Big Death Toll Feared In Volcano's Eruption

Bloody Fight Waged At 40 Yards

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. 101st Airborne Brigade killed an estimated 57 Viet Cong in a battle fought at 40-yard range near An Khe 200 miles north of Saigon, it was reported today. The paratroopers suffered "light casualties."

Communist guerrillas stormed a government outpost 90 miles south of Saigon and executed five civilians, including two women, who were helping the government win peasants over to the anti-Viet Cong effort. The village chief was marched to a flagpole, his hands tied behind his back, and shot to death.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said three American civilians were killed Monday night when their twin-engine plane was shot down by enemy gunfire while landing at an airstrip 25 miles northwest of Saigon. The guerrillas launched five attacks in the area at the same time.

The "Screaming Eagles" of the 101 Airborne were carrying out a new sweep near the scene of their bloodiest battle Sept. 18 when they were pinned down for 24 hours by a Viet Cong battalion.

An Air Force spokesman disclosed the loss of two more American planes. A Skyraider crash-landed at Qui Nhon Air Field today after being hit by enemy ground fire. The pilot walked away almost unscathed. A tiny Air Force OIF observation plane crash landed 105 miles west of Saigon when it caught fire. The pilot suffered broken legs.

The plane in which the three civilians were killed apparently was shot down by communist groundfire. A U.S. Embassy spokesman identified one of the victims as American Aid Program official Jack Wells of College Park, Fla. He said the others were pilots (See FIGHT, Page 3)

FROM CITY

Franchise Renewal Requested

Pioneer Natural Gas Co. officials asked the city commission today for a 20-year renewal franchise in Pampa.

Norman Henry, local manager, said the company is dickering for a new building site and will go ahead with plans if the present franchise is renewed. The utility's current franchise expires in July of next year.

Mayor Jim Nation told Henry and K. B. Watson, vice president and attorney for Pioneer, the commission would consider the franchise extension at its next meeting Oct. 12.

It renewed the gas company franchise would run until July 1, 1985.

In other business today: The commission authorized signing of a new two-year rental contract with the Texas Railroad Commission for office space in City Hall.

Payment of $2,700.47 to Forest & Cotton, Dallas consulting engineers, was approved for engineering services on Pampa's sewage treatment plant project.

The commission also approved payment of $15,459.54 in fiscal year - end bills. The fiscal year ends Thursday.

It was so hot the air conditioning unit had to be turned on to get relief from the heat.

City commissioners met at 8:30 a.m.

First Cold, Then Hot at City Hall

The City Hall custodian was expecting it to be cold this morning.

The gas furnace was fired up to take off the chill for office workers.

It took off the chill to the extent that heat in the city commission room was of the mid-August afternoon variety. City commissioners met at 8:30 a.m.

PROSPECTING — Frank Culberson, left, is chatting with Harry Clark of Austin, at a Pampa Industrial Foundation directors meeting yesterday in the Coronado Inn. Clark, who is executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, told the group that "they had better be ready to deliver the goods", when an industrial prospect shows interest in locating in the community.

Local Industrial Group Hears Texas Commission Director

"There are 1500 new industrial prospects in the country each year and more than 15,000 organizations seeking them," according to Harry Clark, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Clark made these remarks in a talk at a luncheon meeting of directors of the Pampa Industrial Foundation yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

"With the odds 100 to one, a community that has five good prospects in a year, is indeed fortunate," Clark said.

The speaker outlined five important steps a community should take if it wishes to attract industry. They are: community betterment; research and analysis; financing; industrial sites; prospecting.

He said that Pampa has apparently met the first four steps successfully, but must now concentrate on prospecting.

Clark said that there are five basic sources of prospects. They are (1) local existing industry, through growth and expansion; (2) men with ideas; (3) power companies, railroads, banks, regional chambers of commerce, etc.; (4) the 10,500 manufacturing firms already located in Texas; (5) through the enthusiasm of its own people.

"I do not recommend the employment of a full time industrial promotion man at this time," he said. "The cost would be a minimum of $25,000 a year, including expenses and overhead. Besides, I don't know of an available man I could recommend for the job."

Clark did recommend that the Foundation use a direct telephone contact approach. However, the key to all prospecting is in the follow-up, he concluded.

Foundation President Frank Culberson introduced the speaker.

Last Blast Took Over 3,000 Lives

By DON C. BOECKER
MANILA (UPI) — A killer volcano, slumbering in the middle of a mountain lake since 1911 when it claimed more than 3,000 lives, exploded today with sudden violence. Thousands of villagers fled in near panic and a high death toll was feared.

Official figures compiled by the Philippine Red Cross and the Social Welfare Agency showed at least 82 confirmed deaths and 85,000 persons evacuated from the disaster area 35 miles south of Manila.

Authorities said the island on which the volcano is located was cut off from rescuers, making it impossible to determine the fate of an estimated 6,000 persons living there. Only six were immediately accounted for.

Rescue teams aboard small boats were turned back time and time again by intense heat and thick smoke as they tried to approach the island about two miles from the lake shore.

Newsmen flying over the island 6 1/2 hours after the first eruption at 2:25 a.m. — 2:25 p.m. EDT Wednesday — reported no signs of life.

The initial pre-dawn eruption sent a huge fireball rocketing more than 10,000 feet into the night sky. The earth shook and hot lava bubbled over the crest of the crater.

The occasion was observance of Gaylor's pending retirement, effective the 30th. His wife, Stella, looks on as Postal Service Officer J. M. Benesch congratulates Gaylor on completion of 43 years in the postal service.

Indian, Pakistani Fight Flares Again

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Fighting flared today along the India-Pakistan border in violation of the United Nations ceasefire. India said it had annihilated a Pakistani column in the Sind Desert, and Pakistan reported the Indian air force attacked in that area.

The Indian Defense Ministry also reported continued Chinese military activity along the border of Ladakh in northeast Kashmir and near the border of Sikkim. It reported the Chinese digging in on high ground in the Ladakh area and said they had built observation posts and bunkers near Sikkim.

India reported wiping out the Pakistani column and recapturing a village but the Defense Ministry denied its air force had strafed Pakistani troops in the Rajasthan-Sind border area 500 miles south of Lahore as claimed by the Pakistanis.

There was mounting pressure, meantime, on Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri to authorize manufacture by India of its own atomic weapons.

Mehr Chand Khanna, state minister for works and housing, called Monday for India to build the bomb. He told a rally: "We will need atomic weapons to safeguard our interests."

Khanna was the first minister in the Indian government to urge publicly acquisition of nuclear weapons. A total of 85 members of Parliament, including a number of the ruling Congress Party, had signed a petition urging such measures following the outbreak of the war with Pakistan over Kashmir.

Pakistan's new charges were aired as Maj. Gen. Bruce F. MacDonald of Canada flew in with a group of United Nations aides in an effort to enforce the steadily deteriorating cease fire. He admitted his job would be difficult.

Pakistan's charges, made in a Karachi radio broadcast, said today was the first time India had used its air force against Pakistani positions since the truce went into effect last week. Terms of the cease fire provided that planes remain at least 10 miles away from battle positions.

Tropical Storm Debbie Takes Strong New Life

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Tropical storm Debbie, steadily growing in intensity, sent gale winds lashing the Mississippi and Alabama coasts today and the Weather Bureau ordered a hurricane watch from Louisiana to Florida.

The Weather Bureau urged coastal residents to flee in the face of approaching high tides. The storm that suddenly built from a tropical "depression" in the Gulf of Mexico was moving at 10 miles an hour up "Hurricane Alley," packing winds up to 50 miles per hour.

Oil rigs in the gulf, buffeted by high waves, were being evacuated. The Navy's big air training station at Pensacola, Fla., went on alert and prepared for a possible "flyaway" of hundreds of planes to safer fields should the storm grow to hurricane strength.

Winds were extending 200 miles from the center of the storm as it approached an area battered less than three weeks ago by Hurricane Betsy. At 8 a.m. CST Debbie was centered at latitude 26.2, longitude 89.5, about 280 miles southwest of Pensacola, Fla. It was moving north-northeastward.

"Debbie is expected to become better organized and intensify today as it moves northeastward and increases in forward speed," the Weather Bureau said.

"Present indications are that the center should move inland over northwest Florida late tonight or early Wednesday." Gale warnings were hoisted (See DEBBIE, Page 3)

All Texas Warms Up Today

By United Press International
A cool front lingered on the southern tip of Texas today, but most of the state enjoyed clear skies and mild temperatures.

Temperatures will rise in portions of West Texas today and in South Texas by late afternoon. Little rain was expected, the weather bureau said.

Early morning temperatures varied from 54 at Junction to 72 at Galveston. Most readings were in the 60s. Dalhart and Amarillo, usually the state's coolest spots, both recorded 58s.

The cool front brought heavy rain over the weekend to South Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley. There was flash flooding in sections of San Antonio, and Victoria picked up .64 of an inch of rain.

Corpus Christi and Presidio each had 86 degrees Monday, the hottest in the state.

Word Is Awaited On Appointment

With his optional resignation only two days away, Postmaster O. K. Gaylor said today he had not yet received any notice about his successor.

Gaylor has retired effective Thursday, Sept. 30, after 34 years in the postal service and ten years as Pampa postmaster.

The postmaster said, however, he was momentarily expecting word from Washington on the appointment of an acting postmaster to relieve him until a permanent postmaster is named.

Alabama Attorneys Arrive for Murder Trial Under Heavy Armed Guard

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — A popular "citizen deputy" went on trial today in the shotgun killing of a civil rights worker gunned down shortly after his release from jail.

Thomas Coleman, 52, a member of a prominent Lowndes County family, was charged in the death of Jonathan Daniels, a white ministerial student who almost was decapitated by a biast fired from a small grocery here last month.

Two judges—one federal and one state—refused to stop or delay both the trial of Coleman, a district engineer for the State Highway Department, and tomorrow's trial of a Ku Klux Klansman in the killing of another civil rights worker.

made up the chief security guard at the courthouse, scene of the trials.

State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers and Assistant Atty. Gen. Joe Gantt, who will head the prosecution, arrived 30 minutes before the trial accompanied by a special guard detailed by the state's highest legal officer following threats on his life if he proceeded with the trial.

In arguing for a postponement Monday, Gantt told a circuit judge that he and Flowers had been threatened and they were fearful they might be killed.

The state attorney general, dissatisfied with the manslaughter charge, had hoped to seek a murder indictment from another grand jury but the case was speeded to trial before this was possible. A second civil right slaying case also was scheduled for circuit court this week against the wishes of Flowers.

Barring new and unexpected legal maneuvers by Flowers to get the case postponed, Coleman's trial would begin with selection of the jury.

Circuit Court Judge T. Werth Thagard allowed only one day for the case and scheduled the retrial of Ku Klux Klansman Collier Leroy Wilkins, charged with the murder of Detroit civil rights worker Viola Liuzzo, for Wednesday. Wilkins' first trial ended with a hung jury.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International.
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If NBC-TV's new, one-hour Sunday night series, "The Wackiest Ship in the Army," can keep the stylish comedy pace of its first two episodes, it may turn out to be a very surprising quality sleeper.

Taking over the late-night slot of the defunct series, "The Rogues," this new entry centers around an old schooner used on espionage missions in the South Pacific in World War II, and its crew, most of whose members know little about the sea and resent their assignment.

This, however, is just the framework. What has made the first two shows so enjoyable, in addition to the amusing dialogue and knowing direction, is the low-key, relatively adult flavor of the expert cast—right down to the last seaman—and above all, the star, Jack Warden.

Warden is already making a bid for acting honors among the new series, and the old ones as well. The crux of "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" is his engaging rivalry—at sea, and on land with the ladies—with the skipper of the schooner, Gary Collins, who is also tops.

Warden portrays an army officer assigned to the ship. On shore, he is Collins' superior, but on the vessel he is subordinate to him, yet only in a dryly sarcastic way does he yield to the younger man's orders. Warden is the tough, knowing veteran who, of course, is okay underneath—while Collins is the Ivy League type who goes by the book. Warden is a fast worker with the ladies, a rugged charmer, while Collins would just as soon take them to the opera before making a pass.

In short, the characters are hardly original—but they are done so well that they take on legitimate, if not overwhelming, human dimension which gives the show a chance to move into adventure and romance along with its comedy. Sunday night, for instance, the story concerned their transporting of some female radio technicians disguised as missionaries to an island full of Japanese troops.

A review of this series in weekly "Variety" sums up some of its assets neatly and succinctly, stating in part: "The title oversells it a bit; the ship isn't wacky, just a little giddy. Otherwise it's a smartly produced, laugh-at-the-war video timepasser that's a cut or two above much of the prime time grind for performances, style and dialogue; any show that's willing to forego the laughtrack has got to be classed as mature in today's league."

Sunday night, the show displayed its range from quiet humor to adventure to farce. In one funny sequence, the ship's chief, excellently played by Mike Kellin, thinks the ladies are real missionaries, and attempts to confess to one that he hasn't had a truly clean, upstanding life. "None of us is perfect," she says, and he replies painfully, "I ain't even close, ma'am."

TV BOYCOTT
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—"The deafening click of sets being turned off" is the only thing that is going to make television better, according to Federal Communications Commissioner James J. Wadsworth.

Wadsworth said Sunday that viewer displeasure and not federal regulation would improve the quality of television. He urged viewers to "write in" to the FCC when they feel they are being subjected to bad programs.

HI-HO SILVER!—Silver, the Lone Ranger's mighty horse, poses for the camera following the announcement that he is not headed for the glue factory. Mrs. Brace Beemer, the masked man's widow, said that, contrary to the rumor, the 27-year-old stallion would be kept on a farm at Oxford, Mich.

THREE CAR SMASHUP — Seven persons were injured at Hobart and Buckler Sts. last night as the result of a mishap involving three autos. Occurring about 7:00 p.m. the accident caused quite a traffic tie-up for a time.

Seven Are Injured In 3-Car Crash

Seven persons were rushed to Highland General Hospital following a three-car pile-up at Hobart and Buckler Sts. about 7 p.m. last night.
 Hospital attendants said today five of the seven were released after emergency treatment; only two were admitted.
 Raymond Leos, 24, of 849 W. Kingsmill was the most seriously injured. Hospital attendants changed him from "critical" to "fair" condition this morning following surgery.
 His brother Cornelio Leos, 28, also of 849 W. Kingsmill, was listed in good condition this morning.
 Treated and released last night were Donald Snapp, 15, of 2600 Rosewood; Burt Scott Jr., 22, 1036 Huff; Don Cardenas, 1035 S. Barnes; Miguel Lotello, Pampa and Bacilio Ramirez, also of Pampa.
 Investigating officers stated the accident occurred when the vehicle driven by Scott was struck from the rear by a car driven by Snapp. Scott's vehicle was then knocked into an oncoming car driven by Cornelio Leos.
 Other than Snapp and Scott, the injured were all passengers in the car driven by Leos.
 Damaged to all three vehicles was estimated at $1,700.

News Men Attacked By Georgia Mob

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—Several Negroes were knocked to the ground and a crowd of angry whites turned on news photographers today when police and bystanders blocked an attempt by 20 Negro students to board a school bus for whites.
 The crowd of about 25 whites attacked photographers Abe Gallman of station WSB-TV Atlanta and Joe Holloway of United Press International. Neither was injured.
 Gallman's camera was snatched away but later was returned undamaged after a highway patrolman intervened.
 The Negroes' effort to board the white bus was the latest in a series of racial incidents in Crawfordville, about 110 miles east of Atlanta in Taliaferro County.
 The Negro students, aged 13-17, approached the bus but were stopped by a crowd of white men, Taliaferro County Sheriff M. B. Moore and Georgia State Patrol Capt. Theron Aldridge.
 The Negro students gathered around the bus. Some tried to get in the doors and others stood in front of it to prevent it from moving.
 White bystanders closed in and pushed them back. During the jostling, several of the Negro youths were knocked to the ground.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!
 New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.
 Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.
 This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatensol.

At 10 a.m. CST, Debbie's center was near latitude 27.1, longitude 89.2, about 250 miles south southwest of Pensacola.

It was moving northeastward at 10 miles an hour, with winds fanning out to the north and east.

Small craft from Lake Charles, La., to Fort Myers, Fla., on the Gulf of Mexico and from Palm Beach, Fla., to Savannah, Ga., on the Atlantic Coast were warned to stay in port.

The tug New Hope sprang a leak in the face of advancing Debbie and the seven-man crew took to a liferaft. Coast Guard helicopters rescued them this morning.

Heavy rains were accompanying Debbie.

Between 5 and 10 inches of rain were forecast for the Florida panhandle, southeast Alabama and southern Georgia.

Tides from 3 to 6 feet were advancing ahead of the storm.

Debbie had been expected to hit a mass of cold air moving south into the Gulf. Forecasters had expected the cooler, dryer air would mix with the tropical disturbance and end any further development. The cold front, however, was breaking up before the anticipated collision.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—When Gina Lollobrigida's measurements were considered at a recent House Rules Committee hearing, the members took a firm stand in favor of leaving them as they are.

Miss Lollobrigida's dimensions figured in a discussion of whether the United States should study the feasibility of converting to the metric system of weights and measures.

Someone pointed out that under the metric system, using centimeters instead of inches, Gina's vital statistics would be 93-89-93, rather than 37-35-37.

This may have been one of the reasons why the committee voted unanimously to defer action on the metric study. If so, I can understand why.

Regarding Miss Lollobrigida in terms of centimeters obviously would require a big adjustment on our part.

Double-Decker Doll
 Nevertheless, there is, I believe, a better means of contemplating Miss Lollobrigida than by the present standards that we employ. In fact, I think we should adopt an entire new statistical method of appraising the feminine form divine.

Rather than measure movie stars, beauty contestants and other fair damsels at strategic points to see how they stack up, we should "admeasure" them.

I got this idea from a Senate Commerce Committee hearing on a bill dealing with the "admeasurement" of ships having two or more decks. Since Miss Lollobrigida herself has two or more decks, admeasuring her would be no problem.

At the hearing, Sen. E. L. Bartlett, I Alaska, wanted to know the difference between measurements and admeasurements.

An expert in marine law explained that admeasurement means "breaking it up into proportions." That, of course, is the key factor in my proposal.

Calculating Fellows
 Proportioning is probably even more important to the female figure than it is to ships. Bartlett was told that the admeasurement of a ship is based on "detailed physical measurement of the hull and deck structures," plus certain calculations by "methods of integral calculus."

At present, only the hull and deck structures of beauty queens are measured. I'm sure you will agree that integral calculus would make the statistics more interesting and meaningful.

Furthermore, admeasuring pretty girls, as well as ships, would be entirely appropriate from the standpoint of gender. When Bartlett noted that a ship was referred to in the bill as "it," he had the pronoun changed to the traditional "she."

"The romance ought to be preserved," he said.

Lana Trial Waxes Hot In 8th Day

DUNCAN, Okla. (UPI)—The state set out to prove today that comely honor student Tama Hallmark was mentally competent to name Bert Michael Lana as her assailant despite the savage beating and stabbing she endured in January 1964.

Lana's trial on charges of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill entered its eighth day today. The 17-year-old son of a football coach, taking the stand Monday for the first time, firmly denied the accusation.

Prosecutors summoned for an appearance today Dr. Duncan MacMasters, a Tulsa physician who treated Miss Hallmark over a period of seven months during which she slowly emerged from a coma.

MacMasters was expected to contradict testimony from three doctors who testified in Lana's behalf that Miss Hallmark suffered too much brain damage to be able to identify her attacker.

Miss Hallmark, now 19, pointed Lana out and pronounced his name as her attacker on the second day of the trial. Still retaining evidence of her partial paralysis, she spoke with difficulty but enunciated Lana's name clearly.

After Lana denied the charge in a three-hour grilling, the state put on rebuttal witnesses designed to both puncture Lana's alibi and to build one for Miss Hallmark's 17-year-old brother, Carter, Carter was one of the original suspects, but was dropped from the list when Miss Hallmark identified Lana.

Dr. J. P. Keller, a Duncan physician, testified Miss Hallmark would be unable to recall anything about her stabbing and that her identification of Lana must be the result of things "relearned and taught as part of her rehabilitation."

However, Dr. Keller admitted to Asst. Atty. Gen. Jack Swidensky that he was prejudiced in Lana's favor and that he did not examine Miss Hallmark personally.

John Strickland, a classmate of Carter Hallmark's, and Duncan high school wrestling coach Darrell Hill both declared that Carter Hallmark was in a wrestling practice session between 3 and 5:40 p.m. on Jan. 6, 1964. Miss Hallmark was stabbed about 50 times, beaten on the head and left for dead between 4 and 4:30 p.m. that day.

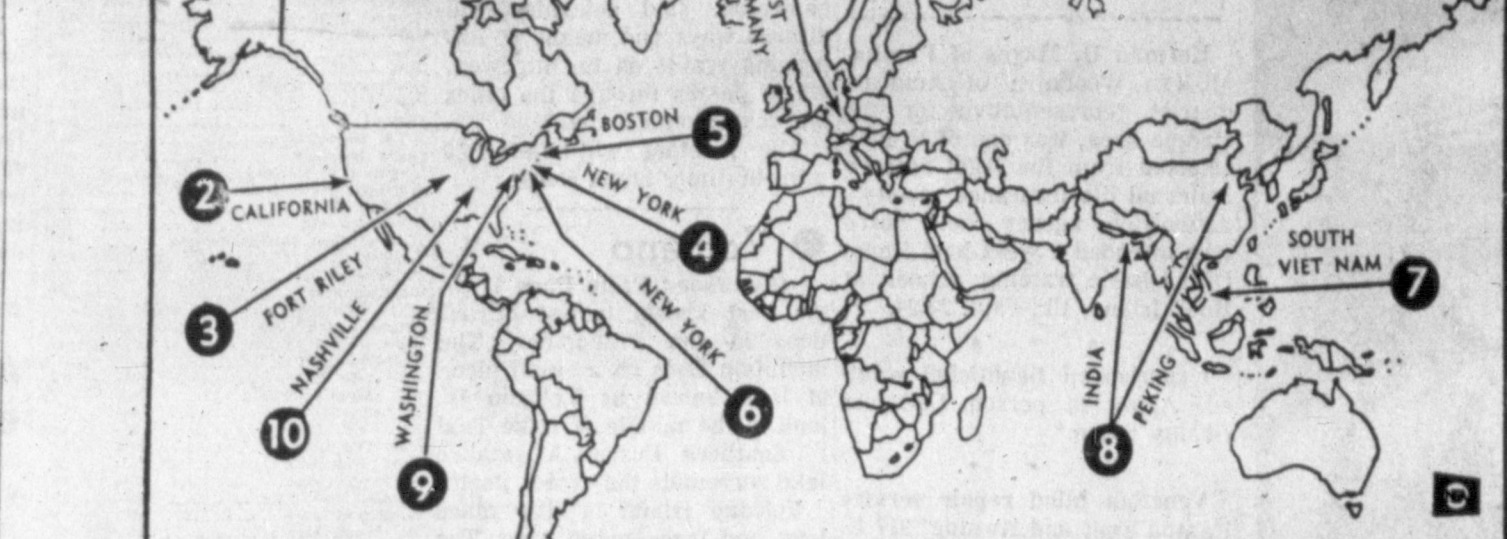

Eddie Sparks, a Duncan newspaper photographer who testified Saturday that he photographed a heel print in the Hallmark driveway which matched prints found at the crime scene, was called back and testified he made only two photographic prints of the heel print.

Sparks said he destroyed one photograph and gave the other one to Stephens County Sheriff Walter Welch. A few minutes later Welch denied he ever received the print.

Sparks also said the photographic negatives disappeared from his darkroom. Crime bureau agent Lee

School Prayer Opponent Fights Extradition

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Atheist Madalyn Murray who got the Supreme Court to outlaw organized prayer in public schools, vowed today "to go down fighting" court attempts to extradite her to Baltimore, Md., where she faces charges of assaulting police.

Maury Maverick Jr., her attorney, said he hoped to connect her habeas corpus hearing with an extradition hearing and keep the case tied up for three years.

Maverick, hired by the American Civil Liberties Union, got Mrs. Murray released from jail Sunday after filing a writ of habeas corpus. She had been arrested Saturday night, shortly after she arrived from Mexico City.

Mrs. Murray, a 46-year-old divorcee, had been living at Valle De Bravo, Michoacan, Mexico until she was deported by Mexican officials Saturday.

She rented an apartment on San Antonio's north side Monday for her and her son Jon Garth, 10. She said she intended to stay at the apartment at least through her Oct. 8 habeas corpus hearing date.

"The Baltimore churches and Baltimore lawyers are going to destroy me," she said. "I know that. But I will go down fighting."

Mrs. Murray, an at times talking former WAC, is trying to get churches to pay taxes on their property. The case is now in the courts.

She filed the suit after winning her prayer case in the Supreme Court. Mrs. Murray claims she was hounded by church groups and police after winning the suit.

Son Also Faces Charges
 Mrs. Murray said Monday she had heard the attorney general of Maryland was personally going to see she got 100 years in prison on charges of assaulting 14 police officers two years ago.

Her son, William, 19, faces similar charges. She claims it was police who beat her. Each of 10 assault charges carry 10 year sentences.

Mrs. Murray said she expects eventually extradition. Her son recently was extradited to Baltimore from West Virginia. He pleaded innocent to the assault charges and has asked for a jury trial.

Lake Meredith Stocked With 226 Fish per Acre

Fishing potential for Lake Meredith on the Candian River is looking up.

State fisheries biologists have stocked a total of 1,472,000 game fish in the new lake since May of this year. This averages 226 per acre for the lake which now has 6,500 surface acres of water.

State fisheries biologist, Lonnie Peters, whose laboratory is located in Canyon, says the stocked game fish are growing rapidly and should be catching size by late fall.

Peters says the bass have already reached a length of nine and ten inches and should weigh a pound by late November. He adds that channel catfish stocked in the lake last May should be catching size by spring.

State and federal fish hatcheries have stocked 422,000 channel catfish in the lake since May.

Walleye were also stocked in the lake last spring with a total of 600,000 of the fish going into the water at various locations. These scrappy game fish have grown from 1/4-inch fry to nine inch fish since.

Fishermen have been catching young bass at Meredith since late summer. Most of the fish have averaged about seven inches and were all from the original stocking.

Most fishermen have been returning the bass to the lake to grow bigger for future fishing enjoyment.

Concessions development at Lake Meredith is coming along slowly. The National Park Service has sent out requests for bids on a mobile boat gasoline service concessions at Blue West Recreation Area which is located on the north side of the lake.

A quick-order food concession has also been advertised for the same location. Blue West is reached through the F.M. 1913 road between Fourways and Stinnett.

A marine gasoline and a food concessions are already in operation at the Sanford-Yake Recreation Area on the south side of the lake south and east of the town of Fritch.

The only available access to the huge new lake is through these two areas.

MOTHER CLAIMS

Abandonment For Boy's Good

MIAMI (UPI)—A Michigan woman told authorities Monday she flew her mentally retarded son here and abandoned him at busy Miami International Airport "for his own good."

"You take him," said Mrs. Victor Thorne, 44, wife of a Troy, Mich., machine shop manager.

A hearing in the case of 13-year-old Richard Thorne has been postponed by juvenile Judge Ben C. Sheppard pending the results of psychiatric tests given Mrs. Thorne. Officials hoped to have the results today.

The boy was at a county home for exceptional children south of Miami, and was reported "happy and doing fine." Although he cannot speak, a spokesman said, the boy helps with gardening and kitchen work at the home.

At one point Monday, when he saw his mother's picture on a television screen, he went to the set, pointed at her and smiled.

Mrs. Thorne came to Miami alone Sunday night, five days after she flew here from Detroit with the boy and abandoned him in the airport waiting room.

She told officials here she had hoped the boy would be promptly found and put into a program for retarded children she had read about. She said she thought this was "the best way to get help" for the boy.

The woman told officials she still wanted to leave the boy here.

"You take him. I flew here and left him for his own good. Somebody should take up where I left off," Mrs. Thorne said.

The boy suffered a high fever connected with encephalitis complicated by pneumonia when he was 18 months old, and has not been able to talk. Doctors recently told the parents, who also have three daughters, Ricky's case was hopeless.

"She told me that she and her husband had just reached the end of their ropes and she heard that Miami was a good warm area and had a top development program for youths like Ricky," said Shields.

Sheppard said he was considering returning the boy to his parents if they could accept the situation.

Psychoanalysis Approval Urged for Council Action

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—A group of Latin American bishops urged the Ecumenical Council today to place the Roman Catholic Church on record as favoring psychoanalysis.

Bishop Sergio Mendez of Cuernavaca, Mexico, speaking on behalf of 10 prelates from his own country and other Latin American nations, said, "We should indicate our approval of depth psychology and psychoanalysis for they have proven themselves very useful wherever they have been tried."

His proposal was made in the windup of general debate over the council's document "on the Church in the Modern World." The more than 2,000 prelates in St. Peter's Basilica move on Wednesday to "more urgent problems" which touch on nuclear weapons, birth control and other contemporary technological issues.

The current Catholic viewpoint as presented by the late Pope Pius XII in 1952 is that "theoretically, any psychiatric or analytical system is acceptable to Catholics, on condition that it does not contradict the basic principles of Catholic philosophy and theology and does not undermine the precepts of the natural law."

However, the pontiff made it clear there are several systems which "go beyond the limits of moral law" or which "degrade mankind." He singled out the school of psychoanalysis which teaches that "sex motivations" are the basis of human behavior.

But Bishop Mendez specifically praised Sigmund Freud, considered the father of modern psychiatry through his work of interpreting dreams and sex repression.

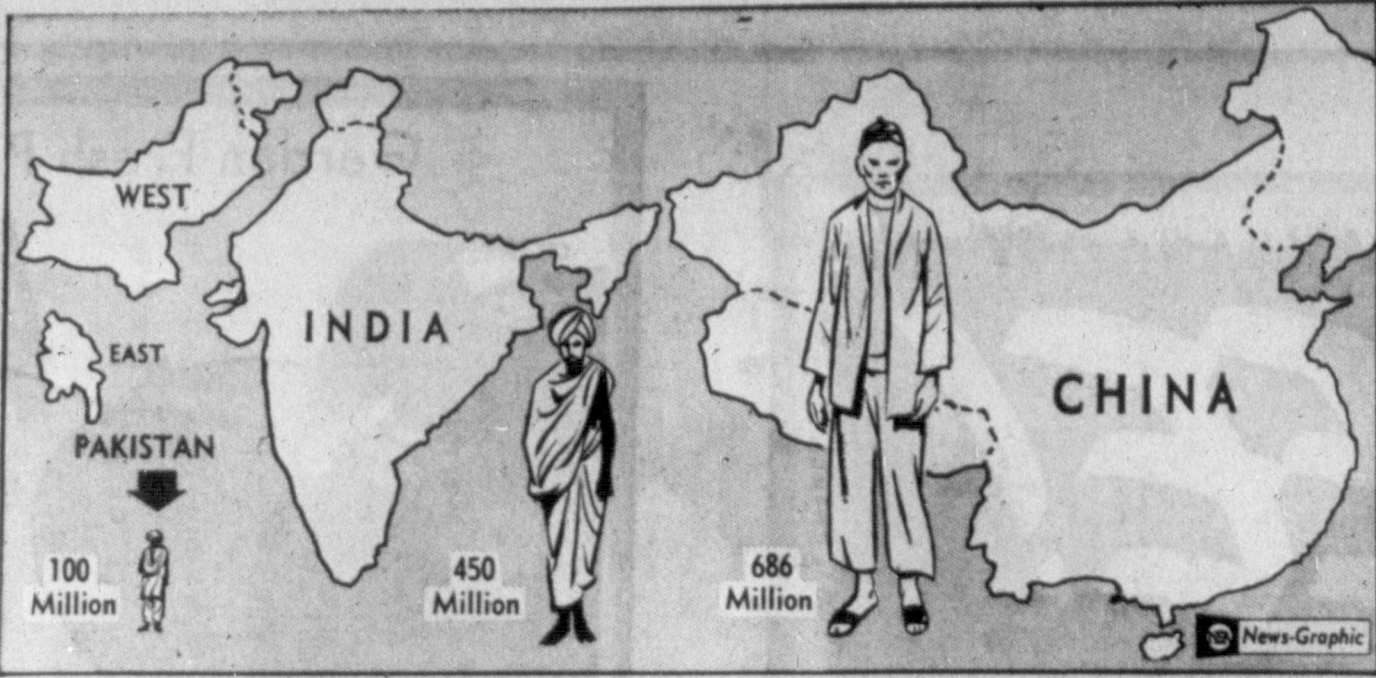

NEW RADAR
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army is developing a new type of mobile radar known as "HIPAR" to be deployed with U.S. units at home and overseas.

The Army announced Thursday that an $8.1 million contract has been awarded to General Electric Co. for its production. It will include a 43-footwide antenna hauled on five semi-trailers each pulled by a five-ton truck tractor.

HIPAR (High Power Acquisition Radar) will operate in conjunction with the Nike-Hercules anti-aircraft missile, the Army said, and will give "full target detection capability for Army air defense units overseas."

Met Opens Final Season in Old House

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Metropolitan Opera opened its last season at its old house at 39th Street and Broadway Monday night with a controversial new production of Gounod's "Faust."

"Faust" opened the Met in 1883, and Manager Rudolf Bing brought the history of the world famous house full circle by presenting a new $150,000 production of the work paid for by Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. What Mrs. Rockefeller got for her money was a mish-mash of traditional and modern climaxed by a tasteless orgiastic ballet right out of the follies bergeres.

Next year the Met will move 25 blocks north on Broadway to its new $42.5 million home at Lincoln Center.

The audience rose to its feet to applaud Humphrey and his wife, who wore a demure ribbon lace gown of powder blue, as they entered the diamond horseshoe box of Roger L. Stevens, President Johnson's "cultural czar." The vice president said he was "happy to be here because the Met is a landmark in the cultural history of our country."

The ballet, created by Denmark's highly reputed Flemming Flindt, made the Met audience forget its usual good manners and resort to hisses and boos which all but drowned faint applause. Flindt's Walpurgis night orgy was grotesque and moved many to snickering merriment. Gounod's fantastic gambol of the sirens of history and medieval monsters was lost along the way.

Water Pollution Inroads Will Require $44-Billion

By WILLIAM CLAYTON
United Press International
HOUSTON (UPI)—Forty-four billion dollars is needed just to stay even with inroads in water pollution during the next 17 years, a technical director of a soap and detergent association said Monday.

Marshall Fields Will Probated

CHICAGO (UPI)—The will of the late Marshall Field, disposing of an estate estimated at $25,500,000, was offered for probate today before Judge James M. Corcoran in the probate division of Circuit Court.

Field was editor and publisher of the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Sun-Times and publisher of World Book Encyclopedia at the time of his death Sept. 18.

The bulk of his estate, embracing a portfolio of stocks and bonds and three residences, is in trusts for his six children.

His executors, Edward I. Farley and George B. Young, explained that Field's will, made in June, 1965, also anticipated the creation of additional trusts and other provisions for his wife which were interrupted by his sudden death.

As a result, his widow, the former Julia Lynne Templeton, will receive one-third of the estate.

Charles G. Buelman said the water situation had gotten so bad, nationally, it would take $11.5 billion just to catch up today. He addressed the meeting of the Texas Water Conservation Association.

"While municipalities have lagged behind, American industry has faced up to pollution control," Buelman said. "Until very recently, the general public has not been willing to face up to the heavy financing needed."

The delegates went on recording the Water Pollution Control Board to adopt anti-pollution regulations for river basins and coastal area, so Texas will comply with new federal law.

State Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo said the board is showing another way to control pollution—through regulation. The board has ordered several sewage plant operators to show why they should not be restricted in their operation because of pollution levels.

The board regulates the issuance of permits for waste discharge.

Judge Fights Land Grant Board's Claim

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI)—An Albuquerque district judge has taken action to avert the latest vow by the New Mexico Tierra Amarilla Spanish land grant's board of trustees to reclaim 520,000 acres in disputed land.

Last year, land grant officials sent eviction notices to land owners and armed men began patrolling the sprawling northern New Mexico grant. The dispute ended in Dist. Judge Paul Tackett's courtroom.

Tackett's ruling, handed down Oct. 20, 1964, held the land grant group had no valid claim. He also told the organization to stop trying to remove the present occupants of the land.

Monday, Tackett said he notified the Santa Fe County district attorney the land grant's board said they would reclaim the land granted by the Spanish government in 1832 to Manuel Martinez and his sons.

The vow was contained in a letter dated Aug. 27 and addressed to the district court at Santa Fe, N. M., Tackett said. A letter written Sept. 16 by an assistant district attorney in reply to the new vow, warned the five-member board it would be "dealt with accordingly" if Tackett's decree was violated.

TREATY MAY RECUR
ROME (UPI)—The Soviet threat to Europe may recur at any time, NATO Secretary General Manlio Brosio warned Monday night. He said the Atlantic alliance was indispensable for defense.

Brosio addressed the opening session of a three-day meeting of the Atlantic Treaty Association, a non-governmental body headed by Lord Gladwyn of Britain.

Executive's Body Found

DENTON, Tex. (UPI)—The badly decomposed body of Fort Worth department store executive James L. Waller, 58, was discovered Monday in a field about 12 miles from Denton.

Waller, of Cleburne disappeared July 12. Police believe he was kidnaped by Cecil Francis Abbey of Portland, Ore. Waller had been shot once in the head.

Abbey was gunned down in Dallas when he attempted to rob the Texas Bank and Trust Co.—the same day Waller disappeared.

Denton County Sheriff Wylie Barnes, who made a tentative identification of the body, theorized Abbey had shot Waller somewhere between Fort Worth and the hamlet of Justin, near where the body was found.

Barnes was a former schoolmate of the dead man.

Waller's wife identified the body shortly after it was taken to a Denton funeral home. His dentist, comparing X-rays, also confirmed that the body was Waller's.

The victim's blood-soaked car was found near the bank. Abbey attempted to rob Waller's car keys were in Abbey's pocket.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON...
United Press International...
The District of Columbia home rule bill as passed by the Senate has been challenged by many on grounds that it violates Section 9, Article I of the U.S. Constitution.

Article I enumerates the legislative powers and vests all of them in the U.S. Congress. Section 9 asserts that: "No money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law."

The Senate's home rule bill authorizes regular annual payments by the federal government to cover its proper share of the expenses of D.C. government. The federal share would be based substantially on a calculation of what the federal government would owe in real estate taxes if it were liable to pay taxes on federal property such as the White House, the Capitol, Library of Congress and so on. The home rule may, or of Washington would submit to the secretary of treasury a request for the federal payment. The request would be examined by the General Services Administration which is the custodial agent for all federal property. If GSA certified the D.C. calculation to be accurate, the Senate bill would require the Treasury to make the payment "out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated."

Ruled Constitutional
It is argued that such a payment would not be in consequence of an appropriation made by law, as stipulated in Article I, Section 9. The Department of Justice ruled, in response to inquiries, that the financing provision was constitutional. Also argued against the bill is that it provides in substance if not in matter for taxation of federal property by the district. The Johnson administration asserts that this is not the fact.

Nevertheless, the Senate's financing provisions caused so much uneasiness among House members that home rule sponsors in the House jettisoned it. Instead they now propose to use the Senate formula as a ceiling on the amount of the federal contribution to D.C. government and to require Congress to continue to appropriate the actual money each year. Congress at its pleasure could cut the amount as it pleased. This change in tactics by House home rule leaders evidently has improved chances for House passage of the bill this week.

Still another obstacle to enactment of home rule is opposition by members of the House Committee on Appropriations. There are 50 members of that committee. As the federal government presently contributes to district expenses, every penny is subject to appropriations committee review and veto. It is argued that it is not good policy to abandon this system of filtering D.C. funds through the committee. The Johnson administration contends that the mainspring of home rule is the relief of the district from its absolute year-by-year dependence on Congress for every item in its budget.

Good Deal
The liberation of the district government from dependence on Congress for funds would be a good deal for D.C. citizens. The sum of the federal contribution would be determined substantially by real estate tax rates which would be fixed by the home rule government. If the D.C. authorities raised the rates paid by private property owners, the charge against the Treasury would increase in proportion.

Congress appropriated about $40 million for this year's federal contribution to district expenses. That represents about 13 per cent of the $360 million D.C. budget for this fiscal year. There is further opposition to home rule on the basis of fear that the largely Negro city of Red China's push for leadership of the unaligned nations.

Both the United States and Britain endorsed in principle Moscow's peace bid when it was first made at the height of the Kashmir war.

But Washington and London consider the United Nations as the chief authority to deal with the problem and its possible solution. The Soviet mediation attempt was welcomed by them initially as a supporting element in the world organization's peace moves.

Diplomats now fear the Kremlin may wrest the initiative from the U.N. to parade as the great peacemaker where United States power and British commonwealth leadership failed.

Calls Withdrawal

Indian wrath over Britain's neutral role in the recent conflict has already resulted in some isolated calls for a withdrawal from the commonwealth. The United States' stand has been followed by demands from Indian parliamentarians for an independent nuclear deterrent. Pakistan in turn has threatened to quit the United Nations if the Kashmir dispute is not settled.

However, Moscow's current peace move is bound to have its strongest impact on the Sino-Soviet feud and Peking's prestige in Asia and beyond.

Some diplomat consider the Kremlin's mediation move as a direct challenge to Peking and its hard line policies at home and abroad.

Russia has been a strong supporter of India against China, while Peking has been backing Pakistan.

Will be Noticed

The public spectacle of India and Pakistan turning to Russia against, or away, from Red China cannot fail to go unnoticed by African and Latin American leaders. Its effect could impair Red Chinese prestige in the emerging nations which Peking is out to win over in its battle against "imperialism" and Soviet influence.

Russia's mediation is bound to deepen the Sino-Soviet rift still further. The feud has in recent weeks taken on an increasingly nationalist character, with Peking attacking the Kremlin for its alleged collusion with so-called imperialism. On the face of it Russia has therefore, diplomatic sources here say, scored diplomatically on all fronts. If she fails she can be expected to boast that she did her best for peace. If she succeeds Moscow will have strengthened her influence in Asia at the cost of Peking.

EXCHANGE FIRE

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—Five Israeli civilians were wounded Monday in an exchange of gunfire near the border with Jordan, Israeli officials reported.

One of the victims, a woman, was said to be in serious condition.

Washington is not ready for home rule. It certainly is a fact that upward of 58 per cent of district citizens are Negroes and that neither the Negro majority nor the white minority has had experience in municipal government. Public school enrollment in the district is about 80 per cent non-white.

Dear Abby.... Assignment of Teacher Is Invasion of Privacy

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, who has just entered the eighth grade in public school, has brought home an assignment which her teacher described as a "fun project." Each child must make a "family tree." Starting with the parents, grandparents and great-grandparents, they are supposed to go back as far as they can and give the name, place of birth, occupation, religion, and any interesting facts they can find out about each ancestor.

Now, I can't see where this information is any of the teacher's business, can you? And it has nothing whatsoever to do with the subject the teacher is supposed to be teaching. How would you handle this situation?

IRATE MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Shaking the family tree can be a "fine project" providing one doesn't mind finishing out an occasional odd bird or squirrely character. But one's family history is a highly personal matter and no student should be required to reveal it as part of an "assignment." It is clearly an invasion of privacy, and I would tell the teacher just that.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I visit my parents about three times a year. They live on a farm not too far from the city in which we live. I always take Mom and Dad a few gifts to compensate for staying the week-end with them. Last time we were here, Mom let it slip that she had given my newly-married brother and his wife some of the gifts I had given her. I know she hadn't intended telling me, it just slipped out. Well, I blew my top. I know I was wrong to lose my temper, but do you think I was wrong to feel offended because she gave my gifts to someone else?

BLEW MY TOP
DEAR BLEW: I don't blame you for feeling "hurt" when you learned that instead of using and enjoying the gifts, your mother had given them to someone else. But after a gift is given, it belongs to the recipient to do with what he pleases. If your mother derived more pleasure out of giving away the gifts, you should not have felt offended.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 16 years and have three children. To give you a brief description of what I am going through, my husband had his own business, but he went bankrupt last year. First, they shut off our gas. Later, we got thrown out of our house and, finally, one morning I woke up to find the finance company had taken our car. Now, Abby, all this time my husband was worrying about his hair, which he was losing. I told him to get a toupee, which he did, but he was allergic to the glue needed to keep it on, so he had to quit wearing it. I work nights waiting on tables to keep shoes on the kids' feet and my husband just picks away on his $9 guitar telling me how lucky I am that he hasn't got any hair because if he had hair Hollywood would grab him. I am just going crazy. What should I do?

"B" IN AUSTIN
DEAR "B": What your husband needs for his hair is not HAIR — but an examination. For goodness sake, get him to a doctor!

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "Mother" in the Gazette surely hit the nail on the head. I wish every parent in the country could have read it. In my years of general practice I have sent many erring couples to a nearby county seat town and strangely enough, they would all return with pre-dated marriage certificates! Just how this was accomplished I do not know. It was not my function to ask questions, only to heal the sick.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Day hours are fine for cementing better relations with those who are important to you. Soplan to do dull work tonight. Come out with your ideas honestly. Then all works out fine.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — Get better conditions around you during the day and plan recreation for the near future. Show your very fine skills. Attend to minutiae in the day. Dull labors best done in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) — It will pay you greatly to be very courteous and thoughtful with kin during day. Strive for a stronger financial structure on which to build even more ambitiously. Take it easy p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) — Early morning is best time for important business matters, but later leave time to handle family affairs well. Data can be garnered best in a.m. Study it well, sensibly.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — You can complete any monetary and real estate matters nicely during the day and also get business affairs well arranged. Keep ears open for ideas from advisors. Head advice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — Many contacts have to be made for many reasons during a.m., so get a good start. Decisions must be done later without fail. State your aims clearly in any personal affairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) — Be practical in handling outside affairs and become more popular. Don't turn your back on friends who come to you for aid, who are in trouble. Bigwig will give ideas for advancement.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) — A novel approach is necessary at relationships that can be most inspiring and higher-up your ambitions. A new friend gives very wonderful ideas — be sure to accept them.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Giants, Bums Stay Even

By United Press International
It's easy to tell the National League pennant is at stake: the Dodgers all of a sudden display power and the Giants get five runs batted in from a .254 hitter.

With six games to go in the regular season Los Angeles and San Francisco are tied for the lead. From this point on each team that wins will have a hero of the day.

Today they are Tom Haller of the Giants and Willie Davis of the Dodgers. Haller, whose meek .254 batting average belies his toughness in the clutch, had five RBIs Monday on two home runs and a sacrifice fly to pace San Francisco to an 8-4 victory over St. Louis. Davis also smashed two home runs to lead the Dodgers past the Cincinnati Reds 6-1.

The loss dropped the Reds four games off the pace. They are still in contention mathematically, though, because they play two more against Los Angeles and then move to San Francisco for the final three games of the regular season.

In other National League action the Cubs beat the Phillies 1-0 and the Astros outlasted the Braves 4-3 in 10 innings. In the only American League game the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Kansas City Athletics 6-4.

Haller connected in the second inning with two men on base off Tracy Stallard and hit his 15th homer of the season with no one on in the seventh off Earl Francis. His other run batted in was on a fielder's choice in the third inning.

Warren Spahn started for the Giants and went four and one-third innings, giving up five hits and two runs. He struck out two batters to take over third place among all-time strikeout artists. He now has 2,582 to rank behind Walter Johnson's 3,497 and Cy Young's 2,836.

Willie McCovey drove in two Giant runs with a double in the fourth inning. Frank Linzy (9-3) was the winner and Stallard (11-8) was charged with the defeat.

The Dodgers also got stellar performances from Maury Wills and Johnny Podres. Wills stole two bases to set up two Dodger runs. The thefts were his 91st and 92nd of the season. Podres pitched five innings—all manager Walt Alton prayed for—before Ron Perranoski relieved him.

Davis settled the contest in the first inning with a two-run homer. He hit his second of the game and 10th of the season in the seventh inning.

The Reds had 11 hits, but the Dodger defense came up with three double plays and fine catches to keep runners from scoring. Perranoski was shaky in his four innings, giving up six hits and loading the bases in the seventh inning.

Larry Jackson gave up only five hits in pitching Chicago past the Phils and Jim Bunning. Don Landrum opened the Chicago eighth with a single and was sacrificed to second. He scored on Billy Williams' single. Jackson (14-20) did not allow a Phillie to touch third base.

Dan Osinski wild-pitched the winning run across in the 10th inning to give the Astros their victory over the Braves. Joe Morgan walked to open the 10th for the Astros. He stole second, took third on a passed ball and romped home on Osinski's wild pitch. The Braves had tied it with two runs in the ninth.

Curt Blefary hit a two-run, eighth-inning triple to drive in the winning runs for Baltimore. Blefary scored on a sacrifice fly with an insurance run. The victory moved the Orioles a full game ahead of the Chicago White Sox in their battle for second place. The Minnesota Twins have already clinched the American League pennant.

Kansas City stole eight bases off Baltimore catcher Dick Brown. Bert Campaneris, who earlier this season made baseball history by playing one inning at each position, pilfered two of the sacks to raise his league-leading total to 51.

Royal Pleased With Way Texas Played Saturday

By United Press International
It's surprising what a No. 2 ranking nationally and two run-away victories will do for a coach's confidence.

Coach Darrell Royal strayed from his usual fidgety, pessimistic ways Monday and came right out with it. He was pleased with the way the Longhorns looked against Texas Tech last Saturday.

He had little choice. Texas backs went wild against the Red Raiders, plowing through the line so easily and so often Tech coach J. T. King probably wanted to call for a saliva test.

"The line blocked real well and the backs carried out fakes much better," Royal said at his weekly press conference. "The whole offense was much improved."

Trying For Upset
Indiana, which fell 28-0 to Northwestern Saturday, moved into Austin Saturday. Indiana's coaches said Monday they "very definitely" thought their chances of victory were good, and Royal agreed.

"They're from the Big 10, and that's saying enough for them," Royal said. "And they're big. They sure have some huge guys in that line."

Arkansas, No. 4 in the nation, will open its Southwest Conference action Saturday against Texas Christian, but the Razorbacks will be without the services of wingback Jim Lindsey.

Lindsey broke a rib in the Oklahoma State game two weeks ago but didn't know it until he was hit from the side in the Tulsa game Saturday.

Coach Frank Broyles worked

Arkansas in a no-contact drill Monday and then the squad heard the TCU scouting report.

Texas Tech worked out under the lights Monday in preparation for Texas A&M Saturday, and the Raiders were without three of their players.

Guard Doug Young will be out at least two weeks and maybe longer with injured Achilles tendons and other muscular damage in his legs. Guard James Cecil sprained an ankle and defensive end Joe Hurley suffered pulled stomach muscles in the Texas game also. Both are listed as doubtful for the Aggie tilt.

Baylor also lost a player, center Calvin Kirkham, who bruised a shoulder in the Washington game.

The Bears went through a light workout Monday and then listened to the scouting reports on Florida State, the 7-3 loser to TCU Saturday.

Aggies Work in Secret
Texas A&M coach Gene Stallings, fresh from a 14-10 upset over Georgia Tech, put the Aggies through a closed drill Monday night. The players who played in the same Saturday wore sweat suits, but the others had a light scrimmage.

Stallings said the Aggies came out of the Georgia Tech game with no serious injuries.

Rice, trounced by Louisiana State Saturday, counted their wounded Monday. Only defensive tackle Virgil Phelps will definitely miss the upcoming Duke game.

Owl coach Jess Neely said he was pleased with his squad's offensive showing against LSU but said the defense needed some improvement.

Southern Methodist, also beaten handsly last week, had two players on the sidelines Monday and doubtful participants in the game Saturday against the nation's top team, the Purdue Boilermakers.

Purdue Takes No. 1 in Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Purdue, a perennial also-ran in the tough Big Ten Conference, made its initial appearance among the United Press International's top-ranked college football teams today by going all the way to the top on the strength of its 25-21 upset of Notre Dame.

The Boilermakers, who have won only one Big Ten title outright in history and last shared conference honors in 1952, drew 15 first place votes from the UPI Board of Coaches for a total of 296 points and a tenuous grip on the No. 1 spot in the first weekly ratings.

Texas and Nebraska, favorites in the Southwest and Big Eight Conferences, respectively, received considerable support to threaten Purdue's position. The Longhorns received nine first-place votes and 285 points for second while the Cornhuskers drew eight votes for the top spot and 279 points for third.

Purdue never has finished among the top 10 in balloting by the 35-man board which started ranking the nation's top teams in 1950.

The best showings by the Boilermakers were in 1958 and 1961. They finished 11th both years.

After opening the season with a 38-0 rout of Miami (Ohio), Purdue was rated a four-point underdog to the Fighting Irish, the nation's third-ranked team in 1964 and a 48-6 conqueror of California in its initial game.

But junior quarterback Bob Griese bewildered Notre Dame's rugged defense with 19 completions in 22 attempts for 283 yards and three touchdowns as the Boilermakers whipped the Irish for the seventh time since Jack Mollenkopf took over the coaching helm 10 years ago.

NEW YORK (UPI)— The United Press International major college football ratings with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses:

Team	Points
1. Purdue (15) (2-0)	298
2. Texas (9) (2-0)	285
3. Nebraska (8) (2-0)	279
4. Arkansas (2-0)	185
5. Michigan (2-0)	159
6. Louisiana State (3) (2-0)	157
7. Mich. State (2-0)	116
8. Kentucky (2-0)	99
9. Notre Dame (1-1)	88
10. Southern Calif. (1-0-1)	50
Second 10-11. Georgia	43
12. (tie). Mississippi State and Washington State	32
14. Oregon	22
15. (tie) Wyoming and Baylor	10
17. Alabama	9
18. (tie). Illinois and Duke	7
20. Iowa	6

Rawls Leads Career Wins

QUINCY, Ill. (UPI)—Betsy Rawls ranks only 10th among the money winners in the Ladies Professional Golf Association (LPGA) this year but she has become No. 1 in the career-long standings, the LPGA reported today.

Miss Rawls has won 2 of 24 official tournaments this year and has winnings of $9,823. But her total was enough to push her ahead of Mickey Wright, who retired after a career total of $185,883 in winnings. Miss Rawls has won $185,948 since the LPGA began keeping statistics in 1948.

Kathy Whitworth who has won six tournaments this season and finished among the top five in 20 of the year's 24 recognized events, leads the LPGA Carol Mann, winner of the U.S. Golf Association's Women's 1965 money list with $22,145. Open, is second with $17,269.

National League Pitchers Ahead of AL Buddies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Nine National League pitchers and two American League pitchers have beaten every other team in their respective loops. Five NL pitchers and two AL hurlers have lost to each of the other teams in the leagues.

The National Leaguers who have beaten the other nine teams at least once this season are Larry Jackson and Bob Buhl of the Cubs, Sammy Ellis of Cincinnati, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, Tony Cloninger of Milwaukee, Bob Gibson of St.

Louis and Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw of San Francisco. The American Leaguers are Sonny Siebert of Cleveland and Denny McLain of Detroit.

The National Leaguers who have been defeated at least once by the other nine teams in the league are Bob Bruce of Houston, Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, Al Jackson and Jack Fisher of New York and Ray Sadecki of St. Louis. The American Leaguers are Dave Wickersham of Detroit and John O'Donoghue of Kansas City.

Patterson Top Player of Week

Weight-wise Dan Patterson is not especially big as linemen go, he is, in fact, just about average size.

But he, like the rest of the Pampa Harvesters, makes up in determination and desire what he lacks in ability.

Patterson, 5'6 by 195, has come a long way this season and has played stellar football in all three Harvester games.

Last week was no exception. For this he has been picked as Harvester-of-The-Week by the high school football coaching staff.

The 17-year-old senior guard has been one of coach Eural Ramsey's most dependable linemen and time and time again, when Pampa needed important yardage it is Patterson's side they would run over.

Patterson is a one-year letterman and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Patterson.

Our Son Is Getting Life-Time Benefits From His Newspaper Route

We're sure pleased that Junior is a newspaperboy. Even if we were millionaires, we couldn't buy the valuable experience that he's getting on his route.

His job is giving him a sense of responsibility that will always stay with him.

Junior finds his work both interesting and challenging. It gives him a chance to meet a lot of people—and he enjoys competing against the other boys for leadership in service and sales.

And he sure is proud that he's an independent businessman. Just like his father he buys at wholesale... sells at retail... makes collections... and figures his profits. His success depends on satisfying customers and signing up prospects. He'll be a jump ahead of the other boys when he takes on adult responsibilities.

There's no doubt about it! Junior will have smoother sailing in college and on his first full-time job—now that he's getting route experience under his belt!

Busy Boys Are Better Boys
If you think your son or some other youngster might profit by similar Newspaperboy experience, why not suggest that he come in and talk to us.

Rambling With Red

RON CROSS

One game doesn't make a season but Pampa proved Friday night 1965 could be the best football campaign the Harvesters have had in quite some time.

Not since 1953 have the Harvesters had a winning football season, finishing 6-4 that year.

Never Beaten Rebs

Come Friday night and Pampa will have a chance to even their season record at 2-2 and stay right atop the 3-4A standings.

Pampa entertains Tascosa, like Palo Duro, a team the Harvesters have never beaten.

The two teams have been playing since 1958 and Tascosa has made off with all seven decisions. Every year but two by a whopping margin.

But, things could be changed for Pampa showed a never-say-die attitude Friday night, coming from 13 points behind to knock the breath out of Palo Duro, 20-13.

In the Pampa dressing room Friday night there was a different air, this was the air of a winning football team.

There was even talk of a district championship, something a coach likes to hear, especially if his team has been down.

That losing feeling seems to have vanished from the Harvesters camp.

But Tascosa poses a big hurdle for the senior Harvesters, coming back to rip Lee of Midland and Lubbock after an opening game loss to Permian.

The Johnny Rebs have made progress and talk among Amarillo sports writers have them rated among the best in the city.

Tascosa coach Pat Patterson has 12 lettermen back but only one has two years of experience.

Dick Bufkin, a 170-pound guard is Patterson's only experienced returnee.

Best In '64

The Rebels were the best in 3-4A in 1964 with a 12-1 season record and ran over the Harvesters, 34-0. The only loss came to Gardland in the state finals, 21-7.

Pampa will most certainly have to play two good halves, so far the Harvesters have been a second half ball club.

Friday night in the first two quarters they looked anything but a winner and couldn't seem to find their shoes with both hands.

But the second half they pulled a complete switch and battered the Dons from pillar to post.

The Harvesters can thank James Matney for keeping the game from being a runaway in the first half.

The Pampa junior actually kicked the Harvesters back into the contest several times as Pampa had trouble getting across the 50 yard stripe.

Matney's gifted toe boomed several long punts in the opening half and did likewise twice in the final two periods.

Roy Harper proved too, that he has the ability to run a smooth team, more than once coming up with the big play.

It was Harper who made several defensive plays that kept Don runners from going all the way.

Cite coach Eural Ramsey for gambling on a fourth down in his own territory with long yardage and Harper for having keenness try the run after seeing his receivers covered on an attempted pass.

Little Joey Roden came to the front Friday night. This 150 pound lightweight who stands a tall 5'6" led the Harvesters in rushing and several times carried a couple of Dons with him on long gains.

The Pampa offensive line found out they could too block and gave both Harper and Larry Daniels their first pass protection of the season.

Defensively Pampa looked at best rugged in the opening half, but looked like champions in the final two periods, keeping the Dons in check.

But Friday night all of this will have to be molded together from the opening gun to the finish if the Harvesters hope to win their second consecutive conference game, the first time since 1963 when they put together victories over Plainview and Lubbock.

Mudcat Grant Going Through Jazz, American League Players

NEW YORK (NEA) — Most 10-year-olds peep through a fence to get a look at a ball game.

Not Mudcat Grant.

There was no baseball in Lacombe, Fla., when Mudcat was 10, but there was a jazz club—the specialty was jazz—and even then Mudcat had this feeling for good music.

"The club was just a hole in the wall," the Minnesota Twins pitcher remembered, "and Ray Charles was playing there. Of course, he wasn't as popular then as he is now."

"I could stand by the window, peep in and listen to this blind man who injected such a tremendous feeling of relaxation to everyone there. It was about then that I really started admiring musicians and thinking some day maybe I could do the same."

To James T. Grant, the music profession is almost as serious as baseball—even if he is more established as a pitcher than a band leader.

The 6-0, 185-pound righthander is the leading pitcher in the American League this season, thanks to Twins pitching coach Johnny Sain, who gave him confidence plus some new ways to break off an effective curve ball.

And being the American League's best pitcher could be the break he needs to become established in the music business during the off-season.

"I don't want it THAT way," Grant says. "I had a band last winter and I thought I had the talent to make it as a performer on my own."

"I don't want people coming into some club just because I'm Jim Grant, the pitcher who was with the World Champion Minnesota Twins. (Is this a prediction?)"

"People who go to a theater or a night club go to see people perform. I don't think they'd go to see me because of my name. I know a lot of athletes who have tried show business because of their names, but they didn't have the talent to go with it."

"I've been studying performers—all types—theater, jazz, comedians."

"I always try to get to the theater when we're in New York ('Glass Menagerie,' 'The Blacks') and I stop at the jazz spots in Harlem and the Village. We have a good theater in Minneapolis, too, where I've seen 'The Cherry Orchard' and 'King Richard III.'"

"I'm not copying any particular style. I'm just soaking up what they have to give. It's like watching a great ball-player perform. You learn something. Right?"

"My band plays any kind of music—jazz, folk—and I sing and dance, but I don't play an instrument."

"I just signed with a New York record company. I don't want to play any stereotyped music and I don't want to play in any stereotyped clubs either."

That's understandable. Jim Grant is hardly the stereotyped baseball player.

Smith soared from 26 points last week to 40 this week on five touchdowns and five two-point conversions.

Vanpool scored three times in Wheeler's 34-0 rout of Canadian and added a two-point conversion for a total of 38 points.

Randy Elliott of White Deer, who was runnerup to Smith last week is in a tie for third place with 24 points. Elliott's Bucks were idle last week.

Tied with Elliott is Miami's Gary Lister who scored twice against Spearman last Thursday and now has four touchdowns for 24 points.

Two players are right behind Lister and Elliott, both of them from White Deer. Vernon Marlar and Jerry Smith both have three touchdowns for 18 points.

Steve Fuller of McLean moved up a couple of notches in the scoring with a touchdown and conversion against Lefors.

Fuller has two touchdowns and two conversions for 16 points.

Big Buster Too Big To Be Real

NEW YORK (NEA) — Big Buster Mathis can't be for real.

He's tall enough to hunt geese with a net, weighs a bit less than the state of Rhode Island and looks like he should have electrodes sticking out of his neck.

But at least he's a monster with a heart and unless he steps on you, he's not dangerous. Wind him up and he smiles, giggles, sticks out a paw and says: "Hi, I'm Big Buster and I want to be heavyweight boxing champion."

Buster Mathis, age 21, is the only 6-foot-3 1/2-inch, 300-pound fighter currently campaigning for the world title. Since he's had only one professional bout (he won), he's not exactly fighting for it yet, but those details will come later.

First there are babies to be kissed, hands to be shaken and friends to be made.

"Hi, I'm Big Buster and I wear a size 50 coat."

"Hi, I'm Big Buster, hope you kin make my next fight."

"Hi, I'm Big Buster and I ain't no Black Muslim."

He only stops talking to be oiled. A guy with a tool box follows him everywhere.

Mathis, the Jolly Brown Giant, is a product of a committee. A half-dozen rich sportsmen share the boy's championship dream and are footing all campaign expenditures, right down to give-away ball point pens inscribed with Buster's name.

Consular Treaty Sidetracked?

The United World Federalists, who are advocating a world super-government, are becoming the fact that, apparently, the consular treaty with the Russian Communist government is not coming up for a vote before the U.S. Senate.

It was those nasty old "right-wing extremists" whose opposition kept it from coming up after it cleared Sen. Fulbright's Senate Foreign Relations Committee, without a real public hearing. At least that's what the Federalist newsletter tells its members.

It said in part, "the extreme right launched an urgent emergency campaign to defeat the treaty, charging that the Soviet consulates here would be spy centers and that increased trade with the USSR is a danger to this country."

One of the men who has expressed some concern is J. Edgar Hoover who told the House Appropriations Committee:

"One Soviet intelligence officer in commenting on the agreement spoke of the wonderful opportunity this presented his service and that it would enable the Soviets to enhance their intelligence operations." We suppose that would make Mr. Hoover, whose job is to check on spies in this country, one of those "right-wing extremists."

As to signing another with Russian officials, we call on Sen. James O. Eastland, chairman of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. In 1955 he wrote the foreword to a staff study made by his committee "Soviet Political Treaties and violations." He wrote in part:

"The staff studied nearly a thousand treaties and agreements of the kinds described above, both bilateral and multilateral, which the Soviets have entered into not only with the United States, but with countries all over the world. The staff found that in the 38 short years since the Soviet Union came into existence, its Government had broken its word to virtually every country to which it ever gave a signed promise. It signed treaties of nonaggression with neighboring states and then absorbed those states. It signed promises to refrain from revolutionary activity inside the countries with which it sought 'friendship' and then cynically broke those promises. It was violating the first agreement it ever signed with the United States at the very moment the Soviet envoy, Litvinov, was putting his signature to that agreement, and, it is still violating the same agreement in 1955. It broke the promises it made to the western nations during previous meetings at the summit in Teheran and Yalta. It broke lend-lease agreements offered to it by the United States in order to keep Stalin from surrendering to the Nazis. It violated the charter of the United Nations. It keeps no international promises at all unless doing so is clearly advantageous to the Soviet Union."

"I seriously doubt that if during the whole history of civilization as great a nation has ever made as perfidious a record as this in so short a time."

Why Some Are Out of Work

Even with the best will in the world, throwing open the door of employment opportunity to all Americans is not going to bring large numbers of Negroes into the "mainstream" of the nation's economic life.

Traditional discrimination by race or color has been an obstacle to Negro aspirations. But as one executive points out, even if a company today does not endorse this kind of discrimination, it is still forced to practice another kind which is a serious factor in the job problem.

"For we all discriminate in terms of skills," says Jack Gleason, a vice-president of New York Life Insurance Co. To be able to compete successfully in the world of business means seeking those whose ability, training and potential will make it profitable for a company to hire them. Everyone who hopes to land a job—everyone, regardless of race, color or creed—must develop a skill that is marketable. Ambition and self-discipline are required, regardless of race, creed or color. Those who achieve set out to achieve. It cannot be done by proxy.

If all the billions of dollars spent in the state of California on schools and related public enterprises have not provided an opportunity for training—regardless of race, creed or color—can anyone believe that upping the rate of spending in this sector will provide greater opportunity?

If the schools can train, there is no excuse for anyone in California—regardless of race, creed or color—not being trained.

It's Still Big No. 1

A steadily declining farm population is a phenomenon that has been with us for most of this century. It is a phenomenon that is likely to continue as technology finds new ways for fewer farmers to grow more food for more people.

Despite this fact, agriculture remains the nation's No. 1 industry, and by a wide margin.

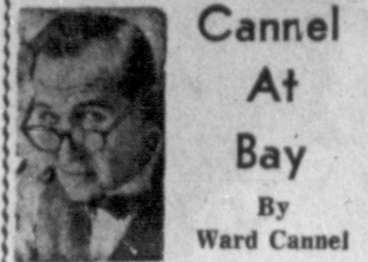

According to Robert B. Toottell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, agriculture still employs about 6.5 million people.

This is more, for example, than age employed by the steel, automobile, transportation and

People, Places, Events
NEW YORK (NEA) — And then Baby Jane goes: "E-e-e-eeeeee-e!"

"E-e-e-ee-eyes," says Diana Vreeland, the editor of Vogue. "Jane Holzer is the most contemporary girl I know."

— From an article in the "New York" Magazine of the Sunday Herald Tribune, Dec. 6, 1964.

It is a little embarrassing to admit this. But the plain fact is, we have never really found out just who Baby Jane Holzer is, or why she got all those e's for being interesting. And now, it turns out, we will never know.

Whatever Mrs. Holzer had that made her so contemporary last winter, she does not seem to have it any more.

If we read the signs correctly, she has been overtaken twice on the interest scale by the state sweepstakes now are finding that the state can't gamble itself into prosperity.

Sales of the $3 sweepstakes tickets have ended with a disappointing gross revenue of $3,783,000, down sharply from the $4,730,093 grossed in 1964, the first year of the event. The $1-

There is no need to go on with the recitation. The heart of the matter is that we simply do not understand the rules for what makes a thing interesting. And it appears that we never will.

We have given this topic a great deal of attention. And the only explanation we can find for our predicament is that the word itself is so interesting.

For example, we have noticed that if a husband compliments his wife on having cooked a very interesting dish, he does not have to worry about having it served to him again.

In our youth, whenever a teacher said, "That is a very interesting question," it generally meant that she did not know the answer and had no intention of discussing the matter further.

A painting that cannot be understood by either heart or mind is almost always described as interesting. So are sculpture, verse, dance, architecture, prose, fashion and music; and so are the critics who call them interesting.

When one girl recommends another girl as being interesting, it usually means that she is not much to look at.

On the other hand, when a young man says a girl is interesting and takes her home to meet the folks, he will later be advised that she is all right to visit but you wouldn't want to live there.

A newspaperman meets a lot of very interesting people. But we have found that it is best not to bring them home to dinner too frequently.

The Nation's Press

LOTTERY NO PANACEA

(Detroit News) Those frugal Yankees of New Hampshire who a year ago thought they had found the road to El Dorado by setting up a state sweepstakes now are finding that the state can't gamble itself into prosperity.

Sales of the $3 sweepstakes tickets have ended with a disappointing gross revenue of $3,783,000, down sharply from the $4,730,093 grossed in 1964, the first year of the event. The $1-800,000 reaped for the public schools this is less than half the amount predicted when the sweepstakes was started and is down almost $1,000,000 from the 1964 earnings.

It would be gratifying to report that the decline occurred because the New Hampshire residents themselves have learned that gambling, even for a good cause, really doesn't pay. Unfortunately, that's not the case. Some 80 per cent of the ticket buyers are still out-of-state residents.

The New Hampshire authorities are blaming the decline in revenue on the difficulty of advertising the event and selling tickets outside the state. So Sen. McIntyre, New Hampshire Democrat, has introduced a bill to permit mail-order ticket sales, now barred by federal law, and to allow some advertising concern to publicize the race and to make trips to try to persuade major corporations outside the state to buy sweepstakes tickets to use as incentive awards or premiums.

So the effort, it can be seen, still is on getting somebody else to pay New Hampshire's school bills. Somehow that seems inconsistent with the flinty New Englanders' tradition of always wanting to pay their own way.

Today's smile: Art Moger, wit and raconteur, tells us about the Vermont farm hand who drove up to an ancient covered bridge atop a load of hay, took one look at the long dark wooden tunnel, and turned his horse and wagon around saying: "I could get in all right, but I don't know how I'd squeeze through that little hole at the other end."

Supermarkets are making shopping easier for the housewife all the time. The latest is a motorized shopping cart. The recent multi-million dollar fines levied against General Electric and Westinghouse recalled that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis first gained national notice when he socked the Standard Oil Company of Indiana with a whopping $29 million fine for accepting freight rebates. But a high court ruled the judge had erred and as we recall it Standard Oil never paid a nickel. And soon afterward Landis became the czar of baseball.

Thoughts while shaving: The gas mask, which saved thousands of lives in World War I, was invented in 1915 by Dr. Cluys MacPherson, who is still practicing medicine in his native Newfoundland at 86. We continue to see hitchhikers on every highway despite the fact that 32 States and the District of Columbia have banned them. J. Edgar Hoover, who knows about such things, advises motorists against giving them a ride. . . . The people of Brooklyn had a fast one pulled on them in 1897 when the question of whether Brooklyn, then an independent city, should become a part of New York and it was to be resolved by a referendum in both places. The law provided that the vote in the combined municipalities would be recorded for or against the proposal, regardless of how the Country Editor speaking: "Most housewives can pick up more dirt on the telephone than they can with a vacuum cleaner."

The boat bound for the ship was several feet from the dock when a sailor came running up, gave a mighty leap, and landed in a heap on the dock, knocking his head against a seat. He lay there stunned for a few minutes. When he revived the boat was a couple of hundred feet from the dock. "Man, oh man!" marveled the sailor. "I sure can jump!"

WASHINGTON:

Silence Is Sabotaging Cuban Chief

BY RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

A persistent, silent battle against Castro is being fought by individual "nameless" Cubans.

As one of them puts it: "A man with just a little amount of intelligence and a good pair of pliers in his hands can do a lot of damage to the Communists."

He adds: "We have no steel tacks to spread on roads with which to puncture automobile tires, but we got hold of wire and are making tacks out of it."

"A man armed with a gun may get some Communists down, but, eventually, they'll get him, too. To protest about the Communist regime . . . is just to become pinpointed and prosecuted."

The better way, this man explains, is to make the Castroites think you are in accord with them. Don't protest. Accept their laws. Never show you hate them. Shout for Castro with the loudest. Then "when you are all by yourself, destroy everything you can get your hands on."

"Several friends of mine and I have already announced our intention of going to Havana for the great (Castro-Communist) meeting," he says. "But really what we are going to do is to meet with some friends from Artemisa, who are also anti-Communists."

Some of these saboteurs are Castro militiamen, postal workers, government officials, bus drivers, farmers, factory workers, army officers.

SOME SET THEMSELVES a quota of one small act of sabotage once a week.

A bus driver says he uses an ordinary razor blade, hidden in his pocket, to cut the upholstery in bus seats. They're difficult to mend and replacement material is scarce.

A farmer says: "Anyone living near a sugar cane field may set it on fire with a wax candle. Take the candle, light it, stick it in the soil and walk away. As soon as the candle melts, the dry leaves will catch fire and spread it to the sugar cane field."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Offer Means Little Without Capacity for Performance

By SAM CAMPBELL
Business Editor

If I were to offer you one million dollars, you might be inclined to consider me a very humanitarian fellow.

You would, however, soon discover that your high opinion of my generosity was incorrect.

For I don't have a million dollars.

The moral is that you must judge my humanitarianism not only by what I say, but also according to my capability for performance.

Of course, that's perfectly obvious. At least, it is obvious in the circumstances pictured above. But it may turn out to be somewhat less than obvious if the picture is changed just a little.

For instance, take a recent news event. Rep. Frank Annunzio of Illinois is charging that the loan sharks are gipping servicemen. And he calls on the Federal Authority to guard against this exploitation.

In this "picture," the Congressman is the obvious here. He sees the fraudulent practice. (I have no reason to doubt the probability that servicemen as well as non-servicemen have been cheated and are being cheated at some place at some time). Having spotted the foul deed, our hero now summons a protector onto the scene. Very well.

But let us take a look at whom he has summoned. It is, to be sure, the Federal Authority.

And what will the Federal Authority do?

It will investigate, of course. It will cogitate. And then after so many eons have passed, it will take some kind of action that will have the effect of causing the crooks to change their ways of beating the GIs out of the pittance that the Federal Authority is paying them.

In the meantime, let us look abroad and see what else the Federal Authority is doing to protect the GIs.

It is perceived it is taking some of them away from their wives and their children and sending them to Viet Nam to fight under instructions that prevent them from winning.

We perceive that while ships and planes are plying westward to carry GIs to Viet Nam, the Federal Authority has dispatched another airplane eastward. That eastern-bound carries trade diplomats to Poland and Romania. The trade mission is comprised of experts in metallurgy, electrical equipment, petrochemicals, synthetic fibers, machine tools, and agricultural equipment.

Even before the trade mission leave the runway, the Federal Authority has arranged loans of taxpayers' money so that the Communists in Poland and Romania will be able to buy metals, electrical equipment, machine tools, etc.

We are told by the Federal Authority that these items are destined for the civilian market.

Okay, let me ask a question. Do you think those items are destined for the civilian market?

Another: Do you think the Federal Authority is capable of protecting the GIs?

Is it not true that we must judge the humanitarian by his capacity to perform?

The Almanac

Today is Monday, Sept. 27, the 270th day of 1965 with 95 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Jupiter. The evening star is Venus, Mars and Saturn.

American Revolutionary War patriot Samuel Adams was born on this day in 1722.

On this day in history: In 1779, John Adams was appointed to negotiate peace terms with Great Britain.

In 1940, Germany, Italy and Japan signed the Tripartite Pact, a 10-year mutual assistance agreement.

In 1950, Ezzard Charles defeated former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium in New York.

In 1962, Syria broke away from the United Arab Republic in a revolt led by army officers.

A thought for the day — French novelist and playwright Alexandre Dumas said: "Nothing succeeds like success."

Wit and Whimsy

An income tax repayment claim had been made for $60 but the taxpayer had miscalculated the amount, for actually $90 was due to him. A check for this amount was sent, and this is how he acknowledged it: "Dear Sir: I am now seventy years of age. At last I believe in Santa Claus."

Bill — As your friend, I ought to tell you, that Jim Johnson is going around telling all kinds of lies about you.

Phil — Oh, That's O.K. But if he ever starts telling the truth, let me know. I'll break his neck.

A wise old farmer in Oklahoma listened to a young preacher give a 60-minute sermon which contained nothing more than fragments and pieces of thoughts whirling around in a high wind.

"Son," the farmer advised him as they shook hands at the door of the church, "don't you think it would be better to bale your hay before you deliver it?"

Small children alternate rapidly between being a lump in the throat and a pain in the neck.

Doctor — I would advise you, madam, to take frequent baths, plenty of fresh air and dress in cool gowns.

Husband (an hour later) — What did the doctor say? Wife — He said I ought to go to Saratoga, and afterwards, to the mountains and to get some new light gowns at once.

They leave their phones off the hooks. Since bottles are scarce, they destroy all bottles and glass containers they come across.

Some regularly pull down electric lines in isolated locations. A length of rope thrown over the wire will do the trick.

Some farmers have agreed to "consume as much as possible" while producing as little as they can.

These acts of themselves will not destroy Castro or his regime. They won't prevent Castro from adventuring elsewhere in Latin America. But they may slow him down. Never underestimate what such determined men can eventually achieve.

Hunt for Truth
BY H. L. HUNT

THE TEST OF COMMUNIST SUCCESS

There is a great deal of discussion today, among those who call themselves experts of communism and the nations of the communist bloc, on whether or not the communist system in practice can be considered a failure or a success. Many seem convinced that communism has actually failed, that the rulers of communist nations are turning away from their Marxist doctrines and are somehow "mellowing" to the point where they will soon become neighbors with whom we can comfortably live.

The truth is that these "experts" are using the wrong standard to judge communist success or failure. The right standard is not to be found in fidelity to the doctrines of Marx, and the failure of Marx's absurd economic theories to work out in practice cannot be considered a failure of the communist system.

Though many early communist agitators and revolutionaries were sincerely committed to Marxism as an ideology, and most still are, the real historic importance of Marxism is not as a theory but as a means to power, a hammer to crush free governments and replace them with tyranny. This means that the test of communist success is not to be found in the working out of any economic program, but in the realities of power.

By this test, communism must be considered as a success so long as it enables communist rulers to keep their power. So far, not one major nation taken over by communism has regained its freedom. By this standard, communism is the most successful means for establishing despotism ever invented. It will continue to be imposed until tyrants find a more palatable substitute.
