb — but not including, tomb. In fact, de-human activity has been federalized via free contraceptives. So, why not national cemeteries in each state where all local politicians owned by the Great Deceit could look forward to a permanent lie-in at government expense? These cemeteries, of course, would be fully integrated. And the integration of cemeteries is a facet of life in which we have fallen far behind. I don't recall that even Ralph McGill has yet realized that separate but equal death is a national disgrace. Either these national cemeteries shall overcome, or eventually we will be faced with transporting hearseloads of bodies back and forth across town as we bring to an end the shameful second-rate death we have imposed on our Negro brethren through forcing them to use derelict cemeteries. De facto segregation must be overcome in every cemetery, furnace, limepot and gunny sack in our United Nation.

"OUT-DATED" FREEDOM The goal of the Negro leaders has never been "separate but equal." It is "together but better." The Negro goal is the same as the union leader's goal: more.

Freedom of choice — the right to be different, choosy, exclusive, and even the right to be wrong, are "out-dated" American "licenses," formerly called freedoms. In classless Russia people are forced to associate by law instead of by personal preference. Integration, like Communism, is against human nature and must be rammed down the unwilling throats of the "bigots" who still believe in the right to choose.

Who is a segregationist? Any person who opposes intermarriage of blacks and whites. In other words, virtually all white people are segregationists, in one degree or another. What is discrimination? Discrimination is what's legal unless you belong to the white, Christian majority.

WHAT IS DISCRIMINATION? Discrimination is what makes Jackie choose to have dinner with Marlon Brando. Discrimination is the dial on a TV set, the cheer for the home team. Discrimination is love and marriage. It's what makes the Kennedys vacation in Palm Beach instead of in Harlem.

Discrimination is what makes Lyndon Johnson talk out of both sides of his mouth: Discrimination is welcoming Fidel Castro, hero of the New York Times, wining and dining Killer Kenyatta, communist mau mau terrorist and recipient of our foreign aid, and receiving the criminal Khrushchev as a conquering hero and picketing patriots like Governor Wallace. Discrimination is punishing the people of California for repealing the Rumford Act. No more federal aid!

Discrimination is what makes Luci Bird decide to become a Catholic. Discrimination is Noah. He had to bring it to the Ark "of every living thing of all flesh, two of every sort. . . If he had just forced integration on the boat, we wouldn't have all this trouble now. Just think of the possibilities: A woodpecker housed with a carrier pigeon might have produced a pigeonpecker that not only would deliver a message across a continent but would knock on the door when it got there.

It is necessary if only to nullify the effective blandishments of the sorcerer who would have us yield up our assets, our bulwarks and even our substance.

Regarding (b), if your children are too young to resist influences of others and cannot show the neighbor's children that they are not interested in pornographic pictures, with strong reasons which might help them to, you are free to point out to the parent why you wish the practice stopped, warning that if it continues, his children will not be permitted to associate with yours and that you will inform other parents in the neighborhood. This form of exhibition flourishes only with an audience.

One need not think of solutions of all problems which might arise, because in a truly free society man's rights do not extend beyond another individual's boundaries, and man's natural inventiveness — not hampered by "protective" (restrictive) laws and regulations — is able to operate without limitation, so there is no telling what effective answers man might dream up.

The Nation's Press

HOW MONEY ROLLS IN

(Tulsa Tribune) It says here that President Johnson is almost embarrassed by the riches that Congress is heaping upon him.

Specifically, according to the Christian Science Monitor, the White House asked 1.5 billion dollars for its anti-poverty program; the House voted 1.9 billion. The administration turned thumbs down on a military pay raise; the House went thumbs up — an average 10.6 per cent hike for more than 2.5 million men.

President Johnson asked less than the 6 billion dollars the House wanted to give him for public housing. Then the Senate topped them both with 7.5 billion. When the two houses finally got together in conference, they outdid each other with 7.8 billion.

The original tag for Medicare and social security was about 6 billion dollars. The House upped it to 6.2 billion, and the Senate to 7.6 billion. They finally settled on 6.5 billion.

We call this a runaway Congress. It doesn't have to balance a budget, as a President (in theory) is supposed to. It figures the defeat of Barry Goldwater was a mandate from the people to outspend the biggest spender (Johnson) in White House history. So all the brakes are off.

It can be argued of course, that President Johnson doesn't have to spend all the money Congress gives him, but we wouldn't want to bet on that. Parkinson's law states that work expands to fill the time available for the bureaucrats to states that projects expand to use all of the money in sight.

And the Law of the Land now says there is more money available for the bureaucrats to spend than ever before. Balance the budget? Don't be old-fashioned.

UNUSUAL POSITION

United States, Russia Agree
On Critical World Problem

United Press International
The United States and Russia are in the unusual position of agreeing on a major issue—both are very anxious to find a way to end the war between India and Pakistan.

A principal reason for this identity of views, beyond humanitarian considerations, is that Washington and Moscow both realize that Red China stands to be the chief beneficiary of the convulsion on the Asian subcontinent.

Each deprecates this possibility, although their reasons differ. Russia, locked in a struggle with Red China for domination of international communism has watched with concern the extension of Peking's influence over Pakistan. Moscow fears that expansion of Peking's prestige will heighten Red China's support among Communist parties in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

May Tempt Peking

The United States, fighting a desperate battle against Communist-led forces in Viet Nam, fears that continued chaos on Red China's southern flank may tempt Peking to move in that direction.

U.S. officials are beginning to believe the tide in Viet Nam has turned in their favor. But any such success would be virtually nullified by a major Chinese move south, outflanking U.S. and British positions in Southeast Asia.

Red China, in addition to supporting Pakistan against what Peking calls "naked aggression" by India, also has charged New Delhi with nine invasions of her territory in the past two months.

Considered against a background of China's successful military occupation of several chunks of Indian territory in the rugged Himalayan border area in 1962, Peking's new statements have an ominous sound to U.S. officials.

Thus the bitter strife over the disputed princely state of Kashmir, which flared into fighting spanning the subcontinent, has injected new uncertainty into an already perilous situation.

Progress In Jeopardy
The United States has supplied billions of dollars in aid to India and Pakistan to keep their economies afloat since they were granted independence in 1947. Continued fighting is bound to shatter the progress made on the economic front and, presumably, require even heavier American contributions to prevent widespread suffering among the 600 million inhabitants of the vast area.

BUSINESS DOGGONE GOOD! — Mrs. David Watts is shown with two fine specimens from the Watts' breeding kennels which started with acquisition of one German Shepherd watch dog. Envisioning pups as a hobby, they were "swamped" with a litter of twelve—and calls from people wanting them.

New Venture Started
With 'Hobby' Pups

Pampa's newest business, similar to many others like it, began by accident.

Three years ago, Mr. and Mrs. David Watts, who reside south of Pampa bought a German Shepherd to use for a household watchdog.

"We decided to raise a few pups from her more or less as a hobby," Watts said.

Much to their surprise the dog's first litter totaled 12 puppies.

"Thinking we would probably have trouble selling them," he said, "we advertised them and were deluged with persons wanting the pups."

"In conversation with buyers" Watts said, we learned there was a terrific market for other breeds of dogs here also. We

STEWARDESS MEETS TEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Airline Pilots Association complained Thursday that Federal Aviation Agency inspectors lock themselves in airplane lavatories to test the ability of stewardesses to get them out.

The group cited one case in which the inspector voluntarily emerged from the lavatory when a stewardess shouted through the locked door that the pilot was coming back to open it with an axe.

A thought for the day: French author Alexandre Dumas said: "All human wisdom is summed up in two words... wait and hope."

In 1778, Benjamin Franklin was sent to France with instructions to negotiate a treaty to end the American Revolutionary War.

WATERED DOWN VERSION
JERSEVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — Wiley Johnson, plagued by recent thefts of gasoline, filled the gas tank on his farm with water.

Woodrow Goforth pleaded guilty to a theft charge Thursday. He was caught on the farm when his car stalled on water he poured into the fuel tank.

Billy Graham Has
'Busy' Recovery

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI)—Evangelist Billy Graham was recovering from "minor corrective surgery" today, but his stay in the Mayo Clinic's hospital here has not been one of rest.

Since he entered the hospital Monday night Graham has been on the telephone to Washington and other points in the United States because, as an associate put it, "Billy is greatly disturbed about the peace of the world."

One phone call, however, was to Graham. It came from President Johnson, wishing the evangelist well as he was recovering from surgery to correct a prostate gland condition. The conversation lasted about 10 minutes.

WINS HANDS DOWN

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI)—Frikkie Botha, 21, a student, claims a world record for handshaking. He said he shook hands with 9,372 persons at Pretoria Teachers Training College.

"My hand feels fine, but my feet are killing me," he said after the 12-hour stint.

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — When newsmen asked why Gov. John W. King would not hold his regular news conference this month, an aide replied: "The governor does not have any news."
