The equatorial and northern region allegedly photographed is on the side of the moon always turned away from the earth.

Americans Spent Less on Smokes During 1964

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans spent less for cigarettes last year, but not enough to halt an over-all increase in cigarette consumption since 1947, according to the Agricultural Department.

The agency's Economic Research Service (ERS) said Thursday that consumers spent $7.1 billion for cigarettes in 1964, down about $1 million from the previous year.

The decline in cigarette purchases came after sales moved steadily upward for many years. The drop was attributed to the effects of the surgeon-general's report linking smoking to cancer.

Despite this drop, the ERS said, consumers still spent 2 1/3 more money for cigarettes than the 1947 expenditures of $3 billion.

Daylight Jewel Robbery Nets $25,000 Diamonds

LONDON (UPI) — A daring daylight thief stepped into the show window of a jeweler's shop here Thursday, stuffed $25,000 worth of jewelry into his pockets and walked away.

Window-shoppers told the management what was going on, but it was too late to intercept the thief.

"The thief stripped our window of all the best items, including 600-pound ($1,600) diamond-studded watch," shop Manager James Braun told police.

It was not certain immediately how the thief got into the show window without being noticed by anyone in the shop.

WRONG CABLE RECEIVED—EVESHAM, England (UPI)—The father of a newborn daughter sent a telegram to his brother-in-law announcing, "Niece arrived." The cable, when delivered, read, "meat arrived."

Deuteronomy, title of the fifth book of the Bible, means "second law."

James Connally Tech Institute May Get First Students in '66

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—Civilian students of all ages will soon be studying in the classroom and hangars of James Connally Air Force Base, where pilots and navigators have trained for many years.

The base, abandoned by the Air Force and renamed James Connally Technical Institute of Texas A&M University, may get its first students in January.

ZOO SPAWNS FAWNS

MANCHESTER, England (UPI)—A pair of fawns named "Saturday" and "Sunday" have been born to deer at the Bellevue zoo. The two mothers and the father which sired both fawns had been given hormone treatment.

Australia is almost exactly the same size as mainland United States.

It is scheduled to be in full operation with some 3,000 students by September 1966.

Roy Dugger, Texas A&M's newest vice president, will operate the state technical and vocational school. Courses varying from one day to three years in length will be offered there to persons having high school educations.

The state legislature has appropriated just over a million dollars to cover operation of the school through the summer of 1967.

"We'll basically be a two-year technical institute in 20 and possibly 35 occupational fields," said Dugger. Basic cost will be $50 per semester.

Dugger said the school will teach subjects ranging from laser technology to the keeping of golf greens.

SMOKING CHURCH ORGAN

ARMITAGE, England (UPI)—Smoke bombs are being placed in the wooden pipes of the 175-year-old organ at the parish church in an effort to drive out woodworm. Dismantling the instrument for chemical treatment would have cost $2,800.

Japanese Premier Arrives in Naha

For Three-Day Official Okinawa Visit

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI)—Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato arrived here Thursday on a three-day official visit to Okinawa and ran into a demonstration by 2,000 leftists protesting U. S. occupation of the Japanese island group.

his motorcade at the U. S. high commissioner's government building and scuffled twice with police. There were no injuries but considerable pushing and swinging of fists as they broke through police lines.

The demonstrators held up

Dear Abby... Tell Busybodies You Came Back for Matches

DEAR ABBY: I was born and raised in a rather small town where everybody knows everybody else, and also their business. I was a pretty good student, and an outstanding athlete, so I was able to go to a very good university on a scholarship. I graduated in 1963. With quite a lot of fanfare I went to the "big city" to make my mark in the world. I had some big ideas and was offered some good job opportunities. To make a long story short, I tried it for two years and didn't do very well. I was offered a job back in my home town, and since nothing better was in sight, I took it. What do I say when people cut me down with digs like "What happened? I thought you went to the big city to set the world on fire?"

School Coats Are Still Casual

STAY CASUAL — White is as smart for school girls as for their older sisters. It is shown (left) with red braid outlining the collar and vertical pockets. Red buttons outline the double-breasted closing. Corduroy (right) creates a neat coat with a European look in an A-line silhouette with set-in sleeves. Pockets have leather toggles and binding. Lining is pile and knit.

NEW YORK (NEA) — The school bell will soon be heard again and so it's time for the ever-recurring questions on fashion: What's new, what's important in girls' and teens' coats and sportswear?
Wilbur Daniels, executive secretary of the National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry, reports there are two factors affecting youthful fashions — the influence of European imports and the continued growth of suburban living. As a result, casual and spectator-type coats are big on the scene, all neat and well-tailored.
Sports and casual suburban habits have created a need for

The Doctor Says

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Q—My son, 18, was turned down for a job because he has spondylolisthesis. He has always been active in sports. Is there anything we could have done to prevent this condition? Will it prevent him from getting a job that does not require heavy lifting?

A—Since spondylolisthesis is a congenital condition there is no way you could have prevented it. One of the lower part of your son's back is malformed and displaced forward. The defect often escapes notice until adolescence. At this time the victim may complain that he tires easily. He may also have low back pains.

This should be no handicap in getting a job that does not require a strong back but, if the condition is known to a prospective employer, he may reject such an applicant because of a set policy. Since surgical correction is possible in most victims who are still in their teens, this should be considered and the sooner the better.

Q—A friend has a cancer of the prostate. His doctor removed his testicles but not his prostate. Several years ago it was discovered that, in a person with a cancer of the prostate which could not be surgically removed, removal of the testicles would stop the growth of the tumor. It is customary to give female hormones after the operation in a further effort to suppress the cancer. The first patient who was treated in this way lived 15 years after the operation and died of a cause not related to his cancer.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Make Cosmetic Cape From Old Raincoat

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — My tip is to help the girls keep their clothes clean and dry when applying make-up or washing their hair. If you have an old plastic raincoat that is too shabby to wear, cut it to waist length, remove the sleeves and use it as a cosmetic cape. This is a great protection and easy to put on and take off.

DEAR POLLY — I am coming to the aid of mothers with sick youngsters who are restless and bored. This game has kept my little one busy and happy for over an hour at a time and mainly because he thought he was helping mamma. Take two decks of old playing cards, one deck face up and one face down, and shuffle them together. Put them in a shoe box and ask your child to help you get them all straightened out, one color in one stack and the other color in another stack. Then get him to go back through the cards and pick out the jokers.

When grilling chicken outdoors this summer, precook your chicken pieces about 10 minutes under normal cooking time in the pressure cooker. Then place the chicken on the hot grill, baste with sauce several times and cook for the remaining necessary time.

Your column has helped me many times in this past first year of marriage. Thank you and all the readers for the help. I hope I am still using your suggestions on our 25th anniversary and even more years to come.

DEAR POLLY — When in a hurry while shucking corn, I take a paper towel and rub each ear of corn to remove all the excess corn silks. Certainly saves time.

Astrological Forecast

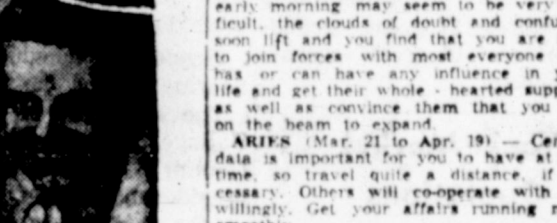

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

FOR SUNDAY, AUG. 22 — General tendencies: Although the early morning may seem to be very difficult, the clouds of doubt and confusion soon lift and you find that you are able to join forces with most everyone who has or can have any influence in your life and get their whole-hearted support, as well as convince them that you are on the beam to expand.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Certain aims are important for you to have at this time, so travel quite a distance, if necessary. Others will cooperate with you willingly. Get your affairs running more smoothly.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Getting practical ideas rolling nicely now will give you that added income you want so much. Regular customers will do their utmost to assist you. Be honest, specific with them.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Looking clearly at fine opportunities before you and using proper judgment will get rid of that confusing situation you are now in. Grow. Be a more successful and happy person.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) — Use methods instead, leaving force to others. If you want to get ahead much faster now, don't concentrate upon ourselves. They lose their power that way and all is well.
LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) — A show of authority toward business plus loyalty can see them releasing his benefits to you now. Make new contacts as well. These can flourish into worthwhile friendships.
VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) — Contacting regular executives with whom you do business will bring you the backing you want for constructive projects. Do your work. Improve your image with general public.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Be on the alert for any new outlets that will improve your outlook on life as well as increase abundance. Out-of-town could have excellent suggestions for you. List on carefully.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Take care of your obligations instead of holding on to money or interest accrued, etc. This includes personal indebtedness, too. Then use intuition how to get ahead fast.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Associates would appreciate short, energetic, constructive, concise answers to questions today. Be witty and amuse them. Then you make deals that are mutually satisfying.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Right into duties that face you with wonderful enthusiasm. Use your energy in a most constructive way. The results will be commensurate with the effort you apply.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Fine results can be had in whatever you most enjoy doing, so get regular duties out of the way quickly. Call associates quite early. Get their cooperation with ease.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Your attention should be focused on home and kin today, adding comforts, increasing harmony, etc. You are able to rid your self of stumbling blocks in your path to success.

Try New Approach
To Daily Housework
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you really don't want to hate housework... Stop talking about how much you hate it. (As long as you talk about how you hate your job... whatever it is... you'll never learn to like it or take pride in doing it well.)
Don't follow such a routine that your life is a dreary round of washday Mondays, house-cleaning Tuesdays and so on. (Why be a slave to a set routine when you are your own boss and can plan each day as it comes along?)
Train your children — and do your best to persuade your husband — to have a place for their belongings and to keep them there. (A family that makes constant clutter can make any woman hate housework.)
Teach yourself to do routine jobs as speedily as possible — instead of dawdling and "dragging them out" — so that you can count on a few free hours every day to do with as you please.
Make cooking a creative art, instead of a dull chore, by becoming a really superb cook — something any woman an become if she is interested enough to try.

Regard your home as a place for your family and friends to enjoy — not just so many rooms for you to take care of. (Having guests often will help you to do this more than anything else.)
Learn every skill you can that will help to make your home more attractive. A housewife who is always busy on some project such as refinishing furniture, or making slipcovers, or doing some kind of handicraft doesn't have time to sit around hating house work.)
Never use the phrase, "just a housewife." Take pride in the fact that you are doing the most important job a woman can do — making a happy home for a family.
If you don't believe these measures will keep you from hating housework — give them a six-months try. You may find that you really didn't hate housework at all. What you hated was the way you handled the job.

Overcoming Self-Justification

Written for The Christian Science Monitor

Perhaps one of the easiest mistakes one can make is to indulge in what is sometimes called "righteous" indignation. This tendency is subtle and often operates in the simplest activities. Although people generally accept the fact that becoming upset is a natural reaction to certain situations, it is not necessary for one to accept this common belief.

If we could find on opening a purchase that the salesperson has wrapped the wrong item, are our thoughts filled with resentment over another's carelessness? Does an indignant sense of being inconvenienced take possession of us? Such mistakes should not occur, of course, and they will come into our experience less often as we become more aware of the omnipresence and omniscience of divine Mind in everything we do. But until we have reached this awareness, we can make the occasion of such mistakes less painful for ourselves and for those around us by expressing love, forgiveness, and humility.

No one wishes to be guilty of self-importance. But this false sense is usually at the bottom of the declaration: "I have a right to be offended!" Nobody has the right to be less than the perfect expression of God. Christ Jesus taught (Luke 6: 36, 37): "Be ye . . . merciful, as your father also is merciful. Judge not, and ye shall not be judged; condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned; forgive, and ye shall be forgiven." The Master also said (Matthew 5:48), "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

Whether we are tempted to resent a trivial mistake or what seems to be a greater injustice, we can be sure that the law of God, divine Love, is operating to deliver us from evil situation. As we replace wounded egotism with meekness and charity, we shall feel the peace and joy that God is forever imparting to each of His beloved children.

Since most of us have not yet reached the place where we never make an error, we should be willing to forgive the faults of others. In so doing, our Master has promised us that we in turn shall be forgiven. When our endeavors to be charitable are supported by divine law, they will meet with success.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

History Repeats Itself For Cincy's Maloney

By United Press International
The 25-year-old righthander had gone on to pitch another inning of hitless ball against the Mets but lost his mastery and the game in the 11th on a home run by Johnny Lewis.

"I got to the end of the ninth after this repeat performance, and I had a no-hitter again and I thought to myself, 'I hope I don't face the same situation again.'"

But shortstop Leo Cardenas, who laughs in the face of history, altered the ending with a homer in the 10th inning that smacked the left field foul pole.

"I thought to myself," said Maloney, the fireballing Irishman, "Now we've got a run, all too clear in the mind of

All Maloney could do, of course, was retire the side in the 10th without a hit for a 1-0 Cincinnati victory and a secure place in baseball's records books.

Maloney's ambitions don't stop there, however.

"I pitched a one-hitter in April, a no-hitter in June and a no-hitter in August," he noted. "The next one in sequence should be in October, and that should be the World Series."

Despite Maloney's individual achievement, however, the Reds did little to further their World Series ambitions as they dropped the second game of the Wrigley Field doubleheader to the Cubs 5-4. The Los Angeles Dodgers regained the National League lead with an 8-5 victory over the Giants in 15 innings while St. Louis edged Milwaukee 5-4. No other games were scheduled.

Maloney, who said he "wasn't as sharp" as in his no-hit loss to the Mets during which he struck out 18 batters, battled wildness throughout the two-hour, 51-minute contest against Chicago. He walked 10 batters, went to 3-and-2 on 14 batters, hit one and threw 187 pitches in gaining his 14th victory of the year against six losses.

Although he struck out 12, the Fresno, Calif., native was in trouble throughout the game and loaded the bases in the ninth before he got Don Landrum on a pop up.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Twins Move Closer To American Title

By United Press International
The victory for Grant was his 16th, the tops in the AL and his best total in an eight-year occupational hazards of the pitching profession and all the while leading the Minnesota Twins to the American League pennant.

Kaat, the strapping 26-year-old southpaw, has had trouble for much of the season with tendonitis in his forearm, and Grant, in addition to a case of tendonitis in his knees, has been throwing gopher balls at an alarming rate.

Both pitchers, however, have triumphed over adversity to such an extent that they each are experiencing their finest season in the major leagues and anchoring the injury riddled Minnesota staff.

Kaat, who missed only one turn during the worst siege of the injury and occasionally made extra appearances to alleviate the Twin pitching shortage, earned his 12th victory of the season Thursday in the second game of a crucial doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers, 2-1, after Grant had gone all the way to win the opener 3-3. "The victory for Grant was his 16th, the tops in the AL and his best total in an eight-year occupational hazards of the pitching profession and all the while leading the Minnesota Twins to the American League pennant."

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox blasted the Baltimore Orioles 11-3 and the Yankees edged the Angels 3-1. No other games were scheduled in the junior circuit.

Grant, a retread acquired from the Cleveland Indians last year who since has developed a winning curve ball, served up homers to Norm Cash in the fifth and Don Demeter in the ninth, but he had more than enough batting support from Don Mincher and Rich Rollins, who crashed successive homers in the third inning for four runs.

Tiger star Al Kaline suffered a torn rib cartilage in the first stanza of the first game when he attempted a diving catch of Earl Battey's double and is expected to be out for three or four days. Detroit also lost its hold on second place, falling into a three-way tie for third, nine games off the Twins' pace.

Rookie pitcher Jim Lonborg pitched and batted the Red Sox to their victory. The tall righthander doubled home the two decisive runs in Boston's tie-

Randy Wins

INKERONEN, Finland (UPI) — Randy Matson of Pampa, Tex., the world record holder in the shot put, won first place in an international track meet Thursday night with a throw of 66 feet 4 inches. Matson will be a junior next month at Texas A&M University.

Texas Favored To Take Oil Bowl Tilt

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UPI) — Texas is a six-point favorite over Oklahoma tonight in the 28th annual Oil Bowl Football Game.

The Texas squad, coached by Joe James of Howard Payne College, has a speed and size advantage over the Sooner team, tutored by Don Riederer of Sapulpa, Okla.

Quarterback Bill Bradley of Palestine, Tex., and split end Jerry Levas of Beaumont, Hebert — the same combination that pushed the Texas all-stars by Pennsylvania's best last Saturday — are figured to provide the same incentive against Oklahoma's elite today.

Levas, a 9.5 sprinter who recently became the first Negro to sign a Southwest Conference football letter-of-intent, just joined the team Tuesday as a last-minute addition when tackle Ronnie Scroggins of Garland scratched.

Bradley is a 9.9 sprinter himself, and two other sub-10 second backs make the fast-enough Oklahoma backfield seem slow in comparison. The Texas line, weighing in at an average of 211 pounds, has a 12-pound weight average per man.

Both teams drilled only slightly yesterday in final tune-up sessions for the contest to be played in Midwestern University Stadium. The Texas squad still had a doubtful starter in defensive back Johnny Johnson of Dallas Samuell, who sprained an ankle in a Wednesday morning practice. He was kept off the ankle in yesterday's session, but he is expected to be ready by gametime.

Proceeds of the game go to crippled children charities. Both squads visited with children in the North Texas Rehabilitation Center yesterday after the short practice.

Bradley and Don King of Wichita Falls Hirschi will captain the Texas squad, and Terry Brown of Lawton, Okla., and Bob Warmack of Ada, Okla., will head up the Oklahoma eleven.

Texas has won 14 of the 19 games played in the classic. Oklahoma has four wins, including last year's 21-16 verdict. There was one tie.

Lions to Test Minnesota Exhibition Victory String

By United Press International
The Minnesota Vikings, who apparently can do no wrong until the regular National Football League season begins, will put a string of six straight exhibition victories on the line against the Detroit Lions Friday night to start another weekend of professional football activity.

The Vikings were the only team in the NFL to go undefeated in last season's five-game exhibition schedule, and they added another 31-21 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers last week.

Scrambling Fran Tarkenton will pit his passing talent against Philadelphia's Norman Snead and King Hill, who guided the Eagles to a victory over Detroit last weekend to even their record at 1-1.

The Detroit Lions will meet the Western Division champion Baltimore Colts in the only other exhibition game Friday night. Baltimore's Johnny Unitas passed for a 22-10 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last week.

U.S., Russia Agree Germany Should Not Control N-Arms

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Russia agree that Germany should not be permitted to control nuclear weapons but they are far apart on how this can best be guaranteed.

This disagreement is the immediate obstacle to progress on a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons. But it is only one of several formidable barriers to a comprehensive solution of the problem. Others are: —The refusal of France and Red China, each of which is developing its independent nuclear force, to make any agreement restricting possible use or deployment of such weapons. —Increasing internal political pressures on the governments of India, Sweden and several other countries for development of their own nuclear weapons.

Search For Solution
But despite the unfavorable outlook, President Johnson has ordered his negotiators to press forward in efforts to find a solution to this "gravest of all unresolved human issues".

The Soviet-American disagreement was underlined this week by Russia's contemptuous dismissal of a new U. S. treaty draft on the subject.

Under the U. S. proposal, nuclear-armed nations would pledge not to "transfer any nuclear weapons into the national control of any non-nuclear state." The latter would promise in turn not to manufacture or acquire them.

However, the proposed treaty has a loophole concerning "organizations" which would permit creation of a NATO nuclear force with a U. S. veto over use of the weapons or a united European force with a British veto.

The Russians view this provision as merely a device to give West Germany access to nuclear weapons. The United States contends this is not true. In fact, Washington argues, the Germans are almost certain eventually to develop an independent nuclear force unless they are given a limited role of participation in a multi-lateral force subject to American or British veto.

Treaty Hope Lingers
U.S. officials hope they somehow can persuade the Soviets to accept this view. They then hope that over a period of time France and Red China eventually will conclude their interests would best be served by adhering to the treaty.

Meanwhile, the threat of nuclear development in other countries is increasing. India which last year decided against developing its own nuclear force, is having second thoughts due to the growing menace of Red China. In Sweden and Switzerland there is some sentiment favoring independent nuclear development to guarantee traditional neutrality.

In the Middle East, the United Arab Republic and Israel are believed to harbor nuclear ambitions.

In fact, chairman Glenn Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission lists at least a dozen countries which have the scientific knowhow and material resources to develop nuclear weapons if pressures force them to do so.

Time is running out and, as President Johnson said, "the time to halt nuclear spread is before its contagion takes root."

By United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Factory employment has made the biggest gains this summer since the war year of 1943, the Labor Department reports. The mid-July gain over mid-June was 93,000. However, total non-farm payrolls were down seasonally from June, although less than anticipated, to 60,673,000 workers.

PITTSBURGH — The Steel industry labor talks resumed Monday for a final two-week drive for a settlement before the Sept. 1 strike deadline, with management and the union still far apart.
