Adjournment for 89th Congress

Weather Only Threat to Toughest Spaceflight

Much Quantity, Little Quality Says GOP

By WARREN DUFFEE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson sent the Democratic-controlled 89th Congress home Saturday with praise for what it did during the first session and a list of things he wants done at the next, starting Jan. 10.

Republicans didn't see the record the way Johnson did. Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and House Leader Gerald Ford, Mich., said the session was long on quantity but short on quality.

Replying to Dirksen and Ford, Speaker John Wm. McCormack snapped:

"What else would you expect from Republicans?"

McCormack said since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt the great majority of Republicans had been against progressive legislation.

Johnson promptly started his campaign for passage of the program he wants next year when all of the House membership and one third of the Senate will be up for re-election.

One of the key items is the approval of his $30 million rent subsidy plan for low income Americans. "I am confident that Congress will cut through the propaganda of fear and mistrust to provide shelter for the families who need it now — today," the President said in a message sent to the lawmakers just before the final gavel fell.

Making New Effort
"For the time being," he said, "voices of doubt have prevailed." But he added that in January he would present the program again because the "national interest demands it."

The best Johnson could win from this session was a $450,000 grant to finance a study of the program.

Ford said he and House Democratic Whip Hale Boggs, La., talked with the Chief Executive shortly before the early morning adjournment.

He "seemed to have a summary of things he thought hadn't been done and that we would be urged to do next year," Ford told newsmen in a joint press conference with Dirksen.

As part of the President's package, Ford listed two consumer measures — the so-called "truth-in-lending" and "truth-in-packaging" bills, along with home rule for the heavily Negro District of Columbia.

On the whole, Ford said the first session "clearly demonstrated the evils of one-party dominance." It showed, he said, what can happen when the executive branch "is unchecked."

First Session "Exceptional"
Dirksen was less critical. He said he agreed with Democratic Senate Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., that the first session's work had been "exceptional." But he said it did make mistakes. At the next session, he added, the Republicans will "devote considerable attention" to correcting these mistakes.

Both Ford and Dirksen predicted GOP gains in Congress next year. Ford said the party should pick up at least 30 House seats.

Johnson came under strong attack from Ford. The GOP lawmaker characterized the President's administration as "arrogant." There is no other word to describe it, he said.

An example, he cited the Senate impasse over the nomination of Francis X. Morrissey to be a Massachusetts federal judge. The nomination failed, Ford said, because the administration tried to "bait through the

'Incredibly Productive' — Say All

By FRANK ELEAZER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans labeled it a "robber stamp" Congress. Democrats simply called it "great." But both agreed that the first session of the 89th Congress was incredibly productive.

By all estimates, the session just ended accomplished more than any in recent times, and possibly ever.

More than likely the session will be remembered most for its historic legislative breakthroughs in the fields of hospital care for the elderly, federal aid for the schools, voting rights for Negroes, and a fairer shake for prospective immigrants.

This was the Congress that enacted a Medicare plan. Starting next July 1, persons 65 and up will have major hospital and nursing home costs covered by Social Security. They can get doctor bills paid too, under an optional plan costing $3 per month.

While they were at it, the lawmakers increased monthly Social Security retirement checks by 7 per cent, retroactive to last Jan. 1, and liberalized qualifications to bring an extra 1.1 million beneficiaries onto the rolls.

Under a new education law, passed this session, up to $1 billion a year can be appropriated for schools educating 5 million children from families with incomes under $2,000 a year. Johnson's proposed "Teacher Corps," to help out where needed, also was approved but not funded.

In the area of civil rights, Congress outlawed literacy tests and provided for federal registration of Negroes in seven states with registration or voter turnout below 50 per cent.

On immigration, the lawmakers approved the first major overhaul in 40 years. They eliminated at last the long-criticized national origins quota system and put immigrants on a first-come first-served basis with a first preference for skilled workers and relatives of those already here.

Construction Worker Held for Murder

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UPI) — Patrick G. Finno, 32, a Stamford, Conn., construction worker, was held Saturday in jail here on a murder charge in the slaying of Mrs. Margot Farham, 49, formerly of Brownsville, Tex.

CAPE KENNEDY (UP) — Preparations proceeded so smoothly toward Monday's dramatic chase in space that Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford found time to watch a football game Saturday.

Last Taste Of Freedom Sip of Beer

DALLAS (UPI) — The beer foam was still on Delbert Harmon Garmon's lips when two FBI agents walked up to him in a Dallas bar.
"Stand up!" they ordered. Garmon did and a .357 Magnum revolver slid down a leg of his trousers and banged on the floor.

Thus ended on Friday a crime spree in the best tradition of Southwestern badmen — with one exception. There was a minimum of violence. Garmon kidnaped or held hostage 20 persons 18 days but he did not harm them. He treated them all politely.

Garmon feels that if the policeman hadn't shot him in the face he probably wouldn't have panicked and run in the first place," his lawyer, Cletus Schenk of Wichita Falls, Tex., said Saturday.

A new scar left by a buckshot from the policeman's shotgun is on the right side of Garmon's mouth. He got it Oct. 5, when his wife leaped into an automobile with policeman John Burkett at Wichita Falls, 140 miles northwest of Dallas.

Mrs. Garmon wanted protection; she told Burkett that her husband was threatening to kill her. While they talked in the front seat of the car, Garmon emerged from a hiding place (See LAST TASTE, Page 3)

Emergency Government Study Set

"Government in Emergency" will be the keynote topic of a conference of area county, municipal and school officials scheduled Tuesday in Pampa.

According to an announcement from C. O. Lane, state director for the Office of Defense and Disaster Relief in Austin, the meeting has been set for 6:30 to 10 p.m. in the county courtroom of the Gray County Courthouse.

The conference will cover basic community requirements for disaster planning and resources available from state and federal offices.

Several county officials from surrounding towns have been invited to attend the meeting.

Lane stated county judges, mayors, city managers, civil defense coordinators, school officials, legislators and other public officials involved in work in time of disaster are urged to attend the conference.

Speakers from Texas A&M and the department of public safety are expected to address the meeting.

TEXAS WEATHER

Autumn Sun Brings Toasty Temperatures

By United Press International
A bright Autumn sun brought toasty temperatures to all of Texas Saturday, bringing out the shirtsleeves where only days before parkas were the rule.

Temperatures soared into the 80s over almost all of the state under bright blue skies. The only clouds reported were some of the light fleecy variety that floated in over the Panhandle.

The U.S. Weather Bureau foresaw little or no change in weather conditions through Monday since a dry northerly flow of air was expected to continue through then.

Doc Severinsen Event Draws 13 Stage Bands

Thirteen stage bands from Texas high schools already have indicated they will participate in the Doc Severinsen National Stage Band Contest in Pampa on Feb. 5 of next year.

Harry Vanderpool, general chairman said Saturday the replies had come from 36 announcements sent out. Other invitations went into the mails over the weekend.

The contest will be able to accommodate 32 entries in its first year, Vanderpool said.

The annual contest in Pampa will replace the Stage Band Festival which has been sponsored by the Department of Music at West Texas State University in Canyon for the past several years. From now on it will be held in Pampa.

The change was brought about through combined efforts of the WT Music Department, the Pampa Band Boosters Club and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

John E. Green, chairman of the Department of Music at WT, has given full endorsement to the Pampa band festival and is encouraging high schools over the area to participate.

The Doc Severinsen Stage Band Contest will be set up to permit each band entry to play 20 minutes. Judges will consist of Severinsen, Urbie Green, Bobby Rosengarden, Bobby Haggart and Walt Levinski, all members of the Skitch Henderson "Tonight" show orchestra with the National Broadcasting

United Fund General Drive Starts Tuesday

Almost 200 volunteers will begin solicitations on behalf of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund following a kickoff breakfast of the general gifts division Tuesday morning in Coronado Inn.

According to division chairman Jim Morris, the general drive will be a concentrated effort in which the workers will attempt to complete calls this week. The general drive group will be headed by five majors, each of whom will lead five captains. Each captain, in turn, will be assisted by five volunteer workers.

Teams and their leaders are as follows:
No. 1 — Major: J. C. Roberts; Captains: Mrs. Georgia Mack, Bill Monroe, Walter Lane, Mrs. Adrian Foster and Ade Myers.

No. 2 — Major: Duggan Smith; Captains: Arville Hayes, Ken Womack, Lee Fraser, Bill Steger, Wayne Brown.

No. 3 — Major: Eddie Polnac; Captains: Jake Webb, Harold Comer, Jim Killian, John Warner, Mrs. Nancy Wilson.

No. 4 — Major: Cameron Marsh; Captains: Kay Fancher, Jack Miller, Bill Robertson, Jimmy Wilkerson, Ray Blumberg.

No. 5 — Major: John Brewer; Captain: Charles Beard. Co-captains Carver School area: Leslie Morgan and Jeanette Williams.

Morris said workers will receive their instructions and prospect cards at the 7 a.m. breakfast and will begin making calls immediately following the meeting.

The first check-in coffee is scheduled for 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank & Trust Co.

The theme of this year's drive to raise $77,000 for twelve participating agencies is "One Gift Works Many Wonders". Drive spokesmen urged everyone to give a fair share, not just a gift, so that the drive will be a success.

Agencies receiving support from the fund are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Milk Fund, Welfare Index, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation, Texas Assn. for Mental Health, United Service Organization, Medical Research Foundation of Texas, National Travelers Aid and United Community Fund.

Both the advance division and the special gifts division of the fund campaign are already under way and reports are expected this week.

McClellan Creek Watershed Holds Much Promise

Even though months of work and planning lie ahead, the major obstacle toward establishment of a McClellan Creek Watershed project has been hindered with the recent announcement by the Department of Agriculture that it has approved the $1 million - plus project.

The announcement culminated months of anxiety for farmers and ranchers living along McClellan Creek in Gray and Carson counties. It also promised bright news for outdoor enthusiasts.

The long sought project will consist of 8 to 12 retarding structures to be constructed along the creek that runs through Gray and Carson counties.

The watershed will cover approximately 226,000 acres, with the primary purpose being the conservation of other-wise wasted water and the prevention of flooding of farmlands adjacent to the creek bed.

The retarding structures, actually small dams, will retain water normally lost during wet seasons and release it during drought periods.

For the fishermen, benefits from the watershed will be numerous.

Oklahoma, long a popular fishing spot for Panhandle anglers, will probably lose quite a bit of its patronage since fishermen will have good spots right in their back yard.

The numerous lakes in western Oklahoma were created by similar watershed projects.

Primarily, the watershed will provide proper distribution of the water on a year-round basis.

Any actual benefits from the watershed will not be realized for at least five - years. But, the time is short for farmers who have been waiting much longer than that and have witnessed hundreds of dollars in water flowing down the creek bed, and thousands of dollars in crops ruined because of floods.

The cost of the program will be shared by the federal and state government and landowners in the two counties.

Planning, engineering surveys and securing of easements will take approximately two to three years.

Actual construction of the watershed which should get underway sometime in 1967 will take one and one half to two years.

All work will be contracted on a bid basis.

Much of the credit for the watershed goes to the farmers and ranchers who compose the Gray County and McClellan Creek Soil Conservation District.

It should be explained that a watershed project approval is not an easy thing to obtain by any means. Farmers and ranchers living within the two counties contributed almost $20,000 to be used to purchase right-of-way easements for the dams if the government would grant approval.

Had it not been for this money, the McClellan Watershed project would have been way down on the list for consideration and it could have many several years more before any action would have been taken toward granting the project.

WATERSHED NEEDED — Flood waters rampaging down the McClellan destroyed this newly constructed bridge several years ago. This is just one of the reasons farmers and ranchers in Gray and Carson counties rolled up their sleeves and went to work to secure a $1 million watershed project for the creek. The watershed will prevent flooding, provide irrigation, and recreation along the creek. The watershed project will consist of eight to 12 water flooding structures along the creek in the two counties.

Choir Entertains Kiwanis Members

Members of the Downtown Kiwanis Club were entertained at their Friday noon luncheon by the Freshman Choir of Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

Student mayor Johnny Epperson and vice mayor Joe Daniel introduced members of the group and announced the program.

The choir was under the direction of Mrs. C. L. Cross.

UNIFORMITY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billboard reports that more and more people favor one speed for all size records: 33-1-3.

A one - speed phonograph industry, according to one major discount chain buyer, would act as a shot in the arm for the classical business. It would also create a new adult market for "singles" according to the buyer, because it would bring better music to the tiny platters.

Students Sign Wire

COLLEGE STATION (UPI) — More than 2,000 Texas A&M students have signed a telegram to President Johnson supporting U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The message, which was about 60 feet long, was sent Friday to the President. There were 2,136 signatures on the petition.

Pampa Sergeant Arrives in Viet

U.S. ARMY, VIETNAM (Sp) — For the past several days combat - ready soldiers of the 1st Infantry Division have been landing in Vietnam.

One of the most recent arrivals is Sgt. Bobby L. Wallin, whose wife, Tatjana, lives at 320 N. Nelson, Pampa, Tex.

Sergeant Wallin is a section chief with the division which sent to Vietnam as a result of President Johnson's announced troop build - up there.

Wallin entered the Army in 1960 and was last stationed in Germany.

The 26-year-old soldier, son of Mr. Florence Wallin, 425 N. Dwight, Pampa, is a 1957 graduate of McLean High School. His father, Virgil A. Wallin, lives at 853 E. Locust, Pampa.

THE POWER OF A WOMAN

Card Burning Is Averted

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — never underestimate the power of a woman.

Philosophy student Roger Lette, 19, a sophomore at San Jose State College, had announced that he would burn his draft card in public Friday afternoon.

His father, Thomas Lette, Fremont, Calif., pleaded with him tersely over the loudspeaker before 3,000 spectators with the words:

"I'm going to take him home or bury him."

FBI agents were in the audience. The crowd applauded his speech giving his reasons for his actions.

But Lette still pulled out his draft card with the intention of burning it.

Then, Dorothy Ann Morris, 23, a graduate student in speech and drama, made her way to the makeshift platform, constructed of a school desk.

"Don't burn it," she said to him in an impassioned plea, ignoring the amplifying system.

"It may take more courage not to burn it (the draft card) than to burn it. These people think this is a circus. They'll forget about it tomorrow."

Lette took the mike and told the crowd he was still against war but was not presently going to burn his draft card.

Plan Being Set Up To Aid Those Hit By Military Installation Shutdowns

WASHINGTON, D. C. (SpI)—Congressman Walter Rogers said Saturday the Defense Department is drafting a plan to assist uniformed and civilian homeowners who face financial losses because their jobs are terminated at military installations ordered closed. The plan is to be completed for review by Defense Secretary McNamara by mid - November, Congressman Rogers said he was informed.

"This is good news because for weeks it appeared that the Department was doing nothing to implement Housing Act provisions aimed at giving relief to homeowners affected by base closings," Congressman Rogers said. "If the plan is a good one, it will offer extremely important help to residents of Amarillo and other U. S. cities near military installations being closed."

Congressman Rogers also expressed hope that Congress would move swiftly in the session beginning in January to provide funds for Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration programs to assist distressed homeowners in areas near affected bases. Congressional action completed last week failed to appropriate a proposed $1 million — $500,000 for each agency — with which mortgage relief could be offered under provisions of the new housing act.

"The problem was simply this; the appropriations committees were erroneously led to believe that no one in the vicinity of these closing bases wished to apply for the relief authorized in the new housing law enacted in August," Congressman Rogers said. "No one had applied because the FHA and VA had not outlined the application procedures — and they had not done so because they were waiting for an appropriation to begin the program. It was a tragic round-robin of misunderstanding and poor communication."

The Congressman said he was encouraging homeowners in the Amarillo area to prepare "informal applications" which he behind a row of grease barrels and put the muzzle of a .22-caliber pistol against Burkett's head.

He made Burkett surrender his pistol — the same .357 Magnum Garmon had Saturday when he was seized. But he made a mistake: he failed to take Burkett's shotgun from the car.

As Garmon leaped a fence to run down an alley, he took two shots at Burkett. Burkett blasted away with the shotgun. Garmon fired two or three more shots as he scrambled down the alley.

Burkett had shot out the tires of Garmon's automobile.

A bomb disposal detachment from Ft. Sheridan, Ill., checked dolls sent to Milwaukee, Wis., by soldiers serving in Viet Nam to see if they might be booby trapped.

Members of the squad picked up five dolls and took them back to Ft. Sheridan for testing.

Authorities there have already checked at least three dolls and found none contained explosives.

Car Parts Thefts Mark Weekend

A stolen tire and wheel and theft of a pair of fender skirts constituted the majority of police activity in Pampa over the weekend.

Jim Leverich, 1824 Christine, reported to police that someone stole a new tire and wheel from his car while it was parked in his garage. Leverich said the tire was taken sometime during the past three days.

M. O. Fuller, 108 S. Sumner, told police someone stole the fender skirts from his automobile sometime during the past week or two.

There seems to be some confusion as to the requirements of farmers on weight and speed limits of various types of farm vehicles. An operator license is required on all vehicles with a one ton or less manufacturer's certificate. The speed limit is 65 miles — 70 days — the same as an automobile. All drivers of vehicles bearing more than a one ton manufacturer's certificate must have both an operator and a commercial chauffeur license. Speed limit on vehicles with over one ton manufacturer's certificate is 55 miles and 60 day.

Many people don't realize that a full stop must be made when a school bus stops to pick up children. This is required whether you are traveling in the same or opposite direction with the school bus. After you have made a full stop, you may proceed at a speed not to exceed 10 miles per hour with extreme caution.

Recently I noted large signs on the rear of Wheeler County buses so advising the public of the above. We offer this as a suggestion. Most people want to be within the law. We hope this might help some of you to avoid giving your autograph to the Highway Patrol.

Several people have called to ask when diverted acres can be grazed. November 1 is the date. Robert Saylor says he wouldn't be able to cut that 25 bushel per acre wheat crop that I was predicting for 1966. Seems he has forgotten how to set the combine for 25-30 bushel crop. He can set it for 7,000 pound irrigated milo and a six-bushel per acre dryland wheat crop.

Mrs. Bert McKee and a committee of folks from the Alameda Community Improvement Program are working on the establishment of a park in Alameda. They have some exceptionally nice trees and a nice start. Much work will need to be done in cleaning out undesirable plants, leveling down terrain and a general clean-up. It is good to see communities carry out projects such as these on a self-help program.

Lamon Stovall is quite concerned about a number of plants in his milo that have roots similar to Johnson grass. These are plants that were seeded in his milo this spring. Top growth has a sorghum aluminum appearance. It is much taller and more coarse than Johnson grass. These plants are the result of the development of hybrid milo. In this process Johnson grass pollen can move by wind several hundred feet and pollinate a few plants of the male sterile milo plants that are in the seed producing rows. These seed attempt to go back to Johnson grass. This was of serious concern in the early days of hybrid milo. These plants are pretty well knocked out by cold weather each year. They have not given much trouble in the past. Bill Stockstill had a very bad field two years ago that did not give any trouble the second year.

Bulls Out-Gain Steers During Beeville Test

In an experiment designed by Texas A&M University to compare feedlot performance and carcass characteristics of young bulls and young steers, the bulls out-gained the steers and required less feed per pound of gain.

The study was conducted at Texas A&M University's coastal Bend Experiment Station, Beeville. Bulls have long been recognized as being more efficient than steers or heifers in converting feed to meat. But bull meat has received price discrimination, dating back to when cattle were sold at more mature ages. From this, bull meat has gained the reputation of being tough, stringy and dry.

Bill Conrad, in charge of the Beeville study, said 10 good quality Hereford steers and 8 Hereford bulls of similar breeding, age and weight were used. The calves were from the same herd and handled identically from birth to slaughter.

The calves were fed for 122 days on a ration using ground grain sorghum and cottonseed meal as concentrates. Cottonseed hulls provided the roughage.

Salt water pollution of the fresh water formation in parts of the Texas Panhandle is still posing as a danger that should not be overlooked by some of the oil and gas producers.

This week the Water Conservation District received a report on three water samples that had been taken from unlined salt water pits in Gray County. The analysis on sample number I showed the sodium chloride content to be 40,965 parts per million. Sample Number II showed the sodium chloride content to be 7,605 parts per million. Sample Number III showed the sodium chloride content to be 12,985 parts per million. In man on the street language, sodium chloride is salt. All three of these pits have had a sizable quantity of brine in them for a period of time. All three of the pits have also been partially covered with an oil slick in excess of 30,000,000 people by the year 2020. Our water planners in Austin estimate that approximately 12,000,000 acre feet of pits. This would indicate that a large portion of the brine is percolating downward.

It is estimated that Texas will have a population of more than 30,000,000 people by the year 2020. Our water planners in Austin estimate that approximately 12,000,000 acre feet of water will be needed by that time to supply the needs of municipal and industrial users. These figures compare favorably with studies carried on by the U. S. Study Commission.

The Texas Water Development Board is busy at the present time in breaking down the forecasts of population and water needs into areas and basins. It can be assumed that in the near future, figures will be released on the total water needs and population estimates of the Texas Panhandle by the year 2020.

The water quality aspects of planning, coupled with the new Federal Water Pollution law is consuming a great deal of time for the advisory panel in its efforts to interpret the Muskie-Blatnik Act. There are some parts of the act that are not clear — which is typical of most Federal Legislation which does not spell out in detail the scope and items it was intended to cover when being written. The Water Pollution Control Board must reach a conclusion as to which streams it applies. The present thinking is that it will apply to all streams which reach or flow into streams that reach the Gulf of Mexico. Since the supervision of the Federal law will be under the direction of a new Health, Education and Welfare Assistant Secretary, the men doing the planning for Texas will also need to know his thinking on this.

New Rural Assistance Bill Quickly Initiated

Within one hour after President Johnson on October 7 signed a bill expanding financial assistance to rural communities and family farms, the U. S. Department of Agriculture had put the new program into operation, according to word received by Claude Moore, Farmers Home Administration County supervisor at Clarendon.

By close of business October 8, loan checks totaling $16.5 million had been dispatched to more than 1,000 family farmers and rural communities, Moore said.

The new legislation raised from $200 to $450 million the authorized amount USDA's Farmers Home Administration can insure annually for farm purchase and development, and rural community facilities. The act also increased from $25 to $50 million the amount of loans the agency can make and hold at any one time prior to selling the notes to private investors. It was this fund the Farmers Home Administration drew upon to speed the flow of funds to disadvantaged rural areas. Sales out of the fund to private investors under new provisions in the Act began October 11 with a $1 million purchase by Astronauts To Play Tag at 17,280 M.P.H.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You might think that two craft trying to link up while hurtling at 17,280 miles an hour in space would run some risk of colliding catastrophically.

Astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P.M. Stafford will attempt such a linkup 185 miles above the earth next week between their Gemini 6 spacecraft and a pilotless Agena rocket.

How dangerous is their mission?

According to space experts it is just as dangerous as any other space flight but no more so. In the final moments before they dock, spacecraft and rocket will be flying in the same direction in the same orbit. Although both are rushing along at more than 17,000 miles an hour, their speed in relation to each other will be practically zero. It will be as though each is standing still.

To get together at all it will be necessary for the Gemini 6

If all final maneuverings failed, Gemini would start falling away from Agena's orbit the moment it got there, and the two craft would miss each other by miles.

In fact, that is the big danger—a miss, and failure of the mission.

Dr. George E. Mueller, associate administrator for manned space flight of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), likens the docking operation to parking a car behind another already at the curb.

You might, if you goofed, bang into the car ahead. But if you had your wits about you, you would do no more than touch its back bumper. Schirra and Stafford, Mueller is convinced, have their wits about them.

To understand all there is to understand about space rendezvous and docking, you have to be a skilled mathematician and an expert in "celestial mechanics." Celestial mechanics is the study of objects in motion in space.

Once you throw anything into orbit around the earth, gravity takes charge and dictates the shape of the orbital path and its slant in respect to the Equator. With on board rockets you can change orbital altitudes and even the orbital plane, i.e. its inclination to the Equator.

Changes Use Fuel

But such changes are costly in terms of rocket fuel, for which there is not much space aboard craft as cramped as the Gemini.

So the trick is to launch your target, in this case the Agena, and your spacecraft at precisely those moments when celestial mechanics will perform most of the catch-up work.

Ideally, the Agena would be put into a circular orbit 185 miles above the earth. Just one hour and 41 minutes later, as Agena is passing overhead after one revolution, you launch the Gemini pursuit craft into an orbit lower and inside Agena's, ranging in altitude from 100 to 168 miles.

Otherwise, you foul things up and make it necessary to perform a lot of orbital changes with your little rocket thrusters aboard both crafts. A delay of 100 seconds in Gemini's liftoff would delay rendezvous with Agena by one orbit—and so on.

Assume an ideal pair of launchings. When Gemini goes up it is lagging 1,196 miles behind Agena. But because it is whirling closer to earth, it completes a revolution in less time and so is constantly closing the gap. If all goes as planned you will bridge the original 1,196-mile separation after a space chase in orbit of nearly 90,000 miles.

An ideal launch would put Gemini in precisely the same plane, or tilt to the equator, as Agena's orbit. Since space launches are never ideal, a number of corrections are called for.

HOW IT'S DONE — Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., command pilot for the Gemini-6 flight scheduled for launching Monday, brings his fingers together to demonstrate the planned docking maneuver with an orbiting Agena in space.

pilots to nudge their craft a bit, with brief bursts from on board rockets, to make it stick its nose into the Agena's special docking cone.

Just before these final maneuvers, the two vehicles will be closing the distance between them at the rate of about 30 miles an hour. If they should hit at that speed, the result would be disastrous.

Collision Unlikely

But space engineers say the odds against such a collision are astronomical, making it for all practical purposes impossible.

It will take a lot of doing, in fact, to bring Gemini and Agena on collision course by which time they will be in the same orbit and practically motionless with respect to each other.

MODERN GAS COOKING IS SO EASY CLEAN COOL DEPENDABLE

A modern Gas range can do anything any range can do... and a lot more, too.

Gas Makes The Big Difference, Costs Less, Too.

Pioneer Natural Gas Company

Target Elusive

In any case, it is impossible to catch your target simply by aiming your craft at it and firing your rockets.

This is no straightaway track. Step on the gas, and you immediately rose to a higher orbit where your speed becomes less than it was before, and the distance between you and the target increases.

So actually to catch up with Agena, Gemini must go through several maneuvers to put it in a position finally to drive straight to its destination. One of the most important, in the third revolution, will be to put Gemini in a circular orbit "co-elliptical" with Agena's but 17 miles lower.

At this time Gemini will be 161 miles behind Agena and its radar will have locked on to the target.

The radar's findings about distance and relative speed give Gemini's little computer the data it needs to tell command pilot Schirra how long to fire what thrusters—in what directions to narrow the gap further.

Then, about five hours after Gemini liftoff, begins the all-transferring, or raising, Gemini to the 185-mile altitude of Agena's path around the earth. When this maneuver begins, the slant distance between pursuer and pursued is 39 miles, aided by only 17 miles.

Two Craft Near

After 32 minutes and 20 seconds, Gemini has bridged this distance. It has curved upward to a point 185 miles high and just ahead of the oncoming Agena. At this moment in time and space, Gemini's speed having slowed in the process of gaining altitude, Agena will be closing in on it at 30 miles an hour.

This is the most critical juncture of the entire flight. To match speed with Agena and place itself in Agena's orbit, Gemini must now drive itself forward into a circular path exactly the same as the target's. Otherwise, the spacecraft will curve down again and the rendezvous chance will be lost.

So far, the radar and computer combination have told Gemini 6 just what to do with its maneuvering rockets. Now, late in the fourth revolution, Schirra must depend largely on his eyes, aided only by an Agena light flashing against the backdrop of the night sky.

Although Gemini must speed up when it hits 185 miles in altitude, in order to slip into Agena's orbit, the effect is like applying a brake, inasmuch as it cuts down the velocity at which the two craft are coming together.

This speed is reduced from about 30 miles an hour to less than one mile an hour. And when the spacecraft and target rocket are a few hundred feet apart, both having passed from dark into daylight, the delicate coupling maneuver begins.

New Mexico State Spoils Buffs Homecoming, 10-2

By RON CROSS
News Sports Editor
CANYON (Sp) — Tear drops flooded Buffalo Bowl Saturday afternoon as some 17,000 homecoming fans watched West Texas' State's feared offense sputter and die out as New Mexico State wrecked the Buffs, 10-2. The loss ended a five game winning streak by the Buffaloes and New Mexico's 'Ugly Four' made the big difference by putting pressure on West Texas' quarterback Hank Washington, who had his most miserable afternoon in the air, hitting only 12 of 30 for 99 yards. It was the pass that brought New Mexico State its victory, one of West Texas'. The Buffs trailed 3-2 and

Washington uncorked a desperation pass with 87 seconds remaining but halfback Tommy Feezel intercepted for the Aggies and ran it back 50 yards for a touchdown. West Texas jumped off to a quick 2-0 lead in the first period when Aggie center Jim Rodich's snap on fourth down sailed over the punters head and out of the end zone where the Buffs fell on the ball. Time after time the Aggies 'Ugly Four', their two guards and tackles, stopped the Buffs and put so much pressure on Washington the lanky quarterback was thrown for losses or had to hurry his throw. The Aggies held West Texas to only 23 yards on the ground.

New Mexico State picked up 188 air yards on the throwing of Sal Olivias and Jim Bohl but a couple of intercepted passes and a lost fumble stalled the Aggies short of the goal line three times. The Buffs Butch Walterschied pounced on a fumble and twice knocked the ball lose from Aggie carriers, so fierce was his tackling. New Mexico State trailed 2-0 going into the third period when kicking specialist Al Gonzales booted a 23-yard field goal. West Texas' Ronnie Mankin missed a 50-yard effort and Gonzales missed a 40-yard try. The Aggies top receiver was Gus Menefee who gathered in four passes for 66 yards and Mike Williams who caught three passes for 82 yards. Halfback Bohl led the Aggies in rushing with 64 yards on 14 carries for a 4.6 per carry average. Johnson picked up 66 yards on 17 carries for a 3.9 per carry average. West Texas receiving was split pretty evenly with Wheeler grabbing five for 36 yards, Dennis four for 39 and Armentrout, three for 24 yards. The Buffs didn't have much in the way of rushing with Dennis gaining 26 yards on eight carries for a 3.25 average and Deady carrying seven times for 20 yards and a 2.9 per carry average.

Top Ranked Nebraska Topples Colorado From Unbeaten List

GOOD GAIN — Plainview's Steve Mason (25) picked up 11 yards on this play Friday night before slipping and being hit by the Harvesters Billy Stokes (86). Coming up to help Stokes are David Martindale, left, and Terry Troxel (88). No. 57 on the ground for Pampa is Doc Cornutt. (See story, other pictures, pages 10-11).

Huskers Build Lead To 31-6 at Halftime

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Top ranked Nebraska's amazing offense, directed by spunky Fred Duda, overwhelmed Colorado 35-13 Saturday to topple the Buffaloes from the unbeaten elite.

It was the sixth consecutive for the cornhuskers this season and their third in the Big Eight Conference. Colorado is now 3-1-2 overall. The lopsided contest, played before a sellout homecoming crowd of 54,110 including Sugar and Orange Bowl officials, was never in doubt once the Nebraska offensive power began to show midway through the first quarter.

So keyed up was the Nebraska scoring machine that it clicked off four touchdowns, four conversions and one field goal in the first half. The score at intermission was 31-6. Another tally and conversion in the fourth period rounded out Husker scoring. Duda, a 5-10, 185-pound Chicago senior, led the way of passing for two touchdowns and running for another.

He teamed with All-America candidate Freeman White, a 6-5 end, to set a Nebraska touchdown pass receiving record, a 95-yard strike. White also bustled the school's single season and career pass catching standards. The Cornhuskers, who went into the game as the top offensive club in the nation, rolled up more than 350 yards in demolishing the vaunted Colorado defense which had been the 10th best in the land.

Nebraska drew its first blood with less than three minutes gone in the game when little Larry Wachholtz booted a 35-yard field goal. It was set up by a Buff fumble of a punt. Three and one-half minutes later Nebraska took a 10-0 lead on a one-yard plunge by halfback Harry Wilson and a Wachholtz conversion, the first of five straight for the day. Colorado's Frank Rogers counted two Buffalo scores with a pair of field goals, one for 34 yards and the other for 36. The only Colorado touchdown came in the fourth quarter when halfback Larry Plantz ran over from the seven, with Rogers converting.

Razorbacks Outclass North Texas, 55-0

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas' mighty Razorbacks scored two touchdowns in every quarter Saturday night to pulverize an outclassed North Texas State team 55-0.

Tailback Bobby Burnett scored three times and wingback Jim Lindsey scored twice as the second ranked Razorbacks ran their winning streak to 18 games, the longest in the nation.

The game was marred by an injury to Harry Jones, Arkansas' lightning fast alternate wingback, who was carried from the field early in the fourth quarter. He was taken to a hospital for X-rays and his condition was undetermined.

Jones had electrified a crowd of 35,000 with an 83-yard touchdown run in the first half. He finished with 126 yards in six carries. Burnett's touchdowns were on runs of one, 11 and two yards. He also set up the first touchdown with a 56-yard sprint to the two. Quarterback Jon Brit-tum sneaked over from the one. Lindsey scored on runs of 10 and 15 yards in the third quarter. North Texas State, coming into the game with a 1-4 record, scared the undefeated Razorbacks with two touchdowns early in the second quarter that brought the score to 14-13. After Britnum's sneak and Jones' long run for Arkansas touchdowns, North Texas quarterback Vidal Carlin passed seven yards to James Bower for one score and speedy John Love returned a punt 67 yards for another touchdown.

Rice Upsets Texas, 20-17

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Giant killer Rice University, in a strong second half surge, swept from a two-touchdown deficit Saturday night to stun sixth-ranked University of Texas 20-17.

The winning margin came on a 33-yard field goal by Richard Parker with only 43 seconds left in the game after Rice's Robert Hailey had intercepted a Texas desperation pass ran it back to the Texas 19 with just over two minutes left on the clock. After three running plays and a pair of penalties, Rice wound up with the ball on the Texas 17 and a fourth down. Parker then came in to put the ball through the uprights in a perfect kick for the winning margin. Rice kicked for the winning margin.

Texas, which had suffered its first loss of the season to Arkansas last week 27-24, sputtered at the start, going nearly the entire first quarter before making a first down. The Owls, whose only previous win of the season was at the expense of Louisiana Tech, got on the score board first just before the end of the first period on a 34-yard field goal by Parker.

Texas finally went to work in the second period, scoring twice on a one-yard run by tailback Robert Leach and a six-yard pass from quarterback Marvin Kristynik to Ragan Gennusa. The latter came with only 13 seconds left in the half. Texas punted ahead 17-3 in the third period on a 33-yard field goal by David Conway,

Tech Wins Another Close One, 26-24

DALLAS (UPI) — Tom Wilson's pinpoint passing and clutch receiving by Donny Anderson and Jeff White teamed with Kenneth Gill's two field goals carried Texas Tech to a thrill-a-minute 26-24 Southwest Conference victory over Southern Methodist Saturday night.

But Tech — which has made a habit of pulling victory chestnuts from the fire in the final minute — reversed the order of things and packed most of its offensive thrills into a fumble and penalty filled first half in which it fashioned a 19-17 lead it almost but never quite lost. Tech now boasts a 3-1 league record and SMU 1-1.

Wilson threw 18 and 3 yard touchdown passes to Anderson and White. Anderson kicked in a 7-yard scoring sortie on one of the few times he was able to break away from a clutching SMU defense and Gill kicked 26 and 34 yard field goals.

SMU carried the battle to the bitter end before a crowd of 40,000 and pulled within two points with 92 seconds left, but the difference had come in the fading moments of the first half when Dennis Partee's field goal try from the 30 yard line hit the goal posts and fell dead. SMU quarterback Mac White had pitched and run the Mustangs to two first half touchdowns, both of which he scored himself from 14 and 2 yards out, and helped move the ball into position for Partee to kick a 29 yard field goal. Then in the last quarter he again passed SMU 75 yards against the clock and capped it with a 19 yard scoring pass to John Roderick. Gill's first field goal came only 80 seconds after the opening kickoff when Tech recovered an SMU fumble and set the tenor of the game. Wilson completed 21 of 54 passes for 195 yards and Tech needed every bit of it. The Raiders could manage but 54 yards on the ground. SMU pined up 421 yards total offense, but penalties, fumbles and the missed field goal told the difference. White hit 10 of 17 passes for 203 yards.

Minnesota Stors Michigan by, 14-13

—Husky quarterback John Hankinson plunged one foot for a touchdown in the last quarter Saturday to give Minnesota a 14-13 victory over Michigan and a perfect 3-0 record in the Big Ten football race.

Minnesota won the battle for the Little Brown Jug by going ahead 14-7 with seven minutes to go and then foiling the Big Ten defending champs' pass for a two-point conversion after a touchdown with 90 seconds left to play.

A Minnesota homecoming crowd of 58,519 saw Michigan take a 7-0 lead in the first half and the Gophers fight back to even it up at 7-7 in the 3rd period and squeak to victory in the closing minutes.

Five minutes later Latourette scored for Rice again from the seven and Parker's kick tied it at 17-17. Texas, trying to fight back to go ahead again, saw Hailey's interception with just over two minutes left in short order Parker's kick made the difference.

The loss was only the third in the last 29 games for Texas, and the first time since 1960 that the Longhorns have lost two Southwest Conference games in one season. Texas 0 14 3 0-17 Rice 3 0 7 10-20

IRISH AVENGE LAST YEAR'S LOSS Notre Dame Wallops Southern Cal, 28-7

SOUTHBEND, IND (UPI) — Fullback Larry Conjar tied a modern Notre Dame record with four touchdowns Saturday to lead the aroused Fighting Irish to a one-sided 28-7 victory over Southern California.

The Trojans were the only team to defeat Notre Dame last year. They did it on a touchdown with 93 seconds left in the last game of the season. The Irish fans didn't let their team forget that loss Saturday spurring them on constantly with shouts of "Remember. Remember."

no such urging. They scored the first three times they had the ball. The Irish defense was such that Mike Garrett, Southern California's hirlly toued halfback boomed for the Heikman Trophy, gained only seven yards, in his first nine carries. Notre Dame went 45 yards, 47 yards and 69 yards on touchdown parades with Conjar plunging over twice from the 2 and once from the 1. The only time Notre Dame failed to score when it had the ball in the first half was when a penalty ruined a threatened drive and a field goal try failed.

Conjar blasted over from the 1 on Notre Dame's first series in the second half and thereafter the Irish played with less intensity. Conjar's touchdowns tied the record set by Bob Kelly against Pittsburgh in 1944 and matched by Neil Worden against Indiana in 1951 and Johnny Lattner against USC in 1953.

The defeat undoubtedly dropped USC from its lofty tie for fourth place in last week's national ratings. It was the first loss of the season for Southern California after four wins and one tie. It was Notre Dame's fourth win five games. The Trojans' score came on an 8-yard pass from Troy Winslow to John Thomas, winding up a 76-yard march in which Winslow hit on three passes for 52 yards late in the game. Garrett made only four yards on the drive and finished the game with 43 yards on 16 carries. It was the second worst performance in Garrett's career, comparable to his low of 37 yards against California last year. This season Garrett had averaged 170.4 yards per game and his low was 146 yards in the opener.

LSU Swamps South Carolina

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Ninth-ranked Louisiana State came to life in the second half Saturday night behind scrambling Nelson Stokley to swat down a stubborn South Carolina that refused to play the underdog role, 21-7.

LSU, usually an explosive team, looked listless throughout the first half and found the going rough against South Carolina's monstrous interior linemen and moved across midfield but once in the first half.

At that, LSU managed the only score of the first half on a nine-play 54-yard drive, set up by Scott Townsend's 11-yard punt for South Carolina. South Carolina picked up its only touchdown when Roy Don Reeves blocked Gerald Brown's punt deep in LSU territory and Doug Senter picked up the ball and raced 15 yards to the end zone.

Casper Survives Penalty to Win Sahara Golf Meet

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Casper survived a two-stroke penalty Saturday to win the Sahara Invitational Golf tournament with a sparkling under par score of 269 for 18 holes.

Despite the penalty for standing too long over a putt that was hanging on the lip of the hole, the slimmed-down pro from Peacock Gap, Calif., fired closing 69, two under par for sun-baked, 7,069-yard, par-72 Sahara Valley Country club course. His four rounds were 66-66-68-69—269.

The victory, his fourth on the year's PGA tour, boosted his official earnings for 1965 to $771.90 and put him in reach of joining Arnold Palmer, Jack Klauas and Tony Lama in the exclusive $100,000-a-year club. He planned to play in the Madison Open at San Jose, Calif., next week and in the Hawaiian Open before the year ends.

Playing with Australian Bruce Crampton and Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., Casper chipped his third shot on the par four ninth hole to within three feet of the cup. But his putt was too firm. It hit the back of the cup, spun out and hung on the lip.

Ball Finally Drops
Casper surveyed it anxiously, daily stood over the ball and saved his putter a few times, when the ball dropped in the hole.

All three professionals sought ruling from tournament supervisor Steve Shabala. He finally held that Casper had violated Rule 35.1H which says that a player is allowed "not more than a few seconds" to determine whether a ball hanging on the edge of the cup is in or out.

Casper contended the ball was moving all the time but he conceded that he had waited at least half a minute to determine whether the ball would drop.

With the penalty, Casper's point nine of one-over-par 37 left him only one stroke ahead of young Randy Glover of Florence, S.C., who trailed Casper three shots going into the final round but posted a one-under 35 on the front nine. But Casper, obviously fired by the dispute, promptly redied the 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th holes to pull away from Glover in this $111,111.11 tournament.

The race for second money of $2,000 was as hot as the 90-degree temperatures.

Martindale Second At 272
Billy Martindale of Jacksboro, Tex., way back in the pack at the start of the final round, fired a fabulous eight-under-par 63 to finish at 272 and beat out Bobby Nichols of Midland, Tex., Doug Sanders of Palmdale, Calif., and the broad-shouldered Glover for the runner-up spot.

Nichols closed with a 66 for 73 and held down third place while Glover shot a last-round 64 for 274 and a tie for fourth with the colorful Sanders. The 31-year-old professional had 65 on his last round.

OU Routs Kansas State, 27-0

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — Oklahoma exploded for three first half touchdowns on its lethal running attack and rode to a 27-0 Big Eight rout over winless Kansas State Saturday.

The victory boosted the resurgent Sooners to 2-0 in the conference, a half game behind co-leaders Nebraska and Missouri. Fullback Larry Brown scored twice on short plunges, but it was Rod Crosswhite, an elusive 5-foot-10, 179-pound junior, who scampered 62 yards with a punt return to give Oklahoma its first touchdown midway through the first period.

Sophomore Gene Cagle, who got his first start at quarterback last week and engineered the Sooners to a 21-7 victory over Kansas, directed scoring drives of 65 and 58 yards in the second quarter.

The Wildcats penetrated Sooners territory only four times, the deepest to the Oklahoma 16 when the game ended. Power running by Cagle and Brown and halfbacks Tommy Pannell and Ben Hart propelled the Sooners first half outburst.

But penalties and a comedy of fumbles plagued Oklahoma in the second half before linebacker Don Kindley's pass interception at the Wildcat 48 set up Oklahoma's final score in the final period.

Cagle again took charge, setting up the tally with a 19-yard dash on a third down play to the K-State 9. Brown got the final two yards, two plays later. Oklahoma marched 65 yards in 10 plays early in the second quarter for the second touchdown. Brown bolted 21 yards to the K-State 15 and Cagle zig-zagged 12 yards for the touchdown two plays later.

Oklahoma drove 58 yards for its final score of the half late in the period. Hart broke loose for a 42-yard run around right end to give the Sooners a first down at the Wildcat 15. But a holding penalty on the following play pushed the Sooners back to the 24.

Alabama Rambles By Florida State

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Slashing halfback Leslie Kelley scored two touchdowns and sophomore Bobby Johns made three crucial interceptions Saturday to lead defending national champion Alabama to a 21-0 victory over Florida State.

It was Kelley's bone-crushing block on a 43-yard run by fullback Steve Bowman that set up Alabama's first touchdown late in the first period. The Cullman, Ala., speedster carried over from the seven on the next play.

Kelley dove over from three yards out for the final touchdown midway through the fourth quarter after sophomore quarterback Ken Stabler had reeled off a 28-yard run on a fake field goal on a fourth down play.

In between, in the second period, starting quarterback Steve Sloan scored a touchdown on a three-yard run after completing two passes totaling 58 yards to end Tommy Tolson.

A homecoming crowd of 43,000 watched in delight as Alabama completely dominated a Seminoles team that upset nationally ranked Georgia last week.

Alabama after a disappointing 7-7 tie with Tennessee last week, brought its season record to 4-1-1. The loss was Florida State's third in five outings.

Sloan, who sat out the second half, led Alabama 81 yards in 10 plays for that second touchdown.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, noted for his conservative style, used two razzle-dazzle plays as the Crimson Tide went 65 yards in 11 plays for the third touchdown.

With a fourth and one situation late in the final period Bryant sent in his field goal team. Stabler, who was holding for kicker David Ray, shocked FSU by running 28 yards to the three behind a wall of blockers. Kelley dove across for the final tally.

Buckeyes Swarm Past Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Alert Ohio State, paced by Will Sanders' two touchdowns and a pair of field goals by Bob Funk, bounced back from last week's loss to Michigan State to hand Wisconsin its first Big Ten defeat Saturday, 20-10.

The Buckeyes scored after each of three fumble recoveries and drove 85 yards for a fourth tally to continue a long-standing jinx over the Badgers. It was the sixth consecutive win for Coach Woody Hayes over Wisconsin and the Badgers have beaten Ohio State eleven just once in the last 18 years.

Clemson Defense Stops Froggies, 3-0

CLEMSON, S.C. (UPI) — Clemson used a fierce defense and a 27-yard field goal by Frank Pearce to gain a 3-0 victory Saturday over a Texas Christian team which never threatened to score.

Pearce, a kicking specialist who spends his free time writing poetry, put the ball neatly through the uprights with eight seconds remaining in the first half for the score which held up for a victory for a homecoming crowd of 33,000.

It was the second straight Clemson victory scored on the combination of a potent defense and a Pearce kick. Last week the Cheraw, S.C. senior booted a 32-yard field goal to beat Duke 3-2.

Clemson's defense and Frank Barfield's punting kept TCU a 3-point underdog at bay throughout the game. The Horned Frogs managed only two first downs. They never got past the Tiger 45 during the first three periods.

The Tigers drove 60 yards on 12 plays to the TCU nine to set up Pearce's winning kick. Ray and Addison made up most of the distance on passes.

In the fourth quarter the Texans got the ball on the Clemson 27—their best opportunity of the day—but could get only one yard.

Bruce Alford then attempted a 42-yard field goal that would have tied the game for the Southwest conference visitors.

But sophomore end Butch Savage, who was savage on defense the entire game, broke through to block it for Clemson. Clemson, the Atlantic Coast Conference leader, nearly came up with a touchdown in the third period. The Tigers moved

70 yards, mainly on the running of halfback Hugh Mauldin, but the drive was stopped at the TCU one yard line when Horned-linebacker Bobby Nelson hit Clemson tailback Charles Hook who fumbled.

TCU tackle Ronnie Nixon recovered the fumble, his second of the day.

TCU managed a total of 72 yards offense. Clemson came up with 302.

Quarterbacks Tommy Ray and Jimmy Addison hit on eight of 18 passes for 100 yards.

Clemson's defense was led by Sursavage, linebackers Joe Waldrap and Bill Hecht and end Joey Branton. Another standout was linebacker Bruce McClure, who played although his mother died Friday at Charlotte, N.C.

McClure, who felt his mother would have wanted him to play, was given the game ball after the contest.

Michigan State Pulls Out 14-10 Victory Over Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Mighty Michigan State, virtually stopped cold for three periods, broke loose for two touchdowns in the final 10 minutes Saturday to edge Purdue, 14-10, for its sixth consecutive victory and a giant step toward the Big Ten football crown.

It was the fourth conference victory for the third-rated Spartans, and considered the key game in their drive for the conference crown and the Rose Bowl bid.

But Duffy daughterly's club was forced to roar from behind in the final period, with halfback Clinton Jones smashing over from the 8-yard line for the winning touchdown with less than five minutes to go.

Michigan State, winning its fourth Big Ten game, was in the hole 10-0 before a record crowd of 62,113 when it started to move. Its first drive carried 50 yards with Bob Apisa plunging over from the 1. Steve Juday passed to Jones for a two-point conversion and only two points separated these two powerhouses.

Two minutes later, Michigan State was marching again, this time only 39 yards. A 15-yard personal fumble penalty helped the drive along and Jones, who gained a total of 96 yards, run the winning touchdown over.

Rambling With Red

RON CROSS

Harvester basketball coach Terry Culley has begun his sixth year as head taskmaster and despite having only three lettermen and one starter back for the 1965-66 season Culley is not the least bit despondent.

"If our boys can improve as much this year as the group we had last year did, then we could have a pretty good ball club," Culley allowed.

One Starter Back

The Harvesters started two-a-day workouts Oct. 15 and Culley welcomed back 6'5 senior David Cain, 6'3 Kenneth McWilliams and 6'3 Mike Wise.

McWilliams, whom Culley calls a good all-around player, is the only starter back from the 1961-63 club that finished 26-5 and made it all the way to the regionals before losing to El Paso.

Cain, by the way, is a center who averaged about four points a game last year, McWilliams can play either guard or forward who averaged 12.0 points a game and Wise is a forward who was in the three to four point a game category.

"Of course it is a little early to tell just how we look," Culley said, "we are short on experience even though some of our boys played a little last year."

"We lost both starting guards (Lanny Lewis and Ron Curlee), our starting center (Kerry Roper) and one of our forwards (David McDaniel) to graduation."

"How well we do depends on how our kids come around in pre-season play and what kind of shape we are in when district action opens Dec. 10."

The Harvesters open the season Nov. 20 when they host Dumas in varsity and B team competition and play Denton twice, Perryton, then Dumas before entering tournament competition at Plainview and Phillips. Then they play the new 3-A school, Lubbock Coronado, in a non-league game before opening conference action against Lubbock.

"I know that we have a good bunch of kids this year and if they can just come around and improve every game we'll surprise a few people," the coach said.

Culley figured as how guard would be the Harvester's weak spot until Doug Altom, a 5'11 senior and Gary Crossland, a 5'9 senior can pick up a little experience.

Running Type Game

Too, Culley can move McWilliams to guard and play 6'3 1/2 David Frasher, a senior at a forward spot.

Frasher, according to Culley, could possibly have been a starter last year had it not been for a leg injury.

Crossland, Altom and Frasher were all three squad members last year and did see game action.

Other squad members back are Steve Williams, a 6'1 guard and a junior; forward Bill Turner, a 6'1 senior and 6'3 Morris Johnson, a center senior.

Up from last year's B team are Lynn Heller, 6'0 senior guard and forward Robert Karr, a 6'2 junior.

Culley coaches the running type game and uses a man-to-man defense, something that Pampa fans have enjoyed for a long time.

Something new has been added to the Harvesters ankles, in one pound weights. This, according to Culley helps in the way of jumping and makes squad members feel light-footed when they get on the basketball court. During practice sessions players wear weighted shoes, that they discard for regular tennis shoes for a game. One thing Pampa fans are almost assured of and that is not having a losing season.

In his five years here (he spent eight as an assistant coach) Culley has compiled an envious record of 105 wins and only 44 losses. He has never had a losing season.

Missouri Staggers Iowa State, 23-7

AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Charlie Brown and Carl Reese rolled up a total of 145 rushing yards for Missouri Saturday to lead the Tigers to a 23-7 win over Iowa State in a Big Eight game.

It was Missouri's 10th consecutive victory over the Cyclones.

Halfback Brown broke through the Iowa State line for 25 yards rushing, averaging 4.3 yards per carry in 22 attempts. Fullback Reese added 55 yards in 16 carries for a 3.4 average.

Missouri's first touchdown came in the first period on a 20-yard pass play from Gary Lane to Earl Denny. Brown picked up 30 in two bursts in the 53 yard scoring drive.

Late in the period, Gary King fumbled a punt on his own 10-yard line and Ray Thorpe recovered for the Tigers. Three plays later Brown pounded over from one yard out for the second touchdown.

Johnny Roland of Missouri scored late in the half of a four-yard plunge. The touchdown climaxed a Missouri scoring effort that started on the Cyclones' 40. Bill Bates missed the 35-yard conversion attempt against an 18-mile per hour wind after the Tigers were penalized 15 yards for holding.

The Cyclones scored in the third quarter when Leslie Webster ran over left guard from two yards out. It was the first time Missouri has been scored on this season on a running play.

Bates booted a 27 yard field goal in the final quarter.

Each team collected 17 first downs. Missouri gained 197 yards on the ground and 41 in the air on three pass completions in nine attempts.

Iowa State gained 95 yards rushing and 119 in the air. Quarterback Tim Van Galder threw the ball 27 times and completed 11. Most of Iowa State's passing came in the second half as Van Galder tried to get the Cyclones back into the game. Missouri won its third conference game without a loss and boosted its season record to 4-1-1. Iowa State now has a 3-2-1 overall record and a 1-2-1 mark in the Big Eight.

MUSTANGS ROLL

Wheeler Stops Booker, 30-0

WHEELER (Spl) — Wheeler had no trouble running their victory string to 19, seven this season as they easily ran by Booker, 30-0.

Area scoring leader Bobby Vanpool continued to tack on the points, scoring twice and adding a conversion for 14 total points and a total of 82 for the season.

The Mustangs posted their fourth shutout of the season, second in a row and second conference blanking.

Wheeler is now 3-0 in 5-B conference play.

Vanpool gave the Mustangs an 8-0 first quarter lead when he scored from three yards out and Tom Smith ran over the conversion.

Illinois Romps Past Duke, 28-14

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — With fleet Cyril Pinder leading the way, Illinois jumped off to a quick lead and went on to drop Duke, 28-14, Saturday.

Illinois took the opening kickoff and marched for a touchdown. Pinder kept the 16-play drive alive, when, on a fourth and two situation, he darted through for eight.

Pinder scored two touchdowns during the afternoon, one of them on an 80 yard run. Illini quarterback Fred Custardo threw for two touchdowns and kicked all four extra points.

Duke, with second stringer Todd Orvald calling the signals through the second half, scored in the final period on a 68-yard drive which ended with his pass to Chuck Drulis in the end zone.

All America fullback Jim Grabowski, who smashed Red Grange's school record last week, was held to 60 yards by the blue Devils. Pinder found the holes for 113 yards Illinois recovered three Duke fumbles and intercepted three passes in winning its third game in six starts.

Vols Sputter But Rip Houston, 17-8

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Tragedy-torn Tennessee sputtered for a half Saturday, then exploded for 17 points in less than 10 minutes to beat Houston 17-8 and remain the only major undefeated team in the Southeast.

The Vols, stunned earlier this week by the deaths of three assistant coaches, looked disorganized during the first half. But in the second half a long drive, ending in a field goal, and two sudden touchdown-producing breaks, decided the game.

Split end David Leake capped an 80-yard, 13-play drive with a 20-yard field goal. On Houston's first play from scrimmage following the next kickoff, the Vols' Doug Archibald picked off a Bo Burris pass at the Houston 18-yard line and fought his way into the end zone.

Early in the fourth period, Houston's Dick Spratt fumbled a towering Jackie Cotton punt on his own 23-yard line and Tennessee fullback Stan Mitchell who pushed his career rushing yardage total over the 1,000 mark in the second period, fell on the ball.

Mitchell then ripped off 12 yards down the middle and two plays later, sophomore Walter Chadwick sprinted around end for another touchdown.

The Vols, one of the leading defensive teams in the nation, held Houston at bay until the fading minutes of the final period. The Cougars never penetrated deeper into Tennessee territory than the 36-yard line until, late in the game, Tom Beer caught a Burris pass from six yards out for the score.

Tennessee increased its season record to 3-0-2. The Vols have been tied by Auburn and Alabama.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Baylor's sophomore quarterback Kenny Stockdale, a third-stringer until three weeks ago, threw two touchdown passes Saturday to lead the Bears to a 31-0 Southwest Conference win over Texas A&M.

Stockdale, who vaulted to the starting role when record-breaking Baylor aerialist Terry Southall broke an ankle, hit 20 of 27 passes for 286 yards.

Baylor halfback Clint Mitchell drove seven yards through the Aggie line for another score capping a 58-yard drive sparked by Stockdale's passes of 15, 14 and eight yards.

Fullback Billy Hayes trotted 15 yards through the demoralized Aggies in the final period, after Baylor drove 80 yards.

Bob Purvis added a 33-yard field goal and all four extra points.

The Aggie attack was helpless against the Bears' rugged line, gaining only 41 yards rushing. After the half, A&M was able to dampen Stockdale's passing for a few minutes with a ferocious rush, but then Stockdale turned to short, quick tosses and soon slowed the Aggies down.

The most spectacular play of the day was Stockdale's 43-yard touchdown pass to Lane. On the first play after Baylor defender Rickey Head intercepted Aggie quarterback Harry Ledbetter's pass, Stockdale called a double reverse.

The ball went first to halfback Richard Defee, who handed it to end George Cheshire, who gave it back to Stockdale.

In all the confusion, Lane was loping all alone into the Aggies' end zone. Stockdale dropped the ball right in his hands.

Smith, playing his first game for the Bears this season, had to make a fine diving catch in the end zone to come up with Stockdale's first scoring toss. The tally came after a 68-yard drive helped by a pass interference call against the Aggies.

Stockdale's 286-yard passing total set a new Baylor record, beating by 13 yards the previous mark held by Don Trull.

Memphis Takes McLean, 22-14

McLEAN (Spl) — Memphis handed McLean their third straight loss, 22-14, in a 2-A conference game, here Friday night.

Memphis bounced back from a singing defeat by Wellington last week to post victory No. 5 in seven outings. The Cyclones are 1-1 in league play.

For McLean it was their fifth loss in seven games and second conference loss in two outings.

The Tigers went ahead twice but couldn't hold back the Cyclones in the fourth quarter when they scored twice.

McLean grabbed a quick 6-0 lead in the opening period when Robert McCabee rambled 57 yards. The run for the conversion failed.

Memphis came right back to lead 6-6 when the first quarter ended when Clyde Wilson scored on a 71-yard pass from Tony Tounds. Willie Devarce ran the conversion.

Neither team scored in the second period but McLean grabbed a 14-8 lead at the end of the third period.

Drew Fuller scored on a 13-yard pass play from Joel McCarty and McCarty scored the extra points.

But the Cyclones scored twice in the final quarter on a one yard run by Tounds and a conversion run by the quarterback for a 16-14 Memphis lead and Tounds wrapped it up by going in from the three.

STANFORD TUMBLES
Cadets by, 31-14

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Favored Stanford, capitalizing on the golden toe of Terry DeSylvia and fierce line play, gave up a quick touchdown to Army, then wore down the Cadets in 89-degree heat Saturday, 31-14.

The Stanford quarterback, who was bumped out of his starting job last season by Dave Lewis, provided the go-ahead points with a 29 yard field goal in the second period after helping set up the Indians' first score with a coffin corner kick.

Lewis himself ran 17 yards for one touchdown and hit Mike Connelly for another on 10 yards out to set up the game in the third period.

Plainview Passes Shoot Down Harvesters, 20-7

 hdowns and reserve

quarterback Johnny Campbell hit two of four for 23 more yards.
 Maggard's favorite target did not change from the other five games the Bulldogs had played as he hit halfback Stan Rigler six times and the youngster responded for 146 yards and two touchdowns on the passes, ran another and also tackled on a conversion.
 The Bulldogs scored on their first possession, marching 70 yards in 11 plays with Maggard hitting three of five passes for 76 yards, the last one, an 18-yarder, to Rigler for the touchdown.
 The attempted kick for the conversion was wide and the Bulldogs led 6-0 with 7:03 still left in the first quarter.
 Both teams threatened once more in the first half, both in the second quarter.
 The Harvesters took possession on the Plainview 29 following a pass interception by Lewis Meers and marched to the 16 where on a fourth down and eight Joey Roden gained three yards to the 13 but it wasn't enough and the Bulldogs took over.
 Just before halftime Plainview marched to the Pampa 11 but a second down pass was intercepted by Roy Harper to quell the threat.

 Pampa looked like a football team only once, this in the third quarter when they moved 68 yards for their only touchdown.
 The Harvesters took the second half kickoff and with Ted Heiskell, Joey Roden and L. D.
 Rowden leading the way went the distance in 13 plays with Rowden going the final five for the score. James Matney booted the conversion and Pampa held a 7-6 lead with 5:55 left in the third period.
 It might be well to point out that Rowden came off the bench and gained 25 yards in four carries on this drive while Heiskell tacked on 32 on six carries.
 Just when it looked like the Harvester defense would hold Maggard would uncork a pass and the Pampa secondary would watch in anger as Rigler would speed on his way.
 Such was the case in Plainview's second touchdown.
 Following the Pampa touchdown the Bulldogs again traveled 70 yards for a score, this time needing only eight plays.
 The big ones a Maggard pass to Rigler for 16 yards and the final a 44-yard pass play from Maggard to Rigler with 1:23
 The quarter ended with Pampa still much in the game, trailing only, 12-7.

 Plainview threatened at the start of the fourth period, recovering a Harvester fumble on a fourth down and two at the Plainview 36.
 The Bulldogs marched to the Pampa 28 and needed two yards on a fourth down but the Pampa line, which gave up only 98 yards for the night, held tight.
 But the Bulldogs put the icing on the cake the next time they got the ball.
 They went 58 yards in five plays with Maggard hitting three straight passes for 49 yards to carry down to the Pampa six yard line.
 Rigler proved he could run too, going over from six yards out with 4:36 left to play. Maggard tossed to Rigler for the conversion and it was all over at 20-7.
 The win broke a three game losing streak for the Bulldogs and they now stand 1-3 in league action and 3-3 for the season.
 Pampa has now lost four in a row and are 1-4 in league play and 1-6 for the season.

Bucks Roll by Clarendon For Seventh In A Row

CLARENDON (Spl) — Clarendon became the first team to score twice on White Deer this year, but it wasn't near enough as the Bucks made off with a 40-14 conference victory.
 White Deer ran its season winning streak to seven and conference record to 2-0 and set the stage for next Friday's battle with unbeaten Wellington.
 The Bucks built up a 40-8 halftime lead and coasted in for the victory.
 White Deer got the most from its top three scorers, Randy Elliott, Vernon Marlar and Gary

Smith as each scored two times.
 Elliott and Johnny Mooney booted four conversions to run his season total to 26.
 Marlar scored the first Buck touchdown, from 10-yards out.
 Mooney's kick failed but the Bucks were home free and did not know it at 6-0.
 White Deer made it 12-0 when
 Smith rambled 60-yards. Again
 Mooney's kick was no good.
 Smith made it 18-0 in the first quarter when he went over from the one and Mooney booted his first point of the evening for a 19-0 lead.

Lefors Upsets Horns For First Victory

LEFORS (Spl) — Winless Lefors pulled the biggest upset in the Panhandle area Friday night, knocking off previously unbeaten, Darrouzett, 20-14.
 The Pirates won their first game in six tries and evened their conference record at 1-1.
 Darrouzett is now 4-2-1 and 1-2
 in 5-B conference play.
 The Pirates scored singleton touchdowns in each of the first three quarters.
 Johnny Dunn put the Pirates ahead 6-0 in the first quarter when he went in from 1-yard out to cap a 65-yard drive. The kick failed for the conversion.
 The Longhorns came back for an 8-6 first period lead when Randy Phillips scored on a 35-yard pass from Darryl Duke, Jerry Back scored the conversion for an 8-6 lead.
 Lefors led 14-8 at halftime when Tony Pittman went over from the one and Dickie Sims ran over the conversion.
 The Pirates stretched it to 20-6 after three periods when Marvin Finned scampered 13 yards to pay dirt.
 Darrouzett scored their final tally in the fourth period on a pass from Duke to end James Perkins.

Elliott scored his first touchdown in the second quarter, this one on a 53-yard run. Mooney kicked good to make it 26-0.
 Marlar scored again, going in from one yard out and Mooney again kicked good to give the Bucks a 33-0 lead.
 Just before halftime Mike MacClellan scored on an 85-yd. run and David Mooring scored the conversion to cut the lead to 33-8.
 But Elliott put it at 40-8 on a 47-yard run and Mooney booted the point home.

The last Clarendon score came in the fourth period when McClellan scored on a 75-yard dash.

 The loss was the seventh in a row for the wildcats and gives them an 0-2 conference mark.
 Wellington is now 6-0-1 for the season and 2-0 in conference play.
 The Rockets built up a 28-0 from ages 18 and over. Prepare now for U.S. Civil Service job openings in this area during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay as high as $504.00 a month to start. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service helps thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

For FREE information on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once — TODAY. You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests.

Safety Consultant Blames Mine Tragedy on Laxity

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—A mine safety expert said Friday that laxity by both management and workers may have played a part in an underground fire which claimed the lives of seven coal miners last weekend.

HARRISON DISMUKES

Ralph Wallen, of the safety committee at the Clinchfield Coal Co., voiced this opinion at a preliminary hearing by the U.S. Interior Department into last Saturday's fire which trapped the seven men about two miles from the entrance of Mars No. 2 mine.

Wallen said safety suggestions were not utilized. He said the seven men carried "self rescuers," cannister type gas masks which could have protected them from poisonous fumes for at least 40 minutes. He said none of the trapped men used the masks, although all but one had been instructed in how to use them.

It also was brought out that the fire started when a big "continuous miner," a coal digging machine, struck an overhead trolley line while being moved through a narrow passage in the mine.

A government spokesman said a formal hearing would be held in about six weeks.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

Duty of a Doctor

Imagine what would happen if a doctor, awakened by urgent knocking at the front door of his home at midnight, refused to give medical aid to an auto accident victim who later bled to death on his doorstep.

In such a very unlikely event the cries of indignation would ring out mightily. The doctor's indifference would outrage both the ethics of medicine and the morals of religion.

Yet, the doctor would not be acting unlawfully. For a doctor has no legal duty to "take all comers." Unless he has some special, pre-existing relationship with an individual patient, he has the right to turn him down. For various reasons, part historical, part practical, our law does not ordinarily require a doctor (or anyone else, either) to lend a helping hand to the stranger in distress.

But once a doctor does take over, his legal position changes. From then on, he owes the patient an affirmative duty to be diligent.

Consider this case: A physician applied a cast to the fractured arm of an elderly woman patient, who immediately complained that the cast was too tight. Despite continuing complaints, the physician did not split the cast. He then left the country for a two-week vacation trip without arranging for another physician to care for the patient. As a result, she suffered partial paralysis of her arm.

For the physician's negligence and abandonment of the patient, a court later held him liable for damages.

On the other hand, even after a doctor takes a case, his duty to be attentive has reasonable, commonsense limits.

For instance: A woman's finger became so badly infected that it had to be amputated. Suing her doctor, she complained that for more than a week he had been unavailable to his patients.

But in court, it turned out that the doctor had taken time off only because his own father had died. It also turned out that he had given the woman the name of a competent substitute, whom she had simply refused to see.

The court decided that, in these circumstances, the doctor had properly fulfilled whatever duty he owed. As one judge commented: "After all, doctors are human."

10,000 ADJECTIVES INADEQUATE

View From Outer Space Defies All Description

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—around the jagged, white-hot fringes of the sun, a cosmic "snowball" carves a precarious course in one of the finest astronomical displays of the century.

About 90 million miles closer to home, a huge, metallic tube drifts silently in orbit around earth, mirroring the sun's blinding rays and punching holes in the velvet backdrop with its eerie, flashing lights as it plunges through "days" and "nights" 45 minutes long.

Down below, azure oceans and continents of green, brown and white etched with the blue veins of rivers and the irregular globs of lakes roll gently, majestically by.

Defies Description

The view from space defies the descriptive power of 10,000 adjectives. No astronaut would—or could—trust it entirely to his memory. That is why one item certain of a spot aboard any manned spaceship, no matter how cramped, is a camera.

Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford have three cameras aboard—one for still pictures, two for movies—plus enough film for 260 snapshots and 2,260 feet of some of the most spectacular "home movies" ever made in color.

They were guaranteed of an audience when they returned.

Astronomers waited anxiously to see whether the astronauts caught any photographs of the fiery Ikeyl-Seki comet as it completed a high speed trip around the sun barely out of reach of streams of fire and radiation leaping scores of thousands of miles into space.

The comet was believed to be a "snowball" accumulation of cosmic debris whose flimsy tail was illuminated by the sun.

The metal tube was the Agena satellite Schirra and Stafford hoped to link with their spaceship in the world's first cosmic hookup.

Under Orders

They were under orders to come back with plenty of pictures to show groundlings.

But earth remained one of the most fascinating of photographic targets. Schirra and Stafford planned to use their 70mm Hasselblad still camera to take picture of little charted regions of the Mississippi, Nile, Congo and Amazon rivers, and the deserts and dark green jungles of Africa.

Also, they hoped to get pictures of the Bahamas Islands that were swept by Hurricane Betsy last August. The photographs will be compared with others taken by Gemini 5 astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad for a "before and after" view of the tropical terror's rampage in that part of the world.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

The Pampa Jaycees are sponsoring a Halowe'en Dance for teenagers Saturday night, Oct. 30 from 7:30 until 11:00 p.m. There is no admission charge but a donation will be taken to further finance the activities at the Center. The dance will be well chaperoned by the Jaycees and all are invited to attend.

The next swim session will be offered November 8 through 24. There will be sessions for polywogs at 4 p.m. and swimmers at 5 p.m. A polywog is the age group 4-6 years of age and measuring 33 inches to the chin. A swimmer is one who has passed the intermediate course.

There is no charge to Center members; non-members will be charged $3 for the courses. Enrollment is now going on; you need only to come by and sign up.

Starting November 29 through December 15 the last classes for beginners and advanced beginners will be offered until after the new year. Memberships should be purchased now. You will receive one full year of membership and will get into the remaining swim courses for this year.

Family memberships are only $20 for a year; $12 for six months. This includes every member of the immediate family living at home or at college. The Center's individual memberships are only $8 and $5 respectively.

There is still time to enroll in the progressing Judo Course at the Center. This class is informal. You may start anytime and progress as far as you like. Classes meet on Sunday afternoon from 2:30 for both male and female from age 6-60. If you think you might be interested, come by the Center and enroll. You must be a Center member to participate.

The fencing class is still open those interested. This is a comparatively new class for Pampa and the Center. The class meets on Thursday nights at 7 p.m. under the direction of Joe Pafford. Visit one of the classes and learn full details about the course.

The basketball season is coming closer and closer now. Leagues will be formed in both men and women's divisions as before. The first 8 teams in each league will be accepted. Deadline for entry fees is Nov. 22 at 8 p.m. Fee is $30 plus the referee's fees.

An organizational meeting will be held Nov. 22 at 8 p.m. to draw up the leagues schedules. The volleyball leagues swung over into the second go around this week and are heading down the home stretch.

In women's action the league leading Cock O' Walk took First National Bank 15-6 and 15-9; the Independents stayed one game behind with a rematch coming up by trouncing the Spikers 15-0 and 15-2 while Hopkins took Jackson Realty 15-8 and 15-6.

In men's action Skelly Oilers continued to dominate play with a hard earned victory over Pampa Warehouse 15-12 and 15-0. Senior Citizens took the Doozers 15-5 and 15-0 while the Dairy Queen tripped the Rejects 16-14 and 15-10.

Standings for the leagues are:

School of Vocational Nursing Established at HGH

The Pampa Daily News

Sunday, October 24, 1965

Classes Began On August 30

"What square dance club does she belong to?" The patient was referring to the colorful green and white uniform of a student of vocational nursing in the halls of Highland General Hospital and her question was directed to the right person, Mrs. JoAnn Linville, Director of Education for the School of Vocational Nursing at the hospital.

Fifteen young women, including five from out of town, are enrolled in this first class of its kind to be offered in Pampa.

They must complete a 12-month course of study. Following satisfactory completion of prescribed studies, they will be given an examination by the state of Texas.

Passing this test, they are then licensed to minister to patients under the direct supervision of a physician or a registered nurse.

Their advanced training will qualify them to care for the general needs of hospital patients releasing regular nurses for more technical demands.

During the course of their study, they must complete a designated period with only their inanimates, "Mrs. Chase," the "Beetle" and "Susie the Skeleton." Only then are they introduced to any contact with hospital patients.

Miss Verne Meador, director of nursing for the entire hospital, pointed out that the school had long been needed and would take its place among the vital and proud adjuncts of the community.

This first class, which convened Aug. 30, was limited to 15 because of facilities available at that time. Within the year, it is hoped these facilities can be expanded to train a larger number in the second class.

Two of the students are from Canadian, two from Lefors and one each from McLean and Shamrock. The rest are from Pampa.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORMSON

OUR TOWN is clean and pretty all year 'round, but seems to be especially lovely this autumn. The trees in Central Park, seen from above as one drives by, are beautiful in all the colors of fall. While taking a foliage tour of Pampa, be sure to drive by the Herman Jones home just north of Frist Presbyterian Church and see the Jones' red ash trees arrayed in full fall glory. Some local residents enjoy the bright colors of autumn so much they take out-of-town foliage tours. Sam and Edna Begert and Sam and Thelma Groom recently traveled to Red River, N.M., and went on the foliage tour in that area. Pampa Garden Club members plan to travel to Lake Marvin near Canadian tomorrow to view the colorful leafage. Pampa Council of Garden Clubs' "October Magic" Flower Show last week was a beautiful thing to see. Many entries in horticulture, artistic and tri-color designs made the show a success. Judges from Amarillo, who selected the winners, were Mrs. Charles O'Dell, Mrs. B. C. Elliott, Mrs. Joe Deason, Mrs. Porter Underwood, Mrs. Charles Mason and G. F. Hollar. Mrs. V. N. Osborn received the Sweepstakes Award in Horticulture and the Award of Merit for the most outstanding horticulture entry. Receiving the Sweepstakes Award for Artistic arrangements was Mrs. Tom Price, who also received the Award of Distinction for the best arrangement using dried materials. Mrs. Thelma Bray received the Tri-Color Award for her arrangement of fresh material. Blue ribbon winners in the Artistic Division were Mrs. Osborn, Mrs. Bray, Ira Carlton, Mrs. Myron Dorman Jr. and Mrs. Tom Price. Receiving blue ribbons in the Horticulture Division were Mrs. Owen Gee, Mrs. Bray, Mrs. Dorman, Mrs. Norman Walberg, Mrs. Ira Carlton, Mrs. A. L. Kouri, Mrs. H. H. Boynton and Mrs. Dan Glaxner.

PAMA FEDERATED Clubwomen attending the District Workshop in Spearman Tuesday, even though it was club day in Pampa. Were Mrs. Bob (Vera) Andis, Mrs. A. D. (Olive) Hills, Mrs. Katie Vincent, Mrs. K. A. (Joan) Sorenson, Mrs. George H. (Irene) Neef, Mrs. W. J. (Ophelia) Morris, Mrs. Roland (Hattie) Dauer, Mrs. Emmett (Billie) Osborne, Mrs. Kermit (Josephine) Lawson and Mrs. Frank (Sylvia) Grantham. A clever "Hats Off" luncheon, honoring outstanding club women, was one of the highlights of the workshop at which some 160 women attending were lavishly entertained by Federated Clubwomen of Spearman. Friends of the Knox Kinards were happy to see them in town recently. Don and Susanne Lane were seen at church Sunday morning with Mrs. Lane's parents, Frank and Sue Whitney of Elk City, Okla., who spent the weekend in the Lane home. Mrs. Chester (Margaret) Thompson and Mrs. Frank (Augusta) Yealy spent the weekend in Lubbock and drove home through the torrential rain. Home from Abilene Christian College last weekend to see the Pampa Harvester-Lubbock Monterey football game and attend the wedding of Mike Warner and Karen Brewster in Canyon were Tim Eller, son of Walter and Lois Eller, Tom McLaughlin, son of Juanita McLaughlin, and Donna Conner, daughter of Frank and Mary Conner. Mrs. Lee (Irene) Harrah has returned from a visit with a daughter in Dallas. Charlie and Jean Duenkel were spied entertaining George and Reba Philpott of Miami at Coronado Inn. The group was celebrating Mrs. Philpott's birthday. The Henry Butlers spent a weekend in Olney recently with their daughter and son-in-law, Eva Joy and DeWayne Straley. The couple made the trip to see grandson, Tammy, play football for Olney High School and congratulate him on being elected to the National Honor Society and for being chosen by the High School Student Council as "Mr. Olney High School." Mrs. Jack (Beulah) Merchant and Mrs. George (Elizabeth) Scott have returned from a trip to Midland. Mrs. Scott visited daughter and son-in-law, Betty Joyce and Don Ewan and granddaughters, Linda Carol and Brenda Joyce while husband George was on his annual pheasant hunting trip to South Dakota. Mrs. Merchant visited daughter and son-in-law Jacqueline and Cecil Roberts and helped refinish antique furniture for granddaughters Kimberly and Karen.

MRS. QUENTIN (Josephine) Williams, Miss Cloda Everly and Miss Bernice Larsh were among local Delta Kappa Gamma members attending the recent regional meeting of DKG in Dimmitt. Dr. Madge Davis of Wichita Falls, past president of Alpha State, gave the main address entitled "Open Sesame." And speaking of Miss Larsh, the University of Oklahoma is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year and records show that Delbert L. Larsh, an uncle of Pampa's own Miss Larsh, headed the subscription campaign to raise money to secure the University of Oklahoma for Norman in the 1890's and with another person donated land to form the road from town to the university tract which is now University Boulevard. This year there are some 15 Pampa young people attending OU. Don't have all their names but among them are Joanne Lawson, Janie Leverich, Donna Seawright, Beryl Nash, Dwight Mackie, Jimmy Hoyer, Richard Fatheree, Bryant Martin, Charles Price and Kyle Van. Would take the entire column to list all the names of those attending the gala coffee mentioned recently. Some of those seen at the affair given in Coronado Inn by Mrs. Henry (Sally) Butler, Mrs. W. R. (Jenkie) Campbell, Mrs. J. M. (Bit) Fitzgerald, Mrs. M. K. (Bess) Griffith, Mrs. Clarence (Thelma) Lutes and Mrs. Ralph (Ruth) Thomas, were Mrs. W. S. (Lois) Eller, Mrs. Joe (Estelle) Shelton, Mrs. Kirk (Jean) Duncan, Mrs. Howard (Claudia) Greenlee, Mrs. E. C. (Nevo) Mackie, Mrs. D. L. (Helen) Mackie, Mrs. Dudley (Kathryn) Steele, Mrs. George (Elizabeth) Scott, Mrs. Irvin (Winona) Cole, Mrs. Thelma Bray, Mrs. Wayne (Mary) Pitner, Mrs. Doyle (Irene) Osborne, Mrs. E. E. (Lois) Shelhamer, Mrs. Jack (Yvonne) Stroup and Mrs. C. J. (Christine) Killgo.

ENGRAVED INVITATIONS were received by those on the guest list for one of the most elegant affairs of the season, a dinner party given by Joy and Joe Cree and Nancy and Gene Imel Thursday evening in Pampa County Club. The silver appointed cocktail and dinner tables held delicacies from the special recipe collections of the hostesses, Frances and George Cree and Floyd and Laura Imel assisted the hosts with the candlelit occasion. Among those attending were George and Elizabeth Scott, Buss and Roberta Baldrige, Jim and Anna Mae Triplehorn, Frank and Esther Culbertson, Gene and Polly Sidwell, Russell and Ailene McConnell, Frank and Pebble Carter, Chick and Joyce Hickman, Wiley and Jane Reynolds, Del and Irene Beagle, Chris and Crawford Atkinson, Luke and Aline McClelland, Paul and Myrtle Carmichael and Buzz and Myrt Hoover. Raymond and Betty Reid brought Mr. Reid's nephew, John Dent of Washington, D. C., as a special guest. Heard that Frank Culbertson and George Scott cut their pheasant hunting trip to South Dakota short and drove a day and a half in order to be back in time for the event.

Wedding Solemnized in Home Ceremony

Mrs. Charley C. Coleman ... nee Miss Carolyn Sue Barrett

Double-ring wedding vows were pledged at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday evening by Miss Carolyn Sue Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foy Barrett of 516 Hazel, and Charley C. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Coleman of Skellytown. The Barrett home, scene of the ceremony, was appointed with basket arrangements of white gladioli flanked by emerald palms. Jay Channel, minister of McLean Church of Christ, pronounced the vows. A program of traditional nuptial selections was presented by Miss Cynthia Rasco, organist. Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," the bride was attired in a waltz-length gown fashioned of white silk peau de soie designed with a fitted chantilly lace bodice featuring a decollete neckline edged with scallops of the chosen lace and long fitted sleeves terminating in petal points. Miniature self-covered buttons fastened the back of the gown which dipped to a V at the back waistline. The bell-shaped skirt was fashioned of triple pleats. The bride's tiered veil of imported illusion fell from a pill box coif embellished with lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow rose buds. Bridal attendants were Mrs. Nettie Holtman, matron of honor, and Miss Louann Barrett, bride's sister, bridesmaid. Dressed identically in gowns fashioned of yellow peau de soie, each wore a corsage of white feathered carnations tied with yellow ribbon. Mrs. Holtman wore a matching pill box coif and Miss Barrett wore a white satin bow coif attached to a half-circle veil of white net. Ross Coleman served his brother as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Barrett chose a rose silk (See WEDDING, Page 17)

Pampa Music Teachers Assn. Holds Reception for Parents and Students

Pampa Music Teachers Association held its annual reception for parents and students Tuesday evening at St. Paul's Methodist Church. The organ prelude and welcome were given by Mrs. Lois Fagan, president. Mrs. Carl Shafer led the group in singing the National Anthem. Mrs. Fagan then introduced Mrs. Fred Stockdale and Mrs. Charles Thurmon, guest pianists from Amarillo. Mrs. Thurmon is president of the Amarillo Music Teachers Association and Mrs. Stockdale is educational chairman for that organization. Both are members of the Amarillo Piano Ensemble Group. Their program was opened with Bach's "Preludio" from the Third Violin Partita arranged for two pianos by Wiktor Lobunski. Following this came two delightful numbers by American composers, "Manana" by Keith Brown, transcribed for two pianos by Morton Gould, and "Russian Picnic" by Harvey Enders. The closing number was Johann Strauss' ever-popular "Blue Danube Waltz," arranged by Abram Chasins. The audience received all four numbers with enthusiasm and appreciation. Mrs. Fagan then introduced six parents who discussed various topics concerning their child's musical education. Mrs. Beth Manning, first speaker, had as her subject "How Can I Tell My Child Has Musical Ability?" Mrs. Forest Hills gave an interpretation of "How Does Musical Training Help A Child Learn Science?" Two common problems explored by Mrs. Ruth Land were "What About Piano Lessons For The Child Who Is Slow In School-work?" and "At What Age Should My Child Start Piano Lessons?" Mrs. A. H. Kouri then gave various views and solutions to two questions that have brought concern to most piano students' parents. They were "What If There Doesn't Seem To Be Enough Time For Practice?" and "How Can I Encourage My Child To Practice If He Objects Too Strongly?" Rev. Earl Pruitt closed the parents' portion of the program with answers to the question, "Do Musical Parents Help A Child Learn Piano?" Immediately following the parents discussion the music teachers served punch and cookies from a table decorated with autumn colors and symbols. Refreshments of fruit cocktail, cake, wafers and dips, nuts, mints and coffee were served. Those present were Mmes. Pampans Receive Penwomen Honors

At the quarterly meeting of Panhandle Penwomen at the Amarillo Country Club on Tuesday, two Pampa writers took honors in the short story contest. Mrs. Bernice Gregory winning first place with her story, "Mitt Takes the Plunge", and Mrs. Frances Prall placing second with her story, "Isabel."

A former Pampian, Mrs. Wanda Jay Campbell of Austin, was the principal speaker of the day. New officers were elected for 1966, including Mrs. Bernice Gregory as contest chairman, Mrs. Barbara Hayes as workshop chairman, and Mrs. Evelyn Nace as a member of the board of directors. Other officers were chosen from the membership of 45 from four states of the Southwest.

Recently Mrs. Gregory sold short stories to "High School Signal" and to "Junior Challenge." Mrs. Hayes placed a story with "Venture", and Mrs. Nace made sales to five confession markets and one religious publication. Other Pampa Penwomen are Mmes. Peggy Jo Ormson, Lorene Locke, and Marcella Hudson.

Addison-Newberry Vows Are Pledged

Mrs. Charles Richard Newberry
nee Miss Elizabeth Lynn Addison

Miss Elizabeth Lynn Addison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Morris Addison of New Boston, became the bride of Charles Richard Newberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Harrell Newberry of 1312 Terrace, the evening of Oct. 2, at the Tapp Memorial Methodist Church in New Boston. The Rev. H. J. Rhodes, Jr. performed the single-ring ceremony.

The bride entered the sanctuary with her father who gave her in marriage. For her wedding she chose an original gown of white silk styled along princess lines. The molded bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline and chandelier sleeves overcast with Chantilly lace. The bodice was trimmed with pearl traced appliques of lace and the lower edge of the A-line skirt was bordered with a sculptured band of lace. The lace design was repeated on the contour train. A Chantilly lace cap, encrusted in pearls, held the bride's veil of imported illusion. The cap featured a crystal teardrop centering the forehead. Her bouquet of stephanotis and cymbidium orchids was styled in a semi-crescent accented with lace and illusion and showered with tiny satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

The bride's attendants were Miss Lois Addison and Miss Anita Addison, sisters of the bride, maid of honor and junior bridesmaid; Mrs. Macky Reed, matron of honor; Miss Diane Wood of Houston and Miss Tinka Hooks, bridesmaids. They wore identical floor length gowns of pomegranate silk linen with round necklines and flared sleeves accented by matching bows. The A-line skirts were in three tiers. Matching bows were worn in their hair and they carried cascade bouquets of pink asters.

Little Misses Ann Lynch and Alice Ann Looney, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. Their dresses of velvet were in a similar style to those worn by the senior attendants and in the same color. Hair bows matched their dresses. Their bouquets were miniature replicas of the bridesmaid's flowers.

Attending the bridegroom was Dr. Alvis McConnell of Houston, best man. Kevin Chisholm of Houston; Dave Stanridge, League City; Robert Sidwell, Houston; Dr. T. A. Looney III of Clarksville, cousin of the bride; Webster Addison, brother of the bride; and Frank Looney of Galveston, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

Twin candles on the altar were lighted by Gary Parker, cousin of the bride. Massive triangular arrangements of white snapdragons, mums, gladioli, and roses were used in decoration with matching sunburst arrangements. Thirty-three branch candelabras, garlanded with greenery, held burning votive candles at each side of the dias and spiral, pyramid, and conventional candelabra were positioned to cast a soft glow over members of the wedding party. The bride aisle was covered in white and outlined with gloved hurricane candelabra. The couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu for benediction.

Organist, Mrs. J. P. Looney provided a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony "Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Evening Star," and a Chopin Etude. She also accompanied Mrs. H. J. Rhodes Jr. who sang "At Dawning" and "Calm as the Night." During the ceremony, the organist played as soft background, "To a Wild Rose," "Clair de Lune," "O Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly."

The bride's parents were hosts for a reception at their home following the wedding. As she received guests, Mrs. Addison wore a deep pink chiffon gown with a draped neckline and a jeweled band at the waist. Her hat was in multi-color pastels. The mother of the bridegroom wore a pale green lace and crepe jacketed sheath. Her hat, in tones of green, was trimmed with tiny white flowers. Each mother pinned cymbidium orchids at her shoulder.

The bride's table was centered with a massive arrangement of white stock and white roses in a silver epergne. Tall white tapers in silver candelabra were used at each side. The four tiered wedding cake and a silver punch service were placed at ends of the table.

An arrangement of tangerine carnations decorated the bridegroom's table where German chocolate cake was served with coffee from a silver service.

Assisting in serving were: Mrs. M. O. Parker, Mrs. H. E. Lynch, Mrs. T. A. Looney Jr., Mrs. T. A. Looney III, Miss Patricia Shipp, Mrs. W. S. Tyson Jr., and Mrs. Foy Youngblood.

Rice bags were distributed by Jeff Mansfield Addison, brother of the bride, Herschel Eugene Lynch and Lisa Ann Looney, cousins of the bride.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. John, aunt and uncle of the bride; Mrs. Gary Bell, cousin of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis, cousin of the bridegroom, all of San Antonio; Mrs. E. J. Addison, aunt of the bride, Huntsville; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Pitts, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom, Houston; Mrs. Opal Davis, aunt of the bridegroom, Sherman; Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Parker, aunt and uncle of the bride, Shreveport, La.; Dr. and Mrs. F. L. King, aunt and uncle of the bride, Texarkana.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a suit of coffee color trimmed in baby blue. Her feather hat and accessories were in matching tones.

The couple will be at home in Montgomery, Ala., for two years where Dr. Newberry is a captain in the United States Air Force.

Conclave Enjoys Acceptance Dinner

Alpha Iota Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota Sorority held its annual acceptance dinner at Jackson's Cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

The hostesses, Misses Stella Kiser and Geraldine Rampp and Mrs. Ann DiCosimo, carried out a Columbus Day theme, using fall foliage and miniature sailing ships for place cards.

Miss Judy Neslage reviewed the book "Good Morning Miss Dove" by Frances Gray Patton, which was very appropriate for a group of teachers.

Special guests present were Mmes. Charles Ellis, J. M. McGearth, Kenneth Baker, Kenneth King, Leroy Thornburg and Misses La Donna Watkins, Carol Ann Durrett and La Ruth Henrick.

CREAM BENEFITS EYELIDS

Most women have dry skin around their eyes. Avoid dry, papery eyelids by gently smoothing a moistener or lotion around the eyes before applying make-up. Use an eye cream when retiring at night.

Presbyterian Day Circles Meet for Study Programs

Day Circles of First Presbyterian Church met in the homes of members on Wednesday for programs on "The Mutual Obligation of Freedom" from the book "Live as Free Men" by Donald G. Miller, a study of Paul's Letter to the Galatians.

Eight members of Circle One met in the home of Mrs. W. I. F. Graham with Mrs. Ocie Stewart in charge of the program. Mrs. A. D. Hills read from the Yearbook of Prayer.

Mrs. E. J. O'Brien presented the study for Circle Two, which met in the home of Mrs. Dick Walker. Mrs. R. F. Dirksen read the names of mission workers in India for that day and led in prayer. The Fellowship of the Least Coin meditation was given by Mrs. Brent Blomkvist. Mrs. Nelle Seiber was a guest, and twelve members were present.

Ten members of Circle Three meeting with Mrs. Fred Hobart heard a program by Mrs. Lucy Miller. Mrs. E. L. Biggarstaff read from the Yearbook of Prayer and Mrs. W. B. Colwell gave the prayer for the Fellowship of the Least Coin.

All Circles brought toys for a Christmas box to be sent to a mission in South Dakota.

The annual Thanksgiving Praise Service will be held in the Sanctuary of the Church at 7 p.m., Nov. 14.

A college fashion destined to catch on: saris in place of evening dresses for formal occasions. It began in Cambridge, Mass., with the wives of Harvard professors and Radcliffe college girls.

Reception Marks Anniversary of Library Services

WHITE DEER (Spl) — White Deer Branch of Carson County Free Library was host for a special observance commemorating 30 years of library services in Carson County Sunday Oct. 10. The informal reception was held in Fellowship Hall of White Deer Methodist Church from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Special guests were librarians, former librarians, former as well as active library board members, county commissioners and interested patrons of Groom, Skellytown, Panhandle and White Deer communities. Mayor and Mrs. Alvin Williams of White Deer and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Randel of Panhandle received guests during the afternoon. Mr. Randel has served as chairman of the Carson County Library Board for a number of years.

Bronze and bright-hued mums of golden yellow were featured in an attractive arrangement on the serving table. This floral offering was a gift from a former librarian of White Deer Branch who now resides in California. Pastel nut mints of icing-dipped cashews were attractively arrayed in colors of green and yellow to echo the fall colors. Coffee and assorted pastries of dainty cookies were served from a lace covered yellow cloth. Sixty-one interested patrons of Carson County Library services were registered for the informal reception.

The Cambridge saris are authentic Indian materials, but they've been tailored to eliminate all the winding and wrapping that Indian women go through.

Central Baptist Church GA Members Host Annual Mother-Daughter Tea

Central Baptist Church was the setting for the annual Mother-Daughter Tea held at 2:30 p.m. last Sunday. Hostesses for the evening were members of Central Baptist Girls' Auxiliary.

Proceeding the tea a program, "Star Ideas," was portrayed using a large crown with stars placed at intervals by GA girls. The Intermediate GAs, assisted by Mrs. John P. Adams, presented the program.

The tea table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with a fall arrangement of flowers flanked by brown tapers. As each mother arrived she was presented a fall corsage.

Mothers and daughters attending were Mmes. Gene McClendon and Ruth Ann, Madeline Hood and Shannon, Ted McCurley and Rebecca and Cathy, C. L. Ennis and Echo, J. D. White and Alice, Bill McClain and Barbara, W. Kent Douglas and Marsha, Richard Johnson and Rebecca, Stanley Stein and Debbie, L. C. Bevel and Janell, C. C. Hoover and Kim, T. O. YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

By Joe Tooley and Tom Beard

Rather puzzling to some people is the ability of stomachs acids to digest a variety of heavy foods without damaging the stomach walls which are living tissue.

Actually, there are many self-regulating factors which prevent secretion of hydrochloric acid in amounts damaging to the stomach. Food itself acts as a buffer to reduce the effects of the acid, as do saliva, enzymes, peristalsis of the stomach and stomach muscles.

There is nothing puzzling, however, about where you should go for medical needs. We have a complete prescription department as well as a full line of drugs and medical supplies. Courteous and exacting service are assured at RICHARD DRUG, 111 North Cuyler, Pampa. Phone: MO 5-5747

Dear Abby... Executive Is Carrying Coals to Newcastle

DEAR ABBY: I am thoroughly confused, I have been dating a widower in his middle fifties. He is an attractive, intelligent, well-to-do executive. Yesterday he told me that his sister-in-law (the sister of his deceased wife) who is married, has grown children and lives in Atherton, California, has offered to accompany him on his vacation to Hawaii. He says they will be good company for each other and she is "lots of laughs." Does this sound all right to you, Abby? He says he sees nothing wrong with it as they would have separate rooms. I said I didn't think it was proper for a married woman to vacation with a bachelor and, furthermore, I couldn't understand what kind of a husband would allow it. He said her husband was very "broad-minded." I would like your opinion of this.

DEAR "OLD-FASHIONED": Maybe her husband has a "broad" in mind he hopes to entertain in his wife's absence. Otherwise, I can't understand it, either. For an attractive, intelligent, well-to-do executive to take "company" to Hawaii, is like carrying coals to Newcastle.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't give me a long lecture on how much children owe their parents because I already know. My problem is whenever I get money from relatives, (mostly my grandparents) my mother takes charge of it and that's the last I see of it. I have gotten lots of money for birthdays, holidays, and things like that, but I have never even seen my bank book and I don't know how much I have. When I ask my mother to show me my bank book she says, "Never mind, Shylock, I'm busy now." Don't you think I have a right to know how much I have saved for me? How can I get her to tell me? I am 12.

DEAR "SHYLOCK": Your request is not unreasonable, but your timing could be poor. When your mother is in a good mood, and is not busy, ask her to schedule a meeting of the finance committee. Don't press for an examination of the books. Just ask for a treasurer's report. Yes, you have a right to know.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something to second wives who need to be educated to the role they play in a widower's life. A man who truly loved his first wife cannot erase the memories of many years. It is only natural for him to talk about his first wife and carry her pictures. And if he is accustomed to seeing her face smiling out at him from her picture on his bedroom dresser, it is up to the second wife to adjust to it for his sake. I have seen second wives go into a home and call it hers, when everything in it, including the bed she sleeps in, was paid for by the combined efforts of her husband and his first wife. Still Wife Number Two insists that all the pictures of Wife Number One be put away. Why? If I go first, I want my husband to remarry. But I want him to carry precious memories of me always.

FIRST WIFE DEAR FIRST WIFE: I am all for "carrying precious memories." But the place to carry them is in one's heart, not on one's sleeve. A second wife who sleeps in the same bed occupied by Wife Number One is well aware of it, and doesn't need a picture in her bedroom as a constant reminder. It's the husband who should "adjust." He is no longer a "widower," but a husband to a woman who has stepped up to home plate with two strikes against her.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a girl I'll call Lorraine. She is 20 and I am 22. Lorraine is a wonderful girl, and I want to marry her, but here's the problem: She lives with her parents and two little nieces who are four and six. Their mother (Lorraine's sister) took off and can't be located. Lorraine says that when she marries, she will take the little girls with her because her parents are too old and sick to care for them. I admire Lorraine's interest in these kids, but I think I'm too young to take on the job of raising two half-grown children. What is your advice?

BEING PUSHED DEAR PUSHED: I, too, admire Lorraine. But she needs a mate who is willing to buy the package deal she insists on. Making a marriage work is difficult enough under normal circumstances, so if you feel that you are "too young" to assume the responsibility of the children, and that you are "being pushed" — back off.

Bazaar Planned By Wheeler Club

WHEELER (Sp) — Mrs. Clara Childress was hostess to Stitch and Chatter Club recently. The evening was spent visiting and working on material for the bazaar to be held later on in the year.

Members present were Mmes. Grace Burke, Etta Couch, Henry Hink, May Noah, Annie Sivage, Florence Wilson, Nancy Warren, Noyla Wright, and Agnes Traylor.

PE Wives Slate Guest Activities

Members of Petroleum Engineers Wives Society of AIME have planned a full schedule of activities for out-of-town ladies attending the SPE Waterflood Symposium to be held Friday in Coronado Inn.

Guests will be honored at a "get-acquainted" coffee at 10 a.m. in Quivera Room and duffel tables will be set up following a brief business meeting at 11 a.m.

Following at 1:30 p.m. luncheon in Pampa Club a style show featuring the latest fall and winter fashions will be presented. Mrs. Jewell Walker will narrate the fashion show and models will be Mmes. James Allen, Ken Burke, John Gill, Herman Jarard and James Moring, members of the Society.

Ladies should register in advance with their husbands on the form in the pre-register brochure. A charge of $3 will be made for each person attending.

ALLEN-COOK — Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Allen, 1200 Wiliston, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judy, to Vernon Cook of Miami, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cook of Perryton. First Methodist Church Chapel will be the scene of the Nov. 20 wedding ceremony.

CLARK-DAVIS — The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Joy Elaine Clark to Larry Davis is announced by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clark of 1200 E. Foster, parents of the bride-elect. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis of 929 E. Albert. A Nov. 19 wedding is planned.

Mrs. Prince Gives HD Club Program

Mrs. Mildred Prince gave a demonstration on "Foods" to members of Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club when the group met recently in Southwestern Public Service Building.

Members and guests present were Mmes. Stella Wagner, Max Louvier, N. B. Cude, Lester Reynolds, L. M. Bryant, O. G. Smith, Pearl Ferguson, Carl Smith, C. B. Hogan, M. I. Gaughey and Miss Yvonne Reynolds.

Guests are invited to attend the next meeting to be held at 2 p.m., Nov. 8 in Southwestern Public Service Building, 315 N. Ballard, at which Mrs. Prince will present a demonstration on "Holiday Foods and Decorations."

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RICHTER

FOR SUNDAY, OCT. 24
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a Sunday for deep and penetrating analysis into what you can do that will put you more closely in tune with what is right for you on the highest level of accomplishment through a combination of spiritual values and practical ways to get others to go along with you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Be sure to get to services early and be generous when the plate is passed around. You need spiritual food now. Then show devotion to family, especially children, if any.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Con- versing with associates on this day may be productive of excellent results. Show that you observe the Golden Rule. Come to a perfect understanding.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Know what it is you have to do today and get right at the tasks before you. This sets a good pattern for others. A new system is fine, but be sure you know what fundamentals are.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — You are highly devoted to those about you and can come to perfect understanding, on this date, of the needs of their welfare. Don't neglect amusement — you can have a wonderful time in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Find out what your true position is with kin and then do utmost to come to far better understanding. Don't be so impatient. Prepare yourself for greater success in the days ahead.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Get out to the lectures, etc. that will raise your level of consciousness to the divine, almost. Utilize philosophy with associates. Do important work tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — Your financial position is not such that you need to panic — just find a better way to increase abundance. Study into outlets that give regular, definite results. Read your paper more thoroughly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) — Any new situation you wish to establish can be accomplished if you state clearly to others what you wish. Don't expect them to read your mind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You have to raise your mind to more spiritual things if you wish to have the inspiration necessary to progress. Give associates a helping hand. They need your support.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Interesting people you know have the answers now to enigmas that have been bugging you for some time. Seek them out. Get out socially and meet the right persons for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) — Show that you are an outstanding citizen and you gain the prestige you want from the public in general. Be wise. Get into the civic game that is both a challenge and much fun as well.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) — Certain situations change for you today, so be wise and know that they are for the best. Benefits accrue. Get into studies that will prove invaluable in the very near future.

FOR MONDAY, OCT. 25
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Long-range plans of all kinds that involve depth of understanding and learning to blend one's efforts with what others in a position to make demands expect of them, can make this a banner day, and evening by concentrating upon any and all such matters. Organize a course for the future that will better you greatly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Your wife are charmed and because of the new outlets of a sizeable financial nature are interesting. Emotional life also tones up. Later be quite cautious. Avoid spasms.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — If you want certain individuals in your sphere of things in the future, go directly to them now and state your ideas. Have more permanent conditions prevail. Be dynamic.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Fine work is to be accomplished, so be sure to get the proper persons to assist you. Show vitality, enthusiasm. Unique methods may have to be used, but don't be afraid of them.

City Panhellenic Holds Annual Coffee

PANHellenic COFFEE — Mrs. J. R. Schuneman, newly installed president, Mrs. R. E. Imel, outgoing president, and Mrs. Glen A. Newbold, installing officer and speaker are being served by Mrs. George B. Cree at the annual coffee and installation of officers of Pampa City Panhellenic held Oct. 16 in the Hospitality Room of Citizens Bank and Trust Co.

"Trends on Today's College Campus" was the topic of an address given by Mrs. Glen A. Newbold of Amarillo for members of Pampa City Panhellenic during the group's Oct. 16 installation coffee in the Hospitality Room of Citizens Bank and Trust Co.

Mrs. Newbold emphasized the apparent lack of respect for administrative policies, the depreciating standard in moral values, and the tendency to deny social rights by labeling such action "civil rights."

"There are many unusual events taking place on university campuses today," commented Mrs. Newbold. "A tendency to jeer administration, defy law or rule if you don't like it, to demand rather than propose, to picket or demonstrate for a cause whether it is your cause or not. A large percentage of college students feel that if you want something from school, force the issue and keep the heat on until you get it."

"Isn't it time to be concerned about everyone's rights — not just those of minority? Isn't it time to distinguish between civil rights and social rights?" the speaker continued.

Mrs. Newbold also said it has definitely been established and documented that California demonstrations on college campuses are Communist organized and financed.

Newly installed officers for the organization are Mrs. J. R. Schuneman, president; Howard Wilmet, vice president; Homer Johnson, secretary and Albert Wagner, treasurer.

Mrs. Wilmet reported on the new pledges from fall rushing on college campuses: Alpha Delta Pi pledged Martha Patillo at the University of Texas and Kathy Larsen at Texas Tech; Alpha Gamma Delta pledged Jane Heaton at the University of Texas and Donna Seawright at the University of Oklahoma; Delta Delta Delta pledged Molly Gunter at Texas Christian University and Paula Sealy at Texas Tech; Delta Gamma pledged Joy Shultz at Texas Tech; Kappa Delta pledged Linda Brown at East Texas State University; Pi Beta Phi pledged Jane Wells at Texas Tech and Linda Kay Smith at Oklahoma State University. Mmes. Joseph Reid, Robert Price and George Cree assisted Mrs. R. E. Imel in arrangements for the coffee. Presiding at the copper appointed table were Mrs. Richard Stowers and Mrs. Tom Snow. A luncheon honoring Mrs. Newbold was given following the coffee.

Program on 'Surnames' Presented To Genealogical and Historical Society

Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society's October program was presented Monday evening in Lovett Library Auditorium by J. S. Silcott, retired Pampa contractor, whose topic was "Unusual Surnames of the United States."

"Following the Norman Conquest of England, family surnames came into use through the French who has used them for many years, and they took on new importance following the Crusades," stated Silcott. Families took special last names to distinguish them from some other family nearby whose patriarch had the same given name — thus John Hill (John who lived near the hill) from John Rivers (John who lived near the rivers)," the speaker said.

"Occupations became surnames, such as Fletcher (arrowmaker), Candler (maker of candles), Glover (maker of gloves) etc. Personal characteristics gave rise to the families of Longfellow, White, Cruikshank (crooked leg), Glenn (of florid complexion) etc. Often names were transliterated when a family migrated to another country — thus the English Hill family became "DePew" in France or "Zola" in Italy.

Mr. Silcott pointed out that many names were taken from animals — Crane, Fox, Fish, Roebuck etc. Almost every part of an automobile may be found as a surname in America today — Carr, Hood, Fender, Axel, Axelrod, Coil, Brake, Spindle, Horn, Bumpers, Wheel(er) and Belt. The agricultural background was represented by the families of Field, Meadows, Corn, Wheat, Barley, Oats and Maize (or Mays).

Taking a cross section of surnames in the membership of the Society who were present for the program, Silcott identified the following: Palmer (a returning Crusader who carried palms of peace), Ingram (from grasslands in Northumberland, Eng.), Shelton (a homesteader on a bank or shed), Drake (one who used a Dragon on his Arms), Cuyler (an archer or crossbowman), Silcott (derived from Sylvester of the forest), Carley (son of the dark complexioned man), and Bruce (Scottish name brought from Brieuce, France in Normandy).

Among the humorous names found in this country, Silcott found the following Early Character, Parlor Piano and Grand Piano, Gaye Fling, Margaret Hatchet, Crystal Ball, Jet Black, Carbon Black, Dr. Bonebreaker, Miles West, Coal Carr, Oak Stump, Lucy Lacy, Ida Opal Lake, Soda Waters, Ladies Home - Journal Jones, and a gentleman now living at Littlefield, Texas — Mr. Alexander Meriweather Screwdriver.

It was announced that the following new volumes had been added to the Society's Pioneer Heritage Book Collection at the Library: "Between Sun and Sod" (Lewis) gift of Mrs. J. C. Patillo; "The Fort Griffin Story" (Ledbetter) gift of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Barker; Current issues of the "Kansas Historical Quarterly" gift of Mrs. Cliff Drake; and "The Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine" gift of the Las Pampas Chapter, DAR, through their Regent, Mrs. A. D. Hills.

The Society's president, Tracy D. Cary, announced that the annual Pioneer Day luncheon and program will be Sunday, Nov. 21 at the Library. Also the Texas State Historical Survey Commission statewide meeting will be held in Odessa beginning Oct. 27. The state convention of the Texas State Genealogical Society will be held Nov. 27-29 at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin.

Members and guests attending were Mrs. A. Bernson Sr.,

Clark-Barton Vows Read in Canadian

CANADIAN (Sp)—Miss Barbara Jo Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clark of Canadian, was united in marriage Oct. 16 to Jay D. Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Barton of Higgins.

Marriage vows were exchanged at three o'clock in First Baptist Church with Rev. James Braynat, pastor of River Road Baptist Church of Amarillo officiating.

The altar was decorated with a white satin arch entwined with greenery and flanked on either side by tall baskets of white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of white brocade fashioned with a fitted bodice and chapel train. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and carried out the old tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Miss Denna Shahan was maid-of-honor and James Clark, brother of the bride, served the groom as best man.

Mrs. Bill Popham sang "Be cause," accompanied by Miss Jan Noland at the piano.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. The serving table, covered with a white lace cloth over blue was centered with a floral centerpiece flanked on either side by blue tapers. Mrs. Lawrence Shahan and Mrs. Elmer Sparks served the cake. Mrs. Frank Ortega and Mrs. Troy Newton poured the punch. Guests were registered by Misses Janice Shelby and Jane Forrest. Others assisting with the reception were Misses Sue Guffey, Betty Andrews, Donna Zenor and Sandra Sumner.

The couple will make their home in Higgins.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Popham sang "Be cause," accompanied by Miss Jan Noland at the piano.

Wedding

A reception followed the wedding rites. The bride's table, covered with a floor-length white net cloth over white satin, was centered with a silver epergne bearing an arrangement of white pom poms and yellow gladioli. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bridal couple and crystal appointments completed the table setting. Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Ross Coleman, bridegroom's sister-in-law, and Mrs. Bill Smith, bridegroom's sister, served the cake. Guests were registered by Miss Kitty Butler.

The new Mrs. Coleman donned a two-piece suit fashioned of baby blue silk with matching accessories for traveling to Lubbock on a wedding trip. She lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a 1964 graduate of Pampa High School, is presently employed by Montgomery Ward as a cashier. Mr. Coleman, a 1963 graduate of White Deer High School, has just completed basic training with the U. S. Army at Fort Polk, La. Following two weeks leave he will be stationed at Aberdeen, Md.

Out-of-town wedding guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Barrett of Electra, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Coleman and Cavin of Amarillo, Minister and Mrs. Jay Cahnel of McLean, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brown of Skellytown.

DE LUXE PEDICURE

Get your toenails and feet in shape. File nails to desired length after cutting straight across. Soak feet in warm, soapy water to loosen dirt and soften cuticle. Push cuticle back with the flat edge of an orange stick wrapped in a tiny bit of cotton and dipped in cuticle remover. Trim cuticles at the sides. Do not cut all around unless you've been doing so for years. Cutting cuticles only makes them grow faster and tougher. Massage on a lubricating lotion, soak again and dry feet.

First Christian Church Sunday School Teachers Will Be Honored at Banquet

Members of First Christian Church will honor Sunday School teachers at a banquet Tuesday at 7 p.m. This is one of the major events in the church each year. All those who have taught or assisted in the educational activities of the church during the past year will be recognized.

Speaker for the evening will be Delbert Downing, Mr. Downing, a native West Texan, has taught a Sunday School class for many years in First Christian Church of Midland.

Delbert Downing... banquet speaker

A former businessman, he was an overseas field director for the Red Cross, then a Chamber of Commerce Manager. At this time, Mr. Downing devotes practically full time to lecturing and writing. He is an honorary member of the state organization of Future Homemakers of America, a State Farmer, an honorary Lion and an active Rotarian. He has received the Silver Beaver award from the Boy Scouts of America. His humor, his curbstone philosophy and his confidence and faith in people and in America make him a most outstanding speaker.

Mrs. Cox Reviews 'Runaway to Heaven' For Twentieth Century Cotillion Club

The first regular meeting of Twentieth Century Cotillion was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Tom Snow at 1600 N. Russell.

Mrs. Weldon Adair, president, presided at the business meeting. Following the meeting Mrs. Carl Gallemore introduced the programs for the coming year. The title is "Never Underestimate the Power of a Woman" Mrs. Gallemore gave a brief explanation.

The speaker for the meeting, Mrs. Horbard Cox, gave the book review "Runaway to Heaven", the story of Harriet Beecher Stowe. Mrs. Cox stated "Harriet Beecher Stowe was born in 1811, the daughter of a minister. Rev. Lillian Beecher. The early religious training had a profound effect on Harriet's life. She read a great deal and her idol was Lord Byron. Her first literary composition written at the age of thirteen showed her great talent. She met and married Calvin Stowe in Cincinnati, Ohio. They had seven children. In Cincinnati she observed the Negro situation and felt strongly that slavery was wrong. As the family was very poor Harriet began to write to help support her family. She produced some thirty books as well as many articles for newspapers. Her most famous book "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was conceived in a vision. This book brought a great deal of money and recognition for her. On a tour of Europe she met and became friends with Lady Byron. Lady Byron told her personal items concerning Lord Byron.

colm McDaniel, Bruce Riehart, Paul Reimer; Messrs Jim Dailey, Charles Vance, Robert LaFon, and Gene Barrett. Miss Rosemary Lawlor sings with the group and is also director. Mrs. John Gill is accompanist.

For this occasion the membership committee of the church will provide turkey, dressing and sweet potatoes. The families attending are asked to bring both a salad and a dessert. A nursery will be provided and a Walt Disney show for the older children will be shown.

Mrs. Neff Hosts Metanet Members

Quilting a dacton filled Colonial Girl quilt and dinner was enjoyed by members of Metanet Quilting Club when the group met recently in the home of Mrs. Wayne Neff at Bowers City.

Reported ill were Mr. J. B. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Longan and Grandmother Neff. Door prize was received by Mrs. Orval Johnson. Attending were Mmes. C. H. Smiley, Earl O'Neal, Forrest Cloyd, Orval Johnson, J. B. Jones and Willie Harless. Guests welcomed were Vincent Simons of Pampa and Mrs. Carrie Lamunyon of Larverend, Okla.

Auxiliary Plans Holiday Projects

Kerley Crossman Unit 334, American Legion Auxiliary, met recently in the home of Mrs. J. M. Turner at 519 Yeager.

Mrs. Joe Shelton, president, presided over the business session at which Mrs. J. Ray Martin, membership chairman, reported that 15 members had paid 1966 dues; Mrs. Lee Harrah, rehabilitation chairman, reported on the Auxiliary's helping a veteran and family with proceeds derived from the poppy sale, Mrs. Turner presented the Council of Clubs report and Mrs. F. W. Shotwell expressed appreciation to the Auxiliary for making 21 ditty bags to be sent to servicemen in Viet Nam.

The group voted to provide a Thanksgiving basket for a deserving veteran's family and also voted to send monetary donations to State Headquarters in Austin for the VA Hospital Christmas aid and to the Christmas Gift Shop to be held in the VA Hospital for ill veterans and families.

Following the business session a social hour was enjoyed.

TEL SS Class Installs Officers

Members of TEL SS Class of Central Baptist Church enjoyed an all-day meeting recently in the home of Mrs. R. E. Warren Sr.

A noon salad luncheon was served following which newly elected officers were installed. Using a theme of "Autumn Colors" Mrs. Lou Ann Lowe, installing officers, gave the charge of office to Mrs. Lelia Goner, president; Mrs. M. E. Tucker, first vice president; Mrs. C. G. Miller, second vice president; Mrs. T. J. McCreary and Mrs. W. O. Grace, secretary; Mrs. G. F. CAN CAUSE DISCOMFORT

Some women insist on wearing every bracelet they own. A moment's thought about their clanking, jangling costume may encourage some to cut down on the number. Too many can add to your discomfort if your nerves are jumpy.

Girls Auxiliary, Lefors First Baptist Church has Formal Coronation Service

LEFORS (Spl) - Girls Auxiliary of First Baptist Church were presented in the first Coronation Service in four years on Sunday evening during regular worship service.

The theme, "The World In Our Hearts" was carried out in colors of pink and white. The hugh back drop was covered in white with the theme inscribed in pink and silver glittered letters, surrounding a large pink, glittered heart. A lighted world globe was off - set to the stage which held the speakers stand, with a single pink rose and single white candle, lighted by 18 formal pink candles.

Mrs. Howard Marlar, WMU president, was presiding officer. Mrs. Darrel Roundtree presented the charges and Mrs. W. B. Minter gave the review.

Mrs. L. R. Cain gave the welcome address. Mrs. Floyd McMin and Mrs. James Harvey presented the awards to Misses Mary Jane Adams, maiden; Guyla James, Margie Chastain, Susan Cain and Karen Jackson, princesses. Rev. Ed. Spivey crowned the queen, Miss Sandra Cain.

Doug Cates announced the queen by a coronet fanfare, which was preceded by flower girl, Miss Johnetta Dunn who was gownned in pale pink, carrying a white lace basket and dropping pink rose petals. Darryl Cain, brother of the queen carried the crown on a pink satin pillow. The queen wore a full length formal gown of white and lace organza, caught with a velvet cummerbund.

Miss Linda Tillman played piano background music. Special music was provided by Misses Jan McPherson, Connie Teel and Pam James, accompanied by Mrs. J. M. McPherson at the organ.

Candle lighters were Misses Jan James and Nancy Sims. Misses Rhonda Shipman, Marsha Close and Karen Stanton were ushers.

Following the coronation service, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church. The register table was covered in ecru lace over pink, matching the serving table. A single pink rose, centered the register table. The serving table was centered with a pink floral arrangement, flanked by two frosted pink candles. The pink and white cake, inscribed with the G.A. initials and pink lemonade was served in crystal appointments.

Texas Federation of Music Clubs To Hold First District Annual Convention

The Harmony, MacDowell and Philharmonic Music Clubs of Amarillo will host the fifth annual convention of First District, Texas Federation of Music Clubs at the Federated Club House in Wofflin Village next Friday.

Junior Day activities are scheduled for the same place on Saturday.

"Community Service - Set to Music" is the convention theme. The convention is dedicated to the Amarillo Symphony. Mrs. Joe Yannis is general chairman, with Mrs. Harry G. Morning as co-chairman. Mrs. Wendell Heiney is program chairman. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. and continue until the opening of the convention at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Yannis will give the welcome. E. M. Blackburn, president of the Chamber of Commerce, is to give greetings, and Mrs. Dick Godwin of Hereford is to make the response. Mrs. Dean W. Spencer of Dalhart, First District president, will preside at the business session.

Representation is expected from other First District music clubs in Borger, Dalhart, Dawn, Dumas, Gruver, Hereford, Phillips, Spearman and Wellington. Mrs. B. M. Sims of Wellington is First District junior counselor. Mrs. Glenn L. Brown of Stanton, state junior counselor, is to be the principal speaker.

Delegates for the Saturday Junior Day program will represent clubs in Borger, Dawn, Dumas, Gruver, Hereford, Phillips, Spearman and Wellington.

A business session was conducted by Mrs. Rolland Treadaway, president. Mrs. James Frazier presented the program and Mrs. Forrest Rader read an essay which recently won her honorable mention in the National Essay Contest.

Mrs. Price Gives Program to P-TA

"Help Make Your Home and Community More Beautiful" was the theme for Lamar Parents-Teachers Association when the group met recently in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Bryon T. Buck, leader, introduced Mrs. Tom Price who showed dried flower arrangements and told where to find some of the things needed to make them.

The speaker stressed using shrubs and flowers in yards and perhaps borrowing from neighbor's yard. Mrs. Price made the floral arrangement for the door prize which was won by Mrs. Johnnie Meadows.

During the business meeting Mrs. Lawrence Paronto, Lamar teacher, was elected delegate to the State Convention. Mrs. Roy Frankie gave a report on the workshop in Phillips. Mrs. Glen Day was elected as treasurer.

Joe Page, principal, presented the budget and Mrs. Leigh reported on Fun Night to be held Oct. 21. The project for P-TA this year will be record players for each classroom.

Pampam Named 'Credit Woman of Year'

RECEIVES HONOR — Mrs. Ruth McQueary, credit and office manager of Zale's Downtown, was named "Credit Woman of the Year" at the Regional Credit Conference held last weekend in Coronado Inn. Mrs. McQueary has served as president, vice president, program chairman and publicity chairman for Consumer Credit Executives, and has held the offices of treasurer, corresponding secretary, first and second vice president and president of Pampa Credit Women's Club. She was named "Pampa's Most Friendly Woman Employee" last month and is a member of the B&PW Club.

The Regional Credit Conference, held last weekend in Coronado Inn, was represented by credit executives from Austin, Amarillo, Borger, Brownfield, Canyon, Commerce, Denver City, Dalhart, Dumas, Electra, Friona, Floydada, Lamesa, Lockney, Levelland, Knox City, Lubbock, McLean, Morton, Muleshoe, Olton, Quanah, Perryton, Plainview, Pampa, Snyder, Spearman, Spur, Seagraves, Seminole, Vernon, Wichita Falls and Weslaco.

Various groups that met Saturday and Sunday were: Medical, presented by Claude Bunton, Eunice Gist and Myrl Wilson; Installment, Bank & Finance, presented by Delbert Nunn and Neil Borders, and Open, Option and Revolving Accounts, presented by Jim Yarbrough and Linda Beadle.

Mrs. Virginia McDonald, president, called the meeting to order.

Jim Nation, mayor of Pampa, expressed a welcome to all those attending. The program speaker, B. Watkins, was introduced by Jack Christi of Lubbock. Mr. Watkins gave a speech entitled "On Keeping Yourself Current."

Immediately following the program, local officers of the Credit Women's Club were installed by Mrs. Arlene Taylor.

Installed were president, Ruby Crocker; first vice president, Lavern Bayless; second vice president, Marion George; treasurer, Mary Ellen Elliott, and secretary, Charlene Rich. Mrs. Ruth McQueary was named "Credit Woman of the Year."

A chuck wagon barbecue and entertainment concluded the Saturday session.

The conference resumed Sunday afternoon.

Russell-Foster Vows Exchanged

Single ring vows were exchanged by Mrs. Faye Russell and Foster M. White, both of Pampa, in Clovis, N.M., Oct. 17. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Nellie Spradling of Pampa and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morgan of Gravity, Iowa.

Breakfast Club Do For You? A banquet was held in the starlight room of the Coronado Inn at noon.

Charles Lux presented the convention wrap up. Lubbock was selected as the host city for the conference next year.

Local committee chairman presented were general conference chairman, Edna Day; budget committee chairman, Ruth McQueary; publicity chairman, Charlene Rich; entertainment chairman, Ken Peoples; registration chairman, Vi Dunham, and reservation chairman, Jewett Scarbrough.

Saucy, Gay Umbrellas for Teens

FOR GO-GO TEENAGERS — Saucy, bright crazy-quilt design with highly polished wet look (left) typifies the gay new personality of "Miss PK" umbrellas, the first collection ever created for the under-20 fashion leaders by Polan Katz. Real swinger for the go-go teenagers is the new BeltBrella (right). When the nylon rain-shedder is doing active duty, its adjustable carrying strap snaps off to be worn as a belt. Worn over the shoulder in rifle-toting manner, it leaves both hands free.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Any umbrella is a good friend when it's raining. But umbrellas, like eyeglass frames, are finally coming into their own in fashion. They are now keyed to costumes, color and even age groups.

A new collection making its debut this fall was designed especially for teen-agers. And it is as gay as an outdoor art exhibit.

Cover designs range from pop art to Gauguin-vivid floral splashes; mad crazy - quilt plaids to demure Pennsylvania Dutch prints and a complete range of the "in" solids.

The new wet look, a trend growing now in rainwear, is achieved by plastic coating over the surface colors, which intensifies the bright hues.

Weather records show that there are many more doubtful than stormy days in the forecast, but each requires the same preparation for protection. And the new umbrella collection was designed as an accessory for either or both predictions — a gay "doubtful day" costume and a ready-for-showers standby.

There are portage advantages, too, to leave both hands free. One is the BeltBrella, a slender nylon - sheathed umbrella with a leatherette adjustable shoulder strap for carrying rifle style. The strap unlashes to become a belt when the umbrella swings into active use.

Another favorite is the capacious Bag 'n' Brella, a side-zippered shoe or storm boot bag with umbrella pocket on one side and a brass lock purse attached, low and easy to reach on the other side. The matching leatherette shoulder strap adjusts from hands-free to over-arm carrying length.

The umbrella has come into its own as a fashion accessory and the new group for teen-agers is as per as the girls who will tote it for a bright touch on a rainy day.

Jaycee-Ette Area Seminar Held Here

Pampa Jaycee-Ettes hosted the Area One Jaycee-Ette Seminar Saturday in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church. Jaycee - Ettes attended from Clarendon, Borger, Happy, Dumas, Silverton, Amarillo, Fritch, Panhandle, Canyon and Perryton.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Jack Foster whose topic was the many points of parliamentary procedures, in this case pertaining to Jaycee-Ettes business meetings.

Following a luncheon, those attending were entertained by "The Climbers," a local junior high group who sang a selection of folk songs.

Mrs. Bill Rogers, state Jaycee-Ette president, attended the meeting and Mrs. Chauncey Hommel, Area One Jaycee-Ette vice president, presided over the business portion of the meeting. The various Jaycee - Ette Clubs brought and displayed individual scrapbooks and each brought samples of money-making projects.

The seminar began at 10 a.m. and ended at 3 p.m.

Pampa Jaycee-Ettes attending were Mmes. John Warner, Morris Wilson, Duggan Smith, Jim Osborne, Jake Webb, Bud McVicker, Jim Killian, Eddie Polnac, Ross Pool, Nathan Lancaster, Don Tinney, A. G. Higgins, James Weathered and Jimmy Hayes.

NEVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

SUNDAY MORNING GRIST

From the Editorial Mill

THE PAMPA school board is going to take a crack at PESO. That's the Panhandle-wide organization being set up to channel federal aid money into local school districts. The stated purpose of giving assistance to "educationally deprived" children of low income families sounds good on the surface. All federal handouts always sound good on the surface. But one thing should never be lost sight of. What the federal government pays for, the federal government ultimately controls. It was Justice Louis D. Brandeis who once said: "Experience should teach us to be most on guard to protect liberty when the Government's purposes are beneficent. The greatest dangers to liberty lurk in insidious encroachment of men of zeal, well meaning, but lacking in understanding."

THE STEP the Pampa board took in joining PESO and accepting federal money amounts to the paving of another thin strip on the highway of federal bureaucratic control. Here is a repeat of a summation in the United States Chamber of Commerce booklet, "The Power of Choice," just released: "It says this: 'It is not a solution to concentrated power to concentrate that power further. This is the radical error of collectivism in all its forms, an error that has caused unprecedented social and economic change, the values which have made this nation great. In any age, the great society is the free society.' Any tiny submission to beneficent offers from the central government lays you open to just that much more loss of local control. It is good that the Pampa school board goes into PESO reluctantly on a one-year trial basis. But, it is sad that it quit nibbling at the sinker and now has the hook in its mouth."

THE CASE at hand in the Pampa Independent School District is merely a tiny drop in the bucket of a trend to submit more and more to central government control out of Washington. As for PESO and the taking of federal money, the control for the time being is only as far away as Canyon. Of course, there is no distrust of those who will do the administering in Canyon. The point is that there is a relinquishing of local control per se. Next comes the relinquishing of control in Canyon and The Wizards of Washington say, heck let's run the thing from here. By that time, Pampa's little bit of grant of $99,000 has grown in size and the bigger temptation arises again to "take what you can get." But, when you take you are going to have to give, too. You take the cash and give away local control. That is the always present danger.

FEDERAL textbooks? Columnists Rowland Evans and Robert Novak recently reported discovery of a secret plan of the federal government to change history textbooks "in order to give the Negro his rightful place in history." U.S. Rep. Robert H. Michel had the column inserted in the Congressional Record, with this comment: "The real issue is this: should the responsibility of writing, or rewriting, textbooks used by our children remain with qualified educators, free of federal influence, or should it be handled completely by the federal government?" These are the things that sneak up on you under inch-by-inch, creeping federal control.

Service or Servitude

By MILDRED PROGAR
The enlightened person knows that in the spirit of service lies perfect freedom. Not in a false attitude of service that becomes servitude but one of giving service to other persons in his life. The vast difference between the two attitudes is the difference between free men and slaves. Knowing that each of us has unique talents to use, abilities to develop and desires to achieve, the person who understands the meaning of service to his fellow man will be busily engaged in directing his efforts to accomplishment of his goals. He will be free from superstition as to the just rewards of his efforts, the concept of self-sacrifice and the egotism of success. His individual will to succeed will be directed, not broken as in the case of the person in servitude who is actually in bondage to the whims of irrational influences upon him. The enlightened person will have determined the goal he wishes to achieve and will be directing his will to fulfillment through the use of his unique talents and abilities. It does not matter whether he is making airplanes, selling shoes, or writing books. He will know what he wants, he will want to achieve it and the strength of his will to serve is the success-determining factor. The businessman who wants to build his particular business knows that he must want to do so in the face of all odds. He knows his success is dependent upon his producing the best available product or service for his customers and he must be willing to provide that product. To the degree that he is willing to work at it, he will succeed. The same principle of willingness to serve applies in our personal lives. The husband who wants the love and affection of his wife must be willing to know and serve her true desires in order to maintain the relationship. The parent who would have the respect and love of his child must be willing to understand the needs and desires of the child and serve them. The enlightened person will serve not by irrationally reacting to every whim or demand made upon him, but by acting from the highest level of his own understanding of what is required to establish true rapport of desire in the particular instance. There will be no case of unwillingly giving in to a whim just for the sake of expediency. Instead, the attitude of true service will be directed toward establishing an atmosphere of freedom of thought and action that is based upon conviction of real desire of all persons concerned. The just reward... the natural result of all factors at work... will be recognized for what it is... the natural result of what has been put into the situation. There will be no superstition about the "luck" involved with the reward that is acquired or the success achieved. Nor will there be any egotism resulting from success... the enlightened person knows that in the true spirit of service lies the perfect freedom for natural consequences to evolve. He accepts with natural grace and humility the just rewards of the service he has been willing to give. He knows the dignity of man and conducts his relationships without coercion of thought or action. He would not place others in a position of servitude to him for he has learned that only a willingness to serve constitutes freedom. Anything less is servitude and eventually leads to slavery of some variety.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank Markey

Graham crackers were named after Sylvester Graham, a Connecticut minister and reformer. He startled everyone by suggesting a vegetable diet as a sure cure for intemperance. Although considered off-beat when he published a treatise on bread-making back in 1837, many of his ideas about good health are accepted and practiced today. He abhorred fresh bread and insisted none should be eaten until it was at least 12 hours old and it had to be made from coarsely ground whole wheat flour. When feather beds were fashionable, he recommended hard mattresses, open bedroom windows, cold shower baths (long before the advent of modern plumbing) loose and lighter clothing, daily exercise, fresh fruits, rough cereals and even pure drinking water. We doubt if he had many admirers, but his ideas finally did catch on.

Today's smile: A father was asked: "Does your son burn the midnight oil?" And he replied: "Yes, and a lot of gasoline with it."

New York's Radio City Music Hall boasts the largest stage curtain in the world. It contains more than 2000 yards of golden antique hammered satin, nearly a mile of bronze cable and weighs three tons. It is raised and lowered in many different patterns by thirteen separate motors that control cables sewn into the fabric. John Paul Jones, generally regarded as the founder of the U.S. Navy, established the 13-gun salute for American ships. Naturally the 13 cannon booms represented the 13 original states.

Thoughts while shaving: Did you know there's a town in New Mexico named Truth or Consequences in honor of the radio-TV show? The press agent who pulled that one off deserves a bonus. Styling is important in everything these days. Now you can get eyeglass frames in such shades as cranberry red, china blue, royal purple, glossy onyx and ivory cream. An Ohio reader asks us if any colleague ever made the official All-American team for playing two positions. The answer: Bronko Nagurski was chosen as a line man and a back while he was playing for Minnesota in the late 1920's. There are many uses for old telephone directories. Recently a South American banana grower bought several hundred out-of-date directories to bullet-proof his trucks. And an ingenious Little Leaguer in this country showed up for an important game using the family directory as a chest protector. It's sad to relate, but almost 5 per cent of the child population of the U.S. between the ages of 1 and 17 are orphans and are cared for through public or private agencies. Uncle Sam's figures show there are about 3 million of them. The Chicago Research Institute claims to have discovered a new way to identify individuals, which is as accurate as fingerprints or blood types. Scientists there have invented a "people sniffer," which correctly identifies the odor of any person. The scientists believe every human being has a distinctive odor unlike that of anyone else. Maybe it works, but to date we haven't heard of the FBI using it to identify reluctant culprits and there are times when the FBI deals with some very smelly people. The Norwich (Conn.) BULLETIN reported in a story: "Ordinarily on Sunday the Block Island steamer has gone patronage." Thanks for the tip. We won't go there on Sunday.

Country Editor speaking: "The best thing to do for prematurely gray hair is to admire it."

Disagreements on Fiscal, Business Policies Between Fowler and Connor Under Criticism By Senators, Hearings Likely

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON - Treasury Secretary Fowler and Commerce Secretary Connor would be well advised to temper their relief over the impending wind-up of Congress. That won't get certain critical lawmakers out of their hair. The legislators propose to keep right on harrying them even though the congressional wheels are shut down. During the interim before the next session in January, members of the influential Senate Foreign Relations and Finance Committees are planning to hold a series of "informal hearings" to grill the two Cabinet members on apparent contradictions and lack of coordination on their fiscal and business policies and views. These critical senators have been closely studying recent speeches and statements by Fowler and Connor, and have concluded they are thinking and talking at cross purposes. The senators want to question them about this and other major problems: - What if anything is being done to curb the continuing heavy outflow of dollars in industrial and other investments abroad. While the voluntary restraints on foreign loans by U.S. banks have been quite successful, corporate investments abroad are running 20 per cent above last year. Secretary Connor has been worriedly conferring with business leaders on this, but Fowler optimistically expressed no concern in a speech to the Business Council at Hot Springs, Va., last Friday. Orated the glad-handing Treasury chief, "I think there is undue pessimism now where there was undue optimism earlier."

- What if anything is being done about international monetary reforms. Fowler has blown hot and cold on this key issue. In a speech several months ago, he called for a world monetary conference. But in his latest pronouncement, he indicated a change of mind. Said Fowler, "We see no problems arising within the next year that present international monetary arrangements are not adequate to handle." That stand is flatly challenged by the critical senators. It is their emphatic contention that the world monetary situation is extremely precarious and demands immediate far-reaching safeguarding measures. ON A COLLISION COURSE - Foremost among these critics are Senators Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., Stuart Symington, D-Mo., Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Vance Hartke, D-Ind., Paul Douglas, D-Ill. Some of them are privately questioning whether the Johnson Administration has a definite fiscal policy. They argue they have been unable to find any evidence of that in the courses pursued by Secretaries Fowler and Connor. Where they haven't directly clashed, no coordination was a apparent. Each seemingly is going his own way with resulting uncertainty and confusion. Cautiously pointed out one senator: "In Fowler's speech last Friday, he said, 'We are making good progress, indicating we are on the right track.' Yet Connor is so disturbed about the lack of progress that he held a hurried unannounced meeting with his balance-of-payments advisory committee to consider emergency measures. These two men ought to get together and make up their minds on what is what. One thing is certain: They can't both be right." In the first nine months of this year, U.S. corporate investments abroad amounted to $2.1 billion compared to $2.4 billion for all of last year. This heavy corporate outflow of dollars has largely offset the voluntary curb on foreign loans by U.S. banks. HATCHET JOB - Attorney General Katzenbach is deriving a particular satisfaction out of the impending adjournment of Congress. It means the pigeonholing in the House Judiciary Committee of a bill passed overwhelmingly by the Senate months ago requiring Senate confirmation of a successor to world-famous FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Sponsored by Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., and Senator Milward Simpson, R-Wyo., purpose of this measure is to plug a loophole in the existing law - under which the attorney general can appoint the FBI chief without, in effect, accounting to anyone. This law has been in force since the creation of the FBI. Hoover, its first and only director, was named by Attorney General Harlan Stone, subsequently a member of the Supreme Court. Katzenbach wants to retain this authority. But he got nowhere in the Senate. Dirksen and Simpson had no difficulty in speedily putting their bill through the House. But the House was a different story. Representative Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., 77-year-old chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, is on close terms with Katzenbach - who ingratiatingly refers to him as "my boss." After Katzenbach let Celler know how he felt about the Senate-passed bill, the latter obligingly went to work. He assigned the measure to a subcommittee - which he heads. This committee has jurisdiction over anti-trust and judgeship matters. But it also handles legislation of special interest to Celler. The Dirksen-Simpson bill fell in that category. And that has been the last heard of it. Celler has held no hearings on it, and apparently none ever will be held if he can help it. The measure is definitely dead for this session, and its prospects next year are equally dim. It pays to be a friend of the chairman of the House Judiciary

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

Subsidy, Inflation, and Control Only a few weeks ago, a government grant of $3,000,000 assured the continued operation of commuter service on the New Haven Railroad for a few months longer. But if it is proper for the federal government to transport the people, it is also proper for the government to feed, house, clothe, educate, and amuse them. But if government does these things for us, then we must obey government. It becomes our master, and not our servant. No government can produce enough to keep people alive unless the people are compelled to do its bidding. But a government-directed economy always results in a low standard of living. The Socialist and Communist countries around the world are proof of that fact. When we abandon the free market, we abandon also our civil and political liberties, and head for hardship and a greatly reduced quantity of the good things of life. Why do we do this? Because so many are deceived by the hope and the promise of something for nothing. The people go along with federal subsidy to railroads because they believe they get their daily transportation for less than it costs. In other words, they are getting some of the wealth of others. They do not seem to realize that at the same time, others are getting some of their wealth. And in the process of paying each other's bills, everything costs more than it should, and we wind up having a good deal less than we otherwise should and could have. Why is the federal government taking this action? It is alleged that the railroads are bankrupt and cannot pay these costs. Why are the railroads bankrupt? Because of previous government intervention in excessive regulation of railroads, excessive taxation, and in legislation that permits unreasonable featherbedding. Why can't the municipalities and the states subsidize the railroads? Because they, too, are heavily in the red and continue operating only by borrowing more money. But the federal government is also heavily in the red and borrowing more money every year. How can it subsidize the railroad? By borrowing still more money. There is a limit to what the municipalities and states can borrow, but there is no limit to the ability of the federal government to keep on supplying dollars. It can distribute its bonds to the banks and have new money placed to its credit. But this is pure and simple inflation, and in time it will reduce the purchasing power of every dollar in the land. It has already destroyed 56 per cent of the purchasing power of our dollar during the last twenty years, and it will go on destroying more of it. What is gained, therefore, by demanding more Socialism, greater spending and more indebtedness when we are reducing the purchasing power of every dollar we own? It seems we are getting something for nothing but we are also giving up the purchasing power of our money, and the latter outweighs the former.

Editor: Are our hard won freedoms in this country to be abused by a bunch of irresponsible radicals? In the newspapers and on television and radio are constant reports of demonstrations against our country's policy in Viet Nam. After serving 20 years in the U.S. Marine Corps, in an attempt to help preserve our freedoms, it makes my blood boil to see these freedoms abused. If these so-called Americans want to exercise their rights of freedom of speech and assembly so badly, then I say - let them exercise another privilege they have as Americans, the right to fight and die, if necessary, to preserve the liberties of our country. Remove their draft exempt status as students and provide them with an education in defending the freedoms that they so wantonly abuse. Donald R. Michaels U.S.M.C. Ret'd. 1813 Duncan St. Pampa, Texas

Question Box

QUESTION: "Can tax-supported, government schools be beneficial to mankind? If so, why?" not? Can public schools be beneficial to mankind? If not, why?"

ANSWER: The answer to why tax-supported government schools cannot be beneficial to mankind is that they are based on coercion; they are not peaceful, they are not voluntary. They are arbitrary. They take away from the individual his right to plan his own life and to make decisions. As Ortepa Y Gasset says, "Life is nothing but making decisions."

Government schools try to mold all people under the same form. They do not let people develop their own mental faculties. As one philosopher says, "The higher the state of civilization, the more heterogeneous people are." The government schools try to make all people homogeneous - all alike like grains of sand on the beach.

Of course, they cannot teach the difference between right and wrong. They cannot teach what is ethical and moral, and what is criminal.

Some people argue that government schools are good because they can train people to use their hands. The answer to that is that there are hundreds of thousands of occupations and the state or the government cannot train all of them. While they are trained on an individual basis by those people who have experience in doing the job, they can be useful and be paid something while they are learning. They will learn much faster by doing and by imitating than by being lectured to. Most people are imitative animals. They are greatly subject to their environment and when their environment is based on might makes right, the majority determines right, there is no moral absolutes, naturally the youth of the land will become confused.

Certainly we have better churches because they are not controlled by the state. If they were controlled by the state, then the state tells what the preacher shall preach and who shall preach.

Government schools cannot teach the difference between right and wrong. They cannot teach that there are moral absolutes and that the state has no right to do things that no individual has a right to do. They are undoubtedly the primary cause of us being in the predicament we are in, in the United States.

On the other hand, public schools that are based on a voluntary, peaceful basis - can teach the difference between right and wrong. They can stimulate the youth of the land to use their own brains and their own minds instead of treating them like empty pitchers to be filled with irrelevant statements.

Public schools are those where the public controls them. The parents control what their children are taught. There would be many more schools if the government didn't have a monopoly over the schools. There would be competition in education. We can think of no progress that did not come from voluntary creative competition. The parents would select the schools that had demonstrated that they were able to teach the youth of the land to live in harmony with natural laws. This the state cannot do. That is the reason public schools, where the public and the parents control the schools, can be beneficial to mankind.

The Almanac

Today is Sunday, Oct. 24, the 297th day of 1965 with 68 to follow. The moon is full. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars, Venus, and Saturn. In 1861, the first telegram was sent across the United States when California Chief Justice Stephen Field messaged President Lincoln in Washington. In 1901, Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor went over Niagara Falls in a barrel, the first person to survive such a stunt. In 1945, Secretary of State James Byrnes announced the charter of the United Nations was in force following the Soviet ratification.

scionable featherbedding. Why can't the municipalities and the states subsidize the railroads? Because they, too, are heavily in the red and continue operating only by borrowing more money. But the federal government is also heavily in the red and borrowing more money every year. How can it subsidize the railroad? By borrowing still more money. There is a limit to what the municipalities and states can borrow, but there is no limit to the ability of the federal government to keep on supplying dollars. It can distribute its bonds to the banks and have new money placed to its credit. But this is pure and simple inflation, and in time it will reduce the purchasing power of every dollar in the land. It has already destroyed 56 per cent of the purchasing power of our dollar during the last twenty years, and it will go on destroying more of it. What is gained, therefore, by demanding more Socialism, greater spending and more indebtedness when we are reducing the purchasing power of every dollar we own? It seems we are getting something for nothing but we are also giving up the purchasing power of our money, and the latter outweighs the former.

"CONTROVERSIAL" FORTHRIGHTNESS Never in all our history as a free people has there been so great a need for good men to stand up on their two feet, square their shoulders, and in a courteous manner, say what they really think. Far too many people seem to walk in constant fear of appearing contentious and saying something which someone else might not like to hear. It is much more than a simple matter of being considerate and polite. It is a terror of the consequences of being honest. None of us think exactly alike and many think very differently. This means that if we say openly what we really think, sooner or later someone is going to disagree with us, perhaps very strongly. There may be an argument. We may become "controversial". When civilized men disagree, they do not beat each other over the head with clubs. If they are honorable men they also do not try to cut each other down with sarcasm and personal attacks. They talk their disagreement over, hoping to resolve it; and if they cannot, at least both may hope they have learned something constructive from the encounter. There is nothing frightening or horrible about disagreeing with someone. Far from being a dreadful thing to be avoided at all costs, controversy can be enjoyable. It can be and should be educational. No danger in controversy can possibly be as great as the danger, in a free country, of having no controversy at all. A dictatorship, be it fascist, communist, or socialist, is relatively free from controversy and many other things we associate in our minds with liberty.

Sex and Violence Return to Television

By JOAN CROSBY
NEW YORK (NEA) — And Amos Burke unhooked the top of the girl's bikini, the better to apply sultan oil.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, James West is being held in a chair by a pair of villains while a third man repeatedly slaps him in the face with a goatskin bota.

Out among the surfers, innocent, pugnosed Gidget keeps a flaming diary, all imaginative, and uses words like "sexual" in her conversation, to prove what a big little girl she is.

It's all part of television's return to "sex and violence," four years after Congressional hearings that led to, among other things, the replacement of Oliver Treyz as president of ABC-TV.

Right after the Congressional hearings, frightened television executives cracked down on sex and violence so that gangster shows were as refined as a Daughters of the American Revolution convention and sex as racy as a kindergarten springtime production. That was four seasons ago.

Now, suddenly, the restraints are off. To make a television series this season you need three basic props: pretty girls, whips and swords. The whips are for beating up heroes and the swords are for sticking in chests during lingering deaths and if you don't know what the pretty girls are for, better check to see if you are still alive.

Pretty girls fill Trials of O'Brien. In the first, star Peter Falk, tracking down information, went to a warehouse where a shapely, high-fashion blonde with a tight dress and plenty of cleavage just happened to be working. It was obviously not your average, utilitarian storehouse.

Both The Wild, Wild West and The Loner, in their first episodes, had scenes in which dying men were seen with swords in their chests. In both shows, close-ups of the hero showed the hilt wavering in front of his face.

The fine line between violence necessary to the story and sadism was illustrated in these scenes. The death scene in The Wild, Wild, West was dragged out and gory. The scene in The Loner, in which Lloyd Bridges killed a young boy in the last battle of the Civil War, was a character study of the effect of a senseless killing on a sensitive man.

The first episode of The Big Valley had a scene in which a bunch of lechers tried to pull Linda Evans off her horse. She beat them off with a whip. The second episode of The Man Called Shenandoah had Robert Horton facing a lynching. A crazed mob pulled him off his horse after a tremendous struggle during which he lashed out at them with a flaming torch.

In the first Gunsmoke of the season, a gang is looting Dodge City and Marshal Dillon is struck across the ribs by a flaming torch.

In The Big Valley, Linda Evans sees Lee Majors at a whip to him before a word is spoken. In The Virginian, a hothead takes his bullwhip to James Drury, who is whipped over and over before being shot. In Dream of Jeannie, a comedy, Larry Hagman winds up a slave to a princess, with a whip laid across his back to rid him of insolence.

Robert Horton, of The Man Called Shenandoah, has been quoted as saying, "They want us to have violence in this series." Presently Rod Serling, who created The Loner, and CBS programming boss Mike Dann are feuding over whether or not Dann issued an order for more violence in the series. Production on the series has been stopped while the issue is whipped to a froth.

When violence and — or sex — are germane to a story there can be no objection to it. Secret Agent, the well-made British series which was a CBS summer replacement, used violence only occasionally, and then in a brief scene in which much was left to the imagination.

The big laugh comes when you try to obtain "action and

"cheesecake" pictures from the networks. You request a shot with knives in it from one network and are told, "We don't take pictures showing knives being used." You ask for cheesecake, hoping at least for a shot of Anne Francis in the bikini she wore in the first Honey West, and get shots of pretty girls in bathing suits that could be worn at a Salvation Army picnic.

Anyway, dear television viewers, enjoy it while you can. Eventually some Congressman is going to see the same thing you are and we'll be in for another in the endless series of repeats.

Television in Review

United Press International HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A fascinating development is occurring in television programming. At first glance, it seems as though the teen-age audience influence has been overrated. This is not true. The commercial influence of this audience grows steadily. But now television has learned it must pay the price of catering to a notoriously impatient age group that changes its likes overnight.

The most striking example of this price is the coming cancellation of ABC-TV's twice-weekly rock 'n' roll series, "Shindig," which not long ago was giving "The Beverly Hillbillies" a bad time in the ratings, but is now doing poorly. A look at the ratings indicates that NBC-TV's copy of "Shindig," entitled "Hullabaloo," is by no means breaking any statistical records either. Some other teen-age type shows, like the Patty Duke program, are also getting murdered. And there is not a youth-oriented musical series among the top shows.

Nevertheless, the number of money-spending youngsters continues to grow apace, and suddenly the most important men at the networks are those shrewd enough to get out of their offices and learn to foresee a trend, and the one after that, and so on. This is a maddening sort of challenge for an industry that likes to set its

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — War has proved profitable for Aldo Ray who has received $75,000 for his role in "Men in War," and next moves to a starring role in "What Did You Do in the War, Daddy?"

THE QUIET RETURN OF SEX AND VIOLENCE: As Melodie Johnson peels before Mickey Rooney on NBC-TV's 'The Loner,' the networks wouldn't release photos of the sexier or more gruesome scenes.

University Presidents Concur on Vandalism

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—The president of Baylor and Texas A&M University expressed regret Saturday over painting of some school buildings on the A&M campus Friday night. The incident occurred on the eve of the annual Baylor-A&M Southwest Conference football game.

Security officials at College Station nabbed a Baylor freshman who denied any part in the defacing of 13 buildings but he named 14 other Baylor freshmen. He said they came to A&M to "paint the campus." The names were given Baylor

Red Cross News

By BOB REGAN
Dick Strayer, our area Red Cross man from Amarillo writes from Belle Chasse, Louisiana:

"Dear Mrs. Libby: This is a big job; the clean-up is still underway. We expect the Red Cross will spend $20,000,000 here. We do have 6,000 unassigned cases. Thanks for all the help, Libby. Sincerely, Dick."

Looks as though there is still plenty of work to be done in and around the New Orleans area.

The Welfare Index will meet at 4 p.m., Oct. 26 in the City Club Room. The Red Cross is a member of the Index. All persons should try to be there.

A group of ladies from White Deer were in the Red Cross office Friday morning to take training for volunteer work in their community. Mrs. E. C. Shuman was in charge of the meeting. It was good to see this group of interested citizens working together toward a common goal.

Mrs. Bill Felter, Leader of Girl Scout Troop No. 1 tells that her girls are making 24 bids to be sent to a VA hospital in Tomah, Wisconsin. This particular Vet's Hospital needs 100 bids for its patients. Should anyone or any organization care to participate in this much-needed service, call Mrs. Libby Shotwell at the Red Cross Office. This is a wonderful service project for your club or troop.

Mrs. Jack Foster, Pampa Chapter Chairman, presided over the area meeting in Pampa on the 19th of this month. Forty members and eight chapters were represented. Mrs. A. D. Hills was elected secretary-treasurer.

The program was presented by Jim Wiley from the Amarillo Air Base.

Faye Denton from Amarillo, youth secretary for the Potter County Chapter, discussed out of school counselling, and Libby Shotwell discussed in-school

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovett Memorial Library this week are:

"From the Pecos to the Powder" — Bob Kennon; one of the last old-time cowboys here tells his own story; his boyhood in Texas, wandering from ranch to ranch in the Southwest, the trek to Montana with a trail herd, and his life thereafter among the people and ranches of the area.

"Servicemen and What They Do" — Karl Schuon; women in the military services are here to stay, and the modern young woman will do well to consider the opportunities that the armed forces offer in training, travel, and the responsibility of serving her country in the uniform of her choice.

"The Mind Readers" — Margery Allingham; this sneaks ahead of newspaper headline in a wonderful tale of what happens when murderers and spies tangle with ESP.

"The Man in the Mirror" — Frederick Ayer, Jr.; from its chilling opening in a top-secret room in the Kremlin to its desperately tense climax at a meeting of the U. S. National Security Council—at which a time bomb is ticking away within feet of the President—this is an almost unbearably exciting tale.

"The Garden of the Finzi-counselling. Next meeting will be in Dumas on January 18.

"A Journey to Orassia" — Alan Cailou; adventure, oil, and rebellion in the Middle East combine to form the plot of this novel, as Roger Sequoyah, a skilled geologist, agrees to assist in an oil-hunt off the coast of a feudal Middle-Eastern kingdom in return for the sum he needs to finance his private project.

"A Few Days in Madrid" — Audrey and Wm. Roos; a story of modern-day espionage and counter-espionage in Spain. The cold-blooded killings, and kidnappings are somewhat balanced by the warmth of the love-affair that manages to survive the carnage.

"The Hawks of Noon" — John C. Champion; a vivid picture of the conflict between two alien cultures — Indian and white — in a novel of life, love, and death during an Apache uprising in Arizona in 1870.

"Miss McIntosh, My Darling" — Marguerite Young; a picaresque psychological novel — a novel of the road and of the human spirit in its search for reality in a world of illusion and nightmare.

BOWIE RIFLE NOW IN ALAMO

Widow Wants Historic Piece

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI)—The rifle of James Bowie, a legendary figure in Texas' fight for independence from Mexico, may be taken soon from its spot in the Alamo at San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. A. G. Pellegrin of Laredo, whose husband loaned the long rifle to the Alamo 29 years ago, said she is thinking of asking for its return. Pellegrin died in February.

She has written members of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, custodians of the Alamo, about the possibility of getting the rifle again. But so far they have shown considerable reluctance to give it back.

"I would like to have it back, some time or other," Mrs. Pellegrin told United Press International today. "I don't like the ladies holding back on me."

Mrs. Pellegrin said officials of the Alamo had written her and asked her to come to San Antonio to take part in a formal presentation in which she could give the gun to the Alamo.

"I think it is very wrong for a patriotic organization like that to hold out and say 'I know you own it but...' They want me to go up there and make a formal presentation of the gun to the Alamo," she said.

"This gun has been in our family for more than a hundred years." I don't want to give it up yet."

She has a receipt dated April 24, 1836, saying the rifle was loaned by her husband to the Alamo but subject to recall by the owner.

She had planned to go to San Antonio today, but decided to wait until later when her health is better.

Mrs. Pellegrin said she probably would go to the Alamo in the near future and ask for the rifle. She has not decided what action she would take if they refused.
