IN VIET NAM CRISIS

New Training Post Buildup Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army is expected next week to announce plans for opening one or more training centers to handle recruits in its 235,000-man Viet Nam buildup.

A spokesman told UPI Saturday that Ft. Benning, Ga., and several other camps were under consideration as locations. The others are believed to include Ft. Bliss, Texas and possibly Ft. Sill, Okla., and Ft. Hood, Texas.

Basic training is now given at Forts Dix, N.J., Knox, Ky.,

Gordon, Ga., Polk, La., Leonard Wood, Mo. and Ord Calif. Specialized training is provided for WACs at Ft. McClellan, Ala., and for medics at Ft. Houston, Texas.

Quick action to expand basic training is necessary because a sharply increased influx of recruits will be felt later this month.

Form New Division

The draft, scheduled to jump to 35,000 a month, has been revised upward from 17,000 to 27,400 for September and has been set at 29,000 for October.

It is expected that a new, 14,000-man Army division will be formed at Ft. Riley, Kan., and will be assigned responsibility for conducting its own basic training there.

One of three new 3,800-man brigades, at Ft. Devens, Mass., will also train recruits.

The other brigades will be formed in January and February at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Ft. Benning, Ga., but have not yet been given a training responsibility.

The Army also has completed plans for a big expansion of its Officer Candidate School (OCS) program which is open to enlisted men who are at least high school graduates and can score high marks on intelligence and aptitude tests.

Provide Third Of Officers

The plan calls for OCS training at Ft. Belvoir, Va., and Forts Knox and Gordon as well as expansion of the present schools at Forts Benning and Sill. Enrollments will total 11,700 annually compared to 3,400 a year in the past.

If continued at the new rate, the OCS training will provide more than a third of the army's officers. Others come from West Point, the Reserves and National Guard, and from appointments largely limited to college graduates.

The buildup is to increase the Army from 969,000 to just over 1,200,000 men. A total buildup of 340,000 will increase the combined armed forces to just over 3 million men.

Meet Miss America: Deborah Bryant

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) — Miss Kansas, 19-year-old Deborah Bryant, a 36-23-36 sunflower blonde "bookworm" who thinks "sex appeal is an unhealthy preoccupation of our generation," Saturday night was crowned Miss America for 1966.

Bodies Float in Flood Workers Help Living

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bodies of Hurricane Betsy victims floated in flood waters and remained inside houses Saturday as rescue workers concentrated on helping the living. One official estimated the death toll may exceed 100 persons.

At last count Louisiana had 36 dead. The death toll of Betsy in two weeks of rampage through the Caribbean Sea, south Florida and the upper Gulf of Mexico into Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee was at least 47 confirmed.

Dr. Nicholas Chetta, of the New Orleans coroner's office said there was no way of knowing how many bodies would be found when 16-foot deep waters clear away from the flooded areas.

"I say it may be that high (100), because, who knows, it could be as high as 200," Chetta said. "There are plenty of bodies still out there. The teams evacuating the living and not the dead, but we'll catch hell Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday."

Chetta said bodies were floating in the waters and some were still inside houses. He said at first rescuers were securing bodies to trees. "But are no longer able to do so."

He said there were 30 bodies at the police morgue.

Damage may run into several hundred million dollars and perhaps 7,000 persons were homeless.

Betsy, now just a low pressure area of rain squalls, was at last report pushing through Tennessee to Kentucky, more than 400 miles from New Orleans.

President Johnson, after a two-hour inspection of New Orleans Friday night, returned to Washington and declared Louisiana a disaster area, eligible for federal rebuilding funds.

Though New Orleans was emerging from the shock of the storm and the awful damage 125-mile-an-hour winds inflicted there was no end in sight to the flood.

Water poured into New Orleans and into St. Bernard Parish to the east from lakes Pontchartrain and Borgne and from the Industrial and the People's Avenue canal. Much of New Orleans east and the Gentilly section were under water.

Calvin Callais, a member of the St. Bernard Parish School Board, estimated 35,000 of the 45,000 people who live in the parish had fled, with three-quarters of the parish under water up to 16 feet deep.

Callais said he was sheltering 100 persons in his three-story home in Arabi, south of New Orleans until the water got so high everybody had to leave.

An undetermined number of flooded-out residents were still on their roofs and a fleet of small boats rescued them.

WATER STUDY

Report Set for Tuesday

The Pampa City Commission is expected to hear recommendations of the Citizen's Water Advisory Committee when they meet Tuesday for their regular semi-monthly meeting.

The Water Advisory Committee has been studying Pampa's water problem in relation to existing water supplies and the Canadian River Municipal Water for the past couple of months.

Travis Lively, vice-chairman of the committee, will present the findings and recommendations of the committee's two month study.

Also on the lengthy agenda for Tuesday is the first reading of Ordinance 631 adopting the city's budget for the 1965-66 fiscal year, and Ordinance 632 setting the tax levy.

Also listed on the agenda is the approval of routine bills; a resolution accepting the completed contract of J. T. Brodie and Co. for sewer line work and authorize payment in the amount of $30,138.61 for sewer bond funds and the approval of time deposit purchases in the amount of $281,600 from various funds.

Commissioners are also expected to rescind Ordinance 623 which would remove the existing summer water rate; approval of the transfer of $75,000 from water funds to the general funds and the approval of an estimated $76,302.05 from sewer bond funds for construction work completed on sewer plant through August 31.

The commission will meet at 8:30 a. m. in City Hall.

Connally Will Preside At Governor's Parley

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. John Connally will fly to Sea Island, Ga., Sunday where he will preside as chairman of the 31st annual meeting of the Southern Governors Conference.

Connally will address the opening session Monday and preside over the succeeding meetings which will conclude Wednesday at noon.

Highlight of the conference will be a state dinner Tuesday night when Secretary of State Dean Rusk will speak.

A special committee on nuclear energy and space will meet Sunday afternoon with the southern interstate nuclear board executive committee. Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland will give a report on that meeting at Monday's business session.

The governors will be discussing such topics as cooperation in the development of tourism; National Guard organization and highway construction and finance.

Sea Island is a favorite tourist spot on Georgia's Atlantic Coast. Georgia Gov. Carl E. Sanders will serve as host for the conference.

The preliminary program made no mention of any recent civil rights activity or legislative proposals which may certainly come up in one form or another.

Last year during the conference at San Antonio, Gov. Paul Johnson of Mississippi made several unsuccessful attempts to push through some strong states' rights resolutions.

Chamber Warns 'Homes' Racket Still Working

The Solicitors Review Board of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce warned today the "model home" racket continues to be used to defraud the public in the sale of aluminum siding.

Wynne Veale, secretary of the Board, said fast talking salesmen dangle the lure of "something for nothing" to induce homeowners to sign installment sales contracts covering exorbitantly priced aluminum siding jobs.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local chamber is affiliated through membership, the California Attorney General has reported homeowners in that state alone are bilked of more than $7 million annually by fraudulent aluminum siding sales schemes.

Even a conservative projection of these findings, NBBB said, would mean a huge annual toll nationwide.

The California official said more than 4,700 contracts, ranging from $2,500 to $6,000, were sold during an 18-month period. Salesmen's commissions on a single contract often were as high as $1,000.

NBBB said that while most siding applicators are responsible businessmen, a minority in the industry perpetrates the residing racket despite repeated public warnings by Better Business Bureaus over the years. It works this way:

The scheme relies on the typical "model home" pitch. The salesman, posing as a representative of a nationally-known aluminum company, tells the homeowner his company has selected her home for "before-and-after" advertising of aluminum siding.

He says the company will not only reimburse her for use of the (See RACKET, Page 3)

Red Cross News

The Red Cross works with many organizations in our town. The Welfare Index is one of them. Last week Mrs. Stafford tells us that several of our volunteers worked cleaning the warehouse and straightening clothing for the rush of clothes given to school children. Mrs. Ola McAfee, Mrs. E. N. Franklin and other ladies worked helping with this important work.

If you have an afternoon to give, call the Plainsman Motel and tell Lillie Stafford that you can work 2 hours helping with this work. The Welfare Index does an important job in our community and one would be surprised at the number of clothes and household furnishings that are given from their storeroom.

Alvin Lewis, First Aid Instructor Trainer visited the Red Cross Office this past week. We are always glad to see Alvin as he was our first person in Gray County to receive the Award of Merit Certificate for saving a life after having completed the Standard First Aid Course given by the Red Cross.

We have had several requests for a Standard First Aid Class. Continue to call our office and we will set a class up when we have a sufficient number interested in taking the course.

A class in mother and baby care will begin at 7 p. m. in the Red Cross Office Monday evening, September 13, with Mrs. Forrest Hills in charge of the class. There is no charge and we guarantee that if you will take the time to come to this class, you will always be thankful.

A registered nurse at the hospital states that she could always tell when a young mother-to-be came to the hospital and had taken the course. She was alert and unafraid of the new experience of bearing a child for the first time.

Others who have not had the course are hesitant and afraid. We strongly recommend the course to all mothers-to-be who are having their first baby.

The first fall meeting of the Red Cross Board will meet September 14 at the Coronado Inn in the Terrace Room with Terry Cully, Water Safety Chairman, in charge of the program. The following persons are on the Red Cross Board and should be present:

Chapter Chairman, Wes Langhan, J. W. Duke, Vice Chairman, Mrs. Elmer Fite, Secretary, Adell Meyers, Treasurer, and Directors John Schoolfield, Jay Channel, Forrest Hills, A. J. Dickens, Bill Robertson, Herman Whatley, Dave Redus and Dr. Harbard Cox, First Aid Chairman, Roscoe Mounce, Water Safety Chairman, Terry Cully, Nursing Chairman, Mrs. Margaret Dial, Services to Military Families Chairman, Mrs. Jack Foster, Chairman of Volunteers.

Mrs. V. J. Drew, Public Information Chairman, Bob Regan, Fund Chairman, Dr. Julian Key, Disaster Chairman, John Gikas, Gray Lady Chairman, Louise Sewell, and Chairman of Youth Red Cross in the Schools, Joe Page, with Glenna Brown, President of High School Red Cross.

There will be a meeting in Amarillo Friday, September 17, of all executive secretaries and the chapter chairman in the Panhandle to have a conference with Elmer Woods, the newly appointed Assistant Regional Manager for West Texas, Mr. Woods makes his home in St. Louis, Mo.

Palmer Simpson is our Regional Manager for West Texas and Mrs. Virginia Weber has been given the responsibility of the Chapter Correspondent for West Texas.

Plans are being made for our Nursing Disaster Conference that will be held in Pampa October 2nd on the 1st Saturday from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. with 1 hour out for lunch. The public is invited to attend this meeting, and nurses, doctors, Red Cross workers, Gray Ladies and people who would work in a disaster are urged to attend this once a year meeting.

Our Field Representative, Dick Strayer, has been home with a back and neck injury from an automobile wreck when he was hit by another car. All of his friends in Pampa wish him a speedy recovery.

The American Legion Auxiliary and the VFW Auxiliary have voted to help the Red Cross with the making of the Ditty bags for servicemen in Vietnam. Thanks to Sybil Henderson who volunteered her VFW ladies and to Mrs. Joe Shelton who will work with the ALA ladies in making the needed bags.

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

By Joe Tooley and Tom Beard

We feel that sleep is worthy of a few words for the simple reason that your health demands a sufficient period of relaxation to rest not so much the body as the brain.

What is sufficient rest? Aristotle said: "Six hours of sleep for a man, seven for a woman and eight for a fool." However, sleep's duration is much like a new shoe—if it feels good, it's right.

In general, the very old require the least sleep, the very young the most. Average sleeping time for adults is 7½ hours.

Local Library Tells Summer Success Story

Lovett Memorial Library has just completed its most successful summer reading program according to Librarian Carolyn Spidell.

Of 609 who registered, 296 received certificates for reading at least 10 books. For each book completed a sticker showing the picture and name of a president of the United States was pasted on the certificate. Some 98 children filled their certificates by reading 36 books.

Plans are now being made and enrollment is in progress for the story hour for children five years of age which will begin October 14.

Parents wishing their child to attend should call or come by to register as soon as possible. A very full year is anticipated.

Mrs. Winifred Crunklaw, assistant librarian, has just returned from a weeklong workshop at Texas Tech on children's literature, with special emphasis on activities suitable for story hour. All children who are 5 years-old by October 15 are eligible to attend.

Strike

The strike apparently hit most rail officials in Pampa said of the terminals by surprise they knew nothing of the move until the picket appeared this morning.

One official at the Pampa terminal noted that usual traffic is eight to ten freight trains through Pampa Saturday afternoons but only one came through yesterday.

G. F. 'Butch' McGuire, Santa Fe's chief dispatcher in Amarillo, said no trains would leave after they arrived in that city, headquarters of the road's western lines which extend to Albuquerque.

At least four freights were stopped at Waynoka, Okla., several at Clovis and one at Wellington, the dispatcher reported, standing that passenger service he said that it was his understanding not to be affected by the strike.

A spokesman for the striking union said one of the issues involved was that the company would not allow trainmen to work as much as they wanted to.

Santa Fe and the union have been negotiating a series of work rules since a 1956 work stoppage.

Meantime, weather officials phoon Trix which was reported hovering over waters off Okinotori Island, about 600 miles south of Japan Saturday.

Labor Day Toll Pushes Record

AUSTIN (UPI) — The heavy Labor Day holiday traffic death toll pushed the state close to last year's record high way carnage rate, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

A week ago—before the Labor Day week end when 46 persons were killed in the state—Texas was running 6 per cent behind the highway death pace set in 1964. Now the 1965 pace is only 3 per cent below a year ago.

The DPS said it had counted a total of 1,845 deaths in 1,513 accidents in the state through noon Friday, compared with 1,902 deaths in 1,560 accidents at this point in 1964.

In reality the salesman, usually an itinerant, does not represent a well known company and has no intention of using the home as a mode. The homeowner, who had been induced to sign various papers, actually is charged many hundred dollars more than the competitive price for aluminum siding.

The National Bureau offered this advice to homeowners: —Don't rush into any important home improvement project. —Don't enter into any home improvement deal with the expectation of having promised commissions pay for its costs. —Deal only with firms whose dependability is known to you or has been established through inquiry. —Read and understand any contract before you sign and keep a copy of it.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books on the shelves of Lovett Memorial Library this week are:

"Thomas" — Shelley Mydans; a biographical novel about Thomas Becket, the son of a prosperous London merchant, who later became Archbishop of Canterbury. From an exile in France, he returned to face assassination which ironically produced the miracles and the immortality he had always sought.

"LBJ Country" — Bill Porterfield; a portrayal of the immense Texas hill country where Lyndon Johnson grew up; the people, his friends, and neighbors, the way of life; how these local farmers, cowpokes and politicians dealt with the country.

"More Gilt Edged Bonds" — Ian Fleming; complete in this volume are four of Fleming's titles in his James Bond series: "Live and Let Die," "Moonraker," "Diamonds are Forever," and "Goldfinger."

"The Ugly Russian" — Victor Lasky; presents a picture of Russia, not as a paragon possessing foolproof techniques for global upmanship, but as a country making mistakes and planning projects wholly lacking in any real understanding of the countries she hopes most to influence.

"The Quality of Courage" — Mickey Mantle; twenty-three chapters that demonstrate courage on the baseball field and in the lives of baseball's well-known and well-loved figures, as well as tales of peace and war and moral courage.

"Special Agent" — Frank Wilson; an exciting book by Frank J. Wilson, who, as chief of the Secret Service, 1936-46, held top responsibility for FDR's safety. Wilson's career before heading the Secret Service was adventurous also — this book is absorbing reading.

"Emerging in the Pyrenees" — Ann Bridge; the arrival of an

O.A.S. saboteur creates excitement and adventure in the Pyrenees where Julia Froby, the wife of a British Secret Service man, is spending the final months of her first pregnancy.

"The Last Known Address" — Joseph Harrington; acting detective lieutenant Frank Kerrigan and probationary policeman Jane Boardman are assigned to locating a witness who is scheduled to testify in a grand jury case involving a gambling and narcotics syndicate.

"The Case of the Beautiful Beggar" — Erle Stanley Gardner; Daphne Shelby was thoroughly upset; the letter she handed Perry Mason had been written in haste and great agitation. It was from her uncle, and he had reached her just after her ship sailed from Honolulu on the return from a three-month cruise of the Orient.

"The Venus Venture" — Marston Johns; man has already entered space and lived to tell the tale. Science fiction is on the verge of being overtaken by science fact. Tomorrow is here — today. The space age is no longer the dream of the writer or the hope of the scientist; it has dawned. This is the story of that day and of the first expedition to that wondrous planet, Venus.

"The Golden Keel" — Desmond Bagley; this breathtaking novel of adventure is based on the disappearance of Mussolini's treasure, one of the most daring hijacking exploits in recent history, which continues to baffle both the Italian police and Interpol.

Native to Mountains
Safflower oil, which has become so popular for use in salad and cooking oils, comes from a flowering annual plant which is native to mountainous areas of southwestern Asia and Ethiopia, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Bar Group Names Texas Man of '65

AUSTIN (UPI) — The State Junior Bar of Texas Saturday named Will D. Davis, 34, of Austin as the outstanding young lawyer in Texas for 1965.

Davis, a member of the Austin law firm of Heath and Davis, is secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee. He has been named as one of the possible nominees as the new state party chairman.

Davis was an assistant attorney general for three years, heading the appellate and insurance divisions during that time. For two years beginning in 1957 he was general counsel for the state board of insurance.

Geronimo

After his capture, Geronimo, famous Apache chief, was sent to Fort Pickens. Later he was sent to Fort Still, Okla., where he was held until his death.

Polish Leader Meets Again with deGaulle

PARIS (UPI) — Polish Premier Joseph Cyrankiewicz met privately with French President Charles de Gaulle Saturday for the second time in his current official visit.

The Polish leader arrived at the Elysee Palace after laying a wreath on the tomb of

 RON CROSS

Quick now who pitched the first perfect game in the major leagues? Give up? It was a fellow by the name of John Lee Richmond of Worcester of the National League on June 12, 1880.

Richmond pitched it against Cleveland, a 1-0 shutout; John W. Ward pitched one the same year for Providence against Buffalo of the National League on June 17, a 5-0 affair.

The first one in the 1900s was pitched by Cy Young for Boston against Philadelphia on May 5, 1904, a 3-0 decision.

Steady Sandy Koufax's gem Thursday night against the Cubs was only the 10th such feat ever pitched.

He'll Enter Hall

If he wasn't already good enough to be there, the no-hitter automatically places Koufax in the Hall of Fame. The Minnesota Twins, who appear to have the American League flag wrapped up, almost didn't get former Yankee, Johnny Sain as a pitching coach.

Sain was, in fact, manager Sam Mele's second choice. Mele had contacted former Giant and Dodger Sal Maglie but the "Barber" had just signed a contract with the Boston Red Sox. And look where they are.

New books to look up in the library. . . . The 100 Needlest Families in Bel-air. . . . The Friends of Charles de Gaulle. . . . The Guest List at a Farewell Party for Nikita Khrushchev. . . . The Sensible Utterances of Fidel Castro. . . .

Bob Drum, well known on the golf beat, is comfortably settled at Virginia Military Institute as sports information director. And there's a lot of Drum to Seattle.

In fact, he claims he's the only p. r. man who outweighs the left side of his line. . . .

Gary Player picks out Byron Nelson as the most accurate hitter he's ever seen off the tee, with the possible exception of Ben Hogan.

Backswing

Player once watched Nelson hitting off the practice tee at Fort Worth, and a drive stack his caddy, shagging balls.

"Before the boy could get up," says Gary, "Byron hit him three more times."

Another South African, Bobby Locke, had an unorthodox backswing, with his left hand open at the top. After he won seven U. S. tournaments one year, a guy told him that if he kept his left hand closed at the top of the swing, there was no telling how great he'd be.

"Don't worry about the left hand," shrugged Locke. "I collect checks with my left hand."

It didn't happen here but we know a professional golfer who, in hitting his second shot to the green, hit his caddy instead, the ball glancing off and rolling into the cup for an eagle three.

The University of Oklahoma may field a speedy club this year, that is if they can run a mile.

In the annual "Gomer Jones Invitational Mile," where all the players run a mile in shorts and football shoes, a 203-pound tackle posted the best time for linemen and John Hammond led the backfield.

Mike Base, the 203-pound Sooner tackle trudged the long run in 5:42 while Hammond clocked 5:36.

Player Takes Lead in Golf World Series

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—U. S. Open champion Gary Player birdied the 17th hole Saturday to gain the first round lead by a stroke in the 36-hole, $77,500 World Series of Golf at the Firestone Country Club. Player wound up with a par 37-33-70, for his slim margin over Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, who is after his third title in as many appearances in the series.

The final round of the tournament, with $50,000 going to the winner, will be played Sunday.

COUGARS BLANKED

Tulsa Dazzles Houston 14-0

HOUSTON (UPI)—A strong defense and clutch passing by Bill Anderson gave the Tulsa Hurricanes a 14-0 intersectional victory over the Houston Cougars Saturday in the first football game inside the Harris County domed stadium.

Anderson, starting for injured Glenn Dobbs III, hit end Howard Twilley and wingback Neal Sweeney on short passes into the end zone in the second quarter for both scores. Twilley, whose pass receptions broke the NCAA record last year, kicked off a drive that took the Hurricanes 87 yards in 10 plays. The second touchdown went 42 yards in five plays.

Tulsa missed a 29 yard field goal attempt early in the first quarter. Tulsa's powerful defense, led by standout Willie Townes, kept the Cougars bottled up on their own end of the field most of the first half. Houston lost the ball four times on six fumbles during the first two periods.

A crowd of 37,138 saw the nationally color televised game which inaugurated the $31.2 million stadium for indoor football. Players on both sides appeared to be having trouble keeping Behind Nicklaus at three-over-par 73 was British Open winner Peter Thomson followed by PGA titlist Dave Marr with a 74.

Player pulled into a tie with Nicklaus at one-over-par when he birdied the 12th, and then grabbed the lead with his second birdie of the back nine on the 17th.

Nicklaus, winner of the 1962 and 1963 tournaments, played par golf on his return after standing one over at 36 going out. Player was two over on the front nine with two bogeys.

The foresome found the fairways and greens damp but otherwise in excellent condition as is usual for the 7,165-yard Firestone "Monster," under cloudy skies that threatened rain from the edge of dying hurricane Betsy. It was cool but there was no rain in the more than five hours of play. "This course gets rougher every year," Player said. "This is a funny golf course . . . a very tough course."

But then he added: "If I were three behind on the 17th I'd feel I still had a chance." The scoring was the highest for a first round in the series since 1963.

Moffitt Wins; Santana Downs Arthur Ashe

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., raced into the finals of the U.S. Tennis Championships Saturday by routing three-time titleholder Maria Bueno of Brazil but Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., was beaten by Spanish Davis Cupper Manuel Santana in his bid to become the first American winner in 10 years.

Santana stormed from behind on an amazing assortment of shots to score a 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Ashe and set up an all-foreign final against Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, who overpowered Mexico's Rafael Osuna, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Miss Moffitt, however, raised American hopes of regaining the women's title for the first time since 1961 by drubbing Miss Bueno, 6-2, 6-3, and Sunday meets Wimbledon Champion Margaret Smith of Australia for the title Miss Smith won in 1962.

The Aussie amazon routed Nancy Richey of Dallas, America's top player, 6-2, 6-2, to enter the final.

Miss Moffitt, charging the net confidently behind a big service, recently restyled by Australian pro Mervyn Rose, brushed aside Miss Bueno so quickly on a side court many in the crowd of 13,000 packing the main stand were unaware the match was in progress.

Billie Jean wound it up by sweeping the last nine points from Miss Bueno, who had reigned supreme in this championship for two straight years.

Ashe hoped to become the first American winner since Tony Trabert in 1955 after blasting Australia's Roy Emerson in the semifinals.

The lanky, 22-year-old Negro kept hammering away at the versatile Santana as he had against Emerson, but he had to do a lot of reaching for the Spaniard's craftily angled shots and spinning service. That led Ashe into numerous errors and eventually defeat.

It took Santana a full set to explore weaknesses in Ashe's game and he dropped that first set, 6-2, offering little resistance.

Giants Strangle Cubs; Yankees Trip Chisox

Twins Rip Bosox 8-4

BOSTON (UPI)—The American League leading Minnesota Twins rattled 17 hits off four Boston pitchers Saturday to coast to an 8-4 win over the Red Sox behind the combined seven-hitter of Camilo Pascual and Gary Roggenburk.

The first place Twins built leads of 5-0 and 6-1 for Pascual who was winning his ninth game and making his second start since being sidelined by a torn muscle.

Pascual walked three and struck out three before Roggenburk took over with one out in the eighth. Pascual had pitched hitless ball until Carl Yastrzemski homered with the bases empty in the fourth.

McCovey Wins It

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie McCovey, fresh from hitting a grand slam Friday night, belted a three-run homer in the first inning Saturday and then the league-leading San Francisco Giants hung on to win their eighth straight with a 6-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

McCovey lifted his season total to 35 when he lined loser Bill Faul's delivery over the right field fence after Jay Alou walked and Willie Mays singled.

The Cubs never pulled even although Ron Santo smashed the homer with two on, his 29th, in the sixth and they mounted big threats in the seventh and eighth innings.

Braves 9, Mets 0

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves threw a one-hitter at the New York Mets for the second consecutive game Saturday, tying a major league record, as Tony Cloninger won his 21st game, 9-0.

Three Brave pitchers combined for a one hitter Friday night and Cloninger duplicated the feat all by himself.

It was the first time in almost 50 years that a major league team has been held to one hit in consecutive games. It first happened to Boston in 1916 in the National League and to Chicago in the American League in 1917.

Angels 6, Sens 5

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Jim Fregosi doubled home two runs and later scored himself to give the California Angels a 6-5 victory in a see-saw battle with the Washington Senators Saturday.

Frank Howard drove in the first two Senator runs with doubles in the first and third.

The Angels got two runs in the third on three singles and a sacrifice fly and added one in the fourth on three more singles.

Miami Rolls Over 'Cats B Team, 14-0

MIAMI (Sp.)—The Miami Warriors marched 60 yards the first time they got possession of the ball Saturday night and blanked Canadian B, 14-0.

Halfback Gary Lister scored both Miami touchdowns, both from four yards out to give the home club their season opener.

Miami marched the 60 yards in only nine plays with Lister picking up 22 yards in four carries. The big play, however, was a 15-yard pass, good from the 35 to the 15, from quarterback David Bowers to end Deverl Murphy.

Bowers ran around right end for the extra points and Miami led 8-0 midway through the first period.

The Warriors scored the final tally near the end of the third period, moving 28 yards in eight plays, with Lister again picking up most of the yardage, including the final four for the touchdown. Bowers tried to run for the points after but fell short and it was 14-0.

On this drive Miami took advantage of a Canadian mistake, when they recovered a bad snap from center on an attempted punt.

Miami's defense kept the Wildcats from mounting a serious threat with the 'Cats never able to move beyond Miami's 25.

This happened on the last play of the game when Jimmy Nicholson rambled 25 yards.

Vikings Roar By Giants 24-9

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Minnesota's No. 1 quarterback, Fran Tarkenton, came off the bench in the second half Saturday and directed the Vikings to a decisive 24-9 victory over the New York Giants in Omaha's annual charity Pro-Bowl game.

With 14,250 Omaha fans and a nationally televised audience looking on, Tarkenton broke a 3-3 first half standoff with a 61-yard scoring pass to Paul Flatley early in the third period.

Yanks 3, Sox 1

CHICAGO (UPI)—Southpaw Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, who makes a habit of beating the Chicago White Sox, did it for the 37th time in his career, 3-1 Saturday night.

The defeat, the fifth in a row sent the slumping White Sox nine games behind the league-leading Minnesota Twins with just 19 games remaining.

Ford scattered 12 hits and did not walk a man in chalking up his 15th victory against 10 losses. Ford, who has lost 20 times to the White Sox, beat them for the fourth straight time this year, although he needed ninth inning help from Pedro Ramos.

Phils 3, Cards 1

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Wes Covington climaxed a sixth-inning rally with a two-run homer Saturday night to carry the Philadelphia Phillies and Chris Short to a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the big gun in a sudden attack on Tracy Stallard, dueling with Short, and it came when the Cardinals held a 1-0 lead on Curt Flood's second-inning homer.

Richie Allen, batting in the leadoff spot in place of Cookie Rojas, who was out of the lone

Satch to Play For Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—"Ol' Satch" Paige, the seemingly ageless Negro pitching great of another era, is ready for a comeback.

Leroy (Satchel) Paige, who pitched the Cleveland Indians to a world championship in 1948 and later played for the old St. Louis Browns, will join the Kansas City Athletics Monday in Minnesota.

How can the ancient hurler with a willow whip delivery help the Athletics?

"Well, I'll do it," Satchel said. "I'll just keep my fat ball off the fat of the bat."

A's 3, Birds 2

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Dick Breen rapped a single in the ninth inning that enabled Bill Bryan to slide home with the tie-breaking run as the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2 Saturday night.

Bryan singled to start the ninth against loser Dick Hall and moved to second on Mike Hershberger's sacrifice. Bryan barely beat Paul Blair's throw to the plate on Green's single up the middle.

Hall came on in relief of Baltimore starter Wally Bunker, who pitched the first eight innings. John Wyatt checked Baltimore in the ninth, saving Roland Sheldon's eighth victory.

Reds 3, Bucs 2

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Jim Maloney pitched a five-hitter and singled home the winning run to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday.

Maloney went the distance, striking out nine and walking three. He retired 14 batters in a row from the third to the eighth innings.

The victory was his 18th against seven losses.

Cards Drop Club

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals Saturday announced cancellation of its working agreement with the Jacksonville (Florida) club of the International League for the 1966 season, and said it was prepared to welcome the Arkansas Travelers into the fold.

Sheldon (Chief) Bender, director of the Cardinals' minor league clubs, confirmed reports that St. Louis had decided to terminate the Jacksonville working agreement.

Tigers 5, Tribe 3

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers scored five runs in the third inning after two men had been retired, three of them coming on a home run by Gates Brown, to defeat the Cleveland Indians 5-3 Saturday.

Singles by winning pitcher Joe Sparma and Jerry Lumpe off Cleveland starter Luis Tiant set the stage for Brown's seventh homer of the year. Tiant then walked Al Kaline and when Norm Cash singled, Floyd Weaver replaced him.

Don Wert greeted Weaver with a single for one run and Bill Freehan singled home another before the inning was over.

AFL Owners To Meet In Houston

HOUSTON (UPI)—American Football League team owners will gather in Houston Monday to decide whether they will add a 10th team for next season.

League commissioner Joe Foss called the meeting two weeks ago for the club owners to take another look at expansion possibilities.

Harvesters are Shocked By Perryton Rangers, 27-8

By RON CROSS, News Sports Editor
PERRYTON (Spl.) — Perryton halfback Al Rupperecht made sure his name isn't left out of the Ranger programs anymore. The 152-pound junior, who's name was left out of the Friday lineup by accident, did more night lineup by accident, did more than his share to pave the way in Perryton's 27-8 upset of the Harvesters. Rupperecht passed for one touchdown and gained 28 yards in eight carries and intercepted a stray Pampa aerial to stall a Harvester drive in the third period. In a game of mistakes and breaks, with Perryton getting most of the breaks, the Rangers broke open a close contest in the final period with two touchdowns. The Harvesters trailed only 14-9 with 7:57 left in the contest but Perryton took possession on their own 44 yard line and scored five plays later, the big blow a 41-yard pass from Rupperecht to end Gary Lockwood, on a fake double reverse.

The Harvesters took the kick to their own 30, fumbled on the first play and Perryton tackle Gary Thomas recovered on the Harvesters' 28 yard line. Senior halfback Jerry Clark bulldozed his way through the middle on the first play from scrimmage to wrap things up, for the Rangers. Clark's romp covered 28 yards and with 7:05 left to play the Rangers, on quarterback Byerley's kick led, 27-8. Perryton scored the first time they had possession of the football, covering 42 yards in 12 plays. The Rangers took advantage of a wobbly Harvester punt that traveled only 12 yards. Byerley covered the final eight yards for the initial score with 3:12 left in the opening period.

The Harvesters were driving for a touchdown after receiving the kickoff in the third quarter and had driven from their own 44 to the Perryton 32 when the Rangers intercepted a pass to kill the drive. On the next series of downs the Harvesters took over on the 50 and made no bones about it, taking only five plays to score with speedy Lewis Meers scoring from one yard out after picking up 27-yards two plays before. FRIDAY'S MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

SF Has Too Many Willies

By United Press International
It takes nothing away from incomparable Willie Mays to acknowledge that the San Francisco Giants wouldn't be leading the National League if it weren't for "the other Willie." The "other Willie," of course, is Willie McCovey, the gangling, 225-pound slugger who owns the biggest .281 batting average in the league. From the standpoint of run-producing that average represents 81 runs scored, 34 homers and 80 runs batted in. McCovey delivered his No. 34 of the season with three teammates aboard Friday night to give the Giants a 5-2 victory that enabled them to retain their half-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Willie came off the bench with the score tied at 1-1 in the sixth inning and delivered the big hit as a pinch-hitter for Jack Hiatt. The Dodgers downed the Houston Astros 5-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Cincinnati Reds 7-0, the Milwaukee

Braves beat the New York Mets 3-1 and the Philadelphia Phillies topped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 in 12 innings in other games. Don Drysdale, aided by Ron Perranoski in the last three innings, gained his 19th win for the Dodgers. Drysdale helped his own cause with a two-run homer—his seventh of the season which tied the NL mark held by Don Newcombe and left him two short of the major league record held by Wes Ferrell. Robin Roberts suffered his second loss for the Astros. Bob Veale scattered nine hits and struck out eight batters for his 16th victory behind an eight-hit Pittsburgh attack that included a three-run homer by Willie Stargell, Tommy Harper had three hits for the Reds but Joey Jay suffered his seventh loss against nine wins. Wade Blasingame, Billy O'Dell and Phil Niekro combined in a one-hitter for the Braves, who snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning when Felipe Alou hit a two-run homer off Jack Fisher. The Mets' only hit was a homer by Jim Hickman off Blasingame, who started the game despite a 103-degree temperature. The loss was Fisher's 20th of the season. Cookie Rojas singled home John Herrnstein from third with two out in the 12th to give Ferguson Jenkins his first major league win and tag relief pitcher Hal Woodeshick with his sixth setback. Bill White homered for the Cardinals and Dick Stuart connected for the Phillies. Jim Perry, who may be part of a sibling rivalry next month, has a "cousin" right in his own league. Perry, the surprise of the Minnesota Twins pitching staff over the second half of the season, could be pitted against his brother, Gaylor, in the World Series if the San Francisco Giants wind up on top in the National League. The "if" in Minnesota's case became somewhat smaller Friday night when the Twins beat Boston 8-5 for their 15th win in 16 games with the Red Sox this year and reduced their magic number for a pennant party to 12. Perry vs. Perry on the mound in the series would be reminiscent of the Boyer-Boyer (Ken and Clete) matchup at third base in last year's Cardinal-Yankee series. The Twins lengthened their lead to eight games when Chicago lost to New York, 3-1, and Baltimore split with Kansas City, winning 5-2 and dropping the nightcap, 10-5, to edge past the White Sox into second place by one percentage point. In other American League action, Detroit blanked Cleveland 2-0 and Washington downed California, 4-1.

The Rangers scored the important points merely by chance. Byerley was back to kick, the snap was fumbled and the quarterback scooped up the ball and passed to fullback Kenneth Deike for two points. In their drive the Rangers picked up critical yardage on two occasions. On a fourth and three situation at the 35 Byerley passed to Gobin for a first down at the Pampa 30 and with a fourth and seven the Rangers gave it too Rupperecht who carried from the 26 to the 12 on a double reverse. Perryton went ahead 14-0 with 5:23 left in the half, again taking advantage of a Pampa mistake. The Harvesters were going to punt but fumbled the ball and quarterback Larry Daniels fell on it at the Pampa 20. It took the Rangers eight plays to score with halfback Bob Pearson going in from the one. Again the Rangers faced a fourth down situation, this one on the Pampa 15, but Byerley gained five yards around right end to the Pampa 10. Pampa's lone tally came the second time they got the ball in the third period.

Houston Gets Braves Rookie

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Houston Astros completed the Frank Thomas deal with Milwaukee Saturday by acquiring infielder Mike Sinnerud.

Sinnerud, who played with the Austin Texas League club last season, has been placed on the Oklahoma City Pacific Coast League roster and will report next spring.

A 25-year-old shortstop of Beaverton, Ore., Sinnerud can also play second and third.

When he signed with the Braves in 1959, he reportedly received a $60,000 bonus.

The latest Texas League average shows Sinnerud batting .271 in 130 games. He bats and throws right.

White Deer Wins Again; Wheeler Clouts Mangum

Bucks Win Second Straight, 7-0

GRUVER (Spl.) — Defense was the name of the game here Friday night and White Deer's lasted longer as the Bucks nipped Gruver 7-0.

The 2-A champion Bucks were extended to the limit before marching 80-yards in the final period for their second straight victory.

Vernon Marlar and Gary Smith covered 76 of the 80 yard drive but it was halfback Randy Elliott who carried over from the four with 6:46 left in the contest to give White Deer its win. Johnny Mooney kicked the point after and the Bucks were home free.

Gruver threatened twice, once in the opening quarter and again in the final period. The Greyhounds recovered the first of five fumbles two plays after the opening whistle on the Buck's 37.

Gruver drove to the 11 but fumbled and Marlar recovered. Two plays later the Bucks fumbled again and Gruver recovered on the 11. The Greyhounds drove to the four and the Bucks held on to take over the ball.

Wheeler jumped to an 8-0 first period lead when Bobby Van Poole climaxed a 57-yard drive, going over from the three.

Mangum came right back in the second period when Wade Ridley scored from the one after the Tigers had marched 37 yards. The attempt for the two pointer was no good and Wheeler led, 8-6.

Coach J. T. Hill's Mustangs made it 14-6 just before halftime when Tommy Smith gathered in a Mangum punt and raced 61 yards to pay dirt.

Mangum came within two points of the Mustangs in the third quarter when Wayne Bills climaxed a 47-yard drive, going over from the one.

Again the attempt for the all important extra points failed, but Wheeler's lead had been cut to 14-12.

The Tigers got their first lead of the night in the fourth period, when quarterback Ridley tossed six yards to end Bill McDaniell, who crossed the goal line.

This time an attempted pass failed to get the needed extra points, but Mangum led 18-14.

But the Mustangs, playing like the champions they are, bulled 47-yards in seven plays with quarterback Mike Goad sneaking in from the two.

Groom Rambles By Vega, 14-8

GROOM (Spl.) — A 15-yard fourth quarter touchdown by back Ray Lamberson broke up a tie contest, here Friday night, as Groom edged Vega, 14-8.

Both teams battled on even terms through the first period but Lynn King capped a 40 yard march by the Tigers, going over from the six deep in the second period.

The run for the extra points by Larry Lamberson was good and Groom led 8-0 at halftime.

Vega came right back in the third period on a 46-yard march with Jim Henderson going over from the three for the losers only score.

The Sanford-Fritch (Spl.) — Canadian lost its second straight 1965 football game, this one to the Sanford-Fritch Eagles, 8-6, Friday night.

A brother act proved the difference as quarterback Joe Kime tossed 23-yards to brother Herschel for the winning tally and passed to him again for the big points after.

Canadian marched 87 yards in the first period with quarterback Johnny Walker going over from two yards out for the touchdown. In what turned out to be the difference in the game, an attempted pass for the points after failed.

Fritch Runs By Canadian, 8-6

SANFORD-FRITCH (Spl.) — Canadian lost its second straight 1965 football game, this one to the Sanford-Fritch Eagles, 8-6, Friday night.

A brother act proved the difference as quarterback Joe Kime tossed 23-yards to brother Herschel for the winning tally and passed to him again for the big points after.

Canadian marched 87 yards in the first period with quarterback Johnny Walker going over from two yards out for the touchdown. In what turned out to be the difference in the game, an attempted pass for the points after failed.

Plainview, Golden Sandies Post Wins

Tascosa, last season's 3-4A champions, took it on the chin Friday night, but the Amarillo Sandies and Plainview Bulldogs pulled upsets to give the district three victories in four contests.

Besides Tascosa, Pampa was upset by the Perryton Rangers.

Odessa Permian struck for two touchdowns in the third period and then held off a Rebel rally for a 14-6 victory.

Gene Mayfield's Panthers had two drives stopped in the first half, one at the four and another at the two by recovering a fumble.

Monty Johnson scored from three yards out for Tascosa.

Plainview scored once in the first period and once in the second and held on for a 13-8 decision over Hereford.

The Bulldogs had their backs to the wall most of the final two periods running only 14 plays the entire second half.

Hallback Steve Mason sparked the Bulldogs with 69 yards on 14 carries and scored both touchdowns.

The Amarillo Sandies gave warning they will be the team to beat in district 3-4A with a 21-7 romp over Odessa Bronchos, ranked No. 2 in the state.

Odessa scored quickly and led 7-0 with only 13 seconds gone in the opening quarter when quarterback Larry Gatlin raced 95 yards with the opening kickoff.

The Sandies tied the second time they got the ball and then scored once in each of the following quarters to wrap it up.

Lubbock's Westerners opened the season with a new coach on a successful note with a 32-6 romp over Robert E. Lee of Midland.

The Westerners never trailed as they led 20-0 at halftime.

The winners Roy Farmer paced the victory with two touchdowns, one a 68-yard jaunt and the other a six yard pass from quarterback Sam Underwood.

Saturday night action finds Caprock at Burges; Burges hosts Littlefield and Palo Duro hosts Dumas.

Amarillo and Lubbock Monterey have been picked to battle it out for the 3-4A title and Tascosa was given a chance.

But the Rebels were plainly lacking in experience against Gene Mayfield's Panthers.

Plainview, in its victory served notice they will be tough to deal with.

McLean Edges Panhandle, 8-0

PANHANDLE (Spl.) — McLean evened its season record at 1-1 Friday night by edging Panhandle, 8-0.

The Tigers scored the first time they got possession of the ball, marching 59 yards with the only score of the game.

McLean's defense held tight several times to stave off repeated Panhandle scoring attempts.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

PANHANDLE WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS
 By FELIX W. RYALS
 THE Golden Spread Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America went on a guided tour of watershed structures on Friday of last week. These structures were located between Miami and Wheeler. The Soil Conservation people are to be commended for the fine programs they are carrying on that not only benefits the farmer but also the city dweller. One of the flood control dams is fast becoming a picnic and recreation area. These structures are built not only to save the soil but to save and conserve water. All those visited were located on the Washita Watershed Area.

The structures built on the Washita Watershed represent local, state, and federal cooperation at its best. We can certainly use more of this type cooperation.

The Legislative Council of the Texas Legislature will appoint a committee in the near future to study water problems of Texas and other states. This committee will be asked to make recommendations to the 60th Legislature. Senator George Parkhouse of Dallas, who was responsible for getting the committee approved, said he wanted the committee to concentrate its work in the field of pollution and water laws and to appoint some one to attend all meetings "Where Federal Programs are worked on." He reaffirmed that Texas owns its water and its ultimate control should remain in Texas.

Both the Water Rights Commission and the Water Development Board now have executive directors. Joe G. Moore has been named Executive Director of the Water Development Board. Frank Booth is the new Executive Director of the Water Rights Commission.

To date the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District has handled most of its problems through the Water Rights Commission. The members of the commission have gone all out to assist with all problems presented to them. During the recent reorganization the Water Rights Commission lost a large number of its personnel to the greatly expanded Water Development Board. Director Booth of the Water Rights Commission is very pleased to have experienced people to head the various Divisions of the Commission. Louis McDaniels now heads the Water Resources Division. Stanley Lemons is head of the Ownership and Cancellation Division. Burrell Rowe is acting Chief Examiner.

Executive Director Booth is recommending that the Water Rights Commission and Water Development Board issue a procedural manual so people who deal with the agencies will know whom to see about their particular problem.

Officials of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation will be in Austin this week to present petitions from several landowners requesting a redelineation of the boundaries of Subdivision No. 3 so as to include their respective lands. When the boundaries of the Subdivision were laid out in 1955 the boundaries were based on the best geological knowledge available at that time.

The Texas Water Conservation will hold its 21st annual convention on September 26-27 at Houston, Texas. The association has some very excellent as well as expert speakers on water problems to handle the various topics on the program. Charles G. Buelman, Technical Director, The Soap and Detergent Association, New York, will discuss "The Responsibility of Industry in Maintaining Water Quality."

AGRICULTURAL SPEAKERS — Pictured left to right are E. M. Atkins, head of the small grain research of Texas A&M; Dr. Robert Berry, plant pathologist of the extension service of Texas Tech and Dr. Allen Wiese, weed control agronomist of the Bushland Experiment Station. These and other specialists from over the state were speakers at the sub-district meeting of county agents held Friday at the Gray County Court House annex. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss aspects of wheat production. Others on the program but not pictured were D. Kenneth Partor, agronomist in charge of small grain at the Bushland center; James Valentine, soil chemist with Texas Tech and Morris E. Daniels, entomologist at the Bushland station.

All the farm organization and Agricultural agencies of Wheeler County join hands to make this event one of the top educational programs of the year for Wheeler County. Arneal Scott, Soil Conservation Service, will be replaced as a member of the Gray County U.S.D.A. Civil Defense board by Royce Lynn McDaniels, Arneal transferred as Work Unit Conservationist to the Soil District at Abilene effective September 13th. McDaniels, from Matador, Texas, is assuming the position Scott held as local Work Unit Conservationist. The local U. S. D. A. Civil Defense board is composed of Evelyn Mason, chairman and manager A. S. C. office, Royce McDaniels, and yours truly, County Agricultural Agent.

The primary purpose of this board is to alert the general public of the dangers of nuclear fallout from war or by accident. In times of emergency other grave responsibilities would be delegated to this board such as the requisition of food and other items. Certain records are kept of the inventories of food stuff in the County. A card file is maintained on such structures as elevators as to the amount and kinds of cereal grains they possess.

On Thursday of last week we attended a meeting at the Court House Annex on the subject of "Wheat Production." County Agricultural Agents from some ten eastern Panhandle Counties attended. Some of the most noted authorities on wheat production were the speakers. Dr. I.M. Atkins, head of small Grain Research, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, talked on factors to be considered in selecting a variety. Dr. Atkins has been responsible for having developed a number of new small grain varieties for the Blackland area of Texas. He spent many years at the Denton Agricultural Experiment Station. Dr. Kenneth Porter, Agronomist of the Bushland Experiment Station, talked on prospects for wheat hybrids and short-strawed varieties. Dr. Porter wasn't optimistic about the possibilities of an early release of hybrid wheats.

SCS Sponsors Upper Washita Water Tour

The Golden Spread Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America sponsored a tour of the Upper Washita Watershed at Miami, Texas, on September 3, 1965. The group met at Ferg's Cafe at 10:00 a.m. The morning was spent in listening to talks by various leaders in flood prevention and watershed work. About 50 people were present.

Curtis Schaffer gave the first talk. He is a district supervisor for the Gray County SCD and one of the leaders in McClellan Creek Watershed project. He stressed the value of educating the public as to the value of flood prevention.

Virgle Brock, a local rancher who was active in the Upper Washita Watershed, discussed local responsibilities in getting the land rights and easements that are necessary before the building of flood control structures can begin.

Don Powell, Work Unit Conservationist for Soil Conservation Service at Canadian, discussed the various phases in the construction of the flood control structures. He discussed relation with contractors and landowners, access to dams, inspections, and actual phases of the construction such as handling topsoil, digging the core trench. In addition, he discussed the functions of spillways, plunge basins, berms and other features.

Duane Bartee, Area Conservationist, SCS, Pampa, discussed and showed colored slides of the various ways used to vegetate the barren dam structures on their completion. He stressed the importance of seeding the grasses into a good cover. Three different kinds of cover were used in re-grassing the 31 structures on the Upper Washita project. They were sorghum cover, hay mulch, and wood pulp. The wood pulp method consists of a mixture of wood pulp, grass seed and water that formed a slurry which was sprayed onto the dam.

In the afternoon, the group was taken on a tour of the Washita Watershed. Tour leaders were Don Powell, Bill Brooks, and Duane Bartee. Several of the watershed structures were observed. Dams on the French Arrington and Marion Robinson ranches were visited. The tour ended on the Milton Finsterwald ranch where site 21, one of the largest dams on the watershed, was observed. Also a nearby recreation project on Gageby Creek was visited.

The Golden Spread Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America sponsors 2 to 3 agricultural tours such as this one each year. Membership in the society is open to anyone interested in soil and water conservation.

Council of Women's Clubs Begins Year's Activities

secretary; Mrs. Clara Quary, president; Mrs. Georgia Hayes, vice president; Mrs. Georgia Mack, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Helen Graham, treasurer.

Pampa Council of Women's Clubs met recently in City Club Rooms in City Hall with 26 present and 11 clubs represented. The president, Mrs. James Quary, welcomed the members and guests and led the group in prayer.

Mrs. Jimmie Hayes, vice president and program chairman, introduced Mrs. John Dellacroce, who represented the Muscular Dystrophy Chapter in Gray County. Mrs. Dellacroce told of the coming drive for funds which would be held in Pampa on Sept. 27 and urged the support of the clubs in Pampa.

Mrs. Quary introduced the new officers for the year. They are Mrs. Jimmie Hayes, vice president; Mrs. Marguerite Nash, secretary; Mrs. Helen Graham, treasurer, and Mrs. R. A. Mack, parliamentarian.

The Welfare Index with Ted Gikas, president, requested membership in the Council as they did not have a meeting place. The request was granted and Mrs. Quary asked the Index to always have two representatives at each meeting and explained that if the representatives and president were not present each month they would be assessed fifty cents a meeting and ten cents for being tardy at meetings. Each club may use the room nine times for the dues paid once a year, but if a club used the room more than the nine times they would pay seventy-five cents for each additional meeting.

Committees appointed by the president were house committee, Joyce-Eltes; social welfare committee, Welfare Index; mentally retarded, Mrs. Rufe Jordan, and Government Committee, for the Aged, Mrs. Lillian Snow and Mrs. Rex Rose.

The parliamentarian, Mrs.

Georgia Mack, read from the Constitution and By-laws that each club belonging to the Council should have paid their $6. dues by the October meeting.

Mrs. Quary explained the purpose of the Council of Clubs saying "This is not a social organization but a clearing house for clubs. We want to be able to have programs in our town cleared through the Council and then we can better understand the purpose and plans of the groups. We should all be anxious to belong to the Council and let others know what we are doing as a club."

Mrs. Fiddelia Yoder played piano music while the group gathered and while the coffee hour was observed. The past presidents present served cookies and coffee from a table centered with a rocket ready to blast off. The theme for the year will be "The Blast-Off is Fixed for 1965-'66."

Dear Abby... Experience Not Always Needed to Give Help

DEAR ABBY: I don't mean to be disrespectful toward anyone's religion, but can you tell me how a priest, who has never been married, can tell married people how to get along with each other? Also, how can he give advice on problems of love and romance when he hasn't had any up-to-date experience along those lines? Thank you.

CURIOS DEAR CURIOUS: Most priests have had special training enabling them competently to counsel those who need help in all areas of human relations. A doctor doesn't need a boil on his neck to cure one.

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine asked me to address a card from her to a three-year-old girl. On the envelope I wrote, "Miss Jane Doe." This morning the child's mother telephoned me to inform me that I had made a serious mistake, that a "mistress" is a kept woman, and should never be used to address a child. The consensus of opinion among her friends is that I should have written "Miss." The child's mother seemed very much insulted. I would appreciate your opinion.

MEANT WELL DEAR MEANT: If the mother wants to get technical, "mistress" could mean a woman having authority or ownership, the female head of a family or school, etc., a woman teacher, or a female paramour. However, knowing that you had done of these in mind in addressing her child's card the mother should have overlooked it. "Miss" would have been correct.

DEAR ABBY: There is nothing new about my problem, but that doesn't help me. My husband snores. He can snore in any position — on his back, his stomach or on either side. If he happens to fall asleep sitting up, he snores that way. It's not just an ordinary snore, either. He has variations. He grunts, groans, mumbles, whistles and snorts. Once I woke up at three a.m. wondering who was mowing our lawn. Another time I dreamed that a tugboat was stuck in our bedroom and was signaling for help. Sometimes he snores so loud he wakes himself up. It's not a matter of his being overly tired. He snores when we're on vacation, too. This has been going on for 15 years, Abby. I can't remember the last night I've had a good night's sleep. When I threaten to go in to another bedroom, he says he didn't marry me to sleep alone. I've begged him to see a doctor, thinking maybe he has polyps in his nose, but he won't go. He won't wear a chin guard and he won't try any of the remedies that have helped others. I am through arguing. He won't even admit he snores. He says I snore. Can you help me?

SNORER'S WIFE DEAR WIFE: First, your husband must be convinced that he snores. If you don't own a tape recorder, borrow or rent one. But get the evidence. After confronting him with the proof it will be easier to get him to a doctor. If the doctor can't help him, you have your choice of beeswax ear plugs or separate bedrooms. If reliable statistics were available on the number of married couples who sleep alone because of snoring, they would astound you.

L. C. Fords Observe 50th Anniversary

WSCS Circles of First Methodist Church Meet, Begin New Study Topic

Circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church met Wednesday morning at 9:30 to begin a study on "Living in Such an Age."

CIRCLE ONE met with Mrs. S. Gene Hall, 2511 Mary Ellen. Presenting the devotional was Mrs. John Bird. Mrs. Bird showed pictures from the "National Geographic Magazine" of "Man in Space," featuring one astronaut's 6,000 mile walk in space. She also pointed out that "While in their spacecrafts, one astronaut wrote a prayer, one a poem and one even composed part of a song. Each astronaut's experience seemed to renew his closeness to God." The devotional was closed with prayer.

Mrs. J. E. Thompson reported on the "Telescopic World" and stated that "Johnnes Kepler, 1571-1630 studied the planetary systems and when he discovered the second law of planetary motion, he said he was in sacred ecstasy. How fascinated he would have been to know the tremendous truths discovered by today's scientists. The man of faith today says 'In the beginning God created...' by bringing Cosmos out of Chaos. 'Today's knowledge calls for recognition of our creaturehood before God. We did not make our world or any part of it. We only reshape and use what He has given us.'

Mrs. V. J. Drew spoke on "The Microscopic World." In her report Mrs. Drew brought out that "There are 60,000 million computers in a human mind and each computer is exactly alike in every human body."

The group listened to the record "The Heavens are Telling" from Haydn's "The Creation."

In closing the morning discussion (See WSCS, Page 14)

MEMOS FROM YOUR STYLIST

by Jackie and Edna

Women with straight lank hair are prone to look with green-eyed jealousy at those of the other extreme... too curly hair.

This type hair snarls and tangles easily and, if not constantly controlled, often tends to look frizzy. Special shaping and protection from the elements is also to be watched carefully.

Long, loose hair styles are a poor bet with too-curly hair, but pert, head-hugging styles have a world of charm.

The perfect cut and shaping of too-curly hair is our specialty. In fact, whatever your hair problem may be, our operators and stylists have a beautiful solution at BOB-ETTE BEAUTY SALON, 2110 Perryton Parkway, Phone: MO 5-3591... Houston P-TA Unit Will Meet Interest is running high among the parents of the children who attend Sam Houston Elementary School concerning the P-TA meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

L. C. Davis, principal, will present a brief orientation on the "New Math" at the meeting. Mr. Davis studied at Colorado State College this summer under Klaas Kramer, author of "Mathematics for the Elementary Teacher."

It would be impractical for Mr. Davis to teach the parents a course in mathematics, but he will attempt to eliminate misconceptions and fears concerning the math Pampa children are studying. In Mr. Davis' opinion, the "New Math" is merely the returning of certain basic elements of mathematics that were taken out in the early 1930's.

Following the orientation, parents will go the classrooms for a discussion on classroom procedure.

Newlyweds

Mrs. Jimmy Leroy Free ... nee Miss Cheryl Jean Barrett

Amid a setting of emerald palms and candelabra trimmed with garlands of salal foliage and floor baskets of white gladioli flanking the prie dieu, with candelabra on each side, Miss Cheryl Jean Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barrett of Pampa, became the bride of Jimmy Leroy Free, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Free of Pampa. Pews of honor were marked with white satin bows.

The double-ring vows were exchanged in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church with Dr. E. Douglas Carver officiating. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Sam Allen as he sang "The Song of Ruth" and at the close of the ceremony "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the kneeling bench.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father with the "her Mother and I avowal," the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon tulle and chantilly lace designed with a fitted bodice and chantilly lace panels at the sides, with short sleeves. The gloves were of elbow-length chantilly lace which came to petal points over the wrists. Her veil of silk illusion bordered in lace fell from a tiara of white pearl flowers and she carried a cascading bouquet of white rose buds and stephanotis. Carrying out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue, and a sixpence in her shoe, she wore on her finger the gold wedding band her grandmother, Mrs. Allie Barrett of Pampa wore 57 years ago at her wedding.

Miss Erwin Is Bride of Jackie Burns

Mrs. Jackie Lee Burns ... nee Miss Barbara Ann Erwin

Miss Barbara Ann Erwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Erwin of Amarillo, became the bride of Jackie Lee Burns in nuptial rites performed in First Methodist Church of Canyon the evening of Aug. 20.

Mrs. Florette Burns of White Deer is the mother of the bridegroom.

The double-ring nuptials were performed by Rev. Herschel Thurston, pastor of First Methodist Church of Hereford.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. Glenn Dowlen, organist, who accompanied Miss Donna Erwin of Austin, aunt of the bride, as she sang "Because" and "Through the Years."

Pleated white satin draped the communion and choir rails and the center altar was accented by arrangements of white gladioli and seven branched candelabra for the exchange of vows.

An arch of white candelabra backed the altar which was flanked by large basket arrangements of white gladioli. Traditional satin covered the kneeling bench and a white aisle cloth led to the wedding scene.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of candlelight peau de soie designed with a fitted bodice and controlled skirt terminating in a sweeping chapel train.

A waist-length over-jacket of chantilly lace with long, tapering petal point sleeves, accented the gown. The bride's elbow-length veil of im-white accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of gladioli.

Scene of the reception held following the pledging of vows was Fellowship Hall of the church. Presiding at the bride's table were Miss Donna Erwin and Mrs. Harold Erwin, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Orville Craig Jr. of White Deer and Mrs. Bill Wilkerson of Odessa presided at the bridegroom's table.

For traveling on a wedding trip the bride chose a gray crepe sheath dress with kelly green linen overcoat complimented by bone lizard accessories. The couple is now making their home in Stratford where Mr. Burns is associated with the Stratford Public School system as an English teacher and Junior High School coach.

The new Mrs. Burns is a senior at West Texas State University where she is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha, social sorority. Mr. Burns is a 1965 graduate of West Texas State University.

PERFECT FRAMEUP

A unique method of highlighting a special window is to surface the wall around it with ceramic tile. The window can be framed with a broad border of sculpted or textured tile in a contrasting shade or pattern. Ceramic tile is resistant to fire, water and dents and cleans easily with warm water and a household detergent.

SUNDAY MORNING GRIST

From the Editorial Mill

ONE OF THE chief discussion topics around town the past week has been speculation on the likely successor to Postmaster O. K. Gaylor who is retiring Sept. 30. There are several angles entering into the appointment of a postmaster. It can be done by shifting of a career employe through a non-competitive examination, or it can be thrown wide open to everybody for a competitive exam under civil service. The latter method usually is the one chosen for postmaster appointments in cities the size of Pampa. However there is another bit of confusion that moves into the picture. The law provides that if a disabled veteran takes the exam and makes a grade as high as 70, he automatically is advanced ten points, receives a grade of 80 and goes to the head of the list. Even if there are others with a grade of 99, the vet still tops the list. A veteran can jump another veteran in the examination, but a civilian, no matter what his grade, cannot jump a veteran. If this is confusing to you, it was to us, too. However, if there are no disabled veterans taking the wide-open exam for everybody, the three highest grades constitute the eligibility list and the appointee can be picked from these three. The understanding is that an acting postmaster usually is appointed by the Postmaster General to serve temporarily until a permanent postmaster finally is selected. In the last analysis, the President appoints the postmaster. The appointment then must be confirmed by the U.S. Senate. Recommendations of the congressman from the district in which the appointment is to be made and of the U.S. senator from the party in power also are supposed to carry some weight. And that ends today's lesson on how to become a postmaster. So, if you think you'd like to be postmaster in Pampa, start boning up. The likelihood is that an examination will be set that is open to everybody. CONGRESSMAN Walter Rogers came in for some pretty rough treatment recently from Columnist Drew Pearson. It had to do with the columnist's comment about a traffic violation in Washington, allegedly involving the congressman's son, Tom. Rogers denied Pearson's charges and accused him of twisting the facts all out of proportion and to the point where truth fell by the wayside. The Pampa congressman says Pearson's "roughing him up" must have grown out of a difference of opinion in which Rogers was on the opposite side of a Pearson suggestion that involved moving the federal government into a private enterprise field. Among other things Pearson wrote in his column that Rogers "has become the darling of Madison Ave. because he acted as messenger boy for the big tobacco companies and the big networks in regard to FTC and FCC regulations of advertising."

THEN THERE is the Pampa third-grader who on the first day of school forgot to take a writing tablet, left school and went back home. Upon arriving there she reached the decision that maybe it would be better not to go back to school at all. So she (it was a girl) climbed on the roof of her home and parked by the television antenna. Probably figuring nobody would think of looking for her there. A distraught parent brought her down and the girl returned to school. —DFD

Man's Humanity to Man

By WILLIS E. STONE
The riots in the Los Angeles area in August, 1965, will be argued long and loud. The emphasis, unfortunately, will be put on "who did it?" rather than the reasons behind it. While those who fostered, developed and participated in the riots should be found and punished for their inhuman behavior, we should all look forward, to appraise the consequences, and to seek the ways and means of restoring the instruments of human justice which are the only means by which man's humanity to man can be established. Without that equity, firmly established, tranquility is impossible, peace unattainable and growth and advancement becomes impracticable. When the spirit and substance of equity is destroyed, by legislation or by rioting, confidence in one's own self, to produce for the advantage of one's family, to plan for better things and their attainment is ended. An attack upon the rights and equities of one person there produces other attacks upon persons here. As the grievances increase, as they do in the atmosphere of force and fear, then the consequences of them increase in violence. The struggle ceases to be the effort for the advancement of mankind, and becomes the struggle of the few to take from the many, and the struggle of the many to keep what they have. Growth stops as anarchy develops, and the lusts and passions flourish as reason and law are violated. This sounds highly philosophical, and it is. At the same time it is an objective study in cause and effect. The causes for riot have been building for a long time. The consequences have been increasingly evident day by day for several years — so much so that the riots have been anticipated and corrective and preventive measures have been attempted. But how can the savage lust of men be controlled when the very essence of goodness, the incentives for production, the hopes for mutual respect for people and their rights are undermined by political corruption? When the integrity of property rights is undermined by judicial decision and legislative enactments, is it any wonder that the sanctity of property is rejected by the lazy, the indolent, the lustful? When the integrity of our own Constitution is swept away by legalized devices for confiscating the product of the ambitious to satisfy the desires of the shiftless, is there any hope of inspiring the shiftless to serve their fellowman? Cause and effect. Attacking the property of the producers to placate the looters only sharpens the appetite of the looters. There is no possibility of providing them with enough "bread and circuses" as Nero discovered, and so the arson, pillage, and murder becomes the anticipated and predictable consequence. It was so in the decline and fall of Rome and every other civilization. But we are fortunate. We have the means, if we have the wit and wisdom, to restore all the virtues of equity and remove the causes and effects of anarchy, by simply restoring the Constitution to full force and effect, which is the single purpose of the LIBERTY AMENDMENT pending in Congress as H. J. Res. 23 and already proposed by the seven states of Wyoming, Texas, Nevada, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi. It will stop governmental confiscation of land and property and the life's energies of our people, and in doing so will stop the looting and stimulate produc-

CAPITOL EYE:

Avalanche Of Youthful Voters Seen

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the next three presidential elections up through 1976, some 38 million Americans now age 10 to 20 will come of voting age. The political effects of this avalanche of the young are bound to be immense. The oldest of these new eligibles will have been born in the year World War II ended. They will have no first-hand memory of the war, of the catastrophic events preceding it, or of the Great Depression.

The youngest will know only what they read of L. Cold War's beginning, Yugoslav President Tito's break with Moscow, the Berlin blockade, the Korean War, the French war in Vietnam. Their experience with American presidents, as of now, is limited to Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson. The Truman regime and the early Eisenhower years are pretty dim recollections for those born from 1945 to 1956. No serious student of population imagines that when this avalanche of young people begins cascading into the voting booths it will hit with monolithic force.

In other words, there will not be—in the view of one such expert—a "youth bloc." Like everybody else's, the interests and attitudes of young voters are extremely varied, reflecting differences of religion, race, economic status, family and cultural background, geography. The young ones generally should break into many groupings. This does not mean they will be carbon copies of their elders. Their judgments of the great world struggle with Russia and China will be affected by the fact that some of this country's harshest events are unknown to them except as history. They will never have seen the nation in dire general economic distress.

They may or may not tend to favor "one of their own" for high office. Since the rise of the Kennedys, it is almost part of Washington folklore to assume young voters will prefer young candidates, or at least those of youthful appearance and outlook. But at least one election specialist rates this largely nonsense. Nevertheless, in the television era young good looks seem not only to be prized increasingly but also to be identified with the vigor and sense of command deemed vital in complex, troubled times. Older voters in large numbers often join with the young in eager support of such candidates. Both major parties are keenly aware of the rising need to fathom the minds of young voters and find ways of winning their support.

Since the debacle of 1964, in which youthful voters came down heavily against Barry Goldwater, the Republicans particularly have been talking steadily about new appeals to the young. They are struck by the diminishing median age of the population. Right now roughly half the country's 195 million people are below 28 years of age. The median may well go on declining to a point around 25 by 1980 and 1985. The drop has been going on since 1950, when a record high median age of 30 was established.

Striking as the change may seem, a youthful population is, of course, not a new American phenomenon. In earlier decades, when infant mortality and general death rates were high, the median was as low as 16.7. Not until 1920 did it rise as high as 25, a level the politicians are now suddenly looking forward to as "low."

Certainly, however, the politicians are going to have to attend sharply to the 38 million who will swell the ranks of voter eligibles in the next 11 years — even though young people on balance are less likely to vote than their elders. Their descent on the voting scene will be a major phenomenon. But they are not likely to engulf and overwhelm the rest of the American electorate—or to control the national choices. tion. The amendment provides: "Sec. 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution. "Sec. 4. . . Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates and . . . gifts."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Is Scientific Management Good Enough for Business?

By SAM CAMPBELL
Business Editor

The last of the old hard knuckle decision makers are at the helm of American business today. That accounts for how well the country is doing. But the second raters are waiting in the wings to take over, and then God save America! The words aren't mine. I'm just reporting to you what I heard some young fellows say. They were conversing a moment themselves. I was listening. These weren't scrub bench quarterbacks, either. These were managers themselves, well above the middle rank. I didn't have any paper so I couldn't make notes. But the brunt of the conversation was that a pany-waist generation is reaching for the wheel that today is yet held by the thinning ranks of individualists.

Goal vs. Totem Poles
"Twas said that the group thinkers are so scared of making decisions they take hold of hands when they go to the water cooler. That wasn't exactly the words they used, but that's the idea. These young men were scathing. They were not just criticizing, they were conducting a penetrating inquiry into why management has come to such a sorry pass. One consensus was that, although the second liners had brains enough, they weren't using them correctly. The specific allegation was that the No. 2 boys are incorrectly applying laboratory science methods to business situations.

Cause and Effect
In academic style, science, you can fairly well rely on the fact that similar causes will produce similar effects. The reason for this is that the lab deliberately produces a stable environment so that you can measure one variable at a time. As a consequence, the first thing that an academician does is collect a lot of data. But a business situation isn't like that. By the time you collect a lot of data on which to base a study, the opportunity is gone. Furthermore, in the business world similar causes do not always yield similar results. The reason is that the business world does not have just one variable, but rather a multitude of criss-crossing variables. According to the fellows who were talking, the tested formula that makes a department store succeed fabulously one year may cause it to fail four or five years later. Reason: the market may have changed. Same with real estate. Just because one chap makes a fortune in a given type of investment is no guarantee that others will come up with a similar result by socking their rainy day fund in the same class of building and lands. In other words, different conditions call for different decisions.

These guys weren't exactly advocating seat-of-the-pants business navigation. They had some egghead theories of their own. The general idea was that group decisions aren't practical for business enterprises, that outstanding business success will always be associated with outstanding individuals.

Wit and Whimsy

A hobo knocked on the back door of a suburban home which was opened by a large, muscular, hard-faced woman. Woman — Get out of here, you miserable tramp (in a screechy voice at the first sight of the hobo) If you don't march straight for that back gate I will call my husband. Tramp — I guess not. He ain't home. Woman — Is that so, Mr. Tramp? How do you know he isn't home. Hobo (grinning, backing toward the aforesaid gate.) — Because, when a man marries a woman like you he is home only at meal times.

BERRY'S WORLD

Question Box

QUESTION: "Why do Freedom Newspapers contend that government — tax-supported — schools cannot benefit mankind, and contend that public schools can?"

ANSWER: Briefly the reason that tax-supported (government) schools cannot benefit mankind is that they are based on the erroneous belief that the state or a group has a right to do things that no individual has a just and moral right to do if we use the human relations commandments as a guide of right and justice. It is doubtful whether any school board member would contend that he as an individual had a right to force his neighbor to let him educate his children and make his neighbor pay for it against his will. Then, if he does not have that right as an individual, he is contending that the legal right or the majority right makes it just to do things that would be unjust if done by individuals.

A double standard of justice or a double standard of right is no standard at all. Therefore, those attending government schools cannot be taught to think, to reason, to look forward and look backward to see the results of initiated force.

Certainly the human relations commandments give no individual the right to initiate force to take advantage of another person. They have a right to use defensive force, but not initiated force.

On the other hand, public schools—where the public controls the schools and supports them if they see fit and send their children to them if they see fit—have different ideas of education, they have competition in education. Government schools have a monopoly on what the youth of the land must study.

Certainly those who believe in government schools would not contend that we would have better churches if the government selected the ministers and the Bibles that they had to use and if the government interpreted the meaning of these Bibles. Just so, we could have education instead of indoctrination in socialism if schools were on a competitive basis. It is hard to think of anything or any progress or any benefits that come "Good grief," the wife said. "All right," we said. "Then it's not whiter than white. But what about the gentle fragrance?"

She sniffed the liquid carefully, a look of fast, fast, relief crossing her face. "So?" we inquired. "How does it smell?" "Stronger than dirt," she said. "Well, there you are," we said. "It's a deodorant." "I'll bet you're absolutely right," she said, pouring the stuff into the sink where it ran down the drain without so much as the flutter of a flapping wing. Tired but happy, we took the empty bottle from her and sat looking at it for quite a while. It is a very heady experience to know that you probably have the future of the consumer economy in your hands. As we always say, profit is our most important product.

During a recent visit to the nation's capital, a messenger met me on a busy street with papers I needed to sign quickly. Both of us were carrying pencils, and ink signatures were required. I went to a car curbed nearby, quickly identified myself and explained the need for a pen, which I offered to buy. One of the two young men in the car kindly agreed to lend his, and I returned to the messenger's car. Before I could sign the papers the owner dashed up, saying: "The man we were waiting for is here, and we have to rush. You may have the pen for $10.00." Time was essential, so reluctantly I searched my pockets, often they contain little or no cash, commenting that I don't usually buy such expensive ball-points. The money was found, and the young fellow dashed off. The papers were signed, the pen seemed of good quality and wrote smoothly. Still, I had the feeling that I had been "taken." Like most people, I don't enjoy that sensation. Next day the young man appeared at my hotel room. He explained he was sure the pen was worth only $10.00 but it was a gift from a South American relative. Since I had not been eager to purchase it, could he buy it back? The exchange was made, and he went on his way. This experience was not of great importance, but it reminds me of two things I learned long ago. The true nature of a situation is not always obvious at first glance, and most people still enjoy the opportunity to be honest, accommodating and kind. Briefly I was the owner of a $10.00 ball-point. Now I am trying not to lose this 39-center.

Time was essential, so reluctantly I searched my pockets, often they contain little or no cash, commenting that I don't usually buy such expensive ball-points. The money was found, and the young fellow dashed off. The papers were signed, the pen seemed of good quality and wrote smoothly. Still, I had the feeling that I had been "taken." Like most people, I don't enjoy that sensation. Next day the young man appeared at my hotel room. He explained he was sure the pen was worth only $10.00 but it was a gift from a South American relative. Since I had not been eager to purchase it, could he buy it back? The exchange was made, and he went on his way. This experience was not of great importance, but it reminds me of two things I learned long ago. The true nature of a situation is not always obvious at first glance, and most people still enjoy the opportunity to be honest, accommodating and kind. Briefly I was the owner of a $10.00 ball-point. Now I am trying not to lose this 39-center.

During a recent visit to the nation's capital, a messenger met me on a busy street with papers I needed to sign quickly. Both of us were carrying pencils, and ink signatures were required. I went to a car curbed nearby, quickly identified myself and explained the need for a pen, which I offered to buy. One of the two young men in the car kindly agreed to lend his, and I returned to the messenger's car. Before I could sign the papers the owner dashed up, saying: "The man we were waiting for is here, and we have to rush. You may have the pen for $10.00." Time was essential, so reluctantly I searched my pockets, often they contain little or no cash, commenting that I don't usually buy such expensive ball-points. The money was found, and the young fellow dashed off. The papers were signed, the pen seemed of good quality and wrote smoothly. Still, I had the feeling that I had been "taken." Like most people, I don't enjoy that sensation. Next day the young man appeared at my hotel room. He explained he was sure the pen was worth only $10.00 but it was a gift from a South American relative. Since I had not been eager to purchase it, could he buy it back? Color Television Is Really Here!

By JOAN CROSBY
Nespaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Several years ago, Henry Morgan looked directly into the eye of a television camera and said, "This show is being brought to you in color — for all you know."

Today if he were to say that, the people watching the 3,600,000 color sets now in use would know.

Bob Hope said that when the first western was telecast in color, the Indians stood still and the color ran.

Today, tuning in the new color sets is so simple a mechanical idiot can handle it. And color itself, which once left much to be desired, has improved to a point very close to perfection.

Hope also said, speaking of CBS, a steadfast color holdout: "They fought color longer than Alabama's Gov. Wallace." Then he added, "The first time Frank Stanton (the president of CBS) saw color, he sent for his television repair man."

When CBS opens its new season on Sept. 12, it will be color-casting about 50 per cent of its shows. It is a major capitulation, and a major triumph for RCA (NBC's parent) which pioneered color television.

Very definitely, the time has come to buy a color television set. If you have had any reservations, forget them. Prices have come down to a point where manufacturers have models available for $400 or a bit less.

Anyone who has owned a color set up to this point has probably had more moments of frustration than peace because the majority of programming was black and white, and after watching color, going back to

The Virginian was a repeat of a show seen earlier in black and white, but color added an entirely new dimension to the story.

ENGLISH EYEFUL—In Guildford, England, 19-year-old Diane Keen looks off between television performances. The young charmer is about to take the plunge into the music business by making her debut on records.

ALLEY MERRY-GO-ROUND Actor Training Unit Sets Fall Enrollment

The Alley Merry-Go-Round, the theatre's training wing for young actors, will open its fall semester the week of Sept. 13. New students will be starting classes the following week.

Conceived by Iris Siff, executive director, the Alley Merry-Go-Round was established in the fall of 1964 and has maintained a capacity enrollment of 300 with an additional waiting list of students, since its inception.

Over 200 students have already re-enrolled in the six semester program, and new applications are being received daily.

The faculty for the school will include Mrs. Lee Hickie, actress and graduate of the University of Texas, who will continue as M.G.R. Counselor; popular Lamar High School drama teacher, Ruth Denney, will return for her second year with the school; new faculty members are well-known Houston theatre personality Bettye Hairston Gardner, who's appointment was announced last week, together with Johnny and Aubrey Simons of Fort Worth, and Miss Susan Stubbs.

Johnny Simons is no stranger to Houston theater — goes. As a dancer, he has appeared in ballet productions in Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston and has choreographed revues for Six Flags Over Texas. He last appeared in Houston in "The Golden Cockerel," with the Houston Grand Opera Association, playing King Dodon. Mr. Simons' adaptation of Tom Sawyer was produced by Alley Theatre this past season. He and his wife are specialists in the Art of Mime, and have toured their Mime concert throughout the state. Both Mr. and Mrs. Simons have worked closely with the Casa Manana Merry-Go-Round, where Aubrey is a graduate with a B.F.A. in Theatre Arts from Texas Christian University.

Susan Stubbs is teaching speech, English and drama at E. L. Furr Junior — Senior High School, and working toward her Master Degree in Education at the University of Houston, where she received her Bachelor's Degree in drama and education and directed the children's production, Simple Simon, at the Attic Theatre.

She Enters; They Kiss...Again and Again 'Something I Have to Do!' Says Dean Martin

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD CORRESPONDENT
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Dean Martin and Daliah Lavi were shooting a love scene for "The Silencers." She was a lovely sight, her long, inky black hair in sharp contrast to the coral negligee. He came in the door and they kissed and then she lay down on the bed and he knelt beside her and kissed her again. "All right," said director Phil Karlson, "let's do it one more time."

Martin stayed where he was. He looked up at the crew on the crew on the catwalks above and bunched around the camera.

"What a life," he said. "They keep asking me to do things I don't want to do. But I have to do this, you understand."

And he kissed her again. She giggled.

The make-up lady came and cleaned off the soles of Daliah's feet. Walking barefoot on the soundstage had dirtied them.

They did the scene again. All the men in the place, perhaps for the first time in their lives wished they were actors.

"Good," said Karlson.

"A glass of water here, please," Martin said. There was a stunned silence. "For Miss Lavi—not for me. I haven't had any water in 12 years."

Another of Martin's playthings in "The Silencers" is Stella Stevens, as blonde as Daliah Lavi is brunette. But she is a redhead in this picture.

Stella is one of the growing number of Hollywood girls who have had their nude pictures displayed in the pages of Playboy. Stella has been that route twice.

"The first time," she says "was six years ago. People were horrified. This last time, nobody said a word in criticism.

"You see, posing in the nude has become respectable. I am a very good company now, some of the best people are doing it."

Seismograph Firm Awarded AEC Contract

TULSA, Okla. — The Birdwell Division of Seismograph Service Corp. has been awarded a contract to log the subsurface at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site.

James M. Bird, SSC vice president and head of the Birdwell Division, said Birdwell crews will begin operations under the 13-month contract on September 7.

Robert D. Clarke, who has been area manager in Tulsa, has been named area manager for the project. R. K. Ault, former area manager for Birdwell in Bradford, Pa., and Cecil Honea, station manager in Tulsa, will be supervisors.

Bird said Birdwell will establish camp and shop facilities at the test site, located about 100 miles north of Las Vegas. Four logging units, plus support equipment, crews and maintenance personnel will be sent to Nevada for the work.

Bird said the contract with the AEC calls for Birdwell to provide logging capabilities to enable the AEC to determine the properties of the sub-surface materials as an aid in the AEC's underground testing of nuclear devices.

Logging will be conducted in holes that range from five to 100 inches in diameter, and to depths from 500 to 12,000 feet.

Birdwell will provide 12 different wire line services under the contract, including high intensity gamma ray, caliper, temperature, density, 3-D velocity, electric, gamma ray neutron, induction electric, fluid resistivity, acoustical logs, flow meters and water locators.

Training Plans Finalized For Tool Pushers

The Tri-State Chapter of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors has made arrangements for a Tool Pusher — Engineer Level Training Program to be held at Evansville College in Evansville, Indiana November 3 to November 19, 1965. This is an 80 hour training program covering engineering principles of drilling operations.

It will be presented by Dr. Preston Moore, Associate Professor in the Department of Petroleum Engineering of the University of Oklahoma.

This program was presented at Casper, Wyoming to the Engineers, Tool Pushers, and Supervisors in the Rocky Mountain Area last January and is similar to the program presented by the Department of Continuing Education at the University of Oklahoma which has been in operation for the past five years.

British Sub Splits

LONDON (UPI)—A crack has been found in the internal bulkhead of Britain's first nuclear submarine, the $50.4 million Dreadnought, naval officials said Saturday.

The crack was discovered during the first survey of the vessel which has covered 80,000 miles in the past two-and-one-half years, they said.

Ruby Decision Responsibility Is Handed to Appeals Court

DALLAS (UPI)—Jack Ruby's lawyers today claimed a legal victory despite their failure to win freedom and a new trial for the condemned slayer of President Kennedy's assassin.

The complicated case was turned over to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals after a two-day hearing on the relationship of trial Judge Joe B. Brown to the case.

Brown voluntarily withdrew from the Ruby case weeks ago but the killer's attorneys sought to force a formal court order to bar him. They charged he had "pecuniary interests" in the matter since he was having a book ghost-written under his name about the sensational trial that ended March 14, 1964, in a death sentence for Ruby.

Brown's successor, Dist. Judge Louis Holland, Friday refused to grant a defense request for a writ of habeas corpus that would have "sprung" Ruby from jail and paved the way for a new trial on charges of shooting Lee Harvey Oswald.

Holland turned the question of Brown's formal disqualification over to the appeals court.

"Great Charter" The Magna Carta, or "Great Charter," dated June 15, 1215, has been regarded for more than seven centuries as the basis of English constitutional liberties. It was granted by King John.

LBJ Entertains Students

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has found peace between Pakistanis and Indians—right on the sidewalk in front of the White House.

During one of two strolls outside the executive mansion Wednesday, the President bumped into three students—two from Pakistan and one from India. They told him they were close friends.

"I'm sure glad you boys are friends," Johnson told them. The President spotted the three young men in peering through the White House fence during his second walk which had included chats with several bystanders.

Johnson introduced himself to two brothers from Karachi, Mirzi Daud Ahmed, 19, and Mirzi Yamin Ahmed, 20, and to Vinod Mehta, 24, from Bombay, India. All three attend Indiana Tech at Fort Wayne, Ind., where they study chemical and mechanical engineering.

It was around this time that news reports from the combat zone were saying Indian paratroopers were landing in Karachi.
